Airy, where he will teach the coming year. The PATRIOT extends congratulations.

Another Murderer Landed.

Nearly three years ago, during a drunken row that developed at a colored dance in "Warnersville," Will Headen fatally wounded Dolph Causey with a well-directed shot from a revolver. Headen took to the woods at once and nothing more was heard of him until a week or so ago, when an inquiry came from the Jacksonville, Fla., police to know if he was wanted here. Chief Scott communicated with the Florida officers and made sure of the identity of Headen and then asked for his arrest, at the same time making application to Governor Aycock for a requisition. The latter part of the week, Officer Neeley, who knew Headen well, was sent to Jacksonville for him and he returned with the prisoner yesterday at noon.

Headen is a slender young negro not over twenty-five years old. He was raised in southern Guilford. Asked about the crime with which he was charged he promptly put up a plea of self-defense. Witnesses to the tragedy say it was a cold-blooded murder. After the shooting Headen says he went to Liberty and stayed until he heard of Causey's death, and from there he went to Jacksonville, where he has since been employed as the driver of a mail wagon. While he had given the police there no trouble he had a row with a colored woman with whom he was living under an assumed name, and she in a spirit of revenge informed on him, having learned of the crime here through letters Headen had received from home.

While it was a long tiresome trip, Officer Neeley had no trouble in bringing his prisoner home. A preliminary hearing will be given Headen tomorrow if the witnesses can be found in the meantime.

Rev. H. M. Blair's Marriage.

A special from Concord to the Charlotte Observer of this morning says: "This evening at 6 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. D. R. Hoover, in this city, Rev. H. M. Blair, of Greensboro, and Miss Laura Annie Ramsaur, of Lincolnton, were united in matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. B. Heller, pastor of the bride, and Rev. J. N. Huggins, pastor of Forest Hill church, this city. Only immediate relatives and a few of the near neighbors were witnesses of the ceremony, which was simple and impressive. The parlor was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns. Refreshments were served and an hour spent pleasantly after the ceremony, when, amid congratulations, the bride took the evening train for Asheville, Waynesville and other points in the mountains, where they will spend a week or two before returning to their home in Greensboro. Miss Ramsaur is the only sister of Mrs. Hoover, and is a member of one of the oldest and best known families in western North Carolina. She was reared near Lincolnton, and for a number of years has resided in Lincolnton, where she is much loved and very popular. Mr. Blair is well known as a leading member of the Western North Carolina Conference, and was once pastor of Forest Hill church, in this city, and is now editor of the conference organ, The North Carolina Christian Advocate."

A. J. Burkhardt, of Lexington, who stopped over here yesterday on his way to West Virginia, fell into the hands of the Philistines and will spend a season in sackcloth and arnica. He came up town last night about eight o'clock on the hunt of a surgeon, a large patch of the skin about his right eye hanging down on his cheek. The police became interested in the case and learned from him that he had been assaulted at the home of Maggie Harris, just outside the city limits. He told a lurid story of an unprovoked attack made by a man who spends most of his time at the Harris house, but when Officer Barnes and Deputy Sheriff Weatherly investigated the case they found there had simply been a free-for-all fight in which Burkhardt and the woman were the principals. As a result both were held for a magistrate's hearing today. Later in the night Officer Weatherly caught a negro who was wanted for engaging in a fight some days ago. The officer chased him nearly to Pomona before he landed him.

New Date of Auction Sale of Lots at High Point.

The auction sale of lots at High Point, which was advertised to take place August 15th but was postponed because of the illness of Mr. J. F. Jordan, will be held on Saturday, August 29th, at 4 P. M. under the plan originally advertised. Don't forget this new date, as some desirable property is offered to the highest bidder.

Aged Citizen Dies Suddenly.

Mr. Daniel D. Gillespie, an aged citizen of Greensboro, died suddenly Saturday evening at the residence of his son-in-law, Prof. Lee T. Blair, where he had made his home for some time. Mr. Gillespie was engaged in conversation with members of Prof. Blair's family when he fell dead from his chair. He had been in poor health for some time, but of late seemed to be better.

Mr. Gillespie was in his seventy-ninth year. His life had been spent in Guilford and he was known as one of the best farmers in the county. He had lived an honorable, upright christian life and the end found him prepared. He was long an elder in Buffalo church, but since his removal to the city he had identified himself with Westminster church and was a ruling elder there at the time of his death. He was also a charter member, one of the few living, of Buena Vista Lodge of Odd Fellows, being active in the revival of that order after the war between the states, in which he served. Surviving him are one sister, Mrs. C. C. Gorrell, and five children, Mrs. N. C. Weatherly, Mrs. Carrie Yates, Mrs. Lee T. Blair, Mrs. J. L. Thacker and Rev. E. E. Gillespie.

The funeral services were held Monday morning at Westminster church, conducted by Rev. E. W. Smith, D. D., assisted by the pastor, Rev. C. E. Hodgkin. In addition to the large assembly of relatives and friends present the members of Buena Vista lodge attended in a body. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. M. Hendrix, A. M. Scales, Geo. S. Sergeant, R. G. Glenn, J. W. Scott and T. G. McLean. Interment was made at Greene Hill cemetery.

Market Report.

The receipts on our market for the past week consisted almost entirely of new primings which are selling at right low prices, but it pays better to save them than it does to let them go to waste, as they will bring several times as much as the cost of saving them. We think it advisable for farmers to save all the good ripe primings they can, regardless of the low price they bring. Our buyers are anxious for primings at the prevailing prices, and they are selling as high in Greensboro as they are on any other market, so we believe you would do well to bring them here whenever you are ready for sale. We have three warehouses now, which makes things pretty lively in the tobacco business here, and we think you will do fully as well, if not better, to market your tobacco in Greensboro than elsewhere.

Junior Audubon Society Organized.

The executive committee of the state Audubon society had a meeting at the Benbow Monday afternoon. These were present: Messrs. T. Gilbert Pearson, J. I. Foust and P. D. Gold, Jr., of Greensboro, R. W. Wilson, of Guilford College, and Henry E. Knox, Jr., of Charlotte. It was decided to organize a junior branch of the state organization, the purpose of which is the publication and distribution of literature among the school children of the state. Mrs. W. C. A. Hammel, of Greensboro, was elected secretary of this work. The executive committee discussed a number of matters and instructed Mr. Pearson, the secretary, to prepare and have printed blanks for hunters' license to be sent to the clerks of courts.

Deputy Sheriff Weatherly went to Durham yesterday morning for Henry Thomas, a young man who was implicated in the assault on J. H. Denny, superintendent of the Hucomuga mills, some months ago, and who was arrested by the Durham officers Monday. W. F. Troutman, who was arrested soon after the assault on Denny and was generally supposed to have been the leader in the affair, got off with a six-months' sentence by swearing that Thomas and Lum Bivins, who were with him at the time but made their escape, committed the assault. Thomas and Bivins are both in jail awaiting trial and they are prepared to disprove Troutman's story. Both are young and quite likely had little to do with the assault on Denny.

End of Bitter Fight.

"Two physicians had a long and stubborn fight with an abscess on my right lung," writes J. F. Hughes of DuPont, Ga., "and gave me up. Everybody thought my time had come. As a last resort I tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. The benefit I received was striking and I was on my feet in a few days. Now I've entirely regained my health." It conquers all Coughs, Colds and Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed by Holton's drug store. Price 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

The Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best Salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25c, at Holton's drug store.

WILD WORK OF THE HURRICANE.

Port Antonio Completely Overwhelmed—Villages Wiped Out and Peasantry Rendered Homeless and Destitute.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 12.—The West Indian hurricane struck the island of Jamaica with full force yesterday, inflicting great damage. Port Antonio, on the north coast, was completely overwhelmed. Only six houses were left standing, though the United Fruit Company's wharves, officers, hotel and plantations were utterly demolished. Five of the company's steamers, including the Simon Dumois, Alfred Dumois and Righton, were driven ashore, but are lying in easy positions. Port Maria, another town on the north coast, also suffered similarly. The coast is strewn with the wreckage of local sailing boats.

The southeastern portion of the island has been completely denuded of its crops, the rivers are flooded, and many men were carried out to sea and drowned. Considering the damage to property during the hurricane, the loss of life is comparatively small, though the present estimate is that the death list will reach 50. Hundreds of persons were injured, and there were numerous hairbreadth escapes. The property loss is estimated at $10,000,000. The entire eastern end of the island has been devastated. Villages have been wiped out, and public buildings and churches demolished. Thousands of the peasantry, rendered homeless and destitute, are wandering about seeking food and shelter. The destruction of the banana plantations has been complete, and the fruit trade is paralyzed for the next 12 months. Hundreds of prosperous fruit growers have been brought to bankruptcy and ruin.

The western end of the island, which it was at first supposed had escaped, also suffered considerably, though not to the extent which the eastern end did. The new banana plantations there were partly destroyed, and the orange and coffee crops also injured. The Norwegian steamer Salvatore Di Giorio was driven ashore at Antonio Bay, and lies in a dangerous position. Several sailing vessels were wrecked on the north side.

It is still stormy and threatening, and there are fears that there may be a renewal of the storm. Torrential rains have increased the misery of the poor and homeless.

Thousands of houses in Kingston were damaged, the wharves are battered, and several coasting vessels that were in harbor were wrecked. Trade is practically at a standstill.

CUBA NOT CUT OFF.

Havana, Aug. 12.—While high winds and threatening conditions prevail in all the provinces of Cuba, there have been no reports up to tonight of any important damage. The land telegraph connection with Santiago, which was repeatedly interrupted, has been restored. There was some destruction of crops and small buildings in the provinces of Pinar del Rio, where the wind appears to have been strongest. Cable connections with all the islands of the West Indies is intact, with the exception of Jamaica, Martinique, Guadalupe and Dominica.

Mr. P. E. Strowd, formerly in charge of the recruiting office here, in renewing his subscription to the PATRIOT, wrote us from Manila, P. I., under date of July 2nd:

"Manila is as dull as usual. About the only excitement we have at present is an occasional combat between the constabulary and 'ladrones,' accounts of which you probably see under the 'loud' headlines of our daily papers. The wet season is now on and we are having plenty of rain. This, combined with the mud and slush, makes things a little disagreeable; otherwise we are getting along as well as could be expected of people in exile. However, we anticipate a big time for tomorrow. I am enjoying the best of health and at present can not say when I will return to the states. With best wishes for the advancement of the PATRIOT, and kindest expression to the boys, I remain, etc."

New Ice Plant for Greensboro.

Mr. Jacob Weller, of Cincinnati, O., has purchased of Messrs. G. W. Ward, D. E. Allred and J. R. Hardin, a lot on the Southern Railway between the coal chute and passenger station with a railroad frontage of 180 and a depth of 300 feet. Mr. Weller represents a Northern syndicate which will begin at once the erection of an extensive ice manufacturing plant.

Letter to Cunningham Bros., Greensboro, N. C.

Dear Sirs: You ask how many square feet a gallon will cover. Depends on condition of building. There is a great deal of lying on this point. The stock claim of lying paints is 300 square feet, two coats. It's a lie, as a rule.

Devoe covers 300 to 500, our agents think. We think 300 too low and 500 too high; though doubtless, they both occur.

How much the other paints cover is equally doubtful; we guess 100 to 400. The truth is found in another comparison. Devoe is all paint, true paint, strong paint, and full-measure; the others in general are, at the best, diluted, adulterated and short-measure. They cover according to body and measure. You can't paint with clay, lime, chalk, sand, barytes, water or clay—no body in them. Go by Devoe.

Yours truly,

F. W. Devoe & Co.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 5c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

KANSAS CITY'S DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

George B. Evans Kills His Wife and Then Snoots Himself.

Kansas City, Aug. 15.—George B. Evans, manager of the American Transfer Company, murdered his wife, Mrs. Lillie Maude Evans, at their home in the southern portion of the city, early today. Later he was found dead in St. Mary's cemetery, two miles distant, having shot himself. Mrs. Evans was attacked as she lay asleep. According to a servant girl, the only witness to the tragedy, Evans entered his wife's apartments at about daylight and fired two shots at her. Neither shot took effect and then dragging Mrs. Evans toward him by the hair, he deliberately placed his revolver against the back of her neck and fired. The shot literally blew the woman's head off. In the dim light the servant was unable to recognize the murderer positively as Evans, but informed the police when the alarm was given that she believed she recognized the voice as his. Evans escaped and was found only after several hours' search. Mrs. Evans had feared that her husband was going to harm her. She locked the door of her room when she retired, but by a strange fatality unfastened it during the night to gain some fresh air. Evans entered the house through the pantry window, near which his umbrella was found today, and apparently went directly to his wife's room.

