POPULAR VOTE WILL PREVAIL

HOW NOMINATIONS ARE TO BE MADE IN PRIMARIES.

Democratic County Executive Committee Construes Primary Law and Decides Against Electoral Vote Plan—Speeches Made For and Against the Legalized Primary—Much Opposition on the Part of County Voters.

The Democratic county executive committee held a meeting in the court house Saturday, and after considerable discussion, decided that the county and not the precinct shall be considered the unit in the nominating primaries to be held June 25. This means that, in order to receive a nomination, a candidate must receive a majority of the popular vote of the entire county instead of a majority of the electoral votes in the various precincts, as has been the case heretofore.

The discussion emphasized the fact that there is a decided opposition to the legalized primary plan on the part of many voters, especially in the rural precincts. The objection arises principally from the fact that the country Democrats feel that they are liable to lose a part of their strength under the popular vote plan. They argue, and with convincing force, that it is much easier to get the voters out to the primaries in the towns than it is in the country. Under the electoral vote plan every precinct in the county would vote in the county convention the strength to which it might be entitled, this strength being based upon the vote cast in the last gubernatorial election.

The county committee met at 11 o'clock and was called to order by the chairman, Mr. E. G. Sherrill, who explained the object of the meeting. He called for an expression of opinion from members of the committee, the candidates and other Democrats present.

In response to a request, Mr. W. J. Groome, a candidate for county commissioner, addressed the meeting. He stated that the country people generally with whom he had talked were opposed to the popular vote plan and especially to the second primary. He believed that a big majority of the people in the county favored the old plan.

Mr. C. T. Weatherly, the member of the committee from Fentress, said his people were opposed to the legalized primary and favored the convention plan of making nominations. He believed it would be better for the party, especially in the country precincts, to abandon the legalized primary.

Col. James T. Morehead was called on to express his views in the capacity of a voter and made an argument in favor of the legalized primary and the popular vote plan. He declared that this was the fairest method possible, since it gave every Democrat the opportunity of expressing his individual preference.

Mr. Charles H. Willson, the member of the committee from Bruce, stated that the people in the country are greatly dissatisfied with the plan ought to be changed so as to insure to every precinct its full strength. He pointed out that, under the popular vote plan, the country precincts will not have as large a voice in naming nominees as under the electoral vote plan.

Mr. E. A. Brown, a former chairman of the county committee, made a plea for the popular vote plan and said he didn't think much of the talk that the country Democrats would not attend the primaries. He thought the candidates could be depended on to get their friends out. Mr. Brown called attention to the fact that, of the increase of 41 electoral votes in the county this year, 30 are credited to Greensboro and High Point and 11 to the country.

Prof. T. E. Whitaker, of Oak Ridge, representing the precinct entitled to more votes in the county convention than any other country precinct, made a ringing speech in opposition to the popular vote plan and calling attention to the fact that the committee had the authority to change the plan to the precinct as the unit. He gave several reasons why the electoral vote plan is fairer and more satisfactory to the country voters and argued against pursuing a course that might result in alienating some of these votes. The primaries come at a very busy season with the farmers and it will be much more difficult to get out a representative vote in the town than in the country. While it is true that Greensboro and High Point control 101 of the 158 electoral votes in the county convention, Prof. Whitaker argued that the country precincts will fare even worse under the popular vote plan.

Mr. Robert Brockett, of High Point, followed Prof. Whitaker in a speech warmly advocating the popular vote plan. He ridiculed the idea of the state plan of nomination (and there had been no suggestion of such a course), and speaking for High Point, said many Democrats there would take pleasure in voting for some of the candidates from the country.

Mr. C. C. McLean, a member of the committee from this city, read section 27 of the state plan of organization, which is as follows: "At all primary elections held under this plan—reference here being made to the legalized primary—the county shall be the unit, and the total vote cast throughout the county shall control the nomination, or the percentage of said county's vote in any state or district convention." He argued from this that it is not within the province of a county committee to change the plan. Mr. McLean then offered the following resolution, which was adopted by a vote of 15 to 3:

"Whereas, the question has been raised as to whether or not this committee intended that in the county vote for the nomination of candidates the word 'majority' necessary to nominate meant a majority of the entire vote of the county taking the county as the unit, it is the sense of this committee that such is the primary law, and that the candidates receiving in either the first or second primary a majority of all the votes cast shall be considered the nominees."

Mr. E. A. Brown offered the following resolution, which was adopted: "Resolved, that when there is a candidate from this county for an office, other than a county office, and a candidate from any other county enters the primaries of this county and contests his nomination here, that the name of the candidate from this county shall appear first on the primary ticket."

This resolution, as it is apparent on its face, was introduced in the interest of Maj. Charles M. Stedman, a candidate for the congressional nomination.

Chairman Sherrill announced that Mr. S. C. Whiteheart had resigned as a member of the committee from Deep River, having moved his residence to Forsyth county. Mr. J. Lee Charles was elected to fill the vacancy.

The Primary Regulations. The primaries will be held under the following rules and regulations: The primaries shall be opened at 7 o'clock A. M. and closed at 7 o'clock P. M. in North Gilmer, South Morehead, North High Point, South High Point and precincts Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4. In all other precincts the primaries shall be opened at 7 o'clock A. M. and closed at 6 o'clock P. M.

All Democrats are invited and urged to participate in these primaries, who are or will be qualified voters at the November, 1910, election, and who agree to vote for and support in said election the candidates of the Democratic party for state, congressional and judicial offices, and the candidates nominated in these primaries.

It shall be the duty of any and every Democrat to challenge any person attempting to vote in any precinct primary, when any such Democrat has reason to believe that such person is not entitled to vote in such precinct primary under these rules and the law.

When a voter is challenged the primary managers in such precinct shall require him to take and subscribe to the following oath: "State of North Carolina, Guilford County:

"I, the undersigned, do hereby solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am a Democrat; that I paid my state and county poll tax for 1910 (if I was liable therefor) on or before the 1st day of May, 1910; that I will vote for and support in the November, 1910, election the candidates nominated by the Democratic state, congressional and judicial conventions and those that will be nominated by these primaries; that I am (or will be) duly qualified to vote in the said election in this precinct, and that I am duly registered in this precinct (or will be registered for the November, 1910, election)."

"Subscribed and sworn to before me this 25th day of June, 1910. Primary Manager."

It shall be the duty of the managers to rail or rope off the polling places, and provide booths for voters to use in preparing their tickets. (See primary law.) It shall be the duty of said precinct managers in charge of said primaries, after the close of the polls, to count the ballots, and make out under their hands certificates in duplicate, certifying how many votes each candidate has received and for what office. One of these certificates, together with the poll books, and all voted ballots in a sealed package, shall be immediately sent by mail or safe hands to the chairman of the county executive committee. The other certificate shall be retained by the said managers and by them delivered to the secretary of the county convention at its session on Saturday, July 2, 1910, and the secretary shall compile the returns and report the result to said convention. The compensation of the primary managers shall be $1.50 per day.

Before opening the polls each manager shall take the following oath, before some person duly authorized by law to administer oaths: "I solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will conduct this primary election in all respects as required by law, and by the rules of the state and county executive committees in so far as same are not in conflict with law, to the best of my ability, so help me God."

In order to secure a nomination in the primaries, a candidate must receive the majority of the votes cast for the office for which he is a candidate.

All Democrats participating in these primaries shall be entitled to a seat in the county convention on July 2, 1910, from their precincts; provided, all of the delegates present shall be entitled to cast the vote to which their precinct is entitled in the convention and no more.

Call for Democratic Primaries. Precinct primaries are hereby called to be held at the usual voting places in the various precincts of the county for the selection of Democratic candidates for state, judicial, congressional, general assembly, county and township offices, and precinct committeemen, said primaries to be held on Saturday, June 25, 1910, under the act of the general assembly of 1907, governing primary elections in Guilford county, being chapter 405 in the public laws of 1907, page 502.

By order of the Guilford county Democratic executive committee.

Call for County Convention.

A convention of the Democracy of Guilford county is hereby called to convene in the court house in Greensboro at 11 o'clock A. M. on Saturday, July 2, 1910, for the purpose of electing delegates to district and state conventions, and ratifying the nominations made in the primaries of June 25 and June 30, 1910.

Under the rules of the party every Democrat participating in the primaries of June 25 or June 30, 1910, is hereby constituted a delegate to this county convention.

As provided by the state plan of organization, each precinct shall be entitled to the following vote in the county convention:

Washington 3, North Rock Creek, 5, South Rock Creek 2, Greene 4, North Madison 2, South Madison 1, North Jefferson 2, South Jefferson 2, Clay 4, North Monroe 2, South Monroe 1, North Gilmer 13, Precinct No. 1 11, Precinct No. 2 17, Precinct No. 3 7, Precinct No. 4 16, Fentress 5, Center Grove 3, South Morehead 3, Summer 2, Bruce 3, Friendship 3, Jamestown 5, Oak Ridge 6, Deep River 2, North High Point 12, South High Point 18. Total 158.

DEATH OF LITERARY GENIUS.

"O. Henry," Native of Greensboro, Passes Away Unexpectedly.

Many thousands of people all over the country who have read and enjoyed the charming short stories of "O. Henry" were shocked by the news of the gifted writer's death in a New York hospital Sunday, and to many people in Greensboro the announcement brought a personal bereavement. It was in this city that William Sidney Porter, known to literary fame as "O. Henry," was born and spent the years of his youth.

There are in Greensboro today hundreds of people who knew and enjoyed the friendship of Will Porter as a boy.

The dead author was 46 years old and a son of the late Dr. Algenon S. Porter, a well known physician of his day, and a nephew of the late W. Clark Porter, for many years the leading druggist of Greensboro. It was in his uncle's drug store that young Porter first sought and found employment after leaving school. He was a precocious youngster, and when not engaged in attending to the wants of customers occupied his time in drawing caricature sketches of the physicians and others who frequented the drug store. He displayed wonderful talent in this direction, and it was predicted that he would one day develop into a great artist.

Tiring of the dull routine of drug store life, young Porter emigrated to Texas, where he engaged in various pursuits until he finally drifted into the newspaper business in Houston. He did some brilliant work on the Houston Post that attracted attention. Later he spent some time in New Orleans, and when his reputation as a writer was well established he moved to New York to gain a wider field and a broader perspective of life.

Mr. Porter was a born writer and his stories are racy of the soil. Whether writing of life on the plains or telling a story of existence in the crowded city, his work carried the earmarks of personal experience. The touch of nature was in every line he wrote, and the human interest side of the story was ever present. He was regarded as the greatest short story writer in America, and capable critics have said that he was second only to Edgar Allen Poe.

Mr. Porter first married in Texas, his wife dying about the time of his removal to New York. Two years ago he was married to Miss Sarah Lindsay Coleman, of Asheville, a native of Greensboro, and a writer of distinction. The two were childhood friends in Greensboro, and it is said that there was an attachment between them during their school days in this city.

A press dispatch from Asheville has this to say of Mr. Porter's second marriage and his plans for the future: "While writing under the nom de plume of 'O. Henry,' his work attracted the attention of Miss Sarah Lindsay Coleman, of this city, who herself was writing under the nom de plume of 'Sarah Lindsay.' Inquiries made of her publishers revealed the fact that they were old friends, having had a youthful attachment while he was still a schoolboy in Greensboro. This old attachment resulted in their marriage in this city about two years ago."

Mr. Porter spent the past nine months here working on a new play and intended to return as soon as he had made some arrangements for placing it, it being his permanent home. The funeral was held in New York yesterday and the burial will take place in Asheville tomorrow.

Miss Emma Phipps, one of Guilford's most estimable young women, was married in Raleigh last Thursday afternoon to Mr. George H. Lynch, of Rocky Mount. The ceremony took place at the manse of the First Presbyterian church and was performed by Rev. W. McC. White, the pastor. The bride is an accomplished young woman and is deservedly popular with a wide circle of friends. The groom is engaged in the railroad business at Rocky Mount.

The passenger train leaving Greensboro at 2:30 P. M. for Winston-Salem narrowly escaped a serious wreck Saturday afternoon, when the engine ran into an open switch about a mile this side of Winston and into a carload of crossties that was being unloaded for the new Southbound railroad. Engineer Harris and his fireman were slightly bruised and a negro employed in unloading the crossties was painfully injured.

His bride is an attractive young woman and for the past two years has been teaching in the Reidsville graded schools.

The First National Bank of High Point, which went into liquidation something over two years ago, has paid depositors in full and about 90 per cent on the capital stock to the shareholders. This is a splendid tribute to the business ability and sagacity of the liquidating agent, Mr. W. J. Armfield, and the showing is all the more creditable in view of the financial stringency that has prevailed during the past few years. It was fortunate for the depositors and stockholders that Mr. Armfield was selected as liquidating agent of the bank.

FEDERAL COURT IN SESSION.

Unusually Large Number of Distilling Cases for Trial.

The June term of United States District court convened Monday morning and will continue until the business is disposed of. It is expected that the greater part of the time will be spent in trying civil cases. Mr. Frank A. Brooks, of this city, was made foreman of the grand jury.

The first case taken up was an indictment against D. B. Fields, of Randolph county, who was charged with illicit distilling. He was found guilty and will be sentenced later in the term.

E. R. Burch, of Caswell county, formerly a rural mail carrier from Milton, was convicted of embezzling about $40 from the mails. He was sentenced to jail for ten days and ordered to pay the cost.

J. L. Staley, of Liberty, who was placed under a bond of $500 for his good behavior at the October term, appeared in court and showed that he had not been guilty of illicit distilling since his indictment for that offense last fall, whereupon the case was stricken from the docket and the bond released.

L. F. Shepherd, of Alamance county, was fined $100 for selling un-stamped liquor.

The number of illicit distilling cases on the docket for trial is unusually large.

The degree of B. S. was conferred on the following: Robert Edward Dalton, Jr., Winston-Salem; Miss Mary Gertrude Frazier, Greensboro; Miss Pearl Gordon, Jamestown; William Patterson Holt, Greensboro; Miss Mary Esther Ivey, Cary; Leroy Miller, Linwood, and William Henry Sharpe, Greensboro.

President Hobbs, in his annual report, called attention to the fact that this was the seventy-third annual meeting since the founding of the school campus and the twenty-second commencement since the charter was given to Guilford College. During the year the college enrolled 262 pupils.

It was with regret that the announcement was made that Prof. R. N. Wilson, who has been a member of the faculty for twelve years, would leave with this year. Miss Ada M. Field, a graduate of Guilford, in the class of 1898, and the winner that year of the Bryn Mawr scholarship, a graduate of Bryn Mawr and of the University of Washington, will succeed Professor Wilson.

The Bryn Mawr scholarship, which is given each year to the young woman who makes the best grade, was awarded to Miss Alice Louise Dixon, of Yadinville. This scholarship is valued at $500.

The Haverford College scholarship, valued at $400, is awarded each year to the young man making the best grade and was given to Mr. Edward Schull King, of High Point.

The sophomore prize given by the class of 1904 for oratory was awarded to Mr. John Brooks Wooley, of Ramseur.

The prize given each year by the class of 1905 to the freshman who excels in oratory was awarded to John Thomas Chappell, of Guilford College.

The prize for the best story written during the year for the Guilford Collegian was awarded to Edward Schull King, of High Point.

The prize for the best poem written during the year for the Guilford Collegian was awarded to Miss Anna Davis.

The college honors this year went to Miss Alice Louise Dixon, of Yadinville, who was the only student coming up to the requirements. In order to receive the college honors at Guilford, the student must have received grades of over 90 in every study during the freshman and sophomore years and in addition grades of over 95 in every study during the junior and senior years.

The exercises came to a close with the baccalaureate address, which was delivered by Rev. Dr. Andrew Sleds, of Jacksonville, Fla. His subject was "Liberty and Letters," and the following paragraph from the address conveys his message in a few words: "The only sure foundation of a free republic is the right education of its citizens. This sentiment is traditional in our country. It is imbedded in the constitutions of our states, and repeatedly expressed in the public and private utterances of the fathers."

Union Missionary Meeting Held. A union missionary meeting was held at West Market Street Methodist church last Wednesday night in the interest of the ten-day conference of the young people's missionary movement to be held in Asheville in July. Rev. Melton Clark presided and the speaker of the evening was Mr. J. T. Mangum, who, at his own expense, is making a tour of the country in the interest of the movement. In his address Mr. Mangum explained that the purpose of the movement is to educate the people to the needs in the mission fields. The students' volunteer movement furnishes the work, and the laymen's movement provides the funds to carry on the work. The movement is eight years old and is maintained exclusively by the private gifts of those who have become interested in the work.

Lowery-Stockton Wedding.

