AN HISTORICAL DOCUMENT.

Some Anti-Secession Resolutions.—
They Were Adopted at a Mass-
Meeting of the Citizens of Johnston County December 22nd, 1860.

RALEIGH, July 1.—In looking through a file of old papers that belonged to the late Dr. John B. Beckwith, I found the original draft, in his handwriting, of the anti-secession resolutions adopted at a mass-meeting of the citizens of Johnston county, December 22nd, 1860. It is, to me, an interesting old document, and its contents may not be, at this time, uninteresting to others, especially to those who, like myself, know but little of their own knowledge, of those things whereof it treats. I, therefore, send you a copy of the paper for publication. The men who reported and the men who adopted those resolutions, were evidently, Union men, but when Mr. Lincoln called upon North Carolina for troops to serve against South Carolina; when conservatism and patriotism were brushed aside by radicalism and hate and the constitution was declared an unholy thing; and when the Federal Government and the Southern States was, then there was no hesitancy as to the course to be pursued—they went with their people—and many of those who went in to the field, came not home again. Since 1865, with a few exceptions, those men, who shouted "aye" on that December day, now nearly thirty-five years ago, on the question of the adoption of these resolutions, (those who survived the war) have been steadfast in support of Democratic measures, and their sons follow them.

At a meeting of the citizens of Johnston county, held in the town of Smithfield, December 22nd, 1860, irrespective of party, friends of the Union and opposed to secession, on motion of P. Richardson, Esq., Maj. Nathan Williams was appointed president, and Maj. Ashely Sanders and John C. Hood, Esq., vice presidents, and L. R. Waddell and A. G. Wellons secretaries.

The object of the meeting having been explained in a few pertinent remarks by the chairman, in which he made the request, as it was a meeting of the friends of the Union, that no secessionist would disturb it by advancing his sentiments there, it was moved by Dr. James T. Leach that a committee, composed of one from each precinct in the county, be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. Whereupon the chair appointed the following gentlemen: Dr. John B. Beckwith, chairman; S. A. Smith, W. H. Jerigan, L. H. Sanders, Abraham Dixon, William H. McCullers, Jr., George Keep, William A. Smith, E. J. Holt, Dr. John R. Thompson, P. Richardson, William H. Joyner, William H. O'Neal and Wiley Wellons, who, after consultation, reported the following resolutions, which were read separately, fully discussed and passed:

"Whereas, a crisis has arrived in the affairs of our country, threatening its existence as an united and national Confederacy, under which we have grown to be a great, prosperous and happy nation, alike the admiration and envy of the world, when it behoves every one to speak out and declare his sentiments upon the questions now agitating the country, and let it be known where he stands; therefore, be it

"Resolved, By the people of Johnston county, in mass meeting assembled, that we are opposed to dissolving the Union for existing causes until our Northern friends shall have had a reasonable time to redress our grievances, and that we look upon separate State secession as no remedy for those grievances, but a great aggravation of them all.

"2. Resolved, That while we heartily deplore the election of Abraham Lincoln and Hannibal Hamlin to the offices of President and Vice President, and abhor the sectional principles upon which they were supported, yet having been elected according to the prescribed forms of the constitution it becomes every good and loyal citizen to acquiesce in the result, until some unconstitutional act against our rights that will not, or cannot, be redressed under and according to that constitution, shall have been committed; when that shall be the case, then we will be ready to unite with all in revolution, and the formation of another government, and not till then.

"3. Resolved, That we are in favor of having settled now permanently all questions between the North and the South upon the question of slavery, and we have a confident reliance that there is sufficient conservative feeling and patriotism in the country to do it, if not prevented by the precipitate action of selfish, hot-headed, ill-advised and crazy politicians.

"4. Resolved, That a convention of the people ought to be called by the Legislature to consider and determine what the interests and honor of North Carolina require her to do.

BAITING FOR THE SOUTH.

Republican Candidates Already Have Their Hooks Out.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Republican aspirants for the presidential nomination have already begun to institute measures for the capture of Southern delegates to the next national convention. Ever since the civil war the leaders in the party who have cast anxious and hopeful eyes upon the White House have had a great degree built their prospects for the nomination upon prospects in the South. It is an understood thing that patronage and money play extraordinary influences in the control of the rural delegations which came up from the South to the republican conventions. But the shifty and unscrupulous members of many of these delegations are very unreliable. In the last three or four national conventions there was unbounded evidence of several of them selling their votes three or four times over, and no one could tell how they were going to be cast until they were actually recorded.

