LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF FORM.

Matters of Interest to Readers of The Patriot Far and Near.

Mr. A. N. Perkins, of Charlotte, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jordan are visiting relatives in Asheville.

Mr. Charles A. Hines has gone to Raleigh and Lillington on legal business.

Mrs. Walter Rice, of Summerfield, is a surgical patient at St. Leo's hospital.

Mrs. J. I. Scales is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Moore, at Brown Summit.

Mr. E. P. Robinson, of Summerfield, called at The Patriot office while in the city yesterday.

Mr. W. A. King, of Gibsonville, Route 1, was among the callers at The Patriot office yesterday.

Mr. W. J. Robinson, one of The Patriot's Summerfield subscribers, was among the callers at the office Saturday.

Mr. James F. Duggan, of Brown Summit, gave The Patriot the pleasure of a call while in the city on business Tuesday.

Rev. Z. Paris, field secretary of the North Carolina Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, is spending a few days in the city visiting the subordinate lodges.

The Sunday school of the Moravian church of this city will observe Sunday as rally day. A special program will be rendered by the primary and intermediate departments.

The Patriot had the pleasure Saturday of receiving a call from Mrs. D. T. Ladd and little daughter, Miss Vera May, of Summerfield. Mrs. Ladd was in the city to attend the teachers' meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Harris have gone to Martin county on a visit to relatives. They were accompanied on the trip by their daughters, Mrs. T. H. Williamson, of Winston-Salem, and Mrs. S. B. Denny, of Wilson.

The Wyson and Miles Company and the Standard Paper and Machine Works, two of Greensboro's largest industries, have been consolidated and in the future will be operated under the name of the Wyson and Miles Company.

Dr. Turner Paisley, a brother of Mr. W. G. Paisley, of this city, is seriously ill at his home in Reidsville. He has been in poor health for some time and Sunday suffered an attack that is a source of alarm to his family and friends.

Rev. R. Murphy Williams, who has been engaged for the past eight months in raising an endowment fund of $50,000 for the Presbyterian orphanage at Barium Springs, attended a meeting of the orphanage trustees at Barium Springs yesterday.

Little Doris Clendenin, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Clendenin, was run over by an automobile near her home on Pearson street Monday morning and received painful though not serious injuries. The automobile was driven by a colored boy who was teaching a white boy how to run it.

Mr. R. F. Peterson, of Spartanburg, S. C., who spent Sunday in Greensboro, had his purse stolen from him as he was boarding a train Sunday night for Richmond, where he was going to attend a photographers' convention. He felt some one tugging at his pocket as he was entering the car and discovered at once that he had been robbed. The thief slipped through the crowd and escaped capture. The stolen purse contained about $40 in cash. Mr. Peterson gave up his trip to Richmond and returned to his home in Spartanburg.

"REFORMER" CALLED DOWN.

Commissioner Foushee Resents Statements of Visiting Evangelist.

Something close akin to a genuine sensation was created in the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant Sunday night, when Mr. J. Giles Foushee arose in his seat at the end of the service and made vigorous reply to strictures made by a visiting evangelist on the manner in which convicts are kept and treated by the city authorities.

The statements to which Commissioner Foushee took exception were made by Rev. George W. Crabtree, a traveling evangelist and prison reform worker of the Southern Presbyterian church. He had made practically the same speech here twice before in the last 10 days, and Sunday night he occupied the pulpit of the Church of the Covenant, of which Mr. Foushee is a member.

Mr. Crabtree spoke of conditions throughout the country in prisons generally, then on the state prisons and came down finally to those of Guilford county and the city of Greensboro. He went after the county workhouse with gloves off. Turning to the prison where men are kept who are worked on the streets, Mr. Crabtree said the barracks was an old posthouse, wherein 35 men were jammed together at night like sardines, two in a bunk, with one's feet in the other's face. He declared it was unsanitary and a disgrace to the city. To this he added that the officers were stealing from the convicts the five days of time for good behavior the law allows them.

When he had finished and sat down Commissioner Foushee arose and said he could not allow such misstatement and contortions of the facts as had been stated to go unchallenged. He declared the house used for the men to sleep in was not a posthouse, but a large room 40x50 feet, where men sleep in bunks of the regulation size. That it is well kept, two men being left at the place each day to clean up the premises. The beds are aired each day and new straw put in them every month. A separate wash room is provided and all convicts are required to bathe every day. He said the men were not worked overtime nor robbed of the time allowed by law for good behavior. The commissioner's remarks included a number of other statements in defense of the city and his administration and were both spicy and pointed.

Mr. Foushee has been very generally commended by the people of Greensboro for the manner in which he arose to the occasion and defended himself and the name of the city from the unjust and false accusations of the traveling troublemaker.

WEDDING BELLS.

The marriage of Mr. Lewis Jones and Miss Lena Campbell, which took place in Tabernacle Methodist Protestant church last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, united two well known and deservedly popular young people of southeastern Guilford. Rev. T. M. Johnson, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends of the young couple. Mr. J. S. Deviney, of Julian, was the best man, and Miss Frances Lineberry, of Greensboro, was maid of honor.

Many friends will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Mr. George Forsythe and Miss Belle Weatherly, which took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the manse of Abnath Presbyterian church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. W. Crawford and was witnessed by a few relatives and intimate friends of the young couple. Mr. Forsythe and his bride are well known young people of the Abnath community.

Mr. Clyde Lowe and Miss Myrtle Anderson, of High Point, were married in this city Sunday evening, the ceremony taking place at the Ashboro Street Friends church after the regular evening service. Rev. Earl J. Harold was the officiating minister.

Mr. William R. Coble and Miss Martha Shoffner, of Burlington, were married in Greensboro Friday evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. G. F. Millway at his home.

Rev. E. C. Glenn, formerly a resident of Greensboro, now pastor of the Methodist church at Fairfield, Hyde county, is visiting relatives in the city.

ANOTHER MURDER MYSTERY.

Dead Body of J. H. Taylor Found Lying in His Grocery Store.

Another murder that is baffling the detective instincts of the officers and threatens to remain an unsolved mystery came to light last Thursday morning, when the dead body of Mr. J. H. Taylor, who conducted a grocery store on West Lee street, near the western boundary line of the city, was found lying in the store. Two bullet holes in the head man's body bore mute testimony to the manner of his death. The discovery was made by a customer who called at the store and was reported immediately to the officers.

Mr. Taylor slept in a back room of his store as a matter of protection to his stock, and the presumption is that he was killed by an intruder who entered the store with the intention of committing robbery. Circumstances would seem to indicate that Mr. Taylor was awakened by the intruder and that a struggle followed. The dead man was found lying on the floor about the middle of the store and a chair and several packages had been overturned. Mr. Taylor was known to have kept a weapon has not been located, it is believed the murderer managed in the struggle to get possession of the gun and turned it on the merchant. The murderer entered the store through a side door.

Mr. Taylor's family were sleeping in their home within a few yards of the store and none of them heard any disturbance during the night, though several people in the neighborhood remember to have heard pistol shots some time after midnight.

Coroner Wood conducted an inquest over the remains, but no evidence tending to locate the murderer was brought out in the investigation.

With such slender clues as they have been able to come across, the officers of the city and county are working vigorously to solve the mystery of the crime. The county has offered a reward of $50 for the detection of the murderer, the state will offer a like reward and relatives of the dead man have offered a reward of $75.

Mr. Taylor was about 50 years of age and is survived by his widow, three daughters and two sons. The funeral and interment took place Saturday near Ruffin, Rockingham county.

DEATHS OF THE WEEK.

Rev. William Battis, who had been ill for some time at the home of his son-in-law, Prof. Wade R. Brown, on West Market street, died yesterday morning. He was 69 years old and for many years was actively engaged in the work of the ministry of the M. E. Church, South, having retired some years ago on account of increasing age and feeble health. Rev. Dr. C. W. Byrd conducted a short funeral service at the home yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and the body was carried last night to Baltimore to be cremated, in accordance with a request made by Mr. Battis prior to his death.

Miss Elizabeth McBride died Monday night at her home on Martin street. She was 63 years old and had been ill for some time. The funeral was held from the home Tuesday afternoon, followed by the interment in Greene Hill cemetery.

Robert, the 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. N. Vaughn, of Proximity, died of stomach trouble Friday morning. Rev. G. H. Christenberry conducted the funeral service at the home Saturday afternoon.

Richard, the eight-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hartman, died Saturday at the home of his parents on South Elm street. The body was carried to Altoona, Pa., for burial.

Connie, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kellam, died Friday at the age of three months. The little one had been ill from birth.

The Guilford County Medical Society will meet at the Carnegie library this afternoon. A program of interest to the medical profession has been arranged. Dr. Addison G. Brenizer, of Charlotte, will be present as a guest of the society and will deliver an illustrated lecture. Dr. Brenizer is a nephew of the late Judge John A. Glimmer.

BETTER BABIES CONTEST.

A Chance For Guilford Prize Winners to Enter State Contest.

The Patriot is asked to impress upon the mothers whose babies have been examined in the better babies contest that score cards showing the exact condition of the tots will be given out at the headquarters of the Greensboro Woman's Club during the week of the Central Carolina fair. Of course every mother will want to attend the fair, if for no other reason than to see the prize babies, but those who cannot be there will find their score cards at Thacker & Brockmann's store.

Mothers of prize winners will be notified in ample time to arrange for coming to the fair, and the baby feature promises to be one of the most interesting of the very attractive fair program.

Following this contest for Guilford county, under the auspices of the Woman's Club of Greensboro, there will be a state contest during the Raleigh fair, in which Guilford prize babies can be entered. In this contest three hundred dollars in prizes will be given, the object being the same as in the local contest—to find the most perfect baby, from a scientific standpoint, in North Carolina.

Dr. J. T. J. Battle, of Greensboro, who is an enthusiast on the subject of improving the human race, along with the cat and poultry, and whose labor of love in this cause has endeared him to so many Guilford mothers, in order that none may be overlooked, asks us to say that if any mother in Guilford county thinks she has a perfect baby and will communicate with him, he will arrange a date and give her the benefit of a free examination in order that she may enter the state contest.

Mothers of babies who could not be examined at West Market Street church last week, on account of the large number of entries, are asked to remember that free examinations will be conducted at the headquarters of the Woman's Club every day during the fair, from 10 to 12 in the morning, and from 2 to 4 in the afternoon.

