Mr. R. R. Saunders, who was recently operated on for appendicitis, was called to his home at Reidsville Saturday by the illness of his mother, Mrs. R. T. Saunders. Mrs. Saunders died Monday night of typhoid fever.

Dr. Charles D. Melver has gone to Chase City, Va., to spend a few days on a visit to Mrs. Melver and children before going to New Haven, Conn., to deliver an address October 21st before the Connecticut state teachers association.

The Hudson Grocery Company, of Greensboro, was chartered last week by the Secretary of State with an authorized capital of $10,000, of which $2,500 is paid in. The incorporators are S. E. Hudson, D. R. Aiken and John A. Hotzgin.

The joint county canvass began Monday at Hodgins' store, in southern Guilford, an average crowd being present. The principal speeches are being made by the legislative candidates. The county candidates contenting themselves mainly with a simple announcement.

Three hundred members of the Connecticut state guard took supper here Monday evening while en route home from the St. Louis exposition, where they acted as an honorary guard to Governor Chamberlain and his staff. There were two good bands along with the party.

The residence of Mr. J. Willie Smith, on West Gaston street, was ransacked by sneak thieves yesterday afternoon while all the members of the family were absent and three purses containing over twenty dollars were stolen, together with a number of valuable trinkets scattered about the house.

Mr. J. C. Bain, of this city, who was painfully hurt by a fall last week at Guilford College, is not improving as rapidly as his friends would wish. Once or twice during the week his condition has really been critical, although at present he seems to be resting easily and stands a fair chance to recover.

Mr. R. G. Lassiter, of Chapel Hill, acting manager of the University football team, was in the city last night and arranged for a game of football at Cone Athletic Park Saturday next, October 22, commencing at 3:30 P. M. The competing teams will be the University team and the Norfolk College team.

The board of aldermen last week created a civic commission whose duty it will be to make systematic improvements in the appearance of the city. The members of the commission and the terms for which they are chosen are: Dr. W. P. Beall, one year; S. A. Kerr, two years; T. A. Hunter, three years.

The Biggest and Best Fair.

Without question the biggest and best fair ever held by the Central Carolina Fair Association was that of last week. It was a success in every particular, the attendance, the exhibits and the races surpassing all previous records. One of the new features introduced this year that attracted special attention was the industrial exhibit on the lower floor of the main building. There the American Cigar Company had a force of young ladies making the popular brands of cigars for which the company is famous, every detail of their manufacture being shown to the thousands that crowded about the booth daily. So strict were the internal revenue regulations that Manager Wade found it necessary, in order to make the exhibit, to go through all the details incident to the establishment of an entire new factory. The Proximity Manufacturing Company showed one of its improved looms used in the manufacture of denims, while alongside and in striking contrast was an old fashioned hand loom operated by a woman skilled in its use. The manufacture of pottery was demonstrated by a handloper company who had an expert lathe operator at work every day.

The farm exhibits this year were excellent, as a good fruit crop helped to increase their attractiveness. Mr. Henry Hunter was awarded first premium for the best display. In the poultry department there was the usual immense exhibit, crowding the big room to the ceiling. It will be necessary by another year to increase the size of the building devoted to this purpose. In the main building there were numbers of attractive booths representing the stores, colleges and various manufacturing enterprises of the city.

The midway this year was less objectionable than usual, the worst feature being the innumerable games of chance calculated to separate the unwary from their hard-earned dollars. Every sort of a game was in evidence, and many people were fleeced by the smooth-tongued manipulators. Judging from the way the gamblers were patronized there is considerable sporting blood in the county. The only disappointment of the week was the non-appearance of the fireworks display, the fair management learning at a late hour that it was not up to the standard.

The best indication as to the crowd is furnished by the railroad companies. The Southern's special trains handled the usual crowds and the street railway was taxed to its uttermost carrying capacity. All records were broken by the latter company, which started off with the largest Sunday crowd it ever handled, the largest crowd for any one week and the largest for any one day.

Secretary Cook will prepare a list of fair awards for publication later.

If you are not certain as to the proper kind of shoes to buy for your family this fall and winter, just consult us and we will give you the best at low prices. J. M. HENDRIX & Co.

Ice Companies Figure in Injunction Suit.

On the application of the Greensboro Ice and Coal Company and the Guilford Ice Company Monday Judge Shaw granted an order taking away the management of the Gate City Ice and Coal Company until the next term of Superior court when the matter will come up for a hearing to see whether or not the injunction shall be made permanent. The Greensboro Ice and Coal Company and the Guilford Ice Company charge mismanagement on the part of those who have been conducting the Gate City Ice Company.

The last named company is a delivery concern and not a manufacturing concern. During the summer it has delivered the output of both the ice factories, and it numbers among its stockholders representatives of each.

Mary sat upon a pin, but showed no perturbation; for some of her was genuine, but most was imitation. No so with our shoes. J. M. HENDRIX & Co.

Glenn and Overman.

Col. W. H. Osborn is sending out notices of the appointments of Hon. R. B. Glenn and Senator Lee S. Overman, who are to speak here week after next. Mr. Glenn's date is Tuesday evening, Nov. 1st, and Mr. Overman's Thursday evening, Nov. 3rd. The simple announcement of the coming of these two brilliant men is enough to insure them crowds of hearers. Every voter who wishes to hear able discussions of the political issues of the day will welcome the coming of these able exponents of Democracy. Don't forget the dates.

A good second hand horse power cutter and a large stock of new ones at Townsend & Co.'s, also three or four good second hand hacks, cheap. 41-42.

G. F. C. Opens Auspiciously.

The faithful friends of Greensboro College who have labored so faithfully to rebuild and equip the institution after the fire of last winter, which threatened for a time to mark the close of its glorious career, had the satisfaction of seeing the college reopen last week with an enrollment that eclipsed any of the past five years in point of numbers. Every available room in the big structure is filled and no more students can be taken until the other wing of the building is ready for use, a matter of a few days at best. The term opened with what might properly be called a praise service, conducted by Rev. J. R. Scroggs, presiding elder of the Greensboro district. After a short talk by President Lucy H. Robertson brief addresses were made by Rev. Dr. S. B. Turrentine, pastor of West Market Street M. E. church; Rev. M. T. Plyer, of Chapel Hill; Mr. C. H. Ireland, secretary of the board of trustees of the college; Rev. W. M. Bagby, of High Point; Rev. L. W. Crawford, pastor of Spring Garden Street M. E. church; Rev. P. J. Carraway, pastor of Liberty M. E. church, and Miss Nannie Lee Smith, secretary of the alumnae association. The exercises closed with prayer by Rev. Dr. Carraway and the doxology, sung by the audience, which included a number of our citizens and visitors. The prayers and labors of a noble band of Methodist women transformed what appeared to be an overwhelming calamity into a benediction and a blessing, for never in the history of the institution has it enjoyed the advantages in point of equipment that it now possesses. The spirit of enthusiasm that characterizes the work of the college will lead to development not dreamed of a few years ago. In adding the college to its diversity the entire denomination of the state is unconsciously strengthened and great good is anticipated through the medium of this child of the church.

