Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Hodgkin were called to Red Springs Saturday by a telegram announcing the illness of Mr.
Hodgkin's father.

Mr. Logan McCulloch has gone north to have his eyes treated. He recently lost the sight of one eye and now the other is threatened.

Rev. James Arthur, an able young divine from Chatham, Va., filled the First Presbyterian pulpit here Sunday morning and evening.

Mrs. E. Colwell, Jr., has gone to Rocky Mount to spend some time with relatives while Mr. Colwell is engaged in the eastern part of the state.

The spring millinery openings yesterday caused quite a stir among the feminine inhabitants. The streets were thronged all day with eager shoppers.

A series of interesting meetings are in progress this week at West Market church. Rev. P. J. Caraway is assisting the pastor, Dr. Turrentine, in the meetings.

Mr. C. H. Dorsett and Miss Martha Brown have returned from the northern dry goods and millinery markets, where they bought the spring stock for Dorsett & Stafford.

Rev. Lacy Little, a returned missionary who with his wife is visiting relatives here, will occupy Dr. Smith's pulpit at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday morning.

Residents of South Greensboro are readily signing a petition for a substitution of the city postoffice, which is considered necessary to the well-being of that important section of the city.

Dr. C. L. Scott has sold his nice new residence on Mendenhall street to Mr.
J. F. Fonville and will move to the Dalton flats the first of the month.
Mr. Fonville and his family have boarded with Mr. H. B. Tatum's family for four or five years.

Dr. J. B. Matthews was held up by three negroes at the bridge over North Buffalo Saturday night as he was returning from a trip to the country, but by his presence of mind frightened the would-be robbers away by simply pointing a chloroform bottle at them which they mistook for a weapon.
Hereafter he will be prepared to meet such characters.

Mr. John W. Lewis returned from Texas Saturday with his bride, Elizabeth Coffin. The happy couple was married last Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.
H. Coffin, in Denison by Rev. Dr. Little, a Presbyterian minister, in the presence of a few friends and after a reception and wedding dinner took a train for Greensboro, where they will reside. The groom is associated with his father in the wagon manufacturing business here.

Mr. S. A. Barbee, one of the Southern's train dispatchers here, developed a case of smallpox Monday and immediately took up his abode in the pest house, where orders don't have to be signed. Only four other recent cases have been under the care of the county physician. The disease is so mild these days that it excites little or no concern among those who have ever been vaccinated. In ten years it has not caused near as many deaths in Guilford county as have been caused in this city by pneumonia this month.

Annual Meeting of the Farmers' Mutual.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Association of Guilford County will be held in the court house in Greensboro on Saturday, March 19th, 1904, at 11 o'clock A. M. A president, secretary and treasurer are to be elected at this meeting and much other important business is to be transacted.
All policy holders of the association are urged to be present. By order of 10-21 JOHN A. YOUNG, President.

Audubon Society Meeting.

The meeting of the North Carolina Audubon Society last Saturday brought together a number of prominent men from different parts of the state to discuss methods for protecting the song and game birds and kindred subjects.
Two sessions were held in The Benbow assembly hall, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

At the morning session the association was warmly welcomed by president J. F. Jordan, and soon after the formal preliminaries had been concluded settled down to the actual work before the body. Secretary T. Gilbert Pearson's report showed that during the past year 75,000 pieces of Audubon Society literature had been distributed;
that twenty-eight game wardens had been appointed; that there had been thirty-two convictions for violations of the game laws, and that fifty libraries of bird and nature study books had been purchased by teachers for use in the rural public schools. He showed that great progress had been made toward developing a sentiment in favor of advanced legislation necessary to the well-being of the state. Treasurer R.
N. Wilson's report showed that there had been received during the year from non-resident sportsmen the sum of $5,500. From membership fees $2,000 had been realized, making the income of the society during the year over $7,000. The disbursements showed that this had been expended in payment of game wardens, printing and distributing literature, copies of game laws, etc.

Dr. T. S. Palmer, of Washington, in charge of the United States bureau of game preservation, entertained the society with a capital address on the "Possibilities of Game Protection in North Carolina." He congratulated the officers of the state society on the fine record it had made, as indicated by the reports of the officers, and declared that North Carolina stood sixth, in point of achievement, on the list of states making systematic and intelligent efforts to protect their game, fish and birds. The address aroused the keenest interest of his hearers and 5,000 copies of it were ordered to be printed for general distribution.

Judge Francis D. Winston, of Windsor, an active member of the society, had prepared a paper but sickness prevented his being present and his paper, which was an interesting one, was read by Mr. A. L. Brooks. Judge Winston gave a history of the North Carolina game laws and the work of the various societies and organizations in other states. Short, but helpful addresses were made by Mr. George Walters, secretary of the Newbern branch of the society, Dr. R. H. Lewis, of Raleigh, Prof. J. Allen Holt and others.

The afternoon session opened with a conference of the society's game wardens. Many helpful suggestions were made at this meeting. Later the election of officers resulted as follows:

President—John S. Cunningham.
Vice President—J. Y. Joyner.
Secretary—T. Gilbert Pearson.
Treasurer—R. N. Wilson.
Executive Committee—P. D. Gold,
Jr., Guilford county; S. M. Beasley, Currituck county; J. I. Foust, Guilford county; S. L. Patterson, Wake county;
F. A. Sondley, Buncombe county.

Horse Thief Captured.

After an exciting chase leading away out beyond Reedy Fork yesterday Chief of Police Scott captured a horse thief that is wanted at Cummock.
The man under arrest, Luther McElland, colored, stole a horse and buggy
two weeks ago in southern Chatham, and has been dodging about the state
ever since, traveling mostly by night.
The officers here were looking out for him, and when it was learned that a man answering his description had passed through the city early Monday morning there was something doing at once. After a patient investigation it was found that he had stopped just north of the city, but when the chief went out he had gone northward.
Taking the trail he followed on, and was finally rewarded by overtaking the villain near Hillsdale. McClelland will be held here for the Chatham authorities. He is said to be an escaped convict from South Carolina and is regarded as a dangerous criminal. A charge of burglary might be filed against him in this county, as he stole a lot of provisions Sunday night from the dwelling house of two ladies who live alone a few miles southeast of the city.

Mr. Charles L. Lamb's Death.

The death of Mr. Charles L. Lamb, which had been anticipated for several days by his friends, occurred last Thursday shortly after noon at his residence on West Lee street. His last illness covered a period of less than eight weeks and toward the last caused him intense suffering. Pulmonary trouble, or "quick consumption" it might best be called, was the cause of his death.
Mr. Lamb was about thirty-three years old. He was a son of the late Jesse Lamb, of Jamestown township, who died only a few years ago. He had been a resident of Greensboro about fifteen years, most of that time being associated in the grocery business with his brother-in-law, Mr. R. G. Hiatt, under the familiar firm name of Hiatt
& Lamb. His marriage to Miss Lola Hiatt occurred thirteen years ago. The bereaved wife and three bright sons survive. Mr. Lamb was a member of Grace Methodist Protestant church and Buena Vista lodge of Odd Fellows, and he lived according to the teachings of his church and his fraternal brotherhood. His character was pure and up-lifting, and when the hand of Death beckoned there was no fear in his heart.
He was ready for the transition, and murmured not. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at Grace church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. M.
Andrews, and Rev. A. G. Kirkman, after which the remains were laid to rest in Greene Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. R. Cutchin, D. R. Ajken, C. B. Guthrie, J. T. Mc-
Custon, F. E. Stockton and E. L.
Clark, representing the local lodges of Odd Fellows.

Two Surprise Weddings.

Two weddings which have occurred in this city since our last issue came in the nature of a surprise to the friends of the contracting couples. Saturday evening Mr. Junius I. Scales, junior member of the law firm of Scales, Taylor & Scales, of this city, and Miss Maude Moore, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Moore, of Brown Summit, were united in marriage at the residence of Mr. Z. V. Taylor, on West Market street, by Rev. L.
W. Crawford, D. D., a few intimate friends being present. Mr. A. M.
Scales acted as best man and Miss Effie
Cobb, of New York, was maid of honor.
After the ceremony an elegant supper was served by Mrs. Taylor, sister of the groom. The happy couple are the recipients of unlimited congratulations.
They will reside in this city, making their home temporarily at the Benbow.

Mr. Harry H. Poezolt and Miss Effie
A. Tate were united in marriage at 9:30 o'clock Sunday evening by the Rev. J. E. Williams, pastor of Friends church, the marriage being performed after services had been conducted. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
John A. Tate, and the newly married couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents, 330 East Bragg street.
Mr. Poezolt came to Greensboro from Wilmington to accept a position in his uncle's tailoring establishment about two months ago and has made very many friends here in Greensboro. Miss Tate is a well known and attractive young woman and has a very large circle of friends.

Another Telephone System.

Last night at the most largely attended meeting yet held the matter of resisting the increase in telephone rates, as proposed by the Bell company, took definite form by recommending the establishment of an independent company, and immediately a large proportion of the capital stock was subscribed.
A committee submitted a report showing the Bell company's rates in other cities, and also much correspondence that had passed between the company and the committee, and after all the facts had been clearly brought out there was almost a unanimous response to the suggestion that a new company be formed. In a few minutes over two-thirds of the local stock was subscribed, while 160 subscribers to the service were enrolled.

John T. Thacker, a well known tailor who has lived here for ten or twelve years, coming from the eastern part of the state, caused his family and friends much anxiety last week by mysteriously disappearing after sending his wife a small sum of money from down town. His whereabouts remained a mystery for a day or two, when it was learned that he had left town on a midnight train going east. Later he was seen in Danville, Va., by some one who knew him well and to whom he confided that he was going North.
Thacker has been prominent in secret order circles for several years and has a wide acquaintance. His friends are at a loss to account for his strange action.

boarding, ceiling and flooring. 10-11

GREENSBORO TOBACCO MARKET.

MARKET REPORT.

The receipts on our market for the past week have been the heaviest of any week for several years past, which demonstrates beyond a doubt the strength of our market. We have three warehouses now and ample buying capacity, both of which were tested to their full strength last week; notwithstanding, when Saturday came prices were fully as good, if not better, than they had been any day during the week. Throughout the entire week farmers came here from every section of the country with tobacco, and on Wednesday morning tobacco wagons were standing on the streets everywhere almost all over town, and the warehouses were crowded and jammed
so that you could hardly get in them.
The quality of the tobacco was rather poor, with very few fine wrappers showing up and no fancy ones at all.
All grades of desirable tobacco are in active demand, and especially so on good hogs and fillers and the wrapping grades. Everybody seems to want these at outside prices. Prices on all grades held up well throughout the entire week, and on yesterday's sales we think that prices were better than they have been at all. Everybody seemed to be anxious for tobacco and were paying outside prices to get it. The big sales have had no effect on our prices, and we think that it is as good a time to sell tobacco as you will get, so we will advise you to market the remainder of your crop as soon as convenient.

S. E. Jeffreys, of Alamance, made a satisfactory sale of tobacco on this market last week.

W. H. Chilcutt, of Brown Summit, was here last week with a load of tobacco and got $105.55.

J. W. Elmore, of this county, was here during the past week and made a very satisfactory sale.

S. E. Hudson & Stanley, of this county, sold a load of fillers here during the past week for $95.52.

John Armfield and G. W. Apple, of this county, were here during the past week and made good sales.

J. B. Summers, Esq., a prominent farmer of Alamance, was here during the past week and made good sales.

James & Ogburn and Bane & Bradsher, good Rockingham farmers, were here with tobacco during the past week.

Z. W. Griffin, of Rockingham, sold here during the past week and was well pleased and will be back again shortly.

Wrenn & Weatherly, of this county, were here with a small load of medium tobacco and got $86.45. They made a good average.

Moore & Dobbs, two of Rockingham's good farmers, were here with a load of fillers. The got $94.09 for their load and were well pleased.

H. L. Boone & Moore, of Rockingham, were here yesterday and got $147.27 for a medium lot of fillers, averaging about $10 per hundred.

M. T. Wagoner, another one of Guilford's good farmers, was here with a good load of medium tobacco and was well pleased with his prices.

W. J. Jarrell, from the Leaksville section of Rockingham county, was here last week with a load of Rockingham fillers and averaged about 10 cents.

W. H. Vickory, of this county, made the best sale on this market during the past week he has made this season and was very highly pleased with his prices.

J. A. Groome, one of our good farmers from this county, was here with a lot of fillers last week and got $181.96.
Mr. Groome was well pleased with his prices.

Fonville & Burton had a nice lot of tobacco here last week from Alamance county and got $147.62 for their load.
It is useless to say they were well pleased with their prices.

Walter Lindsay, one of the prominent farmers of this county, was here with tobacco during the past week and sold from $5 to $20 per hundred. He was highly pleased with his prices.

Mr. W. H. Roberson, of south Alamance, who is one of the best tobacco growers in the county, was here with tobacco during the past week and got $19 more for his load than he expected.

J. M. McNeal, of Rockingham, was here with a good lot of tobacco during the past week, for which he received $198.97. Our buyers appreciate Rockingham tobacco and don't mind paying for it.

C. T. Weatherly, of Guilford county, sold a load of tobacco here last week and his prices ranged from $7 to $30 per hundred, making an average of about $11. He was here again yesterday, which shows what he thinks of the market.

D. M. Ireland, Esq., a very prominent farmer of Alamance county, has been here five times during the past three weeks. Mr. Ireland is a good judge of business and knows a good thing when he finds it, so he sticks to Greensboro market.

We are sorry we have not space to mention everybody who sold on our market during the past week. There were almost thousands of farmers here and we appreciate the trade of every one of them and would like to make special mention of them in these columns, but for want of room we will have to be satisfied with thanking you very kindly for your trade and trusting that you will come back again. Considering the size of the sales, we have never seen more satisfactory sales than we made on this market last week.
Although the sales were exceedingly large nearly every farmer was well pleased with his prices.

A Word to Farmers.

I have just completed arrangements

Something entirely new in corn planters at Townsend & Co.'s. 10-1t

J. J. Stone & Co., the job printers, installed a linotype machine last week.

Mr. Robert Cummings, one of Rockingham's substantial citizens, was a caller last week.

Miss Virginia Shober came up from Charlotte last week for a short visit with home folks.

Dr. J. P. Turner will build a handsome residence on West Market street the coming summer.

Townsend & Co. have just received 300,000 thousand cheap shingles, the best lot they have ever had. 10-1t

Mr. A. E. Fordham, of Gastonia, has purchased a good truck farm just north of this city and will move here soon.

