SCHOOL COMMITTEES NAMED.

THOSE WHO WILL SERVE FOR THE NEXT YEAR.

Appointments Made by County Board of Education at Annual Meeting Monday—Superintendent Foust Elected For Another Term of Two Years—Attendance Officers to be Named Later—Statistical Report For Past Year.

The most important business to come before the annual meeting of the board of education Monday was the appointment of committees to serve the various townships and school districts for the ensuing year. Superintendent Foust submitted the statistical report of the schools of the county for the past year and plans for the coming year were discussed.

Prof. Thomas R. Foust was re-elected county superintendent for a term of two years.

Considerable interest was manifested in the appointment of the committees, several delegations of citizens appearing before the board in regard to this matter. The greatest fight was that over the appointment of the committee for the Summerfield graded school, the recent agitation in the community over the question of an open or closed school house having aroused considerable feeling over the personnel of the committee that has served for the past year. This committee, composed of Messrs. T. B. Doggett, J. F. McDearis and J. R. Caffey, refused a request that the Farmers' Union be allowed to meet in the school building, and when this ruling was reversed by the county board of education it appears the committee still kept the doors of the school closed against the Farmers' Union. A number of citizens representing both sides of the controversy appeared before the board of education Monday and several warm speeches were made for and against the action of the committee. The board appointed a new committee composed of Messrs. N. W. Ogburn and Ham Smith and Mrs. R. D. Gamble.

The board took advantage of the law allowing women to serve on school boards and named four well known Guilford women as members of committees for the ensuing year—Mrs. W. S. Dick, for the Sedalia and McLeansville schools; Mrs. Laura Davidson Ogburn, for Bruce township; Mrs. R. O. Gamble, for the Summerfield school, and Mrs. W. L. Gibbons, for the Colfax school. The matter of appointing attendance officers, who shall also take the school census, was postponed until a future date. The appointments will be made in time for the census to be taken in August.

MEETING OF COMMISSIONERS.

LARGE VOLUME OF BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

School Bond Election Ordered in Morehead Township—To Establish Bureau of Farm Demonstration—New Public Road Ordered Opened—Jurors For August Term of Court—Report of Superintendent of Health.

The board of county commissioners were in monthly session Monday and Tuesday. All the members of the board were in attendance and a large volume of business was transacted.

Upon the recommendation of the board of education, the special school tax levy for the Oak Shade district, Jamestown township, was reduced from 30 to 25 cents.

The board made an allowance of $25 to reimburse William Hunt, colored, for loss of time while he was held in jail as a witness for the state in the murder charge against John E. Fogleman.

A petition was granted for a public road in High Point township, beginning at the turn in the macadam road southwest of the city at the Jonathan Burton place and to connect with the proposed direct Thomasville-High Point road. The petition was granted on the condition that the proposed roads connecting therewith by Davidson and Randolph counties be opened and worked.

A petition was received asking for a change in the location of the road leading by John E. McKnight's residence to Buffalo church.

Favorable action was taken on a petition asking that an election be held on the question of issuing school bonds to the amount of $10,000 in the special tax district comprising the territory in Morehead township outside of Greensboro. The election was ordered for Tuesday, August 12, the polling place to be at F. M. Fields' store. F. M. Fields was appointed registrar and George T. Lane and C. F. Johnson pollholders.

The commissioners voted to appropriate $500 a year for the next two years for the establishment and maintenance of a bureau of farm demonstration work in Guilford county, this to supplement a like sum to be given by the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce and the United States department of agriculture. The bureau will be in charge of an expert to be employed by Chairman Poren, Mr. E. P. Wharton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and a representative of the agricultural department. It is thought that a suitable man can be employed for $1,200 a year, leaving $300 of the fund for other expenses. The Chamber of Commerce will provide office room free of charge.

When the proposition was first brought up a few months ago the Chicago grain exchanges agreed to give $1,000 a year to supplement the fund of $1,500, but the Chicago people have failed to stand by their offer, which had been accepted in good faith by the local people.

The following jurors were drawn for the civil terms of Superior court to be held in August:

For the week beginning August 11—John S. Huffine, W. T. Ridge, W. A. Amick, John R. Boon, D. M. Hubbard, C. O. Reynolds, J. T. Cockleerece, J. W. Landreth, M. Burris, J. D. McNairy, Sam Browne, C. A. Groome, N. W. Ogburn, C. S. Knight, Jesse Weaver, T. M. Blaylock, J. L. Pitts and Thomas G. Hamilton.

For the week beginning August 25—Alfred S. Brown, John S. Allen, J. C. Causey, George D. Green, Eli D. C. Wilson, D. H. Stuart, R. D. Troxler, B. E. Smith, Oscar Tucker, R. F. McNeely, J. W. Crawford, A. L. Ryan, G. W. Gourley, John T. Surt, Jonathan Frazier, W. W. Mooney, W. C. Cruise and W. A. Wrightenberry.