Miss Bettie Burns, a neighbor, slept with Mrs. Evans and narrowly escaped being struck by the bullets fired at the latter. Miss Burns awoke, awoke, aroused by the shots fired in quick succession and a scream from Mrs. Evans, who expired at once without a struggle. Miss Burns climbed over the dead body and saw Evans standing in the center of the room. He remained a moment as if spell-bound, then hastily left, cursing as he went. In the confusion that ensued he left the house unnoticed.

Mrs. Evans, who was 26 years old, was a society woman. She married Evans in 1918. Last Wednesday she filed suit for divorce, alleging drunkenness and cruelty, and at the same time brought suit demanding that her husband pay $500 for rent of the barn occupied by the company, of which he is manager. The property, Mrs. Evans asserted, belonged to her and, in addition, she asked an order restraining Evans from disposing of two valuable race horses and other property which she said also belonged to her.

Mrs. Evans attracted much attention last March during the teamsters' strike by driving one of her husband's transfer wagons, which the regular driver refused to take out of the barns for fear of violence at the hands of the strikers. Mrs. Evans made several trips, perched on the seat of a big truck, between her husband's barns and the freight houses, driving fearlessly through crowds of angry strikers. Once when some of the strikers tried to cut the horses' traces she lashed the men with her whip and proceeded without being further molested.

Two years ago Mrs. Evans also gained some notoriety by horsewhipping a man who had attempted to flirt with her.

Evans was born in Kentucky 38 years ago and his father was sheriff of Washburn county. The elder Evans was himself shot and killed as the result of a feud. Evans had lived in Kansas City for many years and is said to have been married twice before. He married Lillie Maude Perry, the 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. E. C. Perry, a widow of Argentine, Kansas, against the latter's wishes.

Excursion Train Wrecked.

Maxton, Aug. 13.—The special train consisting of engine and ten cars, returning from Wilmington with the Lutherfordton excursion party, ran into the caboose of a detached freight train, half mile east of Maxton, at five minutes past 11 o'clock tonight. The body of Luke Jones, white, flagman of the freight train, was cut in two about the middle. The upper half of the body was found lying by the track and the lower half was pulled out of the burning wreckage of the caboose. The engine was not hurt, the fireman received painful, but not serious injuries. Two negro passengers were slightly injured. No white passengers were hurt. The engine of the excursion train was badly wrecked, but only one coach was damaged.

The dead body of a negro passenger has been found wedged between the broken timbers of the front car and the tender of the wrecked train. Flagman Jones is supposed to have been asleep.

BLAME Laid ON THE FLAGMAN.

Maxton, August 14.—In the wreck which occurred here last night on the Seaboard Air Line the following were killed and injured: Killed: Flagman E. J. Jones, white, of Lumberton; Tom Gardner, colored, of Stanley; Frank Will Friday, colored, of Dallas; Henry Friday, colored, of Lumberton; and Newman Probst, colored. All these except the flagman, Jones, were passengers on the excursion. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that Evans was caused by the carelessness of the flagman, who was killed. The evidence was that the engine had been left on the main line in violation of the flagman, who was cautioned to look out for the excursion. A passenger saw him go into the caboose and that was the last seen of him. The excursion came on, was not signaled, and ran into the caboose, smashing it and setting it on fire. The tender of the engine was pushed into the first car of the excursion. The engine was badly wrecked.

Fifteen Prisoners Escape Jail.

Washington, N. C., Aug. 14.—Fifteen prisoners in the Beaufort county jail escaped before daybreak this morning. Two of the men are alleged murderers and one is a Federal prisoner, the others being charged with minor offenses. The sheriff immediately offered rewards for them. The escape was made through a small hole in the back of the building, where five bricks had been removed. The jail was virtually in charge of a negro attendant who waits on the prisoners and he failed to lock up the men. There is evidence of culpable negligence and an investigation will probably be made. One of the prisoners came and gave himself up today. All are negroes.

CURB MONOPOLY, CRIES GROSSCUP.

Federal Judge Says the United States Must Supervise Trusts.

Dixon, Ill., Aug. 14.—Judge Grosscup, of the United States circuit court, in an address here before the Lutheran assembly, expressed his belief that in the supervision of monopolies by the government lies the only hope for the perpetuation of the American nation, and sounded a warning against the manipulation of securities in the interest of unscrupulous promoters and speculators. In the fact that within the last ten years the deposits in savings banks have increased from $2,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 a sinister rather than a sanguine meaning was traced, the judge declaring that under normal conditions this vast amount would have been invested by the laboring classes but that it was lying idle because "polite" swindlers and high up rascals were able to subvert the laws and give to stocks a value that they do not really possess.

"We can never go back to the days of our boyhood," said the speaker, but we can go back to the days when the man with $100 did not have to hoard it or trust it to his neighbors for safe keeping, but could put it into industries, sure that it would return with earnings.

"What should be done? Change the laws so that no set of men can organize a corporation except on a strictly legal basis. Then put it under such supervision as the national banks are subject to and I believe that, little by little, this immense hoarding in the savings banks of $10,000,000,000 will be trickling into circulation again.

Freight Runs Down Saluda.

Tryon, Aug. 13.—A through freight train, the third section of No. 62, from Asheville to Spartanburg, S. C., ran away on the Saluda Mountain at 2:15 P. M. today. The engine and thirteen coal cars were wrecked near Melrose, the exact place where Engineer Tunstall's train was wrecked several years ago. The engine and eleven cars are a total wreck, piled up and demolished in the cut. Engineer J. H. Averill, Jr., of Asheville, and Fireman Hair, of Asheville, are killed, and are under the wreckage and cannot be found until the wreck is cleared away. Brakeman W. B. Sherrill, of Swannanoa, has both legs cut off.

Engineer Averill was a bright young man, 23 years of age, a son of Colonel J. H. Averill, of Charleston. His father, mother, wife and two little children, brother and sisters, are spending the summer at Saluda, within three miles of where he met his untimely death. He stayed on his engine with the faithful fireman, doing all he could to check the speed of the train until the engine buried him. As the runaway train passed Melrose, the operator, J. W. Heatherly, ran out and Fireman Hair threw up his hands and smiled. Heatherly fainted. Conductor Howie and Flagmen Bishop and Ward were unhurt.

Corporation Commission Orders Erection of a Union Depot at Durham.

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—The corporation commission today took up the Durham union depot matter. Col. A. B. Andrews, representing the Southern, and E. B. Womack, representing the Seaboard Air Line, were present. The Norfolk & Western, the third road concerned, was not represented. It greatly desires the depot and assents to any course taken by the commission. The latter made an order that the depot shall be built, work to begin in 60 days; that it shall be in accordance with the plan submitted by the Southern Railway, without unnecessary delay; as may be ordered by the commission at a session September 12th. No protest was made against this order, which was read to Andrews and Womack. Victor S. Bryant, Crawford Biggs and Howard Foushee represented the town of Durham and are greatly pleased at today's work. Col. Andrews said that the Southern was ready to begin work on the depot next Monday.

Notorious Negro Arrested.

Fayetteville, Aug. 15.—Before day this morning, in extreme southwest Cumberland county, Deputy Sheriff Monaghan, United States Marshal Averitt and Officers Holmes and Goddard arrested Anthony Ray, a desperate negro, notorious for defying the law and resisting officers, the alleged leader of the gang of outlaws known as the "Blue Band" and wanted for years in Cumberland, Robeson and Moore counties. The posse tramped for miles through swamps lighted by only flashes of lightning, carrying a negro named Campbell to guide them to Ray's house. He lives on Puppy creek and the officers had to break down the door. The entrance was so low they crept in, finding Ray in a corner, with a quilt over his head, slits for his eyes, and a doublebarreled gun in his hand. The parties were so close together that the muzzle of this gun rested against Monaghan's stomach, but failed to fire owing to its rusty condition. Ray surrendered after blows over the head from the handle of a revolver. His wife, Elizabeth, was also arrested.

Tobacco Farmers Disheartened.

Oxford, N. C., Aug. 15.—The tobacco market, here, as viewed from the sales, at the warehouses yesterday, presented a most discouraging scene. Farmers brought tobacco and sold at such extremely low prices that they went home completely disheartened. Grades of tobacco which brought five cents at this season last year sold yesterday for only one cent. Some of the farmers said it would pay them better to leave the tobacco crop uncut and utilize the plants as fertilizers for the land—rather than incur the expense of saving the crops in view of the present prospect.

After the sales yesterday one farmer said he hoped he would have his wagon left to him as it would take all his tobacco and his horses to pay the expenses on the tobacco.

Cloudburst at Washington.

Washington, N. C., Aug. 15.—There was a cloudburst here before daylight today. The downpour of rain was tremendous. On Washington and Fifth streets a number of houses are surrounded by water. For several hours the rain stopped, but it has begun again as hard as before. Dark clouds are overhead and they have every indication of wind clouds. The precipitation on an average is 10 inches.

Greenville Is Aroused.

Greenville, Aug. 15.—A mass meeting was held in the court house this afternoon to take steps to organize an independent company to establish a cigarette and smoking tobacco factory in Greenville and to put buyers on the market to purchase tobacco.

The attendance upon the meeting was large and composed of men of all professions and trades. Speeches were made by Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes, J. J. Laughinghouse, O. L. Joyner, G. T. Tyson, L. I. Moore, J. L. Fleming and others.

Books were opened and several thousand dollars subscribed to start the company. Committees were appointed to canvass each township in the county for subscriptions and to report at another meeting to be held next Saturday when the formal organization of the company will take place.

There is much enthusiasm in the movement for the factory.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Interesting but conflicting reports are coming from Oyster Bay regarding the extraordinary session of Congress and financial legislation. From the "high authorities" quoted it is evident that the President himself is at sea in his efforts to serve all interests. Bound by what he regards as a pledge, to urge the consideration of the Cuban treaty legislation in advance of the financial measure now being prepared by Senator Aldrich and his fellow members of the subcommittee of the Senate committee on finance, the President is being subjected to such strong pressure from the capitalistic classes in the east that he has been compelled to consider the advisability of calling Congress in extra session even earlier than had been anticipated, November 9. That the President has seriously contemplated such a move is proven by an interview Senator Aldrich gave to the press in which he refers to the likelihood that Congress will be called to convene in October.

No sooner was the possibility of such an early session learned in Washington than it was met with the protests of the practical politicians who say that they will be fully occupied with the various state elections in October and that no member of Congress can be spared to attend to national affairs until the November elections are disposed of. Attention is called to the precarious situation in Ohio, where the Democrats give promise of acting as one man to defeat Senator Hanna by electing a legislature hostile to him. The Secretary of Agriculture has even promised to go to Ohio and take the stump to save the day for the Ohio leader and it is appreciated that the most energetic measures must be taken to recoup the political fortunes of the patron of Perry Heath, August W. Machen, "Cliff" Long and other members of the "Ohio gang."

The situation in Rhode Island is also most alarming to the Republicans. The Democrats in that state have made unprecedented gains and bid fair to control the legislature and all other important offices. If they are successful this fall it will entirely disrupt the Republican machine and there will be every chance that the legislature elected a year later will defeat Senator Aldrich, who comes up for re-election then, and will send a Democrat to the Senate. In the face of this alarming state of affairs the Republicans feel that they must put forth every effort to save the state and ultimately to save the leader of the Republican party in the Senate.

There is also an important contest on in West Virginia, where the Republicans are badly divided, many members of the party having determined that they will no longer be represented by Senator Scott, whom they appreciate as bound hand and foot to the great coal, iron and railway interests of the state. Under these conditions the regular members of the party are being urged to enter the state and exert their best efforts to save Scott from defeat. These are but a few of the problems which confront the Republican leaders and which would be seriously aggravated if Mr. Roosevelt were to call Congress in session in advance of the elections.

