JUDGE LONG URGES THAT ALL LAWS BE ENFORCED

DISCUSSES CAPITAL PUNISHMENT—GEORGE McNEILL GETS 15 YEARS.

Indicating his belief in the justice of capital punishment, Judge B. F. Long, of Statesville, in his charge to the grand jury at the opening of the regular January term of Guilford Superior court on Monday emphasized the importance of impartial and rigid enforcement of the law.

Improvement of the election laws is a greatly needed reform, the jurist believes, and he expressed the conviction that under the present system the sanctity of the ballot cannot be maintained without great difficulty. He evidently favors the secret ballot. At the same time Judge Long told the jurors they must keep absolutely secret their deliberations and other developments in the grand jury room.

George McNeill, a negro of this city, on Tuesday was sentenced to serve 15 years in state prison, following his plea of guilty to the charge of burglary in the second degree. The defendant admitted that he had entered the home of a negro woman, Dora Hunter, in the eastern part of the city. Evidence was presented to show that he effected an entrance by climbing through a window.

Verdict of acquittal was returned by the jury Tuesday evening in the case against Leslie Hayes, who was alleged to have disposed of mortgaged property.

Sentence of eight months on the roads was imposed against Jesse Arent, convicted of having whiskey for sale. The negro had been given a sentence of four months for that offense when tried in Municipal court, but had appealed from the decision of the lower court.

Roy Newman was found guilty of retailing. He drew a road sentence of five months.

Issuance of a capias was ordered when John McCauley, charged with an assault, failed to appear. Similar action was taken in the case of Tom Simpson, alleged to have had whiskey for sale.

The case against James E. Blair, charged with criminal assault upon a girl 12 years of age, was continued until the next term of court.

George Isley admitted his guilt upon the charge of having whiskey for sale and he was sentenced to 10 months on the county roads. The defendant appealed and bond was fixed at $1,000. The case against Isley for manufacturing whiskey was continued. At the same time continuance of the case against Dennis Isley, a brother of George, was ordered.

The case against L. W. Apple for abandonment was continued. The defendant was ordered to pay his wife $25 per month.

Sentences of eight months each on the roads were imposed against J. J. Wilson, L. G. Oates and G. D. Fowler for the theft of an automobile. The property of E. R. C. Money, of White Oak.

Upon recommendation of Solicitor J. C. Bower, of Lexington, the case against C. G. Wilkinson, charged with speeding, was dismissed. The solicitor felt doubt as to the defendant's guilt and did not wish to punish an innocent man, he said.

The police were commended by the judge for their vigilance in seeking to prevent traffic law violations.

R. L. Keck pleaded guilty to charges of having whiskey for sale and carrying concealed weapons. He was given road sentences totaling 20 months. Ten months of the sentence was the amount imposed in the case in which Keck had forfeited a bond several months ago and failed to appear on a charge of retailing, while the other ten months was the judgment in the case in which he admitted this week that he had whiskey for sale. For carrying a concealed weapon he was fined $50 and the costs and judgment was suspended in a similar case, that defendant being conditioned upon good behavior upon the part of the defendant both on and off the chain for four years.

Last week Keck and I. E. Nolan were arrested by county officers on

FARMERS AND MECHANICS BANK TO BUY BUILDING

AT ANY RATE, PROPOSAL IS FAVORED BY DIRECTORS OF THE BANK.

Adoption of a resolution favoring the purchase of the building, equipment and fixtures of the Bank of South Greensboro, a branch of the American Exchange National bank, featured the special meeting of the directors of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank and Trust company Monday night.

The terms have been agreed upon by the directors of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank and Trust company and the directors of the American Exchange National bank, but the purchase price has not been made public. The proposition will be presented to the stockholders of the American Exchange National bank and the Greensboro National bank at a joint meeting on February 15, and it is confidently expected that it will be formally approved at that time.

While the consummation of the deal whereby the Farmers and Mechanics bank would acquire the physical property of the American Exchange National in South Greensboro is contingent upon the purchase of the Greensboro National by the American Exchange National, it is believed certain that that purchase will be effected, the proposition having already been sanctioned by the directors of the two national banks. Action upon both matters will be taken at the stockholders' meeting on February 15.

