The Goose Grease Liniment Company has moved into its new quarters at the corner of South Ashe street and the Southern Railway track, where the company will have sufficient room for the manufacturing and shipping of Goose Grease Liniment. The sale of the liniment is rapidly increasing and this causes the demand for better facilities.

A special from Washington says President Roosevelt will spend only five minutes in Greensboro on his approaching Southern trip. It had been hoped that he could tarry here long enough to make a visit to the Battle Ground, and Senator Simmons is not without hope that this arrangement may yet be included in the President's itinerary.

McCollum, of New Bethel township, Rockingham county, died Sunday after a lingering illness and was buried yesterday at Sandy Cross church, the funeral services being conducted by her pastor, Rev. The county commissioners were in session Monday and Tuesday, transacting a vast amount of business. A jury was drawn for the September criminal court and the "commissioners' fund" was formally turned over to the county treasurer, whose receipt is now in the hands of the board. GREENSBORO'S NEW SUBURB.

Model Town to be Built Southwest of the City, With Street Cars, Park and All Modern Improvements.

Within the past week Messrs. Millikan and Bain, of the Carolina Real Estate Company, have closed a trade, as agents for a strong syndicate of Norfolk and Philadelphia capitalists, for approximately one hundred and fifty acres of very desirable land lying a little south of west of the city which will be transformed into a model residence suburb, having every modern facility and convenience, including a street car line and a park. The tract referred to embraces practically all of the vacant land between the corporate limits and the fair ground, south of the railroad, and it is admirably adapted to just such an enterprise. At an early date officials of the syndicate will set about subdividing the tract, laying out broad streets and improving them, while the Greensboro Electric Company will proceed at once to build a car line out West Lee street to the fair ground, connecting there with the Lindley park line, which will give exceptional facilities to that section of the city. The electric company will also supply the suburb with both incandescent and arc lights, besides furnishing gas, while a contract has already been entered into with the city of Greensboro providing for an extension of the water and sewer mains. The plans of the syndicate have not been announced in detail, but enough is known to warrant the assurance that it is by far the biggest undertaking in which Greensboro ever figured and will accomplish wonders in the way of developing our city. The promoters of the enterprise have some agreeable surprises in store for the people of Greensboro, and the whole state will sit up and take notice when things begin to hum out that way.

County Educational Conference.

There was quite a large number of the school committeemen and teachers of the county present at the joint meeting of the committeemen and the county board of education Saturday. A number of important subjects were discussed and much interest manifested. Two sessions were held, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. The conference was presided over by County Superintendent Thomas R. Foust, who called the meeting together at 10:30 o'clock.

Interesting addresses were made at the morning session by Messrs. J. Van Lindley and John C. Kennett on "The Township High School." Messrs. C. H. Ireland and John A. Young spoke upon the subject of "Improvements of Public School Houses and Grounds." All of these addresses were very interesting and helpful. Brief remarks were made by others. The closing address of the morning was by Dr. Chas. D. McIver, who spoke interestingly upon the subject, "The Improvement of the Teacher."

The conference adjourned for dinner at 1 o'clock and reassembled at 2:30. Dr. W. T. Whitsett made an address upon the same subject as Dr. McIver spoke upon in the morning, "The Improvement of the Teacher."

Prof. J. I. Foust made an interesting address to the school committeemen at the afternoon session.

Plumbers Take a Vacation.

The plumbing industry of Greensboro has been disturbed the past week by what the master plumbers term a strike and what the plumbers themselves call a lockout. The trouble originated over a shop regulation promulgated by Mr. J. Ed. Albright involving the use of bicycles by his men, and his seven plumbers and their seven helpers walked out. It was not long before every shop in town was involved and work has since been at a standstill until yesterday, when most of the men returned to work under an agreement made last March covering a period of a year, none of the rules adopted in the meantime by the union to take effect until the expiration of the contract. Mr. Albright's men are not at work today, however, as he refused to re-employ the helpers who went out with the plumbers, and the latter say they will stick to the men who stood by them. It is to be hoped that the matter will be speedily adjusted to the satisfaction of everyone.

Quarantine Bulletin.

The Southern Railway has issued following quarantine bulletin:

"All passengers destined to points south and west of the state of North Carolina, or traveling between points south and west of the state of North Carolina, should provide themselves with health certificates, showing their whereabouts for ten days prior to purchase of transportation. Such health certificates should be obtained from state health officer, mayor, city health officer of city or town in which they reside or purchase transportation."

GREENSBORO TOBACCO MARKET.

MARKET REPORT.

The receipts on our market for the past week have been very good considering the time of year. All of the old tobacco has been marketed and very few primings have been cured, so we could not expect large receipts, however we had a nice lot of primings during the past week which went off at very satisfactory prices and in most cases farmers got more for them than they had expected. This is one year it pays well to prime the tobacco, where you can do so without injuring the main body of the plant, and we would advise farmers to save every priming they can without damaging their crop. We can use them tied or untied, but if you bring them to market untied be sure to wipe the dirt off good and keep them straight and do not get them too soft in order, for we cannot handle them if they are too soft.

Prices on these primings are running from $1.80 to $7.75 per hundred, and if we could get some good ones the prices would run very much higher. So far we have only had primings that are pulled off before the tobacco was topped, and as a matter of course they are not well matured.

DEMAND FOR TOBACCO INCREASES.

The demand for tobacco has steadily increased on this market for the past three years until our buyers have made up their minds to bring more tobacco to this market. We are building another warehouse here which we hope will increase our trade very much and furnish additional accommodation to farmers and their teams. This new warehouse will be finished and ready for use by October 1st if not a little sooner, and it will be run by one of the best warehousemen in the country. We feel that everybody will be glad to come to this warehouse and see how nice it is and meet the gentlemen who run it. We are preparing for more tobacco to be sold in Greensboro this year than was ever sold here before, and as a matter of fact we know we must pay you well for this tobacco, which can be easily done with the increased demand we have on this market. We hope to see you here early and often during the coming season and we pledge you the very best market prices at all times.