On the other hand, the condition of the stock market is occasioning the financial experts of the Republican party the greatest anxiety. The situation is such that, at present, the Secretary of the Treasury is powerless to aid the market. The people, that is the outsiders and ordinary investors, have come to see that prices have been inflated as a result of the hurrahing over an entirely artificial prosperity, and they simply refuse to buy Mr. Morgan's "undigested securities." Now, say the financial experts, if there should come a money stringency as a result of the call for money to move the western crops, there would follow a panic of serious proportions and recovery from it would be so slow that it would inevitably shatter the vaunted prosperity which is expected to return Mr. Roosevelt to the White House and the people would turn to the Democrats to revise the tariff and relieve the consumers from paying the heavy tribute now exacted by the trusts. Under these conflicting arguments, President Roosevelt evidently does not know which way to turn.

Cable communication has finally been re-established with Bogota and the news regarding the Panama canal treaty is most discouraging to the advocates of the route. No test vote has thus far been taken in the Colombian Congress but a committee vote showed seventeen for amendments while two who voted against the amendments will vote against the ratification of the treaty itself. Senator Cullom has been in Oyster Bay in conference with the President, and now makes the surprising suggestion that if Colombia refuses the privilege sought the United States might make a treaty direct with Panama, which is virtually saying that the United States would encourage Panama to secede from the United States of Colombia and establish a separate government in order to give the United States the desired strip of Colombian territory.

The expected indictments in the postoffice investigation have not yet been brought in, although it is certain that they will be forthcoming in time, probably within ten days. With the batch of indictments now under consideration before the grand jury and two more cases, which it is expected will be brought before the jury at an early date, the postoffice investigation will doubtless come to an end. The dismissal of M. A. W. Louis has been definitely determined upon. Louis was a protégé of former First Assistant Postmaster General Heath and has been found to have been grossly culpable in the purchase of ink. It is also believed that John M. Masten, assistant superintendent of the railway mail service, will have to go and numerous other dismissals are under contemplation. No attempt to arrest George W. Beavers, the indicted postal official, has been made thus far.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel, blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." THE AMERICAN LAUGH.

It is a Valuable Aid in Building Up Our National Greatness.

Denver Post.

God's greatest gift to man was the laugh. Without it the human race would have wept itself to death or exterminated itself long ago. Pathos is beautiful; tragedy is absorbing. But both pathos and tragedy are instantly routed by the laugh.

Laughter has sunshine in it. It is warm. Learned men have searched for the secret of life. What is it but good humor? That's the secret of life being worth living.

What sunshine is to earth good humor is to man. Take the smile and the laugh away, and it would be the end of man.

Men can't fight while they enjoy a joke. Death himself recoils from the laugh. The man in a good humor has an enormous advantage over the man who is angry. Anger is dark. Bitterness is filled with shadow. Intolerance is grim and black. Prejudice is blind.

Good humor, with the smile and the laugh, is sunshine in which objects are plain and distortion disappears and wherein phantoms become nothing.

One reason for America's greatness is that, above all, it is a nation that laughs. There have been gay peoples and frivolous nations, but gayety and frivolity are strangely akin to melancholy. That gay Germany whose national happiness is expressed in song is clouded by melancholy. Sadness pervades the temperament of Germany.

And frivolous France—how tragic she becomes—how desperately tragic!

The great American laugh is another thing. Investigate the American national laugh, and there's a sound, practical something behind it. It is never a forced laugh. It is healthy, vigorous, spontaneous.

Empire and powers have crumbled and gone to pieces in solemn seriousness and gloomy grandeur, while Uncle Sam, with a joke on his lips, forges ahead.

What Good Did it Do?

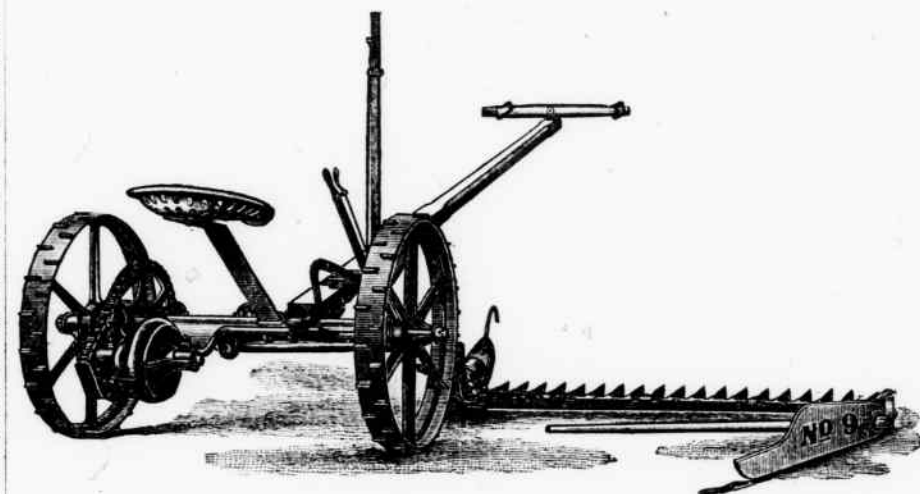

It is recorded of Cornelius Vanderbilt that before he died he said to a friend: "I don't see what good it does me—all this money that you say is mine. I can't eat it; I can't spend it; in fact I never saw it and never had it in my hands for a moment. I dress no better than my private secretary and live in a big servants' boarding house. I am bothered to death by beggars, have dyspepsia, cannot drink champagne, and most of my money is in the hands of others who use it mainly for their own benefit."

A storm on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains left the ground in southern Wyoming and northern Colorado covered with hail to a depth of two feet last week. At Greely chunks of ice ten inches in length fell and wrought terrible havoc among live stock.

THE SEABOARD AIR LINE SOLD.

Becomes Allied With Other Roads—The Long-Expected Announcement That the Independent System Had Passed Into New Hands Made Wednesday.

New York, Aug. 12.—The long-expected announcement that the Seaboard Air Line had passed, at last, into new hands, was made today by Laidenberg, Thalman & Co., who issued a statement showing that interests representing the Rock Island and St. Louis & San Francisco had secured representation in the Seaboard directors and board of trustees. The official statement was as follows: "Laidenberg, Thalman & Company announce that they have completed negotiations whereby new and important interests have become identified with the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company. B. F. Yoakum and H. Clay Pierce and B. F. Guinness, of Laidenberg, Thalman & Company, and Oklahoma Thorne, president of the North American Trust Company, have been elected voting trustees of the Seaboard Air Line Railway."

President John Skelton Williams also announces that B. F. Yoakum, H. Clay Pierce, Oklahoma Thorne and S. B. Van Vorst have been elected directors of the Seaboard Air Line Railway. Mr. Yoakum is president of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, for which company J. P. Morgan & Co., are financial agents. The official announcement of the deal also said:

"The change of personnel of voting trustees of the stock of the Seaboard Air Line Company does not mean the purchase of that company by Rock Island or Frisco interests, although the Frisco lines extend into Birmingham, and are a part of the Southern situation. It does, however, emphasize the fact that all the great railway systems are carrying out the policy of more closely cementing the railway transportation interests of the country, which will greatly retard and it is hoped entirely prevent demoralization of the rate situation, or the unnecessary construction and duplication of property. Attention is called to the fact that with the discontinuance of any further construction by the Seaboard Air Line the value of the properties are greatly enhanced, and another gratifying fact at this time and which is further evidence of the future disposition of the railways of the United States is that this deal does not call for any financing or supplying of new money."

One of the voting trustees when asked to state the real significance of the deal said that it meant a "better understanding among interests that have at various times conflicted."

The policy of the Seaboard Air Line for a long time was one of absolute independence, so much so as to make it at times inimical to the interests of adjoining roads traversing adjacent territory. Today's developments, it is thought, will do away with such trouble in the future.

The new directors take the places of F. H. Penberton, of this city; R. C. Davidson, of Baltimore; E. B. Addison, of Richmond, and W. W. MacKall, of Savannah.

The most important point in the agreement between the Seaboard Air Line and the St. Louis & Frisco interests is that which gives the latter road a right of way to seven important ports. These include Norfolk, Wilmington, Savannah, Charleston, Brunswick, Fernandina, Jacksonville and St. Augustine. Further down the coast the Frisco road will have an outlet at Fernandina.

The difference between the so-called Morgan interests, represented by the Southern Railway and the Seaboard Air Line people, during the last few years, has been a sharp one. The effort of Thomas F. Ryan and his associates to get a foothold in the Seaboard, as some suggested, control of that company, was accompanied by rumors at the time that he was acting in the interest of the Southern, but this was strongly denied. The laws of some of the Southern States expressly preclude any company from controlling a competing road. This rendered it impossible for Mr. Morgan to turn the Louisville & Nashville road over to the Southern. Instead of that it went to the Atlantic Coast Line. The Seaboard made a strong bid for the Louisville road, and when it was refused even a partnership in it, it was intimated that other alliances would be made, perhaps with the Gould people.

In contrast with the old-time rivalry which the Seaboard indulged in, it has been significant that in recent years it has had a sort of silent understanding to maintain rates, so that all of the railroads in Southern territory would be able to get as much traffic as possible out of their traffic.

The Seaboard Air Line Railroad Company, operating 2,611 miles of road, was formed under the laws of Virginia in 1900, to succeed the old Richmond, Petersburg & Carolina Railroad. The system now extends from Richmond, Va., to Tampa, Fla., with connections extending west to Montgomery and to Birmingham, and east to Charleston, Wilmington and Norfolk. Under a traffic agreement with the Pennsylvania road, a through passenger and freight service is maintained by Washington and New York. The Seaboard Air Line also owns the Blue Line Steamship Company, operating from Baltimore to Norfolk.

Senator Tillman's Mistake.

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, has had his pocket picked on a train. This was what we might have expected to happen to a guileless and horny-handed representative of the overhauled and groaning masses. Also it is natural that the purse of this inappreciable servant of the people and of the corporations and trusts contained little or no money. The Senator's grief is that all the many free presses and franks the receptacle contained have disappeared along with it. Consequently his travel is crippled and his telegraphic and express facilities are hampered.

Firemen Lower World's Record.

Durham, Aug. 12.—World's records were lowered in the horse hose wagon contest this morning. Goldsboro had two teams entered, and they both broke all records of the past, and won first and second prizes. It was between 11 and 12 o'clock when the first race was pulled off. There were six teams entered, as follows: Salisbury; Eclipse; (Goldsboro); Goldsboro No. 1; Fayetteville; Rescue, of Raleigh; Capital Hose Company, of Raleigh. The time made by the various teams was as follows: Salisbury, 36 4-5; Eclipse, of Goldsboro, 31; Goldsboro No. 1, 30 4-5; Fayetteville, 36 2-5; Rescue, of Raleigh, 36; Capital, of Raleigh, 37 2-5.

Thousands of people saw the parade this morning, and it was the unanimous verdict of all that it was the longest and best managed parade seen in this state in a long time. The procession was over three-quarters of a mile in length. It has been years since there have been so many people on the streets here. The race course was a perfect jam before the races began, but when the races were on there was absolutely no interference on the part of the spectators.

The contests on the race course this afternoon consisted of the championship reel race and contest between the steamers. The championship race was run by Capital Hose Company, of Raleigh, alone, this team making a race against the record of last year. No other team contested. Last year the Capital team made the 300 yards and showed water in 47 2-5 seconds. This record was lowered today, the time being 46 4-5 seconds. Under the rules of the association, the prize now goes to Raleigh, having won it three consecutive times. There were six engines entered in the steamer contest. Only four of the contestants took part, and the remaining two, Newbern No. 1 and Rocky Mount, will operate early tomorrow. The time made by the four steamers this afternoon was as follows: Elizabeth City, quick steam in 38 2-5 seconds; long distance, 245 feet 2 inches; Charlotte, not entered in quick steam; long distance, 238 feet; Atlantic team, Newbern, ruled out in quick steam; not entered long distance; Greensboro, long distance, 214 feet 4 inches. Tomorrow the reel and grab races will take place.

Following is a list of the officers elected: President, James D. McNeill, of Fayetteville, the tenth time that he has been paid this honor; first vice president, Mayor A. H. Boyden, of Salisbury; second vice president, R. D. Douglas, of Greensboro; treasurer, T. A. Green, of Newbern; secretary, W. C. Von Glahn, of Wilmington, elected for the fourth time; statistician, Chief Charles Schnibbin, of Wilmington.

Two Men Killed by Lightning.

