It is stated that Irish potatoes will be extensively cultivated in Northampton county this year.

The fair at New Home was said to be the most successful enterprise of the kind ever attempted in the state.

While picking the gravel out of some coffee some days ago Mrs. T. J. Marriener, of Halifax county, found in the coffee an uncut diamond.

Sixty-three convicts were last week sent from the penitentiary to the State farms. Of the 131 now in the penitentiary eight are white women.

The lynching of Slaughter, the Sparta murderer, may be the source of further bloodshed. His five brothers have announced that they intend to have revenge and serious trouble is feared.

Samuel Westray, a wealthy farmer, of Nash county, died of heart failure last week after a sickness of ten days. His estate is thought to be worth half a million dollars. He was president of the Bank of Rocky Mount. Thos. H. Battle succeeds him.

Lum Fulk, a noted character of Stokes county, "stands in" with the revenue officers. He has reported over one hundred blockades, in consequence of which quite a stir has been raised. Many of the "moonshiners" have found it necessary to move over to Virginia on account of Fulk's action. It is said that the officers gave Lum $10 for every distillery he aids them in capturing.

Mr. V. B. Donnell, of Gilmer's Store, showed us recently quite a collection of Confederate money that will in time become valuable on account of its variety. He has a number of state bank bills ranging from 5 to 50 cents, in addition to several bills of larger denomination, issued by the Confederate states. The most interesting part of his collection is a lot of Confederate postage stamps bearing a good portrait of Jefferson Davis that he brought with him from Richmond. Not many of these are in existence, outside of those in the hands of philatelists.

—H. P. Hevener, the stock raiser that jumped his board last week, came to grief in Mt. Airy. He was arrested there and held for the Lynchburg officers who were on his track. He had already made arrangements to do some special work for the News, and the editor of that paper to be congratulated on learning his true character before he had time to get hold of any money. He is a bright, all-around newspaper man, but is entirely lacking in principle. We were glad to get him off our hands without any serious difficulty. His love for red liquor has been his ruin.

Representatives of the two Methodist Episcopal conferences of the state met last week and decided to consolidate the Raleigh Christian Advocate and Western North Carolina Methodist. Each conference will have a representative on the editorial staff of the paper, which will be located here. Rev. Dr. Reid, of this city, is the president of the new stock company organized to publish the paper, and Rev. Grissom, of Concord, is the secretary and treasurer. The office will be located in the National Bank building. A more desirable location for a church paper could not be found in the state, and Greensboro will extend a hearty welcome to the eminent gentlemen at the head of the enterprise. The Methodists of the State will have every reason to be proud of the new paper, which will make its appearance shortly. Its prosperity is assured.

Evangelist Gales.

The Nashville, Tenn., Banner, of last Thursday, has the following concerning Mr. W. R. Gales, who is so well and favorably known here: "Evangelist Weston R. Gales, who last evening concluded his labors in connection with the union revival services at the Central Baptist Church, left this morning for his home at Greensboro, N.C. After a rest of about two weeks, he will go to eastern shore of Virginia to conduct revival meetings for about three weeks. He has promised to hold a meeting in Clarksville about the middle of April, and will come from there to Nashville early in May to hold a meeting at the Second Presbyterian Church, on College street. He will be heartily welcomed to his return to this city. No evangelist has ever made a more favorable impression or has worked with more zeal and success than has Mr. Gales. His meetings in this city have been productive of the greatest good, over 225 persons having decided to lead Christian lives as a result of this South Nashville meeting. He has won the hearts of hundreds in this community, and has quickened the religious pulse of the city to a degree that is remarkable. The prayers and best wishes of many friends will follow him to his North Carolina home and through his future life."

Fate Against McKane.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 26.—John Y. McKane got another set back this morning in his fight for liberty, when Justice E. M. Callen, sitting in the Court of Oyer and Terminer denied his application for a stay till the Court of Appeals can pass on his conviction. This means that unless his lawyers can find some judge in the State who will grant a stay at once McKane will have to go to Sing Sing in 24 hours. The defense hoped very much to get a favorable decision on the ground that McKane, not being an election inspector, could not be properly convicted under the election law, which was the statute his indictment was based upon.