The Bank of South Greensboro is located at 524 South Elm street in the center of the South Greensboro business district. The Farmers and Mechanics bank is at 501 South Elm at the point where that thoroughfare and Fayetteville street intersect. If the deal goes through the Farmers and Mechanics will have a larger building, one thoroughly equipped, modern in every respect.

The first floor of the building which now serves as the home of the Bank of South Greensboro will be occupied by the Farmers and Mechanics bank, according to present plans, while the offices on the second floor will be leased to business and professional men. The brick structure was recently extensively remodeled and now presents a very attractive appearance. The building is equipped with bank vaults and other banking equipment of splendid type.

With the purchase of the building, fixtures, etc., the Farmers and Mechanics will be the only bank in South Greensboro. It is proposed to enlarge the business of the bank very materially. Already a gratifyingly large volume of business has been built up.

The Farmers and Mechanics bank will continue to hold the lease on the building which serves as the present home of the institution. To what use the structure will be put in the future, assuming that the purchase plan is finally adopted, has not been determined.

Since its organization last March the Farmers and Mechanics bank has made great strides in the financial and business world. One of the popular features of this enterprise is the plan whereby the bank remains open throughout the day for the convenience of farmers, business men and other patrons.

J. P. Sanders is president of this bank; S. A. Caveness, first vice-president; C. J. Tinsley, second vice-president, and R. M. Middleton cashier.

GREAT GAINS ARE MADE BY JEFFERSON STANDARD

INCREASE IN COMPANY'S RESERVES $2,250,000, ANNUAL STATEMENT SHOWS.

The officers and directors of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company would probably make a enviable record in administering the affairs of United States government as a great business corporation, local observers, reflecting upon the accomplishments which have characterized the company's operations during the year 1921, are convinced some statistician—or perhaps a philosopher—once sagaciously remarked that figures don't lie. Figures presented on another page in this issue of The Patriot disclose a wonderful narrative of the progress of the Jefferson Standard during the year just closed. Every member of the Ancient Order of Persepolis might profitably read and re-read that financial statement until he or she could "say it by heart"—and there would be a sharp upturn in optimism stock in the old land.

While giving consideration to the tremendous gains registered during the year by this organization, a company which is distinctly of Greensboro and Guilford county and the south, with this city as chief operating base, it is manifestly important that the economic conditions which have prevailed be taken into account in order that the full purport of the Jefferson Standard's triumphs may be realized.

New business written by representatives of this company in 1920 reached an unprecedented level of greatness. In the business world it is axiomatic that such a period is followed by painful adjustments. At any rate, such is the usual case, but the Jefferson Standard was not to be deterred by such economic traditions. From the big boss to the most humble office assistant everyone in the great organization was imbued with the determination that former records must be eclipsed in A. D. 1921.

And the annual statement fully attests to the fact that such a laudable ambition was realized. In every phase of the business gains of most impressive character were recorded.

For instance, in assets the gain aggregated nearly three million dollars; in reserves the forward march is written in terms of an increase of more than two and a quarter million dollars, and in resources the gain is materially in excess of two millions. Such statistics afford conclusive evidence of the fact that the Jefferson Standard is just about a top-notch as the most ardent optimist could desire. Furthermore, those who direct and operate the affairs of this inherently sound institution are determined that there shall be a constantly widening program of service in the months and years to come.

The close of the year 1921 found this company with a total of insurance in force of more than $165,000,000, while insurance issued during the year, paid for basis, amounted to more than $40,000,000. Further evidence of the sound management is found in the fact that the rate of actual to expected mortality was just 52 per cent, while the rate of interest earned on mean dividend assets was slightly more than 6 per cent.

The invariable policy of this company has been to place its resources back of southern development by lending all funds from premium income in the sections from which this income is received. It is, therefore of particular significance to note that the company has first mortgage real estate loans totaling more than ten million dollars.

