—Will Claiborn and a woman named Setzer, both colored, had a row in "Duplin" Thursday night in which weapons were freely used. Claiborn skipped to Virginia, but was captured and brought back Sunday evening. He will be tried as soon as the woman is able to appear.
—A dray horse belonging to the L. Richardson Drug Company ran away on South Elm street last Wednesday while his driver was temporarily absent, smashing a new street carriage belonging to Mr. Charles L. Corl, and injuring the driver of that vehicle about the head. At Scott's corner an unknown bicyclist was knocked from his wheel but escaped serious injury.
—A new lodge of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics was instituted here last week with twenty odd members. It will be known as Cartland Council, No. 99, having been named in honor of the late H. H. Cartland, who was a loyal member of the order. The council was instituted by Mr. G. C. Smith, of this city, assisted by Mr. Sam F. Vance, of Winston, the State secretary.
—A team from the country, driven by Sol Rogers, colored, ran away on South Elm street Monday, starting from near the water tower. The only damage done was the demoralization of Mr. H. S. Hudson's delivery wagon, which was standing in front of his residence at the time. The application of a certain city ordinance would put a stop to much of the carelessness responsible for many runaways here of late.
—A crowd of suspicious looking characters gathered here for the fair was rounded up by Chief Scott Monday and searched for a watch that had been stolen from Will Clegg. One young sport had eighteen watches in his possession, and another had a pocket full, but Mr. Clegg's was not among them. While no specific charge is lodged against these men, they should be placed where they can do no devilment during the fair.
—Dr. Griffith has one of the best fair attractions that has come down the pike this week. He recently purchased from the owner in Oak Ridge township a horse with a mane reaching to its knees, a tail that drags on the ground and hoofs that measure twenty-three inches and turn up like horns. For some unaccountable reason the horse was left standing in its stable for fifteen long years. This is the first time it has ever been on exhibition.
—Mr. N. J. McDuffie, who has just re-engaged in the furniture business at his old stand, makes an important announcement in our advertising columns. He is selling at cost for a few days to make room for fall stock, and is incidentally closing out at a discount various pieces of furniture, which remain from broken sets. Fifty cents will do the work of a dollar at this big sale. Call on him, next door to the express office, and see what tremendous bargains he is offering.
—Hon. W. W. Kitchen is filling some of his Guilford appointments this week, speaking Monday afternoon at Guilford College, Monday evening at Proximity, yesterday afternoon at Hillsdale and last night at Jamestown. Today he speaks at Pleasant Garden and Kimesville. Tomorrow night he will speak at High Point. So far he has found everything except the weather favorable to the cause he represents. There has been too much sprinkling the past week to suit a person of his denomination. However, Mr. Kitchen can depend on a good crowd when he comes to fill his appointment here on the 29th, regardless of the weather.

The Fair Opens This Morning.
The Central Carolina Fair will open this morning at 10 o'clock, just twenty-four hours behind the schedule, and the indications are that the event will prove an unqualified success in every particular. Monday there were show-ers at frequent intervals. Monday night there was rain and yesterday there was more rain, sufficient really to cause a rise in water company stock were it on the market. The fair association officers met yesterday morning and decided to postpone the opening until today and continue through Saturday. The weather man, in order to make amends for his carelessness yesterday, promises good weather the balance of the week. In some respects the delay in opening proves advantageous to the patrons of the fair, as a number of the exhibits were not fully arranged until late yesterday afternoon. Now everything is in readiness, and the thousands that are flocking to the gates will not fail to be impressed with the perfection of the vast enterprise undertaken by willing, yet practically inexperienced hands. The big exhibit hall is filled to overflowing with a choice collection from the homes, farms and factories of our people; there is plenty of live stock, machinery, etc., to interest the husbandman, and no end of things that appeal to the feminine fancy, while near by is a midway of varied attractions. There are sixty-five entries in the speed contests, this feature being conducted on a scale that is seldom equaled outside of the great racing centers. Whatever one's tastes may be, they are certain to be gratified here. As we write a procession is forming at the court house to march to the grounds, where Judge Boyd will formally open the fair. Our readers will pardon us for yielding right here to an inclination to follow the band.
Mr. W. C. Dodson's Death.
Mr. Will C. Dodson, who was stricken with paralysis a couple of months ago, died last Wednesday evening about 5 o'clock. Up to a few days before his death his family and friends felt that he would eventually recover, as he had gotten able to walk about with assistance. Following a chill, his decline was rapid, and the end came peacefully. Mr. Dodson was nearly thirty-four years old. For many years he was a conductor on the old C. F. & Y. V. railroad, and later with the Southern. A more courteous, competent and obliging official could not be found. He was married, and his wife, formerly Miss Allen, of Fayetteville, and two young children, survive. Together with Mr. Dodson's parents and sister, they have the heartfelt sympathy of the community. The funeral was held from the family residence, on East Market street, Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, the service being conducted by Rev. Dr. J. C. Rowe. The deceased was a member of Cress Creek Lodge No. 4, I. O. O. F., of Fayetteville, and was buried with the honors of his order, the members of Buena Vista Lodge, No. 21, of this city, acting as an escort.
—Daisy Hargrave, a young colored woman from Lexington, is in serious trouble here. About a week ago she broke into the dwelling house of Mr. J. W. Pugh, on church street, where she had previously been employed, and stole several articles of wearing apparel. A neighbor saw her break the slats from a shutter and enter the house. She was arrested Saturday night by officer Jordan, and was wearing wrong side out at the time a waist stolen from Mrs. Pugh. Of course she is very penitent since consigned to the keeping of Jailer Rees, but as this is not her first theft she will have to suffer the consequences of her daring. She will be lucky to get off with a penitentiary sentence, as the punishment for such a crime is death.
—A difference between Contractor W. C. Bain and Mr. O. M. Gates, who is here as a supervisor representing Hayden, Wheeler & Swend, the Charlotte architects who planned the new city hall, has caused a suspension of work on that structure pending the arrival of a member of the firm, who will undoubtedly straighten matters out without difficulty.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of Philadelphia, when Dr. King's New Discovery cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed to cure all troubles of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c and $1. MARKET REPORT.
The receipts on our market for the past week have been the heaviest of the season, and we are glad to welcome so many good farmers to the City of Flowers.
Prices on all grades have been well maintained, and in most cases the sellers have been well pleased with their sales.
The quality of the offerings is very poor, the worst we have seen for years, and it looks as if the good tobacco is very scarce.
The order has been so soft for the past week that it was almost impossible for the buyers to keep their purchases from getting badly damaged, and for this reason they have been pushed with their work.
Mr. B. N. Duke, of Durham, has just given $1,000 to the Methodist Orphanage, of Raleigh.
Mr. J. A. Hesse, a prominent farmer of Orange, was here with two big loads of leaf yesterday.
Col. J. S. Cunningham, who has been very sick at St. Luke's Hospital, Richmond, is improving.
Kirkman & Burney, of southern Guilford, were among the patrons of this market Monday.
Mr. R. J. Reynolds, of Winston, has given $1,000 to the fund for the Mills Memorial building at the Thomasville, N. C., Orphanage.
A tobacco buyer at Scotland Neck, writes that the crop in that section is already half sold and is hardly half a crop, and as mean a one as reported.
North Carolina and Turkish cigarette tobaccos were awarded precisely the same number of points, eighteen, by the jury of awards at the Paris Exposition.
The Wilson and Rocky Mount markets calculate on hardly half of last year's sales this year, and some of the buyers will have to close up their factories early in proportion to sales.
Messrs. J. B. Boatwright and "Buck" Scott, two prominent Virginia tobaccoists, were here the first of the week en route to Mullins, S. C., where they are engaged in the golden weed traffic.
The Greensboro market was never in better shape to pay the farmers a good price for their tobacco, and what is more, it proposes to do so. We want your tobacco, you want the money for it, and this is the market on which to get the biggest money.
About fifty lump tobacco machine hands in the new factory of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston, struck for higher wages Friday morning. Their stopping threw a number of wrapper stemmers out of work. The matter was adjusted the next day.
The Southern Tobacco Journal says that one factory in Winston works 200 to 225 white girls in a plug factory packing leaf at wages of $3 to $5 a week. That whites will have to take the place of colored labor in factories has been long coming, but it has come to stay.
On the market yesterday some of the tobacco growers were: Messrs. White & Coble and Vincent & Jones, of Alamance; I. L. Brown, of Caswell; R. T. & J. M. Way and Scales & Garrett, of Rockingham; W. J. Cable, Gant & McKinney and Summers & Michel, of Guilford.
Among the many tobacco growers of this section on the Greensboro market last week were: Messrs. G. H. Price, J. H. Pegram, T. B. Bailey, M. L. Lemons, John and J. W. Southard, Scott & Malloy, W. R. Calhoun, J. W. Norman, J. F. Williams, W. D. Gordon, Neal & Allen, Dawson & Robinson, C. E. Sharp, J. M. Simpson, H. E. Lovins, J. H. Neal and J. J. Barham, all of Rockingham; Messrs. J. W. Loy, Daniel Shaw, H. and R. A. C. Kernode and W. E. Slade, of Alamance; Messrs. J. A. Robinson, T. A. Wilson, R. G. Robinson, Theo. Stanley, Thos. Faucette, G. R. Boon, Barker & Morehead, A. W. Pegram, D. W. Jones, J. J. C. Cobb, J. R. Moore, W. A. Farrington, W. E. Slade, B. J. May, W. A. Wyrick, A. W. and C. D. Scoggins, A. O. Rudd, W. H. King, J. E. Cox, B. P. Parrish, R. A. Andrews, A. Safeway, C. T. Wagoner, J. H. Lewey, J. C. Hinton, J. S. Clapp, J. W. Brown, John Michael and Miss Ella Lambeth, of Guilford.

—Mr. W. Perry McLean, an honored citizen of Guilford, living a few miles east of the city, died Monday morning after an illness of several months, suffering from rheumatism and dropsy. His funeral was held Monday evening, with interment at Midway church, Rev. Seabrooke conducting the service. Mr. McLean was an upright christian gentleman, and will be missed from his large circle of friends. He had served as county surveyor for several years, and declined a re-nomination this year because of failing health. His wife preceded him to the grave by a few years. The family and friends have our sympathy in their bereavement.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

GROWING OLD WITHOUT RELIGION A DISMAL PROSPECT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—In this sermon Dr. Talmage discourses upon the invitation given to Christ to stay overnight in the oriental village and makes some consolatory suggestions. The text is Luke xxiv, 29, "Abide with us, for it is toward evening."

