—The Lillian Tucker dramatic company, one of the best theatrical organizations ever appearing in Greensboro, will be here again next month for the week beginning the 10th.

—Asheboro Courier: Mr. Daniel Allred and Miss Dora Hendricks were married at the home of the bride in Franklinville township September 18th, Rev. A. W. Lineberry officiating.

—Just received: A large shipment of crockery that we offer at a low price for cash or will exchange for country produce. We still have plenty of mountain seed rye. HIATT & LAMB.

—Mr. C. N. McAdoo is overhauling the second floor of his big building on the corner of East Market and Davis streets, converting it into a hall that will be available for public gatherings.

—We can't take a drink (of water) these days without being reminded of the fact that C. M. Vanstorty & Co. are in the clothing business. They are giving away nice tin dippers bearing a neat advertisement of their business.

—Messrs. E. J. & A. G. Stafford made sales last week of $4,000 worth of manufactured tobacco to one of their customers and over $1,500 to another. Their sales the past thirty days have been exceptionally good.

—Grandma's Choice, old ladies' comfort shoes, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 at Thacker & Brockmann's. Our $1.25 and $1.50 ladies' button and laced "Sunday" shoes are out of sight—the best in the city for the money.

—"I ain't a-goin to vote ag'inst my own color," remarked one colored man to another last night as they walked along the street. How can any white man in Guilford afford to take a less determined stand at such a time as this?

—Mr. D. Schenck, Jr., of this city, has been retained by the heirs of the late Jas. B. Lanier, of Salisbury, to aid in the settlement of an estate estimated at over $150,000. Col. J. A. Barringer is associated with Mr. Schenck in the matter.

—We have had repeated inquiries as to the date Hon. R. B. Glenn would speak here. There is a general desire to hear him. We are glad to be able to announce the date, which will be found under the caption, "Public Speaking."

—The Epworth League of West Market street church gave an admirably managed reception to the G. F. C. students and faculty Monday evening. Refreshments were served and the evening passed most pleasantly for those present.

—Associate Justice Douglas, of the Supreme bench, went to Raleigh Sunday. The applicants for law license were examined Monday, and for the first time the examinations were written. The fall term of Supreme court opened Monday.

—Walter Tate, a son of Dr. R. W. Tate, formerly of this city but now living at Ashton, Pender county, came up yesterday from Rameur, where he is in school. He reports his father's health greatly improved, information that gives us pleasure.

—Rev. J. B. Tabor's meeting at Holt's chapel closed Monday night. Over thirty souls were converted to Christ and there were twenty-three accessions to the church—truly an encouraging result of the pastor's faithful and earnest labors.

—Mr. B. B. Walker, of Asheville, whose death is noted in a dispatch printed in another column, was known here, having clerked in the Cox-Ferree dry goods store for a time. He was a bright clever young man of good address and had many friends.

—The Carolina cook stove, manufactured by our townsmen, Messrs. G. T. Glascock & Son, is advertised in the PATRIOT. A reliable guarantee goes with every stove this firm puts out. They have been making the Carolina for twenty years and know what it will do. See ad.

—Mr. John W. Wharton brought us half a bushel of magnificent magnum bonum apples Saturday that were highly appreciated, particularly as he could not be induced to accept any pay for them. If we had a few more such good friends we would get through the winter without difficulty.

Bedford's Little Liver Pills.

50 in bottle, 25c. Sold only by Fariss, druggist, opp. Benbow House.

—The joint canvass arranged by Messrs. Brooks and Bynum, the candidates for solicitor, does not include any dates for Guilford. There are twenty-four appointments, beginning Oct. 10. Mr. Brooks would gladly make more, so this county would secure a share, but Mr. Bynum objects.

—High Point Citizen: The charming Miss Lillie Smith, of Guilford College, who made so many friends here while in college, was united in marriage Sunday afternoon to Mr. B. Eugene Burns, son of Mr. B. B. Burns, of Asheville. The ceremony was performed at the home of Esq. Wilson, at Archdale.

—"Policeman's Friend" is a wide bottom, thick soled winter shoe for men, sold for $1.50 at Thacker & Brockmann's. We sell the Elkin and Georgia home-made shoes for men, women and children, and carry probably the largest stock of shoes in the city, from cheap, everyday shoes up to the finest kid and calfskin.

—Asheville Citizen: Dr. Walter L. Hilliard went to Greensboro Thursday with the intention of continuing the practice of his profession at that place. Many Asheville people will regret to hear of Dr. Hilliard's determination to make his home elsewhere. Those identified with the social life of the city will especially regret his departure.

—On September the 24th, 1897, the net deposits of the People's Five Cents Savings Bank, of Greensboro, amounted to $72,000.20. At the close of business Saturday, Sept. 24th, 1898, the net deposits were $109,362.89. Showing a net gain of over 50 per cent. for the year. All moneys deposited on or before Oct. 1st will bear interest from that date.

—Mr. D. J. Sinclair and Mr. F. A. McDonald, with their families, came down from Washington last week to make Greensboro their home. They will engage in the real estate business here, paying considerable attention to colonization. They looked over the South before locating and Greensboro is their choice of the many good towns they saw.

—The "No-Charge-Co.," a cash grocery concern, presents a few sample prices for the consideration of our readers and will follow them up with others from time to time. As soon as people realize the advantage of paying cash for goods they will thank those who inaugurate the system. Got to this store and learn how they propose to benefit you.

—Mr. C. H. Hancock exhibited an improved rotary disc plow, for which he is agent, on Col. Morehead's lot last week. It is made on the same principle as the disc harrow and is certainly a valuable invention. It turns and pulverizes a furrow nine to twelve inches deep at the rate of three acres a day. It appeals to a lazy man—the driver rides.

—Prof. Chas. L. Raper, of High Point, left the first of the week for Columbia College, New York, where he will take a two years' course in history. He came here and spent a few days with friends before his departure Friday night he went to Chapel Hill and lectured before the University students on "The Queen's Jubilee and the Scottish Lakes." We expect to see Prof. Raper attain great eminence among the educators of this country.

The Best Seed Wheat and Oats.

For the best varieties of seed wheat and oats from the Valley of Virginia call on the Guilford Roller Mills. It is highly essential that our farmers improve their wheat. Such can be done only by sowing the best seed obtainable. 38-4t

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by druggists. Hall's Little Pills are the best.

—Sooner or later every merchant in Greensboro will adopt a cash system, but J. M. Hendrix & Co. are not going to wait until it is a matter of necessity with them and accordingly they announce that it goes into effect at their store Saturday, Oct. 1st, at the opening of business. We might go into details explaining the advantages of such a system but we would only be repeating what Mr. Hendrix says so clearly in his ad., which will be found in this issue. Read it carefully and consider it calmly. It means just exactly what it says.

—Lee Swain, a colored boy, was arrested by Officer Scott Friday morning on suspicion as he alighted from a baggage car on the vestibule train from Washington. On his person was found a fine pistol evidently stolen from the police department at the capital. Swain was held until Sunday, when Detective Lacy came down and carried him back to Washington, a requisition not being required owing to his willingness to dispense with that formality. Lacy said that Swain and two other boys now under arrest had robbed the house of a policeman, securing the pistol and a watch.

—The Woman's Missionary Union of Orange Presbytery held its annual meeting here last week in the First Presbyterian church, over thirty delegates being present. The business matters coming before the Union were handled methodically and gracefully by the officers, president Miss L. A. Dickson, of Winston, and secretary Mrs. B. L. Duke, of Durham. Among the many interesting addresses heard during the meeting were those of Rev. R. E. Caldwell, of Winston, recently returned from a visit to the Holy Land. Mrs. J. A. Gilmer tendered the visiting ladies a reception Friday evening from 5 to 8 o'clock.

For Sale.
Empty 5-gallon kegs at Gardner's, cor. opp. postoffice.

—Capt. R. P. Gray, commanding Co. D, Second Regiment N. C. V., came home from Raleigh last week for a few days rest. Most of the time from now until the regiment is mustered out of service his presence will be required in Raleigh. Like the men who served under him, he is looking well. If what everybody says is true, Captain Gray was one of the most popular and efficient officers in the volunteer army. His men can not say enough in praise of his efforts to have them well clothed and fed, in which he was successful, from which we judge that many of the hardships suffered by the volunteer troops resulted from the carelessness or incompetency of commanding officers.

If you are thinking of using some hair tonic remember Gardner's Rum and Quinine for the hair, 8 ounce bottle 50 cents.

—Squire John A. Pritchett, one of the old line Republicans of this city, has caused a commotion in camp because of his objections to ring rule, either "court house" or "postoffice," from which his party is suffering at present. He don't propose to submit longer to such practices and will take a hand in wiping up the earth with the two cliques that presume to lord it over his party. Once before he took just such a stand with the result that Gilmer was elected sheriff over Stafford by a majority of about 600. We suspect that there is just a little too much "nigger in the woodpile," too, to suit the Squire's taste. The spectacle of impudent negroes hooting down white men in the recent Republican convention here was too much for several men who have heretofore affiliated with the party. If anyone not present doubts the truth of the statement that white men were hooted down by negroes we will simply refer them to Mr. Branch Chilcutt, the last Republican legislator for Guilford. He knows all about it.

Two Business Changes.

Two important changes are announced in Greensboro's mercantile circles.

