THE GOING FORTH.

Now far along the darkened sward
The winter snow is white.
I will go forth to meet my Lord
And welcome Him to-night.
The solemn stars in heavy wait;
The swaying sea is dim.
I will go out beyond my gate
And find my way to Him.

In lighted fane the choir of praise
Lift up their anthem sweet.
I will go forth along the ways
To find and clasp His feet.
Across my heart the night winds
moan;
My doors are opened wide.
Into the night I pass alone
To find my Christmas-tide.

Reminiscences of Greensboro from 1830 to 1850.

PART III.

Owing to some delay in procuring facts concerning the organization, etc., of the M. E. church in Greensboro similar to those furnished by Dr. Smith concerning the Presbyterian church, the matter intended for this number will appear later on.

In the year 1830 the territory occupied by the little village was small as compared with that now embraced within her limits. If it was then incorporated with its square mile of territory, the larger portion of that space was still in a state of nature, with its mingled growth of oak and pine unmoisted. Her southern limit was the home of Rev. W. N. Mebane, Dr. D. C. Mebane, and their sister, who afterwards became Mrs. Beatty. This home was on what is now known as the Mendenhall lot, just recently beginning to be occupied by business houses. Beyond this there was a log cabin near the recent corporate line, on what is now known as Asheboro street. The western limit was Father Paisley's, now R. M. Sloan's residence, on one side of the street; on the opposite side and a little farther out was the home of Dr. John A. Mebane. The northern boundary was reached at the residence of Rev. Peter Doub, who sold the lot to Mr. Jesse H. Lindsay, on which his daughter, Mrs. Wright, now resides. About this time John M. Dick, afterwards Judge Dick, occupied the lot lying opposite. The eastern extremity I think was reached at the residence of Jonathan Parker, a little beyond where W. S. Moore now lives. There were certainly very few, if any, residences beyond this. If the corner now known as the Steele corner was not occupied at that date it was very soon after. Northeast of this spot there was nothing but the native forest. In the center of these streets stood the court house. In the lowest part of South Elm street near Houston's store and others was a pond of water. One, who, when a school boy, slipped and fell into this pond while running by it on an icy side-walk, may be expected to retain in his memory the fact that there was on that spot water in sufficient quantity to give a solid wetting to the unfortunate victim of the accident.

It was during this period that the town extended south as far as the residence of Mrs. Adams, now the home of Monroe Whittington, with perhaps two or three houses beyond, but all on Asheboro street. All else now known as South Greensboro was unoccupied except a few habitations along the street leading to Warnersville. The Caldwell Institute building was partially erected in 1837, finished and occupied in the early part of 1838. It stood a short distance south of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley track, where South Elm street now runs. This was a male academy under the control of Orange Presbytery. The original intention was to make it a manual labor school. It was thought that boys could spend two hours each day in labor instead of the time usually spent on the playground and thus reduce expenses by partially supporting themselves. But before this plan was carried into effect this feature in Davidson College, which had adopted and was then being operated on this plan, had proved unsatisfactory, and Presbytery, influenced by the experience of her neighboring institution, abandoned her first intention and started her enterprise without this feature. In the year 1835, or earlier, Dr. Wilson as principal, with Silas C. Lindsey as assistant, took charge of this institution, occupying the male academy till the Presbytery's own building was completed. I think it was in 1836 that Mr. Greter was added to this corps of instructors, and continued in this school as professor of mathematics till 1844, when as already stated he was transferred to the pastorate of the Presbyterian church. Previous to the setting on foot this Presbyterian school Mr. Lindsey had taught a private Paisley. In this century of such unprecedented progress, as has been noted, it would be strange if there had been no improvement in the method of instruction; but the three persons named above as instructors, and Mr. Ralph Graves as successor to Mr. Greter, was considered as good as the best of her kind in the South, and her students on entering college easily took a high rank in their classes. The town academy already mentioned stood in the midst of an oak grove which covered the southern half of the square on which Mrs. M. D. Smith and others reside. On the road leading to Jamestown as late as 1850 the residence portion of the town had not extended beyond Gov. Morehead's, Mr. Levi Houston's home and farm being the next improvement reached in that direction. This road then left the main street at the Staples lot and extended thence in a southwest direction. At the date last mentioned the M. E. Female College and a few residences farther out in that direction had been built. Running north the habitations had reached as far as the lot now owned and occupied by Rev. J. H. Smith, D. D., with two log huts farther on. Eastward the white population reached the lot known as the Parker lot. This was the home in after years of John Parker, who was waylaid and robbed by night when he had nearly reached his home. A few days later he died from injuries received at this time. The house was built and first occupied early in the thirties by Levi Donnell, and continued to be the residence of his widow till 1849, when she became a victim of smallpox, the scourge of the town during the summer of that year. A little beyond and outside the corporate limits lived two white and two or three free colored families. At this time there were very few of this latter class in our midst. "Free Nigger" was used among the slaves of that day as a term of reproach. We well remember the scornful manner with which the mammas of that day spoke of the "free niggers" and the "poor white trash," the latter being an epithet which they applied to those who owned no slaves. There was one of the former class, however, Zephaniah Mitchell, whose accumulations had entitled him to be respectfully mentioned by them, "being and living," as they said, "more like white folks than other free niggers."