In 1907 the Jefferson Standard had $1,560,700 worth of insurance in force, and that figure contrasted with the present total of more than $165,000,000 is mutely eloquent of the progress attained. The company is recognized as an integral part of the business and economic fabric in the city, county, state and south.

Commenting briefly on the financial statement, C. W. Gold, treasurer of the company, points out that a very large share of credit property belongs to the loyal agents of the organization throughout the southern states. The accomplishments of

CASE AGAINST SHERWELL IN FEDERAL COURT HERE

PLAINTIFFS ALLEGE HE UNLAWFULLY TOOK CERTAIN FUNDS FOR OWN USE.

Baxter Shemwell, who some months ago was sentenced to serve 30 months on the roads of Davidson county for an assault with a deadly weapon upon Solicitor J. C. Bower and the law partner of the latter, Major Wade H. Phillips, of Lexington, is made defendant in a suit filed here in Federal court Tuesday.

The plaintiff, W. J. Shepherd and O. K. W. Howard, of Norfolk, Va., and Ben F. Barbour, of Birmingham, Ala., allege that Baxter Shemwell unlawfully and wrongfully took a certain amount of money from the Mays Manufacturing company, which maintains offices in Lexington and in which they are vitally interested. Baxter Shemwell's wife, Mrs. Susan Shemwell, the Mays Accounting Machine company and the Mays Manufacturing company also are named as defendants in this action, which is in the form of a bill of equity.

Baxter Shemwell forfeited his bond in the criminal case some months ago, leaving Lexington. At Asheville yesterday he stated that the authorities had knowledge as to his whereabouts and could effect his arrest at any time. He added that he had "been in Asheville and Salisbury all the time" and had been absent from Lexington for good reasons. "They want to beat me out of my property," he was quoted as saying.

In the bill of complaint filed here it is asserted that since the organization of the Mays Manufacturing company Shemwell has been an officer thereof and has controlled its action; that Shemwell, "having by actual and intentional gotten the inventor, James F. Mays, into his power, unlawfully and wrongfully obtained possession and control of the valuable assets of said James F. Mays pertaining to said automatic machine, converted the same to his own use and transferred said patents to the defendant, the Mays Accounting Machine company, the large majority of stock of which Mays Accounting Machine company he caused to be issued to himself or to members of his family or to other persons for his own use and benefit."

The complainants further allege that they "are informed and believe that in addition to the stock issued to himself and to others under his own control and for his benefit in said Mays Accounting Machine company, said Baxter Shemwell sold stock in said corporation to other persons to the amount of $25,000 or thereabouts in cash received therefor, the greater portion of which proceeds of sale he converted to his own use."

Appointment of a receiver for all the property of the defendant corporation is sought by the plaintiffs through their attorneys, Wilson and Frazier, of Greensboro; Avery and Erwin, of Morganton, and Avery and Hawfield, of Morganton. The plaintiffs also ask that Shemwell be restrained from voting stock in the concerns and that the books be turned over to the clerk of court for inspection.

C. L. Davis, of Morganton, was appointed temporary receiver by Judge James E. Boyd, who ordered Mr. and Mrs. Shemwell, together with the defendant corporations, to appear in court on January 27 and show cause, if any, why the relief prayed for in the bill should not be granted.

Mr. Mebane was the youngest son of George Allen Mebane and Attella Mebane, having been born at the old Mebane place, Mason Hall, Orange county. He graduated at the Sam Hughes academy at Cedar Grove. He served in Company F, Sixth regiment, throughout the Civil war, having enlisted in the Confederate army at the age of 18. TOBACCO SALES

The Greensboro tobacco market will close for the present season on Friday, February 17, in accordance with a decision reached by the directors of the local market organization Monday night and an agreement of those constituting the Greensboro tobacco board of trade.

Although much tobacco of inferior quality is now being marketed, prices are considered very good; in fact, the better grades are bringing unusually attractive prices, observers point out. One of the best sales Tuesday was that of J. W. Stanley, who marketed 88 pounds at 74 cents, 224 pounds at 58 cents, and 86 pounds at 35 cents a pound.

Most of the football teams have now been put away for the winter in plaster casts.—New York World.

