—C. H. Mebane, of Raleigh, state superintendent of public instruction; Prof. W. T. Whitsett, of Whitsett Institute, and Prof. J. Y. Joyner, of the State Normal and Industrial College, met here last Thursday to arrange a program for the next meeting of the North Carolina Teachers Assembly. —Would you like to receive that genuine Oliver chilled plow the Wakefield Hardware Company is to give away? The contest is open to all and it costs you nothing to compete for this valuable present. Read the company's advertisement in the Patriot carefully and then send us your five reasons why the Oliver chilled is the best plow made. The contest closes April 1st, when all the reasons received will be forwarded to the manufacturers and the prize awarded.

—Several citizens are preparing to bring suit to have the county jail abated as a nuisance. The suit will be brought against the board of county commissioners and an effort will be made to have the court order them to erect a new jail building. Solicitor Brooks has been retained to prosecute the suit, which will come up at the next term of court. Guilford's jail has long been an eyesore to the people and a disgrace to the county, and there is no reason why a new one should not have been built long ago.

—During a colored entertainment of some kind Monday night the usual row arose among some of the "society" leaders and Policemen Weatherly and Whittington went down to quell the disturbance. As the officers were entering the building Mr. Weatherly received a stunning blow on the head that came near paralyzing him, but quick as a flash he laid his assailant flat on his back and handcuffed him, after which he was carried to jail. The negro was up before the mayor yesterday afternoon and fined $10 and costs for striking the officer. His name is Will Keeble, an ex-private in Jim Young's late regiment of colored "braves."

—It is needless to call your attention to the mammoth advertisement of Will H. Matthews & Co., for you will see and read it. April 1st will find this firm open for business in the handsome and well appointed store formerly occupied by Workman Brothers. Mr. Matthews has just returned from New York, where he purchased a full and complete line of clothing and furnishing goods, and will be glad to receive a call from all of his old friends and customers. The business will be conducted on a strictly one price cash basis—something new in the clothing business in this section—and will doubtless receive a liberal patronage from the public.

—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Guilford Battle Ground Company was held in the Greensboro National Bank building last Wednesday, the 15th, that day being the one hundred and eighteenth anniversary of the battle of Guilford Court House. It was decided to have the usual Fourth of July celebration on the battle field this year, and Mr. W. E. Beyill was appointed chairman of the committee to solicit funds. The celebration will be under the supervision of Maj. Joseph M. Morehead.

—Messrs. Moses H. Cone and E. T. Garsed have bought the remainder of the Mendenhall property which extended from South Elm back to South Asheville street. That portion fronting on South Elm street has been sold some time and most of it is now covered by handsome business houses. The tract purchased by Messrs. Cone and Garsed embraces about five acres and is bounded by West Washington and South Asheville streets, being in the rear of the new buildings recently erected on South Elm. One of the first improvements to be made will be the extension of South Green street through the property. Handsome business and dwelling houses will then be erected on it. This property is in the heart of the city and is a most valuable acquisition.

Notice to Stockholders of the Guilford Bank.

There will be a meeting of the stockholders of the Guilford Bank held on Saturday, March 25th, in the Guilford Bank building, at 11 o'clock A. M. It is earnestly hoped that there will be a full attendance, as matters of importance will be discussed.

—For some days a great deal of unnecessary talk has been indulged in in regard to a supposed case of smallpox in Greensboro, and many people have become unduly excited over the scare. The facts are these: On Sunday, March 5th, a man by the name of Fentress, who had been employed at Newport News, Va., came home on a visit to his family. He was feeling unwell at the time and called in a physician. His ailment was pronounced smallpox. The family was at once quarantined and a general vaccination of the citizens of Greensboro ordered by the board of aldermen. Fentress has not been confined to his bed, and but for the strict quarantine observed, would have been able to have gone about his usual occupation. He has never been separated from his family and neither his wife nor any of the children have been sick, although it is now seventeen days since he came home. The doctors say the limit for contracting smallpox from another person is fourteen days, from which it will be seen there is now no danger whatever. It is also pretty strong evidence that there has been no smallpox in Greensboro, in which belief a great many people concur. All persons who came in contact with the patient have been confined in houses of detention, where they will be kept until the supposed danger is passed. The city has not been quarantined and everybody is free to come and go as they please. Persons having business here need have no fears whatever, as they can come to Greensboro with perfect safety. There is absolutely no danger of smallpox here. We make this statement because of the erroneous and false reports that have gone out from here and been circulated through the country.

—A party of New England newspaper men, now engaged in making a tour of the South, arrived in Greensboro on the train from the east yesterday evening. They were met at the depot by the mayor and several representative citizens, who took them in charge. The club rooms of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, whose guests the newspaper men are while in the city, were thrown open to them and everything done to make their stay here pleasant. Today they were driven around the city in carriages, visiting the schools, colleges, factories and other places of interest. Tonight they will go to Winston, where they will remain until Friday morning, when they will pass through Greensboro on their way to Durham. Saturday they will again pass here on their way to Asheville.

The party is composed of the following gentlemen: C. F. King, a native North Carolinian, J. W. Reardon, W. H. Ross, Edward P. Critcher, Frank Hendry, F. M. Welsh, A. H. Rhodes and F. H. Grade.

The News and Courier gives him the following editorial notice under the caption of "A Southern Man from Boston": "Walter H. Page, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, and literary overseer of the great publishing house of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., of Boston, is in the city. Editor of the New York World, editor of a North Carolina daily newspaper, which was just a little too good for the people of his native state, editor of the Forum magazine and now editor of the Atlantic Monthly, he is one of the most distinguished of the men of letters of the day. An accomplished scholar, a ready writer, an instructive speaker, a charming gentleman, he is a very welcome visitor to Charleston."

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22, 1899.

THERE is a big row on between the two factions of the Populist party represented by Marion Butler, of this state, and Milton Park, of Texas. Some time ago Park and his followers met in Cincinnati and nominated one Wharton Barker for president and Ignatius Donnelly for vice-president. This was followed last week by a manifesto from Park, who poses as chairman of the Populist national reorganization committee, announcing the appointment of organizers or supervisors to look after the interests of the party in the various states. Whereupon Senator Butler also issued a manifesto repudiating the action of his brethren of the opposition in the following words: "The People's party has not yet nominated a presidential ticket for 1900, nor has it assembled in national convention at Cincinnati, or anywhere else, since it assembled in national convention in St. Louis in 1896. The People's party national executive committee will meet some time next winter and issue a call for the next national convention, which will assemble before either of the old party conventions, and will then nominate a presidential ticket for 1900." In commenting upon the above the Charlotte Observer pertinently says: "With both Parker and Butler trying to get a ring in the nose of the Populists, the best thing the decent members of that party can do is to jump the fence and find peace and prosperity in the Democratic fold. It awaits them there, and now here else, particularly in the South."

CERTAIN officials of the War Department have resorted to the base scheme of attempting to discredit General Joe Wheeler's actions in the campaign around Santiago to prevent his detention in the Federal army, but the people will bitterly resent all such efforts to reflect upon the official conduct of this gallant man and fearless fighter. The Alger-Corbin-Eagan aggregation of recalcitrants and place-hunters may have its favorites in army circles whose prestige it would promote in place of General Wheeler's, but it will not be wise in seeking to shelve Wheeler by covertly attacking his honor as a soldier. The people will not be patient with that sort of thing. They know Wheeler, and they know the Alger gang—after saying which, there is no necessity for more definitely intimating the nature of a popular verdict in the case of Algerism vs. Wheeler.