Such bitter heartburnings were caused by this scandalous condition of affairs that frequent efforts have been made by Eastern delegations to reduce Southern representation in the national conventions. Such attempts, however, have borne no fruit, and the same old spectacle will be repeated in the next convention of the votes of Southern delegates being hawked around for sale to the highest bidder. The competition will doubtless be more acute than ever, as from present appearances there will be an unusually extensive crop of candidates.

The second nomination of Harrison could never have been effected but for the support of Southern delegations, and it was openly charged on the floor of the convention by delegates favoring the nomination of Blaine that these votes had been secured by the official patronage of the Harrison administration. In 1888, when Harrison was first nominated, it was a common talk in all the public places of Chicago that another Western man, who wanted the nomination was scattering his dollars right and left among the negro delegates.

Senator Sherman, who made his biggest fight of all for the nomination in 1880, when he was in control of the Treasury Department, counted confidently on the black contingent from the South, to which he had dispensed bountiful drops of government pay. But they went back on him shamefully. The cunning fellows who have had experience with these Southern delegations, say it is best not to bother about the selection of them, but wait until they are chosen and come to the convention and then make the dicker with them. That this counsel is not generally being availed of is in conclusive evidence, for it is known here that several emissaries dispatched from this point have been and are now hard at work in various sections of the South setting up the pins for the choice of delegates to a convention which will not meet for ten months to come. Both of the two candidates whose interest it is hoped to serve in this manner are of the West. In the one case, the money which is being used comes out of the private pocket of the candidate. In the other it is said to be the fat of the manufacturer.

It will not be long in all probability before several of their rivals will have their agents on the ground, also putting in licks. But the men with full purses, who have the last laugh at these patriotic and virtuous delegates from the South, will not have much difficulty in getting them away from their first love. Republican politics in the South cannot be influenced in the coming year by government patronage, but their seems to be no fear among those concerned about the size of the corruption fund. The scramble to elect delegates to the convention and the scramble to buy them after election will therefore be quite as edifying and animated as in the past.

A SEASON OF PROSPERITY.

Bright Prospects and Signs of An Active Trade Year as Seen by a Republican Newspaper.

The Philadelphia Inquirer is a Republican paper, but it is not hidebound. It concedes that "the opening of the new fiscal and trade year brings hope of a prosperous season at hand. Not only has there been a decided revival in manufacturing, but the crops promise to be far above the average, and finally the government finances are getting into better shape. As this latter condition has been the most disturbing element in business for the last eight months, so the complete change that has been wrought is certain to produce most important results."

Such expressions, coming from a Republican paper when the country is enjoying Democratic administration are significant. The Inquirer continues: "The government deficit is certainly bad, but as it is $17,000,000 smaller than was anticipated last fall and has been accumulated during an exceptionally bad year, the showing is not disheartening. But the best exhibit of the government is the improved condition of the treasury. A year ago it held $64,873,025 in gold; now it has $107,512,262. The total amount of cash of all kinds one year ago amounted to $157,909,471; now the treasury has in cash $230,719,643. These are striking figures. They show that the new year is begun with the gold reserve intact.

"With the clearing-house returns 30 per cent. greater than a year ago and but little below those reported two years ago, and three years ago, with commercial discounts relatively tight, with wages of 1,000,000 operatives advanced 10 per cent. in two months, with manufacturing active and the crop outlook good, the business conditions seem to be very favorable. The past week has seen continued strength in all industrial lines. An advance of $1 per ton in pig-iron, $2 in bar-iron and $3 in structural material attests the expanding volume of business in the iron trade. Practically all the mills now in operation are filled up with orders for two months to come. But the railroads are not buying yet, although two years of deferred needs press upon them. The demand comes chiefly from builders and from manufacturers in other lines of industry, and the material that is turned out goes to afford employment to thousands of others. The increased distribution of money in wages is an immense stimulus to trade and accounts for much of the increase in bank clearings.

"Wool prices have advanced one-half and one cent more and the sales continue up to the maximum on record. The London auction sales were at an advance of about 10 per cent., as compared with the last sale, and American manufacturers were large buyers. Woolen goods are rising in price, some slight advances having been made in the week, while the demand is much more confident than it was. The market for cotton goods continues dull but strong, print cloths having risen one-sixteenth, while other cottons have advanced. The shipments of boots and shoes are reported to be the largest on record at this time, although this is the dull season for manufacturers."