METHODISTS CONFER REGARDING FUTURE CHRISTIAN SERVICE

The Christian program must embody the elements of militancy according to the view expressed by Judge N. L. Eure, lay representative of West Market Street church, at the conference of all the pastors and leading laymen of Methodist churches in Greensboro and nearby territory in the basement of that church Tuesday night.

Although disavowing any unduly pessimistic tendencies, Judge Eure, who might properly be described as the chief keynoter of the gathering of one hundred and fifty exponents of Methodism, nevertheless sounded a note of warning against the growing prevalence of sinful practices in such an enlightened age as the present.

The seating of Truman H. Newberry by the Republicans of the United States senate had aroused the ire of the speaker, who deplored the willingness of those men to sanction the purchase of a senatorial seat with money. "A few years ago," said Judge Eure, "the righteous sentiment of the people would not permit such a thing—Lorimer who undertook to buy a place in the senate was not permitted to take his seat."

"But we do not have to go to Michigan, we do not have to go beyond Greensboro, to find crime and immorality, those terrible twin sisters, unblushingly showing their hideous faces. Right here in this city, if I am correctly informed, immorality of the grossest kind is practiced, especially among our young people, and I am told that in some instances they do not even respect the sacredness of the church edifices."

The speaker urged that "this kind of thing be stamped out by the Christian people. Let every one of us see that his household walks correctly. Let us put an end to such things."

Judge Eure's talk on "The Triple Alliance, Jesus, Methodism and Human Needs," was received with marked approbation.

Rev. W. F. Womble, presiding elder of the Greensboro district, was toastmaster at the banquet, which was prepared and served by ladies of the church. A most pleasing feature was the singing, solos, choruses and quartets, by young men and women students of Bennett college the negro institution operated here under the direction of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Rev. Mr. Womble told of his conception of the opportunities for spiritual development on the Greensboro district, admittedly one of the greatest districts in the Methodist Episcopal church, south. He emphasized the importance of religious work among the children and also urged that this year all charges carry "paid in full" reports to the annual conference. The presiding elder was earnestly desirous that the enthusiasm and spiritual zeal of the officials of the churches find a happy union with the great mass of members, tying up the latter definitely and profitably with the ambitious Christian program.

The pastors from the various churches interestingly discussed "The Vision of Greensboro Methodism as Seen from My Study Window." Rev. H. C. Sprinkle, of Centenary, visualized a new church structure and a steadily expanding program of service. Rev. A. G. Carada, of Summerfield, made a strong plea for the church press. Optimism from Glenwood and Grace was voiced by Rev. W. A. Barber, while Rev. L. B. Hayes referred to the bright outlook for Park Place. Rev. G. T. Bond was enthusiastic as to the possibilities at Spring Garden Street, where, with college girls in attendance, one may reach "the heart of the state."

Promising was the report from Holt's chapel and Mount Pleasant submitted by Rev. D. R. Proffitt, and Rev. C. F. Sherrill, of West Greensboro, discussed "the crucified Christ." Rev. A. Burgess talked of the great work at Walnut Street. Rev. J. H. Barnhardt, D. D., outlined some of the cardinal plans for the year at West Market Street, the program including a minimum new membership of 250, and Rev. E. P. Billups, the assistant pastor, talked of the fine prospects for work among the young people. It was pointed out that the junior organiaction would be organized next Sunday morning. Other speakers were Rev. J. W. Kennedy, of Carraway Memorial; Rev. W. M. Curtis, of Greensboro college; Rev. S. T. Barber, conference evangelist; Rev. A. W. Plyler, editor, and Rev. T. A. Sikes, business manager of the North Carolina Christian Advocate. Rev. Mr. Plyler foretold a subscription list of 30,000 and a 32-page paper each issue.

The laymen spoke on the topic, "We Are the Men to Make Real the Vision of Our Pastors." The speakers were C. T. Archer, Bethel; J. E. Faulkner, Centenary; H. L. Bergman, West Greensboro; E. W. Durham, Grace; J. A. Lowdermilk, Carraway Memorial; W. C. Lambeth, Glenwood; E. D. Grubbs, Walnut Street; W. A. Mann, Spring Garden street; Fred C. Odell, Park Place, and Frank C. Boyles, West Market Street. "The best preacher in the conference is the possession of West Market Street," Mr. Boyles said.

