Blair, living near the Battle Ground, brought us a sweet potato last week which weighed four and one-half pounds. The four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Warren, of Hillsdale, died last Saturday and was buried Sunday at Centre church. Mr. S. S. Brown has bought the Imperial five and ten cent store's stock and will move it from West Market street to Reidsville. Dr. L. M. Fox and Mr. J. M. Whitehead, of Ramsey, were among our callers yesterday, bound for the State fair at Raleigh. The little son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Clymer was slightly injured Friday by the accidental discharge of a pistol with which he was playing. Mr. W. H. Johnson, a well known young mill man, has moved his family from Spray to this city and is now employed at the Hucomuga mills. LAND POSTERS—Printed on tough manila board, 25 cents a dozen, E. L. TATE, Next to Townsend's. Printer.

The frosts of the past week caused us to anticipate with no little degree of pleasure the annual visits of those of our subscribers who pay in wood. Another lot of those turf oaks just in. Last we will have this season. Only 70 cents a bushel. J. W. SCOTT & Co. Two of the largest apples ever seen here were exhibited on the streets yesterday by Mr. J. J. Stone. Their combined weight was two pounds and ten ounces. M. G. Newell & Co. have just received a car of buggies bought 'way down that will be sold very cheap. Their new adv. will give you further information. Mrs. G. P. Crutchfield and brother, Mr. Henry Marley, were at Reidsville yesterday to attend the marriage of Miss Mary F. Williams to Mr. Robert Wheeler, of Concord. It is all said when we tell you that Johnson & Dorsett are reliable and whatever they say can be put down as facts. Read their new adv. and call on them for all kinds of dress goods, hosiery, shoes, etc. The Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, will establish a state agency in Greensboro. It will be in charge of Verser & James. Messrs. T. H. Tate and S. C. Todd will be the local agents. Appeals from the Fifth district are being heard in the Supreme court at Raleigh this week, causing the attendance of a number of Greensboro's able lawyers. The fair is also attracting a goodly number of our people to that city. J. M. Hendrix & Co. expect to move into their new quarters this week, providing the weather is favorable. They will have one of the prettiest stores in town and want their friends to call and see them. See their new adv. Mr. W. S. Hill, who recently went to Philadelphia to have an eye treated, is at home again much improved. He expects to return to Philadelphia in a couple of months for a final operation, which it is believed will completely restore his sight. Invitations were issued Monday to the marriage of Miss Ruth Murray Worth, daughter of State Treasurer Worth, to Charles W. Petty, of this city. The wedding will take place at the home of the Treasurer in Raleigh, Wednesday, October 31. A gentleman here from Graham Monday told the Telegram that it was generally believed that the Alamance mill trouble was nearing an end. Some of the union operatives, he said, were returning to work and the indications were that many others would do likewise. Mr. Joe Huffman, of Thom's Mill, regrets to inform his customers that he will not be able to begin operating his roller process until a new engine can be installed, which will probably be a month yet. He will continue to make burr flour and clean wheat for the public. An exchange says the minister had preached a good begging sermon and concluded it with these words: "I don't want anyone to contribute who has not paid his newspaper subscription, as the editors need the money as much as the heathen do." He had a good contribution, for no one wanted to publicly acknowledge that he had not paid the printer. The closing exercises of Prof. A. M. Fentress' singing class will be held at Burnett's chapel on the fourth Sunday in October, beginning at 11 A. M. Miss Mabel Fentress, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. Fred Fentress, who has become quite a favorite among those who know her, will assist in making the occasion entertaining with both her violin and voice. All are invited. William Honeycutt, the Mitchell county Federal prisoner taken from here to Statesville last week for trial, was convicted of violation of the internal revenue laws and fined $500, with four years' imprisonment. He was not tried for the murder of a revenue officer because the only witness against him was shot from ambush and killed. It is believed that he shot the witness. We are in receipt of an interesting communication from Mr. A. L. Smith, of Summerfield, now in the heavy artillery branch of the United States army and stationed at Fort El Morro, San Juan, P. R., giving a sketch of the history of Porto Rico and the customs of its people, which will be printed in our next issue. Together with the communication is a recent copy of the San Juan News, a progressive daily with a cable service from New York.

Mr. John Fields, a middle aged married man living near Ramsey, was instantly killed by the overturning of his wagon Monday evening about 7 o'clock while hauling farm products home. The accident occurred on the public road near Widow Brown's place, two miles east of Level Cross. Mr. Fields was driving a team of mules belonging to a neighbor, Mr. John Wheeler, at the time. J. L. York, of Randolph, who has been a Federal prisoner at Fayetteville since his recent preliminary hearing, was taken to Wilmington last week after the escape of several prisoners from the Fayetteville jail, in which he declined to participate, and had another opportunity to escape Saturday night, owing to a fire, but still he lingered, keeping guard over another prisoner that wanted to get away. Mrs. Malinda Andrew, relict of the late Garrison Andrew, living near Hines chapel, died suddenly Saturday afternoon, aged about sixty years. She was in her usual health until two o'clock, but lived only an hour and a half after that hour, dying without speaking. Mrs. Andrew was an excellent woman. She was a member at Hines chapel and was buried there Sunday evening. Three sons and a daughter survive. The differences between the hook and ladder company, the Eagle hose company and the city have been harmoniously adjusted and those two important branches of the fire department will not withdraw. The board of aldermen authorized the erection of a suitable building for the apparatus of the companies and a contract was signed yesterday by J. C. Morris & Co. for its immediate erection on the vacant lot next to the old market house, fronting Davis street. The board of aldermen has submitted a proposition to the Greensboro Water Supply Company to purchase the water works at a price of $75,000. This action was taken last week after the board had decided that the material considerations existing when the offer of $87,500 was made are now lacking. Unless the proposition is accepted by the 26th the water committee will proceed with the necessary arrangements for establishing and operating an independent system of water works in the city. Burlington News: Thursday afternoon at 6 P. M., Mr. H. A. Garrett, of Greensboro, and Miss Geneva McCulloch were married at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. T. F. McCulloch, of Oakdale. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father. They will go to Greensboro Monday, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. Garrett is a pleasant young man and is in the employment of the Odell Hardware Co., Greensboro. The bride is a beautiful and accomplished young lady. Some one with scant regard for law and order attempted to destroy two nice trees belonging to Mr. W. L. Calum, on Church street, last Wednesday night about one o'clock. Holes were bored in the trees and dynamite inserted, but the fuse of one cartridge failed to burn and only one tree was destroyed. The explosion startled the neighborhood considerably. Mr. Calum had refused to sacrifice the trees in order to permit the street to be widened and macadamized, hence this questionable method of "persuasion." A special train bearing about forty members of the New England Cotton Spinners' Association just from their annual convention in Washington and on a tour of the South passed through Greensboro over the Southern Friday, stopping for luncheon at the Huffles House. Mr. M. V. Richards, one of the cleverest officials of the Southern, accompanied the party. It was their intention to stop here long enough to inspect the cotton mills, but a freight wreck beyond Danville threw the train several hours behind its schedule and upset most all the plans for the day. Several prominent business men from High Point met the special here and extended the party a cordial invitation to stop there and take a look at the many manufacturing establishments. The citizens of Oak Ridge are arranging to build a telephone line to Kernersville to connect with the Interstate's long distance line. Concert Postponed. The Gate City Band concert booked for the 25th is to be postponed on account of a misunderstanding as to getting the Opera House. The concert will be given about the 5th of November. JAS. DILWORTH, Conductor.

TOBACCO NOTES. Items of Interest to the Grower, the Dealer, and the Manufacturer. MARKET REPORT. The receipts on our market for the past week have been rather light owing to the cool, harsh weather we have had; still there has been enough of the weed to keep all of our buyers fairly busy. The quality of the offerings has been in keeping with the past few weeks, mostly common goods with some desirable tobacco mixed in it. Prices on all grades have been good, with a hardening tendency, due to the light sales and the very active demand for tobacco on this market. Tobacco sold better here yesterday than on any previous day of this season. Shipments of manufactured tobacco from Greensboro have been heavy the past month. Mr. A. B. Bray, of Statesville, was here last night on his way to Raleigh to attend the fair. The first killing frost in North Carolina occurred last Thursday morning, but did no damage to the tobacco crop, which had all been housed. Leath & Kernodle, of Alamance, sold their first primings from the present crop on this market last week. They had nine lots on the floor, the prices ranging from 6 3/4 to 29 cents. A late telegram from Bahia says that the outlook for the Brazilian tobacco crop is extremely gloomy owing to the continued drought. Even if rain comes, only the smallest crop will be possible. Mr. R. T. Kernodle, of Alamance county, who recently purchased property here, will move to the city the first of the month. He will be connected with the Banner warehouse the balance of the tobacco year. Among the Alamance tobacco growers on the market the past week were G. R. Maynard, Garrison & Lee, C. H. Fayette, H. F. Garrett, G. E. Fayette, John Richmond, Wall & Hays, W. T. Neece, J. C. Cook and Mrs. Kate King. Col. Harry Weissinger, after a trip through the wrapper districts of Virginia and North Carolina, says the short crop reports have not been exaggerated, and that the wrapper varieties of this tobacco will be a very small proportion of the crop, much smaller than in any year in the past ten.—The Weed. "Tobacco Culture" is the title of a neat pamphlet just issued by the German Kali works, 93 Nausau street, New York City. This publication treats quite fully about tobacco growing from the time of sowing seed to the marketing of the crop. It is a valuable publication and will be sent without charge to any planter who applies for it. Rockingham has been well represented on the Greensboro market the past week, among the prominent tobacco farmers from that county being J. R. Barham, G. I. Sharp, Geo. Slade, Henry Russell, J. W. Knight, W. C. Enoch, Goolsby & Carter, Price & Lineberry, J. S. Price, Brown & Cummings, Fred Baynes, Jonathan Baynes and Settle Sharp. Among our friends in Guilford who marketed leaf here within the past week were J. W. Paisley, E. M. Bowman, Cornelius Clapp, Lee Groome, Mrs. Mary Lambeth, L. A. Walker, Mrs. J. W. Harris, M. L. Flack, W. H. Pitchford, H. R. and L. A. Carmon, J. W. Stanley, W. L. Miles, O. A. G. Wood, W. G. Rudd, H. W. Cox, J. W. Underwood, A. M. Lewis and W. R. McKinney. A conference of Republicans was held here Monday and was attended by party leaders from every section of the state, a majority of them being officeholders. Among the most interested visitors were four colored men—H. G. Cheatham, recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia; Wilson Carey, late of the county of Caswell, but now occupant of a comfortable Federal berth in Washington, and James H. Young, and E. A. Johnson, of Raleigh. It was Wilson Carey, who, while a member of the legislature, years ago, originated the historic expression, "the archives of gravity." They met at Republican headquarters, where the forenoon was spent in a conference. They talked of political conditions in the various counties of the state and discussed the best methods of polling the full strength of the party at the November election. It is said that a collection was taken to defray the expenses of the campaign. In view of the fact that the national committee, according to Senator-Chairman Pritchard, has sent no money to North Carolina, this was probably one of the prime objects of the meeting.

Guthrie, of Durham, Democratic candidate for presidential elector in the Fifth district and one of the best stump speakers in the state, spoke at the court house here Thursday night in behalf of Bryan and Stevenson. He was introduced in a graceful manner by J. W. Forbis and for over an hour was listened to with many demonstrations of pleasure and satisfaction. Major Guthrie confines himself to sound logic when speaking, his ready wit and smooth satire cropping out at intervals to destroy any semblance of monotony in his arguments. His hearers were delighted at the masterly manner in which he presented his cause. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It offers one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. A PRECIOUS BURDEN.

SCION OF THE HOUSE OF DAVID IN JEHOSEBA'S ARMS.

Dr. Talmage Draws a Lesson From the Slaughter of the Princes—Exhorts Parents to Lead Their Children to Christ.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—In this discourse on a neglected incident of the Bible Dr. Talmage draws some comforting lessons and shows that all around us are royal natures that we may help deliver. The text is II Kings xi, 2, 3: "Jehosheba, the daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah, took Joash, the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the king's sons which were slain, and they hid him, even him and his nurse, in the bedchamber from Athaliah, so that he was not slain. And he was with her hid in the house of the Lord six years."

Grandmothers are more lenient with their children's children than they were with their own. At 40 years of age if discipline be necessary chastisement is used, but at 70 the grandmother, looking upon the misbehavior of the grandchild, is apologetic and disposed to substitute confectionery for whip. There is nothing more beautiful than childhood. Grandmother takes out her pocket handkerchief and wipes her spectacles and puts them on and looks down into the face of her mischievous and rebellious descendant and says: "I don't think he meant to do it. Let him off this time. I'll be responsible for his behavior in the future." My mother, with the second generation around her, a boisterous crew, said one day: "I suppose they ought to be disciplined, but I can't do it. Grandmothers are not fit to bring up grandchildren." But here in my text we have a grandmother of a different type.