On the Down Grade of Life.

The great want of all such is to have Jesus abide with them. It is a dismal thing to be getting old without the rejuvenating influence of religion. When we stop on the down grade of life and see that it dips to the verge of the cold river, we want to behold some one near who will help us across it. When the sight loses its power to glance and gather up, we need the faith that can illumine. When we feel the failure of the ear, we need the clear tones of that voice which in olden times broke up the silence of the deaf with cadences of mercy. When the axmen of death hew down whole forests of strength and beauty around us and we are left in solitude, we need the dove of divine mercy to sing in our branches. When the shadows begin to fall and we feel that the day is far spent, we need most of all to supplicate the beneficent Jesus in the prayer of the villagers, "Abide with us, for it is toward evening."

Indications of Night.

The rest of the text is an appropriate exhortation for all those who are approaching the gloomy hour of temptation. There is nothing easier than to be good natured when everything pleases, or to be humble when there is nothing to puff us up, or forgiving when we have not been assailed, or honest when we have no inducement to fraud. But you have felt the grapple of some temptation. Your nature at some time quaked and groaned under the infernal power. You felt that the devil was after you; you saw your Christian graces retreating; you feared that you would fall in the awful wrestle with sin and be thrown into the dust. The gloom thickened. The first indications of the night were seen. In all the trembling of your soul, in all the infernal suggestions of satan, in all the surging up of tumultuous passions and excitements, you felt with awful emphasis that it was toward evening. In the tempted hour you need to ask Jesus to abide with you. You can beat back the monster that would devour; you can unhorse the sin that would ride you down; you can sharpen the battle-axe with which you

When the night of the soul came on and all the denizens of darkness came riding upon the winds of perdition, who gave strength to the soul? Who gave calmness to the heart? Who broke the spell of infernal enchantment? He who heard the request of the villagers, "Abide with us, for it is toward evening." One of the forts of France was attacked, and the out-works were taken before night. The besieging army lay down, thinking that there was but little to do in the morning and that the soldiery in the fort could be easily made to surrender. But during the night, through a back stairs, they escaped into the country. In the morning the besieging army sprang upon the battlements, but found that their prey was gone. So when we are assaulted by temptation there is always some secret stair by which we might get off. God will not allow us to be tempted above what we are able, but with every temptation will bring a way of escape that we may be able to bear it.

Don't Borrow Trouble.

You have long rejoiced in the care of a mother; you have done everything to make her last days happy; you have run with quick feet to wait upon her every want. Her presence has been a perpetual blessing in the household. But the fruit gatherers are looking wistfully at that tree. Her soul is ripe for heaven. The gates are ready to flash open for her entrance. But your soul sinks at the thought of separation. You cannot bear to think that soon you will be called to take the last look at that face, which from the first hour has looked upon you with affection unchangeable. But you see that life is ebbing, and the grave will soon hide her from your sight. You sit quiet; you feel heavy hearted. The light is fading from the sky; the air is chill. It is toward evening.

Jes' Comforting Grace.
 Trouble is an apothecary that mixes a great many drafts, bitter and sour and nauseous, and you must drink some one of them. Trouble puts up a great many packs, and you must carry some one of them. There is no sandal so thick and well adjusted but some thorn will strike through it; there is no sound so sweet but the undertaker's screwdriver grates through it. In this swift shuttle of the heart some of the threads must break. The journey from Jerusalem to Emmaus will soon be ended. Our Bible, our common sense, our observation, reiterate in tones that we cannot mistake and ought not to disregard—it is toward evening.

Oh, then for Jesus to abide with us!
He sweetens the cup; he extracts the thorn; he wipes the tear; he hushes the tempest; he soothes the soul that flies to him for shelter. Let the night swoop and the Euroclydon toss the sea; let the thunders roll—soon all will be well.
Christ in the ship to soothe his friends;
Christ on the sea to stop its tumult;
Christ in the grave to scatter the darkness; Christ in the heavens to lead the way. Blessed all such. His arms will inclose them, his sacrifice free them, his glory enchant them. If earthly estate take wings, he will be an incorrupt-ible treasure; if friends die, he will be their resurrection. Standing with us in the morning of our joy and in the noonday of our prosperity, he will not forsake us when the luster has faded and it is toward evening.

Listen to Paul's battle shout with misfortune, hark to mounting Lattimer's fire song; look at the glory that hath reft the dungeon and filled the earth and heavens with the crash of the falling manacles of despotism and then look at those who have tried to cure themselves by human prescrip-

Nearing the Evening

This ought not to be a depressing theme. Who wants to live here forever? The world has always treated me well, and every day I feel less and less like scolding and complaining. But yet I would not want to make this my eternal residence. I love to watch the clouds and to bathe my soul in the blue sea of heaven, but I expect when the firmament is rolled away as a scroll to see a new heaven, grander, higher and more glorious. You ought to be willing to exchange your body that has headaches and sideaches and weaknesses innumerable, that limps with the stone bruise or festers with the thorn or flames on the funeral pyre of fevers, for an incorruptible body and an eye that blinks not before the jasper gates and the great white throne. But between that and this there is an hour about which no man should be reckless or foolhardy. I doubt not your courage, but I tell you that you will want something better than a strong arm, a good aim and a trusty sword when you come to your last battle. You will need a better robe than any you have in your wardrobe to keep you warm in that place.

Shortening Days.

ing star hung up amid the gloom of the gathering night.

You are almost through with the abuse and backbiting of enemies. They will call you no more by evil names. Your good deeds will not longer be misinterpreted or your honor filched. The troubles of earth will end in the felicities of heaven. Toward evening! The bereavements of earth will soon be lifted. You will not much longer stand pouring your grief in the tomb like Rachel weeping for her children or David mourning for Absalom. Broken hearts bound up. Wounds healed. Tears wiped away. Sorrows terminated. No more sounding of the dead march. Toward evening. Death will come, sweet as slumber to the eyelids of the babe, as full rations to a starving soldier, as evening hour to the exhausted workman. The sky will take on its sunset glow, every cloud a fire psalm, every lake a glassy mirror, the forests transfigured, delicate mists climbing the air. Your friends will announce it, your pulses will beat it, your joys will ring it, your lips will whisper it, "Toward evening."

A NEW CENTURY REVIVAL.

Plans In England and This Country For a Concerted Movement.

All of the Free churches of England are joined in an effort to open the new century with a great evangelical revival. Eight days are to be given to the task, apart from the months of preparation which have already begun. In this task of preparation the Christian Endeavor and other lay help is brought into use. The meetings will begin on Saturday night, January being the month selected, cover the two following Sundays and terminate on Monday evening. The London meetings are to be held in advance of those in the provinces; this for local effect. There are to be six London centers—principal centers—each of which will have many subordinate centers.

In other cities of England the number of principal centers, each with subordinate ones, will number from one to six, according to size, and work is already begun to see that no city, however small, is omitted from the plan. The date will be about a fortnight after the close of the London meetings. Evangelists from one to ten in number will be sent to each city, according to size, and pastors will help out.

There will be special services for milkmen, for car drivers, for fallen women, newspaper boys, etc. Some of these will be held at early hours in the morning, one of them at 3 a. m. They will be held at any hour those for whom they are held can best attend. The aim is, first, to reach people of all grades and to provide meetings anywhere and at any time; second, to converge these meetings upon central mass meetings.

There is also a movement on foot in this country to make this a year of prayer and preparation for the incoming new century. A call to this end is addressed to the people of the United States and is signed by many representative men, including such names as those of the Rev. Drs. J. H. Barrows, Josiah Strong, Washington Gladden, Theodore L. Cuyler, C. I. Scofield and Bishops Gilbert of Minnesota, Leonard of Ohio, Doane of Albany, Andrews of New York, etc. The appeal is to Christians to make the year one of prayer, work and preparation and education by Bible study and study of missionary and other progressive Christian work in order that a great revival of religion may be prepared for in the opening year of the new century.—Church Economist.

Seventy-four and Seventy-five Mil-

In 1620 74 English Puritans sailed for North America and there established a colony. Their descendants are now taking a census of the country which they then founded. This census reveals that the population of the United States is close upon 75,000,000—1,000,000 to every pilgrim father! The population of the British isles is 40,000,000. Across the Atlantic there are 75,000,000 of English speaking men, women and children living under modern conditions who are prospering mightily, who manage their own business, every one of whom is an uncrowned king or queen, who does not believe in the divine right of sovereigns, in the doctrine that a monarch can do no wrong, in the principle of hereditary superiority. They enjoy free institutions based on the principles of modern civilization. Meanwhile the Conservatives in England tell us that progress is dangerous, that we should hug our mediæval traditions and that there is something worse than war—reform.—London Truth.

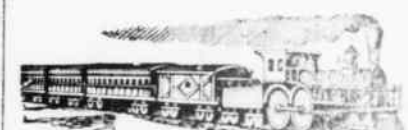

The Shah and the Children.

The youth of Brussels, it appears, were not slow to exploit the shah's weakness for children, which was incautiously referred to in the press. Our correspondent mentions that an enterprising lad wrote to his majesty that a bicycle would make him completely happy, but the fact must not be divulged to his parents, while another child asked for a doll in similar terms. In both instances the gifts were forthcoming, with the result that on the last day of his majesty's visit the Persian legation was besieged by youthful applicants, many of whom were made happy by practical proofs of the shah's generosity. — London Chronicle.

Setting an Example

One Paris "grand dame" is found that France shall not be depopulated. The Vicomtesse de Rochemaille is 22 years of age, has been married five years and is the mother of 11 boys, of whom the eldest is not quite 4 years of age. She presented her husband with four pairs of twins in succession and has just topped off with triplets. The children are all sound and healthy.

of the Sad Evolution of the "Otho."—He Has Become a McKinley Office-Holder and Accepted a Job That Offends His Sensibilities.

As has been previously recorded in these columns, Otho Wilson, the erstwhile boss of the Populists, is now holding a job under the McKinley administration.

Otho is a storekeeper and gauger at a salary of $2 a day when at work. When not at work he does nothing, and he's not at work now.

And thereby hangs a tale.