The report of Dr. W. M. Jones, the county superintendent of health, showed that during the past month there were four cases of measles, one of diphtheria, none of scarlet fever, one of whooping cough, 10 of typhoid fever, 16 of smallpox, and none of mumps. There were six cases of smallpox in one family and four in another. There were three cases of typhoid fever in one family. Two cases were contracted away from the county.

During the month there were 20 vaccinations, six wells were examined and three dog heads sent to Raleigh for examination for rabies, while the patents were treated. One quarantine was established and one was removed. There were four fumigations.

The vital statistics showed 20 white male births and five negro male births, a total of 25 males. There were seven white female births and five negro female births, a total of 12. There were 10 white male deaths and three negro male deaths, a total of 13. There were two white female deaths and one negro female, a total of three.

The board adjourned to meet next Monday to hear complaints as to tax valuations, etc.

THE HOOKWORM CAMPAIGN.

Began Monday and Will Continue During the Month.

The campaign for the eradication of the hookworm disease in Guilford county was begun Monday and will be continued throughout the month in accordance with the schedule heretofore published. The work is being done by authority of the board of county commissioners and in cooperation with the county board of health. Dr. W. M. Jones, county superintendent of health, has charge of the free dispensaries and is assisted by Prof. J. G. Kellogg, of the Monticello high school, who is doing the microscopic work.

Dr. Jones has prepared the following information concerning the hookworm, which will be of interest in connection with the campaign:

"That there is such a parasite as the hookworm cannot be denied. However, if there are those who are yet skeptical all you have to do is to visit the office of the county board of health, in the county court house, and you will be fully convinced that there is such a thing.

"The hookworm is dependent upon climate, geographical and sanitary conditions for its existence and propagation. Oxygen, warmth and moisture are a solvent necessary. In the North it is too cold and the eggs and very small worms die, and in the West it is too dry and the sun kills them. Here in the South conditions are ideal, and more so where the soil is sandy and porous.

"You cannot have hookworm disease, no matter how favorable the location, unless some one who has the disease deposits the eggs. Not only man, but cows, dogs, cats, etc., have had it, but not the same species as found in man.

"The hookworm develops from the egg, and when a person is infected he or she may discharge millions with the excreta from the bowels at each evacuation. The eggs do not hatch in the body of man for lack of oxygen. An egg cannot be seen with the unaided eye. In the open air they hatch in 12 or 24 hours. The worm sheds his skin twice in the first week. The second skin, while detached from the body, remains as a protection. It is yet too small at this time to be seen with the eye. This is the stage of infection. It remains this way from six weeks to six months. That it may continue it must enter a human being and get to his intestinal canal before it can do damage or lay eggs for more worms.

"The most common way of getting into the system is by the skin, and when entering it produces what is commonly called 'foot itch' or 'ground itch' and 'dew poisoning.' Size of worm, one-third to two-thirds of an inch long and the size of No. 30 cotton thread; color, white, but generally dark brown on account of blood in it.

"Hookworms cause anaemia, or poor blood, scant growth and scanty development of mind and body. They also cause headache and heart palpitation, dizziness, loss of sleep, lower the vitality and lessen resistance to all diseases.

"Some people have had an idea that it is a disgrace to have hookworm. It is no more so than to have a case of poison oak poisoning. It is, however, a disgrace to have it, either yourself or your child, and not have it treated. It can easily be cured without danger and with little or no inconvenience.

"It has been deemed of sufficient importance in Guilford county and many other counties of the state to run free dispensaries for a limited time in an effort to eradicate it."

AT GUILFORD BATTLE GROUND.

Address by Governor Craig and Other Interesting Features.

Several thousand people participated in the Fourth of July celebration at Guilford Battle Ground Friday, the crowd being one of the largest that has assembled on this historic spot in a number of years. A varied and interesting program had been arranged for the entertainment of the people and the occasion was an enjoyable one in every particular.

The principal address of the day was made by Governor Craig, who spoke on the general theme of local self government and applied it to present day principles. He asserted that it was for local self government that the Colonial soldiers fought at Guilford Court House and said it is the guarantee of good government today as it was in the days of the Revolution. No other kind of government can be the best government for an intelligent people. Each locality, to insure the best results, must perform the governmental functions that pertain to its own community life. This is the conception of the men who formed this union of sovereign states. The constitution of the union and the constitution of North Carolina recognize this principle for its complete application.

Governor Craig was followed with brief addresses by Prof. R. D. W. Connor, of Raleigh, secretary of the state historical commission; Mayor Murphy, Col. James T. Morehead and Rev. W. E. Abernethy.

An interesting feature of the celebration was the unveiling of a bronze statue of the late Maj. Joseph M. Morehead, who was identified with the Guilford Battle Ground Company from its organization, having been president of the company for a number of years prior to his death.

A police census of High Point, just completed, shows a population of 11,560, of which the white people number 9,159 and the colored people 2,401. The population by the federal census of 1910 was 9,525, and in 1900 it was 4,163. The increase in the past three years is 21 per cent, and as that is less than the average yearly increase from 1900 to 1910, the new census is considered entirely accurate and if anything a little under the actual population. High Point is ninth in population among North Carolina cities.