Mr. John Lowery, a well known young business man of Winston-Salem, and Miss Martha Kerr Stockton, formerly of Kernersville, were married in this city last Wednesday, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. John T. Hunt, on Walker avenue. The impressive ceremony of the Moravian church was said by Rev. C. H. Wenhold, of Winston-Salem, in the presence of relatives and a few close friends. The groom was attended by Mr. L. Vinson, of Winston-Salem, as best man and the maid of honor was Miss Kate Stockton, of Kernersville, a sister of the bride. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Fred Stockton, of Kernersville. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lowery left for Asheville for their honeymoon. They will be at home in Winston-Salem after Friday.

Marvelous Discoveries

Mark the wonderful progress of the age. Air flights on heavy machines, telegrams without wires, terrible weapons to kill men, and that wonder of wonders—Dr. King's New Discovery—to save life when threatened by coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, bronchitis, hemorrhages, hay fever and whooping cough or lung trouble. For all bronchial affections it has no equal. It relieves instantly. Its sure cure. James M. Black, of Asheville, N. C., R. R. No. 4, writes it cured him of an obstinate cough after all other remedies failed. 50c and $1. A trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Fariss-Klutzn Drug Company.

CHILDREN'S HOME SOCIETY.
Work Accomplished During Past Year—The New Officers.

The fifth annual meeting of the North Carolina Children's Home Society was held in the society's office in this city last Thursday night, when the work of the past year was reviewed and plans made for the future. The following figures from the report of the superintendent, Mr. W. B. Streeter, show something of the scope of the work accomplished in the past 12 months:

Number of children on hand at the beginning of the year, 15; children received during the year, 180; children returned to the care of the society, 22; total for the year, 217; children placed in families during the year, 63; placed with relatives or institutions, 73; delinquents, 5; cripples, 4; on hand for placement, 8; disposition undetermined, 64; children in families subject to visitation, 232; family homes investigated, 215.

The following directors of the society were elected for the ensuing year: Ex-Governor Charles B. Aycock, of Raleigh; George Stephens, of Charlotte; Mrs. W. R. Hollowell, of Goldsboro; J. Van Lindley, of Pomona; J. E. Stagg, of Durham; H. G. Wood, of Edenton, and J. B. Barrow, of Louisville.

Officers were elected as follows: Gen. Julian S. Carr, of Durham, president; Hon. B. F. Dixon, of Raleigh; Dr. P. Venable, of Chapel Hill, and J. Van Lindley, of Pomona, vice presidents; Dr. J. S. Betts, of Greensboro, secretary; E. L. Sides, of Greensboro, treasurer, and E. Sternberger, of Greensboro, financial secretary.

This Is My Birthday.

It was only thirty years ago that Lindsey Hopkins was born. To those of us who have been reading newspapers it seems that name has been familiar at least 25 years, but he did not become famous until he became the Southern Representative of the Atlantic Refining Company of Cleveland, O., and commenced to sell oil in the south, directing a dozen men in this territory. Then he rapidly advanced and finally organized the Overland Southern Motor Company, of Atlanta, Ga., of which he is president, and it seems that the Overland car, now so well known in the South, has been longer on the market. Lindsey Hopkins is known to all consumers of oil. He is a politician, although he never ran for office. He is a poet, although he never wrote a sonnet. He is a musician, although he never sang a song. He is keeping these things for a glad surprise later on. Just now he is chasing and overtaking the fleeting and elusive dollar and he counts them by the many thousands—all his very own. He fitted out an expedition that discovered several North Carolina towns; personally conducted one expedition of exploration that netted him a million dollars. All are glad to know that his thirtieth birthday found him well and happy.

Glad to Recommend Them.

The Fountain Head of Life
Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

Dr. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy or known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Best Offer Yet

How You May Get More For Your Money Than You Ever Received Before.

By a special arrangement with other publishers and a manufacturing concern, we are able to make for a limited time the best combination clubbing and premium proposition we have ever heard of. It is this: For $1.25 we will send The Patriot and the Progressive Farmer and Gazette to any address for one year, and in addition give absolutely free the "Prize Medal Ladies' Work Basket Companion," containing a full variety of large-eyed needles—something every woman needs and will prize highly.

This is how you save by taking advantage of this exceptional offer:

	Regular Price
The Greensboro Patriot one year	$1.00
The Progressive Farmer and Gazette one year	1.00
Ladies' Work Basket Companion	.25

Total $2.25

We Offer All Three For $1.25

You Save $1.00

The only stipulation in this offer is that the subscription to The Patriot must be paid a year in advance and that the person taking advantage of the offer must be a new subscriber to the Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

THE GREENSBORO PATRIOT is the oldest newspaper in North Carolina and the largest and best local weekly published in the state. It gives all the local, state and general news of importance, and in addition carries special features worth many times the subscription price.

THE PROGRESSIVE FARMER AND GAZETTE is the best agricultural paper in the country, and by all odds is the agricultural paper best suited to the people of North Carolina and other Southern states. It is in a class by itself.

THE LADIES' WORK BASKET COMPANION contains a full variety of sewing needles, and also an assortment of darning needles, wool, yarn, cotton, carpet and button needles, etc. It is a select assortment that would cost four times the price if bought separately.

Don't lose any time, but cut out the following coupon and forward it to us at once:

Publisher The Patriot, Greensboro, N. C.

Dear Sir:—Enclosed find $1.25 to pay my subscription to The Patriot and the Progressive Farmer and Gazette one year in advance. Also send me the Ladies' Work Basket Companion (containing a full assortment of needles you are offering as a special premium.) I am not now a subscriber to the Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

(Note.—If you are in arrears for The Patriot, add to the $1.25 an amount sufficient to bring your subscription up to date.)

SPECIAL CAMPAIGN OFFER

If you are not a subscriber to either of the papers, we make you the following special campaign offer: For 50 cents we will send you The Patriot every week from now until the November election and the Progressive Farmer and Gazette for an entire year. The subscription price of both papers is $1 a year, but by taking advantage of this special offer you get the Progressive Farmer and Gazette a whole year and The Patriot nearly six months for the price of a six-months subscription to either of the papers. You can't afford to let this opportunity pass. (This offer does not include the premium needles.)

This offer may not be made again, and you had better take advantage of it today. Fill out the following coupon and forward it to us with either stamps or currency and your name will be placed on the mailing lists of the two papers:

Publisher The Patriot, Greensboro, N. C.

Dear Sir:—Enclosed find 50 cents to pay my subscription to The Patriot until the November election and to the Progressive Farmer and Gazette for 12 months. I am not now a subscriber to either of these papers.

FOR THE NEXT FAIR.

New Agricultural Building—Prizes for Young Corn Growers.

Secretary Garland Daniel and the other directors of the Central Carolina Fair Association are actively at work preparing for the big fair to be held in Greensboro October 11-14. Meetings are being held frequently for consultation among the officials, and no effort will be spared to make the next fair the best in the history of the association.

More attention than ever will be paid this year to the agricultural and stock departments. In anticipation of larger and better agricultural exhibits than were ever made before, the directors have authorized the erection of an additional agricultural building. The new structure will adjoin the present agricultural building and will afford 6,000 additional square feet of floor space for exhibits.

Another new feature that will doubtless meet with hearty approval on the part of the public is the offering of prizes to the youthful farmers who have entered the boys' corn-growing contest in this county. The association has appropriated $50 in gold, $5 to each township in the county, the prizes to go to the boys growing the best corn. There will be two prizes in each township—$3 to the boy growing the best bushel of corn in that township and $2 to the boy growing the second best bushel. All the corn that may be entered in the competition must be exhibited at the fair in the name of the youthful grower.

The catalogue of the next fair will be issued in a short while, and it will show that every department has been improved and improved. Copies of the catalogue will be mailed to all who may make application for them to Secretary Daniel.

Mr. Daniel to Conduct Salisbury Fair.

Mr. Garland Daniel, secretary of the Central Carolina Fair Association, will manage the Salisbury fair this year, having leased the property from the Rowan County Fair Association. The fair will be held the week following the Greensboro fair and will be in the Virginia-Carolina-Greenville circuit, thus getting the same attractions that are booked for the fair at Lynchburg, Roanoke, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Charlotte, Columbia and other cities comprising the circuit.

Mr. Daniel acted in the capacity of assistant adviser and manager of the first fair held in Salisbury, and the event was such a pronounced success that the stockholders and directors are delighted to have him take hold of the enterprise this year.

Good Words for Guilford's Highway Commission.

Charlotte Chronicle.

The good roads work in Guilford county has been conducted under the direction of a highway commission, the term of service of which expired by limitation yesterday. The board of county commissioners at once took over the work of the commission and laid plans for a continuation of the building of good roads at the rate of ten miles a year. From all accounts, the commission performed its duties well and the roads which it built have been given a premium as being the best from a constructive standpoint in the state. Furthermore, the commission turned over to the county $19,216 in cash and $19,000 in equipment with which to start in on the work. There ought to be a tablet at some public point along Guilford's good roads in honor of the commission that built them.

The Progressive Farmer has no superior as an agricultural paper. The Patriot has no superior as a local weekly newspaper. You can get both in a clubbing arrangement for $1.25 a year.

KILLED BY PASSENGER TRAIN.

J. A. Bennett Met Death by Walking on Track—Struck by Engine.

Mr. J. A. Bennett, a mechanic of this city, met a sudden and horrible death last Thursday afternoon, when he was struck by the engine of an incoming passenger train from Winston-Salem. The accident occurred in the western part of the city, near the coal chute, where there are several parallel tracks. Mr. Bennett was struck by the pilot of the engine and hurled several feet. The train was stopped at once and the fatally injured man placed in the baggage car and brought to the station, where Dr. E. R. Michaux, the Southern's local surgeon, was in waiting with the ambulance. The wounded man died en route to the hospital.

The train was in charge of Conductor C. B. Guthrie and Engineer Ed. Harris, two of the most competent and careful men in the service of the company, and they and the other members of the crew did everything in their power for the relief of the victim of the accident. The train was running at a low rate of speed at the time of the accident, having slowed down to meet the city requirements. It seems that Mr. Bennett was walking along a track where he was in no danger of being struck, but when the engineer blew a warning whistle he appeared to become excited or confused and stepped on the track on which the Winston-Salem train was running. Engineer Harris applied the emergency brakes, but the distance was too short to stop the train before striking the victim.

Mr. Bennett was about 40 years old and had been residing in Greensboro for six months or more, having moved to this city from High Point. He was employed for a while at J. E. Albright's plumbing establishment and later by the Wyson & Miles Company. He had been out of employment for several weeks prior to his death. He is survived by his widow.

The funeral was held from the residence on West Lee street Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock, the service being conducted by Rev. Shuford Peeler, pastor of the First Reformed church. Interment was made in Greene Hill cemetery.

FIRE INSURANCE MEN HERE.

Annual Meeting of North Carolina Underwriters' Association.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the North Carolina Fire Underwriters' Association convened in this city this morning and will be in session throughout today and tomorrow. The attendance is the largest in the history of the association, about 100 local agents from all sections of the state and a number of special agents who travel North Carolina being present. The local fire insurance men have provided lavish entertainment for the visitors.

The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by Mr. R. W. Murray, president of the association. An address of welcome on behalf of the local agents was delivered by Mr. Thomas S. Beall and on behalf of the city by Judge Nathan L. Eure. Mr. Francis Womack, of Reidsville, responded for the visitors.

Following the roll call, President Murray delivered his annual address and a report was received from the secretary and treasurer, Mr. John M. Harrell, of High Point. At this afternoon's session the committee on the president's address will make a report and Col. John F. Bruton, of Wilson, will deliver an address on "Fire Insurance as a Commercial Asset." This will be followed by an open discussion, after which the convention will adjourn for a picnic and barbecue at Guilford Battle Ground. The entertainment at the Battle Ground will be provided by the fire insurance companies having home offices in Greensboro.

The local fire insurance men will be the hosts at an informal Dutch luncheon and smoker at the McAdoo hotel tonight.

Tomorrow will be given over largely to the transaction of routine business. At 10:30 o'clock in the morning Mr. James R. Young, insurance commissioner of North Carolina, will deliver an address on "Fire Insurance Conditions in North Carolina; the State and Her Citizens; the Companies and Their Agents."

How to Kill Nut Grass.

W. F. Massey, in Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

The only way I know to kill nut grass is not to let it show a leaf above ground. This means constant cleaning off, for it will be up next day, but if constantly prevented from making green leaves the roots will die. Nut grass spreads more from seed than from the roots, and being neglected late in the season it fills the soil with seed, and nothing but constant vigilance will eradicate it. I have just made a garden here from a piece of land that is full of it, and I am going to do just what I advise: clean up every shoot every day. Nothing short of this will answer. Geese penned on the spots will keep it down, it is said, but I have never tried them.

A SPECIAL SESSION CALLED.

LEGISLATURE TO CONVEENE IN RALEIGH TUESDAY.

Inability to Float Bond Issue Causes Governor to Call General Assembly Together in Special Session—Banks Invited to Meet in Raleigh Today to Consider the Matter—Treasurer Lacy Explains Situation.

Governor Kitchin Friday evening issued a proclamation calling the North Carolina general assembly to meet in extraordinary session in Raleigh next Tuesday to take action as to the impending $3,430,000 refunding bond issue, which is to take care of the state bonds falling due July 1. The necessity for the special session is the inability of the council of state to market the 4 per cent. 40-year refunding bonds at this time in sufficient quantities, under the restrictions of the legislative act authorizing them, to meet the July bond obligations. The proclamation of the governor follows:

"To the Honorable, the General Assembly of North Carolina:

"By and with advice of the council of state, an extraordinary occasion having arisen, I, W. W. Kitchin, governor of the state of North Carolina, in exercise of the power conferred on me by the constitution of the state, do issue this, my proclamation, convening the general assembly in extra session on Tuesday, the 14th day of June, 1910, at 11 o'clock A. M., and do hereby notify and request senators and members of the house of representatives of the general assembly of North Carolina to meet in their respective halls in the capitol in the city of Raleigh at said time, for the purpose of considering the emergency resulting from the inability of the state treasurer to sell, in accordance with chapter 399, of the public laws of 1909, entitled, 'an act to authorize an issue of state bonds to pay off the state bonds which fall due on the first day of July, 1910, sufficient bonds of issue of 1880, which mature July 1, 1910, and of enacting legislation to enable the state treasurer to secure sufficient funds to pay the said last mentioned bonds at their maturity.'

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state to be affixed. Done in the city of Raleigh, this third day of June, 1910."

The first attempt to sell the bonds, May 18, brought in bids for $1,768,000 and these bids were declined as the full issue was not subscribed. At the opening of the second bids, May 28, the bids were for $1,219,000, ranging from par to $1.04. These were accepted, leaving $2,211,000 yet to be subscribed. The act authorizing the bonds requires that these be sold at not less than par.

The governor has written personally to every bank in the state asking that representatives meet him in Raleigh today, to see if the entire issue cannot be floated. Though not officially given out, it is understood that, if this is done, the call for the extra session will be revoked.

Treasurer Lacy's Statement.

State Treasurer B. R. Lacy issues a statement with the sanction of the council of state presenting the bond issue situation. He sets out that when the general assembly met in session in 1909 financial conditions were such that any good bond running for a reasonable term of years and bearing 4 per cent. interest would have sold for par or better, and so certain was it that state bonds would find a ready market that members of the legislative finance committee insisted on offering a three and one half per cent. bond sale. Last October $500,000 State Hospital 4 per cent. 40 year bonds sold readily at 103.

Continuing, Treasurer Lacy reviews the difficulties of the recent sale of many municipal and other bonds, including those of Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York and others. Getting back to the troublesome North Carolina issue in hand, the state treasurer says:

"It is evident from the bids received that, but for the tax exemption clause, our sales would have been much smaller. With this exemption, however, unquestioned, it having been settled by recent decision of the Supreme court, these bonds become most desirable for our banks and corporations and the remaining bonds of this ought to be readily disposed of at or above par.

"The fact that North Carolina has received bids at and above par for $1,200,000 and over of her 4 per cent. bonds speaks well for the credit of the state, especially when the John J. Carlisle committee has engaged in a slanderous and malicious campaign to damage our credit and prevent the sale. While the legislature has been called in extra session for June 11, the state treasurer will again open the bids for the bonds June 16 and as special efforts are being put forth to secure sales of the bonds, it is possible that the remainder of the issue may be disposed of on June 16, and if so the governor will, of course, recall his proclamation for the extra session. But for manifest reasons, owing to the pressing emergency and importance of the matter to the state, the governor could not with prudence delay issuing his call for an extra session."

"The legislature can do only one thing, it seems, and that is to authorize the treasurer to borrow sufficient money to meet the obligations due on July 1, as the suggestion to increase the rate of interest is impracticable, in view of the fact that there is not sufficient time to engrave and dispose of the new bonds, and it would not be wise, as it is generally thought the stringency which has depressed the price of securities is only temporary, and it would in that case be unwise to saddle on the people a long issue at a greater interest rate, when by borrowing for short time, say 12 months, the state can probably dispose of her 4 per cent. bonds before the loan would expire.