Police officer J. M. Pugh got out the last of the week after a ten-days' siege of la grippe. C. L. Tucker wore his badge during his illness.

Mr. George S. Farrington and Miss Eliza T. Nuckles, both of Proximity, were married by Squire D. H. Collins last Thursday evening.

Mr. A. M. Scales attended the funeral of his aunt, Miss Emma Scales, in Rockingham county last week. Miss Scales was about sixty years old and had been in poor health for some time.

Good two-horse farm for rent. Will furnish stock and farming tools to a good man. Also good heavy farm horse for sale. Apply at once to W. D. Ross, Pleasant Garden, N. C. 10-2t

Dr. McDaniel, of McLeansville, made us a substantial call Thursday. He has been a valued subscriber since 1846, the year he began practicing medicine. We count him among our best as well as oldest friends.

Burlington News: Mr. Presley H. Williams, of near Elon College, died on last Saturday and his remains were buried at Frieden's on Sunday. He was 81 years of age and leaves a wife and several children.

Mr. John A. Sykes, of this city, was one of the twenty-five pharmacists licensed by the state board of examiners last week. Henry E. Jones, one of the two colored men granted license at the same time, is a resident of Greensboro.

Mr. F. G. Chilcutt, of Brown Summit, will spend much of his time here in the future, making his home with his sister, Mrs. Green, who lives on Keogh street. He is preparing to build some houses on the north side of the city.

Revenue officers from this city cut a fifty-gallon illicit still last Wednesday morning which was in operation two and a half miles south of Tabernacle. Five men who were working around the still fled unceremoniously upon the approach of the officers.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Wakefield, of Charlotte, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter Kate to Mr. Leon Merrill Ham, of Greensboro. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride on Tuesday evening, March 29th. Mr. Ham is a prominent young merchant here.

Ashboro Courier: Mr. Oscar Teague, of Jacksonville, Fla., has smallpox, is the information we get from our Liberty correspondent. Mr. Teague is a son of our esteemed townsman, Mr. W. J. Teague. He has been in Jacksonville for some time and has charge of the train dispatcher's office.

It was rumored here last Wednesday that spikes had been pulled from a rail on the Southern Railway track near Pelham the night previous by some villain who had hoped to wreck a train on the curve there, but the rail was not dislodged, owing to the excellent condition of the track.

A good 3-seat hack nearly new for sale at a bargain by Townsend & Co., also two good second hand 2-horse wagons, two good second hand top buggies, one lady's phaeton (nearly new), one sidespring buggy (but little used), two good sidebar open buggies, one 2-seat top carriage all at bargain prices.

Mr. Charles A. Porter has become chief clerk to Freight Agent Coffin at the Southern depot, succeeding Mr. W. E. Schenck resigned. Just before taking his final leave of the office last week Mr. Schenck's fellow employees presented him with a handsome remembrance, a heavy gold ring bearing the K. of P. emblem. Mr. Coffin tendered the gift on behalf of the donors.

THE LADIES favor painting their churches, and therefore we urge every Minister to remember we give a liberal quantity of the Longman & Martinez Paint toward the painting. Wears and covers like gold.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed Oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy other paints in a can with a paint label on it.

8 & 6 make 14, therefore when you want fourteen gallons of paint, buy only eight of L. & M., and mix six gallons pure Linseed Oil with it, and thus get paint at less than $1.20 per gallon.

Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L. & M. and three gallons of Linseed Oil mixed therewith.

These Celebrated Paints are sold by Southside Hardware Co., Greensboro; Gibsonville Store Co., Gibsonville; B. J. Sapp, Kernersville.

Wood's seeds just received. Gardner.

Letter to W. E. Coffin,
Greensboro, N. C.

Dear Sir: If it took 10 gallons to paint your house last time with somebody else's paint, and takes 8 with Devoe, we save you $8 or $10; for painting costs two or three times as much as paint.

Mr. Ezra Rathmell, Williamsport, Pa., always used 11 gallons of mixed paint for his house; Devoe took 6.

But that isn't all; that's only first cost; how long will it wear?

The paint that goes furthest in covering, wears best too.

All paint, true paint, and full-measure, are on one side; part paint, false paint, and short-measure are on the other. What can you expect?

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & CO.

The base ball teams of Davidson and Guilford College will play a game in Greensboro April 7th.

Rev. E. P. Parker, of Gibsonville, was here Monday on his return from his appointments on the Davie circuit.

Mr. C. M. Vanstony returned from New York Friday, where he spent several days on the wholesale clothing market.

Dr. Tait Butler, state veterinarian, was here last week investigating what appears to be an epidemic among hogs in this section.

Mr. Edney Ridge will have the management of the Lindley park casino the coming summer. The season opens there the last week in May.

Mr. Chas. F. Crews will represent the Lindley nurseries in west Tennessee this season. He left Thursday night for Jackson, his first stopping point.

Brother McCulloch, editor of "Our Church Record," has placed an order for a Mergenthaler typesetting machine. His son will learn to operate the machine.

Four car loads of buggies just received at Townsend & Co.'s. Some beautiful new styles to select from. Be sure to see them before selecting your new buggy or carriage. 10-2t

Mr. C. N. McAdoo, of this place, has been elected vice president and treasurer of a million dollar corporation, known as the North-Mexican Development Company, at El Paso, Texas.

Rev. J. A. Ledbetter moved his family from Julian last week to Handy, Davidson county, where he takes charge of a Methodist Protestant circuit. He was ordained at the last annual conference of his church.

Dr. W. A. Lash has given out the contract for a nice three-story building on the southeast corner of South Davie and East Washington streets which has already been ordered by The Patterson Company, a new wholesale grain and provision house recently organized here.

Mr. W. E. Patterson will move his family here from Mt. Airy April 1st. He has rented Dr. Richardson's house at 615 West Gaston street, now occupied by the family of F. A. Barr. Mr. Barr's family will move to Salisbury. Five of Mr. Patterson's children are already residents of Greensboro.

Mr. Appleton H. Staples arrived here last Friday night to spend a few days with his parents, Col. and Mrs. J. N. Staples. He has just returned from Porto Rico, where he went on a special mission for the Havana American Company with which he is connected. His headquarters are in Havana, Cuba.

At the preliminary hearing of Will McIver last Friday, charged with an assault with a deadly weapon on Charles Hall, he was sent on to court under $250 bond, as yet unpledged. Both the men named are colored. The details of their affray at the Southern Express office are familiar to our readers.

Building operations are already taxing the supply dealers, while architects and contractors are overrun with business. With the rebuilding of the college structures destroyed by fire this winter, in addition to the other work already under way and planned, there is a busy summer in sight for the mechanic who really wants work.

Guilford & Company's big ditch digging machine, which was put to work last week in South Greensboro, is a source of attraction to scores of visitors daily. It does the work of forty men, in ground that is comparatively level and free from rock, scooping up the earth and conveying it to one side much on the order of a wheat elevator. While it was bought on approval it seems to come up to requirements and will be used in prosecuting the sewer work here.

Messrs. J. M. McMichel and J. F. Martin, of Stokesdale, were here Monday. Mr. McMichel believes that our Oak Ridge correspondent should have carried his suggestion further in regard to changing the name of Summerfield back to Bruce's and added that Guilford College should once more be New Garden, Kernersville be Beard's Hat-ter-shop and the county seat be Guilford Court House, and so on down the line. All these names have a historical value, so why should there be any discrimination?

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth, of LaGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cts. Sold by all druggists.

THE REBUILDING OF G. F. COLLEGE.

Plans of S. W. Foulk & Son Adopted by the Committee.

At a meeting of the building committee of the board of trustees of Greensboro Female College, held in this city last week, the plans for the rebuilding of the college prepared by S. W. Foulk & Son, the New Castle, Pa., architects who prepared the plans for West Market church, were adopted by a practically unanimous vote, and will be submitted to contractors at an early date, in order that the college may be rebuilt by the time the fall term opens in September.

The members of the building committee are: M. D. Stockton, Winston, chairman; C. H. Ireland, Greensboro, secretary; J. P. Redding, High Point; John A. Young, Dr. J. S. Betts, E. J. Stafford and T. C. Hoyle. There were also in attendance upon the meeting Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson, president of the college, Miss Nannie Lee Smith, secretary of the Alumnae Association, Mrs. Lucy A. Cunningham, president of the Alumnae Association.

While nothing in the way of detail can be said about the plans, it may be stated that the committee was greatly pleased with the plans adopted and indeed agreeably surprised at what the architects were able to promise for the amount of money the committee wanted to spend. It is understood that under the new plans the old walls will be used and that a surprisingly beautiful building with all modern conveniences will be provided. The building like all up-to-date buildings of the present, will have fire walls so as to prevent fire from spreading and asbestos will be freely used in connection with the wood work.

Second Prize Contest.

Following are the conditions of the second prize contest announced in our last issue. Copies of "Evangeline" can be procured at this office free of charge by those who intend entering the contest.

CONDITIONS.

1. All boys and girls under 18 years old who attended the rural public schools in Guilford county this year are eligible in this contest, except the winners of the first and second prizes in the previous contest, who by virtue of the fact that they were winners, are not admitted to this one.

2. Articles must not contain less than 800 nor more than 1,200 words, and must be in the hands of the editor of the PATRIOT not later than April 15th, 1904.

3. The writer's full name and address must accompany each article, together with this statement, "I hereby certify that the composition of this paper is all my own work."

4. The PATRIOT reserves the right to print any of these articles, together with the name of the writer.

There will be two prizes offered this time, a First and Second. The winner of the first prize will be given a beautiful copy of the complete poems of the author of "Evangeline," ($1.50).

The winner of the second prize will be given a beautiful illustrated copy of the poem, "Evangeline," ($1.00).

The task is as follows: Study carefully the poem and write the story in prose, using exclusively your own language, not the language of the poet. AVOID POETICAL EXPRESSIONS. BE ORIGINAL.

Dr. J. T. J. Battle Chosen.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Central Carolina Fair Association last Friday morning Dr. J. T. J. Battle was chosen president to succeed John L. King, who declined to serve in that capacity because of a press of other business. The secretary and executive committee were instructed to put a new floor in the main exhibition building and make other improvements. Arrangements are going merrily on for the next fair in October, which promises to be the biggest and best ever held by the association.

Mr. D. W. Corl, who was charged with throwing dead hogs on the city watershed, had a hearing in the mayor's court last Thursday evening. He admitted throwing the carcasses where they were found, but stated very positively that he had no idea that the drainage from that point reached the watershed. Inasmuch as the mayor had not final jurisdiction in the case Mr. Corl gave bond for his appearance at the next term of court. Both the city and county attorneys appeared as prosecutors in the case, while the defendant was unrepresented by counsel.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

Safes Blown and Robbed at Kenly.

Raleigh, March 11.—A special from Wilson, says: Josiah Stancil's store, at Kenly station, seventeen miles from Wilson, was forcibly entered this morning at 2 o'clock, the safe dynamited and sixteen hundred dollars in cash stolen. The safe doors were blown fifteen feet away. Burglars also entered the store of George Morris and dynamited the safe, but no money was secured. The authorities think they have a clue to work on. Several suspects have already been arrested.

Mr. Simmons Unnecessarily Alarmed.

Washington Post.

Senator Allison had a joke yesterday on Senator Simmons and incidentally on the North Carolina legislature. Mr. Simmons called up in the Senate a bill appropriating $800,000 for the enlargement of the public buildings at Asheville, in his state. Naturally he was anxious to have the bill passed smoothly, and Mr. Fry was expediting its passage, as he generally does all routine legislation. But few senators were on the floor, and apparently none of these except Mr. Simmons was paying much attention to proceedings.

Suddenly Mr. Allison stood up and moved to strike out section two of the bill, which section provided that the bill should become effective at the time of its passage. Mr. Simmons looked alarmed, but Mr. Allison sat down, and with one hand screening his forehead and face, seemed in a brown study. Before Mr. Simmons could recover Mr. Fry declared the bill passed.

"What effect will the amendment have?" he stammered finally, and while Allison was almost audibly chuckling to himself.

"Oh," remarked Mr. Cockrell in a tone displaying some weariness, "it will have the effect of making the bill become a law as soon as it is passed." The language struck out was, in fact, surplusage. Mr. Simmons had inserted it on information that it was always done in the North Carolina legislature. But Congress does not follow the practices of the Tar Heels, as Mr. Allison was well aware.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Washington, March 12.—Events are apparently so shaping themselves that all the Democratic party will have to do is sit still and make the best use of whatever comes its way. The post-office scandal has now assumed such gigantic proportions that it overtops everything else, and there is a prospect of a bitter war between the legislative and executive branches of the government. Either the scandal must be probed to the bottom or the party in power will rest under the charge of being afraid to let the whole truth be known. The lid blew off in the House of Representatives on the 10th inst., when members had had time to examine the so-called Bristow report, which charged no less than 150 gentlemen of the House with irregularities and violations of law. The gist of the matter is that members of Congress have been flooding the postoffice department with applications for increase of rents for post-office buildings, for increase of salaries and for more clerks. The now indicted Beavers was the man who took these matters in hand, and obliged the congressmen in many instances by granting their requests. The Speaker of the House, the old "watch dog of the Treasury," is in the "list of honor," as it has been designated, and many members, including Grosvenor, of Ohio, Hepburn, of Iowa, Hill, of Connecticut, and a host besides. The revelations made by the report of the committee on postoffices, fell like a thunderbolt out of the blue, and for several days congressmen were too angry to be on speaking terms with themselves. An attempt was made to let Mr. Bristow down easy by asserting that he did not write the report; but that proved to be too thin, as he has for months been praised by the administration for doing that very thing. He is said to have been too sick to attend to business for a month, but when the President sent for him on the 10th inst., he was able to get to the White House.

