—West's excursion to Norfolk yesterday carried over three hundred passengers, most of whom will go on to points beyond, either to Washington or Baltimore. A number of our local business men took advantage of the cheap rates to go north and buy goods.

—A new Wallingford bicycle belonging to Mr. Fred P. Albright was stolen from the front porch of Mrs. Bettie Houston's residence last Wednesday evening while the family was at supper. It had been ridden but five or six times. A reasonable reward will be paid for its return.

—Mrs. Margaret M. Berry, a trained nurse, and others will establish a public hospital in the new Yates property, on Church street, about the first of September. Mrs. Berry has many friends here who are cognizant of her ability as a nurse and will be glad to see her at the head of a first class hospital.

—Every man who favors good government in North Carolina should participate in the convention Saturday. Every man who is willing to help redeem the state from the grasp of incompetent corruptionists will be welcomed and given a voice in the nomination of candidates for the various offices.

—Mr. G. H. Parker, of Hinton, was among our callers Monday. He gave us to understand that the people down his way are in no immediate fear of famine. Their granaries are bursting, fruits are abundant and evidences of plenty are to be seen everywhere. The Great Giver should not be forgotten in this time.

—We received reports of but three township primaries in time for publication this week and inasmuch as the county convention is so near at hand we will withhold publication of the nominations made and include them in a complete report next week. So far as we can learn there was but little "instructing" throughout the county.

—Baltimore jobbers have found a way to evade the stamp tax on bank checks. A prominent house there recently wrote a Greensboro merchant that in that case the latter wanted to make remittances to other houses there to send the names and include the amounts in one check and the same would be delivered without charge.

—Striped hemp carpet 16 cents and nice cottage carpet 25 and 30 cents; new lot good grain carpets 40, 45 and 55 cents a yard, at Thacker & Brockmann's. We also carry a good stock of curtains and window shades, floor and table oil cloth, table linens, counterpanes, ready made sheets and pillow cases, towels, etc., etc., all of which we sell at very close prices for cash.

—There's work for two health officers in Greensboro. One man cannot keep a city of this size as clean as it should be kept in "dog days." We believe one officer ought to be on duty at night, when various and sundry stinks are discernable that have no place in the nostrils of men in the daytime. There is pestilence lurking in the air that floats over portions of the city at night.

—The Greensboro Rent-Purchase Society, a mutual concern, was organized Saturday evening by the selection of the following officers: President, J. W. Lindau; vice president, D. G. Devenish; secretary and treasurer, E. I. Pool; directors, J. W. Lindau, E. I. Pool, D. G. Devenish, M. T. Kase, O. D. Boycott, E. L. Steut and R. I. Katz. About six thousand dollars worth of stock has been taken.

—Mr. Ed. O. Lamb, a son of Mr. Jesse Lamb, of Jamestown, died of consumption Monday evening at the residence of his brother, Mr. Chas. L. Lamb, on the South Side. Mr. Lamb has been in declining health for some time. He came here for treatment and became too ill to go home. He was an exemplary young man and died triumphant in the assurance of a Redeemer's saving grace. His remains were carried to Rehoboth church yesterday afternoon for interment.

—Officer Jordan arrested Gailther Gibbs, colored, Saturday on a warrant charging him with larceny. Gibbs has been a driver for W. F. Clegg & Bro. for some time and had recently contracted the bad habit of stealing green hides from the firm and selling them. One that he had sent to Mr. J. J. Phoenix caused his undoing. He readily confessed the crime and said he was trying to get enough money that way to buy some winter clothes. The county will furnish him with a suit on which the stripes run horizontally.

—We hope false pride will not keep men from the Democratic convention Saturday whose inclinations and convictions prompt them to act with the party, but are restrained by their having once turned their backs upon it. A favorable time to renew allegiance to the party comes with the convention, when everyone willing to support the ticket can have a voice in its creation. We know a number of good men in Guilford whom we firmly believe would gladly be classed as Democrats today had they not wandered after strange political gods.

—Mr. Chas. L. Corl returned Sunday night from Salisbury where he attended the funeral of a cousin, Capt. Wm. Mowery, a railroad man, who was killed near Cleveland Friday, being struck on the head by an overhead bridge. Capt. Mowery was one of the most popular men on the Western road. A peculiar circumstance in connection with his death was that on Thursday night Mr. Corl dreamed that another cousin, a brother to Mr. Mowery, was dead. The dream impressed him so strongly that he was on the point of writing to Salisbury to learn if misfortune had befallen the family when a telegram came announcing Capt. Mowery's death.

—A nifty theft was attempted at the Carolina Shoe Co.'s store Monday morning. Two strange negroes entered the store and asked to be shown some shoes. The only clerk on duty at the time, Banks Boon, showed them some shoes that apparently suited their fancy, for one of the men grabbed a pair and made a break for the street, with Banks a close second. Before reaching Houston's alley, down which he turned, the thief dropped the shoes. Some one on a bike chased him into a patch of corn east of the market and which enabled him to successfully elude his pursuer. Had there been anyone else about the store Mr. Boon would have given the fellow a chase and landed him. Of course the other darkey professed innocence of any intended participation in the crime.

An Evaporating Plant to be Established Here This Month.

Mention was made last week of the possibility of an apple evaporating plant being established here. It affords us pleasure to announce that the enterprise can be considered a certainty.

Messrs. De Wolf & Christiansen, of New York, the promoters of the enterprise, have been here several days looking over the field and they consider the conditions favorable. They have leased the Crown cotton mill building on East Washington street and will fit it up at once to meet their requirements, hoping to have everything in readiness to begin evaporating and drying fruit not later than the first of September. In another column they advertise for second and third grade apples, which they will receive on and after Aug. 24th. They want every apple grower in this section of the state to market their crop here. The plant will be in operation all through the season and the managers scarcely expect to place any limit on the market.

The advantages of an unlimited apple market utilizing the secondary grades of fruit are hardly to be computed. Many farmers have told us that they expected quantities of their apples to be a total loss, as the crop is so large, but with an evaporating plant of great capacity here paying cash prices for apples and higher prices than are ordinarily paid by brandy distillers there is an opportunity to dispose of the crop at a fair price. All those having apples ready to market would do well to call on Messrs. De Wolf & Christiansen at the Crown Mills or Clegg's Hotel, bringing samples if convenient. Prices will be governed by the quality of the fruit offered.

—John Greeson, a colored man about forty-five years old and married, living near Pomona, where he owned a home, was struck by the Winston train and instantly killed Friday evening as he was walking homeward along the track about a mile west of the city. His body was thrown a distance of twenty or thirty feet, the cross-piece in front of the engine striking him squarely in the breast. Greeson was an industrious man and worked for several years in the Pomona nurseries. His only fault was that he would get drunk occasionally. He was seen about some of the saloons here just a few hours prior to his death. The remains were brought to the city for examination and afterward carried to Pomona by the railroad company.

A Good Suggestion.

EDITOR PATRIOT:—I beg to suggest to the Democratic convention of Guilford county the name of Mr. Walter H. McLean, of Jefferson township, for the office of County Treasurer. Mr. McLean is a gentleman of ability, has long been a faithful party worker, and is a life-long Democrat. He will fill the position with credit to himself and the party in case of election. He will add strength to the ticket, and I trust will be nominated in the approaching convention.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. RISE INTO SUNSHINE.

REV. DR. TALMAGE PREACHES A SERMON TO THE TROUBLED.

Seek Christ For Consolation When Sorely Pressed by the Trials of Life—A Helpful Lesson Drawn From Jonathan's Victory Over Difficulties.

