—Mr. J. P. Dempsey, of Brown Summit, who has been over in Virginia some time following his trade of millwright, was in the city yesterday, having come home for a few days. He has just completed a new roller system at Red Mill, and goes to Rocky Mount, this week to establish another.

—The work of altering Church street to conform to the grade and width of Summit Avenue is progressing rapidly this week. Several nice trees had to be sacrificed. The Avenue is fast nearing completion and makes a splendid appearance. It is an ideal place to hold the tournament next year.

—Dr. Geo. T. Winston, president of the University of Texas, is here with his family the guests of Dr. McIver. They will probably leave for home tonight, after having been in the State a fortnight or more. Everyone knows Dr. Winston and is glad to see him back on his native soil, if only for a visit.

—Mr. W. G. Crutchfield, for several years transfer clerk at the Southern depot here, has been notified of his promotion to the position of agent at Salisbury, to take effect the 20th. He will leave for that place in a few days. His friends here are glad to learn of his promotion, but they are loth to see him depart.

—The Guilford charge of the Reformed church has been divided, three of the churches being set apart and designated as the Burlington charge, which will be served by Rev. J. D. Andrew. The two remaining churches, Brick Church and Mt. Hope, of the charge will be served by Rev. Stauffer, of Pennsylvania.

—Mr. J. F. Ross announces through the PATRIOT that he will open a full line of wheat fertilizers next Monday at 112 Lewis street, near the Eagle foundry. He intends to handle none but the best brands and will be pleased to have the farmers call and get his prices. He offers fertilizers in exchange for wheat at the highest market prices. Mr. T. F. Hendrix is salesman for Mr. Ross. See ad.

—Rev. S. O. Hall preached his farewell sermon to the Westminster congregation Sunday and administered communion for the last time as pastor of the church. Monday he left with his family for his new charge at Gordonsville, Va., followed by the prayers and best wishes of a host of friends. He is a brilliant young man and will attain much prominence in his denomination if his life is spared so he can continue to serve his Master's calling.

—When you start out to lay in the outfit of winter shoes for yourself and family, don't fail to see the large and carefully selected stock at Thacker & Brockmann's. This firm makes a specialty of cheap and medium grade shoes suitable for country wear—shoes that are made of solid leather so as to give good service, but still made up neat and sightly, and they have long had the reputation of selling good honest shoes at remarkably low prices.

—The residence of Officer Jeffries was burglarized last week, the thieves gaining an entrance by way of a rear window and ransacking every nook and corner of the house, evidently searching for money. So far as known nothing of value is missing. Mr. Jeffries' family has been stopping temporarily at his wife's mother's, out on the edge of town, while she visited up in the mountains and the burglary was not discovered until a day or two, perhaps, after it was committed.

Prohibition Convention.

A meeting of the Prohibition party of the Fifth congressional district and of Guilford county will be held in the court house in Greensboro on Saturday, Sept. 17th, at 12 M. All Prohibitionists are urged to be present.

D. W. C. BENBOW, Chm.

Public Speaking.

Hon. W. H. Kitchin will address the people at Burlington, Tuesday night, Sept. 20th; Greensboro, Wednesday night, Sept. 21st; High Point, Thursday night, Sept. 22d; Madison, Friday (day), Sept. 23rd; Walnut Cove, Saturday (day), Sept. 24th.

Let everybody attend and hear political issues discussed.

A. L. BROOKS, Chairman Dem. Cong. Com.

West's Excursion to Asheville.

One week from to-day (Wednesday, September 21), the West annual excursion to Asheville will be operated over the Southern Railway. The experience of the Greensboro public with Mr. J. H. West as a manager of pleasure excursions assures them that nothing to be desired will be left undone.

The Wonder band, of Danville, will be with this excursion and will give concerts on the train and at the hotel, and will further make themselves popular by contributing as far as they can to the comfort of all who go.

—Mr. L. M. Stewart, the Summit Avenue dairyman, has retired from business, making his last delivery this morning. He sold his cows, some of the best in the county, to the State Normal and Industrial College, and will close up his affairs here preparatory to moving to Guilford College upon the completion of his new dwelling house there. His nephew, Walter Stewart, who has been with him several months, will remain for a time in the employ of his successor, Mr. Wakefield.

—The Democrats of Chatham county are preparing for a monstrous rally and barbecue next Friday, the 16th, at Goldston. Some of the best speakers in the State will be there to discuss the issues of the campaign, and a free dinner will be served by two hundred of the handsome young ladies of the county. For the convenience of the many from up this way who wish to attend the C. F. & Y. V. will run a special train to Goldston, leaving here at 8:50 A. M. The round trip fare will be but $1.25.

Notice to the Public.

Mr. J. L. Stanley, of Friendship township, met with the misfortune of losing a tenant house on last Thursday night. Mr. Stanley had insured his house in the Farmers' Mutual, but unfortunately the house having been vacant for more than ten days the association is not liable for the loss. Mr. Stanley is a hard working, industrious and worthy citizen, and deserves that sort of sympathy which is measured by deeds rather than words. He has been a member of the association for the last two years and has always paid his assessments promptly. Whatever donations this notice may prompt generous hearts to give will be thankfully received and handed over to Mr. Stanley by J. R. Wharton, at Wharton Bros.' book store. J. R. WHARTON.

—The nomination of Mr. A. L. Brooks for solicitor, in place of Mr. Boone, whose health compelled him to withdraw from the canvass, affords the friends and acquaintances of the former much satisfaction. Mr. Brooks has lived in the eastern part of the district all his life, locating in this city a year ago. The general estimate of him here coincides with that obtaining where his life has been as an open book. He is a lawyer of exceptional ability, an upright christian gentleman, faithful to his friends, fearless in the face of foes and withal of the right caliber to make an ideal solicitor. The judicial ticket is in fact one of which Guilford may well be proud. We yield to no district in the state the honor of having a more desirable ticket. In Mr. Shaw, the nominee for judge, we have a man that will do much to restore the honor and dignity of the bench to its wonted sphere. Free from all the influences that have brought reproach on our judiciary in late years, he will receive the support of the masses of honest people in the district and assume the duties of his high office imbued with the purpose to dispense justice without fear or favor. With such a team as Shaw and Brooks in the field it is not strange that there is consternation in the ranks of the opposition.

JUDGE R. P. DICK'S DEATH.

The Eminent Jurist Passed Peacefully into Eternal Rest Monday Evening.

Our honored and respected townsman, Judge Robert Paine Dick, died at his home on Church street Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock after months of patient suffering. The spark of life flickered feebly for several days prior to the peaceful close of his long and useful career, but the shock was none the less severe to the family and friends on account of its anticipation. The profoundest sorrow marked the announcement of his death yesterday morning, for it was not generally known the night previous. Our people in every walk of life seemed to feel a weight of grief which is uncommon in connection with such events and on every hand could be heard expressions of sorrow. Ever since his illness last spring which necessitated his retirement from the bench his family and friends from far and near have been extremely solicitous for his welfare. Upon the advice of his physicians he went to Baltimore and submitted to an operation which gave promise of prolonging his life but its benefits were only temporary. At times since his strength had rallied but only momentarily. His malady, Bright's disease, with complications, was not to be baffled in claiming such a distinguished victim.

It would be difficult to determine which of Judge Dick's many good traits most commended him to his fellowmen. He lacked absolutely none of the inborn characteristics or accomplishments of a well-rounded man and the eulogies of his most gifted obituarists will fall far short of portraying the beautiful that was discernible in his life. He occupied a place in public esteem that is unattainable to but few mortals, his love and charity knowing no bounds. In his private or home life he was endeared beyond measure.

Judge Dick was born in Greensboro October 5th, 1823. Of his nine brothers and sisters only one survives him, Miss Annie Dick, of this city. He leaves a wife and five children, the latter Mrs. Judge R. M. Douglas, Mrs. W. E. Stone and Mr. George A. Dick, of this city; Mrs. W. Leigh Williams, of Norfolk, Va., and Mr. Sam W. Dick, of Baltimore. All the family was present when the Angel of Death summoned his spirit on high.

The funeral services over his remains were held at the First Presbyterian church this morning at 11 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. E. W. Smith, D. D., officiating, and making a very appropriate talk, paying the most graceful and touching tributes to the memory of the deceased, who had long been an official member of the congregation. A profusion of the most beautiful floral emblems rested about the casket. The deacons of the church served as pall bearers, while the elders acted as honorary pall bearers. Interment was made at Greene Hill cemetery.