We quote below a paragraph on the cotton manufacturing interests of North Carolina, taken from a reader published in 1851 for the use of schools by C. H. Wiley, whose indefatigable researches into the unwritten history of his native state has rescued from oblivion much that would soon have been lost beyond recall.

"North Carolina may be said to be the pioneer of the Southern States in the manufacture of cotton. The first feeble beginnings in North Carolina were in Lincoln and Edgecombe counties, some thirty-five years ago, (about 1816). But such was the want of skill, the imperfection of machinery, and the want of commercial facilities, that they made little impression on the public mind; indeed their very existence was unknown to nine-tenths of our population. The factory in Lincoln, after struggling through many years of difficulty, has it is understood, been renovated, and takes rank among similar establishments of modern times. The one in Edgecombe was less fortunate. It was removed to Fayetteville, when it soon ceased to run. Such was the state of our manufactures, if state it might be called, in 1829. In that year Col. Benjamin Elliott purchased the site at Cedar Falls, with a view to organize a company for the manufacture of cotton goods. He failed in his laudable purpose. The business was new in the South. The North had the advantage in skill. Southern people would not buy a Southern manufacture—the thing would be a failure and the capital lost. These considerations deterred men from engaging in it. His agitation of the subject, however, was as 'seed sown upon the waters, to be gathered,' not many days hence, but immediately. Henry Humphreys, Esq., of Greensboro, a gentleman possessing great energy of character and ample means, caught the spirit which had his birth in Randolph, went to work, erected a steam factory in Greensboro and realized, as he deserved to do, a handsome fortune."

The Humphreys factory therefore was the first of its kind in North Carolina in successful operation. The masses, who had never seen thread or cloth produced in any other than by the slow method which had been used by themselves and from time immemorial by their ancestors, when, for the first time, they saw the work of this machinery, looked upon it as something closely allied to the miraculous. Only a small portion of our citizens can recollect the building as it stood near the corner of what is now known as Greene street and Bellemade avenue, and fewer still can recollect the busy hum of its machinery. The demand for its products far exceeded the capability of the machinery. Wagons from all the country around came in and awaited their turn for the supplies furnished by its spindles and looms. I have heard, but this lacks confirmation, that thread sold at one dollar per pound. After the death of Mr. Humphreys his son-in-law, Mr. Thomas Tate, removed the machinery to Catawba river, in Gaston county.

While enterprises using machinery operated by steam were yet in their infancy Mr. Jed H. Lindsay erected a steam saw mill, with a water carding machine and corn mill attached. Its site was near the spot where the Southern Railway crosses Lindsey street.

A RAILROAD CENTER.

Greensboro is the railroad center of North Carolina. It is the natural distribution point for the entire State, and is peculiarly well situated for manufacturing establishments of various kinds. It has a great abundance of raw materials close at hand at the lowest prices. It has cheap labor, cheap coal, and a delightful climate. It has the very best school advantages and all modern improvements usually found in cities of double its size. Those advantages deserve the careful consideration of capitalists and manufacturers, especially those contemplating a removal of their plants. GOLD MINING.

