A Bet on Pennsylvania's Majority.
Lancaster, Sept. 5.—Jacob Hartman, of this city, who is reputed as being worth $40,000, made a wager involving $700 with the president of the Common Council of that city that General Harrison would not have 40,000 majority in Pennsylvania. Hartman says he is willing to bet his entire fortune that Cleveland will be elected.

MR. BLAINE'S "IF."—Mr. Blaine evidently regards trusts as what a local Democratic leader was wont to describe as a "hypothetical case." "If there be evils connected with these trusts," he says, "these evils cannot be cured by Congress." Well, that depends entirely on the way in which Congress goes at the work. If it takes it up in the spirit of Mr. Blaine himself, it can, of course, do nothing toward restraining or abolishing the trusts, or toward remedying the gross evils to which they have given rise, for the very good reason that the will would be wanting. But if there were a will there would be a way, and a thorough and effective way, to put a strong check on the worst features of the trusts, namely those that spring from the monopoly giving provisions of the tariff. This is so plain that even a confirmed protectionist and Republican partisan like Senator Sherman—a man who has much more of the statesman in his composition than Mr. Blaine has—concedes it, and states it with the emphasis of simplicity.—New York Times, Ind. Rep.

Must Leave the Brotherhood.

CHICAGO, ILL., September 5.—A local paper says: Telegraph operators along the line of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad are in a state of anxiety over the recent order from the company to sever their connection with the order of the Railway Telegraphers or vacate their positions. It is reported that the company has been making preparations to accomplish this for the past three months, and has secured men to fill every vacancy likely to occur under the order. A member of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers said if it was true that such an order was issued the order of the railway telegraphers would have to break down, for it was not strong, and its constitution prevented any strike. Men would quit the union or leave the railway service.

South Carolina Politics.

COLUMBIA, S. C., September 5.—The Democratic State Convention to nominate candidates for Congress and State officers will meet in this city to-morrow. The body is composed of 318 delegates, divided into two factions, one being pledged to the nomination of the present administration, while the other branch of the party, known as the "farmers movement," is determined, if possible, to have a new deal. The farmers, who are led by B. R. Tillman, a brother of Congressman Tillman, charge the Administration with extravagance in public expenditures, and are holding a caucus to-night to decide upon a candidate to oppose Governor Richardson.

In the ranks of the Tillmanites are all the dissatisfied elements of the State, ex-Greenbackers and Republicans. While they do not now affiliate with the negroes, they have their cordial sympathy.

Tariff Texts.

JAMES A. GARFIELD, July 13, 1868.—Unless the tariff men take heed, unless they consent to a rational and considerate adjustment of the tariff such as only can be made by the full light that a careful statistical study of the subject will bring, I fear from them, more than any other source, a reaction which will bring us by and by into free trade and all its consequences of evil to the manufacturing interests of the country.

I desire to say that, in my judgment, it is not the best mode of defending a tariff to denounce every man who does not pronounce the shibboleth after our fashion as an enemy of the tariff.

JAMES G. BLAINE, Secretary of State, 1881.—The hours of labor in the Lancashire mills are fifty six, in the Massachusetts mills, sixty per week. The hours of labor in the mills in the other New England States, where the wages are generally less than in Massachusetts, are usually sixty six to sixty-nine per week.

Undoubtedly the inequalities in the wages of English and American operatives are more than equalized by the greater efficiency of the latter and their longer hours of labor.

Will Vote for Cleveland.

WATERLOO, IA., September 5.—A big sensation in local political circles has been created by the announcement that several prominent Republicans have determined to vote for Cleveland. Among those mentioned were Judge J. D. Platt, President of the Commercial National Bank; Hon. Lore Alford, one of the most prominent attorneys in Iowa and ex-Speaker of the Republican House of Representatives.

