Ohio, early Monday morning, from heart trouble. This bereavement, following so closely upon the death of

Turner, in western Tennessee, is particularly sad. Mrs. Turner left for

BOYS' CORN PRIZES.

Arranged at Meeting of Executive Committee of Agricultural Association.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Guilford County Agricultural Association was held in the office of County Superintendent Foust Saturday to designate the prizes to be awarded in the boys' corn-growing contest this year. The meeting was presided over by Mr. J. A. Davidson, chairman of the board of county commissioners.

In addition to Chairman Davidson and Secretary Foust, the members of the committee present were: Dr. J.
R. Gordon, and Messrs. J. A. Rankin,
J. D. Sockwell, J. F. Doggett, D. H.
Coble, T. N. Sellars, J. H. Sharpe,
John W. Wharton, Jr., S. L. Trog-
don, W. J. Groome, J. G. Frazier, W.
E. Benbow and J. G. Pegram. A number of other representative farmers showed their interest in the movement by attending the meeting
and participating in the proceedings.

It was decided to offer a total of $1,350 in prizes, to be divided as follows: A capital prize of $50 to the boy raising the greatest number of bushels of corn on an acre of land in the county, a prize of $25 for each township, 25 prizes of $15 each, 25 prizes of $10 each and 25 prizes of $5 each.

Thursday, February 3, was seleted as "seed corn" day for the Guilford farmers, at which time the association is expecting to have one of the biggest farmers' meetings ever held in Guilford county. At that time the prizes to be offered the adult farmers will be announced. Mr. C. R.
Hudson, the state agent of the farmers' co-operative work, and Mr. Clarence H. Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, are expected to be present and deliver addresses.

Prof. I. O. Schaub, of the United States department of agriculture, and the state department of education,
who is at the head of the boys' corn clubs in this state, will also be president and wishes to meet every Guilford county boy who desires to enter the contest this year.

At the meeting on February 3 the rules and regulations for the contest will be announced and explained fully.

SEED CORN DAY.

Will be Held in Greensboro on Thursday, February 3.

Thursday, February 3, has been designated as seed corn day in Greensboro, and all the farmers of Guilford county are invited to be here on that day. Mr. W. C. Michael, of Gibsonville, county agent of the farmers' co-operation work, is sending out the following circular letter of information:

"The corn crop is one of the most important in this section of the state.
Aside from good methods of preparation, cultivation, fertilization, etc., the kind of seed planted plays quite a large part in the question of yields.

"In order to assist farmers in getting good seed to plant, the farmers' co-operative demonstration work will have a seed corn day at Greensboro on February 3, 1910. Several expert judges and several practical corn growers will be present to help select seed corn and make talks upon corn growing. They will be on the grounds from 10 A. M. till 4 P. M.

The talks will probably occur from 1 to 2 P. M. Please come and bring with you from thirty to fifty of the best ears of your corn and have enough selected to plant a seed patch of one acre. In the fall we will go into the seed patch with you and help you make a careful field selection. We will then talk about preserving your corn perfectly sound through the winter. Next spring we will start the same operation again
and hope by this means to have some excellent seed corn on a large number of farms in this county.

"We hope you will show your interest in this forward movement by coming out, and be sure to invite your neighbors and the boys to come. Remember the date, the place, and come early."

Death of an Aged Citizen.

Mr. John C. Heath, an aged and highly esteemed citizen, died yesterday morning at his home north of the city. He was 81 years of age and had been a great sufferer for several years. Mr. Heath spent his entire life in Guilford county and was always a good and useful citizen. The funeral was held today at noon at Buffalo Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a devout member, the service being conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Goodman.

MONEY FOR MISSIONS.

Greensboro Churches Show Great Increase in Contributions.

A foreign missionary mass meeting was held in West Market Street Methodist church Sunday afternoon,
when the city churches made reports of the campaign for missions following the recent convention of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in this city. It was one of the most remarkable meetings of any kind ever held in Greensboro. The church was filled to overflowing and no one left during the services, which lasted over two hours. A. M. Scales, an elder in the First Presbyterian church, presided and made an earnest address on the significance of the laymen's movement.

The reports submitted showed that the laymen of Greensboro have pledged $19,205, an average of $3.21
per member, for foreign missions
this year. This is nearly three times the amount contributed by Greensboro churches last year and exceeds by more than $4,000 the amount apportioned to Greensboro at the recent convention of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. The Greensboro churches have increased their pledges from 100 to 1,000 per cent. and the individual pledges are from 2 cents
to $12 a week.

The Methodist denomination leads in the amount pledged, the largest percentage of increase being reported by Spring Garden Street church.

Following the reports received from the various churches, the mass meeting heard brief speeches by a number of laymen and several pastors.

CANDIDATES FOR SHERIFF.

John H. Barker and Dave Stafford
May Enter the Race.

Following the positive announcement that Mr. John W. Wharton, Jr., of Center Grove township, will oppose Sheriff B. E. Jones for the Democratic nomination for sheriff
this year, it is stated that northwestern Guilford may furnish two candidates in the persons of Mr. John H. Barker, of Summerfield, deputy sheriff of Bruce township, and Mr.
Dave Stafford, of Oak Ridge. It is generally understood in his section that Mr. Barker will make the race, and Mr. Stafford has written friends asking their advice as to the advisability of entering the contest.

Messrs. Barker and Stafford are popular men and each of them is in position to command strong support. Mr. Barker has been a popular and efficient officer for a number of years, while Mr. Stafford is well known as a progressive citizen and good party worker.

It is no announcement, but it may be made as a fact that he will ask the Democrats of Guilford for their endorsement in a nomination for another term.

Mr. R. M. Rees, who has been suggested as a candidate for the nomination for sheriff, refuses to say that he will enter the race, but it is no secret that his friends are endeavoring to force him into the contest.

WORK OF SUPERIOR COURT.

Eleven Jury Cases Tried Last Week

—Another Term in February.

The one-week's civil term of Guilford Superior court, presided over by Judge G. W. Ward, adjourned Saturday afternoon, after trying eleven jury cases, none of them being of special importance. In addition to this, a number of cases went off the docket by non-suits, compromises or judgments on motions.

There will be a three-weeks' term
of court here beginning February 14, with Judge W. J. Adams presiding.
The first two weeks will be for the trial of civil cases only; the third week will be for criminal cases. The biggest case on the criminal docket is the indictment against Marion and Lester Butler for alleged libel of ex-Judge S. B. Adams. This case was tried once and the Butlers were convicted, and appealed to the Supreme court, which granted them a new trial.

There are two suits for damages against the Butlers on the civil docket, where Judge Adams is suing them for $50,000 as damages for the alleged libelous publications. These cases may be taken up at the coming term of court, though the impression is that they will be stayed off until it is known what final disposition will be made of the criminal cases.

MAKES FINE SHOWING.

Annual Meeting of Southern Life and Trust Company.

The annual meeting of the Southern Life and Trust Company was held at the company's home office Monday, when highly satisfactory reports of the past year's business were received. A semi-annual dividend of six per cent. was declared by the trust department, which added to the six per cent. semi-annual dividend paid in July last, makes twelve per cent. on the capital stock in dividends paid by this company for the year. A substantial addition to the surplus was also made.

The life insurance business of the Southern Life and Trust Company makes an excellent showing for the year. This is one of the few life insurance companies that has been able to show a profit in its earlier years.
It has been adding to its surplus every year without interruption since it began to do a life insurance business, the increase in surplus to policy holders in six years being from $200,- 000 to $477,308.61. The insurance now in force amounts to $6,056,895, having increased in six years at the rate of $1,000,000 net increase per annum.

The following officers were re-elected:
A. W. McAllister, president; R.
G. Vaughn, first vice president and treasurer; A. M. Scales, second vice president; R. J. Mebane, third vice president; David White, secretary;
Dr. Thomas R. Little, medical director; D. P. Fackler, consulting actuary;
S. A. Holleman, auditor; J. W.
Brawley, J. H. Cook and E. N. Snow, superintendents of agencies.

WORKING FOR A Y. M. C. A.

Active Campaign Will be Inaugurated
at an Early Date.

A movement for the organization of a Y. M. C. A. in Greensboro was formally launched at a dinner given by a number of business men of the city at the McAdoo hotel Thursday night. It was decided to inaugurate the campaign February 10, the work to be done under the personal direction of Mr. M. G. Williams, a successful Y. M. C. A. organizer.

The dinner was attended by about twenty-five leading Greensboro business men and by Rev. G. C. Huntington, of Charlotte, the interstate secretary, and Mr. R. C. Norfleet, president of the Winston-Salem Y. M. C.
A., as guests of honor.

Mr. Joseph J. Stone was the toastmaster, and in addition to Messrs.
Huntington and Norfleet, short speeches were made by Messrs. E.
P. Wharton, R. C. Hood, W. C. A.
Hammel, J. Norman Wills, H. R.
Bush, David Stern, A. W. McAllister,
O. C. Wyong, Rev. Melton Clark
and Rev. Dr. J. L. White.

At the close of the dinner it was decided by a unanimous vote that Greensboro needs a Y. M. C. A. and that no time should be lost in securing it. The plan is to raise a sufficient amount of money in cash and pledges to put the association on a sound financial footing from the start.

Messrs. R. C. Hood, T. A. Hunter,
Joseph J. Stone, A. M. Scales and J.
Norman Wills have been appointed members of the campaign committee.

Schenck, second vice president of the Southern Underwriters; A. M. Scales, first vice president; A. W. McAllister, secretary and treasurer; W. L. Sharpe, assistant secretary and treasurer of the three companies.

