JUDGE CLARK'S PLATFORM.

Outlined in Speech in Greensboro Tuesday Night.

Chief Justice Walker Clark, of the North Carolina Supreme court, who canceled an appointment to speak in Greensboro last Thursday night in advocacy of his candidacy for the United States senate, spoke in the Grand opera house Tuesday night and addressed an audience of 300 or 400 people. He read his speech, which had apparently been prepared with great care. It was his first speech of the campaign, but will be followed by a number of others before the Supreme court convenes in September. From Judge Clark's declaration of principles, he appears to be appealing especially to the old soldiers, the farmers and the laboring class of people. He was introduced by Hon. E. J. Justice as a true representative of the progressive movement in politics.

In opening his speech Judge Clark declared unequivocally that he should say nothing in the campaign to reflect upon either of the two other candidates, both of whom have lived clean lives and have been his personal friends for years. He enumerated the measures for which he stands and asserted that neither of his opponents had ever attempted to bring about any of these reforms.

First in order, Judge Clark mentioned the German system of land banks, established and conducted by the government for the purpose of lending money at a low rate of interest to farmers. "There are times when a farmer has lost an animal or has had sickness in his family or for other causes needs financial assistance. In Germany in such cases he goes to the nearest government land bank, and by giving the name of one of his neighbors as security or a lien upon his property, he procures the needed assistance at a low rate and repays it when his crop comes in. What has either of my competitors attempted even to do in that direction? It will be said at once that this is paternalism. But for the last 50 years this government has been issuing to the national banks all the notes that they loan out and without charging one cent of interest. Can any man in this audience tell me why the capitalists who create nothing should receive all their money from the government without interest and the farmers, who are the backbone of the country, cannot borrow from the government at all?"

Judge Clark next referred to the discrimination in freight rates practiced against North Carolina by the railroads, saying the Southern Railway has been the special sinner in this case. "It has been the recipient of the bounty of this state in that, without spending a single cent in the construction of the North Carolina railroad, and by virtue of a favorable lease it is in the receipt of a yearly net income of $2,000,000, which is the interest at 5 per cent on $40,000,000, which vast sum has been practically donated to that company by this state. Its owner is practically Pierpont Morgan & Co. This great wrong of discrimination against the towns of this state could be prevented by the passage of an act prohibiting the charging of a greater rate for a short haul than for a longer one."

Referring to the question of the national government pensioning the Confederate soldiers, Judge Clark said: "Then there are the veteran soldiers of this state who bared their breasts to the storm and shed immortal honor upon our story during four eventful years. On public occasions eloquent tributes are paid to their valor and endurance. But what has been done by either of my competitors during their twelve years in Congress in behalf of these deserving men? Our war was not a rebellion. It was a war between the states. The soldiers from Massachusetts and New York fought on that side not because the United States ordered them, but because their own states sent them to the front. The men from North Carolina and Virginia and the South fought on this side not because the Confederate states ordered them to do so, but because their own state sent them to the front. The war being over, the states are equal. For forty-seven years we have been paying money into a common treasury. From that common treasury pensions should now be paid without discrimination to the soldiers from all the states and their widows."

Judge Clark then took up the trust question and said he favored the enactment of legislation that would destroy all trusts. There was no country on the face of the earth more prosperous than the tobacco section of North Carolina until the formation of the tobacco trust. When that trust was formed this section was blasted and smitten as if by the wrath of God. The trust was formed; it was operated in defiance of law and has accumulated wealth beyond the dreams of avarice. What did either of my competitors do during the 12 years that they were each in Congress to secure the punishment or the destruction of these highway robbers?

"It is true that one of my competitors in his candidacy for the nomination as governor threatened to put these robbers of our people behind bars and make them wear stripes. Has this been done? The only legislation during his administration in this matter has been to enervate the statute against trusts which was previously in force of most of its most efficient features, rendering it comparatively innocuous."

The speaker declared for a tariff for revenue only, the election of postmasters by the people, a statewide primary for the election of United States senators, state officers and electors for president and vice president. He also favored a graduated inheritance and income tax, a general parcels post, the regulation of railroads and all common carriers, government ownership and control of telegraph and telephone companies and the extension of our public school system and of good roads.

Judge Clark said he favored the enactment and enforcement of a statute which shall limit the purposes and amounts for which candidates or others for them may expend money, either in the primaries or in the elections. "This will strike at the root of the evil means by which Rockefeller has piled up 900 millions of dollars, with an annual income of 200 millions; which has enabled Carnegie to accumulate 600 millions, with an annual income of 150 millions, and which has enabled Morgan to amass even probably a larger sum than either. It will enable us to elect officials who will enforce the law by really and actually dissolving the great trusts and will stop the overworking of men and the employment of children of tender age, the slaughter of employees by failing to use safety appliances, and will also enable us to exact fair and just taxation out of the great wealth of the country, which now practically escapes all taxation, which is now borne almost solely by the honest part of our population."

THE OUTLOOK PROMISING.

Leading Tobacco Companies Will Send Buyers to Greensboro

Very satisfactory progress is being made on the construction of the new tobacco warehouse, on the corner of East Sycamore and Forbis streets. The brick work will be finished this week and the building is expected to be completed entirely early in September.

It will be of interest to tobacco growers and others interested in the new enterprise to learn that the company erecting the building has leased it to Mr. Garland Mitchell, an experienced and successful warehouseman. Mr. Mitchell is a native of Granville county. He comes of a family of warehousemen and for some years was engaged in the business in Oxford. More recently he has conducted warehouses in Virginia. Mr. Mitchell arrived in the city with his family yesterday and will proceed at once to familiarize himself with the local situation.

While in New York a few days ago Mr. W. S. Clary, president of the Greensboro Tobacco Warehouse Company, called at the home offices of the leading tobacco companies and was given the assurance that all of them will be represented on the Greensboro market during the next season. This means that there will be as strong competition in Greensboro as on any other market and that tobacco will always bring the top-notch price on the Greensboro market.

Work was begun Monday on the new Mt. Pleasant school building, in Greene township. A neat and comfortable four-room structure is to be erected.

FINE SPEECH FOR SIMMONS.

Convincing Reasons Why Senator Should be Returned.

The first speech of the campaign made in Greensboro in behalf of the candidacy of Hon. F. M. Simmons to succeed himself in the United States senate was delivered in the court house Friday night by Mr. J. W. Bailey, of Raleigh, a successful Democratic worker and an orator of no mean ability. His speech was pitched upon a high plane, Mr. Bailey stating that he did not come to unjustly criticize or attack any Democratic candidate, but to speak for Democracy and the re-election of Senator Simmons. The speaker was introduced by Mr. Charles E. McLean, who referred to him as "one of North Carolina's most brilliant young orators."

Mr. Bailey opened his speech by saying the Democratic party is to be congratulated upon the splendid prospects that the future offers. He declared there are three certainties upon which every Democrat may bank: That the next president of the United States will be a schoolmaster by the name of Woodrow Wilson; that the next governor of North Carolina will be that magnificent mountaineer, Locke Craig; and that the next senator elected from North Carolina will be that masterful leader, F. M. Simmons.

The speaker greeted with cheer the return of the Democratic party to its rightful place in the seats of the mighty. This return he characterized in the words of the Scriptures as "Coming out from the wilderness, fair as the moon, bright as the sun and more terrible than an army with banners." The success of the party, he declared, is due to the ideals of Southern Democracy, and should the party continue to hold true to those high ideals, the victory will not be for four years merely, but rather for forty.

Mr. Bailey declared that he was in the senatorial fight of his own free choice and at his own expense, and that his motive in taking an active part was that he considered that in advocating the cause of Senator Simmons he could best serve his party and his state.

The primary, he stated, had not been provided for the purpose of furthering the ambition of men at the expense of the party. The interest of the party should be paramount. He regretted that Governor Kitchin had seen fit to project the campaign on a lower level than was anticipated when the primary had been provided. The records of Chief Justice Clark, Governor Kitchin and Senator Simmons should all be deemed a legacy by every Democrat in the state, and he was glad to acknowledge his pride in the work of each of them.