"Should the legislature authorize a loan, it should also authorize the state treasurer to dispose of the bonds privately until the next legislature meets, as many think a private sale would result in a practical exchange of new bonds for those maturing July 1. In fact, such an exchange ought now to be authorized in the discretion of the treasurer. However, all these matters are for the wisdom of the general assembly. I will appreciate suggestions from all parties. "What the treasurer has no authority to exchange for the old bonds, yet the holders of these bonds can make their bids and use their old bonds in payment on July 1, but all old bonds to be used in this way should be sent to the treasurer or to some local bank before their maturity."

FOLK MAKES STRONG SPEECH.

Former Governor of Missouri Talks on Democratic Principles.

Missouri Democrats of all factions at a dinner in St. Louis Thursday night heard ex-Governor Jos. W. Folk announce the principles on which, it is said, he will seek the presidential nomination in 1912. The dinner was in charge of men who have been promoting the boom of the former governor. "The doctrine of equal rights should be made a living, vital and controlling force in the government," said Mr. Folk after he had listened to Democrats from all parts of the state tell the guests that the former governor should be endorsed for the presidency.

"The Democratic party," continued Mr. Folk, "should insist upon the stamping out of graft and corruption from every department of government; the eradication of all special favors, including bounties, subsidies and a tariff for any purpose other than revenue."

"We need the honest, sincere enforcement of the laws we already have and the regulation of the rates of public utility corporations upon a reasonable basis that justice may be done the people and a fair return for the amount actually invested be afforded."

"On the subject of issues before the people the former governor said:

"The great issue before the people of this country is, shall there be government by privilege for a class, or government by the people for all? This is a question within parties as well as between parties. The Republican party is dominated by special interests and operates with them upon a profit-sharing basis. We should not be oblivious to the fact, however, that we have Aldriches and Canners in our own party, and it is the duty of Democrats to lessen their influence as much as possible. We cannot prevent some of them being in the party, but we should keep them from running the party."

"A crisis has been reached in the affairs of the nation. Pick up a newspaper any day and you will find accounts of thievery and graft. What does it mean? Is corruption becoming a national disease? Is there something in our system of government that encourages men to violate the commandment 'Thou shalt not steal'?"

"Is not the government itself in a large sense to blame for this general disposition? Has not the example which the government sets in enriching a few by taking from all by means of the protective tariff been an influence for corruption?"

"With the example of the national government giving privileges to a few, there is encouragement offered all forms of graft, for all graft is based upon privilege. Officials are not bribed to give equal rights to all but to confer upon the few some privilege denied the many. The elimination of privilege is the fight confronting Democracy."

Bringing Country Homes Closer Together.

Clarence Poe, in Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

At the bottom of most of our rural problems is the fundamental trouble of rural isolation. If we can bring farmers nearer together, we shall do more than we can do in any other way to stop the drift to towns where living is twice as hard as it is in the country. Only yesterday a professor in Chicago University, whose special study is improving the conditions of poverty-stricken people, declared that poverty is solely a city problem. Compared with the vast number of city destitute and half-starving, the number of hopelessly poor in the country is insignificant.

Our problem, then, is to see if we cannot provide in the country better advantages for social contact as well as better financial returns. Out here in Wisconsin one of the most important factors has been the rural telephone. The women chat with each other at night, after the day's work is done. No matter how bad the roads or how busy the horses, Mrs. Farmer Jones can talk with her sister ten or twenty miles away just as if they were face to face. The farmers, too, own the lines in most cases—putting up their own poles and stringing their own wire, a co-operative company controlling the system. Usually each farmer has one share of stock for each 'phone he uses, and the average cost per 'phone on these party lines is only about $5 a year.

Indiana Afraid of Bryan.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 2.—The Democratic managers are seriously considering the feasibility of continuing the speaking campaign in this state to Indiana talent, and it may be that they not only will not invite any outside men of prominence to speak, but will refuse all offers if any are made. The party managers, it is said, want to have some reason to ask Bryan not to speak in Indiana this year. They are afraid of his advocacy of the largest unit for local option will hurt the party.

The Conservation of Nature's Resources.

Applies as well to our physical state as to material things. C. J. Budlong, Washington, R. I., realized his condition, and took warning before it was too late. He says: "I suffered severely from kidney trouble, the disease being hereditary in our family. I have taken four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and now consider myself thoroughly cured. This should be a warning to all not to neglect taking Foley's Kidney Remedy until it is too late." Howard Gardner.

MR. T. J. GOLD'S CANDIDACY.

Strongly Endorsed by High Point Democrats for Legislature.

To the Editor of The Patriot:

The Democrats of High Point are asking their fellow Democrats of Guilford county to join with them in voting for Thomas J. Gold to represent this county in the next legislature, because they believe he is thoroughly qualified to fill this position of trust on account of his high character, training, experience, ripe judgment and unsullied Democracy.

Mr. Gold is 31 years old, and, since two years after his graduation at the University of North Carolina in 1903, has been practicing law in High Point. He has identified himself with the people and institutions of this progressive city. He is a stockholder in and a director of a number of institutions in High Point, and since October, 1908, has been receiver of the People's Building and Loan Association, an institution having as members more than 500 citizens of High Point. He has built up an extensive law practice and has the confidence and esteem of all classes of people in High Point.

His first ballot was cast for the constitutional amendment, and he has always voted the Democratic ticket. In July, 1908, he was permanent chairman of the Democratic convention held at Greensboro; was elected for Guilford county the same year, and made a number of speeches throughout the county in the interest of the Democratic party.

Mr. Gold was reared on the farm. He taught school, worked on the farm and served as local editor of a newspaper to secure funds to complete his education. He is every inch a man. Democrats of High Point from all the walks of life have called upon him to serve the county of Guilford, and Democrats from all sections of the county have expressed their intention of supporting him.

The following is submitted as tending to show the strength and popularity of Mr. Gold among all classes of Democrats in High Point:

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford County:

We, the undersigned Democrats of High Point, being staunch supporters of Mr. Thomas J. Gold for the legislature, commend him to you as being a suitable man for this office and in our opinion the choice of a large majority of the Democratic voters of High Point. The greater portion of the business men and an overwhelming majority of the laboring men will, according to our observation, support Mr. Gold in the primary. He is our choice, and we believe that it will be to the interest of the county and party to give him the nomination.

TOM WATSON NOW A DEMOCRAT.

Former Populist Leader Returns to His Old Political Faith.

Thomas E. Watson, once a Democratic member of Congress from Georgia, twice nominated by the Populist party for the presidency of the United States, and one of the ablest and most picturesque men in public life in America, has issued a statement announcing his return to the Democratic party. In his statement he says:

"Every energy of my heart and soul will be consecrated henceforth to doing something for the good of the country through the Democratic party. Stern experience has taught me that no other method can succeed in the South. Asking nothing for myself, I will labor with all my strength to restore to the common people the control of their public affairs; to elevate the old Southern ideals of statesmanship; to unfetter the South from the domination of Republican states in the national Democratic convention; to bring ante-bellum Democratic principles once more into the creed of the party and the legislation of Congress—thus redeeming the masses from the abuses of special privilege and re-establishing the Jeffersonian dogma of 'equal and exact justice for all men, without special privileges to any.'"

Mrs. Henry Schwenk writes: "I had eczema on my face for over four years. We tried about a half dozen doctors, but never found any cure. I have been taking Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea for about three months and it has done me more good than all the doctors' medicine." Howard Gardner.

Hypnotic Triumph.

A doctor related the following story: "I had a patient who was very ill and who ought to have gone to a warmer climate, but whose means were insufficient, so I resolved to try what hypnotism would do for him. I had a large sun painted on the ceiling of his room and by suggestion induced him to think it was the sun which would cure him. The ruse succeeded, and he was getting better rapidly when one day on my arrival I found he was dead."

"Did it fail, after all, then?" asked the doctor's hearers. "No," replied the doctor; "he died of sunstroke."

For a limited time we offer The Patriot and the Progressive Farmer one year for $1.25.

16 Miles of Census Cards.

The census bureau has begun the actual work of enumerating the population from the individual census cards made up from the returns, and Director Durand has declared that the complete census of some cities would be announced within a fortnight.

The individual cards, the compilation of which is in the hands of several hundred experts, if piled one upon another, would make a stack 16 miles high, Mr. Durand estimates. This estimate is upon the basis that the population of the United States will prove to be in the neighborhood of 100,000,000.

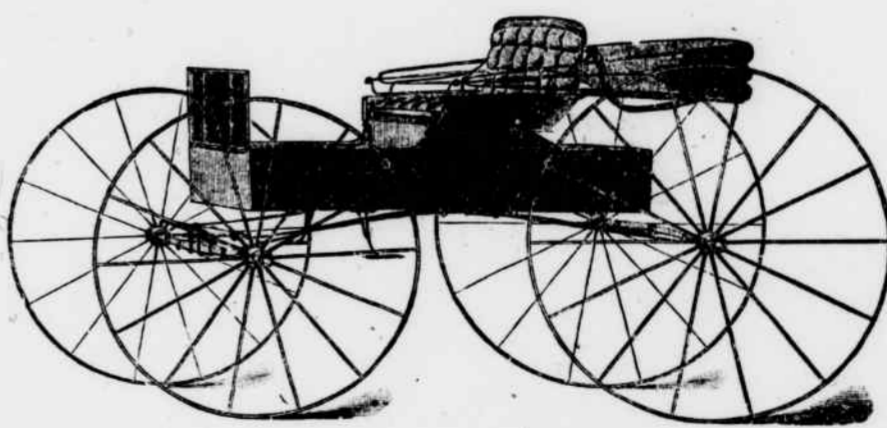

If you are not now taking the Progressive Farmer, the South's best farm paper, you can get that paper and The Patriot one year for $1.25.

Overstepping the Mark.

In the pressure of business before Congress a more important measure might have been introduced than that for which Representative Smith, of Iowa, is sponsor. A prize fight is scheduled to take place in California this summer, and if Mr. Smith's bill is passed, no intelligence of that event can legally be sent beyond the state where it occurs. News of that kind is not uplifting. Neither are reports of lynchings or other acts of brutality and violence, and the public is but poorly served by having the details dealt out to them in sensational form; but they constitute a part of the happenings of the time and the repression of all reports of them is hardly within the proper province of the law.

THE SUGAR TRUST FRAUDS.

STARTLING EXPOSURES IN HEARING IN UNITED STATES COURT.

High Officials Instructed Employees to Make False Tests in Order to Rob the Grower—Saved $125,000,000 by Paying the Government $2,000,000—The Trust's Felt and Seen in Political Circles.

That the sugar trust was founded in fraud, in which not only the government of the United States, but the growers of sugar in Cuba, Java and India suffered, was the deduction drawn from Ernest W. Gerbracht, former superintendent of the Williamsburg refinery of the American Sugar Refining Company, who, with other officials of the company, is on trial in the United States court in New York for defrauding the government of customs duties.

"I was ordered by the late H. O. Haymeyer to falsify polariscopic tests of sugar, so that we would have to pay less to the sugar grower," said Gerbracht, as he writhed before the merciless cross-examination of Special Assistant Attorney General Henry Stimson.

That the sugar trust had robbed the government of great sums in duties had been proved, and the trust had made money restitution. But that the trust has also robbed the men with whom it did business, and from whom it purchased raw sugar, was a new development.

Sugar is purchased from the sugar planters on weight and grade, the lower the grade the less paid by the trust. To cheat the owner of the sugar by underweighing was not as easy as cheating the government by underweighing for the owners usually had men to check against the company weighers. So a new scheme, that of reducing the grade of the sugar by fraud, was devised, according to Gerbracht.

The grade of sugar is determined by a polariscopic test. The angle of refraction of light through a solution of sugar shows the grade of sugar. "I was ordered by the late H. O. Haymeyer to make these polariscopic tests as low as possible. If we made the tests show that the sugar was of a low grade we got it that much cheaper. Then we refined it."

Gerbracht was forced to admit that this falsification of tests went as far as the Wall street headquarters of the sugar trust. "We took the polariscopic tests at the refinery and another test was made at the Wall street office. We made the refinery tests as low as possible, but often tests made at the Wall street office were lower than the ones we had made. If such happened to be the case, we were notified by the Wall street office and forced to make our own figures lower still. The merchants who sold the sugar had to take their pay on the lowest tests."

In connection with the unusual sugar trust fraud exposures it is interesting to glance back at a speech delivered by Representative Herbert T. Rainey, (Democrat, Illinois), before Congress last spring.

That the sugar trust dominates the Republican party and the officers of the present administration are its puppets, was charged on the floor of the house by Rainey, in a vituperative assault on Attorney-General Wickersham; Henry W. Taft, brother of the president; Representative Herbert Parsons, former head of the Republican committee of New York city, and a score of other public men. Rainey then made the following specific charges:

"That President Taft was nominated and elected by the sugar trust."

"That Henry W. Taft, brother of the president, was a sugar trust attorney, as was also George W. Wickersham, prior to becoming attorney-general."

"That the sugar trust saved $125,000,000 by setting, for $2,000,000, the customs frauds."

"That officials of the trust, despite their stealing of millions, still go about in private yachts."

"That the men who contributed millions to the campaign fund are permitted to now reimburse themselves by stealing from the treasury."

"That the trust contributed from $100,000 to $20,000,000 to the Republican campaign funds in 1896."

"That the trust controls Cuba and Cuban politics."

"That Representative Herbert Parsons (Republican, New York), is a sugar trust attorney."

"The sugar trust," cried Rainey, "is the most rotten and corrupt combination ever created by the protective tariff system."

Prominent stockholders and directors of the trust have succeeded, through their control of the Republican party, in bringing about this most deplorable arrangement—the attorney-general was, until his appointment, a sugar trust attorney, familiar with the methods of the sugar trust, exhibiting even now a remarkable sympathy for its officials in their difficulties. The general counsel for the sugar trust (James M. Beck) is an ex-assistant attorney general of the United States, loyal to the Republican party, familiar with the methods and with the secrets of the attorney-general's office. The brother of the president of the United States is one of the attorneys for the sugar trust. J. E. Parsons, the father of the ex-president of the New York county Republican committee, is under indictment on account of his offense against the law in Philadelphia. And the president of the United States has advised against a congressional investigation of the sugar trust, for the reason that it might prove embarrassing."

How well the trust dominated the Republican party, he said, was illustrated by the fact that the sugar trust has gotten everything it wanted out of the tariff bills since 1890. "It is a trust," he shouted, "which reaches out through political parties and corrupts men as no other law-defying corporation has ever been able to do. The sugar trust, by a system of false weights, has stolen millions from the treasury, and its officials still go about in private yachts, posing as respectable citizens. City delivery is being held in cities on account of lack of money, while thieves who have stolen millions from the treasury spend this season of the year cruising in the Mediterranean. The men who contributed millions to the Republican campaign fund are, under a Republican administration, permitted to now reimburse themselves by stealing from the treasury of the United States."

William Jennings Bryan was defeated for the presidency in 1896. Rainey asserted, through the influence of the trust, and their campaign contributions to the Republicans, estimated at from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. It controls Cuba, he declared, and has now entered politics there. Rainey took vigorous issue with the president's statement that a congressional investigation of the sugar trust would not be advisable because it might give immunity to guilty parties.

A BUSINESS MAN URGED.

High Point Working Man Endorses Mr. Kirkman for the Legislature. To the Editor of The Patriot:

Will you allow a word from a working man regarding our Democratic candidate for the legislature? The next assembly will not be a social gathering which has no work to perform. Great means will come up for consideration, and we do not believe our people are going to be content now to send to Raleigh a solid delegation of young lawyers, with the evident result of advertising them. We need and must have a business man. Our legislature shall not be used as an advertising medium. We can and will demand and secure the services of men who do things. We need workmen to attend to our business at Raleigh. Men who are acquainted with the needs and ideas of the great masses of our citizens. Men who are in touch and sympathy with the people. We need lawyers at Raleigh, but we enter a most strenuous protest against more than one, or at most two, lawyers to represent us at the capitol during the next general assembly.

And furthermore, we submit that there is no reason or justice in the demand which comes up from Greensboro saying High Point must settle on one man. Let Greensboro or any other place offer as many candidates as they like. We grant you the same rights which we demand for ourselves. There are many worthy Democrats in High Point who are capable of serving well the people and the state. And we admit the same conditions throughout the county and do not ask the exclusion of any Greensboro candidates or any other section. But we come to the voters of the county with the practically unanimous support of the High Point Democracy behind our honored citizen, Mr. J. Ed. Kirkman. He is a business man. A man of the people and a man who has by his own efforts acquired wealth. Though he is a man of means, yet he is not afraid of the grime and dust of honest toil. He is today a hard worker, and is daily among his four hundred workmen at the Snow Lumber company, where he is manager and a large stockholder. He is a valuable and trusted employee of that large factory, and he has the respect, love and confidence of his fellow workmen whom he directs.

He has often been given positions of honor and trust in our city government and is on the governing boards of many of our industrial concerns. He is a man of parts, possessed of ability, honor and means. He has the endorsement of every member of the local executive committee of the Democratic party and probably all the local Democratic voters. We can come to you with nothing better. It is impossible to make stronger demands for your support.