Dan Coble in Trouble Again.

Old man Dan "Foot" Coble, who recently spent several weeks in jail on the charge of being implicated in the murder of his son, Simpson Coble, being released from custody after a trial at the December criminal term of Guilford Superior court, is in the limelight again. He was before Justice D. H. Collins Thursday afternoon on the charge of aiding and abetting in the operation of a blockade distillery on his place in Greene township and was held for the next term of Superior court under a bond of $50, which was given.

It was at this distillery, which was operated by the Holt and Amick boys, that the trouble resulting in the death of Simpson Coble occurred and for which Hiram Elliott, a brother-in-law of the dead man, is serving a term of five years in the penitentiary.

DEFECTIVE RAIL THE CAUSE.

Corporation Commission Places the Blame for the Reedy Fork Wreck.

The North Carolina corporation commission, which recently investigated the disastrous railroad wreck at Reedy Fork trestle on the morning of December 15, has issued a report as to the cause. The report, after reviewing the circumstances of the wreck, says the commission is of the opinion that a latent defect, known as a "pipe," in the rail was the cause of the wreck. This defect was in the manufacture and could not have been discovered by the railroad company.

"The commission is of the opinion that the rail broke first at a point 195 feet north of the trestle, about 16 1/2 inches from a point, and immediately over a small weather-beaten but sound oak tie."

The commission orders that the costs of the investigation be taxed against the railway company.

Meeting of Friends Foreign Missions Board.

A meeting of the board of foreign missions of the North Carolina Yearly Meeting of Friends was held in this city Thursday, those in attendance being: Rev. Eli Reece, of this city, superintendent of the foreign missionary work in this state; Miss Clara Cox, of High Point, secretary of the board; Rev. Stephen S. Myrick and Messrs. C. W. Petty and N. D. Andrews, of this city; Miss Mary Poele, of Guilford College; Mr. John D. Cox, of High Point, and Mrs. Annie E. Williams, of Lewisville. The board selected "The Why and How of Missions" as the text-book to be studied during the year and the treasurer was instructed to honor a draft of $500 for the cause in Cuba, where the Friends are active in missionary work. Arrangements were made to have the laymen's missionary movement presented to all the quarterly meetings in the state.

Mr. J. W. Canada, of Houston, Tex., a son of Mr. W. Canada, of Summerfield, was married in Lake Charles, La., Thursday, January 13, to Miss Verona Keener, a highly cultured and accomplished young woman. The friends of the groom among the readers of the Patriot will be interested in the following account of the wedding sent out from Lake Charles:

The wedding of Miss Verona Keener, daughter of Mrs. J. E. Shattuck, to Mr. J. W. Canada, of Houston, Texas, was celebrated at the home of the bride's mother, 512 Hodges street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The ceremony was said by Rev. W. Winans Drake, pastor of the Broad Street Methodist Episcopal church, in the presence of the immediate family. Mr. and Mrs. Canada left immediately for Texas, and will make their home in Houston.

"It is doubtful if any Lake Charles girl leaving the city to make her home elsewhere has ever left behind a larger circle of friends and admirers than the bride in this instance. Her lovely character and many admirable traits and accomplishments won for Mrs. Canada the love and regard of all who enjoyed her acquaintance.

"Mr. Canada is the editor and publisher of the Orchard and Home, a Texas publication, and is also secretary of the Texas Citrus Growers' Association. He is well known in Louisiana and Texas, and by his splendid business ability he has laid the foundation for a most successful career."

HEALTH OF SCHOOL PUPILS.

To Undergo Examination as to Eyesight and Hearing and General Health Conditions—The Regulations.

That the school authorities of North Carolina are looking more closely after the health of the children placed under their care is shown by the fact that every public school pupil in Guilford county, along with those of all the other counties in the state, is to undergo an examination as to eyesight, hearing and general health conditions, with a view to ascertaining the physical fitness of these young people for the work they are expected to do. The examination is to be made by the teachers in accordance with instructions sent out from the office of the state superintendent of public instruction, who is working in this matter in conjunction with the state board of education.

Superintendent Foust has received the necessary blanks, charts, etc., for the schools of Guilford county, together with pamphlets containing rules for the guidance of the teachers in making examinations.

In the examination of the eyesight of pupils, for instance, the usual set of letters of various sizes, to be read by the children at varying distances from the letter chart, is furnished, and full instructions are given for the teacher's guidance.

There are six sizes of letters, the smallest ones to be read by the pupils at a distance of 15 feet from the chart and the largest to be read at a distance of 70 feet from the chart. The intermediate sizes to be read at distances between 15 and 70 feet.

The instructions as given in the handbook are in part as follows:

"With pins or tacks fasten the open bulletin flat against the wall in a clear light, so that the test sheet of letters will hang on a level with the head of the child to be examined, seated twenty feet from the letters. Fasten the bottom of the test sheet to the wall with pins or tacks to make it as smooth as possible. Cover one eye with a card held firmly against the nose, taking care not to press on the covered eye with the board. Have the child read aloud the smallest letters he can on the card, from left to right. Record the result."

"The number over each line of the test letters shows the distance of feet at which a normal eyesight ought to read the letters. The lines on the card are numbered from bottom to top, 15, 20, 30, 40, etc., feet. The average normal eye ought to read the letters on the 20-foot line at a distance of 20 feet. If this can be done correctly or without mistake in only one or two letters, the vision may be noted 20-20, or normal. The numerator of the fraction is the distance in feet at which the letters are read (every child being examined in the seat 20 feet away,) and the denominator is the number over the smallest line of letters read. If the smallest letters that can be read are on the 30-foot line, the vision will be noted 20-30; if the letters on the 40-foot line are the smallest that can be read, the record will be 20-40; if the letters on the 50-foot line are the smallest that can be read, the record will be 20-50, etc.

"If the letters on the 50-foot line, for instance, cannot be seen at a distance of 20 feet, have the child approach slowly until a distance is found at which they can be seen. If 10 feet is the greatest distance at which they can be read, the record will be 10-50 (1-5 of normal.)"

"Test the second eye by covering the first with a card and proceeding as before. Have the letters read from right to left."

Blank forms are provided upon which teachers will notify parents or guardians of defective eyesight of children placed in their care. The instructions to teachers say:

"If the vision falls below 10-30 in either eye, be sure to send notice promptly. When the vision is 20-20 in one eye and 20-30 in the other, no notice will be sent."

"If the teacher finds that the eyes or eyelids are continually red or inflamed, notice should be sent, or when a child repeatedly complains of pain in the eyes or head, after reading or writing, especially toward the end of school hours. When the child squints, holds his book at less than one foot from his eyes, scowls and uses his eyes at great effort, or is listless and backward in his work, examine him and find out if there is not some defect of the eyes and, if so, take pains to notify the parent or guardian without fail."

Another part of the book of instructions sent out to teachers deals with the ear test, or test of the perfection or imperfection of the child's hearing. This is a matter that has heretofore received practically no attention in the schools, and the introduction of these new rules for saving the eyesight, hearing and general health of the children marks a forward step in the public schools that can hardly be said to be surpassed in importance by any other new system that has been put in force in the schools.

Instructions to the teachers for carrying out the test of hearing are in part as follows:

"The majority of cases of partial deafness and other diseases of the ear found among children can be cured. Ear troubles are often caused by slight affection of the throat or nose that may be easily corrected, if treatment is not delayed too long."

"If a pupil fails to hear an ordinary voice, as in a conversational tone, at a distance of twenty feet, an examination should be given to determine the degree of deafness. Proceed as follows:

"Select any six, eight or ten pupils and have them stand as if on the circumference of a circle of which the teacher, whom they face, is in the center. Require them to stop one ear and then the other with the hand, all the while keeping their eyes closed, as the teacher whispers a word or sentence."

"In this way find out the farthest distance in feet at which the majority of the pupils can understand the whispers. Each pupil must be called away from the others to tell what he heard, so they may not hear the report given. This distance we shall call that for the normal ear.

"Now test all pupils separately. Find out the distance at which the same whispered words and sentences can be understood under the same conditions."

"If it appears from examination that a pupil needs the attention of the family physician or a specialist, the teacher should not hesitate to notify the parent or guardian. There is nothing obligatory in the nature of the warning cards. They do not require anything. They simply give a warning that a probable disease exists, thus placing the responsibility where it belongs. Those in charge of the pupil are at liberty to take notice of the warning or not, as they may see fit."

"If proper attention does not follow the notices sent by the teacher, nevertheless, it is the teacher's duty to endeavor from time to time to convince parents and guardians of the advisability of professional counsel for every pupil that appears to need it."

The handbook which includes the above instructions also contains a large number of tests and suggestions for ascertaining the general health of the pupil which the teacher will be required to keep a close watch over, and in this way it is believed that the schools will not only serve as places where children will be taught, but as places where their physical wants will be taken care of to the extent that their health will become a matter of equal importance with that of "marks," "averages," etc., for which many children are disposed to work, even to the detriment of health."

The executive committee of the Orange Presbyterian Union held a meeting in this city Friday afternoon and made preliminary arrangements for the annual meeting of the union, which will convene in Lexington April 5. Those attending the meeting were: Mrs. R. D. Blackwell, Mrs. J. E. Driscoll and Miss Josephine Taylor, of Durham; Mrs. E. C. Murray, of Graham; Mrs. J. M. Rogers, of Winston-Salem; Miss May McAllister, of Asheville; Mrs. S. M. Rankin and Mrs. W. H. Osborn, of this city.