Festive Enjoyments.

MARION, Feb. 29.—Last night at a negro dance in "Frog Town," a suburb of Marion, Joe Patton, colored, shot and mortally wounded a negro by the name of Cowan. The ball, a 32 calibre, entered Cowan's left breast and has not yet been extracted. Cowan struck a negro woman who had accompanied Patton to the dance when Patton shot him. Only one shot was fired but another negro named Fields is implicated in the crime. Patton left the scene immediately and is still at large. At this writing Cowan is still alive, though the chances are against his recovery.

Lynching in Alleghany.

ELKIN, Feb. 24.—Daniel Slaughter, who murdered Bare and Long in Alleghany county a few weeks ago, was taken from jail at Sparta Thursday night by a mob and lynched. The jailer offered stubborn resistance and even shot one of the lynchers, but that did not stop them. The crime for which Slaughter was hanged was a most brutal one and the general opinion of the community is that he deserved hanging.

Good For Kansas.

The recent heavy snow will make a wheat crop of 1,000,000,000 bushels in Kansas. Despite the low price of wheat and the dry weather last fall, the area seeded was over 1,500,000 acres, according to the latest report of the state board of agriculture. This is a greater area than produced the phenomenal crop of 1892.

Don't buy "trash" at any price. Call at our store and ask for our circular. "Money in Grass Raising." It will give you some valuable information about seeds—best time to sow, how much to sow, &c. David Had Two Wives.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 23.—Word comes from North Carolina that David Brown is a bigamist. Brown is the man who lay at the Grady Hospital here for three weeks, unable to tell his name. He has been picked up one night unconscious, having been stand-bagged and robbed. He was a great mystery. When he recovered consciousness he could not remember his name or where he was from. He offered $150 reward to anyone who would identify him. On Monday last he sprang up and ran through the hospital wards shouting "Eureka, Eureka." He had remembered his name which he said was Brown. He had lived in Winston, N. C. Detective Cason left here with him yesterday to take him to Winston and place him among friends if he has any there. To-day information was received by the police here that Dr. Brown is a bigamist.

The Stokes County Warehouse, with several thousand pounds of leaf tobacco, was destroyed by fire at Walnut Cove Sunday. The building was insured for $1,200. A store house near by was also badly damaged; but the goods were saved.

CHAIRMAN WILSON.

Mr. Wilson's personality is one of the most engaging in public life. He entered Congress from the study of a college president. He was a young man only eighteen years old when the war of the rebellion broke out. A year before he was graduated from Columbia College in the District of Columbia. He entered the Confederate army, and when the war was over he returned to Columbia College as a professor. His entrance into public life was barred by the lawyer's test oath of West Virginia, but when that was overthrown he began the practice of his chosen profession. From that time until within a few months of his first election to Congress he was engaged in the practice of law and in the avocation of politics. In a few years he won distinction for he was on the Democratic electoral ticket of West Virginia in 1880. Two years afterwards, on September 6th, he took up the work of President of the University of West Virginia, but on September 20th he was nominated for Congress, and was elected. When his present term expires he will have been a member of the House of Representatives for twelve years, and from the first he has advanced steadily to the front ranks, until now he is the Democratic leader on the floor, made so by force of character and ability, and against the real preferences of the Speaker.