Mr. J. Ed. Kirkman is a member of one of the oldest families in Guilford county. He has lived among us for over 40 years and he has made his money right here among us while engaged in the lumber business. What he has is the result of good judgment and hard work and long, continual application. We ask all those who love labor and worship, to help us put in the next general assembly Mr. J. Ed. Kirkman, a man who is of, for and by the people.

Very truly,

WORKINGMAN.

High Point.
Doctor Discovers Method of Grafting Arteries.

Dr. Victor D. Lespinasse, of the Northwestern University Medical school, told an alumni audience of physicians in Chicago a few days ago that he had discovered a surgical secret which may do much to save life and modify suffering. It is a successful method of reuniting blood vessels and arteries.

He caused several dogs to be brought out for inspection. Each was cited as an example of a peculiar operation. The livers had been removed and reunited to some of the dogs. Legs had been cut off and regrafted to others by reuniting several arteries.

For five years Dr. Lespinasse sought a substitute for needle and thread. What is claimed to be the solution consists of the use of rings of magnesium. The several vessels are joined by these rings. In theory they do not differ from the couplers used by the fire department.

Magnesium is used because it readily dissolves when the complete union of the severed ends of the arteries has taken place.

Death of a Veteran.

Charlotte Chronicle, June 2.
Capt. S. C. Potts, who died last night at Lake Waccamaw, had an interesting history. At the time of General Johnston's surrender he was assistant chief telegraph operator in the Confederate service under his brother, at Greensboro. For many years he had been agent of the Coast Line, at Lake Waccamaw, and it was at his house that Charlotte parties were wont to stop and where they enjoyed Southern hospitality at its best. He had a large circle of friends in this city who will mourn his death.

ROOSEVELT TO THE BRITISH.

Gives English People Mixture of Praise, Censure and Advice.

In a speech in London last week Theodore Roosevelt delivered what is considered by Englishmen as a severe arraignment of the nation in its attitude towards Egypt. Something picturesque was looked for from the former president of the United States, but in view of his utterances in Egypt in which he gave praise in full measure to the British rule there, it was not anticipated that he would revert again to that subject especially for the purpose of taking England to task.

But with a frankness that caused a stir among those who had gathered in the ancient guild hall to witness the ceremony of conferring upon him the freedom of the city of London, Mr. Roosevelt declared that while England had given Egypt the best government in 2,000 years yet recent events, following the assassination of Premier Boutros Pasha, had shown that in certain vital points the British government had erred and that England must repair this error if she wished to do her full duty.

He called attention to the fact that England's primary object in taking hold in Egypt was the establishment of order.

"Either you have or you have not the right to remain in Egypt and establish and keep order. If you have not the right and have not the desire to keep order, then, by all means, get out. But if as I know you feel that your duty to civilized mankind and your fealty to your own great traditions alike bid you to stay, then make the fact and the name agree and show that you are ready to meet in very deed the responsibility which is yours."

"When a people treats assassination as the cornerstone of self government it forfeits all rights to be treated as worthy of self-government. Some nation must govern Egypt, and I hope and believe that the English nation will decide that the duty is theirs."

Mr. Roosevelt dwelt upon the baleful influence of the nationalist party in Egypt, which had shown in connection with the murder of the premier, that it was neither daunted nor capable of guaranteeing justice. Nor had England shown enough of its strength. "You have tried to do too much," he said, "in the interests of the Egyptians themselves. Those who have to do with uncivilized peoples, especially fanatical peoples, must remember that in such a situation as that which faces you in Egypt, weakness, timidity and sentimentality may cause infinitely more harm than violence and injustice. Sentimentality is the most broken reed on which righteousness can lean."

With reference to the Soudan, Mr. Roosevelt said he felt as he did about the Panama canal. Although it might not pay, it was Great Britain's duty to stay there. In his opinion the Soudan would pay anyway. It was not worth while to belong to a big nation unless that nation was ready to shoulder a big task.

He prefaced his remarks on Egypt with the statement that he spoke as an unprejudiced outsider, as an American and a real democrat, whose first duty was to war against violence, injustice and wrongdoing wherever found. He proffered his advice only in accordance with the principles on which he had acted as president in dealing with the Philippines and he declared that the present condition of affairs in Egypt was a grave menace to the British empire and to civilization.

VALUE OF RESERVE.

Into Each Life Come Occasions Demanding Extra Strength.

In every department of life, physical, mental and moral, reserves are of incalculable value, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. Many people work so hard that they exhaust their physical energies each day. They make it a matter of conscience to wake through just as much work as possible every day, no matter how painfully it is done, not realizing the tremendous value of keeping oneself vigorous, buoyant.

No life can be vigorous if it is not kept fresh and responsive by great physical and mental reserves. As hibernating animals, like the bear, in cold climates sustain life through the winter wholly upon the reserve fat and nutriment stored up on the tissues, so patients who have splendid physical reserves and resisting power are carried through severe sicknesses and sustained through severe illnesses by this reserve surplus, stored-up vital power, while those who lack it, those who have dissipated it in abnormal living and excesses, often lose their lives, even in much less severe illnesses.

There comes into every life worth while a time when success will turn upon the reserve power. It is then a question of how long your stored-up energy will enable you to hold out. There will often arise emergencies when your success will depend upon how much fight there is in you.

Scared Into Sound Health.

Mr. B. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Howard Gardner.

DO YOU? WILL YOU?

Do you love your wife?
Do you love your children?
Have you considered how things would be with them in case you should be taken away from them?
Could they do as well without you as with you?
Is the fact of your life a fact with a financial side to it?
Would you rather be a deserter or a bravesoldier?
Answer these questions one by one for yourself and seriously.

Ninety-nine men out of every one hundred need LIFE INSURANCE.

You may be the one man, but you would have a hard time in convincing anyone but yourself of the fact.

If you do need life insurance—and you do—fill out the card below and mail it to me. It will cost you two cents—the price of an egg—and may save your wife and children from poverty.

THE CHARGE OF MURDER.

Can It Be Sustained Against Harper
Rayle, Accused of Heinous Crime?

It is expected that Harper Rayle, who was arrested in Iowa recently and brought to Greensboro and committed to jail as the suspected murderer of Miss Lydia Newman, in Sumner township last July, will be given a preliminary hearing before the criminal term of Superior court convenes on the 20th inst. The warrant was sworn out before Squire Collins, and the hearing will probably be held before him in about 10 days. Owing to the fact that several witnesses are to be brought to Greensboro from a distance, it is presumed that the preliminary trial will not be held until just prior to the criminal term of Superior court, in order that the witnesses may be inconvenienced as little as possible in remaining over to testify in the higher court.

Col. John A. Barringer has been retained to defend Rayle. Nothing is known as to what the line of defense will be, and probably this will not be decided upon until the prosecution shows its hand.

Beyond stoutly maintaining his innocence of the crime with which he is charged, the prisoner is having nothing to say of the affair.

A detective who spent some time in the neighborhood of the crime several months ago has returned, coming all the way from Wyoming, and it is understood that he will claim a reward in connection with the case. Shortly after the commission of the crime Governor Kitchin offered a reward of $200, and this was supplemented by an offer of $50 by the beneficiaries of Miss Newman's will.

WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE.

J. C. Kennett Decides Not to Announce for State Senate.

Mr. J. C. Kennett, of Pleasant Garden, whose name has been mentioned frequently during the past few weeks as a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for the state senate, has decided not to enter the race. He had the matter under serious consideration at one time, but after mature deliberation concluded not to become a candidate. He informed The Patriot yesterday that he had received assurances of flattering support from many sources, but he felt that he could serve the county fully as well in another direction.

Mr. Kennett is a member of the county board of education, having been elected to a five-year term at the last session of the legislature, and should he become a member of the general assembly, he would have to resign this position. The board of education has mapped out a campaign which, if carried out, will put Guilford far ahead of any other county in the state in educational matters, and Mr. Kennett feels that he can be of as much service to the county in this position as in the capacity of a member of the legislature.

Superior Court in Session.

A two-weeks civil term of Guilford Superior court convened Monday, with Judge W. J. Adams, of Carthage, presiding. Monday and yesterday was consumed in trying a case brought by J. M. Freeman and other relatives of the late Mrs. Louisa Gardner, of Jamestown, in an effort to set aside Mrs. Gardner's will. Just before the adjournment of court yesterday afternoon the jury returned a verdict sustaining the will, under the terms of which the bulk of the estate went to John Suits.

The civil term of court will be followed by a criminal term of one week to convene June 20.

To Improve High School.

The sum of $2,000 is to be spent in enlarging the Pleasant Garden high school building and increasing the equipment. The patrons of the school have raised $500, the county board of education has made an appropriation of a like amount and $1,000 is to be borrowed from the state board of education. The people of Pentress are justly proud of their high school, which is doing splendid work and is regarded as one of the best schools of its class in the state.

We have some good bargains for you in slippers and pumps for little girls this season. For the smaller children we have them in red, tan, vici and patent kid. For larger girls mostly gun metal and patent leather. Let us supply your needs in this line before the stock is all picked over.

THACKER &amp; BROCKMANN.

Special Session May Not Be Held.

The news from Raleigh this morning is to the effect that the special session of the legislature which Governor Kitchin has called for next Tuesday may not be held, as the indications are that the remainder of the $3,430,000 bond issue will be subscribed. Yesterday afternoon the American Tobacco Company filed with the state treasurer a bid for $1,000,000 of the bonds, leaving only $1,111,000 of the issue to be taken care of. This will probably be subscribed after the conference of state bankers with the governor today.

The finance committee of the Dixie Fire Insurance Company, of this city, held a meeting last night and decided to bid for $100,000 of the bonds.

Trinity College's New President.

Dr. W. P. Few, for several years dean of the faculty of Trinity College, has been elected president to succeed Bishop John C. Kilgo. Dr. Few has been a member of Trinity's faculty for 14 years and is regarded as one of the ablest college men in the country. Dr. W. I. Cranford, of the chair of philosophy, succeeds him as dean. S. B. Underwood, who graduated from Trinity in 1905 and has been superintendent of the Hertford graded schools for several years, has been elected headmaster of Trinity Park high school to succeed Rev. C. M. North, who resigned to return to the regular work of the ministry.

What Everybody Ought to Know.

That Foley Kidney Pills contain just the ingredients necessary to tone, strengthen and regulate the action of the kidneys and bladder. Howard Gardner.

ROAD NOTICE.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Clerk of the Court.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby announce myself a candidate
for the office of Clerk of Superior court, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries. The people of the county know my record, and I hope will see fit to honor me with the nomination. If nominated and elected, I shall devote my entire time to a proper execution of the duties of the office.

J. R. GORDON.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I beg to announce my candidacy for
the office of clerk of the Superior court.
For the past four years I have been a deputy in this office, and as to how well I have performed the duties entrusted to me I refer the voters to the members of the Guilford bar and others who have observed my work. I believe that the experience I have had has given me a knowledge of the proper administration of the office, and if nominated and elected I shall honestly endeavor to make the county an attentive and efficient officer.

W. P. BEALL, JR.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

In accordance with a custom among candidates for office in this county, I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Clerk of the Superior court
of Guilford county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, which has been called for the different townships
on the 25th day of June, 1910.

Respectfully,
JAS. W. FORBES.

For Register of Deeds.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries and convention, and will greatly appreciate the efforts of my friends in my behalf.

Respectfully,
W. H. RANKIN.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

Our precinct primaries and county convention having been called, I take this method of notifying you that I am a candidate for a re-nomination for the office of Register of Deeds, and in doing so wish to thank my many friends throughout the county who have been kind enough to honor me with their support in the past. I have given you the best service in my power, and if nominated and elected again pledge myself to the same faithfulness in the future.
A. G. KIRKMAN.

For Treasurer.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I beg to announce myself a candidate for re-nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries. I have been in the office of the county treasurer for 25 years. I am grateful for the support my friends have given me in the past and will greatly appreciate an endorsement of my course by a re-nomination and election to the office.

G. H. MCKINNEY.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I take this method of announcing myself a candidate for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries, and asking your support for the same at the June primaries, which shall govern my candidacy.

J. C. BUNCH.

For Sheriff.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I take this method of announcing myself a candidate for re-election to the office of Sheriff, feeling that I can appeal with confidence to my friends for this endorsement of my course. During the four years you have honored me with the office, I have strived to perform the responsible and exacting duties of the position faithfully, efficiently
and am willing to be judged by my record.
B. E. JONES.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby declare myself a candidate for the nomination for the office of Sheriff of Guilford county, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries,
and beg to assure you that I will highly appreciate the support of all good Democrats. I base my claims for re-nomination on the ground of my party principles and a never-failing loyalty to all Democratic nominees. If nominated and elected (and if nominated I shall be elected), I pledge my best efforts to make the county an acceptable officer in every respect.
DAVID B. STAFFORD.

Oak Ridge.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for Sheriff of Guilford county, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries. This April 11, 1910.

Respectfully,
R. M. REES.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Guilford county. If the Democratic party will nominate and elect
me Sheriff, I may ask for a second term, but under no circumstances will I ask for a third consecutive nomination.

JOHN W. WHARTON, JR.

For the State Senate.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

Having decided to become a candidate for the State Senate, I wish to inform the Democrats throughout the county of that fact, and to request their kind support in the coming primaries.

Very respectfully,
THOS. J. MURPHY.

For the House of Representatives.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination as one of the members of the House of Representatives.
Guilford county has a senator and two members of the House of Representatives. I have been urged by my friends in the county and towns to announce my candidacy as the representative of the country people. I have heretofore been given one of the representatives and I hope the people of the country and towns will support me at this time.

Very respectfully,
T. R. DILLARD.

Center Grove Township.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby announce myself a candidate
for one of the seats to which Guilford County is entitled in the House of Representatives, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

CHARLES A. HINES.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I desire to announce to you that I am a candidate to represent Guilford county in the next legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held the 25th of next June.

High Point. THOMAS J. GOLD.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

After being repeatedly urged by many of the leading citizens of the county, I
have decided to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for one of the seats to which Guilford county is entitled in the House of Representatives, subject to the action of the primaries to be held on June 25. I will appreciate the support of all good Democrats, and if nominated and elected pledge my best service to the county's interests.

J. E. KIRKMAN.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby announce myself a candidate
to represent Guilford county in the next legislature, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. I am a candidate because I want to represent Guilford county in the lower house of the next General Assembly. If nominated and elected, I will support all measures that will promote the best interests of both state and county. I will take special interest in things coming up of interest to the farmers. I will oppose all extravagant and "wild-cat" legislation.

J. M. DAVIS.

Jamestown.

For County Commissioner.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Commissioner, subject to the action of the precinct primaries that have been called for June 25. I am announcing myself as a candidate in general feeling that the section of the county in which I reside should have representation on the board.

Monroe Township. J. H. McNEILL.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

By a unanimous vote taken in a called meeting of the executive committees of Friendship and Deep River townships, I announce myself a candidate for County Commissioner, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.
My father was A. H. Kendall. I was born in Randolph county; was reared in Davidson county; was reared a Democrat and have always been loyal to the party. If I am elected as one of the county board, I shall serve the county to the best of my ability. This side of the county has never been honored with a commissioner. We think we are justly entitled to representation on the board and sincerely ask the support of the party.

M. L. KENDALL.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

After being repeatedly urged by many of the leading citizens of the county, I
have decided to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for County Commissioner, subject to the action of the primaries to be held June 25. I will appreciate the support of all good Democrats, and if nominated and elected pledge my best service to the county's interests.

M. G. BEVILL.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford
County:

After mature consideration and pressure brought to bear by my friends, I have decided to place myself as a candidate for County Commissioner, subject to the rules of the Democratic primaries, with a determination if elected to treat both towns and county fairly.

Respectfully,
WILL J. GROOME.

Matters of Interest Reported by Our Corps of Correspondents.

OAK RIDGE ITEMS.

All crops are in fine condition and ready for the good season which we had Sunday.

Prof. M. H. Holt spent Friday night in Greensboro on business.

Prof. T. E. Whitaker and Mr. D. B. Stafford spent Saturday in Greensboro.

Prof. J. Allen Holt attended commencement exercises at the State University last week and a meeting of the University trustees.

Several Oak Ridge students graduated at the State University last week, as well as at other institutions in this and other states.

Lee Fentriss is visiting Prof. and Mrs. T. E. Whitaker. He graduated from the State University last week.

There is some interest being manifested in the primaries to be held June 25. But as a general thing, our people are opposed to primaries.

There are going to be some surprises, this writer learns, in this part of the county. Our people are in for a new deal in the county offices.

From the present indications D. B. Stafford will be nominated for sheriff and other candidates for this office should begin to look around for another job.

Prof. and Mrs. M. H. Holt, Mrs. Harvey Holt and Mrs. Bell J. Pierce attended the commencement exercises at Guilford College last week.