Western Miners Turning Their Attention to North Carolina.

J. T. Allen, a mine owner of Arizona, and Ridge Quizey, of Cleveland, Ohio, also interested in the extensive mining lands in the West, especially in the Cripple Creek region, were in the city yesterday en route to North Carolina, says the Chattanooga Times of Thursday.

These gentlemen and their associates have just purchased 700 acres of land in Warren county, N. C., where gold is believed to exist in large quantities. They intend to largely develop the gold lands of that section and with this end in view have just shipped about $90,000 worth of gold mining machinery to Warren county.

They claim to have visited some of the finest gold fields in the world and declare that the best gold fields of the world, the richest, are in North Carolina, north Georgia and Alabama. They declare will produce more gold than any other sections in the world when properly handled.

The specimens of the quartz found in the North Carolina field assay very high. It was tested in Kansas City and London and shows up magnificently.

"In two years," said Mr. Allen, "there will be the biggest gold boom in the world for years. This will be in the South."

Mr. Allen will have erected at Warren county a stamping mill and chlorinating plant at once.

Year's Receipts from Internal Revenue.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The annual report of Commissioner Joseph S. Miller, of the internal revenue bureau, shows the receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1896, to have been $161,830,615. The cost of collecting the internal revenue during the last fiscal year amounted to $1,986,292, and the estimated cost of the collection for the next fiscal year is $1,369,090. The estimated receipts from all sources during the current fiscal year are $150,000,000. During the year the revenue performed by the revenue agents is given as follows: Number of registered distilleries seized, 210; illicit distilleries seized and destroyed, 1,916; gallons of spirits seized, 123,688; fermenters seized and destroyed, 16,986; gallons of beer seized and destroyed, 1,398,031; horses seized, 101; wagons seized, 66; value of property repossessed for seizure, $308,419; assessments reported, 210,607. The number of persons arrested was 839.

COXEY QUILTS.

With Deep Sorrow He Decides to Give Up Populism.

MASSILLON, Ohio, Dec. 11.—"General" J. S. Coxey issues an open letter to Senator Martin Butler today denouncing "the disgraced People's party," sold out to "an issue so insignificant as silver. I decline," he says, "to help chase rainbows of election frauds in Ohio, but hereby announce my resignation as a member of the National Committee."

He concludes: "I once left the Democratic party, and now find, in order to be out of it for sure, I must leave the once grand, but now disgraced, People's party. This is done in deep sorrow, and with the hope to join a party upon to which the hope of the republic must look for rescue from financial and industrial ills."

Farm Prices of Products.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The returns of the statistician of the department of agriculture for the month of December relative to the average farm prices of the various products of agriculture on the first day of the month are as follows: The farm price of corn as indicated, averages 21.4, against 25.3 cents last year; of wheat 72.7, against 74.1 last year; of oats 18.6, against 19.9 last year; of buckwheat 39.1 against 42.2 last year; of Irish potatoes 28.7, against 26.6 last year; of leaf tobacco per pound 6.0, against 6.9 last year; hay per ton $6.54, against $8.30 last year; cotton per pound 6.6, against 7.6 last year.

Incendiarism in Ashe County.

Much indignation prevails in Ashe county against some incendiaries. During the past week barns with a number of live stock, corn, oats, hay, farming implements, etc., have been set on fire and destroyed. One farmer received an anonymous letter warning him against doing so, charging some tenants on his stock farm. Officers and private citizens are trying in a quiet way to find out the names of the guilty parties.

The positive declaration is now made by an elector on the Republican ticket that Senator Pritchard is not for the gold standard but is a bimetalist and he is friendly toward silver to get most of their votes.

A Young Wife Missing.

The Baltimore Sun of Saturday said:

A search has been instituted by the Baltimore police for Mrs. Pattie Louie Covington, who disappeared Tuesday from her home at Lenoir, N. C., and who is supposed to have come to Baltimore. Her father, Rev. J. F. Tuttle, of Smithfield, N. C., came to Baltimore yesterday and registered at the Eutaw House.