Mr. Thos. D. Sherwood has sold his interest in the Brown Mercantile Company to Mr. S. S. Brown and purchased that of Mr. J. S. Hunter in the firm of J. W. Scott & Co., succeeding Mr. Hunter as manager of the wholesale department. Mr. Sherwood was connected with this old reliable house for several years and it is like getting back home for him to be again identified with it. Mr. Hunter will devote his time exclusively to the commission business which he established a year or so ago and has since successfully developed. He will continue to make Scott's his headquarters for some time.

The L. Richardson Drug Company has purchased the manufacturing department of W. G. Mebane & Co.'s wholesale grocery house and will succeed the latter in its present location October 1st, continuing the manufacture of extracts, essences and various kinds of grocers' drugs. Messrs. Mebane & Co. will close out their grocery business and engage in the commission business here, handling cotton goods and perhaps a few specialties in the grocery line. The Richardson Drug Company is fortunate in securing so desirable a location. The business of this firm has surpassed the expectations of its founders and an enlargement of facilities was an absolute necessity.

—The evaporating plant here will close down next week because of the scarcity of apples. The crop has fallen from the trees and rotted so rapidly that it cannot be saved, a misfortune indeed for the farmers. The company hopes to secure enough fruit to run the balance of the week and will pay from 25 to 30 cents for good grades, but no fruit will be received after the first of the month. The proprietors of the plant did not secure anything like the quantity of apples they wanted, but they have faith in the future of the market sufficient to cause them to return next year, which they expect to do about August first, starting in with the opening of the fruit season. As the farmers learn to appreciate the benefits of a market for their inferior fruit the business can be developed to the mutual advantage of grower and buyer. Knowing something of the vast quantities of fruit that have gone to waste in Guilford in this and former years we can only regret that such a market was not established here long ago. Messrs. DeWolff & Christiansen, the gentlemen at the head of the enterprise operated here for a few weeks, have impressed our people most favorably by their methods, and we will welcome them to the city next year hoping that they may meet with a fuller measure of success.

Public Speaking.

MESSRS. A. L. BROOKS and JOHN N. WILSON will speak in the school house at Jamestown Tuesday night, Oct. 4th.

MR. JOHN N. WILSON and others will speak at Dudley's store, Friendship, Saturday, Oct. 1st., at 3 o'clock.

Z. V. TAYLOR, Esq., will address the White Union meeting at Hillsdale, Saturday, October 1, 1898, at 3 o'clock. All persons, including the ladies, are invited to be present.

HON. R. B. GLENN will speak on the issues of the day in the court house, in Greensboro on Tuesday night, October 4th, at 8 o'clock. Ladies are especially invited.

A. M. SCALES, Chm. Dem. Ex. Com.

Save Your Teeth and Eyes.

Two of the most important organs of the human system. I am again in my office ready to do your Dental and Eye work at prices in your reach. When you need such service, remember I am still doing business at the same place and will always treat you right.

J. W. GRIFFITH, Dentist, K. of P. Building.

—All desiring to save or deposit money for safe keeping will do well to consult the People's Five Cents Savings Bank of this city. It pays interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum compounded every six months, when the deposit amounts to three dollars or more. All moneys deposited on or before Oct. 1st will bear interest from that date.

—Over seven hundred people were handled on West's excursion to Asheville last night. Those who went from here were quite well pleased with the trip. One day of their stay in Asheville the weather was very disagreeable, but they were not generally disposed to hold the railroad company responsible for it.

THE LIMITS OF LIFE.

DR. TALMAGE TALKS ON THE DANGER OF HAVING TOO MUCH.

The Symbol of the Giant—He Is Not Always the Strong Man—The Everyday Man Does the Work—The Worry of Useless Addenda.

[Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—From a passage of Scripture that probably no other clergyman ever preached from Rev. Dr. Talmage in this discourse sets forth a truth very appropriate for those who have unhealthy ambition for great wealth or fame. The text is I Chron. xx, 6, 7:

"A man of great stature, whose fingers and toes were four and twenty, six on each hand and six on each foot, and he also was the son of a giant. But, when he defied Israel, Jonathan, the son of Shimea, David's brother, slew him."

Malformation photographed, and for what reason? Did not this passage slip by mistake into the sacred Scriptures, as sometimes a paragraph utterly obnoxious to the editor gets into his newspaper during his absence? Is not this Scriptural errata? No, no; there is nothing haphazard about the Bible. This passage of Scripture was as certainly intended to be put in the Bible as the verse, "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth," or, "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son."

And I select it for my text today because it is charged with practical and tremendous meaning. By the people of God the Philistines had been conquered, with the exception of a few giants. The race of giants is mostly extinct, I am glad to say. There is no use for giants now except to enlarge the income of museums. But there were many of them in olden times. Goliath was, according to the Bible, 11 feet 4½ inches high, or, if you doubt this, the famous Pliny declares that at Crete, by an earthquake, a monument was broken open, discovering the remains of a giant 4 cubits long, or 69 feet high. So, whether you take sacred or profane history, you must come to the conclusion that there were in those times cases of human altitude monstrous and appalling.

The Giant in History.

David had smashed the skull of one of these giants, but there were other giants that the Davidaeans had not yet subdued, and one of them stands in my text. He was not only of Alpine stature, but had a surplus of digits. To the ordinary fingers was annexed an additional finger, and the foot had also a superfluous addendum. He had 24 terminations to hands and feet, where others have 20. It was not the only instance of the kind. Tavernier, the learned writer, says that the emperor of Java had a son endowed with the same number of extremities. Volcatus, the poet, had six fingers on each hand. Maupertuis, in his celebrated letters, speaks of two families near Berlin similarly equipped of hand and foot. All of which I can believe, for I have seen two cases of the same physical superabundance. But this giant of the text is in battle, and as David, the strapping warrior, had dispatched one giant the nephew of David slays this monster of my text, and there he lies after the battle in Gath, a dead giant. His stature did not save him, and his superfluous appendages of hand and foot did not save him. The probability was that in the battle his sixth finger on his hand made him clumsy in the use of his weapon and his sixth toe crippled his gait. Behold the prostrate and malformed giant of the text: "A man of great stature, whose fingers and toes were four and twenty, six on each hand and six on each foot, and he also was the son of a giant. But when he defied Israel, Jonathan, the son of Shimea, David's brother, slew him."

The Common Man.

Behold how superfluities are a hindrance rather than a help! In all the battle at Gath that day there was not a man with ordinary hand and ordinary foot and ordinary stature that was not better off than this physical curiosity of my text. A dwarf on the right side is stronger than a giant on the wrong side, and all the body and mind and estate and opportunity that you cannot use for God and the betterment of the world is a sixth finger and a sixth toe, and a terrible hindrance. The most of the good done in the world and the most of those who win the battles for the right are ordinary people. Count the fingers of their right hand, and they have just five—no more and no less. One Dr. Duff among missionaries, but 3,000 missionaries that would tell you they have only common endowment. One Florence Nightingale to nurse the sick in conspicuous places, but 10,000 women who are just as good nurses, though never heard of. The "Swamp Angel" was a big gun that during the civil war made a big noise, but muskets of ordinary caliber and shells of ordinary heft did the execution. President Tyler and his cabinet go down the Potomac one day to experiment with the "Peacemaker," a great iron gun that was to frighten with its thunder foreign navies. The gunner touches it off, and it explodes and leaves a crater in the mud on the deck, while at that time, all up and down our coasts, were cannon of ordinary bore, able to be the defense of the nation, and ready at the first touch to waken to duty. The curse of the world is big guns. After the politicians, who have made all the noise, go home hoarse from angry discussion on the evening of the first Monday in November, the next day the people, with the silent ballots, will settle everything and settle it right, 1,000,000 of the white slips of paper they drop making about as much noise as the fall of an apple blossom.

Clear back in the country today there are mothers, in plain apron and shoes fashioned on a rough last by a shoemaker at the end of the lane, rocking babies that are to be the Martin Luthers and the Faradays and the Edisons and the Bismarcks and the Gladstones and the Washingtons and the George Whitefields of the future. The longer I live the more I like common folks. They do the world's work, bearing the world's burdens, weeping the world's sympathies, carrying the world's consolation. Among lawyers we see rise up a Rufus Choate or a William Wirt or a Samuel L. Southard, but society would go to pieces tomorrow if there were not thousands of common lawyers to see that men and women get their rights. A Valentine Mott or a Willard Parker rises up eminent in the medical profession, but what an unlimited sweep would pneumonia and diphtheria and scarlet fever have in the world if it were not for 10,000 common doctors! The old physician in his gig, driving up the lane of the farmhouse or riding on horseback, his medicines in the saddlebags, arriving on the ninth day of the fever and coming in to take hold of the pulse of the patient, while the family, pale with anxiety and looking on and waiting for his decision in regard to the patient and hearing him say, "Thank God, I have mastered the case; he is getting well!" excites in me an admiration quite equal to the mention of the names of the great metropolitan doctors of the past or the illustrious living men of the present.

The Limits of Wealth.

Yet what do we see in all departments? People not satisfied with ordinary spheres of work and ordinary duties. Instead of trying to see what they can do with a hand of five fingers, they want six. Instead of usual endowment of 20 manual and pedal addenda, they want 24. A certain amount of money for livelihood and for the supply of those whom we leave behind us after we have departed this life is important, for we have the best authority for saying, "He that provideth not for his own, and especially those of his own household, is worse than an infidel," but the large and fabulous sums for which many struggle, if obtained, would be a hindrance rather than an advantage.