Goldsboro, Aug. 12.—Robert L. Barts and James Holland, farmers, were killed near Seven Springs, in Wayne county, yesterday, by lightning. They, with several other men, were storing tobacco away in a barn on the farm of Noah Sutton, when a severe storm of rain, accompanied by heavy thunder, suddenly came up. One in the party remarked that he believed it was raining. Messrs. Barts and Holland immediately went to the door to see the hail. Just as they opened the door lightning struck a large oak tree near by, passed in at the door, and killed both instantly. All the others were badly shocked and some of them severely burned. John Holland, brother of one of the men killed, immediately went for a doctor at Seven Springs. After the excitement in a measure had passed, John Holland found that he was badly burned on the right leg, so much so that he was unable to walk. All the injured are doing well and will soon recover. The young men killed were sober and industrious and were much esteemed by their neighbors.

Fifty Persons Poisoned.

Washington, Aug. 12.—A remarkable case of ptomaine poisoning is reported tonight from Ashburn, Va., some 20 miles outside of Washington. A large number of persons had gathered to attend the sale of the dairy farm owned by Senator Stewart, of Nevada. The Senator served the prospective buyers a light luncheon, consisting of coffee, ham and beef sandwiches. Shortly afterwards at least fifty persons were taken violently ill, suffering from ptomaine poisoning. One after another they fell to the ground, writhing in agony. Horsesmen were dispatched in all directions for doctors, and a number responded and took prompt measures to relieve the sufferers. In a statement issued at 11 o'clock tonight the doctors report their patients out of danger, although many are quite ill. An investigation developed the fact that the beef, which had been purchased in Washington, and kept in cold storage on the farm for several days, was the cause of the trouble.

Roxboro Votes to License Saloons.

Roxboro, Aug. 11.—This time it is the "Morally Stunted" that score a victory. After 26 days of prohibition and government by the "Pure in Heart" Roxboro returns to its first love and votes to re-establish saloons and distilleries. It will be remembered that on the first Monday in July the commissioners of Person county refused to grant license and all saloons and distilleries promptly closed down. The saloon men at once went to work and had an election called, to be held today, which resulted in a majority of 23 for license. The commissioners will meet tomorrow, and it is supposed, will grant license and the saloons be opened at once. This has been a unique campaign and election, many of the most enthusiastic supporters of each side being unable to vote because of failure to pay their poll tax before May 1st, among them being the leading attorney for each side, leading merchants, a preacher and barkeeper.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery) says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by Holton's Drug Store.

TWO KINDS OF GRASS.

The Minister Finally Got the Source of His Text Correct.

At a certain revival meeting of colored folks in a church in North Carolina the minister announced from the pulpit: "My text is 'Let de woman I am in silence wid all subjection.' You will done fin' it in de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Clover.'" At this mention of an unknown epistle a good brother plucked the coat tails of the minister. The latter turned round, then again faced the audience. "In spite of de interruption," he said, "I repeat de tex' am from de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Clover.'" Again the coat tails were plucked, and the minister glared at the plucker, only to turn once more to the congregation. "Brudder Johnson," he said, "objects to de tex' 'Let woman I am in silence.' We all know dat Sister Johnson am not a silent woman. But I done repeats dat de tex' will be foun' in de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Clover.'" Here Brother Johnson rose to the minister's ear and whispered earnestly. "Oh!" said the dominie. Then to the gaping people: "I asks Sister Johnson's pardon. Her husband says I made a mistake, he is dat triflin'. My tex' will not be foun' in de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Clover, but in de secon' chapter, 'leventh varse, ob Timothy. I knowed it was some kind ob grass."

Real Doctoring.

Doc Judson had never taken so much as a single course in medical study, but he was in greater demand than the regular practitioner of Crowville, who had a degree and a framed "diplomy" in his office.

"I'd rather trust to Bill Judson's doctoring than any that's learned out of medicine books," said Old Lady Simmons.

When pressed for a reason for this preference the old lady had one unflinching answer.

"When Doc was away one time I was took with rheumatism in my side, an' I had to let daughter Jane send for the diploma doctor. He give me medicines an' said the rheumatism would give way to 'em. It did give way leetle by leetle an' finally wore off, leaving me weak as a rag."

"Well, now, when I have one o' those spells an' Doc Judson 'tends me, he comes in, gives one look at me, mixes up a glass of his herb stuff, an' in less'n twelve hours he has that rheumatism h'isting all over me from head to feet, departing in a half dozen directions an' no chance for my mind to dwell on any one spot an' say, 'It's the worst thar.' That's what I call doctoring!"

A Lawyer's Apology.

Some years ago there was an old judge on the bench in Berks county whose decisions, in consequence of numerous reversals, did not always command universal respect. One day in a case in which he was sitting one of the lawyers lost patience at his inability to see things in a certain light and in the heat of the moment remarked that the intellect of the court was so dark a flash of lightning could not penetrate it. For this contempt the judge showed a disposition to be very severe with the offender, and it was only after much persuasion by friends of the latter that he yielded and decided to accept a public apology. The following day the lawyer, accordingly, appeared before his honor and made amends by saying:

"I regret very much that I said the intellect of the court was so dark lightning could not penetrate it. I guess it could. It is a very penetrating thing."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Tools of the Egyptians.

The ancient Egyptians had tools for stone working equal to anything in use today. They used both solid and tubular drills and straight and circular saws. The drills were set with jewels, probably corundum, and even lathe tools had such cutting edges. So remarkable was the quality of the tubular drills, it is said, and the skill of the workmen that the cutting marks in the hard granite give no indication of the wear of the tool, while a cut of a tenth part of an inch was made in the hardest rock at each revolution, and a hole through both the hardest and softest material was bored perfectly smooth and uniform throughout. Of the material and method of making the tools nothing is known.

Byron's Joke on His Publisher.

Byron once sent his friend John Murray a present of a Bible. It was placed on the bookshelf and left there for years untouched till at a dinner party, the verification of a text being required, the Bible was referred to. A page had been turned down, and it was found that in the verse "Now, Barabbas was a robber" the word "publisher" had been substituted. The poor little pleasantries had lain hidden all those long years.

Politics in Epitaphs.

In a cemetery indefinitely located "on the Susquehanna river" there is a grave with this epitaph on the marble memorial slab: "Chas. Lewis; He Voted for Lincoln." A Baton Rouge (La.) gravestone bears this legend: "Here lies the body of David Jones. His last words were, 'I die a Christian and a Democrat.'"

Success of the Solemn Ass.

Look about you, gentle reader, and consider the solemn ass in every walk of life. Who so respected, so admired, so influential? He never takes sides. He never is a partisan. He goes along with knitted brows, his thoughts too deep for utterance. Smaller men may abandon themselves to hasty inclinations, to rash preferences, to robust views. He never does. If he speaks at all it is with such profundity and circumspection and complexity that the most recondite cryptogram ever resented from a pyramid would seem to burst of innocent and childish candor in comparison. Yet he wears fine raiment every day. He enjoys the respect and confidence of the community. He prospers. The oil of opulence anoints him. He is the incarnation of success!—Washington Post.

Too Smart.

"Once when I was a Mississippi pilot," said Mark Twain, "I got out of work and had to hustle for a new job. I talked to a number of captains, but none of them wanted a pilot. Finally I met a man who said there was a vacancy on his boat that I might fill if I could qualify. He asked me about my habits, my religion, my birth, my schooling, and so on. Then he said: 'Now, for the main thing: Do you know where the snags in the river are?' 'No, captain,' I said, 'I don't.' He swore. 'Wants to be a pilot,' he muttered, 'and don't know where the snags are.' 'I know where they're not,' said I. But my smartness cost me the job."

Kind, but Firm.

An English bishop owned a portable bath tub which he failed on one occasion to take with him on a pastoral visitation. When he returned he found that the housemaid had used the beloved tub. Calling her into his study, he said kindly, "Marry, I do not so much mind your using my tub, but what I object to is that you should do behind my back what you would not do before my face."—Lippincott's.

The Limit.

"And the railway company agrees to settle by paying me $5,000, does it?" said the man who had been injured. "How much of it do I get?" "You get all of it," said the lawyer, "and you pay me what you please. It didn't take me five minutes to get a settlement out of them."

May Have to Put in Negroes.

Washington, Aug. 17.—A postoffice inspector has been ordered to Rocky Mount, N. C., to make an official investigation of the employment of four members of Postmaster Robbins' family in the local office. While it has been decided that only two members of the Robbins family can continue in subordinate positions in the office, no official action will be taken until the report of the inspector is forthcoming. First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne has been handling the Robbins case, but Postmaster General Payne himself is interested in the family arrangement at that place, and no action will be taken without consultation with him.

The postoffice officials have had called to their attention the statement that there are no other white Republicans in Rocky Mount outside of the Robbins family. While it is probable that Postmaster Robbins will be allowed to have his say in the selection of the new clerks who are to serve under him, he will not be allowed to name Democrats in order to keep from appointing colored men. He may have to import white Republicans from a distance to keep the negroes from positions in his office, but it is possible that Postmaster General Payne would have something to say with reference to such action. General Payne is a firm believer in the President's policy with reference to "the door of hope" and the colored man. Such is the opinion expressed by a Republican official today.

Judge Pritchard left last night for his former home in Marshall, where he will spend some days before returning to Washington. He is on vacation until October 1st.

Adventist Preachers Arrested.

Southern Pines, Aug. 17.—Elder Monday, Thomas Persons and two women—one known as St. Anne and the other as Holy Angel, had the spirit move them to trouble on Pennsylvania avenue yesterday afternoon. They were taken before Mayor Ferguson this morning and assessed with the costs—$1.95 each—with a promise to keep quiet from now on. They called themselves Seventh Day Adventists.

Killed Four and Wounded Nine.

Birmingham, August 17.—A special from Heflin, Ala., says: "News has just reached here that four men have been killed and nine wounded in Randolph county by a negro named Sledge. The sheriff and posse are now in pursuit, but have not yet captured the murderer. The trouble started over a difficulty in a watermelon patch last Saturday. A party of white men were working the public road to Beaver creek, near Lamar, and when they ceased work they asked permission to eat a few melons in the negro's melon patch. They were told to help themselves. The men began to eat and slash melons and Sledge looked on. The negro warned them to stop and then went after his gun. Returning he emptied the weapon into the crowd, wounding 9 out of 11."

Dastardly Attempt to Wreck No. 38.

Charlotte, Aug. 17.—Last night a dastardly attempt was made to wreck No. 38, one of the Southern's vestibuled trains, just outside the city limits of Charlotte. A switch near the new mill being erected by the Highland Park Manufacturing Company was the scene chosen for the awful work of destruction. The lock was broken and the switch opened, after which the light was extinguished. One of the northbound through freight trains, No. 72, was running ahead of No. 38 and ran into the open switch. As soon as the engineer found that he had left the main line he reversed the engine and applied the brakes. Owing to the fact that the train was not running at a high rate of speed it was possible to stop it before any damage was done.

Five Girls Drown.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 17.—At Burch Station, Giles county, late yesterday evening, while a party of children, one boy and seven girls, ranging in age from 8 to 15 years, were boating, the boat capsized and five of the girls were drowned. The children drowned were two daughters of John Robinson, one daughter of John Holloway, and two daughters of Mrs. L. O. See.

The Price of Tobacco.

Charlotte Chronicle.

Mr. W. J. Blackburn, of Greensboro, who is connected with the American Tobacco Company, has some ideas in regard to the low price of leaf tobacco. It will be remembered that the farmers in the eastern part of North Carolina and in the tobacco belt of South Carolina have raised a big howl on account of the low price of their products. Mr. Blackburn in the course of a conversation with a Chronicle reporter today, said, that while it was rather hard on the farmers who are holding meetings and boycotting the A. T. Company, he thinks it may prove the salvation of tobacco growers in the piedmont section of the state. He said: "The farmers in our section of the state have been almost driven out of the business by the competition of the eastern farmers, and now, if the farmers in the east will go back to growing cotton, there will be a better showing for the farmers in the piedmont section."

Mr. Blackburn says the very poor quality of the tobacco in the eastern part of the state is partially responsible for the low price. For two or three years past tobacco in other sections has been scarce, and this has kept the price of the eastern products up; but now, that there is a splendid crop throughout Virginia and the piedmont section of North Carolina, the buyers do not feel the necessity for paying a high price for the light, chaffy weed in the east.

Judge Neal Condemns "Bucket Shops."

In his charge to the Mecklenburg grand jury Monday morning Judge Walter H. Neal instructed the jury to consider gambling in futures just as indictable an offense as crap shooting or any other form of gambling. His remarks had particular reference to the business that is done in cotton exchanges or bucket shops.