Farmers and Business Men

Rapid strides have been made in agricultural lines during this generation. The successful farmer of today must not only be a good agriculturist but a good business man as well. Farming has become a business and, of course, it is the biggest business in the country with the greatest competition.

The man who makes a real success of farming must be as well posted in his line as manufacturers and merchants must be in theirs. The Monthly Crop report issued by this Bank will prove of great value to the farmer who realizes the necessity of being well posted regarding all crops in all parts of the country. These reports will be sent to you monthly if you desire them.

MEETING OF CLUB WOMEN.

Present Day Matters of Vital Importance Considered.

At Guilford Battle Ground Friday afternoon, while thousands of interested spectators watched the tallion ascension and the maneuvers of the soldiers, a small but earnest band of women assembled in the pavilion to discuss certain matters of immediate importance, which, in their opinion, were worthy of the attention of thinking men and women everywhere. These quiet workers were members of the Woman's Club of Greensboro and members of some of the leading betterment associations of the county, who assembled by invitation of the Greensboro club to meet Miss Adelaide Ellis, of Winston-Salem, president of the North Carolina State Federation of Women's Clubs.

One of the needs of this county and every other county in the state, in the estimation of these women, is a training school for unruly and wayward boys, who are not vicious or of criminal instincts, but who for various reasons cannot be controlled at home. Miss Anna Meade Michaux, with whom such a training school for Guilford has long been a hobby, and who was the inspiration of the bill which passed the last legislature authorizing the establishment of such institutions where desired, by county commissioners, was present at the meeting and spoke briefly of her personal observations and experience among boys of this class. The ladies were asked to talk seriously with their husbands along this line and to see to it that Guilford led in this as in other reform measures.

Mrs. Al Fairbrother called attention to a recent press dispatch in which it was stated that the National Tailors and Dressmakers' Association had approved the new fall style a dress skirt which measured less than a yard around and having a bottom cuff similar to men's trousers. As it would be impossible to take a step—even a very short and painful one—in a dress skirt less than eighteen inches wide, the skirt adopted by the tailors and dressmakers as the correct thing would be slit to a comfortable length and have "pistol pockets" to give the added touch of smartness.

While sensible, conservative women, who recognize the importance of correct dress and up-to-date attire, have no quarrel with the reasonably narrow straight skirt, as at present worn, viewed from points of comfort, style and economy, they indignantly resent the attempt of professional fashion makers, according to one of the local club women, to force upon them a dress which oversteps the bounds of womanly modesty, encouraging the regrettable growing tendency on the part of some young girls and thoughtless women towards indecent exposure of person with all its degrading consequences. It was the unanimous opinion of all present that it was time for intelligent women to assert their rights in the matter of how far they would submit to this form of oppression, and that good women everywhere should be called upon to disapprove and discountenance the "scant dress" now in vogue, which is offensive alike to the good taste of men and women, and which, at many of the more fashionable resorts, has become a public scandal.

Mrs. McLean, of the Pomona Betterment Association, explained that the scant dressing was finding its way into the rural districts, as well as in the cities, and she was in cordial sympathy with any movement which would bring to the attention of mothers and others in charge of young girls the necessity of taking a decided stand against this indecent exposure to maidenly modesty and the dignity and purity of true womanhood.

At the suggestion of Miss Fries, it was decided to take up this matter seriously with all club women, through the social service department of the North Carolina State Federation and other state federations will be asked to join with them in this earnest protest against the latest threatened outrage.

Mrs. R. L. Justice announced an added attraction to the Central Carolina fair this year in the form of a better baby exhibit, under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Greensboro. In this contest a healthy body and physical development will be the things that count rather than beauty and pretty dresses.

Miss Rebecca Schenck explained the mystery of the fly and mosquito, showing how easily both could be exterminated in the country if proper precautions were used.

Mrs. L. B. Jeter gave experiences as a civic worker long before the Woman's Club was organized, and did not forget the county hitching lot, which, she insisted, did not get the attention it deserved.

Mrs. D. H. Blair, as regent of the local chapter D. A. R., was sure there were many women living in Guilford who were direct descendants of those who fought on that historic battle-field. She urged them to organize and take a more personal and patriotic interest in the Battle Ground. Representatives from the betterment associations of Summerfield, Fonda and McLeansville reported fine work done during the past year, and bright prospects for the future. Miss Fries talked interestingly of the work of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs, showing how all could help each other by concerted action and united effort.

Lightning Bolt Photographed.

The photograph of a bolt of lightning which struck the First Presbyterian church during the storm of last Thursday evening, a curious memento of the occurrence, is held by Capt. J. W. Fry, who was the amateur photographer. The bolt was caught as it flashed from the clouds and apparently entered the bell tower. The church was not damaged, as far as the eye could detect, but burned out light fuses and motors which pump the air for the pipe organ and provide the artificial ventilation showed that the lightning had done its work.

WILSON AT GETTYSBURG.

President's Speech Before Veterans of the Blue and Gray.