T. P. Barham and J. M. Lee, of this county, sold primings with us last week and were well pleased.

J. M. Edmonson and Jule Sharp, of Rockingham, were here with primings last week and made good sales.

Our old friends John Roney and T. E. Isley, of Aulander county, were here with primings last week and made good sales.

I. M. Laster and J. E. Laster, of Rockingham, were here with primings last week. They were well pleased with prices.

Henry Reese and J. R. Reese, of this county, were here with primings the past week. Their prices ranged from $2.20 to $7.50 per hundred.

C. W. Apple, J. A. Pinkleton and C. L. Pinkleton, of Brown Summit, were here with primings last week and were well pleased with prices.

Lee Faucett, J. T. Faucett and W. H. Faucett, of Brown Summit, were here with primings the past week and made highly satisfactory sales.

J. E. Green, R. T. Gordon, C. R. Gordon and P. M. Gordon, of Brown Summit, were here with primings last week and made very satisfactory sales.

Mr. R. L. Dixon sent a load of common primings here last Friday for which he realized a good price considering the poor quality. We regret to note the extreme illness of Mr. Dixon and his daughter.

Banner Warehouse.

TO MY FARMER FRIENDS: We have had numerous inquiries as to whether it will pay to save primings this season. Our opinion is, it will pay very handsomely, especially if you find they will fire before the remainder of the plant is ready for cutting. We have sold several curings of primings since taking hold of the Banner warehouse the first of August at very satisfactory prices, considering how very common and dirty they were. We have a large independent order on our market this season, which is one of the causes of primings bringing a better price than they did last season. The crop is short, and it is to your interest to save every leaf. Tie up the best grades, then drive right to the Banner warehouse, where Morgan and Smith will be pleased to see you, and will show their appreciation by getting you the very best prices for your tobacco.

Your friend,

E. L. MORGAN.

James Leslie Wilmoth, a twelve-year-old incorrigible who has given his father and the police no end of trouble, went to Charlotte last week and told a pitiful tale of having been abused at home, exhibiting several welts that had been caused by violent contact with a hickory switch. Naturally the sensibilities of the good Charlotte people were shocked and the papers there deluged the youngster with pity until the facts in the case were established. Wilmoth's father is an industrious and law-abiding citizen of Greensboro and he gave the boy a well-deserved beating last week for stealing a pocketbook and fighting his little sick sister, whereupon the boy hid himself away in a Southern dining car and landed in Charlotte.

The Odell Hardware Company sprung an innovation yesterday by suspending business for one day while everybody connected with the big establishment went to Lindley Park for an old fashioned picnic that was enjoyed to the limit, notwithstanding the fact that the start was made in a gentle rain. The rain ceased before the crowd reached its destination, however, and there was nothing to mar the day's pleasures, which included a drive to Guilford College and the Battle Ground.

Prof. Parker to Open Studio Here.

Prof. J. W. Parker has returned from a visit of a month with Mrs. Parker in Ohio. He has accepted the position of organist at the First Baptist church of this city, and will open a studio September 1st in the church parlors. He will teach piano, voice, pipe organ and harmony. Students wishing to practice on the pipe organ can use the church organ, arrangements to this effect having been made by Prof. Parker. He will accept pupils of any age upon the piano. Prof. Parker is an accomplished musician. He came to Greensboro thirteen years ago and his work here attracted attention throughout the state. He spent last year in Arkansas. We are pleased with his decision to return to Greensboro, as he is an exceptionally clever gentleman and has always been a model citizen.

The Reformed Church.

Rev. Shuford Peeler, pastor of the First Reformed church, states that work has been resumed on their new church building. Last year the Sunday school room was built at a cost of about $3,000. This summer and fall the congregation hopes to erect the auditorium and enclose it. It may not be finished inside until next year. This congregation started just two years ago with seventeen members, and no lot or house in which to worship. Since then they have bought a lot costing nearly $1,500 and already erected a Sunday school building costing $3,000. Their property is now worth between $4,000 and $5,000. Last quarter the Sunday school enrollment ran up to 161. The pastor states that a corner-stone laying service will be held in a week or two.

IS IT RIGHT?

Is it right that a property-owner should lose $4.20 to let a dealer make 50 cents? A dealer makes 50 cents more on fourteen gallons of ready-for-use paint, at $1.50 per gallon, than our agent does on eight gallons of L. & M. paint and six gallons of linseed oil, which make fourteen gallons of the best paint in the world, at $1.20 per gallon; the property-owner loses just $4.20. Is it right?

It only requires 4 gallons of L. & M. and 3 gallons linseed oil to paint a moderate sized house.

Made in the Golden Sunlight

It is conceded by the highest authorities that the soda cracker contains the life-giving elements of wheat in the best proportions.

This being so, then Uneeda Biscuit must at once take first place as the food of the world—a soda cracker, but such a soda cracker! Made by exact science in sunny bakeries so light, bright and clean, that they are a revelation. The flour is tested; the purity of the water is absolutely assured; the very air is filtered,—why even the temperature and moisture of the atmosphere is accurately regulated. The sponge is kneaded by polished paddles, not by hand. Indeed, Uneeda Biscuit are only touched once, and then by a pretty girl, from the time the flour leaves the bag until the beautiful package is placed on your table.

You ask why all this work, all this care in the making of a soda cracker? Because the soda cracker is the best of all food and Uneeda Biscuit is the most wonderful of all soda crackers. And with all of it the price is only 5¢ a package.

Dangerous Convict at Large.

The following appeared in the Raleigh News and Observer of last Sunday, the 6th:

The following notice, telling of the escape of a negro convict from the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound Railway camp, has been issued by the state's prison authorities:

"Charles Donnell, a dark ginger-colored negro, twenty-seven years old, 5 feet 10 1/2 inches high, weighing 180 pounds, having black hair and brown eyes, a scar at corner of left eye and one on left side of nose, and no education, escaped from our convict camp on the Raleigh & Pamlico Sound Railroad about ten miles east of Raleigh this morning. He was sentenced from Guilford county in August, 1904, for twelve years for burglary. For his arrest we will pay a reward of $25 and all necessary expenses."