Judge Neal called the attention of the grand jury to the fact that there is a law on the statute books of North Carolina, enacted by the legislature of 1889, which makes a contract in futures void and also provides that any person who buys or sells future contracts may be indicted. "As long as that law stands on the statute books," said Judge Neal, "it is the duty of the courts to enforce it, and I feel it my duty to bring the matter to the attention of this grand jury. You have no more right in the discharge of your duties, to discriminate between gamblers, for dealing in futures is a species of gambling, than to discriminate between other violators of the law. All gambling is indictable, whether it be playing cards for gain, shooting craps or any other form that some people might consider innocent."

Judge Neal made no allusion to progressive eucher players.

Notice to Teachers and School Officers.

The Guilford county institute for white teachers will be held at the court house, in Greensboro, during the week beginning Sept. 21st and ending Sept. 26th. The institute for colored teachers will be held Sept. 28th to Oct. 3rd. The programs for both institutes will be announced later.

An examination for certificates for white teachers will be held at Lindsay street school building, in Greensboro, Tuesday, Aug. 25th, and one for colored teachers will be held in colored graded school building, Wednesday, Aug. 26th. Another examination will be given at the close of the county institute in September.

The school committees of various townships that have not done so are advised to meet and organize at once. The employment of teachers should receive immediate attention, and contracts, blanks for which will be furnished on application, should be duly signed and returned to the superintendent. The salary paid second grade teachers is not to exceed $25 per month and that paid first grade teachers is not to exceed $30 per month.

Respectfully,
THOS. A. SHARP, Supt.

Trust Methods.

Progressive Farmer.

On July 22nd the Tobacco Trust raised the price of American cigarettes in England 50 per cent. Two weeks later it reduced the price of its raw material in North Carolina more than 50 per cent.—for later reports more than confirm our last week's conjecture as to this. The Tobacco Trust is powerful, but in America there is yet a mightier power. One of these days the Trust, by its greed and oppression, is to bring itself into deadly and unequal combat with the people.

Boy Cured of Colic After Physician's Treatment Had Failed.

My boy when four years old was taken with colic and cramps in his stomach. I sent for the doctor and he injected morphine, but the child kept getting worse. I then gave him half a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and in half an hour he was sleeping and soon recovered.—F. L. Wilkins, Shell Lake, Wis. The beautiful grove well illuminated and an ideal evening far out-door sport added to the occasion. Singing, reciting, speaking and playing "Flinch" were enjoyed by all present. But I was about to forget the most delightful features, i. e. cream (best that can be made), cake, sherbet and bananas.

Trogen, for their efforts in making this a great success, and if these gentlemen should undertake another social feature of this nature again, I am sure I speak the unanimous consent of all to be present if invited. A NOVEL SUNDAY SCHOOL BUILDING.

Description of the One Just Erected by the First Presbyterian Church, of Greensboro, Said to be the Completest for the Purpose in Existence.

The latest would-be complete Sunday school building is the one just erected by the First Presbyterian church, of Greensboro, under the pastoral leadership of Dr. Egbert W. Smith, author of "The Creed of Presbyterians," and in large part also of the interior plan of this Sunday school. The plan seeks to combine the best attainments of modern Sunday school architecture with original features of its own.

And, by the way, the name Sunday school, to designate this familiar department of church work, Dr. Smith objects to. He says it ought to be called Bible school; that the distinctive thing about it is not the day it meets, but the Book it studies, and that not till it is known and thought of as the Bible school will it have its rightful prominence and congregational breadth of membership.

The new building reproduces the Romanesque architecture of the church. Connected by an ornamental cloisterway, 40 feet long, the two look like twin sisters, and together form an imposing and harmonious whole. The distance apart prevents one building from shadowing the windows of the other, while through the cloister on wet or snowy Sundays the inmates of one, at the close of its services, can pass to the succeeding services of the other without exposure to the weather.

The purpose of the new building is threefold: to provide the most perfect possible facilities for the study of the Bible by the whole congregation, young and old; to serve as a nursery and training school of their spiritual life and activities, and to minister, as far as may advance the above chief ends, to the social and intellectual needs of the congregation. There are nearly 40 apartments in the building, and its total cost, complete and furnished throughout, is about $30,000.

The Sunday school room proper is on the semi-circular plan, the outer walls running parallel for 22 feet after completing a half circle of 39 feet radius. The main auditorium on the first floor seats about 250, exclusive of the rostrum. Opening into the auditorium and shut off from it by curtains running by wheeled brass rigs on a brass rod are 12 class-rooms. Of these the primary class-room on the right of the rostrum seats 180 children, the outer wall being set back 18 feet to increase its capacity; the kindergarten room on the left of the rostrum seats 75, and the other 10 class-rooms seat 20 or 25 each.

The influence of such a building as this is incalculable. Through coming generations it will promote in the most effective way the highest interests of the congregation and community, and above all, it will serve as an impressive reminder to the church at large that in this day of universal educational revival and advance the Church of Christ, to maintain and make manifest among men the primacy of the moral and spiritual, must devise as liberal things for her Bible school as other agencies are doing for secular education.

It is a fitting tribute that this beautiful building is a memorial to Dr. J. Henry Smith, father of the present pastor, who for nearly 40 years was the beloved pastor of this church.

lighted by gas and electricity and ventilated according to scientific sanitary methods, the foul air being withdrawn through a large vent stack by an artificially produced air current.

Stained glass of rich and delicate design is used throughout. When the curtains and folding doors are thrown back and the room converted into one great auditorium the light and color effect is strikingly beautiful. In addition to the Romanesque double windows below, there are 16 circular windows of 42 inches diameter in the upper part above the gallery tiers, while from the centre overhead there falls a glory of softly tinted light through a great rose window nine feet in diameter. Except this last, all the windows in the building are hinged or pivoted to admit air as well as light when desired, and all the upper room windows have movable transoms in addition. Moreover, on hot summer days, or when the house is warmly packed at night, the opening of the windows of the 16 upper class-rooms converts the doorway of each into a great fresh-air inlet, whose current strikes directly upon no one in the audience.

The main west entrance leads into a reception hall, to the right of which are two library and reading rooms, kept open until 10 P. M. every week day, while on the left is the ladies' parlor, for missionary and other society meetings, with seating capacity of over 100. These rooms are connected by sliding doors and can be thrown into one for receptions. In the basement, which is one half above ground and well lighted and ventilated, is a large room, 30x92 feet, with a complete kitchen attachment and divisible at will into two rooms, intended for class banquets, missionary and congregational societies, children's festivals and Christmas trees, a gymnasium and other purposes. It has three entrances, two from the halls above and one directly from the outside.

The pastor's study is on the second floor, and a climb to the top of the tower brings one to a small roof garden, whence a beautiful and extended view of the city and surrounding country may be obtained.

The influence of such a building as this is incalculable. Through coming generations it will promote in the most effective way the highest interests of the congregation and community, and above all, it will serve as an impressive reminder to the church at large that in this day of universal educational revival and advance the Church of Christ, to maintain and make manifest among men the primacy of the moral and spiritual, must devise as liberal things for her Bible school as other agencies are doing for secular education.

Fleeced Lambs Everywhere.

The number of persons all over the country who are induced to "take a flyer" in the stock market when things are booming is larger than many may think. A large part of them are unsuspected by those who do not meet them in brokers' offices, for they are rather shy of being known as speculators. Who would presume that the people of such a state as North Carolina were risking their savings ruinously in the stock market? Yet their losses in the slump are by some estimates placed at $10,000,000 and by others as high as $20,000,000. And the cotton corner in which, if any speciality, they might be expected to be plungers, has not been broken yet. If such is the state of affairs in North Carolina, there are few states where the game has not been played with at least as much daring.

Well, if men will buy stocks that represent no real value, but simply fictitious capital, fiat capital, the inside workers of trust, promoters, and underwriters will pocket their money suitably, and some time, perhaps, repurchase their holdings for less than they are worth.

Not Over-Wise.

There is an old allegoric picture of a girl scared at a grass-hopper, but in the act of heedlessly treading on a snake. This is paralleled by the man who spends a large sum building a cyclone cellar but neglects to provide his family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a safeguard against bowel complaints, whose victims outnumber those of the cyclone a hundred to one. This remedy is everywhere recognized as the most prompt and reliable medicine in use for these diseases. For sale by Holton's Drug Store.

Bryan Buys Horses.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 12.—William Jennings Bryan has purchased a team of horses worth about $1,200. They are a pair of spanking chestnuts known as Pabst and Roosevelt, and were among the equines shown at the recent horse show at Milwaukee.

The deal for their sale has just been concluded by Charles Rasor, Normal, Ill., the former owner. Bryan saw the team at the Milwaukee horse show.

Some Things Noted in Cuba.

Rev. Dr. Jacob Straub, in Universalist Leader.

One is said not to be able to speak with authority of a country until he has summered and wintered in it. I have now been over twelve months in the island of Cuba, mainly among the American colonists. During these twelve months I have learned and unlearned some things. I find Cuba to be of common world, with many things in common with other parts with which I have been familiar. While there is a large dissimilarity in nature in various places, the dissimilarities are more modifications than radical unlikenesses. There are possibly oak trees, beech and maple and walnut on the island, but none in this region. Indeed, at first, one would say there are no trees of the North represented here; but there is the counter-part of the cherry, linden and butter-nut. Usually the woods are much harder, and filled with oil. I should have said that in the extreme east and west ends, and the Isle of Pines, there are very fine specimens of pine reported. Nevertheless, these forests are full of strange interests to botanists, both lay and professional. Great orchids, rare and otherwise, abound. A stroll through the forest at this time of year reveals everywhere the crumpled form of the night-blooming cereus that was open on the night before. Pushing through the vines of all kinds, by means of the machete, one becomes startled to have his path crossed by the great pea-green vine, bearing the vanilla of commerce. In the same vicinity may stand the wild fig tree or a bush of coffee, or the wild orange, with yellow limes scattered on the ground, or the guava, or sapadillo or aguacote pear, or what not of the native luscious fruits, to be followed in due time by the cultivated varieties.

The animal kingdom does not vary so much from that at the North. The Bob White we hear early in the morning near the house. Occasionally, too, we hear the chirp of the robin. I think the whole family of woodpeckers of the North I have seen represented here, including several varieties of thrush. One large brown bird resembling a thrush, but with longer tail, and somewhat different note, is constantly met with in the woods; and along the water are the flamingos, lining up like soldiers in front of the islands. If disturbed they rise up in red clouds to settle down on the other side, out of sight and range. Pelicans also abound in the harbors, especially where the sardines are plenty. And their deportment in procuring them is very interesting. With heavy flops they rise up at an angle of 45 till they attain the height of perhaps 50 feet, then "let go of themselves" and tumble like dead into the water. The egret, and other birds of similar plumage, are quite plentiful.

The insect world is entirely too much in evidence at times; but very few of these are of a disturbing nature. The undesirable are no more prevalent than at the North. Perhaps the most interesting is the noted "firefly." It is related to what at the North we call the snapping bug, a beetle of the coleoptera family. It does not "wink" as do our fireflies at the North, but whenever awake glows with a steady radiance like the blue electric light. The light is emitted from disks on the thorax, from an eighth to a quarter of an inch in diameter. The body of the animal is perhaps three-quarters to one and a half inches long, and soaring through the air they look like slowly moving meteors. They are entirely harmless, and children gather them in fruit jars or large bottles for lanterns. By the light of one only the time may be read off the dial of a watch. The reptiles are not extensively represented. There are few snakes, all harmless. Along the rivers the alligator is found. There are some lizards in the forest, and the beautiful chameleon, the foe of the insect life, darts about everywhere. They, too, are great playthings for children.

He Held His Own.

Richmond Times-Dispatch. The other day a New York broker was called to the telephone by one of his customers, who inquired, "How is Steel?"

"Steel is holding its own fairly well," replied the broker.

"Holding its own," said the inquirer, "well I should say so. It is holding its own, and it is holding mine also."

That reminds us of a good story told on an old negro barber in a North Carolina town who was given to saying pleasant things. Whenever a customer came in he invariably had some flattering remark to make about his general appearance, but finally he had a call from a notoriously ugly man about whom even this old flatterer could say nothing good. But the customer came regularly to the shop, the old negro learned to like him, and finally he determined to make a pleasant remark whether or not, and this is the way he put it. Said he: "Boss, when you first come into dis shop I thought you was one of de homeliest gentman I ever seed. But since I has been shavin' you I must say you holds your own pow'full well."

A New Colony For North Carolina.