President Wilson attended the reunion of the veterans of the Blue and the Gray at Gettysburg, Pa., Friday and made an address that thrilled the thousands who heard him. He spoke as follows:

Friends and Fellow Citizens: I need not tell you what the battle of Gettysburg meant. These gallant men in blue and gray sit all about us here. Many of them met here upon this ground in grim and deadly struggle. Upon these famous fields and hillsides their comrades died about them. In their presence it were an impertinence to discourse upon how the battle went, how it ended, what it signified! But 50 years have gone by since then, and I crave the privilege of speaking to you for a few minutes of what those 50 years have meant.

What have they meant? They have meant peace and union and vigor and the maturity and might of a great nation. How wholesome and healing the peace has been! We have found one another again as brothers and comrades in arms, enemies no longer, generous friends rather, our battles long past, the quarrel forgotten—except that we shall not forget the splendid valor, the manly devotion of the men then arrayed against one another, now grasping hands and smiling into each other's eyes. How complete the union has become and how dear to all of us, how unquestioned, how benign and majestic, as state after state has been added to this our great family of free men! How handsome the vigor, the maturity, the might of the great nation we love with undivided hearts; how full of large and confident promise that a life will be wrought out that will crown its strength with gracious justice and with a happy welfare that will touch all alike with deep contentment. We are debtors to those 50 crowded years; they have made us heirs to a mighty heritage.

But do we deem the nation complete and finished? These venerable men crowding here to this famous field have set us a great example of devotion and utter sacrifice. They are willing to die that the people might live. But their task is done. Their day is turned into evening. They look to us to perfect what they established. Their work is handed on to us, to be done in another way but not in another spirit. Our day is not over; it is upon us in full tide.

Have affairs passed? Does the nation stand still? Is what the 50 years have wrought since those days of battle finished, rounded out, and completed? Here is a great people, great with every force that has ever beaten in the lifeblood of mankind. And it is secure. There is no one within its borders, there is no power among the nations of the earth, to make it afraid. But has it yet squared itself with its own great standards set up at its birth, when it made that first noble, naive appeal to the moral judgment of mankind to take notice that a government had now at last been established which was to serve men, not masters? It is secure in everything except the satisfaction that its life is right, adjusted to the utmost to the standards of righteousness and humanity. The days of sacrifice and cleansing are not closed. We have harder things to do than were done in the heroic days of war, because harder to see clearly, requiring more vision, more calm balance of judgment, a more candid searching of the very springs of right.

Look around you upon the field of Gettysburg! Picture the array, the fierce heats and agony of battle, column hurled against column, battery following to battery! Valor? Yes! Greater no man shall see in war; and self-sacrifice, and loss to the uttermost; the high recklessness of exalted devotion which does not count the cost. We are made by these tragic, epic things to know what it costs to make a nation—the blood and sacrifice of multitudes of unknown men lifted to a great stature in the view of all generations by knowing no limit to their manly willingness to serve. In armies thus marshaled from the ranks of free men you will see, as it were, a nation embattled, the leaders and the led, and may know, if you will, how little except in form its action differs in days of peace from its action in days of war.

The Lesson of Gettysburg.

May we break camp now and be at ease? Are the forces that fight for the nation dispersed, disbanded, gone to their homes forgetful of the common cause? Are our forces disorganized, without constituted leaders and the might of men consciously united because we contend, not with armies, but with principalities and powers and wickedness in high places. Are we content to lie still? Does our union mean sympathy, our peace contentment, our vigor right action, our maturity self-comprehension and a clear confidence in choosing what we shall do? War filled us for action, and action never ceases.

I have been chosen the leader of the nation. I can not justify the choice by any qualities of my own, but so it has come about, and here I stand. Whom do I command? The ghostly hosts who fought upon these battlefields long ago and are gone? These gallant gentlemen stricken in years whose fighting days are over, their glory won? What are the orders for them, and who rallies them? I have in my mind another host, whom these set free of civil strife in order that they might work out in days of peace and settled order the life of a great nation. That host is the people themselves, the great and the small, without class or difference of kind or race or origin, and undivided in interest; if we have but the vision to guide and direct them and order their lives aright in what we do. Our constitutions are their articles of enlistment. The orders of the days are the laws upon our statute books. What we strive for is their freedom, their right to lift themselves from day to day and behold the things they have hoped for, and so make way for still better days for those whom they love who are to come after them. The recruits are the little children crowding in. The quartermaster's stores are in the mines and forests and fields, in the shops and factories. Every day something must be done to push the campaign forward; and it must be done by plan and with an eye to some great destiny.

How shall we hold such thoughts in our hearts and not be moved? I would not have you live even today wholly in the past, but would wish to stand with you in the light that streams upon us now out of that great day gone by. Here is the nation God has builded by our hands. What shall we do with it? Who stands ready to act again and always in the spirit of this day of reunion and hope and patriotic fervor? The day of our country's life has not broadened into morning. Do not put uniforms by. Put the harness of the present on. Lift your eyes to the great tracts of life yet to be conquered in the interest of righteous peace, of that prosperity which lies in a people's hearts and outlasts all wars and errors of men. Come let us be comrades and soldiers yet to serve our fellow men in quiet counsel, where the blare of trumpets is neither heard nor heeded and where the things are done which make blessed the nations of the world in peace and righteousness and love.