This better babies contest has already been productive of good results, and now that the attention of parents has been turned to this practical side of improving the race, great things are expected to come of it.

C. F. & Y. V. Hearing Today.

An adjourned hearing of the investigation of the sale of the C. F. & Y. V. Railway is being held by the corporation commission in Raleigh. At a hearing held a few weeks ago it was shown how the road was purchased and afterwards divided between the Southern and the Atlantic Coast Line in accordance with an agreement entered into by these two roads, and it is expected that other important evidence will be brought out today. Capt. J. W. Fry, who was general manager of the C. F. & Y. V. for many years prior to the sale, will testify in the hearing today. He and Mr. A. L. Brooks, who is appearing in the case as special counsel for the corporation commission, went to Raleigh last night.

To Call a Pastor.

Rev. H. S. Bradshaw, of Hillsboro, will preach at Buffalo Presbyterian church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Following the preaching service an important congregational meeting will be held and every member of the church is requested to be present. At this meeting it is expected that a formal call to the pastorate of the church will be extended to Rev. Mr. Lee, of Birmingham, Ala., who preached for the congregation during the month of August.

The congregation of Midway church also will hold a meeting Sunday and is expected to join in the call to Mr. Lee.

Weather Bureau For Greensboro.

Representative Stedman and Senator Overman have interested themselves in an effort to have a station of the weather bureau established in Greensboro. Similar efforts have failed in the past, but it is believed the chance of success is brighter now. A weather bureau in this city would serve a large scope of country and its presence here would be appreciated by the people.

The late Mayor Gaynor, of New York, left an estate valued at $2,000,000.

WALTER W. KING DEAD.

Native of Guilford and Prominent Citizen of Stokes County.

Mr. Walter W. King, a well known lawyer and influential citizen of Stokes county, died at his home at Danbury last Thursday morning, following a long period of illness of Bright's disease. While he had been quite ill recently, his condition had shown some improvement and his death came rather unexpectedly. The funeral took place Friday at noon at the Danbury Presbyterian church, of which Mr. King had been a member for many years.

Mr. King was a native of Guilford county and was in the sixty-eighth year of his age, having been born in Oak Ridge township in April, 1846. He enlisted in the Confederate army when a mere youth and was a valiant soldier. After the war he read law under Chief Justice Pearson at the famous Richmond Hill private law school. When he obtained his license he practiced law while in Greensboro with the well-known firm of McLean, Mendenhall & Hill. He soon severed his connection with this firm and moved to Stokes county, and at Danbury he practiced law for more than a generation. He served several terms in the legislature and was for a time solicitor of the criminal court of Stokes county.

In early manhood Mr. King married Miss Nellie McCannless, of Staunton, Va., who survives him with four sons. The children are: John W., Everett B. and Walter W. King, Jr., of Greensboro, and Roy R. King, of Danbury. Four brothers also survive—R. R. and J. L. King, prominent citizens of Greensboro; J. S. King, of Madison, and J. D. King, of Stokesdale. Another brother, Mr. Pendleton King, died July 31 at Alexandria-Chapelle, Germany, where he had represented the United States government as consul for seven years.

25 Convicts on Coun Y Roads.

There are now 25 convicts at work on the county roads, the recent criminal term of Superior court having served to increase the number considerably. The convicts are divided into three forces, one of which is located on the Almonace church road, another is at work on the sand-clay road between Summerfield and the Rockingham line, and the third is at work with the scraper near Kernersville.

The force that is repairing the Almonace road will reach Almonace church by the end of this week and will continue the work on through Clay and Greene townships.

GUILFORD TEACHERS MEET.

Matters of Vital Interest Considered and Year's Work Outlined.

The Guilford County Teachers' Association met at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the court house. This was the first regular quarterly meeting of the association, and, although many of the rural schools have not yet opened, there was a full attendance, the teachers being anxious to discuss matters pertaining to the year's work. County Superintendent T. R. Foust, president of the association, opened the meeting with a discussion of the new compulsory attendance law. The workings of this law were well explained to the teachers, as it is one of the most important changes in the school law made for years. The six-months school term law, passed by the last legislature, also came up for discussion.

Mr. Foust remarked that he was proud of the teachers of Guilford county. He said that he did not believe that there is a county in the state of North Carolina that can boast of a better association of teachers than we have here in Guilford; "that it was a pleasure to meet under the most favorable conditions that we have ever met, and with the promise of the best year's work that we have ever had. We are going to have a longer school term and a better attendance in our schools. I believe that each member of this association will perform his duty to the best of his ability, and if he does we will have a fine year's work in the development of the children of the county."

Superintendent Foust said he knew that he had been criticized a little sometimes for being hard on the teachers of this county in issuing certificates, but he wanted his first grade certificates to mean something. He believes that the high standard that he has maintained in this respect has helped more than anything else to build up the teaching force.

Dr. W. T. Whitsett, chairman of the county board of education, was present and in his usual happy vein talked pleasantly to the teachers of their work. Among other things he said: "I feel that we are just at the turning point in Guilford county and in this state in educational matters for better things. I have a sense of duty that brought me here, and, in addition to that, I am very glad indeed to be present, because one who has an interest in educational matters in this county, I am sure, would not fail to get a share of inspiration from looking into the faces of the determined men and women who are handling the schools of this county."

"It may be of interest and encouragement to you for me to say that the board of education in this county, your servants, have a great many problems coming before them, problems of house building, problems of removal from one district to another, and this and that; but there is one thing that has never troubled us for many years, and that is the teaching body of the county. We sometimes, in our private meetings, congratulate ourselves that we have such an excellent body of teachers. So many of you are trying to advance in the work and are making such progress. The county board of education is doing great things through you. All that we do would be useless if we lacked your faithful and continuous co-operation. The fact that this meeting is so largely attended promises great things for this year. I have watched our school fund grow from fifteen or eighteen thousand dollars until today it is a sum that imposes a deep sense of responsibility upon the men who attempt to spend it wisely."

"Our growth and development has kept pace with the growth of the state. I do not think that I was ever so glad or proud that I was connected with the school work in this county as I am this year. I have had occasion this summer to drive through the county of Guilford and as I looked on the splendid manufacturing establishments, upon our villages and cities, our splendid farms and good roads, I thought how glad I was that I was connected with the work of the schools in such a county. I consider it a high privilege to be a teacher and build up the citizenship of such a county."

The teachers are enthusiastically looking forward to a splendid year's work. Many of them have been making plans through the summer and are now eager to put their new ideas into practice. Under the direction of Prof. E. E. Balcomb, professor of agriculture at the Normal College, many of the elementary schools last year organized classes in cooking, sewing, agriculture and carpentry. Quite a number of schools this year who did not attempt this work last winter are expecting to add this new work to their curriculum.

After the general meeting the departments met and organized and made plans for meetings for the year. The high school department elected Prof. E. J. Coltrane, of the Jamestown high school, as president; Prof. J. Wilson Carrell, of the Summerfield high school, as vice president; Miss Mary Van Poole, teacher of domestic science at Pleasant Garden, secretary. The high school department decided to meet quarterly on the regular meeting days of the association. The executive committee consists of the officers and Prof. J. C. Kellogg, of the Monticello high school, and Prof. J. A. Highsmith, of the Pomona school. There were eighteen present.

In the grammar grade department there were fifty-one present. Miss Ida Mills, of the Mechanicsville school, was elected president; Miss Bertha Eller, of the Pomona school, vice president; Miss Mary Fitzgerald, of the White Oak school, secretary. This department decided to meet each month, the next meeting to be at 10 o'clock at the Pomona school, the program to be announced later.

There were sixty-six present in the primary department. Their meeting was very interesting and helpful, the teachers showing a great deal of interest in the work discussed. Miss Bettie Aiken Land, of the Pomona school, is president; Miss Roche Michaux, of the White Oak school, vice president, and Miss Lucile Kennett, of the Glendale school, secretary. The next meeting of this department will be held in the court house on the second Saturday in November.

Preparing For Next Year's Baseball Season.

The directors of the North Carolina Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, comprising the cities of Raleigh, Durham, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Charlotte and Asheville, held a meeting here Friday and organized for the next year's sport. Arthur Lyon, of High Point, was elected president to succeed J. H. Wearm, of Charlotte, who declined re-election, and L. J. Brandt, of Greensboro, was elected vice-president. The president will appoint the secretary and treasurer.

It was decided to open the next season April 29, 1914, and play 120 games instead of the 116 games scheduled for the past season. In order to save mileage, the next season will be divided into four-game instead of three-game series.

The president's and secretary's report was read and showed a very profitable year. A full itemized statement of all expenses was made and showed an income above expenses of $1,958.49.

You no doubt have shoes and dry goods associated in your mind with the name of this store. If you happen to think of Thacker & Brockmann, the idea of shoes and dry goods comes up along with the firm name—and we hope also the thought that it's a good place to buy shoes and dry goods. But that's not the point just now. What we are after is to remind you that there is another and very important part of the business, the Carpet Department, not so much in evidence, because it's not on the first floor, but a large and rapidly growing department all the same. If you are at all interested in floor coverings of any kind—Mattings, Carpets, Squares, Rugs, Linoleums, Oil Cloths—or Curtains, we would like to have you see our new lines, no matter whether you intend to make purchases at present or not. There are good reasons why we can afford to name very reasonable prices on the goods in this department and careful people who look the town over and compare prices tell us our's are the lowest. The showing of art squares or room size rugs is especially large and attractive now, and we would be glad to have you take a look at them while the stock is fresh and complete.

"Worth More Than it Costs"

Lots of farmers declare their telephone service is worth more than it costs. J. W. Harris, a well-known farmer living near Choccolocco, Ala., writes:

"I had occasion to call our doctor not two hours after my telephone was connected with your exchange. My mother, who is very old, fell down the door steps and broke her arm, and I called the doctor. He was at my house before I could have gone to his residence, as he has an automobile."

"We would not be without our telephone for more than it costs and appreciate the assistance you rendered us."

Our free booklet tells how you may have telephone service on your farm at small cost. Write for it today. A postal will do.

WHERE THE PROFIT GOES.

Middleman Takes Toll From Both Producer and Consumer.

To the Editor of The Patriot:

The keystone in the Farmers' Union is co-operation. In this age of improved machinery and methods the system of co-operation naturally suggests itself to the farmer as the best method of transacting business. The evolution of machinery has forced competition out of business and co-operation must of necessity take its place. The Farmers' Union has its wagon factories, telephones, creameries, dairies and other industries all operated on a co-operative basis. It is true that the system is not perfected. However, it is doubtless the aim of the union to further improve the industries already in hand and at the same time touch other needful industries with the magic wand of co-operation.