An extended biographical sketch of Judge Dick will appear in our next issue.

EXTOL THE VIRTUES.

AND COVER THE FAULTS, SAYS REV. DR. TALMAGE.

A Great Sermon on the Art of Friendship. The Man That Hath Friends Must Show Himself Friendly—Five Sermons in Every Healthy Handshake.

[Copyright, 1936, by American Press Association.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The obtaining of good friends, which most look upon as a matter of happy accident, Dr. Talmage in this sermon shows to be a matter of intelligent selection; text, Proverbs xviii, 24, "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly."

About the sacred and divine art of making and keeping friends I speak—a subject on which I never heard of any one preaching—and yet God thought it of enough importance to put it in the middle of the Bible, these writings of Solomon, bounded on one side by the popular psalms of David and on the other by the writings of Isaiah, the greatest of the prophets. It seems all a matter of haphazard how many friends we have or whether we have any friends at all, but there is nothing accidental about it. There is a law which governs the accretion and dispersion of friendships. They did not "just happen so" any more than the tides just happen to rise or fall, or the sun just happens to rise or set. It is a science, an art, a God given regulation.

Tell me how friendly you are to others, and I will tell you how friendly others are to you. I do not say you will not have enemies. Indeed, the best way to get ardent friends is to have ardent enemies if you get their enmity in doing the right thing. Good men and women will always have enemies, because their goodness is a perpetual rebuke to evil, but this antagonism of foes will make more intense the love of your adherents. Your friends will gather closer around you because of the attacks of your assailants. The more your enemies abuse you the better your coadjutors will think of you.

Unjust Assault Multiplies Friends.

The best friends we have ever had appeared at some juncture when we were especially bombarded. There have been times in my life when unjust assault multiplied my friends, as near as I could calculate, about 50 a minute. You are bound to some people by many cords that neither time nor eternity can break, and I will warrant that many of those cords were twisted by hands malevolent. Human nature was shipwrecked about 59 centuries ago, the captain of that craft, our Adam, and his first mate running the famous cargo around on a snag in the river Hiddkel, but there was at least one good trait of human nature that waded safely ashore from that shipwreck, and that is the disposition to take the part of those unfairly dealt with. When it is thoroughly demonstrated that some one is being persecuted, although at the start slanderous tongues were busy enough, defenders finally gather around as thick as honeybees on a trellis of bruised honeysuckle.

If, when set upon by the furies, you can have grace enough to keep your mouth shut and preserve your equipoise and let others fight your battles, you will find yourself after awhile with a whole cordon of allies. Had not the world given to Christ on his arrival at Palestine a very cold shoulder, there would not have been one-half as many angels chanting glory out of the hymn-books of the sky, bound in black lids of midnight. Had it not been for the heavy and jagged and tortuous cross, Christ would not have been the admired and loved of more people than any being who ever touched foot on either the eastern or western hemisphere. Instead, therefore, of giving up in despair because you have enemies, rejoice in the fact that they rally for you the most helpful and enthusiastic admirers. In other words, there is no violence that can hinder my text from coming true, "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly."

It is my ambition to project especially upon the young a thought which may benignly shape their destiny for the here and the hereafter. Before you show yourself friendly you must be friendly. I do not recommend a dramatized geniality. There is such a thing as pretending to be in rapport with others when we are their dire destructants and talk against them and wish them calamity. Judas covered up his treachery by a resounding kiss, and caresses may be demoniacal. Better the mythological Cerberus, the three headed dog of hell, barking at us, than the wolf in sheep's clothing, its brindled hide covered up by deceptive wool and its deathful howl cadenced into an innocent bleating. Disraeli writes of Lord Manfred, who, after committing many outrages upon the people, seemed suddenly to become friendly and invited them to a banquet. After most of the courses of food had been served he blew a horn, which was in those times a signal for the servants to bring on the desert, but in this case it was the signal for assassins to enter and slay the guests. His pretended friendliness was a cruel fraud, and there are now people whose smile is a falsehood.

One Must Be Friendly.

Before you begin to show yourself friendly you must be friendly. Get your heart right with God and man, and this grace will become easy. You may by your own resolution get your nature into a semblance of this virtue, but the grace of God can sublimely lift you into it. Sailing on the river Thames two vessels ran aground. The owners of one got 100 horses and pulled on the grounded ship and pulled it to pieces. The owners of the other grounded vessel waited till the tides came in, and easily floated the ship out of all trouble. So we may pull and haul at our grounded human nature and try to get it into better condition, but there is nothing like the oceanic tides of God's uplifting grace. If when under the flash of the Holy Ghost we see our own foibles and defects and depravities, we will be very lenient and very easy with others. We will look into their characters for things commendatory and not damnable. If you would rub your own eye a little more vigorously, you would find a mote in it, the extraction of which would keep you so busy you would not have much time to shoulder your broadax and go forth to split up the beam in your neighbor's eye. In a Christian spirit keep on exploring the characters of those you meet, and I am sure you will find something in them fit for a foundation of friendliness.

You invite me to come to your country seat and spend a few days. Thank you! I arrive about noon of a beautiful summer day. What do you do? As soon as I arrive you take me out under the shadow of the great elms. You take me down to the artificial lake, the spotted trout floating in and out among the white pillars of the pond lilies. You take me to the stalls and kennels where you keep your fine stock, and here are the Durham cattle and the Gordon setters, and the high stepping steeds, by pawing and neighing, the only language they can speak, asking for harness or saddle and a short turn down the road. Then we go back to the house, and you get me in the right light and show me the Kenesets and the Bierstadts on the wall and take me into the music room and show me the birdcages, the canaries in the bay window answering the robins in the tree tops. Thank you! I never enjoyed myself more in the same length of time. Now, why do we not do so with the characters of others, and show the bloom and the music and the bright fountains? No. We say: "Come along, and let me show you that man's character. Here is a green scummed frog pond, and there's a filthy cellar, and I guess under that hedge there must be a black snake. Come and let us for an hour or two regale ourselves with the nuisances."

Extol the Virtues.

Oh, my friends, better cover up the faults and extol the virtues, and this habit once established of universal friendliness will become as easy as it is for a syringa to flood the air with sweetness, as easy as it will be further on in the season for a quail to whistle up from the grass. When we hear something bad about somebody whom we always supposed to be good, take out your lead pencil and say: "Let me see! Before I accept that baleful story against that man's character I will take off from it 25 per cent for the habit of exaggeration which belongs to the man who first told the story. Then I will take off 25 per cent for the additions which the spirit of gossip in every community has put upon the original story. Then I will take off 25 per cent from the fact that the man may have been put into circumstances of overpowering temptation. So I have taken off 75 per cent. But I have not heard his side of the story at all, and for that reason I take off the remaining 25 per cent. Excuse me, sir, I don't believe a word of it."

But here comes in a defective maxim, so often quoted, "Where there is so much smoke there must be some fire." Look at all the smoke for years around Jenner, the introducer of vaccination, and the smoke around Columbus, the discoverer, and the smoke around Martin Luther, and Savonarola, and Galilei, and Paul, and John, and tell me where was the fire. That is one of the satanic arts to make smoke without fire. Slander, like the world, may be made out of nothing. If the Christian, fair minded, commonsensical spirit in regard to others predominated in the world, we should have the millennium in about six weeks, for would not that be lamb and lion, cow and leopard, lying down together? Nothing but the grace of God can ever put us into such a habit of mind and heart as that. The tendency is in the opposite direction. This is the way the world talks: I put my name on the back of a man's note, and I had to pay it, and I will never again put my name on the back of any man's note. I gave a beggar 10 cents, and five minutes after I saw him entering a liquor store to spend it. I will never again give a cent to a beggar. I helped that young man start in business, and, lo, after awhile he came and opened a store almost next door to me and stole my customers. I will never again help a young man to start in business. I trusted in what my neighbor promised to do, and he broke his word, and the psalmist was right before he corrected himself, for "all men are liars." So men become suspicious and saturnine and selfish, and at every additional wrong done them they put another layer on the wall of their exclusiveness and another bolt to the door that shuts them out from sympathy with the world. They get cheated out of $1,000, or misinterpreted, or disappointed, or betrayed, and higher goes the wall, and faster goes another bolt, not realizing that while they lock others out they lock themselves in, and some day they wake up to find themselves imprisoned in a dastardly habit. No friends to others, others are no friends to them. There's an island half way between England, Scotland and Ireland, called the Isle of Man, and the seas dash against all sides of it, and I am told there is no more lovely place than that Isle of Man, but when a man becomes insular in his disposition and cuts himself off from the main land of the world's sympathies he is despicable, and all around him is an Atlantic ocean of selfishness. Behold that Isle of Man!