The anxieties and annoyances of those whose estates have become plethoric can only be told by those who possess them. It will be a good thing when through your industry and prosperity you can own the house in which you live. But suppose you own 50 houses and you have all those rents to collect and all those tenants to please. Suppose you have branched out in business successes until in almost every direction you have investments. The fire bell rings at night; you rush up stairs to look out of the window to see if it is any of your mills. Epidemic of crime comes, and there are embezzlements and absconding in all directions, and you wonder whether any of your bookkeepers will prove recalcitrant. A panic strikes the financial world, and you are like a hen under a sky full of hawks and trying with anxious cluck to get your own overgrown chickens safely under wing. After a certain stage of success has been reached you have to trust so many important things to others that you are apt to become the prey of others, and you are swindled and defrauded, and the anxiety you had on your brow when you were earning your first $1,000 is not equal to the anxiety on your brow now that you have won your $300,000.

Financial Obesity.

The trouble with such a one is he is spread out like the unfortunate one in my text. You have more fingers and toes than you know what to do with. Twenty were useful; 24 are a hindrance to superfluity. Disraeli says that a king of Poland abdicated his throne and joined the people and became a porter to carry burdens. And some one asked him why he did so, and he replied: "Upon my honor, gentlemen, the load which I cast off was by far heavier than the one you see me carry. The weightiest is but a straw when compared to that weight under which I labored. I have slept more in four nights than I have during all my reign. I begin to live and to be a king myself. Elect whom you choose. As for me, I am so well it would be madness to return to court."

"Well," says somebody, "such over-labored persons ought to be pitied, for their worriments are real, and their insomnia and their nervous prostration are genuine." I reply that they could get rid of the bothersome surplus by giving it away. If a man has more houses than he can carry without vexation, let him drop a few of them. If his estate is so great he cannot manage it without getting nervous dyspepsia from having too much, let him divide with those who have nervous dyspepsia because they cannot get enough. No; they guard their sixth finger with more care than they did the original five. They go limping with what they call gout and know not that, like the giant of my text, they are lamed by a superfluous toe. A few of them by charities bleed themselves of this financial obesity and monetary plethora, but many of them hang on to the hindering superfluity till death, and then, as they are compelled to give the money up anyhow, in their last will and testament they generously give some of it to the Lord, expecting no doubt that he will feel very much obliged to them. Thank God that once in awhile we have a Peter Cooper, who, owning an interest in the iron works at Trenton, said to Mr. Lester: "I do not feel quite easy about the amount we are making. Working under one of our patents, we have a monopoly which seems to me something wrong. Everybody has to come to us for it, and we are making money too fast." So they reduced the price, and this while our philanthropist was building Cooper institute, which mothers a hundred institutes of kindness and mercy all over the land. But the world had to wait 5,800 years for Peter Cooper!

Deathbed Generosity.

I am glad for the benevolent institutions that get a legacy from men who during their life were as stingy as death, but who in their last will and testament bestowed money on hospitals and missionary societies, but for such testators I have no respect. They would have taken every cent of it with them if they could and bought up half of heaven and let it out at ruinous rent or loaned the money to celestial citizens at 2 per cent a month and got a "corner" on harps and trumpets. They lived in this world 50 or 60 years in the presence of appalling suffering and want and made no efforts for their relief. The charities of such people are in the "Punio post future" tense. They are going to do them. The probability is that if such a one in his last will by a donation to benevolent societies tries to atone for his lifetime closefistedness the heirs at law will try to break the will by proving that the old man was senile or crazy, and the expense of the litigation will about leave in the lawyer's hands what was meant for the Bible society. Oh, ye overweighted, successful business men, whether this sermon reach your ear or your eyes, let me say that if you are prostrated with anxieties about keeping or investing these tremendous fortunes I can tell you how you can do more to get your health back and your spirits raised than by drinking gallons of bad tasting water at Saratoga, Homburg or Carlsbad. Give to God, humanity and the Bible 10 per cent of all your income, and it will make a new man of you, and from restless walking of the floor at night you shall have eight hours' sleep, without the help of bromide of potassium, and from no appetite you will hardly be able to wait for your regular meals, and your waist will fill up, and when you die the blessings of those who but for you would have perished will bloom all over your grave.

Perhaps some of you will take this advice, but the most of you will not, and you will try to cure your swollen hand by getting on it more fingers and your rheumatic foot by getting on it more toes, and there will be a sigh of relief when you are gone out of the world, and when over your remains the minister recites the words, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord," persons who have been appreciation of the ludicrous will hardly be able to keep their faces straight. But, whether in that direction my words do good or not, I am anxious that all who have only ordinary equipment be thankful for what they have and rightly employ it. I think you all have, figuratively as well as literally, fingers enough. Do not long for hindering superfluities. Standing in the presence of this fallen giant of my text and in this post mortem examination of him, let us learn how much better off we are with just the usual hand, the usual foot. You have thanked God for a thousand things, but I warrant you never thanked him for those two implements of work and locomotion that no one but the infinite and omnipotent God could have ever planned or made—the hand and the foot. Only that soldier or that mechanic who in a battle or through machinery has lost them knows anything adequately about their value, and only the Christian scientist can have any appreciation of what divine masterpieces they are.

The Hand That Works.

Sir Charles Bell was so impressed with the wondrous construction of the human hand that when the Earl of Bridgewater gave $40,000 for essays on the wisdom and goodness of God and eight books were written Sir Charles Bell wrote his entire book on the wisdom and goodness of God as displayed in the human hand. The 27 bones in the hand and wrist with cartilages and ligaments and phalanges of the fingers all made just ready to knit, to sew, to build up, to pull down, to weave, to write, to plow, to pound, to wheel, to battle, to give friendly salutation. The tips of its fingers are so many telegraph offices by reason of their sensitiveness of touch. The bridges, the tunnels, the cities of the whole earth, are the victories of the hand. The hands are not dumb, but often speak as distinctly as the lips. With our hands we invite, we repel, we invoke, we entreat, we wring them in grief, or clap them in joy, or spread them abroad in benediction. The malformation of the giant's hand in the text glorifies the usual hand. Fashioned of God more exquisitely and wondrously than any human mechanism that was ever contrived, I charge you to use it for God and the lifting of the world out of its moral predicament. Employ it in the sublime work of gospel hand shaking. You can see the hand is just made for that. Four fingers just set right to touch your neighbor's hand on one side, and your thumb set so as to clinch it on the other side. By all its bones and joints and muscles and cartilages and ligaments the voice of nature joins with the voice of God commanding you to shake hands. The custom is as old as the Bible anyhow. Jehu said to Jehonadab: "Is thine heart right as my heart is with thine heart? If it be, give me thine hand." When hands join in Christian salutation, a gospel electricity thrills across the palm from heart to heart, and from the shoulder of one to the shoulder of the other.

With the timid and for their encouragement, shake hands. With the troubled in warm hearted sympathy, shake hands. With the young man just entering business and discouraged at the small sales and the large expenses, shake hands. With the child who is new from God and started on unending journey, for which he needs to gather great supply of strength and who can hardly reach up to you now because you are so much taller, shake hands. Across cradles and dying beds and graves, shake hands. With your enemies, who have done all to defame and hurt you, but whom you can afford to forgive, shake hands. At the door of the churches where people come in and at the door of churches where people go out, shake hands. Let pulpit shake hands with pew and Sabbath day shake hands with weekday and earth shake hands with heaven. Oh, the strange the mighty, the undefined, the mysterious, the eternal power of an honest hand shaking! The difference between these times and the millennial times is that now some shake hands, but then all will shake hands, throne and footstool, across seas, nation with nation, God and man, church militant and church triumphant.

The Human Foot.

Yea, the malformation of this fallen giant's foot glorifies the ordinary foot, for which I fear you have never once thanked God. The 26 bones of the foot are the admiration of the anatomist. The arch of the foot fashioned with a grace and a poise that Trajan's arch or Constantine's arch or any other arch could not equal. Those arches stand where they were planted, but this arch of the foot is an adjustable arch, a yielding arch, a flying arch and ready for movements innumerable. The human foot so fashioned as to enable a man to stand upright as no other creature and leave the hand that would otherwise have to help in balancing the body free for anything it chooses. The foot of the camel fashioned for the sand, the foot of the bird fashioned for the tree branch, the foot of the hind fashioned for the slippery rock, the foot of the lion fashioned to rend its prey, the foot of the horse fashioned for the solid earth, but the foot of man made to cross the desert or climb the tree or scale the cliff or walk the earth or go anywhere he needs to go.

With that divine triumph of anatomy in your possession where do you walk? In what path of righteousness or what path of sin have you set it down? Where have you left the mark of your footsteps? Amid the petrifications in the rocks have been found the mark of the feet of birds and beasts of thousands of years ago. And God can trace out all the footsteps of your lifetime, and those you made 50 years ago are as plain as those made in the last soft weather, all of them petrified for the judgment day. Oh, the foot! Give me the autobiography of your foot from the time you stepped out of the cradle until today, and I will tell you your exact character now and what are your prospects for the world to come. That there might be no doubt about the fact that both these pieces of divine mechanism, hand and foot, belong to Christ's service both hands of Christ and both feet of Christ were spiked on the cross. Right through the arch of both his feet to the hollow of his instep went the iron of torture, and from the palm of his hand to the back of it, and there is not a muscle or nerve or bone among the 27 bones of hand and wrist or among the 26 bones of the foot but it belongs to him now and forever.

The Beauty of Service.