Judge Platt says he cannot longer support the Republican party because of its position on the tariff question. In an honest, fair-minded expression he can find little to criticize in Cleveland's administration. He has been a Republican since the campaign of 1860, when he supported Douglas, but wheeled into line with the war party and afterwards supported Lincoln, Grant and Garfield. He has been with the Republican party, though not an extreme partisan, during and since the war. He believes that the Democratic party, represented by Cleveland as the candidate, is following in the line of Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Arthur in demanding a just reduction of the tariff, while the Republican party is on record as opposing, in their Chicago platform, the oft-asserted principle of that party of tariff reform. The judge prefers to follow principles rather than party, and believes the best interests of the country and the good of the laboring man will be best served by the election of Cleveland and Thurman.

Mr. Alford differs with his party on the tariff and free whisky planks, and will vote for Cleveland.

The Fever Record.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., September 5.—Yesterday's list of new cases contains names of people residing in every quarter of the city. A number of cases are reported from the suburbs, and although the fever is of a mild type in the great majority of cases, it seems to be very contagious. No cases are reported as yet from the south side of the St. John's river, though there have been a number of cases carried from the city by refugees. The board of health will, in all probability, soon issue a call for medical aid. Many excellent physicians have already tendered their services gratuitously. Skilled nurses are very scarce, and are greatly needed. There have been very few cases thus far among the negroes, but the fever is getting a good start in the suburbs where they mostly reside.

The conference between Surgeon General Hamilton and Dr. Seal Mitchell, representing the Board of Health, acting Mayor Grow, ex-Mayor McQuade and several citizens, representing the city Sanitary Association, which was held at Camp Perry yesterday, resulted in a somewhat indefinite promise of aid from the Surgeon General.

The government will probably furnish funds for sanitary work, and for the relief of refugees. It is probable that a refugee camp will be established in the mountains of North Carolina, if the officials of that State will assist.

Washington, D. C., September 5.—Dr. Murray has telegraphed the marine hospital service that there is one isolated case of yellow fever at Manatee and an other at Palmetto. He adds that the river valleys are healthy.

Dr. Wall reports from Tampa that seven cases have developed in the last two days, four of which are positive. The disease is mostly of a mild type and no deaths have occurred.

Thurman's Movements.

PITTSBURG, Pa., September 5.—The Atlantic express, with Judge Thurman aboard, arrived here at 3 o'clock this morning en route to New York. The early hour of Judge Thurman's passage through the city prevented the making of any demonstration.

HARRISBURG, Pa., September 5.—Two thousand people met Judge Thurman at the depot this morning. He spoke for five minutes and was warmly received.

LANCASTER, Pa., September 5.—When the train bearing Hon. Allen G. Thurman and party on their way to New York, reached this city at 12:30 this morning, it was stopped ten minutes. A very large crowd had assembled to greet him. The Young Men's Democratic Club, with a band of music, was at the depot to greet the old Roman. Judge Thurman was introduced to the enthusiastic assembly by Mr. W. U. Hensel, of Lancaster, who asked them to please refrain from shaking the Judge's hand, because he had been so severely gripped on the way that he was suffering from the effects and feared a renewal of it. Judge Thurman delivered a short talk, during which he eulogized Mr. Cleveland's administration.

NEW YORK, September 5.—Senator Thurman arrived at the Pennsylvania railroad depot, Jersey City, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. He was met by a delegation of the National committee.

NEW YORK, September 5.—Mr. Thurman was met at Jersey City by the mayor, and the chairman and members of the National Democratic committee, who escorted him to the Fifth Avenue hotel, where he held a reception this evening. He was cheered by the people who recognized him as he was driven through the streets.