A remarkable feature of the whole business is that the report was adopted and presented to the House by a committee appointed by Speaker Cannon. Mr. Overstreet, the chairman, tried in vain to convince the House that it was a harmless document, which really meant nothing, and that it had better lie on the table. Gentlemen whose names had been coupled with Beavers, Machen, Tyner, Metcalf, and others of malodorous reputation, decidedly objected. And they prepared to sail in. The scene in the House on the 10th and 11th instants, when party lines disappeared like frost before the sun, was one long to be remembered. Applause from both sides of the chamber greeted each speaker as he protested his innocence and denounced the report. The public galleries swarmed with spectators and the reporters for the press were out in force. The confusion was intolerable and business was almost at a standstill. When Gen. Grosvenor rose to make a speech the curiosity of the Democrats was at such a pitch they left their seats and filled the forum near the Speaker's chair, that every word might be heard. "I am a lawyer," exclaimed Gen. Grosvenor, "and am not afraid of this report," holding it aloft, "will be translated into all the languages of the world, and it will be believed that there are 150 rascals in the American House of Representatives." There was both laughter and dismay when Gen. Grosvenor holding up one of the most conservative newspapers of the metropolis, read as follows: "When men of the standing of Hill, Cullom, Cannon, Payne and Hepburn, of Iowa, are taken red-handed, no one can marvel that Beavers, Machen, and the staff of department subordinates rush for loot, with the cry, 'now or never.' Sentiments like these," said the speaker, "are being printed in 35 per cent of all the newspapers of the country."

This new outcropping of the Post-office scandal has caused great anxiety at the White House, and there has been a hurried consultation of leaders to devise a way out. Mr. Bristow was summoned from a sick bed and taken to task. So serious is the situation it may disturb the plans of the Republican campaign managers and precipitate a war between the Executive and Congress. It is possible a drastic investigation of the Postoffice department by a committee of the House will result when the whole truth will be searched out.

While Congress was denouncing the Bristow report the President was arranging with Senator Foraker, of Ohio, who should fill two or three postoffices in that state. While Senator Hanna was alive these were a bone of contention, and the President refused to act, not wishing to offend either senator. No sooner is Hanna in his grave than the patronage goes to Foraker. The new Senator Dick had the good sense to keep his hands clean of such matters.

The Land Office frauds continue to be exposed. The effect of the Bonaparte-Woodruff investigation of the Dawes Commission to the five tribes of civilized Indians in Indian Territory is to discredit the commission. It has taken advantage of the ignorance of the Indians to induce them to part their lands for less than they were worth, when they were afterwards sold to speculators at an advanced price. In view of these serious facts it is stated the commissioners will not be removed, but may continue to draw their salaries.

There is a great congestion of congressmen at the Postoffice department looking up old files and getting copies of red hot letters. Unfortunately Postmaster Payne is too ill to see the angry members. Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow is also confined to his room, and the chief clerk and the private secretary can only weep and wring their hands. North Carolina has two members of Congress named Kiehn. One of them says Bristow undertook to blackmail Congress. Congressman Hill, of Connecticut, denies that he has been "red-handed" in anything. But he cannot deny that he proposed to give the Postoffice officials a dose of "red pepper" if they did not hurry up and do as he said.

Secretary Shaw thinks a merchant marine will not grow as weeds do. Certainly not. Fertilize the soil with gold from the U. S. Treasury.

Notwithstanding the late Senator Hanna left a brief showing why Gen. Wood should not be promoted and requesting that he under the charges made against him under oath, Senator Foraker will press the promotion at every possible opportunity. The Senator is now regarded at the White House as the boss of Ohio. Wood's promotion will probably be confirmed.

Burglar Shoots Salisbury Policemen.

Charlotte Observer, 13th.

At 1 o'clock this morning a telephone message to The Observer from Salisbury stated that a large number of people were on the street engaged in an excited search for a burglar who had shot Chief of Police Miller and Policeman Cauble. Neither officer is wounded seriously.

At 11 o'clock Chief Miller heard a noise in the hardware store of D. A. Atwell, on South Main street. Being assured that someone was operating stealthily in the building, he blew his whistle, and Policeman Cauble and Monroe responded.

Monroe was stationed at the front of the building. Chief Miller and Cauble went to the rear. As they walked into the alley in the rear of the store, they came under the full glare of an electric light. At once a man standing at a window in the second floor of the hardware store began firing.

Of the four shots fired three took effect. One struck Miller in the right leg below the knee and passed downward into his foot. Cauble received a flesh wound in the thigh. Both policemen pulled their revolvers and returned the fire of the unseen man. Miller dropped to the ground.

Suddenly a man appeared at the window sill, sprang to a tree that was close by, and jumped to the ground. In his descent he dropped his revolver and his cap. Policeman Monroe appeared from the front and began firing on the burglar, and chased him with no success.

The Salisbury police believe the burglar is Ernest Murphy, a white man 21 years of age, and have notified the police here to watch every train. Murphy is a tramp who hangs around Salisbury, it is said. The burglar had broken open the hardware store for the purpose of robbery, and evidently had tried to break open the safe.

As he entered the building through a window he was cut by the glass and left a trail of blood as he moved about in the store. His wound, it is believed, will furnish a means of identifying him.

Cruelty Practiced in the Name of Religion.

Bangor, Me., March 11.—The Holiness Society's ministers, whose revival services on Beal's Island, in the coast town of Jonesport, have stirred the inhabitants of the place to frenzy, having been banished from the island by the sheriff who interfered when the slaughter of children as sacrifices seemed imminent. When, on complaint of John A. Beal, the leading citizen of the island, the selectmen of Jonesport sent Deputy Sheriff French to the island last Saturday, he arrived in time to rescue Frank Beal from the hands of a mob of Holiness disciples who had bound and blindfolded him and were beating him unmercifully in their effort to cast out a devil. The neighbors also believe he came none too soon to prevent Mrs. Beal and the Holiness band from killing her seven-year-old son as a sacrifice demanded by the Lord. The sheriff arrested Mrs. Beal and took her to Jonesport, where she was adjudged insane and sent to the Bangor asylum.

The entire population, with a few exceptions, appears to have gone insane over the new religion brought into the island by the Holiness Society, which originated in New Brunswick and has its main headquarters at Lubec. The leaders seemed to possess hypnotic influences over the three hundred islanders, most of whom are superstitious fishermen.

Saw Brother Killed 1,200 Miles Away.

Louisville, March 9.—Miss Edith Shepard, of Louisville, went into hysteria this morning in consequence of a premonition that her brother was dead. Two hours later she was handed a telegram conveying the news that he had been killed in a railroad accident at Lincoln, Neb. Miss Shepard was attending a meeting of a sewing circle and was completing a garment to be given to the poor. She looked up suddenly and said: "I just saw the face of a dying man before me, and it was familiar." Two minutes later she exclaimed: "Oh, it was my brother!"

She went into a fit of hysteria and could not be restored to her normal self. "I see him now! He is bleeding, I can't see what it was," she moaned. She could not be aided and finally was put to bed in a pitiable condition. She lay in bed and raved, calling her brother's name and refusing to accept the explanation that it was a hallucination.

The telegram announcing the tragic death of her brother, George T. Shepard, came while she was at the worst of the hysteria. It explained that he had been run over by a train in the yards at Lincoln and that death was immediate.

Fire Horses Dash Into Locomotive.

Spartanburg, S. C., March 12.—While responding to an alarm of fire tonight two valuable horses attached to the fire engine were instantly killed at Main street crossing by a collision with passenger train No. 10, bound for Columbia. The horses were going at a furious speed and the driver was wholly unaware of the train's approach and was unable to stop in time to prevent the accident. One of the animals was struck by the pilot of the locomotive, while the other was thrown under the wheels of the tender. The accident created considerable excitement, as a large crowd was on the street at the time. The horses were valued at $1,000. The driver and fireman were uninjured.

325 Southern Express Offices Closed.

Roanoke, Va., March 12.—As the result of a strike of the telegraph operators who have been handling express matter at the small towns along the lines of the Norfolk & Western railway, 325 Southern Express offices were closed at noon today. The express officials refused to grant the demands of the operators for increased commissions and the Order of Railway Telegraphers ordered the strike. It is said that independent express offices will be opened at many of the towns affected by the strike.

THE YALU A RIVER OF DEATH.

Starvation, Cold and Harsh Treatment Work Woe for the Muscovite Recruits.

London, March 11.—Neither the official nor the independent dispatches published this morning add much knowledge to the progress of the war. Speculation regarding the military situation on the Yalu river is most keen, but no news of a reliable character has been received.

The Nagasaki correspondent of the Daily Express asserts that 200,000 troops have been shipped from Japan, and that a portion of the second army corps is now on its way to Korea.

The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Tokio, evidently referring to the same movements, cables that the transportation to Northern Korea of three divisions of Japanese troops has been completed, and that these men are beginning to advance, while ten divisions of the second army corps have already been mobilized.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that the Japanese, after Port Arthur is taken probably will move two armies to the north simultaneously, one from the southern part of the Liao-Tung peninsula, and the other from the Yalu river.

The Russians are now moving northward into Korea, this correspondent continues, with the intention of making Wiju their defensive base.

A correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, who was in Japan recently, wires from Seoul that the Japanese are making steady progress with their land movements. The roads are occupied by Japanese troops.

According to a Tien Tsin correspondent of the Standard, the Russians are withdrawing all their superfluous troops from Port Arthur to Harbin and Kirin, because of the shortness of provisions, and because it is doubtful whether or not they would be able to hold either Port Arthur or New Chwang against a resolute attack.

The spirit of the Russian troops, who are largely recruits, has been broken by starvation, cold and harsh treatment from their officers. The Russian losses on the Yalu river are reported to reach a total of two thousand men.

JAPANESE FIRE VERY ACCURATE.

Report of the Effect of the Bombardment of Port Arthur—The Golden Hill Forts Damaged.

Tien Tsin, March 12.—The first credible reports of the effect of the bombardment of Port Arthur from mid-night on Wednesday to past noon Thursday last, which have been received here, arrived today. Eye-witnesses say that the Japanese fire, which was indifferent in previous attacks, showed marvelous accuracy. The fire came from the direction of Pigeon Bay, where Russians reported sighting double the previous number of Japanese vessels, and it is supposed that transports of various kinds accompany the fleet. It is reported that the Retvizan, which, it is understood was then inside the entrance of the harbor, was struck several times and that there were fatalities among the crew. It is also said that the Golden Hill forts were badly damaged and that there were many casualties among the remaining non-combatants in the new town, which suffered most. One building in the rear of the war bureau was destroyed and elsewhere a shell annihilated an entire family.

The Russians are suppressing the circulation of foreign newspapers, and any person suspected of being a correspondent is ordered out of their lines.

Illinois Mob Thwarted.

Murphysboro, Ill., March 10.—A mob from Carbondale made an attempt to take Thomas Vaughan, a mulatto, from the county jail here today, intending to lynch him. Sheriff Thorp was apprised by telephone of the mob's departure from Carbondale, and with Deputy Jack Woodward, waited in the second story of the jail. The mob, about seventy-five strong, approached the jail door and were covered with riot guns from the windows above. The mob hurriedly dispersed. Officers captured Jeff Etherton, Josh Walker and Dock Lightfoot, all of whom were released on bail. Walker was sweated and said the intention was to call Sheriff Thorp to the door, overpower him and secure the negro without bloodshed.

Deputy Woodward's riot gun fell to the floor and was discharged, the charge tearing his right arm so that amputation was necessary. Vaughan is a prisoner charged with criminal assault, the victim being a Carbondale school teacher.

She is still in a serious condition. There is no further excitement here.

To Call After He Dies.

Butte, Mont., March 11.—L. H. Mott, a wife murderer, who is to be hanged at Missoula on March 18, has sent a letter to Congressman Joseph Dixon at Washington informing him that he will visit him on Sunday, March 20, at 10 o'clock in the evening. Today Mott explained his letter by saying that he means to make himself known to Congressman Dixon in order to fulfill a promise to demonstrate the existence of life after death. Mott said:

"Dixon and myself have been close friends for years. I may state truthfully that he has been my friendly adviser solely upon many occasions for the last ten years we have discussed religion and the probable future state. Joe was an atheist, and we read Paine, Huxley and Ingersoll and argued their relative merits.

"Dixon and I pledged each other that in case of death we would make the living party a call at 10 P. M. just two days after death. Hence my promise to him. I feel that Dixon looks upon me as a firm friend and ardent admirer, having a loyalty of friendship that death cannot quench."

UNDER RUSSIAN HEEL.

Finns May Seize the Opportunity to Revolt—Abuse and Outrage Rampant.

Washington Post.

It may not be that the domestic disturbances in Russia during the Eastern war will amount to an armed revolution, but I believe that Russia will not be allowed to come out of this war without a harness laid on her autocracy. The people who have suffered oppression so long will take advantage of the situation to demand some guarantees which cannot be ruthlessly violated at the whim of a despotic minister of state.

Thus spoke Count Carl Mannerheim, formerly a banker in Helsingfors, Finland, but now an exile under the ban of the Russian government. He is making the most of his enforced absence from home to study the banking system of the United States. During his stay in Washington he was presented to the President, whom he was surprised to find thoroughly conversant with the history of Finland and the character and institutions of her people.

"We Finns were happy and contented up to the time that the Russian tyranny began," he went on. "Although we had suffered some intrenchment upon our constitutional rights prior to 1899, we may fix that year as the date of the distinctive changes. It was then that Russia began to show her hand by sweeping aside the constitutional guarantee given by Czar Alexander I, and respected by his successors, that three of the four orders composing the estates of the realm—the nobility, the clergy, the burghers, and the peasants—should always agree upon the adoption of any fundamental measure of law discussed in the Diet before it could receive the sanction of the sovereign.

LAST DEFENSE BROKEN DOWN.

"There was only one meaning to this—that the last defense of Finland from arbitrary and violent Russification had been broken down. How the Finns regarded it is shown by the record of emigration, which between 1892 and 1898 had averaged about 3,000 souls yearly, but sprang in 1899 to 12,000, and by 1902 had reached 22,000."

"Are your people homogeneous or mixed?"

"We are a mixed people, the upper and more highly educated classes being of Swedish origin, while the peasantry are literally of the soil, though they can read and write. There is a strong national feeling among us, however, and a sympathetic bond uniting all classes. Ours was an excellent type of popular government, in which the humblest participant understood his rights and cherished them."

"Do you look for an uprising among the Finns while Russia has her hands full in the East?"

"I should not wish to say that," Count Mannerheim answered. "You must understand that our people always used to regard Russia as their friend, as well as their colleague under the crown. The Czar, at their accession, have regularly subscribed afresh to the 'Act of Assurance,' pledging the inviolability of the Finnish constitution, and have ascended the throne as grand dukes of Finland as well as Emperors of Russia; and not until the renewal of the guaranty have the Finnish officials taken their oath of allegiance. The radical change in Russian attitude came to the Finns with a distinct shock. They were hurt by it. They are a peace-loving people. The greatest effort has been made by the Russians to goad them into riotous conduct, but in vain. A passive resistance is all they have offered, but that has been very pronounced."

AN UNPROVOKED ASSAULT.