Charlotte Chronicle.

North Carolina offers a fertile soil for the planting of benevolent enterprises. The colony of the Waldenses, famed in history for their simple faith and splendid integrity as a people, which was established in Burke county several years ago, is succeeding in spite of not a few difficulties, and North Carolina has no citizens that she need be prouder of than this quiet Alpine folk who are so industriously wrestling a living from the Burke hillsides and teaching their neighbors how to grow the finest of grapes. We see by a special from Knoxville, Tenn., to The Chicago Chronicle that another colony is to be located in this state, this time in the higher mountains of the state, in the extreme western county—Cherokee. Alexander B. Heffernan, of Chicago, a native of Germany, but who has been in this country for the past five years studying industrial conditions, has purchased 90,000 acres of timbered land in Cherokee, which he intends to utilize for settlement by bringing people from the crowded districts of Chicago and St. Louis, and giving them a part of the land. The movement is one of benevolence, to give the poorer classes a better chance in life and to afford them an opportunity to accumulate something. Mr. Heffernan has studied conditions in Europe as well as in this country, and he says while the conditions in this country are much better than in Europe, many are denied by reason of their cramped quarters in the cities an opportunity to get along successfully. He insists that the health and social and financial standing of the people in the crowded cities will be improved if they will locate in the South. "We want to duplicate the work that made Michigan prosperous and attracted thousands of citizens to that state years ago," he says.

The Chronicle does not know just what the work was that made Michigan prosperous, but it hopes, anyhow, it may be successfully duplicated in Cherokee, and that this new enterprise will yield every beneficent result that is expected from it.

Broke Both Arms in Nightmare.

Roanoke, Va., Aug. 13. Dr. John L. Doggett, aged 60, a prominent dentist, broke both arms while in a nightmare today. His wife took him by his hands in the endeavor to quiet him, when he gave a lunge of superhuman strength, brought his hands over his head and back again, snapping the large bones of both arms, neck and shoulder. The physicians pronounce it an extraordinary case.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers. They filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucin instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Belong to that class of inflammatory and disfiguring skin eruptions that cause more genuine bodily discomfort and worry than all other known diseases. The impurities or sediments which collect in the system because of poor digestion, inactive kidneys and other organs of elimination are taken up by the blood, saturating the system with acid poisons and fluids that ooze out through the glands and pores of the skin, producing an insupportable itching and burning, and Strikers Fire on Workmen.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 16.—One of the greatest clashes between labor factions in this vicinity took place early this morning between the striking machinists and about 25 non-union men who took their places in the Riverside plant of the United States Steel Corporation, but despite the fact that over 1,000 shots were fired there were no fatalities and only a few persons were wounded.

The machinists have been out on a strike for several weeks and the situation was becoming desperate for the corporation until they imported about 20 men to take the places of the strikers. The men have been assaulted from time to time, but the situation has not reached an alarming stage heretofore. The strikers congregated about the boarding houses of the non-unionists last night, fully armed, and began an attack. The houses were heavily barraged and many volleys were fired into the structures. Finally a well-directed shot from within the houses wounded one of the strikers and he was carried to a hospital. Clay Hoover, a spectator, also was shot in the left knee, but not seriously. A number of people who were in the building with the non-unionists received wounds which were dressed by physicians.

The rioting continued until 2 o'clock this morning, when it abated somewhat. The police were powerless to interfere and re-inforcements were requested. About 300 unionists participated in the riot and a free outbreak is feared at any moment. At 10 o'clock tonight the strikers who are lying in the hills fired on Peter Silatek, who was passing that point. He was seriously wounded. The strikers mistook him, thinking he was a spy.

Southern Negroes Fleeced.

Atlanta, Aug. 13.—Thousands of dollars have been secured from the blacks of this section of Georgia and in Florida by a Northern negro, who stated that he had been employed by Senator Mark Hanna to collect money to be used in passing the Ohio Senator's bill to pension the ex-slaves of the South.

The negroes, tempted by the prospects of a pension, gave readily, some of them turning over their savings of years.

Last week the Northern negro left, saying he was going to see Mr. Hanna. One negro, F. B. Wilson, who had given $50, grew suspicious and wrote to Senator Hanna. Wilson has received a letter from Mr. Hanna denouncing the Northern negro as a fraud and warning the negroes not to trust him. It is estimated that the Northern swindler secured $8,000 during his campaign.

Roseboro Guilty of Murder.

Statesville, Aug. 12.—At 6:14 o'clock this afternoon the jury brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree against Wilford Roseboro for the murder of Mrs. Dolph Beaver. The jury was out only 23 minutes. Judge Allen will pass the sentence tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Although the evidence against Roseboro was circumstantial it was so strong and linked together so well that there was no chance of escape. One of the pistols found on him was identified as the one taken from Beaver's home the day of the murder. The coat in which it was found was also identified as Roseboro's. His presence around the Beaver home could not be accounted for only as connected with the crime.

Judge Allen commended Mr. Beaver in waiting and using his influence for a fair trial of the murderer of his wife.

Statesville, Aug. 13.—Wilford Roseboro, convicted yesterday of murder in the first degree, was sentenced at 9:30 o'clock this morning to be hanged September 10th.

Woman Saved Firemen.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 13.—Mrs. Hill, the wife of a bridge-tender, prevented a serious accident early this morning. The fire department was called to a fire at the chandlery shop of R. V. Hitchings, in Front street, near the York street draw-bridge. Just before the alarm sounded the bridge was opened to allow a schooner to go through, and the vessel was passing and the draw was open when one of the heavy fire engines, driven at high speed, came rushing toward the open draw.

Mrs. Hill comprehended the danger, and running into the street in her night clothes, shouted to the driver to stop, in time for him to check the horses only twenty feet from the water. The chandlery was burned, with a loss of $2,000.

No Negro Allowed in Town.

Indianapolis, Aug. 16.—A street fair, to be held at Elwood this week, brought out the fact that it is one town in the country where a negro will not be allowed within its corporate limits.

Several horsemen who have animals entered for the horse show part of the exhibition are accompanied by negroes to take care of the horses. They were waited on by their colored employees and told that they did not dare enter the town, as they had been warned not to approach the place.

The horsemen consulted the local authorities and were informed that the people of Elwood, and especially the employees of the factories, are greatly prejudiced against negroes and that no negro had ever been allowed to come into town.

Mad Man Fires into Crowd.

Winfield, Kan., Aug. 13.—Gilbert Trigg, aged 30 years, supposed to be insane, appeared on the principal street of this town tonight with a double-barrel shotgun and fired both charges deliberately into a crowd of 5,000 people, who were listening to a band concert. He killed four persons, fatally injured three and shot 20 others, of whom six may die. Trigg was himself killed by the policeman.

Tar Heels to Row.

New York, Aug. 14.—The universities of Cornell, Syracuse Geological, Wisconsin and Columbia, which compete in annual inter-collegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, are pleased at the news that the University of North Carolina will enter the races next year. Rowing officials at these colleges declare that the more competitors there are the closer will be the race. Not only that, they say, but it will make rowing more popular in the South, where the support of that sport has been lacking. If Edward Hanlan, former Columbia coach, will train the Carolina crew, as reported, Northern colleges will anticipate a hard race from the Southerners next year. No better man than Hanlan could be secured as coach and if uninterfered with he will be able to develop first-class oarsmen.

Mob Disregards Color Line.

Albany, Ga., Aug. 14.—Reports received here this morning are to the effect that a white man named Thompson, and King Wrightman, a negro, were lynched yesterday afternoon at Hartsfield, a village in Colquitt county, 60 miles east of this place, for assaulting a white woman, Mrs. Mathis, near Hartsfield last Saturday night.

Full details of the lynching have not been received here yet, but it is known that the posse who had been searching for the negro Wightman had captured the negro ten miles south of Albany yesterday afternoon. Thompson, it is reported, had not endeavored to escape and was at his home when the mob captured him. The two men were lynched together by a band of infuriated men who had been pursuing Wightman since the night of his crime.

Terrible Crimes at Port Royal.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The commandant at the Port Royal, S. C., naval station appealed to the Navy department today for an additional force to maintain order and protect government property. He says ten bodies of people supposed to have been murdered were found in the yard; that highway robbery recently occurred in broad daylight, and a negro woman was killed in the yard and the murderers allowed to escape; that armed men took possession of the yard and were not molested. The lawlessness is attributed to the fact that the yard being a government reservation is beyond the jurisdiction of the local police and the commandant has not a sufficient force to preserve order.

Doubled His Stakes and Won.

Louisville Herald.

Did you ever see a man in a poker game bet every cent he had on three aces? Well, that is what S. W. Carson, superintendent of the Missouri Pacific terminals at Kansas City, did. But the stakes were bigger, probably, than were ever played in a poker game. He bet seven locomotives and his job that the Missouri Pacific bridge wouldn't go out—this in the face of the fact that seventeen bridges across the Kaw had already gone. And he won. Now the Missouri Pacific has the only bridge across the Kaw at that place. When Mr. Carson saw that his company's bridge was likely to go the way the others went he took a desperate chance. He decided to weight the bridge down with Mogul locomotives. Seven of them, representing a value of $125,000, were run out on the trembling structure. He knew, as did everybody else, that if the bridge went the engines would go with it, but he took the chance and took it alone, for the city was cut off from communication with the other heads of departments, and there was no one to consult with. Had the bridge and engines gone, his job would have gone, and with it a large share of his reputation as a man of sound judgment. But the plan was a winner, and now his stock is away above par.

Tobacco to Continue Low.

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—A tobacco buyer, who is very blue about the low prices of leaf, says he has but little hope of any advances. When asked by a correspondent if the tobacco farmers were not able to hold their tobacco, he replied that he feared creditors would force them to rush their leaf on the market. He added that though they had had two wonderful years for crops and prices—1901 and 1902—yet they had been spoiled by good fortune and had not saved money, but as he put it, had "blown it in," and gone in debt. Of course, not all have done this, but the fact that any large number have thus hampered themselves complicates the situation. Prosperity begat extravagance.

Bulletproof Vest Tested.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—In the squad room of the Desplains street police station today a policeman pulled his pistol from his hip pocket, took deliberate aim at a man standing at the end of the room and fired.

The man did not drop dead, but turned a smiling face at his adversary, who then fired three more shots in rapid succession, all of which landed harmlessly. Half a dozen officers in the room looked on with deep interest.

It was a test of a bulletproof vest invented by Casimir Ziegler. The vest is made by a secret process and is lined with what resembles heavy quilted silk cloth.

The charges of attempted bribery in the Georgia legislature were not sustained according to the committee's report.

Planters' Warehouse!

NEW WAREHOUSE

IN GREENSBORO, N. C., LOCATED ON DAVIE STREET, NEAR THE OLD STAR WAREHOUSE SITE, AND NOT ON THE STREET CAR LINE.

We, R. T. Kernodle, R. O. Gamble and J. F. Fulton, have fitted up the Planters' Warehouse with every requirement for showing up and handling your tobacco and taking care of you and your stock, and are ready and anxious to serve you in handling and selling your tobacco (and in all other ways that we can be of service to you) the very best we know how.

You have our record as Tobacconists and Warehousemen before you and we need not comment on that; you know the part we have taken in sustaining and holding up the market through all its crisis, and we need not comment on it. Our motto is, as has always been, to serve the people faithfully and always treat them kindly, and the most important of all to get them all we can for their tobacco. We return a thousand thanks to all the people who have stood by us and helped us to make the Greensboro market what it is today, as good as any in the state. We have as strong and as great a demand for primings, as well as other tobaccos, as exists on any market, and while we do not consider prices on primings as good as last year, yet we do not think it advisable to let them waste but would save what we could of them and sell when cured, before they redden and damage on your hands.

We are in position to offer you every inducement to be had, and as to prices our record in the VERY TOP OF THE MARKET and to be excelled by none. We appreciate what you do for us, and can only show you that we do by our conduct toward you and the way we try to serve you. We are always glad to see our friends. Come around to the Planters' any old time and let us talk with you.

Yours very truly,

The Watermelon Wilt.

The watermelon wilt is causing great damage to the watermelon industry in North Carolina this year, cutting down seriously the amount of fruit raised, and in many cases reducing the crop to absolutely nothing. Whole fields present but a mass of dead vines. The present year shows the disease in much more destructive form than this state has known it before, although the story is old in many of our sister Southern states, where the raising of melons has to be largely abandoned.