Mr. and Mrs. Covington were married two weeks ago, and the young bride seemed very happy in her new home at Lenoir. She had been in poor health for several months and had expressed a desire to visit Baltimore and to go to some hospital for treatment. It is believed that, while demented, she endeavored to carry out this intention. She was traced to Salisbury, N. C., where it was found that she had bought a ticket over the Southern Railway for Baltimore.

She is twenty-one years old and is described as 5 feet 4 inches tall, of slight build, with light hair, dark brown eyes and fair complexion. She carried no baggage, and when she left home wore a dark blue skirt, a black bodice and a dark jacket, with a small black hat. Detective Todd Hall was detailed on the case and yesterday visited the various hospitals without finding any clue.

Mr. Tuttle, father of the young woman, is a Baptist minister and an ex-Confederate. He lost an arm in the war.

MRS. COVINGTON FOUND.

The Sun of Monday said:

Mrs. Walter S. Covington, of Lenoir, N. C., who disappeared from her home several days ago, about two weeks after her marriage, was found Saturday at the Maryland General Hospital, where she had gone for medical treatment.

Her presence at the hospital was learned by Detective Todd Hall, who had been searching the city for her, as both her husband and father believed that she had come to this city, where she has friends.

Mrs. Covington said that she left her home without knowing what she was doing, and found herself at a small station on the road. Then she remembered that she had friends in Baltimore and decided to come here. When she reached the city she was suffering considerably and asked where she could find a hospital. She was directed to the Maryland General Hospital, and at once went there and placed herself under treatment. She has recovered from her indisposition and returned to her home Saturday night with her husband and father, who had come to Baltimore in search of her.

No Aid to Higher Education.

RALEIGH, Dec. 13.—The North Carolina Methodist conference has done what the Western Carolina conference refused to do—that is, adopt a resolution against state aid to higher education.

The power behind this movement is the president of Trinity college.

The resolution adopted declares that all free tuition and free scholarship at the university based upon public money should be discontinued, that the appropriation should be limited to such amount as is necessary to meet the deficiency in current expenses, after tuition has been collected from all students save those to whom private scholarships have been given.

The resolution also says that the purpose of the state in establishing the normal and industrial school for girls and the agricultural and mechanical college is to provide technical and not higher literary training.

The conference declares itself in sympathy with these so long as they adhere to this original purpose, but opposes any policy that will in any way divert them from it.

The work of the term is nearing its close, and it is believed better work was never before done.

An Innocent Man in the Penitentiary.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 10.—Governor Carr has pardoned Henry Smith, of Asheville, and thus ended a very sensational case. Smith while working on the railroad in Davidson county, passed the house of a man named Ellington, and one day all of Ellington's money—$1,200, was missing. Smith was arrested and sentenced to twelve years in the penitentiary. Last week the money which Smith was charged with stealing was found in the possession of Ellington's son, who, during a drunken spree had taken it and hid it. He forgot where he had placed it, but discovered it by accident and gave the money to his father who at once reported the fact to Governor Carr.

General Antonio Maceo, the head of the insurgent body in Cuba, was deliberately entrapped and foully murdered in the province of Havana last week, and his assassins are about to be decorated with special honors by the Queen of Spain.

He was betrayed by his Spanish, who was in league with Gen. Weyler, if reports are true. Maceo's death under such circumstances adds to the fire of patriotism which burns in the breasts of those who desire to see Cuba freed from Spain's oppressive bondage.

Maceo as a violation of the rules of civilized warfare and a cowardly act of treachery, and calling upon the President to demand the release of all United States citizens held by the Spanish government as prisoners at Ceuta, Mr. Howard, of Alabama, introduced a resolution in the House recognizing the independence of Cuba.

VOLUNTEERS FOR CUBA.

A Stream of Them—Women Offer to go as Nurses.

CLEVELAND, O., December 14.—All the morning a stream of men poured into the rooms of A. De Arango, the local Cuban leader, and volunteered to join the Cuban army. It is estimated that there were 150 of them, a large proportion well-dressed young men, of good education, and apparently in good circumstances. It was declared that more men were needed. Even women were offered to go as nurses. They said they did not want pay, but thought it was their duty to nurse the sick and wounded. The majority bore marks of refinement, and some had evidence of wealth. They were advised to write to the junta in New York.

