—Some time during Saturday night a bold but clumsy robber made a successful raid on the Wakefield Hardware Company's store. An entrance was effected through a rear door, the thief knocking out a large pane of glass and prying loose two iron bars which were screwed across the door. Had the midnight visitor been an experienced burglar he would have unscrewed the bars, which would have been much quicker and easier than prizing them off. After gaining access to the store the thief appropriated eight of the finest revolvers in the house and five or six good pocket knives to his own use, besides robbing the cash register of about three dollars in change. Two young men were sleeping in a room over the store and heard the man walking below, but supposed it to be Mr. R. B. Beall, the manager of the store. If the robber should be captured he will be tried for burglary, which is a hanging crime.

—A returned "patriot" from the late war tanked up with the "reeking red" Sunday afternoon and imagined that he was able to put a whole regiment to flight. He mistook the old Southern passenger station for a Spanish blockhouse, but was intercepted before demolishing it. An idea then seized him to take charge of one of the Southern's passenger trains, and when the south-bound local came in he crawled up in the cab and informed the engineer that he would run the train to Charlotte. Policeman Jordan gently persuaded him to postpone his trip, but by this time the soldier was in a bad humor and bent on devilry. After making an unsuccessful attempt to break into an express car the officer took him in charge, but was compelled to use his club twice on the obstreperous prisoner before reaching the jail. Monday afternoon the mayor sentenced him to the roads, but finally changed the sentence to a fine after the prisoner had made some fair promises.

The King Murder Trial.

The case against W. N. King, charged with the murder of W. P. Saunders, in Rockingham county, last December, was called in the Federal court last Wednesday afternoon. The court appointed Mr. Ed. L. Ragan a commissioner to summon a special venire and the jury was empanelled Thursday morning, when the taking of evidence was begun. There was a large number of witnesses and the evidence was not concluded until Friday. Able counsel was employed on both sides and the trial was watched with interest throughout. R. B. Glenn, of Winston; Solicitor M. L. Mott, of Wilkesboro, and Reid & Reid, of Wentworth, conducted the prosecution, while the defendant was represented by District Attorney Holton, C. B. Watson, of Winston; John D. Pansill, of Reidsville, and Thomas Settle, of this city.

It developed on the trial that bad feeling had existed between the two men for some time, various threats having been made by them. Two nights previous to the tragedy King, who is a deputy United States marshal, had accompanied two other revenue officers in a raid on an illicit distillery operated by Saunders, and after he (King) had returned home Saunders and his two brothers came by and abused him for the part he had taken in the matter. On the day of the murder Saunders came to the home of the defendant ostensibly for the purpose of collecting a bill owed him by King. In the settlement of the account the two men became embroiled in a quarrel, when Saunders knocked his neighbor down with a double-barrel shotgun. King's wife then came to her husband's assistance, bringing him a revolver, and in the melee that followed Saunders was shot three times—once in the back. Saunders' gun was not fired, though the stock was broken by the blows he gave King.

After the murder King went immediately to Reidsville and gave himself up to the officers. The next day a writ of habeas corpus was sworn out and the prisoner brought before Judge W. P. Bynum, Jr., in Greensboro, who released him under a bond of $500.

The lawyers for both sides conducted the case in an able manner and made strong speeches. Self-defense was the main plea of the defendant's attorneys. The argument was closed Friday night at 7.30, Hon. R. B. Glenn, for the prosecution, making the last speech. The jury was out less than an hour, returning with a verdict of not guilty. So far as we know the verdict is generally approved by the public.

The Only Exhibition of its Kind in America.

The Famous Mexican Bull Fighters that will exhibit at Greensboro, Monday April 17th, is the only exhibition of its kind ever brought to this country. It affords the American people an opportunity of witnessing an entirely foreign amusement. An American Amusement Syndicate that is ever abreast of the times and up-to-date, have organized this novel exhibition, consisting of an entire Caudrilla of genuine Mexican Matadors, Espadas, Toreros, Picadores, Banderilleros, Capadores, Chulass—famous in their native country for their daring exploits in the arenas, while in combat with the formidable bovines. The management of this popular attraction has imported for us, their first annual tour, genuine Mexican Bulls direct from the famous pastures of Jalisco, Mexico, also genuine Mexican Cow Boys, with their Bucking Bronchos; genuine Mexican Rough Riders and Sharp Shooters. These fear-defying artists will give exhibitions of their daring skill at each and every performance.

Mr. A. L. McLean the Winner.

The contest for the Oliver chilled plow, advertised in the PATRIOT by the Wakefield Hardware Company, closed April 1st, when the reasons for the Oliver's superiority that had been received were sent by us to the manufacturers, who decided the contest. The Oliver Chilled Plow Works, of Richmond, Va., write under date of April 8th that they had carefully examined all the reasons and awarded the plow to the author of the set of reasons marked "No. 10." These reasons were submitted by Mr. Archie L. McLean, a prosperous young farmer of McLeansville, and he is consequently the winner of the plow. We congratulate Mr. McLean upon winning this valuable prize, and the Wakefield Hardware Company upon their enterprise displayed in the matter.

Two Arrests Made.

It now appears as if the vandals who have been committing depredations on Summit Avenue are to be brought before the bar of justice and made to suffer the penalty of their atrocious crimes. It will be remembered that some time in December a number of beautiful young shade trees on the avenue were destroyed, all efforts to apprehend the guilty parties proving futile, notwithstanding the fact that rewards for their detection were offered by both the Summit Avenue Building Company and the city. Some weeks ago the deviltry broke out afresh, a costly plate glass in a door of one of the handsome new Summit Avenue residences being shattered. Additional rewards were offered for the capture of the depredators and the officers put forth renewed efforts for their apprehension.

The matter came to a focus last week with the arrest of George Ozment, an employe of the Proximity cotton mills. He had a hearing before Esquire Eckel Friday afternoon, and although the evidence was not very direct or strong, it was considered sufficient to bind the prisoner over to court. Ozment being placed under a bond of $100. Friends were preparing to make up the bond, when the prisoner made an almost successful attempt to escape from the officers. He made a leap from the door and began running up North Elm street, running across lots to Green and down that street to the Farmers' Warehouse, where he was overtaken. His strong desire for liberty shook the faith of his friends in his innocence, who refused to become surety for his appearance at the next term of court. He was then placed behind the bars.

The case was worked up by persons at Burlington who learned of the matter through Pleas. Goley, a former employe of the Proximity mills. Goley was thought to be interested in the matter, so Constable Dave Scott went to Burlington Friday night and arrested him. His hearing came up before Justice Eckel yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, several lawyers being retained in the case. It was soon seen that there was no evidence against the accused, so the warrant was dismissed after the examination of two witnesses.

While no evidence was brought out against Goley, it is believed that he knows something of the matter, and it is very probable that other arrests will be made. It is hoped that the guilty parties will be reached and punished to the full extent of the law, for such diabolical crimes should not go unpunished.

The Famous Mexican Bull Fighters.

This mammoth organization of Mexican Matadors, Espadas, Toreros, Banderilleros, Capadores, Picadores and Chulass, will give a true representation of Mexico's National Sport, the Bull Fight, in Greensboro, Monday, April 17th. Prominent among this noted caudrilla of Mexicans is Antonio Fernandez, the greatest of all Mexican Bull Fighters. This renowned Matador will appear at each and every performance. His inconceivable suppleness and agility, while tormenting the formidable bull, is unrivaled in his native country. The honor bestowed upon him for his daring exploits entitles him Matador De Antonio Fernandez.

SWORD OF ELEAZAR.

IT INSPIRES DR. TALMAGE TO A POWERFUL SERMON.

As the Soldier of Old Gripp'd His Weapon, So Should We Hold the Bible—Grip Tight the Two Edged Sword of Truth.

[Copyright, 1899, by American Press Association.]

WASHINGTON, April 9.—In the first notice concerning Dr. Talmage that Pastor Charles H. Spurgeon of London wrote the great English minister said he was glad to find a preacher that believed something. This discourse of Dr. Talmage is in that vein and urges close adherence to the old gospel; text, II Samuel xxiii, 10, "And his hand clave unto the sword."

What a glorious thing to preach the gospel! Some suppose that because I have resigned a fixed pastorate I will cease to preach. No, no. I expect to preach more than I ever have. If the Lord will, four times as much, though in manifold places. I would not dare to halt with such opportunity to declare the truth through the ear to audiences and to the eye through the printing press. And here we have a stirring theme put before us by the prophet.

A great general of King David was Eleazar, the hero of the text. The Philistines opened battle against him, and his troops retreated. The cowards fled. Eleazar and three of his comrades went into the battle and swept the field, for four men with God on their side are stronger than a whole regiment with God against them. "Fall back!" shouted the commander of the Philistine army. The cry ran along the host, "Fall back!" Eleazar, having swept the field, throws himself on the ground to rest, but the muscles and sinews of his hand had been so long bent around the hilt of his sword that the hilt was imbedded in the flesh, and the gold wire of the hilt had broken through the skin of the palm of the hand, and he could not drop this sword which he had so gallantly wielded. "His hand clave unto the sword." That is what I call magnificent fighting for the Lord God of Israel. And we want more of it.

Held In Firm Grasp.

I propose to show you how Eleazar took hold of the sword and how the sword took hold of Eleazar. I look at Eleazar's hand, and I come to the conclusion that he took the sword with a very tight grip. The cowards who fled had no trouble in dropping their swords. As they fly over the rocks I hear their swords clanging in every direction. It is easy enough for them to drop their swords, but Eleazar's hand clave unto the sword. In this Christian conflict we want a tighter grip of the gospel weapons, a tighter grasp of the two edged sword of the truth. It makes me sick to see these Christian people who hold only a part of the truth and let the rest of the truth go, so that the Philistines, seeing the loosened grasp, wrench the whole sword away from them. The only safe thing for us to do is to put our thumb on the book of Genesis and sweep our hand around the book until the New Testament comes into the palm and keep on sweeping our hand around the book until the tips of the fingers clutch at the words "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." I like an infidel a great deal better than I do one of these namby pamby Christians who hold a part of the truth and let the rest go. By miracle God preserved this Bible just as it is, and it is a Damascus blade. The severest test to which a sword can be put in a sword factory is to wind the blade around a gun barrel like a ribbon, and then when the sword is let loose it flies back to its own shape. So the sword of God's truth has been fully tested, and it is bent this way and that way and wound this way and that way, but it always comes back to its own shape. Think of it! A book written near 19 centuries ago, and some of it thousands of years ago, and yet in our time the average sale of this book is more than 20,000 copies every week and more than 1,000,000 copies a year! I say now that a book which is divinely inspired and divinely kept and divinely scattered is a weapon worth holding a tight grip of. Bishop Colenso will come along and try to wrench out of your hand the miracles, and Renan will come along and try to wrench out of your hand the entire life of the Lord Jesus Christ, and your associates in the office or the factory or the banking house will try to wrench out of your hand the entire Bible, but in the strength of the Lord God of Israel and with Eleazar's grip hold on to it. You give up the Bible, you give up any part of it, and you give up pardon and peace and life and heaven.