The disease cannot be cured, nor can it be wholly prevented, yet with proper precaution its spread into fields not now infected can be retarded or entirely avoided.

The wilt is readily recognized from the fact that the leaves first droop, as though they were suffering from want of moisture, rapidly wilt and soon die, the runner dying with the leaves. Soon the whole plant is dead. Upon cutting the main tap root across near the surface of the ground such plants are found to present a yellow color, making a distinct contrast with the white color of the healthy plants. This one character taken together with the wilted appearance of the vine, will enable any one to recognize readily the true watermelon wilt.

The disease is caused not by insects, but by a very small microscopic germ, a fungus, which lives in the soil. It is so small that millions may exist in one teaspoonful of soil. This germ is able to live in the soil for some considerable length of time. Therefore if your field suffers from the wilt this year, it would be folly to plant that field to melons again next year or year after. It must be abandoned for the culture of melons until the germ in the soil dies. How long that will take is not yet certain. The germ has been known to live in the soil for four years after watermelons had ceased to be raised there. It will be seen from this that there is very little hope of ever getting rid of this disease when it is once in a field. It therefore behooves us to give special care to prevent the disease from spreading into fields which are not yet diseased.

The spread of the disease may occur in the following ways:

(1) Soil which is removed from a diseased field into another field, for example by washing, or by tools, may carry these germs with it. This would indicate that tools should be thoroughly cleaned before being carried from the infected field to the healthy fields.

(2) Diseased plants carried in any way or blown from the diseased field to the healthy field carry the contagion. One common way in which these vines are carried is by cattle. The cattle spread the disease by carrying it into healthy fields and leaving it in the manure, the germ uninjured.

With these points in mind a few suggestions can be made as to the restriction of the disease to its present confines.

First, Rotate your crops. You may grow anything else that you wish on this land, but do not replant it to watermelons until you are sure that the watermelon wilt germ in the soil is dead. This will probably take more than four years, and even at the end of that time you had best try it with a few hills before planting the whole field to melons.

Second, Remove and burn all diseased plants. This will prevent the formation of a very great number of spores, and thus diminish the contagion. Go into your diseased field and pull and burn all diseased plants as soon as you see them. If your whole field is diseased, pull and burn all melon plants in order to prevent their spread by the wind, and to prevent them from passing into the hay crop, and thus infecting your manure for next year.

Third, Do not allow cattle to pasture on diseased vines and thus spread it through the manure.

Fourth, Clean your tools so as not to carry the germs from infected fields to uninfected fields. Remove the dirt from all the tools. A teaspoonful of dirt may contain thousands of germs. Fifth, do not use any manure which by any possible means may have been contaminated with the watermelon wilt. The manure may be contaminated in two ways: first, by trash from the field being thrown on the compost heap. Second, by feeding to the stock cow pea hay in which there may be traces of diseased watermelon, leaves, stalks, roots, fruit, etc., the germs pass through the cow into the manure uninjured.

The practice of raising watermelons before cow peas leads to the presence of some watermelon vines in the cow pea hay, and this likewise leads to the presence of germs in the compost heap. Such manure should never be placed on land which is still free from the germ, or which is to be used to raise watermelons on, as this is an almost sure way of spreading the wilt.

There is no objection to the use of stable manure which does not contain the fungus, but experience has shown that when the wilt once gains entrance to the compost heap or barn yard, that it remains there for years, and all of the manure taken out of such a yard will be likely to spread the disease. Hence it is exceedingly dangerous in regions where there is any possibility of the wilt, to use any stable manure on the field where you intend to plant melons.

The outlook for the melon industry is not encouraging, and the treatment that can be recommended for this disease is not very promising, but for this very reason it is all the more evident that any person who still possesses an uninfected field, should exercise the greatest care with his tools, cattle, manure, and take every precaution possible to preserve that field in its present uninfected condition. With the present scarcity of watermelons, and the promise of a still greater scarcity in the future, the value of uninfected fields rises rapidly.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

It is the desire of the Station to do everything possible to assist the watermelon growers in combating this disease. To this end we desire to know where, and how abundant, this disease is at present, and ask that every grower who is affected with the wilt, write to the Station, stating the amount of damage, and what he knows of the history of the disease in his region.

Pull up a diseased plant and cut off the runners about three inches from the root and send with your letter this root with the stubs of the runners on it.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Dollie T. Harvey, daughter of William and Elizabeth Smith, sister of J. T. Smith and Mrs. Anna White, and widow of John Harvey, was born in Rockingham county Nov. 16th, 1828, and departed this life July 3rd, 1903, aged 74 years 7 months and 5 days. She professed religion while young. She was happily married to Mr. John Harvey April 4, 1848. Mr. Harvey died in 1867, leaving a widow and eight children, all of whom are now living except Mrs. Fannie Tyson. Sister Harvey during her widowhood of twenty-six years had the care of her children and supervision of the farm, which she managed admirably. Her industry and faith are great lessons to her children and friends. Her devotion and love for her children, her home and her church was demonstrated by her constant desire and effort to promote their very best interests. She was cheerful and hopeful in her last hours. After giving her faithful daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lou Harvey, words of instruction and encouragement she passed peacefully away to her home in heaven. Funeral services conducted at New Garden by her pastor, Rev. J. F. Kirk, and A. G. Kirkman. May her loved ones follow her as she followed Christ and all meet in Heaven is the desire of

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and development. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by all druggists.

The Pure Food Campaign.

Boston Globe.

The national government's campaign in the interest of pure food is one that will meet with universal approval. The new law prohibiting the importation of impure food from foreign countries is to be vigorously enforced by the Department of Agriculture, the first step in that direction being the decision to hold up for examination a score of cargoes of food products that are now on their way here from foreign countries.

None of these cargoes can be distributed until samples have been examined by experts and favorably passed upon. The chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture has just been sent abroad for the purpose of visiting some of the large cities of Europe whence come the largest exportations of foods, and while there will instruct our consular representatives as to the operation of the new law. This is something that will add to the work of the consuls, but it will be one of their most useful duties. The people of Massachusetts will be particularly interested in this new departure, for ever since 1883 our state board of health, through its department of food and drug inspection, has waged an active warfare against impure foods and drugs that has attracted general attention throughout the country.

The board employs a staff of six experts, three analysts and three inspectors, and these annually examine an immense quantity of samples, something like 10,000 samples of foods and drugs alone being analyzed.

In 1901 the ratio of adulterations found to exist in these products was 27.5 per cent. New forms of adulteration are constantly appearing, especially in the case of preserves and jellies and flavoring extracts. It would seem as if eternal vigilance was the price of even comparatively pure food in these days.

A New Metal, Seliun.

The discovery in Germany of a new metal called seliun by Edward Mollard, a Frenchman, is reported to the State department. The discoverer asserts that seliun costs only one-twelfth as much as aluminum and is lighter and stronger. It does not rust and is therefore suitable for shipbuilding, for the manufacture of pipes and for railroad construction.

It is asserted also that, as it is capable of taking a fine polish resembling nickel, it would be desirable for cooking utensils. Its hardness is not quite equal to that of iron, but is greater than that of lead or zinc. Its power of resistance is said to be greater than that of iron, but less than that of steel.

TALMAGE SERMON

By Rev. FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D.,
Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago

Chicago, Aug. 16.—In his sermon the preacher points out the key to a successful life and the secret whereby even seeming reverses may be transformed into triumphs. The text is Isaiah 1, 5, "As I was with Moses, so I will be with thee."

One of the greatest novels ever written is considered by many of our best writers. Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "Les Misérables," amid all the art galleries of that treasured book the most wonderful description is the word painting by which the denouncer of Napoleon the Little pictures the downfall of "Napoleon the Great" at the battle field of Waterloo. When this great master of literature topples over the French colossus, the earth trembles and the dead centuries come forth out of their dusty tombs and look on in perpetual wonderment.

In that marvelous recital you can hear the booming of the artillery's guns and the crack of the infantry's muskets and the groans of the dying and the cheers of the charging cavalry, and the tramp of the British lines forming themselves into the unbreakable squares against which the Old Guard flung itself in vain. In it you can see the flushed cheeks and the flashing eyes of a conquering host and the pale, wan, haggard faces of a flying mob.

Yet after all in reading the thrilling story I am impressed not so much by what happened as what did not happen. For many hours the eagle of victory seemed undecided upon which standard to alight. She fluttered this way and that, as though awaiting some one's expected advent to help her to decide. Napoleon himself was waiting, anxiously waiting, for the same helper. Every little while he would take his gold glass and scan the surrounding hills and valleys. Every little while he would turn to his staff officers and say: "Do you see him? Have you heard any news from Grondy? We must have reinforcements or we are lost." In the meantime over the hills marched Marshal Blucher with his German reinforcements. That was the decisive event. Victory hesitated no longer. She flew to the standard of Wellington and perched there. The Napoleonic star set in gloom to rise no more in this world. It was the lack of reinforcements at a critical moment which destroyed the French army. It is the lack of divine reinforcements which may destroy us in the battle of life.

"I Will Be With Thee," said the Lord. The text tells us of another general who also needed re-enforcements. To whom was committed the task of conquering a country held by warlike people. To him at the supreme moment came the assurance of the Lord of Hosts, "I will be with thee." Now, my friends, the same kind of divine reinforcement which came to Joshua when he took command of the Israelites' forces may also be given to us. When God gave to him his commission he said, "Joshua, if you will be true to me and fight under my standard I will be with thee as I was with thy predecessor." That divine success which God gave to Joshua he gave to our Christian fathers; that divine help he will give to us if we will trust him and believe on him and live for him. Therefore I would inspire every Christian to bravely go forth and do what God wants him to do. I would inspire all Christians to live and work with a brave heart, because the results of our future conflicts are as sure as God's promises are sure.

First, God will be with the Christian workers of this present generation. We fight under his glorious banner. David had proved it by experience when he wrote, "Thou hast given a banner to them that fear thee, that it may be displayed because of the truth." Under that banner the church of God has won victories in all ages. Solomon saw it on its march and pronounced it "terrible as an army with banners." He saw a later triumph over all evil, entering like a bride into the home of a bridegroom and her lord leading her to the banquet hall and placing over her the banner of love.

Now, a banner is not merely a piece of a rag or a flaring bit of fluttering fabric or a dress parade ensign. The banner of God is a flag or a standard. It is the symbol of supernatural authority. Whoever therefore strikes at God's banners strikes at the divine heart. When, some years ago, an American citizen was arrested by the Spanish authorities in Cuba and sentenced to die, the American consul at Havana protested in vain. But on the day set for the execution the Cuban authorities dared not shoot because that man wrapped an American flag about the condemned man, saying: "He is an American citizen. Now shoot him through the folds of that flag if you dare!" Today, in symbol, God wraps about every Christian worker his banner. It is the symbol of protection. It is the symbol of omnipotence. It is the symbol of the atonement. It is the symbol of divine forgiveness. It is the symbol of a glorious and never ending life.

Symbols in the Gospel Banner. We all can see the beautiful symbols in the American flag. Is there none for us in the gospel banner? We say there never was a national flag so poetic as ours! When George Washington and Robert Morris and Colonel Ross, the committee appointed by the Second Continental congress, visited Betsy Ross in her Philadelphia home, they accomplished a great work. That flag symbolized thirteen different governments in one, and still that one government kept its thirteen distinct individualities. The thirteen stars and the thirteen stripes represented the thirteen colonies which afterward became the thirteen states. Then, after Vermont and Kentucky, the first of the new states, were added to the Union, the thirteen stars and thirteen stripes were changed into fifteen stars and fifteen stripes, but now, by law, there are still the original thirteen bars, but every state has a star. Thus today the American flag has forty-five different states in one government—one great government with forty-five different, distinct states. Beautiful is the symbolism! But is not the gospel banner just as beautiful in symbol? Does it not make us one with God? Like a chameleon, it continually changes its colors. One day it is all red, reminding us that we are one with God, through the blood of the cross. Another day it is all white, suggesting purity, as Christ is pure. Another day it is all blue. That signifies our infinity of divine resources, as space itself is filled with blue. Oh, the glorious, the transcending, the inspiring thought that we are fighting under God's banner!