JUDGE FOWLE SPENDS SUNDAY AT HOME.—Judge Fowle arrived in the city Sunday morning and spent the day resting at home. The sprain he received at Wadesboro Tuesday was much more serious than was at first expected, and has given the Judge considerable trouble. He found it very difficult to walk or to stand on the sprained leg the first day or two, but says he is now almost entirely recovered and does not apprehend any further trouble from it. The Judge is very much pleased with the progress of the joint canvass so far. At Troy, Asheville and Siler City there were tremendous crowds and great enthusiasm. He says he never saw the people so thoroughly exercised. They turn out in crowds everywhere and listen to the discussions with the closest attention.

Judge Fowle has been much impressed with the perfect manner in which he finds the Democrats organized everywhere. He says that the progress of the joint discussion far has been most encouraging to him. He has been told at every point that votes were made for the Democracy and he had ample demonstration that this was true. Judge Fowle said he was agreeably surprised at the day's work at Troy. He expected a strong rally of the Republicans there, but instead there was a tremendous outpouring of Democrats and enthusiasm was on tip toe. He found the Democrats of Montgomery in fine spirits as to the outlook and very confident of carrying the county.

At Asheville Judge Fowle was given a grand demonstration. He was met by a long cavalcade of horsemen and received with the most boundless enthusiasm. Judge Fowle left yesterday morning for Graham, where the speaking was resumed yesterday. He is in excellent condition for the canvass. His voice is in fine trim and he has recovered from the effects of the sprain. He expects to put in a more effective week's work this week even than last.—Raleigh News & Observer.

A COMPARISON OF PARTIES.

In metropolitan journalism there is no abler, better equipped and thoroughly conscientious paper than the New York Star. Its opinions are carefully weighed, its judgment the result of mature deliberation—and in consequence these opinions and this judgment carry their weight with the reading public. The following is a Star's recent editorial in contrast of the two parties:

The difference between the inherent motives of the Democratic and Republican parties is irreconcilable. The Republican party is the embodiment of the purpose of Alexander Hamilton, the aristocrat, as opposed to the principles of Thomas Jefferson, the Democrat.

The tendency of the Republican party is toward class rule, centralization and monopoly. Under its rule special privileges have been granted to the few at the expense of the many. It is the defender of "trusts" and the creator of the system of taxing the people for the purpose of enriching corporations or individuals. It assumes through its representatives in the legislatures to regulate the habits and to restrict the personal liberties of the citizen. It declares that the great masses of the people are unfit to govern themselves, and incapable of regulating their own affairs, and upon that ground refuses the right of local self government to towns and cities.

The great majority of the people are Democrats in principle, and have been from the first. Issues have arisen changing the positions and relative strength of parties, but the principle of Democracy has never waned. The agitation growing out of the slavery question gave ascendancy to the Republican party, and it was sustained during the war by a large proportion of the same men who are now supporting Grover Cleveland.

Since the abolition of slavery and the conclusion of our Civil War there has not been any great issue before the people other than the question as to which party might be more safely trusted with the control of the public interests. That question has been so well and so satisfactorily answered by the Administration of President Cleveland that opposition to his re-election upon that issue would be hopeless. Upon what ground, then, does the Republican party base its expectation of success?

The Republican party is already defeated beyond hope of redemption. It is in the position of the man who cries fire when there is no fire. After the first panic the indignant multitude turns upon him, and he is lucky if he escapes with a whole skin.

The nomination of Grover Cleveland by acclamation at St. Louis meant something. It was the response to a popular demand, and the overwhelming majority the Democratic party will receive in November will be a surprise to even in most sanguine supporters to day.

SAVING THOUSANDS OF YEARS.—It is interesting to try and figure the actual extent of the advantages reaped from modern improvements, advantages which some people are bold enough to call in question. Does rapid transit, for instance, really save any great amount of valuable time?

Take a city like New York, where there are perhaps 250,000 people who go each day to and from their work. Remembering the distances travelled by some, it will surely be within limits to suppose that five minutes, on the average, is saved on each journey by the various means of rapid transit of which most avail themselves. This would make an hour on the twelve weekly journeys, and 52 hours, or say five working days in a year.