RECENTLY the Raleigh Post has taken occasion to administer some well deserved rebukes to that class of people known as demagogues, and we know of no way in which it can better serve its day and generation. There is no man calculated to do more harm or create more unrest and dissatisfaction among the people than the unprincipled demagogue who obtains and holds a position of leadership by his false professions and malicious misrepresentations, always playing on the prejudices of the people. North Carolina has had her share of this undesirable class of citizens. We have had them in all the walks of life, from the highest to the lowest calling, and it will be a happy day for our old state when their influence shall be felt no more. The demagogue is a festering sore in the body politic.

It is somewhat reassuring to observe that as soon as the more promising and profitable trusts get comfortably established they find themselves confronted with competitors. The business of successful robbery is not made secure by patent. Anybody can go into it who has the necessary cash and no moral scruples.

IF MARK HANNA gets his financial grip on Cuba the odds against the independence of the people of that island will be those of "dollars to doughnuts."

In a short time our forces in the Philippines will have to contend with the rains and fevers and we fear these will be more deadly than the natives.

THE people look to Democracy to knock out the twin evils of Republicanism and trustism.

The War About Over.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—There was much reticence shown at the War Department today, to discuss a cable dispatch from General Otis, which was regarded as most important by those who read it as indicating that hostilities might cease very suddenly in the Philippines, and a collapse of the insurrection come to an end at any time. The reason for the belief of General Otis that a climax might come at any hour was not stated, but his assumption was based on the favorable reports he has received from various sources that the Filipinos were tired of war and Aguinaldo's leadership. It is believed at the War Department that the methods which the Americans have conducted in the fighting was much to convince the Filipinos of the uselessness of trying to drive out the United States forces. The fighting has been of a different order from that to which they were accustomed when the Spanish were in possession of Manila.

General Otis' cable has caused a great deal of gratification. It was sent to the President at Thomasville, Ga. The preparations that have been under way to send further troops to the Philippines have not been curtailed, however. Light batteries which General Otis requested in the cable of last night will be sent, as they may be useful in future operations, and in case of disturbances in distant parts of the island.

Murdered His Five Children.

HUTCHISON, Kans., March 20.—A crime was revealed here today, when the coroner and his assistants removed the dead bodies of the five little children from the house occupied by John Moore, which burned at an early hour. A coroner's jury investigated the case, and in accordance with the jury's verdict, John Moore, the father of the children, was arrested on the charge of murder. The tragedy has caused much excitement here, and there is some talk of lynching the prisoner.

When the firemen and neighbors reached the burning house, the father was the only member of the family of seven found outside. His actions were queer, and he would not talk. While the building was still burning and his children were in the burning walls, he took a horse out of the stable and rode away.

When the firemen entered the house, after partially quenching the flames, they found the five children lying side by side in a bed on the floor, all dead, but not badly burned. The skull of each child was deeply indented, and from the dents long fractures extended. All but one of the children had been stabbed in the neck. The throat of the three-year-old boy had been slashed so deep that the spinal column had been severed. Upon these facts, and the strange behavior of the father, the authorities base their charge of murder.

Victoria May Abdicate.

LONDON, March 18.—Since the Queen went to the South of France there has been a revival in court and diplomatic quarters of a rumor that she contemplates abdicating in favor of the Prince of Wales. Similar rumors have been met heretofore by a prompt denial from the Queen, who has declared that as long as God gave her strength to perform her duties she would perform them. But the last six months have seen a notable diminution in her physical powers. Apparently some arrangement has been made to lighten the Queen's work. It is suggested that in case the government feels compelled to adopt a distinctly belligerent policy toward France, Victoria might take the opportunity to create Wales regent in order to carry out her well-known determination never to sign another declaration of war.

Mosquito Fleet for Dewey.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The Navy Department is preparing to organize a "mosquito fleet" for the Philippines. The conditions now prevailing in the Island of Luzon indicate that for a long time it will be necessary to maintain a strict patrol of the coast and inland waters. The big ocean tugs which formed the "mosquito fleet" that operated around Cuba during the blockade, and of which the government has a number, are now being looked over with a view to service in the inland waters of the Philippines. Some of them are on the Pacific coast.

The Navy Department has figured out a coasting voyage that will take them up the Alaskan coast, coaling at Sitka, Unalaska, Cook's Inlet, down through the Aleutian Islands, to Hakedota, the northern point of Japan. Thence they can make the run across the China sea down to Hong Kong and thence to the Philippines. It will be about a two months' voyage and can be made safely.

Spain had a fleet of small gunboats admirably suited for this work in the Philippines, but has recently sold thirteen of them at Hong Kong. It is possible some of these vessels may be purchased by the Navy Department if they are in good condition and can be had for a reasonable sum.

A Desperate Porto Rican.

KEYSER, W. Va., March 18.—Dr. F. P. Stehley, a dentist practicing along the West Virginia Central Railroad, recently returned from Porto Rico, where he was prospecting, accompanied by a good-sized Porto Rican boy, aged sixteen years, whom he intended to educate. Dr. Stehley is living at present at this place. Yesterday afternoon while Dr. Stehley was away from home the young Porto Rican became frenzied for some unknown reason and, armed with a butcher-knife, swore he would kill Mrs. Stehley, and started to carry out his threat. Greatly frightened at the sight of a large knife, Mrs. Stehley ran for her life, closely followed by the Porto Rican, who flourished the weapon in a most determined manner. Her screams attracted the attention of two men, who rushed to her rescue, only to be met by the Porto Rican, who knocked one down with a chair. They were unable to subdue the foreigner, who is said to have put up a most vicious fight. He escaped, but later the sheriff started in pursuit and overpowered him. He is now in jail.

Winston-Salem Postoffice Affair.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Postoffice Department is still wrestling with Winston-Salem, but nothing definite will be done until the Postmaster General and his Fourth Assistant, Mr. Bristow, return from Cuba. J. E. Alexander, of Winston, called on Mr. Heath, the First Assistant Postmaster General, who is acting Postmaster General in Mr. Smith's absence, last Saturday. He represented that he came at the instance of many prominent people of Winston. He said the people of Salem did not object to the consolidation if the hyphenated name—Winston-Salem—was retained. The point the Salem people make is that they want to retain their identity as a town and not be wiped off the map. The Salem committee has not yet been heard from by Mr. Heath, and the disposition of the department is to let the hyphenated name stand now; but when that is accomplished and the present feeling dies out, then the name Winston only will be used. This, however, is not likely to occur for two years yet.

Mr. Sherman Is Very Sick.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 19.—The American Line steamer Paris, Capt. Frederick Watkins, with the party of Americans touring in West Indian waters, arrived here today.

John Sherman, who is suffering with pneumonia, is steadily improving. However, he is still a very sick man, and it is said he cannot with safety be transferred tomorrow to the United States cruiser Chicago, which was sent here to take him home. Great interest is manifested in his recovery on board the Paris.

Boiler Explosion.

FAYETTEVILLE, March 18.—The community of Cedar Creek, in this county, about twelve miles distant on the Cape Fear river, was shocked yesterday by a deplorable and fatal accident. The boiler of David Clifton's shingle mill exploded, wrecking the machinery and tearing the building to pieces. D. Clifton, O. H. Wheeler, R. Watson, E. and Y. Edwards, and a negro workman named Edwards, were all more or less injured, two or three of whom will probably die of their wounds.