Mr. Bailey briefly reviewed the work of Senator Simmons for the state before he became senator and then took up his record in the senate. He declared that in the eleven years that he has served as United States senator Mr. Simmons had risen more rapidly than had any man who has sat in that, the greatest deliberative body in the world, since the civil war. He pictured the senator as standing at that very moment, battling, as leader of the Democratic hosts, for the rights of the people. "When, before, did we ever have a Democratic leader on the floor of the senate?" He declared that the spectacle of a North Carolina Democrat leading in the great fight at Washington should move every citizen with state pride. "In the face of his masterful leadership shall we turn him down and put a novice in his place?" The vigorous cries of "no, no" heard over the house showed the sentiment of the audience.

Governor Kitchin's charges as made in his numerous speeches and in the "Kitchin circular" were answered most effectively. Senator Simmons' votes were explained without apology or exception. Mr. Bailey showing by the official record that he had not voted against his party or his people.

The speaker concluded by showing that the voice of the state Democratic convention, the national convention and the caucus of Democratic senators said plainly to Senator Simmons, "Go on with the work," and if Governor Kitchin fails to heed the clarion call, he will surely hear in November the voice of the Democracy of North Carolina.

Simmons Club Organized. At the conclusion of Mr. Bailey's speech the Guilford County Simmons Club was organized with a charter membership of 552.

L. J. Brandt was elected president and the other officers chosen were as follows: Vice presidents, J. W. Scott, J. W. Boring, H. C. Brittain, M. L. Kendall, J. L. Holt, J. Richard Moore, Dr. T. D. Mecklenburg Woman Kills Her Husband.

Enraged over cumulative domestic troubles which have continued for several years, Mrs. V. J. Hartsell twice shot and killed her husband at an early hour Friday morning from the doorsteps of their home on the Catawba river, in Mecklenburg county.

The woman fired the first shot with a 38-caliber pistol as her husband was approaching the house from a trip to his cantaloupe patch. He was then about 15 yards from the door and fell to the ground when the ball struck him. Seeing that he started to rise after stumbling from the first wound in the forehead, Mrs. Hartsell shot again, this time in the cheek, and then rushed upon the man with an axe, inflicting severe and fatal injuries. Despite the several wounds, any one of which would likely have in the end proved fatal, Mr. Hartsell lived an hour in an agonizing condition.

Mrs. Hartsell is in jail in Charlotte awaiting trial at the next criminal term of Mecklenburg Superior court.

A Beggar Worth $300,000.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 27.—Driven insane by constant counting of pennies and small silver pieces begged from passersby, Leota Seybold, an ancient character of the street corners, was sent to the asylum recently. Today it was discovered she was worth at least $300,000. Arrangements are being made to send her to the care of two sisters in Oklahoma, where she owns large tracts of land. Mrs. Seybold's property is situated about Oklahoma City and Okmulgee.

HOME-MAKERS' CONFERENCE.

Interesting Meeting in Progress at State Normal College.

What is known as a "home-makers' conference," the first ever held in North Carolina, is in progress at the State Normal and Industrial College. The conference opened Tuesday morning and will continue through tomorrow. The object of the gathering is to study the problem of home-making and home-keeping in all its phases. The care of the children, the preparation of food, the home training of the child and the relation to be observed between the home and the school teacher are some of the subjects being considered. In addition to the young women in attendance upon the summer school at the Normal, the conference is open to the women of the city and state.

At the opening session an address was made by Prof. McIntyre, who has charge of the agricultural work in connection with Guilford's schools. He spoke on the relation of the teacher to the community. The principal idea emphasized was that the best results cannot be accomplished by the teacher who does not possess a thorough interest in the welfare and development of the whole community.

Prof. John W. Ritchie, an expert on the subject, delivered an address on sanitation. He spoke on the physical welfare of the child, and by illustration showed that nearly one-half of the deaths in the United States are caused by germs.

Miss Mary Owen Graham, a member of the Normal faculty, discussed the training of the child in the home, how to best fit him for the work in the school. She emphasized the educational value of a strong home and a strong school.

Dr. Watson S. Rankin, secretary of the state board of health, delivered a strong address Tuesday night on the subject of preserving the public health, laying special emphasis on the relation that should exist between the state board and the home. He urged the importance of vital statistics in connection with the work of the state board of health.

Yesterday was devoted to a discussion of sanitation in the home. Addresses were made by Miss Minnie Jamison, who is in charge of the domestic science department at the Normal, and Prof. John W. Ritchie.

Mr. Enoch L. Stout is in Washington attending a series of lectures on drugless healing.

Prestige is An Asset

The business man of affairs, the man who knows, accounts prestige as a very tangible asset, even though such an asset costs nothing.

For instance, a banking connection with the American Exchange National Bank is such an asset.

This is a great age for "ready-made" garments, still many people prefer home-made wearing apparel and for this class Thacker & Brockmann carry a good big stock of material for work shirts and dress shirts, as well as goods for pants, suits and overalls for men and boys.

There was a family reunion at the home of Mr. B. H. Merrimon Sunday, when all of his children, married and single, gathered and spent the time very pleasantly. They will be here for several months at least and may return to California in the late fall or winter. They are highly pleased with southern California as a place of residence.

Ladies, do not imagine that you are compelled to pay four or five dollars in order to get a nice pair of shoes. Thacker & Brockmann sell the Sherwood line of fine shoes, made in Rochester, New York, retailing at $2, $2.50 and $3, and everybody who has seen them agrees that they are by far the nicest and best shoes ever shown here at anything like these prices, comparing very favorably with footwear that sells for a good deal more money.

A change in the management of the Guilford hotel becomes effective today. Mr. J. T. Matthews, who has been manager for several months, returns to Winston-Salem to take the management of the Zinzendorf, with which he was connected before coming to Greensboro. Mr. Robert T. Rosemond comes from the Zinzendorf to become manager of the Guilford. Mr. Rosemond was chief clerk at the Guilford for several years before going to Winston-Salem.

Men who have had some trouble in finding a work shoe just exactly "to their notion" can find what they are looking for at Thacker & Brockmann's store. This firm is giving particular attention this season to their line of stout work shoes and they can furnish shoes that are extremely durable and at the same time easy on the feet, which is certainly very much to be desired. Get them to show you their new $2.25, $2.50 and $3 work shoes next time you visit the store.

THE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

Pleasant and Profitable Session at Denton Last Week.

The Greensboro district conference of the M. E. Church, South, which met at Denton last week, is said to have been one of the most successful meetings of the kind held in the district in a long while. The attendance was good and the business was transacted with dispatch, the conference remaining in session only two days.

The reports of pastors and laymen indicated a healthy growth of the churches throughout the district along financial and spiritual lines. An increase of 21 per cent. in pastors' salaries was shown over the previous year.

The following delegates and alternates were elected to the annual conference to be held in High Point in November: J. O. Freeman, I. F. Craven, B. E. Jones, E. C. Wright, delegates; P. H. Williamson, Sam Browne, J. W. Harris, J. W. Clinard, alternates.

It was decided to hold the conference next year at Ramseur. Cordial invitations were also received from Gibsonville and Asheboro.

The conference took an advanced and drastic stand in its temperance report, which was adopted after a heated discussion. The report condemns the use of alcoholic stimulants, tobacco, coca cola and over eating, and admonishes all members of the denomination to abstain from the four evils. Following is the language of the report as adopted:

"We, your committee on temperance, knowing the evil effects of strong drink upon the spiritual and physical condition of the human race; and knowing also that the use of tobacco is not only a needless self-indulgence, but that it is positively detrimental to the health; and also having in mind the fact that any minister of the gospel who uses tobacco cannot be held in as high esteem by the people of his community as if he did not use it;

"Also knowing that it is now generally conceded that excessive eating brings upon the human race more disease than any other one thing, beg to make the following recommendations:

"First: That all our people abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage and discourage its use among our people.

"Second: That they co-operate with the officers of the law in suppressing the sale of intoxicating liquors within the bounds of our district.

"Third: That at least one sermon on temperance be preached during the year at each church on the district.