Broken lot sale. A peculiar event—a sort of one-sided affair—a sale that's all in your favor. Our stocktaking, just completed, brings to light all the small lots and odd sizes. From a merchandise standpoint they are undesirable—they have lost their commercial value to us, and we want to clear them out in short order. But while these small lots and odd pairs are undesirable to us, they are worth just so much to you as if we had a hundred pairs of each size. To get a quick move on these shoes we have made deep cuts on the prices, in many cases marking them down to factory cost and less. So far as the wear is concerned these odd pairs are all right—the last pair out of a dozen is just as good as the first. All kinds are to be found in this cut price lot, men's, women's, boy's and children's. It will pay you to investigate them. Shoes are bound to go higher soon. We are closing out all our ladies' house slippers at reduced prices. Our stock of rubbers is the largest and best in the city, and as these rubbers were all bought before the recent advance we shall sell them at last year's prices while the present stock holds out.

Dr. Knapp Suggests Establishment of Training Schools.

In a recent address at Greenville, S. C., Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, of the Department of Agriculture, made a strong plea for the establishment of farm-training schools to supplement the state agricultural colleges. The result and benefit to the community and the country at large would be immense, Dr. Knapp pointed out, because of the increased production of food supplies and the better condition of those who produced the nation's food.

"At the last census," said Dr. Knapp, "there were two million rented farms and ten and one-half millions of laborers on all the farms of the United States. What per cent of the rented farms were well farmed and what per cent of the ten and one-half million farmers were really good farmers? Possibly one per cent, and five per cent were fairly good, and ninety-four per cent of what they should obtain from the soil. This loss must not be regarded as individual; it is a loss to the state, to the community. What does this state propose to do about it?"

The speaker declared the masses must be divided into two classes—those who could afford to attend a school of some kind and those who could not leave home to obtain an education and who, therefore, must get their education in or near their homes. For such as were able to devote some time to study, Dr. Knapp advocated their attendance on a farm training school, such as he outlined.

"The farm-training school must be both effective and economical," he said. "The training must fit men to do the work on the farm necessary for them to do and, inasmuch as their funds are limited, it must be economical and even if their funds were not limited the farmer must learn economy."

Such a school, in Dr. Knapp's opinion, should be equipped with simple apparatus; it should make a feature of manual labor and it should strive to teach by practical methods rather than through the agency of books.

"Now, after some of these fundamental things are acquired," continued Dr. Knapp "which of course must be acquired along with the other study, what actual knowledge must be obtained? And among the actual knowledge that he needs to acquire for the farm—and I am now discussing the man who proposes to live on the farm, are the following:

"How to make a crop successfully, which will include the preparation of the seed bed, the seed and cultivation; how to do his work the most economically—which would include the kind of teams, the feeding of teams, the use of the best farm tools, etc.; the feeding of animals and the value of the meadow and the pasture; the use of green crops and the economic ration."

The improvement of the farm would follow immediately on the adoption of modern methods and the application of the above knowledge to its administration, said Dr. Knapp. He declared, also, that the improvements on farms at the present time were nearly all of a temporary nature and, therefore, costly in the long run. "The cost of repairs is too great," he said, "and the life of the improvement is too short."

Dr. Knapp concluded his address with a glowing tribute to the farmer's wife. He dwelt upon her practicality and her live for her home. Taking one such woman, whose name he did not mention, he said: "She believed in housekeeping as a fine art and an art worthy of any woman. Such a woman is a treasure in any household and worthy of all honor by the best man that ever lived."

Dr. Knapp is delivering a series of these addresses under the auspices of the Southern Railroad.

Randleman Votes Good Roads Bonds.

An election held in Randleman January 18 for the entire township gave a majority of 200 for a $50,000 bond issue for good roads. Since Randleman put down her three miles of macadam streets and concrete sidewalks, the people of the township have been talking good roads, thus making possible the result of last week's election. The cause was also very much helped by an able talk by Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist, in the Randleman graded school auditorium, on the night of January 14. Randleman is the pioneer in building good roads in Randolph county. When the present street work is completed and the roads voted for last week are built, the entire township will have about eighteen miles of macadam highway.

At Mount Sterling, on the line of the New Tennessee and North Carolina railroad, a few days ago, Mack Simmons and Austin Swanger were employed by the Pigeon River Lumber Company to unload a car on a siding. While they were so engaged another car, which had broken away from a train standing on the grade above them, crashed into the car in which they were working and both men were killed.

THE WASTE OF AMERICAN LIFE.

Accomplishments of Organized Efforts in Reducing Disease.

The conference at Atlanta for the eradication of the hookworm disease is interesting as an example of the organized methods which are now being employed to resist and reduce disease. Within recent memory the ravages of the hookworm parasite were so lightly regarded and the nature of the disease so little understood that it was the subject more of questionable humor than of serious investigation. Today all the resources of medical science, in conjunction with public and philanthropic aid, are brought to bear to combat the disease, which is now recognized as a cause of mental and physical degeneracy.

How much has been accomplished by organized effort toward the reduction of disease and how much remains to be done were shown by E. E. Rittenhouse, president of the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society, in his address at the conference. The death-rate of tuberculosis has been reduced 49 per cent. since 1880 and $8,000,000 is now spent annually to fight that disease. Yet 130,000 American people die from it every year.

The death-rate for typhoid fever as the result of better sanitation has declined 44 per cent. in the same period. Yet the disease still claims 22,000 victims annually. The diphtheria death-rate has been reduced 80 per cent. Yet the disease causes 20,000 deaths a year.

As against this favorable exhibit of the results of preventive medicine, the mortality from the degenerative diseases of the heart, kidneys, arteries and brain has largely increased during the last quarter of a century. Deaths from renal disease have increased 131 per cent., from heart disease 57 per cent., from apoplexy 84 per cent. It is in these fields that the great work of medical science remains to be done. Notwithstanding the balance to the credit of sanitation and hygiene in the reduction of germ disease, the nation loses annually from deaths that should be preventable the population equivalent of the city of Baltimore.

It is apparent that the national health campaign in which local, state and federal authorities are now enlisted and with which societies, associations and individuals co-operate has but begun the reclamation of life it is destined to effect.

Mother and Infant Roasted in Mill Settlement.

Lincolnton, Jan. 20.—Burned to a crisp and still smoking from the fire that had effected its cruel work, the dead bodies of Mrs. J. A. Mullis and her three-weeks-old infant were found on the floor of her home in the Daniel mill settlement late this afternoon by a passerby. A few feet away, in a corner of the room, lay the woman's two-year-old girl, suffocated by the smoke from her mother's garments.

The little one was clutched tightly in the mother's arms and there were mute evidences of the woman's heroic struggle to save her little one or die with it. The older child may recover. Mrs. Mullis was subject to fainting spells and it is presumed that while nursing her baby she fell over against the grate in a swoon.

South Carolina Hospital in Bad Condition.

The reports of the commission appointed to investigate the affairs at the South Carolina insane asylum have been made public. The majority report is a stinging arraignment of the board of regents for neglect of their duties, particularly those laid on them by their own rules and regulations, which require that they shall report the conditions at the hospital each month. The report is most temperate, attaching blame to no one, presenting the facts as they were found, the laws of the state and the institution and the neglect of both, but worse than all, through the testimony submitted showing the very grossest violations of the ordinary rules of sanitation and even decency, such as the bathing of 15 patients of the ward in the same water in a bath tub, and some of those probably afflicted with tuberculosis or other diseases. The location of the foulest water closets, centers of wide soil pollution, within a few steps of what is practically an outdoor kitchen, the absence of screens and many other gross violations of the commonest laws of health.

NEWS OF THE OLD NORTH STATE

A Survey of What is Transpiring in the Commonwealth.

The grand jury of Cumberland county has recommended the establishment of a recorder's court in Fayetteville as a means of reducing Superior court expenses.

John Adams died in Kinston Monday from injuries received while at work on a logging train near that place. Sam Moore, colored, was seriously injured in the accident and is not expected to live.

Pink Dry and Gaston Blake, young white men of Cabarrus county, are in jail in Concord charged with shooting to death Ann Flowe, a colored woman, Saturday. The two men had had trouble with the woman's husband.

A team owned by B. M. Wright and driven by J. A. Loggins was struck by a train at a railway crossing in Winston Saturday morning. A pair of good horses were killed and the wagon reduced to kindling wood. The driver escaped with a few bruises.

At Gastonia last week a construction train on the Southern Railway, running backward, ran into an open switch and collided with cars. Conductor Burt Dettler, who was on a flat car of the construction train, was thrown off and so badly injured that he died later.

Luther B. Lockhart, of Orange county, has been appointed oil chemist to direct the analysis of oils under the illuminating oil inspection act, by Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. Graham. He succeeds the late William A. Syme, whose death was cated the office some weeks ago. He is a University of North Carolina man, now assistant professor of chemistry at Cornell university.

W. H. Rowland, a well known tobacconist of Durham, who last week slashed his throat several times with a razor in an attempt to commit suicide, and then tried to tear out the stitches after his wounds had been sewed up at the hospital, died from the self-inflicted injuries.

Joseph T. Praxton, a young traveling man of Philadelphia, was found dead in his room in a Durham hotel Saturday morning. He was suffering from a severe cold Friday and it is presumed that death resulted from a sudden attack of pneumonia. There is no suggestion of suicide.

The licensed near beer dealers in Fayetteville have been notified by the sheriff to close out their business, that officer holding that the special prohibition act passed for Cumberland county prohibits such establishments. The matter will be carried to the Supreme court, it is said.