Sermons in Healthy Halls.

Now, supposing that you have, by a divine regeneration, got right toward God and humanity, and you start out to practice my text, "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly." Fulfill this by all forms of appropriate salutation. Have you noticed that the head is so poised that the easiest thing on earth is to give a nod of recognition? To swing the head from side to side, as when it is wagged in derision, is unnatural and unpleasant; to throw it back, invites vertigo, but to drop the chin in greeting is accompanied with so little exertion that all day long and every day, you might practice it without the least semblance of fatigue. So also the structure of the hand indicates handshaking; the knuckles not made so that the fingers can turn out, but so made that the fingers can turn in, as in clasping hands, and the thumb divided from and set aloof from the fingers, so that while the fingers take your neighbor's hand on one side, the thumb takes it on the other and pressed together, all the faculties of the hand give emphasis to the salutation. Five sermons in every healthy hand urge us to handshaking.

Besides this, every day when you start out, load yourself up with kind thoughts, kind words, kind expressions and kind greetings. When a man or woman does well, tell him so, tell her so. If you meet some one who is improved in health and it is demonstrated in girth and color, say, "How well you look!" But if, on the other hand, under the wear and tear of life he appears pale and exhausted, do not introduce sanitary subjects, or say anything at all about physical condition. In the case of improved health, you have by your words given another impulse toward the robust and the jocund, while in the case of the failing health you have arrested the decline by your silence, by which he concludes, "If I were really so badly off, he would have said something about it." We are all, especially those of a nervous temperament, susceptible to kind words and discouraging words. Form a conspiracy against us, and let ten men meet us at certain points on our way over to business and let each one say, "How sick you look!" though we should start out well, after meeting the first and hearing his depressing salute, we would begin to examine our symptoms. After meeting the second gloomy accosting, we would conclude we did not feel quite as well as usual. After meeting the third, our sensations would be dreadful and after meeting the fourth, unless we suspected a conspiracy, we would go home and go to bed, and the other six pessimists would be a useless surplus of discouragement.

Brightness Not Gloom.

My dear sir, my dear madam, what do you mean by going about this world with disheartenments? Is not the supply of gloom and trouble and misfortune enough to meet the demand without your running a factory of pins and spikes? Why should you plant black and blue in the world when God so seldom plants them? Plenty of scarlet colors, plenty of yellow, plenty of green, plenty of pink, but very seldom a plant black or blue. I never saw a black flower, and there's only here and there a bluebell or a violet, but the blue is for the most part reserved for the sky, and we have to look up to see that, and when we look up no color can do us harm. Why not plant along the paths of others the brightnesses instead of the glooms?

Do not prophesy misfortune. If you must be a prophet at all, be an Ezekiel and not a Jeremiah. In ancient times prophets who foretold evil were doing right, for they were divinely directed, but the prophets of evil in our time are generally false prophets. Some of our weatherwise people prophesied we would have a summer of unparalleled heat. It has been a very comfortable summer. Last fall all the weather prophets agreed in saying we should have a winter of extraordinary severity, blizzard on the heels of blizzard. It was the mildest winter I ever remember to have passed. Indeed, the autumn and the spring almost shoved winter out of the procession. Real troubles have no heralds running ahead of their somber chariots, and no one has any authority in our time to announce their coming. Load yourself up with hopeful words and deeds. The hymn once sung in our churches is unfit to be sung, for it says:

We should suspect some danger near Where we possess delight.

In other words, manage to keep miserable all the time. The old song sung at the pianos a quarter of a century ago was right, "Kind words can never die." Such kind words have their nests in kind hearts, and when they are hatched out and take wing they circle round in flights that never cease, and sportsman's gun cannot shoot them, and storms cannot ruffle their wings, and when they cease flight in these lower skies of earth they sweep around amid the higher altitudes of heaven. At Baltimore I talked into a phonograph. The cylinder containing the words was sent on to Washington, and the next day that cylinder from another phonographic instrument, when turned, gave back to me the very words I had uttered the day before and with the same intonations. Scold into a phonograph, and it will scold back. Pour mild words into a phonograph, and it will return the gentleness. Society and the world and the church are phonographs. Give them acerbity and rough treatment, and acerbity and rough treatment you will get back. Give them practical friendliness, and they will give back practical friendliness. A father asked his little daughter, "Mary, why is it that everybody loves you?" She answered, "I don't know unless it is because I love everybody." "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly."

First Save My Friend.

We want something like that spirit of sacrifice for others which was seen in the English channel, where in the storm a boat containing three men was upset, and all three were in the water struggling for their lives. A boat came to their relief, and a rope was thrown to one of them, and he refused to take it, saying: "First fling it to Tom. He is just ready to go down. I can last some time longer." A man like that, be he sailor or landsman, be he in upper ranks of society or lower ranks, will always have plenty of friends. What is true manward is true Godward. We must be the friends of God if we want him to be our friend. We cannot treat

Christ badly all our lives and expect him to treat us lovingly. I was reading of a sea fight in which Lord Nelson captured a French officer, and when the French officer offered Lord Nelson his hand Nelson replied, "First give me your sword and then give me your hand." Surrender of our resistance to God must precede God's proffer of pardon to us. Repentance before forgiveness. You must give up your rebellious sword before you can get a grasp of the Divine hand.

Oh, what a glorious state of things to have the friendship of God! Why, we could afford to have all the world against us and all other worlds against us if we had God for us. He could in a minute blot out this universe, and in another minute make a better universe. I have no idea that God tried hard when he made all things. The most brilliant thing known to us is light, and for the creation of that he only used a word of command. As out of a flint a frontiersman strikes a spark, so out of one word God struck the noonday sun. For the making of the present universe I do not read that God lifted so much as a finger. The Bible frequently speaks of God's hand and God's arm and God's shoulder and God's foot. Then suppose he should put hand and arm and shoulder and foot to utmost tension, what could he not make? That God of such demonstrated and undemonstrated strength you may have for your present and everlasting friend, not a stately and reticent friend, hard to get at, but as approachable as a country mansion on a summer day, when all the doors and windows are wide open. Christ said, "I am the door." And he is a wide door, a high door, a palace door, an always open door.

No One to Cry To.

My 4-year-old child got hurt and did not cry until hours after, when her mother came home, and then she burst into weeping, and some of the domestics, not understanding human nature, said to her, "Why did you not cry before?" She answered, "There was no one to cry to." Now, I have to tell you that while human sympathy may be absent divine sympathy is always accessible. Give God your love and get his love, your service and secure his help, your repentance and have his pardon. God a friend? Why, that means all your wounds medicated, all your sorrows soothed, and if some sudden catastrophe should hurl you out of earth it would only hurl you into heaven.

If God is your friend, you cannot go out of the world too quickly or suddenly so far as your own happiness is concerned. There were two Christians who entered heaven. The one was standing at a window in perfect health, watching a shower, and the lightning instantly slew him, but the lightning did not flash down the sky as swiftly as his spirit flashed upward. The Christian man who died on the same day next door had been for a year or two failing in health, and for the last three months had suffered from a disease that made the nights sleepless and the days an anguish. Do you not really think that the case of the one who went instantly was more desirable than the one who entered the shining gate through a long lane of insomnia and congestion? In the one case it was like your standing wearily at a door, knocking and waiting and wondering if it will ever open, and knocking and waiting again, while in the other case it was a swinging open of the door at the first touch of your knuckle. Give your friendship to God and have God's friendship for you, and even the worst accident will be a victory.

Value of Divine Friendship.