Death of a Former Resident.

Mr. W. H. Curtis, a former well known resident of this city, died at his home in Kernersville last Saturday evening after an illness of about a week with pneumonia and his remains were brought here Monday for burial, interment being made in the family plot at Greene Hill cemetery after an appropriate service at the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Curtis was born and reared in Greensboro, following the printing trade for many years. During the war between the states he printed much of the state currency that was issued from this point. Later he was foreman on the Partner for a number of years, giving up this position about ten years ago to engage in the newspaper business at Madison. Always a faithful member of the Presbyterian church, he took an active part in church and Sunday school work. At Madison he was a ruling elder of the church and superintendent of the Sunday school. Last spring he moved his family and newspaper to Kernersville and was fast building up a good business there when death overtook him. His second wife and a young daughter and three sons and a daughter by his first marriage survive him. Much sympathy is felt for them. Mr. Curtis was an excellent man and made lasting friendships wherever he was known. While he had reached the age of three score years he was active and vigorous and had until his last illness the promise of many years of usefulness. The funeral services Monday were conducted by Rev. E. W. Smith, D. D. Truly a good man has gone to his eternal rest.

Womble-Owen Wedding.

The home of Mrs. D. A. Owen, on East Washington street, was the scene of a beautiful wedding yesterday at noon, when Rev. S. B. Turrentine united in the holy bonds of matrimony Miss Lillian Owen and Mr. William Clem Womble, of Goldston. There was a large number of friends of the family present to witness the ceremony. The best man was Mr. M. F. Brunt, of Winston-Salem, and the maid of honor was Miss Jessie Lindley, of this city. The bride and groom left on the noon train for Sanford going to the groom's home at Goldston. Mr. Womble is the bookkeeper for the firm of Nisson & Roan, of Winston-Salem. Miss Owen is an attractive young lady with a large circle of friends.

Charming Home Wedding.

A charming home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Young, corner of Walker avenue and Mendenhall street, last evening, when Miss Bindie Hendricks, the sister of Mrs. Young, plighted her troth to Mr. Erastus B. Parks, of Franklinville, North Carolina. The wedding service took place at 9 o'clock and was conducted by Rev. Dr. S. B. Turrentine, pastor of West Market Street church. The house was beautifully decorated, the prevailing colors being pink and white. Just before the ceremony Miss Nell Hird, formerly of London, sang very beautifully an Italian solo, entitled, "Ricordo Di Quisiana" by Al Denza. Following this Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered by Miss Erie Stuart while the bridal party entered the parlor. Mr. Rankin Parks, brother of the groom, was the best man, while Mrs. Young was the matron of honor.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was tendered the newly wedded couple. Dainty refreshments were served. The punch bowl was presided over by Misses Erie Stuart and Emma Williams. The guests were received at the door by Misses Emma Williams and Pearl Benbow.

Among the out of town guests were the following: Miss Willie Stuart, of Kernersville; Miss Lena Moffitt, of Asheboro; Miss Erie Stuart, of Oak Ridge; Miss Madie Stuart, of Kernersville; Miss Emma Williams, of Madison; Mr. Fletcher Cox, of Cedar Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Parks, of Franklinville; Mr. J. S. Bowers, of Kernersville; and Mr. Rank Parks, of Franklinville. Mr. and Mrs. Parks left this morning at 7:20 for their future home at Franklinville.

Tobacco Market Report.

The receipts on our market for the past week have not been heavy, yet they were a great deal heavier than one would expect, considering the extreme dry weather which has prevailed for the past few weeks. Farmers are very anxious to sell tobacco at present prices if the weather would only admit of their handling it and getting it in shape to put on the market. Those farmers who did come to market last week were extremely well pleased with their prices and were well repaid for the extra trouble it may have cost them to get their tobacco in shape. Prices are a good deal better than they have been at any time this season and, in fact, we feel like prices are about as good as they were two years ago, still two years is a long time for one to carry in his mind the prices of tobacco. Our buyers are more anxious for the weed than we have seen them for a long time and Greensboro looks forward to heavy sales this season, as our buyers hold the most and best orders they have for several years past.

Marriage of a Popular Young Couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell Lewis Fry have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Mary Walker, to Mr. James Simpson Schenck, on Wednesday evening, October 26. The ceremony will take place at St. Andrew's church at 9 o'clock, admission to be by card, owing to the limited capacity of the church. Immediately following the ceremony a reception will be tendered the bride and groom at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fry, on Murray street. Miss Fry is an attractive and accomplished young lady and greatly admired by all who know her. Mr. Schenck is one of Greensboro's most progressive young business men. He is a member of the insurance firm of Wood & Schenck.

Mr. Everett B. King, of this city, was called to Danbury Saturday by the death of his sister, Miss Carrie King, a promising young lady who was well known here. Miss King was a student at the State Normal and Industrial College last winter when the main dormitory burned and she took a cold at that time which seemed to settle on her lungs, eventually causing her death. Another brother, Mr. John W. King of the American Tobacco Company, with headquarters now in Louisville, Ky., reached here Monday but too late to reach Danbury in time for the funeral. The parents of the beloved young woman, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. King, and other members of the family have the assurance of much sympathy in their great bereavement.

Mr. Cooke's Marriage at Augusta.

Mr. Arthur Wayland Cooke, of this city, and Miss Annie Owen, of Augusta, Ga., were married last Wednesday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. Floyd P. Elmore, in Augusta.
The following account of the wedding is taken from the Augusta Chronicle:

A beautiful home wedding was solemnized last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Elmore, on Broad street, when Miss Annie Owen, the daughter of Mrs. Elmore, plighted her troth to Mr. Arthur Wayland Cooke, of Greensboro, North Carolina. The wedding service occurred at eight o'clock and was conducted by the Rev. Dr.
Plunket. The bridal procession formed at the foot of the stairs and entered the right drawing room where a bower-like altar of palms and bamboo was effectively arranged before the mantel.

The ushers for this occasion were Dr.
J. S. Betts, of Greensboro, Mr. Joseph
T. Gardner and Mr. Harry Crane.

The bride and groom entered together and advanced to the altar, the bride presenting a lovely picture of girlish beauty in her exquisite gown of crepe de chine, the folds of which, draping her graceful lithe figure was wonderfully becoming.

The cloud-like veiling of tulle which enveloped the softness of her refined and delicate beauty and was fastened in the hair with an exquisite spray of lilies of the valley.

She carried a lovely burden of white bride's roses in her arms.

Her only attendant, Miss Edith G.
Owens, wore a dainty and becoming costume of white silk tissue, with a berthe of lace, surmounting which was a wreath of tiny rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds in her hand.

Mr. Harry Cooke, of Spencer, North Carolina, a brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bar of North Carolina combined in presenting to Mr. and Mrs. Cooke a complete outfit of small silver in an elegant chest.