That is the most beautiful foot that goes about paths of greatest usefulness, and that the most beautiful hand that does the most to help others. I was reading of three women in rivalry about the appearance of the hand. And the one reddened her hand with berries and said the beautiful tinge made hers the most beautiful. And another put her hand in the mountain brook and said the waters dripped off that her hand was the most beautiful. And another plucked flowers off the bank, and under the bloom contended that her hand was the most attractive. Then a poor old woman appeared, and, looking up in her decrepitude, asked for alms. And a woman who had not taken part in the rivalry gave her alms. And all the women resolved to leave to this beggar the question as to which of all the hands present was the most attractive, and she said, "The most beautiful of them all is the one that gave relief to my necessities," and as she said her wrinkles and rags and her decrepitude and her body disappeared, and in place thereof stood the Christ, who long ago said, "Inasmuch as ye did it to one of the least of these, ye did it unto me," and who to purchase the service of our hand and foot here on earth had his own hand and foot lacerated.

A CHECK FOR $1,475,000.

The Money Paid for the Use of Steamers in the Recent War.

A check for $1,475,000, in favor of the International Navigation Company, of this city, was cashed by United States Assistant Treasurer Bigley yesterday. It was presented by the Fourth Street National Bank. The check was given by the Navy Department in payment for the use of steamers belonging to the company, including the St. Louis, St. Paul, Paris and New York, which were turned into auxiliary cruisers and used in the recent war.

The check was the largest ever cashed at the sub-treasury in this city during Mr. Bigley's administration. Mr. Finney, the new assistant treasurer, will take possession of the office tomorrow. A commission from Washington will make the usual examination of accounts.—Philadelphia Record, 18th.

The news received at the headquarters of the Democratic congressional campaign committee gets more encouraging every day. In many districts that were sometime ago put in the Republican column by a small margin, or were considered doubtful, the Democrats are now confident of winning. There is feeling among Democrats that the House can be captured, and a determination to do it. In a number of states the Republicans are divided into factions, which will add to the chances of electing Democrats in Congressional districts now represented by Republicans. The Republicans are dropping their boastful attitude, and instead of talking of increasing their majority in the House, as they were doing a little while back, they are talking of trying to hold their own, and sending out appeals to the factions in a number of states to get together.

Recently a Raleigh citizen went to the executive office and asked leave to see the papers in a case in which a pardon has been granted. The Governor coolly told him he could not see the papers; that they were not public, but private papers. There was grave suspicion that the pardon was on political grounds. It was stated at the beginning of the Governor's term that he would give out all news as to pardons. He has not done so. A number of pardons have never been made public.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26, 1898.

Why should the investigation of the War Department be made a star-chamber affair? That is the question asked on every side since it was announced that Mr. McKinley's commission would, until further notice, conduct the investigation behind the locked doors of a room in the War Department. Secret investigations have never been popular with the American people. This was recognized by those who stated that these doors would be closed, "until further notice." It is expected that public opinion will demand that those doors be thrown open, and that the testimony in this investigation be publicly taken, and that expectation will almost certainly be realized. Let the commission make its consideration of the testimony as secret as its members may desire, but let the testimony be taken in public. Otherwise the public will put the whole affair down as farcical. It may be only a coincidence, but it is a significant one that the chairman of Mr. McKinley's commission is named Dodge—Gen. G. M. Dodge, of Iowa. The other members, secured after much trouble and many absolute refusals to serve, are: Col. J. A. Sexton, of Illinois; Capt. E. P. Howell, of Georgia; Maj. Gen. J. M. Wilson, U. S. A.; Hon. C. A. Denby, of Indiana; Ex-Gov. Woodbury, of Vermont; Ex-Gov. Beaver, of Pennsylvania; Gen. A. D. McCook, of New York, and Dr. P. S. Conner, of Ohio.

Giving officers honorable discharges who have been openly accused by generals in the army of incompetency and mismanagement is not a good way to convince the country that the War Department either wishes to find the guilty or intends to punish them when found. A case in point is that of Lieut. Col. Rush H. Huidekoper, the horse doctor who was chief surgeon at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga Park, and against whom many charges were made, including one from a brigadier general, made directly to Secretary Alger. Instead of having Huidekoper court-martialed, so that he could have been either vindicated or convicted, orders were issued that his resignation should be accepted and he be given an honorable discharge. Mr. McKinley heard of that order and countermanded it, and directed that Huidekoper be ordered to Washington to testify before the investigating commission. Mr. McKinley is finding out much more about things than he knew before the talk about investigation began, and it is believed that he intends making it hot for some of the guilty parties. In fact, his personal friends are telling him that he must do so for self-preservation.

Representative Cochran, of Missouri, who is in Washington trying to convince the administration to order more Missouri volunteers mustered out of service, said of the Republicans asking endorsement of their conduct of the war: "The Republicans will be fortunate, indeed, if they can divert public attention from the bond issue, the neglect and mismanagement which has characterized the conduct of the authorities in actual charge of the prosecution of the war. How they can expect to gain any advantage by raising war issues, it is difficult to understand. The troops in the field are composed of men of all parties. They did their duty nobly, and have added to the glory and reputation of American arms, by deeds of unparalleled heroism. So much for the soldiers in the field. Now, if the authorities at Washington can afford to go to the country for approbation of an administration, which failed to provide our brave soldiers with the rations, tents, medicines, and competent surgeons and attendants, during the struggle, and hinged the result of the fall election upon this issue, the Democrats can afford to meet it. I think, however, that the war will cut very little figure. Parties will divide on old lines, and the issues of 1896 will be fought over again."

Much interest is felt in Washington in that affidavit made by "Teddy" Roosevelt, that he was not a resident of New York, but of Washington. It is not believed that the making public of this affidavit by the friends of Gov. Black, will prevent "Teddy" getting the Republican nomination for Governor of New York, but "Teddy's" explanation of why he made it will go a long way towards helping the Democrats to defeat him afterward. He says he made the affidavit under advice from his lawyers, because he was assessed for personal taxes both in New York and in Washington, and did not wish to pay double taxes. He escaped the payment of his personal taxes in New York by filling that affidavit, and a careful search of the tax book of the District of Columbia shows that he paid no personal taxes in Washington. "Teddy's" army record shows that a tax dodger may make a tip-top fighter, but the voters of New York are likely to decide by a large majority that they do not approve of making a tax dodger governor of their state. Col. W. J. Bryan and Gov. Holcombe, of Nebraska, received much attention from prominent Democrats during the several days they were in Washington working in the interest of Nebraska volunteers. Col. Bryan could not publicly talk politics, but he participated in some important political conferences and freely gave his opinion to his fellow Democrats.

A British Show of Force.

WEI-HAI-WEI, Sept. 25.—The British battleship Centurion, flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir Edward H. Seymour, commander of the British fleet in Chinese waters, sailed suddenly yesterday under sealed orders, accompanied from Che Foo by the battleship Victorious, the first-class cruiser Narcissus, the second-class cruiser Hermione, the torpedo-boat destroyer Fame, the torpedo-boat destroyer Hart and the dispatch boat Alacrity.

It is supposed that the destination of the fleet is Ta-K, at the entrance of the river leading to Tientsin, the port of Peking, for the purpose of making a naval demonstration there and overawing the Empress, who, having taken the reins of power in her hands, is expected to be unfriendly to England.

Must Hurry Evacuation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—A peremptory message of instruction has been sent to the Cuban military commission and by them made the basis of a note to the Spanish commissioners.

The authorities in Washington will not make public the terms of the note, but its general tenor is that the United States will not be satisfied with any further delay in the evacuation of Cuba; that the terms of the protocol called for the immediate evacuation of Cuba, and that Spanish sovereignty must be relinquished.

The American commissioners have been informed that the evacuation of Cuba cannot be delayed.

Spain's Last Security Involved.

MADRID, Sept. 23.—The economical situation in Spain has become very grave. For the expenses of bringing back the troops in the colonies it has been necessary to precipitate a loan from the Messrs. Rothschilds with the Almaden silver mines as security, and with that advance the present urgencies have been satisfied. The figures of the war expenses works out at $800,000,000.

KITCHIN AT DURHAM.

He Offered to Divide Time With Adams But the Latter Refused.

DURHAM, Sept. 24.—Congressman W. W. Kitchin spoke in Durham last night to an audience composed of several thousand people. He said that his opponent, Judge Adams, would not get as many votes in Granville county as Tom Settle's decoy duck, Dr. Dalby, did two years ago. Mr. Kitchin struck straight from the shoulder all the way through his speech. The indications are that Durham county, which gave him the largest majority in any county in the Fifth district two years ago, will give him a still larger majority this year. Mr. Kitchin has been speaking twice a day in Granville county this week.

Judge S. B. Adams, Mr. Kitchin's opponent, and W. D. Merritt, Populist candidate for judge in this district, spent last night in the city. They were just from Raleigh, where they had been "coached" by Chairman Holton and others, if reports be true. Congressman Kitchin agreed to divide time with Adams last night, but the latter refused.

WHERE YOU CAN REGISTER.

Also Where You Can Vote, When the Booths Will be Open and All About It.

Greensboro is half in one and half in another township—Morehead and Gilmer. Within each township are four voting and registering places, two inside of town for each township and two outside. The place of registration must be the same as the place of voting, and a list is here given. Cut it out and keep it for future reference:

South Morehead, inside—John B. Wright's store, opposite postoffice.

South Morehead, outside—Tise's blacksmith shop, just this side of Pomana, where the dirt road crosses the railroad leading to Jamestown.

North Morehead, inside—Grand jury room at Court House.