Friend of All Good.

Do not be ashamed, young man, to have the world know that you are a friend of the Bible. This book is the friend of all that is good, and it is the sworn enemy of all that is bad. An eloquent writer recently gives an incident of a very bad man who stood in a cell of a western prison. This criminal had gone through all styles of crime, and he was there waiting for the gallows. The convict standing there at the window of the cell, this writer says, "looked out and declared, 'I am an infidel.' He said that to all the men and women and children who happened to be gathered there, 'I am an infidel.'" And the eloquent writer says, "Every man and woman there believed him." And the writer goes on to say, "If he had stood there saying, 'I am a Christian,' every man and woman would have said, 'He is a liar!'"

This Bible is the sworn enemy of all that is wrong, and it is the friend of all that is good. Oh, hold on to it! Do not take part of it and throw the rest away. Hold on to all of it. There are so many people now who do not know. You ask them if the soul is immortal, and they say: "I guess it is; I don't know. Perhaps it is; perhaps it isn't." Is the Bible true? "Well, perhaps it is, and perhaps it isn't. Perhaps it may be, figuratively, and perhaps it may be partly, and perhaps it may not be at all." They despise what they call the apostolic creed, but if their own creed were written out it would read like this: "I believe in nothing, the maker of heaven and earth, and in nothing which it hath sent, which nothing was born of nothing and which nothing was dead and buried and descended into nothing and arose from nothing and ascended to nothing and now sitteth at the right hand of nothing, from which it will come to judge nothing. I believe in the holy agnostic church and in the communion of nothingarians and in the forgiveness of nothing and the resurrection of nothing and in the life that never shall be. Amen!" That is the creed of tens of thousands of people in this day. If you have a mind to adopt such a theory, I will not. "I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ and in the holy catholic church and in the communion of saints and in the life everlasting. Amen!" Oh, when I see Eleazar taking such a stout grip of the sword in the battle against sin and for righteousness, I come to the conclusion that we ought to take a stouter grip of God's eternal truth—the sword of righteousness.

Forget Self.

As I look at Eleazar's hand I also notice his spirit of self forgetfulness. He did not notice that the hilt of the sword was eating through the palm of his hand. He did not know it hurt him. As he went out into the conflict he was so anxious for the victory he forgot himself, and that hilt might go never so deeply into the palm of his hand, it could not disturb him. "His hand clave unto the sword." Oh, my brothers and sisters, let us go into the Christian conflict with the spirit of self abnegation. Who cares whether the world praises us or denounces us? What do we care for misrepresentation or abuse or persecution in a conflict like this? Let us forget ourselves. That man who is afraid of getting his hand hurt will never kill a Philistine. Who cares whether you get hurt or not if you get the victory? Oh, how many Christians there are who are all the time worrying about the way the world treats them! They are so tired, and they are so astounded, and they are so tempted, when Eleazar did not think whether he had a hand or an arm or a foot. All he wanted was victory.

We see how men forget themselves in worldly achievement. We have often seen men who, in order to achieve worldly success, will forget all physical fatigue and all annoyance and all obstacle. Just after the battle of Yorktown in the American Revolution a musician, wounded, was told he must have his limbs amputated, and they were about to fasten him to the surgeon's table, for it was long before the merciful discovery of anesthetics. He said: "No; don't fasten me to that table. Get me a violin." A violin was brought to him, and he said, "Now, go to work as I begin to play," and for 40 minutes, during the awful pangs of amputation, he moved not a muscle nor dropped a note, while he played some sweet tune. Oh, is it not strange that with the music of the gospel of Jesus Christ, and with this grand march of the church militant on the way to become the church triumphant, we cannot forget ourselves and forget all pang and all sorrow and all persecution and all perturbation?

Weak Christians.

We know what men accomplish under worldly opposition. Men do not shrink back for antagonism or for hardship. You have admired Prescott's "Conquest of Mexico," as brilliant and beautiful a history as was ever written, but some of you may not know under what disadvantages it was written—that "Conquest of Mexico"—for Prescott was totally blind, and he had two pieces of wood parallel to each other fastened, and, totally blind, with his pen between those pieces of wood, he wrote the stroke against one piece of wood telling how far the pen must go in one way, the stroke against the other piece of wood telling how far the pen must go the other way. Oh, how much men will endure for worldly knowledge and for worldly success, and yet how little we endure for Jesus Christ! How many Christians there are that go around saying, "Oh, my hand; oh, my hand, my hurt hand! Don't you see there is blood on the sword?" while Eleazar, with the hilt imbedded in the flesh of his right hand, does not know it.

Must I be carried to the skies
On flowery beds of ease,
While others fought to win the prize
Or sailed through bloody seas?

What have we suffered in comparison with those who expired with suffocation or were burned or were chopped to pieces for the truth's sake? We talk of the persecution of olden times. There is just as much persecution going on now in various ways. In 1849, in Madagascar, 18 men were put to death for Christ's sake. They were to be hurled over the rocks, and before they were hurled over the rocks, in order to make their death the more dreadful in anticipation, they were put in baskets and swung to and fro over the precipice that they might see how many hundred feet they would have to be dashed down, and while they were swinging in these baskets over the rocks they sang

Jesus, lover of my soul,
Let me to thy bosom fly,
While the billows near me roll,
While the tempest still is high.

Then they were dashed down to death. Oh, how much others have endured for Christ, and how little we endure for Christ! We want to ride to heaven in a Pullman sleeping car, our feet on soft plush, the bed made up early, so we can sleep all the way, the black porter of death to wake us up only in time to enter the golden city. We want all the surgeons to fix our hand up. Let them bring on all the lint and all the bandages and all the salve, for our hand is hurt, while Eleazar does not know his hand is hurt. "His hand clave unto the sword."

Strike Hard For Right.

As I look at Eleazar's hand I come to the conclusion that he has done a great deal of hard hitting. I am not surprised when I see that these four men—Eleazar and his three companions—drove back the army of Philistines—that Eleazar's sword clave to his hand, for every time he struck an enemy with one end of the sword the other end of the sword wounded him. When he took hold of the sword, the sword took hold of him.

Oh, we have found an enemy who cannot be conquered by rosewater and soft speeches. It must be sharp stroke and straight thrust. There is intemperance, and there is fraud, and there is gambling, and there is lust, and there are 10,000 battalions of iniquity, armed Philistine iniquity. How are they to be captured and overthrown? Soft sermons in Morocco cases laid down in front of an exquisite audience will not do it. You have got to call things by their right name. You have got to expel from our churches Christians who eat the sacrament on Sunday and devour widows' houses all the week. We have got to stop our indignation against the Hittites and the Jebusites and the Girgashites and let those poor wretches go and apply our indignation to the modern transgressions which need to be dragged out and slain. Abahs here, Herods here, Jezebels here, the massacre of the infants here. Strike for God so hard that while you slay the sin the sword will adhere to your own hand. I tell you, my friends, we want a few John Knoxes and John Wesleys in the Christian church today. The whole tendency is to refine on Christian work. We keep on refining on it until we send apologetic word to iniquity we are about to capture it. And we must go with sword silver chased and presented by the ladies, and we must ride on white palfrey under embroidered housings, putting the spurs in only just enough to make the charger dance gracefully, and then we must send a missive, delicate as a wedding card, to ask the old black giant of sin if he will not surrender. Women saved by the grace of God and on glorious mission sent, detained from Sabbath classes because their new hat is not done. Churches that shook our cities with great revivals sending around to ask some demonstrative worshiper if he will not please to say "amen" and "halleluiah" a little softer. It seems as if in our churches we wanted a baptism of cologne and balm of a thousand flowers when we actually need a baptism of fire from the Lord God of Pentecost. But we are so afraid somebody will criticize our sermons or criticize our prayers or criticize our religious work that our anxiety for the world's redemption is lost in the fear we will get our hand hurt, while Eleazar went into the conflict, "and his hand clave unto the sword."

Strong to the End.

But I see in the next place what a hard thing it was for Eleazar to get his hand and his sword parted. The muscles and the sinews had been so long grasped around the sword he could not drop it when he proposed to drop it, and his three comrades, I suppose, came up and tried to help him, and they bathed the back part of the hand, hoping the sinews and muscles would relax. But no. "His hand clave unto the sword." Then they tried to pull open the fingers and to pull back the thumb, but no sooner were they pulled back than they closed again, "and his hand clave unto the sword." But after awhile they were successful, and then they noticed that the curve in the palm of the hand corresponded exactly with the curve of the hilt. "His hand clave unto the sword."

You and I have seen it many a time. There are in the United States today many aged ministers of the gospel. They are too feeble now to preach. In the church records the word standing opposite their name is "emeritus," or the words are "a minister without charge." They were a heroic race. They had small salaries and but few books, and they swam spring freshets to meet their appointments, but they did in their day a mighty work for God. They took off more of the heads of Philistine iniquity than you could count from noon to sundown. You put that old minister of the gospel now into a prayer meeting or occasional pulpit or a sick-room where there is some one to be comforted, and it is the same old thing to his voice and the same old story of pardon and peace and Christ and heaven. His hand has so long clutched the sword in Christian conflict he cannot drop it. "His hand clave unto the sword."

I had in my parish in Philadelphia a very aged man who in his early life had been the companion and adviser of the early presidents, Madison and Monroe. He had wielded vast influence, but I only knew him as a very aged man. The most remarkable thing about him was his ardor for Christ. When he could not stand up in the meetings without propping, he would throw his arm around a pillar of the church, and, though his mind was partially gone, his love for Christ was so great that all were in deep respect and profound admiration and were moved when he spoke. I was called to see him die. I entered the room, and he said, "Mr. Talmage, I cannot speak to you now." He was in a very pleasant delirium, as he imagined he had an audience before him. He said, "I must tell these people to come to Christ and prepare for heaven." And then in this pleasant delirium, both arms lifted, this octogenarian preached Christ and told of the glories of the world to come. There, lying on his dying pillow, his dying hand clave to his sword.

No Retiring From the Conflict.

Oh, if there ever was any one who had a right to retire from the conflict, it was old Joshua. Soldiers come back from battle have the names of the battles on their flags, showing where they distinguished themselves, and it is a very appropriate inscription. Look at that flag of old General Joshua. On it Jericho, Gibeon, Hazar, city of Ai, and, instead of the stars sprinkled on the flag, the sun and the moon which stood still. There he is, 110 years old. He is lying flat on his back, but he is preaching. His dying words are a battle charge against idolatry and a rallying cry for the Lord of Hosts as he says, "Behold, this day I go the way of all the earth, and God hath not failed to fulfill his promise concerning Israel." His dying hand clave unto the sword.

There is the headless body of Paul on the road to Oestea. His great brain and his great heart have been severed. The elmwood rods had stung him fearfully. When the cornship broke up, he swam ashore, coming up drenched with the brine. Every day since that day when the horse reared under him in the suburbs of Damascus, as the supernatural light fell, down to this day, when he is 68 years of age and ill from the prison cell of the Mamertine, he has been outrageously treated, and he is waiting to die. How does he spend his last hours? Telling the world how badly he feels and describing the rheumatism that he got in prison, the rheumatism afflicting his limbs or the neuralgia piercing his temples or the thirst that fevers his tongue? Oh, no! His last words are the battle shout for Christendom, "I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand; I have fought the good fight." And so his dying hand clave unto the sword.