Mr. Arthur Wayland Cooke is a prominent and well known young lawyer of Greensboro and is active in political work in his section and is associated in the practice of law with the former lieutenant governor of North Carolina. Heartiest congratulations go with the young couple to their home in Greensboro from many sincere friends in Augusta.

were made by Col. J. T. Morehead, Messrs. A. M. Seales, Westcott, Robertson, C. G. Wright, W. H. Swift, and Dr. J. E. Brooks. Prof. W. T. Whitsett, of Whitsett, read an original chosen in the place of W. P. M. Turner, who has moved to Wilmington.

passed for Mrs. Matthew W. Ransom, whose husband died a few days ago.

The association adopted a resolution thanking Mrs. R. R. King for assisting in preparing for this meeting.

The association sent a telegram of greeting to the University, the reunion being held in celebration of Founders'

A Wonderful Saving.

Georgia, calculated to use over one hundred gallons of the usual kind of eral quantity whenever they paint.

LETTER TO PROF. E. D. BROADHURST,
Greensboro, N. C.

Dear Sir: You are a teacher; here's one for your boys:

If the painting costs two or three times as much as the paint, and one paint goes twice as far as another, how much are those two paints worth?

If Devco is worth $1.50 or $1.75 a gallon, how much is the other one worth?

How much is a gallon of paint worth anyhow?

The answer is: Depends on the paint.
The reason is: paint isn't always paint. There are true and false paints and short-measure.

How much is a short-measure gallon worth? How much is false paint worth? How much is Devco worth?

There are millions a year in the answer to this last one.

Yours truly,

OUR RAILROAD LETTER.

From the News Bureau, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 17, 1904.

Said a Raleigh parent this morning to his son and heir, who was complaining of not feeling well:

"You do not take enough exercise." "I am the youngest of the family," said the youngster, "and I am not like my father, who is a great athlete, and who is able to strike out the words 'do not' and 'enough' and 'exercise' too much."

"Not many people would think the young man ought to carry on first and let's see."

The opinion of the doctors upon this subject is emphasized at the recent session of the American Medical Association at Atlantic City. Doctors are generally agreed that violent exercise seriously affects the health of persons.

It is a notorious fact that great athletes are not long-lived. As the great athlete, he is becoming an old man, and he is to be much older than a man of his age. They sacrifice longevity for the effort required in their careers and in the training preparatory to the same.

A medical maxim that men are not to be degenerated, however long they live, is becoming an old man, and he is to be much older than a man of his age. They sacrifice longevity for the effort required in their careers and in the training preparatory to the same.

It has an expectancy of life. Physicians generally agree that the great cause of athletic degeneration is hard physical work. This is especially true of labor in the growing children. If the boy is to be a man, he must be able to perform his physical powers to the utmost. He must be sure to initiate athletic degeneration. When that boy is fifty-five his arteries begin to become rigid and tortuous. He is unable to perform their function in the circulation of the blood and cause a undue tax upon the heart, with the result of heart disease or senility. The majority impulse in this case has been given in youth by violent exercise.

Great feats of strength or wearing physical labor forces the blood into the arteries until it distends them. Sometimes it means a lesion and sudden breakdown through aneurism or heart failure. If this effect does not follow, it is the deterioration of the arteries, and it finally ends in degeneration. Thousands of young boys who are engaged to engaged in severe physical work for a living must pay the penalty of premature old age. There is no doubt for them. But with college athletes, the question of whether they shall devote their lives for a little brief season on the field. If medical men are right, they will surely do so by violent training and violent physical exercise.

RANSOM AT HOME.

Living with State Auditor Dixon, returned yesterday from North Carolina, where he attended the funeral of the late General Matt W. Ransom. Mr. Dixon said to this writer:

"There were two things that surprised me. First, the large, very large, numerous negroes who attended the funeral of General Ransom, and who displayed their grief on the occasion. Second, I was not prepared to see the home of the dead soldier and statesman so modest an affair. He was wealthy and he had to have provided himself with a mansion and all the conveniences as well as comforts of life. I looked at the old country mansion, with its long galleries. Instead there was a small, old home, a basement and a story, of ancient design and lack of the regular and paint brush that might have improved its looks."

"I was reminded of an occasion when General Ransom drove into town in an old work-day suit of gray and driving a third-rate horse and a modest buggy."

"He said to me: 'Why, General, you don't get you a better car, do you? You are well able to afford it. You are one of the best of the turnouts and the finest of the town.'"

"Because it is not necessary, nor is it wise," replied General Ransom. "I would look and feel like driving to town here with and beside my friends and neighbors with a fine team? No sir! I am one of the best of the turnouts and the finest of the town." "I am one of the best of the turnouts and the finest of the town."

1903, there were injured 76,553, the largest number for any year in our history, and more than twice as many as for any year prior to 1898, when the number reported injured was 40,882 and the killed 6,859. It is a national disgrace that in this country the loss of life from accident exceeds that of all Europe together. This criminal carelessness with human life has had no more appalling record than since the year which began last December. In that time the 'Iroquois' fire has cost 582 lives, the burning of the 'General Slocum,' 1,031, railroad wrecks at Laurelville, Penn., cost 65; at Revere, Mich., 22; at Jackson, Utah, 24; at Kewanee, Miss., 14; at Houghton, Ala., 25; at Chicago Heights, 25; at Pueblo, 89; and very recently on the Southern Railroad, 65. The record excludes all accidents where the number of lives lost did not exceed 10, and of those there were at least ten. The collapse of a hotel in New York killed 21 men. This makes no account of the loss of life on the Fourth of July, or of over a hundred persons who have met violent deaths at the hands of mobs. Every one of these deaths was in the true sense of the word murder. Each was due either to lawlessness by a mob or to lawlessness by the individual, who, whether an engineer who had failed to design a bridge strong enough to stand a flood, a conductor who had misread his instructions, or a steamboat or theatre owner who had evaded the law providing for safety, had deliberately imperiled the lives of human beings committed to his care."

FROM FIELD TO MILL.

According to a special cable from London to the New York Herald, the first attempt on a large scale to send cotton direct from the grower in America to the spinner in England is attracting great interest in Lancashire trade circles.

It has become known that the producers in the large area between Memphis and New Orleans have formed themselves into a company for sending the cotton grown in that district to New Orleans and shipping it by way of Liverpool or Manchester direct to the mills in Lancashire, where it is to be used.

This dispenses with the middle man. Every penny paid by the spinner will be received by the actual grower and no speculators will have the chance of handling the cotton. The new company has just appointed representatives covering the whole of the cotton districts of Lancashire. The cable further says that the company proposes to keep the mills running by weekly or fortnightly shipments and the spinner will no longer need to hold large stocks, with the attendant risk and expense.

THE MILLERS NEED ATTENTION.

In the domain of child labor the demagogue gets in some of his best work. The country society and the children themselves are today suffering more from child idleness, early dissipation, with vicious associations, than they are from work of any kind. What is needed is a faithful trustee officer, who would walk the streets of our towns and cities, and see to it that boys worked at something in the day and went to sleep at night, instead of walking around and picking up cigar stumps and cigarettes while the town clock strikes twelve. Raleigh is no worse than the average town, and yet on its streets can be seen any night at a late hour, a lot of little rascals with the seats of their breeches pinned up to hide their nakedness; they don't actually stay at home enough to give their mothers a chance to sew them up, so as to make even a decent appearance on the streets.