"Fourth: That each preacher and layman, including our good women, write at once to Senator Lee S. Overman, Congressman R. N. Page, Congressman Charles M. Stedman and Congressman E. Y. Webb, now at Washington, D. C., requesting them to use their best efforts to secure the passage of the Webb-Kenyon bill during the present session of Congress.

"Fifth: That all our people abstain from the use of tobacco and that they discourage its use in any and every form.

"Sixth: That our people be more moderate in the matter of taking food into the system, and that we endeavor to take in only such quantities as will tend to keep the body in the best possible physical condition.

"Seventh: That our people fast from time to time, which is in accordance with the Holy Scriptures and is the last article in the rules of the church as laid down in the discipline.

"Eighth: That our people abstain from the use of coca cola and that they discourage its use."

This being the fourth and last year's service of Presiding Elder Ware on the district, the conference adopted the following in appreciation of his work:

"Whereas, under the law of our church, we cannot keep Rev. W. R. Ware as our presiding elder longer than this year;

"Therefore, be it resolved: That, we, the members of the Greensboro district conference have very greatly enjoyed his quadrennium of faithful and efficient service rendered on the district and pray God's richest blessing upon him in his field of labor wherever he may be sent at our next annual conference."

Many Negro Farmers Join Union. Over 100 colored farmers of Guilford county attended an institute held at the Agricultural and Mechanical College in this city Saturday and identified themselves with the recently organized Negro Farmers' Co-operative Association.

The object of the organization is to promote the condition of the colored farmers' circumstances whereby they may be enabled to buy and sell with greater advantage, to create a more general co-operation along pay lines, and especially in regard to the securing of cheaper fertilizers and implements. The institute was addressed by Mr. Millsap, of the state department of agriculture, following which a number of talks were made by the farmers present. The farmers are being encouraged to produce on the farm everything that is needed for home consumption, to as great an extent as possible.

The next meeting will be held the last Saturday in September.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

BRIEF ITEMS OF GENERAL NEWS

A Week's Events of More or Less Interest to the Public.

Thirteen men were drowned and 37 barely escaped with their lives when water, following a cloudburst near Uniontown, Pa., poured into the mainway of a coal mine.

The house committee of agriculture has recommended an appropriation of $5,000 for an immediate investigation of the army worm in the South.

Collector of Internal Revenue Thompson, of Alabama, was summarily fired by authority of the president, after he had refused to resign. He is a leader of the Roosevelt forces.

Albert J. Beveridge, former United States senator from Indiana, has been selected for temporary chairman of the National Progressive convention to be held in Chicago August 5.

Governor Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, will be formally notified of his nomination for vice president on August 20. Judge Alton B. Parker is chairman of the notification committee.

A cloudburst flooded miles of territory between Jeannette and Greensburg and other places in Pennsylvania, rendering a number of families homeless and causing a large property loss.

Judge E. B. Dillon, of Columbus, O., who was recently nominated for governor by the Republican state convention, has declined to make the race on account of inability to reconcile the Taft and Roosevelt factions of the party.

The army worm which is "marching through Georgia," will do a million dollars or more of damage to the corn, cotton and other crops of that state, according to an estimate by the state entomologist of Georgia in a report to the United States department of agriculture.

J. B. Brown, a negro lawyer, was shot and killed at Little Rock, Ark., a few days ago, after he had attempted an assault on a young white woman and had wounded her. He is believed to be the black man who attacked numerous women in Lake Charles during the past six months.

Former United States Senator William D. Washburn, for many years prominent in the political life of the nation and one of the leaders in the upbuilding of the Northwest, died at his home in Minneapolis, Minn., Monday night. He was 81 years of age.

The Democratic primary in Texas Saturday resulted in the renomination of Governor Colquitt by a majority of 8,900 over his opponent, Judge Ramsey. Congressman Morris Shepard was nominated for United States senator to succeed Senator Joseph W. Bailey, who was not a candidate for another term.

Mistaking the use of firearms in a lodge initiation as an attack on himself, Furman Bagwell, aged 21, a candidate being initiated into the Woodmen of the World at Honepath, S. C., suddenly rushed from the room, snatched up his pistol and hurrying back began shooting. Three shots took effect in Milton Taylor, aged 26, who died later.

An attempt to arrest a number of negroes charged with plotting to burn the town of Plainville, Ga., precipitated a race riot in which the sheriff and two other white men were shot, one being seriously injured, and several negroes were badly beaten. Ten negroes who barricaded themselves in a house and fired on the officers are in jail.

The cities of Richmond and Petersburg, Va., will have to chip in and pay a telegraph bill of 87 cents which their chiefs of police incurred by notifying the navy department that they had apprehended three deserters. The comptroller of the treasury decided that the law does not permit their reimbursement. It cost the government about $15 to arrive at the decision.

When the will of the late Thomas W. Phillips, of New Castle, Pa., banker, philanthropist and the largest independent oil producer in the country, was probated last week, a striking clause was made public. Mr. Phillips makes a number of bequests to religious and educational bodies, "provided they do not solicit or receive aid from John D. Rockefeller or any funds established by him."

There are at the present time more than 40 lepers living in apartments in New York city, according to a report from the skin and cancer hospital. The report says that there is no foolish dread of the disease in that city such as is sometimes shown in other places and declares that the disease is not contagious in that climate. "The dangers from tuberculosis and other diseases are far more to be dreaded than leprosy," it is added.

NEWS OF THE OLD NORTH STATE

A Survey of What is Transpiring in the Commonwealth.

North Carolina appropriations in the rivers and harbors bill, which has passed both the house and senate, total $1,383,500.

Duke D. Knott, a deaf mute who was injured by a Southern Railway shifting engine in Durham Wednesday, died Friday. Knott was 18 years old and his body was sent to his old home at Lilesville, Anson county, for burial.

Roydan Harker was found dead last week in the cellar of a residence at Hendersonville, where he was installing gas fixtures. Death is thought to have resulted from extreme heat or gas. He was from New Jersey.

M. F. Newsom, a news butcher on the Atlantic Coast Line, running into Rocky Mount, soaked pennies in acid which gave the coppers a silver luster, and then passed the pennies for dimes. When his game was uncovered he fled.

The $250,000 good roads bond issue authorized by the voters of Orange county last March has been found illegal on account of a technical error in passing the bill through the legislature. It will be necessary to have another election authorized by the legislature.

Mrs. Fuller, widow of the late Judge Thomas C. Fuller, of Raleigh, died Saturday in a sanatorium at Morganton, aged 74. Her remains were taken to Raleigh for burial. She is survived by three daughters and two sons. The sons are W. W. and Frank L. Fuller, prominent lawyers.

Arthur Miller, a young white man of Concord, has been arrested and jailed on the charge of attempting to criminally assault the deaf and dumb daughter of Capt. Ed. Patterson, a Southern Railway conductor. Miss Patterson was visiting a deaf and dumb friend in Concord at the time of the alleged crime.

Some weeks ago in Charlotte Cora Kell, a negro girl, was shot and severely injured. Admittance could not be secured at a hospital, and the girl was kept at the police station all night and later died. It is charged that the failure of city officials to have prompt and efficient medical attendance rendered was the cause of death and the girl's mother has employed counsel to bring suit against the city.

Reidsville Review: A. L. Duncan, aged about 30 years and for the past year a resident of Pelham, was killed by a train at Pelham one day last week. His body was found by R. S. Cooper, a section foreman. The man when found was bleeding from the nose and mouth, and in addition there were other more or less serious bruises about his body and one of his legs was broken. There is a possibility that the man was under the influence of whiskey, for a half pint bottle of liquor was found in his side coat pocket. Duncan leaves a young wife and a little child.

Almost Lost His Life.

S. A. Stid, of Mason, Mich., will never forget his terrible exposure to a merciless storm. "It gave me a dreadful cold," he writes, "that caused severe pains in my chest, so it was hard for me to breathe. A neighbor gave me several doses of Dr. King's New Discovery which brought great relief. The doctor said I was on the verge of pneumonia, but to continue with the Discovery. I did so and two bottles completely cured me." Use only this quick, safe, reliable medicine for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Sugar Tariff Slightly Reduced.