When Mr. Carlisle went into the Senate Mr. Wilson had come to be recognized as the wisest, strongest, and the most convincing debater on tariff question on the Democratic side of the House. He was the first choice of a large number of members of his party for the Speakership, but it was early determined that only one of the revenue-reform leaders should be a candidate for the office; and Mr. Mills, who had been the last chairman of the Ways and Means Committee was selected. He was defeated by Mr. Crisp for reasons that would not have availed against Mr. Wilson. When Mr. Mills had been denied his old chairmanship, Mr. Wilson should have been chosen, but Mr. Crisp had promised the honor to Mr. Springer, and to Mr. Springer it went. When the time came for the present Congress, Mr. Crisp's strongest rival, Mr. Wilson; but for the sake of harmony, and for the purpose of uniting the Democrats in Congress on the tariff issue, Mr. Crisp was granted a second term, on condition that a sound and trusted revenue reformer should be made Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Mr. Wilson was naturally the man to whom the honor fell.

The wisdom of the choice has been abundantly demonstrated by the passage of the Wilson bill, and by its character. The enemies of the newspapers have sneered at Mr. Wilson as a professor, as if a man who has studied his subjects is therefore unfitted to deal with them. Mr. Wilson has shown that he possesses a large store of world wisdom; that he knows how to deal with men, for both sides of the House and men of all factions are his friends; his own party has respect for him and confidence in his prudence. That he is practical is proved by the character of his bill, as well as by his successful struggle in West Virginia against the politicians of both parties and the protected interests. He is a worthy successor of Mr. Carlisle, and like the ex-Speaker, possesses the best traits of learned English legislators, who make a learned profession of their calling. Mr. Wilson knows the literature of the question that he champions, and he has the talent of adapting the experiences of the past and of other countries to the needs of the present; and of this country. To his other gifts he adds that of speech in a large degree. He is a modest and an ableman, an admirable product of American institutions.—Harper's Weekly.

A Worthless Old Saw.

The old idea of attributing special morality to early rising is a hygienic, out-of-date maxim. Early rising and early going to bed is a rhyme which has had its day. A certain medical man once discovered—with much statistical research—that he never found a case of extreme longevity unaccompanied by the habit of early rising, from which one might infer that they who rise late die early. But this would lead to take into account one well-known fact—the fact that most elderly people are early risers because they cannot sleep at night. It is putting the cart before the horse, a reversal of cause and effect, to infer that people live to be old because they do not sleep late. Arranged in logical sequence the conclusion is that they do not sleep late because they are old, and it is folly for human beings to regulate their movements on ornithological principles.

Gen. Early Suffered a Relapse.

Lynchburg, Feb. 22.—There is no material change in the condition of General Early since yesterday. He is a very sick man and the chances are that he will not recover, though his physicians say there is no immediate danger of dissolution. The old general was out on the street Sunday and Monday of this week, but suffered a relapse Tuesday and has since been confined to his bed.

An obedience to the simple laws of hygiene and the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will enable the most delicate man or sickly woman to pass in ease and safety from the icy atmosphere of February to the warm, moist days of April. It is the best of spring medicines.

Itch on human, mange on horses dogs and all skin eruptions cured by Woodford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist, Greensboro, N. C.

The State Geologist Talks.

RALPH, Feb. 22.—State Geologist Holmes arrived here this morning and your correspondent interviewed him. He is always observant and a repository of useful information. He says of the Moore county coal that it is by all odds the best ever taken out in this State and that the outlook for it is very promising, one of the chief features being the reduction in cost. There is a constant increase in interest in gold mining in the State. He is now at work on metallurgical methods of treatment. The outlook is that during the next year or two gold mining in North Carolina will be on a very much more stable basis than at present. This year the geologist will carry on a systematic examination of kaolin beds, analyze specimens and make tests as to the adaptability of the various kinds for different purposes, and also to see what can be effected by mixing different varieties. There is considerable enterprise in the line of granite quarrying. As yet no particular granite for use in the construction of the State Confederate Monument has been recommended. Prof. Holmes is about to publish a report upon the water powers of the State. This is on a new line here. It will contain interesting and very important facts regarding the transmission of power by electricity. This will be of particular value to mill men. For 20 years there has been a steady increase in the use of steam power, and hardly any in the use of water power. This is due largely to the fact that most of the best water powers are located at places inaccessible to cheap transportation. It is hoped to show in the report that it is quite easy to transmit the water power by dynamos and wires to distances, often to thirty miles. In many places there is good and very economical transmission in this way ten miles or more. There is much in all this matter of transportation to interest mill owners. Take an immense water power like the falls of the Yadkin. No factory could be located there, but by the transmission of power, or rather its conversion into electric force, it can be used to operate factories, etc., many miles away.—Correspondence Charlotte Observer.