Hazing Results Seriously.

CHICAGO, March 18.—Hazing, as practiced at the Chicago College of Dental Surgery, may make James J. Mount, of the class of 1903, an invalid for life, if it does not cause results even more serious. He is now in the Presbyterian Hospital. The cords of his neck are injured, and the doctors think he has been hurt internally.

Mount is the victim of the custom of "passing up." Passing up consists of seizing a man in the classroom and passing him over the seats to the one just above, until the outer circle of the seats occupied by the class during a clinic is reached. Then the victim is started on a journey in the opposite direction.

Student Mount belongs to the freshman class. He has been ill for some time, but during the hazing process he was tossed back and forth from tier to tier of the seats, and then shot down to the floor, where he lost consciousness.

North Carolina Won.

ATHENS, Ga., March 17.—The inter-collegiate debate between the University of North Carolina and the University of Georgia, took place here tonight before a large crowd. The North Carolinians were victorious.

The subject was, "Resolved, That United States Senators should be elected by the direct vote of the people," the North Carolina boys having the negative.

This Plow was put on the market for the first time last year. One-horse Plow did not give general satisfaction until after we saw the beam. Since then we have heard no complaint of them. That the two-horse G. C. D. Plow has given satisfaction, of more than one hundred Plows sold on a guarantee, we have only one returned to us. There have been more than this number returned to other parties who have reported that they give entire satisfaction.

We make the following guarantee for these Plows: In ordinary grey land they will do all the work that the high priced Western Plows will do. All we ask for them is a fair trial. If they do what we say, your money will be gladly refunded.

Our object is to give our farmers a Plow that will do the work of the high priced Western Plows, and save them money both in the cost of Plow and in the repairs.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, March 20, 1899.

According to War Department officials General Gomez will not receive a dollar of the $3,000,000 about to be distributed, entirely on his say so, among Cuban soldiers by this government. This statement has caused everybody to wish to know where Gomez got the money to pay for the present very extravagant mode of living in Havana. It is known that previous to the beginning the negotiations with R. P. Porter, who acted as Mr. McKinley's personal representative, which resulted in the agreement to pay $3,000,000 for the disbandment of the Cuban army, Gomez had no money, and that ever since then he has apparently had plenty. Did Porter make an individual payment of money to Gomez? If so, how much, and from what fund was it derived? These are some of the questions suggested by the situation and asked on every hand. Congress did not appropriate a cent to pay Cuban soldiers, but there was an item added to the sundry civil bill by the last Congress, appropriating $3,000,000 as an emergency fund, to be expended at the discretion of the President. That is the money that will be used, but if the claim that Gomez has got some of it and will get none of it is true, the source from which Gomez extracted the wealth to pay his present enormous expenses is left a mystery. But it will be noted. The acting secretary of war says that the administration intends to make Cuba repay from its revenue this money.

Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, is one of those wild Republicans who regard the presidential election of next year as already settled. In an interview Mr. Thurston said: "The presidential battle next year promises to be lively and exciting. McKinley will probably be renominated and I presume that Bryan will head the Democratic ticket. I believe that the Republicans will win if we stand together and work hard, but our Democratic friends will undoubtedly put up a stiff fight. We must not indulge our wires with the delusion that we are going to have a walk-over."

Secretary Alger doesn't appear to care anymore about being contacted than he did about the welfare of the soldiers during the war. Several days before congress ad-journer Alger announced that the junket that he intended to conduct to Cuba and Porto Rico was off, because his official duties would prevent his leaving Washington. Of course it was well known that Alger abandoned the intended junket because he failed to get a sufficient number of Democratic senators and representatives to accept invitations to accompany him. But for consistency's sake it was supposed that Alger would remain on duty and make a bluff of being busy. Not he. He left immediately after Mr. McKinley did for a trip to New England, which was extended to Canada, and this week he is going to start for Cuba and Porto Rico, but he won't carry any congressmen with him. He says he is going to pay the expenses of himself and the two men who will accompany him, but it would require the vouchers for the payment to convince the public.

Private news from the Philippines indicates that the administration is again juggling with the public in regard to the situation. While no official dispatches have been quoted, officials have talked so as to leave the impression that the reports of Gen. Otis since the victories of the past week have been to the effect that Aguinaldo's army is about ready to ask for terms and that a general collapse of the rebellion may be looked for at any time. Owing to the strict censorship, no private telegrams dealing with the conditions existing can be sent from Manila direct, but some have been sent to Hong Kong by boat and cabled from there, which do not take such a rosy view of the situation. According to these the war is a long way from being over, and the only effect that will follow thrashing Aguinaldo's army, which our troops do every time they come into contact with any portion of it, will be to transfer the fighting ground to the hills and bushes, where it will be difficult for our men to get at them except when they choose to be got at, and possibly to other islands of the group. There is a nightly panic in Manila and most of the white women and children have been sent away for fear of a native uprising. Time will tell which is correct, the official or the private view of the situation. The Oregon has arrived in Manila Bay.

VICTIM OF THE HOTEL FIRE

Miss Grandy, a Daughter of North Carolina, Met Her Death While on a Pleasure Trip to New York.

Washington, March 18.—Miss Isabelle Grandy, of Elizabeth City, N. C., who lost her life by jumping from a window at the Windsor Hotel fire in New York last night, was better known here than in her native State. She has resided here twelve years. She was a daughter of Judge Grandy, a prominent jurist of North Carolina, and sister of Harrison Grandy, who recently graduated at the Columbia University here.

Miss Grandy was born in Elizabeth City, N. C., about thirty-two years ago, where she made her home until the death of her father. She was educated in the best schools of this country and afterwards completed her education in Paris.

At the death of her father Miss Grandy came into possession of a large fortune, which she invested in Washington real estate. Her home was at 1023 Connecticut avenue, and was for years known as one of the most hospitable homes in Washington. Miss Grandy was fond of travel and spent almost every summer in Europe. Her home was filled with old-world curiosities, and her collection of bric-a-brac is considered one of the finest in this city.

Although not a society woman, Miss Grandy numbered among her friends some of the best-known residents, and was prominently identified with several women's clubs. Her afternoon teas were famous as rendezvous of women conspicuous in literary, artistic and social circles.

She left here last Saturday, the 11th, for New York on a pleasure trip to New York, expecting to return on the 22nd. Her mother has recently returned from Elizabeth City, where she went with her son Harrison, who has just started in the practice of law.

The Raleigh's Compliment to Spain

GIBRALTAR, March 18.—As the United States cruiser Raleigh sailed from here for New York, this afternoon, homeward bound from Manila, in order to be put out of commission, she hoisted the Spanish ensign and fired a salute while passing the Spanish squadron, commanded by Admiral Camara, off Algarciras. The Spanish flagship Carlos Quinto thereupon hoisted the American ensign and returned the salute.

The smallest things may exert the greatest influence. De Witt's Little Early Risers are unequalled for overcoming constipation and liver troubles. Small pill, best pill, safe pill. Howard Gardner.

Why it Failed.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 18.—J. H. Cutting, formerly of Boston, has arrived here from Nicaragua. He was a lieutenant of the Rama Rifles, in the recent Nicaragua revolution under Reyes. The revolt lasted barely three weeks. Cutting says it would certainly have succeeded, but for the arrant cowardice of Reyes and other leaders.

"Had we had only 500 Americans, we would have gone through Zelaya's forces like molasses out of a garret window," said Cutting, but our leaders were too cowardly to fight. They showed the white feather at the first approach of danger."