A certificate of incorporation was filed with the secretary of state Monday, by the Keystone Finishing Mill, Inc., of Burlington. The authorized capital stock is $125,000, but the company will begin business with a paid in capital of $25,000. The incorporators are: John H. Tate, of High Point; John M. Cook and J. W. Murray, both of Burlington.

Bernice Mangum, a young boy 11 years old, died of hydrophobia at Watts hospital, in Durham, Monday. He was taken to the hospital Saturday and developed rabies rapidly. Previously a madstone had been applied and no anxiety was felt. He was bitten two months ago by a dog that attacked four boys before it was killed. The three other boys were given the Pasteur treatment and recovered.

Governor Kitchin Saturday telephoned the sheriff of Burke county to re-arrest William Lowder, who, it is claimed, has violated the conditions on which he was pardoned some time ago. He was tried for retailing and convicted in March, 1908, and was sentenced to serve six months each in three cases. He was granted a conditional pardon on April 10, 1909, and it seems that he has been guilty of retailing since that time.

The grand jury of Anson county Superior court last week indicted Harry Dunlap, a young white man, for the murder of Eunice Tomlinson, a negro girl. Last September young Dunlap had trouble with the girl and threw a rock which struck her on the head. Several weeks later the girl died and the prosecution claims that death resulted from the injury. Dunlap claims that the girl died from other causes. He was admitted to bail.

The three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Joyce, who live near Flat Rock, Surry county, fell into a well 28 feet deep a few days ago, and when help reached it a few moments later it was clinging to the wall of the well above the water. A bucket was let down and the child told to get in the bucket, but instead it grasped the chain and was in this way drawn to the surface. The child's escape from death is little short of a miracle.

Troy, Albert and Andrew Pearce, three young men of Princeton, Wayne county, are in jail in Goldsboro charged with the murder of Frank Langley, a young man who boarded at their home. The crime was committed at the residence of the Pearces Saturday night, the body being removed later to the railroad track, where it was run over by a west-bound Southern Railway train. The prisoners have refused to discuss the affair and the killing is a deep mystery.

TAKING LIFE EASY.

Convicted Ice King Relieved of Hardships of Prison Life.

C. W. Morse, the convicted New York ice king and banker, who recently began serving a sentence of 15 years in the Atlanta federal prison, appears to be having a fairly easy time in his new surroundings.

A press dispatch from Atlanta says: "Although he has been an inmate of the United States penitentiary here for three weeks, C. W. Morse, who was sentenced to fifteen years' hard labor for violating the national bank laws, is doing no work. Usually when a prisoner arrives he is assigned to some special work unless he is ill. Morse was in good physical condition when he reached the prison, but, though days have grown into weeks, he continues to live a life of ease and idleness. Were it not for the barred windows through which he must look, Morse might be in his Fifth avenue home. He has books and magazines, which he spends his time reading, and he is allowed to smoke all the cigars he wants. His mustache, which was shaved off before he left New York, has grown again, and will not be disturbed."

WOULD CHANGE CONSTITUTION.

Senator Overman Introduces Important Resolution in Congress.

Senator Overman introduced in the senate Monday a resolution proposing a change in the eleventh amendment of the constitution so as to prohibit any state or foreign nation from bringing suit against another state of the United States. The proposed amendment to the constitution would prevent the possibility of suits such as that undertaken by South Dakota, and the one that failed of materialization in Rhode Island. The information having come to him that the New York holders of carpet baggers bonds issued by the reconstruction legislature intend donating series of these bonds to South American countries with the purpose of harassing North Carolina and forcing recognition of them, Senator Overman drafted the proposed change in the constitution so that it will apply to foreign nations. At present individuals cannot sue a state for debt, and Senator Overman would place the same prohibition on states and foreign countries.

BRIEF ITEMS OF GENERAL NEWS.

A Week's Events of More or Less Interest to the Public.

The Iowa Supreme court has held that a Masonic lodge is a charitable institution and need not pay inheritance tax on bequests.

The case against the Coopers, father and son, for the murder of ex-Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, will be heard in the Tennessee Supreme court February 1.

Five prisoners in the jail at Camden, S. C., beat and choked the jailer into a state of helplessness, threw him into a cell and fled. One was captured in a short time.

Col. Robert Lowry, twice governor of Mississippi, Confederate veteran and for half a century prominent in the affairs of his state, died at his home in Jackson, Miss., Wednesday night, aged 78 years.

A fast passenger train on the New York Central Railway was wrecked near St. Johnsville, N. Y., yesterday, resulting in the death of the engineer and the fireman. The passengers escaped serious injury.

Five persons are dead and 15 were injured as the result of the wreck of the Big Four night express from Chicago, which left the track two miles west of Cincinnati Saturday morning while running at 50 miles an hour.

It is said there are only two women lawyers in Tennessee. Miss Marion Groff was the first to be admitted to the bar, but a Miss Wolf, a Jewess, was admitted two days later and was the first to appear before the court of civil appeals and argue a case.

Miss Rose Webber, a stenographer who did work for Dr. Frederick A. Cook for eight days at the Waldorf-Astoria last fall, recovered a judgment of $80 against him by default in the municipal court in New York last week. Later her counsel attached Dr. Cook's bank account.

Judge Loyal E. Knappen, of Michigan, a Federal district judge, has been appointed United States Circuit judge to succeed Judge Lorton, recently appointed to the United States Supreme court, and Arthur C. Denison, of Michigan, has been appointed Federal district judge to succeed Knappen.

The deadlock in the Democratic caucus of the Mississippi legislature, which is trying to elect a successor to the late United States Senator A. J. McLaurin, remains unbroken. Ex-Governor Vardaman remains in the lead, but it appears that he will be unable to rally sufficient support to bring about his election.

For the third time the house of representatives has passed a bill giving separate statehood to the territories of New Mexico and Arizona. The same day the senate passed a bill giving an additional judge to the United States Circuit court of the fourth district, comprising North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

RURAL CARRIERS ASK RAISE.

Sixteen Congressmen Answer Cry With Bills for Increase.

The movement for increasing the pay of rural letter carriers, which if successful will add about $6,000,000 to the annual cost of the postal service, has now taken definite shape and will be vigorously pushed.

The 16 congressmen who have presented bills for raising the pay of carriers have agreed that the increase to be asked be from $75 a month to $90 a month for standard routes of 24 miles, and $1 a mile a day more if the route exceeds 24 miles, and $1 a day a mile less if the route is under 24 miles.

Congressmen who are pushing this legislation have organized a rural carriers' pay conference, with Representative Sheppard, of Texas, as president, and Representative Hinshaw, of Nebraska, as secretary, and appointed a committee, consisting of Representative Sheppard, of Texas; Austin, of Tennessee; Hinshaw, of Nebraska; Steenerson, of Minnesota, and Ashbrook, of Ohio, to present the greater pay proposition to the committee. The editor of "The R. F. D.," a newspaper devoted to the cause of the rural letter carriers, will aid the committee in presenting the case.

What committee will have jurisdiction is not yet determined. Speaker Cannon is wrestling with that problem. All the bills were referred to the committee on postoffices and postroads, whereupon the dormant committee on expenditures in the Postoffice department rose up and demanded jurisdiction over the rural carrier and all other bills that seek to increase salaries in the postal service. As Speaker Cannon has not yet settled the question at issue, the rural carriers' pay conference committee will take no chances, but will make its argument before each committee next week.

Tax on Oleomargarine.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Representative Burleson, of Texas, today appeared before the house committee on agriculture in behalf of his bill repealing the tax on oleomargarine, which tax, he asserted, was responsible for the present high price of butter throughout the country.

Before this tax was imposed, Mr. Burleson said, there was manufactured annually 130,000,000 pounds of oleomargarine which he characterized as a pure and wholesome food product and which sold for from 12 to 18 cents per pound. The price of butter was then 20 to 30 cents per pound.

The production of oleomargarine has been diminished 66 per cent, he said, as a result of the tax, and the price of butter has gone up from 28 to 60 cents a pound.

POSTOFFICE INSPECTORS BUSY.

Report Shows Black-Hand Cases Occupied Some Attention.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Black-hand cases, the most notable of which developed in Ohio, occupied a considerable part of the time of the postoffice inspectors during the last fiscal year ended June 30, 1909.

Such disclosures as are proper to make about the operations of a bureau which, necessarily, must exercise discretion in the publication of its activities, are made in the annual report of Theodore Ingalls, the acting chief inspector of the Postoffice department, given to the public today. The magnitude of the bureau's work is indicated by the fact that at the end of fiscal year there were 66,360 cases outstanding in the field under investigation, and 13,091 under consideration in the department.

It is shown in the report that the robbery of postoffices, the looting of mail boxes, depredations on the mails generally and frauds conducted through the use of the mails increased materially during the last year, the total being $131,942. During the year 1,969 postoffices were robbed, compared with 1,821 the previous year, while 2,398 arrests were made during 1909 as compared with 2,548 the previous year.

Horrible Railroad Wreck on Canadian Pacific.

Death in all its most terrible forms blotted out the lives of perhaps two score people, Friday afternoon, when four cars of a Canadian Pacific passenger train on the Soo branch leaped from the tracks, and, tearing down a steep embankment, plunged through the ice-covered surface of Spanish river at a point near North Bay, Ontario. Some were drowned, others were crushed to death in grinding timbers. Most terrible of all, some maimed and injured, caught in the wreckage of one of the cars, were burned to death.

The dead bodies of 31 people have been recovered and others are missing.

Boycott Meat to Break High Price.