Washington, July 27.—Playing big politics, the senate Republicans today—the third and last day of the fight over the tariff—put through a Republican compromise bill revising the sugar schedule, with but three votes cast against it. But the compromise—the first purely Republican revision measure of this Congress—makes so slight reduction in the tariff on sugar that the ordinary consumer will not get any benefit from it.

The three senators who refused to vote for the bill were Foster and Thornton, of Louisiana, and Heyburn, of Idaho, always an ultra-standpatter and high protection Republican. Heyburn and the Louisiana senators opposed the measure because it made any reduction at all in the sugar tariff. All the other Democrats supported the bill on final passage because it reduced the duty on sugar at least a trifle, and was, therefore a slight improvement on the present law.

Hay fever and asthma make August a month of intense suffering to many people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives prompt ease and relief, and is soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes. Wm. M. Meredith, N. Searsport, Me., says: "A few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound relieved me of a severe attack of asthma and less than a bottle caused a complete cure." Refuse substitutes. FARMERS' UNION PICNIC.

Delightful Cutting Given by Greenwood Local Last Saturday.

Last Saturday, July 27, the Green-wood Farmers' Union gave a picnic on the school house grounds. Outside farmers were asked to join us and bring their wives and children. The result was that before 10:30 a large crowd had assembled in the grove, which is a beautiful place for a picnic, and everyone seemed to be in just the right humor to enjoy an outing. This was quite a treat for the mothers and wives who scarcely ever get away from home for a picnic.

A table had been constructed to accommodate the crowd and it fairly groaned beneath its weight of the good things on it. All kinds of good eatables were displayed. This sumptuous dinner was a credit to those who prepared it, showing their skill in the art of cooking.

The weather was very pleasant and made it an ideal day to spend an outing. There was plenty of lemonade and ice water for everybody all day. A number of visitors from other locals and communities were present and they agreed that the Greenwood union people knew how to have an up-to-date picnic.

We were fortunate in securing the presence of Mr. J. R. Reeves, state business agent; also Prof. F. L. Foust, of Pleasant Garden, and Mr. McIntyre, of Greensboro. They made very good talks, which were both entertaining and instructive.

The order of the day was fine and it seemed like a big family reunion. The officers and members of the union are to be congratulated on the success of the picnic and thanked for the general pleasure they gave every one. The nice music rendered added to the pleasure of the occasion and the musicians are due many thanks.

Every one left with many good wishes for the success of the Greenwood union, and feeling that it was good to be there and hoping for many happy returns of that day's pleasure. ONE PRESENT.

Dr. C. H. Ellsworth, dentist, 16 Baldwin street, Rochester, N. Y., says Foley Kidney Pills gave him immediate relief and strengthened him wonderfully. "I have been bothered with weak kidneys and bladder trouble and suffered much pain. Foley Kidney Pills gave me immediate relief and strengthened me wonderfully. I am pleased to recommend their use." Howard Gardner.

A Kick on Guilford's Roads.

To the Editor of The Patriot:

Will you please print in your paper the following, a part of which a citizen of another county had to say? "I have heard Guilford county's roads boasted up to a high tone, but after having traveled over some of them I find some of them very bad and very poorly attended to. I was compelled to get out and repair the bridges so I could get over; and I have learned that instead of using improved methods to repair their roads, they have fallen back several degrees to the shovel and cutting brush and putting in the roads that ought to have been forgotten years ago. So remarked a visitor from another county."

Now I have to say that for the county authorities to have the old farmers warned out to go and shovel on the roads or come across with their hard-earned money seems to me like a cheap screw twisted up in old Guilford some where. And for the automobile to come along and crowd the old farmer down in the side ditch or into briars or any old place that falls to his lot, and the automobile go buzzing on down the middle of the road, claiming all right-of-way, and after a while the road needs work again. What do we hear? Come out, old farmer; be down there at 7 o'clock in the morning with your pick or shovel. I say work the roads by tax or have no tax.

In Defense of Taft's Nomination.

A statement approved by President Taft, defending his nomination by the Chicago convention, was made public at the White House. It reviews every contest before the Republican national committee and the credentials committee of the convention and asserts that each contest was settled logically, upon its merits. The statement was submitted to the cabinet at a recent meeting and received an approval of the president's official family.

The statement, which is a lengthy document, of 144 printed pages, is a detailed denial of the charge that the renomination of President Taft was accomplished by the seating of fraudulently elected delegates to the convention. It takes up individually the 233 contests instituted by the Roosevelt forces against Taft delegates who were seated, and presents evidence in each of these cases to show that the Taft delegates were regularly elected.

Wilmington Blind Tigers Heavily Fined.

Constituting what is regarded as the most severe pecuniary punishment ever imposed for violations of the prohibition law in North Carolina, and what is generally believed to be a death blow to "blind tigerism" in Wilmington, fines ranging from $1,000 to $3,000 and costs were ordered against a number of defendants by Judge Frank Carter, of Asheville, in New Hanover Superior Court Saturday, when the 60-odd cases against those who at the January term of court entered pleas of nolo contendere to charges of retailing were called.

Two men were fined $3,000 each, another $2,500 and another $2,000. Several were fined $1,000 each. The total amount collected through fines and forfeited bonds amounted to more than $14,000, exclusive of the costs.

Claude Allen Must Die in Electric Chair.

Wytheville, Va., July 27.—Claude Allen, one of the Hillsville outlaws, was today convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of Commonwealth's Attorney William M. Foster. At a former trial he was found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Judge Thornton L. Massie.

Claude Allen is the second one of the Allen clan to be convicted of second degree murder, his father, Floyd Allen, being the other. When he learned that he must pay the penalty for his crime in the electric chair the prisoner broke down and wept bitterly, as did also his fiancée, who was with him in the court room. It was the first time he had displayed the least sign of emotion since his trial began.

Favorable Crop Report.

In spite of reports from one and another sections of the state of injury to crops through excessive rains in one place, drought in another and invasion of insect pests, notably the fall army worm in another, it is estimated by the state department of agriculture that the outlook at this time is for considerably more than the average crop yields the state over. Numbers of localities in both the eastern and western sections have had excessive rains for some time past. The Piedmont region is being some better favored as a whole than either the eastern or western sections, although there are localities hereabouts that are suffering for rain, more especially the corn crop.

WHITSETT.

Regular services were held at the M. E. church here Sunday by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Fox.

Work has begun at Springwood cemetery. The outer walk was graded last week. The iron fencing is now being made and is promised in about four weeks. There will be a large drive gateway with an arch over it and two smaller gates. In all there will be about fifteen hundred feet of iron fencing, with concrete walks, etc. It will be quite a handsome piece of work.

Q. Q. Boon has qualified as executor of the estate of the late Alphonso L. Boon.

M. N. Greeson, of Brick church, was here Saturday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Davenport reached here Friday from New York city, where they had been for some time.

Mrs. Jones and daughter Louise, of Raleigh, are spending some time with Mrs. J. W. Summers.

Mrs. W. J. Thompson and children are again at home after three weeks spent in the vicinity of Indianapolis, Ind., on a visit to relatives. Mrs. Thompson greatly enjoyed the trip, but says she greatly prefers the Tar Heel state for a home.

Miss Carrie Carmon returned last week from a ten-days visit to Winston-Salem.

Miss Lelia Lewellyn, a splendid first grade teacher of Rockingham county, has been engaged to teach the Brookfield school.

The carpenters completed their work last week remodeling the home of Dr. Whitsett. He now has a modern eleven-room residence supplied with cold and hot water from a Kewanee water system of the latest design.

Large forces of hands are moving forward rapidly with the two new brick store buildings here. They hope to complete them by September 1.

L. A. Carmon and family visited at H. R. Carmon's, west of Gibsonville, the first of the week.

We are pleased to know that L. D. McCollum, who has been sick for some time, is much better.

Four Cubans are spending vacation here reading to enter school August 28.

Antonio Lopart, of New York city, was here for two days last week on a visit to friends.

All indications point to an unusually fine school the coming year. The catalogue is in great demand and is pronounced the finest yet issued by the school. The coming year is the twenty-fifth under the present management.

C. A. Wharton, our county commissioner, has recently purchased a handsome automobile.

There is quite a demand for houses here now and several could be rented at once if they could be had. Parties with idle money would find it a splendid investment to build for renting purposes.