I have been at Jerusalem, where the occurrence of the text took place, and the whole scene came vividly before me while I was going over the site of the ancient temple and climbing the towers of the king's palace. Here in the text it is old Athaliah, the royal murderess. She ought to have been honorable. Her father was a king. Her husband was a king. Her son was a king. And yet we find her plotting for the extermination of the entire royal family, including her own grandchildren. The executioners' knives are sharpened. The palace is red with the blood of princes and princesses. On all sides are shrieks and hands thrown up and struggle and death groan. No mercy! Kill, kill! But while the ivory floors of the palace run with carnage and the whole land is under the shadow of a great horror a fleet footed woman, a clergyman's wife, Jehosheba by name, stealthily approaches the imperial nursery, seizes upon the grandchild that had somehow as yet escaped massacre, wraps it up tenderly but in haste, snuggles it against her, flies down the palace stairs, her heart in her throat lest she be discovered in this compassionate abduction. Get her out of the way as quick you can, for she carries a precious burden, even a young king. With this youthful prize she presses into the room of the ancient temple, the church of olden time, unwraps the young king and puts him down, sound asleep as he is and unconscious of the peril that has been threatened, and there for six years he is secreted in that church apartment. Meanwhile old Athaliah smacks her lips with satisfaction and thinks that all the royal family are dead. But the six years expire, and it is time for young Joash to come forth and take the throne and to push back into disgrace and death old Athaliah.

Come to Light.

The arrangements are all made for political revolution. The military come and take possession of the temple, swear loyalty to the boy Joash and stand around for his defense. See the sharpened swords and the burnished shields! Everything is ready. Now Joash, half affrighted at the armed tramp of his defenders, scared at the vociferation of his admirers, is brought forth in full regalia. The scroll of authority is put in his hands, the coronet of government is put on his brow, and the people clapped and waved and huzzaned and trumpeted. "What is that?" said Athaliah. "What is that sound over in the temple?" And she flies to see, and on her way they meet her and say: "Why, haven't you heard? You thought you had slain all the royal family, but Joash has come to light." Then the royal murderess, frantic with rage, grabbed her mantle and tore it to tatters and cried until she foamed at the mouth: "You have no right to crown my grandson. You have no right to take the government from my shoulders. Treason, treason!"

While she stood there crying that the military started for her arrest, and she took a short cut through a back door of the temple and ran through the royal stables, but the battleaxes of the military fell on her in the barnyard, and for many a day when the horses were being unloosed from the chariot after drawing out young Joash the fiery steeds would snort and rear passing the place as they snail the place of the carnage.

The first thought I hand you from this subject is that the extermination of righteousness is an impossibility. When a woman is good, she is apt to be very good, and when she is bad she is apt to be very bad, and this Athaliah was one of the latter sort. She would exterminate the last scion of the house of David, through whom Jesus was to come. There was plenty of work for embalmers and undertakers. She would clear the land of all God fearing and God loving people. She would put an end to everything that could in anywise interfere with her imperial criminality. She folds her hands and says:

"The work is done. It is completely done." Is it? In the swaddling clothes of that church apartment are wrapped the cause of God and the cause of good government. That is the scion of the house of David. It is Joash, the God worshipping reformer. It is Joash, the friend of God. It is Joash, the demolisher of Baalish idolatry. Rock him tenderly, nurse him gently. Athaliah, you may kill all the other children, but you cannot kill him. Eternal defenses are thrown all around him, and this clergyman's wife, Jehosheba, will snatch him up from the palace nursery and will run down with him into the house of the Lord, and there she will hide him for six years, and at the end of that time he will come forth for your de-thronement and obliteration.

Foes of Religion Defeated.

Well, my friends, just as poor a batch does the world always make of extinguishing righteousness. Superstition rises up and says, "I will just put an end to pure religion." Domitian slew 40,000 Christians. Diocletian slew 844,000 Christians. And the scythe of persecution has been swung through all the ages, and the flames hissed, and the guillotine chopped, and the Bastille groaned, but did the foes of Christianity exterminate it? Did they exterminate Alban, the first British sacrifice, or Zwingli, the Swiss reformer, or John Oldcastle, the Christian nobleman, or Abdallah, the Arabian martyr, or Anne Askew or Sanders or Cranmer? Great work of extermination they made of it. Just at the time when they thought they had slain all the royal family of Jesus some Joash would spring up and out and take the throne of power and wield a very scepter of Christian dominion.

Infidelity says, "I will exterminate the Bible," and the Scriptures were thrown into the street for the mob to trample on, and they were piled up in the public squares and set on fire, and mountains of indignant contempt were hurled on them, and learned universities decreed the Bible out of existence. Thomas Paine said: "In my 'Age of Reason' I have annihilated the Scriptures. Your Washington is a pusillanimous Christian, but I am the foe of Bibles and of churches." Oh, how many assaults upon that word! All the hostilities that have ever been created on earth are not to be compared with the hostilities against that one book. Said one man in his infidel desperation to his wife, "You must not be reading that Bible," and he snatched it away from her. And though in that Bible was a lock of hair of the dead child—the only child that God had ever given them—he pitched the book with its contents into the fire and stirred it with the tongs and spat on it and cursed it and said, "Susan, never have any more of that damnable stuff here."

Enemies of the Bible Routed.

How many individual and organized attempts have been made to exterminate that Bible? Have its enemies done it? Have they exterminated the American Bible society? Have they exterminated the British and Foreign Bible society? Have they exterminated the thousands of Christian institutions whose only object it is to multiply copies of the Scriptures and spread them broadcast around the world? They have exterminated until instead of one or two copies of the Bible in our houses we have eight or ten, and we pile them up in the corners of our Sabbath school rooms and send great boxes of them everywhere. If they get on as well as they are now going on in the work of extermination, I do not know but that our children may live to see the millennium. Yea, if there should come a time of persecution in which all the known Bibles of the earth should be destroyed, all these lamps of life that blaze in our pulpits and in our families extinguished, in the very day that infidelity and sin should be holding jubilee over the universal extinction there would be in some closet of a backwoods church a secreted copy of the Bible, and this Joash of eternal literature would come out and come up and take the throne, and the Athaliah of infidelity and persecution would fly out the back door of the palace and drop her miserable carcass under the hoofs of the horses of the king's stables. You cannot exterminate Christianity! You cannot kill Joash!

The second thought I hand you from my subject is that there are opportunities in which we may save royal life. You know that profane history is replete with stories of strangled monarchs and of young princes who have been put out of the way. Here is the story of a young king saved. How Jehosheba, the clergyman's wife, must have trembled as she rushed into the imperial nursery and snatched up Joash! How she hushed him lest by his cry he hinder the escape! Fly with him, Jehosheba! You hold in your arms the cause of God and good government. Fall, and he is slain. Succeed, and you turn the tide of the world's history in the right direction. It seems as if between that young king and his assassins there is nothing but the frail arm of a woman. But why should we spend our time in praising this bravery of expedition when God asks the same thing of you and me? All around us the imperiled children of a great king. They are born of Almighty parentage and will come to a throne or a crown if permitted. But sin, the old Athaliah, goes forth to the massacre. Murderous temptations are out for the assassination. Valens, the emperor, was told that there was somebody in his realm who would usurp his throne and that the name of the man who should be the usurper would begin with the letters T. H. E. O. D., and the edict went forth from the emperor's throne, "Kill everybody whose name begins with T. H. E. O. D." And hundreds and thousands were slain, hoping by that massacre to put an end to that one usurper. But sin is more terrible in its denunciation. It matters not how you spell your name, you come under its knife, under its sword, under its doom, unless there be some omnipotent relief brought to the rescue. But, blessed be God, there is such a thing as delivering a royal soul. Who will snatch away Joash?

Reclaim the Children.

This afternoon in your Sabbath school class there will be a prince of God, some one who may yet reign as king forever before the throne. There will be some one in your class who has a corrupt physical inheritance. There will be some one in your class who has a father and mother who do not know how to pray. There will be some one in your class who is destined to command in church or state—some Cromwell to dissolve a parliament, some Beethoven to touch the world's harp strings, some John Howard to pour fresh air in the lazaretto, some Florence Nightingale to bandage the battle wounds, some Miss Dix to soothe the crazed brain, some John Frederick Oberlin to educate the besotted, some David Brainerd to change the Indian's war whoop to a Sabbath song, some John Wesley to marshal three-fourths of Christendom, some John Knox to make queens turn pale, some Joash to demolish idolatry and strike for the kingdom of heaven. There are sleeping in your cradles by night, there are playing in your nurseries by day, imperial souls waiting for dominion, and whichever side the cradle they get out will decide the destiny of empires. For each one of those children sin and holiness contend, Athaliah on the one side, Jehosheba on the other. But I hear people say: "What's the use of bothering children with religious instruction? Let them grow up and choose for themselves. Don't interfere with their volition." Suppose some one had said to Jehosheba: "Don't interfere with that young Joash. Let him grow up and decide whether he likes the palace or not, whether he wants to be king or not. Don't disturb his volition." Jehosheba knew right well that unless that day the young king was rescued he would never be rescued at all. I tell you, my friends, the reason we don't reclaim all our children from worldliness is because we begin too late. Parents wait until their children lie before they teach them the value of truth. They wait until their children swear before they teach them the importance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all wrapped up in this world before they tell them of a better world. Too late with your prayers. Too late with your discipline. Too late with your benediction. You put all care upon your children between 12 and 18. Why do you not put the chief care between 4 and 9? It is too late to repair a vessel when it has got out of the drydocks. It is too late to save Joash after the executioners have broken in. May God arm us all for this work of snatching royal souls from death to coronation.

Sublimity of All Work.

Can you imagine any sublimer work than this soul saving? That was what flushed Paul's cheek with enthusiasm, that was what led Munson to risk his life amid Boresian cannibals, that was what sent Dr. Abel to preach under the consuming skies of China, that was what gave courage to Phocas in the third century. When the military officers came to put him to death for Christ's sake, he put them to bed that they might rest, while he himself went out and in his own garden dug his grave and then came back and said, "I am ready." But they were shocked at the idea of taking the life of their host. He said, "It is the will of God that I should die," and he stood on the margin of his own grave, and they beheaded him. You say it is a mania, a foolishness, a fanaticism. Rather would I call it a glorious self abnegation, the thrill of eternal satisfaction, the plucking of Joash from death and raising him to coronation.

The third thought I hand to you is that the church of God is a good hiding place. When Jehosheba rushes into the nursery of the king and picks up Joash, what shall she do with him? Shall she take him to some room in the palace? No, for the official desperadoes will hunt through every nook and corner of that building. Shall she take him to the residence of some wealthy citizen? No. That citizen would not dare to harbor the fugitive. But she has to take him somewhere. She hears the cry of the mob in the streets, she hears the shriek of the dying nobility, so she rushes with Joash into the room of the temple, into the house of God, and there she puts him down. She knows that Athaliah and her wicked assassins will not bother the temple a great deal. They are not apt to go very much to church, and so she sets down Joash in the temple. There he will be hearing the songs of the worshippers year after year. There he will breathe the odor of the golden censers. In that sacred spot he will tarry, secreted until the six years have passed and he come to enthronement.

The Best Hiding Place.

Would God that we were all as wise as Jehosheba and knew that the church of God is the best hiding place! Perhaps our parents took us there in early days. They snatched us away from the world and hid us behind the baptismal fonts and amid the Bibles and psalm books. O glorious inclosure! We have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have handled the vials in which are the prayers of all saints, and we have dwelt under the wings of the cherubim. Glorious inclosure! When my father and mother died and the property was settled up, there was hardly anything left, but they endowed us with a property worth more than any earthly possession, because they hid us in the temple. And when days of temptation have come upon my soul I have gone there for shelter, and when assaulted of sorrows I have gone there for comfort, and there I mean to live.

I want, like Joash, to stay until coronation.