Cutting says the taxation in Nicaragua is unbearable and that the American mine owners and operatives there may be expected to soon raise another and a successful revolution.

South Swept by Terrible Storms.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 18.—A series of terrific wind storms swept through portions of Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas today, doing an immense amount of property damage and killing a number of people. The storm covered a radius of several hundred miles, destroying telegraph wires and cutting off communication with a large part of the affected country.

Cleburn county, Alabama, seems to have suffered the most severely, the storm there reaching the proportions of a tornado. The reports of fatalities in the county vary from six to twenty and many more are said to have been injured. At Sellers, and Luverne, Ala., much damage is reported, and at Rob Roy, Ark., one man was killed and several were badly injured.

Just before "Tom" Marshall made his first visit to Boston an ordinance was passed imposing a fine of $5 for smoking on the streets. "Tom" lighted a cigar, started down the street, and was arrested. He went before the proper officer, was duly fined, planked down $10 and started away. "Hold on," said the judge; "there is some change coming to you." To which "Tom" is said to have replied: "Oh, keep the change, I shall want to spit presently."

MRS. PLACE ELECTROCUTED

The First Woman to Occupy the Chair.

Sing, Sing, March 20.—Mrs. Place was electrocuted this morning. The procession started to the death chamber at ten forty-five. The electrocution was immediate. Two shocks were employed. Although the prisoner was somewhat hysterical it was thought she might recover her nerve this morning and still be brave at the critical moment. She was accompanied to the chair by her old pastor, Dr. Cole, of Yonkers, who stood by her side offering spiritual consolation to the last. Only two newspaper men were present in accordance with an edict from the Governor. Dr. Jennie Griffin, of Troy, a well known physician, was also present at the request of the Governor. Other witnesses were principally physicians and professional men.

McKinley Bracing Up Fast.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 17.—The President is beginning to show plainly the good effect of his outing. The bloom is once more returning to his cheeks and the fagged-out appearance is vanishing. He is enjoying the vacation greatly and expresses himself as delighted with the drives around Thomasville. Invitations continue to pour in from the surrounding country, but are all being declined in pursuance of the purpose to avoid everything having the aspect of a semi-public function. The presidential mail is growing rapidly, the people being well acquainted now with Mr. McKinley's whereabouts.

Philosophy.

A woman asks a woman questions to discover something. She asks a man questions to discover the man.

True love makes all things lovable, except perhaps the chaperon.

What a second lover chiefly deplores is that it was not he who first taught his loved one to love.

It is noble to go to the succor of the weak and the oppressed, to say nothing of the Presidential patronage it sometimes creates.

Man calls woman capricious simply because he is too stupid to comprehend the laws by which she is swayed. Woman does not call man capricious. The inference is obvious.

To insure a happy new year, keep the liver clear and the body vigorous by using De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for constipation and liver troubles. Howard Gardner.

The Supreme court has rendered an important decision in reference to the liability of proprietors of tobacco salerooms. Under this decision such a proprietor is liable to the true owner of tobacco wrongfully taken to the saleroom and put upon the floor by the proprietor or auctioneer, whether the proprietor had actual knowledge of such wrongful taking or not. The court cites an old-time authority in reference to the liability of auctioneers and agents for goods that have been stolen and sold by them in ignorance of the felony.

LEGAREDA EXECUTED

AGUINALDO CONDEMNED TO DEATH CITIZENS OF MANILA.

Insurgents Attack Iloilo but are Repulsed by the Americans, With a Loss of Two Hundred Killed and Wounded—The End Not in Sight.

Manila, March 20.—Aguinaldo is taking extreme measures to suppress all signs calculated to cause cessation of hostilities.

Twelve adherents of a plan for the independence of the residents of Manila have been condemned to death because they wrote advising a surrender, and all loyal Filipinos have been called upon to perform a national service of despoiling them.

Friday last Gen. Lagarda visited Malolos for the purpose of advising Aguinaldo to quit. He argued with the insurgent leader and attempted to convince him of the folly of his resistance in the face of such overwhelming odds. Aguinaldo was furious at the advice and ordered Lagarda to be executed immediately and the unfortunate general was promptly decapitated.

Iloilo, March 20.—At 5 o'clock this afternoon Gen. Miller reports that the insurgents attacked Iloilo and the outlying village of Jaro, but were repulsed with a loss of two hundred, killed and wounded.

Col. Dubose, with a battalion of the First California Infantry, will go to Negros Island to-morrow to join Col. Smith.

The insurgent emissaries of the Island of Panay are reported to be agitating the inhabitants of Negros.

Members of the United States Philippine Commission, with the exception of Col. Denby, who has not yet arrived, held their first meeting to-day.

Wheaton's brigade, which defeated and drove the enemy fifteen miles yesterday, has returned to its position near Pasig. Everything along the lines are reported quiet.

Manila, March 20.—The inability of the commissary train to keep up with the advance has led to considerable suffering. Many men were completely exhausted and fell in the ranks, being strung along the distance almost six miles in numbers, in returning to the camp of the artillery and ambulances, which always close up lines.

A Texas Riot.

LAREDO, Tex., March 20.—The crisis in the disturbance here over the carrying out of the state health officers' regulations in suppressing the smallpox epidemic seems to be passed. When the work of removing the patients this morning was begun, the scenes of yesterday were repeated. Captain Rogers, of the State Rangers, and four assistants attempted to disperse the crowds, but were fired upon and Captain Rogers received a bullet in the leg. The Rangers returned the fire, killing Agapito, an ex-policeman, who was leading the rioters, and wounding a woman and another Mexican. Several other Mexicans were wounded, but the number cannot yet be ascertained, as they escaped in the crowd.

The shooting was followed by a number of scattered shots in different parts of that quarter of the city populated largely by Mexicans, and they were construed as pre-arranged signals by the rioters for re-enforcements. Dr. Blunt, according to arrangements made, had notified Captain Ayres, in command at Fort McIntosh, that the United States troops were needed, and at 11:45 a detachment of the Tenth Cavalry, mounted and fully armed with 100 rounds of ammunition arrived. The city marshal, Jos. Bartholomew, was sworn in as an officer, and the crowds were quickly dispersed. The leader of the first crowd encountered by the military undertook to talk instead of obeying orders to clear out, and was promptly knocked down with the butt of a carbine and so badly hurt that he died within a short time after being carried away. His followers took the hint and rapidly fled. A Gatling gun and an ambulance corps accompanied the cavalrymen, and affairs took on a decidedly martial appearance. All the places of business were closed.

The Wilkes Bond Case.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—An opinion was rendered by the Supreme court today in the Wilkes county, N. C., bond case, dismissing the case for want of jurisdiction. The court held that no Federal question was involved. Thus the case stands as it left the state courts, where the decision was adverse to the validity of the bonds, the amount involved being $1,000,000. The opinion was by Justice Peckham and was unanimously concurred in by the court.

The name of Jim Young, together with the names of the other fusion trustees of the new auditorium building for the white blind, appointed by the legislature of 1897, has been chiseled from the corner stone of that institution. The stone now bears the simple inscription: "1845-1898."

Negroes are Blamed.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 17.—Governor Candler is very bitter in his denunciation of the Palmetto affair. He attributes the trouble to the fact that negro regiments and soldiers have been passing through the country and the sight of them has placed in the mind of the negro a spirit of boldness.