ONE THOUSAND MEN.

St. Louis, December 13.—Volunteers for the relief of the Cuban insurgents are being mobilized in this city and next Friday, if all the plans are carried out successfully, 1,000 men will leave New Orleans for Cuba. Two hundred of these are St. Louisans, the remainder coming from East St. Louis, and points South of here on the lines of the Illinois Central and Iron Mountain railroads.

Julius Van Gerst, of New Orleans, will be in charge of the expedition, with W. C. Carter, J. L. G. Odner and Cornelius Knott, of this city, as aides. The quartette met here to-day and completed arrangements. Van Gerst and Knott will leave this evening on the Illinois Central, picking up the men on that road as far South as Cairo, and perhaps Memphis, and will then proceed via steamboat to New Orleans.

She says that it always gives relief, and that she had used it for as much good. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Richardson & Fariss, Druggists.

Special Industrial Edition of The Daily Record—Gold Awards for Prize Articles.

(From the Greensboro Record.)

A special edition of THE GREENSBORO DAILY RECORD will be issued on January 22nd, 1897, under the auspices of the Greensboro Industrial & Immigration Association. It will have a circulation of from 10,000 to 15,000 copies in North and South Carolina. It will be an eight page, 48 column paper, containing much information about the Carolinas that is new. A special feature of this edition will be the publication of three prize articles on the subject of "The Material Prosperity of the Carolinas and How to Advance It."

The following prizes for the three best articles on this subject are offered by Messrs. Wharton & McAlister, General Agents for the Southern Stock Mutual Insurance Company of Greensboro, N. C.:

First prize—$25.00 in gold for the best article.

Second prize—$15.00 in gold for the second best article.

This contest is open to any citizen of North or South Carolina under the following rules: Each article must be type-written; limited to 1,500 words; signed by assumed name; and accompanied by sealed envelope containing real name and non de plume; to be in the hands of the editors of THE DAILY RECORD, Greensboro, N. C., not later than January 10th, 1897.

Christmas and the Fatherless.

At the Orphans Home, Barium Springs, N. C., Thanksgiving day is an occasion for thanksgiving to God and to God's people. It is also a day of expectancy, because the Home is made the recipient of the thank-offerings of God's people. It is a matter of satisfaction that this year the day was so generally observed and that the donations were so liberal, especially as sickness and pressure of duties prevented the Superintendent from using the press to inform the public of the wants of the fatherless. We wish to acknowledge with thanks the kindness of all who made the Orphans Home the recipient of their offerings. May the Father of the fatherless accept their offerings and reward them abundantly. The gifts this year are not so abundant nor valuable as those of last year's season, yet our orphan household is much larger and therefore their wants greater.

Now it is desirable that there be no necessity for issuing appeals to the friends of the Home to relieve the wants of the fatherless. To prevent this it will be necessary for Christmas to be made the occasion of large additions to the support fund by cash contributions and donations in kind.

Eighty-two children gathered at the Orphan Home look to the Presbytery of the State for the supplying of all their wants. Send flour, meal, rice, sugar, molasses, meat, butter or anything that children can eat or wear to the Orphans' Home, Barium Springs, N. C., and checks to Mr. Jno. E. Oates, treasurer, Charlotte, N. C. May the Lord give His fatherless ones favor with His people.

R. W. Boye, Supt. Orphans' Home, Barium Springs, N. C.

"GREATEST ON EARTH."

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve.

Mr. R. T. Caldwell, is book-keeper in the First National Bank of Fulton, Ky.

"I was completely run down, my nerves became so unstrung through loss of sleep and worry that I felt sure I would be compelled to give up my position. I would lie awake all night long, and it took but little to shake me up so that I could not possibly attend to my business as I should. In connection with this I had liver trouble, nervousness about the stomach, and was in different parts of my body. I was so much reduced in flesh, I was permitted to try

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve.