O men of the world outside there, betrayed, caricatured and cheated of the world, why do you not come in through the broad, wide open door of Christian communion? I wish I could act the part of Jehosheba today and steal you away from your perils and hide you in the temple. How few of us appreciate the fact that the church of God is a hiding place. There are many people who put the church at so low a mark that they begrudge it everything, even the few dollars they give toward it. They make no sacrifices. They dole a little out of their surpluses. They pay their butcher's bill, and they pay their doctor's bill, and they pay their landlord, and they pay everybody but the Lord, and they come in at the last to pay the Lord in his church and frown as they say: "There, Lord, it is. Send me a receipt in full and don't bother me soon again!" There is not more than one man out of a thousand that appreciates what the church is. Where are the souls that put aside one-tenth for Christian institutions—one-tenth of their income? Where are those who, having put aside that one-tenth, draw upon it cheerfully? Why, it is pull and drag and hold on and grab and clutch, and giving is an affliction to most people when it ought to be an exhilaration and a rapture. Oh, that God would remodel our souls on this subject and that we might appreciate the house of God as the great refuge! If your children are to come up to lives of virtue and happiness, they will come up under the shadow of the church. If the church does not get them, the world will.

Open the Church Doors.

Ah, when you pass away—and it will not be long before you do—when you pass away, it will be a satisfaction to see your children in Christian society. You want to have them sitting at the holy sacraments. You want them mingling in Christian associations. You would like to have them die in the sacred precincts. When you are on your dying bed, and your little ones come up to take your last word, and you look into their bewildered faces, you will want to leave them under the church's benediction. I do not care how hard you are, that is so. I said to a man of the world: "Your son and daughter are going to join our church next Sunday. Have you any objections?" "Bless you," he said, "objections? I wish all my children belonged to the church. I don't attend to those matters myself. I know I am very wicked. But I am very glad they are going, and I shall be there to see them. I am very glad, sir; I am very glad. I want them there." And so, though you may have been wanderers from God and though you may have sometimes caricatured the church of Jesus, it is your great desire that your sons and daughters should be standing all their lives within this sacred inclosure.

More than that. You yourself will want the church for a hiding place when the mortgage is foreclosed, when your daughter, just blooming into womanhood, suddenly clasps her hands in a slumber that knows no waking; when the gaunt trouble walks through the parlor and the sitting room and the dining hall and the nursery, you will want some shelter from the tempest. Ah, some of you have been run upon by misfortune and trial. Why do you not come into the shelter?

I said to a widowed mother after she had buried her only son—months after—I said to her, "How do you get along nowadays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along tolerably well except when the sun shines." I said, "What do you mean by that?" when she said: "I can't bear to see the sun shine. My heart is so dark that all the brightness of the natural world seems a mockery to me." O darkened soul! O broken hearted man, broken hearted woman! Why do you not come into the shelter? I swing it from wall to wall. Come in! Come in! You want a place where your troubles shall be interpreted, where your burdens shall be unstrapped, where your tears shall be wiped away.

Church of God, be a hiding place to all these people! Give them a seat where they can rest their weary souls. Flash some light from your chandeliers upon their darkness. With some soothing hymn hush these griefs. Oh, church of God, gate of heaven, let me go through it! All other institutions are going to fail but the church of God—its foundation is the Rock of Ages, its charter is for everlasting years, its keys are held by the universal Proprietor, its dividend is heaven, its president is God!

Sure as thy truth shall last,
To Zion shall be given
The highest glory earth can yield
And brighter bliss of heaven.

God grant that all this audience, the youngest, the eldest, the worst, the best, may find their safe and glorious hiding place where Joash found it—in the temple!

A Farmer's Bulletin.

James Jackson, a farmer of Linn county, Kan., has placed a signboard at his gate on the road. On this board are painted his name, the name of his farm, "Jackson Farm," and the direction and distance to Chantilly, his post-office. Below this he has a blackboard on which he may write what he has for sale. He says that he has sold one horse and two cows and calves since the erection of his signboard, and he thinks the quick sales were the results of this advertising.

A Hard Winter?

Some of our weather prophets are already predicting a hard winter. They say the hornets have built their nests very high, the corn husks are tough and the beans are all at the top of the vines. All these, they say, are sure signs that the winter will be very severe.—Uniontown Genius.

IT BREAKS THE RECORD.

New York's Demonstration the Greatest in the Country's Political History—Democratic Leader Speaks to 45,000—Besides These, the Streets Were Packed With Dense Masses Who Could Not Get Near Enough to Hear—Stevenson Shares Honors—A Wild Night in the Metropolis.

Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun, 17th.

In enthusiasm and magnitude the reception given to William J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate for President, and Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for Vice President, by the Democrats of Greater New York tonight easily surpassed any political demonstration that had ever occurred in this city.

Hereforth there is no "enemy's" for Mr. Bryan. He slept tonight in this great city as in a city of friends. The Democratic candidate had been welcomed upon his arrival by a countless multitude of Tammany men, the chief of whom was Richard Croker, the chief of Tammany; by James H. Shepley, the representative of the Kings County Democracy; by William R. Hearst, the president of the League of Democratic Clubs; by the leaders of the party in Queens and Richmond boroughs. He had been welcomed at Tammany's hospitable board at the Hoffman House as the guest of Richard Croker and surrounded by the Democratic leaders of the city. He had been driven to Madison Square Garden through cheering crowds of 50,000 persons gathered at the Garden to an audience of 14,000 that was with Democratic fervor. He had spoken later in the open air to a multitude estimated at 25,000 in Tammany Hall and Cooper Union to masses that literally packed those large auditoriums and obstructed the entrances and exits for blocks around.

45,000 HEARD HIM. The total number of those who heard Mr. Bryan was fully 45,000. Richard Croker called the Madison Square Garden meeting to order. Mayor Van Wyck was the honorary president. Edward M. Shepard, a leading gold Democrat, presided. At the other meetings Tammany men who gave the ticket a half-hearted support four days ago were prominent as masses of ceremonies.

Mr. Bryan's notification in Madison Square Garden Aug. 13, 1896, was a failure from a political viewpoint. He was literally in a hostile country, confronting an audience that came to hear, but not to cheer. Tammany was his covert enemy. The whole community was against him. There was a responsive applause for his words. He departed from New York feeling that he had no friends in the East.

It was different tonight. Into Madison Square Garden the Democratic organization of Greater New York had come with intense zeal and well-laid pocketbooks. The example of the leaders was infectious. There was real enthusiasm for Bryan that the downpour of the afternoon could not dampen and that the rainbow just before sunset rendered all the more keen.

THE GREAT CENTRAL FIGURE. Edward M. Shepard, as the chairman of the Madison Square meeting, tried to make a long speech, explaining that imperialism was the paramount issue. The audience permitted him to talk for just ten minutes, and then shut him off with shouts for Bryan. The attempt to read resolutions was almost a failure. Cries for Bryan drowned the voice of the reader.

"Bryan! Bryan!" thundered thousands of voices, and none could say them nay.

In his four speeches of the night Mr. Bryan dealt with the questions of trusts, militarism and imperialism. He declared that the trusts were grinding the poor, undermining society and threatening the Republican form of government. He attacked the Republicans of foreign trusts and taking no action against them. He promised, if elected, to crush them by squeezing every drop of "water" out of the trusts. He lampooned Hanna by saying there were no trusts and trusts for harping on the ice. If there were no trusts why would Republicans talk about an ice trust? If there was an ice trust why did not Roosevelt remain in the post and compel it to disappear?

The policy of having a large standing army was attacked vigorously. Mr. Bryan declared his belief that if militarism was not suppressed by his election the present policy would result in the building of a navy near all the large cities for the purpose of overawing the workmen.

ENTHUSIASM RAN WILD. Mr. Bryan was applauded with wild enthusiasm, and comments were made by his hearers during his pauses showed that his audiences were with him. A feature of all the meetings was the absence of any interruption from persons who did not agree with his views. He was given a respectful hearing and no attempt was made to embarrass him with questions.

The other speakers at the meetings were Adlai E. Stevenson, candidate for Vice President; John B. Stanchfield, candidate for Governor; William F. Mackey, candidate for Lieutenant Governor; Webster Davis, of Missouri, who was recently Assistant Secretary of the Interior under McKinley, and Mayor Jones, of Toledo.

RINGING RESOLUTIONS. The resolutions passed by the throng in Madison Square Garden were as follows:

"The Democracy of Greater New York joyfully welcomes to the metropolis and to the state the intrepid and steadfast leader of the National Democracy, William Jennings Bryan, and pledges to his candidacy for the Presidency of the United States their enthusiastic and invincible support.

"We greet with respect, admiration and affection the Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency, Adlai E. Stevenson.

"We declare our unqualified approval of the principles embodied in the platform adopted by the Democratic convention at Kansas City in July of this year.

"We are opposed to imperialism. We protest against the maintenance of an enormous standing army as not only unnecessary, but dangerous to the life and prosperity of the republic. We recognize in distant territorial possessions not intended for statehood and dominated by a governing authority unknown to and at war with the limitations of our Constitution a corroding influence that burdens the people with great expense and presents ready opportunity for official plundering.

"We are opposed to all entangling foreign alliances. We demand that the foreign policy of our country shall make for the extension of republican institutions and not be shaped in aid of the schemes or aggressions of any monarchical power. We heartily sympathize with the heroic Boers in their efforts to maintain their rights and independence, and condemn the cowardly attitude assumed by the present administration in using its influence in behalf of England's unjustifiable assault upon the liberties of the South Africa Republics.

"We denounce all trusts and demand the repeal of every law which permits them to exist. Trusts have no rightful place under a government of a free people. They rob alike producer and consumer.

"We protest against that perversion of governmental powers and functions which makes the creditor class the single element in control of the executive, legislative and in many cases the judicial department of the government.

"We arraign the republican party for its treasonable intention to debase the suffrage and buy the presidency by the profligate use of a gigantic corruption fund wrung from fattened monopolies nourished by its legislation and protected by its lax enforcement of the law.

"We rely alone upon the patriotism of the people. We neither have nor desire any fund with which to bid for any auction of the presidency."

DEMOCRACY IS WIDE AWAKE. The effect of the demonstration will be to aid the Democratic cause greatly. It will convince Mr. Bryan's supporters all over the country that the New York Democrats are making a marvelous effort to carry the state. It will reveal to Democrats here and everywhere that a fight of a stubborn character is on in the East, a thing that they have been much disposed to doubt.

Whether the impetus that has been given the Democratic campaign is to be continued will much depend upon the development of Mr. Bryan's four day tour of the state, which begins tomorrow. His speech making Wednesday will take him through Hudson Valley as far north as Saratoga county, and by the time he reaches Buffalo Saturday night he will have traversed more than half the counties of the state.

Mr. Bryan attended a conference of Democratic leaders in eastern states in the afternoon. Richard Croker assured Mr. Bryan that New York's electoral vote will be given to him. Democratic leaders from New Jersey told Mr. Bryan that he would carry that state. Mr. Bryan said he would be elected even if he failed to carry New York and New Jersey. He is visibly encouraged by his welcome here.

OUTBURST WAS SPONTANEOUS. In an interview after the meeting Mr. Croker said: "The people were so enthusiastic my only fear was they would get under the carriage wheels. It seemed as if they could not help it. Mr. Bryan was much gratified. The people did not know which way he was coming from the station, yet there were crowds all along Fifth avenue. They were so anxious to see him that they took chances on his coming that way and waited. It was the same in Madison avenue. It means victory for Bryan."

Former United States Senator Edward Murphy, Jr., said:

"It was a grand reception. It means Mr. Bryan's election, of course."

Ex-Governor Stone, of Missouri said:

It was a magnificent reception. It could not have been more so."

NEWS NOTES.

The report that Judge George Gray, leader of the Delaware Gold Democrats, will vote for Bryan is confirmed.

Since July 1, 1896, the number of postoffices in the United States had increased from 70,300 to 76,691, a gain of 6,391.

The Republicans of the Sixth North Carolina district have nominated Oliver H. Duckery to oppose Democratic Congressman Bellamy.

The Comptroller of the Currency has approved applications under the act of March 14, 1900, for the organization of 498 new national banks, with an aggregate capital of $23,505,000.

A conservative estimate of Florida's orange crop this year places the yield at 1,000,000 boxes. Within two weeks the fruit will begin to be marketed. This average price per box is $2.

Postmaster P. H. Lybrook, of Winston, was carried to Philadelphia last week for treatment in a hospital. His mind and health have been recently impaired, caused by some nervous disease.

The congregation of the Second Baptist church, of Atlanta, has decided to call Rev. John E. White, secretary of the Baptist mission board of North Carolina, to fill the pulpit of that edifice.

The Federal supreme court has assigned for Nov. 12th the hearing of the Neely case, also two cases involving the question as to whether Porto Rico and the Philippines are under the provisions of the constitution.

The courts in Manila presided over by Filipinos have become a scandal. Justice is an article of traffic, and the justices, who collect on an average of $12,000 a month in fines, account for about $100. Prisoners buy their freedom and others are imprisoned, without trial.

It is now regarded as certain that the alleged Chinese imperial edict, ordering the punishment of high officials, was forged and was concocted with the object of preventing the advance of the allies on Pao Ting Fu. Both prince Ching and Li Hung Chang deny its authenticity.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

Russia, Austria, Germany and Great Britain Agree.