How refreshing is human friendship, and true friends, what priceless treasures! When sickness comes and trouble comes and death comes, we send for our friends first of all, and their appearance in our doorway in any crisis is re-enforcement, and when they have entered, we say, "Now it is all right!" Oh, what would we do without personal friends, business friends, family friends? But we want something mightier than human friendship in the great exigencies. When Jonathan Edwards, in his final hour, had given the last goodbye to all his earthly friends, he turned on his pillow and closed his eyes, confidently saying, "Now where is Jesus of Nazareth, my true and never failing friend?" Yes, I admire human friendship as seen in the case of David and Jonathan, of Paul and Onesiphorus, of Herder and Goethe, of Goldsmith and Reynolds, of Beaumont and Fletcher, of Crowley and Harvey, of Erasmus and Thomas More, of Lessing and Mendelssohn, of Lady Churchill and Princess Anne, of Orestes and Pylades, each requesting that himself might take the point of the dagger, so the other might be spared; of Epaminondas and Pelopidas, who locked their shields in battle, determined to die together, but the grandest, the mightiest, the tenderest friendship in all the universe is the friendship between Jesus Christ and a believing soul. Yet, after all I have said, I feel I have only done what James Marshall, the miner, did in 1848 in California, before its gold mines were known. He reached in and put upon the table of his employer, Captain Sutter, a thimbleful of gold dust. "Where did you get that?" said his employer. The reply was, "I got it this morning from a mill race from which the water had been drawn off." But that gold dust, which could have been taken up between the finger and the thumb, was the prophecy and specimen that revealed California's wealth to all nations. And today I have only put before you a specimen of the value of divine friendship, only a thimbleful of mines inexhaustible and infinite, though all time and all eternity go on with the exploration.

Mothers

recovering from the illness attending childbirth, or who suffer from the effects of disorders, derangements and displacements of the woman's organs, will find relief and a permanent cure in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Taken during pregnancy, the "Prescription" makes childbirth easy, by preparing the system for parturition, thus assisting Nature and shortening "labor." The painful ordeal of childbirth is robbed of its terrors and made almost painless, and the dangers thereof greatly lessened to both mother and child. The period of confinement is also greatly shortened, the mother strengthened and built up, and an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child promoted. If the married woman be delicate, run-down, or overworked, it worries her husband as well as herself. This is the proper time to build up her strength and cure those weaknesses, or ailments, which are the cause of her trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep and makes a new woman of her.

FOUL WORK OF A FIEND.

An Anarchist Commits the Most Horrible Crime of the Century—Austria's Empress Murdered.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Sept. 10.—The Empress of Austria was assassinated at the Hotel Beau-rivage this evening, by an anarchist, who was arrested. He stabbed her majesty with a stiletto.

It appears that her majesty was walking from her hotel to the landing place of the steamer at about one o'clock when an Italian anarchist named Lucchoni, who was born in Paris of Italian parents, suddenly approached and stabbed her to the heart. The empress fell, got up again and was carried to the steamer, but, seeing the empress had not recovered consciousness, the captain returned and the empress was carried to the hotel Beau-rivage, where she expired.

The stretcher upon which the empress was carried to the hotel was hastily improvised with oars and sailcloths. Doctors and priests were immediately summoned, and a telegram was sent to Emperor Francis Joseph.

All efforts to revive her majesty were unavailing, and she expired at three o'clock.

The medical examination showed that the assassin must have used a small triangular file. After striking the blow he ran along the Rue des Alpes, with the evident intention of entering the square des Alpes, but before reaching it he was seized by two cabmen who had witnessed the crime. They handed him over to a boatman and a gendarme who conveyed him to the police station. The prisoner made no resistance. He even sang as he walked along, saying: "I did it," and "She must be dead." At the police station he declared that he was a "starving anarchist, with no hatred for the poor, but only for the rich." Later, when taken to the court house and interrogated by a magistrate in the presence of three members of the local government and police officials, he pretended not to know French and refused to answer questions. The police on searching him found a document showing his name to be Luigi Lucchoni, born in Paris in 1873 and an Italian soldier.

A great crowd quickly assembled around the Hotel Beau-rivage, where the officials proceeded after interrogating the prisoner. The police searched the scene of the crime for the weapon and the accomplices of the assassin. It appears that a boatman noticed three persons closely following the empress, who was making purchases in the shops. The assassin told the magistrate that he came to Geneva in order to assassinate "another important person," but had been unable to execute the project. The reason of his failure he did not give, but he declared that it was only by accident he had learned of the presence of the Austrian empress in Geneva.

Fusion so far Completed in Not More Than Six Counties.

RALEIGH, Sept. 9.—Democratic State Chairman Simmons says: "You can assert with entire truth that in not over six counties have the Republicans and Populists made their fusion complete. In all others there is trouble. This is due to the fact that the Populist manipulators, with whom the Republicans work, cannot deliver their goods."

A telegram last night stated that the Third Regiment, colored, was under orders to leave Fort Macon immediately for Knoxville, Tenn., and there go into camp. It is said the regiment will pass here by Sunday. Yesterday George H. White, the only negro Congressman, visited the regiment and made it a speech. Afterward the regimental adjutant spoke, and said it surely was the grandest sight in all the world to see the only negro Congressman address a negro regiment, every officer and man of which is a negro. Governor Russell has asked that this regiment be kept in service its full term of enlistment, two years, and the Secretary of War has so ordered. It goes to Cuba.

David B. Sutton, Governor Russell's former law partner, who was convicted by a court-martial of the Second North Carolina Regiment at Tybee Island, Ga., has been sent to Atlanta, where he will work out his sentence in the Fort McPherson guard house. It is said that Sutton was figuring on securing a discharge by virtue of his being a member of the Legislature, and through influence, but it is everlastingly too late now.

The Second Regiment to Be Mustered Out.

RALEIGH, Sept. 11.—The Second North Carolina regiment began to arrive today, preparatory to its muster-out. The first companies to arrive were the two which had been stationed at Land's End, S. C., under command of Major B. F. Dixon. These companies were in the great storm and their camp equipage was ruined, so they are quartered now in an immense tobacco prize house, in which the entire Fifth Maryland regiment was quartered in 1861. The next companies to arrive were the two from Tybee, Ga., under command of Major Wilder. These are at Camp Grimes, the camp which the First regiment occupied during its stay here. Colonel Burgwyn and the six companies at St. Simon's, Ga., will leave there tomorrow afternoon and arrive here Tuesday afternoon. It is not known when Major John W. Cotton and his two companies from St. Augustine will arrive, as they have quite a number of prisoners under guard. All the companies of the regiment, save the two under Major Dixon, will be in tents at Camp Grimes. It is not known how long they will be here. The paymaster, Captain Cobb, arrives tomorrow.

Funeral of Cadet Wheeler.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 12.—Naval Cadet Thomas H. Wheeler, the youngest son of General Joseph Wheeler, was buried today in the family burial ground on the general's estate at Wheeler's station, Alabama. The obsequies were conducted by Rev. Dr. Wright, of Tullahoma, Tenn.; Rev. Dr. Swope, of the Second Georgia, and Rev. Dr. Bannister, of Huntsville, Ala., with the ritual of the Episcopal church. Fully 5,000 people were present.

General Wheeler said tonight that the undertakers and life savers at Montauk told him his son had evidently lost his life in trying to save that of his companion, whose arms were locked around young Wheeler's body in a death grip, while the dead boy's face was covered with scratches, evidently from the other's finger nails.

General Coppinger and staff, now at Huntsville, attended the funeral.

Hobson Promoted to Last.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Among the naval orders issued today were the following promotions: Captain Higginson, of the Massachusetts, to be commodore from August 10th; Assistant Naval Constructor R. P. Hobson, to be full naval constructor from June 23rd, the delay in making the last promotion being caused by the impossibility of having an earlier examination.

The President Saturday named Senator George Gray, of Delaware, as the fifth member of the peace commission. This completes the personnel of the commission, which is composed of Secretary of State Day, Senators Davis, Frye and Gray and Hon. Whitelaw Reid.

BROOKS NOMINATED FOR SOLICITOR.

Judicial Committee Names Him as the Successor of Mr. Boone.

DURHAM, Sept. 9.—The Democratic Judicial committee met here today. This meeting was rendered necessary by the resignation of Mr. R. B. Boone, the Democratic nominee for solicitor. All the counties were represented and after canvassing the matter thoroughly, Mr. Aubrey L. Brooks, of Greensboro, was nominated for solicitor. A wiser nomination could not have been made and the best judges confidently predict his triumphant election in November next. He is a native of Person and will carry that county by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Brooks is a young man, but has already distinguished himself for legal acumen and as an advocate is the peer of any man in the Fifth Judicial district. As a campaigner there is none better and wherever he speaks votes will be won for himself and the cause he espouses.