Donnell is one of the most dangerous men ever sent up from this county. In May of last year he broke into the Greensboro Hardware Company's store, entering by way of a bedroom window on the second floor. Fortunately he was captured in the building by Mr. M. C. Stewart, a member of the firm, and Officers Busick, Marsh and White, who had been summoned, and had the case against him been pushed to the limit he would have been hanged. It developed after his arrest here that he was then an escaped convict from Mecklenburg. The authorities of the penitentiary will be open to a charge of negligence if they are not more careful in guarding the convicts. It has been but a few weeks since Green McAdoo, the colored wife-murderer sent up from here for thirty years, was allowed to escape. There is little use to spend much money apprehending and convicting criminals if they are allowed to escape within short periods.

Changes in the State Normal and Industrial College Faculty.

JACK'S BEAN STALK.

It's Outdone by Charley Tate's Bacteria Yeast.

Andrew Joyner, in Raleigh News and Observer.

Greensboro, Aug. 5.—Mr. Charles Tate, a progressive farmer and poultry raiser living near the city, exhibited today some mammoth cow pea vines from seed planted four weeks ago. The leaves and stalks are immense and already the runners to some of the plants are three feet long. At the rate these runners have thus far grown, County Superintendent Foust, who made a mathematical calculation this morning, says that with no impediment, and if the ratio of growth since beginning is uninterruptedly continued until frost they will reach the Yarbboro House dining room in Raleigh to the east, and Charlotte to the South, completely enveloping Greensboro in a network of vines and foliage before the first of September. This remarkable vigor of the pea plants is due to the inoculation of the soil with nitrogen bacteria which Mr. Tate used when he sowed the peas. As an evidence of the wonderful acceleration in the plants taking nitrogen from the air by the aid of the bacteria-impregnated soil, aside from the perfect stand on the land of the crop and its remarkable growth, the little nodules, or nodules, gathered on the roots of these plants, are as large now at a month's stage, as the pea root under the conditions on good soil generally are at maturity. Mr. Sam Trogdon has demonstrated on his farm near here, that a perfect stand of alfalfa can be obtained and heavy growth insured by soil inoculation, and it has remained for Mr. Tate to show that by using prepared bacteria, peas can be made to grow like Jack's bean stalk.

Mr. Tate relates, in connection with this nodule producing bacteria, an experience which may prove of immense importance in another direction, and has forwarded to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, at Washington, the facts. The bacteria virus with which he inoculated the soil came in the shape of yeast cakes. These before sowing the peas, he dissolved in water, soaking the seed in the dilution. Before he had completed the task of dissolving the cakes, he was called to attend to some domestic duty in the house, and left one-half of one of the cakes unsoaked lying on the ground. When he returned it was gone, and four fine blooded Brahma hens which had escaped from the wired yard close by drinking water out of the tubs showed him where the broken cake had gone. Ever since then he has noticed that these particular hens have laid eggs every day without fail, and of an immense size, the hens themselves visibly growing in size. With all his other hens it is off season, generally attributed by poultry raisers to dog-day summer heat.

If the experts in the Department of Agriculture, after investigation, find that eggs can be multiplied and hence enlarged by this bacteria yeast, Mr. Tate will have become the greatest benefactor of the twentieth century, far exceeding Rockefeller's millions for schools and Carnegie's millions for libraries in potentialities of benefit to the human race. By making cheap food for cows for milk and butter, beef and meat, he will, with increased hay productivity, have struck the beef trust and the dairy trust a bigger blow than all the government investigations ever have or ever will. And the increase in size of hens in addition to the greater quantity of eggs and weight of same, will make countless millions enjoy chicken and eggs, who were never able to indulge in the luxury before. If the making of two blades of grass grow where one grew before, enables a man to the honor of being called a public benefactor, what must Mr. Tate be called for having made not only the earth but hens multiply their increase fourfold?

And yet so modest and unassuming is he, he had to be over-persuaded to allow this amazing discovery to be published, only consenting with the declaration: "I couldn't care anything about it for myself, but I am proud of my peas, my hens and my eggs. I never would have thought of having all this publicity, but you have persuaded me that it might help a heap of poor folks buying hay to feed cows and sheep, and pigs and chickens for food. It might be profitable enough with the money-making that a winter over credit comes from it may go to benefit country farmers and Greensboro's appreciation of up-to-date progress and development."

We have the limit sixty days.
The first Monday night has now and every day late tickets to first spaces. Mr. Tate is not to be bought off. He is not a man who can be bought off. He is not a man who can be bought off. He is not a man who can be bought off.

UNCLE SAM TO FIGHT FEVER.

New Orleans Throws Up Sponge—Citizens Had at Last Become Thoroughly Alarmed and Step Meets General Approval.

New Orleans, Aug. 4.—Fever report to p. m.:

New cases, 43.
Total cases to date, 475.
Deaths today, 5.
Total deaths to date, 89.
New sub-foci, 19.
Total sub-foci, 76.

With no intention of admitting the fever situation to be beyond control, but in the hope of reviving confidence here and elsewhere in the South, official and business interests today decided to send a request to President Roosevelt to have the United States government assume full charge of the struggle now in progress to wipe out yellow fever from New Orleans and Louisiana. The public approves the action taken. Expectation is that within the next two days Surgeon General Wyman, with all the resources of the government, will be enlisted actively in the campaign.

The decision to ask the Federal government to take control was reached at a meeting of city and state officials and others, held late today at the cotton exchange.

DOUBLE MOTIVE FOR ACTION.