Paris, Oct. 18.—Russia, Austria, Germany and Great Britain, having already replied affirmatively to the Delcasse note, he is notifying the powers of the acceptance of the first note and is asking all of them to instruct their Pekin ministers to begin peace negotiations. Favorable replies are expected from all.

M. Pinchon, French minister in China, has therefore been instructed to place himself in touch with the Ambassadors and Chinese Emissary for the purpose of opening negotiations at the earliest moment.

Restrictions Removed.

Pretoria, Oct. 18.—Lord Roberts has issued an order removing the restriction on exports from the Transvaal and Orange river colonies. The order includes bar gold, but excepts munitions of war.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Lord Alverstone, formerly Sir Richard Webster, will succeed the late Baron Russell of Killowen, the Daily News announces, as Lord Chief Justice of England.

NO CURE—NO PAY.

That is the way all druggists sell GROVE'S TASTELESS BILLY TONIC for chills, Fever and Malaria. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Notice to Taxpayers.

Please read the following law carefully and remember that I am compelled to collect the same, and every man in the county will have to conform to this law:

LAW 1888, CHAP. 15, SEC. 36.—The sheriff, his deputy or tax collector, shall attend at the court house or his office in the county town during the months of September and November for the purpose of receiving the taxes he shall also in like manner attend at least one day during the month of October at some one or more places in each township, of which fifteen days' notice shall be given by advertisement at three or more public places, and in a newspaper if one be published in the county.

SEC. 37.—Whenever the taxes shall be due and unpaid, the sheriff shall immediately proceed to collect as follows: 1st. If the party charged have personal property of the value equal to the taxes charged against him, he shall seize and sell the same as he is required to sell other property under execution.

I shall endeavor to follow strictly the above law. Therefore all parties are earnestly requested to come forward and settle their taxes and save costs.

I will be in my office during the months of September and November, or you will find a deputy there, for the purpose of receiving your taxes.

I will attend in person or be represented by deputy at the following places on the dates named to receive the state and county taxes for the year 1900:

It can truthfully be said that a Nursery is known by its Fruits.

I introduced CONNET'S SOUTH-ERN EARLY Peach 15 years ago and the GREENSBORO 7 years ago, and after getting reports from them over a large extent of country, I feel proud of the fact that I introduced them. There are quite a number of new peaches introduced every year. After the first announcement the majority of them are never heard of, as they were probably introduced simply for the purpose of selling a new variety at an advanced price, and were either some old variety with a new name or else not adapted to general cultivation.

I would be pleased for my friends and patrons to look out for the GREEN-BORO and CONNET this year and let me know how they succeed in their section.

It is utterly hopeless attempt to reconcile the statement of Mr. Hanna that "there are no trusts in this country" with the statement of Gov. Roosevelt that there are good trusts and bad trusts.

The Charlotte Observer now prints a Monday edition and appears every morning in the week, thereby adding largely to its usefulness as a disseminator of "news as it is news" and exhibiting another streak of the enterprise for which it is noted. The Observer believes there is nothing too good for its patrons and consequently gives them the best news service in the state.

UNDoubtedly many of the Republican meetings in northern cities are packed this year by methods similar to those in vogue in Chicago, where several of the big lumber firms ordered their employees to attend a mass meeting Saturday and listen to speeches favoring imperialism and trusts. The men revolted but were threatened with discharges if they left the meeting. Finally the affair developed into a free fight in which the Republican guards scattered through the crowd were roughly handled. After the police had dispersed the gathering many Republicans announced that they would vote for Bryan as a protest against such high handed methods.

THROUGH West Virginia Monday, from Huntington, on the Ohio river to Hinton and Roncove, in the southeastern part of the State Hon. William J. Bryan made one of the most remarkable political trips even in his experience. Ovarious had been expected, but such extraordinary outbursts of popular enthusiasm as the Democratic nominee met upset all calculations. At Huntington the crowd was estimated at from 15,000 to 25,000 persons, and at Hinton there were fully 25,000. Every town no matter how small turned out a large assemblage. The enthusiasm for the leader and his cause was even more pronounced than the numbers of his hearers. The people surged around him in dense masses to shake his hand, to hold up their children to see him and to wish success to his cause. The state was afire with fervor from one end to the other.

If in any quarter the least hope has been entertained that the Powers of continental Europe would intervene to save the Boer republics of South Africa from extinction, it has been dispelled by the course taken by Germany. Not only has the Kaiser declared that it would be the advantage of Germany to have South Africa consolidated under British rule, but he has thrown the weight of Germany's influence on the side of Great Britain in China and thus freed the hand of the latter to do her will in the matter of the Boer republics. The British army may remain in South Africa indefinitely, the government at London having now received assurance that in maintaining the policies of the "open door" and the territorial integrity of China Great Britain has the support of her powerful German ally.

Ex-Secretary Sherman Dead.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Hon. John Sherman, former Representative in the House, for a long term a member of the Senate and twice holding cabinet positions, died at his residence in this city at a quarter of 7 o'clock this morning in the 78th year of his age. His death had been expected for some days and loving friends gave him their unremitting care and attention to the end. The immediate cause of death was described as brain exhaustion incident to extreme weakness due to old age and to several attacks of sickness from which he had suffered for the past year and a half. Since Saturday afternoon Mr. Sherman had been for the most of the time unconscious, rallying partially at intervals when some slight nourishment was given him. Yesterday afternoon evidences of the approaching end were manifest and he failed to regain consciousness after 3 o'clock, passing away peacefully just after day broke. The burial will take place Thursday at Mansfield, Ohio. There will be funeral services here Wednesday.

Tuskegee Graduates Going to Africa to Raise Cotton.

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Oct. 19.—The graduates of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, at this place, who have been engaged by the German government to go to the German colony in western Africa for the introduction of the raising of cotton there, will sail from New York November 3. They will carry with them a full outfit for cotton raising, including cotton seed, plows, cotton gins, wagons and carpentry tools. Two of the graduates are from the agricultural department and one from the mechanical department.

We May Hit Back At Germany.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—It is said here that soon after the election the President will issue proclamation excluding certain German products regarded as harmful to American interests. It is understood the articles affected will be wools, yarns, toys and possibly beers and wines. On October 1 the German act excluding all American canned meats and sausages went into effect.

OBITUARY.

HENRY MACY.

Another home in the Centre community has been saddened by the death of a pure and upright man. On the 8th day of October Mr. Henry Macy, the last of the older Macys, passed to his reward above. He was 82 years old and leaves a widow and one married daughter. "Uncle Henry" was one of the old-time Friends. Everyone knew him to be a man of honor and integrity, and in his death our community suffers a distinct loss. He was buried at Centre graveyard on the 9th. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Special Correspondence.

RALEIGH, Oct. 23.—This is "fair week," annually the gayest of the year in Raleigh, and judging by all the indications up to this hour—the morning of the second day of the fair—the event promises to surpass any of like character in many years.

The attractions are unusually numerous and meritorious. The exhibits of the fair proper (all of which are now in place) are beautifully and artistically displayed in "dormitory hall" and other buildings set apart for the purpose, and are such as to make every North Carolinian proud of his state—its resources and products and the handicraft and skill and thrift and brain and brawn and capital and energy of our splendid people.

From the cloud-capped "land of the sky," which boasts of "Biltmore," the generous soil and the streams and the gem-studded mountains, to the wave-tossed shores of Currituck and her sister, so richly blessed in their natural wealth of soil and sea-food—these exhibits have come. And as they came from the west and the east, they were joined by the manufactured and natural products and animal life of the great Piedmont and Central Carolina sections—all combining, as I gaze upon them today at our great State fair, to present a picture, an exquisite object lesson, of how good the great and gracious God of us all has been to His children in North Carolina this year, and how advantageously we have utilized for our own comfort and convenience the means He has so generously placed at our command.

THE COTTON MILL "LOCK-OUT."

The trouble between the cotton mill owners and their operatives in Alamance county, which, by reason of the "lock-out," has now resulted in the enforced idleness of some two or three thousands of working men and women, is causing much comment and no little speculation over the probable result.

The operatives who declined to announce their recently organized "union" (and it is said none of them have done so up to date), have been compelled to cease work at the mills and to vacate the dwellings used by them (the latter using the property of the mill companies), and I am told many will have to resort to tents in which to live and sleep; some, it is stated already are doing so. This mode of life would seem to work a great hardship when cold weather sets in, and it is to be hoped some means of settling the trouble will soon be reached. The two newspapers at Graham and people from Alamance now visiting Raleigh state that the sympathy of the local public is now with the operatives; that their right to form organizations for their own benefit and protection is one that ought not to be denied them, etc. The organized mill owners do not accede to this, and therein rests the whole trouble.

KNOWLEDGE THE ABSORBING SUBJECT

The advance guard of fair visitors are all talking about the senselessness and the primary. For, although they take time to admire and discuss the exhibits, that does not prevent the discussion of the main subject, which is unquestionably the absorbing one at present from one end of North Carolina to the other, on the contrary, the fair is rather helping along the "discussion," and the names of Simmons, Carr and Waddell are heard on all lips.

THE VOTE SWAPPING ARRANGEMENT.

I note that a double-barrel brother of the state press thinks it a "name" that "Llewellyn" should have helped along the already current report (originating from the point of the truthful local pencil of Brother Avery, in the Charlotte Observer) that a "plan" to swap votes was being arranged between some white Republicans and Mr. Riley Pops and some so-called "Democrats," for the express (and some instances avowed) purpose of "killing Simmons."

I am grieved to know that I have looked or offended our brother. Why he should have taken umbrage at my harmless little white flag of advice, he can best state. There no emblem upon its peace-fold—called no bad names; called no name at all, in fact. It was only designed to put true Democrats on their guard, and not once did I think a Democrat would be so color-blind as to mistake it for a rebel battle flag emblazoned with "charges" against the skiddish gentleman's commanding general. This feeble pencil has had at no time aught in view except the good and future welfare of our party in defending it and exposing schemes that would possibly work its disintegration and destruction. But my object has been accomplished—the Democrats of the state have been put upon their guard—and I lift my hat to our critical brother and wish him a long life and much happiness!

TARHEEL DEMOCRATS STRONG

Expectations that they Will Elect Nine Members to Next Congress.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 21.—Beyond any question the Democrats will carry the First, Second, Third, Fourth Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Congressional districts in this State. There are some elements of doubt in the Eighth and Ninth, but it can be said with entire accuracy that the chances in both are in favor of the Democrats. With the Republicans it is largely a question of money in these districts. If they had available $25,000 for use in each they could probably carry both; in fact, it would be quite safe to say they would do so. Republican State Chairman Pritchard claims both districts. He perhaps bases this on the fact that in the August State election both districts gave a majority against the constitutional amendment disfranchising illiterate negroes. So good an authority as Populist ex-State Chairman Ayer says the Democrats will carry all nine districts. The Democrats are straining every nerve to do that particular thing. The Republicans do not claim that they will carry any districts other than the Eighth and Ninth.

Senator Pritchard hints at a possibility of carrying the Sixth, but that is not worth while to consider. The same election machinery which controlled the August election will control that in November. It is entirely improbable that there will be any increase worthy of note in the negro registration, which was very light in August. East of Greensboro the State is solidly Democratic. There are some Republicans in the Eighth district who will not support their nominee, Spencer Blackburn, and these are known as the insurgents. In fact, there is an independent Republican candidate, J. B. Fortune, now in the field there. James M. Moody, the Republican nominee in the Ninth, will come pretty near polling his party's strength. There are no Populists in that district to aid him.—Raleigh Special to Washington Post.

Prof. Bennett, of Nebraska, Weds Miss Holt, of Oak Ridge.

OAK RIDGE, Oct. 18.—At the home of Prof. and Mrs. M. H. Holt, their only daughter Miss Myrtle May, was married to Mr. J. T. Bennett, of Nebraska. Mr. Bennett was a teacher in the Oak Ridge school for the past two years. The bride is a graduate of the Salem Female Academy. Since school is in the session the wedding was a quiet one, only a few special friends and close relatives were invited. They were married in traveling suits and took the train for Washington, D. C., where they will spend a few days, thence to Ponca, Neb., their home. Their many friends wish them a long happy and prosperous life. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Johnson, of the M. P. church, of Greensboro.

Dr. J. R. Reitzel Has a Narrow Escape from Death at High Point.