When heaving what his fellow storekeepers and gaugers call a "run,"

When he was appointed, some weeks ago, he was assigned to a millinery operated by a man named Jovner, about five miles from Raleigh. Before the ink was dry upon his commission, Otho was in charge.

Things wagged along pretty well, generally, for two days, then he announced that he would be down indefinitely for repairs. At the end of the second day, the millinery took a vacation. This cold turn down Otho is maintaining the revenue department waiting for another assignment, while the jokes about his "run" are furnishing endless material for grasshopperdom.

Two weeks' service as a storekeeper and "gauger" has netted Otho $4 in money and much aggravation in mind. Altogether he has a faint suspicion that he has made a monkey of, and every his remarks these days are full of unparliamentary.

Upon a time the Hon. S. O. Wilson was the original champion of our Declaration of Independence, the jealous keeper of the American Eagle, and the unrelenting defender of the dollar of the dollar.

It was way back in the tender period of Populism, when he wore a long-tailed coat and a monocle hat, and Colonel Andrew trains stopped at Otho's saloon eating house a-gwine "gammon" for Otho was then a state Commissioner and a powerful land.

These days the very mention of popular metal made the broad shoulders of Otho's shirt-front instantly heave, like a tempest-tossed windmill in a mill-race, and the mention of McKinley's name caused the skirts of his proud Prince of Wales to hold themselves high and in contempt.

He has said, this was years ago—

"I, Otho Wilson, the once Grand Giddens, proud lord of an eating house at his job as Railroad Stationer, and oh what a time there was, my countrymen! I was no longer stopped at a comin' and the South was know him no more in the tails of his coat lost in the sweep, his hat as a warning proportions of the organs were not doctored on the same grand of yore. But as his paragon contracted his views expanded and after a retirement of a during which he moulting and put on new ones, he forth announcing himself Expansion Populist."

It was a new and rare bird of the political ornithologist had heard. The records of the Society were consulted, but no living man or ghost had ever seen or heard of an "Expansion Populist."

Political doctors examined the man with the greatest interest then wrote in their recordation Populist: A rare and rare bird of prey, found in Franklin county, North Carolina. It is a garrulous creature, build, has a small long tail. In early life a danger, but now its notes are large and discordant. This large massive mouth by is enabled to devour huge at a gulp. Though a member of the genus Populist and this is the only species of "Expansion" Populist yet known, as its cases took an option between, and again Otho Wilson the seclusion of his Franklin county, announcing he was "out of politics."

He was huddled into view again by Minerva from the clouds, full panoplied and terrible. "McKinley" was the word and "gold and imperialism" were the terms with which he would be hurled into the hands of the trusts; but when the Populist demurred at the erstwhile Grand the empty honors with which he had loaded him

Output of Aluminum.

At the various aluminum works, in this country at Niagara Falls, at Foyers in Scotland at Greenock in Ireland and at other places in Europe, there were produced last year over 5,000 tons of aluminum, worth $3,200,000. The metal is extracted by electrolysis. Similarly electricity is being employed largely nowadays in getting pure copper. In 1886 the world's consumption of aluminum was about one and a half tons, at a cost of about $8 a pound. In 1899 the cost was 30 cents a pound. Some 2,500 tons are used in the French steel works, the remainder finding various uses. As to its uses the Engineering and Mining Journal says:

"Aluminum has been substituted for several other metals in special applications, and it certainly plays an important part in the production of alloys, while its general use for overhead electric conductors can be looked forward to in the not far distant future. In fact, its conductivity for equal sectional areas is 60 per cent. that of copper, and a comparison of the densities will show that a electric line in aluminum will weigh for equal conductivity half that of one in copper. Aluminum, therefore, is more economical even at its present price, which is likely to be still further reduced, and that is but the only advantage possessed by this metal, as a comparison of weights and resistance to tensile strain shows that its use permits the use of longer spans in a line, thus reducing the number of posts or other supports."

His Riches.

A writer in the Outlook describes a ride he once took with a old farmer in a New England village, during which some of the men of a neighborhood came under criticism.

Speaking of a prominent man in the village, I said: "He is a man means?"

"Well, sir," the farmer replied, "he hasn't got much money, but s' mighty rich."

"He has a great deal of land on?" I asked.

"No, sir, he hasn't got much land, but he is mighty rich."

The old farmer, with a pleased smile, observed my puzzled look for a moment, and then explained:

"You see, he hasn't got much money, and he hasn't got much land, but still he is rich, because he never went to bed owing any in a cent in all his life. He lives well as he wants to live, and he s' as he goes; he doesn't owe thing, and he isn't afraid of body; he tells every man the h, and does his duty by himself, his family and his neighbors; word is as good as his bond, every man, woman and child the town looks up to him and respects him. No, sir, he hasn't much land, but he's a mighty man, because he's got all he ts."

What Happened in a Drug Store.

One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a and of cough medicine that I did have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Radin, the popular druggist of Buffalo, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could only recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could have a bottle of the remedy and giving it a fair trial if she could not find it worth the money to buy back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the use of a day or two the lady came back in company with a and in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I order that a very good recommendation for the remedy." It is sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

"Woman," said the old Coder, during one of his meditative spells, "is a perpetual paradox, a chronic conundrum without an answer, an unknown quantity possessed of unexpected possibilities, a perennial prize package of peculiar potentialities, a conventicle of characteristic contradictions and an amaranthine aggregation of other attributes which are not alliterative.

"She is man's greatest earthly blessing, and the cause of most of his misery. She is his chief inspiration to the achievement of all that is good, grand and glorious in this world, and at the same time a labor saving device to help him make a fool of himself. She soothes his tired nerves with the coo of her gentle voice, but she always has the last word in every controversy with him—and, incidentally, about 97 per cent. of the preceding conversation. She brings him into the world, and a few years later talks him to death.

"Most of man's trouble is caused by woman, but so deftly does she pile the load on him that whenever his burden of trouble is lifted he wanders uneasily about hunting for more—otherwise, there would be very few second wives. She will cheerfully go to the stake for the truth's sake, and lie about her age without even being asked. She will grow weary of an indulgent husband, will cleave unto death to the man who beats her regularly. She will break her heart because a man does what she doesn't want him to, and love him all the better for so doing.

"She scorns all advice in the selection of a husband, but takes two other women along to help her pick out a hat. The less actual comfort to be obtained from a thing, the more enjoyment a woman gets out of its possession. At 16 she is a young woman; at 25, if still unmarried, she is a girl. She will see the grim specter of death without a tremor, and swoon at the sight of a mouse. The only time she does what you expect her to do when you expect her to do what you don't expect her to do. The sole reason why she does anything is simply because she doesn't know why she does it. She jumps at conclusions and always lands on them squarely, for the simple reason that when the conclusion skips one side, thinking to avoid her, she gets exactly in her way. She is the dearest thing in all the world, and the most aggravating. She is she is, and that's all there is to it about her. The only man who ever fully understands a woman is the man who understands that he can't understand her, and has got to use enough to let it go at that." Puck.

Longer Rails.

The new tendency in railroading is to lengthen the rail. The present standard length is 30 feet, and 40-foot rail has been tried in its stead. This length showed good results, but did not afford spaces enough for expansion in hot weather. The longer the rail and fewer joints in the track and the fewer ties. But the matter of expansion in hot weather is troublesome, and it is believed that the standard length will be 45 feet. As to weight, 100-pound rail is found not to possess the advantages expected of it and a lighter rail will take its place. "It is believed now," says the railroad contemporary, "that lighter no 100-pound steel rails will be generally adopted. The rail wears entirely on the tread on curves lasts no longer than 80 pound rail. Even on a straight track it wears and batters the ends just as fast as the heavier rail. After tread and the flange are worn or battered the great amount of material is useless except for scrap. It is believed by many road men that the 85-pound-tread rail, 45 feet in length, is coming standard."

Negro Domination.

The approach of the election or other cause seems to have generated the bitter tone of the New York Sun toward the South. Says:

"We are not surprised at the ungenerous opposition to 'negro domination' expressed by Mr. Lawrence of Savannah, in a letter printed in another column; neither do we reprobate him for it. White men in every part of the Union will feel in the same way if they are imagined that they saw the possibility of such a domination. It will not can any Administration at Washington or any power interfere with any constitutional measures taken by the Southern whites to prevent it.

I introduced CONNET'S SOUTHEASTLY Peach 15 years ago and GREENSBORO 7 years ago, and getting reports from them over a great extent of country, I feel proud of the fact that I introduced them. I am quite a number of new varieties introduced every year. After my first announcement the majority of them are never heard of, as they were only introduced simply for the purpose of selling a new variety at an advanced price, and were either some variety with a new name or else adapted to general cultivation.

I can be pleased for my friends and patrons to look out for the GREENSBORO and CONNET this year and let me know how they succeed in their selection.

GEN. CARR ON THE TRUSTS.

We have heard that it is being circulated in some parts of Guilford county, that General Carr is or has been connected with a trust, the American Tobacco Company. We have just been shown a private letter from General Carr in answer to a letter written him by a friend here stating that such things were being circulated in this county, in which the General says: "It is a falsehood out of the whole cloth. I am not now, nor have I ever been, connected directly or indirectly with the American Tobacco Co., as any man who is familiar with the tobacco trade of the State knows."

Not in Guilford alone has this covert attack been made on Gen. Carr.

Under the caption, "The Taint Remains," the Tarboro Southerner recently tried to produce the impression that the General's record is not consistent with the position of the party upon the trust issue. The Southerner says:

"Before Gen. Julian S. Carr enters too deeply into the contest for senatorial honors, he should rid himself of every taint of the American Tobacco Company."

The Henderson Gold Leaf, which is supporting Mr. Simmons for the senate, effectively replies to the Southerner's criticism by saying:

"Let's be entirely fair in this matter. We do not believe either of the other candidates nor their friends would resort to a mean advantage to gain success. As we understand it, there is no 'taint of the American Tobacco Company' about Gen. Carr. He sold out to another concern rather than become identified with and 'tainted by the trust,' just as the Southerner and others of us would have done under similar circumstances had the opportunity been offered. If the concern has got into the hands of the trust since General Carr disposed of his interest in it, we do not think it exactly fair to hold him responsible therefor. As a friend of Mr. Simmons the Gold Leaf believes it but simple justice to General Carr to say this much in defense of him against any insinuation of his being connected with or tainted by the American Tobacco Company."