North Morehead, outside—Albright's school house, on Battle Ground road.

South Gilmer, inside—Market house.

South Gilmer, outside—Henry Rust place.

North Gilmer, inside—J. A. Pritchett's office.

North Gilmer, outside—At B. C. Phillips' place.

The registration books will be open on the first, second, third and fourth Saturdays in October, next Saturday being the first day.

If you have never voted in this State, or have moved from one precinct to another since 1896, you must register or be transferred—register if you have not voted in the State previously, or be transferred if you have moved since the last election.

The Nebraska conference of the Methodist Church found Rev. C. M. Ellinwood, late chancellor of the Nebraska Wesleyan University, guilty of misappropriating $20,000 of university funds and declared him deposed from the ministry and expelled.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Matters of Interest Reported by Our Corps of Correspondents.

Gibsonville Items.

Mrs. Lee Parker, of Salisbury, is visiting in the city.

Dr. Cummings now has two patients near Greensboro.

Mr. L. B. Fogleman returned to his work at Hillsboro Monday.

Mr. A. M. Garwood will open his school next Monday morning.

Rev. W. W. Amick filled his pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday.

Mr. Hilary Shepherd's sick children are improving, one being out again.

Dr. and Mrs. Freeman, of Burlington, were seen in our city a few days ago.

Rev. Mr. Hoffman preached at the Lutheran church Saturday night and Sunday last.

Misses Ola and Maggie Shoffner, of Glencoe, were welcome visitors to our town last Sunday.

Mr. Jno. N. Roney, our postmaster, made a recent business trip to Greensboro and elsewhere.

Mr. Theodore Parker and sister, Miss Maggie, visited in the Brick Church neighborhood Saturday.

We are glad to report that our city will soon have several more new buildings in course of erection.

Rev. E. P. Parker filled an appointment at the Jefferson Academy, McLeansville, last Sunday evening.

A number of our people attended the opening services of the protracted meeting at Osceola last Sunday.

The Methodist meeting will be postponed till the fourth Sunday in October on account of Master Chambers Davidson's sickness so near by. We regret very much to say he is still very low.

The Democratic candidates, Messrs. Brooks, Wilson, Kirkman and Gilmer, were with us Saturday, Messrs. Brooks and Wilson both speaking in the evening. Most impressive, indeed, were their addresses to the white men of the large assembled crowd, urging and begging them to save good old Guilford from further negro rule.

One of the most happy events in our city recently was the marriage Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock of Mr. G. W. Kestler, formerly of Mocksville but for some time of this place, an excellent young factory man, and Miss Sarah Furger, also of this place, and one of our most beautiful young women. The marriage ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. Mr. Parker. There were no attendants. The bridal couple will make their future home here. Many good wishes for their success, happiness and long life are extended them.

More than twenty million free samples of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve have been distributed by the manufacturers. What better proof of confidence in its merits do you need? It cures piles, burns, scalds, and in the shortest space of time. Howard Gardner.

Lego Items.

The weather is warm and dry. Mr. M. C. Hassell is here making cider today.

Farmers are busy winding up with their fodder and hay.

Mr. W. L. Killen left yesterday for Walnut Cove and other places.

Mr. Lorin Hedgecock, of Deep River, was one of our callers yesterday.

The Africans began a protracted meeting in this neighborhood yesterday.

Messrs. Garland and Smith, of High Point, were among the passers-by yesterday.

Miss L. D. Caviness returned to Oakdale yesterday after a visit in this neighborhood.

Messrs. Zebulon Crews and C. S. Hasten, of Kernersville, made us a pleasant call today.

Mrs. E. C. Oakley, Mrs. Mary Sapp and David Oakley visited friends here yesterday.

If the editor of the PATRIOT don't hurry up and get out here he may miss his treat on sweet cider.

The autumn prayer meeting at Hickory Grove opened last night. Mr. Joseph Loyd is the leader.

The health of this community is good, Mr. J. A. Burney and his mother being the only persons on the sick list.

Mrs. D. M. White is off on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Cooper, among the best people in this section.

Some people might have thought the Lego correspondent dead, but he is not, and furthermore has no intention of giving up the ghost while others are stirring around.

The Seventh Day Adventists have about completed their new church and expect to hold their dedicatory services and quarterly meeting the first Saturday and Sunday in November. Everybody is invited to come or go somewhere else, as they choose.

Ramsour Items.

Mrs. W. F. Trogdon, of Greensboro, is spending some time with Mrs. J. E. Cole.

Mr. I. F. Craven reports a fine trip to Asheville on the late excursion to that place.

Quite a large number of our people attended the meeting at Gray's chapel last Sabbath.

Mr. J. C. Marsh has recently built two convenient dwelling houses on Church street.

The many friends of Mr. W. A. Prevost, of Worthville, were greatly grieved to learn of his sad death last week.

Miss Ida Hinshaw, of Winston, and Miss Nellie McGill, of Greensboro, are visiting Miss Etta Watkins this week.

Mr. T. L. Chisholm, manager of the Ramsour Store Co., is opening up a very large and beautiful stock of ladies' cloaks, etc.

Rev. M. L. Hurley closed his pastorate in the Christian church here last Sabbath. Rev. Mr. Black, of Elon College, will have charge of the church the coming year.

Mr. W. J. Byerly and Miss Minnie Teague, two of Franklinville's most popular young people, were happily united in the holy ties of wedlock last Sunday, Sept. 25, 1898.

Hillsdale Items.

Mr. Chas. Archer spent the day at home Sunday.

The protracted meeting here will be held the last of October, beginning the fourth Sunday.

Mrs. Winchester went to Guilford College last week to see her mother, who has been very sick.

Miss Mary Apple, of Greensboro, is spending some time with her cousin, Miss Parralee Busick.

Mrs. Sallie McMichael, an old and respected citizen of this vicinity, died a few days ago and was buried here.

Rev. P. E. Parker preached an excellent sermon here yesterday. Next Sunday he will protract the services at Gethsemane.

The Sunday school here continues in excellent condition notwithstanding for years it has suspended in the fall. It has been decided, however, to continue the school this winter, and it is gratifying to see no disposition to lag.

Remember that you can get at Gardner's a corn cure that is guaranteed. Ask for Peerless Corn Cure.

Whitsett Items.

Miss Emma Z. Boon is now in Graham, where she has a situation. The latest students to enter the Institute are from the Valley of Virginia.

Mr. J. B. Whitsett has been absent for a few days in northern Guilford.

A crowd from here attended the political speaking at Gibsonville last Saturday.

Mr. Walter Sellers, of the firm of Sellers Bros., Burlington, was a visitor last Sunday.

Mr. G. G. Clapp attended the Sunday school convention at Smithwood last Saturday.

Several of our citizens have been attending protracted services at Gibsonville this week.

TILLMAN SCORES FUSION.

The South Carolina Senator is Sorry For Us—North Carolina the Most Godforsaken State Politically in the Union.

One of the most unique characters in national politics was here yesterday, says the Raleigh News and Observer.

Need I say that Senator Ben Tillman, of South Carolina, is the man to whom I refer? He was on his way home from the north, where he has been for a vacation. Though he was in Raleigh only ten minutes, and did not get off the train, I could not resist the temptation to hunt him up and talk to him.

He is looking as brown as a Spaniard and says he feels much improved by his rest. There was just enough work in it to make him enjoy it, he said. He spoke at Haverhill, Mass., on Labor Day, and later at the New Hampshire State Fair. Then he went up into Canada till he struck frost, then back down to the St. Lawrence, to Quebec and to other points along the border.

This was all interesting enough, but it wasn't what I climbed on that train to talk about.

"Senator, how are things politically in the good State of South Carolina?" I broke in.

"Just the very question I was about to ask you," he replied, laughing. "You see I've been out of my State some three months now and I know very little of what's going on there—except, of course, that our people are doing the right thing."

"Wish you could say as much for the people of North Carolina."

He drew a long breath and looked out the window for a moment, then slowly turning his face toward me, while his one eye glowed like a coal that seemed to burn through you, he said, just a little sadly, I thought:

"Yes, I wish I could. You are bad off, and I'm truly sorry for you. North Carolina is today the most God-forsaken State politically in the Federal Union."

I confess I was somewhat surprised to hear Tillman say it.

"South Carolina," he continued, "was never so bad, not even in the days of the scalawag and carpet-bagger. And since we ran the Radicals out in 1872 we've been all right. North Carolina, too, had her days of darkness during the reconstruction period. But they were as a Sunday school in comparison with her present condition. Then the white people were united, now they are divided and that's the sad part about it all."

Was that a sigh that came from the big-hearted, fire-eating Tillman? The face would have had a look of sadness on it had it not been for its strong lines, the firm-set chin and the blazing eye.

There was a sort of solemn awe in his voice as he said all this.

"I wanted to warn your people against this in 1896. I'm no prophet, but I saw what was coming. I wanted to speak in your State and tendered my services, but after some hesitation your State chairman decided against me; thought I was too hot, a number, I suppose."

"Are you so situated now that you could come here and help us a little?"

"Well, I hardly know. I have not considered the matter. You are in such a awful fix, though, I hardly know how I could refuse if asked by your committee. Every man and good citizen must look upon the political situation in North Carolina with shame. From the hour of fusion, four years ago, between the Populists—an element of your good white people—and Republicans, the negroes—there has been an era of corruption and incompetence. It is almost incredible, the condition into which the proud old State has fallen. The carpet-baggers of thirty years ago does not compare with it."