Prof. E. P. Holt, who has been at Wilson for the past ten days, arrived at home Friday. He is adhering to his decision not to play ball this summer.

The new catalogues are out. They are perhaps the handsomest ever issued by this school, and this is a glowing tribute to their artistic excellence.

Mr. A. M. Benbow has concluded to spend this summer on the farm, instead of playing ball, as he had expected.

It seems to us that Winston and the national highway authorities are trying to dodge Guilford as much as possible in the Atlanta-New York run this week by going direct from Lexington to Winston.

Mrs. M. H. Holt went to Roanoke, Va., on Thursday to visit friends. She expects to be back this week.

WHITSETT ITEMS.

Mrs. E. M. Rollins and children arrived Friday from Pitt county to spend some time with Mrs. Dora Dick.

Prof. and Mrs. W. C. Rankin, of Durham, are here for the marriage of their sister this week.

Dr. J. V. Dick and bride will leave Wednesday immediately after their marriage to spend a month in New York city and other northern points.

As the primary draws near, the interest in political matters is increasing. It is difficult at this stage to pick the favorites.

The new catalogue of Whitsett Institute is receiving many compliments and many requests are coming in for copies. It is being sent free to all who apply. It is a book of seventy pages and over fifty illustrations.

The excellent rains Sunday and Monday will do untold good. They were badly needed.

Several went over to Elon to the commencement last week.

Miss Grace Hoffman is visiting her mother in Burlington.

Miss Lillie Brewer went over to Alamogordo Wednesday to visit friends.

Mrs. D. F. Kirky and daughter have gone to spend the summer at Black Mountain.

Mr. Ernest Clapp and Mrs. R. E. Buck, of Greensboro, were here on a short visit Saturday evening.

STATE NEWS ITEMS.

Charles Snipes, a young white man, was acquitted in Forsyth Superior court last week of the charge of killing Jennie Webster, a colored woman. The trial lasted a week and the evidence was circumstantial.

Contract has been let for the government building at High Point. It will cost about $60,000 and is to be completed about July 1, 1911.

L. C. Johnson, charged with stuffing the ballot box in a school district election in Cumberland county, was acquitted in Cumberland Superior court last week.

John Allen Stackhouse, colored, who killed his wife in Scotland county and was under sentence to be electrocuted next Friday, goes to the state prison for life. Gov. Kitchin commuted his sentence.

A liquor house in Richmond has brought suit against a Raleigh man for a balance of $407.80 on a liquor account, and it is alleged that during eight months of 1909 this man bought liquor from the house to the amount of $3,330.72. Some light is thrown on the situation when it is learned that the purchaser of all this liquor is now in the courts for selling liquor illegally.

An association has been formed in Alamance county to erect a general hospital for that county. One of the sites for the building under consideration is the home place of the late Governor Thomas M. Holt at Haw River.

Statesville Landmark: You can't lose Governor Glenn. He's now up in New Jersey making a canvass for the negroes; or, in other words, making a canvass of the North for funds for a negro school at Durham. Mr. W. Thomas Bost, the Durham newspaper man, is along with him acting as press agent.

Alfred MacRae, a member of the junior class at the University, committed suicide by taking poison, in a boarding house at Chapel Hill, Friday. Depression is the only cause assigned. He was a grandson of the late Judge MacRae. His mother lives at Bedford, Va., where the remains were sent for burial.

Frank Robinson shot and instantly killed Stephen Leak at the latter's home in Anson county Sunday night, the shooting being the result of a quarrel following an afternoon spent in gambling in the woods. Robinson went to Wadesboro Monday morning and surrendered to the officers. The coroner's jury ordered him held for trial for murder.

Delayed Attention Costs Money.

Your house wears out if not painted. It costs more to repair it than it costs to paint it. It don't cost much to paint with the L. & M. Paint, because 4 gallons of L. & M. Paint and 3 gallons of Linseed Oil makes seven gallons of ready-for-use paint at a cost of about $1.30 per gallon. You can mix yourself. Thirty-five years use in every part of the United States proves it. Atlantic City & Pittsburgh Fence Tests, made by the Master Painters Association, prove it.

Sold by Gibsonville Store Co., Gibsonville.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hawkins desire to thank their friends for the kindness shown during their daughter's sickness and death.

To new subscribers we offer to send The Patriot until the November election and the Progressive Farmer and Farm Gazette a whole year for 50 cents. This is the best clubbing offer you have ever received, and our advice is that you take advantage of it at once.

Mrs. J. R. Diggins left Tuesday for Thomasville to spend a week with her daughter, Mrs. Parker Holmes. She was accompanied by little Clara Gant.

The Stokesdale Hardware Company will have another "junk" sale next Saturday of the goods which were damaged by fire some time ago, the sale to begin at 1 P. M.

We are very glad to be able to say that Mr. John W. Vaughn, who had the misfortune of having his collar bone broken some time ago by being thrown by his mule, is able to be out and around on his farm.

Mr. Luther M. McKenzie and little daughter, of Greensboro, spent several days visiting Mr. C. A. Boone and family and other friends here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, of Saxon, visited Mr. Reynolds' sister, Mrs. C. L. Cook, Monday, returning to their home Tuesday.

The two-day-old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Penn Lemons died Monday night and was buried at Gideon Grove Tuesday.

Mr. Ashby Newell and Miss Annie Angel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Angel, stole away from the home people last Saturday night and drove over to J. T. Price's and were married, Squire Thomas officiating.

ABOUT OUR PIANOS AND OUR PRICES

Our Kimball Pianos

The W. W. KIMBALL FACTORY (with a capital of $7,000,000) is the largest piano factory in the world, turning out nearly 40,000 instruments yearly.

KIMBALL PIANOS are used and endorsed by more artists than any other make, received highest award at the World's Fair Chicago, Seattle, Washington in 1909, and many others.

THE RETAIL PRICES on Kimball Pianos range from $350 (in the simple case design) to $375-$400 and slightly upwards for the more elaborate cases.

The Hallet & Davis Pianos

First manufactured over 70 years ago in Boston. This Piano has secured over 140 gold medals and competitive awards. At practically every exposition since the Philadelphia Centennial in 1876 this piano has received the highest awards. The quality of the HALLET & DAVIS is the highest, the prices of uprights range from $365 to $450, other leading makers ask $75 to $150 more.

Other Pianos, Such as WHITNEY, HINZE, WELLMAN. Prices From $265 to $300, Guaranteed Fully.

The Conway Pianos

manufactured by the Conway Co., capital $1,900,000. These are distinguished pianos, distinguished for their splendid scale, good solid tone, handsome case design.

The prices on these beautiful pianos range from only $300 in the Colonial case to $325 and $350.

Every Instrument is Marked in Plain Figures—Easy Monthly Payments Allowed if Desired.

THIS CONTEST makes it possible for interested piano buyers to secure a good standard make piano perhaps free, or at least at the established retail price less the amount of your credit certificate.

It's a Simple and Straightforward Business Proposition.

THE PRIZES

First prize, a fine NEW PIANO, VALUED at $375; SECOND PRIZE, a certificate of credit for $125. The next six best answers will be given a credit certificate of $90 each. Following these in groups of 6 or more, each contestant sending in the nearest best answer will be given a credit certificate for $1.00 less than those previous, that is, 6 at $89, next 6 at $88, etc., until the amount has been awarded.

In addition to the above principal prizes the company will divide all the remaining answer into three classes and voluntarily issue to each of the remaining contestants certificates of credit for $65, $50, $35, according to merit.

These certificates are good only on the purchase of any new piano or player-piano in our warerooms at regular retail prices. Time of certificate is limited. Certificate can not be applied to any purchase made previous to June 18, 1910. Only one certificate may be applied on the purchase of one piano.

ALL CONTESTS NOT ALIKE.

Some advertising contests have been conducted by unscrupulous dealers, which have merited just condemnation. Do not misjudge or be misled, but remember that back of our publicity campaign stands a record of fair and square dealing. The Publicity Contests run by the Cheek-Huston Piano & Organ Co. have always been conducted openly and aboveboard. We have always presented the true facts, stated specifically what we would give, and we have lived up to the letter of every promise made. The awards of the judges are always open to anyone who may care to investigate.

We can prove that the selling expense we save we give to the piano buyer by allowing the amount of their certificate toward the purchase of a Piano from us at the regular established retail price, and give 50 music lessons free with every instrument.

Contest Closes June 18

A FLEA INQUIRY.

A reader of these notes living near Quinton, N. J., writes stating that he has lately moved on to a farm which is overrun with fleas and stating that he will be eternally grateful for any suggestion which would aid in getting rid of the pest. The writer's experience with fleas has been very limited, and he is mighty glad of it, judging from what he has been able to glean through other folks' trials with them. However, inquiry made of those who have run afoul of them has resulted in a suggestion or two which may help our good friend out of his trouble. One is stabling a few sheep in the infested quarters and then marketing the sheep, when the fleas will be on the other fellow, which, of course, is the prime consideration. A method which proved effective on another ranch which harbored millions of them, with headquarters in a dry wagon shed, was the scattering of wood ashes inside the building and then giving the place a good wetting down with water. The friend who relates this instance states that if an infested place is shut up tight and no animals allowed to enter it the fleas will die off. We offer this last for what it is worth. It is plain that fleas prefer dry and sandy places and seem to thrive there best; hence a wetting down of such places after scattering ashes would seem to be at least a partial solution. Doubtless a fumigation of infested places with fumes of sulphur or formaldehyde would be valuable. Another tells us that when one's clothing is inhabited with the pests the only way to have peaceful sleep is to disrobe on the back porch, shake out one's underclothing and nightgown, and if an attack is made during the night to repeat the operation out of the window. The writer will keep this flea business in mind, and if he learns of anything more effective than the methods suggested he will give his readers the benefit of it.

A PLEA FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Many of the saddest and most heart-rending of life's tragedies might be averted were parents to recognize the responsibility which is surely on their shoulders of informing their children in the early years—far better too early than too late—of the chief facts in connection with their physical origin and the dangers incident to ignorance of the vital facts. Find out about these things boys and girls will—if not from pure and reliable then from vulgar and untrustworthy sources. Perhaps the victim is a fair young girl, whose confidence has been betrayed and whose bright and happy life is blasted at its threshold, or maybe it is a stalwart son, who finds out too late through agonizing experience that he is a virtual imbecile or is tainted for life with some loathsome disease which may mean early death, but in any event must always debar him from those joys which center in a happy home of his own and a life of wholesomeness and usefulness. The teaching of these truths in the home and in the school is of far more account than mathematics, history or language, yet they are almost universally and most rapidly ignored. As a people we are devoting too much time and energy to material things—the shop, the office, the farm; too much time to horses and cattle, to sheep and swine, their breeding and their rations—and far too little thought to the boys and girls and their problems, on whom more than all other things or interests the future welfare of the country depends. The boys and girls are worth while. It is time they were given a square deal.

PEAR BLIGHT.

In portions of California and Oregon plant disease experts of the department of agriculture have for the past two or three years been directing a campaign for the stamping out of the pear blight, which in sections of the former state has ruined tens of thousands of bearing trees. A careful study of the pest coupled with numerous experiments has shown the only effective method of combating the blight to be the cutting out of affected shoots and limbs below the point of infection, the pruning instrument, saw or shears, being sterilized after each cutting by dipping in kerosene. Another means serving to lessen the severity of an attack of blight has been found to lie in the removal of all fruit spurs from the trunk and larger lower limbs, as the spores of the blight are transmitted to such spurs by bees at blossom time. Pear orchards in sections where the blight is prevalent should be inspected frequently and no time lost in cutting out affected limbs about the pest put in an appearance. A delay of a day has often meant the loss of many trees, as the blight works with great rapidity, often passing from twig to trunk in the course of a few hours.

It was not the Delaware peach crop which was ruined this year by the April freezes, an exception to what has seemed to have become a very general rule.

Rubbing a fresh ink spot in sweet milk will remove much of the stain, while a thick paste of starch will extract blood from things that can't be washed, being allowed to dry and scraped off with a knife.

A scarecrow is sometimes effective in keeping marauding crows from the cornfield, but better still are two or three dead crows hung up by the hind legs on poles and placed at conspicuous places in the field. We have tried this plan, and it works like a charm.

With string and sticks as cheap as they are we never could see a good excuse for crooked rows of vegetables and berry bushes in the garden. Such rows are not only unsightly from the house and the road, but they make the work of machine cultivation difficult.

Notwithstanding the thousands of acres of burdock that yearly mature their unsightly crop of seed in vacant lots all over the country, we nevertheless import annually from European countries 125,000 pounds of dried burdock root, those preparing it receiving from 3 to 8 cents per pound for it.

The new canes in the raspberry patch—those which will be bearing fruit next season—should be tipped when they are about three and a half feet high. This will result in a sturdy, well branched bush, the maturing of which all the plant energy for the rest of the season will be devoted.

Quite accurately the spread of the root system of shrub or tree is indicated by its visible spread of branches. This should be of aid in pruning roots and branches at the time of transplanting and also in the cultivation and care of trees after they are set, including the growing of tilled crops in orchard tracts.

Now and then one runs across a fellow going by the name of farmer who will let the stock go thirsty on a hot day when the windmill refuses to work rather than expend a moderate amount of elbow grease in working the pump handle for their relief. This kind of chap is usually of the husky yet lazy type that is there with both feet when it comes to mealtime and makes a big fuss if there isn't an abundance of stuff to eat and drink.

Where there are no trees in the pasture which will furnish ample shade for the stock during the heated months of the summer some kind of shelter should be provided, if nothing more than a shed made of poles and thatched with straw or old hay. A number of instances were reported during July of last year where many head of cattle died from the heat, being found piled up in a seeming attempt to gain the shelter of a little patch of shade.

That tuberculosis can be transmitted from cattle to hogs has been quite forcefully demonstrated in some experiments which have lately been conducted by the Iowa animal husbandry department. Out of twenty-eight healthy pigs which were kept in a pasture three months to clean up after a car load of cows affected with tuberculosis twenty-two showed unmistakable lesions of the disease when slaughtered a short time after removal from the feed lot.

While it isn't so necessary as in the case of a small plant or shrub, the good sized shade tree will make a more thrifty growth if the soil is spaded and mellowed up a few feet about the roots. We saw this fact nicely proved one day last fall in the case of two white oaks eighteen inches in diameter, one in a cultivated garden patch and the other but a couple of rods distant in a dry, hard packed pasture. The first had thrifty, glossy leaves, with a foot and a half of new growth, while the second had a decidedly faded and drought stricken appearance. It was a forceful object lesson and indicated a fact too often overlooked.

The easiest and most effective pruning work that can be done in an orchard is with the thumb and finger or a small knife during the first year following the setting of the young trees. This should include the snipping off of all shoots but the five or six which will later make the framework of the tree, and if this elimination work is done early in the growing season the remaining branches will be just so much more vigorous. If one has the time at his disposal this work can be augmented by snipping off the tips of the young branches in August. This will tend to season the wood as well as increase the diameter of the branches.

There may be readers of these notes who have fruit trees in their home gardens or small orchards which, like the lily of olden time, "neither toll nor spin," a condition of barrenness doubtless due to too much kindness and barnyard fertilizers. Under these conditions the production of fruit next season may be induced by pruning such trees rather sharply during the month of July, including the thinning out of branches in the body of the tree and the cutting back of limbs longer than they need to be. This treatment tends to produce fruit buds for next season. The same principle—the production of fruit from a reduction of the tree's vitality—is sometimes brought into play accidentally when a tree is injured by cultivator or scratched by the house cat.

Spinach and beets contain large quantities of iron, and this fact alone would seem to justify a generous consumption of them in the shape of greens by those whose blood needs toning up. Incidentally, too, when cooked with a rice piece of salt pork they make a mighty toothsome ration for a fellow whose blood doesn't need any tonic.

The burdock, one of the most common and sturdy of weeds known to every property owner, is a biennial—that is, lives two years. The young plants may be killed easily with the hoe, while those that are in their second year may be put out of business by running the root through with a spade a couple of inches below the crown.

There is no recipe for cooking soft boiled eggs that gives more uniform or more satisfactory results than putting the eggs in boiling water—an egg to a pint—setting the dish off the stove and allowing them to remain from eight to ten minutes, depending a bit upon how one wants them cooked. Eggs prepared in this way are evenly cooked and are never overdone, even if forgotten and left in the water overtime.

The man who will shoot robins or other song birds because they help themselves to a small portion of his berries or cherries seems to forget the fact that but for the birds man would die of starvation from having his garden and field crops overwhelmed with insect pests. He not only violates the laws of his state in killing the birds, but by so doing shows that he is too small and stingy to live among civilized folks.

One of the greatest boons that the good housewife can have along the line of aids in doing her work is linoleum for her kitchen and dining room floors. There is no grime in dirt to dig out by main force and awkwardness, a mop being the only means required to keep it looking fresh and clean. Especially will this improvement be appreciated in homes where the floors are of soft wood and have become badly worn.