The following will further show Gen. Carr's attitude toward the trusts:

"In a speech a few days ago Gen. Julian S. Carr, who is a candidate for the United States Senate, was very vigorous in his denunciation of trusts. But this is no more than was expected, for Gen. Carr has always shown himself an implacable foe to these outlaws. When the American Tobacco trust was organized, we learn, Gen. Carr was urged to join the trust. He would have been worth five times what he is to-day if he had done so, but he refused, and from that day to this he has refused to have any lot or parcel in these gigantic robbers that are drawing to themselves the fruit of the toil of thousands of our people. Among other things, General Carr said:

"Two hundred men control the money of the world. During the republic the Romans boasted that to be called a Roman citizen was a greater honor than to be called a king, yet Rome yielded to the money power and the proud citizens were bought and sold as chattels. Then followed militarism and the Empire. I have enlisted in an eternal warfare against trusts. I know well the strength of the powers I am fighting, and expect to feel the pressure of the cold steel for this day's work, but so long as the blood of my brother cries to me from the ground, and my people are required to make bricks without straw, my sword shall never be sheathed in this fight."—Wilson Times.

In addition to the above we have an indistinct recollection of Gen. Carr attending a banquet given by the Bankers' Association at one of their conventions several years ago, perhaps in Atlanta, and there, under the glamour of that grand assemblage of wealth and magnificence, in the soft light of the twinkling chandeliers, when the most fervent love for the obscure and humble might in this presence have been at least concealed, if not for the time abandoned, there and then, where nothing but gold standard speeches were made or heard. General Julian S. Carr, on being called on for a speech rose and made a speech for BRYAN and FREE SILVER. While a banker and at a bankers' banquet, he plead the cause of the laborer and humble poor, advocating those principles which he believed to be for the good of our common country, though temporarily against his own financial advancement. Again, in the language of the Southerner, "let's be fair in this matter."

HON. FRANCIS D. WINSTON, president of the State Association of Democratic Clubs, urges the formation of such clubs in every township in the State, with a view to polling the entire Democratic vote, which will insure a Democratic majority of 50,000 in November. Guilford should not be behind her sister counties, and ought to report eighteen such clubs before another week rolls by. They would be a power in the campaign.

STATE NEWS.

Charlotte has a Carr club with 400 members and a Simmons club with 175 members.

The State pension lists have been completed and now in the printer's hands. They show an increase of 225 pensioners over last year.

Rev. John C. Kilgo, of Trinity College, and Jos. G. Brown, of Raleigh, are appointed delegates to the Methodist Episcopal ecumenical conference at London next year.

Francis D. Winston, State organizer of Democratic clubs, makes the assertion that not over 85,000 negroes will vote in the national election; that one-third, at least, will not vote at all.

The Populists of the Seventh North Carolina district at Salisbury Friday nominated ex-Congressman A. C. Shuford for Congress and endorsed Barker and Donnelly for president and vice president.

Rev. T. Page Ricard, one of the oldest members of the North Carolina Conference, M. E. Church, South, died Saturday morning at the home of his brother-in-law, Professor W. J. Ramsey, of Durham.

The Christian churches in Virginia and North Carolina mean to raise $20,000 as a twentieth century fund, to be devoted to the liquidation of the debts and otherwise aiding Elon College, N. C., which is controlled by that denomination.

I. M. Meekins, the so-called Republican Congressional nominee in the First District, swears he will not relinquish the nomination, but will stay in the field. The Republican "machine" says it will pull him down. There is trouble ahead for somebody.

His Indiscretion.

In one of Chauncey Depew's stories he tells of meeting a man as funny as himself.

"One day," said Mr. Depew, "I met a man who had been wounded in the face. He was a Union man, and I asked him in which battle he had been injured."

"In the last battle of Bull Run, sir," he replied.

"But how could you get hit in the face at Bull Run?" I asked.

"Well, sir," said the man, half apologetically, "after I had run a mile or two I got careless and looked back."—Youth's Companion.

The municipal council of New York passed a resolution last week providing for the removal of the Dewey arch.

SOUTHERN AMENDMENTS.

Some One Asks Mr. Bryan a Question as to the North Carolina Law. It Was Just the Chance the Speaker Wanted.

ANDERSON, ILL., Oct. 5.—While Mr. Bryan was speaking at Marion, some one in the audience asked in regard to the North Carolina law. Mr. Bryan said:

"My friend, I am glad you asked me that question. I am going to assume that the Republican who asked the question is an honest man. I am going to ask him about the constitution of the Republican State of Oregon. I will read a provision of that constitution. It says:

"Section 35. No free negro or mulatto not residing in this State at the time of the adoption of this constitution shall come, reside or be within this State, hold any real estate or make any contract or maintain any such therein, and the legislative assembly shall provide by penal laws for the removal by public officers of all such negroes and mulattoes and for the effectual exclusion from the State and for the punishment of persons who shall bring them into the State or employ or harbor them."

"That amendment was adopted before the civil war, it makes it unlawful for a free negro to go into the State and it authorizes the officers to put him out. But you say it is old. Let me remind you that last June an effort was made to repeal that portion of the constitution and the effort to repeal was defeated, although the State went 10,000 Republican. But my friend may not have time to go to Oregon. If not, I want to tell him to go to the city of Washington. That is nearer. Go to Washington and find out what provision the Republican administration has made for the voters of Porto Rico.

"Why don't you correct that? But if you have not the time to go to Washington, let me remind you that your administration has made the Sulu treaty and the Sulu treaty provides that our flag shall float over the Sultan's palace and that we shall pay the Sultan so much to keep it floating there. That flag floats over Sulu slaves and the treaty recognizes slavery as an existing institution and instead of providing that the slaves shall be free, the Sulu treaty provides, in article 10, that he shall have the right to purchase his freedom whenever he can make enough working for nothing a day to buy himself at the market price. There was never a more shameful piece of hypocrisy than is that under which the Republicans hide when they talk about Southern amendments. It was a Republican Congress that took the right to vote away from those in the District of Columbia, and for thirty years the negro has been electing Republican Presidents and getting janitorships in return, and you never hear a modern Republican say anything for him except during a campaign when his vote is needed."

High Point Gets Water Works.

HIGH POINT, Oct. 9.—The water-works question was voted on and carried here to-day almost unanimously. There was concerted action for the first time since the legislature granted the privilege of voting on the proposition. Before noon enough votes were cast to carry it, and at the closing of the polls the vote stood 612 for and 21 against. It calls for fifty thousand dollars in bonds to run for thirty years at the rate of five per cent. per annum. There is great rejoicing among citizens, a band is dispensing thrilling music, fire-works are booming and bonfires are burning. Speaking is in progress, congratulating the town. The improvement will be the means of bringing large manufacturing enterprises here, which heretofore held off on account of no system of water-works.

The Boers now occupy Wepener, as well as Rouxville and Ficksburg, in Orange River colony and the British are attempting to surround them.

TRIAL POSTPONED UNTIL THE APRIL TERM.

Judge Boyd Grants Continuance to Registrars—Cloud of Negroes Present to Give Evidence.

The trial of the Winston registration cases has been postponed until Monday of the second week of the next term of Federal court here, which will be in April, 1901.

The Burke county registration cases are set for trial in the Federal court next week at Statesville.

Readers of the News and Observer will remember that on the 5th of last July two Democratic registrars at Winston were arrested for refusing to register negroes about whose legal qualification as voters they had doubts. For this they were arrested, taken before a United States commissioner and bound over to the Federal court.

These men were J. T. Thompson and Hunter L. Wall. When their cases were called in the Federal court here this afternoon at 3 o'clock, a perfect cloud of negroes appeared against them. Altogether there were in the courtroom not less than 10 negroes who were summoned here to give evidence against these men. But on the other side of the courtroom, and in marked contrast, there sat some 50 white men from Winston, many of them among the best citizens of Forsyth county.

On both sides there was an able array of counsel. District Attorney Holton was assisted in the prosecution by Judges John Gray Bynum and W. P. Bynum, Jr. For the defense there was Clement Manly, Cyrus B. Watson, R. B. Glenn and E. B. Jones, of Winston, and Col. T. M. Argo and Col. John W. Hinds, of Raleigh. State Chairman Simmons and County Chairman Jover were also present. Holton had called his host of negro witnesses, and every one of them had responded "Here." Mr. Watson arose, and said the defendants were not ready for trial, but he added: "Mr. Wall is in the city, but he is in bed sick. He left home this morning against the advice of the physicians. Since his arrival here he has had a physician attending him, and I now have his certificate saying that Mr. Wall is too sick to leave his bed or attend to any business whatsoever."

"As to Thompson, it has been impossible for him to get ready for trial, though he has diligently given to do so. His preparations were made on the basis of the warrant sworn out before the commissioner, but in the bill of indictment presented to this court a number of new counts have been added. There are 24 counts in the bill and of this number not less than 15 are new."

"In addition to this there are new important witnesses that we are unable to have subpoenaed, and without we cannot get along with the case at all, are sick in bed."

"Your Honor will therefore see that it is impossible for us to try these cases at this time with any safety to the defendants."

Judge Boyd asked the prosecution if it was true, as stated that the bill of indictment contained a number of new counts. Mr. Holton replied that it was.

Judge Boyd: "Is it your purpose to try these defendants upon the new counts not named in the original warrant?"

Holton: "It is, sir."

Judge Boyd: "In that case the defendant should have ample time to prepare his defense. This he has not had. I don't know any reason in the criminal proceedings of North Carolina in which a man has been forced to try his case during the term at which the charge was preferred. This is an important case, both to the defendant and to the public, and it is entitled to every right and indulgence. This, however, is only a matter of time, and I shall hold that he is entitled to a continuance. The defendant had a right to expect that the charges preferred against him in the original warrant would be the charges in which he was to be tried; if other charges are preferred he is entitled to a reasonable time in which to prepare his defense."

Counsel for the prosecution contended that the only change made in the original warrant when drawing the indictment was that some of the old names of negroes not allowed to register were left off, and new ones were added, and preparation for defense on one of these counts was preparation on all of them.

"That," interrupted Mr. Manly, "is evidence in each individual case is different, and that evidence is what we have been unable to prepare."

To this Judge Boyd added: "While it is true that the charge in each case is similar, still each case constitutes a separate and distinct indictment."