"I sincerely hope that you may be able to redeem yourselves in the coming election. I rejoice to hear that the outlook is encouraging."

Then somehow we drifted off into a discussion of the Congressional outlook.

The train was now going and the warm hand-grasp the South Carolinian gave as I hurried out, made me understand that he had meant every word he said, and that beneath his rough exterior was hidden a warm, generous heart and a patriotic desire for the country's welfare.

Not the least interesting thing to me in this short interview was the personality of the man—this rumped giant, who, as prize fighters say, would "strip well." He is of heroic proportions. He has mountainous shoulders; big, honest hands; a square, firm jaw; a fierce, piercing eye set in a hard, determined face. The absence of one eye accentuates the strength and intensity of the other, giving the face a picturequeness that it otherwise would not possess. At first glance the South Carolinian looks as if he could do any or all of several things—knock you down, preach a sermon, eat a horse—but whatever he did he'd have no apologies to offer afterwards.

I doubt very much whether he could tell you the difference between an isosceles triangle and a logarithm, or explain to you the binomial theorem, but he can quickly make up his mind what to do under given conditions and go at it with a determination that brooks no opposition.

He is a man whom fortune has not spoiled. Risen from the ranks of the people, success has not made him forget them.

"The people are honest," he told me yesterday, "and will do the right thing in the end. The only trouble is getting them to see the right."

Intensity of purpose, absolute sincerity and untiring industry are his strong points.

To the railroad magnate, the manufacturer, the ward politician and the soiled ploughman he is one and the same. And that is why he has been so much abused and so often misunderstood.

He was on his way home all the way from Canada, where he has been for a rest—a long journey, but he was taking it in a day coach, with the people. That is Tillman all over. No Pullmans and dining cars for him. It is refreshing to talk to such a man.

The Atlanta Constitution sees us through the same sort of glasses as does Senator Tillman, and it has coined the expression "North Carolinaized," and is warning the people against the Populist-Republican fusion that has brought such a curse upon the Old North State.

And the Waycross (Ga.) Herald says the scalawags in wire-grass Georgia would put that section in the same condition that North Carolina is in if they could. "Scalawags are entitled to no consideration and should be fought like fighting fire. They are the worst enemies the South ever had."

Discussing the situation in North Carolina, as it affects Georgia, the Washington (Ga.) Gazette says: "The situation in North Carolina is so bad that honest men, without distinction of party, should swear a great oath to stand by one another until it is rid of the private thieves and public robbers."

A "Run-Down."
"tired out" woman who complains of backache, headache, loss of appetite, extreme lassitude and that "don't care" feeling is pretty sure to be suffering from "Female Weakness," some irregularity or derangement of the special functions of womanhood. Very often women troubles set the nerves wild with fright, and as a result the woman suffers from sleeplessness, nervousness, nervous prostration, faintness and dizziness, irritability and indigestion. In all cases of irregularity or suspended monthly function, and in all those nervous diseases depending upon local causes, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will restore you to perfect health. Instead of the exhaustion and feeling of weight and dragging down in the abdomen, you feel fresh and strong. For young girls who suffer from irregularities, for the hard working woman who suffers from catarrh of the lining of the uterus, causing a constant drain upon the system, there is no prescription used by any physician which can equal in results Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For over thirty years Dr. R. V. Pierce, Chief Consulting Physician to the Loyalist Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., has used his "Favorite Prescription" in the diseases of women which had long been his specialty and in fully ninety-eight per cent. of all cases, it has permanently cured.

Farming vs. Manufacturing.

In a recent interview with Mr. L. Banks Holt, of Graham, he said:

"I hear so many people claiming that the farmer has all the work to do, pays all the taxes and still gets nothing for his labor and products that I feel this statement can be challenged and, in fact, farming properly managed can be made to yield as big returns, investment considered, as any business I know of. I have had the personal supervision over my farm this year and made something over 9,000 bushels of wheat and oats, 130 tons of hay, and will make at least 1,500 bushels of corn, and as I said before, it beats may factory all to hollow. In addition to this, as you know, my poultry is a part of my farming operation, and I will raise this year more than 2,000 chickens, ducks and turkeys, all of which are fed from my own farm products."

This is a statement that will attract wide attention, for Mr. Holt is one of the biggest farmers in the State. An impression generally prevails that factory property pays much more handsomely than farm property. Mr. Holt gives it as his experience, and he has had practical experience at both, that "my farm beats my factory all to hollow."—Raleigh News and Observer.

BANK'S PART IN FARMING.

How the Traders in Money Enable Soil Tillers to Work.

How does a bank help the farmer?

With the approach of the time for plowing and planting, seeds and fertilizer will be necessary. How can the farmer buy them if the last season was a poor one? He has spent all of his earnings in running the household during the long winter. He goes to the dealer in fertilizer in the nearest village and asks, "What is the price of fertilizer a ton?"

"Fifty dollars," the dealer replies. "Well, I will need two tons, and that will amount to $100."

"Yes. Take it along now?"

"I haven't the ready cash just now, but—"

"Oh, that's all right. I know you're good for it. Take it along and give me your note payable in four months. By that time your crops will be yielding a profit."

The farmer gives his note; the dealer indorses it and gives it in payment to the wholesaler from whom he gets the fertilizer; the wholesaler sends it to the manufacturer of the fertilizer, who in turn takes it to his bank and borrows the money on it less the interest.

The farmer gets his seed in the same way and at the time of the expiration of the notes is able to meet his obligations.

Thus, instead of the farmer being compelled to wait until he can get the cash to pay before he can buy the fertilizer and seed, he obtains them when he needs them. The dealer, instead of having to wait until the farmer gets the money before he can sell his goods, sells them in the proper season and receives what is to him practically cash. The wholesaler receives from the retailer what is as good as cash to him, and the manufacturer receives virtually cash from the wholesaler.

How would all this be possible were it not that the bankers had collected the idle money of other people and were able to lend it out to good advantage? The farm would go unplanted; the ground would go unfertilized; there would be no crops to yield a profit.

That's where the bank helps the farmer.—New York Press.

The Radical Game—Exposure the Word.

There is one striking feature in the present campaign that should not be overlooked. It is a repetition of the great campaign of 1876, between Governor Vance and Judge Tom Settle. The Republicans were clearly on the defensive, for they had failed at every turn. They had piled up $27,000,000 of state debt, had robbed and impoverished the people, had given a dreadful name to the state, had well nigh ruined the cause of education, after closing the University practically, had repelled and driven out capital, had about prostrated everything and made people hopeless of better times and more honest conditions. And yet Settle, who had decided ability and aggressiveness, so managed the discussion as to throw Vance on the defensive to a very great extent. Now, with the desperate failure of the "combine," known and read of all men, and the huge disaster that has befallen the state under the rule of wickedness and ignorance—under negro supremacy and white traitorism—the effort is made, and it must be admitted, with some success, to put the white men on the defensive. Cy. Thompson and his file-leaders are essaying that game, and until Charles Aycock put a curb-bit in Thompson's mouth at Concord that ready and aggressive fighter was hurling charges by the handful at the Democratic dead and the living. His exposure is complete, as Captain Cooke has with great clearness and fullness established beyond all peradventure. Our advice is not to take time any longer to reply to liars and to expose falsehoods, but to lay bare the unmitigated wickedness, duplicity, incompetency and corruption of the evil gang of officials who are a curse to North Carolina and a stink in the market. Carry literally "the war into Africa."—Wilmingon Messenger.

Death of a Famous Woman.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 17.—News has just reached here of the death of Nahala Mullins, the famous fat woman and moonshiner of Hancock county. Mrs. Mullins weighed 550 pounds and lived on the top of a mountain, where she conducted a "still" in defiance of the law. The officers were unable to apprehend her on account of her size, there being no way to get her down the mountain. Mrs. Mullins was one of the tribe of Elungeons, whose origin has been a mystery to ethnological students for many years.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any Salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure. Howard Gardner.

Mr. John M. Brower has come out as an independent Republican candidate for Congress in the eighth district. Mr. Brower said in July he would be a candidate if the convention of bolting Republicans did not nominate Dr. J. O. Wilcox. The latter was nominated, but died a fortnight ago and so Brower announces himself. Another convention of bolters is called to meet September 28 and this may nominate Brower, who represents an influential element in the party which resents Congressman R. V. Linney's renomination.

A LAWLESS NEGRO.

Urges Negroes to Arm and Resist Arrest—He Declares That Any Negro Who Votes the Democratic Ticket Should Be Lynched.

Lee Person, colored, is the Republican nominee for the Senate in Edgecombe, and the Populists have arranged to fuse with the Republicans. In a letter from Tarboro to the Charlotte Observer Mr. H. E. C. Bryant writes:

"Lee Person is the smartest politician of his race in the South. He is well educated and intelligent, young and active. On the stump he arouses the negroes against the white people. He draws the color line. Last Monday night, the 12th inst., in a speech to negroes, at Mildred, this county, he said:

"Go to the elections well armed, with rocks in your pockets, clubs in your hands and carrying your pistols. And don't allow any officer to arrest you after you have registered until the day after the election, unless you have stolen something or killed somebody. Come to me if they get after you."

"Mr. William H. Felton, being duly sworn before Mr. James R. Gaskill, Notary Public, says: 'My name is William E. Felton, post-office address, Old Sparta, N. C. I was in Old Sparta Monday night, October 29th, 1894, and heard a negro, Lee Person, a Republican candidate for the State Legislature for Edgecombe county, address some of the people of Old Sparta and vicinity. During his speech he declared in substance that the poor white man had already begun to invite the negro into his house, and soon the poor white man would invite the negro to eat and sleep with him. Also in the course of his speech Person declared that any negro who voted the Democratic ticket should be lynched, and he for one, would walk from Rocky Mount to Old Sparta to help lynch him. There were present during this vindictive speech probably fifty or more people.'