It was in the front room on the second floor that my father lay a-dying. It was Saturday morning, 4 o'clock. Just three years before that day my mother had left him for the skies, and he had been homesick to join her company. He was 83 years of age. Ministers of the gospel came in to comfort him, but he comforted them. How wonderfully the words sounded out from his dying pillow, "I have been young and now am old, yet have I never seen the righteous forsaken or his seed begging bread." They bathed his brow and they bathed his hands and they bathed his feet and they succeeded in straightening out the feet, but they did not succeed in bathing open the hand so it would stay open. They bathed the hand open, but it came shut. They bathed it open again, but it came shut. What was the matter with the thumb and the fingers of that old hand? Ah, it had so long touched the sword of Christian conflict that "his hand clave unto the sword."

The Grip of Truth.

I intend this sermon as a tonic. I want you to hold the truth with in-eradicable grip, and I want you to strike so hard for God that it will react and while you take the sword the sword will take you. You notice that the officers of the northern army every year assemble, and you notice that the officers of the southern army every year assemble. Soldiers coming together are very apt to recount their experiences and to show their scars. Here is a soldier who pulls up his sleeve and says, "There; I was wounded in that arm," and shows the scar. And another soldier pulls down his collar and says, "There; I was wounded on the neck." And another soldier says, "I have had no use of that limb since the gunshot fracture." Oh, my friends, when the battle of life is over and the resurrection has come and our bodies rise from the dead, will we have on us any scars showing our bravery for God? Christ will be there all covered with scars. Scars on the brow, scars on the hand, scars on the feet, scars all over the heart won in the battle of redemption. And all heaven will sob aloud with emotion as they look at those scars. Ignatius will be there, and he will point out the place where the tooth and paw of the lion seized him in the Coliseum, and John Huss will be there, and he will show where the coal first scorched the foot on that day when his spirit took wing of flame from Constance. M'Millan and Campbell and Freeman, American missionaries in India, will be there—the men who with their wives and children went down in the awful massacre at Cawnpur, and they will show where the daggers of the sepoys struck them. The Waldenses will be there, and they will show where their bones were broken on that day when the Piedmontese soldiery pitched them over the rocks. And there will be those there who took care of the sick and who looked after the poor, and they will have evidences of earthly exhaustion. And Christ, with his scarred hand waving over the scarred multitude, will say: "You suffered with me on earth. Now be glorified with me in heaven." And then the great organs of eternity will take up the chant, and St. John will play, "These are they who came out of great tribulation and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb."

But what will your chagrin and mine be if it shall be told that day on the streets of heaven that on earth we shrank back from all toil and sacrifice and hardship? No scars to show the heavenly soldiery. Not so much as one ridge on the palm of the hand to show that just once in all this battle for God and the truth we grasped the sword so firmly and struck so hard that the sword and the hand stuck together and the hand clave to the sword. Oh, my Lord Jesus, rouse us to thy service. Thy saints in all this glorious war Shall conquer, though they die. They see the triumph from afar And seize it with the eye.

When that illustrious day shall rise And all thy armies shine In robes of victory through the skies, The glory shall be thine.

Who is to Blame.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys.

If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, and it is afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

If the adult has rheumatism, pain or dull ache in the back; if the passes in irregular quantities; or if regular intervals or has a bad odor; if it stains the linen or vessel the color of rust; if the feet swell; if there are puffy or dark circles under the eyes, your kidneys are the cause and need doctoring. Treatment of some disease may be delayed without danger, not so with kidney disease.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy promptly cures the most distressing cases. Its mild and extraordinary effect is soon realized. REMARKABLE DECLARATION.

The President's Philippine Commission Says "Our Intentions Are Honorable."

The President's Philippine commission has issued a proclamation to the Filipinos setting forth the intentions of the United States in regard to the future government of the islands. The preamble to this declaration, in view of recent events in the island of Luzon, will not only convince the natives that the Americans excel in honor, for they have permitted thousands to be killed and wounded, but it will also convince the people of the Philippine Islands of the cordial and fraternal feeling which is entertained for them by the President of the United States and the American people. "Possibly the world has the same 'cordial and fraternal feeling' for the innocent lamb of God as we make a meal. After the natives assurance of his safety for them, President McKinley leaves them in no doubt as to the disposition which will be made of the islands."

This is the message which the commission brings to the Filipinos: the supremacy of the United States must and will be enforced throughout every part of the archipelago, and those who resent it must accomplish no end other than their own ruin. That settles the question of an independent Filipino republic as far as this administration is concerned. The thousand islands are to be compelled to submit to the supremacy of the United States, and if we are in the business of conquest and are waging war for that purpose, the achievement of this supremacy is indispensable. After having destroyed any hopes which the Filipinos might have entertained for government that would in every respect be a representative Filipino republic, the President proceeds to tell the natives, through his commission, how they can be happy if they accept the program he has laid down.

The aim and object of the American government, "the natives remind, is the elevation and advancement of the Philippine people to a position among the most civilized peoples of the world." How the consummation is to be accomplished the commission explains at length and expresses regret that the "pure aims and purposes" have been misinterpreted to some of the inhabitants. The Filipinos, he is remarked, are not the ones who have been at a loss to know what were the real purposes of the administration. Several million Americans have been ignorant as the natives, although the President has been appealed to again and again to make some explicit declaration of the intentions of the administration. They know by way of Manila and through a commission which has traveled nearly half way around the globe, that the ultimate disposition of the islands is to be, but it is the authoritative announcement that has been made since the document of "benevolent assimilation" was promulgated.

The Filipinos are to be granted the most ample liberty and self-government reconcilable with a just, stable, effective and economical administration of public affairs and compatible with the foreign and international rights and obligations of the United States. This is a very impressive declaration on its face, but the degree of self-government to be given to natives depends so largely upon the conception of what are our foreign and international rights and obligations that time alone can reveal what is really in the mind of the administration and to what extent the natives will have control of their own affairs. Indubitably, as the Filipinos understood it after the War of the Revolution, is out of the question.

The President also promises the Filipinos an "honest and effective civil service in which, to the full extent to which it is practical, natives shall be employed." There cannot be an effective civil service in the Philippines, however, unless there is an honest civil service in the United States, and it has more than been intimated that the President intended to make substantial concessions to the spoils in this country. If he yields here, it will not be long before the Philippines civil service will be controlled by the spoilsmen and will be corrupt and inefficient.

"Honor, justice and friendship," promise the commissioners, "for the use of the Philippine people or islands as an object of exploitation." This is quite true, but will honor, justice and friendship prevent their "exploitation?" An act of Congress was necessary to keep those who wanted to secure Puerto Rico from grabbing everything in sight and exploiting the islands to their own advantage, regardless of the welfare of the Cubans and Porto Ricans. Congress is not in session now to forbid the granting of concessions in the Philippines to those who will endeavor to "get in on the ground floor" through political influence. This is the sort of "exploitation" which will be attempted in the Philippines by men who may have the favor of the administration. It was stated recently, on the authority of an agent of the Agricultural Department, that two-thirds of the land in the Philippines was vested in the Spanish sovereignty and would revert to the United States. What an opportunity this will offer to syndicates which have "influence" in influential circles in Washington!—Baltimore Sun.

Canteens Not Abolished.

The Secretary of War recently requested the opinion of the Attorney-General as to whether section 17 of the army reorganization act, passed at the last session of Congress, prohibits the continuance of the sale of intoxicating drinks by the government in the canteen sections of the post exchanges which are organized and maintained at the various army posts and encampments throughout the United States.

The Attorney-General, in his reply, decides that the section in question does not prohibit the continuance of the sale of intoxicating drinks through the canteen sections, as heretofore organized and carried on, except that no officer or enlisted man can be detailed from duty in the canteen section to do the selling.

Section 17 of the army reorganization act is as follows:

"No officer or private soldier shall be detailed to sell intoxicating drinks, as a bartender or otherwise, in any post exchange or canteen, nor shall any other person be required or allowed to sell such liquors in any encampment or fort or on any premises used for military purposes by the United States; and the Secretary of War is hereby directed to issue such general order as may be necessary to carry the provisions of this section into full force and effect."

The Attorney-General holds that "the regulation of the post exchanges and canteens being within the power of the Secretary of War, the act means that he shall, by order, modify the regulations upon that subject so as to make them consistent with the provisions of this act. To that end it will be requisite that he shall determine the question of the persons who may be employed in the post exchanges, and such other conditions and requirements in connection therewith as his good judgment may dictate."

The decision of the Attorney-General on the army canteen legislation of the last Congress has stirred the temperance and religious elements to activity, and tonight the superintendent of legislation of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the head of the reform bureau announced that they would not submit without a fight to the interpretation put upon the law by the Attorney-General, but would appeal to the President himself and would not rest satisfied until Mr. McKinley had acted. They indicated a purpose to begin an agitation of the matter in the churches and to have them exert pressure on the President.

Sang Hymns to City Council.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 5.—One hundred of the religious women of Chattanooga last night sang hymns in the city council chamber during a meeting of the aldermanic board. The scene was unique and inspiring.

During a recent revival meeting conducted by Rev. "Sam" Jones the council, through the influence of the religious element, passed an ordinance requiring the saloons to close at 10 p. m. and not to open before 5 a. m. Recently there has been great pressure upon the aldermen to amend the ordinance and to fix the closing hour at midnight. It was reported the ordinance would be so amended last night.

While the council meeting was in progress a large number of women filed into the council chamber. One of them was given the privilege of the floor and made an appeal that the ordinance be not amended. After her address the further "indulgence" of the council was asked, and led by Mrs. L. B. Wilson, the ladies sang "Stand Up for Jesus," "Rock of Ages" and other songs. The aldermen were impressed. No motion to amend the ordinance was made.

For a War Against War.

Boston, April 6.—Among the communications received by the United Society of Christian Endeavor recently in connection with its proposition for a "War Against War and Peace by Arbitration," are two from former United States Presidents, Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison.

Ex-President Cleveland wrote: "The members and the friends of the Society of Christian Endeavor have never entered upon an undertaking so practical and so noble as the effort they are now making to secure an abandonment of war as a means for the settlement of international differences; and if there is any substance to the claim that our institutions and the traits that characterize us as a people tend to national elevation and Christianization, it is eminently proper that our country should be in the lead in any movement in the interests of peace."

Ex-President Harrison's letter says: "For myself, and much more for the great body of its citizenship, I express the desire of America for peace with the whole world. It would have been vain to suggest the pulling down of block-houses or family disarmament; to the settlers on a hostile Indian frontier. They would have told you rightly that the conditions were not ripe. And so it may be, and is, probably, true that a full application of the principle is not presently possible, the devil still being unchained."

A Mare's Nest Found.