"Why, you would be astonished at the lengths to which the Russians have gone in this goading. I have seen, with my own eyes, offending citizens of Helsingfors whipped in the streets by Cossacks. A new conscription law, utterly at variance with our constitution, had been promulgated, but courts refused to recognize it, and

Colds Causes Pneumonia.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Gomer, Marion, Ind., who was cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and staining so weakened me that I lay down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies, but avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and reduced me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by Howard Gardner.

again in defiance of the constitution the honorable judges were dismissed. Pastors of churches who refused to read the law to their people were driven from their ministry. Then came the conscription. It was a beautiful, bright day in April, 1902, and a crowd of people had assembled in a public square to witness the function. There was not even a show of violence or disorder, and the crowd was dispersing, when, by order of the governor, a troop of Cossacks swept down upon the scene. The people, out of curiosity to see what the Cossacks had come for, turned around and came back. This was the signal for a charge upon them, and the cruel Cossack whips descended upon every one within reach—the aged and crippled, little children, helpless women, all were treated alike—till every one who saw the affair was sickened at heart."

"To what do you attribute the Russian determination to crush Finland?"

"To two causes. Primarily, the bureaucracy of the empire needed more offices, more salaries, more authority to distribute among its supporters. As long as Finland was governed by the Finns this expansion was out of the question, but the Czar was able, by the mere exercise of his despotic power, to sweep aside our constitutional reservations and put Russians into our high places, till six out of the nine provincial governors in Finland were Russians, and the three Finns left were mere minions of the autocracy."

"The second cause is, I suspect, a desire on Russia's part to use Finland as a base of operations against Sweden. She doubtless thinks that the Swedish affiliations of our higher classes, who number perhaps one-eighth of our population, would militate against her ambition, and is determined to strangle out authority."

PROCESS OF BANISHMENT.

"What sort of notice were you given of your own exile?"

"I was visited on the 23rd of April, 1903, at 7 o'clock in the morning, by the chief of police, who brought as his warrant a letter from the governor saying that the Czar had conferred upon the latter the right to order out of the country any person whose presence there was deemed by him perilous to good order, and that under this edict I was commanded to depart within five days, never to return, under pain of deportation to some place in Russia, where I would be compelled to stay under constant police surveillance. The letter was a document recalling in its style the infamous French letter de cachet. It was hektographed, with blanks left for the name of the victim, the number of days' notice, and the date of issue; these spaces were filled in by hand and in fresh ink."

"You were not the only sufferer?"

"Oh, no; there were scores of others, but I was the first exile. Some were banished in like manner; others were deported. Of late banishment has been quite superseded by deportation, which the government regards as safer for itself. An exile, you see, can go where he pleases outside of the Czar's dominions and talk as freely as I do. He can write for the press. He can also stir up affairs at home in a manner sometimes disquieting to the authorities. For example, at Darmstadt, Germany, when the Czar was there last fall a committee of exiles, with myself at the head, drew up a memorial to him, setting forth the facts of the Finnish situation. We did not obtain an audience with the Czar himself, but a minister of the court accepted our memorial for presentation to him, and I have reason to believe that it was duly delivered. Our paper was an answer to misrepresentations which M. de Plehve, the minister of the interior, who happens now to be at the front of affairs, had made in a recent publication. We feared that he had made the same misrepresentations to the Czar directly, and wished to counteract them while there was still an opportunity."

EVIL INFLUENCES IN THE GOVERNMENT.

"But how came a minister in attendance on the Czar to transmit to his majesty such a paper as this, practically accusing M. Plehve of lying?"

"He did so because he found nothing in it that was new; nothing that he did not know to be true. You must not suppose that the three men—Plehve, Korotki and Kuropatkin—who now are carrying everything with so high a hand, represent the intelligence and real weight of the Russian government. Their influence has overcome for the moment the influence of a large—very large—majority of the imperial council, but there are plenty of wise and intelligent men in the Russian government who feel no sympathy with the machinations of this trio. They know, as we do, that this man Plehve is not a statesman, but merely a big policeman, who believes in controlling the whole empire by terrorism, as he has hitherto managed unruly communities with his secret police and his gendarmes."

"What offense was alleged against you that caused your exile?"

"I have never learned. There is nothing in the form of the letter de cachet to allow for the statement of a charge. You are simply suspected—vaguely, perhaps, and of nothing in particular—and the first thing you know you are visited by a functionary with one of these orders, or a guard comes and carries you off to the place in Russia and Siberia to which you have been condemned without notice and without a hearing. In one instance of banishment which occurred soon after mine, the victim, being a former officer in a Russian troop of guards, instead of going to Western Europe or America, went simply to St. Petersburg for a visit to his old comrades. They received him cordially, and this very fact proved his undoing, for the police pounced upon him when they found it out, and arrested him again. They were, doubtless, fearful of a seditious influence proceeding from his renewed association with the army. I believe, however, that he was afterward released; I do not know where he is now."

CARRIED AWAY FROM THEIR HOMES.

"In a certain case of deportation two good and law-abiding citizens were snatched away from their homes and carried over into Russia, where they could not communicate with any one, as they were ignorant of the language. Here they were imprisoned a long time, with a soldier locked in the same room with them day and night and never letting them out of his sight for an instant. And all on mere unvoiced suspicion. Think of that, you who live in a free country, where, as in ours before this era of tyranny began, a man has to be accused and tried before he can be punished even for the most terrible of crimes!"

"You ask me about my own offending. As I said, I do not know what it was. But I was a member of the judiciary committee of a Diet which refused to sanction certain arbitrary and unconstitutional measures. Also my wife gave a private concert in aid of a fund for popular education, two years before my banishment. Into the midst of our guests strode the governor, with an order that the assembly disperse. I refused to submit tamely to the insult, and drove him out. He was Kagorikoff, a Russian who had no constitutional right to his governorship, and this was his public debut after taking his chair. Possibly the incident was cherished against me and nursed for two years—I do not know. It was the same Kagorikoff concerned in this who ordered the whipping of the people by the Cossacks a year later. He was sued for that last performance, but the only satisfaction thrown to the victims of his brutality was an imperial edict which forbade any appeal against the acts of such a functionary except by permission of superiors in office, and even that rule was made retroactive so as to protect this ruffian."

NEWS SECRETLY CIRCULATED.

"Are such things still going on in Finland?"

"Every day. Summary arrests, deportations on mere suspicion, domiciliary visits in midst of the night—these are what my unhappy countrymen are enduring. No man can guess from one hour to another whether he is safe. How do I know what is happening there? Here is a little newspaper—as you see, without a title or a heading, simply the date and the news—printed in small type on a sheet so soft and thin that it can be smuggled into and out of the proscribed communities without much danger of detection except through treachery. Patriotic citizens find it in their houses without knowing where it comes from. It reaches me regularly through channels known only to the publishers. This keeps all parts of Finland informed of what is going on in all other parts and tells us who are now without a country what is happening at our old homes."

In the opinion of Count Mannerheim there will be no change in present conditions till the people, through their attitude toward the Russian government in its hour of trouble, wrest from its authorities some permanent reforms. In that case he hopes that the exiles and the victims of deportation may be allowed to return. Meanwhile, he thinks it a duty to warn the people of other countries against placing their faith in the news dispatches from Russian sources representing the popular feeling as enthusiastically with the government in its war with Japan. Of Russia generally he has reason to believe that these stories are false; in the case of Finland he knows them to be.

Called Home to Japan.

Durham, March 9.—Mr. Hinohara, the Japanese student at Trinity, has received an order from his government to return to Japan to assist in the war with Russia. Before coming to this country Mr. Hinohara belonged to the reserve of the Japanese army and had his name transferred to the defensive roll. He is now needed. In a talk to the Woman's Foreign Mission Society of Main Street Methodist church he informed the members that he had been called home and would leave in a short while.

Two Killed in Street Duel.

Asheville, March 9.—A telephone message received here tonight from Marshall, Madison county, three miles from here, says that a desperate street duel was fought here this afternoon between Lou Wells, of this county; a man named Hagan, of this county; whose name could not be learned. Both Wells and Hagan were killed and the third man was seriously injured. The cause of the trouble is given as a long-standing quarrel between Wells and Hagan.

The Cheerful Liar.

She angrily: "Sir, I understand you said I had a face that would stop a clock."

He calmly: "So I did. Any well-regulated clock would pause and hold up its hands in admiration at the sight of your lovely face."

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

ARE YOU A TOBACCO MAN ?

IF YOU ARE IN BUSINESS FOR PROFIT and expect to make that profit you must keep informed of what is happening in the tobacco world. You must know what other tobacco men are doing and must be prepared to take immediate advantage of such knowledge. The keeps you informed of what is happening on every important tobacco market in the world. It enables you to sell your crops for higher prices because you know what other farmers are getting at other places. It enables you to grow better paying crops, because it tells you what kind of tobacco is in most demand. It keeps you informed so that every time there is a "slump" or a "rise" in the market you are well prepared.

The Merger Was Illegal.

Washington, March 14.—In the United States Supreme court today an opinion was delivered in the merger case of the Northern Securities Company vs. the United States in favor of the government's contention that the merger was illegal. The opinion of the court was handed down by Justice Harlan and it upheld the decree of the Circuit court for the district of Minnesota in every particular. Four of the justices dissented from the five, constituting the majority.

The division in the court was due to a difference of opinion as to the right of Federal control of state corporations. The majority opinion proceeded on the theory that Congress had a right under the constitution to control the interstate commerce, no matter by whom conducted, while the minority or dissenting opinion was based on the theory that in the present case the effort to regulate the ownership of railroad stocks by the state corporations and that such ownership is not interstate traffic.

Buffalo Bill Sues for Divorce.

Denver, March 12.—A petition of divorce filed in the district court of Big Horn county, Wyoming, January 9, last, by Col. Wm. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), has just been made public. The complaint charges cruelty and alleged that on December 25, 1900, Mrs. Cody attempted to poison the plaintiff. Another ground on which the plaintiff asks a decree is that the marital relation has been intolerable to him by his wife's refusal to entertain his friends at his former home in North Platte, Neb. Mrs. Cody, who is in North Platte, denies her husband's charges and will contest the suit. Col. and Mrs. Cody were married at St. Louis, March 6, 1896.

What a Former Citizen of Greensboro is Doing for Virginia.

Hon. G. W. Koerner, commissioner of agriculture of Virginia, has, during his term in office, sent information about Virginia throughout the West and Northwest, and he keeps up a correspondence with prospective settlers. It is said that it is almost an every-day occurrence for some westerner to enter Mr. Koerner's office, introduce himself as the man with whom the commissioner has been in correspondence, and then state that he had taken that officer's advice, and pulled up his stakes at his old home, and was now in Virginia for the purpose of buying a farm and locating permanently.

Smallpox Lawsuit.

Durham, March 11.—Suit has been brought against the board of county commissioners, Dr. N. M. Johnson, county health officer, and J. W. Allen, chairman of the board, by W. W. Colde, who claims that he was sent to the pest house without smallpox, and that by coming in contact with patients he contracted the disease. Papers in this suit were issued late this afternoon.

The Name Witch Hazel.

The name Witch Hazel is much abused. E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, are the inventors of the original and only genuine Witch Hazel Salve. A certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Eczema, Tetter, Piles, etc. There are many counterfeits of this salve, some of which are dangerous, while they are all worthless. In buying Witch Hazel salve see that the name E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, and a cure is certain. Sold by Howard Gardner.

Examining the Schools.

Prof. J. Y. Joyner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Raleigh; Prof. M. C. S. Noble, professor of pedagogy in the University at Chapel Hill; Prof. Foust, of the Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro, and Dr. Stevens at the A. and M. College, Raleigh, who compose the state board of examiners, are on a tour of inspection of the schools of the state.

Chicago Car Barns Burned.

Chicago, March 14.—The car barns of the Chicago Union Traction Company, on Blue Island avenue, were burned today. Six hundred summer cars were destroyed. The loss is $150,000.

State Superintendent Joyner says that over 700 free libraries for rural public schools have been established and that 300 more will be established this year. The law allows 500 supplementary libraries, to schools which were established under the laws of 1901. Of these less than 100 have been taken.

Additional Correspondence.

Center Items.

Miss Bessie Hodgkin closed her school here Saturday.

Mr. D. L. Hodgkin went to Snow Camp last week.

Aunt Sallie Hodgkin is getting about again after being indisposed by a fall.

There have been several auction sales of property lately and as usual things sold well.

Mrs. W. H. Allred was called to the bedside of her father near Gladesboro last week.

Owing to the continued cold and wet there has been practically no farm work done.

Mr. Jim Barker and a party were out again tormenting that much coveted fox Saturday.

Although there is not much being said about the mine here they still keep digging a hole in the ground.

Mr. N. C. Johnson was able to drive over to his sawmill here last Thursday. He has been confined to his home for some time by sickness.

Mr. J. E. Hockett is cutting his own timber this winter. He has about 100,000 feet stacked on the yard and thinks he is about half through.

A proposed public road running south from Climax via L. W. White's is causing some trouble at present. It is to be settled at Asheboro court next week.

The PATRIOT has been good for the last 18 months and we think all the readers have enjoyed it, but the political campaign is on now and all the newspapers will have to get in the boil, and, and—well, we dread it; don't you?

Company Mills Items.

The weather is moderating and the ground is drying off nicely.

Burning plant land and sowing tobacco seed is the order of the day.

Mr. Joseph Michael made a trip to the Greensboro nurseries last week and purchased a fine lot of trees.

Mr. Tommy Brown is building a new dwelling house. He is a prominent farmer from Rockingham county.

The public schools have all closed in this community except at the Black schoolhouse. They have a six months term there taught by Mr. D. E. Michael.

The community is in sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wyrick's little boy. While playing he was so unfortunate as to have two of his fingers cut off with an axe.

Mr. Andrew Apple had his horse stolen one night last week. After driving it about to Reidsville with a load of tobacco it was taken from one of the warehouse lots and was found next morning several miles from town, tied up.

Hinton Items.

Miss Nannie Scott is no better.

Prof. Clapp's school here closes next Thursday, the 17th.

Rev. S. M. Rankin filled his appointment at Springwood Sunday.

The health of this community has improved recently. There is no serious sickness here now.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Glass, of Greensboro, visited at Mr. C. C. Parker's Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Ernest Hobbs, who went West some time ago, has returned much wiser than when he left.

Ed and Arthur Hanner, of Greensboro, visited their parents here; Mr. and Mrs. John Hanner, recently.

This vicinity was well represented at the entertainment at Mt. Hope last Saturday. It was reported a success.