"This is the kind of negro that will go to the Senate from Edgecombe this year. Person has been holding negro meetings throughout the county for several weeks."

Greatness Thrust Upon Him.

Mr. Webster Davis, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, is making political speeches in Michigan and defending the administration, of which he is an eloquent if not potential member. In repelling the attacks which have been made upon Mr. Alger as head of the War Department, Mr. Davis says: "The President has ordered a thorough investigation of the department, but it is hardly making political capital to seek to besmirch the character of the greatest Secretary of War since the time of Stanton. The party that does this will certainly go down to defeat." It is no tribute to Mr. Alger's administrative ability to say that he is the greatest Secretary of War since the time of Stanton. From the close of the civil war up to the time of the outbreak of hostilities with Spain, any capable clerk in the War Department could have discharged the duties of Secretary and the interests of the country and of the army would not have suffered. We have been at peace with all the world, and with the exception of the Indian disturbances in the West and riots due to strikes, there was no occasion to use the army. In this long period the Secretary of War was little more than an ornamental attachment to the administration, and without a War Secretary the army would probably have been as efficient and well-managed under the command of capable officers. If there had been no war with Spain, Mr. Alger, like his predecessors, would have had practically nothing to do in the four years in which he was appointed to act as head of the War Department, and little would have been heard of him except as he might have happened to shine at social functions or on political occasions. When the war came, however, there was need of a man of exceptional ability in the department charged with the management of military operations, and then Mr. Alger showed his weakness. There has been only one War Secretary since Stanton who held office at a time when the United States was engaged in hostilities with a recognized military power, and the least said in the way of comparing Mr. Alger with Lincoln's War Secretary the better it will be for the present Secretary. There are other ways of "defending" Mr. Alger, and Mr. Davis might suggest that he was a victim of wicked and scheming politicians who imposed upon his innocent and confiding nature.

The Chart Agent.

It is again about that season of the year when the publishers of charts begin to make war, and their agents to invade the counties and school districts of our Southern States seeking what school funds they may devour. They usually have a set of charts from which everything can be learned with little labor and in less time. In a few days they can be so mastered by an incompetent teacher that he will do better work with the charts than the most scholarly trained teacher can do without them. They take the place of brains, learning and experience. They render unnecessary all text books, and all other apparatus. They will revolutionize the school. Houses and length of term are not to be compared with them. If the school has a fund of $75 for a session of twelve weeks, it is plainly the best possible economy to spend $37.50 of it for one or two of these charts. Six weeks with a chart will be worth far more than twelve weeks without a chart; and, then, its beautiful oak case will preserve the chart for many years.

The chart is printed on a Manila paper worth five cents a sheet—there are twenty sheets. The case is of the "best and most solid oak," highly polished and very new. It cost $3.00. The stand on which the chart is displayed cost fifty cents. The combination sells for $37.50, more or less. The agent knows much about it, and can talk like "a streak of greased lightning" for thirty-five minutes, showing the committeemen the motions of the earth, the eclipses of the sun, the phases of the moon, the circulation of the blood, the valves of the heart, the sutures of the skull, the color of the healthy stomach and of the hobnail liver, the relations of angles and lines, and many other things most wonderful. At the end there is a blank contract all ready for the signature, and the agent goes on his way rejoicing. The chart comes, is played with a few days and put aside. The school closes a few weeks earlier, and the story is ended. Next year the case of the chart serves as a board on which to set the water-bucket, and the agent is working the same game in another part of his territory.

A few days ago a supervisor in a North Carolina county showed us ten of these charts for which $375 of the school fund was paid a few years ago. They are still in good condition—never having been taken from the supervisor's office in the court house. He offered to give us one. The schools of that county will not be longer than eight weeks this year.

A few years ago a cheap chart without a case was sold in North Carolina at $16.50. About $50,000 of the school funds went to pay for them. Buncombe county alone paid $1,150, the agents selling to a local broker their order on the treasury for $800 in cash. In an adjoining State a costly globe was sold in large numbers for use in small schools taught for twelve weeks in school houses costing little more than the globes. But after the agent had gone and the globes were shipped the committees and teachers lost interest in them and they remained in the hands of county superintendents. Instances of this kind might be multiplied, but it is not necessary.

The teacher knows best what helps are needed in the school-room, and should know best how to spend the small sum provided for the education of the children. No committee should buy anything for use in the schools except on the recommendation of the teacher or superintendent. Whatever may be needed can be had much more cheaply from an established supply house than from a traveling agent.

See the committeemen of your district or township and ask them to buy no supplies from traveling agents.—North Carolina Journal of Education.

This State makes a fine showing in the matter of leaf-tobacco sales. There are thirty-four markets, at which there are eighty-seven warehouses and 330 leaf-tobacco dealers. The reports from these markets show sales of 125,000,000 pounds. Much more than half the bright tobacco grown in the United States is produced in North Carolina.

A CRITICAL TIME During the Battle of Santiago.

SICK OR WELL, A RUSH NIGHT AND DAY.

The Packers at the Battle of Santiago de Cuba Were All Heroes—Their Heroic Efforts in Getting Ammunition and Rations to the Front Saved the Day.

P. E. Butler, of pack-train No. 3, writing from Santiago de Cuba, on July 23, says: "We all had diarrhoea in more or less violent form, and when we landed we had no time to see a doctor, for it was a case of rush and night and day to keep the troops supplied with ammunition and rations, but thanks to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, we were able to keep at work and keep our health; in fact, I sincerely believe that at one critical time this medicine was the indirect saviour of our army, for if the packers had been unable to work there would have been no way of getting supplies to the front. There were no roads that a wagon train could use. My comrade and myself had the good fortune to lay in a supply of this medicine for our pack-train before we left Tampa, and I know in four cases it absolutely saved life."

"Buckeye" Steel Frame Disc Drills

Embody the latest features in Drill construction. Has features which put them far in advance of all others. The Glass Fertilizer Feeder is the only successful feeder made and the only one which will sow any kind of fertilizer, wet or dry, without CLOGGING and CHOKING up. Will sow up hill or down. Has the "Double Run" Force Feed for sowing Peas, Beans, Cow Peas, Corn, Beet Seed, Oats, &c. Wheat can be put in any depth desired, and the discs will not choke. Can be worked in the most trashy land, and one man can do the same work that two men would be required with Hoe Drill. Money can buy no better than the "Buckeye." We present a few of many testimonials from users of our Drill.

TESTIMONIALS.

WAKEFIELD HARDWARE CO., CITY.
GENTLEMEN—In reply to your inquiry as to what I think of the Buckeye Wheat Drill bought from you last season, will say that it has given me entire satisfaction. It is strong, easily managed and is of very light draft. The Glass Fertilizer Feeder is the best I ever saw. It will sow any kind of fertilizer uniformly and will not clog or gum up. The wheat feeder could not be better. I sowed Red oats and put in my grass seed with the Buckeye to my entire satisfaction. I heartily recommend the Buckeye to do all your drilling for it.
Yours truly,
THOS. D. SHERWOOD.

GENTLEMEN—Our Buckeye Drill bought from you is all that we could ask for. It is the lightest draft drill we ever saw. Our team is hard on it and it is no trouble to work it to this drill. The Glass Fertilizer Feeder is the best I ever saw. It is strong, easily managed and is of very light draft. The wheat feeder is all right. Would not have any other drill. The Buckeye is the best we ever saw.
H. C. BROWN and T. SCOTT.

WAKEFIELD HARDWARE CO., GREENSBORO, N. C.
GENTLEMEN—Answering your inquiry regarding the Buckeye Drill used on my place, will say it is the best I ever saw and if I had to buy again it would be a Buckeye. It sows wheat and oats perfectly, puts in fertilizer as near perfection as possible and the fertilizer feeder will not clog or gum. Have known acid phosphato to stand as long as five days in the Buckeye and did not rust or corrode it and it did not gum. It is light draft; two small mules pulled it easily. I can't say too much for the Buckeye.
DR. P. A. ROBINSON.

GENTLEMEN—It is my honest opinion that the Buckeye Wheat Drill sold by you is beyond all question the best drill made. I like it better than any drill I ever saw. I saw where it had sown peas for J. Van Lindley and prettier work I never saw done. It is the drill to buy.

THE TERESA FLOATS.

Cheers, Whistles and Cannon Greet the Spanish Warship After Her Rise From the Water.

PLAYA DEL ESTE, Cuba, Sept. 25.—Naval Constructor Hobson has kept his promise. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the Spanish cruiser Infanta Maria Teresa was floated and was towed five knots in eight hours by the United States steamship Potomac and the tug Merritt. She is at anchor now in Guantanamo bay.

An urgent telegram from Constructor Hobson brought the Newark, the Vulcan, the Scorpion, the Alvarado and the Potomac from Guantanamo. They arrived off the wreck at daylight Saturday. At sunrise the American flag was floated at the Teresa's main truck. Operations were begun with steam on the Teresa's pumps, winches and steering apparatus. A hawser was passed at 9.30 o'clock from the starboard quarter of the Teresa to the tug Chapman and from her port bow to the Merritt. The Chapman pulled the Teresa off alone when the hawser drew taut.