Business at the South.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 22.—The Manufacturers' Record in reviewing the business conditions of the South for the week says: Special reports from all parts of the South show a revival of confidence and a general expectation of a steady improvement in business in all lines near by. There is a broadening out of business, factories are gradually resuming operations, and the enquiries for machinery, for improvement of old plants, as well as for the new ones, is larger than for six or seven months.

During the past week there have been many evidences of the way the South is attracting the attention of outsiders who are looking for desirable investments as well as homes. An unusual number of excursions from the North and West, carrying capitalists and home-seekers, have been inspecting iron, timber, farming and factory lands in Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas. A large party of prominent coal operators of Chicago and other Western cities, have been examining Kentucky coal fields with the view of handling Kentucky coal on a large scale, and also of investigating in coal properties.

At Norfolk a belt railroad, a warehouse and compress company and several other new enterprises are taking shape. At Atlanta a $500,000 company has been formed to engage in establishing county banks wherever good openings are found. Among other important enterprises reported for the week is a $400,000 cotton mill in South Carolina and an 11 mile canal in Florida by Baltimore capitalists, an extensive coke plant in South West Virginia, a $125,000 coal company in Kentucky, a $90,000 brick and tile company in Mississippi, etc.

There is an increasing demand for municipal improvements noted and during the week a number of contracts were let for a sewerage system, water works and electric light plants.

Ten days loss of time on account of sickness and a doctor bill to pay, is anything but pleasant for a man of a family to contemplate, whether he is a laborer, mechanic, merchant or publisher. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas, was sick in bed for ten days during the grip during its prevalence a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with considerable success. I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy. It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. When you wish to cure a cold quickly and effectively give this remedy a trial. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by G. W. Ward.

Erastus Wiman Arrested.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Erastus Wiman, formerly manager for R. G. Dun & Co.'s mercantile agency, builder of the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railroad, and a prominent advocate of the annexation of Canada to the United States, was arrested today charged with forgery amounting to $250,000. He was arraigned before Judge Martin, in chamber, in the General Sessions and committed to the Tombs in default of $250,000 bail.

It is said that a Georgia farmer wrote to New Orleans last week for a peck of Mardi Gras seed.

Alligators Growing Scarce.

The demand for alligator skins at the north, where they are tanned and made into valises, pocket books, etc., has caused them to be hunted so closely that it has almost resulted in their entire destruction, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. Before the demand rose for their hides the boys and bayous of Louisiana were full of the saurians, which did no particular damage except in catching a stray pig or cur dog, but otherwise they were not supposed to be of any value at all. With the disappearance of the alligator it was noticed that there was a marked increase in the number of other mischievous animals; especially in the rice fields of Plaquemines parish, the muskrat increased to an extent that it was almost impossible to keep up the back levees, which were built for the purpose of keeping the water on the rice during the growing season. The damage caused by the rats burrowing through the embankments necessitated constant watchfulness and entailed much hard labor, either in building them entire or in digging out the burrows and filling in with solid earth. The rodents also infest the front levees, honey-combing them in every direction and necessitating constant attention to avert the disastrous consequences resulting from a crevasse. Truck farmers in the lower part of Plaquemines have also complained that since the extermination of the alligator the common rabbit, the raccoon and other wild animals have increased largely, and that the rabbit especially has proved very destructive to cauliflower, cabbage and lettuce.—in fact, our informant said that if these animals continued to increase he would be compelled either to erect a woven wire fence around his truck farm or abandon the culture of some of his most profitable vegetables. Several years since the police jury of the parish of Plaquemines passed an ordinance forbidding the killing of the alligator, and the increase came a corresponding decrease in the number of destructive vermin. We understand that the law has since been repealed—for what reason we do not know.