The splendid system of co-operation might be extended to include the railroads of the country. The farmer is suffering from the excessive high rates which the railroads charge him, so much so that co-operative shipping is at some disadvantage. The consumer cannot detect an appreciative difference in the prices of farm products between what the middleman asks and what the farmers ask for their produce. Right here is where the railroads come in. They claim their share of profit on everything they handle, and an enormous charge it is, too. The middleman gets his rates as cheap or as high as the farmers, because he buys his produce from the produce trust and they buy it in large quantities from the farmers, consequently the farmers get a better average price from the produce trust than they can from the public at large when they offer their produce directly to the trade from their co-operative stores. The high railroad rates is certainly the cause for this similarity in prices to the public at large. Thus we see that if the railroads were owned and operated and controlled on a co-operative basis the freight rates would be a very small item of expense. Today the farmer and the consumer are kept apart by the system of private ownership of the railroads, because the farmer gets less for his produce on account of high rates of transportation and at the same time the consumer pays more for the same produce on account of high rates of transportation. The railroads should be publicly owned and controlled and operated at cost similar to the farmers' telephone system.

The difference between cost operation and the high rates of transportation is something fierce and should be kept in the farmers' and the consumers' pocket instead of sending it in the shape of dividends to the millionaire's pocket who never sees the product, except on his dining table.

Co-operation in all public industries by all the people, all the time, is the Socialist's position, and the farmers are headed directly for universal co-operation. The Socialists are traveling the political route while the farmers are traveling the industrial route, but each has the same end in view. The Socialists and the Farmers' Union both agree that the millionaire must get off the farmer's back, and if we can't complete him off, we will vote him off. Then we will operate all public industries co-operatively, and to him that will not work, neither shall we eat.

Anti-Hog Cholera Serum, a Preventative For Hog Cholera.

The North Carolina department of agriculture has for the past three years prepared and distributed to the farmers of this state anti-hog cholera serum at cost of production.

This serum is used as a preventive for hog cholera, and if injected before the hogs show any signs of developing a case of cholera, even if they are exposed. It is not claimed for this serum that it will cure a case of cholera, as it is a preventative and not a curative measure.

We began the preparation of this serum in a very limited way and have found that it has met with uniformly good results. The demand for it has continued to increase until it was impossible to meet the demands at the plant where we first began the work. In order to be in position to meet all demands made by the farmers of this state for the serum, we have built and equipped a large new serum plant which will be used exclusively for preparing anti-hog cholera serum.

For full information and directions for using this serum, apply to the Southern department of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C.

OFFICIAL SALARIES.

United States Officials Get Much Less Than English.

The announcement through the country by Secretary of State Bryan that his official salary of $12,000 a year is insufficient for the support of his family and that he must take out his allowance with the financial proceeds of a course of lectures delivered around the Union has done much to bring this great nation into ridicule and contempt in other countries. But it makes known the fact that this, the greatest and richest nation in the world, pays its public servants at niggardly rates.

Our official salaries do not compare with those of Great Britain. For instance, Lloyd George enjoys, as chancellor of the exchequer, a salary of $25,000 a year, with a furnished residence in Downing street, next door to that of the prime minister, who also gets $25,000 per annum. The secretaries of state for foreign affairs, for home affairs, for the colonies, for war and for India each receive $25,000 a year. The secretary for Ireland has $23,000 a year, with fully furnished official residences in London and in Dublin. Winston Churchill has, as first lord of the admiralty, $23,000 a year and an official residence.

The president of the board of trade is John Burns, a former mechanic, who first achieved distinction in parliament as a labor member, and who, like William B. Wilson, the secretary of labor at Washington, enjoys, so it is reported, the distinction of having been arrested and jailed by the police in connection with labor disturbances in times gone by. His salary is $25,000.

The attorney-general receives $35,000 a year and as much more from fees. His official income of some $79,000 a year is not, however, regarded as extravagant in view of the circumstances that only the most eminent members of the bar are selected for the office—members who would earn considerably more by private practice of their profession.

Finally there comes the lord high chancellor, who, although by no means the most important member of the cabinet, has no less than $50,000 a year, besides all sorts of allowances, in addition to which he receives on going out of office a pension of $25,000 a year for the remainder of his life.

In France and Germany the salaries of cabinet ministers are not so large as in Great Britain, but they have other allowances, while official residences, which are palaces, are furnished to them.

Notes on the Mexican Trouble.

The Catholic party in Mexico has nominated Frederico Gamboa, minister of foreign affairs, as their candidate for president.

Senator Works, of California, in a speech Thursday at San Diego, Cal., declared that the United States ought to put a stop to the Luchery of Americans in Mexico, declaring that men are humiliated and women outraged almost within gunshot of the boundary line.

Dr. E. C. Shafer, a Kentuckian living for six years at Santa Rosalia, Mexico, was driven out by the rebels last week and all his property confiscated. He was allowed to leave with his life and a suit case of personal belongings, and was glad to get away with that.

President Wilson declares that his policy of moral suasion in Mexico has succeeded in its cardinal purposes—the elimination of Huerta as president and the guarantee of fair, constitutional elections. Nothing more will be done until the elections are held next month, and then if they are fair, this country will recognize the new president and proceed along that line. Huerta will not be a candidate.

Scores Carnegie Million.

Jackson, Mo., Sept. 26.—The St. Louis Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today adopted a resolution condemning the trustees of Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., for accepting a $1,000,000 endowment from Andrew Carnegie. The adoption of the resolution was preceded by a spirited debate.

The acceptance of the Carnegie endowment, which was to enlarge the medical department of the university, was vetoed by the board of bishops of the church on the grounds that Carnegie endowments are conditioned on the beneficiary colleges being independent of sectarian control. The trustees decided to ignore the veto of the bishops and to contest in the courts for their right to control the university.

Proximity Mercantile Company*GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA*SEVEN KILLED, TWO LYNCHED.

Natchez Cause Reign of Terror in Mississippi Town.

Natchez, Miss., Sept. 28.—Two colored mulatto boys, brothers, who began a reign of terror, were killed after three white men, two negro men and a negro woman were wounded and two boys lynched. A serious clash between the two races was prevented by the arrival of a company of national guardsmen from Natchez.

The trouble started at about 2 o'clock Sunday morning and continued intermittently until about 10 o'clock today when Walter Jones, the father of the two boys, who started the killing, was lynched just after the soldiers arrived. His brother Will had been shot by citizens earlier in the day.

The shooting was started in the house quarter by Walter Jones, aged 24, when a negro woman and Thad Gibson were shot and killed. Walter then went to the home of his mother, and caused his brother, 18 years old, to join him. They proceeded through the main street of the little town, firing at every one in sight. The two boys went to the home of former Constable Frank Keinsley, and when he refused to their call, Walter Jones shot him through the head. Death was instantaneous. Keinsley's son, William, when he saw his father fall, reached for a gun, but before he could fire, received a bullet in one of his hands.

The Yazoo & Mississippi Valley depot is near the Keinsley home and the two negroes went in that direction. A train had arrived from Natchez just a few moments before and Conductor E. B. Appleby was standing at the station talking to Flannery W. C. Bond. Without warning the two negroes fired on them and both fell. The negroes then directed fire on Claude Freeman, who was waiting for a train to take him to his home at Fayette, Miss. He was instantly killed. The negroes then fired into the train, terrorizing the passengers.

The two negroes then made their way to a cottonseed house nearby. It is believed they then realized that this wholesale killing could not long continue without opposition and determined to make their last stand.

Citizens by this time telephoned Sheriff Hammett, at Fayette, summoning former Sheriff Gillis to accompany him. Hammett started for Harrison on horseback, arriving about 5 o'clock. A small crowd of men were firing into the seed house but no one had ventured into the place. Taking a few men with him, Sheriff Hammett started towards the seed house. Seeing this, it is believed Walter Jones hid in the tall grass nearby and as Hammett approached the negro fired, instantly killing the officer. A shot from the seed house brought down Gillis.

By this time the countryside was aroused and farmers came from every direction. Everyone began firing at the seed house. A call was sent to Governor Brewer for troops.

Finding his hiding place too precarious, Will Jones started to run towards a coal chute nearby, but had gone only a few steps when a bullet ended his life. A rope was placed around the body. It was strung up a telegraph pole near the station and riddled with bullets.

Soon after Will was killed, his brother, Walter, picked off Tom Weeks, a negro who was on the coal chute.

Not long after Weeks was killed the special train bearing the Natchez guardsmen arrived. As they were detaining the crowd rushed the seed house. Not a shot greeted them and the surviving negro was found completely unnerved but not injured. They quickly put a rope around his neck and rushed him to the coal chute. The rope was too small and broke as the negro was drawn up. He fell heavily to the ground. Not a word of protest came from Jones as a larger rope was placed around his neck and again he was pulled up and the crowd looked on as the desperado's body writhed until life was extinct.

Flood Loss $163,000,000.

A total money loss of $163,000,000 was caused by the floods in the Ohio valley last March. The weather bureau estimates that sum, which includes losses to railroad, telegraph and telephone lines and to farms and farm property, including prospective crops. The latter alone amounted to $11,000,000. Of the total amount more than 70 per cent. was sustained in Ohio and Indiana.

The 1913 flood probably ranks second with all Ohio valley floods, beyond which only by the midwinter flood of 1884. In the lower Mississippi the crest stages attained exceeded all previous records between Cairo and Helena.

MORE MONEY FOR INFORMERS.

New Regulations Relating to Seizure of Illicit Distilleries.

The internal revenue department has issued new regulations and instructions concerning the reporting and seizing of illicit distilleries. What is considered the most important of these new regulations is that pertaining to the pay of informers, where the report leads to the seizure of an illicit distillery of not less than 50 gallons capacity and the owner or operator of the plant is convicted under the internal revenue laws. The following is quoted from the new instructions:

"A fee of $50 will be paid to persons other than revenue officers or employees in the internal revenue service for information that shall lead to the seizure of a distillery containing one or more stills of an aggregate capacity of not less than 50 gallons, the proprietor of which distillery had not given the notice required by law, and which information shall also lead to the conviction of the proprietor thereof or of any one operating such distillery."