Rev. H. C. Sprinkle, district leader of the circulation campaign of the Advocate, the official organ of the two conferences in this state, made an effective plea for that paper in every Methodist home in the district. Such a plan already has been agreed upon at Centenary, he reported.

ROBERT E. LEE.

It is not only the south which today honors the memory of Robert E. Lee. On the anniversary of his birth today people from every section of the United States, north and south, east and west, pay tribute to the great leadership, the Christian character and the many fine traits of this man who even in defeat faced the future with courage undimmed and who subsequently played a part in the solution of reconstruction problems no less heroic than the part which he played in the War Between the States.

Some philosopher has advanced the idea that what really counts most is not what you get in this world but how you get it, not your successes, as the term is usually understood, but the way in which your life is lived. In other words, it is not the number of games you win but the way in which you play the game, the great game of life. The effectiveness of that philosophy cannot be disputed and the example of Robert E. Lee in all that he did, whether crowned with the victor's laurels or seemingly defeated, should be an inspiration to men and women everywhere.

The greatness of the man cannot be questioned. Many students of history consider him the greatest military genius the world ever has known. However, it is even more gratifying to recall the fact that, irrespective of the stern nature of the tasks committed to his leadership, he never became hardened to human suffering, he never could have been accused of ruthlessness. His big heart bled with the heart of the south and his great heart rejoiced with that of the south as this section gradually emerged from the horrors of war and of reconstruction.

As an educator Robert E. Lee attained an enviable position. His breadth of vision in civil pursuits is perhaps best illustrated by his action in establishing at Washington and Lee university, of which he was the revered and illustrious president, the first school of journalism in America.

Eight years after the death of General Lee the school of journalism at Lexington, Va., was discontinued because of lack of funds. Now a campaign for funds with which to continue the work of that commendable enterprise is in progress. Surely the people will proudly contribute to this undertaking. This plan affords a practical method of showing our love and admiration for Robert E. Lee, gallant soldier, noble leader, great educator and warm friend of a great people.

A HERMIT PASSES.

From Rocky Mount a few days ago came a story relating to a man who was found dead in "the one room hovel at South Rocky Mount where he had lived in solitude for a number of years." His passing, according to the correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer, "concludes a life of mystery and isolation here." Little was known of the man in Rocky Mount. Evidently he was satisfied with the life of a hermit and expected others to be satisfied.

There is tragedy in such a life. This man might have become a great school teacher or lawyer or doctor or he might have attained an enviable reputation in some other vocation. He might have become the esteemed friend of many people. We are told that "he was keenly intelligent and highly educated." But he probably exercised his intellect chiefly in preventing curiously inclined persons from becoming acquainted with him. In his youth he may have been very ambitious; perhaps the wrecking of some fond ambition was the dominant factor in impelling him to spend the remainder of his life in seclusion. All of which is, of course, purely speculative. But there are some things which we know and one of them is that such a mode of living is not usually profitable either to the man or to those around him. It is related of this man that he had boasted "that he had never done any work."

When we think of the vast amount of work to be done in this old-world (and it is a good old world) we sometimes almost wish that the work days could be lengthened, say fifty or seventy-five per cent. When we think of the number of fine new people whom we could meet in those extra hours and the number of opportunities which the lengthened days would afford for closer acquaintance with those whom we already know, we experience something of the same feeling. It is mighty fine to try to use the few talents which we have been given as we think it was intended that they should be used, and one of the finest ways is through association with other people.

Perhaps if the Rocky Mount recluse had been induced to attend a few corn shuckings and political campaign meetings he would have found himself running for the legislature—and then he would have learned how to shake hands and make enough money during twenty-two months to support himself a Raleigh during the other two, as well as a number of other profitable things. But even as a hermit he might have performed a service for his fellows: he could have written a book telling folks how utterly unprofitable and undesirable is the life of a hermit.