The court then asked counsel for the defendant, Thompson, to draw up an affidavit stating the grounds on which the continuance was asked. This affidavit set forth that the defendants could not safely come to a trial at this time for the following reasons:

1. That of the twenty-four names in the bill of indictment, only nine appear in the original warrant.

2. That though affiant has been duly diligent he has been unable to properly prepare his defense.

3. That important witnesses are sick, and that by these he proposes to prove that he registered all persons who showed that they were entitled to register.

On this affidavit a continuance was granted in the Thompson case, and on the certificate of Dr. Michael, a continuance of the Wall case was granted. The bond in both cases was fixed at two thousand dollars, the amount originally required by the commissioner, and the trial of the cases was set for Monday of the second week of the April term of Federal court here.

Great interest has been manifested here in the case, and when it was called today the court room was filled with people.

The grand jury that found indictment against these registrars is composed of twelve Republicans and nine Democrats. After hearing the evidence this jury found "not a true bill." As soon as the Attorney heard of this he went before them, summoned more witnesses and cross examined them himself, and this accounts for the large number of new names that appear in the bill. If reports that have come directly from the grand jury room be true, it was only after the strongest sort of pressure had been brought to bear by the District Attorney that he secured a true bill.—Greensboro Special to Raleigh News and Observer, 9th.

A Hot Thing in Trusts.

Representatives of some 400 stove-making concerns scattered throughout the country are to meet at the Auditorium, Chicago, on October 16 to take definite action on the formation of the National Stove Manufacturing Company, which will be capitalized at about $60,000,000, in addition to a possible large issue of bonds.

The promoters of the vast enterprise have already taken out a charter under the laws of the state of Delaware and something like 200 of the stove manufacturing companies have optioned their properties and business. John W. Baker, the corporation attorney and financier of Philadelphia, is at the head of the enterprise.

Directors of the Pittsburgh Stove and Range Company, one of the largest in the country, have authorized the delivery of an option on their extensive properties.

The Censor Still at Work.

Evidently the censor didn't leave the Philippines with Gen. Otis, as the fitness of things demanded. He is still in the old business of suppressing facts. The tidings concerning the recent battle on the Marinduque coast, resulting as reported in the deaths of Captain Shields, of the Twenty-ninth Infantry, with other officers and men, as well as the capture of not a few of our soldiers by an overwhelming force of Aguinaldo Talalogs, have been given out very reluctantly, grudgingly, as if the Americans at home had no claim to know the facts and all the facts in the case.—Boston Globe.

Tragedy Near Kernersville.

WINSTON, Oct. 8.—Fink West was shot and fatally injured last night by Joseph Flynn at the latter's home, four miles this side of Kernersville. West was drinking. An old army musket was used by Flynn, who aimed at West's breast, but the former's wife pulled the barrel down just as the gun was fired, and the greater part of the load struck West in the legs. He was carried to the home of his brother. Flynn left home and has thus far escaped arrest.

Mr. Stevenson Laid Up With a Severe Cold.

European Masons Oppose War.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—M. Jean de Bloch, the Russian banker, who wrote a book showing the horrors of war, is quoted as saying that 800 Masonic lodges of Europe have decided to oppose war. Twenty-six nations, he says, have joined the movement to settle international disputes by arbitration.

Correspondence from Hongkong states that the conditions in the Philippines are worse from an American point of view than they were a year and a half ago.

THREE MILLS ARE IDLE AT HAW RIVER.

All the Others in Alamance County at Work—The Cause of the Strike.

There are only the three mills in Haw River whose operatives are on a strike. Work is going on in the other mills in the county as usual. The mill men say that they are thoroughly in earnest as to their circular, they will run with non-union men or not at all.

The hands have been given till the 15th to leave the union. It is not known whether any other mills will close. A shut down would be very serious to the mill operatives and to all branches of business here, as cotton milling is the life of our county.

The only mills that have not given union men notice are the mill at Swepsonville and the one at Big Falls.

The trouble arose in Haw River, where the employees demanded the discharge of the superintendent of one of the mills. This the owner refused to do. The union men there ordered a strike, and all the mills in Haw River shut down. The mill owners all over the county met here yesterday and agreed upon the notice published in yesterday's News and Observer. The substance of the notice is that the mill owners of Alamance will employ nothing but non-union labor, and gives notice to union men to leave the union or get out of their employment. This decision was adopted by every mill in the county, with one or two exceptions.

It is generally understood that the mill owners are not at all anxious for the mills to run, and the union men say that they are fully prepared to stand a long strike. Both sides seem to be determined and the strongest will win.

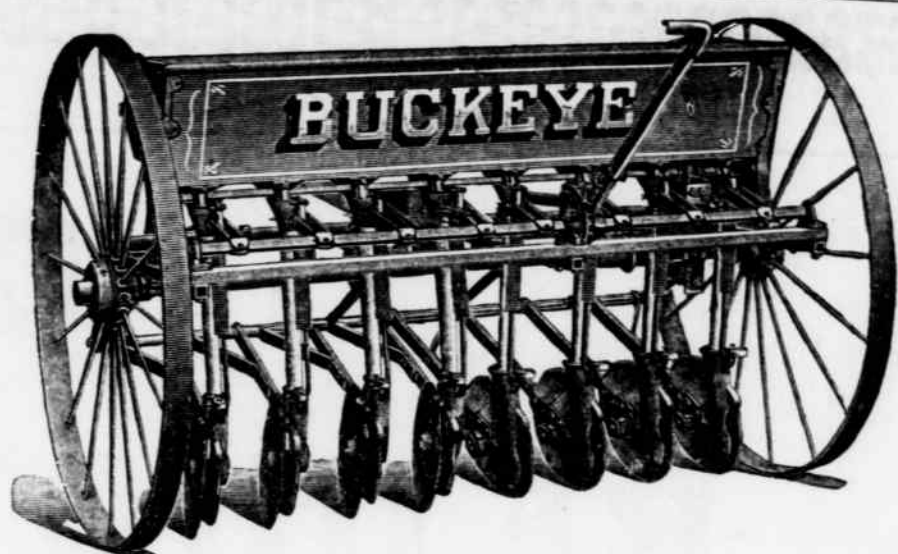

One of the officers and principal owners of the Thos. M. Holt Manufacturing Company, at Haw River, said today:

"The trouble originated in this way. One of the weavers was neglecting her looms—had left the weave room and gone into the spinning room—and on the overseer having charge of the weave room, asking her why she was not attending to her duties, she said that she had gone into the spinning room to get some fillings for her looms. He investigated the matter and found that the box at her looms had plenty of filling in it and that she needed none. On his telling her this, she said she 'would go when she pleased and where she pleased,' to which he replied that if that was her position he would have no further need of her services. She then left and another weaver was put in her place. So soon as the weaver thus substituted began to run these looms, several other weavers gathered around her and told her she could not do so. She became frightened and told the overseer that she was afraid to run the looms, but that if she could go out and see a man (supposed to be the head man of the labor union), she would let him know whether she would be permitted to run the looms or not. He refused to agree to this and the whole matter was reported to the owners of the mill at the office.

"The owners of the mill sustained the overseer in the position he had taken. Request was then made that a conference be had between the owners and a committee of the Labor Union. Believing that to yield to such demands on the part of the Labor Union would be to give up entire control of the management of the mill on the part of the owners, that the overseer had properly discharged the weaver, and hearing that a demand would be made for the discharge of the overseer, the owners refused to meet the committee. Another meeting of the Labor Union was held and on last Tuesday morning, when the mill was opened and ready for work, a large portion—all but about 75 of the hands struck. All the mills here were then closed down, the owners realizing that it would be impossible to operate them on the terms demanded, that the strike was inaugurated contrary and even in violation of the constitution and rules of the Labor Union itself, that to yield to such demands meant an abandonment of all control of the mills here by the owners and could only result in harm to all concerned—owners and everybody connected with the mills."—Special to News and Observer, 5th.

Appeal From Order of Sale of Blackwell Factory.

RALEIGH, Oct. 5.—Judge Simon-ton recently decided that Blackwell's Durham tobacco factory must be sold November 4th for not less than $4,000,000. Today Wm. A. Guthrie, of Durham, appealed from that decision. Judge Simon-ton grants the appeal. The sale will therefore not be made November 4th.

..IF..

A little word of only two letters, but a "mighty" big one when it relates to Drills. IF all other Drills happen to be "built that way." When you part with your cash for a Drill you want the BEST as a matter of course, and that's what you get IF you buy the Buckeye. We claim for it: The Lightest Draft. The Strongest Construction. The Simplest to Operate. The Least Machinery. The Best Wheat, Oats and Peas Force Feed. The only Fertilizer Feeder which will not choke or gum, and which will never rust or corrode. Here is what some of our best farmers think of this Drill:

Would Pay $10 More for the Glass Fertilizer Feeder.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to certify that I bought a Buckeye Disc Drill last fall from the Wakefield Hardware Co., and in the outset will say that I cannot say too much for it if I were to try. I have sown wheat, oats and fertilizer in all quantities and under all conditions, and will unhesitatingly say that there is no other drill in the country that will do all my sowing by itself, and there is no need of any one following the drill—would not give any man his board to follow it. It does its own work. It is the lightest draft drill I ever saw and is the easiest managed. I would readily pay $10 more for the Glass Disc Fertilizer Feeder on the Buckeye than on any other kind of feeder I ever saw on any other make. Will say to any one wanting the best drill made, buy the Buckeye.

Yours truly, S. H. COLETRANE.

We can save you money on a Drill this fall and only ask the opportunity to prove it. It will be to your advantage IF you will call on us before buying a Drill for this season. Ask us for a catalogue. Yours for $1.00 wheat.

The Plano Lever Binder demonstrated in the field the past harvest the merits I claimed for it and strengthened my chances for increased sales next year. So did the PENNSYLVANIA LOW DOWN Grain Drill last year show its merits in the accuracy of distribution of grain and guano, its lightness of draft and its freedom from troublesome breakages, and this year's business will have been just such an increase in sales as I expect next year's on PLANO Binders to be. My friends will be glad to know my PENNSYLVANIA LOW DOWN Drill trade is good, and that my sales already are 50 per cent. above those of 1899 and the season is not over yet. "Merit will tell," and the fact that men like Emsley W. Stratford last year traded his — drill and this year Walter J. Benbow, Thos. A. Hill and Wm. R. Friar have also traded me theirs of the same make (which I sold them—the last named only year before last) and each took a PENNSYLVANIA LOW DOWN, is an evidence strong and irresistible that the PENNSYLVANIA LOW DOWN has the MERIT I claim for it. These men are substantial, practical and successful farmers and buy none but the best implements. Have Disc and Hoe and both are guaranteed.