[Copyright, 1938, by American Press Association.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—This discourse of Dr. Talmage is full of encouragement for those who know not which way to turn because of accumulated misfortunes; text, I Samuel xiv, 4, "There was a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

The cruel army of the Philistines must be taken and scattered. There is just one man, accompanied by his bodyguard, to do that thing. Jonathan is the hero of the scene. I know that David cracked the skull of the giant with a few pebbles well slung, and that 300 Gibeonites scattered 10,000 Amalekites by the crash of broken crockery, but here is a more wonderful conflict. Yonder are the Philistines on the rocks. Here is Jonathan with his bodyguard in the valley. On the one side is a rock called Bozez; on the other side is a rock called Seneh. These two were as famous in olden times as in modern times are Plymouth Rock and Gibraltar. They were precipitous, unscalable and sharp. Between these two rocks Jonathan must make his ascent. The day comes for the scaling of the height. Jonathan, on his hands and feet, begins the ascent. With strain and slip and bruise, I suppose, but still on and up, first goes Jonathan, and then goes his bodyguard. Bozez on one side, Seneh on the other. After a sharp tug and push and clinging I see the head of Jonathan above the hole in the mountain, and there is a challenge and a fight and a supernatural consternation. These two men, Jonathan and his bodyguard, drive back and drive down the Philistines over the rocks and open a campaign which demolishes the enemies of Israel. I suppose that the overhanging and overshadowing rocks on either side did not balk or dishearten Jonathan or his bodyguard, but only roused and filled them with enthusiasm as they went up. "There was a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

When Calamity Comes.

My friends, you have been or are now some of you in this crisis of the text. If a man meets one trouble, he can go through with it. He gathers all his energies, concentrates them on one point, and in the strength of God or by his own natural determination goes through it. But the man who has trouble to the right of him and trouble to the left of him is to be pitied. Did either trouble come alone he might endure it, but two troubles, two disasters, two overshadowing misfortunes, are Bozez and Seneh. God pity him. "There is a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

In this crisis of the text is that man whose fortune and health fail him at the same time. Nine-tenths of all our merchants capsize in business before they come to 45 years of age. There is some collision in commercial circles, and they stop payment. It seems as if every man must put his name on the back of a note before he learns what a fool a man is who risks all his own property on the prospect that some man will tell the truth. It seems as if a man must have a large amount of unsalable goods on his own shelf before he learns how much easier it is to buy than to sell. It seems as if every man must be completely burned out before he learns the importance of always keeping fully insured. It seems as if every man must be wrecked in a financial tempest before he learns to keep things snug in case of a sudden euroclydon.

When the calamity does come, it is awful. The man goes home in despair, and he tells his family, "We'll have to go to the poorhouse." He takes a dolorous view of everything. It seems as if he never could rise. But a little time passes, and he says, "Why, I am not so badly off after all; I have my family left."

Before the Lord turned Adam out of paradise he gave him Eve, so that when he lost paradise he could stand it. Permit one who has never read but a few novels in all his life, and who has not a great deal of romance in his composition, to say that if when a man's fortunes fail he has a good wife—a good Christian wife—he ought not to be despondent. "Oh," you say, "that only increases the embarrassment, since you have her also to take care of." You are an ingrate, for the woman as often supports the man as the man supports the woman. The man may bring all the dollars, but the woman generally brings the courage and the faith in God.

A New Chapter.

Well, this man of whom I am speaking looks around, and he finds his family is left, and he rallies, and the light comes to his eyes, and the smile to his face, and the courage to his heart. In two years he is quite over it. He makes his financial calamity the first chapter in a new era of prosperity. He met that one trouble—conquered it. He sat down for a little while under the grim shadow of the rock Bozez, yet he soon rose, and began, like Jonathan, to climb. But how often is it that physical ailment comes with financial embarrassment! When the fortune failed, it broke the man's spirit. His nerves were shattered. His brain was stunned. I can show you hundreds of men in our cities whose fortune and health failed at the same time. They came prematurely to the staff. Their hand trembled with incipient paralysis. They never saw a well day since the hour when they called their creditors together for a compromise. If such men are impatient and peculiar and irritable, excuse them. They had two troubles, either one of which they could have met successfully. If, when the health went, the fortune had been retained, it would not have been so bad. The man could have bought the very best medical advice, and he could have had the very best attendance, and long lines of carriages would have stopped at the front door to inquire as to his welfare. But poverty on the one side and sickness on the other are Bozez and Seneh, and they interlock their shadows and drop them upon the poor man's way. God help him! "There is a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

Now, what is such a man to do? In the name of Almighty God, I will tell him what to do. Do as Jonathan did—climb; climb up into the sunlight of God's favor and consolation. I can go through the churches and show you men who lost fortune and health at the same time and yet who sing all day and dream of heaven all night. If you have any idea that sound digestion and steady nerves and clear eyesight and good hearing and plenty of friends are necessary to make a man happy, you have miscalculated. I suppose that these overhanging rocks only made Jonathan scramble the harder and the faster to get up and out into the sunlight, and this combined shadow of invalidism and financial embarrassment has often sent a man up the quicker into the sunlight of God's favor and the noonday of his glorious promises.

When God Is Sought.

It is a difficult thing for a man to feel his dependence upon God when he has $10,000 in the bank and $50,000 in government securities and a block of stores and three ships. "Well," the man says to himself, "it is silly for me to pray, 'Give me this day my daily bread,' when my pantry is full and the canals from the west are crowded with breadstuffs destined for my storehouses." Oh, my friends, if the combined misfortunes and disasters of life have made you climb up into the arms of a sympathetic and compassionate God, through all eternity you will bless him that in this world "there was a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

Again, that man is in the crisis of the text who has home troubles and outside persecution at the same time. The world treats a man well just as long as it pays to treat him well. As long as it can manufacture success out of his bone and brain and muscle it favors him. The world fattens the horse it wants to drive. But let a man see it his duty to cross the track of the world, then every bush is full of horns and tusks thrust at him. They will belittle him. They will caricature him. They will call his generosity self-aggrandizement and his piety sanctimoniousness. The very worst persecution will sometimes come upon him from those who profess to be Christians.

John Milton—great and good John Milton—so far forgot himself as to pray in so many words that his enemies might be eternally thrown down into the darkest and deepest gulf of hell and be the undermost and most dejected and the lowest down vassals of perdition. And Martin Luther so far forgot himself as to say in regard to his theological opponents, "Put them in whatever sauce you please, roasted, or fried, or baked, or stewed, or boiled, or hashed, they are nothing but asses." Ah, my friends, if John Milton or Martin Luther could come down to such scurrilous what may you not expect from less elevated opponents? Now, sometimes the world takes after them; the newspapers take after them; public opinion takes after them, and the unfortunate man is lied about until all the dictionary of Billingsgate is exhausted on him. You often see a man whom you know to be good and pure and honest set upon by the world and mauled by whole communities, while vicious men take on a supercilious air in condemnation of him, as though Lord Jeffreys should write an essay on gentleness or Henry VIII talk about purity or King Herod take to blessing little children.

An Inspiration.