The boycott on meat and other foods whose prices are high, started in Cleveland a week ago, is growing rapidly. Missouri, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois and Michigan are now included in the ranks of the crusaders in the west, while in the East Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Delaware are lifting their voices in protest.

It is estimated that more than 1,000,000 persons have in a brief week become actively interested in the boycott.

A MODEL MOTHER.

Fine Record of an Honored Guilford County Woman.

Elizabeth Underwood Huffines, the widow of David Huffines, who died eight or nine years ago, lives in the old homestead at Holt, six miles northwest of Guilford College and four miles southeast of Oak Ridge.

She is the sole occupant of her home, except at night some of her grandchildren, the children of Fletcher Huffines, stay with her. She is in her eighty-first year; does all her household work, including her washing, ironing, etc. She has chickens which she feeds, looks after and sells two and three dozen eggs weekly.

She owns and milks one cow herself; churns nine pounds of butter each week, eight pounds of which she sells. She plants her garden after it is plowed, doing all the cultivation of Irish and sweet potatoes, turnips, tomatoes, cabbage, etc., digs the potatoes and gathers in all her crop; feeds and fattens her hogs. This year she butchered two. Their combined weight was 754 pounds. She sells in value far more than she consumes in food, clothing, firewood and everything else. Where is the girl, young woman or widow in Guilford county that does as well?

She has had fourteen children, two of whom died in infancy, one at the age of six. Since then two married daughters died, leaving now five sons and four daughters—nine living children, 55 grandchildren and 26 great-grandchildren.

A young couple in this county, an excellent family, has 11 children and twenty-two grandchildren.

NO GROUND FOR DISCOURAGEMENT.

Just because the Missouri, Michigan or New York orchardist reads of fruit returns from the mountain and Pacific coast states far surpassing any he has been able to secure is no reason why he should throw up the sponge, if he feels inclined to do so, and grub out his trees. Rather should he take account of the careful methods by which the western fruit ranchman is able to secure such high returns—namely, painstaking handling of the soil, great care in pruning and spraying, costly thinning, which insures fruit of a proper size, and lastly, and as important as any factor, co-operation in the matter of packing and marketing. Many a New England orchard has been rejuvenated and made immensely profitable by the employment of scientific methods in caring for it, and many another may be made a large source of revenue if handled in the same way. Nearness to market is another factor decidedly to the advantage of the eastern apple grower, as it costs about 90 cents a bushel to land the bushel box of fancy fruit from the Pacific coast in New York or Boston. Let eastern orchard owners make their orchards a primary instead of a second or third rate consideration and give them the attention that the western ranchman does his and they will be surprised at the results.

A NEW MEXICO QUERY.

A lady reader of these notes living near Mountainair, N. M., writes inquiring if strawberries will grow and do well in the rich chocolate soil of that section and if they will need covering during the winter. While the writer is not acquainted personally with the section in question, two or three general statements may be made which will be helpful. In the first place, chocolate soil is usually as rich in fertilizing elements as any other and would seem to be all right for the strawberry. A more important consideration would be sufficient moisture to insure the growth of the plants and the maturing of the fruit, and this would have to be supplied by ditch at needed times if the rainfall were not sufficient. Cultivation should be given often enough to keep the soil mellow and to conserve the moisture. If during the months when the plants were dormant the mercury did not go lower than 10 above zero, the bed would hardly need covering. However, in this connection it is well to keep in mind the fact that it is not degrees of cold that kill berry vines, but alternate thawing and freezing, and local conditions would determine to quite an extent the probable danger from this source.

BLOOD TOLD.

That blood will tell, even in the raising of corn, was nicely illustrated in the case of an Iowa grower who paid $5.25 per bushel for his seed at the time of the corn contest at the State Agricultural college. To prove to his own satisfaction the value of pure bred seed over the best seed selected from common corn, he planted the pure bred seed—Reid's Yellow Dent—in rows alongside the other corn. Both plots had the same stand and received the same cultivation and care. At husking time the pure bred corn yielded at the rate of seventy-one and a half bushels per acre, while the scrub corn gave a return of fifty-nine bushels, a difference of eleven and a half bushels per acre. Since a bushel of corn will plant seven acres it is quite clear that this amount of seed would produce an increased yield equal to seven times that on one acre, or eighty and a half bushels. If this corn was worth 50 cents a bushel, the bushel of seed was worth in crop returns $40.25 more than the common corn. It would be well for the corn grower to have instances of this in mind when he pays a long price for good seed corn next spring.

THE EVERLASTING RAT PEST.

Considering the enormous loss from the rat pest, placed at $100,000,000 annually in this country alone, every farmer and householder should do all in his power by means of traps, poisons and any other devices to reduce the number of the rodents to a minimum. That the war against them should be unending is indicated from their remarkable prolificacy, the adult female producing an average of ten young ones to the litter and from three to five litters in a season. One of the best methods of slow poisoning is one part of barytes mixed with eight parts of cornmeal and stirred into a stiff dough and portions of it placed where the rats will get hold of it. This has an advantage over strychnine or arsenic in that after getting it the rats have time to leave the buildings in which they happen to be in search of water, and are not killed by traps, and it is not so objectionable as effective aids in the work of destruction.

One's real rating as to character is as often indicated by the kind of eggs he turns in at the country grocer's as by the enrollment of his name as a member of the nearby kirk.

In buying pure bred cattle it is well for the purchaser to insist on a guarantee of freedom from tuberculosis and from infection with contagious abortion. There are other ailments he may steer shy of, but these are chief as well as most common.

Strictly used, the word "thoroughbred" refers to a definite breed of horses—running horses—and not to thoroughness or purity of breeding. In the same way the phrase "standard bred" refers to a breed of trotting horses. The word "pure bred" is properly used in referring to any breed of animals or fowls that is full, or pure, blooded.

There are sections in Idaho where the weather is so clear and the air so dry during the season of opening and following that some growers make a practice of allowing blackberries to remain on the vines and evaporate in the sun. When sufficiently dry the canes are cut, run through a sort of thrasher and the dried fruit cleaned and packed.

The fellows who trusted to luck and left their potatoes undug until Oct. 13 last season had an experience they will not soon forget, as hundreds of thousands of bushels through all the northern states were ruined and rendered unmarketable by the cold snap of that date. With no starch factory or denatured alcohol distillery at hand they proved in many cases a total loss.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars that are squandered annually in wildcat investment schemes and blue sky enterprises could be saved for the investors if before letting loose of their money they would get an honest opinion as to the reliability of such concerns from a home banker. It would mean a few cents tied up in postage, but this would be a mighty cheap way out.

In view of the fatal freeze of Oct. 12 and 13, it will be necessary to set an earlier date than Oct. 15 as the limit within which one should select his seed corn. If Sept. 20 were the time chosen and every corn grower went into his best field and secured the soundest and earliest maturing ears and had them hung up to dry by that time and saw to it that they were properly stored during the winter months, the seed corn problem would be reduced to a minimum through all the northern part of the corn belt.

The housewife who is on her feet so much of the day throughout all months of the year should learn a lesson from her husband, who not only rides when mowing, raking, reaping and plowing, but even takes it easy by rigging a riding gear to follow his barrow. This idea she may put to good account by purchasing a light fifty cent stool, two feet high, and having it handy to sit on when doing work at which she would otherwise have to stand. In the course of a long day a good deal of energy may be saved in this way.

It would make the farmers of those states where the rainfall was very heavy during November and where the country roads were rendered well nigh impassable for weeks gasp if they could see figured out in dollars and cents the actual loss they sustained in the single item of increased expense in hauling their produce to market. In many localities it was impossible to stir at all, while in others but a small jag could be moved, and four horses were often required to do this. It seems strange, with agricultural products representing so large a value, that rural dwellers take so slight an interest in a question that in the aggregate means a loss of millions of dollars to them annually.

As with a child, the time for doing most effective work in shaping the character and type of a tree is at the start. For this reason it is better to purchase fruit trees that are a year old rather than two or three years. The low head, which is so highly prized by most orchardists, is best secured by cutting the young tree back to from eighteen inches to two feet the same season it is set. This induces the growth of sturdy lateral branches and gives the trunk a stocky character that is of great value in succeeding years. Whether the tree should be given the vase shaped open top or the round and more close growing top will depend to a great extent upon the climatic conditions prevailing.

There came to the writer's attention the other day the instance of a creamery patron who thought he would get rich more quickly by mixing melted tallow in the can of cream from which the driver's sample was taken, thereby increasing the test of the cream nearly 100 per cent. This went on until the suspicions of the buttermakers and directors were aroused by the presence of the cold, unmixed tallow left in the strainer at the creamery. One day a two quart sample of the doctored cream was turned over to the state pure food inspector, who sent it to a chemist for analysis, when 90 per cent of the fat it contained was found to be plain beef suet, amounting to a pound and four ounces. With this as a starter suit was instituted and a fine of $50 and costs levied. A little later the directors of the creamery compelled the offender to pay back $400, the amount estimated that he had received as a result of the false tests. As it turned out it proved to be high priced tallow, and it is estimated that the game was not worth the candle.

The fewer of these thirty cents on the dollar investment schemes a fellow ties his hard earned money up in, in the vain hope of making fabulous returns, the more quarters he will have at the end of the year.

The cotton crop of 1909, while not the largest on record, is likely to prove the most valuable, with lint fetching 13.7 cents per pound on the farm and cotton seed worth about $25 per ton. At these prices the crop will be worth about $850,000,000 to the growers.