HIGH POINT, Oct. 20.—There was an accident at one of the railroad crossings here today, which came very near ending seriously for Dr. J. R. Reitzel, one of the practicing physicians of High Point. While on his way to visit a patient in the factory district, he was caught on the track by the shifting engine, which crushed his horse's foot, smashed the buggy and hurled the doctor ten feet down the track. The top of the buggy was raised and it is a mystery how Dr. Reitzel got out without injury. The buggy was a wreck and the horse had to be shot. Dr. Reitzel says he heard no alarm, either from the bell or whistle of the engine.

A Revolution in Politics.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Simmons Club last night, Mr. James D. Johnson, president of the Highland Park Democratic Club, made a motion that the club adjourn to hear the speech of Senator Jeter C. Pritchard, and this motion was unanimously carried. There upon Mr. E. S. Williams, president of the club; Mr. Lotte W. Humphrey, the secretary, and the twenty odd other members who were present, walked over to the court house and patiently listened to Republican doctrine as expounded by the Senator from the west.—Charlotte Observer.

An Alliance Formed.

London, Oct. 20.—Germany and Great Britain, it is announced, have formed an alliance to maintain the territorial integrity of China and keep the ports open. The terms of this important agreement, which was reached on the 16th, are officially given out.

GEN. J. S. CARR ENDORSED.

Hon. W. P. Wood, a Leading Farmer and Merchant, Member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and Member-Elect of the State Senate from Randolph County, Urges the Claims of General Carr for the United States Senate.

TO THE EDITOR:—I have read many communications favoring the several gentlemen for United States Senator. I have none but friendly feelings for all of them, but I am for Julian S. Carr. My ticket is Bryan, Stevenson and Carr. I will give several reasons why I am for Julian S. Carr:

1. He has always been in line with the Democratic party—no wavering and no hesitation. He has been always ready to help, when victory was certain and when uncertain.

2. He has furnished more of the sinews of war for party battles than any man in the state. Many victories might have been defeats but for his liberal and ready aid.

3. He has never claimed any office as the reward of party services, nor has he demanded reward for being a Democrat. He has helped others; he has claimed nothing for himself.

4. He has been the constant friend of public schools; he has aided them often. In every movement to improve the public school system he has been in the front, whether by local taxation or state appropriation.

5. He has been a loyal friend of the University of the state; he has just completed a handsome dormitory building on the college campus, at a cost of nearly $20,000. No son of the state has given so much since the war.

6. He has been liberal to Trinity College. After the death of the lamented Dr. Craven, he, with Jas. A. Gray and J. W. Alsbaugh, maintained the college for three years. He then gave it $10,000 in stock worth about $13,000, and when it was removed to Durham he gave it sixty acres of land worth now about $60,000. He has made other gifts to it.

7. When the Baptists of the state were considering the location of their female university he offered to give $25,000 if located in Durham. He gave it $1,000, although located in Raleigh. He pays the expenses there of a young lady selected by the First Baptist church, of Durham.

8. He has given to Wake Forest College.

9. He aided in the rescue of the Greensboro Female College and saved it to the Methodists of the state for the education of their daughters.

10. He has aided St. Mary's and Davidson, the Episcopal and Presbyterian schools.

11. He has helped Elon College and has aided and encouraged other schools and colleges by scholarships and medals.

12. He has been a generous friend to the Orphan Asylum—those charities of our state that appeal with such force and tenderness to the human heart.

13. He has been the true and generous friend of the Confederate veterans of the state. He has done for them what no other friend in the state has done. A veteran himself, he has been a devoted friend to the boys in gray. I notice that of the nine Democratic Congressional nominees, not one of them was a Confederate soldier. They represent another generation. They are strong, able men. Our noble governor-elect, Aycock, was too young to be a Confederate soldier. Give the old veterans one more big office. They will soon be gone.

14. In the industrial development of the state Jule Carr has been a leader. The first factory that made the whole world hear of North Carolina and gave to it the best smoking tobacco ever manufactured was built up and managed largely by him. He has helped to build other factories—cotton factories, shoe factories, furniture factories and others. He has helped to develop the mineral wealth of our state. All was done for the uplifting of North Carolina. He loves our state and believes in her future greatness and reveres her past history.

15. He is opposed to trusts. He has been fighting trusts and they fight him. He knows their methods and has felt their power. He still fights them.

16. He knows the needs of the industrial South and represents a greater diversity of business interests than any man in the state. I have heard one objection to him, to wit: he is not a lawyer and has not the training for public speaking of a lawyer. There are few business men, if any, who make as good public speeches as he does, and not many lawyers who can beat him. Suppose all of the states should do as North Carolina has done. The House of Representa-

A GREAT BIG MISTAKE

Is made when, with a view to saving a few cents per sack, the farmer uses cheap low grade Fertilizers on his land. If the land needs a Fertilizer at all, the BEST is none too good and it should by all means be used. The best is the cheapest every time. As the BEST Fertilizer sold on this market we offer

BAUGH'S BONE MEAL AND BONE AND POTASH.

They are strictly high grade, and while they cost a little more than other brands they are worth all and more than the difference. We keep these brands on sale all the time and will be pleased to furnish anyone wanting the best Fertilizers made.

Wakefield Hardware Co.

tives would be composed entirely of lawyers. If any one of the other candidates for the Senate should be elected then North Carolina will be represented entirely in the Senate by lawyers. I hope and believe all the Democratic nominees for Congress will be elected. I admire the loyalty and patriotism of lawyers, but they ought not to want all the important offices. I don't want to complain of them and I hope they won't give cause for complaint. Mr. Carr has the ability, the experience, the judgment, the knowledge of books and of men sufficient to worthily represent the great state of North Carolina. I appeal to the people of the state he loves so well to send him to the Senate of the United States as a fit token of their appreciation of his great and patriotic services to the Democratic party and to the state.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22, 1900.

"Of course," said one of the national Democratic leaders today, "party managers, when speaking in quotation, claim every state which they think they have even the smallest chance of carrying. This is pretty generally understood, and, after all, is only part of the game. Speaking anonymously, however, I can give you the real ideas as to the election. I think Bryan will win. In my opinion, he will carry every thing except in 1896 except Washington, and in 1896 he carried Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia. Then the chances were up to 190. But without these he would have 164 votes for a starter. That he will also certainly carry Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia, which will bring him up to 196. Then the chances are that he will get New York, which will make him 232 votes and give him with eight votes to spare. In New York, he might lose Maryland, Nebraska, Delaware or West Virginia, and yet win. This is a Republican scheme to carry New Jersey to the Republicans, although they are all fighting ground. My own opinion is that New Jersey will go Democratic, and Kentucky Republican, while I won't make a prophecy on Illinois and Ohio. These are the indications I see them, but you must always remember that while straws indicate the way the wind is blowing, they can take no account of such big-seated movements as land-slides, and it wouldn't be at all surprising if one of these last would be breeding right now."

All the Republican papers are making a good deal of the fact that the betting odds on McKinley are 1 to 1. There is nothing surprising in this, however. Democrats generally are poor men and cannot afford to risk their hard-earned wages, while the trusts and street operators, all of them Republicans, have plenty of easy money to throw away, if need be. Information shows that the Democrats have scarcely enough money to pay the barest campaign expenses. They have nothing to offer their spell-binders for salaries so little enough for expenses. Governor Stone, the responsible manager of the eastern campaign, authority for the statement that speakers have been hired by him and his associates, nor are any of the thousands now upon the stump in New York, New Jersey, Maryland and West Virginia drawing a cent. It is explained that these speakers are all volunteers, who are giving their time and services to the Bryan campaign simply because they are earnestly aroused at the dangers which threaten the Republic. They have come into the campaign from all parts of the country and they report to headquarters in New York for assignment just as they had been hired to work the stump.

Distinguished gold Democrats refuse to come back to the old Republican policy of the imperial policy of the Republicans. The Democratic accession to Democrats ranks Judge and ex-Senator George W. of Delaware, who has come out for Bryan. The fact that Judge Gray was a member of the commission which concluded the Paris treaty lends additional confidence in his attitude. It has been rumored that Judge William of Canton, who headed the commission, is also against McKinley, but keeps silence for personal reasons. Democrats say that Judge Gray expected when he signed the treaty that the Filipinos would be made free instead of being subjected, as has since been proved, to a ruthless policy of war.

McKinley is needed in Ohio to keep the Republican bosses hold the state in line, and he left for there today, and will practically leave the rest of the Republican campaign in Ohio. He professes confidence in his election, but his advisers indicate that he has grave doubts. News from Mr. Bryan's through New York has been encouraging to him and he is afraid he may lose the state. He has now gone back to New York, but he has no confidence in his ability to help him any more, because he knows that McKinley is not in touch with the machinery, and that the McKinley method of campaigning is popular in the Empire state.

The exigencies of the campaign have broken in the rule recently by Mr. McKinley against the presence of the Secretary and Assistant Secretary of War. Saturday was the last day of registration in

New York, and Secretary Root was told by Mr. McKinley to go and register, as his vote might be needed. Assistant Secretary McKeljohn is on the stump in Nebraska. Consequently Gen. Miles was Acting Secretary of War a few days.

This is the way the big Bryan meeting in New York city impressed a New York Republican who attended it, and who is now in Washington: "Bryan's visit to New York was timely, and if the Republican managers in that state do not wake up and counteract the effects of that meeting there will be something doing next month. I was at Madison Square Garden. I was also at the Chicago convention which Bryan stamped in 1896. In a crowd of people the appearance of Bryan is like dynamite. There is no describing the wonderful effect that the personality of this man has upon people. Republicans can say what they please, he wears. Those who have been with in sound of his voice are won over to him in spite of former opinions. I am a Republican, but I want to say that I, like thousands of others who heard him, left Madison Square Garden doing some serious thinking." The gentleman who did this plain talking is Mr. Charles Faret.

A Republican scheme to carry Virginia was unearthed just in time to put the Democrats of the state on their guard. While pretending that they were making no effort to carry Virginia, it was discovered that Hanna had sent a lot of money into the state for the purpose of getting all the Republicans registered, while Democrats, from a feeling of security were neglecting to register. Fortunately, the scheme was discovered in time for the Democrats to get their voters registered.

Victory Claimed For Bryan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The Democratic congressional committee last night issued a rosy forecast of Democratic prospects. It makes 1,500 words. Among other things the committee says:

"A tidal wave of Democracy is sweeping over the country and indications now point to the greatest popular majority for Bryan next month ever given to any Democratic presidential candidate. The great popular uprising in favor of Bryan is not confined to any particular section of the country; it is universal. The sign is in the sky, and it spells 'victory'. It is universally conceded, even by the Republican leaders, that Mr. Bryan has lost nothing of the strength he had in 1896, when less than 25,000 votes, properly distributed, would have elected him. It therefore follows that this year he will receive at least as many votes as in 1896, plus the natural increase in the number of young Democratic voters who have come of age since the last national campaign. But this year Mr. Bryan has many elements of strength which he lacked in 1896, and which are sufficient to insure him a tremendous majority, both in the popular vote and the electoral college."

Veterans Leave McKinley.

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 21.—Edward W. Freeman and sixteen other civil war veterans of his company, who marched with Sherman to the sea, have renounced McKinley and will vote for Bryan. Mr. Freeman is a well-known newspaper man, and has resided here for fifty years. He was postmaster of Kokomo for 12 years under Grant and other Republican Presidents, and has held county offices of honor and trust.

Mr. Freeman and his sixteen comrades are all substantial citizens. They departed on the issue of imperialism and pension methods. They will vote the straight Democratic ticket from President down.

A. F. Phillips, formerly editor and owner of the Kokomo Tribune (Republican) now editor of a paper at Salt Lake City, Utah, has also abandoned McKinley and has declared for Bryan.

Another Error By Teddy.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 19.—Regarding the statement made in a recent speech by Governor Roosevelt that he was glad to see such men as General Wheeler supporting President McKinley in the present campaign, General Wheeler said today:

"Governor Roosevelt is honestly mistaken. He made the statement on the strength of a publication made by a man in my district, unfriendly to me, that I had delivered a Republican speech at Florence. "In Congress there is only one member who has so long and so consistently as I supported the Democratic measures. There is no need for me to deny these statements. The people of Alabama do not doubt my fealty to the Democratic party."

SWEPT BY A WATERSPOUT.

The Citizens Run for Their Lives and all But Two Escape.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 20.—A messenger reached here from Guadeloupe, Texas, and brings the news that the place was completely swept from the face of the earth by a waterspout. Not a house is left standing. Wednesday the citizens heard a fearful roaring up the mountains where a storm was raging. Fearing a flood they fled to the second foot hills just in time to escape the deluge of water that swept through the village of five hundred inhabitants. So far as known when the messenger left only one or two children were drowned.

THE WEEK ABROAD.

Chinese Offers of Money Indemnities—Von Buelow at the Helm.