Now, a certain amount of persecution rouses a man's defiance, stirs his blood for magnificent battle and makes him 50 times more a man than he would have been without the persecution. So it was with the great reformer when he said, "I will not be put down; I will be heard." And so it was with Millard, the preacher, in the time of Louis XI. When Louis XI sent word to him that unless he stopped preaching in that style he would throw him into the river, he replied, "Tell the king that I will reach heaven sooner by water than he will reach it by fast horses." A certain amount of persecution is a tonic and inspiration, but too much of it and too long continued becomes the rock Bozez throwing a dark shadow over a man's life. What is he to do, then? Go home, you say. Good advice that. That is just the place for a man to go when the world abuses him. Go home. Blessed be God for our quiet and sympathetic homes! But there is many a man who has the reputation of having a home when he has none. Through unthink- ingness or precipitation there are many matches made that ought never to have been made. An officiating priest cannot alone unite a couple. The Lord Almighty must proclaim banns. There are many homes in which there is no sympathy and no happiness and no good cheer. The clamor of the battle may not have been heard outside, but God knows, notwithstanding all the playing of the "Wedding March," and all the odor of the orange blossoms, and the benediction of the officiating pastor, there has been no marriage. So sometimes men have awakened to find on one side of them the rock of persecution and on the other side of them the rock of domestic infelicity. What shall such a one do? Do as Jonathan did—climb. Get up the heights of God's consolation, from which you may look down in triumph upon outside persecution and home trouble. While good and great John Wesley was being silenced by the magistrates and having his name written on the board fences of London in doggerel, at that very time his wife was making him as miserable as she could, acting as though she were possessed by the devil, as I suppose she was, never doing him a kindness until the day she ran away, so that he wrote in his diary these words; "I did not forsake her; I have not dismissed her; I will not recall her." Planting one foot upon outside persecution and the other foot on home trouble, John Wesley climbed up into the heights of Christian joy, and, after preaching 40,000 sermons and traveling 270,000 miles, reached the heights of heaven, though in this world he had it hard enough—"a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other."

Glorious Promise.

Again, that woman stands in the crisis of the text who has bereavement and a struggle for a livelihood at the same time. Without mentioning names I speak from observation. Ah, it is a hard thing for a woman to make an honest living, even when her heart is not troubled and she has a fair cheek and the magnetism of an exquisite presence. But now the husband or the father is dead. The expenses of the obsequies have absorbed all that was left in the savings bank, and, wan and wasted with weeping and watching, she goes forth—a grave, a hearse, a coffin behind her—to contend for her existence and the existence of her children. When I see such a battle as that open, I shudder at the ghastliness of the spectacle. Men sit with embroidered slippers and write heartless essays about women's wages, but that question is made up of tears and blood, and there is more blood than tears. Oh, give woman free access to all the realms where she can get a livelihood, from the telegraph office to the pulpit. Let men's wages be cut down before hers are cut down. Men have iron in their souls and can stand it. Make the way free to her of the broken heart. May God put into my hand the cold, bitter cup of privation and give me nothing but a windowless hut for shelter for many years rather than that after I am dead there should go out from my home into the pitiless world a woman's arm to fight the Gettysburg, the Austerlitz, the Waterloo of life for bread. And yet how many women there are seated between the rock of bereavement on the one side and the rock of destitution on the other. Bozez and Seneh interlocking their shadows and dropping them upon her miserable way. "There is a sharp rock on the one side, and a sharp rock on the other side."

What are such to do? Somehow let them climb up into the heights of the glorious promise, "Leave thy fatherless children, I will preserve them alive and let thy widows trust in me." Or get up into the heights of that other glorious promise, "The Lord preserveth the stranger and relieth the widow and the fatherless." Oh, ye sewing women, on starving wages! Oh, ye widows, turned out from the once beautiful home! Oh, ye female teachers, kept on niggardly stipend! Oh, ye despairing women, seeking in vain for work, wandering along the docks and thinking to throw yourselves into the river last night! Oh, ye women of weak nerves, and aching sides, and short breath, and broken heart, you need something more than human sympathy, you need the sympathy of God. Climb up into his arms. He knows it all, and he loves you more than father or mother or husband ever could or ever did, and instead of sitting down, wringing your hands in despair, you had better begin to climb. There are heights of consolation for you, though now "there is a sharp rock on one side, and a sharp rock on the other side."

An Invitation.

Again, that man is in the crisis of the text who has a wasted life on the one side and an unilluminated eternity on the other. Though a man may all his life have cultured deliberation and self poise, if he gets into that position, all his self possession is gone. There are all the wrong thoughts of his existence, all the wrong deeds, all the wrong words—strata above strata, granitic, ponderous, overshadowing. That rock I call Bozez. On the other side are all the retributions of the future, the thrones of judgment, the eternal ages, angry with his long defiance. That rock I call Seneh. Between these two rocks 10,000 times 10,000 have perished.

O man immortal, man redeemed, man blood bought, climb up out of those shadows! Climb up by the way of the cross. Have your wasted life fornic and have your eternal life secured. This hour just take one look to the past and see what it has been, and take one look to the future and see what it threatens to be. You can afford to lose your health, you can afford to lose your property, you can afford to lose your reputation, but you cannot afford to lose your soul. That bright, gleaming, glorious, precious, eternal possession you must carry aloft in the day when the earth burns up and the heavens burst.

You see from my subject that when a man gets into the safety and peace of the gospel he does not demean himself. There is nothing in religion that leads to meanness or unmanliness. The gospel of Jesus Christ only asks you to climb as Jonathan did—climb toward God, climb toward heaven, climb into the sunshine of God's favor. To become a Christian is not to go meekly down; it is to come gloriously up—up into the communion of saints; up into the peace that passeth all understanding; up into the companionship of angels. He lives upward; he dies upward.

Oh, then, accept the wholesale invitation which I make this day to all the people! Come up from between your invalidism and financial embarrassments. Come up from between your bereavements and your destitution. Come up from between a wasted life and an unilluminated eternity. Like Jonathan, climb up with all your might, instead of sitting down to wring your hands in the shadow and in the darkness—"a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

A Good Eastern Man.

EDITOR PATRIOT:—As the time is near at hand for holding the Democratic convention—in fact, but a few days off, it behooves us all who have the welfare of our people at heart, to consider well what is best to be done. To make success doubly sure it is necessary to have a thoroughly clean ticket. Far be it from me that the party has ever made any other kind, but every man on it must be in thorough accord to insure success, and while I disclaim any intention of drawing the line, the locality should be weighed. I agree with the views of "Justice" in your last issue. The preponderance of the offices have been held in the central and western portion of the county, while the east has been rolling up majorities for the ticket placed by the convention. Now after this prologue, "name your man." Well, taking all things into consideration as regards fitness for the place and locality, we have him in the person of W. P. McLean, (just a little east but not enough to hurt), as a suitable candidate for Superior court clerk. Mr. McLean has served two terms as county surveyor, both times nominated by the Democratic convention, and just two years ago led the ticket composed of good and able men. I know that other names will be before the convention for this nomination, but there will be none that can poll more votes than Perry McLean. Give it to McLean and there will be one less radical officeholder in old Guilford.

BOURBON.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by C. E. Holton.

THE WAR IS OVER.

PROTOCOL SIGNED BY REPRESENTATIVES

Of the United States and Spain and Suspension of Hostilities Ordered -- President's Proclamation Herewith the Close of the War Signed in the Presence of French Ambassador Immediately After the Signing of the Protocol.

Washington, D. C., August 12.—An official statement for press publication stating that the provision of the peace protocol was read and approved at the cabinet session today. It was presented by Secretary Day, the purpose being to make it public immediately after the required signatures had been affixed to the protocol. It does not give details of the document, but details the main points and provisions, which are as follows:

1. That Spain will relinquish all claim of sovereignty over and title to Cuba.

2. That Porto Rico and other Spanish islands in the West Indies and an island in the Ladronez to be selected by the United States shall be ceded to the latter.

3. That the United States will occupy and hold the city, bay and harbor of Manila, pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace which shall determine the control, disposition and government of the Philippines.

4. That Cuba, Porto Rico and other Spanish islands in the West Indies shall be immediately evacuated and that commissioners to be appointed within ten days, shall, within thirty days from the signing of the protocol, meet at Havana and San Juan, respectively, to arrange and execute the details of the evacuation.

5. That the United States and Spain will each appoint not more than five commissioners to negotiate and conclude a treaty of peace. The commissioners are to meet at Paris not later than the first of October.