It must be admitted that a considerable amount of muscular activity would be necessary to translate Henry Ford's Muscle Shoals plans into accomplishments. Perhaps he believes that where there's a Muscle there's a way.

Gen. Wu Pei Fu is said to be trying to oust President Hsu Shi Chang, hoping to replace him with Li Yuan Hung Well, the proofreaders have little choice in the matter.

AIR AND SEA SEARCH FINALLY REWARDED.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 16.—The return this afternoon of the three-passengers of the flying boat New York, missing since Friday afternoon when it left Miami for Bimini, ended one of the greatest air and sea searches ever instigated off the South Atlantic coast. The three men were: H. C. Crenshaw and M. F. Kahn, of Montgomery, Ala., and Clinton Leopold, of Nazareth, Pa.

The men were found Sunday night on Great Isaac's reef, 18 miles north of Bimini, where they had managed to put in after tossing on the waves for seven hours.

Five planes and two speed boats that conducted a two-day search covered in all approximately 3,000 miles. The three men were Shriners who came to Miami for a ceremonial held here Friday and Saturday which was attended by about 3,000 other Shriners, and anxiety for them spread over the whole gathering.

SELL 30,000,000 POUNDS OF TOBACCO IN DECEMBER.

Raleigh, Jan. 17.—Thirty million pounds of leaf tobacco sold on 142 North Carolina tobacco markets in December brought an average price of $23.72 per hundred pounds, bringing the season sales reported in the state to 212,000,000 pounds of tobacco, sold at an average of $25.50 for a total value of $60,220,276, according to the monthly crop review issued yesterday by Frank Parker, agricultural statistician.

Radical revision of the estimated production for the year is made in the report, and the initial figures reduced from an estimated 294,000,000 to 260,000,000 pounds of tobacco in North Carolina for 1921 as against 433,000,000 for the preceding crop year. The estimated value of the year's crop is placed at $83,334,432. The season, while not closed finally, is drawing to the end, and only the poorer grades remain yet to be marketed.

Greensboro's average in December was $14.32.

It was agreed that the utmost care must govern all activities in establishment and operation of the institution.

Selection of a site remains undetermined. Further consideration will be given to this phase of the matter at a subsequent meeting of the board.

The commissioners adjourned Tuesday evening until the regular February meeting.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED IN FLORIDA TOWN.

Mayo, Fla., Jan. 17.—A mob of approximately 1,000 persons overpowered officials here today, took a negro who killed W. R. Taylor Saturday night and lynched him on the outskirts of the town.

The negro's summary fate came on the third day of a country-wide man hunt, pursued by officers in the day, and the citizenry in general at night. Last night's search was ended early this morning when a heavy rain forced the armed bands to return to their homes.

Taylor, the son of a well-known naval stores operator and himself a rural mail carrier, was shot and killed at midnight Saturday when he entered the negro's home to investigate a quarrel. The negro, known as "Shorty," used a shot gun, the cartridge of which was so arranged that the discharge entered Taylor's body as one solid piece rather than as scattered buck-shot. Taylor had married only recently.

When the officers returned here with the negro today following his capture several miles from the town, they were intercepted by incensed citizens, who dropped their daily tasks and quickly formed.

The officials had little chance of protecting their captive and the work of the men bent on lynching was short. The negro's body was riddled with bullets after having been hanged to a tree.

PASSENGER TRAIN HITS ROBERT WALTERS' CAR.

An automobile driven by Robert Walters, of White Oak, was struck by Southern railway passenger train No. 138 early Tuesday morning at the Summit avenue crossing in this city, resulting in the demolition of the machine. Mr. Walters, however, was uninjured, although he was thrown about 20 feet from the wrecked automobile. He was motoring to Greensboro and, according to local officers, stated that the gates on the north side of the crossing were not down.

Stop your Dollars from rolling away

Now, honest, isn't it true that more farm implements rust and rot out than really wear out? When your roof leaks you mend it and stop the damage. Before the rust starts rolling away the dollars you paid for your implements, why don't you stop it with paint?