It was the consensus of the meeting that government control would restore confidence throughout the other states in the South, and the belief was expressed that Surgeon General Wyman would be able to send a force of physicians to New Orleans thoroughly equipped for the handling of the yellow fever situation because of their experience and the unquestionable facilities to enforce a scientific campaign against the fever.

When local health officers first took charge of the situation it was hoped that the fever could be stamped out within a reasonable time, but the infection has spread, and so frightened have the people become in the South over the increase in the number of cases that New Orleans is threatened with a serious paralysis of trade by reason of radical quarantines.

A telegram signed by the mayor and others present was addressed to Governor Blanchard, telling him of the action taken.

GENERAL CLOSING WEDNESDAY.

At a conference at the city hall it was decided that Mayor Behrman should issue a proclamation requiring every business house in the city to close Wednesday so that employees might take a hand in the general cleaning campaign. Merchants are to be asked to furnish carts to carry away refuse. A thousand carts will be required in the work. A special appeal also is to be addressed to householders, asking them to co-operate in the sanitary campaign by thoroughly cleaning back yards.

Today the board of health instituted a new rule, requiring its inspectors to make prompt report of cases. To that effect was added the fact that 20 new cases for today were announced early in the afternoon. Yesterday the 3 o'clock report showed seven new cases and two deaths, while at 6 o'clock there were reported 34 cases and five deaths. The inspectors had turned their eyes in the evening late in the evening and the evening report had a depressing effect on the public, which had been led by the afternoon report to believe that the situation was improving.

ONE PLACE OF REFUGE.

Hundreds of persons are temporarily avoiding from New Orleans to St. Tammany parish, the only near haven to which they can go. Yellow fever has again developed in St. Tammany parish during the most serious epidemic.

A thorough inspection of the red-light quarter today disclosed not a suspicious case of fever.

Business houses are feeling the effect of the quarantine. There has been a reduction in business and trade is quiet.

President Grants Request.

Washington, August 4.—President Roosevelt tonight forwarded to Surgeon General Wyman, of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, a telegram from Governor Blanchard, of Louisiana, requesting that the United States government take control of the yellow fever situation in New Orleans. The President directed the Surgeon General to take every step in his power to meet the situation in New Orleans and to notify him what further action is advisable and possible for the Federal authorities to take.

The telegram in full is as follows: Have received following telegram from Governor Blanchard, of Louisiana:

"At a joint meeting of representatives of all commercial bodies of the city of New Orleans and other prominent persons, at which were present the mayor of the city, the state health authorities and the president of the Orleans Parish Medical Association, the following resolution was adopted:

"That this meeting endorse the proposition to ask the United States government to take control of the yellow fever situation in New Orleans and that the governor of the state and the mayor of the city be requested to take immediate steps to carry this proposition into effect; further, that the hearty cooperation of the state and city governments and the state and city health boards and the parish medical societies and of the merchants and people generally be pledged in such action as may be taken by the government.

"I am requested by the mayor of the city, the presidents of the state and city boards of health and by a committee of prominent citizens to transmit the above resolution to you and request you to take over, on behalf of the Federal government, through the proper channels, the yellow fever situation at New Orleans. This I now do and urge speedy action on your part.

"N. C. BLANCHARD,
Governor of Louisiana."

"Please take every step in your power to meet the situation at New Orleans and comply with the request of the governor and the other authorities and notify me what further action is advisable and possible for the Federal authorities to take. Would like full report from you as to what should be done. Please confer with the surgeon generals of the army and navy, if, in your judgment, this is wise.

Dr. Wyman has acknowledged the President's telegram and will make a report to him tomorrow.

Second Yellow Fever Death at New York.

New York, Aug. 6.—One man died of yellow fever at New York's detention hospital at quarantine today, making the third case of yellow fever discovered on ships entering New York this summer and the second death.

"This is the first time in five years," said Health Officer Doty, "that New York has been threatened by more than one yellow fever case in a summer. William B. Smith, a pantryman taken off the steamer Advance, from Colon, last Thursday, with nine other suspects, died today with an acute case of yellow fever. Seven other members of this party are still under inspection, but I am positive that they are not suffering from yellow fever. The other two patients came here early in the summer."

Not one of these fever cases, Dr. Doty said, has come from the fever districts in the United States. Panama has supplied them all, and this is the first time since 1897, according to official health records at the port of New York, that fever cases from Panama have been either threatening or numerous.

"Pantryman Smith," said Dr. Doty today, "is only the third case out of fully 200 suspects who have been taken off from ships here. His death today, which came so suddenly that we could not even learn where his family is, proves that the thermometer is not merely the only safeguard against yellow fever entering New York, but almost a perfect protection. Smith's death is merely an isolated case."

The pantryman was discovered Thursday among a row of the Advance sailors lined up for medical examination. He was laughing louder than the others at the examination.

At the detention hospital he admitted that since about last Monday he had been feeling ill. The programme with the yellow fever dead is cremation. There are at quarantine 19 other persons who were taken off ships because their temperatures were higher than the degrees fixed as the lowest danger signal for yellow fever suspects.

Only two of these persons are from New Orleans, all except one of the others being from Panama. Dr. Doty says there is not the least danger that any of the suspects have been suffering from anything worse than malarial fever.

At the hospital on Swinburne Island, where only those patients actually suffering with some sort of fever are taken, there are still 16 men, all members of ships' crews. Three of them are from the Segurana, six from the Avoca and seven from the Advance.

At Hoffman Island, the detention station for persons who are not actually ill, but who are under suspicion, all the suspects were released today.

Runs Amuck on Train.

Louisiana, Mo., Aug. 5.—While a Chicago & Alton excursion train from Bloomington, Ill., to Kansas City was crossing the Mississippi river here today a man on board shot and killed Marion Warner, of Secor, Ill., shot and wounded a woman, and robbed a third passenger. After a hard fight the man was arrested and placed in jail here. He refused to give his name.