In addition to this there are other minor regulations announced regarding the fees of informers. For a copper still of not less than 35 gallons capacity, or for a still other than copper of 60 or more gallons capacity, a fee of $10 will be paid; for a copper still of from 25 to 35 gallons capacity, or for a still other than copper of from 25 to 60 gallons capacity, a fee of $7 will be paid; and for a still of any material of less than 25 gallons capacity, a fee of $5 or less will be paid, the amount of the fee being left to the discretion of the revenue agent submitting the claim.

Heretofore there have been only two fees allowed—one of $10 for a copper still of not less than 35 gallons capacity, and a fee of $5 or less for any others of smaller capacity. It is expected that the increase in fees and especially the offer of $50 for information leading to the seizure of a still of 50 gallons or more capacity and the resulting conviction of the owner or operator of the plant, will be the means of securing a great deal more information about such plants in the future.

Federal Income Tax Ready.

Washington, Sept. 27.—According to estimates completed today by treasury experts, 425,000 American citizens must keep such accurate account of their incomes this year that they will be able to report to the income tax collector next spring exactly how much they owe the government under the new income tax law.

So far as the taxable American is concerned the income law now virtually is in force against him. While under the tariff bill the first returns do not have to be made to the internal revenue collectors before March 1, 1914, when the returns are made they will cover the income of citizens from March 1, 1913, to December 31.

Every single person (citizen or foreign resident) whose annual income exceeds $2,000; and every married person with an income of more than $4,000 will have to report receipts in detail to government agents March 1 each year. The estimate completed today indicates that the income tax will produce $82,298,000. To this will be added the $35,000,000 or more produced by the present corporation tax, which is continued as part of the law.

Electric Spanker Efficient.

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 26.—Two schools in this city where discipline always had been a matter of the instructors' strength of arm have been transformed by means of an electric "spanker" into institutions of learning with the best average department of all the schools in the city, according to Superintendent Wilson M. Foulke.

Working on the same system as an electric vibratory massage machine, the "spanker" delivers about five short, sharp blows a second. After several of the boys had allowed themselves to be used as subjects for a test of the "spanker" they had some stories to tell of its punishing powers.

NOTICE BY PUBLICATION.

North Carolina, Guilford County. In the Superior Court, Clerk's Office J. Lee Charles and his wife, Rosa Charles, Alice Charles unmarried, Alvin Molsinger and his wife, Lena Molsinger, Willie L. Charles, Jr., and Connie Charles.

vs. W. L. Charles and his wife, Ida Charles, F. M. Pickett and his wife, Nora Pickett.

The defendant W. L. Charles and his wife, Ida Charles, above named will take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced in the Superior court of Guilford county, N. C., to have certain lands in said county sold for partition; that the lands referred to descended to the parties in this proceeding as heirs of G. W. Charles on his death and that the said W. L. Charles and Ida Charles will further take notice that they are required to appear before the clerk of the Superior court of Guilford county at his office in Greensboro, state and county above named, on the 27th day of October, 1913, and answer or demur to the petition or complaint in said action, or the prayer of said complaint or petition will be granted and the lands described in said petition or complaint sold for partition.

Signed at Greensboro, county and state first named above on this the 24th day of September, 1913. 40-4t. M. W. GANT, C. S. C.

ROAD NOTICE.

A petition having been presented to the board of county commissioners by citizens and taxpayers of Clay township asking for the opening of a public road, about one mile in length, beginning at a point on the Coble's church road near David Coble's mail box and running in a southerly direction and following on and near the road as it now runs and intersecting with a road previously granted at or near E. N. Wilson's mail box, and requesting that this road be graded from the beginning on the Coble's church road to the public road near Monett's school house, this is to notify all persons objecting to same to appear before said board at the next regular meeting on Tuesday, October 7, 1913, and state said objection. ## THE LEGISLATURE.

The special session of the legislature, which was called primarily for the purpose of considering proposed amendments to the state constitution and incidentally to take such action as might seem necessary in the settlement of the freight rate fight, has been flooded by a mass of local and miscellaneous bills. Consequently but little work of real importance has been done to date, but a ban has been placed on the introduction of local measures and from now on the legislators should be able to devote their attention to the business that called them to Raleigh.

All indications point to an early settlement of the freight rate matter. Governor Craig and the corporation commission have recommended the acceptance of the latest proposition of the railroads; the legislative freight rate commission is agreeable to a settlement, and as the overwhelming sentiment of the people of the state is in favor of following the advice of the governor and the corporation commission, it would seem that those who would continue the agitation have little ground left to stand on.

In a written communication which has been presented to the legislature the railroad people affirm that there are no strings tied to their proposition to give North Carolina reduced rates on both inbound and outbound freight and say they are willing to put the new rates into effect as soon as possible, probably within the next 60 or 90 days. The railroads say they have offered to make these reductions in order to meet the desire and will of the people of North Carolina, "hoping thereby to secure their good will and to establish entirely harmonious relations with the state."

In accepting the proposal of the railroads the state in no way binds itself to refrain from taking steps in the future to secure any relief that may seem desirable or necessary.

With the freight rate question settled, the members of the legislature will be free to take seriously the various amendments to the state constitution that have been proposed. The constitutional commission, which held several meetings during the summer and gave careful consideration to the amendments introduced during the session of the legislature last winter, has lessened the work for the members of the general assembly.

The first of the amendments reported by the commission to be considered by the legislature—that one relating to the reading of the Bible in the public schools—has been killed. A joint hearing was held by the senate and house committees on constitutional amendments Monday afternoon, and after hearing arguments on both sides of the question, both committees voted to reject the measure unfavorably. The proposed amendment is of a negative character and seems to seek to do something by indirection in that it provides that the reading of the Bible in the public schools of North Carolina shall not be prohibited. Dr. J. Y. Joyner, state superintendent of public instruction, stated to the committee that the Bible is freely used in the public schools of the state, with no clashes of any kind, and in order to keep down ill feeling and to prevent the inflaming of the public mind, he urged that the constitution be left as it is on this point. The Baptist people, who are unalterably opposed to anything that even remotely suggests a union of church and state, have been outspoken in their opposition to the Bible reading amendment, and among those who spoke against the amendment at the joint committee meeting were three leaders of the denomination in this state—Rev. Livingston Johnson, missionary secretary of the Baptist State Convention; Rev. Dr. R. T. Vann, president of Meredith College, Raleigh, and Dr. W. L. Poteat, president of Wake Forest College. On the other hand, many of the state's wisest and best men are strongly in favor of the amendment, even if it is a negative character.

Race segregation, a question that is occupying a share of public attention just now, has come up in the special session in the form of a bill introduced by Senator Peterson providing for the segregation of the races in the towns and cities of the state. The bill provides he machinery whereby the authorities of any town or city may adopt the segregation plan at will by setting apart specific districts for the colored race to inhabit, no district to comprise less than all the property included in a square from street to street. Senator Peterson says he has guarded against all "stumps and runners" by so wording his bill as to have it come well within the limitations of the state constitution.

The special session will enact the necessary legislation to place the state sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis under the supervision and control of the state board of health. So far the sanatorium has failed to accomplish the purpose for which it was established, due to a lack of the right sort of management. The directors, growing weary of bearing longer with the wholly unsatisfactory condition of affairs at the sanatorium, closed the institution a short time ago until its affairs could be arranged on a different basis. The bill dissolving the board of directors and placing the sanatorium under the control of the state board of health requires all physicians of the state to report all cases of tuberculosis coming under their observation and attach a penalty for failure to do so. In this way the board of health will be able to get in touch with the tubercular patients of the state, and in addition to treating patients at Montrose, it is proposed to establish a sort of correspondence school to furnish literature to those afflicted with tuberculosis, advising them as to the proper treatment of the disease and the precautions to be taken to prevent its spread. The sanatorium at Montrose ought to be the state's most useful institution, and with the new administration it is to be hoped that it will enter upon better days.

There are some mighty suspicious people in this world—people who seem always ready to suspect the other fellow of some ulterior or sinister motive. A man by the name of Clark represents Pitt county in the legislature, and he is so afraid that the railroads own some of his fellow members that he arose from his seat the other day and introduced a resolution calling for a list of the members of the general assembly that ride on railroad passes. The information has been furnished and the list of pass-holders includes 21 senators and representatives—newspaper editors, railroad attorneys and railroad directors—who are "owned" by the railroads to the extent that they carry passes in accordance with the law regulating this matter. Doubtless many people will learn with pain and surprise that North Carolina legislators are such a drug on the market that they can be bought and paid for with a railroad pass—but we hope the more or less distinguished representative from Pitt is satisfied.

Some friend on Climax R. F. D. 1 sent The Patriot a batch of news items this week, but as no name was signed to the communication it found its way to the waste basket. We hate to throw away news matter, but we can't afford to print anything without knowing the name of the author.

FARM AND FOOD PROBLEM.

The present national administration, perhaps more than any other in the history of the country, is giving practical evidence of a sympathetic appreciation of the needs of all classes of citizens and a sincere desire to employ the manifold agencies of government as to directly benefit those especially who heretofore have had no occasion to feel that their well-being was of any particular concern to the powers that be. There is a new and better atmosphere around Washington and the people of the country are realizing more plainly every day that the government is being conducted for them and not against them. Only a few weeks ago it was announced that the government would release millions of dollars of idle money from the treasury vaults to aid in moving the crops of the South and West. This action prevented the possibility of a money stringency at this season and insured a continuation of the prosperity that is blessing the South and West. It was the first time the financial power of the government had been wielded directly for the benefit of the farmers of the country.

Having supplied the cash to be utilized in moving the farmer's crop, President Wilson and his advisers are now bending their energies to the solution of the agricultural and food problem as it affects the high cost of living. It is announced from Washington that the executive departments of the administration, under the direction of the president and with the co-operation of Congress, have undertaken the task of shortening the line between the farmer and the consumer by bringing about a readjustment of agricultural and marketing methods. The preliminary investigations have been made and the constructive work of the campaign will begin without delay. Trained experts will visit farmers at their homes and procure first-hand information as to production, marketing, agricultural finances, etc. A sub-committee of the banking and currency committee of the house of representatives is to engage in the work of preparing a farm credit plan to be submitted to the next session of Congress. The difficulties in the way of working out a satisfactory agricultural credit system are appreciated, but the effort is well worth the while.