Paint costs so little and saves such a lot.

PREPARE FORMS.

Forms For Filing Income Tax Returns Are Ready For Taxpayers.

The following statement is issued by Collector of Internal Revenue William Grissom, district of North Carolina:

Forms 1040A, revised and simplified, for filing individual returns of income for the calendar year 1921 of $5,000 and less are now available. It is announced, at the office of collector of internal revenue, Raleigh, N. C., and the following branch offices: Winston-Salem, Asheville, Charlotte, Wilmington, Washington, Rocky Mount, Greensboro, Durham, Reidsville and Statesville. A copy will be mailed to taxpayers who last year filed a return, but failure to receive the form does not relieve a taxpayer of his obligation to file a return on time—on or before March 15, 1922. The form has been reduced from six to four pages, two of which are devoted to instructions which should be carefully read by the taxpayer before filling in the blanks. A study of these instructions will greatly lessen difficulties heretofore encountered in correctly making out the returns.

On page 1, under the head of "Income" are spaces for reporting the following items: Salaries, wages, commissions, etc.; income from partnerships, fiduciaries, etc.; rents and royalties, profit (or loss) from business or profession; profit (or loss) from sale of real estate; profit (or loss) from sale of stocks, bonds, etc., and other income. Beneath are spaces for entering deductions, such as interest and taxes paid during the year; losses by fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty or by theft, contributions, bad debts, etc.

On page 2 are spaces for entering explanations of the various items; i. e., the total amount of income from business or profession, with description (grocery, retail clothing, drug store, laundry, doctors, lawyer, farmer, from rents, and royalties, sale of property, etc.).

Returns are required of every single person and every married person not living with husband or wife, whose net income for 1921 was $1,000 or more, and of every married person living with husband or wife whose net income was $2,000 or more. If the combined net income of husband, wife and dependent minor children equalled or exceeded $2,000, or if the combined gross income of husband, wife and dependent minor children equalled or exceeded $5,000, all such income must be reported on a joint return or in separate returns of husband and wife. If single and the net income including that of dependent minors, if any, equalled or exceeded $1,000, or if the gross income equalled or exceeded $5,000, a return must be filed. A minor, however, having a net income of $1,000 or $2,000, according to marital status or a gross income of $5,000, must file a return. The requirement to file a return of gross income, regardless of the amount of net income, upon which the tax is assessed is a new provision.

"Net income" is gross income less certain deductions which are explained on the form.

Under each of the above conditions, a return must be filed even though no tax is due. The exemptions are $1,000 for single persons and married persons not living with husband or wife, $2,500 for married persons living with husband or wife whose net income for 1921 was $5,000 or less and $2,000 for such persons whose net income was more than $5,000. The exemptions for dependents "a person under eighteen years of age or mentally or physically defective" has been increased from $200 to $400.

A head of a family—a person who actually supports in one household one or more persons closely related to him (or her) by blood, marriage or adoption, is granted the same exemptions allowed a married person.

The normal tax rates are unchanged, 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income above the exemptions and 8 per cent on the remaining net income. The tax this year, as last, may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or in four equal installments, due on or before March 15, June 15, September 15, and December 15.

Heavy penalties are provided by the new revenue act for failure to file a return and pay the tax on time.

Announcement will be made through the press of the date of release of Forms 1040 for filing individual returns of income of more than $5,000.

NEW TEXT BOOKS.

State Commission Would Retain Few of Those Now Used.

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—Few of the text books now used in the elementary public schools of the state are retained on the list of books contained in the report of the state text books commission, made public by the state department of education yesterday. Most of the older books are discarded as unsuitable, or not in conformity with the present course of study pursued in the public schools.

Multiple lists of new books are recommended, generally in the order of the commission's preference, and upon this list the state board of education will ask the publishers to submit contract prices. Awards of contracts will be announced some time within the next few weeks, and the new books will be put into use with the beginning of the 1922-23 school term.

Entirely new series of books in arithmetic, history, grammar, geography, reading, spelling, elementary science, health education, civics and writing are recommended, and the present books in use described as out of date, or unsuitable to the needs of the schools. Publications of 2 different concerns are included on the list of books recommended. Alfred Williams & Co. is the only North Carolina publisher on the list.