After testing several methods of making clover hay Professor Roberts of the Cornell (N. Y.) experiment station recommends the following procedure as most satisfactory: He cuts the crop when moderately ripe and only during those hours of the day when the dew is off. The hay cut one day is left until the following day and while hot is put in small bunches and left until the next morning, when they are turned lightly and carefully and loaded with as little shaking as possible and moved away, being salted at the rate of three pounds per ton as unloaded.

The animal husbandry department of the Pennsylvania Agricultural college reports the case of a creamery manager who refused a graduate of the state dairy school a ten dollar a month advance in wages, hired a man at the lower figure, and on the 49,000 pounds of butter made during the ensuing months lost $850 as a result of a slump in the overrun from 19 to 13 per cent. This is a concrete illustration of the shortsighted economics practiced by many folks engaged in many enterprises. The lesson is so plain that it does not need pointing.

The artichoke, until a few years ago considered a troublesome perennial weed, hard to eradicate, is now viewed by some hog raisers as a valuable source of succulent feed, the hogs being turned into the field in the fall or the tubers dug and stored for winter use. The artichoke is handled much as are potatoes and may be planted up to the latter part of May in sections where rainfall or artificial water supply is available for their proper growth. They yield as high as 300 to 400 bushels of tubers per acre, which contain more protein and more fat than do potatoes.

While paris green has been considered a standard as an insecticide by orchardists for a number of years past, recent experience shows arsenate of lead to be superior in that it does not burn or injure fruit or foliage, is insoluble in water and adheres to the foliage better than does the paris green. There are several brands of commercial arsenate which are carefully made and reliable and which require no preparation further than working to a fine, creamy paste and mixing with water at the rate of from two to three pounds to fifty gallons of water. In twenty-five pound kegs the arsenate can be bought at about 13 cents per pound.

While the sod bound orchard may produce fruit of a superior color and make the work at harvest time a little cleaner, these are about the only advantages that can be claimed for the plan. The main disadvantages of the system are that it too often furnishes an easy excuse for turning the orchard lot into a pasture, that it consumes moisture and fertility that the trees sorely need, while it reduces the size of the fruit from a third to a half and provides a harbor for a multitude of insect pests which are thus able to propagate undisturbed. If a careful survey of the situation seems to show that there is more money in raising hay than there is in producing fruit, the trees would better be cut out and the hay or pasture idea given the right of way.

GAG RULE METHODS IN FORCE

AN EXAMPLE OF GOVERNMENT BY STEALTH.

Public Servants Not Permitted to Give Information to the Press Until It Has Been Censored—How Government Expenses Have Increased—A Definition of Censorship—Railroad Bill Gives No Relief.

By Clyde H. Tavenner.

Correspondence of The Patriot.

Washington, June 6.—Government by stealth is a fitting expression to describe the gag-rule methods inaugurated under Mr. Taft. Not merely the average employee of the government, but the highest officials, are afraid to give newspaper men information as to what is going on. Employees are being made to feel that they owe no fidelity to the public, but that they are mere personal servants of the executive of men now in charge of the government. As a result of the discharge of Pinchot, Glavis, Kerby and other interior department employees, the average government worker today feels that it is worth his position to discuss even matters of public record with a newspaper man.

The following official order signed by George Otis Smith, director of the United States geological survey, gives an idea of the Russian-like censorship that has been established over government information:

"Rule 2. That no interview shall be granted without securing from the person soliciting the same a promise that he will, before submitting the material to his publication office, present a copy of his manuscript to the director (George Otis Smith) for approval."

So far as is known among newspaper men in Washington, nothing so drastic as this in the way of press censorship has ever been attempted before in America.

In 1890, under Cleveland, the total annual appropriation for the expenses of the national government was $340,000,000, or $8 for every man, woman and child. In 1900 our expenses had increased to $600,000,000, or $8 for every man, woman and child. The last Congress appropriated the colossal sum of $1,044,401,857, or nearly $12 for every man, woman and child. This Congress threatens to spend $1,000,000 in excess of last year's appropriation.

Republicans appear reluctant to concern themselves much about government expenditures in relation to the cost of living. But one thing is certain, the government does not pick up these hundreds of millions of dollars in the street. This money comes out of somebody's pocket. Unlike city and state governments, the national government has but one way of raising revenue to meet expenses, and that is by taxing things eaten, worn or used by the people. Hence it is that increased cost of living is marching hand-in-hand with increased Republican extravagance.

"I am sorry," said Senator Bristow, of Kansas, while discussing the railroad bill, "that the senator from West Virginia (Edkins) has deserted the chamber, and I am sorry the senator from Rhode Island (Aldrich) is not here, and that the senator from Massachusetts (Lodge) has also disappeared."

A survey of the senate showed that the railroad senators, after having outlined the kind of legislation they had decided should be enacted, had fled from the chamber without waiting to hear those who disagreed from the railroad viewpoint.

"Those of us who are here might possibly be instructed," suggested a Democratic senator, upon noting Bristow's chagrin, "but if the senator from Kansas imagines that anything he can say will influence those senators he is wasting his time and breath."

"I am afraid the senator is right," answered Bristow. Then he went on addressing the Democrats and the empty seats of the standpatters.

Last week, only nine of the 25 Republicans of the national house of representatives are in a position to stand before their constituents and report that they voted to unseat Cannon as speaker. Page 3490 of the Congressional Record shows that on March 19 all but nine Republicans voted against the Burleson resolution which would have unseated Speaker Cannon and made it possible to elect a new speaker. Every Democrat voted to unseat "Uncle Joe."

A brief definition of "Censorship" has been asked for. Censorship means that when the interests of the common people and the interests of the steel trust, the sugar trust, the lumber trust, the harvest trust and the combination of New England cotton manufacturers come into conflict, the latter get the legislation they want and the people are forced to take that which they do not want. The Payne-Aldrich law is a good illustration. The people said: "We want downward revision of the tariff in order that the cost of living may be lessened." The corporate intervention in order that our profits may increase. The people were disappointed, and the campaign-contributing tariff trusts were obeyed. That is Censorship.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, sometimes thinks of the most unheard of things. For instance, in the senate the other day in discussing President Taft's railroad bill, he said: "There is not one line in the statute to give to the people reasonable railroad rates. All that has been accomplished is to afford a means of giving equal rates to the shippers." Now who except LaFollette or some good Democrat would think of that?

Direct charges that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate caused the appointment of the federal judge, the prosecuting attorney and the United States marshal who will represent the government in suits over the Cunningham coal land claims (which Ballinger was so friendly to) have been made before the senate committee on judiciary. A responsible party, Judge James Wickham, delegate to Congress from Alaska, made the charge.

SALARIES OF MINISTERS.

The Average Income of Preachers is Only $633 a Year.

The average annual salary of a minister of the gospel in the United States is but $633 in all the denominations represented in the compilations on this subject in a special report on the census of religious bodies, which is now in press preparatory to its submission by United States Census Director Durand to Secretary Nagel, of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

It is pointed out in the introduction to this is the first time an attempt has been made in a United States census to secure official statistics concerning salaries paid to ministers. It is stated that the results of the census are not entirely satisfactory on account of the failure of some ministers to report their salary and others to report with sufficient clearness. Of the grand total of 186 denominations in continental United States, the report states that 15 have no regular ministry and 69 either pay no stated salaries or make returns which were not sufficiently complete to warrant tabulation.

The denomination showing the highest average is the Unitarian, with $1,653, while the denominations next in order are the Protestant Episcopal church, $1,242; the Universalists, $1,238; the General Convention of the New Jerusalem in the United States of America, $1,233; the Jewish congregations, $1,222; the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, $1,177; the Reformed Church in America, $1,170; the United Presbyterian Church of North America, $1,096; the Congregationalists, $1,042; the Christian Catholic Church in Zion, $1,037, and the Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of North America, $1,008.

Among the denominations showing an average salary considerably lower than the general average for the United States are the Advent Christian church; all the Baptist bodies except the Northern Baptist Convention; the Christian Union; the Christians (Christian Connection); the Church of Christ, Scientist; the General Eldership of the Churches of God in North America; the Society of Friends (Orthodox); the colored Methodist bodies; the Methodist Protestant, Wesleyan Methodist and Free Methodist churches; the Salvation Army, and the Volunteers of America.

In individual denominations the conditions vary.

In the Northern Baptist Convention the average for cities of the first class is $1,580; of the second class, $1,420; of the third class, $1,381; of the fourth class, $1,248, and for the area outside of the principal cities, $683. The figures for the Disciples of Christ show a regular gradation from $1,326 per minister for cities of the first class to $1,250 for those of the fourth class; for the Methodist Episcopal Church, from $1,422 for cities of the first class to $1,187 for those of the fourth class, and for the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, from $2,169 for those of the first class to $1,524 for those of the fourth class.

In the Southern Baptist Convention the average salary ranges from $1,743 for cities of the first class to $1,358 for those of the fourth class, and among the Congregationalists from $1,938 for cities of the first class to $1,512 for those of the fourth class, but in the case of both these denominations the average for cities of the third class is a little larger than for those of the second class.

Among the Lutheran bodies there is considerable difference; some, as the General Council, show a regular gradation; others, as the United Norwegian, show larger averages for cities of the third and fourth classes.

In the case of the Roman Catholic church, the figures show but little difference between the general average and that for the various classes of cities or for the area outside of the principal cities, the reason being that in this denomination the salaries are fixed for the diocese, being in general the same for the rural districts as for the large cities.

Former Citizen Endorses Mr. Rankin.

To the Editor of The Patriot:

May I ask just a little space in your good paper. You know it is with me like the old negro told the Lord before the bear fight was about to come off. "I am not always bothering you like some people."

I notice the name of my old friend J. Al. Rankin mentioned for commissioner. If the good people of old Guilford should ask him to fill this office, they will certainly make no mistake. I have known Al. Rankin since boyhood and would like to say he will not only make you a No. 1 commissioner, but he has in him the stuff that old-fashioned honest gentlemen are made of and will be true to any trust.

Yours very truly, G. W. DENNY.

Graham, June 2.

Got Religion and Made Restitution.

Lexington, June 2.—Mr. Sam Simerson, of Boone township, received a letter the other day that gave him a shock and a pleasant surprise also. Ten years ago somebody stole a bale of cotton from his gin. There never was any clue, as the theft was committed at night. The letter was from the thief, who enclosed $43, the amount he got for the bale, which he sold at Winston. He said that recently he had been converted and was now sanctified, and he desired immediately to square himself with Mr. Simerson. The shock to Mr. Simerson came from the discovery that this man stole the cotton. He lived in the county then, and nobody dreamed that he was guilty. He is still living in the state.

DR. GORDON FOR CLERK.

Mr. Justice Says He is Eminently Qualified for the Position.

The following letter from Hon. E. J. Justice to Mr. C. T. Robertson, of Guilford College, is self explanatory:

Mr. C. T. Robertson,

Dear Sir—I am in receipt of your letter of June 1, asking my opinion as a member of the bar, and one who knows Dr. J. R. Gordon, as to what sort of clerk of the Superior court he would make.

I can speak of Dr. Gordon's qualifications without disparagement of the gentlemen who oppose him, as I committed myself to him before either of the other gentlemen had become candidates. The office of clerk of the Superior court should above all things, be filled by a man who has the capacity for organization of business affairs, and who is methodical and conscientious in the performance of official duties. Of course, it goes without saying that the strict integrity is one of the qualifications of a good clerk, but nobody would question that Dr. Gordon has this qualification.

In my judgment Dr. Gordon would arrange and systematize the papers in the clerk's office in a way that would be satisfactory to every one having business with that office.

The statutes prescribe what books shall be kept by the Clerk of the Superior court, and how they shall be kept, and the statutes also prescribe what entries shall be made when moneys are received, and when and how the money received by the clerk is to be disbursed. These constitute the main duties of the clerk of the Superior court, and it is all important that these duties shall be strictly performed. There is nothing so confusing to the people having business with this office as to have the clerk fail in these respects. I do not believe that Dr. Gordon would fail.

In the legislature of 1907 he was chairman of the house committee on appropriations and as such was charged with the responsibility of providing for the various state institutions equitably between them, and not exorbitating the available funds for the purpose. The position of chairman of the appropriation committee requires much more business ability and judgment than that of clerk of the Superior court, and I do not hesitate to say that few men have filled the position of chairman of this committee with as much credit to themselves and service to the state as did Dr. Gordon.

The other duties of the clerk of the Superior court are to issue papers in proper form, and to probate deeds and wills according to the established forms, and occasionally to decide disputed matters. If Dr. Gordon were the clerk he would have to show him the form for issuing papers and probate deeds and wills, and he has enough common sense and business capacity to enable him to satisfactorily decide such matters as a clerk will be called upon to decide.

Knowing Dr. Gordon as I do, I do not hesitate to say that he will, in my opinion, make an excellent clerk.

Very truly yours, E. J. JUSTICE.

Romance of the Bible.

None of the strange or romantic stories between Genesis and Revelation is to be compared with the story of the Bible itself, of its translation and circulation, and its dynamic force in the world of literature. It came through a labyrinth of languages—Hebrew, Arabic, Greek, Latin, and Anglo-Saxon—and encountered foes to its existence at every turn in history. Tyndall, the father of the open Bible, was burned at the stake and his books destroyed, but the attempt to stamp out the Holy Scripture but served to stimulate its spread, until today it is literally true that the Bible is read from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand and holds the world under a more powerful spell than any other piece of literature.

With all the societies for the distribution of the Bible, Mrs. Russell Sage has just given the American Bible Society $500,000 for the publication, contingent upon its raising a similar sum for its further dissemination. This amount is said to be needed to meet the demand for copies of the Bible in foreign lands, where it is read and preached in a countless number of tongues. Whatever may be our thought as to the divine inspiration of the Bible, it is the book of books, the old that is ever new.

Island of Mystery.

Wide World Magazine.

Less than 3,000 miles from the city of New York, and about a third of that distance from San Francisco, there is situated, in the upper reaches of the Gulf of California, a small island, worthless even for so mean a purpose as the raising of goats, but nevertheless a center of attraction for the ethnologists and archaeologists of the Old and New Worlds for many generations.

This rocky peak, rising from the quiet waters of the gulf, is known as Tiburon Island. Tiburon is a Spanish word, which, translated into English, means "shark." The waters around the islet are literally swarming with these tigers of the sea, and the inhabitants of the island are said to be so no less ferocious than the shark. Tiburon is peopled with a handful of Indians, the only aborigines of their kind in the world, known as Seris. They are reputed to be cannibals, to be so fierce that none of the mainland tribes of Mexican redskins ever dare to invade their shores, and to possess the secret of manufacture of a peculiarly deadly poison, with which they prepare their arrows before battle.

KILLED IN AMERICAN WARS.

Number Wounded in Different Battles Compared With Civil Strife.

An interesting statement of fatalities in the various American wars has been prepared by General Keifer, a congressman from Ohio, and a high officer in two wars.

"In the seven years' war of the American revolution," he says, "some 55 battles and skirmishes transpired, or an average of eight per year. In the civil war of four years there were fought 2,235 battles, or an average of 559 a year. In the seven years' war of the American revolution the entire list of killed in battle was 1,735. In the civil war the killed in battle were 61,362; died of wounds and disease, 183,257.

"Seventeen battles of the revolutionary war show a loss in killed of 917. The total losses, numbering 818, occurred in Indian massacres and various skirmishes in the other 38 battles and skirmishes of the seven years' war, from Lexington to Yorktown.

The official reports in the war office show the entire list of fatalities in the war of 1812 to be 1,878 killed in battle; wounded, 3,789.

"In the Mexican war, 1848, the whole number of men engaged or enlisted was 101,282; killed in battle, all told, 1,049.

"In the three notable wars—the revolution, the war of 1812 and the Mexican war—the entire loss of killed in battle was 4,562.

"In the battle of Gettysburg alone the loss in killed was 3,072 on the union side, and died of wounds, about 750 more; wounded and missing, 14,440. Hence the fatalities of that one battle were 3,822, or within 740 of the entire battle loss in all our previous three great wars, covering a period, all told, of eleven years. The record shows that 2,235 battles were fought from Fort Sumter in April, 1871, to General Johnston's surrender, near Raleigh, N. C., April 26, 1865; and that in 1,500 battles more soldiers were killed in each battle than at the famous battle of Bunker Hill, Massachusetts, in April, 1775."

FARMS FOR EVERYBODY

At Their Own Price

We have sub-divided the Jennings farm into a number of small farms, containing 3 to 25 acres each. These farms will be sold AT AUCTION on the premises

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, AT 3 P. M.

Terms: One-fourth cash, one-fourth in six months, one-fourth in 12 months and one-fourth in 18 months, with interest on deferred payments. Liberal discount for all cash.

This property is situated directly on macadam road midway between Greensboro and Battle Ground and on a new public road now being opened, running west through the property.