These are the children who need attention, and not those at work. There is not a sensible father on the top side of the earth who had not rather his boy would stand by a loom, a spindle, or spooler till he would grow to the floor than to be running wild on the streets, as many are doing now. The man who has the nearest to nation of anybody in this country, is he who for a consideration is assuming the guardianship for the fathers and mothers of children. We are not to be understood as claiming that all parents discharge their duty by their children. They never have done so, and never will, till the millennium dawns, and maybe not then. The world has been learning something along this line since it started; not through prohibitory laws, based upon the single and barren doctrine of "thou shalt not," but because of the growth of Christianity with all of its accompanying influences. These are the things that have saved children and their mothers besides, and not by the interference of laws, either executed by men who, but for the salary they drew, would not so much as be heard of in connection with child labor. Not many days ago we saw in some exchange where a man was lamenting the fact that in the United States so many hundreds of thousands of children were at work who ought to be in school.

Work is the best sauce ever mixed with an education. The boy who will work can be educated any day he makes up his mind he wants to be. There are millions of dollars now waiting to be spent upon boys and girls who really want to be educated. Boys and girls who are at work are not subjects of pity, but rather those who have nothing to do from day to day, and who are eating the bread of idleness, and who know more genuine meanness at a dozen years old than they ought to know at fifty.

These are the fellows who need attention, and not the children who are at work. Fortunately the men who own factories in the South and those who have management themselves, and in very many cases these men were brought up to work in factories or elsewhere themselves, and so know what is right and what labor a child ought to perform.

Nothing is perfect in this world. When the great Teacher said "Be perfect," He only meant to do your very best, to improve every day. And after every theory has been tried, we shall at children has been tried, we shall at last find the average parents to bring trust to their own children in the best way possible. We are open to conviction to anybody who can show to the contrary.

COTTON PICKERS SCARCE.

There is much complaint of the scarcity of negro labor in the country adjacent to Raleigh, and consequently the farmers are having trouble in getting all the cotton to market that needs picking.

Speaking of the size of the crop, Charles E. Johnson, one of the leading cotton buyers here, regarding the crop in this section, says there is not a short crop, but that it will be as large as last year's. The local receipts are light for several reasons, among these being the fact that many of the growers are waiting for the 10-cent figure, while all are availing themselves of the remarkably favorable weather for picking, hot weather which has forced cotton to open with great rapidity. As a result they have been picking and putting the cotton away.

Death Sentence Passed on Sellers and Brown.

Wilmington Messenger, 16th.

The two negroes, Neil Sellers and Dave Brown, the same ones who were almost face to face with death in Wilmington a little over a month ago and who have lived in fear of that near end since the third of last month, are soon to pass into eternity. They have been declared by twelve honest men of Balden to be guilty of murder in the first degree and the law of North Carolina has said that they be hanged upon Wednesday, the 16th day of November, 1904, in Balden county, between the hours of 10 o'clock in the morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Thus will the law avenge the horrible crime of September 2nd, when Mrs. George Packer was dragged by brutal hands from her home near Clarkton, and, amid the loneliness of a wilderness, outraged and murdered. It was the most shocking crime ever committed in Bladen county and one of the most horrible the state has ever fallen heir to. But to her murderers the law will be more merciful and will in a christian manner give them ample time to prepare to meet the Judge of the Highest Court.

A New Hotel Proposition for Charlotte.

Charlotte Chronicle, 15th.

A mild interest in the hotel proposition in Charlotte has been revived by the presence in the city today of Messrs. Marion Cobb and Robert E. Irwin, of Greensboro, who are engaged in the hotel business in that town. Messrs. Cobb and Irwin, who are stopping at the Central, say they are prepared to lease a new hotel to be built in Charlotte at a cost of not less than $100,000 and to guarantee a net rental of 6 per cent, or a gross rental of 10 per cent. The propose to expend $25,000 in furnishing the house, which is to have not less than 125 sleeping rooms. They are willing to enter into a lease for 5, 10 or 15 years. Messrs. Cobb and Irwin will not return to Greensboro until late tonight or tomorrow. During the day they have talked with several gentlemen who are interested in procuring a new hotel in Charlotte, and they are encouraged to believe that their proposition will be accepted by local capitalists.

Spencer Merchant Faultily Assailed.

Spencer, Oct. 16.—At an early hour this morning, Mr. J. R. Roberts, a merchant of East Spencer, was found in a semi-conscious condition in his store with a severe wound in the back of the head from which blood was flowing freely. Falling to return to his home at about midnight, his usual time for closing, it is learned that members of his family went in search of Mr. Roberts, who seems to have been injured in a mysterious manner, as there is no clue to the perpetrators of the deed. Mr. Roberts is himself still unable to throw any light on the matter. It is also reported that he was robbed, but at this hour the extent of the robbery or what was taken cannot be ascertained. Mr. Roberts also keeps a restaurant, which is patronized by a number of railroad men at all hours. It is feared that he was clubbed at a late hour and left in what was supposed to be a dying condition. Medical attention was secured as soon as possible and it is now thought the injured man will recover.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Chairman Cowherd, of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, has received word that the long looked for whirlwind fight, to occupy the three weeks before election, has opened up. Senator Bailey, of Texas, has joined vice presidential candidate Davis in West Virginia, and is adding the power of his influence to the efforts of Messrs. Davis, Hill and Whyte. New York has just had an enthusiastic meeting in Tammany Hall at which over 6,000 people were present. News from Indiana brings reports of enthusiastic receptions given Mr. Bryan and reports from congressional districts in all parts of the country bring encouraging news. Judge Parker and Senator Gorman are working in entire harmony in Democratic national headquarters and the effect of their personal attention is beginning to be felt throughout the country according to Mr. Cowherd. Secretary Taft is making rapid fire speeches for the Republican ticket, but it is regarded as an excellent sign that he has been placed on the defensive and that he feels compelled to defend the administration because of its extravagant expenditures for the army and navy. Mr. Taft is also trying to impress his audience with the propriety of this country's holding on to the Philippines, not from all accounts he is making a weak argument of it.

Washington has been the scene of an enthusiastic Democratic rally this week where a lively interest is taken in politics, despite the fact that residents of the District of Columbia have no vote. This fact was made the occasion of a joke by one of the speakers who declared that judging by the enthusiasm of the meeting there could be no doubt that Parker and Davis would receive the entire electoral vote of the District. Such meetings are not as useless as they might seem, however. There are many clerks in the government departments who go home to vote and too, there are many voters from Maryland and Virginia who always attend any political rally in Washington.

Members of the Democratic congressional committee are deeply interested in the fact that out of the list of Republican presidential electors in Wisconsin three are directors of national banks. There is a statute which forbids any officer of the United States to act as a presidential elector and it has long been a disputed question as to whether a director of a national bank was an officer of the United States. The question has never been passed upon by the courts, but Chairman Cowherd thought it wise to issue instructions that no national bank directors should be placed on any ballot as presidential electors. Governor La Follette, according to the report which has reached Washington, has declined to do so. Mr. Cowherd's instructions and the Democratic managers are hoping that as a result trouble will ensue in Wisconsin, even if the Democrats fail to carry the state.