TO EXPOSE THE FRAUD.

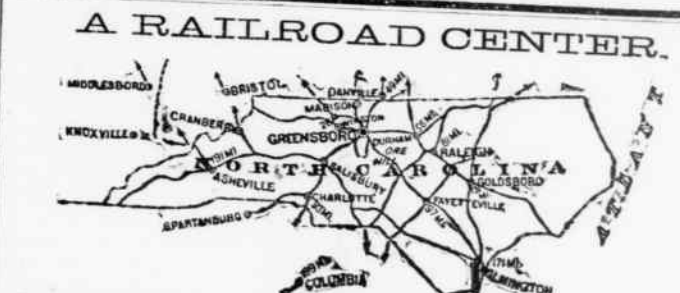

The Wake County Grand Jury Presents Clerks Brown and Satterfield for Fraudulently Enrolling the Assignment Act.

The grand jury of Wake County Superior court is determined that the fraud and forgery of the Assignment Act shall be investigated, in spite of the decision of the Supreme court that it cannot go behind the ratification Act. Yesterday the following presentment was made:

NORTH CAROLINA, / WAKE COUNTY, / Superior Court, July term, 1895. The grand jury present that J. N. Brown, Enrolling Clerk of the Legislature of 1895, and S. P. Satterfield, Principal Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Legislature of 1895, unlawfully and willfully violated the duties of their respective offices by permitting a certain Act known as the Assignment Act (the same being chapter 466 of the laws of 1895), to be enrolled as a public law of said Assembly when in truth and fact said Act had never passed the three readings required by the Constitution in either house of said Assembly.

V. B. MOORE, Foreman Grand Jury.

A RAILROAD CENTER.

Greensboro is the railroad center of North Carolina. It is the natural distributive point for the entire State, and is peculiarly well situated for manufacturing establishments of various kinds. It has a great abundance of raw materials close at hand at the lowest possible price. It has cheap improvements of capital and a plentiful supply of labor. These advantages make it a desirable place for capitalists and manufacturers, especially those contemplating a removal of their location Association.

—Capt. B. J. Fisher has purchased the Denny property, north east corner of North Green and Clay streets, and proposes to open a street through it, extending to the Finishing Mills, or a continuation of North Green from the point at which Clay enters it. This will open up some valuable property and shorten the distance to the Finishing Mills.

—The first number of the Durham Globe, under the management of Mr. R. H. Cowan, is a handsome sheet, and contains an exhaustive and appreciative account of Durham's wonderful business and manufacturing prosperity. Mr. Cowan is an old newspaper man and is well equipped for the business. We wish him success with the Globe.

—The State Druggists' Association at Morehead last week decided to fight the provision of the revenue act adopted by the last Legislature, which imposes an additional purchase tax upon their business. A resolution was adopted authorizing the employment of counsel to make a test case of the matter on the ground that the act was not ratified.

—The Piedmont Bank has resumed its renovated and refitted quarters and has now as handsome a banking room as is to be found in the State. The interior is finished in antique oak and the ornamentation and painting outside and in is in black and gold. The papering is expensive linoleum and altogether the bank is a thing of beauty and an ornament to the city.

—A Raleigh dispatch says that persons from Montgomery county say that a seventeen-year-old white lad named Tucker murdered a negro convict he had in charge, while the latter was handcuffed, by shooting him twice with a rifle, and then buried his body in the sand, burying the rifle beside the body. The boy says that the negro ran, and he shot at him, but that the negro got away.

—Mr. Samuel L. Trogdon has tendered his resignation as Treasurer of the People's Five Cent Savings Bank on account of other business engagements and the bank has selected as his successor Mr. James A. Hodgkin, who is well known throughout this county and who will be glad to see his friends in his new position. The bank was organized in 1887 and is one of our most successful institutions.

—A negro excursion passed through here Saturday going from Mt. Airy to Danville, and while the train was stopping here two negroes, George Richmond and Doc Barnhardt, got into an altercation during which Barnhardt pulled a pistol and shot Richmond through the right arm just below the shoulder. Barnhardt ran but was captured near the Methodist cemetery and locked up. Both were bound over to court.

—As announced elsewhere there will be a grand excursion to Richmond and return Monday, July 22d. The round trip fare will be only $3.00. The train will leave Greensboro at 11 o'clock a. m., and arrive at Richmond at 6 p. m., and returning will leave Richmond Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Two days will be spent in Richmond and it will be a splendid opportunity to visit Washington, Baltimore or other northern cities.