SAD ENDING OF BOYS' FUN.

A Companion Burned to Death at Stake in Play.

Trenton, October 6.—Eddie McBride, eleven years of age, was burned to death at the stake at the hands of his playmates.

After school he played with several companions, dressed as Indians. Their part of the game was to let him escape from the other lads, who impersonated the savages of the tribe guarding the prisoner. A big, open lot was the scene of the fun, which proved a sad tragedy.

The youngsters got ropes, bound him and started from the mock Indian village. They caught and flung him to the ground. He was then tied to a stake and the pile of sticks that had been placed about it were lighted. The flames gained too much headway. They tried to put it out and poured what they supposed to be water on McBride, but what proved to be gasoline. The flames sprang higher with a roar. The boys became scared and ran away. Passersby heard his yells and cut the boy loose, but he was half roasted and unconscious. He died before he reached the hospital.

Rees-Jones.

This is clipped from the Indianapolis Daily Journal of October 4th:

"A quiet home wedding occurred yesterday afternoon, at 5 o'clock when Mrs. Caroline L. Rees and Rev. James Read Jones, of Guilford College, N. C., were married at 1218 North Alabama street. The regular Quaker ceremony was used and Rev. Anna Mills pronounced them man and wife. Only the immediate relatives were present, including Miss Ruby Rees, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Wilson, of Kansas City; Miss Nellie Jones, of Guilford College, N. C.; Mr. Joseph Shipp and the Misses Shipp, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Kiefe, Mrs. Mary Shipp and the Misses Shipp, Mr. Samuel Shipp, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Jones and Miss Alma Jones. Mrs. Rees wore her traveling gown. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left at 6.45 on a trip before going to their future home at Guilford College."

Work of a Tornado.

Bitwalk, Minn., Oct. 8.—The tornado which raged in this vicinity last evening cut a pathway of a hundred and fifty feet in width through the northwestern corner of the town. Buildings were completely wrecked. Shaft houses for three miles in the path of the storm were reduced to kindling wood. The property loss is estimated at seventy-five thousand to a hundred thousand dollars. The known fatalities are nine. A score or more were injured.

F. M. Simmons the Man!

Editor PATRIOT:

I will give you in a brief way my sentiments and I believe the sentiment of this precinct for the next United States Senator.

When we had a great work to do, and we wanted a great man to do it, the Democratic party chose F. M. Simmons as its State's chairman and leader.

He shouldered the heavy burden in the midst of the dark days of Republicanism and fusionism and negro rule, and lead the Democratic party to victory. We feel that it would be an injustice to him and the party not to confer upon him the honor of being the next Senator.

We feel that there is no man better qualified than he, by character and ability to speak for and defend the people of North Carolina in the Senate.

We have nothing against the other candidates, for we are all Democrats, but we do feel that Mr. F. M. Simmons is the man for the place.

Yours very sincerely,
C. A. WHITWORTH.
Monroe Township, Oct. 9, 1900.

Warm-Hearted and True.

In speaking of the death of Mr. W. C. Dodson, of this city, the Fayetteville Observer of Thursday says:

"The deceased leaves a young widow, who was the lovely Miss Eva Allen, of this city, and a little boy, Will C. Dodson. Since his early youth Mr. Dodson has been a railroad conductor, first with the C. F. & Y. V. railroad and, at the sale of the latter, with the Southern. He was noted for his strict integrity, had the highest sense of honor, and to those who knew him intimately was a true, warm-hearted friend. There are many people in Fayetteville who will miss this sterling young man whose presence here was always most welcome. Peace to his ashes."

Will Renew Hostilities.

Washington, October 8.—There is a rumor that Ying Ni, who was captured when Prince Tuan was degraded, has been reappointed to a high office, and it is said the Chinese government has issued secret orders throughout the provinces that preparations will be made to renew hostilities on the foreigners.

To Assassinate the Shah.

Constantinople, Oct. 8.—The Turkish police have discovered a plot existed among the Persian sect here, known as the Babists, to kill the Shah of Persia while visiting the Sultan. Thirty of the sect were arrested. One of the number was to assassinate the late Shah.

Flipped Flavors.

In the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' big menagerie, hippodrome and circus aggregation, which is to exhibit at Greensboro on Saturday, October 13, all the elements contribute their rarest living wonders to instruct and entertain. Uniquely conspicuous among these will be found Captain Woodward's only school of performing sea lions and seals, a whole family of gigantic and daring amphibious artists, whose rare intelligence has been developed to a most unique, surprising and ludicrous degree, when the grotesquely unyielding character of their bodies is considered, and tails and stumpy flippers have to be depended on in the place of arms and legs. To take these creatures from their native element and make of them soldiers, musicians, soloists, mimics and clowns, superior in many respects to any quadrupels and funnier than all of them put together, was an undertaking requiring positive genius, and unlimited patience and kindness on the part of their trainer.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6, 1900.

There is little doubt that Mr. Bryan's visit to New York city next week from now will be an event for the Republicans, and will show them to what an extent their circumstances have changed.

When Mr. Bryan made his speech in that city four years ago, he was little or no enthusiast for him and the Republicans.

He was carrying out a very severe scheme to disconcert him. He was to speak, the cohorts were to leave, and continued to leave, and the hall was half full.

Of course this was terrible. Mr. Bryan was to be escorted to the hall by a procession of 10,000 men, and the personal direction of the police boss who went to the hall to avoid meeting.

Democratic clubs will be sent from all the towns and cities within three hours' ride by rail from New York; one hundred and thirty-four bands have been engaged to furnish music, and according to the stories told at the Democratic headquarters, contracts have been entered into for $15,000 worth of fireworks and searchlights will be set at intervals along Fourth and Fifth Avenue so that the night will be turned into day.

Years ago, Mr. Bryan yielded to the advice of his committee, and told him that he must be very quiet in his expressions on the question and subjects relating to labor and capital, and requested him to prepare his speech and submit the manuscript for their revision before they would allow him to speak. No one even dreams of such a thing this year. No Bryan is the man that he was in 1896; he is the same political docile and policy; he will admit his opinions have not changed a single subject, but his conviction upon all of the issues are as firm and vigorous as they were. Therefore, the reasons for the striking contrast must be sought among the people of New England than in the man.

His extraordinary candor, one of the big trusts of the country has recently given an official endorsement and proof of the fact that it, like its congeners, is the offspring of the tariff and depends upon its mother for continued life. The fact that this testimony was involuntary makes it all the more convincing. It has long been known that hundreds of articles produced in this country under tariff protection are regularly shipped abroad and sold there for less prices than are demanded at home.

For years the Republicans have been doing the baby act and complaining bitterly because they have the 120 electoral votes of the Solid South to overcome in every election. So bitterly have they complained of this that they have succeeded in persuading a good part of the country that there is really some injustice involved in this fact that the South is solid. But they say nothing about the Solid North, which consists of 124 electoral votes, drawn from the states of Pennsylvania, Idaho, Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan and all the New England states except Connecticut. With the exception of five votes that got away in Michigan in 1884, not one of these states has ever cast a single electoral vote for a Democratic candidate for the presidency in the last forty years. In fact, there have been many more breaks in the Solid South than in the Solid North. Hayes was declared elected by the votes of Southern states in 1876, and McKinley carried four Southern states in 1896. Grant received the electoral votes of Southern states on both occasions when he was elected. But not one of the electoral votes of the Solid North (except Michigan, as above noted) has been cast for other than a Republican candidate since and including 1860.

The Republican National Committee is bringing pressure to bear on the postmasters to force them to violate the law and do campaign work for the G. O. P., and the post-office officers are backing them up. For instance, John Emanuel, postmaster at Pleasant Valley, Nebraska, has received a letter from the Republican National Committee directing him to secure ten members for the American Farmers' League of Commerce and Industries. Accompanying the letter, which was signed by Henry C. Payne, vice chairman of the executive committee, was a circular from the league announcing its desire to secure to names of 500,000 American farmers to whom campaign literature could be sent. "It is a serious personal responsibility to neglect," the circular continued, "for maybe this movement now well planned will elect William McKinley. You cannot afford to make any excuse paramount for not acting, as the president, vice president and national committee urge it without reservation, and ask you to do your full duty and say it is your individual duty to aid this movement." A third inclosure was a letter from Charles Hedges, assistant superintendent of the free delivery system, who, says: "I cannot but regard such participation on the part of postmasters, as well as other citizens, as non-partisan in a large degree, for, where the principles of one's party so freely nourish the prosperity of one's country, I confess to a certain blindness—patriotic or otherwise—to party lines."

Hawaiian Politics.

HONOLULU, Sept. 26.—Via Victoria, Oct. 4.—Republicans and Democrats each held their convention on the 24th. Each party named a native Hawaiian for the delegate to Washington. The Independents are sure to put up Robert W. Wilcox. The Republican nominee is the Hon. Samuel Parker, chairman of the Hawaiian delegation to the National Republican convention at Philadelphia. The Democrats have put up Prince Kawanakoa.

Both Parker and the Prince are widely known and very popular natives, and with Wilcox in the field, the campaign promises to be an interesting one.

Condition of the National Banks in North Carolina.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The abstract of the condition of the national banks in North Carolina on the date of the last call, September 5, was completed to-day at the Treasury Department. It shows that the banks are in an excellent condition, the average reserve held being 21.37 per cent. Loans and discounts amounted to $9,273,336; lawful money reserve to $802,292; surplus fund and undivided profits $1,434,215, and individual deposits to $7,477,057.

The government has set aside altogether 38 forest reserves, comprising 46,772,129 acres.

THE WEEK ABROAD.

Salisbury Winning in British Election—Chinese Proposals.