In view of the fact that thousands of pupils of the schools and colleges of Guilford county will attend the fair on Friday, October 17, as guests of the Central Carolina Fair Association, we take the liberty of suggesting that it would be a good move on the part of the enterprising management to arrange to have a group photograph made of the school children while they are together on the fair grounds. We should think the children could be grouped conveniently in the grandstand or around the race track and that a photograph could be made with little trouble. A picture of Guilford's school pupils would be worth having and preserving, and we pass the suggestion along to Secretary Garland Daniel, the fair's human dynamo and live wire.

Col. Al Fairbrother announces that he will resume publication the first week in November of Everything, his unique and interesting publication, which he suspended last December because he wanted to take a rest. The revived Everything will be issued weekly, in newspaper form, and will be sold to subscribers at one dollar a year or five cents the copy. Col. Fairbrother has purchased a new printing outfit and will have his publication office at 111 West Gaston street, opposite the city hall. As his press is not yet in running order, we take occasion to announce for Col. Fairbrother that "now is the time to subscribe."

FEARLESS MANURE SPREADER

You can spread manure evenly—the way to get the biggest results—with a Fearless. There isn't another spreader made that will lay manure in a thin, even strip, as thick on the edges as in the center and twice the width of the box.

With a Fearless you can cover two acres while your neighbor is doing one. That's because the Fearless is the only one that has the Circular Beater that lays the manure like a carpet in big, 8½-foot strips from a 4-foot body—way beyond the wagon's wheels on each side—and does it so easily that one team can work it all day on any kind of soil.

Matters of Interest Reported by Our Corps of Correspondents.

OAK RIDGE.

Jack Whitaker, Jr., spent Sunday at home, having had to leave the university on account of his eyes. He expects to return in a day or two.

Rev. C. A. Cecil and wife have been visitors in the community for two days. Mr. Cecil filled Rev. W. R. Laidlaw's pulpit morning and night on Sunday. His sermons are highly spoken of.

The sympathies of the people in the community go out to Rev. W. R. Laidlaw in his sufferings with his throat. He may have to stop preaching entirely. Dr. Banner, of Greensboro, is treating him.

Prof. Carter will represent Oak Ridge Institute at the Y. M. C. A. conference at Durham this week.

Prof. Kirksey will spend Wednesday at Raleigh attending the wedding of Miss Frances Johnson, daughter of Rev. Livingston Johnson, of Raleigh, to Rev. Elbert N. Johnson, pastor of the First Baptist church at Morganton. Prof. Kirksey will be best man on this occasion.

Considerable work has been done on the oval of the track team, which will include several tennis courts. The training of the track team is in the hands of Prof. Carter.

The outlook of the baseball team for 1914 is unusually fine. Nine pitchers have already begun practice, and some of them are men of considerable local reputation.

In the course of business men's lectures arranged for this session by S. L. Davis, of High Point, president of the Southern Chair Company, will address the school at an early date.

Mr. D. L. Donnell, who has been indisposed for several days, is again at his post.

The students made their annual excursion to Pilot Mountain on Saturday. They report a most delightful time at that celebrated mountain. They were chaperoned by Profs. T. E. Whitaker and G. C. Kirksey.

The death recently of William E. DeWitt, of Greensboro, and George E. Nelson, of Winston-Salem, has resulted two of the wealthiest and most influential of the alumni of Oak Ridge Institute. Both these men were students here prior to the war, and their loyalty never cooled.

Some of the students, chaperoned by Prof. Moser, attended the play, "The Leopard's Spots," at Greensboro on Saturday night. They reported that the play was very interesting.

Mrs. J. Harvey Holt and children are on a visit to her people in Asheville. She expects to remain ten days.

Prof. Moser has charge of the training of the tennis team. Practice has already begun. The intention is to put out a team in competition against other schools—not only in tennis, but also in basket ball. Practice in the latter has not begun.

MONTICELLO.

On September 22, the Monticello high school opened with the largest enrollment in its history. New boarding students are coming in every day as rapidly as board can be secured in the neighborhood.

Protracted meeting is in progress at Brown Summit. Large crowds are in attendance at every service.

Mr. Auburn Lambeth, of Elon College, visited home people Saturday and Sunday.

Little Orville Doggett is able to walk again. Her many friends will be glad to hear she is getting along nicely.

The entire corps of Monticello teachers attended the teachers' meeting at Greensboro Saturday.

Mrs. S. M. Trent, of Portsmouth, visited her sister, Mrs. S. T. Trent, last week.

Mr. Thomas R. Foust was a pleasant visitor in our community last Thursday.

On Saturday evening, October 11, a play entitled "The Deacon" will be given by home talent, in the auditorium of the high school. Admission 10 and 15 cents. The proceeds will be used to finish paying for the school.

Miss Tara Lambeth left Friday to take charge of her school near Greensboro.

Miss Vallie Lambeth leaves the latter part of this week to teach in the Gettysburg school.

A Gentle and Effective Laxative. A mild, gentle and effective laxative is what people demand when suffering from constipation. Thousands swear by Dr. King's New Life Pills. Hugh Tallmon, of San Antonio, Tex., writes: "They are beyond question, the best pills I have ever taken." They never cause pain. Price 25 cents at druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

WHITSETT.

Rev. W. S. Hales preached an interesting sermon at the M. E. church Sunday afternoon based upon the Sunday school lesson for the day. He announced that he had been meeting with success in his recent efforts to liquidate the debt upon one of his churches.

A well is now being dug upon the lot recently selected as the location of the new Presbyterian manse. Work will begin upon the manse at an early date.

The teachers' association in Greensboro last Saturday was attended by Misses Mary Wilson, Aurelia Barnhardt, Dr. Whitsett and others from this part of the county. All report a most excellent meeting.

A large crowd attended the lecture Sunday night. The subject was "The Arthurian Legend," and after a short historical sketch of King Arthur and his knights of the round table a number of interesting lessons in Christian manhood were drawn from the various legends. Much interest was taken in the subject under discussion, and "The Idylls of the King" has been much in demand since.

Several important changes in textbooks recently made greatly strengthen the course of study. Constant effort is made to keep the work fully abreast of the demands of the times.

New students continue to enter school; one from near Charlottesville, Va., and two from near Atlanta, Ga., arrived Monday.

Whitsett and Burlington played a friendly game of ball Saturday last in Piedmont park, at Burlington. The score closed four to three in favor of Whitsett.

The Y. M. C. A. on last Sunday elected officers for this year and appointed committees to fully organize the work.

M. F. Dixon is here for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. W. J. Thompson. He has recently spent several months in travel in the Pacific states, spending quite a while in Washington, Dakota, California and other places of interest.

D. T. Long, of Person county, who completed his course of study here last year, spent a few days here the last of last week, leaving Monday for Atlanta, Ga., where he goes to take up his medical course. He was accompanied by M. E. Neal, of last year's class, who also enters upon a medical course.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Davenport, of Greensboro, spent Sunday here with relatives, returning to town Monday.

BURLINGTON ROUTE 4.

Among the recent visitors at Mr. L. Moore's were Mr. R. C. Andrew and family, of High Point; Miss Grace Webster and Mr. Kemp Causey of Liberty.

Miss Sadie Ingle, of Salisbury, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ingle.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Shepard, on September 26, an eight-pound boy.

Mr. L. B. Shepard spent last Saturday in Elon College on business.

Little Miss Leannette Williams, of Greensboro, is spending some days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Crouse.

Several on the route are planning to attend the Greensboro fair in October.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Crouse went to Gray's chapel last Sunday to attend the protracted meeting.

Mrs. M. N. Green and daughter, Miss Donna, were visitors at Mr. T. A. Smith's last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. J. C. May and children were recent visitors on the route.

Miss Georgia Moore will teach at Squire's Academy, near Watson.

Messrs. Ed. Gerringer and Talmage Brown, of Gibsonville, were callers on the route last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson spent last Sunday on the route, the guests of Mr. D. L. Huffman.

Mr. Roy Shepard and Mrs. J. C. O'Brian spent last Sunday at Mr. S. L. Shepard's on Whitsett Route 1.

Mrs. T. A. Smith and daughter, Miss Dorothy, were pleasant visitors last week.

Ice Cream Supper.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Summerfield Methodist church will give an ice cream supper Saturday night, October 4, at the Methodist church. The proceeds will be used toward the purchase of a new organ. Every one is cordially invited.

The Family Cough Medicine.

In every home there should be a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery ready for immediate use when any member of the family contracts a cold or a cough. Prompt use will stop the spread of sickness. S. A. Stid, of Mason, Mich., writes: "My whole family depends upon Dr. King's New Discovery as the best cough and cold medicine in the world. Two 50 cent bottles cured me of pneumonia." Thousands of other families have been equally benefitted and depend entirely upon Dr. King's New Discovery to cure their coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Every dose helps. Price 50 cents and $1. All druggists. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia and St. Louis.

CENTER.

Mr. D. L. Hodgin is slightly indisposed on account of a sore arm.

Two children of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McGee are on the sick list, but are improving.

Miss Myrtle Otwell, who has been confined to her home by sickness, is able to be out again.

Mr. C. E. Hockett, who was hurt in a runaway two weeks ago, is improving slowly.

Miss Nora Wood, who taught here the past two years, will teach at Three Forks this fall and winter.

Mr. Eugene Coltrane's young mule got in an unnecessary hurry the other day and dislocated some parts of the cart. Nobody was seriously hurt.

The Summer township Sunday school convention will meet at Center Saturday at 10 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come out and help push the Sunday school cause.

Our farmers are quite busy sowing oats and preparing to sow wheat.

"Aunt Catherine" Frazer, of Cedar Square, who retains her church membership at Center, attended services here Sunday. We are always glad to see her.

The graded school here will be under the management of W. H. Reynolds, assisted by Miss Alma Barker, of Randolph. Both have had considerable experience in teaching. Several from here attended the protracted meeting at Pleasant Garden Sunday.

The protracted meeting at Level Cross will begin next Sunday.

Quite a number of people from the surrounding country attended the meeting at Gray's chapel Sunday. This meeting always draws a large congregation.

At a recent farmers' convention a gentleman from Texas made the statement that they had men down in that state who could catch a team of horses, harness them and drive out of the lot in nine minutes. There are plenty of us Tar Heels who could show the Texan how to cut that time down. He should learn to get up earlier.

RAMSEUR.

George Hodgin has sold his meat market to Vance Cox.

Miss Nanne Farmer, of New Ferry, Va., visited her sister, Miss Mabel Farmer, last week, returning home Tuesday.