There was a great demonstration by steam whistles, and later the flagship signaled to salute the star-spangled banner with twenty-one guns. The Newark, Scorpion and Alvarado responded. Cheers rent the air. The men were called to quarters and the band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Constructor Hobson was perched on the ship's after turret, watching her closely for four miles. The pumps were going continually. The trip was made without especial incident.

Carnegie Will Make Cannon.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 23.—Honesty is to have a gun foundry that will rival that of Herr Krupp, at Essen, Germany. The Carnegie Steel Company is now preparing plans for its establishment and it will be one of the largest in the world. Work on the buildings will begin about January 1, and it will be in operation within a year. The building of a gun works to rival that of Krupp has been a dream of Andrew Carnegie ever since he became a power in the steel world. Krupp is a rival of Carnegie in the making of armor and ship plates. The plans for the building are already being prepared. There will be four immense buildings, each 200 feet wide and about 1,000 feet long. The "built-up" gun will be a specialty of the Carnegie people and will be built under patents controlled by the steel firm. The plant will employ about 2,000 men, and it is believed that there will be work enough secured from the United States government alone to keep it running night and day for several years. The great additions to the United States navy and the proposed coast defenses which are to be made by this nation will render a gun foundry on the American continent necessary.

Bust of Columbus Secured.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The most beautiful of all of the souvenirs of the great naval battle of July 3 off Santiago reached the Navy Department yesterday from Captain Converse, commanding the Montgomery at Guantanamo. It is a bronze bust of Christopher Columbus, taken from the flagship Cristobal Colon, which lies below the surface of the ocean off the Cuban coast. The Navy Department has offered to place it in charge of the National Museum until some permanent disposition can be made of them, all the relics recovered from the wrecks save the captured flags, which must go to the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, so this bust will be sent to the museum.

Robert P. Porter, at a banquet in Cienfuegos, stated that annexation was no part of the United States program in Cuba.

DISMAL SWAMP CANAL.

The Work of Widening and Deepening Nearing Completion.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 25.—The contractors now say the extensive job of widening and deepening the Dismal Swamp canal will be through with and the canal thrown open to traffic the first of the year. The waterway will then be sixty feet wide and ten feet deep, and only two locks, one at Deep Creek and one near South Mills. A force of about 300 men is now employed, and they are working all along the canal. The work has been unexpectedly hard and difficult, and the machinery has had to cut through a perfect mass of juniper roots and stumps almost the entire length of the canal before the dredges, powerful as they are, could do any digging. The root-cutting and stump-pulling machinery all had to be invented and built for the purpose in Philadelphia. While the canal will be of great value to the farming country through which it passes in the way of marketing the crops, it is expected, on account of the greater facilities, to be the popular route for all vessels going South or returning by the Carolina sounds.

Death of Miss Lena N. Cobb.

It is with sincere regret we announce the death of Miss Lena N. Cobb, of Elon College, which occurred on the 15th inst. She had been confined to her bed for two months with typhoid fever and all that medical skill and loving hands could do were done, but to no avail. She told her friends at the beginning of her illness she would not recover. Her remains were laid to rest at Shallow-Ford church, of which she was a consistent member.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Drs. Newman and Long, of Elon College, followed by appropriate remarks by Profs. Atkinson and Wicker. She was a student of Elon College and a member of the Junior class, the male members of which were her pall-bearers. The high esteem in which she was held by faculty and students, her Sunday school and her church was shown by the large crowd that showed its last tribute of respect and by the beautiful floral offerings that were literally heaped upon the pure white casket. We extend our sympathy to the stricken mother, brothers and sisters, and though "Her sun has set while it is yet day" it will rise to her most gloriously.

Protests of Lumbermen.

QUEBEC, Sept. 23.—The American lumbermen had another inning with the international conference commissioners today.

In addition to the 200 names of leading lumber firms of 21 States attached to the memorial which Congressman Tawney presented to the American commissioners yesterday upward of 75 have come in by telegraph today.

All day the commissioners have been receiving telegrams from lumber firms in various parts of the Union, urging in the strongest possible terms that no reduction be made in the present duty on Canadian lumber.

Among the protests was another memorial sent by the lumbermen of North Carolina, which includes nearly all the principal lumber firms of the Southern States.

New Combustible That Ignites in Contact With Air or Water.

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—A new and highly important invention was tested at the German naval manouvres, ending this week. It was in the shape of a Greek-Phoenician fire, invented by a Berlin engineer. It ignites in contact with the air or water and cannot be quenched by either water or earth.

It burns with a brilliant flame, exceeding big search lights and it can be sunk under water or under ground and when brought to the surface instantly bursts into flame at any desired point. It was tested during the night evolutions off the island of Heligoland and off Kiel and proved most efficient in detecting the presence of an enemy.

Kansas Soldiers May Vote at Sea.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 23.—The Twentieth Kansas Regiment, now at San Francisco and soon to start for Manila, will vote for State officers and Congressmen, but the polling place is likely to be on ship-board, near the middle of the Pacific Ocean. Secretary of State Bush is preparing the ballots, which will be sent to San Francisco tomorrow.

Bank Robbery.

FLORA, Ind., Sept. 27.—Robbers blew open the safe in the Farmers' Bank at 3 o'clock this morning. They escaped with $12,000. Cashier Lenon appeared on the scene while the robbers were working and was probably fatally shot. A posse of citizens followed the men a mile but they escaped on a hand car. Blood hounds are on their trail. There were two explosions and the bank building was nearly wrecked.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

—Hon. W. H. Kitchin, a prince among campaign orators, delivered a magnificent speech here last Wednesday night, his large audience, which included many ladies, filling every particle of available space in the court house, scores of late comers being unable to gain admission or even get near enough to the doors to hear what was being said. He was gratified at the interest shown in the cause he represented and could well have felt flattered by the enthusiastic reception accorded him. He spoke for about two hours in his vigorous and emphatic style, clinching every argument he advanced with the seal of truth. His strongest appeals were in behalf of white supremacy, the one thing above all else needful in North Carolina. The sins of omission and commission perpetrated by the detestable fusion government which has trailed the state's proud name in the dust were handled most effectively by the speaker. He offered no excuse for his brief connection with the Populist party, saying that he went into it believing it stood for principle, but got out as soon as he was convinced that its whole trend was in the direction of Radicalism. His appeal to the good men who are still being carried along blindly by unprincipled Populist leaders was strong indeed, and ought to be heeded. It came from an honest heart. We wish every voter in the county could have heard Mr. Kitchin's speech from beginning to end. It merited much applause, and judging by the many kind remarks since made in reference to it, we believe it was productive of much good.

AFTER SEPT. 30

We will adopt the Cash System.

Our books will be closed and our prices reduced from ten to fifteen per cent.

We are convinced that this is the proper way to conduct a Dry Goods and Shoe business to the mutual interest of customer and merchant. It will cost any merchant from ten to fifteen per cent. more to do a credit business than it would to sell the same amount of goods for cash.

THIS DIFFERENCE WE PROPOSE TO GIVE OUR CUSTOMERS

If they are willing to pay us spot cash. Nobody is willing to help pay other people's debts, nevertheless this is what you are doing when you spend your money with a merchant who does a credit business, for no merchant can sell on credit without losing money from bad debts and otherwise. But this is not the case with the merchant that sells for cash, for we can sell Dry Goods and Shoes at one-half the profit for cash and make more money than the merchant that sells on credit.

FOR EXAMPLE:

Mr. A. buys dry goods and shoes to the amount of $1,000 and sells them on credit at a profit of 30 per cent., his gain is $300, but this is not all gain as the following will prove: Any merchant doing a credit business is bound to have some losses. This we will put at the low estimate of 5 per cent. He will have to employ a bookkeeper and collector, which will cost not less than 5 per cent., and if he sells on credit he must necessarily buy on credit and thereby sustain a loss of 5 per cent. discount which he could get off if he paid cash for his goods. Add all these losses and expenses together and we find that Mr. A. instead of making $300, has only made $150.

Now we will look at the other side of the question.

Mr. B. buys dry goods and shoes to the amount of $1,000 and sells them for cash at a profit of 15 per cent.; his gain would be $150. Mr. B. by selling his goods for cash will also be able to pay cash and get the 5 per cent. discount, which would amount to $50. Add this to the $150 and we find that Mr. B. has made $200, or $50 more than Mr. A., and has sold his goods at one-half the profit. In other words, Mr. B., the cash man, has sold his customers goods 15 per cent. less than Mr. A. and has made $50 more. Is it not plain to see that selling goods for cash is of mutual interest to merchant and buyer?

If you have the money to pay spot cash for your Dry Goods and Shoes don't fail to see us before you buy, for we can and will sell you the same goods cheaper than you can buy them elsewhere. Thanking you for past favors, we are, Yours truly, Tennessee's Governor Ill.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 24.—Advices from Johnson City today are to the effect that the condition of Governor Taylor, who has been ill for some time, is alarming. It has been decided to put a guard around the house and allow no one to approach. The strain of seeing visitor and attending to public business in his weakened condition has worn him very much. Governor Taylor has been away from the capital about two months and during that time has not improved. His term of office expires in January.

One Populist Cured.

We learn that a Duplin Populist came to the city a few days ago and while here got a little too much "tea" aboard. While taking in the town a negro policeman arrested him and he was disposed to resist arrest by the black officer. The policeman threatened him with his club. Now there is one Populist less in Duplin county. This one says he will vote with the white folks this time.—Wilmington Messenger.