The Parliamentary elections in the United Kingdom so far favor the Salisbury Ministry. Its present huge majority has promise of an increase in the fact that the Conservative vote in many constituencies is much larger than in 1895, and the Conservatives capture more seats than do their opponents. At midnight of Thursday, for example, the Ministry had 280 supporters elected, as against 117 of the opposition, and the Conservatives had gained 21 seats, against 14 gained by the opposition. The workingman vote is given again, as in 1895, to the Tory party, the winning cry now being, "Let us prevent the disintegration of the Empire," as in 1895 it was, "Let us prevent the disintegration of the United Kingdom." Evidently British voters indorse the war in South Africa, applaud Mr. Chamberlain's course and favor the annexation of the Boer republics. At the same time they declare for a reorganization of the army, with an incidental increase of its size. With the assurance of support Lord Salisbury may be expected to take a step forward on China, where he has recently been making time.

CHINA'S APOLOGY.

Germany's modification of her first proposals enables the powers to get closer together in dealing with the Chinese Government. Agreement is probable, with the result that negotiations may soon be begun. The Chinese Government has apologized to the powers for its recent unfriendly acts and offers them certain fanciful satisfactions. Oblations at the graves of the German Minister and the Japanese secretary, for example, are proposed and a temple is to be erected in honor of the German. At the same time the high officials, including Prince Tuan, who are responsible for the recent murders and assault on the legations at Peking, have been dismissed from their offices and deprived of their salaries, yellow vests, etc. But it is not stated that their heads have been removed—a punishment better proportioned to their crimes than removal from offices to which they may next month be restored.

THE REAL THING.

Germany's new proposal contemplates more substantial penalties. Assuming that the Chinese Government has punished certain persons, Germany proposes that the powers shall get the opinions of their Ambassadors as to whether the list of guilty persons reported punished includes all the chief offenders, whether the punishments are adequate, and what steps the powers should take to get assurance that penalties imposed are really enforced. Something practical is wanted. The real culprits must be reached and good evidence of the fact must be produced. The French Government holds that negotiations may go on while all this is being done. The United States, England and probably other powers accept Germany's plan, and it is thought to be likely to be adopted. The accepted idea is that it is enough if the guilty are really punished. As, however, Prince Tuan controls the Chinese Government, it is unlikely that he will order himself to be really punished, so that war as a means of getting real results seems to be inevitable. Meanwhile the difficulty of reaching Prince Tuan and the Dowager is being enhanced for General Waldersee by the retirement of the Chinese Court to a town some 600 miles in the interior.

MOVEMENTS.

The Russians and Americans are withdrawing troops from Peking. The English are said to be about to withdraw troops also. Each power will leave at Peking one or two thousand men to guard its interests, except Germany, which power will, it is said, winter 8,000 men at Peking. More English troops are arriving at Taku from India, and Shanhaiqwan has just been taken by British warships. There are many British troops held in reserve at Shanghai, Hongkong and Wei-Hai-Wei, so that a large British force will be in reach. The jealousy in respect to the British railway from Tientsin to Peking, seized by Russia, continues. It is said that Russia purposely keeps it unprepared and that Germany will now take it over and repair it, with a view to its use in supplying troops at Peking. The English seem to be occupying certain points of the road here and there, so that Russia's tenure is unsatisfactory to that power. In Manchuria Russia has taken Kirin and is occupying all interior points. She is now virtually in possession of a vast populous and valuable area. A Russian general and admiral have had Li Hung Chang in town and are supposed to have "squared" that voracious and acquisitive Celestial. Li is now going to Peking to negotiate.

THE WAR.

In South Africa the war has resolved itself into guerrilla attacks on one side and repressive measures on the other. A British force of 60 men, with a convoy of wagons, is supposed to have been captured near Vryheid, in Eastern Transvaal, and frequent small fights are reported at widely separated points. Commandant Dirkse's surrender is balanced by the Boer reoccupation of Wepener. Trains are derailed from time to time, with some loss of life. A small Boer force encamped between Pretoria and Johannesburg was recently scattered and some prisoners were made by the British. Little bands of from 5 to 500 patriots keep up the fight in the face of increasing difficulties. Lord Roberts, considering the war over, has appointed General Maxwell, of Soudan fame, Governor of the "Vaal River Colony" and has issued proclamations of a deterrent character. Burgers who surrender will not be deported to St. Helena, but if they do not surrender their property in live stock and supplies will be confiscated. The houses of shippers will be burned and their property confiscated. Widows, lone women and men who keep their payrole will be protected and will be paid for supplies taken. Not till the leaders submit and all cannon are surrendered will prisoners be allowed to return home. Large quantities of cattle, sheep, horses, wagons, ammunition, etc., are reported captured in districts which surrendered and then again took up arms. Civilians are being allowed to return to Johannesburg and Mafeking. The appointment of General Roberts to be Commander-in-Chief of the whole British Army points to his control of the coming army reorganization.

OUR EMPIRE.

In the Philippines Captain Shields and 51 men were killed or captured recently at Marinduque, south of Luzon, most of the men being Southerners. The Filipinos keep up their government and show much ingenuity in adapting means to ends. Fighting continues, with heavy losses on both sides. General MacArthur sends almost daily long lists of soldiers killed, wounded or victims of tropical diseases.

COLONIAL.

The new commonwealth of Australia is to have Melbourne, temporarily, at least, for its capital. In Ashanti there is renewed fighting at Abu Asu, the natives making determined resistance. Little by little, however, the country is being overrun, and the golden stool—the palladium of Ashanti Empire—may yet be captured. Newfoundland is to have a general election November 8, the issue being supplied by popular discontent with the contract by which the island's assets were sold to Mr. Reid.

BOERS NOT BEATEN.

Lord Roberts Reports There Are Daily Skirmishes.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Lord Roberts cables as follows to the War office from Pretoria:

"Hart returned to Krugersdorp October 1. He has been 33 days from his base, marched 310 miles, was in contact with the enemy 29 days, killed an unknown number and captured 96. The British loss was 3 killed, 3 prisoners and 24 wounded. Hart brought back 2,720 head of cattle and 3,281 sheep.

"Buller has returned to Lydenburg from Spitzkop with 1,000 sheep.

"There are skirmishes with the Boers daily, but they are small affairs.

"The Dublin Fusiliers made a night assault with the bayonet on a Boer laager between Pretoria and Johannesburg and captured nine men, mostly important Boers who have troubled the district.

"A party of Boers has penetrated the southern part of the Orange River Colony, entering De Wetsdorp and Wepener. Detachments are after them."

The preceding dispatch throws important light on the South African situation, the war having been declared "ended" by the British a week ago. It is evident from Lord Roberts' statement that the war is not ended.

The attack of the Dublin Fusiliers shows that the Boers were maintaining a fortified position between Pretoria and Johannesburg, right in the center of the district where the British power was supposed to be strongest.

By entering the southern part of the Orange country the Boers seriously threatened Lord Roberts' main line of communications. De Wetsdorp and Wepener are important towns, which were the scenes of hard fights earlier in the war.

WANT THE TROOPS TO STAY.

The Americans at Tien Tsin Protest Against Withdrawal.

TIENTSIN, Oct. 3, via Shanghai, Oct. 4.—American commercial interests in North China exceed those of all other nations. Merchants are protesting against the withdrawal of troops.

The Russians refuse to continue the reconstruction of the Peking railway, because the Germans, British and Japanese occupy an intermediate station.

TIENTSIN, Oct. 3, via Shanghai, Oct. 4.—At a meeting of American citizens at Tien Tsin the following resolution was adopted:

"We, the citizens of the United States, deplore the contemplated withdrawal of a large part of the United States troops in North China. We feel that the work of the allied armies is far from accomplished and that the refusal of the American government to take part in it, is sure to be regarded by the allies as an unworthy act and by the Chinese as a sign of indifference.

"We urge our government to carry to an end the work it has so honorably and efficiently begun and to maintain a sufficient force here to secure the protection of American mercantile and missionary interests until a settlement of the present trouble is accomplished."

The Russian and Belgian ministers arrived here today. The German minister remains here.

The public telegraph between Peking and Taku has been completed.

British official reports announce that Shan-Hai-Kwan surrendered to a British warship September 29. Three British regiments will leave here to garrison Shan-Hai-Kwan and Chung-Tsien-So-Tcheng and to take possession of the railroad.

Mr. Pratt, of Washington.

Senator Hanna was in this private office at National Headquarters at 7 o'clock last night, when a wild whoop came up the elevator shaft. A moment later a well dressed man, followed by a colored boy, carrying his valise, entered the committee rooms.

"Hooray for McKinley! I'm Pratt, of Washington. Tell Hanna I'm here—Pratt of Washington!" he yelled to an attendant. Then he sank into a chair and closed his eyes.

"Whoop!" he shouted a moment later. "Rah for McKinley! Did you tell Hanna I'm here—Pratt—Washington?"

Before he could be answered he sank into a doze. Awakening in another minute with a "whoop," he blinked and braced himself against his chair.

"Rah McKinley! Tell Hanna, I shay. Go'n tell Hanna. Gotter see 'um. Pratt, Wash. Hi there! Gimme a cigar."

Mr. Hanna was about to leave the building, but delayed his departure until Mr. Pratt, of Washington, had been carefully but firmly conducted to the street.—New York World.

COMRADES:—On the 12th day of April, 1865, at Appomattox, I was ordered to call the last roll for the purpose of stacking our guns. There were one hundred and seventy-nine enlisted on our company roll, but only seven answered. It has been over thirty-five years ago. We will now call the roll of all companies. We want all to answer to their names, and their sons, not to stack our guns, but to march to the polls on the 6th day of November and vote for Private Julian S. Carr for United States Senator to succeed Senator Butler. We have been represented in the past by generals and colonels. Now let us send one of our boys behind the guns, one of the best men the Tar Heel state ever produced. Now, boys, let Mr. Simmons rest for a few years and let Carr's name pass along the line from Currituck to Cherokee, and I will assure you it will be the grandest day of our lives.

THE EMPIRE DRILL COMPANY

Have transferred their local agency at Greensboro to the Greensboro Storage & Transfer Co. Mr. N. A. Steadman has been employed to take charge of the local retail trade, and will be pleased to show his friends and customers as well as the many friends of the old reliable Empire Drill. They keep a stock of 6 Hoe, 8 Hoe, 6 Disc and 8 Disc Drills, and a large stock of Repairs, this being their general transfer point for North and South Carolina.