Rev. O. P. Ader is conducting a series of meetings at the M. E. church for the next ten days. He is ably assisted by Rev. G. T. Rowe, presiding elder of the Greensboro district.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church gave a very enjoyable "measuring party" at the residence of Mrs. W. H. Watkins last Friday night. A neat sum was realized for church work.

The town is building some fine concrete walls and a substantial bridge near the Baptist church.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Apple was buried Monday. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of many friends in their deep sorrow.

A fine daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Horner last week.

NEWS OF THE OLD NORTH STATE

A Survey of What is Transpiring in the Commonwealth.

The Kinston schools will have dental inspection of all children and later will inaugurate medical inspection. A child's mental condition is declared to be largely dependent on the condition of his physical being.

Dr. Charles L. Raper, of the University of North Carolina, has been appointed correspondent and adviser to the United States Rural Organization Service, his field of activity being this state, South Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Following the death by suicide of Adolph Roberts at Newbern several days ago, two other attempted suicides took place. Mrs. John Agent and Mrs. Frank Lloyd both taking poison. Both were saved. Each is a bride of not many months.

Mrs. Leon White, of Currituck county, under arrest on the charge of murdering her husband several weeks ago, was carried before Judge Bragaw, in Elizabeth City, last week in habeas corpus proceedings to be admitted to bail. The agreement of the solicitor, bail was fixed at $5,000 and Mrs. White was released. Mrs. White is an old woman, the mother of 15 children, 11 of whom are living. Her husband was found in bed at his home with a pistol ball in his head. He died without regaining consciousness and Mrs. White was suspected of the crime, as they were at "outs" over some property at the time.

Mrs. J. C. Murchison and children, of Charleston, S. C., and Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Maxwell, of Jacksonville, Fla., who have been spending some time in the city, have returned to their homes. Miss Alma McDonald, the sister of Mrs. Murchison and Mrs. Maxwell, has gone to St. Louis to make her home with her step-father, Mr. C. E. Holton.

The chick that hasn't sufficient vitality at hatching time to make an unaided exit from its shell is likely to find life a pretty uphill kind of proposition and is seldom worth raising.

Don't fail to sow a good sized patch of rape near the hog lot and also near the chicken yard. In both instances it will give as large a return on the investment as any like area on the farm.

Whenever it can be arranged it is well to have the brood sow and her litter in a separate colony house. These should be so built that they will be waterproof, yet well lighted and well ventilated.

There is no getting around the fact that little chicks that are hatched in incubators and raised in brooders are freer from lice and mites than those that are reared in the old fashioned way.

It is a bit hard to realize, but nevertheless a fact, that the diamond that sparkles on the finger, the lead in the pencil which one is using and the coal that burns on the grate are all formed of the same element, carbon, under varying conditions.

If sorrel grows on the lawn it probably means that there is too much shade and that the soil is sour. The way to correct this is to trim the trees and let in the sunshine and to scatter slaked lime thinly over the places where the grass does not do well.

While a batch of newly hatched chicks may shy at a fat earthworm tossed to them and utter chirps of surprise, it usually isn't long before a couple of these same chicks are tugging at opposite ends of this same worm. They have jumped at the conclusion as to what this worm was created for.

One of the most satisfactory barnyard floors that the writer remembers in his boyhood days was made of thin and flat flagstones. It was always well drained, and an even more excellent feature was that it never got mucky. Where stone of this kind can be got there is nothing for flooring the yard that is cheaper or better.

The season immediately following the year when potatoes are so plentiful as to be scarcely worth digging is, as a rule, a good season in which to plant a large acreage. This is because many growers, discouraged with poor returns or actual losses will still have the memory of their potato troubles fresh in mind, which will, in turn, mean a lessened production.

Investigations which have been carried on by the United States geological survey during the past three years in the Grand Mesa and West Elk mountain fields in Colorado reveal deposits of coal that are estimated to contain 12,000,000,000 tons of recoverable coal, which is equal to three-fourths of all the coal that has been mined or lost through mining processes in the United States since the beginning of the industry.

The girl who was lounging on the front porch at 9 o'clock in the morning one day last summer and reading a rapid dime novel when her mother was getting the family washing out is not the young woman that any chap who has his eyeteeth cut will pick out for a wife. An infallible evidence of womanliness and good sense as well as good breeding on the part of a girl is that she helps her mother and makes her burdens lighter.

Passersby always appreciate that pride which a farmer takes in his premises which causes him to fix things up and make them shipshape, so that he takes pride in giving the farm a name and putting that, with his own beneath, on a neat signboard over the entrance of the driveway leading from the main road. Entirely apart from the advantage which may come to the owner of the farm by doing this, it is a real convenience in that it enables those who pass the place to know who it is who lives there.

Sweet peas are hardy and may be sown just as soon as the soil warms up enough to insure germination. It is well to have the plants deep rooted, and for this reason the seed should be planted at the bottom of a trench five or six inches deep, with the bottom made mellow and covered with a couple of inches of soil. When the peas have germinated and come through the soil the trench should be gradually filled with mellow earth. The soil should be rich and mellow, the peas should be watered frequently if it becomes dry, and the blossoms should be picked regularly. This treatment will insure a maximum amount of bloom.

A situation in the western egg market that probably has not had a parallel in a generation, if ever, has prevailed the past few weeks. Portland and other points south quoting eggs at from 12 to 15 cents a dozen. As a rule, eggs on these markets seldom go below 25 cents a dozen and from this up to 40 and 50 cents.

Raw potatoes make a good ration for milk cows; but, having so large a starch content, they should be balanced with protein feeds, such as bran, oil-meal, clover and alfalfa hay. Potatoes have about one-sixth the feeding value of grain—that is, twenty pounds of potatoes are equivalent to a little over three pounds of grain.

Have that bright boy or girl make two or three ear corn seed testers and let them be testing the seed corn while you are busy with the seeding operations and getting the corn ground in shape. It will save time at a busy season, will insure a supply of seed corn that will grow, and, besides this, the testing of the corn will be interesting as well as instructive to the young people.

For the established alfalfa field there is no better tool for killing weeds than is just starting and for loosening and mellowing the soil than the common spring toothed harrow. We have seen fields of twenty or thirty years standing rutted and stirred with these harrows until it would seem that there would be no alfalfa left, but in a short time the roots sent up vigorous shoots, as if nothing had happened.

Certain nitrogen fixing bacteria work on the roots of the clover plant in the same way that an allied species of bacteria do on the roots of sweet clover and alfalfa. For this reason it is a good plan when sowing clover on new ground to scatter, just before seeding or with manure just before disking, some soil from an old clover field. This inoculates the soil with the clover bacteria and will cause the young clover plants to be much more vigorous and thrifty.

The other day on a trip of two or three hundred miles the writer could but notice the large number of farms on which the stock had been turned into pasture to graze what they could when the pastures were as bare and brown as a barn floor. The stock not only got little or nothing that was worth anything, but it is clear that they were entering the pasture. Where stock is turned into pasture thus early the damage done to the roots of the grass when the sod is soft is considerable.

At the end of the nineteenth week of the international egg laying contest which is being conducted at Storrs college, in Connecticut, Thomas Barron's pen of English White Leghorns still maintains the lead, with a score of 411 eggs. Edward Cam's pen of White Leghorns (also English) holds second place, with 382 eggs to its credit. George Schmitz's pen of Buff Leghorns ranks third, with 347 eggs; Cam's White Wyandottes fourth, with a score of 340, while the Braeside's poultry farm's pen of White Leghorns stands fifth, with 315 eggs.

The other day a breeder of blooded cattle who lives not far from the writer's home town had five cattle out of nine head that were bought at a sale returned to him because they showed symptoms of tuberculosis when tested by a veterinarian of the department of agriculture prior to being shipped out of the state. There should be laws in each state that would prevent breeders from offering any animals for sale that had not passed a satisfactory tuberculosis test. When a buyer gets hold of a diseased bunch such as this one did it is calculated to make him lose confidence in pure bred cattle and the men who sell them and in so far serves to work a definite injury to the business.

A farmer living in a county not far from where the writer resides has lately figured out the receipts for a year from his herd of eight Holstein cows. They gave 50,000 pounds of milk, which sold for $920, or an average of $11 per head. This record is not given because it is exceptional, but because it is good twice as good as the average of dairy herds the country over. The owner of this bunch of Holstein cows knows exactly what each is doing in the way of butter fat production during the year by weighing the milk and applying the Babcock test, and he further knows what the bill of fare of the herd averages during the year. It is fair to assume that the annual feed bill of these cows is not far from $50 a head, in which case the owner had $520 to put in the bank at the end of the year.

That the injection of hog cholera serum, when applied under proper conditions, is an effective cure of this devastating disease is shown in an experiment which was tried out the other day on a corn belt farm which is devoted chiefly to the raising of pure bred Berkshire hogs. The animals, valued at $200 each, were given to the directors of a county farm improvement league for the purpose of making the experiment. Each hog was given the simultaneous treatment, which consists of injecting into the animal both the virus of the disease and the serum which holds it in check. As soon as the three hogs were treated they were placed in three separate cholera infected herds, where the conditions were as favorable as could be for contracting the disease. None of the three pigs died, nor did the injection of the cholera virus or exposure to cholera infected herds have any effect on them.

The production of cement for 1912 broke all records in the history of the industry. The total output of the different kinds being 83,351,191 barrels, valued at $67,461,513, compared with 79,647,958 barrels in 1911 and valued at $66,705,136.

Statistics that have been gathered by the federal department of agriculture show that one cow in every three in the United States does not pay for her feed bill during the year, and this takes no account of the expense of milking them twice a day during their period of lactation.

If any of our readers live near beet sugar factories they can get lime which is well suited to scattering on land and to sweeten it for practically the cost of loading and the freight charge. This is a byproduct of the process used in the making of beet sugar and is worse than useless around the plant.

The creamery located at Modesto, Cal., is credited with a production of three tons of butter in a period of twenty-four hours during the flush season. An interesting feature of this butter production is that it is all from cows kept on irrigated alfalfa in the shape of either pasture or hay.

William Cook of Orpington, England, is the originator of nine different varieties of Orpingtons. Mr. Cook claims to have produced the White Orpington through a succession of crosses of White Leghorns and Black Minorcas, white pullets from these crosses being bred to White Dorking cocks.

A good horse is altogether too high priced a proposition these days to risk doing it a permanent shoulder injury by using a cheap and ill fitting collar. The cheapest kind of a plug should have a good collar, simply from the standpoint of work to be got out of it. What is true of the plug is doubly true of a valuable animal.