Superintendent R. C. Dick is progressing nicely with the macadam road work. His new camp here is nicely arranged for the comfort and care of the state convicts.

Battle Ground Items.

Mrs. W. R. McCuiston is on the sick list.

Sam Martin has been having chills the past week.

The school will close at Bennett school house the 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wray, of your city, visited the former's parents here Sunday.

Mr. J. W. Webb went to Pine Hall Saturday to spend a few days with his sister, Mrs. W. C. Paris.

COUGHED ALL NIGHT.

But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"A few mornings ago Mr. J. G. Smithman, a good citizen of this place, came to the store for a cough medicine," says Dr. C. N. Farnell, of Maplesville, Ala. "He was so hoarse that he could hardly talk and said he had coughed all the night before. I sold him a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and told him that if it did not relieve him he might bring the bottle back and get his money. I saw him the next morning carrying the bottle to the store where he works, and he told me it did him more good than any medicine he ever used." For sale by Conyers & Sykes.

Another Railroad Rumor.

Charlotte Chronicle.

A Chronicle reporter was informed today that Atlanta has been selected as headquarters for the general superintendent of the Southern Railway and that the office of General Superintendent McManus will be moved from Greensboro to that city within the next month or two. According to the report that has gained currency, the change will be made for the reason that Atlanta is considered a better location than Greensboro, the Atlanta city having more and better connection with the various lines of the system.

When the reporter approached an official of the Southern for a verification of the rumor, he learned of another report and that is to the effect that the office of the general superintendent may be moved to Washington. Mr. McManus was in Washington this week conferring with higher officials of the road, and it is possible that this gave rise to the rumor.

Happy, Healthy Children.

Any child can take Little Early Risers with perfect safety. They are harmless, never gripe or sicken, and yet they are so certain in results that robust constitutions requiring drastic means are never disappointed. They cannot fail to perform their mission and every one who uses DeWitt's Little Early Risers prefer them to all other pills. They cure biliousness. Sold by Howard Gardner.

While driving a buggy across the track of the Southern Railway, half a mile south of Linwood Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Robert McCrary, of Tyro, Davidson county, was instantly killed by the engine of the Southern's fast mail train, No. 97. Her daughter, Miss Lillian McCrary, who was in the buggy with her, was seriously injured and the chances seem to be against her recovery.

A Favorite Remedy for Babies.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with the mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. For sale by Conyers & Sykes.

Matters of Interest Reported by Our Corps of Correspondents.

Guilford College Items.

Base ball is now in the air and it is believed a strong team will be developed by practice.

On next Sunday we are to have the privilege of hearing Rev. H. M. Blair, of Greensboro. The college and community will heartily welcome him and Mrs. Blair.

A box of valuable books has just come as a donation from Joshua L. Bailey, who has made many valuable donations to the college within the past two years.

The graded school board held a meeting on Friday and decided that the length of the school this year would be six months. The attendance was good, the enrollment having gone over 100. The school is progressing with much satisfaction. It is proposed to dedicate the new building at the closing exercises of the term.

At the meeting of the trustees of the college on Tuesday last the report of Allen Jay's work for Guilford in Philadelphia and Baltimore was received, which showed a most successful trip. Many Philadelphia friends are manifesting much interest in Guilford and are contributing their means for increasing its power and usefulness.

Allen Jay held several meetings last week at the college in which his preaching made a deep impression on who heard him. His long experience in this country and in England as a preacher and his fine common sense and zeal fit him in a marked degree to speak to all classes of people. In England many years ago, the distinguished scholar and statesman, John Bright, was especially fond of hearing him preach the Gospel.

Severe colds and la grippe still prevail to a considerable extent.

Mr. Pinkney Cansey visited his mother at this place last week.

Mr. James Meadows, of Madison, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Nannie Lindley.

Prof. Wicker, of Elon College, spent Saturday night with Mr. McKaughn at this place.

Miss Ha Powell, of Greensboro, spent Sunday and Monday at Guilford College the guest of Mrs. Lee Smith.

Mr. Abram Mendenhall, of Providence, R. I., visited his sister, Mrs. Johnson, at this place last Sunday.

The nice spring days, with the warm flowers, during the past week are improving the appearance of wheat and corn.

Viola Reeves, a young daughter of Mr. Newton Reeves, who has been sick for some months past, died last Sunday evening.

Mr. G. W. Barbee has gone to Lexington to visit his son, Mr. Lacy L. Barbee, and recuperate for a short time from his recent sickness.

Mr. J. M. Johnson is again at his place as depot agent after a vacation of three months, during which time Mr. M. Blackburn filled his place.

Asthma

"My daughter had a terrible case of asthma. We tried almost everything, without relief. We then tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and three bottles cured her."—Emma Jane Linsinger, Langsville, O.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral certainly cures many cases of asthma. And it cures bronchitis, hoarseness, weak lungs, whooping-cough, croup, winter coughs, night coughs, hard colds. 25c., 50c., $1.00. All druggists.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, you must take it. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. He knows.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith have a new daughter at their home.

Mr. Hugh Russon, one of our aged members, is in feeble health.

Mr. G. L. Anthony, who has been sick with grippe, is out again.

Mr. C. F. Kirkman took a fine load of tobacco to Winston Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton McLean recently visited at Mr. W. H. Elliott's.

Misses Ida McCulloch and Virtie Sharp closed their schools last week.

Misses Tina Glass and Girtie Sharp spent part of last week with relatives in Greensboro.

Mr. Clark Kirkman, who has been in school at Raleigh, is at home on account of poor health.

Quite a number of our young folks went down to Mt. Hope Saturday. They report a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Coe have moved to Greensboro. Mr. Coe is one of the firm of Coe Brothers.

Miss Fannie Perdue, of Pleasant Garden, made a pleasant visit to friends at and near our place recently.

Mr. W. H. Reynolds and family recently visited Mrs. Reynolds' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Case at Oak Ridge.

Mrs. Chaffin, who has been boarding with Mr. J. A. Sharp this winter, will visit relatives in Greensboro next week.

Mr. T. R. Kirkman's little son, who has been very sick with pneumonia and pleurisy, is thought to be recovering.

Little Harry Taylor, who has been in the hospital at Greensboro, where he underwent a second operation, is recovering.

Messrs. W. C. Tucker, C. E. Glass and Duke Smith were in a fox chase last Saturday. The fox was captured near Climax.

Joe Hoffman and family attended a family reunion and birthday celebration last Monday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hoffman, near Brick Church.

Morial Sunday school elected the following new officers and teachers for the coming year: Superintendent, Ernest Sharp; assistant, Joe Hoffman; secretary and treasurer, Miss Mattie Coe; teachers, Mattie Coe, Verta Sharp and E. O. Pinkett; organist, Miss Verta Sharp.

Among our latest visitors, were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Frazier, Miss Eugenia Phillips, Miss Nannie Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Keith, Miss Lizzie Houston, Prof. D. P. Clapp, Mrs. J. H. Low, Millard Kirkman, S. J. Scott, Misses Velma, Annie, Mary and Sarah McCulloch, Miss Bula Kirkman.

ROANOKE MAYOR IN FIGHT.

Lost Whiskers and Had Arm Broken in Attack on Councilman.

Roanoke, Va., March 9.—Mayor Joel H. Cutchin and J. C. Page engaged in a street fight today, in which the former was badly wounded, and is now confined to his bed with a broken arm, a dislocated shoulder, and a badly bruised and cut face, together with the partial loss of a flowing beard. The fight occurred on the Market Square at an hour when many people were there, and directly in front of Mr. Page's place of business, and was precipitated by the mayor attacking Mr. Page with a heavy iron cane wrapped with leather, striking him several times with it over the head. Page grabbed him by his long, flowing whiskers with one hand and punched him in the face with the other.

After the combatants were separated, Page's nephew, W. T. Johnson, an eighteen-year-old boy, ran in and demanded to know who assaulted his uncle. Mayor Cutchin told him that he was the man, and, it is alleged, kicked the boy. The lad made a lunge at the mayor, striking him in the eye, knocking him down, the fall breaking his arm and dislocating his shoulder. He was attended at once by two physicians and was removed to his home.

Mr. Page was badly bruised about the face and eyes. The iron cane was bent over his head, but he was able to attend to business throughout the day. The mayor's attack is said to be due to the fact that Councilman Page offered a resolution in council last night, asking for an investigation of a statement sent out by the mayor—who is seeking re-election—to the effect that he had increased the city's revenues $20,000 annually since his incumbency. Mr. Page denounced the statement as untrue and charged the mayor with being a moral and financial failure throughout his lifetime.

Seidner's Message Told After 40 Years.

Witnessing W. Va. Special.

"Oh, I could die in peace; I could die in peace if I only were home with my wife and little children, but it is so hard to die here, far from home and among strangers."

Colonel Delaney, of Cobb's Georgia Legion, moaned these words nearly forty years ago as he lay dying in St. John's Hospital, Washington City. He had been found mortally wounded on a battlefield by Union soldiers, and had been taken, a prisoner, to the hospital.

You can live only a few hours," the surgeon told him on making his rounds one day. Calling to his side "Johnny" Wright, a boyish Union soldier recovering from a wound, Colonel Delaney said to him: "Read to me from the fourteenth chapter of St. John." The young soldier, a devout Christian, read the chapter to the wounded Confederate, and when he had finished the Colonel took from his pillow a daguerreotype of his wife and children and kissed it farewell for them. The end soon came. Years passed. The young soldier became a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church in Ohio, and in his sermons sometimes referred to the brave Confederate's death. He now lives at Ridgeport, Ohio, across the river from Wheeling. He had returned recently to find the address of the widow or relatives of Colonel Delaney, that he might tell them the details of the soldier's last moments.

He had a statement inserted in the Confederate Veteran, a paper published at Nashville. An eager reply came from Mrs. Hull, of Athens, Ga., a daughter of Colonel Delaney, asking for the particulars of her father's death. They had never heard, she said, and she years had tried in vain to learn more than that he had been killed in battle.

And now in a Georgia home there is a letter that will be handed down from generation to another. It is the minister's reply, and it tells how a brave Confederate died.

Kitchin's Speech the Best of Many.

Witnessing Post.

Washington, March 9.—Scenes were enacted in the House today which seven times boded on the sensational when Republicans and Democrats met with one another in denouncing the so-called Bristol report, which mentioned the names of 107 members who are said to have exercised some influence with the department in securing increased allowances for clerk hire for postmasters. All consideration of local interest is waived when it is said that the best speech made on either side of the House was that of Representative W. W. Kitchin, General Grovernor of Ohio, who followed Mr. Kitchin, said as much in two or three references to the speech of the North Carolina member. General Grovernor declared that Mr. Kitchin told the whole story when he had said that the report was little else than a store house of ammunition for blackguards and backbiters who might some day seek to injure members whose names were mentioned, because everybody might not have an opportunity to become acquainted with all the circumstances. On the other hand, General Grovernor said, amid applause, he had the attitude of confidence assumed on the North Carolina member, who had said that people who knew him would be influenced by the mention of his name in such a connection.

Mr. Klutz will speak tomorrow and will take occasion to explain the relation which Senator Overman and ex-Secretary Pritchard had with the department. Justice Pritchard has been accused by the net of the department in mentioning his name in the report, and particularly in view of the fact that the postoffice grafters have just been tried in his court. Justice Pritchard discussed the subject today with some of the members.

18 Years Old and Weighs 26 Pounds.

Witnessing W. Va. Special.

A Letter From the Philippines.

EDITOR PATRIOT: It is through the columns of your widely circulated paper that I shall try to give to my friends a brief description of our new possessions in the Orient.

This is a lovely country. The soil is very fertile, producing large crops of rice, potatoes and coffee. Tobacco is also a very important industry.

Numerous mountains break the monotony of the great plains, which reminds one of the lofty peaks in our native land. The mountains are covered with heavy timber, which consists of teak, mahogany, bamboo, rosewood and every kind of fruit which can be found in a tropical country, among which might be mentioned the banana, coconut, orange, lemon, breadfruit, papaya, etc.

The principal cities are Manila, on the island of Luzon; Zamboanga, on the island of Mindanao; and Sulu on the island of Sulu, which is the home of the treacherous Moro race.

The inhabitants of Luzon are far superior in every respect to the inhabitants of the other islands. The Moros of Sulu are very treacherous and warlike. The chief ruler is called a "Sultan," and under him are sub-rulers or "Datus," as they are called. They do most of the fighting. One of the said Datus, by the name of Paulina Hassan, won our admiration in his heroic efforts in trying to subdue the Americans, but proud to say his efforts were all in vain. With 8,000 followers he defied the U. S. forces to land near his estate or fort, but the 25th, 26th and 17th U. S. Infantry, the 14th U. S. Cavalry, 17th and 18th Batteries of Light Artillery on board the "Lis-um," "Legaspi" and "Polawon," backed by an armored cruiser, the "Albatross," sailed into his bay in the dead of night, and while Paulina, the most powerful warrior of the Moro race, and the terror of the Spaniards, slept in peaceful security, Gen. Wood landed his boys in blue. When the Moros awoke, the American cannons looked down upon them from a hill, while in the valley the cavalry, whose horses seemed to smell danger in the air, and the infantry, whose bayonets glistened in the sunlight, waited patiently for the word that was to seal forever the earthly career of the proud head of the great Moro chief should be humbled in the dust. And the stars and stripes float in triumph from the walls of the fort. The story is the same. By four o'clock in the afternoon about five hundred Moro warriors were dead upon the hard-fought field. One poor American soldier of A Troop 14th Cavalry lost his life; one officer was wounded and several privates, but this was about the extent of our loss.

But, Mr. Editor, not to tire your readers with this poor letter, I will close and trust that the politicians of the great United States will soon settle the P. I. controversies.

IN MEMORIAM.

CARRIE CUMMINGS BROWN.

On February 27th last Mrs. Carrie Cummings Brown, one of our good sisters, was laid to rest at Guilford College, having died on Thursday, Feb. 25, 1904. She was born October 18, 1844, and was married to Mr. James W. Brown October 30, 1873. In her death the community in which she lived has lost one of its best and most consistent Christians. Not only did she live a life marked for its usefulness from a womanly standpoint in her home and in her church and in the W. C. T. society, of which she had been an active member for several years, but her influence was felt from many other sources. She was well read, informed of and conversant with the current topics of the day in business and political matters, having a desire that the prevailing influence in both should result in the general good of the country. She was not one whose star of brilliancy suddenly appeared and dazzled with its lumination for a day then as suddenly disappeared, but she was a type of the good sturdy Christian woman whose consistency, sterling worth and hardness of character had developed as the years increased. Her death is greatly felt and lamented by her many friends, yet we feel that as she put her trust in the beloved Saviour that our loss has been her gain, for she has gone to that house of many mansions prepared for us all and to receive that blessing, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." The faithful and untiring devotion of Bro. Brown to his wife was a beautiful demonstration of the highest Christian character, and he has in this bereavement the sympathy and prayers of his many friends.