The Massachusetts state board of health has made some investigations into the somewhat mooted question of the relative keeping quality of drawn and undrawn poultry, and its verdict is that if the entrails are so drawn that none of their contents are spilled inside the body the bird keeps better than in the undrawn state.

The history of Berkshire hogs goes back 125 years, the progenitors of the popular breed being described as large in size and of a sandy or brownish color spotted with black. The present day type is black, with white in face, on feet and end of tail. The first importation of Berkshires into America was made by a New Jersey breeder in 1832.

The first prize in the students' judging contests at the international fat stock show held at Chicago in December went to the team from the state college at Ames, Ia., who had 4940 points to its credit. The Ontario team won second place with 4741 points, the other college teams taking part ranking in the following order: Ohio, 4722; Nebraska, 4661; Missouri, 4622; Kansas, 4603; Texas, 4435. The Iowa team won first on cattle and hogs, Missouri first on horses and Ohio first on sheep.

According to Secretary Wilson's annual report for 1909, the American tea crop consisted of 12,000 pounds and was grown in South Carolina in co-operation with the department at Washington. The experimental work attempted on a small scale at Pierce, Tex., has been abandoned owing to unfavorable climatic conditions. The proposition the department officials are up against in the production of tea is the 15 to 20 cent wage paid to tea pickers in the orient. Unless machinery can be devised to do the work there done by hand the tea growing business will have to be given up.

Azoturia, a disease of the horse family that yearly takes off thousands of valuable individuals, is directly due to overfeeding with nitrogenous foods, like clover and alfalfa, and lack of regular exercise. The illness is brought on by an overloading of the circulatory system with unoxidized nitrogen drawn from the liver, where it accumulates. While there are cures for the disease, it is easily prevented by reducing the nitrogenous ration—the feeding of timothy and clean straw, instead of clover and alfalfa, and feeding a light mixed ration of corn and oats. Another help for the horse which does not have regular work is the run of a paddock, where it will get exercise enough to keep in good condition.

J. G. Imboden, a leading Illinois cattle feeder, in a recent address before the Corn Belt Meat Producers' association advised his hearers as feeders of cattle to buy the common kinds of steers rather than high grades, as they would be able to get them at about their own prices since in the case of the grades the owner had too much to say about the price he received. While not intended as such, there seems to be a very excellent argument here for the cattle raiser to produce the grade and high grade steers rather than the scrub, as the call for them is so strong on the part of buyers that there are never enough to supply the demand. This means that the price for this class of steers will always range high.

Whether part of a preconceived scheme or not, it is observable if one looks into the situation at all that one system of national economy, especially as regards transportation and manufacture, seems to be so adjusted as to give the transportation companies of the country the longest possible hauls on raw and finished products. A few illustrations come readily to mind. Cow hides are shipped largely to New England in the raw (one freight charge) and then shipped back all over the west in enormous quantities (another freight charge). The wool product of the great west crosses the continent to eastern mills largely, and when made into blankets and garments is shipped halfway across the continent to reach its consumers (two transportation charges). Instead of the New England states producing all the butter that they use, the bulk of it is shipped from the Mississippi valley, the freight charge being reduced so low that thousands of the hilly farms of the east have been abandoned because of the western competition, but the transportation company gets the freight. And so the list might be enlarged, including Texas onions and vegetables shipped to New York and Chicago, Pacific coast fruits, etc., those near big markets being knocked out by cheap freight rates granted to those living at a distance, and yet through it all the railroads securing a big slice of the proceeds for getting the product, whatever it may be, from producer to consumer. The development, which is certainly an interesting one, is on the increase, but whether best for the largest number of people in the long run remains to be seen.

In this connection, I would like to call your attention to the fact that Guilford county, has enjoyed one of the most prosperous years, not only financially, but one of advancement and permanent improvements, that it has ever been her fortune to have.

Would especially call your attention to the fact that she has erected and paid for four iron bridges, and one concrete bridge, that is a credit to not only Guilford, but to the South.

There have been built over eight hundred small bridges, from three to twelve feet wide, and all the principal roads in the county have been worked and scraped. This leads all previous records of the county.

This work has been accomplished without any increase in tax rate or incurring any indebtedness, and with a tax rate of 79 cents, which is 31 cents under the average county rate of the State, of $1.10.

Let us again call your attention to the fact that we have received the prize of $1,000.00 for having the best roads from Roanoke to Atlanta. This alone is a record that every taxpayer should feel proud of, and doubt that she can continue to macadam her roads without another bond issue, and with very little if any

GOVERNORS IN WASHINGTON.

Congress of Chief Executives—Investigating High Cost of Living—National Legislative Body Slow in Getting to Work.

Correspondence of the Patriot.

Washington, Jan. 24.—During the past week Washington has had more than its usual complement of congresses, or the one we always have with us on the hill, there has been a congress of governors of the states and the civic federation congress. Inasmuch as one of these congresses was composed of the governors of the states, it is not necessary to add that it was a distinguished gathering, but the congress of civic federation men whose names are familiar to readers throughout the United States. Both of them were addressed by the president and by Senator Root and other distinguished men, while members and senators attended their meetings. They were entertained at the White House, at clubs and by residents of the city.

When President Taft appeared on the stage at the first meeting of the congress of civic federation, he was received with enthusiastic applause and made a happy extemporaneous address. But the most significant incident of the meeting was on the following day, when Mr. Gifford Pinchot was announced to address the federation on the subject of conservation. There can be no doubt that in this distinguished representative assemblage he and the cause he represents is the one nearest the hearts of the people at the present time. His address was admirable in that it was free from personalities. He said in substance: "A plague on both our houses. Forget investigations, or at least put them aside for the present and let us pass legislation to prevent the piracy of national resources and to enable us to secure them for all the people and for posterity."

It will not be news to you that the national government and Congress have been impressed with the force and the importance of the widespread movement to reduce the cost of the necessities of life. This is, indeed, a vital question and it appears to be permeating every nook and corner of the country. There will be investigations by the secretary of agriculture and his many field experts; by Congress and by learned and unlearned men throughout the country, and after investigation has done its perfect work it will probably be found that every body knew in the beginning the real causes of the rise in the cost of foodstuffs.

Meanwhile, if the people of the country have nerve enough to continue the boycott on meats, the price of this almost unnecessary article of diet will come down, while there will be great and in some instances, astonishing improvement in health and relief from rheumatism and other uric acid diseases. There is no doubt whatever that the people of this country are the most wasteful of all peoples in the matter of food. They eat too much, they throw away what would support an equal number of people of India, China and Japan and there is not the least exaggeration in the statement that the cost of what the average man in America eats in one day would keep an inhabitant of China or India in food for two weeks. This is a temperate statement. I know it to be true from personal observation on the spot.

Whether one favors or disapproves female suffrage, there can scarcely be but one answer to the question of a vicious suffragette who points to Congress and asks: "Could any body of women waste more time in words? Congress, with more work laid out than could be accomplished in a whole year of daily sessions, has as yet even begun on one of the important items of its lengthy program. Everything waits while the insurgents surge and Speaker Cannon smokes and sits tight in the chair from which they would pry him loose. The Ballinger-Pinchot case, which was to be 'investigated,' has not had a preliminary airing, and knowing Congress, it is safe to predict that when it is introduced we will have a repetition of the Brownsville investigation, the taking of endless testimony, the examination of innumerable witnesses until the public will have forgotten the original issue. The immigration committee hoped to spring a sensation on the public by its introduction of the white slave bill and a few representatives have worked themselves into a fine fury over it, but the public, so far as one can judge it from the capital, shows no acceleration of pulse.

In searching for an explanation of the general ineffectiveness of Congress, too much stress cannot be laid upon the obvious fact that that body has become a huge social center and that the congressional session is regarded more seriously as a social season than a period set aside for the transaction of national business.

Every one is familiar with the fact that the majority of members are engaged in grinding their own axes and that many are the tools of corporations that have elected them, but aside from this it is clear that social ambitions sap the energy and spirit of practically all of them. Washington has become a center of fashion and extravagance. The social pace is set by a yearly increasing colony of millionaires with nothing to do but amuse themselves. Congressmen whose sole income is their salary are endeavoring to keep up and spending all their money and much of their energy in the effort. In any other city they would not attempt it, but having here a vague social position accorded them by reason of their office, they become infected by the prevailing malady to be in the smartest set.

BAD FIRE AT ASHEBORO.

Loss of About $10,000, With Only $3,000 Insurance.

Asheboro, Jan. 21.—Fire originated in the Ross building early this morning and destroyed all the frame buildings between the Morris, Scarboro, Moffitt Company's brick store and McDowell's brick building on the north side of Depot street. The buildings were owned by J. B. Ward, C. S. Morris, W. J. Armfield, John M. Hammer. These were occupied by the Star market, Morris livery company, Lewis restaurant, the Candy Kitchen, pressing club, Alex. Underwood grocery and the Asheboro Telephone Exchange. The store building of Wood & Morgan caught fire across Depot street, but by hard, heroic work the flames were checked. The loss is estimated at about $10,000, with only about $3,000 insurance. North winds and pouring rains helped to save the other buildings nearby. This is in the heart of the business center and will be occupied by brick buildings at an early date.

The Asheboro Telephone Company fitted up some phones in all the out-of-town lines and were in connection with the outside world in about two hours after the fire. It is not known how the fire originated.

THE POWER OF GOVERNORS.

North Carolina Only State That Does Not Confer Veto Authority.

Upon his return to Raleigh Saturday from the conference of governors in Washington, Governor Kitchin talked interestingly of things that impressed him most during the deliberations of the governors devoted to preservation of forests, extent of the state's control over waters and water powers, advisability of uniform state laws, good roads, extradition among the states and the power of governors to enforce laws.