Clara Barton Returns from Cuba.

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 9.—Miss Clara Barton, president of the National Red Cross Society, came to Tampa. A member of her party said: "While in Cuba we made a trip inland to Matanzas. The conditions there are worse than at Santiago or Havana. Women and little children are dying in the streets daily."

Allowance for the Burial of a Soldier Increased.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Before leaving Washington Secretary Alger directed that an order be issued that instead of the regular allowance of $10 for the burial of a soldier that $35 should be allowed and the remains transported home at the government's expense.

STONY CREEK, N. C., Sept. 10, 1898.
DEAR SIR—I use and have been using the Superior drill for several seasons and am proud to say that I believe it to be the best drill in the South. There are so many points in its favor I will not attempt to list them. The drill you are sure to like it.
Yours truly, J. M. SOWEN.

We have sold drills to John A. Hodgins, C. L. Sowell, F. S. Davis, Jesse Norwood and others. Ask them about the drill. Call and see our Disc Harrows, Chilled Pows, Drills, etc.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Matters of Interest Reported by Our Corps of Correspondents.

Oak Ridge Items.

Everybody at Oak Ridge has been busy for some weeks to give the many things of interest which have been going on.

Miss Ella Benbow, who has been visiting in Wythe county, Va., has returned, bringing her cousin, R. C. Givens, who has entered school at the Institute.

Miss Myrtle Holt has resumed her studies at Salem Academy. She is a Senior this year.

Miss Josie Case has resumed her position in the graded school at Mt. Airy as teacher.

H. A. Lambeth and J. S. Cook, of W. S., were visitors here last week on their way to the University.

Mrs. J. W. Heard, of Baltimore, who has a son here, is a visitor this week at Prof. M. H. Holt's.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ward, of Charlotte, were visitors here a few days since. They entered their son at the Institute for a term of years.

Oak Ridge Institute has a better opening by twenty-five per cent. than ever before. This increase is due to the growing popularity of the school, and not to a reduction of rates. There are nearly 200 here today. It might be interesting to know where they come from. Nebraska, Ohio, Maryland, Washington city, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, these are all represented this year. From North Carolina Greensboro has five here, Reidsville three, Waco one, Charlotte five, Shelby four, Morganton four, Gaston two, Statesville eight, Durham five, Raleigh two, Wilson three, Rocky Mount fourteen, Enfield six, Greenville three, White-latero, Fremont four, Goldsboro one, Kingston four, Snow Hill four, Warsaw three, Wilmington two, Fayetteville three, Asheville seven, Hendersonville two, Franklin one. This does not include large numbers from country sections.

The buildings at "Oakhurst," Prof. M. H. Holt's handsome new residence and students' home, are rapidly going up; F. P. Milburn, contractor, R. H. Pitts, contractor. The societies are having rousing meetings each week. The Philanthropist is several in the lead. (Salem correspondent N. B.)

Prof. Chas. L. Raper, class of 1900, one of the most brilliant young men in the State, gave a charming lecture in the chapel Saturday evening. Music furnished by Prof. Wilson and his pupils. Subject, "The Rights in Europe."

Andrew Joyner, editor of the "Green Journal," whose family has been here some years, will move to Greensboro this week. We shall miss his presence.

Prof. Joyner is getting too long. He is not for this week. I ought to say, Watch Oak Ridge in the future.

Whitsett Items.

Farmers are busy with fodder this week.

Miss Ava Faust was among our recent visitors.

Mr. W. B. Stewart, of Greensboro, spent Sunday here.

Mr. A. H. Fogleman was over visiting friends last Sunday.

Mr. T. R. Whitesell, of Elon College, was a recent visitor.

Mr. Cummings Prithett and family spent a day here this week.

Miss Donnie Clapp, of Brick Church, has entered school here.

Miss Lula Brown, of Low's, spent a few days here last week.

Preaching was held in the Institute Tuesday night of this week.

Mr. L. L. Patterson, of Osceola, was a recent visitor in this vicinity.

Mr. H. Brower Smith will teach at Frieden's church again this winter.

Miss Aurelia Barnhardt will teach the McLean school this winter.

Mr. R. G. Brown, of Greensboro, spent Thursday visiting friends here.

Miss Mattie Coble, of Brick Church, was here the first of this week.

Prof. and Mrs. W. C. Blagg visited at Mr. Levi Barnhardt's last Saturday.

Mr. Fred. Barber has returned from a short visit to his home at Elon College.

We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Stewart among our visitors recently.

Miss Mamie Low, who has been unwell for some week, is now able to be out again.

Messrs. Bynum & Green are now carrying an excellent stock of general dry goods and groceries.

An interesting public debate upon the American-Spanish war attracted considerable attention last week.

We were pleased to see Messrs. John R. Stewart and W. E. Phipps, of Greensboro, here the first of this week.

Mr. John A. Dameron, who has been visiting here the past week, has returned to his home in Warren county.

Mr. C. C. Barnhardt has been employed to teach the Brookfield school, and Mr. A. M. Garwood the Gibsonville school.

Durham and Onslow send the latest additions to the Institute roll. This is by far the best term the school has had.

Mr. A. T. Whitsett, of Graham, came up and spent Sunday with Prof. Whitsett. He seemed much pleased at the rapid growth of this place.

Miss L. Blanche Rankin, organist at Bethel Presbyterian church, has entered the musical department of Whitsett Institute to complete the full course.

A number of houses are needed here for renting and would prove a good investment. Several parties desire to move here, but every house in the place is rented.

A very large crowd attended the protracted services at Springwood church Sunday. Rev. H. D. Lequeux preached an able sermon from the text, "Prepare to meet thy God."

A new and pretty school building has been erected in the public school district formerly called Shepherd's district. The name of the school has been changed to Brookfield.

The largest crowd ever assembled in the Reformed church here was out last Sunday afternoon to listen to an excellent sermon by Rev. J. D. Andrew from the text, "All things work together for good to them that love God."

Hinton Items.

Rev. H. D. Lequeux is at Springwood, where he is holding a series of meetings.

Prof. Wilson opened his school on the 12th at Alamance Academy, near this place, with 18 scholars.

Mr. J. A. Starr went to Crescent recently, where he placed his daughter, Miss Nina, in the Female Academy.

Judge Patterson and daughter, of Alamance, gave us a call on their return from Greensboro. He informed us that corn crops were never better with him.

Summerfield Items.

Miss Lola E. Smith is visiting at Pomona.

Mr. D. C. Smith, of Reidsville, was in town Sunday.

Mrs. J. M. Burton and Mrs. J. C. Robinson went to Greensboro last week.

Mr. Oscar Willson, of Augusta, Ga., is visiting his father, Mr. C. H. Willson.

Mrs. E. G. Sherrill, of Hillsboro, who has been visiting her parents, returned last week.

Rev. P. E. Parker, of Stokesdale, will preach at the M. E. church next Sunday at 11 a. m.

Mrs. Jno. B. Ogburn, who has been visiting her parents at Gibsonville, returned Saturday.

Messrs. J. R. Hoskins, T. H. Pegram and D. C. Doggett, of Guilford College, were in town Sunday.

Miss Mamie V. Smith, who has been visiting friends and relatives near Reidsville, returned Sunday.

Messrs. E. V. Hobbs, Chas. G. Gamble, Jno. Rankin and J. H. Smith, of Greensboro, were in town Sunday.

Rev. Jno. L. Lane and Miss Naomi Case returned from Mt. Zion last Friday. He preached an excellent sermon at the Baptist church Sunday.

Brick Church Items.

Mr. M. N. Greeson was in your city Monday on business.

Miss Lula Brown visited at Whitsett last Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. H. M. Brown holds protracted meeting at St. Paul's this week.

Several from here attended preaching at Springwood church last Sabbath.

Rev. Stauffer, of Pennsylvania, will preach at Brick Church next Sunday at 11 a. m.

Mrs. M. N. Greeson is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jodah Stewart, near Greensboro this week.

The Sunday school and the C. E. society still meet each Sunday at Brick Church and much interest is manifested.