"The Palmetto lynching was as deplorable as it was bloody and cowardly," said the Governor. "It is true the town was burned in the night time, endangering the lives of all its women and children. It is true that I had offered heavy rewards for the apprehension of the incendiaries, and that these negroes had been arrested and some of them had confessed their guilt and implicated the others in the crime. But it was cowardly and barbarous to slaughter them as this mob did, for they had been arrested and were in the hands of officers of the law awaiting a committing trial. The law was adequate for their punishment, and there was no doubt of their speedy trial and punishment, if convicted."

"Until recently there was no race friction in the State. The Georgia negro is not naturally vicious nor predisposed to the commission of atrocious crimes. This was demonstrated during a hundred years of slavery. The Georgia white man is not his enemy, as he has had abundant reason to know since he became a free citizen. Such outrages as this never, or seldom, occurred in this state till regiments of insolent, drunken negro soldiers, the scum of the dives of the cities North and South, were quartered here and there in the State and in the South."

"A mob of negro soldiers ran riot in Tampa and outraged women in broad daylight. Another gang of drunken vagabonds in Macon defied and tried to fire on the police. For months another regiment of these lawless vagabonds, wearing the uniform of the United States soldiers, terrorized Chickamauga and the town of Lytle, in North Georgia, to say nothing of the Griffin episode and other similar occurrences. They had to be escorted through every Southern city through which they passed after they were discharged by a battalion of police to prevent their looting the stores and terrorizing the people."

"The Leesburg outrage, the Palmetto burning and many other similar crimes committed in Georgia by negroes during the last few months are due to the baleful influence and example of these lawless rowdies, who disgraced the uniforms they wore. This is the primary cause of all these troubles. Still this does not justify the bloody and barbarous retaliation of Leesbury and Palmetto."

Bryan in Knoxville.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 18.—Colonel Wm. J. Bryan arrived here this morning at 8 o'clock. He was met at the passenger station by several hundred Democrats who had assembled, despite a terrible rain fall. The rain continued throughout the day and night. This morning at 11 o'clock Col. Bryan was joined by Governor Benton McMillan, of Tennessee. The two held a public reception in the Woman's Building. This afternoon they were entertained at dinner by L. H. Spilman. Sixteen Democrats and one Republican assembled around the festive board. Mr. Spilman and Col. Bryan were boys together in Salem, Ill., and later were in Chicago. Tonight Col. Bryan delivered his lecture on "Pending Problems," in the large public hall of this city. He was heard by 1,500 people. After the lecture he was entertained at a banquet as the guest of Knoxville Democrats. He responded to a toast, "The Democracy of Jefferson, Jackson and Bryan."

This morning Col. Bryan received a telegram from a Cincinnati newspaper asking for an expression in reply to Bob Ingersoll's criticism, that Bryan is a back number and has no political future. Col. Bryan's telegraphic reply was that he did not regard Col. Ingersoll as a capable authority to speak of his eligibility for the back number list, nor upon his prospects for the future.

Col. Bryan will celebrate his 38th birthday here tomorrow, as the guest of his cousin, Mrs. Easter, wife of Rev. Dr. Henry D. Easter, an Episcopal rector of this city.

PATRICK WALSH DEAD.

He Was Mayor and Editor and Ex-Senator from Georgia.

Augusta, Ga., March 20.—Patrick Walsh, ex-senator and mayor of Augusta, died at his residence Sunday morning after three months' illness of nervous prostration. There was little hope in the community of his recovery, but his death was not thought to be so near at hand.

Mayor Walsh was one of the most prominent men in Georgia, and had national recognition as the earnest champion of Southern development, and, perhaps, the best authority on the material resources and manufacturing products of the South.

Mr. Walsh was born in Ireland January 1st, 1840, but his father's family came to America while he was a boy and settled at Charleston, S. C. At 12 years of age Patrick Walsh was apprenticed in the Charleston Evening News, and in due time became a journeyman printer.

He came to Augusta in '62, and has ever since been identified with the press of the city, for twenty-five years past as editor and proprietor of the Augusta Chronicle.

From 1866 Mr. Walsh was general Southern agent of the Associated Press until 1892, when he became manager of the Southern Associated Press. In 1870 he became a member of the city council; from 1872 to 1878 he served the State Legislature; in 1880, 1884 and 1896 he was a delegate to the Democratic Convention and served for four years as a member of the Democratic National Executive Committee; he served as a member-at-large for the World's Fair Commission; in 1894 he was appointed by Governor Northern to the United States Senate on the death of Senator Colquitt; in 1897 he was elected mayor of Augusta, which office he filled at the time of his death.

Abolition of Army Canteen.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—Whether the canteen system will be continued at army posts or entirely suspended will, in a measure, depend upon the interpretation of the army bill by post commanders, who are to be allowed wide discretion. Army officers severely condemn the provision for the abolition of the canteen, and predict increased desertions if the law is enforced. Officials of the War Department are confident, however, that the law admits of no other interpretation than the abandonment of the canteen, although it is proposed now that the post commanders be left to decide for the present what construction shall be placed on it.

While these officers, under an order issued quoting the law on the subject, are not instructed in any way, it is thought the canteen system will not long continue, and that few garrison officers will proceed on their own authority, but will prefer explicit orders from the War Department for their guidance. Until the War Department promulgates a formal decision furnished perhaps by the Attorney-General it is doubtful if the canteens will be entirely abolished.

Suggestions About Monkeys.

There is a good deal of discussion just now over the story that in Mississippi monkeys are used as cotton pickers. It is asserted that there is talk of introducing them as factory hands at Statesville, but this is regarded as unsafe, for fear the monkeys might be always getting their tails mixed up in the machinery. The Lyneburg Advance in turn says some one opposes the monkey as a cotton field hand because of the fear that at the time the simians become expert the Yankees will set them free and give them the franchise. An Asheville man is investigating the plan of equipping a farm for raising tailless monkeys, and asking some future legislature to declare they shall never vote unless their poll tax is paid and each one is able to read 500 words of Greek a minute. —"Tattler," in Asheville Citizen.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, On the 17th day of December, 1898, it pleased God in His infinite wisdom to take David Hodgkin from our midst; and whereas, in this dispensation of divine providence the community sustains the loss of a worthy citizen, the cause of education a scholar and devoted laborer, temperance reform a consistent advocate, and this society a valued member and one who for some time was its chief officer; therefore be it

Resolved, That while we bow in reverent submission to the will of Him who does all things well, we seek to pay an humble tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased and place on record some testimony to the worth of his labors and the example of noble living as set forth in his exemplary life—labors prompted by a desire for the elevation of his fellowmen, and directed with a tenacious adherence to purpose. Living during a period when the minds of men were sorely tried, and while the political opinions of those of less stable faith were vibrating, his belief in the ultimate triumph of truth remained unshaken by the surface waves of party strife. When men of principle were needed in the political field he was ready at duty's call. But the schoolroom was his chosen vineyard. In the education of children he foresaw the final triumph of modern reforms, and with that end in view spent the years of his most vigorous manhood behind the desk with thoroughness of instruction and firmness of discipline. Though not a member of any secular church, yet the example of a conscientious life and the testimony of intimate friends bear witness of an abiding faith. Be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this society and that a copy be submitted to each the GREENSBORO PATRIOT and North Carolina Friend for publication, and also that a copy be furnished the family of the deceased.

POLITICAL AND OTHERWISE.

Two Chapters from Jesse F. Hoskins' New Book, "Politicians and Ordinary Fools."