The fact that this property is directly on the National Highway running from New York City to Atlanta, Georgia, and only two and one-half miles from the historic Guilford battle field, and as the U. S. Government has already expended ten thousand ($10,000) dollars in monuments on said battle field, we naturally expect it to soon be made a and in that event we would of course have an electric railway from Greensboro to this Park, which would give car line service to this property that we are offering for sale and would doubtless increase the value of these farms more than three-fold.

This land is well adapted for fruit, as the orchards on the place are now loaded with fine fruit.

There is no better farm land in Guilford county.

NO PRETTIER PLACE TO LIVE

Splendid school within three-fourths mile, church one-half mile. This farm is well watered, and has plenty of wood.

It is a recognized fact that Greensboro affords a splendid market for everything grown on the farm, and more than double the quantity of vegetables, chickens, eggs, butter, etc., now sold by our local farmers would find a ready market if only raised.

This is certainly the time of all times to buy a farm.

Land will never again be as cheap as it is today.

Did you know that since Mr. Jordan sold the Pruden farm, in small farms, a month ago, numbers of those who bought have sold at a good profit. This same thing will happen after this sale. No matter what you pay for one of these small farms, it will be worth more before the year is gone, possibly double in value.

Remember the place, two miles northwest from Greensboro. Remember the date, JUNE 15th. Remember the time, 3 p. m.

Five Good Men Suggested for County Commissioners.

To the Editor of The Patriot:

The county commissioner is one of the most important officers we shall elect this year. We all are proud of Guilford is one of the leading counties in the Old North State. We need big, broadminded men to manage her affairs, so we can keep her in the front ranks.

I want to name five men for the consideration of the voters of old Guilford, who, in my best judgment, could not be duplicated, taking all things into consideration. They are men who will not use the office for personal ends without considering the county welfare at large, giving all parts of the county equal justice, knowing they cannot build up our good old county without reaping some good themselves. But on the other hand, they know that they would hurt themselves by working for any personal ends, by tearing down confidence.

Nominate these five men and of course we will elect and have five of the best commissioners anywhere to be found; men who will ever look to old Guilford's interests—to her manufacturing interests and her agricultural interests. To make old Guilford a great and prosperous county will be their ambition.

You take W. C. Boren, who was born and raised on a farm by as good parents as old Guilford could boast. He is as good and careful a business manager as we could ask for. I have known him ever since his boyhood days and his character stands above reproach. He could not be induced to do the wrong thing by any means if he knew it.

And Mr. J. A. Davidson you all know to be a progressive man, and we as a county can not afford to do without him to help out in the struggle for supremacy.

Then there is Dr. Bradshaw, at High Point, (and High Point is entitled to one commissioner.) He is a good business man, with a big heart, wanting to see old Guilford in the front, and we cannot afford (as I see it) to let him go by.

Then we need a good man to look after our agricultural interests, and the best man available is W. J. Groome. The man who goes down in the round and plows up the clay and by his skill causes vegetable matter to mix with the sand and clay, and thereby makes out of a poor soil a rich fertile one is a man worthy to be called a public benefactor, and Mr. Groome has done that, and at the same time built up a run down county.

In my opinion Mr. Groome will make a good all-round commissioner. He is liberal to his church and state. You cannot afford to let this opportunity pass without giving him the nomination.

Then Mr. Wilson I do not know so well as the other four just mentioned, but all I hear is to his credit; and northern Guilford needs representation, and they tell me he is the man. So let's go to our primaries on the 25th and give these five good men the nomination, and they will do the rest.

Yours for the welfare of old Guilford, J. G. SMITH.

MR. LAMBETH HEARD FROM.

Has a Complaint Against Democratic Legislative Candidates.

To the Editor of The Patriot:

It seems that the aspirants to the legislature from Guilford county have lost some of their former vigor in that they seem to have no other incentive to represent Guilford county than that they must be elected to office because they have been voting the Democratic ticket, and for in the face of what has taken place in the county from recent legislation enacted by so-called Democrats, when even only last spring our citizens were in a great uproar and almost in a rebellion. And when the people ask them to explain their disposition towards the same, they "bush-whack" and say nothing, which leaves them to make the charge that they are acting cowardly, and we do not wish to be represented by cowards. And if they still maintain their "bush-whacking" tactics, we will charge them as belonging to an office combine controlled by a political "ring." And from this cause we hereby ask all true Democrats to have nothing to do with primaries controlled by so-called Democrats; and if they persist in such tactics I think it would be wise for the citizens of Guilford county to call a popular mass-meeting to include the representative citizens of the entire county to meet in Greensboro and express their disapproval, and if necessary in a sane way to nominate a citizens' ticket for the conservation of the people's rule and right and good government. I am satisfied that there are 500 Democrats in the county who will have nothing to do with the primaries under the present situation, and I am satisfied further that there are 1,500 citizens ready to support a citizens' ticket as mentioned above.

Now, Mr. Editor, it is up to the office seekers as to whether they can restore confidence to the citizens of Guilford county. This is just a hint of the grievances that are imposed upon us. I am of the opinion that it is yet possible for the Democratic party in the county to reform and progress in a sane way.

Survives 25-Foot Fall at 108.

New York, June 2.—Although 108 years old, Solomon Levy, of East New York, survived a fall of 25 feet from the roof of a one-story building on which he was walking in his sleep today. He suffered a severe contusion of the hip and a painful shock in the fall, and physicians are fearful of the result on account of his age.

Mr. Levy was sound asleep as he awoke from his couch, stepped through the window to the roof of the extension and walked over the edge, falling among pedestrians in Pitkin avenue.

Fire in a warehouse of the Southern Cotton Oil Company, at Charlotte Saturday night, destroyed between 800 and 900 bales of low-grade cotton and resulted in a loss of $15,000.

The commencement of Trinity College, at Durham, has been in progress for several days and will come to a close this evening. The retiring president, Rev. Dr. John C. Kilgo, delivered a notable address to the student body Sunday night.

Solomon Shepperd, the notorious Durham negro who has given the penitentiary authorities much trouble, having escaped once, was shot and dangerously wounded Wednesday, near Garysburg, while trying to escape from a squad of convicts at work on a railroad.

Capt. A. B. Stronach, for many years a prominent merchant of Raleigh died Thursday night, aged 63 years. He had been in failing health for a number of years. He retired from business two years ago and spent a year in Scotland, his "fatherland." He was a brave Confederate veteran.

The trustees of the A. & M. College at Raleigh have increased the salary of President D. H. Hill from $3,000 to $3,500 and of Professors W. C. Riddick, F. L. Stevens and W. A. Withers from $2,250 to $2,500. They have also authorized the employment of a professor of soils and directed that Professor Newman, of the chair of agriculture, shall have charge of the college farm.

Hub Holt, a negro sent from Davidson county to the state prison two years ago, to serve a sentence of 15 years for attempted criminal assault on a white woman, turned up at Linwood recently, and it was found that the penitentiary had mixed him up with another negro whose time was out, and had discharged him by mistake. When an officer went to Linwood for Holt, the negro had disappeared.

Hulda Burgess, of Gastonia, 18 years old, crazed by association with the "Unknown Tongue" sect, has been committed to jail until she can be sent to the state hospital at Morganton. Some days ago the girl called her friends to her marriage and when they gathered there was no groom. It fell out that the man selected for the groom knew nothing of the proposed marriage. The Burgess girl simply said the Lord had told her this man would marry her. But there was no wedding.

NOTABLE FAMILY REUNION.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kennett Celebrate Sixtieth Marriage Anniversary.

Correspondence of The Patriot.

"Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kennett, formerly of Guilford but now of Randleman, held a reunion of their children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, other relatives, and old neighbors at the home of the oldest son, Joseph C. Kennett, near Climax, on May 28.

It was a notable gathering of this kind. Mr. Kennett, 80 years old, and his good wife, 75, took this occasion to celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. Of their nine living children, all of whom are married, eight were present, with part or all of their families. Rev. W. F. Kennett, of Stokesdale, was the only absentee. Those present were: Joseph C. Kennett and family, at whose home the reunion occurred; J. A. Kennett and family, of Concord; John Kennett and family, of Mooresville; Charles Kennett and family, of Randleman; Mrs. W. F. Ivey and Mrs. John Lamb and families, of Randleman; Mrs. H. L. Bergman and son, of Pomona; Mrs. Annie Slack and daughter, of Greensboro. There were present also 29 grandchildren, two great grandchildren, and a large number of other relatives and friends. The number who partook of the bountiful dinner, which was spread on a long table under the great oaks, was 99.

As the venerable couple sat side by side, facing the kodak, this thought occurred to the writer: "They have lived together for sixty years; they have long ago passed the three score years and ten; they have had a long journey on this earth; they have not gained great wealth or fame, as the world counts it, but they have planted many happy, prosperous families in the Old North State. Surely they have not lived in vain. And as I looked upon the groups of healthy, rollicking grandchildren, who will perpetuate their name for all time, I said: 'You have a fame greater than money can buy, and a monument more lasting than marble can build.'"

As the evening wore away the crowd began to disperse, after wishing the host and hostess many more years to enjoy the blessings which God has given them. All agreed that the family reunion is a great institution.

A Week's Events of More or Less Interest to the Public.

Pope Pius celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday Thursday.

Twenty-five men lost their lives in an explosion in a cement quarry near Ogden, Utah, last Wednesday.

Five men in Chicago have been indicted for operating a "moonshine" brandy distillery in the heart of the city.

Governor Joseph M. Brown, of Georgia, announces that he will be a candidate for renomination in the primaries called for August 23.

President Taft has announced that hereafter he will consult the wishes of senators of both parties in the appointment of postmasters for their home towns.

A justice of the peace in Hagerstown, Md., a few days ago fined two young women $25 each and sentenced them to 30 days in jail for improper flirting on the street.

Charles D. Norton, an assistant secretary of the Treasury department, has been appointed secretary to the president to succeed Fred W. Carpenter, who has been appointed minister to Morocco. Mr. Norton is 33 years old and came to Washington from Chicago, where he had been engaged in the insurance business.

E. H. Jennings, president of the Columbia National Bank, of Pittsburg, Pa., has been sentenced to two months in jail and fined $500, after pleading nolo contendere to a charge of bribing city councilmen to have his bank named a city depository. Frank A. Griffin, former cashier of the same institution, was sentenced to four months in jail and fined $500 on the same charge.

Sentiment in favor of intervention by the United States for the restoration of order in Nicaragua seems to be growing. The State department has already received appeals from many prominent Nicaraguans and from Americans having interests in the stricken country. It is doubtful, however, that Secretary Knox will take action until it becomes apparent that Estrada cannot take the rest of the country.

The Philadelphia Record a Superior Newspaper.

When a daily newspaper numbers among its readers tens of thousands who dwell in communities remote from the place of its publication there is prima facie evidence that it is a comparatively small part in the scheme of its existence. The strong following of the Philadelphia Record outside of Philadelphia, in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, is a case in point. The out-of-town subscribers of the Record do not read it in preference to other city dailies solely to find out what is going on in Philadelphia. Their favor has been won and held by its special appeal to their likings and requirements in other directions.

While the Record is a Democratic newspaper, the sources of its popularity cannot be sought in its political faith, since many of its longtime admirers are staunch and sincere Republicans. But the vigor and sincerity of its editorials compel the approval and respect even of those who do not agree with their teachings; and partisanship is kept out of its news columns. The Record news outlook is broad and far-reaching; it is alert in gathering the daily grist from all points in neighboring states and from the world at large; and, what is no less important, it is fair, accurate and entertaining in presenting it.

The Record makes a fetish of reliability. One consequence of this is that its daily market quotations have become the standard, officially recognized in the produce and government transactions in the city. Another is that its sporting department is the recognized authority on all matters in its province, including horse news.

As a family newspaper the Record pays as much attention to utility as to entertainment. It publishes a great fund of information helpful to the farmer. It carries an irresistible appeal to womanhood in its departments devoted to fashions and household affairs. It prints more store news—a matter of live interest to women—than any other Philadelphia paper. Its daily patterns are thoroughly up-to-date and in great demand. It is, in brief, for a dozen reasons indispensable in the family circle, and clean enough to be entitled to the honored place it has won there.

Champ Clark to Retire at 75.

Representative Champ Clark, of Missouri, leader of the Democratic Minority in the house of representatives, has set for himself an approximate age limit in public at about 75 years of age.

"The people may set my time of retirement a little earlier than that," said Clark, "but I am not going to let political age limits with a newspaper man today. So far as I know the only public man who set an age limit on his service and lived up to it was Nathaniel Macon, of North Carolina, speaker and senator," said Mr. Clark. "When in his prime he set the exact age at which he would retire. When that day arrived he was in the middle of a senatorial term, but kept his word and resigned. He was one of the greatest men of that era."

Thousands in Search of Gold.

Seattle, Wash., June 2.—Officials of Alaska points on the Bebring sea estimate that 15,000 people will leave Seattle for Nome and St. Michaels on the early June sailings; drawn to the far north by the reports of rich discoveries in the Iditarod gold fields. The first regular liner to leave for Nome will sail from Seattle to-morrow and every berth sold weeks in advance.

Wealthy men have been compelled to take accommodations in the steerage and there is a waiting list at the steamship offices larger than the combined capacity of the northbound steamers. So great is the rush to the north that passenger and the freight officials of the Alaska steamship lines say the movement, which amounts to a stampede, has been equalled but once in the history of the north, and that during the Klondike rush thirteen years ago.

CURE FOR INTEMPERANCE.

Eden's Forbidden Fruit Now Means of Driving Sin From World.

Technical World Magazine.

The forbidden fruit of the Garden of Eden which brought sin into the world is now looked on as the means of driving sin out of the world. No less an august body than the Iowa State Horticultural Society is standing sponsor for the movement to remove the stigma from the apple.

When Eve, sorely tempted, partook of the luscious fruit which she had been forbidden to touch, she all unwittingly cast a blight on the apple which centuries of cultivation and two national shows at Spokane have been unable to remove. It has remained for an apple-loving country doctor to discover that not only can the world be fed until it has secured the necessary calories of energy, but that the craving for liquor—condemned to be the greatest cause of misery and crime—can be eradicated from the human body by the apple. As if this were not miracle enough, it is contended that Gen. Grant might have won the siege of Vicksburg and the battle of Appomattox by munching on a Ben Davis, a Spitzenberg, or a Jonathan, just as well as by puffing on a fat black cigar.

"The use of apples as an article of diet will very much diminish, decrease, and ultimately abate the appetite for alcoholic stimulants," declares Dr. Samuel Bailey, of Mount Airy, Iowa. "That this is a fact could be proved in many instances if a little care, caution, and vigilance were taken to thoroughly investigate conditions. As a rule, the habitual user of alcoholic stimulants is rarely a lover or consumer of apples. There seems to be a peculiar combination in apples, in the acid in them, or in the peculiar chemical combinations of the apples, that allays the irritation, or so-called appetite, produced by the use of liquor. I am also of the opinion that the keen appetite for tobacco is limited by the use of apples. I am thoroughly convinced that any man who is a lover of whiskey and is in a condition when he thinks he must have a drink, if he will eat an apple before he takes the drink, will find that his appetite for the drink has been materially lessened, if not entirely abated for the time."

Priest Rejects a Unique Fee.

Father Dooley had just tied the knot, says the Cleveland Leader. He looked expectant. The bride looked sheepish, and Pat —, shifting from one foot to another, looked guilty.

At last he began: "I—I—don't like to be mane, father, but I changed me clothes in a hurry, and left me wages in me other pants."

Then he added, in a whisper: "Take me down in the cellar; I'm a plumber, and I'll show ye how to fix the gas meter so 't won't register more than 40 per cent."

Father Dooley declined the offer, but enjoys telling of it.

Home Course In Domestic Science

XI.—The Process of Breadmaking.

By EDITH G. CHARLTON,
In Charge of Domestic Economy, Iowa
State College.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

NEXT to milk there is no food more generally used by civilized nations than bread. To the average housekeeper there is probably no part of the regular cooking more important or worthy of her best attention than breadmaking. To be able to make a well risen, good flavored, well baked loaf of wheat bread is the goal of the young aspirant for culinary fame. One has only to attend county fairs, farmers' institutes and meetings of other organizations where pantry stores and baked goods are entered in contest to see quickly that it is in the bread that the greatest interest centers. And all this is as it should be, for bread is one of our best staple foods. With the addition of a little butter or eaten with a glass of milk, it furnishes a nutritious, well balanced diet upon which one could subsist and maintain good health for an indefinite length of time, provided one did not weary of the sameness.

With a practical knowledge of certain principles governing alcoholic fermentation as produced in breadmaking, also some knowledge of the difference in flours, and with careful attention to these points, breadmaking is really a very simple process. Without this knowledge or attention there will ever be mystery and uncertainty about it, and there will always be indifferent results.