Two discussions that expressly impressed him were the status of powers of the governors to enforce laws and the exercise of veto power. It developed during the conference that every state in the Union clothed its governors with veto power except North Carolina; Ohio and Rhode Island having recently conferred the veto power on the governor. Governor Kitchin says that it developed during the discussions of the powers of governors to enforce laws that in many states the governors have no real power for law enforcement. That while he can write letters, he cannot remove incompetent officials, except those under boards of directors such as control state institutions, and that in such states enforcement depends entirely on the local authorities. In other states, however, the governor says the chief executive has the power to remove sheriffs, clerks, prosecuting attorneys and other officials after hearings as to charges preferred. One state, Massachusetts, at least, has a state police to whom the governor refers the enforcement of all laws in communities where the officials and public sentiment are against the law. This state police takes the nature of a detective as well as prosecuting service.

Governor Kitchin says that one of the first governors he met in Washington was Governor Pothier, of Rhode Island, whom he pronounced an affable, broad-minded, patriotic gentleman. He says Governor Pothier expressed regret that the state had ever passed the act that required him to accept the bond gift of repudiated North Carolina bonds and explained that at the time neither he or the members of the legislature knew its purpose. He was greatly relieved when the repealing act was passed, relieving him of further concern about the bonds and requiring their return to the donors.

THE COST OF CHURCH FEDERATION TO CONGREGATIONALISTS PRESBYTERIANS METHODISTS

Brooklyn, N. Y., January 16.—Today began a series of Christian Mass Meetings, which are to continue during four successive Sunday afternoons in the largest Auditorium of Brooklyn, the Academy of Music, under the auspices of "People's Pulpit Association."

The topic for the day was:—
"What Congregationalists, Presbyterians and Methodists must surrender in the interests of Church Federation."
Pastor C. T. Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle delivered the address. The spacious and elegant Auditorium was crowded so that an overflow meeting with another speaker was deemed advisable. On the platform behind the speaker were several hundred men, including a number of ministers. The audience as a whole was a very intelligent one. The Honorable J. F. Rutherford, Attorney-at-Law, introduced Pastor Russell, who said:—

"I take for my text the Word of the Lord through the Prophet, 'Say ye not, A Confederacy, to all them to whom this people shall say, A Confederacy; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid' (Isaiah viii, 12)."

The desirableness of oneness in the Church of Christ is beyond dispute. The propriety of sectarianism or division is now generally conceded, although twenty years ago many defended the divided condition of the Church as being helpful. They pointed to our Lord's words, I am the Vine and ye are the branches; every branch in me that beareth not fruit my Father, the Husbandman, taketh away. And every branch that beareth fruit he pruneth, that it may bring forth more fruit (John xv, 1-5). They claimed that the denominations were the branches. The evident teaching of the Master here is that his people are related to him in an individual sense and not as parties, sects or denominations, and that they are dealt with from the individual standpoint as one Church and not many.

St. Paul enunciated the same great truth (1 Corinthians xii, 13), declaring that the Lord Jesus is the Head of the Church, which is his Body, and that as the human body has many members under the full control of the head, except when diseased, so the Church, as members in particular of the Body of Christ, are all to be subject to the Lord as their Head. They are all to be so connected with their Head, and thus with each other, that when one suffers, all suffer with it, and when one rejoices, all rejoice with it, because they all have fellowship in the one spirit of the Head. Hence the eye cannot say to the hand, nor the hand to the foot, I have no need of you, for every member is necessary to the prosperity of the Body as a whole. And as the joint supports and strengthens the limb and is joined thereto by sinews, etc., so individually God's people are united to each other in the bonds of grace and truth and love.

It must be conceded that Church Federation or Confederacy is in many respects quite a different thing from the Church's oneness illustrated by our Lord's parable of the vine, and the Apostle's illustration of the human body. Nevertheless since a Federation is proposed as the nearest possible approach to the spiritual enjoinment of Union, it is proper that we and all Christians everywhere should enquire carefully the cost and the gain implied in the Federation movement. As the program shows, this series of meetings will consider impartially the cost of Federation to the creeds of the most prominent denominations. First in the list today we consider the sacrifices of Congregationalism, Presbyterianism and Methodism.

(1) As to church government very slight concessions will be required of any of the federating denominations. Denominational liberties as respects forms of worship and methods of government and discipline are to be permitted very loose rein. The Federation proposes chiefly the regulation of home and foreign mission work and a general watch-care over the interests of the federated systems along the lines of political influence. The expectation is that the political power of the Federation will have considerable to do with moulding of legislation favorable to the Federation, and later on, unfavorable to the smaller denominations not associated in the Federation.

(2) It is along doctrinal lines that the sacrificing in the interest of Federation will be chiefly demanded.

Doctrinally Congregationalists and Presbyterians are one; hence we may consider their sacrifices of doctrine in the interests of Federation as the same. They both accept the Westminster Confession of Faith with its Calvinistic foundation—that God, before the foundation of the world, fore-ordained whatsoever comes to pass; that he predestinated an elect, saintly few to heavenly glory, and equally fore-ordained that the remainder of thousands of millions of non-elect should be maintained in eternal life to all eternity, in order that they might suffer excruciating pains, both mental and physical, never-ending, as a part of the supposed penalty of the "Original Sin" committed by our first parents in Eden.

Evidently there will be few people in these highly intelligent Christian bodies ready to insist, as our forefathers did, that this element of faith is essential to salvation. Few of us would agree with Brother John Calvin, the great architect of this creed, that fellow-Christians rejecting this doctrine should be burned at the stake, as Brother Calvin decided in respect to Brother Servetus. No, thank God! We have outgrown some of the narrowness which so terribly fettered some of our brethren during the dark ages.

Few any longer believe that there are "infants in hell not a span long," because non-elect. Even where the doctrine of Election is still blindly held, few have the temerity to state their belief that any innocent infant was predestinated to everlasting torture. But Brother Calvin's contention expressed in the Westminster Confession is that there are no innocent infants—that the condemnation of Original Sin was to eternal torture and that Adam's children, "born in sin and shapen in iniquity," were therefore not innocent, but guilty—born under the sentence of eternal torment and salvable from it only through membership in the Church of Christ. Indeed we may say that this theory was still older than Calvin, for did not St. Augustine first declare the danger of infants to eternal torture and the necessity of their being brought into the Church of Christ by baptism in order to escape eternal torture? And is not the force of this teaching still manifest amongst both Protestants and Catholics, as evidenced by their fear to have an infant die unbaptized—so that some, in extreme cases, even practice "baptism in utero?"

Doctrinally Methodism is indirectly opposed to Calvinism in every sense of the word. Possibly Methodists will have less to concede than Calvinists, because, although in Wesley's day the doctrine of Free Grace was combated on every hand, it is now the faith of the vast majority of Christendom. The doctrine that God had premeditated and irrevocably fore-ordained the eternal torture of our race except a handful of the Elect was too horrible a one to stand. So the Methodist doctrine of Divine Love for all and Free Grace as respects salvation has appealed more and more to the growing intelligence of mankind. Nevertheless we cannot do otherwise than concede that it will matter little to the thousands of millions which all "orthodox" creeds consign to eternal torture whether they shall suffer eternal agonies as a result of Divine lovelessness in fore-ordaining their sufferings or to Divine inability to outwork for their benefit the supposed advantages of Free Grace arranged for them by Divine Love.

The More Excellent Way.
Our suggestion is that now, in the lapping time of this Gospel Age with the oncoming Millennial Age, as the arc electric light casts the candle of the past into the shadow, so the clearer light now shining from the pages of God's Word casts into the shadow all the doctrines of the "dark ages," relieving us of the horrible nightmare which once bedeviled our hearts and lives and made us fearful of our Creator as an all-powerful, but merciless sovereign. In this blessed light now shining from God's Book have we not a basis for Christian union? Let us see! If we can find in God's Word that the doctrine of Election and the doctrine of Free Grace are both true, both Biblical, but that one belongs to the Church in this Gospel Age and the other to mankind in general in the coming Millennial Age, will not this solve our problem and give us doctrinal union instead of a mere federation based upon the ignoring of doctrine? We can all assent to this, therefore let us examine the facts.

The Bible assuredly declares a Divine election according to a Divine purpose fore-ordained—but not such an election, as Brother Calvin outlined. God fore-ordained the selection of a Church, predestinating the number who would constitute its membership and the character of each one who would be acceptable as a member. He fore-ordained tests of the worthiness of these members and the glorious reward that should be theirs and a great work which they shall be privileged to do for mankind—limitedly now, fully during the Millennium. Accustomed to the election of fellow-citizens to the Presidency, to Congress, etc., where they will have the opportunity for blessing the non-elect, we should have carried this same thought to the Divine election of the Church. We should have discerned that the elect Church, the "Seed of Abraham" (Galatians iii, 29), is specially intended to be the channel of Divine blessing to "all the families of the earth" (Genesis xxviii, 14).

How strange that we overlooked this and the assurance that with the completion of the Church Messiah would exalt her in the "First Resurrection" to be his Bride and joint-heir in his Millennial Kingdom, to be established for the blessing of all mankind! How strange that we did not notice that every text of Scripture used by our Methodist brethren to substantiate their doctrine of Free Grace belongs to the Millennial Kingdom! As for instance, the Bible, after telling us of the completion of the Church now espoused to the Lord and after her marriage or union with him at his Second Coming, as "the Bride, the Lamb's Wife," tells that then "the Spirit and the Bride shall say, Come, and whosoever will may come and take of the water of life freely" (Revelation xii, 17).