For 250,000 people this means a yearly saving of 1,250,000 working days, or, reckoning 300 working days to the year, an annual economy of 4,166 years.

Time is money and these are significant figures.—Golden Argosy

PATTI AND THE BURGLAR.—It is said that shortly before Mrs. Patti left Wales for her South American tour she had a thrilling experience with a burglar. The songstress was alone in her chamber preparing to retire for the night, when she heard a sound in an adjoining room, as if some one were moving about. Patti hastily donned a wrapper and walked boldly into the room from which the sounds came, and stood face to face with a gigantic burglar. He wore a mask to conceal his features, and in his hand he carried a heavy club. The plucky woman asked him what he was doing there.

"Don't you see," he replied in a broad Welsh dialect, "I am stealing your diamonds!"

And he held up to her astonished eyes the most beautiful bracelet which she possessed. Patti did not scream. She simply walked across the room, pressed an electric button to summon the servant. In stead of the servant, however, Signor Nicolini appeared on the scene. The burglar attempted to strike him with his club, but his game was frustrated by Patti. She grasped the club as it was raised in the air. Nicolini and the burglar then clucked, and in the struggle that ensued the enterprising but altogether too candid thief was pitched out of a second story window. He descended gracefully and broke a leg. He was found to be a peasant whom Patti had frequently befriended.—London Cor. New York Press.

A TRAVELER AT NASSAU.—Nearly a week was passed in reaching Nassau; a week of dreamful idleness, of weird experiences among my swarthy companions and their strange acquaintances on sea and an island, of starry nights and balmy winds lulling the senses tenderly. After such an experience one grows to resent the touch of land beneath the feet, even though all that greets the eye is quaint, interesting and luxurious. All this is at Nassau and everywhere behind, along the flowery girdled island drives. It is simply Cuba, dimly, under better rule. There are a great hotel, a touch of English aristocracy, a horde of invalids, an ancient flavor of architecture and all forms and customs growing out of human activities, or rather inactivities: white men and women who, under the influence of the narcotic tropical surroundings live and move as in a dream; and 30,000 simple, guileless, half naked black folk so sodden in inertia that mental activity implied in dreams seems impossible. But that is all, save the endless contemplation of God's unthought, unappreciated prodigality of unsought provision of human necessities.—Edgar L. Wakeman in St. Louis Republic.

A PHLEGMATIC ENGLISHMAN.

In one of the wars on the continent of Europe, in the last century in which England and Spain were allied, George Hazlewood, an English soldier, was taken prisoner by the Dutch, in company with twenty three Spaniards. Prince Maurice, who was in command of the Dutch, ordered that eight of the prisoners should be put to death in retaliation for a like sentence passed upon eight Dutch soldiers not long before. It was ordered that it should be decided by lot upon which of the prisoners the death penalty should fall. When the Englishman's turn came he drew a lot which told him that his life was spared. He said nothing but stood by to see the rest of the dreadful ordeal. Presently, two or three fatal lots having been drawn, a Spaniard stepped out to put his hand into the helmet and showed a great reluctance to do so. He drew back once or twice and seemed to be under a great mental strain. "Are you afraid?" asked an officer. "No," said the Spaniard, "but I fear it is wrong to make my own hand the instrument of my own death. I can die willingly, but I fear the guilt of a suicide." George Hazlewood, the Englishman, here stepped forward. "Have you any money?" he asked the Spaniard. "Yes," said the latter, "I have twelve crowns." "Very good," said Hazlewood "if you will give it to me, I will stand the chance in your place." "He is a fool or a madman," said the officer in command; "he does not deserve the life he has so providentially obtained. Let him take the chance in the other's place." Hazlewood put his hand into the helmet and again drew himself safe. "After you had escaped once," the officer asked him, "what made you risk your life again?" "Because," said he, "I thought I had a bargain. You see I risk my life every day for sixpence, and here was a chance to risk it for twelve crowns. I couldn't let it go by, sir!"