HONG KONG, April 6.—The Filipino junta here has issued another of the extraordinary statements which have marked the newspaper campaign directed from Hong Kong by the agents of Aguinaldo.

In the present instance the Filipino agents say they have obtained their "information" from American sources at Manila. They assert the existence of "mysterious intrigues" on the part of the Vatican, Gen. Wesley Merritt, President McKinley, Gen. Elwell S. Otis and Archbishop Ireland "leading to the latter's journey to Rome." Continuing, the Filipino statement says:

"The Paulist Fathers' actions prior to the fall of Manila were suspicious. Now, in conjunction with Archbishop Nozaleda, who is intimate with General Otis, they are trying to procure the former ascendancy of the church in the Philippines, hence they are sustaining General Otis, who, as a Catholic, has refused to obey the Washington orders and transfer the command of his force to General Lawton, because he wishes to remain in power and assist the church to recover its real estate."

"The policy of the Paulists is more subtle than that of the Jesuits, and unless they are promptly recalled they will work further mischief. The Philippines are a valuable hunting ground for the church, hence the Titanic efforts to maintain its supremacy."

Shot Wife, Baby, and Self.

ALBANY, Ga., April 5.—Walter R. Jackson, his wife, and their three-months-old babe were found dead in bed this morning. Jackson and his wife each had a pistol shot in the head, while the child was shot through the body. Death was evidently instantaneous in each case. It is evident that Jackson first shot his wife and child and then himself. The deed was done during the night. The only other occupant of the house was Mrs. E. E. Richardson, Jackson's grandmother, who was not awakened by the shots.

Jackson was a young business man of high standing, and married Jamie Godwin, a leading society girl, a little over two years ago. Until recently he was cashier and bookkeeper for a warehouse firm. It is supposed he brooded over the loss of his position and killed his family and himself in a fit of insanity.

Death of a Leper in Ohio.

JUNCTION CITY, O., April 7.—Hannah Garey, aged twenty-two years, the older of the two Garey sisters who have been afflicted with supposed leprosy for the last seventeen years, died at their home, three miles from here, last evening after two weeks of intense suffering, the result of the dread disease invading the vital organs—probably the heart and lungs. About two months ago the Garey sisters were examined by a prominent specialist on that class of diseases from Chicago, who diagnosed their disease as genuine leprosy.

The family live on an isolated farm in Perry county, which is shunned by all the natives; no one can be persuaded to put their foot within the limits.

Is Bryan's Star Waning?

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Comment in political circles over the spring elections in the West has been quite animated today. The result shows a condition of public sentiment which foreshadows consequences of importance not only to parties but to individuals. The Republicans say the Democratic party of Illinois is split up into fragments, and the Democrats retort by asserting that a similar condition exists as to the Republican party in Ohio.

The friends of Mr. Bryan reluctantly admit that his star is visibly becoming paler, and no one was sufficiently enthusiastic as to claim from the present outlook that his chances of securing a two-third vote in the next national Democratic convention are very brilliant. As to Altgeld, of Illinois, he may still have some little power for mischief, but it is believed his star has permanently set.

There is much talk about combinations to be formed in both the Democratic and Republican parties with a view of controlling the presidential nominations next year. Some of the theories are both interesting and ingenious. They should not, though, be accepted with too much confidence, as public sentiment is at times very changeable, and the situation next year may be altogether different from present appearances.

Spaniards Help Filipinos.

MADRID, April 6.—The minister of war has received information that a large number of Spanish officers and other prisoners in the hands of the Filipinos have entered the service of the latter. Among the prisoners were some chiefs of the Spanish general staff and artillery. In Spanish military circles this explains the military organization of the Filipinos against the Americans, which hitherto has been inexplicable. The following semi-official note is published by a journal friendly to Premier Silvela:

"A rumor has reached the government to the effect that certain general officers who were thought to be in captivity have come to an arrangement with the rebels. The government has no proof that the statement is exact, but if it were so everybody will understand that the fault lies with the Americans, for they, from the beginning, prevented any negotiations for the liberation of the prisoners and placed the latter in the position of having to die of hunger or find some means of life. Under such circumstances it would not be surprising that individually some prisoners may have entered the service of the Tagalos."

Paul Perry, of Columbus, Ga., suffered agony for thirty years, and then cured his Piles by using Dr. Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. It heals injuries and skin diseases like magic. Howard Gardner.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1899.

It does seem strange that in this enlightened age people would be found proclaiming it to be our duty to deny to the people of the Philippines the rights for which our forefathers fought from Bunker Hill to Yorktown.

The second mile post has been covered by the Western Vindicator, of Rutherfordton, and the paper is better today than ever. Messrs. Erwin and Miller are publishing a paper that deserves the united support of the people of Rutherford county.

The great mass of the American people do not relish the idea of being burdened with increased taxation in order to give a few speculators and political favorites an opportunity for exploitation; and yet it is for this purpose that American blood is being spilled in the Philippines.

It is estimated that within ten years death and retirement on account of age will have stripped the regular army rolls of every soldier who fought on the Union side in the great internecine strife of thirty five years ago. Ten years ago two-thirds of the officers in the army were men who had been actors in the Civil war; at present the number has been reduced to about one-fifth.

There are nineteen states of the Union still unrepresented by names in the naval list of United States war vessels, and three of these—Rhode Island, Delaware and Virginia—were among the thirteen original colonies. The Philadelphia Record thinks if war vessels are to be named after the states, there seems to be no good reason why the Providence Plantations, the "Three Lower Counties" and the Mother of Presidents should not stand sponsor each for a sea fighter.

It is the opinion of the St. Louis Republic that the census for 1900 will be conducted along the lines of glaring incompetency and extravagance that marked the compilation of 1890. The latter census, with its wilderness of inaccuracies, its more than a year's delay and an unnecessary expenditure of $2,000,000, was compiled by appointees who were the creatures of politicians and were under orders to prepare certain classes of statistics as political arguments. The indications now are that the director of the forthcoming census—Mr. Merriam—will be guided by similar partisan rules in filling the thousands of positions at his disposal. The law under which he derives place and authority allows him to distribute appointments, if he so chooses, for such purposes, and his selection as director under such an act would seem to indicate that the administration expects him to distribute the offices within his control wherever they will do the most good to the Republican party in the several states. Every indication points to the conclusion that Merriam will be guided by party needs and political considerations and that the matter of fitness will be merely incidental, and often accidental, in choosing the army of subofficials and census-takers.

An Important Matter.

The following letter has been mailed to the trustees of the public roads of Guilford county, and as it contains much of interest we give it space in our columns. We hope to publish a synopsis of the new road law in our next issue:

To the Trustees of Public Roads of Guilford County:

DEAR SIRS: We mail you herewith copies of the road law with amendments, and wish to call your attention to same in respect to your duty as trustee. The law requires trustees to meet on the first Monday in May (see sections 2 and 3), and lay out the roads in sections and appoint supervisors for each section. We trust there will be a full attendance at the May meeting, and that you urge upon the supervisors the importance of this work, calling their special attention to sections 3, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 20.

There seems to be an impression in some townships that no local work on the public roads is required since the convict force work began, but this is a mistaken idea. It will be impossible for the public roads to be kept in shape unless we have a local force on each section to look after the same; and unless the trustees and supervisors take an interest in the work and try to keep their sections in shape, it will be useless to have roads graded by convicts. It is the intention of the commissioners to try to run the scrapers over all the roads that have been put in condition for same, but all the work cannot be done by the scrapers, and we urge you to co-operate with us in this work that we may get our roads in better condition. Have your roads gone over now as soon as possible, fill up the holes, and get them in shape; and if it can be run over with the scrapers, we will do this just as soon as it can be reached. Supervisors should go over their roads often and clean out the culverts, as a little work at the right time in this way will save your roads from being washed badly during heavy rains. Local co-operation by the trustees and supervisors with the board of county commissioners has done much to make the Mecklenburg road law a success in Mecklenburg county.

Should you need more copies of the road law, call on or write Mr. A. G. Kirkman, register of deeds, Greensboro, N. C.

Respectfully,
W. C. BOREN, Chm.,
W. H. RAGAN,
W. C. MICHAEL,
Commissioners.

Dr. Lafferty Killed.

RICHMOND, April 10.—Dr. Walter B. Lafferty, third child of Rev. Dr. J. J. Lafferty, editor of The Christian Advocate, was found about 6 o'clock yesterday morning, lying unconscious by the track of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, with one of his legs crushed, and suffering from other severe injuries. There were evidences that the young physician had endeavored to staunch the flow of blood from his wound by using his handkerchief, but his injuries were too serious, and when found he was very near his end.

He was taken to Croset, where he died at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It is not known how the accident happened. It is supposed, however, that he was returning from Meechum's River, when he was struck by a passenger train. He could give no account of it.

Sanitary Conditions in Santiago.

Surgeon General Sternberg has received a report from Maj. Havard, chief surgeon at Santiago, in which he says that the city and Department of Santiago are in generally good condition. He does not apprehend an outbreak of yellow fever or any other contagious disease. Smallpox for a time was serious in the Holguin district, but Maj. Woodson's commission has put a stop to it. Work on the general hospital is progressing, and it is expected that Santiago will soon have the best equipped hospital on the island.—Washington Post.

Russell May Go With Meyer & Ricard.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 10.—Governor Russell expects, at the expiration of his term of office, to go to New York to practice law. This was the primary purpose of his trip North last week. He will, if the present arrangement is carried out, take the late Sol Weil's place in the firm of Meyer & Weil, which is now Meyer & Ricard. The Governor has just returned from New York, where he went in response to a telegram from Mr. Ricard, asking him to come to New York for a conference.

The Cuban generals met last Friday and officially decided to reinstate Gen. Maximo Gomez as commander-in-chief of the Cuban army. The Supreme court yesterday handed down its decision in the case of Capt. W. H. Day, who was suing to retain his position as superintendent of the state penitentiary. The court holds that the legislature has no power to establish an office and then re-create it, and that therefore Capt. Day could hold on to his position. Judge Clark dissented from the ruling of the court in an able opinion.

Small Boy Commits Suicide.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 10.—News reached here today of a peculiar suicide a few miles from Charlotte. Charles Love, a twelve-year-old boy, committed suicide by hanging. He went to an old blacksmith shop, took a small rope, tied the end of the rope to a beam and hanged himself. His body was found by his parents several hours after death, which resulted from strangulation. His parents are heart-broken at the affair, and say they can think of no possible cause for the deliberately planned self-destruction.

Railroad Strike in Cuba.

HAVANA, April 10.—The strike on the United Railroad is assuming a serious character. The number of strikers has been increased to 1,500. A committee representing the strikers waited upon Governor General Brooke today, explaining their attitude. The general warned them not to disturb public order. The strikers will move the mails and American troops, but will not assist in the transportation of passengers or freight. If disorders occur the military authorities will interfere.

If the Northern Presbyterians want to elect a negro moderator to preside over their church courts, it is nobody's business. Pittsburg, Pa., Presbytery, now in session, has done this. However, this action is another stone laid in the already nearly impassable barrier to organic union with the Southern Presbyterian Church.—Charlotte Observer.