Warner was asleep when the man came through the train asking people if they were armed. He awoke Warner and asked if he had a revolver. Receiving a negative reply, it is stated, he immediately shot Warner dead. The passengers were panic-stricken, and when the hold-up demanded of a passenger whose name has not been learned that he empty his satchel, the hold-up took possession. The robber then fired at random, and one woman was shot through the arm.

A boiler maker from Jacksonville, Ill., attempted to arrest the man but was knocked senseless. Other passengers, rallied from their fright and the man was overpowered.

Claims were made by several that the hold-up man was drunk and had boasted openly that he would kill somebody.

Historic Flag Comes Back.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 4.—Steps have been taken to return to its former owners or the survivors an old Confederate artillery flag, once the property of Company H, Tenth North Carolina Regiment, U. S. A., which was captured by the Fifth Rhode Island Volunteers. Chief Justice Douglas, of Rhode Island, at a recent reunion of Civil war veterans produced the flag and turned it over to the Veterans' Association of the Fifth Rhode Island, asking that it be returned to the men who fought under it. Colonel Rogers will communicate with General Julian S. Carr, of Durham, N. C., president of the Blue and Gray Association. It is said that the battery which originally carried the flag lost all its gunners in a Virginia battle, the last man being shot after he had loaded a gun with grape and fired it point blank into the advancing Union soldiers.

Killed by Electric Shock.

Charlotte, Aug. 3.—Joseph J. Bradshaw, a mill operative, whose home is at Mooresville, was killed tonight while leaning against an electric light pole. Bradshaw had one hand on the crank that regulates the lights and the other hand on the shoulder of a companion. As the lights were turned on Bradshaw dropped to the ground and died instantly.

The electrical shock passed through his body, and sparks were seen to come from his shoe tops. The man had a note in his pocket asking if anything happened to him to notify his wife in Mooresville.

Negro Charged With Attempted Train Wrecking.

Danville, Va., Aug. 5.—Arthur Curry, a colored youth arrested in Norfolk, was sent on to the Superior court at Yanceyville, N. C., today for attempting to wreck an Atlantic & Danville passenger train. The negro placed a heavy iron bar across the rails. The obstruction was discovered in time to stop the train.

FRISBEE NO MATCH FOR JAP.

Annapolis Jiu-Jitsu Professor Beats North Carolina Wrestler.

Asheville, Aug. 4.—In the presence of 2,000 people, Prof. Ono, Japanese instructor of jiu-jitsu at the Annapolis Naval Academy, defeated "Big Tom" Frisbee, of Madison county, in a mixed wrestling match at the auditorium tonight. The men were matched for the best two out of three falls. Ono secured the first fall in one hour and twelve minutes, and the second in thirty-five seconds. Both falls were obtained with a strangle-hold, Frisbee falling to the mat exhausted at the end of the second bout. It was brute strength against Oriental science.

The Jap weighed 207 pounds, and is five feet six and one-half inches in height, while Frisbee tips the scales at 305 pounds, and is six feet five and one-half inches high. The American used catch-as-catch-can tactics, while the Japanese expert relied solely on jiu-jitsu.

Frisbee Wants Another Bout With the Jap

Asheville, Aug. 5.—Street gossip has had to do almost solely with the wrestling bout at the auditorium last night. Standing about in groups men discussed the outcome of the contest and endeavored to explain the strangle-hold and how it all happened. Tom Frisbee, the vanquished wrestler, was on the streets during the morning and was the subject of much discussion. Everywhere he went his friends wanted to know how the little Jap did it and the big fellow from Madison was kept answering embarrassing questions. "It was that blamed shirt," said Mr. Frisbee, that did the trick. It was the Jap's own invention. Another thing that handicapped me and prevented my throwing Prof. Ono was the ruling out by the referee of throwing my opponent over the ropes for a fall."

Standing in front of the Hotel Berkeley, Mr. Schoenfeld, the referee, said that Mr. Frisbee lacked training. "It was simply science against great size," said he, "and the scientific man and the man well trained won. It was evident from the start that Mr. Frisbee was not in training. The strangle-hold that Prof. Ono worked is old. He kept working his hands in Mr. Frisbee's collar; pressed his thumbs in his opponent's neck, stopped the flow of blood through the artery and forced him to give up. Pressing on the artery has the effect of creating faintness and destroys power. The Jap worried Frisbee. Frisbee hasn't the heart."

One of Prof. Ono's countrymen said that the Jap found Mr. Frisbee's neck weak after they had been on the mat a few minutes; that Prof. Ono was never in danger. It was stated this morning that the Jap could have put Frisbee out with the strangle-hold within a few minutes after the contest started, but that Prof. Ono wanted to throw his opponent.

A good deal of money is said to have changed hands on the contest. A number of $100 and $200 wagers were made and it was rumored this morning that one Madison county backer of Frisbee had lost several thousand dollars. Little credence is given this story, however.

WATTERSON IN MONTE CARLO.

Views of a Kentucky Colonel—Why Rou-

let is Fancied Particularly by Women.

Watterson's Letter in Louisville Courier-Journal.

I take it there is hardly a Sunday-school scholar, at least in Kentucky, who has not heard of Monte Carlo, and who has not caught the idea that it is a place of divine worship nor a church choir. There are those, indeed, who err on the other extreme; who fancy that the regulation thing for the gentleman who comes to Monte Carlo is to go to the casino; then to go to the gardens for a bit of moonlight and fresh air, mopping his forehead with the white with a not very clean handkerchief; next, to meet a Russian princess, like himself, the worse for play, and in need of sympathy; and, finally, set upon by a Siellan nobleman, to run the nobleman through the body and make off with the princess. This is the romantic fancy sketch. The common thing is to lose your money and go back whence you came second-class.

All gambling is vulgar. Call it what you will, assist for it whatever motive you please. It is an irrational, an ignominious struggle for money. At Monte Carlo the devil took art by one hand and money by the other, and, leading them to the brow of the hill, said, "Blame me a temple," and they builded.