The Gospel Work Never Dies. God is with living Christian workers in the continuity of service. He will never allow the gospel work of past generations to die. Christian work has immortality. Like the government of England it goes on uninterruptedly from generation to generation. When King William IV. breathed his last the archbishop of Canterbury immediately hurried to the home of a young girl. He knocked at the door of her palace until it was opened. Then he summoned this young girl to arise and come down and meet him. When she entered the parlor he bowed to her, saying: "The king is dead! Long live the queen!" When that young girl, after she had grown to be an old woman of eighty-six, lay dying the watchers stood anxiously about her bed. As soon as she had breathed her last, and the attending physician pronounced her dead, her eldest son, Edward, was greeted with the acclamation, "Long live the king!" Rulers may come and rulers may go, but the government goes on, no matter what human hand may grasp the scepter. When our first martyred president fell in Ford's theater, James A. Garfield, who twenty years later dropped under an assassin's bullet, powerfully said, "Abraham Lincoln may be shot, but the government at Washington still lives." Like a true government, the gospel work of the past generations shall never die. It must live on in the world. It is for us to continue it in our gospel faith and in our Christian lives.

In the fourth chapter of Mark, Christ compares Christian work to a sower going forth to sow. Some of that seed will surely fall upon good ground, which will yield some thirty, some sixty, some a hundred fold. It must reproduce itself multiplicatively in the human lives of the succeeding generations. When Dwight L. Moody died did his work die? Without doubt Mr. Moody was the greatest evangelist of the past century. His personality not only appealed to sinners, but also to the greatest Christian workers of his day. His voice and pen raised vast sums of money for Christian work. He was a gospel messenger who stirred England and America on his evangelistic tours. He built the famous Moody Institute at Northfield. He gathered among the Massachusetts hills college men as well as ministers in annual conference for prayer and communion with God and for the study of the Bible. Suddenly, as a flash, Mr. Moody was struck down by the death angel. One day on his way to hold great evangelistic services in Kansas City, the next day upon his death bed. What was the result of Mr. Moody's death? Has any great evangelist been found to take his place? "Ah, no," you answer; "not one, not one." Well, my friend, if no one has been able to take Mr. Moody's place I can tell you this one truth—Mr. Moody when living was never as powerful as Mr. Moody when dead. The Chicago Institute and Moody church have never been so great as they are today. The institutions at Northfield were never doing better work than at the present time. And, what is more, the very summer after Mr. Moody died the mightiest Northfield conference ever known up to that time was held, in spite of the fact that the most eloquent tongue and the best poised brain and the biggest heart Northfield ever produced were lying silent in the grave. Mr. Moody's gospel seed planting yielded forth some thirty, some sixty and some a hundred fold. It was God's work, and God's work alone.

God Will Bless Our Work. When Charles H. Spurgeon died did his work die? Oh, no. God is still blessing the mission of the Metropolitan tabernacle and of the London Pastors' college. He is still blessing the work of Charles H. Spurgeon because it was intrinsically inspired by the Holy Spirit. He is blessing it through Spurgeon's successors. God will raise us up as modern Joshuas if we only live for him. He will bless in our lives the work of the Christian men and women with whom we have come into contact in the past. He will make us an essential link in a great chain of Christian influences which shall reach through all eternity.

God will bless the lives of modern Christian workers even through the death of his servants. Death is often a spiritual pruning hook. It lops off certain branches of the great tree of the human race in order that other branches may better develop and grow.

We are all ready to recognize the usefulness of a pruning hook in a temporal sense. Why can we not do this in a spiritual sense?

To the spiritual weaking the death of the strong Christian is not always a misfortune, but a blessing. Let me illustrate this truth in a simple way: Some years ago there lived in your town a noble, true man, who was the father of a large family. Suddenly he died. The friends who came into the bereft home not only sympathized with the widow because she had lost her husband, but because she seemed to have no visible means of support. Her eldest son was a nothing. He was a hothouse plant. He had depended in the past entirely upon his father. Mentally and morally he seemed to be entirely unfitted to assume the responsibilities of the home. But hardly had the father died when a change came over the boy. Instead of being a clinging vine he stiffened into a stalwart oak. He went to work to supply bread for that family of little ones. He became the staff upon which his mother leaned. It was the death of his father that developed him. It was the hillock of a paternal grave by which the son was able to find his stepping stones to a throne. God, I believe, often uses the sharp pruning hook of death to spiritually develop his undeveloped children. He takes away his Moses in order to throw the spiritual responsibilities upon his Joshuas. He says to us one and all: "It is not right for you, oh, young man, to learn to lean upon your father's and mother's spiritual life! You must learn to lean upon my divine arm, and mine alone. And in the leaning I will protect thee and care for thee, as I did for your Christian parents."

The Sweetest Notes of God. The sweetest gospel music is more often found to be the echo of a dirge than to come from a fantasia or a serenade or a dithyramb. Mozart's "Last Requiem," composed for his own obsequies, was his masterpiece. A beautiful legend teaches this: Many years ago a German knight wanted to change the towers of his castle into a great aolian harp. When the strings were first strung from the towers no sound came therefrom. No note was struck, because the slender fingers of the spirits of the summer winds were not strong enough to bend the strings, although they were able to lightly touch them. But when winter came, then the blizzards had wrists bunched with muscles. With the strong touch of musical masters they began to run the gamut of every scale. Accompanied by the shriekings of the tornadoes, the strings of the castled towers began to vibrate and send forth the sweetest of melodies. God sounds his sweetest notes upon the harp strings of our spiritual hearts when we seem to be the most weak and helpless. He often develops his children by the pruning hook of trouble. He makes us lean heaviest upon the divine heart when our own hearts have been gashed open by the gravedigger's spade, and when the dark nights of sorrow have obliterated all constellations save the one star which gleamed over the Bethlehem crib on the night that Jesus was born.

God will bless the Christian workers of the present generation because Christ has emphatically and distinctly promised that by the weak things of this world God shall confound the mighty. That means that no child of God is too young to lead sinners to the cross; no Christian's arm is too weak to wield a sickle in God's harvest field; no lip is too dumb to utter a far-reaching prayer, if that lip only belongs to a true disciple of Jesus Christ.

When Eloquence Meant Silence. We can prove this statement by recounting the history of the famous revival services held among the students of Edinburgh a few years ago. Henry Drummond, whose chief mission was given to the redemption for Christ of student life, gave an account of this movement on his last visit to this country. A couple of athletes of the University of Edinburgh were about to sail as foreign missionaries. Their classmates wanted to give them a big farewell. They hired one of the largest halls in the city. As those athletes were about to go forth as missionaries they prepared a big religious service. After these young men had departed a few of the Christian students left in the college came together and decided that they ought to hold such a religious service every week. These services were to be addressed for the most part by the students themselves. A committee was selected and arrangements made. Every student who was asked to address that meeting had to have two characteristics—the one, a pure, noble life; the other, he had to be a man of plain speech. The only bar to an invitation to address that meeting was eloquence. If a man was known to have the "silver tongue" of speech he was compelled to keep a "golden silence." What was the result of these series of meetings, held Sunday after Sunday in old Edinburgh by plain, unassuming and, in most cases, by "one talent" students? Not only did crowds of students weekly fill the hall, but scores and hundreds of young men were brought to confess Christ. The like of that religious influence had never before been seen in old Scotland, although Edinburgh had been blessed with pulpites whose names were famous all around the world.

Then the result of these meetings began to spread. These humble, one talent young men in batches of four and five were sent to other colleges and universities and also to villages and towns. These plain young men, by consecrated Christian lives, not only moved Edinburgh, but also all Scotland and all England and all Wales and, to some extent, religiously influenced the whole world. Mark you, my brother, that religious influence was not started by a Jonathan Edwards or a Robert McCheyne or a

Frederick Robertson, but by plain, humble individuals, who were consecrating their lives to Jesus Christ. If God can and did bless those modern Joshuas will he not bless us as individuals if we here and now consecrate our lives to his service and pray and plead and work as we ought to pray and plead and work? He will, my Christian brother. He will, he will. He will, even though we may be physically and mentally weaklings. He will if we will only throw ourselves upon his divine and omnipotent strength.

God will bless the old as well as the young. Oh, how often in religious work I have heard this excuse given: "I believe that I ought to give myself up to religious work, but the trouble is I am too old. I have wasted the best part of my life. I am too old to start life over again." Some people may think you are right in your decision; I do not. Even now there may be a glorious time for you, oh, man, oh, woman, if you will start in Christian work just at the present time. I do not believe it is too late for you to start to serve Jesus Christ; not too late even though for you the hour hand of the clock of time may be pointing to the twelfth hour and the minute hand to five minutes of 12 o'clock.

Never Too Old For the Lord's Work. How old was Moses when he began to lead forth the children of Israel into the wilderness? Was he a young man? No. His hair must have been white. His skin must have been wrinkled. Michael Angelo's wonderful chisel has cut him in stone as a giant. There Moses sits in the Roman capital today, with arms and back knotted in muscles, with beard tossed of a tempest, with features swarthy enough to frown down any mob and with fists like a sledge hammer. But with all of Michael Angelo's genius he could not change the facts. His chisel had to make Moses an old man. He had almost passed his eightieth milestone of life when he went forth to liberate the children of Israel from Egyptian slavery. How old was Joshua when the mantle of the dead Moses fell upon his shoulders? He had already passed his fourscore years and five. He was already pressing on toward his ninety-ninth milestone. So God has for you and me, if we only throw ourselves upon his mercy, a mission of Christian usefulness. He has it even though we may be old men and women, with many years of wasted opportunities to our discredit.

By an ex-member of my church I can prove how God can bless a redeemed life which has been cursed by many years of sin. Some time ago a poor woman attended the services of the church of which I was pastor. She wished to join, but the members of the session were very much in doubt about letting her in. She had been for fifteen years a dissolute character. Her past was scarred and seamed with her past debaucheries. She had by her side a drunken husband and two filthily dressed children. The session talked with her and at last decided to place her on probation for six months. At the end of six months she again wanted to join the church, and of course we admitted her. A short time after that woman moved away and left our church. A couple of years ago that woman called upon me. At first I did not know her. Not only had the grace of God cleansed her face, but the marks of dissipation had almost entirely left her countenance. Though she had not what the average artist might call a beautiful face, she certainly had a good, honest, noble, Holy Spirit inspired face. Her whole life was changed. It was now a Christian life of consecrated usefulness. Oh, my brother and sister, no matter how old you may be and how many wasted years are behind, shall not God inspire you and lift you up as he changed that woman's life? Shall not the divine power guard your remaining days as Moses' and Joshua's lives were protected?

Nearly every royal order has a royal insignia. In Germany one of the most honorable of orders was that started by King William called "the Order of the Iron Cross." Would that today the Heavenly King, instead of an earthly potentate, might place over your heart "the sign of the Iron Cross." May it prove that in his name you have worked and will continue to work divine wonders. Saved by grace, may you always continue to spiritually bless the lives of your fellow men.

Justice Harlan's Long Walks. Although Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court has reached what some have been pleased to call the "dead line" of actual life, being now just threescore and ten, he does not propose to recognize that arbitrary limitation, but will continue his duties on the bench for an indefinite time. He sees no apparent reason why he should retire, since he enjoys excellent health and is apparently no older than he was twenty years ago. He walks from Washington to the Chevy club, a good seven miles, to play his frequent game of golf, and he seldom rides to or from the sessions of the court. Probably his fine physical condition is due to his excellent habits—Leslie's Weekly.

A Modern Indian Wedding. A modern Indian wedding contains a grotesque combination of civilization and barbarism, as will be seen from the following account of a marriage ceremony which recently occurred in Oklahoma: "The bride was 'handsomely attired' in pink silk foulard, with pink silk ribbon sash, blue collar and cuffs, black hat with yellow and lavender trimmings, a green veil and black gloves. The bridegroom wore the conventional black, except his coat, which, it being a warm day, he had left at home. He carried an immense eagle wing."

stances. Runs light and covers the weeds up nicely with the ground soft or hard. Also the No. 65, when the land is in any condition at all, will make you smile and please you and your team so well that you will tell your neighbor to be sure to get a Chattanooga.

Do You Raise Tobacco?

There's going to be a new warehouse in town this fall, corner of Davie and Washington streets, right up in our part of town, and when you sell your tobacco we want to invite you to call at this store and see what's going on.
You will find that this store takes special care always to have on hand a full line of goods especially adapted to the wants of the farmer and planter. We can supply any and all of your wants in the way of dry goods and shoes at rock bottom prices. If you sell at one of the other warehouses you will have a little further to walk, but come anyhow and we shall try mighty hard to make you glad you came. Yours truly,

Thacker & Brockmann