6. On the signing of the protocol, hostilities will be suspended and notice to that effect will be given as soon as possible by each government to the commanders of its military and naval forces.

As soon as the peace protocol was signed the President sent for Secretary Alger and Long and General Corbin and by his direction orders to cease hostilities forthwith were sent to Gen. Miles, Gen. Merritt and Gen. Shafter, to Admiral Dewey, and Admiral Sampson and military commanders generally.

SUSPENDING HOSTILITIES.
The order sent to General Merritt to suspend hostilities was as follows:

"Adjutant General's office, Washington, August 12, 1898.
"Merritt, Manila.
"The President directs that all military operations against the enemy be suspended. Peace negotiations are being completed, a protocol having been signed by representatives of the two countries. You will inform the commanders of the Spanish forces in the Philippines of these instructions. Further orders will follow. Acknowledge receipt.

"By order of the Secretary of War. (Signed) "H. C. CORBIN, Adjutant General.

The orders sent to General Miles and General Shafter were identical with the above save as to names.
As the order states further instructions will be sent to each general, General Merritt will be directed to confer with the Spanish commandant at Manila to carry out the terms of the protocol and to occupy Manila immediately. General Miles will put himself in communication with the chief authority in Porto Rico for the purpose of having the Spanish forces taken over San Juan and other points in preparation to evacuation.

Orders to General Shafter to be sent hereafter will be much different than those to other generals.

The navy department is also preparing orders to all commanders on lines similar to the war department order.

The President has issued the following proclamation:

"By the President of the United States of America:
"A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, by a protocol concluded and signed August 12, 1898, by William R. Day, Secretary of the United States, and His Excellency, Jules Cambon, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the Republic of France at Washington, respectively agreeing for this purpose the government of the United States and the government of Spain, the United States and Spain have formally agreed upon terms on which negotiations for the establishment of peace between the two countries shall be undertaken.

And whereas, it is in said protocol agreed upon its conclusion and that hostilities between the two countries shall be suspended, and that a final effect shall be given as soon as possible by each government to the commanders of its military and naval forces.

Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, President of the United States, do hereby declare and proclaim on the part of the United States a suspension of hostilities, and do hereby command that orders be immediately given through the proper channels to the commanders of the military and naval forces of the United States to abstain from all acts inconsistent with this proclamation.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this 12th day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand and eight hundred and ninety-eight, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-third.

"WILLIAM McKINLEY, "By the President, "WILLIAM R. DAY, "Secretary of State."

A copy of the proclamation has been cabled to our army and navy commanders. Spain will cable her commanders like instructions.

STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS

Returned to the House of His Father.

Stephen A. Douglas, of Illinois, was a giant in his day. Of course all know that he was a Democrat until his death, though his sympathies were all on the side of the North during the war. His two sons, Judge Robert M. Douglas, of our Supreme court, and Stephen A. Jr., who figured in politics in this State several years after the war, became Republicans in their youth, and have remained so ever since.

But Stephen A. Jr., has at last had the scales to fall from his eyes, and seeing the tendency of the Republican party, has thrown off the shackles which have bound him during a long and not inconspicuous life, and returns to the home of his father, the home of his birth, the Democratic party. We will let the Chicago Record give the particulars:

"Stephen A. Douglas has left the Republican party. He says that the Allen law was the straw that broke the camel's back. Yesterday the veteran of many a contest for the party of Lincoln came into the Democracy headquarters with his former enemy, Stephen D. May, took a chair and announced that he was at home there. Those who remembered his activity in the Washburne campaign, his service as city attorney under the Republican administration and his active partisanship for years could not understand his meaning.

"By way of explanation Mr. Douglas drew from his pocket a typewritten document, which he said contained his reason for changing parties late in life. The text of it follows:

"For years I have been considered by Republicans as doctrinally unsound, because I really believe that this could be a government of the people, by the people and strictly for the people. This was the reason, without doubt, why I was not permitted by the machine to make a single speech in the State of Illinois during the campaign of 1896, though this year, under date of July 28th, the Republican State central committee honored me with a request to take the stump for them.

"Of late years the tendency of the Republican party has been to fasten this government under the control of trusts and monopolies. The tendency of the Democratic party has been to curtail the power of money and place the government in the hands of the mass of the people. I not only believe that this should be so, but I also firmly believe that the only thing that can prevent this country from being wealth-ridden on the one hand and mob-ridden on the other is that the government shall be in the hands of the plain people.

"All my life my sympathies have been with the people (having been taught this by the two men I honor above all, my father and Mr. Lincoln), and to day I believe my proper place is in the Democratic party, and there I shall abide."

Mr. Douglas is right. Between Butlerism on one hand and Republicanism on the other, the great Democratic party must stand as an impregnable barrier—a protection alike of the people and their government against "mob-spirit" of the one, and the over-reaching oppression and plutocracy of the other. The Democratic party is the great conserving force which must save the free institutions of this Western Republic.—Raleigh Post.

THOUGHT IT A PEACE OMEN.

A Butterfly Settled on the Muzzle of a Cannon Just After It Had Been Fired.

KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 10.—The tug Uncas, commanded by Lieut. F. R. Brainard, returned here this morning after another exciting fortnight of blockade duty on the north Cuban coast. The Uncas, which has been dubbed "the flagship of the mosquito fleet," holds the record of the three smaller boats for continuous blockade service and interesting experiences. She carries Cuban expeditions and lands them almost under the enemy's guns. She chases almost anything from a raft to a battleship and occupies spare moments by knocking over Spanish block-houses and capturing prizes.

While lying off Matanzas a day or two ago the Uncas was fired upon. She was within two miles of the shore when, without any warning, a sand battery of six or eight-inch guns began firing shells at her. Fully twenty of these missiles fell around the tug within a radius of a hundred yards before she could get out of range. As she steamed away the Uncas returned the fire with her three six-pounders.

Then occurred a little incident illustrating the superstitions of seamen. The last shell from the Uncas' stem gun had just screamed its way across the waters when a gaudy-winged butterfly, which had blown off the shore, hovered over the still smoking gun and settled down on its grim muzzle.

A horny-fisted Irishman, who manned the gun, saw it, threw up his hands and shouted to Lieutenant Brainard:

"Say, Captain, that settled it. That's the last shot we'll fire in this war."

And there is not a man on the tug who is not thoroughly convinced that the butterfly's visit was a sure forerunner of peace.

On her latest trip the Uncas put ashore another expedition for Gomez and had a dangerous fire in her hold, just above the magazine. In spite of all this, she looked none the worse when she steamed into Key West harbor today for more coal and provisions.

When the Uncas left here two weeks ago she carried Captain Stable, of Gomez's staff, with six other Cubans, and five hundred Remington carbines and ammunition for the insurgent forces. These were delivered.

Unhappy Wilmington.

According to the testimony of our truthful and conservative Wilmington contemporaries, the situation of affairs in that city is deplorable and alarming. Due to a municipal government which is, to say no more, weak and inefficient; to a police force which is incompetent, if not in sympathy with the lawless element, crime of every kind runs riot and the city is at the mercy of burglars, thugs and hoodlums. It was not so when the Democrats had control of the State and of the Wilmington city government—the new state of affairs is one of the fruits of "reform." Our chief seaport city is officered by black men and worse white men, creatures of Governor Russell, whose hand is ever against the respectability of the State and whose heart is doubtless filled with delight on account of the punishment suffered by a people whom he hates in particular because it is they who know him best and consequently hate him most.