Railway Laborers on a Strike.

NORFOLK, Va., April 10.—A strike among railway laborers is in progress here, and the commencement of construction on the line of the Norfolk and Atlantic Terminal Company's new double track line to Sewell's Point is delayed thereby. The disagreement is between the contractors and the negro laborers from Norfolk, who demanded, it is understood, $1.50 per diem, which the contractors were unwilling to pay. They therefore imported forty laborers from North Carolina, but before they went to work the Norfolk men made out their case to them in such successful form that they did not go to work. No force was used, and there was no apparent intimidation of the outsiders. As a precautionary measure Chief Kiser sent extra policemen to the scene, but their services were not needed.

Death of Ex-Justice Field.

Washington, April 10.—Justice Stephen J. Field, of the United States Supreme Court, retired, died at his home on Capitol Hill, in this city, at 6:30 yesterday evening of kidney complications. He had been unconscious since Saturday morning, and death came painlessly. About two weeks ago he took a longer ride than usual in an open carriage and contracted a severe cold, which rapidly developed kidney troubles, which, with old age, brought on the end.

It is believed that the Southern Railway Company is on a deal for a new road which will give it a direct line from St. Louis to New Orleans. The Southern's mileage would then exceed 6,000 miles.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, April 10, 1899.

It is daily becoming plainer to close observers that Mr. McKinley and his advisers do not regard next year's campaign as a Republican walk-over. They are diligently studying ways and means for coralling electoral votes that they consider doubtful. The trip that Mr. McKinley is now arranging to make this summer to the Pacific coast is one of the ways that has been decided upon. They do not expect to be able to carry Delaware, Maryland or Kentucky again, but they hope for Kansas and Nebraska, both of which states are likely to be visited on Mr. McKinley's western trip. They are also beginning to realize that some sort of a bluff against trusts must be made. Representative Landis, of Indiana, has come to Washington especially to urge upon the administration the necessity of doing something to convince the voters of the middle west that the administration is antagonistic to the trusts. Mr. Landis has done some very plain talking about the danger to the Republican party and it is evident that he has frightened some of the administration men.

Attorney General Griggs, doubtless acting under orders from President McKinley, has made a play to shift the responsibility for his recent queer letter about trusts from the shoulders of the administration, by proceeding against the Chesapeake and Ohio Association, generally known as the soft coal trust, under the Sherman anti-trust law. The suit was instituted in Cincinnati, and will be directed by the Solicitor General of the United States. The public will watch the prosecution of this case closely, owing to the Attorney General having so recently stated, in writing, that trusts could not be reached by Federal laws.

The latest Philippine news seems to justify the opinion of those who believe that the fighting over there is likely to go on for an indefinite time. General Lawton has started on a campaign with a picked force, with the intention of trying to run down the Filipinos.

Democrats are not the only ones who regard the Philippines as an undesirable possession. Representative Steele, of Indiana, a staunch supporter of the administration, who passed through Washington a day or two ago, said of them: "So far as I am concerned, I would like to trade the Philippine islands for a yellow dog, and then kill the dog, if there were nothing else involved but possession of the islands."

Mr. McKinley has accepted an invitation to attend the Confederate encampment to be held June 7th and 8th at Falls Church, Va., under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy, and promised to deliver an address.

Race Fight in Hawaii.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—The steamer Mariposa arrived today from Australia via Samoa and the Hawaiian Islands. The Associated Press representative at Honolulu sends an account of a racial battle between the Japanese and Chinese laborers on the Kahuku plantation, which took place on March 26.

The Japanese, armed heavily and well organized, made an onslaught on the Chinese quarters, first having placed their own women and children in places of safety. The Chinese were taken entirely unawares. The Japanese wielded axes, clubs and knives, and before the Chinese could make resistance three of their men were killed and a dozen more seriously wounded, some fatally, and about forty slightly injured.

The noise of the battle reached headquarters and the manager of the plantation, Mr. Wright, gathered a force of Lunas and went to the scene of the trouble. After considerable difficulty the belligerents were dispersed. A squad of police were sent to the plantation from Honolulu and martial law was declared on the plantation. The Chinese fled from the plantation and great difficulty was experienced in locating them. Twenty-three of the Japanese ringleaders were arrested and seven Chinese were also jailed.

The Chinese on the island are greatly excited, and the merchants in Honolulu look for further trouble, though the better class are making every effort to keep the opposing factions within legal bounds.

License Question in Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., April 8.—The issue in the recent election was almost universally license or no license throughout the State. Larger places have almost without exception elected license tickets, while in the smaller villages probably half have decided against the issue of saloon licenses. Politics cut no figure whatever in any except the larger city.

Only Two Admirals Afloat.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The latest information received by the office of naval intelligence respecting the present rank of commanding officers of the various European fleets, both in home and foreign waters, shows that there are but two admirals of full grade now flying their flags afloat, one of whom is Admiral Dewey, commanding the American force at Manila, and the other, Admiral Sir John O. Hopkins, commanding the British Mediterranean station.

Admiral Hopkins was a rear-admiral, and in charge of the British squadron during the naval review at New York in April, 1893, and the senior officer present, as his commission antedated that of Admiral Gherardi, in command of the United States vessels. Admiral Dewey is also the highest ranking naval officer on the Asiatic station, advises at the Navy Department indicating that the commander of the British squadron there is a vice-admiral, and the commander of the French fleet is only a rear-admiral.

France has no grade in her navy higher than vice-admiral, and there is but one officer of this rank who is now attached to the French admiralty office. Russia also does not recognize a higher grade than vice-admiral and none of her stations are now commanded by officers of higher rank than rear-admiral. Great Britain has more admirals than all the other naval powers combined, although the majority of them are members of the admiralty board, one is in command at Portsmouth and another at another important home naval port.

Czar's Disarmament Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The Secretary of State has announced the construction of the United States delegation to the disarmament congress, which will meet at the Hague, in the latter part of May. The delegation consists of Andrew White, United States ambassador at Berlin; Mr. Newell, United States minister to the Netherlands; President Seth Low, of the Columbia University, New York; Capt. Crozier, Ordnance Department, United States army, and Capt. A. T. Mahan, United States navy, retired. Mr. Frederick Holls, a lawyer of New York, will be secretary of the delegation.

The American commission, as a whole, is regarded as an exceptionally strong body, being made up of men well known, not only in public and political life, but in the world of letters and international affairs. They are all men of scholarship and fine linguists and of those attainments helpful in a congress representing the nations of the world conducted under the diplomatic usage, which makes French the accepted language.

A Trust in Court.

CINCINNATI, April 8.—Attorney General Griggs, through U. S. District Attorney Bundy, filed an anti-trust bill today against the Chesapeake and Ohio Fuel Company and seventeen others. The government asks for an injunction against the fuel company from carrying out its agreement with the other firms, alleging that a trust has been formed. The fight against the so-called trust was begun some time ago before the Inter-State Commerce Commission, which found the charge practically sustained on one of the complaints, viz: "That the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad had a contract to carry coal."

Then the matter on which the suit was filed was brought before the grand jury by Bundy, and indictment followed. It came before Judge A. C. Thompson, who is now considering a demurrer and motion to quash the indictment. The injunction suit is the latest phase of the case, and instructions to bring it arrived from Washington this morning.

Too Busy to See Them Now.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—In response to a note sent to the White House, by direction of the District Woman's Christian Temperance Union, asking for an interview with the President in regard to Attorney General Griggs' interpretation of the "anti-canteen law," Mrs. Emma F. Shelton, secretary of the organization, has received the following reply:

"DEAR MADAM: In reply to your note of this date, I beg leave to state that the President's engagements are such as to render it impossible to arrange for an audience this week or for some time to come.

"If you will be good enough to submit in writing what it is desired to present, I will take pleasure in bringing it promptly to the President's attention.

J. A. PORTER,
"Secretary to the President."

The Greensboro Center Draft Plow.

This Plow was put on the market for the first time last year. The one-horse Plow did not give general satisfaction until after we altered the beam. Since then we have heard no complaint of them. To prove that the two-horse G. C. D. Plow has given satisfaction, of the more than one hundred Plows sold on a guarantee, we have only one on hand returned to us. There have been more than this number returned, but they have been sold to other parties who have reported that they are giving entire satisfaction.

We make the following guarantee for these Plows: In ordinary grey land they will do all the work that the high priced Western made Plows will do. All we ask for them is a fair trial. If they are not what we say, your money will be gladly refunded.

Our object is to give our farmers a Plow that will do the work of the high priced Western Plows, and save them money both in the first cost of Plow and in the repairs.

Price of the One-Horse Plow, $2.75.

Price of the Two-Horse Plow, $5.00.

THE TREATY OF PEACE.

It Will be Formally Exchanged This Week, the $20,000,000 Paid Over and the War With Spain Declared to be at an End.

Washington, April 8.—The exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace between Spain and the United States, signed at Paris, will probably take place in this city next week, and that ceremony will be followed by a proclamation by President McKinley, officially announcing the close of the war with Spain, and the resumption of friendly relations, commercial and otherwise, between the two countries. The Spanish copy of the treaty which was signed by the Queen Regent on March 17th, is expected to reach here Monday, and the arrangements for the formalities attending the exchange of ratifications will be promptly perfected.

Secretary Hay has been officially advised of the forwarding of the Spanish treaty to the French ambassador at Washington. The exchange of ratifications will be followed promptly by the payment of $20,000,000 to the Spanish government on account of the cession of the Philippine Islands to the United States.

A Unique Case Disposed Of.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., April 7.—One of the most unique cases ever known in West Virginia courts has been decided by Judge Jackson in the Federal court at Wheeling. The first discharge issued under the new bankruptcy laws was granted to John Cochran, of Eureka, W. Va., son of Friend Cochran, a wealthy and influential landowner of Pleasants county. Cochran became involved heavily, and when the elder Cochran died years ago, a will was left, with a provision that at any time the son obtained a legal discharge of his debts, the fortune should be given him. The new law created the only channel through which the large fortune could be obtained, which has accumulated greatly since the elder Cochran's death.

Schley and Sampson Commissioned.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The naval promotion board, which has been sitting at the navy yard here conducting the examinations for promotion of officers who are to be advanced as a result of the personnel act, is issuing commissions to the various officers who have been recommended for promotions. Those already prepared include commissions for Rear-Admirals Schley and Sampson.

Negroes in Politics.

TUSKEGEE, Ala., April 9.—Booker T. Washington, president of the Tuskegee Normal and Collegiate Institute, and, perhaps, the most widely known colored man in the United States, answering the request of a prominent colored man in North Carolina as to what should be done to allay the "present conflict between the races," says:

"I have been asking myself lately some rather serious questions and I want to put one or two of them to you. Is there any reason why the negroes in the South should continue to oppose the Southern white man and his politics? Is this not the source of nearly all our troubles?"

"Unconsciously we seem to have gotten the idea into our blood and bones that we are only acting in a manly way when we oppose Southern white men with our votes."