It is intimated in Washington that Chairman Cowherd may not secure the postmaster's endorsement, even if Roosevelt and Fairbanks are elected. There is a strong campaign being made against the appointment to a cabinet office of a man who has for the past several months been devoting his time to raising money from the trusts and corporations and it is just possible that the President will see the propriety of the objection, especially as there are others who would like the cabinet berth now occupied by Postmaster General Wright. The appointment of Wynne was a source of annoyance to the Republican politicians who regard Wynne as having been guilty of "pernicious activity" in bringing to justice August W. Machee, the "Prince of Graciers," and George W. Beavers, "the Congressman's Friend." Just why the President should have appointed Wynne is not clear as Wynne has not been seen a politician and is absolutely without political influence or the ability to promote the Republican campaign in any way.

Postmaster General Chaffee has just issued an order which must afford considerable relief to officers of the army, navy and the younger members of the judiciary. A pernicious practice has been to place the army of giving cabinet and expensive presents to commanding officers whenever they are removed to new command. The practice was to such proportions as to become a veritable scandal to many of the younger officers and yet they were not to decline because such refusal to contribute their share to the proposed gifts might be misconstrued and result in "an enemy at court." The order of General Chaffee will, at least for the time being, remedy this growing evil, although it will probably come again in the future as it has in the past, there having always been a negotiation surrounding the practice among all employees of the government.

The manufacturers of oleomargarine are once more preparing to make a fight against the oleomargarine law passed two years ago. They have formed an organization to which all holders in oleo are entitled on payment of $25 each. The country is even now being flooded with circulars which relate the prospects of getting the law repealed if all contribute and promise a big fight in Congress at the approaching session. It will be interesting to note the methods employed to bring about the fight for repeal and the men who lead it. If the organization succeeds in bringing in a large percentage of the dealers in "fake" butter it will have a tremendous fund with which to conduct "a campaign of education," or—to directly influence members of Congress.

Representative John Sharp Williams was in Washington this week and he declared that the entire country was awakening to the necessity of tariff revision. Mr. Williams is not a "rainbow chaser," although he speaks hopefully of that there will be a Democratic landslide consisting of the voters who have become disgusted with Republican "stand-pat-in."

Best Remedy for Constipation.

Yadkinville Safe-Blower Identified.

Spencer, Oct. 13.—Dr. T. P. Harding and a party from Yadkinville returned to this place this afternoon from Charleston, S. C., where they had been summoned to identify one Frank, alias "Billy" Williams, who had been arrested in that city under the charge of blowing open and robbing the vault of County Treasurer J. A. Logan, of Yadkin county, on the night of September 7th and also robbing the postoffice at Yadkinville of about $500. The amount stolen from the county treasurer approximated $5,000. Williams was positively identified by members of the North Carolina party as the man wanted for the dastardly deed and for whom a handsome reward had been offered by the authorities at Yadkinville. He was given a preliminary hearing yesterday before United States commissioner and bound over to the next term of Federal court at Greensboro. Post-office Inspectors Roddy, of Greensboro, and Gregory, of Columbia, have been actively engaged in working up the case since the theft was committed and feel sure that they have the right man. Now Murphy, who is known to have been in league with Williams, made his escape from the officials when the latter was arrested, as did also one other accomplice whose name could not be learned. When placed on the stand in the preliminary trial Williams protested his innocence, saying he lived in Baltimore, was a painter by trade and had never been south of Virginia until four days prior to his arrest in Charleston. He employed able counsel, it is said, and paid them well. It is also stated that a fraternal order, composed of the worst type of criminals, exists in the southern part of South Carolina. One secret service official expressed it as his opinion that Williams could put up a cash bond of $5,000 at once if allowed to do so, the money being secretly furnished by the members of the fraternity. Dr. Harding states that Williams employed himself in trying to sell boys' clothing by samples while in the vicinity of Yadkinville and that he spent no less than a half-hour at the home of one lady in that place who went with the party to Charleston, and positively identified him as the man wanted. His arrest was effected through a description sent out by the Yadkin county authorities.

Kitchin and Reynolds at Roxboro.

Roxboro, Oct. 12.—The first political speaking to draw a crowd to Roxboro in this campaign was the joint debate today between Messrs. Kitchin and Reynolds. Every seat and every aisle in the large court room was packed so tight that many who came to hear the speaking could not get in and had to remain outside. Both speakers were in fine trim and made good speeches. Mr. Reynolds' argument was able and well delivered. Mr. Kitchin has Mr. Reynolds well sized up when he says he is one of the ablest debaters in the Republican party, that he knows the best way to say and still better what not to say than any other man in the ranks. While Mr. Reynolds' ability is not to be questioned it certainly does him no injustice to say that he is not the equal of Mr. Kitchin either as a debater or speaker. After Mr. Reynolds had finished, he was presented with a handsome bouquet sent by some of the ladies of Roxboro. Immediately there were calls for "Kitchin, Kitchin, our same old Kitchin," and as he arose an ovation met him. He was at home and his home people were showing their loyalty and admiration for him. Time and again as he delivered his sledgehammer blows at the record of the Republican party both state and national he was interrupted by continuous applause.

The speakers complimented each other highly and both say that they are having a most pleasant campaign.

Another Fire at High Point.

High Point, Oct. 11.—Tonight at 7 o'clock the factory whistles gave an alarm of fire, which was located at the works of the High Point Metallic Bed Company, one of the largest plants and the only factory of its kind here. This plant is located in the southeastern part of the city, just outside the corporate limits. The firemen could not do much towards fighting the fire owing to the distance from the nearest hydrant. Flames had enveloped the whole plant before they reached there. The loss is a total one, all of the buildings and manufactured goods and everything in the yards being destroyed. The president of the company, Mr. J. H. Mills, said there was at least $100,000 insurance. A large amount of manufactured goods was on hand. The fire originated in the oven which is used to melt the enamel on the iron beds and cribs, which is the output of the factory.

The Smith Furniture Company, in close proximity to the Metallic Bed Company, lost a large amount of lumber by the fire, and the factory was only saved by the wind carrying the flames and sparks in an opposite direction.

This is the largest loss by fire here in many years and is a severe blow to this very successful company.

Reidsville Review.

Reidsville's sister city, Danville, has caught on to a very unique scheme in drawing trade for the merchants of that place by giving the farmers and their families of the county a day of fun and recreation. The novel feature is a prize contest of $100 in gold, divided into three prizes, each of $30, $20 and $15, offered to any three persons bringing into the city the largest number of persons, the only requirement being that they should arrive before noon on the date selected, and that each load of humanity shall be counted by a committee, the largest number of persons hauled on a two-horse team or more winning the first prize of $40, the next largest winning the second prize of $20 on a two-horse team, and the next largest capturing the third prize of $15 on a one-horse team. It is a splendid chance for fun, frolic and fruitful source of healthy merriment for the country cousins to participate in, and will prove quite profitable to the merchants of the place. A similar scheme might pay Reidsville.