If we North Carolinians are indeed brethren, bound together by a common tie, it is our duty to forget theoretical politics and unite not only for the rescue of communities like Wilmington from a condition approaching anarchy, but to avert from ourselves possible calamities such as these communities are doomed to at least a time to endure. We must carry the Legislature this year, in order to give to the people of these eastern communities and counties local governments under which they can live, and not only so, but to insure that we of the west are not ourselves reduced to their condition.—Charlotte Observer.

THE FLAGSHIP SAN FRANCISCO

Fired Upon by the Havana Batteries and Was Badly Damaged—No One Injured—The Spaniards Had the Range and Were Grimly in Earnest in Their Last Efforts to Wreak Vengeance on Their Mighty Enemy.

KEY WEST, Fla., Aug. 13, 9 p. m.—The flagship San Francisco and monitor Miantonomah and the auxiliary yacht Sylvia were fired upon by the Havana batteries shortly before five o'clock yesterday morning. One ten or twelve-inch shell struck the San Francisco's stern as she turned to get out of range, and tore a hole about a foot in diameter, completely wrecking Commodore Howell's quarters and smashing his book case to fragments. Nobody was injured and, being under orders not to attack the batteries, the ships retreated as fast as their engines would carry them.

The flagship and the Sylvia lay parallel to each other not more than ten miles from Morro Castle, and separated from each other by a distance of between three-eighths and on-quarter of a mile. The Miantonomah lay about three-quarters of a mile to the rear of the others. All were within range of the Spanish batteries and the temptation was too strong to be resisted.

While the ships of the Havana blockade squadron have been keeping at a distance of six miles or more during daylight they have been accustomed to drawing in much closer at night. Morro Castle light has burned steadily throughout, serving as a good beacon for the American ships.

Thursday evening the warships of the squadron immediately off Havana were the San Francisco, Sylvia and the Miantonomah, and with nightfall they drew in closer to the shore than ever before and took positions as before stated. All night the ships rolled at their stations with lights out, according to the blockade regulations. Another twelve hours of dreary duty had passed with the same unvarying monotony, and what happened soon afterwards was as unexpected as it was welcome. The first glimmer of dawn was breaking through the eastern skies when without an instant's warning the lookout on the flagship saw a jet of smoke puff from one of Morro's big guns. Almost before he could pull himself together sufficiently to make a report of the incident ten and twelve-inch shells were screaming all around the ship.

The Spaniards had the range and apparently were grimly in earnest in their last efforts to wreak injury on their too mighty enemy. It was, however, almost as futile an effort as in every preceding struggle. Shells fell between the San Francisco and Sylvia some fell short, a few went over them, and still others fell short. The flagship signalled the Sylvia to get out of range without delay and both ships swung round and made for the sea. It was then that the shell struck the San Francisco's stern and sent its fragments into the after cabin, wrecking Commodore Howell's library. The Commodore was on deck with Captain Leary when the shell struck.

The Miantonomah was in less danger than the other two ships, being farther out to sea; but when the firing commenced they all moved out three miles. Here the men on the flagship were speedily put to work patching the ragged hole which a shell had torn in the San Francisco's stern. The damage was found to be trifling.

All the shells fired at the vessels were from ten or twelve-inch guns, and they were exactly twenty-two in number. As they fell around the ships one of the Sylvia's men stood calmly on the deck of the yacht, watch in hand, and counted them. Morro Castle fired several of the missiles, but how many is not known. The others came from two sand batteries east of Morro.

The firing lasted twenty minutes. No attempt was made to return the fire, the blockading squadron being under specific orders not to make any sort of demonstration against Havana partaking of the nature of an attack. Even if such had not been the case it would have been almost suicidal for the three ships, one of them a yacht, to have faced such odds as the land batteries offered. The big turret guns of the Miantonomah and the San Francisco's main battery of six-inch guns could have done much damage, but the Spaniards had the range, and to attempt to combat the almost impregnable fortifications of Havana would have been hopeless.

The one-sided engagement had scarcely ended when Captain Beller was given a packet of private documents which he was ordered to take into Havana under a flag of truce. This was done without incident, the Sylvia delivering them to the officer of the Spanish gunboat Martin y Pinzon.

The big Spanish steam-Atlantic liner Montserrat is still bottled up in Matanzas harbor.

TROUBLE EXPECTED IN CUBA.

May Have to Whip the Insurgents—Rabid Orators and Breeders of Sedition and Rebellion Getting in Their Work.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Aug. 15, 11.15 a. m.—Trouble with the Cubans is breeding. Their attitude is one of sullen hostility toward Americans. The better class in Cuba favor the annexation of the island to the United States and a majority of the masses are ready and anxious to work and accept the shelter and protection afforded by an American protectorate; but they are influenced by a certain class of rabid orators and breeders of sedition and rebellion against anything smacking of law and order. This inflammatory class demands and urges the recognition of Cubans, and spurs all offers or suggestions tending to prosperity under an American protectorate, and excites popular discontent. This is exactly the class that pushes itself most into evidence and whose views and opinions are most overheard and published.

Their advice to the Cubans is to repudiate all offers of peace or a cessation of hostilities, and to look upon an armistice as an agreement between the United States and Spain on their own account and not binding upon the free and independent State of Cuba, whose liberating army not only repudiates pacification, but will ignore the armistice to the point of continuing to wage war and shooting every Spaniard in the field. A wild rumor is afloat to the effect that the Cuban army will attack Santiago and capture it, to the glory of the Cuban arms, as soon as the American garrison is weakened. This is directly traceable to the above mentioned source.

The influence exerted by such a body of men against law and order is formidable. This hysterical people demand suppression with an iron hand. While still in embryo, this influence is already felt among certain classes, who refuse to work or serve the government until a clear statement of the freedom and independence of their country is made.

A knowledge of this condition is imperative to the moulding of future policy and to explain whatever harsh steps may be rendered necessary in dealing with the insurgents.

THE POPE'S END IS NEAR.

Commotion, Excitement and Intrigue Among Members of the Sacred College.

ROME, Aug. 14.—The Pope's extreme weakness has produced a great commotion, excitement and intrigue among the members of the Sacred College. It is reported that France, Germany and Austria, being chiefly concerned in the accession of the papacy, have ordered their representatives not to leave Rome. Dr. Lapponi, the Pope's physician, thinks there is no danger, if the Pope is able to pull through the hot weather. All the members of the family of the Pope have hurried to Rome. His Holiness on Friday insisted upon getting up, but soon had to be carried to bed again, in a state of partial collapse. He does not suffer from any specific affection, but only from debility.

Secretary Day to be Appointed Judge.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 12.—A special to The Commercial from Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Secretary Day will be appointed United States judge for the Sixth district as soon as he resigns from the cabinet at the close of the war. This was learned from the most reliable authorities today."

ADAMS FOR JUDGE.

Will He Later Accept the Congressional Nomination?—Brynum Hopes That He Will and Settle Hopes That He Will Not.

GRAHAM, Aug. 13.—The great gold standard American Tobacco Trust still reigns and rules the Fifth judicial and congressional district. Tommie Settle, the Duke's candidate for Congress, seems now to have a cinch on the nomination.

The Fifth judicial district, comprising the counties of Alamance, Caswell, Chatham, Durham, Granville, Guilford, Orange, Person and Stokes, met here today and renominated by acclamation Spencer B. Adams, of Caswell, for judge, and W. P. Brynum, of Guilford, for solicitor. To say that machinery was greased for the occasion is putting it mildly, for indeed it ran so fast and smoothly that the colored delegates seemed almost being ignored, for a Guilford con went to nominate the Hon. W. P. Brynum for solicitor and should have been recognized by the chair, as he was up long before the successful "nominator" arose to nominate "the best solicitor the State ever had and the peer of any campaigner," so the con had to be content with a second to the nomination.