B. H. Williams, of Greensboro, spent Sunday here with friends.

J. W. Summers and D. P. Clapp went as a committee to Bethel church Sunday. They went to confer about calling a pastor for his entire time for Springwood and Bethel, and it is probable that this will soon be done.

C. H. McKnight, of the Vanstory Clothing Company, Greensboro, was among Sunday's automobile visitors.

It is understood that the new Presbyterian minister for Bethel and Springwood will locate at Whitsett. It will be a central point for the work and very convenient to both churches.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Carawan, who have been spending some days in Guilford visiting friends, left Tuesday morning for their home in Pamlico county.

Teodoro Miranda, of Cuba, accompanied by his son and daughter, spent Tuesday here visiting friends. He is a wealthy Cuban planter and for some years has paid a visit to the United States each year. Four of his sons have been students here during the past few years, and one of them is now in Richmond attending a dental college. Mr. Miranda for years was in the service of the Cuban government and is a very highly educated gentleman, with much influence among his people.

In order to accommodate their customers, both of the stores recently burned have put in temporary supplies in near by rooms, which is proving a great convenience to our people.

D. P. Clapp and W. T. Whitsett spent Monday in Greensboro on business.

Capt. and Mrs. R. C. Dick are visiting in Greensboro for a few days.

Mrs. C. T. Foust has been quite unwell with a severe cold for a week or more, but is better at this time.

Rain is very badly needed all over eastern Guilford, and if there is not a change very soon conditions will be very much like they were during the extremely dry spell of last year.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Whitt visited friends and relatives in Alamance the first of the week.

Several attended services at Bethel Sunday in order to hear Rev. Leslie Wharton, who is at home on his vacation from his missionary work in Cuba, where he is teaching and preaching. He has acquired the use of the Spanish language and can use it with facility.

Miss Landreth, from Bessemer, was among out visitors last Sunday.

Children's Day Exercises and Picnic.

Children's day exercises will be held at Pine Grove, two miles south of Pleasant Garden, on Saturday before the third Sunday in August. All those who have once lived in this community and have moved away are especially invited to be present with well filled baskets and have a reunion and general good time. We especially invite all who feel any interest in this place or its people to come and help us out in our celebration. Some other Sunday schools are expected to take part with us. In addition to the exercises, we expect to have some good singing and other music.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Percy Paisley, who now live in Texas, were here on a visit to Mr. Paisley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Paisley, last week.

At Bethel Presbyterian church Saturday the Jefferson township Sunday school convention met in its annual session. There are five schools in the township—Amanance, Peace, Mt. Pleasant, Shady Grove and Bethel. Each of these schools was well represented and made encouraging reports. The principal speeches of the convention were made by Rev. C. I. Morgan, Rev. John McEachern, Rev. E. W. Fox, Rev. Shuford Peeler and Mr. D. W. Holt. The township banner, which was awarded to the school with the best average attendance and the best increase in attendance, went to the Mt. Pleasant school. Officers for the ensuing year are: President, Mr. W. H. McLean; secretary, Mr. D. H. Stuart. The next session of the convention will be held at Shady Grove the last Saturday in July, 1913.

A program prepared by the primary and intermediate departments of the Bethel Sunday school afforded a pleasurable hour's entertainment to those who gathered at Bethel Sunday morning. Following the exercises by the school, Rev. R. L. Wharton preached a sermon designed especially to appeal to the interest of the children.

Rev. R. L. Wharton, who has been here several weeks with his father and brother, Messrs. W. P. and W. L. Wharton, will in a few days return to his mission work in Cardenas, Cuba. During his stay here Mr. Wharton has been doing pastoral work for the church at Bethel. Mr. Wharton is an universal friend, a man of large powers and of engaging personality. His parishioners here will feel their loss very keenly.

The efforts of County Commissioner J. A. Rankin in the interest of the citizenship in northeastern Guilford is gratefully acknowledged. A splendid piece of work has been done on the road adjoining the new bridge at Snyder's mill. Our people are deeply thankful for the influence lent us by Mr. Rankin, and we wish him to know that we regard him as a most faithful servant of the people.

The Academy Dramatic Association will present its melodrama, "The Bachelor," Saturday evening, August 10. The play is large in personal appeal and human interest, and those who miss it will fall to see and hear something which ought to contribute to their satisfaction in the years to come.

BEALL HARDWARE & IMPLEMENT CO.

"ON THE CORNER"

[This matter must not be reprinted without special permission.]

The writer has wondered lately why some agricultural implement firm has not put out a hand propelled garden cultivator on the general lines of the spring tooth harrow.

Hog raising can be made a profitable undertaking, but it must be remembered that hogs will not raise themselves. Nothing in this world is obtained without effort.

A Washington farmer is reported as saying that one of his cows, a near record breaker, does not care for alfalfa. This seems to be a reflection either on the hay or the cow, and it's hard telling which.

Considering the durability of hay caps properly cared for, they would seem to be an entirely justifiable investment for any farmer in the humid belt having much hay to handle at present high prices.

A German inventor has devised a system based on the principle of the hydraulic ram, whereby the impact of sea waves is utilized in the pumping needed in the draining of swamp lands adjacent to the shore.

A common regard for cleanliness and health should suggest covering corn, apples or other fruit that is being dried with mosquito netting to keep off the flies that may have just come from the manure or garbage pile or cess-pool.

Here is a well tried spray formula to keep flies from tormenting stock, especially cows at milking time: Fish oil, two quarts; kerosene, one quart; crude carbolic acid, one pint; oil of pennyroyal, one ounce; oil of tar, ten ounces. Mix thoroughly and apply in a fine spray every two or three days or as often as the flies begin their attacks again.

Small patches of quack grass which sometimes creep through from the alley or street into the garden may be knocked out by persistent and deep hoeing. This requires the patience of Job, but it will win out in the end, for to live even quack grass must maintain a stem and leaf system above ground. Rept from doing this, it means that the root must inevitably starve and die.

Because of the fact that no heat is applied to cream or milk in the butter-making process both the butter and butter-milk therefrom are just as likely to be a source of tubercular infection as the original milk from which the cream was skimmed or separated. This statement is not made to induce fulminant on the part of sensitive folk, but simply to induce a fair amount of caution on the part of consumers of the two products named.

A fine quality of cucumber pickles can be made in the following manner: Take cucumbers of the size desired, place in jar and let stand in salt water for about twenty-four hours. Then drain them well and remove and replace in jar—first a layer of cucumbers, then several horseradish leaves, and so on until the jar is full with a good layer of horseradish leaves on top. Then pour on strong cider vinegar until all pickles are covered. Put on a plate last and weight down with a small weight to keep pickles submerged.

An Ohio farmer in a letter to Board's Dairyman takes up the interesting question of the likelihood of alfalfa roots penetrating the joints of the tile for drainage purposes. Briefly it is his opinion, based on his own experience, that the roots of alfalfa will not enter the tile unless water is flowing through them during the entire growing season. He states that in attaching laterals to lines of tile that have been in the ground twenty-five years and in a field that has been growing alfalfa for ten years he has not as yet found an instance in which the alfalfa roots entered the tile joints. This experience may be of help to some one who is planning to put alfalfa on tile drained land.

To renew a strawberry bed that is in its second year or older plow up a good share of the old plants if the bed has been kept in such shape that it is at all easy to separate them. If they are mixed up remove all but a strip of plants six or seven inches wide in each row. If the bed has got weedy during the bearing season it is well to mow it close with a scythe, allow the mat to lie until dry and burn it on the bed. This will not injure the roots of the plants seriously and will kill a good many fungus spores. The soil between the rows should be loosened thoroughly and kept free from weeds for the remainder of the season. If rains come a great many runners will start out on the clean earth, and these will give the plants needed for next year.

The average bull will be tractable and docile quite largely in proportion to whether he has the meanness taken out of him with regular work and exercise. If he is not doing work of this kind the need is increased of keeping up heavy life insurance on the part of those who have the care of him.

In a meadow that the writer passed the other day the clover was practically all killed out except in spots where a limestone formation in the upper subsoil came close to the surface. It would be interesting to know what influence, if any, this limestone had on the thriftiness of this clover.