ABOUT MONEY.—"The way to use money," says George McDonaid, "is not so easily discovered as some would think, for it is not one of God's ready means of doing good. It is not the potent instrument for the betterment of the world that so many who would fain do the impossible and serve both God and Mammon, imagine it. The rich man has no reason to look upon himself as specially tried. The first question is not how to do good with money, but how to keep from doing evil with it. Money is important as dynamite is important, namely, because it is exceedingly dangerous. Not the most righteous expenditure of money will save the world, but the pouring forth of life and soul and spirit, carrying with it nerve and muscle, blood and brain, and money too, if there be any. All those our Lord spent—spent them in God like fashion—but not this, no money. Of all means for the saving of the world, or for doing good as it is called, money comes last, and far behind."

REFUGEES FROM FLORIDA.

The Raleigh News and Observer of this date has the following:

Gov. Scales yesterday received a telegram from Dr. William Mitchell, president of the Board of Health of Jacksonville, Fla., stating that in response to the advice of Surgeon General Hamilton, he wired to know from the Governor officially what restrictions would be placed upon refugees from Jacksonville to the western part of this State, the number not to exceed five hundred. The telegram was received here and was immediately forwarded to Gov. Scales, who is at Greensboro.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—At the annual meeting of the Greensboro Fire Company, held at their hall last night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—C. D. Benbow.
Vice-President—John Lewis.
Foreman—C. D. Benbow.
1st Ass't. Foreman—S. D. Wilson.
2nd Assistant Foreman—J. B. Fields.
Engineer—W. H. Thomas.
Ass't. Engineer—J. T. Abbott.
Secretary—Geo. Wakefield.
Treasurer—Chas. Lewis.
Janitor—H. W. Detmering.

BEAUTIFUL VIEWS.—While in the office of the C. F. & Y. V. Railway Company yesterday afternoon, Capt. Fry showed us some very fine views recently taken by our excellent photographic artist, Mr. Alderman, at points along the line of the railroad west from this point to Mt. Airy.

Views of the Pilot—its cloud capped summit from a distance, its rugged pinnacles viewed from its base, scenes along the line equal to the gorges and ravines of the Pennsylvania Central; and pictures upon the banks of the Ararat River—have been taken by Mr. Alderman with wonderful fidelity to nature. That section is yet to be one of the favorite summer resorts for the tourist.

FAVORABLE COMMENTS.—Even the metropolitan papers—apt to be exceedingly chary of their praise—are making very commendatory notices of "Lost in London," the spectacular play of Newton Beers. The New York World says:

When a play possesses dramatic interest and not only serves to please the eye by means of its attractive dress, but has musical features, as well, there can be little question of its popularity. Such a piece is "Lost in London" as it is performed at the Grand Opera House. The melo-drama is based upon a story which will always enlist the sympathies and hold the attention of theatre-goers. The theme is effectively handled and the climaxes are dramatic. In short, from a purely dramatic stand point, "Lost in London" can stand upon its merits, but inasmuch as the resources of the scenic artist and stage machinist have been drawn upon, and the musical element has been introduced, the production at once becomes especially attractive. Incidental to the play, The North Britain Pan-Pipe Singers appeared in their national costumes, and rendered a number of North Country songs and glees in a manner that secured a number of encores. The piece was mounted in a spectacular style. The scenery by Seavey was seen to excellent advantage, and the snow effect and Job's Vision were both fine bits of stage illusion.

