A correspondent writing from Mississippiforwarded, Morocco, Africa, states that 3,000 persons have perished in that country from hunger. There were dead or dying lying in every street in and out of the town. The dead were buried no more than one span deep and the dogs soon uncovered the earth and fed on the bodies. The small-pox, cholera and typhoid fever succeeded each other.

Lorenzo Richmond, a prominent lawyer of St. Louis, committed suicide last February, but only recently the cause of the rash act has been disclosed. He had been involved in a connection with a servant and was compelled to marry her. The silly wife insisted that he family into which she had been admitted should give a party and introduce her to their friends. The young man, rather than endure this ignominy, Rum and Ruin.

The Richmond Dispatch says: W. D. Stith, of Tarboro, N. C., died suddenly in this city Friday afternoon. The deceased came to Richmond with the excursionists on the 6th and registered at the St. Charles Hotel, but, it seems, stayed there only a few days of his time. He got on a spree, and the probability is that for a week or more he had slept little and eaten less. Thursday night he remained at the barroom of Mr. Burns, under Old Fellows' Hall, and was there until about 2 or 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, when Mr. Burns, observing him to be in a shaky condition, advised him to return to the hotel and get proper attention. His marriage was procured; Mr. Stith washed his face, brushed his clothes, and was helped into it (though he fect characteristics of race. They quarrelled frequently, and at such times blows were interchanged. The woman exercising her muscle with as much freedom as her husband. Late on Saturday night they annoyed the neighborhood with their brawls. Both were under the influence of liquor. After midnight the wife of "order" started the sleeping innkeeper by starting a teutem. An entrance was forced to the rooms occupied by Massa and his wife. The former was found stretched on the floor in a hopeless and unconscious state of intoxication. All efforts to arouse him proved unavailing. It was apparent at a glance that she had been brutally and severely beaten, as wounds were on her arms and face. The brutal and

Newark while drinking with his brother yesterday, became involved in a quarrel which had an almost fatal end. The brother dealt him a terrible blow with a broken glass, laying upon the entire side of his face from the base of the ear to the mouth. Last evening the wounded man was considered out of danger. His assailant has not been arrested.

And, yet notwithstanding such evidence as this of the fearful crime that run is, we have men who for the dollars and cents they can make by it would throw wide open the doors of multiplied bar-rooms and tavern hell loose in this community. Despite the beseeching prayer of the sorrowing wife and the mute

The first Monday in June was agreed upon as a day for a Mass meeting at Wilkesboro, when prominent men from along the proposed line of the road will address the people.

Our people are thoroughly aroused and determined to push forward this enterprise.

Dr. York offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That a copy of the proceedings of this meeting be furnished to the Wilkesboro Witness for publication, with request that

The article "Brugsch's History of Egypt" gives some very valuable information on the progress of Hieroglyphic and Cuneiform Interpretation, and the light thereby thrown on early Egyptian history, especially in its connection with the narratives in Genesis and Exodus.

The other articles are "Michael Angeloni and his Age," "Agrarian Distress and its Content in India," "Pyra and Shafesbury, two Popish Plots," "Secret Correspondence of Louis XV.," "English Literature of the Nineteenth Century," "The African Schomburgk's Odyssey;" and "The Sonnet."

tion has not been determined. The people have begun to call it "Dutch cockle," but nobody knows why, for it presents no point of resemblance to the old-fashioned cockle. It has a white bloom on the top, and bears numerous pods, each of which contains four seeds. Whatever it is, the gentlemen who brings us the specimen declare that it is drawing all of the sustenance from the ground and little else choking out the wheat. —Charlotte Observer.

For all bilious derangements, and a simple purgative, they are unequalled.

Beware of Imitations.

The genuine are never sugar coated. Every box has a red wax seal on the wrapper with the impression Dr. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS are the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine Dr. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa. Beware of cheap imitations. The full list of imitations of the name McLANE spelled differently but same pronunciation.