March 9, 1904. X.

JAMES H. FORBIS.

James H. Forbis died at his home in Richmond county, N. C., February 2nd, 1904, in the 78th year of his age. His health for years had been very feeble, but he was still able to get about until about two months ago, when he was stricken down and grew gradually worse. He suffered a great deal before his death. He has many friends in this county, as he was raised near Alamance church and taught many successful schools here, leaving this county about forty years ago. He had since made his home in Richmond county. He was a member and an elder of the Presbyterian church for a number of years. He is survived by a wife and three children, a stepmother and four sisters. May God comfort the bereaved ones.

A FRIEND.

The Populists in 1904.

Both wings of the Populist party, known as the National People's Party and the Middle of the Road Populists, have agreed upon a reunion and have planned to nominate a national ticket this year, with the specific understanding that none but Populists shall be named and that there shall be no alliance or fusion with any other party. It is difficult at this time to estimate the strength that may be mustered by this organization. Populism has little strength today in the states that were normally Republican before the Populist upheaval in 1892. Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, and other Western states have returned to the Republican ranks. In the South and Southwest conditions are radically different. There the Populist were drawn from the Democratic ranks, and there is a wide breach between the Demopopulist of the Bryan school and the old-line Democrats. This is reflected in the operation in a number of Southern states to the nomination of Grover Cleveland by the Democratic convention in St. Louis.

Charlotte and High Point Depots.

The North Carolina corporation commission has issued an order postponing the hearing of the exceptions by the Seaboard Air Line and the Southern Railway companies to the commission for the building of a union station in Charlotte. The hearing was to have been on March 9th, but at the request of the railroad companies it will not be until the 29th.

Chairman Franklin McNeil and Commissioner Beddingfield went to High Point last week for the purpose of making an official investigation into the complaints being made by citizens regarding the freight and passenger depot service there. It will be remembered that the complaint is that the Southern Railway has a new and thoroughly adequate freight station just completed which they persist in refusing to open until some matter in litigation is settled. And that the passenger station is anything but adequate to the requirements of the traveling public at that place.

Irrigation in Arizona.

The Census Bureau has issued a report on irrigation in Arizona in 1902, showing 247,250 acres irrigated, an increase of over 33 per cent. since 1899. The 781 systems in operation there represent a total construction cost of $4,688,288, and an average cost per irrigated acre of almost $19, against about $24 in 1899.

Madame Patti suddenly cancelled her contracts last week and returned to Europe. Her American tour was a disappointment in more than one respect.

The Pace That Tells.

In the six day bicycle races the pace tells terribly at the end. Man after man falls out exhausted. The victor wobbles wearily over the line. In the business race it's the same. Man after man drops out exhausted. The successful man is often a dyspeptic, unable to enjoy success. When the stomach is diseased there is not enough nutrition assimilated to sustain the body and repair the daily waste of tissues. The result is weakness, tending to collapse.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food by which the body is built up with sound, healthy flesh.

"I have taken one bottle of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for indigestion and liver complaint," writes Mr. C. M. Wilson, of Madison College, Davidson Co., N. C. "I have had no bad effects since I commenced taking your medicine—in fact, have not felt like the same man. Before I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I could not eat anything without awful distress, but now I can eat anything I wish without having unpleasant feelings. Last summer our baby was teething and was so poor he was almost a skeleton. We gave him your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and now he is as healthy and well as any child. I will speak a good word for your medicine whenever I have an opportunity."

CHRONIC SORES

Signs of Polluted Blood.

There is nothing so repulsive looking and disgusting as an old sore. You worry over it till the brain grows weary and work with it until the patience is exhausted, and the very sight of the old festering, sickly looking place makes you irritable, despondent and desperate.

A chronic sore is the very best evidence that your blood is in an unhealthy and impoverished condition, that your constitution is breaking down under the effects of some serious disorder. The taking of strong medicines, like mercury or potash, will sometimes so pollute and vitiate the blood and impair the general system that the merest scratch or bruise results in obstinate non-healing sores of the most offensive character.

Often an inherited taint breaks out in frightful eating sores upon the limbs or face in old age or middle life. Whenever a sore refuses to heal the blood is always at fault, and, while antiseptic washes, salves, soaps and powders can do much to keep down the inflammation and cleanse the sore, it will never heal permanently till the blood itself has been purified and the deadly germs and poisons destroyed, and with S. S. S. this can be accomplished—the polluted blood is purified and invigorated, and when rich, pure blood is again circulating freely throughout the body the flesh around the old sore begins to take on a natural color, the discharge of matter ceases and the place heals over.

S. S. S. is both a blood purifier and tonic that puts your blood in order and at the same time tones up the system and builds up the general health.

If you have a chronic sore write us. No charge for medical advice.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Gorman News Bureau, Raleigh, N. C., Mar. 14, 1904.

The Democratic state committee meets in this city Thursday of this week, March 17, at which time the place and date of holding the state convention this year will be determined. I am informed that the committee will also be called upon to consider a proposition to order a state primary for the nomination of a candidate for governor. This proposal will be made by some of the friends of one of the four avowed candidates now in the field, who has expressed his preference for a primary instead of the usual convention. As neither of the other three candidates will join in this request for a departure from the usual custom and established order of things, it is thought that the primary will not be ordered. Friends of the other gentlemen tell me that they would have no objection to a primary, although it would be an innovation, if there was any special demand for it on the part of the Democratic masses, or if any other important reasons for the change could be advanced. In the absence of such reasons they see no necessity of joining in the request of Mr. Glenn and his friends.

HEAD ENOUGH OF "STATE PRIMARIES."

A leading Democratic politician, who is not championing the cause of either of the aspirants for governor, had the following to say, when the proposition, when his opinion was asked today:

"The experience we got out of the senatorial primary of 1900 ought to forever settle the primary question with the Democratic party of North Carolina. It caused more hard feelings between political brethren, alienated more personal friendships, did more to injure the party organization, and played the devil generally more disastrously than all the political conventions of the party held within a quarter of a century. I haven't got the bad taste of it entirely out of my mouth yet, and I certainly do not want to see another one like it soon."

"We have already got enough disension inside the party organization at this particular time, and it would be the height of folly to invite more of it during this election year. I take it that the great majority of the state committee are acquainted with the true situation, and I have no idea that the committee will order a primary."

A number of the friends of Major Steadman were here on business last week. They all expressed confidence in the ability of their man to secure the gubernatorial nomination, and declared that he is stronger now than he has been at any time in the past.

The quiet confidence and sanguine words of Lieut. Governor Turner's friends are also a notable feature of the present canvass.

VARIOUS MATTERS OF INTEREST.

A representative of Hon. W. R. Hearst, the New York newspaper man, congressman, multi-millionaire, etc., who aspires to the Democratic nomination for President, was in Raleigh last week and had a conference with several prominent North Carolina Democrats, including two or three who were here from other sections of the state. The gentleman's name is M. F. Thomsen, and he is said to be one of the managers of Mr. Hearst's candidacy and campaign headquarters in New York city; also prominently identified with Mr. Hearst's newspapers. He was accompanied by Mr. Whitehead Klutz, son of the Eighth district congressman, and who was last year given a position in the Washington bureau of the Hearst papers. Mr. Thomsen's business in North Carolina was to look after securing delegates for his man to the St. Louis convention from this state.

The A. & N. C. railroad lease matter will come up next Thursday in this city before Judge Simonon, of the U. S. Circuit court, in the application of the state to set aside Judge Purnell's order appointing V. E. McFee, receiver, etc. In this connection it is of interest to note that a dispatch from Richmond says the Atlantic Coast Line is about to begin an extension of its line from Washington, N. C., to New Bern. Receiver McFee on Saturday removed General Superintendent Dill, who has been with the A. & N. C. road for thirty years. Mr. McFee will fill that position himself for the present. The prevailing opinion here is that the present muddle will result in a lease of the road on advantageous terms to the state. But it is said that Gov. Aycock will decline to act in the matter until the present contention is definitely settled, although he could go ahead and lease the property now if he chose to do so.

Ex-Gov. Russell, who was at the point of death several days last week in a hospital at Baltimore, is reported today to be now on the road to a final recovery from the operation recently performed.

The rates are certainly against the distillers and sellers of liquor of North Carolina in this year of grace. Following the recent decision of the Supreme court, and therefore making it unlawful to ship liquor to any county or town where its sale is prohibited from any other point in this state, now comes another contention which, if upheld by the courts, will deal the liquor traffic the hardest blow it has yet received.

It is now claimed by some that under the new law no liquor can be shipped by distillers or dealers licensed in other counties to any town or point in another county, unless such distillers and dealers shall first take out a license in every county and incorporated town to which they desire to make such shipments. Meaning, of course, those counties where prohibition does not prevail. The new law and the Supreme court expressly say that the place of delivery is the place of sale. Therefore, how can a distiller in Nash or Yadkin counties sell brandy and whiskey in the "wet" towns of Salisbury or Wilmington, by shipping it to private parties who order it, or even to tavern keepers, if the Nash and Yadkin distillers have no license to sell in those and New Hanover? Looks like about the only way to get it there lawfully would be for the purchaser to go after the stuff in person and then ship it to himself. Or else order from some one outside the state.

"They say" cotton may go higher this week. May be so; and it may drop lower again before you know it. If I had any left on hand the sixteen cents bid for it this morning would get every pound I had, and I'd say "Thank you, sir," besides.

Race Hatred in Ohio.

Washington Post.

Altogether the most ominous feature of the lynching at Springfield, Ohio, is the disclosure of deep-seated race prejudice and hatred which characterized it. Lynching is hideous enough, even in its simplest aspects, but when the killing of the ostensible offender is attended by an outburst of murderous animosity against the entire negro colony it attains the proportions of an all-permeating calamity. No matter how completely we may condemn and abhor the lawless destruction of a human life, it is still possible to imagine the infuriation provoked by some particularly fiendish crime. But when this appalling outburst of mob violence is followed by a demonstration of general and comprehensive passion for massacre, one stands aghast at the horror and the barbarity of the spectacle.

These frightful phenomena nearly always attend a lynching at the North. They never do at the South. In Alabama or Mississippi, Arkansas or Carolina, they catch the culprit, or the supposed culprit, and put him to death—often under circumstances of unspeakable horror. But there the matter ends. No carnival of butchery ensues. No outbreak of race hatred and persecution is provoked. The criminal is executed, and that is all. In Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Delaware, and other northern states the lynching is merely the spark that leads to the explosion. In almost every instance the mob whets its appetite for slaughter and devastation on the initial sacrifice. It is only too plain that the lynchers seek the extermination of the negroes, and use the lynching as a pretext. The question is not that of punishing some individual offender, however cruelly, but killing every member of the race within reach.

What, we have often asked ourselves, can be the explanation of this appalling tendency? It cannot be that the negroes in Ohio or Pennsylvania are worse than the negroes in Virginia or Texas. It is inconceivable that Northern people hate them as savagely as these demonstrations would seem to imply. But if neither of these hypotheses will serve, how are we to account for such a savage and insensate fury as has just possessed the white people of Springfield, Ohio? A press report, published in yesterday's afternoon newspapers, says that practically the entire white population was in sympathy with the mob. "Many of Springfield's best people have participated." "The end is not yet." &c. In other words, public sentiment approved not only the lynching of the wretched negro murderer, but encouraged and promoted the movement against the whole negro colony. The revolver and the torch had the sympathy of the community. A slumbering, but bitter, hatred woke, and took the form of universal massacre and indiscriminate extermination.

Of course, there must be a reason for all these ghastly and abominable things. We are told that the negro should be educated, and assured that the race problem, as they call it, will receive its solution by that means. The South is reproached and denounced on the assumption that it does not educate sufficiently. The North, from an eminence of superior virtue and wisdom, invites inspection and imitation of its more righteous methods and its finer civilization. But the Springfield problem remains. Who will resolve it for us?

The Bryan Black List.

Louisville Courier-Journal, 11th.

Mr. Bryan comes out in this week's Commoner in disparagement of Judge Parker, of New York. Hitherto he has left the Judge out of his black-list. Hereafter Democrats are given to understand that they must not consider Judge Parker as a possible presidential nominee under Mr. Bryan's serious displeasure.

Mr. Bryan spotted Mr. Gorman long ago. Then Mr. Olney. Then Judge Gray. He will none of Carter Harrison. His slate, therefore carries only two names which the party has his leave to choose from. Mr. Hearst, and some unknown celebrity in North or South Carolina, whose name, we confess, has wholly escaped our memory. Yet are there those who think Mr. Bryan a well-wisher of Democracy. There are those who believe him a true Democrat. If ever a man started out deliberately to destroy a party—to recoup and revenge himself for two successive defeats—to make it impossible for that party to elect anybody, as Mr. Bryan doing this every day in the week and every hour in the day. On this point there cannot be two opinions among intelligent men.

Murderer Walked Out of Jail.

Newton, March 10.—Charley Campbell, the slayer of Sam Pearson, who has been in Newton jail for safe keeping, escaped from prison this evening just after dark. Since his confinement Campbell has been pretending to be sick and the vigilance of the authorities has been relaxed. Campbell's wife had been allowed to remain with him during his sickness and the door of the corridor was seldom kept locked. Campbell's brother was in town today. Campbell walked out of jail, and it is presumed that he has joined his brother. The details of the killing of Pearson are well known, it being regarded as murder in cold blood.

Died in the Woods.

Washington, N. C., March 11.—The body of Joseph J. Sermons, who disappeared mysteriously from near the town of Bath, this county, last Sunday night, was found yesterday afternoon. A party of over one hundred men had been searching for Sermons for three days. When found he was sitting between the fork of two gum trees about one hundred yards behind his field. The six hundred dollars that it was alleged disappeared with him was found on his person, being located in his pocket. The surmise is that after Sermons left the house of a Mr. Swindell Sunday night he wandered about, he knew not where, until he became exhausted and then died.

TORN TO PIECES BY A BLAST.

Virgil Jester Dies From Injuries Received in a Shocking Accident at a Quarry.