Preparing For Final Struggle on Tariff Bill.

Washington, July 6.—Republican members of the senate have been quietly preparing for some weeks for the attack that is to be made on the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill when it gets back into the senate late this week. While a program of tariff policy had not been laid out by the Republicans, leading representatives of the party in the senate have prepared amendments, substitute schedules and protection arguments, directed at many of the important sections of the Democratic bill.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, who will bring the bill from the committee with the seal of Democratic caucus approval upon it, estimates that five weeks will be enough to wind up general debate and discussion of the measure, and to secure a vote on its final passage. Prominent Republican senators doubt whether the tariff can be disposed of in the senate in that time.

The bill has been in the Democratic caucus for more than two weeks. While the party members were practically agreed upon the general scope of tariff revision before the caucus began, it has taken much longer than had been expected to smooth over debated questions, and to bring about an agreement on tariff rates, income tax and other important features carried in the big bill.

More than 1,600,000 women of Illinois are now voters, Governor Dunne having signed the suffrage bill passed by the legislature to become effective July 1. This means that Illinois' voting strength is approximately doubled, the total vote in the last presidential election being 1,446,193.

The wedding is expected to take place next November at the White House. Mr. Sayre is at present an attorney in the office of District Attorney Whitman, of New York. He is a Republican in politics.

The United States government closed the fiscal year 1913 with a surplus of $40,983,229, representing the excess of receipts over expenditures, exclusive of Panama canal and public debt transactions. This exceeds last year's surplus by $3,750,000. The Panama canal expenditures and public debt transactions, however, wiped out the surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures and executed a deficit for year of $2,149,000.

The Supreme court of South Carolina has decided that T. U. Vaughan of Greenville, former superintendent of the State Odd Fellows' Orphanage, shall be executed. The date for the execution will be set at the October session of court in Greenville. When placed on trial last October Vaughan confessed his crime, but appealed the case when the jury sentenced him to the electric chair. He was charged with mistreating little girls who were inmates of the orphanage.

Chief Justice Walter Clark announces that funds have been subscribed for the erection of a statue to Chief Justice Ruffin, in Capitol square, Raleigh, and W. F. Ruckstuhl has been selected as the artist to model the statue.

The appointment of Clyde R. Hoey, of Shelby, as assessor of United States district attorney for the western district of North Carolina was announced Monday by Attorney General McReynolds. Mr. Hoey succeeds Judge A. L. Coble, of Statesville.

The Winston-Salem tobacco manufacturers shipped 64,110,263 pounds of manufactured tobacco during the fiscal year ending June 30, and paid the United States government the sum of $5,128,821.02. This is an increase of over 6,000,000 pounds over the corresponding period of last year, when 57,679,769 pounds of tobacco were shipped and when the revenue paid the government aggregated $4,614,301.53.

Charles H. Garrett, a substantial farmer who lived four miles from Roxboro, was instantly killed Monday while feeding a threshing machine. A missile of some kind flew out of the machine, striking him square in the forehead, piercing the brain. Mr. Garrett was about 50 years old, and leaves a wife and several children surviving him. He was a hard working and successful planter and carried $8,000 life insurance.

Disabled Veterans Fight at Soldiers' Home.

The news of a remarkable combat at the North Carolina soldiers' home at Raleigh has just leaked out. Two old veterans, Seth Jones, of Raleigh, and "Pink" Rea, of Matthews, who are under the care of the hospital department, have been bitter enemies for several days. It is said. Both are so afflicted that they have to spend their time in roller chairs. While they were alone on a secluded section of porch, the two old fellows managed to pull their roller chairs together and engage in a fist fight that raged with varying prospects for victory until fellow comrades and attendants rushed in and separated them.

Each had put up such a "spunky" fight that they shook hands and "buried the hatchet" soon after they were separated, although both are still in the hospital from injuries.

Don't use a cough medicine containing opium or morphine. They constipate the bowels and do not cure, only stifle the cough. Examine the label and if the medicine contains these harmful opiates refuse it. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound contains no opiates, is healing and soothing. Franz Young, Mgr., Wickwire, Hotel, Hooper, Neb., says: "I recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds and lost voice. I used it myself and for my children, and it is the only medicine that always does the work." Conyers & Sykes, adv.

TO CUT COST OF LIVING.

Will Experiment by Cutting Out the Middleman.

Washington, July 7.—A novel attempt to reduce the cost of living by eliminating the middlemen in meats and green groceries through direct dealings with farmers is to be tried here by a concern in which several well-known officeholders under the Taft administration are officials.

