The Old Mill At Rockingham.

BY J. E. MIGNON.

There was a rhythm in the rippling rill,

And on the playful wind a merry tune,

And all the clouds that seemed to touch

the hill

Were beautiful that Summer afternoon;

For it was then and there she sat with me,

Beside the ruins of the ancient dam,

Where lay the scattered rocks beneath the tree

That marked the gray old mill at Rockingham.

True, we had wandered thither off and over,

And whiled away in chats the lingering time,

But never was the place so glad before,

Nor on the air so many a cheerful chiming;

It seemed too holy for the haunts of men,

For still amid the sounds there was a calm,

That told of Heaven, and all was sweetness then

Around the gray old mill at Rockingham.

We talked of days to come, of what was past,

Of things below, around us and above,

Until the sun went down, and at the last

We talked what we had only thought of—love;

LOCAL ITEMS.

Persons receiving THE PATRIOT with a cross before their names are reminding their subscription will expire in one week, and that the paper will be discontinued (not renewed within that time).

P.S. Send $2.10 and you will receive THE PATRIOT twelve months free of postage.

This is a sort of hash weather—a little of everything.

There was service at sunrise four o'clock at St. Barnabas' church.

Mr. J. A. Barringer has gone to Wilmington.

Dr. Ross died at his residence near Pleasant Garden last Saturday.

First yesterday morning, and cool enough this morning for December. This change is getting monotonous.

A number of Northern people on their return from Florida are stopping in the city.

There is a package of value in this case addressed to Elder J. A. Potter, colored.

Mr. J. A. Weatherly is dangerously ill of pneumonia, and his recovery doubtful.

Next Saturday and Sunday is quarterly meeting at the M. E. Church, South, of this place.

The city offers some desirable land for sale next Monday, on East side of Market square.

By the decision in the Melrose case the county saves something like $50,000 in claims that have been pressed had Melrose succeeded.

A number of cars have recently been put upon the N. C. Road, repaired and pointed up at the shops in common credit to the workmanship of the operators there.

One of Dr. Benbow's bus horses got tangled up with a train at the depot last Saturday and had a square foot of flesh eaten in his shoulder.

Mr. C. J. Varhes, the efficient and popular General Agent of the Southern Railway, returned Saturday, from a trip to Charlotte, where the Expressmen's Institute Company held their Convention last week.

The Southern Express Company has leased the room in the southern end of the Melrose House and will remove thither shortly from the building occupied at present, which has been purchased and will be demolished by Dr. Glenn.

A BIRD MASTER WANTED.—The following is sent us as a specimen advertisement from Brownlow's State:

A Bird Master, March 3, 1874. I have a lot of new traps to sell. I have a lot of new traps to sell. I have a lot of new traps to sell.

Yon can buy fine Roe Shad at J. R. Hughes' stalls for 75 cents per pair. They have been $1 per pair all the season. He keeps the best fish in market.

NATHAN ECKHART.—Yesterday as the N. C. train was coming in from Raleigh, a Charlie Trimble, about seven years old, attempted to jump upon the platform and was killed by the engine.

IMPORTANT LAND SALE.—The attention of our readers is called to the lands of Mr. J. W. Brower, of Mt. Airy, offered for sale at Auction in August next. There are nearly 10,000 acres and the most of it is in a high state of cultivation. There is no better farming land in this State and the waterpower on several tracts is equal to any in the Union.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—Mr. Theodore Ramsey who has been spending several days here awaiting the arrival of Mr. Hickman, with whom he purposes going to Louisiana to organize lodges, has delivered several addresses in this city and neighborhood during his stay. He has initiated in the two trips he made in portions of the State within the past year some five hundred members.

TOO MUCH TRUTH IN THIS.—Ha, ha, another sample of southern innuendo and impracticability. A gentleman from Greensboro informs T. T. that just on the edge of Randolph county, a large bed of fine porcelain clay has been discovered. And yet it is not to be used for anything but making bricks, and being used for anything but making bricks, and being used for anything but making bricks.