I first procured a trial bottle from a local druggist and good results quickly followed. I then procured a dollar bottle, and by the time I had used this I was a different man. I am now on my third bottle and am able to sleep soundly and eat my food regularly. I could not possibly do before taking your Nerve. I am now fully recovered, and do not hesitate to pronounce Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve the greatest nerve on earth."

Fulton, Ky. R. T. CALDWELL.

Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1.00 bottles for $5, or will send prepaid on receipt of price by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

—HATTS & LAMB.

—Dr. A. A. Willets, one of the foremost men on the lecture platform in the United States, will return to Greensboro Saturday evening of this week and fill an engagement at the State Normal school, where he has hitherto charmed large audiences.

—The Southern's new freight depot is ready for occupancy but it will not be "dedicated" before next month, as the clerks cannot find time to move. Additional track facilities are needed at the new building for the most advantageous handling of freight, the two tracks already in place being insufficient.

—Handsome cards of invitation to the approaching marriage of Mr. Jos. J. Stone, of this city, and Miss Margaret Estella Duls, of Charlotte, were received here last week. The date of the wedding is Thursday evening, Dec. 24, at six o'clock, P. M. We most cordially tender our congratulations to the happy couple.

Reynolds and P. H. Hanes, of Winston, and A. H. Motley, of Reidsville, are among the other delegates from this section of the state.

—Ladies' Cloaks at Half Price.

—J. M. Hendrix & Co's new ad. came in too late for a change this week. They have cut the price of ladies' cloaks one-half. All winter wraps are reduced. These are wonderful bargains. Look out for their advertisement next week, but in the meantime go and see these bargains.

—Mr. Madison Ward, a respected old gentleman living three miles east of the city, died Sunday evening after a fortnight's illness. He had lived the life of a devout christian and will be much missed alike by family and friends. His funeral was conducted at Holt's chapel yesterday by Rev. Hales. Mrs. Ward preceded him to the grave only a few months.

—A delegation of business men was before the board of aldermen last Friday evening to see if the fireworks ordinance could not be modified so as to permit the sale and use of the ordinary little pop-crackers, but the board could not be induced to alter the ordinance. Conville and Proximity will have a monopoly on the fireworks and of the Christmas celebration this year.

—Several cases of petty thieving have been reported to the police recently and it would seem that this class of crime is on the increase. In most of the cases the offenders have been caught, but thefts continue. It is to be regretted that the mayor has not final jurisdiction in such cases, where there is little property involved, relieving the county of the expense of prosecution. Amendments to the city charter are needed.

—The Southern Railway has been inconvenienced the past week by a freight blockade at this point, which interfered with all classes of traffic. The track facilities between Greensboro and Salisbury are insufficient to meet requirements and it is not unlikely that a double track will be laid between these points in the spring. More freight cars were sidetracked here than ever before in the history of our roads.

—The editor of the Pinnacle Era was among the excursionists to Greensboro last Wednesday. He says in his paper Saturday: "The excursion from Mr. Airy to Greensboro on the 9th inst. was a decided success. The beautiful 'City of Flowers' is a live energetic go-ahead place and will feel the good effects of the excursion for many days to come. Quite a number of our people took tobacco there for the special sale. It brought a nice price."

—Mr. Jno. W. Merritt captured a fifteen-year-old colored sneak thief in his house on Pearson street, last Friday night about ten o'clock. The boy, Chas. Wood, had visited the house earlier in the evening on the pretext that he wanted something to eat and Mrs. Merritt noticed that he acted suspiciously. He hung around the neighborhood all evening and finally entered the house by a rear door that was left unlocked for the convenience of a servant, who happened to come in at an opportune time. Mayor Nelson sent him on to court under bond of $100.

—The North Carolina M. E. Conference acted wisely at Kinston in abandoning the proposition to establish an independent church paper at Raleigh, thereby withdrawing the support of eastern Methodists from the North Carolina Christian Advocate, the joint organ of the two conferences in this state. It was decided that a one-fourth interest in the Advocate should be purchased at a cost of $3,000, and Rev. T. N. Ivey made co-editor with Rev. Griswold at a salary of $1,500. It is best for the denomination and best for the paper that the interests of the conferences be thus harmonized.