"OUR ZEB," No. 2.—Dr. Sanderlin is "waking up the echoes" wherever he goes. He makes a very effective speech—a speech to set the people thinking and to win votes. The Charlotte Chronicle gives us the following report of his recent excellent effort at that place:

Dr. Sanderlin reached Charlotte in due time yesterday afternoon, and when he entered the courthouse last night to deliver his address, he had to elbow his way through the crowd, for the house was packed and the aisles were choked up with people. It was one of the largest crowds ever known in our court house. Dr. Sanderlin was introduced by Dr. R. J. Brevard, chairman of the Charlotte Cleveland and Fowle Club, and proceeded to deliver an exceedingly entertaining speech of over an hour in duration. His delivery is splendid, and he is remarkably happy in the application of his jokes, of which he has a large stock and all are good. Dr. Sanderlin in the course of his remarks dwelt upon the Third party, and declared that it was doing an absolute injury to the cause of prohibition in this State. He put it in such a plain, clear and forcible manner, that even Third party men themselves would have been convinced by his remarks that the Third party is very badly out of place in the present campaign. Dr. Sanderlin's speech abounded in good points, especially in regard to organization. He spoke at length on this point and reviewed the benefits to be derived from a thorough organization of the Democratic forces in every township. In organization lies our safety. Dr. Sanderlin's speech was so highly enjoyed that when he closed the great crowd present, in a unanimous desire to have more of it, shouted to him to go on, and the shouting did not cease until Dr. Sanderlin finally reached for his hat, implying by this action that if they did not have enough, he thought that they ought to have, anyway. There were a number of ministers in the audience, and all seemed to thoroughly enjoy Dr. Sanderlin's speech.

UNFORTUNATE.—Mr. Kingsbury, the scholarly editor of the Wilmington Star, wrote yesterday upon the subject which occupied our thoughts on the same day, and expresses himself under the heading of "Unfortunate" in the following forcible terms:

We regret to see the announcement that three negroes have been lynched at Oxford. In some eight years or less, five lynchings have occurred in that town. This is indeed taking the question of life and death out of the regular channels of justice and handing it over to an irresponsible and masked mob. The first two hangings were for a very devilish crime—a most horrible murder of one of the quietest, most inoffensive, worthy citizens for purposes of robbery. The outrage was so infernal and startling that it is no surprise that an indignant community should under the impulse of fear and horror take the villains and send them to a swift, unerring doom, without awaiting the slow processes of law and the technicalities always on the side of crime. But this hanging of three more looks as if some of the people of Granville were become too impatient of authority and were too swift to be a law unto themselves.

The laws are defective, the delays are often inexcusable and even criminal, and the pardoning power is an abuse and even a stench in the nostrils of a long suffering people, but it is better for society and for every community that the regular course of justice should be awaited rather than under the cover of darkness to send out of the world by acts of violence men whose crimes had not been already established. One of the victims of the Oxford lynching is not charged with murder. The blood of no man was on his hands. His alleged crime was a great one, but it is a very serious matter to deprive an immortal being of life upon a suspicion of breaking into a house and then burning it.

It is a mistake for any community to resort to mob law. It loosens the bonds of society, fosters an increasing dissatisfaction with legal processes and the dignity and authority of the courts, and creates a disposition to resort to united violence on the spur of the moment to rectify evils and suppress crime.

AT COLFAX.—The North State is disposed to be facetious over "Uncle Frank" Caldwell's recent visit to Colfax. "Uncle Frank" is very well satisfied with his experience on that pleasant occasion. As the intention first was to ride through the country by private conveyance, his friends could not have been expected to meet him at the railroad, but they very courteously carried him to the station after the speaking, at which there was an attentive crowd—Democrats and Republicans. Mr. Sechrest's hospitality was accepted in the same friendly spirit in which it was tendered. As to the eggs, "Uncle Frank" is not prepared to say whether they were Democratic or Republican "hen fruit"; they made a good lunch at midday, and were unlike the eggs mentioned by our amateur minstrels some time since: "Every egg warranted to hatch a 'nigger,' and every 'nigger' warranted to vote the Radical ticket."

OBITUARY.—Died, at 9 o'clock last evening, Mr. W. H. McCormick, Jr., to whose family we tender our cordial sympathy. The funeral services will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.