—J. C. Scarborough, the State Superintendent of public instruction has issued the following to the chairmen of boards of commissioners: "The amendments to the school law did not go into effect until June 1st, 1895 and the office of County Superintendent did not expire until that date so it is held that all certificates issued by this said officer prior to that will hold good for one year and will be the proper legal certificates under which they shall teach. The county examiners should look after this matter so as not to conflict with this construction."

—The committee on buildings and grounds of the colored Agricultural and Mechanical College met here last week to examine bids for contracts to erect a large brick building in connection with the college to be used for shops, drawing rooms, laboratory, etc. The building is to be ready for equipment of machinery, blacksmith, painter and carpenter shops by October 1st, 1895. The committee rejected all bids which were submitted and decided to proceed with the work under its own direction. Col. T. B. Keogh is chairman of the committee.

—One of the most important road improvements that has come under our observation is that just completed at the South Buffalo bridge, about a mile from the city. Squires Eckel, Pierce, Pritchett and Wolfe drove out last week to inspect the work and they were gratified with the beneficial changes wrought under their plans. From the bridge to the foot of the hill south, a distance of about one thousand feet, a substantial sixteen-foot stone road has been built, in some places two feet higher than the old level. The improvement transforms one of the worst pieces of road in the county to one of the best.

—It is suggested by one of our most progressive spirited citizens that it would be profitable and a good thing for the city if store rooms were built along some of our principal business streets, where some old and useless frame houses now stand. It is suggested that desirable sites for buildings are the vacant lots on North Elm opposite the jail and others which would doubtless be made much more valuable if good buildings were put on them. The tax on the property makes it too valuable for ordinary buildings or to stand idle. It could be made profitable to the owners by improving it or to any one who would purchase and make improvements.

—A sad tragedy occurred late Monday evening on the track of the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad, a little to the north of the South Elm street crossing. G. C. Brewer, the night watchman of the C. F. & Y. V., was walking along the track in the curve coming toward the depot about 7 o'clock. A blinding rain was falling and the noise of the storm was so great that he did not hear the approach of the switch engine which rushed upon him and ran over him. He was so terribly mangled that he died in a short while. He was a faithful, efficient and polite old gentleman and had the good will of everybody. He was about 55 years old, was a Confederate soldier and served all through the war. The remains were yesterday taken to his home in Chatham county.

THE PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting Here This Week of the Editors of the State.

Greensboro will this week entertain the North Carolina Editorial Association, which body will hold its annual convention here, beginning with today. Already the editors are beginning to arrive and arrangements have been made by our citizens to give them a cordial reception and entertainment. They will be the guests of the citizens of Greensboro at the Benbow Hotel while here. A complimentary excursion to Guilford Battle Ground will be tendered them, they will be driven in carriages to points of interest in the city, including the Southern Finishing Mills, the educational institutions, Keeley Institute and the various industries and attractions of the city. On tomorrow night a grand banquet will be given by the citizens of Greensboro complimentary to the editors at the Benbow House, and on Friday morning they will leave for an excursion to Morehead City. It is expected that there will be about seventy-five editors in attendance and a number of them will be accompanied by their wives.

Editors Joseph P. Caldwell, of the Charlotte Observer, H. A. London, of the Pittsboro Record, Josephus Daniels, of the News and Observer, Hal W. Ayer, of the Caucasian and Marshall, of the Gastonia Gazette, have been selected to respond to toasts at the banquet on behalf of the editorial fraternity and on the part of the citizens of Greensboro the following: Dr. Chas. D. McIver, subject Education; Col. R. M. Douglass, The Guilford Record; James E. Boyd, Our Railroad Facilities; Judge Jno. Gray Bynum, Churches and Benevolent Associations; C. H. Ireland, Mercantile Interests; Jno. L. King, Manufacturing Interests.

Meeting of the State Horticultural and Floral Societies.

The annual meeting of the State Horticultural Society will meet at Greensboro, N. C., Wednesday, Aug. 21, in the beautiful little park opposite the McAdoo House, where a large tent is spread that will seat several hundred. These things are given by the courteous Mr. West, who is manager of the park. No premiums are offered, but specimens of new and rare fruits and flowers are expected. Papers will be read by the best experts on various fruits, how to pack and ship, grape rot and how to prevent it, what fruits pay best; several discussions on all these subjects. Also on the next day, the 22d, the State Floral Society will meet at the same place. The program will be very interesting. All are interested in both societies, both ladies as well as gentlemen, and we expect a good representation from all parts of the State. Mr. Morton, manager of the McAdoo House, will entertain the societies with the best of the country affairs, at the low cost of $1.50. It is strictly first class and one of the best hotels in the city.