A rose that is entitled to more extensive cultivation than it receives is the Rosa Rugosa. The more usual color of the large single blossom is a deep purplish red, but a white blossom has been developed that is beautiful. This rose is very hardy, requires no winter covering even in northern latitudes and blooms from June time until frost.

A few weeks ago a sucker catcher up in Vermont was selling potato seed at $2.50 for fifteen pounds on the strength of the preposterous claim that the tops of the vines would be so bitter that the bugs would not eat them. This is just a further bit of evidence that there is a good sized tribe of pikers that will get a living without working, through hook or crook, if they possibly can.

Teaching the little child respect for properly constituted authority and habits of promptness and orderliness requires time, patience and thought, but in the long run it means satisfaction and increased influence for the parent and a far greater happiness and usefulness for the child. The time to adopt such a course of training is as soon as the child knows anything, and this is a mighty short time after it utters its first cry.

The Danish government has established a system of making loans to farm laborers that Uncle Sam might well pattern after. Any agricultural laborer in Denmark who has worked on a farm five years and whose character during this period has been shown to be such that two responsible members of his district will certify to the fact may obtain from one of the government banks the equivalent of $1,584. The government has no security whatever aside from the borrower's good name. The sum loaned will buy a farm of from three to twelve acres, which is supplied with stock and the machinery equipment necessary to operate it.

Emmer, a cereal that is a subspecies of wheat, has been grown in southern Europe and northern Africa for many centuries and has been grown in the United States—chiefly in the semiarid sections of the northwest—for the past twenty years. In Europe emmer is known as einkorn. The grain retains its hull like barley and is little used as food. A variety known as the black winter emmer was introduced from France by the department of agriculture in 1904 and has proved a decided success, being thrifty and yielding under favorable conditions as high as thirty-five bushels per acre. Emmer is drought resistant to quite a degree and does well where wheat will not.

Year before last on the writer's Oregon ranch he took a long shot in the late transplanting of a six-year-old tree that had to be moved to make room for some buildings. The verdict of neighbors long time residents of the valley was that the tree could not possibly live. It made a start in leaves after being set, but looked decidedly sick during the latter part of the season and was given up for dead. However, the following spring it took on new life and is now growing vigorously. The extreme dryness of the Oregon summer, coupled with the fact that the top of the tree had been cut back sharply to correspond with a reduced root system, seems to have been responsible for the tree's having made a live of it.

A good many experiments that have been conducted in the matter of applying lime to land seem to bring out, among other things, the fact that the productivity of many soils is increased by the application of lime in some form when the evidence at hand does not seem to indicate that the soil is suffering from sourness. If ground limestone can be had at from $2 to $3 a ton an experiment that any farmer could make would be the scattering of some of this on the land at the rate of a couple of tons per acre and then keeping tab on the returns from the plot and of adjacent plots of equal size receiving no limestone. The results of such a test would indicate clearly the wisdom or unwisdom of applying the limestone on the rest of the land.

Medical authorities are agreed that most of the ills that babies suffer from during the summer months—and this applies particularly to intestinal ills—are traceable to the fact that somewhere in the journey from the cow's udder to the infant's stomach the milk is contaminated by filthy utensils that have not been properly scalded and cleansed after being used. Because of this carelessness the milk becomes germ laden, and as a result the health of life of the little one is the price paid. Scrupulous cleanliness in connection with all the bottles and utensils that are used as milk containers is necessary, while if there is any question about the condition of the milk, as one gets it from the retailer, it should be pasteurized by heating for fifteen minutes at a temperature of 150 degrees F. or more.

WHAT AILS THE APPLE TREES?

In several of the northern states horticulturists have been looking into the causes of the death or greatly weakened condition of many apple trees. This loss has seemed to be especially severe in the case of the Ben Davis and Black Gano, the latter a first cousin of the Ben. A report made public within the past three weeks by Professor Beach of the Iowa station gives consideration to the causes and conditions which he believes are responsible for the condition referred to. A part of the trouble seems to be due to an appearance of the Illinois canker, a bacterial disease that attacks and spreads in the cambium layer and just beneath. This trouble has been aggravated by early fall and late spring freezes of the past two or three years; also by two unusually dry summers and lastly by the fact that most orchards in the northern states bore to the breaking point last summer, when the trees were in a depleted condition and soil moisture short. An interesting statement in Professor Beach's report is that which states that the loss sustained has been far less in orchards that have been given careful cultivation during the dry summers of the past three years, and it is noted that sick trees in such orchards are making much more rapid recovery than those in orchards where the soil was not cultivated. To lessen likelihood of damage from the combined causes mentioned the orchards in which trees are suffering should be cultivated, fruit should be thinned if the trees are in bearing, and canker infections should be cut out and sterilized with a solution of mercuric chloride at the rate of 1 to 1,000 and the wound painted over with white lead.

SHOULD FALL BACK ON SILO.

Not in several years has the yield of hay been lighter than will be the case in practically all sections of the country where timothy and clover have been the standby. In fact, so short has the yield on such meadows been in some localities that the owner or renter has not deemed it worth while to go through the formality of cutting it. This means, if it means anything, that roughage will be scarce and high priced during the coming fall and winter. This means in turn that the need will be correspondingly great of utilizing to the full the value of the corn crop. Some successful dairymen still hold to the practice of harvesting the corn with the binder and shredding it after it has cured in the shock, supplying succulence in the winter ration in the form of roots rather than by means of silage. But many more will look to the silo to furnish the cheapest and most palatable ration. Where one has a bunch of steers to feed or is milking a dozen or more cows the silo is by far the most safe and effective method of securing a maximum amount of fodder from a given area of land. Many excellent types of silos are on the market and also in actual operation, and it is not a bad idea to visit several farms on which different types are in use before buying one. The cost of the silo plant will vary from $300 to $500, the higher price being for those made of cement block or vitrified brick.

WHITEWASHING PEACH TREES.

Professor J. C. Whitten of the Missouri horticultural station has lately made an interesting report of some experiments he has conducted covering a period of ten years in the matter of whitewashing the trunks of peach trees for protective purposes. He reports that this treatment enabled the trunks of the trees to reflect the rays of the sun, and as a result they remained dormant much longer than trees that were not whitewashed. In a period of ten years he reports eight crops of fruit from whitewashed trees and all but two of them full crops, while from trees of the same variety that were not whitewashed five crops were secured, and only three of these were what could be called full crops. He summarizes the results of the whitewash treatment by saying that in the period of ten years the treated trees produced just twice as much fruit as those not treated. The experience the writer has had with sour sap—the result of a too early and uneven starting of the sap in the late winter or early spring—leads him to believe that this treatment Professor Whitten recommends for peach trees would give very good results in the case of both pear and apple trees in sections where they are liable to damage from sour sap.

SALTED CORN.

For any who have found the usual methods of canning corn and beans somewhat risky the pickling method offers a good substitute. Briefly, this is putting the vegetables down in salt, somewhat as one would fresh cucumbers. With sweet corn select ears that are at the stage desired, boil them in a large kettle or boiler for about fifteen minutes, or until the milk is set, and then cut and scrape from the cob and mix with salt at the rate of four quarts of corn to one of salt. The juice in the corn will give sufficient liquid for brine. When mixed the corn may be put away in open top stone jars and covered with a cloth and plate or stone to keep out the dirt. Before using this corn it should be freshened and seasoned to suit one's taste. Corn kept in this way is tender and keeps its flavor remarkably well.

ELECTRIC BITTERS

THE BEST FOR BILIOUSNESS AND KIDNEYS

PROPER TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

The first thing to be done in the treatment of Catarrh is to begin the use of a medicine that will have a direct effect on the source of the disease; in no other way can any curative progress be made. S. S. S. does this more quickly and satisfactorily than any other medicine. It is the most penetrating of all blood purifiers, thoroughly, yet gently, expelling all catarrhal matter and impurities from the circulation, and by its fine tonic properties strengthening and building up the system in such healthy manner that it is enabled to overcome the depressing effects of Catarrh. Some local treatment is often desired to open the air passages of the head and nose and relieve the congestion and "tickling" of the throat, and other unpleasant symptoms. There are many helpful measures which may be resorted to, and there are others which may be harmful, and to aid Catarrh sufferers we have prepared a special treatise on the disease which will be of great value to any who suffer with this trouble. This book together with any medical advice free to all who write and request it. Take S. S. S. regularly and according to directions, and it will certainly remove the cause and cure your Catarrh. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

SIMMONS WAS RIGHT.