War News of a Week.

Charlotte Observer, 17th.

The past week has been perhaps the bloodiest and most strenuous since hostilities opened, having been marked by almost continuous fighting. The latest reports from the scene of operations indicate that the Japanese are making gains everywhere, and that Kuropatkin, whose offensive tactics seemed to have proved disastrous, is reported to be steadily falling back, fighting doggedly, in a desperate effort to prevent the utter rout of his army. While the three Japanese armies suffered some slight initial reverses, a summary of the week indicates that success is generally attended the Japanese arms. There has been yet no definite conclusion to the fighting, although the dispatches clearly point out the final rout of the Russians and their retreat across the Hun river, in which event there will likely be a brief cessation of the fighting. There is no doubt but that the Russians have suffered heavily. Field Marshal Oyama estimates the Russian losses at thirty thousand, and these figures have been practically confirmed from Russian sources.

There has been little news of interest from Port Arthur, the operations around Mukden occupying the centre of the stage.

An incident which promised complications was the seizure of mail for the United States cruiser Cincinnati, which was aboard the British steamer Calchas. It was claimed in a report, said to have been inspired by the naval authorities, that packages were found addressed to the Japanese government, containing valuable military, financial and political information, which came within the Russian prohibition as contraband of war. This explanation seems to have set the matter at rest, for the time being at least, no steps having been taken by the United States, though a strong protest will probably be lodged with the Russian government.

Altogether the events of the week have remarkable significance. That Kuropatkin, with an army enthused by the prospect of the first offensive campaign, well equipped, closely in touch with a base of supplies, and outnumbering the enemy according to Russian sources, by 25,000, should meet with such overwhelming repulse, has brought about a feeling of deep gloom at St. Petersburg, which rapidly succeeding reverses are not calculated to dispel. For the first time, it is reported from a high source, since the war began, the Czar has begun to despair of the outcome.

Russian Losses 40,000.

At the close of the seventh consecutive day of fighting between Mukden and Liao Yang the battle was still raging, the Russians offering a stubborn resistance to the fierce onslaught of the Japanese. The sacrifice of life has been appalling. Estimates of the Russian losses alone in killed and wounded at the end of the sixth day's fighting, being conceded 30,000, while it seems not improbable it aggregated at that time 40,000. Japanese official reports estimate that 10,000 Russian dead were left on the battlefield up to the night of October 11, and claim that the Japanese losses are small by comparison with those of the Russians.

General Kuropatkin's report to Emperor Nicholas depicts the desperate character of the fighting and praises the valor of the troops, indicating, however, that he is hard pressed, with the result still in the balance. All hope of securing Port Arthur this season has been abandoned. St. Petersburg has an unconditioned report that the Japanese General Nodzu has been seriously wounded. A question of interest in St. Petersburg, is the fate of General Kuropatkin as a factor in the Russian military situation.

Mr. C. H. Mebane, of Newton, former state superintendent of public instruction, is studying law at Chapel Hill and will enter the legal profession.

Cures and Prevents Disease

The cures of ninety per cent of all disease is a truly amazing and unique system—the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Let one of these organs become clogged or impeded, there remains in the system many poisons that will, in time, breed disease, difficult to correct. One should never allow even a temporary stoppage of any one of these organs—they should be kept constantly in perfect working order.

SEVEN BARKS

Is positively the ideal corrective of all internal ailments. It is not a patent medicine, but a honest, vegetable preparation, extracted from the bark of a species of the Hydrangea plant. Its curative properties are numerous. It is a mild cathartic—on alternative—diuretic, soothing, healing and tonic. An occasional dose will keep the whole system in perfect condition and will act as a safeguard against disease.

Seven Barks has been on the American market for over thirty-five years. Its distributors have rooms of high-pricing letters from people in every walk of life. Thousands of families are never without a bottle. The oldest friends are our best.

Test it for Yourself

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle, and if it does not do all that is claimed, take the empty or partly consumed bottle back and get your money. One New York City druggist sold 720 bottles on this basis before one dissatisfied purchaser asked for the return of his money.

To the Voters of Guilford County.

There being some misunderstanding as to the registration for the coming election, it has been thought best to publish certain provisions of the law in regard to registration and voting.

The registration books will be opened in the various precincts throughout the city and county on each day from nine o'clock A. M. until sunset (Sundays excepted, up to and including Saturday, the 25th day of October).

On Saturdays the registration books will be at the voting-places but at other times the registrar may keep the book at any other place.

Scenes of voters make a mistake and on election day find that their names are not on the registration books. We are anxious to make Guilford county the banner Democratic county of the state, and we trust you will not make this mistake.

If you have moved from one precinct to another in the last two years then you must have your name transferred to the precinct in which you now reside, subject however, to one exception, and that is, that if you have moved to another precinct within four months dating from the election day then you will not have to transfer, but can go back to your old precinct and vote. In other words, a removal to another precinct makes no difference until you have resided in the new precinct four months before the election.

The residence of a married man is where his family resides, and that of a single man is where he sleeps.

In order to avoid mistakes we earnestly urge you to go to the registrar of your precinct and make sure that your name is properly registered.

These registrars will be at the voting places each Saturday up to and including the 25th. During the week they can be found at their offices or at other convenient places which can be learned by inquiry.

Yours very truly,
W. H. OSBORN, Chm.

Against North Carolina.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The United States Supreme court today denied the motion of counsel on behalf of the state of North Carolina for a rehearing in the case of the state of South Dakota vs. the state of North Carolina, decided during the last term of the court favorable to South Dakota. The case involved the validity of North Carolina's guaranty of certain railroad bonds donated to South Dakota for the use of the University of South Dakota. The court ordered the sale of the bonds, and today's action renders that decision final. The decision has the effect of validating other North Carolina bonds of similar character.

North Carolina was the first state to boast of a lady rural delivery mail carrier. Last week another was added to the list, Mrs. Alice Fowler having been appointed carrier of route No. 5 out of Burlington.

Lieutenant W. D. Pritchard Kills Brother Officer and Commits Suicide.

Manila, Oct. 17.—Second Lieutenant William D. Pritchard, of the Thirteenth Cavalry, today killed Second Lieutenant Fred L. Deen, of the same cavalry, then committed suicide. The tragedy occurred at Camp Stotsenburg. Lieutenant Pritchard was a native of North Carolina, and was appointed from that state. He was 29 years old, a native of Texas.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The War department received a dispatch from Manila this morning confirming the report that Lieut. William D. Pritchard had murdered Lieutenant Deen, by shooting him through the head, then he committed suicide. Lieutenant Pritchard was a son of Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of Marshall, N. C., formerly senator from that state and at present Federal judge for the circuit of Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina. According to the records on file at the department, Pritchard bore an excellent reputation as a soldier and an officer. Deen's home was at Athens, Texas.

Roosevelt Offends Russia.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 18.—An announcement from Washington saying that the administration believed that the time for the mediation in the Far East war was approaching has created an unfavorable impression in government circles here, where there is an inclination to associate it with the interview of the Associated Press with a diplomat at Tokio suggesting the propriety of renewing the efforts in behalf of the restoration of peace. The idea of peace, it is asserted here, could hardly come more inopportune with the Japanese in the full flush of victory. It has aroused only resentment, and there is no doubt that if President Roosevelt should actually attempt to open the question at this time he would meet with a rebuff.