While confined to his home by a recent attack of locomotor ataxia the Duke of Summerfield availed himself of the opportunity of writing two more chapters of his book, "Politicians and Ordinary Fools." The Duke is a close observer of events, especially of a political nature, and by reason of his many years among politicians is able to depict them in their true light. He starts out:

"The Duke and Sotho Wilson some time ago were in Raleigh walking together from the depot to the capital. Seeing the Mountain Stomached Chief of the Savages and Benedict Arnold, the Grand High Sachem of the defunct Populist party, sliding into a room behind a green blind, the Duke stopped suddenly and leaned up against a lamp post, being afflicted with the spasm of the spinal cord. Lifting his spy glass to his vision-ary optics he remarked, 'Hold Sotho, a minute, and I will tell you exactly what they are doing, for I can, with this spy glass, send my visionary optics through that door.'"

"It is the same spy glass I used on the battlefield of Santiago. I see them standing in front of a counter, a bull-necked, white-aproned fellow pouring out calamity water in a pair of glasses; their elbows are bending, their mouths are wide open and they are now buying the merry madness of an hour, with the long irksomeness of following time, 'Who hath woe, who hath misery, who hath redness of eyes? they who tarry long at the wine cup.' And the Duke, after remaining for a few moments in his usual deep, sad, silence, staggered forward and yelled through the window at the big-necked, white-aproned fellow to know if he had been selling fire-water to his charioteer and servants, and if he had heard that the legislature had reinstated Sotho Wilson as railroad commissioner.

"The Grand High Sachem of the Populists, who if he had lived 1800 years ago would have been a rival to Judas Iscariot, began to gesticulate and the big fellow to roar like a lion seeking whom he might devour, the whole earth trembled and dark clouds of black savages hovered around their chief and he began to chew and spit out obnoxious white radical politicians by the dozen, replacing them with Democrats, the whole schidededdee of whom are classed in this volume as 'politicians and ordinary fools.'"

"As the first rays of the morning sun peeped over his broad acres on ground-hog day, the Duke of Summerfield glided forth from his castle door and observing great activity among the leaders of the Democratic party in various parts of his vineyard, he enquired of his Citizen John Gamble, who was passing by, what all this might mean. Gamble, bowing low, replied:

"May it please Your Grace, the dispensary at Greensboro, and what do you think of it?"

"Wait, my Citizen," replied the Duke, "and allow me to focus my visionary optics on the personnel of the leadership of the rival factions and I will tell you."

"Marry! On my troth! Behold I Gentiles, Jews, Priests forever after the order of Melchisedec, and 'Kings' even—nay, I might say John and Bob—all eager for the fray. The accustomed smoke curls not from Proximity Mills and my servants have ceased expending their energies in building the Southern Stock Mutual Palace. Behold, also, my 'Fisher' of men reaching his jointed fishing-rod even from Washington City and endeavoring to get a bite in his shirt sleeves and the thermometer down to zero. Behold, too, the priests and leaders of my people who have long desired prohibition and are now seeking to go into the whiskey business! Ah! My subject, when I see the heart-burnings and rival factions now dividing the great Democratic party on local issues, my gizzard is pained and my head is in the dust. How often would I have gathered strictly white Republicans as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, but they would not, and why? Because the great issue of white supremacy under which they wished to gather has now dwindled down into the issues of dispensary, curfew and the cutting of names out of solid rock. As I gaze in the other direction, I see even Forsyth forgetting all but her extra commissioners and allowing my apostate Josephus Daniels to run the ranch. Hasten, thou Citizen Gamble, to my people and say to them that unless all these things are changed I shall see in the dim vista of the future the political dead bodies of rival leaders throughout the state quietly turning up their toes by the side of those who opposed them, and the last state of the party shall be worse than the first. My white Republican subjects join with you for white supremacy and to keep the black flat heel of the nigger from off your necks. To your tents, O Israel, lest McKinley pursue us with a whip of scorpions and add us to the colony of Cubans and the Philippines. He that hath ears to hear let him hear, for I am the Duke and there is none other."

"Gamble then saluted, bowed low and departed and the Duke, in sadness, saw the ground-hog come from his hole and again disappear therein. He raised his cane aloft and said: 'By my beard I will still cleave to the white man's party and will not forget the Farmers' Mutual nor the Carolina Benevolent, dispensary or no dispensary, curfew or no curfew.'"

Trusts and the Tariff.

A correspondent expresses the mistaken belief that the repeal of the high tariff, under which our trusts flourish, would be followed by the organization of international trusts. It would be a matter of a few days, he thinks, to organize an Anglo-American paper trust, for example, and so put up prices in both England and America. But this is impossible, in view of the readiness of the paper makers of the Continent to supply England and America with paper at the prices now prevailing in England. The fact that there are no trusts now in England, in the American sense, is proof that they cannot exist there, owing to the freedom of foreign competition. They do exist, it is said, in Germany and other "protected" markets of the Continent. If, as is suggested, the English could form trusts with Americans, with or without a reduction of our tariff, why do they not form trusts with the Germans? The non-existence of such combinations to advance prices seems to prove that free trade is fatal to them in England.

It is conceivable that all the manufacturers in a given line of goods in all the countries of the world should organize a trust. Should they do so, the effect would be, of course, to close all the factories of the countries except where this line of goods can be made at the lowest wage cost. As wages are lower in England than here, the American factories in the imagined world-wide combine would be closed. But wages are lower in Germany than in England, and lower in France than in Germany. If the French factories were found to produce at least cost, the trust would operate only in the French factories, and the entire industry would be transferred to that country. But all such monster world-wide schemes are impracticable, so that free trade is, in fact, a remedy and the only sure remedy for trust prices. There are temporary combinations of employees in England to fight the combinations of the trade unions, but they are not trusts and they do not undertake to fix prices. There are also there, as elsewhere, consolidations of business houses at times, but they are ineffective for raising prices in the face of the free competition of the continental manufacturers.—Baltimore Sun.

Romance of the War.

When the Forty-seventh Regiment was mustered into service and was ordered for garrison duty in Puerto Rico, says the New York World, Lieutenant Joseph A. Meyer was the only officer of Company A who did not resign. The regiment had been in Puerto Rico only a short time when Lieutenant Meyer accidentally shot Private Valentine, of his own company.

Valentine went to the hospital at Humacao, and was visited daily by Lieutenant Meyers. Miss Juanita Meyers, daughter of a wealthy resident of the town, was also a visitor there. She took flowers and dainties to the sick soldiers.

Lieutenant Meyers and Juanita met over Valentine's cot and they loved each other at first sight. Lieutenant Meyers proposed and Juanita accepted him.

The wedding was the social event of the season in Humacao. It was the first marriage of an American officer to a Puerto Rican belle. Juanita's father, until the Spaniards got out, was treasurer of the corporation, and the wedding took place in the city hall. It was witnessed by American officers and influential Puerto Ricans.

Mrs. Meyers did not accompany her husband home. She bade him adieu at San Juan wharf, and went back to her father to await his return.

Lieutenant Meyers brought back the muster roll of his regiment. He is 25 years old and lives in East New York. As soon as his regiment is mustered out he will return to Puerto Rico to make his home there.

NOT NEGLECTING THE BABY.

They Couldn't Have the Doctor's Advice Too Often.

The doctor had come too late from a hard day's work, driving from place to place, feeling pulses, giving encouragement and writing prescriptions. He had eaten his supper at 11 o'clock, made a last call on a man with the grip, and had turned into bed, dog tired.