"In some way by some method, we must bring the race to the point where it will cease to feel that the only way for it to succeed is to oppose everything suggested or put forth by the Southern white men."

"This I consider one of our real problems. I believe that there are thousands of white democrats in North Carolina who are 50 per cent. better friends to the negro than Governor Russell. I see no necessity in continuing to follow Governor Russell, who has no power to protect, or if he has the power he does not exercise it, rather than these other white men who can protect us if we cease continually and forever to oppose them."

Another New York Fire.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Fire early this morning destroyed the handsome residence of Wallace C. Andrews, in the millionaires' district, at 2 East Sixty-seventh street, and twelve persons sleeping in the house were burned to death. Firebrands carried by the wind were blown into an open window in the home of Albert J. Adams, 2 East Sixty-ninth street, two blocks distant, setting fire to the house, and causing the death of a servant. All of the thirteen bodies have been recovered.

CUBANS ELECT GOMEZ.

Ludlow's Offense for Which a Judge Wants Him Prosecuted.

Havana, April 8.—Cuban generals who command troops met this morning and elected Gomez commander-in-chief in the provinces of Havana, Pinar Del Rio, Montanzas and Santa Clara. Gomez conferred with General Brooke this afternoon and said that he would be officially notified of the appointment to-morrow.

Judge Ortiz, of Gaudalope district, has recommended that General Ludlow be prosecuted for violating that section of the Spanish penal code forbidding interference of the military authorities with the courts of justice. Ludlow's offense was that he sent a note forbidding him to put any more American citizens in jail incommunicado without letting them know the nature of the charges against them.

Mr. Thurber Advocates Trusts.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Mr. F. B. Thurber, president of the United States Export Association, in testifying before the industrial commission today, took positive grounds in the support of trusts. "I am not interested in trusts," he said, "except as a student of their politico-economic features, but I am satisfied that we must have this organization of industry if we would keep up with the procession in the march for the world's trade. With a consuming power of 75,000,000 we have a producing power of 150,000,000. Our problem is to keep our labor and capital continuously and remuneratively employed by preserving our home market and reaching out for a place to sell our surplus."

The Jim Crow Car Bill in Full Force Now.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 10.—A search of the captions of the laws passed by the legislature fails to discover the supplementary bill supposed to have been passed postponing enforcement of the Jim Crow car law until June 1st. If it was passed, the law is now in full force and effect and anyone who rides in a car with a negro may complain to the corporation commission and ask that suit be brought for recovery of the penalty.

William J. Bryan will publish a book entitled, "Republic or Empire—The Philippine Question," in which he argues against expansion. It will doubtless be a "warm number."

No Ship to be Named Gettysburg.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 7.—In a letter which Governor Stone today wrote to W. S. Grenoble, of Gettysburg, declining to sign a petition addressed to the Secretary of the Navy, urging that one of the new cruisers be named the "Gettysburg," the executive said: "If naming a cruiser 'Gettysburg' would alone honor and distinguish the excellent town of that name, I would not hesitate to join with you in this request, but to the whole country and to the civilized world that name typifies a great battle which settled a controversy between the North and the South of our country. To both sections it recalls a great historic struggle. The victory was with the North; the defeat with the South."

"In the recent war with Spain the North and the South were blended as one in defence of our flag. Our battleships and cruisers are manned by sailors and marines from both the North and the South, and I do not think it wise that a name should be selected for any of our vessels which will revive the unpleasantness which grew out of the civil war and existed for so many years."

"Let Gettysburg be honored and revered as the site of a great battle, wherein the survivors of the Northern army and the survivors of the Southern army can alike uphold the valor of their comrades. I am not in favor of giving any vessel in our navy a name which will distinguish a battle fought by Americans against Americans."

Every Man His Own Soda Fountain.

A Mr. Stearne, of Zurich, has obtained a patent for reducing carbonic acid gas to liquid form, and he proposes to sell it to the public in little capsules, small enough to be carried in the vest pocket. By this invention every man can have a soda fountain with him wherever he goes, for by unscrewing the capsule and dropping its contents into a pitcher or bottle of water the liquid dissolves into gas again and charges the water like apollinaris or soda in a fountain siphon. A company is being formed for the purpose of making capsules and changing them with the liquid gas. It is proposed to put them up in little boxes to be supplied to the public through druggists and grocers and furnish them to hospitals, steamships, armies and navies in quantities.

Oak Ridge Items.

Rev. J. R. Hutton preached a powerful sermon for us Sunday night on backsliding.

The senior class members are at work upon their graduating theses.

They number about twenty members, among them some strong men.

The Guilford boys play a good clean game, and make but few errors. Malone's pitching was a feature, permitting but three hits, and only one of those clean.

Among those who looked on the game Saturday was Clark Mendenhall, of Deep River, who used to play with the Guilford team when the "game of our daddies" was in vogue.

Prof. M. H. Holt spent part of last week at the North Carolina school for the deaf at Morganton, of which school he is and has been since its founding, one of the board of directors.

The weather continues so wet and cold that little has been done in oat sowing, gardening, or in preparing for corn and tobacco in this part of the country. Our farmers are much discouraged.

The boys play the A. & M. College, Wake Forest and Horner this week; Roanoke, Guilford and Horner next week. The team is in great shape, and somebody will have to play ball to win.

Commencement this year comes on the 21st to 23rd of May. Victor

Bryant, Esq., of Durham, has been elected to deliver the annual literary address. Music will be furnished by the O. R. I. band, a school organization of much merit.

There will be a track meet at the University on the 29th inst., in which all secondary schools will be privileged to take a part. Oak Ridge Institute won the banner and the championship cup last year, and will send a team down again to enter the contest.

Quite a great deal of enthusiasm is manifest here over the "shutout" the O. R. I. base ball team gave Guilford College last Saturday. 7 to 0 will show that it was a pretty game, and too close to be beyond a reasonable doubt till the close of the last inning.

Mr. B. T. Wyche, of '89, spoke eloquently to the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, and told some of his most effective stories Monday morning in the chapel, much to the delight of the students. He expects to devote himself to this work, and it is especially suited to his poetic temperament.

Germantown Items.

Mr. B. F. Bynum, of this place,

and brother of Hon. W. P. Bynum,

Jr., of Greensboro, has received a permanent position as U. S. storekeeper and gauger.

Miss Anna Bynum, who has been visiting her grand-mother and other relatives here for several months past, left a few days since for her home in far-off Texas. She came and went unaccompanied.

Mr. James Chaffin, of this place, has been appointed relief agent on the A. & Y. road. We consider this quite a compliment to our young friend, as he has not yet attained his majority.

Messrs. E. J. Styers & Co., merchants of our town, are spreading out in their business by adding a lot of first-class agricultural machinery and implements. We wish them success, for they are in one of the best farming sections of the Old North State.

Our farmer friends are quite out of heart at the continued wet weather. Very little oats have been sown, no ground broken for other crops, while this time last year corn had all been planted and crops well under way. The woods are still dead as in midwinter.

Germantown is soon to be connected with the outside world by long distance telephone. The poles are being cut and the line will be erected at once. It will be the double or metallic system, which insures perfect service. It is now looked upon as a necessity and will certainly be appreciated by our citizens as a matter of convenience.

We are to have a direct line to Winston, and understand that similar lines will be run to Mt. Airy, Elkin, Wilkesboro, etc. The work is to be done by Mr. H. A. Paddycood, of Rural Hall, who already has several lines established to different points.

Lego Items.

We had a heavy rainfall last Friday.

The fruit crop in this neighborhood is said to be all right.

Gardens, potato patches and the oat crop will be late this year.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. White visited friends in Randolph county Saturday and Sunday.

We understand there is to be a manufacturing enterprise established near here soon.

We have recently noticed some land buyers in our village and expect to see some sales made soon.

Elder I. H. Hardy, of Person

county, is expected to be at Walnut

Cove and this place on the 20th inst.

We are glad to note that all the sick in our community have greatly improved. The most of them are able to be out.

Rev. Thomas Trueblood, who left here and went west thirty-four years ago, is in this section on a visit. We are glad to see him again in our midst. It is probable that he will again become a citizen of this community.

Vandalia Items.

Mr. J. C. Coe is on the sick list.

Mr. W. S. Lewis and family have left Vandalia to make their home in Greensboro.

Mr. O. E. May and family have moved from the Finishing Mills to their farm, near here.

Misses Flora and Blanche Anthony attended a picnic at Mr.

John Stewart's on Easter Monday.

An entertainment will be given by the young people at Cedar Hill school-house on the evening of April 21st, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited.

A "banana, April-fool" social was enjoyed by a number of young people at J. R. Tucker's on the night of the 3rd inst. Among those who attended were Messrs.

J. B. York, F. W. Creasey and

Edgar Ellison, of Lego.

On the afternoon of April 5th

Mr. J. L. Lewis and Miss Belle

Weatherly were quietly married at the home of the brides parents,

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Weatherly.

Rev. J. B. Tabor performed the ceremony. We wish them much happiness.

Jamestown Items.

Mrs. H. C. Lamb has 120 young chickens. Jamestown is the place for fried chicken.

Miss Edna Hill, of Guilford

College, spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Mary B. Futrell.

Mrs. W. G. Sapp is still very low. Her sister, Mrs. Howard, and Mr. Joe Reece and wife were up last week.

All the fruit in this section is not killed yet, but we are afraid if we have much more cold weather that we will not have any left.

Mr. Joe Ragsdale is preparing to build a new residence in Jamestown and will commence work the first of May. We have a nice little village now and hope to meet

Greensboro half way.

Mrs. Henry Horney will move to High Point next week where her son, Mr. V. V. Horney, is engaged in one of the roller mills. Mr.

Horney has worked the Idol mill for a number of years and we regret very much to lose him.

Briek Church Items.

We suffer not for rain.

Shoffner base ball team defeated the Friendship team recently.

Score, 1 to 8.

A bridge across big Alamance creek would be a great advantage to our people who go to Burlington.

Messrs. George Green, Daniel

Keck and Fred Homewoods attended

Federal court in Greensboro last week.

Rev. H. M. Brown held communion services at St. Paul's church last Sunday. It will be held at Low's church the fourth Sunday in this month.

Mr. S. A. Clapp, of Rock Creek, was here the first of the week. He says he thinks there will be a good crop of fruit in this neighborhood

if no further damage.

Gray's Chapel Items.

The peaches are not all killed so far.

Mr. O. R. Cox, of Cedar Falls, is improving.

Our farmers are badly behind with their work.

Our Sunday school is progressing finely under the superintendency of Mr. M. L. Allred.

The indications now are that the wheat crop will be short, so many farmers having a poor stand.

Mr. W. M. Routh, who is engaged in the lumber business near Lego,

was up home a day or two last week.

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE.

Something About This North Carolina Institution for Young Ladies.