Miss Donna Clapp was added to the student roll at Whitsett Institute last week. She is the eleventh representative of this neighborhood.

Mr. C. C. Barnhardt will teach the public school at Brookfield school house (formerly the Shepherd school) this year. Mr. Barnhardt is a bright young man and will doubtless please the people.

HOW LONG WILL IT LAST?

Negro Brute Slapped a White Girl in the Face—Another Incident of the Negro Regime.

One day last week a young lady of this city returning home on one of New Bern's public streets came to where three young negro men stood on the sidewalk in such a way as to obstruct the way. They made no effort to move so as to let her pass.

No white man was within seeing distance. The intention of the negroes was probably to compel the young lady, who is indeed but a girl, "standing with reluctant feet, where the stream and river meet," to pass between them. She chose to leave the walk in order to pass around them.

As she did so and reached a point opposite the three negroes, one of the brutes, seeing what he considered "airs" in the young lady, stretched out and slapped her in the face!

She reached her home as quickly as possible and told what had occurred. To make the matter more appalling, if possible, the young lady is an orphan and has no natural protection. Is there a white man in North Carolina who does not wish he was near when the blow was struck?

AND THIS TOO.

Some days previous to this a young lady of this city, walking on Trent river bridge had an experience that brings tears of anger to her eyes whenever she remembers it. Trent river bridge will be paid for mainly by the people of Craven county. The negroes will have the main benefit of its use. They seem to think that like the court house and public building and other places, that it is theirs.

The young lady mentioned is one of the loveliest of southern womanhood. Dressed in white she stepped upon the Trent bridge to walk out a short distance to feel the cool breeze that usually passes up the river. Passing a negro woman she was startled by the woman walking close to her and thrusting the point of an umbrella into her side. She walked a little further and turning to go home she again encountered the black wench, who again did the same thing saying, "Oh, you think you are fine!"—New Bern Journal.

A Word Concerning One of Our Prosperous Business Houses.

One of the best known houses in North Carolina is the clothing establishment of the Fishplate-Katz Co., doing business in Greensboro, N. C. Their facilities are equal to any establishment in the United States. The space they occupy is a magnificent building of over 15,000 square feet of floor space with magnificent show windows constituting 50 feet of solid plate glass. They carry a stock of $40,000 to $60,000 at all times of the year, and their business extends all over North and South Carolina and Virginia. Their objective point is to give the best value possible at the lowest possible price, trying to make their margin in the bulk of the business they do. They have been successful in their efforts, and do one of the largest retail business south of Baltimore. Their wholesale department is equal to any in the country. Their establishment can be found opposite the McAdoo Hotel, in a large new structure which would do credit to the largest city in the United States. A corps of competent salesmen are in this house, among whom are W. F. Cranford, T. B. Ogburn, Chas. W. Lindsay, Lewis C. Howlett and Dolph Moore. Any of these gentlemen would be glad to show visitors through this establishment and extend to all a most courteous treatment.

The Secular Press Adds its Testimony.

There should be no difficulty in determining a question of fact in regard to a public institution; but from inquiries on our table it appears that the contradictory statements of partizan papers, the half truths and the counter charges, have confused not a few people as to the North Carolina Institutions (one for blind whites, and one for blind and mute negroes, in separate sections of the city) at Raleigh, for the Blind and Mute. In charge of these institutions is the most fit man in the world; and that is not extravagant, for though there may be others who know as much as he, who have had as much experience as he, who are as able managers as he, it is not extravagant to say that there is not another superintendent of institutions for blind and mute children in whom is combined energy, devotion, experience, ability, love for North Carolina, tenderness of heart and religion pure and undefiled as these attributes are combined in John E. Ray. Put it down, then, that it is well with the children sent to these institutions so long as John E. Ray is in charge of them. The governing boards may or may not be what they ought to be, but let the reader take assurance that the moment the Board in control of these institutions interferes with the welfare of one of the children in his care, John E. Ray will call all good men to arms. Since he took charge of the institution, two years ago, the enrollment has increased from 190 to over 300 pupils; and, what is equally remarkable, this increased number of children have been cared for with the same amount of money that the 190 cost. At present new buildings are going up, general equipment is being improved, and the internal condition of the institutions is in all respects as good and in many far better than it ever was.

Now we are prepared to consider the questions of fact: First. "Is there a negro on the Board of Directors of these institutions?" James H. Young, negro, was a member of the Board until this summer, when he resigned to take a place in the Volunteer Army. Second. "Did this negro inspect the institution for the white children?" He did; there is a certificate signed by him certifying that he did.

We are glad that these facts are past history; glad that no negro is now on the Board. It would not be abhorrent to have one or more negroes, intelligent and of good character, on a board governing an institution for negro children; and it may be said that Young was made a member of the Board in question in order to look after the institution for negro children. But the fact stands bald that he had equal powers with the white members of the Board in the conduct of the institution for white children; and those who know him know that he is not slow to try to assert such power. If there must be a negro to look after the institution for negroes, let there be two boards. But there exists no necessity.

And, in passing, the same declaration applies with equal force to the free schools of North Carolina. If there must be a negro to look after the free schools for negroes in a township, let there be two committees. But there exists no necessity.

The people of North Carolina had better give the negroes once for all to understand that, though politicians may cater to them for their votes, the negro race must keep to its place both for the good of the race and the welfare of the State. When the Anglo-Saxon becomes inferior to the African, then we may consider the necessity of putting negroes on boards under which are both white and colored children. Meanwhile the sensible negro, the unselfish negro, will recognize that it is better, infinitely better, for him and his children to have white boards and white committees to look after their welfare; but the demagogue, both white and black, will continue to harrangue the negroes about their "rights" and "recognition," seeking, of course, an office, not for a moment caring, never having dreamed of caring, either for the State or for the negro race.—Biblical Recorder.

Dr. E. Detchon's Anti Diuretic. May be worth to you more than $100 if you have a child who soils bedding from incontinence of water during sleep. Cures old and young alike. It arrests the trouble at once. Sold by C. E. Bolton, druggist, Greensboro, N. C.

The increase in the number of blind children attending the State institution at Raleigh has made a remarkable increase in the past two years. Two years ago there were only 190, while now there are over 300 pupils.

The liver filters out the poisonous germs which enter the system. Just so surely as the liver regulates the system, so do Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the liver. Keep this in mind, and you solve the problem of good health and good living.

Wheeler's Son Drowned.

Camp Wikoff, Montauk Point, L. I., Sept. 7.—Thomas H. Wheeler, son of General Joseph Wheeler, and Second Lieutenant Newton D. Kirkpatrick, first cavalry, were probably drowned while bathing here this afternoon.

Young Wheeler was a naval cadet in his second year. He had been acting on his father's staff for some time past. He was 17 years of age, was a fine young fellow and had made a host of friends among the older officers. Together with Lieutenant Kirkpatrick he went to the beach this afternoon to enjoy the surf bathing.

The surf ran high and the undertow was very strong. Apparently no one saw the young men drowned, and it was not until about 6 o'clock that they were missed. Their clothes were found a short distance from General Wheeler's tent, close to the water, and it is believed that the young officers were swept away by the strong seas.

To-night a detail of sixty men from the First cavalry is stationed along the coast to watch for the bodies that may be thrown upon shore.

While in command at Camp Wikoff, General Wheeler's headquarters were located on a high hill near the station, a considerable distance back from the water. It was only to-day that his headquarters were shifted down to the beach. His tent and the tents of his staff officers are not more than 20 yards from the water's edge. It was this change of location that gave young Wheeler and young Kirkpatrick an opportunity to indulge themselves in the surf. They had often spoke of so doing, and everyone here is convinced that they were drowned to-day. Of the accident Gen. Wheeler has nothing to say. His three daughters, two of whom have been acting as nurses in the general hospital, and the other as a nurse in the detention hospital, are with him, grief-stricken.

Lieutenant Kirkpatrick was from Virginia. He was appointed second lieutenant on June 12th, 1896.

Returns to His First Love.