High Point, March 12.—One of the most horrible accidents, for the victim to live hours afterwards and be partly conscious, happened one mile from town this afternoon at about half past two o'clock. Virgil Jester, a young man 18 years old, was literally torn to pieces by a blast.

It was while the force of hands engaged in improving the roads were blasting at the bridge on the Archdale road, near town, the terrible accident took place. A blast had been prepared by young Jester but did not go off. His father, William Jester, and Mr. Steele had also prepared two junk holes. After going off Jester's father and S. W. Carroll were engaged in pulling the wire up to the battery thinking all had gone; but at the same time young Jester, thinking that it was his blast that had gone off, was at the hole, when the unfortunate explosion took place. Young Jester was found near the hole with his left leg pinioned by a rock weighing about one thousand pounds, his right arm torn completely off, back badly torn, one eye blown out and several great holes in his head and forehead, with brains oozing out in places. In fact most of his head and body discernible were mangled almost into a jelly. Yet strange to relate he murmured rational remarks from a bleeding and torn tongue and mouth.

He was brought to the office of Dr. Stanton here about 4 o'clock, where it was seen at once that it was a hopeless case. Around him stood his mother and father in deepest gloom and solitude. Her mother-heart broken at the untimely approaching end of her boy's life, the father frantic with grief because (while not in the least at fault) he by his own hands had ushered his son into eternity.

HEROISM OF A BROTHER.

High Point, March 13.—The young man, Virgil Jester, so horribly mutilated by a dynamite explosion, and who died last night, was buried this afternoon. One of the nerviest little boys the writer ever saw is a younger brother of Jester. After the accident it was Mr. S. W. Carroll and he who first reached the wounded man, and with a nerve that would have failed most young boys he helped to gather the torn and horribly mutilated body of his brother and place it in a wagon, holding the shattered head in his lap on the way to the doctor's office, and for three long hours he stood at the head of his brother and gently soothed his feverish head and restrained him from getting up. Stout, brave men who viewed the body could only look for a while, so ghastly was the sight. Yet this young man stood through it all like a little hero, and was gazing earnestly and sympathetically in the eyes of his beloved brother when dissolution took place.

Man Up a Tree Shot.

Durham, March 11.—F. Kirk, a farmer living six miles from Durham, was painfully wounded late last night by his brother. The two brothers were fishing when their dog treed an opossum. One brother went to the dog and was soon followed by the other. In the meantime the first Kirk had gone up the tree, and when the latter arrived he shot him out of the tree with a rifle. While painful the wound is not serious. The brother who used the rifle thought he was shooting some kind of wild animal.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers. They filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

TALMAGE SERMON

By Rev.
FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D.D.,
Pastor of Jefferson Park Presbyterian Church, Chicago

Los Angeles, Cal., March 13.—This sermon is a good natured rebuke to the prevalent lack of decorum among the worshippers in our American churches, and a plea for the observance of a certain reasonable etiquette, equal at least to that which we observe in our worldly relations. The text is 1 Timothy iii, 15. "That thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God."

Are you a parent? Have you ever dressed up your little children and sent them forth alone to visit when they were about ten or twelve years of age? Then you have known the etiquette of a mother or father as to their social behavior. Before they go out you say: "Now, son, be careful about your manners. When you enter Mrs. So-and-so's home take off your hat and place it upon the hall rack. Be careful and don't handle the vases in the parlor, and don't squirm on your chair. When you are at dinner be sure and keep your hands off the table, and don't spill the food upon the tablecloth, and don't ask for a second helping of anything or talk with your mouth full. When Mrs. So-and-so passes you a plate say 'Thank you.' Remember, my boy, that your mother's home is to be judged by your table manners." When the child leaves the house your mind follows him and stays with him all day long. And, oh, the pride that sweeps into the parental heart when, next day, you meet your friend, at whose home your little children dined, and she congratulates you in these words: "We had such a lovely children's party yesterday. And Mrs. So-and-so, I want to tell you how well your children behaved. Your boy was a perfect little gentleman, and your daughter a little lady." Ah, such congratulation as that is as a sweet savor to the maternal heart.

Refinement in the Church.
If refined social manners are essential in the home, they are equally important in the house of God. So essential are they to a consecrated Christian life that Paul wrote a long epistle to his young friend Timothy, concerning them. In this letter, wherein are found the words of the text, the great apostle tells how bishops and their wives should act, and also how deacons and deaconesses should behave. Instead of my showing how our ministers and church officers should behave in the house of God, I would preach a sermon on church manners directly to the pew. I would try to inculcate the reverential spirit with which our congregations should assemble for worship. I would try to teach this reverence because more and more in this irreverent age there is a tendency to look upon church buildings as places fitted for secular enjoyments rather than as sanctuaries consecrated to the presence of Jesus Christ. "The Lord loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob." No man ought to place foot in God's sanctuary unless he can do it with the solemn feeling of Habakkuk, who declared, "The Lord is in his holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before him."

First the church building is the trying place where God promises to meet his children at certain times. That means it is a place of rendezvous, where you have an appointment to commune with Christ at least twice every Sunday and perhaps once or twice during the week. One inference from that fact is that when a congregation assembles on the Sabbath day the worshippers should always be on time and be ready to lift their voices in praise at the first word of the first line of the doxology, as well as with bending head to listen to the last word of the last line of the benediction.

We once read how a young artist lost an opportunity to win immortal fame by not being on time. He had an appointment with Queen Victoria at 10 a. m. to paint her picture, and he delayed his coming until ten minutes after 10. The result was the British queen was gone and, as far as his opportunity was concerned, gone forever. In a spiritual way many a church member has lost a great opportunity for spiritual blessing by not being on time at the beginning of a church service. God does not turn his back upon his repentant children as did the earthly queen upon the young artist, but we may be sure that he marks the implied lack of respect which is indicated by chronic tardiness and habitual unpunctuality, and that many a blessing is lost thereby.

Tardiness Disrespectful.
There is not one tardy church member in a thousand who would show the implied disrespect in not keeping an appointment with an earthly ruler which they frequently show to their Heavenly King. Suppose we should take a trip east and stop in the capital at Washington. Suppose while sojourning there one of the California senators or congressmen or a member of the cabinet made an appointment for us with the president of the United States. Suppose that a polite note was sent to us by the president's private secretary informing us that we might be received tomorrow morning at the White House at 11 o'clock. What would we do? Would we sit up tonight until very late, as some of us are accustomed to do every Saturday night? Would we arise very late tomorrow morning, about half past 9, and have breakfast about 10 o'clock, as some of us are accustomed to do every Sunday morning? Then when the clock's minute hand is pointing to a quarter of 11 would we start to dress and at the last moment turn the house upside down and empty all the bureau drawers because we could not find our gloves or hatpins or a clean handkerchief, as some of us are accustomed to do every Sunday morning? Then would we rush across Lafayette square over to the White House and get there twenty minutes late, as some of us regularly and systematically always come to the church service late, where we are to meet God?

Respect the Head of the Temple.
Oh, no! That is not the way we should act if we had an appointment with the president tomorrow morning. We would positively see that our clothes were all right before we went to sleep tonight. Then we would go to bed early, so that our minds would be clear and alert, and we could remember all that the president might say. We would not only be on time, but a little ahead of time. At ten minutes of 11, instead of ten minutes after 11 o'clock, we would be standing before the president's private secretary presenting our cards for an audience with the chief executive of the American people. In the same way if you wish to get your chief spiritual blessings from Christ you must keep your tryst with him. You must start your public worship on time. You must, in your church manners at least, show to your Heavenly King the same respect you would accord to an earthly potentate. A spiritually live church is one whose worshippers always assemble on time. One of the surest signs of a spiritually dead church is the tardiness of the church members, who always expect their seats to be saved until at least the second hymn has been sung, and often until the collection plate has been passed. The pews should be filled on time, just as the organist at the hour sharp should be in her place at the ivory keys and the minister in his place behind the sacred pulpit.

Behaving yourself aright in church implies a second act, which is just as important as promptness at church service. A church member should be in his place when the service starts as surely as he should be at his seat when the train starts. But he should do more than sit down when the minister takes his place. He should, first of all, kneel and render obeisance and homage to the Heavenly Father, whose trust he, the worshiper, has come to keep. The very first act of a guest in a home is to go and pay his respects to the host or hostess. The very first act of a worshiper should perform when in church is to pay his respects to the Christ, who, in a spiritual sense, is the head of the temple in which the church member has come to worship.

Church No Place for Levity.
The Episcopalian rector begins his service in this wise: "Lord, I have loved the habitation of thy house and the place where thine honor dwelleth." When we enter the house of God, do we one and all feel that we are coming into the presence of the Lord? If we do, would we come laughing and talking and nodding to each other like a lot of schoolgirls entering their class room? If we do, would there be so much whispering among the members, both in the pews and in the back of the church? If we do, would there be so much turning around to watch others who happen to come in late, and a disposition to laugh when anything goes wrong? People who have visited European courts write that there the king is first and last in the thoughts of all the waiting courtiers. As soon as the king enters the room, all the waiting nobles arise and bow. When the king speaks, the waiting nobles listen. When a messenger enters, he not only kneels, but when he leaves the throne room he never turns his back upon the seated king. When we enter the sanctuary of God, which is filled with the presence of God, do we bow as before a king? Do we try to keep our face always toward the divine face? Do we earnestly try to make the prayers of the psalmist our prayer? "Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be always acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my Redeemer." The church of God ought to be something more sacred than a concert hall or a theater. It ought to be a place where a joke and a cabination and a clatter should be just as much out of place as a minstrel show would be at a funeral, by the easket of the dead.

In the House of God.
O man and woman, ever keep the face of Jesus Christ before you when you are in the house of God! Every church building dedicated to the worship of God is in very truth his house, in which his presence is manifested as surely, though not so visibly, as in the Shekinah of the tabernacle. Always enter the house of God in the same spirit that the little child of Rev. Charles T. Brady, an American missionary, showed when he entered a great European cathedral. The father was compelled to return to his boarding place for something he had forgotten. He left his little boy in the nave of the church to await his return. When the father came back he found his child standing in the middle of the great church in awe, looking around as though he was expecting some one. The mellow sunlight streaming through the stained glass windows fell upon his curly head and made him look like a little angel. When the child heard his father's returning footsteps he turned his inquiring eyes upon his parent and said: "Papa, where is Jesus? Where is Jesus?" Childlike, he felt that the house of God implied the presence of Christ. So, with childlike faith, when we assemble to worship Christ, we must come with this holy question upon our lips: "Where is Jesus? Where is Jesus?" If we come in such a spirit a great deal of the irreverence exhibited by some of our modern congregations would forever cease.

Behaving oneself aright in church implies not only due respect to the four walls of the edifice or to the habitation of the divine presence, but also due respect to God's ministers who preach in the sacred pulpit and due respect to God's musicians who sing in the church choirs. When the members of a church choir arise to sing the praises of God they become part of that mighty host who in every Christian land on earth and in the heavenly mansions are occupied with the same theme. When the minister rises to preach he comes as a messenger from God to utter the words that the Holy Spirit has commissioned him to speak. The truly consecrated Christian minister is a representative of the Most High and is entitled to the deference that was paid to the representatives of the European kings when they entered the United States senate and were given the foremost seats, as I saw them file in when Vice President Garret A. Hobart took the oath of office preceding the inauguration of President McKinley. They were not welcomed as men. They were honored in their official capacities as personal representatives of the British, the German, the Italian, the Russian and the Austrian thrones. Never forget when you criticize the preacher's message that you may be criticizing the very words that God has given him to deliver to you.

Avoid Flippant Criticism.
Honor God's representatives in the Christian pulpit and in the Christian choir loft if you would honor Christ in the church. Mr. Champion, the botanist, tells us that in his explorations through Panama some of the most beautiful flowers growing there immediately die and become withered, shriveled, brownish weeds as soon as plucked by the human hand. The beautiful truths of the gospel as floral treasures will lose their power to help and serve us if with rude, irreverent hands they are torn from the pulpit and choir loft and submitted to harsh and flippant criticism. The ministering hands of the church service, scattering the good seed which may be sown in our sinful hearts, may not be perfect hands; but, for the time being at least, such hands should be considered as representing the hand of God. John McNeill, the Scottish evangelist, in a late address illustrated the importance of the respect which should be shown in churches to God's ministers as his representatives. He said, "One of the greatest powers of spiritual strength which came to Scotland in the days that are gone was due entirely to the respect which the Scottish congregations gave to their Scottish pastors." When all Edinburgh went forth with tears and lamentations to bury Thomas Chalmers the people did not feel they were honoring Thomas Chalmers so much as the Christ of whom he was the earthly representative.

"Not criticize the church music or the minister's preaching! Why," some one says, "that is almost an impossibility. Some church choirs smash every law of musical harmony. Some ministers are absolutely stupid. They are impracticable men—men of no force, without any two logical, consecutive thoughts." That is true, my brother. Some choirs are noted more for their discord than their musical perfection. Some ministers' mental depth it does not take a very long line to fathom. But I can give you this as my own personal experience—I never entered any church with the spirit of God in my heart, to try to consider the leaders of that service, God's representatives, without receiving great spiritual good out of that service. In contrast to this statement I never entered a church building with the spirit of criticism in my heart but I found something to criticize about the minister and the service before I got through with it, and, furthermore, when I did enter a service in the spirit of criticism I always found that I received more harm from that service than good. If William E. Gladstone, with the greatest brain in all England, could sit Sunday after Sunday in the little church of Haverden and get spiritual food from young, inexperienced rectors who came there to break for him the "bread of life," surely you can afford to honor the ministers of Jesus Christ as God's representatives.

Respect God's Presence.
But behaving yourself aright in church implies not only due respect to God's presence, in whose sanctuary you assemble, and to his representatives there, but also due respect to the strangers who come in to worship with you at your church altars. It not only means that we should bow before God's altars and in reverent tones say, "Our Father," but it also means that we should give a warm, loving, Christian welcome to God's children who would sit by our side. It means that no church is a consecrated Christian church unless all the men and women alike, whether clothed in silk or in homespun, whether rich or poor, whether master or servant, shall be cordially greeted with an open church door and an open church pew.