The following is taken from the Galveston, Texas, Daily News, of Saturday, March 18th, last:

Dallas, Texas, March 16, 1899.—(To the News).—The accompanying extract from the report of President Charles D. Melver to the board of directors of the North Carolina State Normal and Industrial College for girls and young women shows what has been accomplished by that institution. The similarity of the educational, social and economical conditions of Texas to those of North Carolina make the facts stated in this report an unanswerable argument in favor of the establishment by the legislature of Texas of an industrial school for our girls. In view of the well nigh universal interest felt in the success of Hon. V. W. Grubbs' efforts in behalf of the girls of Texas I suggest that you publish the accompanying extract in the News. The extract is from pages 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24 of the board of directors of the State Normal and Industrial College of North Carolina for the school years ending September 30, 1898.

Very respectfully,

E. M. PACE.

The News reproduces the extract from President Melver's report referred to by Mr. Pace in the foregoing communication:

11. Of the 118 young women who have received the college diploma during the past six years, all but six have taught since their graduation.

12. About 100 graduates of other colleges have been among the students of the State Normal and Industrial College. These students usually come for special work in the normal department or some industrial department.

13. There is no section of the State and no kind of educational institution requiring women teachers with ordinary professional training, from the country public school to our best colleges, where students trained at the State Normal and Industrial College have not been employed. Of course the largest class of teachers trained by the institution have gone to the country public and private schools and these can be numbered by the hundred.

It is a notable fact, however, that every city public school system of the State, from Asheville to Wilmington, has given employment to our students. More than sixty have been employed within the past five years in the public schools of Asheville, Shelby, Statesville, Charlotte, Salisbury, High Point, Greensboro, Mount Airy, Winston, Reidsville, Durham, Raleigh, Goldsboro, Wilson, Tarboro and Wilmington.

Four of the six orphanages in this State and several prominent colleges for women, also number among their faculties ex-students of the State Normal and Industrial College.

14. A large number of young women trained in the commercial department have been enabled to earn salaries ranging from $250 to $1200 a year as stenographers, bookkeepers and in kindred employment. Some have secured lucrative government positions by competitive civil service examinations.

For the past four or five years the proceedings of the North Carolina Medical convention, the State Firemen's Association and the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly have been reported by stenographers trained at the State Normal and Industrial College.

15. About twenty students each year earn their board and laundry by caring for the dining-room. No servants do any work in that room. Ten students care for it in the forenoon and ten in the afternoon. They all do their college work when not engaged in the dining-room.

16. A student who shows good ability or special merit is rarely allowed to discontinue her course for want of means. The two literary societies, the Alumnae Association, the Woman's Educational Club and a few friends of the institution, who have established small loan funds, lend money without interest for a reasonable length of time to as many as possible of the worthy applicants for aid. In each of the last five graduating classes students were so aided.

17. Of the 118 graduates, twenty have pursued special courses of study at the institution since their graduation.

18. In addition to work done by the faculty at the college, considerable work, especially in pedagogics and in the commercial course, is done by correspondence. Forty-four people received instruction in this manner during the year. Moreover, certain members of the faculty conduct teachers' institutes in counties in every part of the State during the summer vacation, receiving no extra compensation for this labor.

19. The State Normal and Industrial College stands for a public educational system that will educate all the people. It teaches its students and urges them to teach others the doctrine of universal education. The authorities of the institution regard the college as a part of the public school system of the State and believe that it has a duty to discharge, not only to those who study within its walls, but to that great body of people who, for one reason or another, will not enter this or any other school or college. The greatest amount of educational opportunity to the greatest number of people is its motto and its aim. Without reservation members of its faculty stand for local taxation for public schools and for every movement which tends to secure to the State effective teaching for every child, preparing him for productive labor and intelligent citizenship.

20. This institution undertakes to emphasize in every legitimate way that any system of education which refuses to recognize the equal educational rights of women is unjust, unwise and permanently hurtful. It is the privilege and duty of your board to lead the educational thought of North Carolina in this direction.

I respectfully submit that there is no part of North Carolina's public educational system from which she can expect more in proportion to what she has expended than she may reasonably hope to reap from the work of this college. As you know, it is the only college in North Carolina for women of the white race which has an appropriation from the State and no woman college has a large endowment fund.

One-third of North Carolina's population is composed of women and girls of the white race and the opportunities given to this class of our population will determine North Carolina's destiny. The chief factors of any civilization are its homes and its primary schools. Homes and primary schools are made by women rather than by men. No State which will once educate its mothers need have any fear about its future illiteracy. An educated man may be the father of illiterate children, but the children of educated women are never illiterate. Three-fourths of all the educated women in North Carolina spend a part of each day educating their own children or the children of others, whereas, three-fourths of the educated men in the State spend a very short time daily with their own children, to say nothing of educating them.

Money invested in the education of a man is a good investment, but the dividend which it yields is frequently confined to one generation and is of the material kind. It strengthens his judgment, gives him foresight and makes him a more productive laborer in any field of activity. It does the same thing for a woman, but her field of activity is usually in company with children, and, therefore, the money invested in the education of a woman yields a better educational dividend than that invested in the education of a man. My contention, therefore, is that the State, for the sake of its present and future educational interest, ought to decree that for every dollar spent by the government, State or Federal, in the training of men at least another dollar ought to be invested in the work of educating woman-kind.

It is claimed that woman is weaker than man, then so much the more reason for giving her at least an equal educational opportunity with him. If it be admitted, as it must be, that she is by nature the chief educator of children, her proper training is the strategic point in the universal education of any race. If equality in culture be desirable, and if congeniality between husbands and wives after middle life be important, then a woman should have more educational opportunities in youth than a man; for a man's business relations bring him in contact with every element of society, and if he have fair native intelligence, he will continue to grow intellectually during the active period of his life; whereas, the confinements of home and the duties of motherhood allow little opportunity to a woman for any culture except that which comes from living with little children.

This experience which comes from living with innocent children is a source of culture by no means to be despised, but how much better it would be for the mother and the father and the children if the mother's education in her youth could always be such as will enable her in after life to secure that inspiration and solace and power which come from familiarity with the great books of the world, which are to-day a possible possession in every home.

Murder at Ashpole Church.

Last Friday morning a negro man who had been murdered was found lying at the door of the Ashpole Presbyterian church. He had been shot and clubbed in a terrible manner and subsequently investigation showed that he had been murdered in the swamp near by and dragged to the door of the church.

A certain negro woman living at Ashpole was, at the time, cooking for Rev. Mr. Craig, pastor of the church. Failing to come on time that morning, Mr. Craig went to her house to see what detained her. Upon his arrival he found her asleep under the bed and her clothing and the floor stained with blood. She was placed under arrest, but positively refused to make any statement. The presumption is that she and a negro man committed the murder.—Laurinburg Exchange.

From San Francisco to Liverpool around Cape Horn, 14,690 miles; through the Nicaraguan Canal, 7,508 miles, or a difference of 7,182 miles.

COPPER MINES AT GOLD HILL.

The Mine to Be Worked by a Company With $3,000,000 Capital.

Salisbury is on a tear. She is all excitement over the discovery of a fine vein of copper ore at the Gold Hill mine property, about fifteen miles from here. And if Salisbury does not become one of the greatest mining centers of the world, it will not be the fault of Messrs. J. J. Newman, of Salisbury, and Walter George Newman, of New York. Both claim that the vein of copper ore at Gold Hill will make the state famous as a copper producing state.

For years and years Mr. J. J. Newman has written articles in Northern and Southern newspapers and trade journals proclaiming his belief and faith in the old Union mine at Gold Hill as a copper producing mine. His appeals were read and laughed at, his theories were ridiculed and he was looked upon as a crank, a false prophet and a fakir. But he never faltered in his efforts to interest men of capital; nor did he for one minute lose faith in his theory. For sixteen years he has watched over the mine, his only interest being that of a mining engineer.

In 1840 the old Union Mine was worked for gold. It was just after the time Gold Hill was first discovered. The mine was worked until iron pyrites and copper ores began to flow in so heavily that the gold could not be saved. Then it was abandoned as a gold mine. About 1861 it was worked a few months as a copper mine. But the war between the states and a fall in the price of copper caused the work to stop. At that time a Baltimore company owned the property. The same company kept it up until December 31, 1898, when W. G. Newman, against the protest of all his business friends and mining experts, bought the vein for $25,000 and began to clean out the shaft and prepare to work the mine. He was willing to risk his money on his brother's judgment. The work has been pushed rapidly on since the trade was made and now Mr. J. J. Newman claims that all his hopes have been realized. When the workmen got 150 feet below the surface they found, Mr. Newman claims, a very fine vein from 75 to 100 feet thick, showing native copper in a burst of the vein 60 feet high and more than 50 feet across. The ore is fine quality and will yield 1,000 pounds of native copper to the ton of ore. Mr. J. J. Newman says now that everyone is willing to admit that he knew what he was talking about and doing. Prof. Carmichael, a confidential expert of the Calumet and Hecla mine, the richest copper mine in the world, has just left here. He and other experts from the East and West have told Mr. Newman and others that any wild or visionary statements that had been made about the mine are more than verified by the copper ore now being taken from the mine daily. Several weeks ago when the bottom of the shaft was reached, copper was found hanging on the sides of the shaft and in the cracks in the timbers used for various purposes. The copper had been precipitated and leaked out of the quartz. Since as the work has proceeded, copper has been found in all of its forms. The dip of the vein is almost vertical. In the property of the Union mine there are 450 acres.

The concern that recently bought it is styled the Union Copper Mining Company—chartered in New Jersey and capitalized at $3,000,000. Mr. Walter George Newman is president of the concern. He is a Wall street broker. The directors are: Walter George Newman, Hon. William B. Butler, of Boston, Mass., President of the Massachusetts Senate and attorney for the Standard Oil Company; James Phillips, Jr., of Boston, president of the Wool Trust, and promoter and owner of the billion dollar copper trust; Lieutenant Governor Crane, of Massachusetts; J. J. Newman and other large capitalists.

Mr. W. G. and Mr. J. J. Newman own the Gold Hill and Honeycutt mines, at Gold Hill, and with the above mentioned gentlemen have formed the United Mining, Developing and Construction Company, under a charter granted by the last legislature of this state, with a capital stock of $250,000,000. Besides they own 12,000 acres of land adjoining the property.

The concerns are going to put in a complete outfit of mining machinery to smelt and refine the copper at the mine. These same gentlemen will organize during this month a loan and trust company for banking purposes.

The above story was given me by one of the gentlemen interested in that stupendous enterprise. It is to be hoped that all of his predictions will be realized. North Carolina can stand just such prosperity.—Staff correspondence Charlotte Observer.

A Religious Paper on Good Roads.

The following extract from an editorial in last week's issue of the North Carolina Christian Advocate is sound sense:

"The winter of eighteen hundred and ninety-nine will long be memorable in our history. Neither city nor country people will soon forget it. The intensely cold weather, the heavy freezes and the abundance of ice and snow; but above all will be remembered the almost impassable roads.

"For two months people who were obliged to travel through the country in middle and western North Carolina found it necessary to trudge through mud up to the axles of their vehicles, while the horses struggled to keep from miring and falling.