Six Die in Brooklyn Tenement Fire.

New York Oct. 17.—Six lives were lost and nearly a score of persons were injured and the lives of more than 100 others were endangered in an early morning tenement house fire in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn today. With one exception, all the dead are children. Incendiaries are thought to have been responsible for the fatal fire, and this theory is strengthened by the fact that while the firemen were at work on the blaze alarms were turned in for two other fires in the immediate neighborhood.

Gigantic Corruption Fund to Debauch the Ballot Only Hope of Roosevelt's Managers.

New York, Oct. 14.—Three weeks from next Tuesday either Alton B. Parker or Theodore Roosevelt will be elected President of the United States. If George B. Cortelyou, official father of the Republican party, knows what he is talking about, it is all over but the shouting. Roosevelt is as good as elected, and the voting on the 8th of November will be a mere matter of form. Mr. Roosevelt, so the official fat-fryer would have the public understand, will have the jolliest kind of a walkover. Indeed he will have so many electoral votes that, like the old woman in the shoe, with her numerous children, he won't know what to do with them.

But will Mr. Roosevelt have a merry, or other kind of a walkover? "Toni" Watson, Mr. Roosevelt's side partner, who is running a Republican annex, says he will. "The unspeakable Adickes" agrees with Watson. Former Senator Peffer, of Kansas, described a few years ago by Republican organs as "the bewhiskered and lantern-jawed calamity howler," is of the same opinion and says so from the stump. Astrologers and palmists have been consulted and have added to this convincing array of evidence. And last, but by no means least, Elijah II, otherwise known as Dowie the Prophet, has had a vision which confirms the predictions of Cortelyou and his distinguished aids before mentioned. Dowie, in an impassioned speech to the assembled hosts of Zion, commanded every one of them to vote for Roosevelt. "The Democrats," said the Prophet, "are a lot of stink-pots, the scum of the earth. Under Roosevelt we will have a government, not of the people, for the people, but a government of God, for God, and by God."

CAN THE PRESIDENCY BE BOUGHT?

Despite the apparent confidence displayed by these eminent conservatives, Messrs. Cortelyou, Watson, Adickes, Peffer and Dowie, Roosevelt will not be elected, unless supporters of Parker and Davis in New York, Indiana, Connecticut, New Jersey, West Virginia, Montana, Nevada, Colorado, Delaware, Wisconsin and Illinois prove to be less vigilant than it is believed they are, and will be until the close of the polls. There is no doubt that the Republican managers have planned to buy the Presidency. Evidence accumulates that they are preparing to use an enormous corruption fund in the purchase of the floating vote in certain states. They have been accused openly of this intention by two high-class and independent newspapers, the New York Times and the Brooklyn Eagle. The accusation is supported by that sort of circumstantial evidence which oftentimes is more convincing than direct evidence. That the disclosures made to the newspapers named, and which have been published by them, and not denied by the Republican managers, are true no honest man doubts. The victims who furnished the information are the heads of large corporations which are not particularly interested in the Republican campaign, being among the corporations which do not depend for business success upon the tariff or other class legislation. They were "sundbagged" and forced to give large sums of money to the Republican national committee, the inference being that if they failed to do so they would "hear something drop." Mr. Cortelyou, it should be borne in mind, was formerly Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, a department created ostensibly for the public benefit, but actually managed in the personal and political interest of Theodore Roosevelt in anticipation of his nomination for the Presidency. Whether or not the infamous plan to buy the Presidency for Roosevelt can be put through, depends upon the vigilance of the local committees and individual voters, who are earnestly supporting Parker and Davis. The Democratic national committee is in possession of evidence from every state in the Union which convinces it that the clean, unpurchaseable vote of the country which favors the election of the Democratic ticket is at least a third larger than the like vote favoring the Republican ticket. And the committee is convinced that the drift is with the Democrats at the present time. Parker and Davis will certainly win the election if the wholesale debauchery of the ballot contemplated by the Republican managers can be prevented. To this end the Democratic national committee, with powerful aid from Democratic and independent sources, is bending its energies. If every Democratic voter will consider himself on guard to protect the purity of the ballot, Parker and Davis will make as great a sweep as did Cleveland and Stevenson in 1882.

AN INFAMOUS REPUBLICAN CIRCULAR.

The Republican corruptionists, with millions already in their campaign chest, are crying, begging, browbeating, to get more. They have just made a secret appeal to Wall street interests, which belies their professed confidence that they intend to raise every dollar possible and buy the Presidency at any cost. A Wall street man who received one of these appeals from the headquarters of the Republican national committee, sent it to a personal friend, Prof. Henry Loomis Nelson, a member of the faculty of Williams College. Prof. Nelson says of it: "Its English is the English that would be used by a district captain of New York in bidding for votes or in announcing his annual picnic on the East river. From the beginning to the closing sentences, the circular fills one with shame that such a document should issue from the headquarters of the great party which is now in power in every department of the government, and which is asking the government to maintain it in power. The appeal is made to those who have money, that they pay for the election of Mr. Roosevelt."

"The circular says that the real campaign has not yet begun. It says further that the election depends upon the votes of men who are independent, and it is to win these votes that money is needed. It significantly declares that among the independents, upon whose votes all political contests depend, is 'the fickle labor element.' The 'great class not identified with any party' is also mentioned."

INDEPENDENTS AND LABORING MEN SLANDERED.

"The independent vote, including the 'fickle labor element,' is, according to this circular, to be obtained before success can be had. A great company of speakers, tons of literature, and all the outfit of a campaign 'calls for a broad-gauged management and lots of money.'"

"Again alluding to the independents it is stated:

GROVER CLEVELAND ASSAILED.

"This latter class (men not identified with any party) was responsible for the election of Grover Cleveland in two national campaigns, a man of peculiar faults, utterly devoid of the qualities necessary to cope with the duties of the high office of President of the United States, this unmanly and contemptible slur upon the first citizen of the republic is made in a circular written and published in order to secure money to be expended for the election of Theodore Roosevelt. Two years ago as President, and before, when he was governor of New York, Theodore Roosevelt aimed to bring his administrations up to the high standard set by Mr. Cleveland's administration of the two offices. He used to say: 'I think that Mr. Cleveland could do no better than this,' or 'I think that this is even better than Mr. Cleveland did.' At the funeral of Mr. Harrison, Mr. Roosevelt crossed the room to Mr. Cleveland and said to him in the hearing of many persons that he esteemed it a great honor to have served under his administration. And now his underlings, at the head of whom is Mr. Cortelyou, whom Mr. Cleveland first received into the White House as a stenographer, turn upon him and call him a man 'utterly devoid of the qualities of statesmanship necessary to cope with the duties of the high office of President of the United States.' Base partisanship could not be baser."

SOME DIRE PREDICTIONS.