This seemed to rile the colored "gemmen" from Granville, Henry Clay, for when the executive committee was being appointed and not a single negro was named, Clay could stand it no longer, and threw consternation into the camp when he arose and said he stood there the representative of the rising Ethiopian race and demanded recognition on this "judicious" committee. He told them that he represented 1,900 negro voters of Granville county and that there was only 150 white Republicans, and that "if you do not mind us now you certainly will need us in November." This was too much for Waller, of Alamance, so he went to the rescue and told him, I suppose it was all a mistake about the political department of the Agricultural Department being abolished and he might get a keeper's place, which was more than any ordinary daykey could stand, and of course he became reconciled for Mr. J. M. Sykes to have this honor for his county.

This is the status of this district at this writing, but knowing ones tell me this ticket is only temporary, for when the congressional convention meets the nomination will be thrust upon Adams and he will accept it, greatly to the delight of W. P. Brynum, who wants the honor of being judge, although the solicitorship is a better paying position. This is the anti Settle version of the situation, but the Duke branch of the American Tobacco Trust still demand the nomination of Settle and it seems now this demand of the free contributors to the campaign fund will be accepted.

BOMBARDING MANZANILLO.

Action Was in Progress When a Dispatch Was Received Directing a Cessation of Hostilities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Very indefinite information has been received here regarding an engagement at Manzanillo. Dispatches were received at the White House last night stating that a naval bombardment was in progress. Efforts were made at once by the War and Navy Departments to get information to Manzanillo that the protocol had been signed, Assistant Secretary Allen sent a dispatch through Havana to the naval commander at Manzanillo to cease hostilities. Advices have been received that Captain General Blanco succeeded in informing Manzanillo of the cessation of hostilities.

A dispatch was received here today stating that the orders of Acting Secretary Allen reached the naval commander at Manzanillo this morning and that hostilities then ceased.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 11.—Nelson Trefery, of this city, leaves in a few days for Porto Rico, under government contract, to begin experiment on a discovery of a yellow fever preventive. Trefery has satisfied the Agricultural Department that a peculiar plant he discovered in South America, and which matures in 30 days, will prevent fever infection in the vicinity where grown.

Blanco and Augusti Resign.

MADRID, Aug. 15, 5 p. m.—The government has received from Captain General Blanco a dispatch tendering his resignation. The reason given by General Blanco for resigning is that he does not wish to superintend the evacuation of Cuba. The government is also informed that General Augusti, governor general of the Philippines, will leave Manila for Spain by the first mail steamer, giving his command to the second in rank.

C., Aug. 15.—The following dispatch was received at the Department of State at 11:15 p. m., August 15th, from Consul Wildman, at Hong Kong: 'Augustin says Dewey bombarded Manila Saturday. The city surrendered unconditionally. Augustin was taken by the German in a launch to the Kaiser Augusta and brought to Hong Kong. I credit the report.'"

AN ADDRESS

To the Delegates to the Democratic Conventions for Guilford County, to Assemble in Greensboro Saturday, August 20th.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—I regret that I cannot be present in your deliberations, to select men to fill the various positions that will be made vacant by the expiration of the terms of office in this county, as well as the seats that are to be filled by your representatives in the next general assembly of North Carolina. In your selections of men to fill the various offices from the least to the greatest in the gift of the people, your object should be that every office should be filled with men whose moral character is above reproach, and whose qualifications are in keeping with the duties of their office, and specially those who will be called upon to represent you in the law-making department of your state, for upon the ability, uprightness and integrity depends the elevation and prosperity of our beloved state, that is now cursed on one hand by unscrupulous and incompetent white men and reproached on the other hand by an inferior race of colored men, placed in judicial and executive positions by corrupt political tricksters whose corrosive avarice for office has destroyed all their personal shame as well as reproached the pride of our state, and the Anglo Saxon race, not for the purpose of keeping up a good government but for the purpose of keeping a host of corrupt white men in office that never could be elected as a corporal's guard by the white men of this county. Our country needs statesmen, not politicians; our state is calling for honest legislators who will enact laws to protect honest men of all classes, from the highest in office to the humblest in life; laws that will meet the ends of justice to the capitalist, and the laborer alike; laws that will defend the honest man, white or colored, rich or poor, and that will blockade the harbor against the invasion of political swindlers; laws that will give assurance to the man who toils honestly that he shall have the just reward of his labor; laws that will protect the widow's rights as well as the banker's bonds; laws that will encourage an honest man to stick to his honesty and that will force a rascal to act honest; laws that will not sympathize with dishonest men nor smuggle their rascalities with legal technicalities.
To obtain this end, elect only honest men. With better men, you have better laws. "Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

Respectfully,
L. I. BODENHEIMER.

GREENVILLE NEGROIZED.

How the Infamous Job Was Done—
A Statement of Facts by Ex-Governor Jarvis.

Raleigh, Aug. 6, 1898.

W. H. Bernard, Esq.
DEAR SIR:—In response to your request for an account of how the town of Greenville was turned over to the negroes by the Republican-Populist-Fusion Legislature I submit the following statement of facts:

The county of Pitt has a population of about thirty thousand people and is one of the finest agricultural counties in the State. Greenville, its capital town, has a population of about three thousand people and is a growing, prosperous town. A majority of its voters are white men, and if the people were left to select their officers by any fair or usual method they would be certain to choose competent white men.

The town, however, is the home of one of the leading Republicans of the State, and being under obligations to the negroes he planned to have the town turned over to them. And here is the way it was done: The fusion Legislature of 1895, adopting his plan, divided the town into four wards. The boundaries of these wards were so turned and zigzagged as to put a majority of negro voters in the first and third wards, and a majority of the white voters in the second and fourth wards. The first ward is shaped very much like a large broad-axe, with a very long handle, and the third ward is like the letter V. The next step in this devilish plan was to confer upon each of the wards having a majority of negro voters the right to elect two councilmen each, and to restrict the white wards to one councilman each.

At the town election in May, 1897, the negroes availed themselves of the power given them by the Republican-Fusion Legislature and took charge of the town. They elected four negroes councilmen while the white people could elect but two. Thus we had a board composed of four negroes and two white men. This board elected a white Republican mayor, a white chief of police, a negro assistant policeman for the day, a negro night policeman for the night and a negro clerk to the board.

The taxable property of the town is near three quarters of a million of dollars. The board of councilmen levy the taxes and order the expenditures. It may be interesting to know how those who levied and spent the taxes ranked as taxpayers. One of the negro councilmen paid 84 cents taxes on property, another 63 cents and the other two nothing. So the four negro councilmen, who controlled the board paid $147 taxes on property for the support of the town. The white Republican mayor paid 43 cents on property and the white Republican chief of police did not do quite so well; he paid only 30 cents. The negro clerk paid nothing and the negro night watchman nothing. The negro assistant policeman paid $5.75. The nineteen men who control the town, levy its taxes and spend the money paid all together $7.75, and leaving out the assistant negro day policeman, the other eight paid $2.20. The revenues of the town for the year from May, 1897, to May, 1898, was about $5,500, of which about $2,800 went to pay salaries and fees of office or place holders. The white Republican mayor and the white Republican chief of police were both indicted at September term, 1897, of Pitt Superior court for gambling. They confessed their guilt in open court at January term, 1898, and were re-elected to the same offices by the negro board of councilmen in May, 1898. The mayor has since resigned to enter the Internal Revenue Service and a better man, a Populist, has been elected in his place, but the town is still in the control of the negroes, as they again elected four negro councilmen at the town election this year and these negro councilmen have in turn elected the same number of negro officials with one exception.

There are numerous instances in which towns have been divided up into wards to keep the towns out of the hands of the negroes, but this is the first instance, of which I have any knowledge, where white men deliberately divided up a town into wards for the purpose of turning it over to the negroes.