—The Oscar Sisson Comedy Company, playing at the Academy of Music this week, ranks easily with the best of companies of the kind on the road. The Academy was packed Monday night and the general verdict of the audience indicated that the play, "The Colonel," was first class and the presentation admirable. Last night the weather was inclement but a good-sized crowd turned out, nevertheless, and all were amply repaid for braving the wind and rain. "Nannette," a sparkling comedy, was presented. The company will remain here all this week, giving an entire change of program each night. Popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

—The Westfield (Ind.) News prints the following in regard to an old resident of that place: "Frank McAvoy, for many years in the employ of the L. N. A. & C. Ry. here, says: 'I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for ten years or longer, and never without it in my family. I consider it the best remedy of the kind manufactured. I take pleasure in recommending it.' It is a specific for all bowel disorders. For sale by Richardson & Fariss, Druggists."

Superior Court Report.

The familiar scenes attending a session of Guilford Superior court are being enacted here this week.

His Honor Judge McIver presides, having recovered from the sickness that threatened to interfere with his duties here.

Mr. W. R. Davis, of High Point, is foreman of the grand jury, which will most likely be in session all week. Among other true bills returned by that body yesterday was one against Peter Williams, for rape. The prisoner was arraigned before court this morning and his hearing set for Friday. A special venire of sixty jurors was ordered. Two cases of this character will be tried at this term.

One hundred and eight cases have been docketed up to this time. Of these ten have been nolle prosequi, and in fifteen other cases the entry, "Alias capias and continued," has been made.

Monday Messrs. W. P. Ragan, W. L. Scott and C. N. McAdoo produced their licenses in court and after taking the oath prescribed were admitted to practice.

On the same day Ed. McDowell stepped into the court room with a lighted cigar in his mouth. Before he had time to think "where he was at" the judge ordered a fine of ten dollars assessed against him. Yesterday morning he was given an opportunity to explain to the court that no contempt was intended, he having come there on business with which his mind was occupied, unmindful of the fact that he was smoking. The fine was remitted.

The following cases have been tried: State vs. Southern Railway. Misemeanor (four cases); guilty; judgment suspended on payment of costs.

State vs. Sam Fulton. Carrying concealed weapons; guilty; judgment suspended.

State vs. John and Nannie Stevenson. Keeping house of ill fame; not guilty.

State vs. L. A. Carmon. Assault; guilty; judgment reserved.

State vs. Wesley Thompson. Larceny; guilty; judgment reserved.

State vs. Charles and Ed Wilkinson and Lee and Wilson Nelson. Assault; plea of guilty; $5 fine each and costs.

State vs. Gus. Culverston. Carrying concealed weapons; guilty; two months on public roads.

State vs. John Robinson, Early Cole, Leslie Allen and Joe Andrews. Forcible trespass; guilty; judgment suspended.

State vs. Julius Davis. Larceny; guilty; judgment reserved.

Apoplexy Ends the Life of a Thirteen-Year-Old Boy.

Apoplexy, one of the most fatal foes of mankind, claimed another victim here Saturday noon in the person of James Miles, a young boy just entering his teens, who was assisting his father, Mr. W. L. Miles, in the store of Strader & Miles, located on South Davis street, near Vanstory's stables. The boy came from his father's home, near Hillsdale, only a week before. When stricken he was in the rear of the store attending to his duties and someone who drove in the lot to hitch found him lying on the ground insensible. Medical aid was summoned but to no avail, the little fellow dying in a few minutes without regaining consciousness. His body was removed to a boarding house near by and his father notified. We understand he had a similar attack a few months ago, but of not near so serious a nature. Friends came Saturday evening and carried the remains home to the sorrowing parents and on Monday interment was made at Center church, near Bevil's store. James was a bright active boy, full of promise, and his death causes much sorrow among his family and friends.