They sent to Paris for Charles Garnier, the famous architect. They said to Charles Garnier, "Rear us a palace which in splendor and beauty shall rival your own Grand Opera House." Lo, the casino.

Satan was happy. But his work was not yet done, nor his grim, world-wise caprice quite satisfied. So he put on his best black doublet and his newest red breeches, sticks a fine fresh peacock's feather in his cap and pays a visit to Prince Albert Grimaldi, of Monaco, on the opposite acclivity.

"Behold," says he, "I give you riches, here for you the most gorgeous, the most sumptuous gambling house in the world. I embellish it nobly, I surround it with royal gardens. I give it you and I myself I sublet it to you, and out of the rental I pay you Monaco shall flourish as the green bay tree; the house of Grimaldi shall bloom as the red, red rose. Allow me to present to you my personal friend and business representative, M. Blanc, why not M. Blanc of Paris, who will arrange the details."

The Prince of Monaco did not say, "Behold me, Satan." On the contrary, he shook M. Blanc warmly by the hand, entered into a negotiation with M. Blanc, became lessee of Monte Carlo, paying some millions a year of cash money, and next day the casino of fortune, driven out of Baden Baden and Hamburg, was set up on the acclivity of the devil's own choice, and it must be acknowledged, a magnificent site either for pictures or for his sable highness having always displayed a genius for land bargains and a leaning toward the fine arts.

There is a postal card picture which shows up the facade of the casino at Monte Carlo, with a drove of sheep—wooly, woolly—going in, and the same drove, made and skinny, coming out, and no friendly voice to cry, "May heaven temper the wind to the shorn lamb!" Heaven, I dare say, takes little account of flocks so ravenous and unproductive. After all they are only wool in sheep's clothing. See them about the tables, two or three files deep, treading one upon another, pushing the patient croupiers, pressing their good or bad luck, sometimes growing and showing their teeth, sometimes at angry variance over the loss of a winning stake and it might be allowed that they are deserving of no other commiseration than that they should be here at all.

The greater number, indeed, are there to Monte Carlo by sheer curiosity. Many come for pastime. A few for a little gain, or for a form of gambling which is known nowhere else, and even here, is limited to an occasional old woman, frowsy and faded, who, watching her chance, drops one of an evening lay hands upon some forgotten or neglected placement, or when some ignorant player, or when some shy girl, or badly-schooled man, too green or gallant to resist. This, however, is becoming less and less. Each table is next to a croupier. Each croupier is some kind of a detective. The order is absolute. Cards of admission must be shown daily, so that, if for any cause, the admission is refused, the applicant may be refused his renewal, and he has no recourse. Women of doubtful character are not admitted, because, unless they are known, they cannot be distinguished from the debauched titled nobles, who, however, short in her purse, is long in her purse, and may be excluded on no better warrant than her actual physiognomy; women of the same type and aspect, the bleared and red-nosed angels of the Rue de la Paix, have no longer any money to spend on Monte Carlo.

The gambling begins at 10 in the morning and closes at 12 at night, and as an old Paris friend of mine observed, "There is no Sunday in dees place."

The American progressive gambler is always regarded as a dead-end, which it is, and hence he plays with the "house." In America, however, the game is rarely honest.

There are many devices for controlling the wheel. At Monte Carlo there can be none. With 100 players at each of the double tables, money scattered everywhere, there could be neither police nor possibility on the part of the management to resort to electric contrivances. They do not need the percentage is sufficient. The game has no nerves and is never more for drink. The players' always come back. They are never satisfied until they have lost what they can afford to lose, and often a great deal more.

There have been, time out of mind, systems and systems for beating the bank at Monte Carlo. One of these, known as the Labouchere system, seems next to perfect; but it involves unlimited patience and iron sensibilities, means small gains at the end of long waits and sometimes considerable outlays. Breaking rock on a turnpike is no harder.

To catch a dragon in a cherry net, To trip a tigress with a rossamer, Were wisdom to it.

When a coin is tossed in the air it must come down heads or tails. In roulette it is as if a ball were tossed in the air to fall into the hole only for a predicted for it, you get only 35 for 1 as the reward of your prophetic genius. It is sheer luck, and in luck the inanimate has a sure advantage over the animate.

Gambling, like everything else, is relative. The sun lies in the over-play, with its collateral vices, chief among them improvidence. The reigning sovereign, who has only his money to lose, and plenty of that, is not to be classed with the banker, or the banker's confidential clerk, or secretary, who has everything at stake, character included though each plays for the same end, that is the diversion and excitement.

Kings come to Monte Carlo often. There are several expert gamblers among them. Hid away in villas hereabout are also quite a colony of Queens of the dowager class, notably Marguerite, of Italy, widow of the murdered Humbert, who may be seen every day in her automobile scorching along the Corniche road. Presently we shall have Eugenie, ex-empress of the French, who has a box near Mentone. But these women do not patronize the casino.

Formerly they had an apartment set aside for the royal guests, and those who required segregation and wanted to play high. As an evidence of the vulgarization of the place, this inner court has been abandoned. It is turned into a prosy reading room.

The gaming begins at 10 in the morning and ends at 12 at night, another innovation on the side of the commoners, for the old hours were 11.30 to 11.30, respectively. They tell me the play is less high each recurring season. Certain it is that silver is the prevailing color, gold only at intervals, and paper (bills) not at all. By far the greater number about the tables, as I have said, are curiosity seekers. The knowing ones prefer trente et quarante to roulette, which is voted a woman's game. It certainly appeals to the feminine imagination, both in the evolutions of the ball and the big odds which 35 for 1 seems to offer the lucky ones. The ladies rarely consider the odds on the other side. They only see that a "run" at roulette offers the quickest and largest returns of any game of chance.