Editor Robesonian.—Fearing that the Democratic party, under the leadership of Cleveland, was drifting from its true principles, I joined the People's party, believing that it was what it contended to be, for free silver, a low tariff and an economical administration of the government. But I find now that the leaders of the party—those who want office—have placed the party on the block to be bid off by the highest bidder—by that party which will give the leaders the most offices. We see them joining the Republican party, whose every principle is opposed to their platform, for they are for gold, a high tariff and an expensive administration. They are placing the black man over the white man and the white woman in the South, while they dare not do it in the North. For these reasons I have determined to return to the Democratic party; the white man's party; the party which has always defended the middle classes and fought the trusts; the party of my fathers. And I sincerely hope that all those who withdrew from the party for the same reasons that I did will also see their error and return again to its flag and its table. Our chairs have never been occupied and are now waiting for us.

President to Take a Western Trip.

It is the present intention of the President to make his visit to the Trans-Mississippi Exposition at Omaha an incident of a general tour of the West, which will extend, probably, as far as the Yellowstone National Park. The detailed arrangements for the trip have not been made yet, but it will include, probably, visits to many of the most important cities in the West and Northwest. If the present plans are carried into effect the President, accompanied by Mrs. McKinley, will leave Washington about September 19. They expect to be absent for at least three weeks and perhaps for a month.

Her Health Restored

Thousands of sleepless nights can only be explained by those who have experienced nervousness, sleeplessness, and that miserable condition known as neuritis. So certain is the fact that all druggists are bound to refund price paid for the first bottle, providing it does not benefit. The wife of the well known Dr. J. H. Miller, of Iowa, says: "I suffered with sleeplessness, nervousness, and irregular menstruation for many years. I used all kinds of remedies for female complaints, but nothing under the care of local doctors helped. I noticed in Dr. J. H. Miller's testimonial of a patient's ailments similar to mine, and I decided to try his medicine. He told me to use Dr. Miller's Nerve and Liver Pills, which I did. I cannot say enough for their effect. I am now healthy and happy."

KNOWLEDGE.

Oh, Knowledge! could I but cross the steep
And wear your crown of fame;
Awaken from this earthly dormant sleep,
To praise your wondrous name.

Thou hast, in all the ages past,
Been as the morning sun,
To dawn upon a nation still more vast
Than Greece or Rome had ere begun.

'Twas from thy great bosom came
The bard with his awakening song,
That echoes from the peaks of fame,
Into our nation's throng.

The days are blocks with which we build,
And scale the noble height;
A day that's lost is a place unfilled,
A defeat in battle-fight.

When the sun is dying in realms of gold,
And the day forever gone,
Time is spent that will never unfold,
But carries our record on.

Our future life before us lies,
A sheet of paper white;
Write there the deeds both noble and wise
Before the coming night.

So let us live, that when the darkness falls,
And the school of life is o'er,
That we may answer, as the Saviour calls,
The righteous to the golden shore.

Oh! let us from these common levels rise,
And march far up the height;
He falls alone who never tries,
He conquers who dares the fight.

SPAIN'S ACCEPTANCE.

Bows to the Inevitable But Makes a Mighty Ugly Face—The Government Authorized to Renounce Rights and All Territory.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—According to the Madrid correspondent of The Times the following is the text of the bill authorizing the government to conclude peace: "The reverses suffered by our arms in the unequal struggle to which we were driven in order to defend the honor of the nation and to maintain its rights, deprived us at an early stage of the elements required for continuing the war.

"The bravery of our soldiers and sailors proved insufficient, as did the calm attitude of the nation, ever ready to shed its blood and sacrifice its resources for the honor of the Spanish flag, separated by wide seas from the territories it was our object to protect, and these territories being closely blockaded, so that our few remaining ships could not reach them. Her Majesty's government has been compelled to admit the bitter truth, that an end must be put to the war.

"The sense of responsibility entailed by the preliminary peace negotiations has weighed most heavily on the government. Notwithstanding it fully appreciated its duty toward the country the government has had to consent to these preliminary negotiations and to bow to the cruel sacrifices imposed by sheer necessity. For this reason and because peace must be purchased at the cost of a cession of territory and the abandonment of sovereign rights, the government has thought it expedient to sound the Cortes before concluding the treaty, the ratification of which will be duly notified to both chambers in accordance with constitutional law. The government, whose moderate language will not be found fault with by the representatives of the nations, limits itself to submitting to the Cortes the following bill whose first and only article is: "The government is authorized to renounce rights of sovereignty and to cede territory in the Spanish colonies in accordance with the peace preliminaries agreed upon with the government of the United States of America."

The Times' correspondent says the bill is signed by all the ministers.

Work of the Mormon Elders.

The Baltimore Herald remarks that "notwithstanding the regulation of Mormonism by the United States statute, elders of the Church of Jesus Christ, of the Latter Day Saints' are at work in the East trying to, and in some cases succeeding in making converts to the belief."

What has "United States statute" to do with those elders, their religion, or their preaching? And when and where did the United States government attempt the "regulation of Mormonism?" It is true that the Mormons gave the government a deal of trouble; true that an army was sent against them; true that Congress passed and a number of Presidents enforced certain acts intended to reform some of the habits of the habits of the Mormons. But there was nothing in the original faith of that church, nor is there anything in it now that violates any statute, either national or state. Polygamy was grafted on to the original creed, and, after a bitter experience of many years, the Mormons themselves lopped it off. But, as soon as Utah ceased to be a Territory and came into the family of states, the power of Congress over its people ended. If the inhabitants of any State desired to do so, they could legalize polygamy without coming in conflict with the general government.

Religious liberty means a great deal in this country. It means the right to believe in and practice any religion or no religion, just as one pleases. The law gives equal protection to Christian church and heathen temple. No matter how absurd a belief may be, in the general estimate, or how ridiculous the rites may seem to the average American, the law respects them. The erection of mosque or Joss house on the corner of every street in Washington, Baltimore, Boston, or any other or every other city in the United States would not offend against any law.

Mormon preachers are proselytizing in all the Atlantic and Eastern States. They go among the poor almost exclusively, and they seldom encounter rough opposition. Ten of them are now working in Massachusetts, and are said to be meeting with marked success.—Washington Post.

That Dreadful Election Law.

We observe that in a recently-issued circular letter, Chairman Holton, of the Republican State executive committee, touches very feelingly upon the "bull pens" which were in use under the late Democratic election law, and charges the Democrats with a purpose to re-establish them and to "repeat their fraudulent election methods to perpetuate their power, regardless of the will of the people." Chairman Holton appears to have lost sight of the fact that it was under this very Democratic election law that the people overturned a Democratic majority of about 20,000 and converted it into a fusion majority of about as much. The Democrats signally failed, under the law which has been so often and so vigorously denounced, to "perpetuate their power, regardless of the will of the people." The people had a will, in 1894, to turn the Democrats out of power, and the election law did not stand in the way of the execution of their purpose. So it is seen that it was not a law which repressed a free expression of the popular will. That noble old spell-binder, Col. Oliver H. Dockery, should, along with Chairman Holton and others, take this fact under consideration. It has somehow or other been overlooked in the shuffle.—Charlotte Observer.

A CRITICAL TIME

During the Battle of Santiago.

SICK OR WELL, A RUSH NIGHT AND DAY.

The Packers at the Battle of Santiago de Cuba Were All Heroes—Their Heroic Efforts in Getting Ammunition and Rations to the Front Saved the Day.

P. E. Butler, of pack-train No. 3, writing from Santiago de Cuba, on July 23, says: "We all had diarrhoea in more or less violent form, and when we landed we had no time to see a doctor, for it was a case of rush and rush night and day to keep the troops supplied with ammunition and rations, but thanks to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, we were able to keep at work and keep our health; in fact, I sincerely believe that at one critical time this medicine was the indirect saviour of our army, for if the packers had been unable to work there would have been no way of getting supplies to the front. There were no roads that a wagon train could use. My comrade and myself had the good fortune to lay in a supply of this medicine for our pack-train before we left Tampa, and I know in four cases it absolutely saved life."

The above letter was written to the manufacturers of this medicine, the Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa. For sale by C. E. Holton.

"Buckeye" Steel Frame Disc Drills

Embodiment of the latest features in Drill construction. Has features which put them far in advance of all others. The Glass Fertilizer Feeder is the only successful feeder made and the only one which will sow any kind of fertilizer, wet or dry, without clogging and choking up. Will sow up hill or down. Has the "Double Run" Force Feed for sowing Peas, Beans, Cow Peas, Corn, Beet Seed, Oats, &c. Wheat can be put in any depth desired, and the discs will not choke. Can be worked in the most trashy land, and one man can do the same work that two men would be required with Hoe Drill. Money can buy no better than the "Buckeye." We present a few of many testimonials from users of our Drill.