Humors of War.

Gen. John B. Gordon, in his lecture on "The Last Days of the Civil War" occasionally throws in a incident of a humorous character. These are not copyrighted, and some of them are worthy of preservation. In the midst of a great battle General Gordon saw a man running from a very close situation. "What are you running for?" demanded the disgusted General in a stern voice. "Golly, General," said the fleeing man, "I'm running because I can't fly." On one occasion a prayer-meeting was held in camp, and one of the soldiers was called on to pray. "Oh Lord," he said, "we are in the midst of a terrible battle and in an awful lot of trouble. We hope you will take a proper view of the matter and give us the victory." Gen. Gordon also told one of his audiences an interesting story of how it happened that a federal soldier bore the last order that he ever sent to his men. "But," he added humorously, "I had to send a private Confederate along to vouch for his veracity."

The Pennsylvania Election

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 21.—The election held in this State yesterday to choose a successor to Congressman-at-Large Lilly resulted in a victory for the republican ticket greater than any in the history of the party in this State. When the returns are all in it is believed the plurality of Galusha A. Grow will reach nearly 160,000. When the republicans elected Jackson state treasurer last fall with the plurality of 135,146 it was believed that this would serve as the high water mark for years to come. Before election republican leaders said they would be satisfied if they could show up 100,000 votes "to the good," while the democratic leaders, who made an active campaign, were confident that the republican plurality could be kept below 80,000. The enormous plurality of ex-Speaker Grow is a surprise to both parties. The democratic vote was light. Pension legislation and the delay in passing the tariff bill affected the result.

Around the World in Eight Days.

Did Jules Verne ever think that his imaginary Phileas Fogg would be eclipsed by an American girl, who once made the circuit in less than seventy-three days? But Phileas had to take a "second month." The fame of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has gone around the world long ago, and left its record everywhere as a precious boon to every nation. In the whole world of medicine, nothing equals it for the cure of scrofula of the lungs (which is Consumption). Coughs and bronchial troubles succumb to this remedy, and the blood is purified by it, until all unsightly skin blotches are driven away. Don't be skeptical, as this medicine is guaranteed to every purchaser. You only pay for the good you get.

O. W. O. Hardman, Sheriff of Tyler Co., W. Va., appreciates a good thing and does not hesitate to say so. He was almost prostrated with a cold when he procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He says: "It gave me prompt relief. I find it to be an invaluable remedy for coughs and colds." For sale by G. W. Ward.

FARM ANIMAL STATISTICS.

Some Figures From the Report of Statistician Robinson.

Figures on the number and value of farm animals, as well as compilations made by special agents, are included in the report of Statistician Robinson of the Agricultural Department for January and February. The total number of horses has decreased 125,663 as compared with the returns of a year ago, although there was an increase in thirty of the states. The total number of horses last January was 16,081,129. Prices have declined in all the States and Territories except Rhode Island. The number of mules in the country in January was 2,352,231. There was a slight increase in the number and value of mules. The number at present is 16,187,400 as against 15,124,087 a year ago, and aggregate an average value of $358,998,661 against $357,299,785. There was an increase in the number of cattle from 36,954,196, valued at $547,882,204, last year to 36,608,168, valued at $536,789,747. The number and prices of both sheep and swine have declined. The total number of farm animals last month was 167,783,453.

It is estimated that in the total number of these farm animals the average annual rate of increase during the decade 1870-1880 was 1.67 per cent. In the following decade it rose to 3.17 per cent, and between 1890-1893 there was an average annual decrease of two-tenths of one per cent.