It was long after midnight when the telephone bell rang. The doctor was sunk in a deep sleep. Again the bell rang out sharply and impatiently and continued to ring, but the doctor did not hear it. At the other end of the hall a pale student pored over his book. He was studying law. The bell disturbed him, and he at length decided to answer it and stop the ringing. He took down the receiver and shouted "Hello!"

"Is that you, doctor?" asked an anxious voice.

"Yes, what do you want?" replied the student, who knew the doctor was tired and did not wish to wake him unless the case was serious.

"This is Potts, doctor, H. J. Potts. My wife wanted me to call you up to tell you that the baby wouldn't play with his blocks to-night and seemed kind of heavy and dull. What do you suppose is the matter, doctor? My wife is very uneasy."

"Hum," said the student, trying to think of something to say. "Is the baby feverish?"

"No; I don't think he is," replied the voice. "But he sneezed once tonight."

"Ah," said the bogus doctor, "that's a good sign. If he sneezed and is not feverish he is all right. You might give him a little water if he wakes up and cries; if he gets too warm take some of the cover off."

"All right, doctor. Much obliged. Sorry to have had to disturb you, but my wife wouldn't go to sleep until I called you up. Good night."

"Ah," thought the pale student, "that is $2 for the doctor. Wish I could earn it as easily."

When he told the doctor about his deception the next day he was thanked, and Mr. Potts' bill was swelled by $2, one-half of which went to the pale student.

"It's their first baby," explained the doctor, "and they're tickled to death to pay any price for it. I couldn't have given Potts any better advice myself."

"Pants."

A boy in Wichita schools, California, was suspended for reading the following essay on "pants:"

Pants are made for men, and not men for pants. Women are made for men, and not pants for a woman. When a man pants for a woman and a woman pants for a man, they are a pair of pants. Such pants don't last. Pants are like molasses—they are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold. The man in the moon changes his pants during an eclipse. Don't go to the pantry for pants—you may be mistaken. Men are often mistaken in pants. Such mistakes make breaches of promise. There has been much discussion as to whether "pants" were singular or plural. Seems to me when men wear pants they are plural, and when they don't wear any they are singular. Men get on a tear in their pants, and it is all right; but when the pants get on a tear, it is all wrong.—San Francisco Call.

Body Found Sitting in a Cave.

SANTIAGO, March 18.—It was reported here this afternoon that the body of Captain Villalon, who commanded the Spanish torpedo boat destroyer Pluton, which was sunk in the destruction of Admiral Cervera's squadron, has been discovered in a sitting position in an arm chair in a cave about a mile from El Morro to the westward.

Those who bring the news suggest that his sailors propped him in the chair when wounded and then left him to his fate. For many days a careful search was made for Captain Villalon's remains, but nothing was ever found to indicate where or how he died.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works; of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured; of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. Sold by C. E. Helton.

Gomez Living Like a King.

In the hotels and cafes, along the highways and among all classes of the people here, the regal state in which Gen. Gomez has been living since he came in from the jungle is the subject of much unfavorable comment. Gomez is housed at the Quinta de los Molinos, and has at his immediate command a retinue of more than 150 men. His daily expenses amount to nearly $200.

Here are more men attending to the wants of the great liberator in peace than he had for most of the time under his immediate command in the old war days, and the cost per day of maintaining this princely household amounts to as much as would safely have tided over for a month a Cuban rebellion in the less prosperous days.

Small wonder that the natives are talking. Not that Gomez isn't entitled to the best that is in Cuba, but the quick swap from a sweet potato underneath a palm, a bottle of water, a hammock, and 100 fighting men, to a palace, 150 servants, and the life of a Spanish Captain General, is as severe a shock for the Cubans as some think it must be to the stomach of the rough soldier of fortune from San Domingo.

In the meantime thousands of the Cubans haven't even the sweet potato underneath the palm, the hammock, and the bottle of water; and there is a feeling that in view of this state of affairs Gomez should muster out some of his servants, bodyguards, flychasers, pipe holders, &c., and adopt a mode of living more in keeping with the present condition of affairs.

But here another serious problem confronts the Cuban officials. Gomez isn't exactly in the way but they don't know what to do with him. At present there is no position regarded as sufficiently important to give him, and in their extremity the Cubans are hoping the American government will offer him a position as Assistant Governor.—Havana Letter to Philadelphia North American.

Children Reap the Benefit.

No act of the legislature was more commendable than the one appropriating $100,000 to educate the poor children of North Carolina. It is the policy of the Democratic party to send the money the people pay for taxes back to them and let their children reap the benefit. North Carolina must make progress along educational lines. She does not belong at the foot of all the other states in the matter of illiteracy and she will go for ward!—Cleveland Star.

BECOMING A MOTHER.

A Sure Way to Avoid Danger.

Every true woman wants to be a mother. A baby is the dream of her life—the crowning glory of womanhood—true happiness can never be known without the blessings a child brings. Yet the ordeal through which all mothers must pass is so full of pain, anxiety and fear, that many a young life is sacrificed because of the inability to undergo the struggle of childbirth.

It is not necessary to suffer in bringing new life into the world. By the use of "Mother's Friend," the suffering and danger can be avoided, and the hour robbed of its dread and pain. This remedy is praised by thousands who have tested it. Every woman is anxious to learn how to avoid the pain and suffering which may be in store for her. The little book, "Before Baby is Born," will be sent free to any address upon application to the Bradford Regulator Co., Atlanta, Georgia.

A PEACEFUL SONG.

O that the wars were ended
And done with their leaden rain,
That peace in the world walked splendid
And the Philistines were slain!
We're sick of the savage slaughter;
We listen in vain—in vain
For a message across the water
That the Philistines are slain!
For peace is the thing we will 'em—

SUNDAY BATTLES.

Include Some of the Most Noted
Achievements in American Annals.

Many of the great battles of the world have been fought on Sunday and some of the most decisive victories which the American flag has achieved on land and sea have likewise been achieved on that day.

Besides the recent victories at Santiago and Manila, the history of the United States teems with events which grossly violate the principle of rigid Sunday observance, looking at the logical side of the question. Of the decisive battles which were, at least in part,
fought on Sunday may be mentioned Saratoga, where Burgoyne,
with a trained army of British regulars, was compelled to yield to American militia. Who can reckon on the revived effect of that victory upon the sinking fortunes of the great rebellion? Washington did not think Sunday night a bad time to lead his ragged and half-frozen army across the Delaware.
Coming down to the Mexican war,
we find that the battle of Resaca
de la Palma was fought in a Sunday, and a year later, also on the Sabbath, America's troops carried hitherto impregnable Chapultepec castle by assault and ended the war in her favor.

During the civil war innumerable conflicts took place on Sunday.
It was on the Lord's day that the little wonder Monitor attacked and repulsed the powerful Merrimac and thereby revolutionized naval warfare. Pittsburg Landing, which brought Grant into prominence;
Petersburg, Spotsylvania, Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain were all fought on Sunday. It seems to have been rather a favorite day with Grant.