Plans for the movement have been under way for some time, and its first actual operation will begin July 21. One thousand local housewives, many of them women of standing in social circles, are associated with the movement in a co-operative and advisory capacity. A preliminary survey of market conditions in Washington has been made, and the published statistics seem to place the responsibility for the soaring prices upon the middleman. Tabulations of prices taken in all corners of the capital allege profits ranging from 33 to 100 per cent. These admittedly are offset by waste and business costs.

The new movement proposes to gather provisions from the countryside with a fleet of motor trucks and deliver them to the kitchen doors in sealed boxes, upon orders given the day before. The leaders of the movement say they will pay the farmer 20 per cent more than he now gets and sell directly to consumers for 40 per cent less than they now pay.

Many New Postmasters.

Washington, July 7.—When Postmaster General Buison entered upon his duties March 4, there were pending before his department more than 1,800 vacancies in presidential postoffices. About 600 additional were added through removals, deaths and resignations. In the fourth class offices there were 5,600 vacancies to be filled. Today there are only 471 vacancies in the presidential class, due to the fact that four hundred of these have not reached the department. In the fourth class offices, assistant postmasters of the first class have been kept pace with the certification from the civil service commission and the reports of inspectors in filling vacancies.

Of the 1,800 nominations of postmasters sent to the senate, 1,111 have already been confirmed and the new postmasters are being placed as rapidly as the reports can be approved and commissions forwarded.

Obeys That Impulse!

Instead of enduring the daily torment of weak back, backache, sore kidneys, swollen joints and rheumatism, obey that impulse to take Foley Kidney Pills. They co-operate with nature, which accounts for their success in all kidney and bladder disorders. They are healing, strengthening and tonic. Charles N. Fox, Hinnrod, N. Y., after doctoring for years with no relief says: "I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and I am now entirely cured." Obeys that impulse today and give them a chance to help you. Conveys & Sykes, adv.

New Law Regulating Partnership.

The last session passed a new law regulating partnerships which became effective July 1. This law requires men doing business under names not their own to file their own names with the clerk of the court as the persons conducting the business. The act reads as follows: "That no person or persons shall hereafter carry on, conduct or transact business in this state under assumed names or under any designation, name or style other than the real name or names of the individual or individuals owning, conducting or transacting such business, unless a certificate is filed in the Superior court clerk's office, giving the name or names of all the owners of such business, and there is a penalty of $50 for failure to comply with this act after July 1, 1913." This act does not apply to corporations.

She hesitated. In a measure she was relieved, for she had feared the man at the door might be her husband. But she was greatly agitated and troubled. Everyone in the place was looking at her.

"Nat," she said, trying to speak firmly, "I can't see you now. I'm very busy. Please go away."

"Come!"
"I can't come. Go away. Please!"
"Keziah, I'm waitin'. And I'm goin'
to wait if I stay here all night.
Come!"

She obeyed then. She could not have a scene there, before all these strangers. She stepped past him into the little room. He followed and closed the door.

"Nat," she said, turning to him,
"why did you come? How could you be so cruel? I—"

He interrupted her, but not with words. The next moment his arms were about her and she was pressed tight against the breast of his blue jacket.

"Keziah," he whispered, "I've come to take you home. Home for good.
No, stay where you are and I'll tell you all about it. Praise be to God!
we're off the rocks at last. All that's left is to tow you into port, and, by the everlasting, that's what I'm here for!"

When Upham came up the stairs after his long interview with "the boss,"
he found the door at the top closed.
When he rattled the latch that door
was opened by a stranger.

"Are you Mr. Hallett?" asked Captain Nat briskly.

"No, I'm not. Mr. Hallett is in his office on the first floor. But what—"

"On the main deck, hey? Well, all right; we won't trouble him. You'll do just as well; I judge you're one of the mates of this craft. You tell Mr. Hallett that this lady here has decided not to cruise with him any-longer. No fault to find, you understand, but she's got a better berth.
She's goin' to ship along with me.
Ain't that so, Keziah?"

Keziah, pale, trembling, scarcely realizing the situation even yet, did not speak. But Captain Nat Hammond seemed to find his answer in her silence. A few minutes later, her arm in his, they descended the gloomy stairs, and emerged into the sunshine together.

That afternoon Mr. Abner Stone
again "washed his hands" of his poor relation—this time, as he indignantly declared, "for good and all."

CHAPTER XXI.

In Which Keziah's Parson Preaches
Once More.

Time has wrought many changes in Trumet. The packet long since ceased

"Keziah," he whispered, "I've come
to take you home."

to ply between the village and Boston, the stage has been superseded by the locomotive, the old "square-riggers," commanded by Cape Cod men, no longer sail the seas. Along the main road the houses have changed hands.
Didama Rogers peers no more from her parlor window, that parlor is now profaned by the frivolous and irreverent summer boarder. But the old residents love to talk of the days that are gone and if you happen to catch
Mr. Isaac Higgins, now postmaster and a dignified member of the board of selectmen, in a reminiscent mood he will very likely tell you of the meeting of the parish committee called by its chairman, Elkanah Daniels, to oust Rev. John Ellery from the pulpit of the Regular church.