There are only four ingredients absolutely necessary for the making of a loaf of raised wheat bread. They are good bread flour, fresh yeast,
liquid—either milk or water—and salt.
Other ingredients are often used, but they are not necessary. For instance, shortening is sometimes added. This makes a richer loaf. Sugar, too, may be used in small quantity. This hastens the growth of the yeast plants. Potato water occasionally replaces the milk or water and makes a moist loaf, while potatoes and hop water form a mixture in which the yeast colonies are quickly started. But good bread can be made without the addition of any of these things.

Flour Used in Breadmaking.

In order that we may have a well raised light loaf it is necessary to use a flour containing a large per cent of gluten. This is the flour made from the so called "hard" wheats. Such flour has less water than the flour made from the "soft" wheat, therefore,
mixed with a liquid, gives a larger loaf. Gluten is a grayish, rubber-like substance found in flour after the starch has been washed out. It is the "gum" obtained from chewing a handful of wheat, as known by most people who have spent their childhood in the country. This very character of gluten makes it necessary in breadmaking. It stretches and stretches, forming little pockets in which the gas is retained in the loaf until it is baked.
The heat of the oven hardens the gluten quickly before it has had time to relax, and so the loaf keeps its puffed shape.

Good bread flour should be white,
with just a suggestion of yellow. After being pressed in the hand it should fall loosely apart. If it keeps the impression of the palm or remains in lumps
it has too much moisture. When rubbed between the thumb and finger
there should be a slight grittiness; it should not feel too smooth or powdery.

What Is Yeast?

This useful agent in breadmaking is as old as the hills, and its action is better understood when one is familiar with it. Yeast is a microscopic plant, consisting of a single round or oval cell. The rapidity with which it grows and reproduces itself gives it much of its importance. It reproduces either by sending out buds which break off
as new plants or by forming spores which will grow into new plants under favorable conditions.

Like all plants, yeast requires heat,
moisture and food in order to grow.
The degree of heat at which it grows best is from 75 to 90 degrees, and this is the temperature at which bread should be kept throughout the process of making. If it were not for the liquid used in breadmaking the yeast would not have sufficient moisture and would not grow any more than it does in the dry cake.

The food of the yeast plant is sugar,

and this is obtained by a chemical change being produced in the starch of the flour, changing part of it into sugar. This results in a fermentation of the products of which are alcohol and carbon dioxide gas—the gas which makes the bread light. The average housekeeper is familiar with yeast or leaven
in three forms—that which she makes herself by combining potatoes, flour, hop water and a "starter" left from a previous baking; also the dry and compressed yeasts. The last two are practically the same, the dry yeast having been mixed with more flour or cornmeal in order to preserve the plants for a longer time. The chief difference between these three forms of leaven is in the number and kind of yeast plants which they contain. The compressed yeast—the small square cake which comes wrapped in tin foil—contains the largest number of plants and so is able to produce the greatest amount of gas in a given time, making it possible to finish the bread in fewer hours. The commercial yeasts are supposed to be what is known as a "pure culture"—in other words, one variety of plants—therefore is more uniform in strength and composition.

Yeast plants exist in the air, and it is upon these we depend in making
"salt rising" bread. The flour and water with a little salt are mixed into a batter, then set aside in a warm place to ferment. It contains sufficient gas to make into dough when full of holes or when like a sponge, and this fermentation has been caused by the action of the wild yeasts in the air.

The Process of Breadmaking.

This article is in no sense an explanation of all the scientific technicalities of breadmaking because the subject is too big and complicated to be thoroughly treated in a column or two.
It is simply an attempt to outline some of the principles to be observed and to give a few helpful suggestions to women who may not have a satisfactory method of their own. The following recipe is for bread made with compressed yeast, and when care is taken to maintain an even temperature, about 80 degrees, throughout the process the bread should be ready for the oven in about four hours from the time it is started. The special advantage of the compressed yeast is that it is more rapid, and when it is used bread need not be set overnight.

Compressed Yeast Bread.

Add two tablespoonfuls of shortening (butter or lard), one tablespoonful of sugar and one teaspoonful of salt and one cake of compressed yeast dissolved in three tablespoonfuls of cold water to one pint of scalded milk or one-half milk and one-half water. Then stir in flour until dough is stiff enough to beat vigorously. Turn on molding board and knead until dough does not stick to the board, using more flour as necessary, a little at a time.
Put in a well greased bowl and brush surface lightly with melted butter to keep from crustling over. Cover with towel and let rise again until double its size (about three hours). At the end of that time mold into rolls or loaves and put into greased pans, brushing the surface with melted butter. Cover as before and set to rise until double its size; then bake.

Bread should be baked as soon as it is sufficiently light, and the oven should be hot enough to brown flour in fifteen minutes, about 300 degrees. At this temperature ordinary sized loaves of bread should be browned all over.

Bread should be turned from pan as soon as taken from oven and placed uncovered in such a position that all sides will be exposed to the air, not allowing it to come in contact with anything which will give it an unpleasant odor or taste. When cold it should be put into a box or jar to which the air can have access and be kept in a dry, cool place. This amount of yeast will raise three times as much flour and other ingredients if longer time is given for it to become light.
One point in which many first class
breadmakers often fail is in the baking.
Bread to be thoroughly digestible should be thoroughly baked. The ordinary sized loaf requires from one hour and a quarter to one hour and a half to bake sufficiently, and that this may be accomplished without burning,
the oven should not be too hot in the beginning. The bread should not begin to brown until after the first ten minutes.

Many changes take place in bread
during the baking. The yeast plants are killed by the high temperature; the gas expands, making the loaf still lighter; the fermentation is stopped;
the alcohol is driven off and a large amount of the moisture is evaporated.
Also the browning of the crust increases the ease with which the loaf is digested, and the action of the yeast
on the gluten is also supposed to aid its digestion.

Whole Wheat Bread.

Scald a cupful of milk, take from the fire and add a heaping teaspoonful of salt, a level teaspoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of shortening.
Add a cupful of cold water to the scalded milk and when the mixture is lukewarm add one-half yeast cake that has been dissolved in one-half cupful of lukewarm water. Beat in enough whole wheat flour to make a rather thin batter, beat well, cover and set aside until light. Then stir in as much more whole wheat flour as you can beat in with a spoon. It must be stiff. Beat well, turn into greased tins, let rise until light, then bake an hour
in a moderate oven.

Diabetic Bread.

Take one quart of sweet milk, one heaping teaspoonful of good butter,
one-fifth of a cake of compressed yeast beaten up with a little water and two eggs well beaten. Stir in gluten flour until a soft dough is formed. Knead as in ordinary bread, put in pans to raise and when light bake in hot oven.

RELIGIOUS THOUGHT.

Gems Gleaned From the Teachings of All Denominations.

We must become more human if we would become better and more civilized.—Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, Hebrew, Chicago.

Men of Power.

A fiery furnace or a lions' den make little impression upon a man of Daniel-like character. Praying men are men of power.—Rev. John T. Stone, Presbyterian, Chicago.

Developer of Character.

Religion with education brings out
the young man in all his character;
shows the formation and basis of his character and ideas.—Rev. P. F.
O'Hare, Roman Catholic, Brooklyn.

True Greatness.

The really great man is he who in spite of his relation to carnality and sin leaps beyond or mounts the skies and rises above all fogginess and lit-tleness.—Rev. T. A. Moffat, Congregationalist, Newark, N. J.

Preparation for the Future.

The best preparation for a good life tomorrow is living well today. The best preparation for another life is the best use of the life that now is.
Use and not abuse the world.—Rev. A.
B. Beresford, Universalist, Baltimore.

Look Out For Your Character.

The man who is narrow and sordid
in his youth will be narrow and sordid
all his life. Young men should know that the greatest asset they can have in this life is character.—Rev. W. C.
Robinson, Presbyterian, Philadelphia.

Crises and Ideals.

Life has many crises. Every ideal met is a crisis—every duty, every vision of better things. Ideals come upon us in movements. Their realization may take a lifetime.—Rev. William Forkell, People's Church, Aurora, Ill.

Functions of the Spirit.

To think, to love and to will are functions of the spirit. The object of thought is truth, the object of love is goodness, the object of the will is to keep the personal powers in order.—
Rev. J. F. Goucher, Methodist, Baltimore.

Test of One's Religion.

A Christian will be busy being neighbor to some one who is in need. The most evident test of a man's religion will be found in his attempts to do something for some other.—Rev. William H. Day, Congregationalist, Los Angeles, Cal.

Reward For Small Acts.

The slightest and most insignificant action performed in a state of grace and done from the love of God with a pure intention is worthy of merit which will one day be transformed into glory.—Rev. J. S. M. Lynch, Roman Catholic, Utica, N. Y.

The Price of Progress.

If in any relation in life progress is to be made we must pay the price, and the testimony of the ages is that no price is too great which buys for us freedom of manhood and womanhood, which breaks the shackles of intellectual and moral slavery.—Rev. Dr. Walter Calley, Baptist, Jamaica Plains, Mass.

Our Share In God's Out of Doors.

It is a beautiful garden into which God has introduced us. The fresh air and the sunshine, the quiet and refreshing resting places, the flowers and the birds, the waving corn and the silver moonlight, the rippling rivers and the mountain stillnesses—it is God's out of doors and ours. It is ours, but in it God has a share.
We are to dress and keep it for him.
When God's sunlight and fresh air are denied the children in tenement or sweatshop, office or factory; when the crystal streams of cities and towns are made channels of filth and fountains of impurity, breeding places for disease; when children are asked to play on cobblestones or in blind alleys instead of in fields of living green;
when schools have their playgrounds in cellars; when disgraceful billboards scar the face of nature and vice is segregated upon the streets of a great Christian city, we are false to our trust.—Rev. Dr. Hugh T. Kerr, Presbyterian, Chicago.

The Immortal Hope.

Crowning all other gifts is man's instinctive hope of immortality. Man is the only animal who ever lifts a gravestone and publishes his convictions that the soul lives forever. The vastness of this physical universe with its myriad worlds makes it unthinkable that our earth alone is inhabited.
There must be other realms where men live and love and invent and sing, pray and aspire. But the truth and the beautiful and the good are the same in all worlds. All souls when they meet will be brothers. Man's love of life, the overequipment for his little arena of threescore years, his revolt
from death, his uncompleted sciences and arts and tools, his half wrought laws, his imperfect liberties, all ask another life. Death finds every worker with his task half done. Something whispers to death approaching: "Too short! The time is too short!" Reason building cities is a tall angel, but Imagination hath wings and forehead that brush against the sky. Looking down on Reason, Faith and Love whisper encouragement and point toward the stars. What weight of character and beauty shall be wrought in the soul when time and those that dwell beyond have completed their ministry do not yet appear. What we do know encourages the hope that all that is the seed here shall be the sheaf there; that the portico shall give way to the temple. The star fades because the sun rises in full splendor. The morning shall pass because high noon hath come.—Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

S.S.S. CURES RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is a specific blood fermentation, a souring of the circulation from an excess of uric acid accumulating in the blood stream. This uric acid impurity comes usually as a result of constipation, weak kidneys, indigestion and stomach disturbances. These systemic irregularities may not be of marked severity or of long duration, but each has a direct effect on the eliminative members of the body, which prevents the proper removal of the waste products. This refuse remains in the stomach and bowels, and souring forms uric acid, which the blood quickly absorbs.

Rheumatism is usually manifested in the joints and muscles. It is here its sharpest twinges of pain are felt, and stiffening of ligaments and tendons first commence. The pain of Rheumatism is caused by the contact of the sensory nerves with the gritty, acid formation which uric acid causes to accumulate in the corpuscles of the blood about the joints. The stiffening of muscles and joints is usually gradual. Constantly the blood deposits the uric acid into the joints, and slowly the natural fluids are dried up and destroyed. Then Rheumatism becomes chronic and serious. Rheumatism is sometimes inherited, for like all blood diseases it can be transmitted to offspring. This explains why some persons are afflicted with the disease, and suffer its pains, who have otherwise been perfectly healthy.

S.S.S. cures Rheumatism and cures
it permanently. It goes into the circulation, and removes the uric acid, purifies the blood, and in this way destroys the cause. S.S.S. changes the blood from a sour, acid-steeped stream to a rich, healthy fluid, which quiets the excited nerves, eases the throbbing muscles and painful joints, and filters out of the circulation the irritating matter which causes every painful symptom of the disease. When the blood has been purified and enriched by S.S.S., it nourishes the different members that have been weakened and starved because of imperfect blood.

RHEUMATISM FORTY YEARS.

I suffered with lumbago for a long time, and speaking of it to a friend one day he told me to try S.S.S. I did so, and soon found it was helping me. I had rheumatism for more than forty years,
having contracted it in the army,
but S.S.S. cured me sound and well, and have had no return of the trouble. I think S.S.S. has no equal for curing rheumatism.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1910.

THE COUNTY'S BUSINESS.*Commissioners Fix the Tax Levy—Road Matters Considered.The June meeting of the board of county commissioners was held Monday and yesterday, all the members of the board being present. The greater part of the first day was spent in passing on accounts and in the transaction of other routine business, and yesterday was largely given over to road matters.In accordance with the law requiring that the tax levy be made at the June meeting of the board, the commissioners fixed the levy for this year as follows: State, 21 cents;
pensions, 4 cents; schools, 18 cents;
roads, 12 2-3 cents; county, 23 2-3 cents;
poll, $2. The special school tax remains the same as voted in each district, with the exception of Oak Hill school district, where it was fixed at 25 cents on the $100 valuation of property and 75 cents on the poll.The Owego Bridge Company was awarded the contract to build a bridge across Reedy Fork at Hardie's mill, on the Brown Summit road.
Work is expected to begin as soon as practicable.D. E. Osborne was exempted from work on the public roads on account of physical infirmity.The board granted the petition previously filed for the opening of a new public road in Morehead township starting from a point on the Battle Ground road, at the Alley place, and leading to the Guilford College road near the C. H. Hancock place.Another road was ordered opened in Friendship township, starting at Guilford Station and running north to the road leading from Greensboro to Friendship by way of Guilford College and intersecting this road near the Hollowell place.Petitions were filed for new roads in Fentress and Jefferson townships.
These petitions will be found advertised in this issue of The Patriot.County Auditor Abbott was instructed to make an investigation to determine the amount of per diem members of the board of commissioners and of the highway commission have received in excess of the amount to which they were entitled by law,
in order that the money may be refunded. It will be remembered that Chairman Davidson, of the county commissioners, and Chairman King, of the highway commission, recently carried test cases to the Supreme court for a construction of the statute governing the compensation of the two boards, the decision of the court
being that members of the two bodies were not entitled to per diem except when the boards were actually in session.DEATH OF SAMUEL HUFFINES.Passes Away at Home of His Son in Douglasville, Ga.One of Guilford's best citizens answered the final summons and passed to the great beyond Monday night, when Mr. Samuel Huffines, of Mc-Leansville, died in Douglasville, Ga., at the home of his son, Mr. Eugene Huffines, where he went on a visit about three weeks ago. He had been in feeble health for quite a while, but no one suspected that the end was so near, and the announcement of his death came as a great shock to his friends and loved ones.The body, accompanied by Mr.
Eugene Huffines, was brought to Greensboro last night and carried to the late home of the deceased four miles east of McLeansville. The funeral and interment will take place at Peace Lutheran church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.Mr. Huffines was about 70 years old and is survived by four children, who are: Messrs. E. P. and J. P.
Huffines and Mrs. S. W. Cobb, of McLeansville, and Mr. Eugene Huffines, of Douglasville, Ga. He also leaves two sisters—Mrs. John Coble, of Alamance county, and Mrs. Holt,
of High Point. His wife died several years ago.Mr. Huffines was a fine type of the old school gentleman and will be sadly missed in his community.
He had been a leading member of Peace Lutheran church for many years. He followed the flag of the Confederacy through the civil war and ever afterwards cherished the memory of those heroic days. Mr.
Huffines was an honored member of Guilford Camp of United Confederate Veterans, and his last visit to Greensboro was on the occasion of the celebration of Memorial day on May 10.
He was, very feeble then and remarked to friends that it was the last reunion of the soldiers on earth that he expected to attend.Would you have better health, more strength, clearer skin, stronger nerves, more elastic step? Use Hollister's

the bride, assisted by Rev. A. P.
Tyer, of Maxton. Mr. C. C. Barn-hardt, of High Point, was the best man, and Miss Margaret Rankin, of this city, was the maid of honor. After the ceremony the young couple left for a trip to Asheville and other points in the mountains. Mr. and Mrs. Low are well known and deservedly popular young people and have a large number of friends who wish for them much happiness.Children Cry

SATISFACTIONIt has always been our endeavor and always will be our endeavor to so conduct our store in every part of it, that each and every customer who comes here to trade will experience nothing but the utmost satisfaction.Satisfaction in the way our service is conducted.
Satisfaction in the courtesy extended.

Satisfaction in the quality and style of goods.

If there is one thing above another that we exert ourselves over it is to secure from the manufacturers only such goods as we know will give our customers absolute satisfaction.It is on such lines as these--on the one motto of absolute satisfaction in every deal--that we solicit business.Howard Gardner