Old stagers at Monte Carlo declare that they have seen "le noir," or "le rouge," come 30, yea five-and-thirty consecutive times. It may be so. As a rule, I give little credence to hard-luck stories; the woods are full of them. Anything in dice or cards are possible. Four gentlemen of Cincinnati at the Casino Club, some years ago, were playing whist, and from a pack of cards which had been thoroughly and fairly shuffled and properly cut, dealt a complete suit to each player. This was so extraordinary that each of the gentlemen went next day and made oath before a magistrate to the fact.

Of course, there is no such thing as "beating the bank at Monte Carlo." It might be possible for a run upon one of the tables to be so fast and furious as to require a momentary suspension whilst the bureau sent in a fresh supply of money, but it may be doubtful whether this ever actually happened. Nor are the stories of great winnings well founded. Generally the amounts are multiplied by tens, if not by hundreds. Lying comes as natural to the gambler's mind as gambling. When a man wants to make a rich haul he fings a seine full of fairy tales. There are plenty of gudgeons to gulp them; hook and line, for each one has its hook and line. Bird-on-toast, or "eagle birdy-chance," there is but one finale—"lost."

Eight Houses Burglarized.

Wilmington, Aug. 2.—The little town of Atkinson, Pender county, 28 miles from Wilmington, on the Atlantic & Yadkin division of the Atlantic Coast Line, was visited last night by burglars, who entered eight houses, including the railway station. The work was evidently that of professionals passing through the country. Something like $200 and other valuables were stolen as a result of the wholesale burglary. Bloodhounds were telegraphed for, but none could be obtained.

Painting Houses Cheap.

A Recipe by Which One Can Paint a Residence for From 65 to 75 Cents.

J. R. McCrary, in Lexington Dispatch.

The writer of this had occasion last week to take a trip from Lexington to the lower part of the county and was struck with the large number of nice new houses which had been erected within the last few years and with the evidences of general prosperity on the part of the people of that part of the county. He was also struck with another thing—that is that not a single one of these new houses had been treated with a coat of paint? Why should this be? And why is it a fact that hardly any of our people paint their homes? Up among the northern and western people all the homes are painted. Is that an evidence of greater taste or of more wealth? Perhaps of both. Surely no one who can paint a home without much cost will allow it to go from year to year exposed to the weather and without any beauty whatever.

The following recipe is one which the writer himself has used and which if followed exactly will afford a cheap paint and will last for seven or eight years—which is longer than the usual store paint will last. It gives a fine white color which will give eminent satisfaction and will preserve the buildings from decay and above all things else will add great beauty to homes which however well built look badly because of lack of paint. All the ingredients can be bought at any hardware store.

Take half bushel of fresh lime, put in a barrel, cover with an old sack, add enough water to just cover it and let it slack for a few days. Then strain through a coarse sack. During the above time dissolve a peck of salt in boiling water, strain it and add to the lime water. Also grind three pounds of rice in a coffee mill, boil it till it becomes a paste and put that in the lime barrel. Also dissolve two pounds of glue in water and put it in the barrel. Add two pounds of Spanish Whiting and stir till the whole mass becomes well mixed and then apply the same to the house with an ordinary white-wash brush. This preparation should not be put on cold or in a shower of rain. An old wash-pail full at a time and put it on while warm.

Try this and the writer guarantees a perfect white finish which will give you a beautiful home and at little cost. The whole thing will not cost you over 60 or 75 cents and you can put it on in a short time and have a pretty home where now perhaps you have a weather-beaten house with no outside attraction at all. The preparation does as well on an old house as a new and for the sake of yourselves, your wives and children I hope you will give it a trial. The whole world is full of loveliness. Then why should our good people live in unsightly homes?

The girls of old Davidson who live in the country have good taste, they dress well and look pretty in their nice dresses. Can't they get after the men folks and make them paint their homes? Make them do it.

Bad Blood Invites Disease

The blood supplies nourishment and strength to every part of the body when it is rich, pure and healthy. When from any cause it becomes diseased or weak it cannot supply the nutriment the system needs, and the body is unable to resist the diseases and troubles that are constantly assailing it to break down the health.

I have used S. S. S. and found it to be an excellent blood purifier and tonic. My blood was weak and impure, and as a result my system became very much run down and debilitated. I lost twenty or more pounds in weight, had no appetite and was a bad shape. Seeing S. S. S. advertised I began its use, and am well pleased with the results after using it for some little while. My system and general health have been wonderfully built up, and I no longer hesitate to give S. S. S. the credit for it. J. H. MARTIN, Warren, O., 60 Second St.

Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Catarrh, Old Sores, Malaria, Contagious Blood Poison, etc., are the results of bad or diseased blood, and until this vital fluid is cleansed and made pure, strong and healthy, these diseases will continue. The greatest of all blood purifiers and tonics is S. S. S. It has been curing all diseases of the blood for more than forty years by going down to the very root of the trouble, forcing out all poisons and impurities and building up every part of the system by its fine tonic effect. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Catarrh, Old Sores, Malaria, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles, and cures them permanently. S. S. S. is the acknowledged king of blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics. Books on the different diseases, and any medical advice you may wish will be given without charge.

Sixty New Cases of Fever Yesterday.

New Orleans, Aug. 8.—Following is the corrected fever record (official) up to 6 P. M.:

New cases, 60; total cases to date, 616. Deaths, 4; total deaths, 112.

New sub-foci, 17; total sub-foci, 118.

These figures vary slightly from those that have been sent out lately, but are the official record which was today checked up and corrected to date. The large number of new cases and sub-foci is surprising, but no attempt is being made to account for it. Of the new sub-foci, three are up-town and the balance down-town. Two dead men were found in a shanty in the woods and it was found that they had died of yellow fever. They were Italians, who had died from lack of attention.

Surgeon White, of the Marine Hospital Service, will take over the forces of the city board of health within a few days. He is awaiting the arrival of officers detailed by the Surgeon General.

Mr. Chas. P. Sapp Dead.