TESTIMONIALS.

WAKEFIELD HARDWARE CO., CITY.
GENTLEMEN—In reply to your inquiry as to what I think of the Buckeye Wheat Drill bought from you last season, will say that it has given me entire satisfaction. It is strong, easily managed and is of very light draft. The Glass Fertilizer Feeder is the best I ever saw. It will sow any kind of fertilizer uniformly and will not clog or gum up. The wheat feeder could not be better. I sowed Red oats and put in my grass seed with the Buckeye to my entire satisfaction. I heartily recommend the Buckeye to do all you claim for it.
Yours truly,
THOS. D. SHERWOOD.

GENTLEMEN—Our Buckeye Drill bought from you is all that we could ask for it. It is the lightest draft drill we ever saw. Our team is hardly middle sized but it is no trouble to work it. It is the best I ever saw and if I had to buy again it would be a Buckeye. It sows wheat and oats perfectly, puts in fertilizer as near perfection as is possible and the fertilizer feeder will not clog or gum. Have known acid phosphate to stand as long as five days in the Buckeye and did not rust or corrode it and it did not gum. It is light draft; two small mules pulled it easily. I can't say too much for the Buckeye.
DR. D. A. ROBERTSON.

GENTLEMEN—It is my honest opinion that the Buckeye Wheat Drill sold by you is beyond all question the best drill made. I like it better than any drill I ever saw. I saw where it had sown peas for J. Van Lindley and prettier work I never saw done. It is the drill to buy.

THE YOKE HAS FALLEN

On the Necks of the Republicans and Populists—Fusion Arranged at Monday's Convention.

"So then for all practical purposes and in all essentials, the co-operation of the Populists and Republicans in this State has been a dismal and disastrous failure. Only the contemptible pie hunters see any good in it."—Caucasian, Feb. 4, 1897.

A statement embodying more truth to the line never appeared in the Caucasian, but this terrible arraignment, along with the professed principles of the parties to the deal, was swept aside in the mad rush on the pie-counter at Monday's Republican convention.

A little sop in the shape of a few offices was thrown out to the Populists and they gobbled it up with the greed of a famished hyena, apparently forgetting or trying to forget that they were enlisting under a banner that was but a few short years back the embodiment of everything objectionable to them in a political sense and is now the gravest menace to the social and material welfare of North Carolina. The yoke is upon the necks of those who made terms for the Populists and shared in the elusive results, there to remain until their identity is lost. Those who have been unwillingly sold into political bondage by self-constituted leaders have either to submit or rise up like freemen and assert their manhood. The appeals of their white brethren in the east will certainly not fall on deaf ears.

What a farce the affair was, anyway. Less than a dozen manipulators had previously mapped out the whole course of the convention, fusion and all, and their wishes were carried out in a listless perfunctory way. It was machine politics of the rankest sort. Col. Boyd, who came all the way from Washington to leave the convention with one of his characteristic speeches, failed to arouse any enthusiasm and had it not been for a few timely references to the negroes which brought out faint cheers his effort would have been classed even by his friends as a dismal failure. He tried hard to raise the administration a notch or two in the estimation of the crowd but McKinley's name didn't elicit a cheer. In fact nothing that might have been said by the Colonel or any other speaker would have had the slightest effect on the crowd. The only purpose of the faithful was to carry out their instructions in balloting for candidates.

After all the delays incident to such an occasion and such an aggregation of elements the convention settled down to its task. W. L. Scott was elected temporary chairman and R. D. Douglas secretary. While the various committees went through their formalities Col. Boyd spoke.

For the sake of variety one conte t was reported. Branch Chilcutt tried to explain the situation to the convention but he was both voted and hooted down, his colored brethren being chiefly responsible for the latter feature of his retirement from the deliberations.

A vote to adjourn for dinner was defeated by the outside delegations and a permanent organization was called for. Mr. Scott was nominated for permanent chairman and John O. Murrow put the question before any other name was suggested. Scott was elected, but after the vote was taken some darkey happened to remember that G. Will Armfield had been slated for the position and he insisted on putting him in nomination. A "slight suspicion" of confusion again arose, but the outcome was Mr. Armfield got the chair, Mr. Scott retiring as gracefully as possible under the circumstances. His voice was not heard again during the convention.

R. D. Douglas was made permanent secretary, with O. H. Starbuck assistant.

Beginning with the office of senator, nominations were made in the following order.

Senate—G. Sam Bradshaw.
House—R. D. Douglas.
Sheriff—J. A. Hoskins.
Clerk—Ed. L. Ragan.
Treasurer—John A. Hodgins.
Surveyor—Jos. S. Worth.
Commissioners—G. Will Armfield and A. B. Horney.

The opposition of W. B. Steele to Hoskins and John Broadnax to Ragan didn't cut much of a figure when the ballots were being cast. With the exception of Douglas and Armfield all the nominations were made on the first ballot.

At this point the Populists were invited to trot out the candidates for the offices allotted to that wing of the party and they reported the following:

House—Capt. J. W. Forbis.
Register—W. O. Stratford.
Coroner—Rufus E. Hodgins.
Commissioner—J. C. Browning.

The convention promptly ratified these nominations and after listening to speeches of acceptance by Bradshaw, Douglas, Ragan, Hoskins and Hodgins adjourned.

Aside from the mediocrity of the ticket from beginning to end, there are two or three millstone candidates on it that will sink it so deep in November no portion of it will ever be resurrected.

Buist's Reliable Turnip Feed

At Fariss' drug store, opposite Benbow House.

—Mr. C. F. Coe, of Vandalia, brought us last week a liberal sample of excellent syrup made from watermelons. It resembles closely the old fashioned cane molasses but is not quite so heavy. We had heard of watermelon syrup, it being made extensively further south, but this was the first we ever saw. It is a desirable product. Experts say an acre melon patch will produce as much syrup as an acre of cane.

—Buist's turnip seed are the best—at Fariss' drug store, opposite Benbow House.

—Messrs. Melver, Tate, Horney and Porter returned to Chapel Hill last week. Mr. Tate will take his second year in pharmacy this year. Mr. Horney, who graduated one year ago, will continue his work on course leading to the degree of A. M. Mr. Porter is still in the academic department.

—Your wife could not go to a better place than Thacker & Brookmann's when she gets ready to buy her new fall dress or wrap. New goods are now coming in and the stock will soon be complete. Misses Callie Rankin and Jennie Hardin will take pleasure in showing you the new styles.

—High Point Enterprise: Jno. Hammer, clerk at the Benbow House, Greensboro, went through to Asheboro yesterday. John is as clever as he is handsome, which is saying a great deal. He found his match with the girls, however, when he ran up with Charley Long.

—Three men supposed to have been implicated in the numerous postoffice robberies in this section last winter were landed in the Federal prison at Raleigh this week. They are notorious criminals and were convicted of robbery in South Carolina.

—One of the recent commendable acts of the board of aldermen was the fixing of a schedule of hack fares for the city. Hereafter a full fare to any point in the city limits will be twenty-five cents; children under 12 years fifteen cents.

Foreseeing the failure of the Czar's peace proposals, Russian politicians and newspaper men are representing that an immediate conference was never contemplated.

Admiral Cervera and his officers and men started for Spain from Portsmouth, N. H., Monday on the City of Rome. They were all clothed in new American army uniforms.

A dispatch has been received in London from Sir Claud McDonald, British minister at Peking, confirming the report that Li Hung Chang has been dismissed from the Chinese foreign office.

The National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, in session at Cincinnati, elected Col James A. Sexton, of Chicago, commander-in-chief and decided to hold the next encampment in Philadelphia.

It is stated that Secretary Alger did not want an inquiry into the administration of the War Department, and wrote a letter requesting an investigation after the President had told him very plainly that he desired an inquiry.

Record Broken in Exports.

According to the Iron Age the exports of the United States in the year ended June 30, 1898, including agricultural products, exceeded the exports of Great Britain in the same period by about $80,000,000. The outflow of grain in the twelve months was extraordinary and broke the record. It is the first time that British exports have been exceeded. In the last ten years British exports have averaged an excess over ours of some $70,000,000. The United States is evidently distancing all competitors in the extent of its material resources.