His Position in Line With Democratic National Platform.

To the Editor of The Patriot:

As gratifying as was the action of the state convention in approving the record of Senator Simmons and declaring for tariff measures in conformity with his views, the enunciation of principles and measures in the national platform of the Democratic party must be equally satisfactory to the senator, for it, too, sustains his views on the tariff and particularly approves the progressive measures which Senator Simmons had stood for and ignores some of the measures which he has opposed.

No longer is any question to be raised as to whether opposing reciprocity was undemocratic, for the platform, while expressly commending the Democratic house for nine specific measures, omits all reference whatever to reciprocity. And this is the more notable, for while the convention was framing the platform, the metal bill was tied up in conference because of an amendment to it repealing reciprocity; and one of the reasons forcibly given by Senator Gore for nominating Wilson for president was that he was not committed to reciprocity. It must be taken that reciprocity as a Democratic measure has been silently repudiated. The nominee for the presidency is not expected to advocate it. The question whether or not it was undemocratic to oppose reciprocity can no longer be raised. The convention has passed on that. The platform does not claim it as a Democratic measure.

Similarly, the platform settles the Democratic creed with regard to the tariff. It declares for a tariff for revenue and favors the immediate downward revision of the existing high duties, and denounces President Taft for vetoing the bills passed by the present Democratic house reducing the tariff in the cotton, woolen, metal and chemical schedules and the farmers' free list bill. These measures were warmly espoused by Senator Simmons, and he probably contributed more to their passage than any other Democratic senator.

It is observable that the platform is silent on the question of free raw material, which was not made a Democratic doctrine; in fact, while it was Mr. Cleveland's policy, it has never been an established Democratic doctrine, and it is also particularly observable that the platform is as silent as the lamb on free lumber. Free lumber is no longer in the platform in any shape.

In these respects the platform is entirely in line with Senator Simmons' record. Had he had the drafting of a platform enunciating his views of Democratic doctrine, we are quite sure he would have drawn exactly such a tariff plank as the party has adopted. It tallies exactly with his views and with his record in every respect. It is a complete justification of every position he has taken in tariff matters.

Equally gratifying to Senator Simmons must be the declaration of the convention in favor of certain progressive measures of great interest to the people. One of these Senator Simmons himself originated, to wit: The national aid to state and local authorities in the maintenance of post roads. In his great speech, in which Mr. Simmons announced the doctrine that the federal government had a legal as well as moral obligation to contribute for the maintenance of roads used in carrying the mails, he broke ground for that principle, and the convention has approved and ratified his doctrine.

So, also, it approves other progressive measures which Mr. Simmons has advocated to promote the welfare, comfort and convenience and prosperity of the people, such as the parcels post and the extension of the rural delivery, the suppression of gambling in farm products, the conservation of our natural resources and the development of our waterways. These measures have long been the particular objects of Mr. Simmons' best endeavors.

As to the other measures mentioned in the platform, they are entirely in line with Mr. Simmons' views, such as the income tax, the election of senators by the people, a single term for the president, the supervision and control of railroads, express companies, telegraph and telephone lines, and a revision of the banking laws, and other similar measures of interest to the people, many of which he has already voted for in the senate, and all of which have his hearty support.

With a national declaration of principles so fully in accord with Senator Simmons' views, he will more than ever occupy a commanding position in the senate and the councils of the party, and his sphere of usefulness will be enlarged.

"HOLY ROLLERS" OUTCASTS.

Court Decides They Have No Standing as a Religious Sect.

Raleigh, July 29.—Twelve years ago the "Holiness people," as they termed themselves, began work in North Carolina, among both whites and negroes. A man named Lynch came down along the coast from Virginia having four "arks," filled with some of the men of the sect and many women, most of the latter being the wives of men who had been proselyted. The whole party were driven out of Virginia and at Chincoteague the "arks" received a baptism of fire and were riddled with rifle and pistol bullets.

Lynch and his followers on these craft first appeared in this state near Norfolk, and thence went down the sound to Beaufort. Some of his followers were driven out of Philadelphia and New York by the police. At Beaufort two of thearks were wrecked and one was hauled up and used as a dwelling. Another went to sea and was never heard of again. Lynch and a few of his followers went south along the coast, whence they were last heard of in Mexico.

In the meanwhile the "holy people," declaring that they could not commit sin, were working among whites and blacks here and there in the interior of the state. Sometimes they were beaten and driven out of the community, but occasionally they got a footing. They tell all persons who do not believe with them that they are in "darkness" and certainly damned. They never have had any status whatever among church people and now a jury has said they are not a religious organization at all.

The "holy rollers," as they are popularly termed, have been at work in Catawba county among the whites of the least intelligent class. These men, becoming tired of night scenes and the work done, entered the building hired for the meeting and broke it up. Arrests followed and the case went before a jury.

The penalty for disturbing a religious meeting in North Carolina is hard labor on the public highways, but the jury in this trial was unanimous in taking the view that the meeting thus broken up was not in any way "religious," and that the people who were pretending to conduct it did not represent any religion whatever. The indictment of the men attracted a great deal of attention all over the state and it had been freely predicted that the jury would find nothing whatever of a religious character about the "holy rollers."

General Assembly For Alaska.

The senate has passed a bill that has heretofore passed the house of representatives, creating a legislative assembly in the territory of Alaska, and making other provisions for a civil government for the territory.

The senate amended the house bill, so that the legislature of Alaska shall consist of but a single legislative assembly of sixteen members, instead of a senate and a house of eight and sixteen members respectively, as is provided in the bill as it passed the house. The members of the assembly are to be elected, four from each of the four judicial divisions, as they now exist, and shall hold office for two years. The first election is to be held on Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1912. The sessions of the legislature are to be held every two years and shall not last longer than sixty days unless called in extra session by a proclamation of the governor.

The power of veto upon acts of the legislature is reserved to the governor, but the legislature may, by a two-thirds vote, pass an act over the veto.

D. C. Bybee, teaming contractor living at 669 Keeling Court, Canton, Ill., is now well rid of a severe and annoying case of kidney trouble. His back pained and he was bothered with head aches and dizzy spells. "I took Foley Kidney Pills just as directed and in a few days I felt much better. My life and strength seemed to come back, and I sleep well. I am now all over my trouble and glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." Try them. Howard Gardner.

It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists, eight years of hard work experimenting to make this pure glyceric extract and alternative of the greatest efficiency and without the use of a particle of alcohol.

Just the sort of remedy you need to make rich, red blood, and cure that lassitude and feeling of nerve exhaustion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery bears the stamp of PUBLIC APPROVAL and has sold more largely in the past forty years than any other blood purifier and stomach tonic.

J. C. WILLIAMS, M.D.

"Some time ago I got out of health—my stomach seemed to be the seat of the trouble," writes MR. J. C. WILLIAMS, of Belleville, Kans. "I commenced to doctor with all the doctors at home as well as with other specialists on stomach and digestive organs. None seemed to do any good—in fact, most of the medicines did me harm. Finally I wrote to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., who replied, stating that I had liver complaint with indigestion and constipation, and advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets'." "The 'Discovery' and 'Pellets' have 'put me on my feet again'—seemed to be just what I needed. I could not have recovered without them."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for Liver Ills.

THE MAN INVESTIGATION.

Much Testimony Introduced by Both Prosecution and Defense.

The hearing of the charges preferred against Dr. J. L. Mann, superintendent of the city schools, by a number of women of the city, which was begun before the city commissioners last Thursday afternoon, is in progress and will hardly be completed before the end of the week. The hearings are held in the court house and every sitting of the commissioners is attended by a crowd that packs the court room almost to suffocation, the crowd being composed almost entirely of women. It is to be doubted if the court room ever before held such crowds. Very few men appeared to take any interest in the hearing until Dr. Mann went on the witness stand Monday afternoon and since then the male population has been represented by those men who could squeeze their way into the court room.