"I'll never forget," says Mr. Higgins, "that parish committee meetin' if I live a thousand years. I, and two or three other young shavers, was hid in the little room off the vestry—the room where they kept the dishes they used for church suppers—and we heard the whole business. Of course nobody knew that Nat was goin' to marry Keziah then, but they did know that he wasn't goin' to marry Grace Van Horne, and had given her up to the minister of his own accord. So Daniels's guns were spiked and he didn't have no chance at all. However, you'd never have guessed it to look at him. He marched into that meetin' and up to the platform as stiff and dignified as if he'd swallowed a peck of starch. He called the meetin' to order—twas a full one, for all hands and the cook was there—and then got up to speak.

"He opened fire right off. He raked John Ellery fore and aft. The parson, he said, had disgraced the society and his sacred profession and should be hove overboard immediate."

"Three or four sung out 'Question' and 'Vote.' But Elkanah held up his hand."

"Gentlemen," says he, 'before I ask for the vote I want to say just one word. I've worshiped in this meetin' house ever since I was a child. I was christened in it; my father worshiped here afore me; I've presided over the meetin' of this body for years. But I tell you now that if you vote to keep that rascally hypocrite in your pulpit
I shall resign from the committee and from the society. It'll be like cuttin' off my right hand, but I shall do it. Are you ready for the vote?
Those in favor of retaining the present minister of this parish will rise.
Those opposed will remain seated."

"Every man on the floor stood up.
Daniels himself was the only one that stayed settin' down."

"It is a vote," says he, white as a sheet, and his voice trembling. "Gentlemen, I bid you good day."

"He took up his hat and cane, gave one look around the vestry, as if he were sayin' good-by to it, and marched down the aisle as straight and starchy as he'd come into it. Only, when he reached the door, he put up
one hand as if he was steadyin' himself. Ther' was precious few in that vestry that liked Elkanah Daniels, but I'm bettin' high there wasn't a one who didn't feel sorry for him then."

Captain Daniels and his daughter moved to Boston that summer. They never came back to Trumet to live.
Annabel remained single until after her father's death; then she married a man very much younger and poorer than she was. It was remarked by acquaintances of the couple that the difference in age became less and less apparent as their married life continued.

On a Sunday morning, a few weeks after the committee meeting, the Regular church was crowded. John Ellery was to preach his first sermon
since the San Jose came ashore. Every member of the congregation was present. Even Mrs. Prince, feeble but garrulous, was there. Gaius Winslow, having delivered his brood of children at the church door, made a special trip in his carryall to fetch the old lady. Captain Zebedee and Mrs. Mayo beamed from their pew.
Dr. Parker and his wife smiled at them across the aisle. Didama Roger's new bonnet was a work of art and her neck threatened to twist itself off as she turned to see each one who came in.

Lavinia Pepper sailed to the front.
She was dressed in a new black alpaca which rustled so very much like silk that nearsighted people might have been deceived by it. With her was a man, apparently suffering from strangulation because of the height and tightness of his collar. "It's Calleb Pratt, from Sandwich," whispered Didama. "Thankful Payne's relation, you know. Have you heard what folks are sayin'? I guess it's true, because — Look at Kyan! you'd think he was goin' to his own funeral."

There was a stir at the door. All heads swung in that direction—
but Mr. Pepper's, that is. The minister and Grace were coming up the aisle and behind them came Captain Nat Hammond and Keziah Coffin. Nat was smiling and self-possessed. Never before in his life had he entered the Regular meeting house as a worshiper, but he seemed to be bearing the ordeal bravely. It was Grace's first visit to the church, also, and she was plainly embarrassed. To be stared at by eighty-odd pairs of eyes, and to catch whispered comments from the stargers' tongues, is likely to embarrass one.

Yet the comments were all friendly.
"I declare!" whispered Mrs. Prince,
"I never see her look so pretty afore."
I knew she was the best lookin' girl in this town, but I never realized she was such a beauty. Well, there's one thing sartin'—we've got the handsomest parson and parson's wife in this county, by about ten mile and four rows of apple trees. And there's the other bride that's goin' to be. I never see Keziah look so well nether."

Stubborn Case

"I was under the treatment of two doctors," writes Mrs. R. L. Phillips, of Indian Valley, Va., "and they pronounced my case a very stubborn one, of womanly weakness. I was not able to sit up, when I commenced to take Cardui.

I used it about one week, before I saw much change.
Now, the severe pain, that had been in my side for years, has gone, and I don't suffer at all. I am feeling better than in a long time, and cannot speak too highly of Cardui."

"Worth More Than it Costs"

Lots of farmers declare their telephone service is worth more than it costs. J. W. Harris, a well-known farmer living near Choccolocco, Ala., writes:

"I had occasion to call our doctor not two hours after my telephone was connected with your exchange. My mother, who is very old, fell down the door steps and broke her arm, and I called the doctor. He was at my house before I could have gone to his residence, as he has an automobile.

"We would not be without our telephone for more than it costs and appreciate the assistance
you rendered us."