NEW WATER WHEEL.—Mr. Robert Williams, of McLenaville, has taken out a patent for a new water wheel which is a great improvement upon the old wheel now in use, and being used for anything but making bricks, and being used for anything but making bricks, and being used for anything but making bricks.

WHAT SILLY STUFF.—Among the townships that vote upon the liquor question in May is Browns'. A correspondent from there informs us that "The chief obstacle (in the way of an argument) we now have to overcome is this: 'If license is lost the wealthier people will have time and money to send a great distance for liquor, while the poor cannot do so.'—And it seems this is having some influence among those with whom it is used.

What nonsense. How any man with two grains of sense could be swayed by such trashy stuff as this is beyond comprehension. But suppose it to be so, what point is there in it? Suppose the rich man do send abroad and procure his stock of "Jenny lighting" and benzine, lay it on his shelves and suck it until he burns out and goes to the dogs, what has the poor man got to do with that? Because the rich man can afford to send off and buy opium, morphine or arsenic and indulge in them till he furnishes a subject for the coroner, is that a discrimination at which the poor man has cause of complaint as oppressive or unjust? If the rich man should conclude to twist a rope around his neck and hang himself with the poor feel the moral law unjustly discriminating which tells them they should not commit self murder? But all this is too stupid to command serious attention from sensible people.

The object of the friends of the prohibition question is to root out an evil, the existence of which daily and hourly brings sorrow, misery and poverty to the hearts of thousands of good people, demoralizing and ruining multitudes of young men, and constantly robbing the toiling masses of the hard earned money that ought to be appropriated to their own advancement and the clothing and feeding of their wives and children.

Every dollar spent at the bar by the poor man is a dollar stolen from the dependent ones whose claims are first, and should be listened to. The father has neither the moral nor legal right to pervert his own offspring, and impose during his own life or after his death upon others the burden of providing for those for whom to provide was his first duty, and he who squanders his money in drinking, depriving those who are dependent upon him, commits a double wrong towards them and his fellow citizens, and violates a double law—the law of nature, which bids him take care of his offspring, and which every animal obeys, and the law of morals which prohibits him from degrading them and imposing upon his fellow-men.

It is an effort intended for the good of all but especially of the poor, white and black, who for scanty pay toil through the long week; plow, hoe, dig, hammer, bear burdens, sweat from every pore, eat coarse food, and when friendly night drops her curtains lay their weary bones on hard pallets to snatch a few hours rest to be strengthened for the same hard routine the next morning.

At the end of the week a few dollars is his recompense for all this toil. Shall he take these sweat-earned dollars, and in the debauch throw them away, robbing himself and those who look to him for bread? And this is just what he does when he pays it out for rum. To that man it is a God-send mercy, a blessing for which he ought to thank his good angel, and not an oppressive discrimination to shut up the rumeries that open their doors on all sides to entice, ruin, and rob him of his meagre earnings—burn out his stomach, lay bare his back and fete him with the life of a galley slave toiling at the oar, and die a mendicant and a public charge. This one consideration in the interest of the toiler is a sufficient reason why they all and every other reflecting man, should favor and vote for prohibition. It removes the temptation.

AN IMPORTANT CURE BY DR. TUTT'S EXPECTORANT.—We have been informed by Mrs. Williams, grand-daughter of General Putnam, that she suffered for many years with Asthma, accompanied with great difficulty of breathing. Indeed, she says, it prevented her from lying in a recumbent position, and often suffocation appeared inevitable, for which she used Tuttt's Expectorant. The relief was so great that she was encouraged to persevere in its use until every vestige of the painful disease was entirely removed.

"We cannot speak too highly of this valuable preparation of Dr. Tutt, and for the sake of suffering humanity hope that it may become more generally known."—Christian Advocate.