J. VAN LINDLEY, President.

—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the North Carolina Railroad brought a crowd of excursionists to the city last Thursday and among them were some tough characters from the mining district about Thomasville. As a result four white men went before Mayor Nelson the next day and all were bound over to court. Just as the Southbound train was about to leave Thursday evening C. H. Curry raised a rumpus on board by flourishing a knife. Officer Whittington tackled him and his brother J. H. Curry interfered but both were landed in the calaboose. Those thugs slashed at a negro with a razor at West's merry-go-round and was arrested. Ben Collett tried to release him from the officer and he, too, was gathered in. All four were bound over to court by Mayor Nelson in the sum of $100 each. They succeeded in giving bond and left for home sadder, but wiser men. All of them will have to appear here at the next term of court to answer the charges against them unless they forfeit their bonds.

—A sad death occurred Sunday or Sunday night at the Benbow House. On Friday night a young man came in and registered as T. W. Hughes, New Bern, N. C. He carried no baggage and voluntarily paid his bill one day in advance. Saturday night he again came up and paid for another day. Some time Sunday afternoon he went to his room and was not seen again till Monday morning about 8 o'clock he was found dead in bed. He had no letters or papers of any description on his person, but as he was registered from New Bern a telegram was sent there and was answered, stating that his family lived there and asking for particulars of his death. A coroner's inquest was held Monday afternoon by Coroner Welker, assisted by Dr. Wilson, and it was found that he had died of heart trouble of some character. A clotting of blood was found around the heart. The remains were sent to New Bern by yesterday morning's train.

—Mr. M. H. Cone, of the Cone Export Company, of New York, who recently purchased a large tract of the Steel and Iron Company's lands on which to erect cotton mills, has also secured options upon an area of city property including the Steel corner and bounded by East Market and Davis streets. It is his plan, if they can purchase this property at reasonable figures, to run a roadway or drive diagonally through it, beginning at the Steel corner and leading out to the property that they have already purchased. The site for the first building to be constructed has been selected. It is a quarter of a mile distant from the Southern Railway and about one mile from the court house. A gingham mill will be erected on this site.

Engines.

The North Carolina Railroad.

The directors of the North Carolina Railroad held their annual meeting here last Wednesday and the meeting of the stockholders followed on Thursday. Mr. Lee S. Overman, of Salisbury, tendered his resignation as president of the road and Hon. S. B. Alexander, of Charlotte, was elected to succeed him. Mr. Overman was elected president last fall to succeed Mr. W. F. Korneguy, of Goldsboro, who died. Mr. Overman resigned because his other duties did not admit of his devoting the necessary time to the business of the railroad. There was no quorum of the stockholders present and consequently no business was transacted.

—Dr. Isaac E. Emerson, of Baltimore, president of the Emerson Drug Company, has given $1,250 to the alumni hall at the University. Dr. Emerson is inventor and proprietor of bromo-seltzer. He was a special student of chemistry in the University in 1876-77, where he laid the foundation of his chemical knowledge. At present he is one of the most prominent men in Baltimore's social and business circles. The subscription to build Alumni Hall has now reached over $20,000.

Civil Term of Guilford Court.

Judge E. T. Boykin, who tried the famous Shewell case at Lexington, arrived here Monday morning after the verdict of the jury had been rendered, and convened the special term of Guilford court which had been ordered for this week for the trial of civil cases. It is a two weeks' term and there is a heavy docket to be disposed of, some of the cases being of long standing.

Big Excursion.

On Friday 19th the Y. M. C. A.'s big excursion for Wilmington will leave Greensboro at 8:30 o'clock a. m. A nice crowd of people will go. Several parties from the country have been organized. The report that another train has been chartered to run in August is untrue. No other train has been arranged for but this one. This will be the opportunity of a life time.

University Catalogue.

The University catalogue for 1894-95 shows 471 students as follows: 317 in the college, 78 in the law school, 26 in the medical school and 50 in the summer school for teachers. The faculty embraces 35 professors and instructors. The catalogue contains 114 pages, is carefully indexed and gives full information about the University. Write for copy to President Winston, Chapel Hill, N. C.