HABEAS CORPUS PLEA OF J. L. PEAKE DENIED.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 15.—J. L. Peake, charged with the murder of Henry B. Ashburn, in Winston-Salem, N. C., on the morning of December 8, 1921, was yesterday ordered to be turned over to the North Carolina authorities by Judge T. A. R. Nolan at the conclusion of the hearing in the Knox county criminal court of Peake's plea for habeas corpus release.

Upon plea of Peake's attorneys a stay of ten days was granted to afford them time to file a motion for a new trial which in this instance is a writ of certiorari to the circuit court of appeals.

Triple Tragedy.

Hackensack, N. J., Jan. 16.—Peter Pepe today shot and killed his wife, seriously wounded his daughter, Mary, and then committed suicide at his home in Little Ferry. Pepe recently had been arrested for non-support, the police said, and theory was that this angered him and led to the tragedy.

Church Institute Closes.

The school of methods which has been in progress for some time at West End Methodist Protestant church came to a close Sunday night with a sermon by Dr. H. I. Eldredge, president of the Protestant Theological seminary, who discussed "The Call to Life Service."

GREAT AUTO SHOW.

Fine Displays and Large Crowds, According to
H. M. Chamblee.

With a record-breaking attendance and displays which compelled the admiration of the crowds, the National Automobile Show in New York which came to a close a few days ago was an unqualified success from every standpoint, according to H. M. Chamblee, secretary-treasurer and manager of the Greensboro Motor Car company, who has returned from that notable exposition.

Mr. Chamblee estimates that at all times during the progress of the show there were not less than 100,000 people in attendance, while the total attendance for the entire period would, of course, represent a much larger figure. The display also were of exceptionally attractive character and a very large number of cars were sold.

The Buick displays attracted much favorable attention, the Greensboro automobile man reports. Especially popular was the display of a new model Buick, a roadster of the sport type. Smart and handsome in appearance, with Spanish leather upholstery, finely woven khaki cloth top, and equipped with numerous facilities designed to afford maximum comfort and satisfaction, this car was the center of many visitors' attention. An idea of the popularity of that model at the show is gained from the announcement that as a result of the display the factory output has been sold for three months ahead.

The manufacturers and dealers generally at the show were optimistic concerning the outlook for 1922. Mr. Chamblee states. While they do not anticipate any great "booms," they do confidently expect to witness a steady, healthy increase in business and believe that when the year closes it will be found that 1922 volume compares quite favorably with the volume of any recent year.

Automobile men also state that in their opinion prices in the automobile industry are just about down to rock bottom. They point out that the prices of standard cars are back to pre-war levels and in some instances below levels which prevailed before the war.

Mr. Chamblee states that of 1,875,000 cars built by United States manufacturers in 1921, slightly more than a million were built by Ford while six manufacturers of standard automobiles built 85 per cent of the remainder, figures which impressively show the preponderant public sentiment in favor of machines of standard type.

MEN'S SCOUT TROOP HERE BEGINS ACTIVE TRAINING

Active training of the second section of the Men's scout troop was begun here Monday night when Charles Irvin, acting senior patrol leader, put the fellows through a brief military drill. Patrol Leader J. B. Ward served as color bearer and Bugler Marshal Fink rendered "To the Colors" for the flag ceremony. An interesting address was delivered by W. B. White, former scoutmaster of a Norfolk troop. Games were played under the direction of Herbert Park, playground director. B. T. Ward was elected scribe.

Patrol work will feature the next meeting on Monday evening, January 23, in the basement of the county courthouse.

PROPOSED VETS' HOME TOPIC OF DISCUSSION.

At a meeting of a number of Greensboro citizens Monday afternoon at the O. Henry hotel plans for the campaign to be waged to defray the cost of the proposed home for veterans of the Confederate navy were discussed. The speakers included Admiral A. O. Benahan Cameron, of Stagville. No definite action was taken, but it is expected that the enterprise will be heartily supported here.