THE EMPIRE DRILL IS THE BEST

Because it is the Lightest Running, having a tapered axle like a wagon. The wheels "gather and tuck" and can never wear in and rub the box like Drills will when their wheels hang on straight and revolving axle. It is the only Drill in the world that will sow the same amount of wheat, oats per acre with the same gear in the same time and through the same run, i. e., making no change whatever to sow the same quantity of wheat or oats. Therefore it is the only Drill that can PROVE Force Feed. It handles peas just as well as oats and wheat. It is the strongest Disc Drill made and does better work on rough or uneven land than any other, the discs having rods long enough to allow the discs seven inches deep. It pays to have the best, even if it costs a little more. You would soon lose the difference by loss of time paying for repairs, and worst of all, having your grain and fertilizer handled badly.

Call on Mr. N. A. Steadman for prices and terms. These drills will be on exhibition at the Central Carolina Fair. Farmers are invited to make the Empire warehouse or fair booth their headquarters.

The several Sunday schools of Greene township met at Brick church last Saturday and held a successful meeting. In a few words it was as follows: After a scripture reading and prayer by Rev. H. M. Brown, a few appropriate words of welcome were spoken by Mr. John R. Hoffman. Then the topics of the day received profound attention. Rev. G. A. Stauffer took the floor first and spoke on the subject, "How to hold the young men in the Sunday school." Dr. Jacob C. Clapp, of Newton, followed, speaking along the same line and emphasizing some of the facts presented by the preceding speaker. In the afternoon Dr. W. T. Whitsett made a powerful address in behalf of the Sunday schools. Prof. C. C. Barnhardt spoke a few forceful words on Christian works. The meeting was indeed interesting and beneficial.

Robbed the Gray.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c., guaranteed at Holton's drug store.

Copyright, 1900, by the Pan-American Exposition Co.

So vast is the number of valuable and interesting objects for exhibition in the possession of the government that none but a building of great proportions could possibly contain them. Instead of one building, however, at the Pan-American Exposition, which is to be held in Buffalo from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901, the Federal group will consist of three massive structures connected by colonnades. The main building will be 130 feet wide and 600 feet long. The others will each be 150 feet square. The government work is under the direction of James Knox Taylor, supervising architect of the treasury department. The group will be treated architecturally in a modified Spanish renaissance, and the color scheme, in marked contrast to that used at Chicago, will be rich and brilliant.

Measurement of the Earth.

After nearly thirty years of constant effort and the expenditure of nearly half a million dollars, American scientists have succeeded in accurately measuring the earth. They have learned that its diameter through the equator is 7,926 miles; its height from pole to pole 7,899 miles. The earth, therefore, is flattened at the poles; and while this fact has long been asserted, the actual measurement has removed the question from the domain of doubt.

The marvelous accuracy with which the American geographers have measured the earth's surface is already a subject of commendation from British scientists, and deserves, indeed, the highest praise. The calculation required the longest straight line ever covered by measuring instruments. It followed the thirty-ninth parallel of latitude, commencing near Cape May lighthouse, on the southernmost tip of New Jersey, and extending entirely across the continent to Point Arena, near San Francisco. When the work was concluded, it was found that a tape stretched along this line would measure exactly 2,625.6 miles. With this line as a basis, it was easy to calculate, by means of longitudinal observations, the circumference of the earth.

The time has passed when such engineering feats as were involved in this measurement of the earth excite surprise. We take everything nowadays as a matter of course. The development of electricity, the invention of the telephone, the remarkable discoveries which are a part of our daily life have dulled the edge of our wonder, and each new marvel is accepted without question. If some one should tell us that communication had been established with Mars, that space and time had been annihilated, we would simply nod our heads and continue our dinners or the reading of our family newspapers. No one can stir our blood nowadays with strange stories. We are prepared even for the miraculous.

But, seriously, what is left to startle us? We anticipate traveling through the air; we discuss soberly riding on the rail at 200 miles an hour; we look upon a trip to Europe in two or three days as not a remote probability; we know that before long electricity will supersede steam. Mind is conquering matter on every hand, and yet there are two problems still unsolved. Life and death are still mysterious, inexplicable, baffling. When are we to solve them, if ever? Their secrets have eluded us for ages past, and the ages yet to come seem destined to hold them in unyielding embrace.

Entire, and as Advertised.

While some circus managers think it excusable and smart to try and fool all the people all the time, those of The Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Consolidation which appears here on Saturday, October 13th, do not deem it either honest or profitable to attempt deceiving anybody, at any time. Were it a physical possibility—which it is not, never was, and never will be—to divide their exhibition, they would never attempt it, because they aim to do just what they agree and advertise to do, by rich and poor, high and low, old and young, and everywhere, under all circumstances, to treat each and all generously, honestly and impartially.

A DEAD ROBBER.

How a Plucky Express Messenger Saved His Freight.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, October 4.—On the express car of the Kansas City Express, over the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs railroad the body of a dead train robber was brought to this city to-day and turned over to the police.

The robber had been riddled with bullets by Express Messenger Chas. Baxter, in charge of the car at a moment when the successful dynamiting of the car was almost accomplished.

The train was held up three miles from the city, as it ran under the covered bridge at Mosquito creek.

The robbers climbed on the tender and covered the engineer and fireman, and the forward end of the train was run half a mile ahead.

The express messenger refused to open his door; two charges of dynamite were placed at the door. The engineer was compelled by a revolver to touch off the first charge, which was unsuccessful. The fireman was compelled to fire the second charge. This blew the car door open. One robber climbed into the car, prepared to blow the safe open. Baxter concealed himself on the opposite side of the car in weeds, waiting an opportunity to shoot the robber, firing six shots, all taking effect, then springing out of concealment he attempted to shoot the other robber, but the latter escaped.

Wants No Alliance.

Mr. C. H. Mebane, state superintendent of public instruction, will today mail to the county superintendents of public instruction and other school officials a circular letter in which he strongly advises them to in no case make an arrangement by which the district public school shall be combined with a private school. He insists that each school district have its public schoolhouse separate and distinct from any private enterprise, and that there be no alliance whatever between public and private schools. It is learned that there are a number of districts in different parts of the state where movements of this kind are on foot.

—Raleigh Post, 27th.

The Man for the Crisis.

In reference to the charge that Mr. Bryan is an idealist the Boston Post says:

"Let us get back to our old ideals before the wreck is complete—the ideal of constitutional rights for all people under the Stars and Stripes; the ideal of freedom and self-government; the ideal of liberation, not subjugation; the ideal of a world of republics, not a trap for subject colonies. If Mr. Bryan is an idealist he is the man for the crisis."

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

A Word to Doctors

We have the highest regard for the medical profession. Our preparations are not sold for the purpose of antagonizing them, but rather as an aid. We lay it down as an established truth that internal remedies are positively injurious to expectant mothers. The distress and discomforts experienced during the months preceding childbirth can be alleviated only by external treatment—by applying a liniment that softens and relaxes the over-strained muscles. We make and sell such a liniment, combining the ingredients in a manner hitherto unknown, and call it

Mother's Friend

We know that in thousands of cases it has proved more than a blessing to expectant mothers. It overcomes morning sickness. It relieves the sense of tightness. Headaches cease, and danger from Swollen, Hard and Rising Breasts is avoided. Labor itself is shortened and shorn of most of the pain. We know that many doctors recommend it, and we know that multitudes of women go to the drug stores and buy it because they are sure their physicians have no objections. We ask a trial—just a fair test. There is no possible chance of injury being the result, because Mother's Friend is scientifically compounded. It is sold at $1 a bottle, and should be used during most of the period of gestation, although great relief is experienced if used only a short time before childbirth. Send for our illustrated book about Mother's Friend.

—Mr. A. B. Anderson, representing the Kugler syndicate of 5 and 10 cent stores, New York, was here last week and arranged for the opening of a store here, in the room soon to be vacated by J. M. Hendrix & Co. Mr. Fuller Reid, who recently returned from New York, will be the manager. Contracts were placed yesterday for handsome furnishings for the new store and it is Mr. Reid's purpose to open by the first of the month. The Kugler syndicate is the most extensive concern of its kind in the country, and already operates stores in several of the most progressive southern cities, having two in Richmond, one in Roanoke and one in Raleigh. Mr. Anderson left here expecting next to establish stores in Lynchburg, Durham and Charlotte.

DELEGATES INSTRUCTED.

WILL FIGHT FOR THE ABOLITION OF THE $2.50 BASIS.

The Operators Must Sign a Pledge to Retain the Ten Per Cent. Increase for at Least Twelve Months.

Wilkesbarre, Oct. 9.—The mine strikers announced to-day that their delegates at Friday's meeting were introduced by nearly all the unions to insist upon an agreement by the operators to keep the ten per cent. increase in force for a period to be determined by the convention, probably for one year.

New York, Oct. 9.—Pottsville: Returns received this morning from thirty-nine collieries in this district show that in the election of delegates to the convention that nearly all the delegates have been instructed to fight for the abolition of the two dollar and fifty cent basis. They will not vote to accept the ten per cent. increase unless the basis system, fixing wages, is ended. This may tie the convention unless the delegates vote to refer that matter back of the Reading Company to arbitrate with employees, as it has promised.

Scranton, Oct. 9.—President Mitchell says that in the convention neither he nor executive official will try to influence the voting one way or the other. The strikers are to be left to themselves to decide about accepting the ten per cent. increase.

Survey of the Texas Postponed.

Norfolk, Oct. 9.—The survey of the Texas at the Norfolk Navy Yard has been indefinitely postponed, owing to prior engagements of the officers composing the board of survey. The Texas will be repaired for sea and not abandoned, as was reported owing to obsolescence as a warship. If the work can be completed in thirty days she will return and rejoin the North Atlantic squadron, otherwise she will be put out of commission and the crew transferred to the Alabama.

Big Labor Demonstration.

Hazleton, October 9.—Mitchell and other officials of the United Mine Workers left this morning for Shamokin, where a big labor demonstration will take place this afternoon. The party goes to Scranton to-morrow and will remain until after the miners' convention adjourns.

The United States Supreme court

CHILLS

We hardly need to dwell very extensively on this troublesome complaint.
If you've had chills probably you know all about them without any outside assistance. What we want you to know is that

Bedford's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sold by us for a good many years to people all over our immediate territory. Every one who has used it speaks in the highest terms of it. We firmly believe that for CHILLS, AGUE and MALARIA there is no better remedy in this country. We know that we have not been able to get hold of one.