Christian etiquette should run exactly along parallel lines with social etiquette. Suppose I am invited to your home to visit for a week. Supposing at this country house party you should have ten or fifteen guests, including some of your own children. Supposing at this house party I should be rude to one of your guests or make fun of your old mother because she murdered the king's English or because she once did her own washing. What would you do? Would you consider me one of your friends? Would you say, "Well, if you don't like my mother or my children I will turn them out of doors in order that you may feel a little happier?" Oh, no; you would rather say: "What is good enough for my mother and my children is good enough for you when you are in my house. When you are rude to my kith and kin and loved ones, then you dishonor me." So the members of a congregation cannot honor God unless at the same time they are ready to welcome and honor all of God's children, no matter to what social caste they may belong.

Honor the Church.
But, though Christian etiquette in the house of God should mean much, how many churches are sinfully trying to become the churches of class instead of the churches of a great Christian democracy? Can we not, one and all, be large hearted enough to know that there is only one true gospel aristocracy, and that belongs to the noble serving class which Jesus described when he said, "Whoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant?" As you would never be rude to my child because you love me, so may we in our church etiquette never cast a slur upon God's children. May we never jostle or push any one away from us? We should all belong to the gospel clan. We should feel that we are all brothers and sisters in Christ and that, therefore, by the gospel fireside there shall be plenty of room for all the members of the gospel family.

Lastly, refined and consecrated church behavior is demonstrated as much in the way a congregation disperses as in the way it assembles. If I make a social call upon you and you are polite and respect me, you do not try to show your impatience even though I do stay a little longer time than I ought. You do not gape and yawn and take out your watch again and again to look what time it may be. You do not get up and go out into the hall and put on your overcoat and then hold your hat in your hand as though you were ready to run away at the first opportunity. If you acted thus I would certainly take the hint and leave as soon as possible. Neither should you be rude in church etiquette.

During the last part of the sermon you should not be sighing and turning around to watch the clock. During the last hymn and the last prayer you should remember that you are there to sing the praises of God, to hear his message or to commune with him, and you should not meekly steal that time away from him to button up your coat and fix your wraps and put on your gloves. From the beginning of the service to the end you should honor the church, the church altar, the sermon and the music, because in so doing you are honoring Christ.

As we began with the words, "That thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God," let us close with the psalmist's words which he wrote for the temple when David sang, "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord." He meant it. Let us prove by our actions and our observance of church etiquette that public worship is not a drudgery and a repulsive slavery, but a joy, a happiness and an opportunity for continuous gospel pleasure. Let us worship "the Lord in the beauty of holiness" with refined and consecrated church manners.

School Children Indignized.
The teacher at the Red Store has a complaint to make against her pupils. The Red Store is an Indian trading post as old as Fort Sill, and the children who live there have grown up attending the mission school with the Indian children and associating with them in their play. As a result the white children have learned the Indian language, wear gaudy sashes, paint their faces and put feathers in their hair. They shoot arrows as well as young bucks. They are now attending their first district school and, though holding high regard for authority, refuse to be taught as civilized people. They read their lessons alone in study and insist on wearing feathers, sashes, paint and brass earrings and finger rings in the schoolroom. They jabber half the time in Comanche and continue to run away to the mission school, where the Indian children are. The teacher has resolved that educating an unbroken white child in the Indian language is quite as onerous as educating the real Indian.—Kansas City Journal.

Three Japanese Journals.
The standing of the three leading Japanese journals, according to the London Chronicle, is as follows: The Jiji-Shimbun, which means literally "timely incident new-hearing," is a semi-official paper and may be regarded as the Tizies of Japan. The staff is composed of well to do men, from among whom appointments are often made to the chief posts in government departments. Rumors are never admitted to the pages of the Jiji-Shimbun, and it has a great reputation for truthfulness and sincerity. The Nichi-Nichi Shimbun—i. e., Country People's News—which has been calling for "careful musters and prepared defense," in its character of the nation's journal is regarded as a less responsible paper, but is perhaps all the more interesting for that.

A Peculiar Will.
The entire fortune of Moses B. Clements, of Portland, Me., amounting to about $100,000, has been left to trustees, who are directed to distribute it "to benefit society, relieving distress, and assist worthy and deserving religious, charitable and benevolent associations, objects and individuals." The matter of distribution is left entirely to the discretion of the executors, the only restriction being that they shall have disposed of the entire estate in the manner indicated within ten years.

LOCAL NEWS.

Seeds, seeds and seeds at Gardner's. See Townsend & Co. for shingles. Price is right. 10-11

Mr. E. P. Hiatt, of North Wilkesboro, was here several days last week.

Mr. I. Isaacson has returned from a trip to Baltimore and New York.

Bessie Morehead, colored, was arrested Saturday for selling liquor.

Plenty of fertilizers, flour, bran, ship-stuff and groceries, at J. F. Ross's, Pleasant Garden, N. C.

Miss Emily Kirkman, of Friendship, has been quite sick for some time with asthma, but is some better at this writing.

Married, by C. A. Tickle, Esq., at his residence, March 9th, 1901, Mr. G. Andrew Summers to Miss Lelia V. Brown, all of Washington township.

Mr. H. L. Jackson, of Elmore, was in the city a few hours Monday morning on his way home from a short visit at Worthyville, his former home.

Mr. E. M. Andrews, of this city, has sold one of his numerous furniture stores, the Charlotte establishment, to Messrs. Herring & Denton of that city.

Prices continue to get higher on bran and ship-stuff, but we still have a good supply bought before the last rise which is going at the old price.

TUCKER & EDWIN.

Mr. Edward Kinney, of Randolph, has purchased a farm near Guilford College. The demand for real estate in that section since the establishment of a graded school is somewhat surprising.

Mrs. Mary Boam, financial agent of the North Carolina Children's Home Society, is canvassing the state for funds for the orphanage here and is meeting with much success. The institution is doing a noble work.

Mrs. M. J. Baxter, who had made her home with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Jenkins, on Church street, for some time, died Saturday night after a lingering illness and was buried Monday morning at Mull's chapel graveyard.

Chas. P. Smith, of Pleasant Garden, was given a preliminary hearing here yesterday before Squire Weatherly for an assault with a deadly weapon on an old gentleman named Tucker and found over to court in the sum of $75.

Mr. W. H. Morse, of Greenwood, S. C., and Miss Dora Smith, of this county, were united in marriage Sunday evening by Rev. J. A. Bowles, the ceremony taking place at the residence of Mr. B. L. Patterson, on Vine street, Proximity.

After a favorable report by a special committee and inspection by the board of aldermen the city authorities have passed favorably on the bills presented by A. L. Patterson & Co. for macadamizing certain streets and settlement will be made at once, the work being about completed. Alderman S. H. Boyd was the only member of the board that took exceptions to any portion of the work. He claims that the company has not fully complied with all the specifications governing the work and recommends in a minority report that the board make an investigation of the work done before final settlement is made.

Working Overtime.

Money in trucking. Commence right by buying seeds from Gardner.

Sudden Death of a Noble Woman.

Mrs. Anna Louisa Wills, one of the much-beloved christian wives and mothers who have left an indelible impress on the community by virtue of their faith and works, died last Friday of pneumonia after a very brief illness. Almost before the knowledge of her illness became current came the sad news of her death.

Mrs. Wills was the daughter of Joseph S. and Elizabeth M. C. Norman, of Washington, N. C., and was educated at Alexandria, Va., Burlington, N. J., and Baltimore. On January 20, 1864, she was married to Rev. Richard H. Wills, of the N. C. Conference, M. P. church. Five sons survive her—George S., professor in Western Maryland College, Westminster, Md.; William H., editor Fruit Trade Journal, New York City; J. Norman, Richard H., and Edward S., of this city. It is unnecessary to speak of deceased's christianity. Almost reared in the church, she was indeed a daughter in Israel and her children show the influence of her life upon them.

Her funeral was held Friday from her late residence on West Gaston street, conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. M. Andrews, of Grace church, assisted by Revs. J. F. McCulloch and S. B. Turrentine. Several friends from other towns came to join with our people in a last earthly tribute. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. A. Odell, C. H. Ireland, R. G. Glenn, R. H. Brooks, A. H. Alderman, and T. A. Hunter.

Death of Mrs. Z. A. McDowell.

Mrs. Z. A. McDowell, a lifelong resident of Greensboro, died at her home on Lindsay street Sunday afternoon after a comparatively short illness from pneumonia. She was in her 58th year and leaves three children, her husband having died several years ago. The children are Mr. J. Ed McDowell and Mrs. W. S. Timberlake, of this city, and Mr. Eugene McDowell, who is in the hospital corps of the U. S. army and stationed in California. A sister, Mrs. E. J. Lynch, is a resident of the deceased live in Rockingham county and one brother in Georgia. Funeral services were conducted from the family residence Monday afternoon by Rev. S. B. Turrentine, D. D., pastor of West Market church, of which Mrs. McDowell had been a consistent member for many years. Interment was made in Greene Hill cemetery, the pallbearers being Messrs. T. M. Pickard, J. D. White, J. T. Abbott, J. R. Hughes, H. P. Clarida and J. W. Smith.

Who Can Tell Him?

Jas. W. Albright is anxious to know what engagements the following companies from Guilford participated in during the war between the states. Please give dates where possible, and names of killed. Any information on these lines will be gratefully received if sent direct to him at Asheville, N. C.; or to J. W. Scott, Greensboro, N. C. The names of the companies are as follows: J. Henry Morehead, B. F. Cole, Wm. F. Scott, C. C. Cole, Chas. E. Shober, Jas. T. Morehead, A. P. McDaniel, David Scott, R. L. Hooper, Nat Rankin, J. E. Wharton, J. W. Pitts, Jacob Boone, W. B. Johnson, T. Rhodes Duvall. If other companies would be glad to know them. He has the Guilford Grays, John Sloan captain.

A New Invention.

Mr. R. F. Rice, of the Standard Oil Co., writes: "We have been using the 'Perfection Churn' for over three years with most satisfactory results. It surpasses all other churns we have used and instead of a drudge it is a pleasant task to churn with the 'Perfection.' My wife thinks the patented water arrangement inside of the churn for tempering the milk, the thing, as it facilitates the butter in coming and after churning she has buttermilk with no water in it. It is easy to operate and keep clean, and makes nice firm yellow butter and makes it quick."

A man's work is from sun to sun; A woman's work is never done. If wife's gratitude hubby would earn Buy her at once a "Perfection Churn."

The celebration of the twentieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Royster last Friday evening was one of the most enjoyable social functions of the year. Their residence on Church street was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The guests of the evening were welcomed by Mesdames J. T. J. Battle and C. M. Vanstory, while Mesdames H. H. Fisher, of Norfolk, Va., and E. D. Steele, of High Point, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Royster in receiving. The hosts of the evening were remembered by several large tables full of fine china. Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room, which was in charge of Mesdames T. A. Lyon, Carrie Yates, D. L. Hagan and E. Salmon. Prof. Williams' orchestra furnished delightful music throughout the entire evening, which was one of rare enjoyment to the scores of guests.

Preaching at Pomona.

Rev. Houston Gentry will preach at Pomona school house Sunday night, at 7.30. A cordial invitation to all.

The city will erect another fish stall at the market house this month.

New Advertisements.

Get yourself in shape for the warm weather by taking July Weed. It is claimed by Fordham, Alford & Co. to be the best kidney and liver remedy known.

The Vanstory Clothing Company discuss spring clothing. Their suits, are all custom tailor-made, which is a guarantee of fit as well as good quality.

"We want you to feel perfectly safe in buying at this store." Read Thacker & Brockmann's new ad. on last page this week. Their new spring stock is complete and they invite you to come and inspect it soon.

E. M. Andrews, the furniture man, calls attention to the fact that he is conducting one of the largest furniture establishments in the South, and naturally everybody thinks of "Andrews" when in need of furniture.

The Wakefield Hardware Company has a word to say to "the man behind the plow." They will sell you a plow that will meet all requirements.

The Greensboro Storage and Transfer Company is again occupying space in the PATRIOT, and talk corn planters this week.

Poultry fanciers should read the ad. for the Carolina Poultry Farm.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c, per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

The A. & N. C. Railroad receivership case was still more complicated this week by the arrest of Receiver V. E. McBee on a bench warrant issued by Chief Justice Walter Clark, of the Supreme court, on a charge of conspiracy to wrong the state. K. S. Finch, of New York, was also named in the warrant, but is not to be found in the state. At a hearing yesterday McBee was bound over to court under bond of $2,000. The Raleigh News and Observer says the revelations in the case show it to be the most outrageous attempt at fraud ever unearthed in North Carolina.

A county convict force is now grading the public road on either side of Wentworth, the county seat of Rockingham county, for a distance of two miles preparatory to constructing sample macadam roads.

Townsend & Co. have always claimed that the Vulcan plow was the best one made and their sales this spring are proving it. A car load just received, and they can hardly put them up fast enough. They go like hot cakes. Every plow guaranteed to give satisfaction or your money refunded. Try one. 10-11

THE PLOWING SEASON

NO. 65

will soon be here, and we know you want the best plow that is made or that money will buy, so

HERE IT IS

Notice the low sloping front, with cutter on the point. Notice the square fit of mold board in point and the two point bolts, holding point secure.

Notice the stout steel handle brace, allowing you to raise and lower the handles to suit the plowman.

Notice the long turn in the mold board. Also that it always turns your soft red push dirt where other chilled plows fail.

Also the long beam No. 72 one-horse plow, with cutter and slip points. It surely will pay you to look at these plows before you buy. See us for all kinds of hardware.

Given Away!

We wish to announce to our friends and customers that we have perfected arrangements with one of the largest and best known potteries in the United States to furnish us with High Grade Hand Painted China, which we absolutely guarantee and which we will give away ABSOLUTELY FREE.

Being desirous of increasing our business and acknowledging favors extended to us by our present customers, we could think of no better way of showing our appreciation than offering something which we are sure every one will appreciate. A set of these beautiful dishes is within the reach of every one of our customers, and we feel that all will avail themselves of the opportunity.

We furthermore want our friends to distinctly understand that our prices for goods will not be increased to enable us to do this. On the contrary, our prices will be as low, or we may say lower, to give this up-to-date way of advertising the endorsement it deserves. And in addition we will give with each purchase coupons, irrespective of the extremely low prices, which entitle the holder to the chinaware ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE.

You will be surprised to find how soon you will have sufficient coupons to entitle you to the entire dinner set. But you don't have to wait for that. You can get the different articles as you want them and the first thing you know you will have a complete dinner set. We have contracted for a large quantity of goods and we want the loyal support of our friends. We shall rely upon our old customers and feel that our most generous offer will be taken advantage of by those who have hitherto not given us their business.

In conclusion, we most cordially invite you to call and look over the most complete and select line of Chinaware in town.

Yours very truly,