"The circular attributes the great building operations in New York to the Republican party's control of the national government, and says that 'if Judge Parker is elected those who now dwell in New York hotels will be driven to the tenement houses.' The writer of the circular further remarks: 'I know of a hundred concerns in this country that would rather give $50,000 each than have a change of party.'"

"The circular then proceeds to deny its own story of the prosperity which has followed the administration and control of the Republican party, and its author, assuming a confidential air, says: 'If you must know the truth, let me tell you that there is danger ahead! With Maryland and Kentucky out of the Republican column, with 20,000 men out of employment in Chicago, with the failure of crops in the Dakotas, with the cold season in Montana, with an inside fight on in New York half the Republicans ready to bite Odell [sic], with a cotton mill slump in New England, with such conditions no Republican with large investments can afford to run any risks.'"

"Again: 'Not one dollar of your money will be thrown away. It will be your bread cast upon the waters, which shall bring you, not only good returns, but you shall have four years more of prosperity, because you will be protected! Was there ever so shameless a promise made in behalf of a candidate for President? It is here proclaimed that a return in profit (bread and protection) by the tariff and from the operations of the anti-trust law will be paid back and given to campaign fund contributors, at the expense of the taxpayers.'"

"Why not help a good thing? Do it today! Do it now! Hon. Cornelius M. Bliss is the treasurer of the Republican national committee, with office at No. 1 Madison avenue.'"

These are the last words of this extraordinary circular. Comment is hardly necessary, but again it is well to repeat the assertion of the Brooklyn Eagle and New York Times that the Presidency is to be purchased if it can be, and to add that this circular appeal to moneyed men furnishes evidence of the method to be employed. True it is, as Professor Nelson says: "The Republican campaign depends on money, not on principle, not on argument, but on money, and such vast sums are asked for that all intelligent men know that the money is not to go for legitimate expenses, but for corruption, and, furthermore, the circular bears evidence of the promise given that to contributors shall be furnished 'bread' and 'protection' for the next four years." In the history of all Democracies, no such scandalous a snarl upon the integrity of a people has ever been made as that which the Republican leaders, with Mr. Roosevelt's Cortelyou at their head, are now making.

Store and Postoffice Robbed.

Winston, Oct. 14.—The postoffice and store of R. S. Crews, at Dennis, on the Norfolk & Western Railway, were broken into last night. This morning officers arrested four negroes—Joe Martin, Henry, Jim and John Hairston. Some of the stolen property was found in their possession. Mr. Crews identified two suits and a silver watch belonging to Mr. Crews, who is also postmaster. The watch was sold by the negroes, but it was recovered by Mr. Crews, who reported that the money and stamps were not molested.

ITCHING ECZEMA

In July, 1883, I began to break out with Eczema on my head, legs and arms, and began treatment with local doctors, but did not get much relief. They said the disease had become chronic. I then quit them and tried various ointments and soaps for another two years, but as soon as cold weather came I was as bad off as ever, so I finally decided to let medicine alone, and for twelve or thirteen years did nothing towards curing the Eczema, except bathing. This seemed to do about as much good as anything I had tried.

During the time I lost about one-half of my hair. I began S. S. S. doubtful of a cure, because the disease had run so long, but soon discovered your medicine was doing me good, and continued to take it. I used seven bottles, when I was completely cured, not having a single spot on my body, which before was almost completely covered.

E. C. NORFOLK.
1017 Hackberry St., Ottumwa, Ia.

The head, feet and hands are usually the parts affected, though the disease appears on other parts of the body. While external applications allay the itching and burning temporarily, it is the acids thrown off by the blood that cause the irritation and eruptions upon the skin. The acids must be neutralized and the system cleansed of all humors and poisons before the cure is permanent.

S. S. S. is guaranteed entirely free of Potash, Arsenic and other minerals. Book on the skin and its diseases sent free. Medical advice furnished free.

higher sense is Christ in his kingdom. In and power he governs and his word is the law of the world. He is in truth president, more than a father, more than a king, more than God. He is an absolute monarch of the whole world.
 An illustration of Christ's and his freedom from curand preachers is given which may help us to
 as. Think if we study Sunday while Jesus was in the temple surrounded by the scribes and Pharisees of the Law. What into the Jesus was they drove a learned, sabbidg woman being taken in adultery in the crowds of listeners of men. They cried out
 "He has said that all consider what shall we do with her? Shall we stone her to death, or shall we let her go?"
 Jesus said Christ condemn her. The poor creature, a sinner, he must do. Christ loved her well as by the word he saved the men who were against her.
 What was the meaning of this? We cannot for a minute that a being so pure could have been so hateful to him, but we must see from the way in which he sinner and her accusers of the more deeply to be saved.

Another characteristic of the divine law is that it recognizes no distinction of rank or station. As the divine law makes no distinction between sexes it also makes no distinction between the sins of the upper and the lower social classes. It does not have a criminal code for the palace and another for the hut. It does not have one for the wealthy Wall street financier who manipulates the railroad stock and "waters" it and cheats thousands of small investors out of their all, and another for the grocerwoman who less false weights and never sends a full pound of coffee or tea or sugar to his customers when they pay for a full pound. It does not have one set of rules for the wife of the millionaire who hides her diamonds and watches and jewelry in her dress to escape the searching of the New York custom house officials, which jewelry she is bringing to her American friends after a European trip, and another set of rules for the newsboy who steals a loaf of bread out of the bakery wagon when the driver is away selling his goods at a kitchen door. In other words, what the divine law condemns in homespun it condemns in broad cloth. When it says "Thou shalt not to the pikebin," it also says "Thou shalt not" to the aristocrat. What it denounces in the heart of the serf it also denounces in the heart of the ruler sitting upon the king's throne or of the judge sitting upon the chief justice's bench of the supreme court or of the premier governing in state.

When Porfirio Diaz became president of the Mexican republic he did not find the beginning supply honest men to capture scoundrels. The hills and the mountains of Mexico were the retreat of scoundrels and hundreds of brigands and robbers. What Diaz did in the beginning was to send for some of the leaders of the roving bands of thieves. He then commissioned these leaders as representatives of his own government. He dressed them up in Mexican uniforms and sent them forth as police to hunt down and bring to justice their late companions in thievery and murder. He sent these scoundrels forth to capture scoundrels. And they did their work well. Javero, because he had at heart all the making up of a scoundrel, made a fine sleuth and found on the heels of a Jean Valjean. And thus many scoundrels in Mexico during the first administration of Diaz.

you will find peace and life and hope.
And where did this broken hearted Maggie find her peace? Ah, yes, was in the temple. There the "divine law of mercy" was revealed to her.
While Christ was teaching the people the great lesson of God's forgiveness of sin they brought her to him. In the temple Jesus reached and said to be "Nathaniel do I understand thee. Go on sin no more." In the temple, in the building, this church dedicated for the worship of Jesus Christ, O sinners, can you truly keep the value of the Massacre offering you pardon of sin.
You can hear him if, like the broken hearted woman at the feet of Christ you give a repentant sinner. You can you will say, "Lord, save me and save me next." That pardon through Christ is the purchase of the divine law. Will you follow the Will you receive it now?