For one to properly appreciate the real condition of things in Greenville it is necessary for him to go there and see for himself. But for the forbearance of the white people, trouble might have come long ago. They have fully determined to be patient and forbearing and to appeal, as they are now doing, to their white brethren throughout the State to send men to the next Legislature who will undo this great wrong and wipe out that infamous act of 1895.

THOS. J. JARVIS.

Why William Is Wild.

There must be some secret reason for the awful agitation of the German Emperor over our presence in the Philippines. Dislike of this country, anger over the appearance of another great power in the Far East, will not explain his conduct and the conduct of his officers in Asiatic waters.

It is well known that the Emperor has lately begun to carry out a vast plan for the founding of a German colonial empire in the Far East to rival England's vast Asiatic establishment. It is well known that Spain has long been weary of her shadowy but ruinously expensive Philippine possession.

Now, suppose that just previous to our war with Spain, William had negotiations with Spain for a transfer of the Philippines well on the way toward successful completion. Suppose that he was regarding the Philippines as practically his. The declaration of war would have made it impossible for him to complete and announce the bargain and take possession of his rich prize. No one would have believed that he was acting in good faith, and this country would have had European backing to an unlimited extent in savagely resenting a bargain which would have given Spain a vast sum of money for her war with us.

If this conjecture is sound, what must have been the Emperor's feelings when war was declared! What must have been the baffled rage of his officers and himself when Dewey stepped in and secured a clear title to what the Emperor looked upon as his property!

If we have really spoiled the most salient feature of the Emperor's Eastern programme we are much distressed and we forgive his excitement over Dewey at Manila as a very human and natural exhibition of chagrin.—Exchange.

DEAR SIR:—The two Mathushek pianos which we bought of Ludden & Bates Southern Music House last year for our college have given excellent satisfaction.

Miss Edie Moore, of Kinston, aged eighteen years, was burned to death last week at her home by an explosion of kerosene. She had really remarkable presence of mind. Several girls ran to her aid. She pushed them away and went to some heavy woolen curtains and began tearing them down, so as to wrap them around herself and smother the fire. Her father came to her rescue and put out the fire, but too late.

The War Department has decided to break up the large camps and scatter the troops about the country. TWO MOUTHS TO FEED.

Why a Double-Headed Girl Is Charged Double Rates at a Hotel in Indiana.

A dispatch from Anderson, Ind., says: Two heads with but a single body have made much trouble for Millie Christine, the dime museum freak, and for the keeper of a hotel in this city. The landlord is holding the baggage of the lady or ladies until she or they pays or pay for the food with which she or they fed herself or themselves.

Millie Christine maintains that she is but one person, even though compelled to look in the glass to see if two hats are on straight. She says that heretofore she has only paid single board, and doesn't care to stand a double charge at this late stage in her freak career.

No special arrangement for board was made when the two-headed girl engaged quarters at the hotel. But the landlord possesses a keen business head that led him to observe Millie at her meals. For breakfast, he says, one head ordered oatmeal and cream while the other demanded sliced peaches or cantaloupe. This he construed into two orders. Then came ham and eggs for one head and beefsteak and onions for the other, with two orders of fried potatoes, two cups of coffee and two napkins.

"Who ever saw one person use two napkins at the same time, I would like to know?" said the hotel man to Millie's manager.

"How many beds does the lady occupy in this house?" queried the manager.

"One," said the landlord after some hesitation.

"There you are!" shouted the manager. "Can you legally charge a guest double rates for one bed?"

"But the bed don't eat anything."

"Yes, and what Millie Christine eats sustains but one body."

"Well I don't care," retorted the landlord. "She uses two plates at the table, and she keeps 'em busy at that. I'll hold her baggage until she pays the fine."

And this is how the case stands at present. Millie refuses to desert her baggage and is still living at the same hotel. She has consulted a lawyer. So has the landlord, and they threaten to fight the matter to a finish.

In his complaint the landlord avers that at times one head would develop an appetite for something not on the bill of fare, and he was thus put to extra expense to provide the article. He says, too, that one head craved onions, and was continually quarreling with the other on that account.

THE SEABOARD FIGHT.

The Ryan Crowd Will Make Another Attempt to Secure Control of the Company.

New York, Aug. 11.—The New York interests in the Seaboard Air Line, headed by Thomas Ryan and associates, are making another desperate attempt to secure control of that property, it is understood here.

At the annual meeting of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad Company, which will be held in Portsmouth, Va., October 7th, another effort will be made to vote, at the election of officers, the common stock owned by Thomas Ryan, of this city, and others.

Ryan's application for an order compelling the productions of the books of the company, for an examination, will be heard by Judge Simonon, in Asheville, N. C., on Tuesday next.

In his bill of complaint Mr. Ryan charges that finding the owners of over 2,000 shares of the pooled stock wished to withdraw their deposits, a committee bought it in behalf of the Seaboard and Roanoke division, without the assent of the stockholders, and paid for it out of the treasury of the Raleigh and Gaston and the Seaboard and Roanoke roads, thus making the first named company a stockholder in the company by which it is controlled. Whether or not Ryan's attempt succeeds, it is likely that a larger attendance of prominent railroad men will be seen at this meeting than formerly, and that, as far as possible, a full disclosure will be forced from the present management of the Seaboard Air Line.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The President today appointed Judge J. M. Hobson, father of Lieutenant Hobson, of Merrimac fame, postmaster at Greensboro, Ala. Mr. Hobson is a Democrat, and the nomination was made at the earnest request of his Republican fellow townsmen as a mark of good feeling.

A Question of Nationality.

"Two Spaniards went up in a balloon. The balloon burst. What nationality were they when they came down?" asked the conundrum man.

"Give it up," grimly responded the stupid man.

"One came down a Russian and the other got tangled up in the telegraph wires and came down a Pole," was the response.—Chautauqua Assembly Herald.

Death and Burial of Corporal W. Chase Adams.

Corporal W. Chase Adams, of Company M, First N. C. Infantry, U. S. V., died in the division hospital at Camp Cuba Libre, Jacksonville, Friday night from the effects of an operation performed for supposed appendicitis and on Sunday his remains were brought here—the city of his birth—for interment. Accompanying the body was a military escort composed of Sergeant Page, Corporal Pagram and Privates Ralph Gross, Press Freeman, Eugene Carpenter, Fred Cates, John Ferris, W. H. Jones and Chas. Mosteller.

On the arrival of the body it was taken to the residence of Mr. S. C. Dodson, on East Market street, and there until the hour of the funeral two of the deceased's comrades kept faithful watch in reliefs of two hours each.

Monday morning a solemn and impressive funeral service was held at St. Barnabas church. The attendance was so large that many were unable to gain admission. Rev. Horace Weeks Jones conducted the ritualistic service, after which the remains were laid to rest in the quiet precincts of Greene Hill cemetery beside those of a fond mother whose life was cut short in the infancy of the son who grew to manhood honoring her name in every act of his life. At the grave the service was concluded by the firing of a military salute of three rounds.

Floral emblems in profusion attested the devotion of friends from far and near, many of the designs being really elaborate. A number of friends from Charlotte were here for the funeral.

Messrs. C. H. Ireland, C. M. Vanstory, John B. Fariss, John S. Michaux, A. M. Seales, S. L. Alderman, H. C. Berger and W. J. Horney acted as pall bearers.