"What it has cost the people financially can never be estimated, but we are quite sure if the damage done vehicles and animals, with the losses caused by travel being suspended and delays enforced, could be accurately computed, and that amount had been spent last summer for wisely directed road improvements, we would today have a very different state of things with very little additional cost.

"Among the many economic and material problems now pressing for solution, there are none of more importance to the country and to the whole people than the road problem. Every good citizen ought to begin now and continue to agitate this question until a great revolution is caused, and until every county adopts a measure similar to the Mecklenburg county road law, and all needed facilities are supplied for carrying out fully all its provisions. Such a policy will prove a paying investment at any reasonable cost. It will open up the country, enhance the value of lands, bring much now undesirable property into market, and greatly increase travel by private and public conveyances."

"A word to the wise is sufficient" and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft repeated experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years; has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all other cough medicines manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. He Wants Roberts Expelled.

Dr. Thomas C. Iliff, of Salt Lake City, addressed the Methodist preachers' weekly meeting in this city today on "The Present Situation in Utah." He has been superintendent of the Methodist mission in Utah for 25 years. Dr. Iliff is making his present trip as the chairman of a committee representing the evangelical churches of Utah, members of which are trying to prevent the admission to the House of Representatives of Brigham H. Roberts. In the course of his address Dr. Iliff said:

"If Brigham H. Roberts is permitted to sit in Congress it will be interpreted in every Mormon hamlet as the fulfillment of Brigham Young's prophecy, and also as nationalizing polygamy. The Mormons will redouble their energies. Already they may be said to hold the balance of power in Idaho and Wyoming, and they are very strong in Nevada, Arizona and in southwest Colorado.

"We ask that Congress shall expel Roberts. At first we petitioned that he be not received, but after conferring with Senator Edmunds and others we think that the proper procedure is to expel him."—New York Dispatch.

To Extend a Tennessee Railroad.

Contractors have begun work on a twenty-eight-mile extension of the Bristol and Elizabethton Railway from Elizabethton to Mountain City, Tenn. It is also stated that the same company will build a road from Cranberry to Lincoln, N. C., a distance of sixty miles.

Some Women Doubt

Many women think the bearing of children is a necessary period of great pain and distress. They doubt whether any medicine can relieve their sufferings. Well may they hesitate about taking those injurious internal mixtures so widely sold. But they may place implicit faith in MOTHER'S FRIEND which is a softening, relaxing and soothing liniment for external use. Doubting women should get a bottle at the drug store for $1, and test it. There is no possibility of its doing harm, and there is every likelihood of its saving them many hours of pain.

THE INFALLIBLE MAN.

There was a man who never made a blunder in his life; He loved a girl, but was afraid If she became his wife, That he or she might rue the day That brought them bliss, and so He put the happiness away That wedded lovers know.

One day the man who never made a mistake perceived the way That led to fame, but, still afraid, Drew back and stole away; He shunned the winding paths that led To distant, unseen ends, And kept the road that stretched ahead With neither steep nor bends.

At last the man who never made a mistake fell by the way; In garments that were badly frayed, And pale and starved he lay: No weeping friend bent o'er him there, No servant, child nor wife; But victory was his—he ne'er Had blundered in his life.

—S. B. Kiser, in Chicago News.

A New Kind of Syrup.

A good story is told of a Kansas farmer who entered a general store in Emporia, Kan., and inquired for "somethin' nice to put on griddle cakes."

"Molasses?" said the storekeeper.

"Naw, somethin' nicer. Be'n eatin' molasses for twenty years. Ain't ye got somethin' slicker?"

The grocer told him about maple syrup, and praised it highly. All the "toney people" of Emporia use it, he said.

"That's what I want. The high-tonedest you've got."

By a strange mishap when the boy went to pack the goods for the socially ambitious farmer he took a tin of varnish, the varnish coming in square cans of a kind similar to those containing the maple sap. Three or four months afterward the man came back to town and reported at the store. The storekeeper, having made the discovery of the error, was in a panic. At length he mustered up courage to ask how the maple syrup had answered.

"Oh, she was all right," said the customer. "Kinder high-falutin', but good. My wife at first said she thought it was some rancid, but when I told her what you said about it bein' a high-toned dish that the best people in Emporia jes' nacherally craved she seemed to take a second bolt, and now she won't eat nothin' else. I thought there was a kind of snap and bite to it that sorter reminded me o' what we used to git when prohibition first struck the country, but in general it's mighty good stuff."

"Was there any bad effect at all?" inquired the amazed storekeeper.

"Well, now, I can't say there wasn't. You see, it was my wife's first experience with dude grub, an' she kinder lost her head. Got ambitious. Allowed that if we was good enough to have that kind of eatin' we was good enough to have some other things to match. Bought a lot o' new chiny dishes from a pedler and made me promise I'd get her a new hat with red in it an' a dress this trip in town. Yes, I s'pose you might say that they was some bad effects, because vanity is certainly sinful, but you're a married man yourself, an' you know they ain't no way to stop a woman's ambitions when she begins to kinder get in society. Gimme a couple gallons more o' that syrup, an' if you have some that has jes' a little more o' that pleasant bitin' sting to it, why, let's have that."

A Country Without an Army.

Gen. Hutton, a skilled English soldier, who has been put in command of Canada's army, is now busily employed looking for the army. He says at present such a force does not exist. This fact is good evidence that Canada is not afraid of an invasion from her big neighbor. Canada would find it a hard matter to exist if it were not for the United States. Her people sell us eggs, potatoes, and other things, and they come over into our territory, work in the mills in New England, get timber in the Maine woods, and make better wages than they can get at home. Canada is even trying to sell our people coal. The nearness of the United States is worth a vast deal more to Canada than all the advantages she derives from England. Some points in the American tariff may not be altogether satisfactory to Canada, but she knows too much to quarrel with her best friend.

A proposition is now under discussion between England and this country to modify the agreement made as to building ships of war on the great lakes. When that is done Canada will have no need of an army or navy. All she will have to do is she imagines she is in danger of some enemy at present unknown will be to call on Uncle Sam, and he will see that she is protected.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY.

By I. C. West.

"The Powell Process."

How long before the rankness of the beef inquiry will drive even Russell A. Alger out of the Cabinet? From day to day the evidence has shown more and more clearly the unspeakable infamy of the war and commissary departments during the late war.

On July the 13th, just ten days after the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago, at a time when the decent American citizen was rejoicing at the triumph of American arms and the approaching end of the conflict, the department had a letter. It was from Phillip D. Armour, butcher and philanthropist. It informed the commissary department of the superior advantages of the Armour Company in the matter of fresh meat. The company had exclusive use of the "Powell Process" for preserving meats. It came a trifle high to be sure, but so had the "Hanna process" for preserving the "nation's honor." Had Armour not invested liberally in the latter? The contract was given to Armour, accompanied by a glowing "endorsement from the Secretary of War and the Commissary General," and as the laureate of the stock yards rhapsodically exclaims, "Such results were never before accomplished in the history of the fresh meat business." Undoubtedly such results never were. So far as history shows, the results were absolutely without a parallel. Various countries, "in the history of the fresh meat business," have starved their soldiers because they had not the wherewithal to feed them; it remained for this country, through Alger, Armour, Eagan & Co., to poison its soldiers at a higher figure than was required to feed them.

And when the general of the army exposed the crime against civilization and an examination was ordered in a fruitless attempt to break the force of the exposure, it is found that the "memoranda are not in the file boxes." They have disappeared along with the endorsement of the "Powell Process" by Alger and Eagan. It is a sweet chapter in American industry, and "in the history of the fresh meat business."—News and Observer.

Mr. S. A. Fackler, Editor of the Micanopy (Fla.) Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from La Grippe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for La Grippe, and its exhausting after effects. Howard Gardner.

Ovation.

Don't you get tired of "ovations?" When the husky third baseman has put the ball over the fence and trots proudly down the homestretch, he is "given an ovation." When the popular candidate for road overseer arises in the dimly lighted schoolhouse to discuss expansion before thirteen constituents, mostly boys and women, he is "met with an ovation." When our member is announced to come home from a period of legislative wrestling with a private bill to relieve John Doe from the effects of hereditary inanition and a charter for the new bridge across Turkey Creek to show for three months' labor, the word is passed around for all the boys to come out, for we must give our man a bigger ovation than the Democratic member had two years before.—Kansas City Journal.

Horrible agony is caused by Piles, Burns and Skin Diseases. These are immediately relieved and quickly cured by De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. Beware of worthless imitations. Howard Gardner.

Why the Flag Was There.

The Troy Times tells of a visitor at a public school, who being requested to address the pupils, spoke of the necessity of obeying their teacher and growing up to be useful, loyal and patriotic citizens. To emphasize his remarks, he pointed to a large national flag that almost covered one end of the room, and said: "Now, boys, who can tell me what that flag is there for?" One little fellow, who understood the condition of the room better than the speaker, replied: "I know, sir. It's to hide the dirt."

Coughing injures and inflames sore lungs. One Minute Cough Cure loosens the cold, allays coughing and heals quickly. The best cough cure for children. Howard Gardner.

RICHMOND, Va., June 10, 1898. DEAR SIR—Some time ago you sent me one dozen bottles of Goose Grease Liniment to be used in our stable amongst our horses, and we beg to state that we have used this exclusively since receiving it, and would state frankly that we have never had anything that gave us as good satisfaction. We have used it on cuts, Bruises, Sore Necks, Scratches and nearly every disease a horse can have and it has worked charmingly. We need more at once. Please let me know if you have it put up in any larger bottles or any larger packages than the ones sent us and also prices. Yours truly, Disappointment.

"Let me see," said the stock speculator, "didn't you once enter a track of land in the mining regions of upper Michigan?" "Yes, and like to lost my little fortune," answered the rural caller. "The 'tarnal place was as dry as a bone, and every time I'd try sinkin' a well I'd strike copper. There was no drillin' through the plaguery stuff, less'n I'd buy a lot more tools, so I jest throwed up the claim and kim back where I could raise suthin' and git plenty of water."

A Bad Habit.

That suicide is a "pernicious habit that obviously tends to shorten life" is the defense set up by a life insurance company in a recent action, on a policy which expressly included liability for such reprehensible habits. It must be conceded that suicide, if it becomes habitual, would have the tendency described.

ROCK HILL BUGGY

Some dealers push the sale of cheap buggies because the profits are large. Don't allow yourself to be "taken into" buying a buggy in order to save a dollar or so. "ROCK HILL" buggies are "A Little Higher in Price, But—" they stand up, look well, and, above all, KEEP AWAY FROM THE SHOP—making them cheaper in the end. Sold by first-class dealers only. If none so near in your town, write direct.

CHOOSE YOUR DRUGGIST CAREFULLY.

A druggist can do more harm or good than most people give him credit for. There are different qualities in drugs just as there are in dry goods, and to the outsider all qualities go by the same name. The difference between pure, high grade drugs and cheap, inferior drugs of the same name, means the difference between keeping sick and getting well. When a doctor writes a prescription, he means best quality. When some druggists fill a prescription, they think only about big profits.

Choose your druggist carefully.