The prosecution sought to establish the charges to the effect that Dr. Mann does not possess the teacher's temperament and the saving grace of common sense, that he does not co-operate with teachers and pupils, that he is arbitrary, dictatorial, untruthful, etc. The friends of Dr. Mann contend that the prosecution failed to maintain a single charge and that the superintendent, by his testimony, has cleared away any misunderstanding that may have existed in the minds of fair-minded people.

The attorneys for the prosecution are Messrs. E. D. Broadhurst, David Stern and S. Glenn Hudson. Messrs. John N. Wilson and A. B. Kimball appear for the defendant.

The first witness introduced by the prosecution was Mrs. Charles D. McEwen, who testified that she gained a very unfavorable opinion of Dr. Mann on the occasion of a banquet at the State Normal and Industrial College, when the superintendent, in responding to a toast, told a joke which she considered very questionable. In his direct testimony Dr. Mann was asked about the joke and said it related to a man who went home drunk late at night, and when asked by his wife if he was not coming to bed, replied, "I am waiting for the bed to come to me."

Miss Frances Sutton, a teacher in the city schools, told of being denied a month's leave of absence by Dr. Mann in order that she might go to a hospital for an operation for appendicitis. Dr. Mann denied that Miss Sutton had ever applied to him for a leave of absence.

Miss Bessie Cauble, a teacher of science in the schools, testified that she did not receive the proper cooperation from Dr. Mann.

Mrs. S. L. Alderman, who has children in school, told of the lack of respect shown for Dr. Mann by many of the school children, saying that some of them talked about him in a shocking manner.

Miss Mary Jones, teacher of domestic science, testified that Dr. Mann failed to have her department properly equipped and that he told her several untruths about the matter.

Mr. A. H. King, formerly principal of the high school, testified at length concerning his grievances against Dr. Mann. He thought Dr. Mann treated him very unjustly in failing to recommend him for reelection. He said that Dr. Mann did not encourage the boys in athletics and mentioned several instances where he and the superintendent disagreed.

Miss Frances Womble, a high school teacher, who said she had only the kindest feelings for Dr. Mann, testified that her confidence in him as a superintendent had been shaken, especially by his manner in dismissing Principal King and Misses Schofield and Whitaker without notice.

The most unexpected and sensational testimony of the hearing was given by Miss Pauline Schofield, who was employed by Dr. Mann as stenographer in Florence, S. C., and who came to Greensboro to teach shorthand and typewriting in the high school. The witness declared that Dr. Mann displayed a revolver in his desk at Florence, saying that he had kept it 10 years and would not be without it. She stated further that she had often smelled whiskey on his breath while he was at his work in Florence and declared she believed he drank. Miss Schofield displayed considerable feeling against Dr. Mann.

Dr. Mann denied the statements made by Miss Schofield most emphatically, stating that he had never drunk whiskey. He was corroborated in this by Dr. F. P. Covington and Mr. J. L. Barringer, members of the school board in Florence during Dr. Mann's administration. They characterized the charge as the most ridiculously absurd they had ever heard and said they did not believe there was a man, woman or child in Florence who would believe anything of the sort against Dr. Mann. Dr. Covington and Mr. Barringer also testified to the high standing of Dr. Mann in South Carolina and his splendid equipment as an educator.

Dr. Mann's testimony has been clear and direct and has made a favorable impression upon the public. He told of his efforts to raise the standard of the city schools and of his determination when he came to Greensboro to put education ahead of baseball and football. He made a ruling that no pupil should become a member of the athletic association unless he made an average of 80 in his studies, and here it appears that trouble started in the high school.

The witness was anxious to raise the standard of the schools, saying he found them rated in class B when he came to Greensboro. All of Dr. Mann's testimony was very interesting, but to attempt to print even a resume of it would require more space than The Patriot has at its command.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF FORM.

Matters of Interest to Readers of The Patriot Far and Near.

Mr. C. O. Forbis and family are spending a while at All Healing Springs.

Mr. J. S. Ferguson, of Hartshorn, was among the callers at The Patriot office yesterday.

Mr. A. L. Brooks has returned from Asheville, where Mrs. Brooks is spending some time.

A revival meeting will begin at Reheobeth Methodist church, six miles south of the city, Sunday and continue through the coming week.

Mrs. W. I. Maynard, a sister of Messrs. J. R. and M. S. Jeffreys and Mrs. J. C. Montgomery, of this city, died Tuesday night at her home in Alamance county, 15 miles south of Burlington. The body was brought to Greensboro yesterday evening for the funeral and interment, which will take place today.

Mr. L. M. Clymer and family are enjoying a vacation this week by camping out. They have established themselves near the Masonic and Eastern Star home, west of the city, and are very comfortably situated. They have as their guests Mr. J. H. Iseley and family, of Burlington, and Mr. H. D. Huffines and family, of Reldsville.

T. S. McCormick, a young white man of Colfax, who was recently tried before Justice of the Peace Collins on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretense and held for Municipal court, was given a hearing in that tribunal Tuesday morning. Judge Eure reserved his decision until yesterday, when he held that the defendant was not guilty.

The directors of the North Carolina Division of the Travelers' Protective Association held a meeting in this city Saturday night and elected delegates from various towns in the state to attend the good roads convention in Charlotte today and tomorrow. The following were elected from Greensboro: C. C. McLean, R. N. Carrier, W. A. Watson and L. J. Brandt.

Democrats and Progressives united again in the senate Friday, and by a vote of 36 to 10, passed the Democratic excise tax bill, extending the present tax on corporations to the business of individuals, private firms and co-partnerships. Attached to the measure, also by the aid of Republican votes, were amendments for the repeal of the Canadian reciprocity law and a fixing of a $2 per ton tariff on printing paper, and for the establishment of a permanent non-partisan tariff commission.

While in the city Tuesday Mrs. John Hunt, of Friendship township, had a miraculous escape from death in being run down by a street car. With her little grandson, she was crossing South Elm street, near the railway station. In avoiding an approaching automobile, she stepped directly in front of a street car and was knocked down. Fortunately, the car was moving at a low rate of speed and Mrs. Hunt was scarcely injured at all. Her little grandson ran across the track and escaped the car.

A. P. Moore, of Richmond, Va., who was arrested here last week on the charge of abandoning his wife and children in the Virginia capital, was later released upon the failure of the Richmond officers to procure requisition papers. Tuesday a message was received stating that the proper papers had been issued, whereupon Moore was arrested again and placed in the city prison. A Richmond officer came for him yesterday. Moore was followed to Greensboro by a widow and her six children, the widow having agreed to marry Moore in this city. The arrest of the man doubtless prevented a bigamous marriage.

Robert W. Herter, Lawrenceville, Mo., who had been bothered with kidney trouble for two years, says: "I tried three different kinds of kidney pills but with no relief. My neighbor told me to use Foley Kidney Pills. I took three bottles of them, and got a permanent cure. I recommend them to everybody." Howard Gardner.

Death of Emperor of Japan.

Mutsuhito, the 121st emperor of Japan, and probably the greatest man the Isle of Nippon ever produced, died in Tokio Tuesday morning. The ailment which killed him was acute nephritis, and when the end came he had been unconscious for twenty-four hours.

Yoshihito, crown prince of Japan, automatically became emperor on his father's death and was at once proclaimed through the streets as the ruling mikado, but will not be crowned for several months, until the mourning period has passed. The length to be decreed by the older statesmen.

The dead emperor, who has been called the "Peter the Great" of Japan, would have been sixty years old on November 5. While he had been ruler of the country for the past forty-three years, his work has been quietly and unostentatiously done through his cabinet members and the heads of his departments.

Attention, Confederate Veterans.

On August 7 and 8 the annual reunion of the North Carolina division will be held in Winston-Salem. Guilford camp will go in a body and will leave Greensboro at 8.15 A. M. August 7. Those going are requested to meet at the station early enough to have ample time to get tickets and the equipments to be worn on the occasion. Convenient return trains each day.