The following biographical sketch of Corporal Adams is copied from the Charlotte Observer:

William Chase Adams was born in Greensboro March 12, 1871. His father is Mr. Peter H. Adams; his mother, Miss Hattie Gilmer, a sister of Mrs. A. G. Brenizer, of this city, and Mrs. S. J. Perry, of Rock Hill, S. C. His mother died three weeks after he was born. He was reared by Mrs. Perry, who was then living in Columbia, S. C. She afterward moved here, and Mr. Adams spent his boyhood days here. After his father's second marriage, he went to live with him at West Point, Va. When quite young he went abroad on a sailing vessel, leaving here as a passenger, but before returning had taken a hand as a mate, and learned a great deal of nautical life. On his return from abroad he went in his father's office and remained there until he came here about seven years ago to accept a position in the office of the Southern Railway.

He was gifted with the graces that made him shine in society, and during his sojourn here was a prominent figure in all social affairs. He was the leading member and manager of the Dramatic Club; and in all athletic sports—baseball, football, tennis, polo, etc., he was the champion player.

Mr. Adams left here in June, '96, for Baltimore to accept a position with the Home Telephone Company, with which his father is connected. From Baltimore he went to Erie, Pa., where he was living when he joined the army.

Chase Adams was a man to whom "ten talents" had been committed. God gave him an unusually bright mind, a handsome face and figure, gifts of speech, writing, and in fact the faculty of excelling in all that he undertook. Had he been weighed down with the responsibilities of life there is no telling to what extent his talents might have developed. He passed through Charlotte on July 4th on his way to Jacksonville to enlist in his old company—the Queen City Guards—of which he was a charter member. A number of his friends met him at the station. He never looked handsomer nor in better physical condition.

—David Crawford, a stranger here, fell from the overhead crossing in the Southern Railway yards onto the C. F. & Y. V. track Tuesday night of last week and lay until nearly morning before he was found. While his injuries were not of a serious nature he was unable to rise and several hours elapsed before he could get out of his dangerous position. He finally managed to roll off the track in time to escape a passing train but landed in a ditch which contained six inches of warm running water from the ice factory. He was taken to a hotel and given medical attention. His home is in Gastonia and he was on his way to Danville.

—A grand family excursion will be run from Greensboro to Wilmington and the ocean Tuesday, Aug. 30th, over the C. F. & Y. V. railway, the fare being lower than at any time this year. The train leaves here rain or shine at 10.30 A. M. on the date mentioned, and returning leaves Wilmington Sept. 1st at 8 o'clock P. M. Two whole days can be spent in the city or at the seaside resorts nearby at a very reasonable cost, while the attractions there are greater than they were earlier in the season. It is the intention of the management to make this a genuine family excursion, guaranteeing to ladies and children every attention and convenience necessary for their comfort and enjoyment.

—Much has been said in the past about a few men running the conventions and making nominations that did not meet the approval of the mass of voters. Now that the Democrats of Guilford county are called to meet on Saturday next, the 20th let all the Democrats of the county turn out in full force and take part in the nominations of candidates for county and legislative offices, and on the day of election go to the polls and vote for the nominees named, and success will surely be ours. If we do not each do our duty then do not find fault with them who do the best they can. Every Democrat is a delegate in a Democratic convention. Bear this in mind.

—Wilmington Star: "It was on Monday that cards were issued for the marriage of Miss Lelia McGirt, of this city, to Rev. T. A. Smoot, professor of Science and Philosophy in Greensboro Female College. This happy event which is to be celebrated Wednesday at 6.30 p. m. will be notable not only because of the high esteem of the contracting parties, but also because of novel arrangements. Both the bride and groom-elect are connected with the G. F. C., and all the bridesmaids are to be alumnae of that institution and are all to be attired in college colors. The colors will also be conspicuous in the Fifth Street Church decoration."

OBITUARY.

Died at her residence near Alamance church August 13, 1898, Mrs. Polly Pritchett aged 78 years, 6 months and 21 days. She was received into the communion of Alamance Presbyterian church December 1st 1850, and for nearly half a century her life was "hid with Christ in God." She was a consistent christian whose walk and conversation gave indubitable evidence that she had been with Jesus and learned of Him. The funeral services were conducted by her pastor; and the large congregation, met to pay the last tribute of respects to one whom they loved, attested the esteem in which she was held by all who knew her. God comfort the bereaved ones with the consolations of divine grace.

General Lee's Reply to Notice of Peace.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 12.—General Lee received a telegram from the adjutant general at Washington today announcing that peace had been declared. He wired in reply:

"Thank you. I will at once order the Seventh corps to cease firing."

The general was at least facetious even if not sarcastic, as this city is about the nearest that any of the regiments of his command have got to Cuba. The Seventh will probably get an opportunity to go there to do garrison duty, however, but this is not a particularly pleasant thought to a good many, who would prefer to return home, saying that they did not enlist for police duty, but rather to fight for their country, and opportunities for that being over they no longer have any desire to serve.

Admiral Kirkland Dead.

VALLEJO, CAL., Aug. 12.—Rear-Admiral Kirkland, commandant of the Mare Island navy yard, died this evening.

It is reported that Mulai-Ab-El-Aziz, sultan of Morocco, is dead.

At least thirty lives were lost in a cloudburst near Rogersville, Tenn., Friday.

General Fitzhugh Lee announces that he will enter the senatorial race in Virginia.

The merchant vessels of the world are now free to enter all ports of Cuba and Porto Rico.

The exports of merchandise in July amounted to $71,189,742 and the imports to $50,674,366.

The Hawaiian commissioners appointed by President McKinley sailed Thursday from San Francisco for Honolulu.

Efforts are being made to allay the excitement in Spain caused by the belief that the surrender has been too humiliating.

The British steamer Australian was chartered at Hong Kong and sent to Manila with the news of the suspension of hostilities.

A dispatch received by the Guatemalan minister in Washington says that the revolution in that country has been suppressed.

Orders to raise the blockade on all Cuban and Porto Rico ports were issued Friday, the blockading vessels being ordered to Key West.

Mail service with Spain will be resumed at once as far as the United States is concerned and mail matter will be forwarded via France.

Stringent measures have been taken to prevent the spread of yellow fever from Franklin, La., where the disease has appeared in the last few days.

The condition of the Spanish troops who are left at Santiago is described as terrible. Disease is so rampant that they are dying by dozens.

Captain-General Blanco, of Cuba, has resigned, because he does not want to have charge of carrying out the terms of the peace protocol.

The strictest precautions have been taken to prevent the introduction of yellow fever from Cuba into the new camp at Montauk Point, L. I.

The occupation of Mayaguez, an important city of Porto Rico, by American troops is confirmed. The people welcomed the Americans with wild acclaim.

The commands of Gen. Wheeler and Col. Roosevelt landed at Montauk Point, L. I., Monday. It is expected that the last of Shafter's troops will leave Santiago tomorrow and that he will leave there Saturday.

The window-glass wage scale was unexpectedly settled at Pittsburgh Friday and 20,000 workmen will return to work within a month, 6,000 of them at an advance of wages. Both the manufacturers and workmen have made concessions as to wages and the time of starting the factories.

At a conference of American officers and Cuban leaders at Santiago Monday night it was resolved to disband the Cuban army, the United States to pay the men off. This involves the expenditure of $15,000,000. Evidently Uncle Sam is getting lavish with his funds. We fail to see wherein this country should assume this obligation.

A semi-official note was issued in Madrid Friday stating that the Spanish army has not been conquered and will return home with all its arms and war munitions. As to the Cuban debt, the United States, says the note, refuses to assume it, and Spain will try to arrange with the Cuban treasury to pay it when the island is able. The Spanish government, it is set forth, wishes to retain all of the Philippines.

The great fleet which the United States has assembled in Cuban waters will be scattered and the finest ships will be sent to the navy yards, where they will be docked and overhauled and put in first class condition. They will then be assigned to the various foreign stations which the government maintains. The permanent Asiatic and Pacific squadrons will probably be strengthened, on account of the new conditions following the war with Spain.