Stonewall Jackson, the "second Napoleon," was famed for his ultra-religious views, yet he did not hesitate to fight on Sunday. He reaped his greatest military success and met a hero's death in the dusk
of one Sunday afternoon at Chancellorsville. Perhaps some people will contend that had he deferred his brilliant flank movement until Monday he might have been spared,
but military men will hardly subscribe to this view. Chickamauga was fought on Sunday, and the aggressors won. One bright Sunday morning the Kearsarge challenged
the famous Alabama to combat off
the coast of France and sank her.
Probably Burnside met a deserved rebuke when he assaulted Lee and Jackson at Fredericksburg on Sunday, for history records his crushing defeat. And that ever memorable Sunday at Appomattox, when gray-haired and heartbroken Lee yielded the remnants of his army to his generous opponent, practically brought the civil war to a close.

Out of a total of some 2,300 engagements fought in all the wars of the United States over three hundred occurred on Sunday.
Quite a fair proportion, considering that it only gets around once in every seven days. And this is how history answers the pulpit and has indelibly marked "bloody Sunday"
as a fateful day in the progress of the great republic.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did,
and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—Josh Edgar, Germantown, Cal. For sale by Lasting Impression.

The fact that early impressions linger long in the memory needs
no proof, but an interesting illustration of it happens along now and then.

"There are men," said Jones,
"whose simple personality is more persuasive than any oratory could be, who can impress you more powerfully with a gesture—a wave of the hand—than if they uttered whole dictionaries of words. Did you ever come across such a man?"
"Oh, yes," replied Brown. "My father was a man of that kind. I came across him, as it were, quite frequently. It was when I was across him—across his knee—that a wave of his hand always impressed me most powerfully. Ah, yes!"

HENS AND THEIR FRUIT.

Value of Chickens and Eggs Produced Last Year Was Fully $290,000,000.

P. H. Sprague, a Chicago poultry dealer, read a paper before the Farmers' Institute at Princeton Wednesday, in which he stated that the production of chickens in the United States last year reached 3,350,000,000 and of eggs 13,000,000,000. The total value of chickens and eggs produced was $290,000,000. Accepting these figures as approximately correct, we must conclude that the hen plays an important part in our American life.
But we will better understand the relative importance of that part when we come to make some comparisons.

The value of our tobacco crop has rarely been as much as $13,000,000.
The value of our potato crop is less than $80,000,000 on the average. The value of our barley crop is not often as much as $30,000,000. An oat crop worth $200,000,000 is unusual. Our annual output of pig iron has rarely exceeded $130,000,000 in value. Coal, by far the most valuable of our mineral products, gives a total annual output of some $200,000,000.

Raw cotton, wheat, hay and corn
are the only four products of our country that exceed in value hens and hens' eggs, according to the above estimate, and cotton sometimes follows
the latter in the order of importance,
the crop having exceeded $290,000,000
in value only three times and the highest having been not quite $310,- 000,000. The wheat crop has ranged in value from $213,000,000 to $513,000,- 000 and the corn crop from about $440,000,000. The average value of the hay crop may be stated at about $390,000,000. From this comparison the importance of the hen, especially in our agricultural economy, will be appreciated.

If Mr. Sprague stated the value of the egg product separately the fact is not reported. It would be interesting to know the value of the egg output.
Probably it exceeds the value of any mineral output excepting coal, but not excepting pig iron. Probably, too, it exceeds the value of any farm crop except corn, wheat, hay, cotton and oats, and it may even exceed oats. The hen is by no means to be despised.—

Kipling as a Reporter.

It is not kind to the San Francisco editor who rejected "The Courtship of Dinah Shadd" to recall that he based his refusal on the ground that the story was "scarcely equal to the standard of merit demanded by the magazine." Those were the days when Kipling was a struggling reporter.

In this connection there is recalled the story of Kipling's third and last assignment to a news story. A big insurance fraud had been unearthed and exposed by the paper to which Kipling was attached. Kipling was assigned to get a "second-day story" on the man chiefly involved in the frauds,
and who has not yet been arrested.
Late in the afternoon he walked into the office with facts sufficient to justify a three-column-space allowance. But somehow his own personality persisted in obtruding itself into the facts, and he presently drifted into a scathing satire on the offender, written in the inimitable vein which has since made him famous.

The city editor counted exactly fifteen libel suits and about half a million dollars in damages in that story, and next morning Mr. Kipling was requested to transfer his operations to another field. Said the editor, in bidding him goodbye:

"You have genius. You will some day make a great name,
though I may not live to see it.
But fate never intended you for the mechanism of news."—Leslie's

Christian Science at Work.

One of the most appalling stories about Christian Science that have yet come to light has just been communicated to me. Its authenticity is vouched for, though I do not desire to be numbered among the vouchers. A gentleman met with an accident which resulted in his being left with one leg shorter than the other. Medical science failed to put him to rights, and in despair he determined to try what Christian Science could do. He was introduced to a "healer," who was said to have had miraculous successes with similar cases. Unfortunately the lady had engagements on the continent, and was only able to see him personally once. She, however, commenced
the treatment at this interview,
and departed for the continent,
promising to continue the course in absentia. The attentive reader of Truth is aware that in Christian Science absent treatment is much the same as present treatment. So it proved in this instance. The leg began to grow. It continued to grow. It got as long as the other, but it showed no disposition to stop growing at that point. He made inquiries after the absent healer, but failed to find her. His leg kept on growing and in despair he advertised in the newspapers in the hope of stopping the absent
treatment, but without success.
His leg is now three inches longer than the other, and is still growing.

Reviewing the work of the past legislature, it is noted that charters were granted to 24 local banks, trust and loan companies, 14 railroads and 7 insurance companies.
This indicates a revival of business in the state that has heretofore had no parallel in North Carolina's history. All the signs indicate a great industrial development, and it is significant that the establishment of new banks and insurance companies, the development of water powers and the building of railroads, cotton mills and electric power plants, is almost wholly the work of home capitalists. Making a note of this fact, outsiders will readily come to the conclusion that North Carolina is now, more than ever before, the state for investors.

CHOOSE YOUR DRUGGIST CAREFULLY.

A druggist can do more harm or good than most people give him credit for. There are different qualities in drugs just as there are in dry goods, and to the outsider all qualities go by the same name. The difference between pure, high grade drugs and cheap, inferior drugs of the same name, means the difference between keeping sick and getting well. When a doctor writes a prescription, he means best quality. When some druggists fill a prescription, they think only about big profits.

His Mind Gave Way.
ADDISON, W. Va., March 19.—L. T. Albrook, of St. Louis, Mo., who sought lodging at police headquarters in Parkersburg recently, and when searched was found in possession of two tickets from a Western matrimonial agency, for which he claimed he paid a goodly sum, entitling the bearer to wed Miss Ethel Dartwood, at Upper Glades, Webster county, is now in jail at Addison, a raving maniac. Albrook walked over 1,000 miles to see his intended bride, who was supposed to possess a fortune of $35,000; but upon his arrival at Upper Glades was greeted by a widow and one child, who were practically without a home. He pressed his suit, however, but was rejected, and after failing to get an attorney who would bring a suit for breach of promise, his mind gave way and he was adjudged insane.

These bonds will be issued for the payment of the penitentiary debt contracted under fusion administration. This indebtedness from the present outlook will be more than the $110,000 first supposed.

WHAT IS IT?

I am showing you a cut here of Clark's Cutaway Plow and Pulley combined, worked by two horses, which leaves your land thoroughly worked and turned to the depth of 7 to 9 inches. The recent packing rain will make the land to break cloddy with the usual plow, but this tool leaves it ready for the Corn Planter. To see it work is to appreciate it. I sold 25 of these in North Carolina last year as a test and every one is giving entire satisfaction. The machine will last ten years, and is shown at