The Chinese suggestions for a settlement of differences with the powers proceed upon the idea that the latter ought to be satisfied, as respects the attack on the legations at Peking and the murder of missionaries, with the reported decapitation of several Chinese officials and the dismissal of others from office, together with the payment of money indemnities. A lot of money will cure the hurt Europe's honor feels. The outrage of trying to kill ambassadors is not appreciated, it seems, by the Chinese mind, or if it does seem to the Chinaman a gross wrong, yet he holds the "foreign devil" in such contempt that he fancies he will bear anything for money.

Thus it comes that Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching begin negotiations by sending the diplomatic corps at Peking proposals which are described as "characteristically arrogant, as if it were China and not Europe that is dictating terms." Leading Boxers, it is proposed, shall be handed over to Chinese courts, to be judged and punished by Chinese law—which means that the chief offenders are to go scot free. The principle of indemnities for destroyed legation buildings is accepted. The losses are to be estimated by delegates of the powers. European nations can be accorded fresh commercial advantages on the old treaties modified, but, as the requirements of the powers vary, each power must formulate its own.

The reply of the diplomatic corps is to the effect that China, having recognized that she has violated the law of nations, is bound to accept the responsibilities involved, including the exemplary punishment of the principals, namely, Prince Tuan, Prince Chwang, Chang Yi and Tung Fu Hsiang. It is added that so long as their heads had not fallen it is impossible to cease hostilities.

POOR PROSPECTS.

The absence of the Chinese Emperor from Peking, his subjection to Prince Tuan and the impossibility of getting the latter to consent to his own decapitation make the outlook for the negotiators rather a poor one. They will, however, proceed with their task on the basis of the French note. Should China persistently decline to satisfy the demands of the powers formal war, under direction of Gen. Waldersee, is likely to follow. As the Chinese court at Sinan Fu, some 600 miles in the interior, is practically inaccessible, the war is apt to take, ultimately, the form of a permanent occupation by each power of a "sphere of influence." Meanwhile rebellions of Triads, Black Flags and Reformers are being added to the Boxer movement and China is falling into disorder.

IS THE CONCERT BROKEN?

A new feature of the situation is Russia's alleged cutting loose from the other powers. Her interests in Manchuria having been secured, she has no reason to waste time and money in war with China. Germany's policy is described at St. Petersburg as "irreconcilable" and foolish. The Czar expects the Chinese government to utilize its resources of duplicity to keep the powers occupied with vain negotiations and the dispatching of notes in order to gain time until winter, counting on the rigor of the climate to prevent military operations and allow China to gather her resources for a spring campaign. Appearing to be for peace, Russia will claim China's gratitude and a province or two. Rumors multiply to the effect that Russia and Japan are reaching an agreement by which Japan gets Korea. Nevertheless Japan has decided to leave the whole of the Fifth Division in North China during the winter. The reason given is that other powers, including Russia, are increasing their forces. There is an increasing tendency toward independent action by the different allied contingents.

THE PROPOSALS.

Von Buelow succeeds Prince Hohenlohe in the office of Chancellor. This will make little difference in the management of Germany's foreign affairs, since the Emperor really decides the main points. Old age is probably the cause of the Prince's retirement. A younger man is wanted to execute the imperial will and look after the details of foreign affairs. The foreign situation, the German press argues, is extremely serious and calls for a man of strength and character. Since Bismarck's time the sphere of German policy has been immensely widened. The Empire's undertaking in China is full of danger. The extension of German commercial and naval interests is illustrated by the fact that the Sultan of Turkey has leased to Germany for 30 years the Island of Uroan, in the Red sea, 40 miles north of Kamaran, for a coaling station.

OUR EMPIRE.

The rescue of Captain Shields and his 51 men after four weeks of captivity is a bright fact in the dismal catalogue of our troubles in the Philippines. The killing and capturing of our men are painfully frequent events. The Filipinos range the islands in armed bands, making life and property insecure. Small fights are frequent. Detachments of our troops become their prey. An incident of a different kind recently occurred. Under cover of a stormy night Captain Elliott, of the Fortieth Infantry, surprised the Filipino headquarters near Oraquieta, Island of Mindanao, and captured, after a fight, General Alvarez, with his staff and 25 soldiers. Long lists of killed, wounded and sick continue to come from General MacArthur.

BRITISH POLITICS.

In the new Parliament Lord Salisbury will have a majority of at least 132, a gain of 4 over his strength at the dissolution, though 20 less than his majority in 1895.

One election—in the Orkneys—remains to be held, but it is assumed in the above statement that it will be decided in favor of the opposition. The result upon the whole is an emphatic popular declaration for imperialism and in favor of Mr. Chamberlain's South African policy.

WAR NOT ENDED.

Lord Roberts reports numerous small engagements with scattered bands of Boers, success falling sometimes to one side and sometimes to the other, but oftenest, according to his version, to the British. Near Vreyheid, for example, a Boer commando was taken in ambuscade by Bethune's Mounted Infantry, the Boers losing 60 killed, 35 wounded and 65 taken prisoners. At Magerfontein the capture of Mafeking was paralleled. British forces are scouring the country, chasing elusive guerrillas. There are indications that General Roberts is impressed by the new phase of the war and has accordingly deferred his departure for England. Greater severity with the roving bands of men who cut telegraph lines, derail trains and ambush patrols is proposed by the British press. As matters now go there seems to be no reason why the war should not last ten years.

The Senatorial Contest Again.

EDITOR PATRIOT:—I was pleased to read in your issue of Sept. 19th an able communication copied from the Daily Record advocating the election of the Hon. F. M. Simmons to the United States Senate. The reasons given by the writer, who signed himself "A Lifelong Democrat," for his preference of Mr. Simmons in a contest in which Gen. J. S. Carr appears to be his most prominent rival, are, I think, conclusive. After mentioning Mr. Simmons as "a man of integrity, of exemplary habits, of industry and great ability," he asks these significant questions: "Shall we forget that he has twice in two years led the party to glorious victories? Shall we forget that to him more than to any other man we owe the fact that the great incubus of negro suffrage has been lifted from us forever?" And yet in a subsequent communication copied by you from the Charlotte Observer, signed "Robt. L. Abernethy," the writer does propose to forget or to ignore these splendid and most successful campaigns, and to consign to oblivion this distinguished young hero of a political revolution for which every white man in the state, whether a Democrat or a Republican, should be profoundly grateful. Mr. Abernethy, after saying that the race will be won by Gen. Carr or Mr. Simmons, adds that "on the one side it is claimed that the Democratic party owes the place to Mr. Simmons, from the fact that the great battle just won in our state was due largely to his splendid management of the campaign." But Mr. Abernethy proceeds at once to repudiate all political obligations by saying: "In my opinion the Democratic party owes no man anything." This opinion is heterodox. It is at variance with all sound doctrines for both time and eternity. We are assured that in a future state every man will be rewarded according to his works; and we can make no improvement on this plan, because it is founded upon infinite wisdom. Then let us not shirk responsibility, but stand up like men, acknowledging our obligations to our able and adroit campaign manager, and to some extent discharging these obligations by giving him our votes at the approaching primary.

MINE OPERATORS BACK DOWN

From Their Promise to Continue the Increase in Wages to April.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 19.—It is a practical certainty that the miners will not be back to work next Monday, as was expected from the action of the Philadelphia conference of the operators on Tuesday and Wednesday and the Scranton conference yesterday.

Some of the biggest local companies are balking at the agreement to continue the 10 per cent offer in force until April 1, 1901, as is demanded by the resolutions of the miners convention. They were all willing enough yesterday to amend, but today they seem to have undergone a change of heart and only one operator of any prominence would say outright that he would make the modification. They say it would be humiliating for them to come out with an amendment to their notices.

As one prominent operator put it: "The modification would serve but one purpose and that is to gratify a whim of John Mitchell. We don't propose to waste any energy bowing and scraping to Mr. Mitchell."

The Connell Coal Company is the only one to send out the amendment to the notice. No other company would even admit that it intended to do so.

Youtsey is Convicted.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 21.—Henry E. Youtsey, formerly Gov. W. S. Taylor's stenographer, was yesterday found guilty of being a principal in the murder of Governor Goebel, by the jury which has been hearing the case, and his punishment fixed at life imprisonment.

The defense filed a motion for an arrest of judgment and Judge Cantrell set it for hearing on the second day of the February term. Therefore, Youtsey will not be sentenced until next year.

The Youtsey case is the third in connection with the assassination of Governor Goebel on January 30 last.

Caleb Powers, tried on the charge of complicity, was sentenced to life imprisonment, while James Howard, tried on an indictment charging him with being a principal in the shooting, was sentenced to death.

A North Carolina Physician "Touched" by New York Thieves.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Andrew Cahill, a policeman, was arraigned today, on a charge of being an accessory to the robbery of Dr. Wylie S. Jones, of North Carolina. He was held for examination.

The robbery took place Friday noon, after the doctor had visited a saloon. Detectives learned that two men named Donovan and Healey were in the saloon and Donovan said he had given Dr. Jones' watch to Officer Cahill. The latter was suspected and arrested, and a pawn broker identified him as the man who had pawned Dr. Jones' watch.

The Missouri Cuts Away Vauable Land.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 19.—Owing to a sudden change in the current of the Missouri River at this point fifty feet of the east bank has been cut away in the last twenty-four hours. A meeting of citizens this afternoon issued an appeal to the government to take action to stop the ravages of the stream. Much valuable property is threatened.

"Asleep in Jesus."

Fell asleep in Jesus Oct. 13, 1900. John W. Aiken, aged 34 years, two months and 12 days. For fifteen years he was a consistent member of Alamance Presbyterian church. He was a great sufferer; but during his illness he never complained but submitted with Christian resignation and expressed himself as being perfectly willing to die. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn for one who was all that a husband and father could be.

The large concourse that attended the funeral services evidenced the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him.

May God comfort the widow and relatives and fold in His sheltering arms the little ones so early bereft of a father's love and protection.

America Next to Great Britain.

London, Oct. 20.—The quarterly report has been issued by the Lloyd's showing that the United States, at the end of the last quarter, had, next to Great Britain, the largest tonnage in shipping under construction. This report attracts much attention and the statistics publishes a long article pointing out that in respect to the development of building, America is even greater than might be inferred from the report.

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 19.—One month and ten days have elapsed since the storm and still the number of dead bodies being recovered daily does not decrease. Forty two were recovered yesterday. This makes a record of 107 for the past four days.

THE EMPIRE DRILL COMPANY

Have transferred their local agency at Greensboro to the Greensboro Storage & Transfer Co. Mr. N. A. Steadman has been employed to take charge of the local retail trade, and will be pleased to serve his friends and customers as well as the many friends of the old reliable Empire Drill. They keep a large stock of 6 Hoe, 8 Hoe, 6 Disc and 8 Disc Drills, and a large stock of Repairs, this being their general transfer point for North and South Carolina.

THE EMPIRE DRILL IS THE BEST

Because it is the Lightest Running, having a tapered axle like a wagon. The wheels hang on a straight and revolving axle. It is the only Drill in the world that will sow the same amount of wheat or oats per acre with the same gear in the same time and through the same run, i. e., making no change whatever to sow the same quantity of wheat or oats. Therefore it is the only Drill that can PROVE Force Feed. It handles peas just as well as oats and wheat. It is the strongest Disc Drill made and does better work on rough or uneven land than any other, the discs having rods long enough to allow the discs seven inches deep. It pays to have the best, even if it costs a little more. You would soon lose the difference by loss of time paying for repairs, and worst of all, having your grain and fertilizer handled badly.

Call on Mr. N. A. Steadman for prices and terms.

Copyright, 1900, by the Pan-American Exposition Co.

The dignified and stately beauty of the great Electric Tower, which will form the conspicuous centerpiece of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901, will command the rapt admiration of every visitor. The entire exterior of the 350 foot high tower will be studded with electric lights.

Associate Justice Brewer on Expansion.

Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme Court, in his political sympathies and affiliations a Republican and is personally friendly to Mr. McKinley. He views the situation created by our acquisition of the Philippines, however, from the standpoint of an American and not that of a partisan. In an address at Buffalo, N. Y., February 16, 1899, he discussed the consequences of the annexation of remote territory by the United States in a broad, philosophical spirit. Coming from so distinguished a source, the views which he then expressed are worthy of the thoughtful and respectful consideration of voters of all political parties. The questions which he discussed at Buffalo may be briefly stated as follows:

"First, because we undertook the deliverance of the oppressed Cubans from the domination of Spain are we hereafter to assume the duty of forcibly emancipating all oppressed peoples; or were the circumstances surrounding our interference in Cuban affairs such as to make that simply an exception in our history and policy?"