The state of Iowa has taken a decided step ahead in the matter of encouraging education in her rural and small town schools by the passage of a law which grants $750 annually to high schools that teach domestic science and agriculture, $500 to four room schools in consolidated districts and $250 to two room schools operating under the same conditions.

Housewives who like mutton as a substitute for the omnipresent beef and pork will be interested in farmers bulletin No. 526, entitled "Mutton and Its Value in the Diet." The publication contains besides a discussion of the nutritive value of this meat sixty different ways of cooking it. One may get the bulletin by writing to the department of agriculture, Washington.

A couple of weeks ago there were shipped from St. Paul to Mount Vernon, Wash., a consignment of 250 dairy cows, consisting of Holsteins, Guernseys and Durhams. The shipment represented an outlay of $30,000, and ten standard cattle cars were used in transporting them. The cows in question are good milkers and are to be distributed among the farmers of the Puget sound basin.

As still further showing the rapid tendency toward a breaking up of the big grazing ranches of the central western and western states may be cited the sale the other day of what is known as the "C" ranch, in central western Texas. At first the home of the long horned steer, this ranch grazed 20,000 head of pure bred Angus cattle. The new owner proposed to break it up and put it to tilled crops.

A very convenient tool for cutting out small plants such as the dandelion is made by having the end of a good sized flat file drawn out and flattened and sharpened. When ready this should be inserted in the end of a stout handle about four feet long, which will make it possible to cut the roots of the weeds without stooping over. In cutting care should be taken to go below the crown from which the new shoots start.

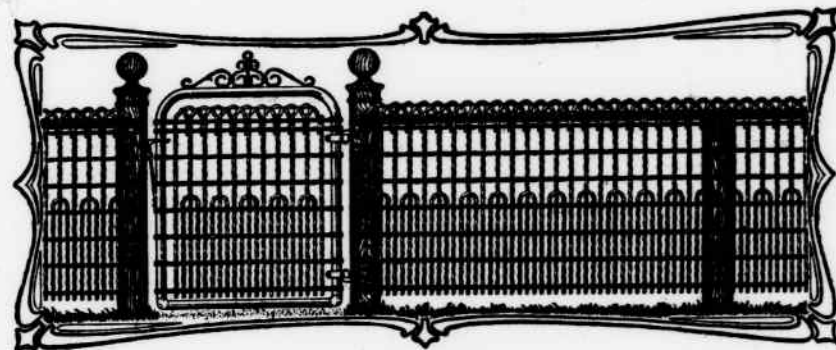

Without an exception, the biggest fool that comes down the pike is the chap who very fresh in the operation of an automobile will take on a load of women and children, and then put off a stunt of trying to beat an express or fast mail train at a railway crossing. There have been a scad of fatalities following such foolishness as this, but too often the fellow who needs exterminating escapes with his worthless skin.

Some folks have got the notion that treating seed potatoes with formaldehyde solution will prevent the development of leaf blight. This is not so. The treatment referred to will prevent scab, provided the potatoes are planted on soil that is free from spores of the scab fungus. The blight that attacks the plant above ground is of fungous origin. It is true, but is only regulated by spraying the vines with the Bordeaux mixture at intervals of ten days during the muggy days of the early summer.

As showing what care of farm implements will do in prolonging their use the Kansas City Star reports the case of one reaper who has used a sulky rake forty-two years; another a binder, twenty years, and a third a plow, fifty-nine years. There would seem to be but one question in connection with the long use of these old machines—namely, whether in some instances the greater amount of work to be done with one of modern make would not more than offset the interest on the sum invested in the old machine.

ABOUT TULIPS.

At this writing (April 8) the writer's home (and business office) is graced with some thrifty tulips, whose lovely bloom is most welcome when there are no blossoms out of doors and everything is rough and bleak. Some of the bulbs that were planted in shallow boxes got too dry during their stay in the cellar and did not root properly and hence did not amount to much. The rest, in deeper boxes and pots, that had all the moisture they needed, have been a very delight. Shortly after they were brought upstairs the bulbs were given a thorough watering with a solution made by pouring a couple of gallons of water on to a small quantity of nearly fresh horse manure. Next winter we shall see that all the boxes are kept sufficiently moist and will give them a good soaking when put in the cellar with this same fertilizer solution, which will be available when the bulbs are making root. Of the single varieties we find the La Reine (white), Yellow Prince (yellow), Queen of the Netherlands (pink) and Cramoisie Brillant (red) very satisfactory, while the Double Rubra Maxima (red), Couronne d'Or (orange) and Murillo (pink) are all that could be desired. These bulbous plants are as easy to raise as onions, and no home should be without a few of them for the winter and early spring months.

A MUCH NEEDED LAW.

A federal law which will protect all migratory wild fowl and useful insect eating birds, such as the robin, which spend the summer in northern states and winters in the south, is now a fact. The government in the law referred to assumes control over these birds on the same ground that it controls interstate traffic and communication. The law in question is one that has long been needed to prevent the wanton slaughter of our best song birds, and that it is to be enforced will be a matter of congratulation on the part of all who have any adequate conception of the service which bird life renders to the agricultural and horticultural interests of the country.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

NEW CODE IS ADOPTED

STATE, NAVY AND ARMY TO SPEAK COMMON LANGUAGE.

Keys Are Sometimes Lost and Discovered in the Possession of Individuals Who Make Effort to Hold Up Uncle Sam.

When the United States next goes to war her armed forces and her more subtle forces of diplomacy will speak a common language for the first time, for there has recently been completed a secret code for common use between the state, war and navy departments.

Heretofore the three departments, which include all the forces that would come in contact with an enemy in war time, have used secret codes peculiar to each. The state department has employed several codes, the war department several others, although chiefly one, the Breeley code, and the navy department others. They have points in common, but they are nevertheless distinct codes. The key to one would not afford a translation of a message written in another code.

The new interdepartmental code is designed not only for use in war but in such emergencies as would require quick secret communication between representatives of the various divisions.

Code keys have a habit of getting lost. It is to the interest of foreign powers to know the secret language a possible antagonist may speak. Any multiplication of codes increases the opportunities for valuable information of this character to get lost or stolen.

For instance, the code now chiefly used by the state department is about four years old and was adopted chiefly because the old code had become the common property of several nations across the water. When George von Lengerke Meyer, formerly ambassador to Russia, and more recently secretary of the navy, was in St. Petersburg, a diplomat visited him one day to offer to him a little book. The book had mysteriously found its way to Bucharest and had fallen, as such books have a habit of falling, into the hands of a foreign office. When Mr. Meyer saw the book he at once recognized the state department code key.

Some time later a letter came to the American embassy in Berlin stating that the writer possessed a similar key. He offered to sell it, suggesting that possibly the United States foreign office would not care to have its secrets the common property of all Europe. The embassy asked the writer to submit a specimen page of the book to prove his assertion. The specimen was mailed to the embassy and compared. There was no question of its genuineness.

But instead of spending good American gold to retrieve the volume, the then ambassador informed the state department that its code was no longer secret. The man who owned the key may have sold copies to every foreign office in Europe. To buy one copy would be no guaranty that the secret was retrieved.

So it was discarded and the new one adopted. The code now used is made up of arbitrary combinations of five letters each. Each of these arbitrary words, which are pronounceable because of the alternation of consonants and vowels, denotes another word or phrase. There is just one way of discovering what the code word means and that is to look in the key, the code dictionary.

Every department of the government and even several of the bureaus in various departments have their own secret language. Codes are used for the purposes, secrecy and economy. The code is regulated primarily by the requirements of telegraph companies. By international agreement telegraph companies send for the same rate as is charged for a single word any pronounceable combination. In any one of eight languages, of five letters by telegraph or ten letters by cable. If the combination is unpronounceable a charge is made for the transmission of each letter.

New "Yellow Peril."
There is a yellow peril at the White House, and, from the president down, all the inhabitants thereof are in mortal terror of it.

It is a fine young nest of yellow jackets, with stingers that are no respecter of persons.

The yellow jackets were dislodged from their comfortable home in a huge elm in the White House grounds by the recent storm, and are buzzing all over the place now. No one in authority has been stung as yet.

In Desperate Straits.
A storm was raging on the deep; and finally an old lady went to the captain and asked him what hope they had.

"Madam," he replied solemnly, "we are in the hands of the Lord."

The woman flung up her arms in horror, as she cried: "Mercy on us! Has it come to this?"

Dialect "Filler."
"How about that dialect story of yours?" asked the impatient editor.

"Coming right along, sir," replied Mr. Penwidge. "I have all the punctuation marks written, and it won't take me more than an hour to fill in the letters."

WAS MOONSHINERS' TARGET

Therefore, Congressman Kirkpatrick of Iowa Carries Around a Large Amount of Lead.

Sam Kirkpatrick of the Sixth Iowa district carries about a ton of lead around underneath his skin—to hear his friends tell it—and, even discounting the stories told about him as much as 90 per cent, he still remains one of the most picturesque characters of the house of representatives. Sam is the man—the only man—who did anything in congress toward getting the United States to pay for the transportation of the District of Columbia veterans who attended the Gettysburg anniversary.

Almost all of his life Sam has been a hunter of moonshiners. That accounts for the lead, and it would almost seem that he has been the favorite target for moonshiners, as he has been shot at so much that he has long since lost count. Thousands of shots must have missed him, but a whole lot of bullets and buckshot did hit him, and he delightfully carries them around with him.

His eyes were badly done up in the last raid he led, so Sam is now about blind, as a portion of his reward for being a revenue officer for the past twenty-seven years. Three times he has been left for dead on the field, the surgeons who worked over him offering to sacrifice their professional reputation if Sam ever opened his eyes again.

But you ought to see the other fellows. It is a good guess if Sam was badly done up the other crowd must have been wiped off the face of the earth.

DUEL WON BEFORE THE FIGHT

Weapons Chosen by Senator Williams, When Challenged, Gets German's Nerves.

In repose Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi is one of the mildest and best-natured and most inoffensive men imaginable, although in debate on the floor of the senate Mr. Williams can show that he has some fire in his make-up. No one would accuse him of being bloodthirsty or of having ever fought a duel. He did once, though.

It was when he was attending the famous Heidelberg university in Germany. A German student challenged John Sharp.

"In Rome do as the Romans do," Mr. Williams counseled himself. Therefore he promptly accepted the challenge.