Ah, yes, we failed disastrously to keep the Apostle's command, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of Truth" (2 Timothy ii, 15). We failed to thus divide the Truth and to note the portion applicable now and the other portion applicable during the Millennium. Thank God, we are not yet too old to learn. We surely have been thoroughly sickened by our mistaken interpretations of the past, which made nonsense of both the doctrines—Election and Free Grace—and worse than this, defamed and vilified our Heavenly Father, "the God of all Grace."

In the light now shining we may see that the terms of the Divine election of the Church are in every sense of the word without partiality, except as regards character and faithfulness. Those now called with the heavenly calling to be of "the elect" are indeed invited to eternal life on the spirit plane, to be like unto the angels, but more exalted, while the opportunities to be granted to the world in general during the Millennium will be inferior, earthly, restitutionary—yet grand (Acts iii, 19-21). But this difference of reward is counterbalanced by the severer trials and testings of those now called to be of the elect. They must walk by faith and not by sight. They must take up their cross and follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. They must count their lives not dear unto them, but willingly sacrifice their earthly interests that they may be partakers with their Redeemer in glory, honor and immortality, and in his great work of the Millennium—the blessing of the world of mankind with a mental, moral, social and physical uplift.

Cannot we all, Congregationalists, Presbyterians and Methodists, and all others of God's people, unite as one body upon this Scriptural hypothesis? Are we not satisfied with the terms of this election—that they are sufficiently stringent to exclude all except the saintly? Harkken to the Apostle's declaration, which we once so grievously misunderstood: He says of God's election, "Whom he did foreknow he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son." In other words, when our Heavenly Father foreknew and predestinated to gather an elect Church as the Bride of Christ, he also predestinated that none could be members of it unless they attained through faith and obedience in the School of Christ character-likeness of Jesus—heart likeness to him—hence, as nearly as possible, an obedience of the flesh to his Law.

Surely no one will claim that any but a little flock has ever attained to this honored condition; hence our former ideas respecting the non-elect would consign the majority of our families, neighbors, friends and all the heathen, to endless woe. But now how differently we see in God's Word that the elect class is selected in advance, that in God's due time, with the Redeemer, it may bless every creature with fullest opportunity to return to human perfection in a Paradise regained—restored during the Millennium. This proposition of the Scriptures includes those who have gone down to the prison-house of death—into Sheol, into Hades, both the evil and the good. All shall then know, from the least to the greatest, that "Jesus Christ, by the grace of God, tasted death for every man." They shall know that the redeeming blood was not shed in vain, but will secure to each member of Adam's race, not eternal life, but an opportunity to attain eternal life—either on the heavenly plane during this Age or on the earthly plane during the Millennium.

I address you, dear friends, not from a sectarian standpoint, but from a Federation standpoint; yea, more than this, from the standpoint of those who desire to be doctrinally, as well as outwardly, in agreement with the Lord and with each other. Have we not, in this beautiful election of the Bible, the basis for the grandest of all hopes, the highest of all ambitions—to be "heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ our Lord?" Can we want more than this for ourselves? And does it not enhance the glory of this prize to have the prospect of conquering the world for Jesus and for the Father during the Millennium, in the only way in which it ever can be conquered—God's way?

Is it not for this Kingdom that our Redeemer taught us to pray, "Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven?" Is it not for this Kingdom that he taught us to wait, saying, "Fear not, little flock; it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the Kingdom" (Luke xii, 32)? Is it not for this Kingdom that the Lord waits? "Unto him every knee shall bow and every tongue confess." "The knowledge of the Lord shall fill the whole earth." "All shall know him from the least to the greatest." "And it shall come to pass that every soul which will not hear that Prophet shall be destroyed from amongst the people" (Acts iii, 23). Shall we, then, stop merely with an outward federation or confederacy? Shall we not rather unite our hearts and hands along the lines of the Divine promise given to us—"In thee and in thy Seed shall the families of the earth be blessed?" (Galatians iii, 29)

CURES S.S.S. SKIN DISEASES

The skin is composed of two distinct layers. One is known as the epidermis, or outer skin, which has no fibres, and serves principally as a covering to the body, and a protection from outward dangers to the delicate flesh beneath. The other layer is known as the derma, or true skin, and is composed of elastic fibres, fat tissue, glands, lymphatics, nerves, etc. The thousands of tiny veins and arteries with which it is interlaced constantly supply every fibre and tissue with healthful properties from the circulation to keep the skin smooth and perfect.

This is changed, however, when the blood becomes infected with humors, acids or impurities. Instead of constantly supplying rich, nutritive properties to the skin, the circulation deposits the acid impurity with which it is contaminated, into the sensitive fibres and tissues. This causes irritation and inflammation, which splits or breaks the thin outer cuticle, while the tissues beneath ulcerate and discharge upon the surface in the form of Eczema, Salt Rheum, Tetter, etc. There is likewise a dry form of skin diseases, such as Acne, Psoriasis, etc. In these varieties the humor in the blood diseases and inflames the glands, hair follicles, etc., causing them to swell and protrude to the outer surface. Pimples, rashes, eruptions and like troubles, are all dependent on imperfect blood, and no one can have a good complexion, free from humiliating blemishes, unless the skin is kept healthy by good blood.

S.S.S. cures Skin Diseases of every kind by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. It cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to normal strength, multiplies its rich, nutritious corpuscles, and adds to its purity in every way. Then the skin, instead of being irritated, inflamed and diseased by acid impurities or fiery humors, is nourished, soothed and softened by a cooling, healthy stream of blood. S.S.S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and therein lies its ability to cure skin diseases. Book on Skin Diseases and medical advice free.

DEATH OF QUAIN CHARACTER.

Possessed Great Wealth and Lived as a Miser.

A press dispatch from Elizabeth
City under date of January 19 says:
John Louis Hinton, one of the oldest citizens and most noted landmarks
in Pasquotank county, died last night
at his home ten miles from this city, at the age of 89 years. He was stricken Sunday with paralysis and never recovered his speech. Mr. Hinton was one of the most eccentric and remarkable characters in the state, if not in the country.

Although rated as being worth more than a million dollars and owning real estate in almost every state in the union, he lived in a farm house without the comforts of life. He had neither carpets on floor nor curtains to the windows. He is said, winter and summer, to have gone out in the yard to the horse trough for a morning dip. Although owning much valuable real estate in the heart of the business district, the sale of one small piece of which would have made him comfortable for life, in his weekly trips to this city for years he made his way here in a rickety vehicle to some stable where he ate his cold lunch from a tin bucket. He was never known to have eaten at a cafe or a hotel.

One of his most peculiar traits of character was his refusal to sell anything for cash. He was always glad to sell to anyone, whether white or black, and take note secured by property or life insurance policy, which he would carry. It is said that many people have been carried over in their obligations to the eccentric old man
by just paying a small sum occasionally and he was satisfied. He never improved any property and never let any of it get entirely out of his hands. Only recently his sons came into possession of some of his property, a small tract of which they sold on Main street to Kramer Brothers for $20,000.

67 Mortgages on One Tract of Land.

Greenville, S. C., Jan. 22.—One of the most unique happenings that has ever been known in the South and possibly the United States, occurred yesterday in the register of deeds' office when 67 mortgages on one piece of property were satisfied, and now the land in question is held by the heirs without bonds or strings to it.
When Warren Sullivan, a prominent colored farmer, who lived in Butler township, died a year ago, he left his property to 13 children. These children have from time to time given mortgages on their share of the estate, and for the past few years 67 papers have been held on the property.

Want Statewide Prohibition for Virginia.

Without argument and with a unanimous vote the Anti-Saloon League of Virginia in session in Richmond last week, cast local option to the four winds of the earth, and declared for statewide prohibition. The legislature will be asked at this session to pass a bill enabling the people of the state to vote on the question.
Work is being done by members of the league, and those members of the general assembly who are opposed to statewide measures are for the first time just a trifle scared.
It looks as if the "drys" were out to win, and a pretty fight has been precipitated.

As to Bryan's Candidacy.
A dispatch from Corpus Christi, Tex., Saturday said: "While feeling as great interest in the party's welfare as ever, William J. Bryan is in no sense a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination of 1912, according to Charles W. Bryan, his brother and personal secretary. Mr.
Bryan was in Corpus Christi today en route to the Bryan estate in the lower Rio Grande valley on a hunting and fishing expedition."
A few days earlier Richard L. Metcalf, managing editor of Mr. Bryan's paper, the Commoner, stated that his chief would seek another nomination.
The public can take its choice of the two statements.

Mrs. B. R. Tillman, Jr., of Edgefield, S. C., has instituted habeas corpus proceedings against Senator and Mrs. B. R. Tillman to compel them to return to her custody her two children, aged two and five years. The children were taken from the mother by the father soon after the separation of the couple a few weeks ago. Young Tillman formally deeded the children, both girls,
to his parents.

QUALITY RATHER THAN PRICE

When you are sick, would you sell your chances to get well for a few cents? We hardly think so, but there are people who will for a little difference in the quality of drugs they use, buy the cheapest they can get hold of.
This little difference in quality when put into a prescription makes a very big difference in the results expected by the doctor. Get the best and the quickest results by bringing your prescriptions to Gardner's Drug Store, the home of pure drugs, that old familiar store
that has supplied your drug and medicine
wants for over fourteen years and still caters to your wants. Still strives to more than satisfy. Still gaining more friends and still looking for more.