Our free booklet tells how you may have telephone service on your farm at small cost. Write for it today. A postal will do.

Williams Liqueur Case Settled.
Friday afternoon Judge Foyd, in the United States District court, signed an order which settles the Messrs. Nick Williams whiskey case. The order is a confirmation of the report and recommendation of Special Agent in Charge Price in every item of the case, and is entirely favorable to N. Glenn Williams, owner of the whiskey.

While there is remaining approximately $30,000 tax yet to be paid on the 28,000 gallons of whiskey held at Williams, Yadkin county, and it has been estimated that the owner expects a good-sized fortune in the event of his fight with the government officials, he is still supposed to have better than a gold mine stored in his warehouses. It has been said that Mr. Williams is overvaluing and selling his 20-year-old corn for $4 a quart. Figured at this rate, he has about $400,000 worth of the ardent to dispose of.

FOR SALE FINE TIMBER AND FARM LANDS 1,000 Acres

By virtue of authority and power in the undersigned vested by a decree of the Superior court of Guilford county in the special proceedings entitled Mary J. Green and J. T. Chilcutt vs. William H. Chilcutt et al., the undersigned will sell at the court house door in the city of Greensboro, Guilford county, on SATURDAY, AUGUST 2, 1913,

At 12 o'clock M., to the highest bidder at public auction, the several tracts or parcels of land known as the Robert L. Chilcutt lands in said county.

FIRST TRACT: Being the tract of land on which Robert L. Chilcutt resided at the time of his death, and known as the old Chilcutt home tract of land, together with the tracts of land adjoining the same and recently acquired by the deceased, and all constituted and known as the Robert L. Chilcutt home place or plantation, containing 325.41 acres, more or less.

SECOND TRACT: This is the tract known and designated as the Dilworth lands, adjoining the Cunningham tract of land, and containing about 277 acres of land, more or less, being the tract of land conveyed by deed to D. F. Caldwell to R. L. Chilcutt, deceased, as will appear by reference to book 70, page 70, in the office of the registrar of deeds of Guilford county.

THIRD TRACT: Also another tract of 70 acres conveyed to R. L. Chilcutt by W. P. McLean, known as Dilworth lands.

FOURTH TRACT: Being a tract of land in Brown Summit, adjoining W. H. Rankin, S. G. Lomax and others, and containing 12 acres more or less, and situate in and near the village of Brown Summit, on the Southern Railway, in Guilford county.

FIFTH TRACT OR PARCELS: Being certain lots located on Keogh street in the city of Greensboro, and another parcel of land located in Dorehead township, in said county.

The old Chilcutt home place, or tract of land will be sold in lots or parcels separately to suit purchasers, and the second tract above mentioned known as the Dilworth land, will also be divided and sold in tracts or lots to suit purchasers.

The tract or parcel known as the Brown Summit land will also be divided and sold in lots to suit purchasers. Said Brown Summit tract will be offered for sale in lots separately and then will be offered for sale as a whole.

There is on the Chilcutt plantation a body of fine timber covering about 100 acres in original growth, and is the most valuable body of native timber to be found in Flemington, North Carolina, consisting chiefly of oak timber. Both this tract and the Dilworth tract are also valuable farming lands. There is about one-half of the entire tract covered with the best oak and pine timber.

The undersigned will also sell on MONDAY, AUGUST 4, 1913,
At 12 o'clock M., at the court house door in Greensboro, in Rockingham county, that valuable tract of land or plantation known as the Cunningham mill tract, containing 235 acres, more or less, and also a tract of 2 acres adjoining the same and forming a part of the same, which was conveyed to the said Robert L. Chilcutt by Mrs. Betsy A. Cunningham, and also at the same time and place a tract of land adjoining the lands of J. C. Cunningham, being the tract of land conveyed to Robert L. Chilcutt, deceased, by James M. Chilcutt, containing 72 acres, save and except so much thereof as has heretofore been sold to Richard H. Chilcutt. See book 4th E., page 222, and page 222.

These are very valuable lands. The bulk of said lands is located near the Southern Railway, and a large part of it within two miles of the shipping point, some of the timber above mentioned being within less than one mile of the shipping point. There are six dwelling houses on the Brown Summit tract of land located within few yards of railroad station and fronting the Southern Railway track and main street and suitable for dwellings or business houses.

All of said lands will be sold on the following terms, to-wit:

One-third cash, payable on the day of sale, one-third on a credit of six months, and the remaining one-third on a credit of 12 months, the deferred payments to draw interest from the day of sale at the rate of 5 per cent, per annum, purchasers to give bonds for the remaining two-thirds with approved security, and the title to be reserved till the purchase money is paid in full.

A map or blue print showing the location of these lands and the other thereon may be seen at the office of G. S. Bradshaw, Attorney at Law, Court Square, Greensboro, N. C., or at the office of the undersigned, Brown Summit, N. C.

Any other or further information may be had by applying to G. S. Bradshaw or the undersigned.

This the 14th day of June, 1913.
SAMUEL G. LOMAX,