Being the challenged person, he had choice of weapons. The German was greatly disturbed when the American's second said sabers, the usual duelling device, would not be used. The Yankee fire-eater would fight with United States army revolvers.

This was unheard of and the German the next morning was a wreck. His hand shook and the bullet whizzed by John Sharp several feet distant. The latter calmly aimed at a fleecy cloudlet in the sky and let go.

The principals then shook hands and became fast friends.

IS A MOVING PICTURE FIEND

Senator Clapp of Minnesota Goes the Route Every Evening, So It Is Claimed.

If you happen to be doing the moving picture circuit in upper 14th street—or the Rue de Quarante, as Frenchmen call it—any night, and happen to see a large, dignified body wearing a senatorial toga somewhere in the office, set it down at once for the form of Senator Clapp of Minnesota, who has been investigating campaign expenses for a long time.

Senator Clapp is the moving picture fiend of the United States senate. He goes the route every evening, so it is claimed, and takes special delight in those theaters where brandnew productions are advertised nightly. He is the five-cent melodrama marathon champion of the United States. He loves to see the hero hop into a hired automobile and chase the villain across the plains; he loves to see the Irish tragedians who take the part of the noble red men of the west; he loves to see the funny man who falls into a barrel of flour; he loves to watch the trick pictures and the Mutt and Jeff stuff that makes the populace rock and howl with laughter. He likes the plain form of amusements. He takes his pleasures simply, cheaply and quickly.

Right off the reel—as it were.

Coal Prices High.

In 1912 the total output of coal in the United States was 534,466,580 short tons, valued at the mines at $695,606,071. This gain in output over 1911 was 38,095,454 short tons and the increase in value was $69,040,860. The average value per ton in 1912 exceeded that of any year during the 33 years for which statistics are available. Only in 1903, the year of the fuel famine, did prices average higher.

The figures were compiled by Edward W. Parker, coal statistician for the United States geological survey.

A Week's Events of More or Less Interest to the Public.

Floods in southwest Louisiana have reached serious proportions. Trains have been annulled, business is paralyzed and crops are destroyed. The afflicted district covers a considerable area of country.

The interstate commerce commission is going to be given more power. The present Congress is in favor of giving the commission jurisdiction over the roadbed, the equipment and the operation of interstate roads.

It is announced that Dr. James S. Grim, a scientist of Kutztown, Pa., has discovered a parasite that destroys the San Jose scale, so much dreaded by fruit growers. The parasite is said to be effective in cleaning up the pest.

Timothy L. Woodruff, formerly lieutenant governor of New York and long prominent in Republican politics, was stricken with paralysis while attending a political meeting in New York city Monday night. His condition is regarded as critical.

There are indications that the blowing up of the Gamboa dike which will flood the last empty level of the Panama canal may assume the importance of an official event, which will be reflected in Washington and all over the country.

Clyde Wilkinson, 34 years old, is under arrest at Peru, Ind., charged with the murder of his wife, whose mutilated body was found buried in a cornfield Friday. Wilkinson confessed that he killed his wife in the presence of their two young sons.

At the meeting of Carolina and Virginia postmasters at Norfolk Thursday Postmaster McKesson, of Morganton, paid a glowing tribute to President Wilson, declaring him the greatest chief since Thomas Jefferson; and Republican postmasters applauded.

Oregon, a state where experiments in government are especially beloved, has a law stipulating that adult women clerks must receive a weekly wage of not less than $9.25 and must not work more than eight hours and twenty minutes or after 6 o'clock in the evening.

Massachusetts, for the first time in history, has sent a woman to a state political convention. She is Mrs. Louis Agassiz Shaw, daughter of Charles S. Bir, Progressive candidate for governor. Mrs. Shaw was elected in the primary as a delegate to the Progressive state convention.

Mrs. Anna Holden Collins, who was arrested in Aurora, Ill., the other day on a charge of disorderly conduct, pleaded guilty rather than have her case heard by a jury of 12 women. She was willing to take her chances with 12 men, but didn't propose to have women sitting on her case.

James F. Felder, who succeeded to the governorship of New Jersey when Woodrow Wilson was elected president, was 1st week nominated for governor by the Democratic primary. He was supported by President Wilson, who went to New Jersey to vote for him in the primaries.

In a race with Tom Henry, his brother, to see which would have the largest family, "Uncle Joe" Henry, a farmer, living near Cookeville, Tenn., has won. "Uncle Joe" has 27 children to his credit. His brother has dropped out of the race after having scored 15 in the "little trouble" line.

Postmaster General Burleson has received a petition asking him to bar from the mails the Bible on the ground that it contains "obscene literature." Officials of the postoffice department refuse to give out the names or tell what sect the signers belong to, but no attention will be paid to the petition.

The will of Miss Harriet Crut, who recently died in Boston, sets aside $50,000, the income of which is to be given to "women of American birth and Protestant religion, of good character, over 50 years of age, and who are in great need, preference to be given to school teachers, wives of ministers and to those who have seen better days."

Wages in the cotton, woolen and silk manufacturing industries of the United States during the past 23 years have increased to a considerable extent, while the nominal full time hours per week for the principal occupations combined have decreased, according to the bureau of labor statistics. These industries employ approximately 333,000 persons.

Representative Henry Clayton, of Alabama, recently announced to "kill" the unexpired term of the late Senator Johnston, will remain a candidate for the senate from that state, even if he has to contest with Oscar W. Underwood, the house leader, for the nomination. Representative Underwood is known to be considering entering the senatorial race, but has not announced himself.

"Keep boys on the farm" was the advice of Governor Cox to the Farmers' National Congress at Plano, Ill., last week. He and others declared that the high cost of living is due to the emigration of farming population to cities. Incidentally they argued for community life, things that would make country life attractive, moving pictures, entertainments, good roads, and so forth.

Speaker Champ Clark, more or less tied up in his chair, has been listening to Republican congressmen howling about the iniquities of the Democratic caucus until he could stand it no longer, and a few days ago he came down to the floor of the house and turned loose. "This continued howl about the caucus is the most idiotic thing that has ascended to heaven in the last generation," he shouted.

Government agents engaged in checking up the United States mint in San Francisco discovered a shortage of $30,000, a sack that originally held gold coin to this amount being filled with washers. It is not known when or by whom the washers were substituted for the coin, but of course an investigation is under way. The shortage was discovered while the coin was being counted for the transfer of the mint to President Wilson's appointee.

The most brutal murder in the history of southern California came to light Saturday, when the body of Mrs. Rebecca Gay, leader of the Christian Science church and one of the best known healers on the coast, was found dead in her office with her skull crushed in. The only clue the police have is a desk calendar showing that Mrs. Gay had eight office appointments Friday. The names of the appointees were shown on the calendar and the police are examining them.

The most notable Roman Catholic gathering of the year in the United States is the American Catholic Missionary Congress, which will meet in Boston Sunday, October 19. Each parish in this country is entitled to two delegates. There will be representatives from many organizations, in the church, and the dignitaries who will attend will include 60 members of the hierarchy in the United States, 15 of the hierarchy in Canada, five mitred abbots, and many lesser prelates.

Many vacancies exist at West Point Military Academy as a result of the failure of both principals and alternates in many cases to pass the cadet entrance examinations and because senators and representatives fail to send in nominations in answer to the appeals of the war department. There is no disposition to lower the standards of admission and it is probable that the consent of Congress will be sought to have the president fill all vacancies for which nominations are not forthcoming in time for the entrance examinations.

Because they had sold to eager and unsuspecting residents of the middle West sections of New Jersey land that laid under much water, the habitat of frogs and mosquitoes, but presumed to be town lots, capable of fine development, Thomas H. Smart and 11 of his elusive agents have been indicted by the federal grand jury in St. Louis. The specific charge is that they used the mails for the purpose of fraud and the testimony before the grand jury showed that they had calculated that a "sucker is born every minute."

Separate Days For White and Colored Children at the Fair.

The management of the Central Carolina Fair Association, which has invited all the school pupils of Guilford county to attend the fair free, has arranged to have the colored children visit the fair Tuesday and the white children on Friday. Every school pupil in the county will be entitled to free admission to the fair on tickets that will be distributed through the teachers. The complimentary tickets will be good only on the days mentioned—Tuesday for the colored children and Friday for the white children.

A representative of the postoffice department was in Greensboro a few days ago looking over the city as a possible location for a parcel post depot the department is to establish at some point in the state. The depot will probably be located either in Raleigh, Greensboro or Charlotte and will serve as a distributing point for North and South Carolina.

Women Who Get Dizzy.

Every woman who is troubled with fainting and dizzy spells, headache, weakness, debility or constipation or kidney troubles should use Electric Bitters. They give relief when nothing else will, improve the health, adding strength and vigor from the first dose. Mrs. Laura Gaines of Iowa, L. A. says: "Four doctors had given me up and my children and all my friends were looking for me to die, when my son insisted that I use Electric Bitters. I did so, and they have done me a world of good." Just try them, 50 cents and $1 at all druggists or by mail, H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

An Open Letter

To Our Customers:—

We want to do a fair and honorable business, and give everybody a square deal at this store, and you can help us carry out this intention. Doing the amount of business we do, a mistake will happen once in a while in spite of the utmost care, and occasionally some article of merchandise we sell you may turn out to be imperfect, or in some way not just as it should be. Now what we want you to do if anything of this kind happens is to put in your complaint and let us right the wrong. We will not only gladly make everything satisfactory, but thank you besides for calling our attention to the matter. Of course if you don't tell us about it, we never have a chance to make amends, and that's why we insist on your making complaint every time anything goes wrong.

There is another way in which you can assist us. If you buy an article here that turns out to be unusually good—for instance a pair of shoes that wears longer or feels better than any you ever had before—tell us about it so that we can recommend and push that particular line. You might buy the best pair of shoes you ever had in your life at this store, or likewise the worst, and if you never said anything about it we would never know the difference. We are having a splendid run of trade this season, and the store is crowded with new and desirable Fall and Winter goods. Come in early and often and bring your friends along. We are sure you can conscientiously tell them it's a good place to buy dry goods and shoes.

Here Is the Plow You Want
We Know You Want the Best

Notice its low sloping front, allowing it to shed easily. Notice the square fit of the moldboard into the point, and with two tow point bolts, thus holding the point solid and secure. Notice the stout steel adjustable handle braces, allowing the handles to be raised or lowered to suit the one using it. It will prove to your complete satisfaction that it is the lightest draft and yet the most substantial Plow built. Let us show them to you.