"Secondly, are we to extend our dominion by force, purchase or otherwise over remote territory and enter upon that career of colonial expansion which has become the settled habit of European nations, or are we to remain content with our compact continental possessions and devote our energies to the development of our own resources and the building up of the United States of America within those limits along the lines of our past history?"

Justice Brewer believes that the United States was so situated in respect to Cuba that if the circumstances demanded any outside interference in its affairs "it would seem to have been our special duty to interfere; we were the near Samaritan." There are times he asserts, in the history of every nation when humanity calls upon it to look beyond the mere matter of dollars and cents and even at personal sacrifice to interfere in the affairs of other nations. But, as the distinguished jurist admirably observes, "it does not follow therefrom that there is a continuous obligation to be looking into the affairs of other nations to see if there are not wrongs that ought to be righted. The good Samaritan did not go down on the road from Jerusalem to Jericho hunting a job, but as he journeyed on his own business came where the robbed and beaten sufferer lay." Justice Brewer concludes that the primary duty of a nation is to its own people, and that their interests and well being are not to be neglected under the illusive notion that it has a duty "to pose as a great national rectifier of wrongs done by other nations. It is a wise man that successfully manages his own household."

Many people mistakenly assume that the Monroe Doctrine imposes upon this country certain duties in connection with the countries of Central and South America. There is nothing in that doctrine, according to Justice Brewer, "which makes us sponsor for this continent. We have no supervision or control over the internal affairs of other states; we are not their guardians. Each of them has the same right to interfere with the affairs of the United States that we have to interfere in its." The Monroe Doctrine means that only we are unwilling that the political system of Europe shall be extended in America, or that "their ideas of government and colonial expansion should be worked out on this hemisphere. It is a declaration of our purpose to stand by our weaker neighbors in case of attack, and in no sense an assumption of control over their affairs." Yet it appears that while we will not permit European ideas of colonial expansion to be worked out on this hemisphere we insist upon our own right to force similar expansion ideas upon weak people in the Far East. "We cannot," declares Justice Brewer, "either rightfully or successfully, pose as a supreme dictator of the world." The moment we enter the Orient and appropriate territory, that moment "it ceases to become us to insist that European nations shall keep off from this continent."

Are we to continually expand, and is such a policy of expansion wise? Justice Brewer has heard officers of the army and navy assert that it was essential for this country to have coaling stations on the Island of Hawaii and on the Philippine archipelago. But, he observes, "we have got along safely for a hundred years without any coaling stations outside of our own territory." How much greater a victory, he asks, could Dewey have won if we had had a dozen coaling stations in the far Pacific? There is such a thing, in his opinion, as "overdoing this getting ready for war." A man who goes about with a chip on his shoulder, he remarks, is very apt to have many quarrels, but the gentleman who minds his own business is ordinarily let alone and goes through life without a fight.

What shall we do with the Philippines? Shall we introduce the colonial system into this country and hold these islands by force as colonies of the United States, or shall we incorporate the people of those islands into our nationality as citizens thereof, either by their direct admission as states or through the intermediate process of territorial organization? Each of these propositions, according to Justice Brewer, "is freighted with peril." "The colonial system antagonizes the principles upon which this government was founded, which have controlled its life up to the present time, and the perfection of which has been the hope and aspiration of every true American." If we admit the Filipinos to citizenship we add incalculably to the difficulties of the labor problem in the United States. We have 10,000,000 unskilled negro laborers in our southern states, and "we find," as Justice Brewer pointed out, "the governor of a great northern state threatening to stand at its borders with Gatling guns and shoot down those laborers if they attempt to enter or compete with its white laborers." Are we likely to aid in solving our labor problem by bringing into our national life 10,000,000 unskilled Malay laborers? "The great economic problem in this country is not how can a few men pile up larger fortunes? but how can the great body of the people make a fair and comfortable living? We cannot escape the problems and troubles which now embarrass us by looking out on the distant world."

Justice Brewer has no patience with the "gush about duty and destiny." We make our own destiny, he says, and are "the masters, not the victims, of fate. To attempt to unload upon the Almighty responsibility for that which we choose to do is not only an insult to Him, but to ordinary human intelligence." The simple question before the American people is, Can we find safety in adding to our difficulties? Expansion as advocated by the Republican party will bring under our dominion weaker and distant races and lands, with the occasional glory and sacrifice of war—"a wonderfully luxurious life," observes Justice Brewer, "to which the fortunate few shall enter." * * * Then the shadow of the awful question whether the ascending splendor of imperial power is to be followed by the descending gloom of decay and ruin. Unless human nature has changed, history will repeat itself. "The splendor of imperial Rome outshone the world, but the wealth obtained without value given undermined the empire, and the glory of Rome is but a memory. We stand today," concludes Justice Brewer, "facing the temptation which comes from the possibility of accumulated wealth. What right have we to anticipate that the same result will not follow if we pursue the same course of taking what we have not fully earned?"

PRISONERS ESCAPE JAIL.

They Just Unlocked the Door of the Fayetteville Bastille and Skipped.

FAYETTEVILLE, Oct. 18.—"Hallo! Within there!" That is the call which, persistently falling the vibrant tympanum of the large ear of Deputy Sheriff Skipper, at length awoke him; and going out doors from his room on the first floor of the county jail, he looked up to see silhouetted against the sky of breaking day the six and a half-foot form of J. L. York, confined under charge of fraudulent use of the mails. "Just called to let you know that you are lacking three prisoners," said York, as he sent out on the morning air the smoke of a cigar from his place on the balcony. "Then and there were hurrying to and fro, and mingled cries," and calls for the county bloodhounds.

In what is called the hospital ward were confined York, Thomas Fort, white, and the following negroes: Malcolm McNeil, Luke Revels, Council, Freeman and Butler. With a curiously contrived piece of metal McNeil managed to open the door leading out on the balcony of the second floor, through which he, Revels and Fort made their escape. The two first have not been recaptured, but Fort injured his leg so badly in sliding down the balcony pillar that, after making a fearful effort to get away, he gave it up, crawled into the court house, and at 6 o'clock gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Monaghan. York had the same chance of freedom as the others but either from consciousness of innocence or fear of recapture, or the bloodhounds, did not avail himself of the opportunity.

Biltmore Prize Hog Killed.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 16.—Geo. W. Vanderbilt lost his fine prize-winning boar yesterday.

On Friday the Biltmore farm's exhibit returned here from a grand circuit of State fairs, including Shelbyville, Ky.; Columbus, Milwaukee, Indianapolis and St. Louis. While the hogs were being unloaded at the piggy, on the Biltmore estate, the mules attached to one of the wagons became frightened and dashed away, throwing out the crate containing Higheler Topper, the famous prize-winner, which was killed.

Higheler Topper was the finest hog on the estate and was valued at $1,500. He was the undisputed champion of America and England, having won prizes wherever he was taken. He had just won at all of the State fairs in the closest competition.

The estate office has received a telegram from Atlanta, in which it is said that the Biltmore poultry had won twice as many prizes as all the other competitors put together.

Ready For Expansion.

A little girl in Madison street had just finished a new house dress and called in one of her friends to admire it, as is customary even among girls of larger growth.

By way of explanation to her friend she pointed out that the waistband had three buttonholes at intervals of about an inch, so that the skirt could be let out or taken up at pleasure.

"What on earth is that for?" asked her friend.

"The first hole is to be used in the morning, the second after dinner and the third after watermelon," promptly replied the owner of the dress.—Memphis Scimitar.

Hon. Wm. L. Wilson Dead.

LEXINGTON, Va., Oct. 17.—Hon. Wm. L. Wilson, president of Washington and Lee University, and ex-Postmaster General, died suddenly at 9.20 o'clock this morning, of congestion of the lungs. He had been failing ever since his return from Arizona. Mr. Wilson's attendant physician did not give up hope of his rallying until late last night. He was confined to the house from Tuesday a week ago was conscious until the last.

It is officially reported that there are 100 cases of yellow fever in Havana.

A Perfect Balance

The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere;
Like troubled spirits, here and there
The firelight shadows fluttering go;
And as the shadows 'round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
And, softly, from a father's room
Comes, "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And, somehow, with that little prayer
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thoughts go back to distant years
And linger with a dear one there;
And, so I hear the child's amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me,
Crouched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again,
O, for an hour in that dear place!
O, for the peace of that dear time;
O, for that childish trust sublime;
O, for a glimpse of mother's faces!
Yet, as the shadows 'round me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone—
And "Now I lay me down to sleep."

COAL MINERS' STRIKE ENDED.

The Operators Grant Everything—A Complete Victory for the Miners.

Philadelphia, October 17.—The great strike of the anthracite mine workers of Pennsylvania, which began September 17th, practically ended to-day when the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company and the Lehigh Valley Coal Company agreed to abolish the sliding scale in their respective regions and to grant an advance in wages of 10 per cent. net, the advance to remain in operation until April 1st, 1901, or thereafter. This action meets the demands of the Scranton miners' convention. The decision was arrived at after a conference between representatives of the individual coal operators and the large coal-carrying companies. The conference began yesterday. Today's action was the culmination of the recent meeting of the individual operators at Scranton, following the mine workers' convention in the same city. Nearly all of the collieries in the coal region had, previous to the mine workers' convention, posted notices granting an advance of 10 per cent. The mine workers, in considering this, demanded that the sliding scale in the Lehigh and Schuylkill districts be abolished, the increase to be guaranteed until April 1st, 1901, and all other differences be submitted to arbitration. The individuals agreed to everything and the appointment of a committee to induce the Lehigh and Reading companies to abolish the sliding scale and make the wage increase permanent.

Do not get scared if your heart troubles you. Most likely you suffer from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and gives the worn out stomach perfect rest. It is the only preparation known that completely digests all classes of foods; that is why it cures the worst cases of indigestion and stomach trouble after everything else has failed. It may be taken in all conditions and cannot help but do you good. Howard Gardner.

BETS HIS WIFE ON McKINLEY.

Stakes Better Half Against a Thousand Acre Farm on the Result of the Election.

Francis L. Terbot, of Peoria, Ill., is so sure of McKinley's election that he has bet his wife against a thousand acre farm owned by Horace Wade, of Tipton, Ind., on the result of the national vote.

There is a thread of romance running through the transaction, inasmuch as Terbot and Wade were boyhood friends and courted the same girl, whom Terbot won.

This, however, did not affect their friendly relations, and Wade was wont to joke his friend about his success in love.

Terbot, who is a commercial traveler, was making a trip through this section when he met Wade, who had come east to dispose of a quantity of live stock. They drifted into politics and Terbot remarked, "McKinley will be elected sure, and I'd bet my wife on it."

"All right," said Wade, "put her up against my farm." After the agreement had been drawn up Wade suggested Mrs. Terbot's opinion might prove an important factor.

Terbot thereupon wired her the circumstances and conditions of the wager. She replied: "It's a sure thing for us. Don't let me stop you." And the agreement was signed and deposited in a safe.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

GEYSER IN GULF OF MEXICO.

Steamed and Spouted Water Seventy-Five Feet into the Air.

It is an easy thing for a skipper with any pride in the traditions of his profession to sight a seaserpent, and just as easy for him to tell a thrilling yarn about it. Capt. Liddie, of the British steamship King Bladdyn, has never seen a great geyser, which he estimates to have been 75 feet high, gush out of the Gulf of Mexico, north of the peninsula of Yucatan. It was not a whale spouting or a marine monster trying to douse the stars, which were just beginning to gleam in a serene tropical sky. It was a Gulf geyser, apparently hot enough to boil eggs, and it kept up as if it were going to be an institution off the Campeche Banks.

The skipper says that the water around the area of disturbance was bubbling and foaming and breaking as if on a shoal, but that there are no shoals there, in fact, forty-one fathoms are marked on the chart at the point where the water shot into the air, encompassed by clouds of steam at the base. The spectacle was early in the evening of Sunday, September 16th, eight days after the hurricane wrecked Galveston, and the skipper, as he steamed away from it, watched it more than half an hour. The displacement of water caused by the sub-marine volcano—that's what it was, the skipper says—caused a slight commotion even in the neighborhood of the ship. Waves slapped against her sides and she trembled a bit.—New York Sun.

"Not a Sparrow Falls."

From Dallas, Texas, comes a pretty story.

A little three-year-old baby girl was missed from the home of her parents and the aid of the police was enlisted in the search for her.

For some time they looked in vain and when finally they found her she was at the zoo, to which she had wandered, and was seated in front of a large iron-grated cage in which a big black bear is confined. The child's feet and arms were extended inside the cage between the bars of the structure, and the little one was gleefully prattling to and petting the big brute.