The comparative average of cotton crops are given by States as follows:

Virginia, 94; North Carolina, 94; South Carolina, 82; Alabama, 96; Mississippi, 104; Louisiana, 90; Texas, 85; Arkansas, 94; Tennessee, 84; Missouri, 81. The general average is slightly over 92 per cent.

A personal friend of ex-Governor Fitzhugh Lee says that a few days ago President Cleveland, through Secretary of State Gresham, tendered the ex-Governor the position of minister to Stockholm, Sweden, and that it was promptly declined with thanks for the proffered honor. Gen. Lee having no desire to enter the diplomatic service, least by the acceptance of anything now at the disposal of the President and, in fact, Gen. Lee would not accept anything that would take him out of this country.

Possibilities of Aluminum.

If aluminum ever becomes available as a commercial produce there will be no limit to its uses, for it is far more abundant than any metal or mineral. It is contained in common clay, of which it constitutes one of the chief ingredients. At present it cannot be got out of the clay except by burning the latter at a heat four times as great as that or the ordinary smelting furnace, a heat not easily be produced except by electricity. But the progress of chemistry is likely to discover some new and cheaper process of extraction. Some of the most alert minds in Germany, England and this country are concentrated on experiment with clay. Scores of patents have already been taken out in all countries. Any year may witness the solution of the problem and the creation of a metal which may replace steel to the background. We may live to see cities built of aluminum, incombustible, almost imperishable, and so portable that men, like snails, may carry their houses on their backs when they change their quarters.—Scientific American.

How She Became a Missionary.

"I'm doing missionary work a good deal of the time," was the reply of one of the most charming women of New York, to a friend, who asked how she busied herself. "I see by your looks you wonder what I mean by that. I'll tell you. A few years ago life was a burden to me. I had been a victim to female weakness of the most aggravated character for a long time, and the doctors failed to help me. Existence was a long, steady, terrible torture—a lingering, living death. One day I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advertised in the newspaper. I caught at the glimmer of hope it held out as the drowning man is said to catch at a straw. Still I did not dare to hope. But I got the medicine, and behold the result! I feel so well, so strong, and O, so thankful, that I go about telling other women what saved me. In no other way can I so well show my gratitude to God, and to the man who has proved such a bene factor of women, and my love for my suffering sisterhood."

With a String Tied to It.

The case of Mr. Walshaw, who recently resigned his seat as United States Senator from Mississippi for the remainder of the term expiring March 4, 1895, is an extraordinary one. The Legislature of his State is elected only once in four years, and he was re-elected by the body chosen in 1891 for the term beginning March 4, 1895. On account of his poor health this winter he recently resigned his seat for the remainder of the present term, but took no action with reference to the term beginning in 1895. Since his return to his Mississippi home his health has improved and he says he expects to be able to return to Washington when the Fifty-fourth Congress meets and serve out the six year term which then begins. In other words, he is able to take a year's vacation without losing his hold upon a seat in the Senate—an event which is quite without precedent.

Falling Off a Log.

"As easy as falling off a log," is an old saying. When it was first uttered, nobody knows. Nothing is easier, unless it is the taking of a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These act like magic. No griping or drenching follows, as is the case with the old-fashioned pills. The relief that follows resembles the action of Nature in her happiest moods; the impulse given to the dormant liver is of the most salutary kind and is speedily manifested by the disappearance of all bilious symptoms. Sick headache, wind on the stomach, pain through the right side and shoulder-blade, and yellowness of the skin and eyeballs are speedily remedied by the Pellets.

Killed by the Car.

ASHEVILLE, Feb. 21.—Alonzo H. Monday was run over and killed today at noon by an electric car of the Asheville street railway on Depot street. Monday was on the car of the West Asheville and Sulphur Spring line, the tracks of which run parallel with the Asheville line for some distance.

The cars were traveling in opposite directions and when within six feet of each other Monday, not seeing the other approaching car, jumped off.

He was instantly knocked down and killed, the wheel crushing his brains out. The car had to be raised with jack screws in order to extricate the body. Mr. Monday was 20 years old.