—The disreputable element that frequents the "Meadow" gave another exhibition of depravity by engaging in a drunken brawl Sunday. The law seems to have lost its terrors for these characters and an arrest has come to be looked upon as a mark of distinction. Somehow the "meadow rats" seem to evade by a narrow margin offenses that are punishable in a measure commensurate with their deeds, though in most instances Mayor Nelson gives them the limit of the law. Ladies visiting the market are frequently compelled to witness most disgusting scenes and it does seem that something might be done to protect them, at least. So long as one of the police officers remains in the vicinity the place is comparatively quiet, but the minute his back is turned there is trouble. With the present force it is impossible to keep an officer detailed there permanently, but there should be some provision made for supplying one. The merchants in that vicinity will have to take the matter in hand themselves as a matter of self-protection if the city is unable to abate the nuisance.

In Memoriam.

Died at his residence, near McLeansville, Nov. 30th, 1896, Mrs. Fannie J. McLean, aged 77 years.

She was a member of Alamance Presbyterian church for forty-two years, and during that time gave the strongest evidence that she had been with Jesus and had learned of him. She followed Christ fully, was devoted to her church, helpful to her pastor, in a word she was an earnest, zealous christian, of whom it can be truly said, "She hath done what she could."

So fades a summer cloud away;
So sinks the gale when storms are o'er;
So gently sinks the eve of day;
So dies a wave along the shore.

H. D. LEQUEUX.

—The Western Union Telegraph office is undergoing improvements, particularly in the arrangement of the instruments. The entire room is now occupied.

—Mr. J. J. Phoenix has abiding faith in printer's ink, as a glance at our first page will verify. He does business on a scale in keeping with his advertising. For the Christmas trade he is making a specialty of fine fruits, particularly apples. His first apple order was for 1,000 barrels of New York state fruit, packed in the orchards and shipped direct by an association of growers in the interior of the state. Every barrel is guaranteed to contain three bushels and the price is only $1.00—the lowest ever known. Last year the same fruit sold at $4.00 per barrel. His trade up to this time has been enormous, shipments being made to all parts of the state. Car load lots of sweet oranges, bananas and cocoanuts are also to be found at his establishment. Purchasing in such quantities he gets the benefit of the lowest possible prices and his customers are benefited accordingly. He can furnish anything in the way of fruit in quantities to suit large or small purchasers.

STATE NEWS.

And now the Republicans threaten to redistrict the state if the Populists defeat Pritchard for the Senate.

Governor Carr offers $100 reward for Edward Barber who, November 25th in Rowan county, brutally murdered Robert Jones.

The twenty-first annual State convention of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet at Winston-Salem Feb. 19-22.

Ex-Congressman John M. Brower, of Mt. Airy, is willing to sacrifice himself and become Pritchard's successor in the U. S. Senate.

Mr. R. O. Patterson, clerk of the Federal court at Asheville, died Sunday at Asheville. He was a prominent figure in politics in the western part of the state.

Brown Brothers, the Winston tobaccoists who were burned out last Wednesday, resumed business Monday in another building, giving employment to four hundred hands.

Rev. William Warren Albee, Winston's oldest citizen passed peacefully away Friday night, at the advanced age of 80 years, 2 months and 3 days. At the time of his death he was the oldest member of the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference. He has been a superannuated minister since 1873.

Ex-Solicitor O. H. Allen, of Kinston, is appointed by Gov. Carr judge of the sixth judicial district to succeed Judge Edward T. Boykin. The appointment goes into effect January first. Judge Allen is a learned lawyer, upright and honest and a thorough Christian gentleman. His appointment will give general satisfaction.

The annual report to the grand lodge of Odd Fellows will show that the order has now 5,000 members in North Carolina; that there are 115 lodges, of which seven are new and one reorganized. The order has this year raised $10,000 for a new building at its orphanage at Goldsboro and this is almost ready for use.

According to the newspapers, an Ohio husband became the happy father of seven children not long ago. Of the seven all lived but one. It is to be hoped he laid in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, the only sure cure for croup, whooping-cough, colds and coughs, and so insured his children against these diseases. For sale by Richardson & Fariss, Druggists.

Tom Watson, of Georgia, late Populist candidate for vice president, has recently expressed his opinion of Senator Marion Butler in which the terms liar, traitor, coward and sneak are quite prominent. If these two eminent politicians ever get together in the "middle of the road" a monkey and parrot time will ensue.