The chief of police restored the little one to her parents with the declaration:

"If that had been me, or one of the force had taken such liberties with 'Big Ben' he would have chewed an arm or leg off for us, to say the least. God took care of the baby."

And so he did.

EXPLOSION AT HIGH POINT.

Gasoline Tank Blows Up With Tremendous Sound and Shock.

High Point, N. C., Oct. 17.—The town was shaken from centre to circumference to-night at 8 o'clock by an explosion, which was at first supposed to be a boiler at one of the factories. It developed to be a benzine tank on a car opposite the Standard Oil tanks in the southern extremity of town. The capacity of the tank is about eight thousand gallons. The cause of the explosion is unknown. The contents had been removed during the day. The cap on top of the tank was found lying at one side, but was intact. Fire and smoke were seen to issue when the explosion occurred. The damage, so far as ascertained, is slight.

CATARRH: FORERUNNER OF CONSUMPTION.

Few realize what a deep-seated, obstinate disease Catarrh is, regarding it as a simple inflammation of the nose and throat, little or no attention is given it. But, however insignificant it may seem at first, it is rapid and destructive, and finally ends in consumption.

The foul secretions entering the circulation poison the entire system. The stomach, kidneys—in fact all the organs—feel the effect of this catarrhal poison, and when the lungs are reached its progress is rapid and destructive, and finally ends in consumption.

It frequently happens that the senses of hearing and smell are in part or entirely lost, the soft bones of the nose eaten into and destroyed, causing intense suffering and greatly disfiguring the face. While sprays, washes and salves may give temporary relief, no permanent benefit can be expected from such treatment.

CATARRH IS A CONSTITUTIONAL OR BLOOD DISEASE, and far beyond the reach of mere local remedies. Those who rely upon them for a cure lose valuable time, meet with disappointment and allow the disease to take firmer hold. Only a real blood remedy can reach this troublesome and dangerous disease. S. S. S. cures Catarrh because it first cleanses and builds up the blood, purifies it, makes it rich and healthy, stimulates and puts new life into the sluggish worn-out organs, and thus relieves the system of all poisonous accumulations.

Mrs. Josephine Polhill, of Due West, S. C., writes: "I had Catarrh, which became so deep-seated that I was entirely deaf in one ear, and all inside of my nose, including part of the bone, sloughed off. When the disease had gone this far the physician gave me up as incurable. I determined to try S. S. S. as a last resort, and began to improve at once. It seemed to get at the seat of the disease, and after a few weeks' treatment I was entirely cured, and for more than seven years have had no sign of the disease."

S. S. S. is made of roots, herbs and barks of wonderful tonic and purifying properties. It is the only vegetable blood purifier known, and a certain and safe cure for all blood troubles. Send for our book on Blood and Skin Diseases, and at the same time write our physicians about your case. They will cheerfully give you any information or advice wanted. We make no charge for this.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

HIS FAMILY HONOR VERY DEAR.

Senator Daniel's Long Struggle to Pay the Debt His Family Left.

One chapter in the life of Senator Daniel is sufficient to tell the whole story. Until now it has never been written, and it is said to be known to less than a dozen people in the country.

Senator Daniel's father was Judge William Daniel, of Lynchburg, a man of prominence and considerable wealth. Although his fortune was considerably impaired by the war, he still had a lucrative practice and during the ten years which succeeded he was among those who foresaw the great commercial development of the country and interested himself in numerous speculative enterprises. But he was sanguine to the point of visionary. Everything seemed to him promising, and it was his habit, when approached with any new scheme, first to subscribe for $10,000 worth of stock, and then ask what was the nature of the enterprise.

In 1873, when he died, it was found that his estate was hopelessly insolvent. There were claims by creditors over and above the assets amounting to more than $100,000. These claims the son John assumed. He had been practicing law in his father's office, but there was no obligation on him of a moral or legal character. The scheme and speculations had been entered into without his knowledge or advice. The bankruptcy law afforded a wide door of escape. He could have wiped the slate clean and started the world anew. But he chose otherwise. To him it seemed that the only honorable course was to pay his father's debts in full and with interest, if it took all the earnings of his life to do so. Accordingly he notified the creditors of his intention and began upon the herculean task.

That was twenty-seven years ago. Sixty thousand dollars of the indebtedness has been paid. Senator Daniel is 56 years old. All these years he has paid over the greater part of his income to his father's creditors. He lives on less than $2,000 a year. When he comes to Washington he puts up at a second-rate hotel; although crippled and dependent on crutches he rides on the street cars instead of using cabs. His clothes are plain and his black coat is almost threadbare.—Chicago Journal.

It Happened in a Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." It is for sale by C. E. Holton, druggist.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 24, 1900.

MR. SIMMONS SPEAKS.

The Democratic State Chairman is Greeted by a Great Gathering of the Faithful.

Hon. F. M. Simmons, State Chairman of the Democratic organization, addressed a great gathering here Monday night which filled the court house to the doors. The crowd was augmented by a number of men from the country.

The speaker was introduced by County Chairman Scales, who spoke of his matchless leadership of the Democratic hosts to successive and glorious victories. Reference was made to the debt the Democratic party and the people of North Carolina in general owed him.

The first part of Mr. Simmons' speech was taken up with a discussion of the recently adopted constitutional amendment—the conditions which caused it to be submitted to the people and the effects that would follow its ratification. In speaking of attempts to intimidate on the part of Federal office holders, he said: "I want to say to the election officers—the red shirts, if you please, that wherever an attempt is made to interfere with them in the performance of their duty, there I expect to be as quick as steam can carry me. And I want to say to the Republican party and its Federal office holders—United States marshals, district attorneys, deputy marshals and deputy collectors, and judges, if you please—that their arrests of registrars is perfectly understood. Any attempt of the Federal judiciary to coerce the people of North Carolina or to overawe the people into silence in order to prevent them from the discharge of their solemn duty will not succeed, for the white men of North Carolina are behind the election officers of North Carolina and will protect them to the last ditch." (Applause.)

Then followed a brief discussion of the many good effects of the amendment, Mr. Simmons saying there was not a thing in it which a good man could not defend and that all the promises and assurances given in its name would be kept. He added that it would not only satisfy our own people, but would ultimately meet with the approval of the conscience of the nation. He said that while the amendment did away with State and county negro office holders, it was beyond the power of the people of the State to do away with negro Federal office holders. The only way to do this was to elect William J. Bryan president. (Applause.)

In discussing the Philippine question, Mr. Simmons said: "Just as we thought we had finally settled the negro question in this State the Republican party, through the administration, has raised a similar question in a part of the globe under our feet. * * * President McKinley, in your name and with your money, has bought ten million inhabitants of the Philippines, paying for them $20,000,000. But you say, 'He got 'em cheap.' Yes, he got them very cheap; only $2 a head for the mulattoes and half civilized natives, with their land thrown in. But you have learned from hard experience that the cheapest thing is often the dearest. So it is with the Philippines. The question is not, what they cost? but, what are they worth? We have had them over a year and they have not brought us as much trade as is represented by the consumption of our army of occupation. They are costing us nearly $300,000,000 per annum, or $4 a head for every man, woman and child in the United States; two-thirds as much as the annual expenses of the United States government. What is North Carolina's part of this expense? Just about $5,000,000 a year. More than it takes to maintain our entire State government; more than it costs to make the laws through the Legislature and to execute the laws through the courts and educate your children. * * *

"For what is this paid? The only reason I ever heard was the suggestion that we wanted to become a great world power, and find new markets for our surplus products, and extend our trade at the point of the bayonet and at the price of human blood. There is no necessity for buying foreign territory to find new markets for our products, for we already have the markets of the world open to us. * * *

"The Republicans tell us the increase of trade is due to McKinley's war and the protective tariff. The increase is due neither to the acquisition of foreign territory nor war, nor yet to the tariff, but to this fact: The American manufacturers so overcrowded the home markets that they found it necessary to go abroad in search of new markets. In exploring the world for these markets they discovered this fact: By reason of the superior efficiency of American labor, American manufacturers can sell their products in the open markets of the world in open competition with the cheapest labor on earth. There has not been a time since the Civil war when our manufactured products could not have found unlimited markets, just as the products of the field have, if our manufacturers had been willing, as our farmers have been compelled, to sell at prices fixed by the laws of supply and demand. * * *

"Following the policy of staying at home and attending to our business, we have become not only the richest, but the most powerful nation upon which God's sun ever shone." The speaker then referred to the curse colonialism had been to modern Europe and contrasted those nations with the rapid growth and development of the United States.

"This scheme of McKinley's is bad as a business proposition and as a matter of policy and expediency, but it is infinitely worse if considered from a moral standpoint. No Christian nation can afford to do an open and notorious wrong that profit may follow. * * * As a Christian nation, we can't afford to enslave the Filipinos and deny them the love of self government, always so highly prized by ourselves. (Applause.)

"Now as bad as is this proposition of the Republican party, there is another view equally as serious. It involves the question as to whether we shall live or die, survive or perish as the great exemplars of liberty on this continent. The Republican party proposes to hold on to these islands and govern them outside and independent of the constitution. The first condition to do this is a large standing army. The second condition is that we shall confer on our president powers as absolute and arbitrary as those exercised by the Czar of Russia or the Sultan of Turkey. There is still another step. We must confer on Congress power as arbitrary, unlimited and omnipotent as that of the British Parliament. * * * A republic derives its life from a written constitution, and all free institutions spring out of this constitution and rest upon it. Strike down that constitution and you strike down the free institutions which sprang from it. * * *

"The questions of tariff, trusts and money are questions of policy, but this question of imperialism is a question of life or death, and therefore Mr. Bryan was right when he said it was the paramount issue. This and the other policies of the Republican party are dictated by the trust barons and tariff magnates, who are more powerful today than the government. Who owns your president today? Mark Hanna. Who owns Hanna? The trusts and monopolies. Therefore they control your government. * * *

"I want to talk a little while longer about local matters. I suppose nobody is unwilling to admit that I am a Democrat. (Applause.) I am not only a Democrat, but I stand on every plank of the platform, both State and National. More than that, I am a Democrat monstrous proud of my party and not ashamed of anything it has done. And I am prouder of my party today than ever before. A few years ago we did vacillate a little, but that is all in the past, and Democracy has once again been regenerated and rebaptized in the doctrines of Jefferson and Jackson. The Republican party was once strong and courageous, but it has lost its backbone and is no longer strong in anything except speculation at home and pillage abroad. The platform of the Democratic party rings as clear as a bell on the subject of trusts. It goes farther than denouncing them. It tells the people how it proposes to destroy the robber barons."

Here Mr. Simmons related his experience, when in Congress some years ago, in trying to kill the jute bagging trust. He introduced a bill to place jute bagging on the free list, which would have destroyed the power of the trust. That was the first effort to fight a trust in this way.

"As proud as I am of the bold and courageous stand of our party, I am prouder still of our great leader, William Jennings Bryan. (Great applause.) They may call him a demagogue, an anarchist, a theorist, but he stands today the first citizen of the land, an uncrowned king, the peer of any man living in the world today. (Prolonged applause.) I came tonight to defend the principles of the Democratic party and to speak in behalf of the great leaders, Bryan and Stevenson, and to ask you, in the event of their election, to help hold up their hands by electing to Congress that brave and majestic leader of the Fifth District Democracy, W. W. Kitchin. (Loud applause.) In my judgment, no district in North Carolina has an abler, better or more faithful representative. * * *

In closing his speech Mr. Simmons referred to the battles he had waged for the party in the past, saying: "For the fourth time I bring the banner before you and ask you to rally around the flag and help me to again bear it to victory. I have worked so hard, and fought so long, and suffered so much for the old party that I love it as a mother loves her child, and now if its banner were to trail in the dust it would break my heart."

At the conclusion of his speech Mr. Simmons was accorded a regular ovation by his enthusiastic hearers.

Waddell Withdraws.

WILMINGTON, Oct. 22.—Colonel A. M. Waddell gave out the following today:

"To the Democratic Voters of North Carolina:

"Illness in my family, requiring my absence from the State, has prevented me from keeping my appointments to speak to the people in this campaign, and as it is now too late to make new appointments or to change the situation, I therefore withdraw from the senatorial contest with grateful appreciation of the support of my friends. I tender my services to the State Executive Committee in behalf of the nominees of the Democratic party."

If We Can

We will move our store this week to the McDuffie Building, three doors south of our old stand. So if you come to town and don't find us in our present quarters, you will find us at the above named place. You will see a white telephone pole in front of our new store, next to the Wakefield Hardware Co. Our new store is one of the prettiest buildings in town and much larger than our present building. Now we have told you we are going to move this week if we can. Of course it depends somewhat on the weather. But in case you want to buy Dry Goods or Shoes we are ready to serve you with our usual low prices.