Concord, Aug. 8.—A telegram to relatives here today announced the death of Mr. Charles P. Sapp, editor of The Virginian-Pilot, at Norfolk, Va. That Mr. Sapp died suddenly is all the telegram said. His brother here thinks the death must be the result of heart trouble as he had been subject to this malady at various times before. Mr. Sapp was a native of this county and a graduate of Wake Forest College. He was a brilliant newspaper man and Cabarrus was proud of him.

Mr. Sapp had been in charge of the editorial department of The Virginian-Pilot since 1900. He was first editor of The Evening Telegram, of Greensboro, and from Greensboro went to Raleigh, where he was associate editor of the News and Observer. Mr. Sapp was 55 years old. In earlier life he was a school teacher in North Carolina.

Tragedy at Kernersville.

Kernersville Aug. 8.—Eugene Lamar was shot and killed here about 1:30 this afternoon by Abe Walker. The shooting occurred at the blacksmith shop of Granville Manuels, near the Southern Railway depot. The wounded man lived only a few minutes.

Lamar, who was a married man and about fifty years old, was a well digger by trade and leaves a family.

It is said that the men fell out over a game of cards and that Lamar shot at Walker three times with a pistol, and it is said every ball took effect.

Walker is a well known character. He served a term on the county roads a few years ago for shooting at a man. Immediately after the shooting Walker skipped.

Mrs. John G. Carlisle Dead.

Babylon, L. I., Aug. 4.—Mrs. Mary J. Carlisle, wife of former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, died today at her country home in West Islip, after an illness of three weeks. She came here two months ago to spend the summer. She was not in the best of health then, and about three weeks ago peritonitis developed. With her when she died were her husband, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wm. Carlisle and her friend, Miss Hammond.

The funeral will be held Saturday and the body will be placed in a vault in the Babylon cemetery until fall, when it will be removed to Covington, Ky., for burial. Mrs. Carlisle, who was 70 years of age, was a daughter of Major John A. Goodsen, of Covington.

Pistol Shooting Fatal.

Spencer, Aug. 3.—John Faulkner, who was by an accident fatally shot in his room here yesterday by Kenneth McCormick, his room-mate, died at a hospital in Salisbury early this morning. From the time of the tragedy Faulkner's wounds were considered fatal.

An ante-mortem statement was made by him shortly before he died. He stated that McCormick was snapping a pistol at him, but that he did not intend to kill him. McCormick was given a preliminary hearing here last night and bound over to court under a $200 bond. Faulkner came here from Richmond, where his parents formerly resided.

St. Thomas Church Burned.

New York, Aug. 8.—St. Thomas Episcopal church, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street, one of the most richly furnished religious edifices in America, was wrecked by fire today. A defective electric wiring is supposed to have started the fire. The loss is estimated by Fire Chief Croker as at least a quarter of a million dollars. Only a mere shell of stone walls was left standing and many very valuable paintings and tapestries were ruined. Sumptuous altar and chancel furnishings, including a $20,000 organ, were destroyed by the fire.

Negro Crack Marksman.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—All records for marksmanship in the United States army were broken at Fort Sheridan today by Corp. Joseph C. Smith, colored. Smith is a member of Company G, Twenty-fifth Infantry, Fort Reno, Okla. He made a score of 181 out of a possible 200 in slow-fire shooting. In rapid-fire shooting he made a score of 97 out of a possible 100.

Superintendent W. H. Swift has given notice through the daily papers that the city schools will open Thursday, August 31st. The principals will be at the different buildings, for the examination of new pupils, on and after August 23rd, from 9 to 12 A. M. No new pupils will be entered the first two days of school. See the principals before opening day. No new pupil will be admitted without vaccination certificate within last two years.

Henry Medlin, who lives in the White Oak settlement north of town, got drunk Sunday morning and smashed most of the furniture in his house, incidentally hitting his wife occasionally with a chair or some other convenient missile simply to show her that she was not entirely ignored, and after breaking out most of the window lights and tearing off great patches of plastering took to the woods for a rest. Sheriff Jordan and Deputy Weatherly were called out to quiet the man, but he had gone before they reached the house.

At a negro resort kept by Amanda Herbin in Warnersville a dispute arose in a crap game Saturday night and before the "rough house" was quieted Henry Martin had shot Clarence Brown in the thigh, making a painful but not dangerous wound. Martin was afterward arrested and sent on to court under three charges—gambling, assault with deadly weapon, and carrying concealed weapons. He has already served several terms on the county roads and has become an expert road builder, but we don't recall an instance in which he was sent up that he didn't deserve all the time he got.

Mr. James H. Osborn and Miss Jessie E. Sneed, both of Danville, Va., were married Monday afternoon by Rev. Dr. G. H. Detwiler, the ceremony taking place at the West Market street parsonage. The couple arrived on the 1:20 train from Danville and were accompanied by the groom's sister, Miss Ollie Osborn. Immediately upon their arrival they were driven to the home of Dr. Detwiler and married. It is understood that there were objections on the part of the young lady's parents and they decided to make a runaway match. Mr. Osborn and his bride returned to Danville Monday night, where the parental blessing no doubt awaited them.

One of the saddest accidents that has occurred here for some time was the death of the little child of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Lamb. Its mother was in the kitchen getting dinner while the child was playing in an adjoining room. Mrs. Lamb noticed that it was having such a good time and thought she would let it play until she had finished her work, but in a short time she noticed its stillness and going in the room she found it with its head between a box that was pushed under the bed and the side of the bed. On examination it was found that its neck was broken and that it had died almost instantly. Interment was made in Center graveyard. Mrs. Sarah Coltrane conducted a very appropriate service. The grief-stricken parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

Free and Independent.

The Commoner.

Touching the electric button the Great Magnate called his private secretary into the office.

"Have we compelled that independent company to join us in our trust?" he queried.

"Yes, sir; the papers were signed this morning."

"Has that obstreperous merchant at Burgoosen the wisdom of not handling that independent reliner's oil?"

"Yes, sir; he called this morning and begged for mercy, and signed an iron clad agreement to handle only our product."

"Has the N. Y. & Z. railroad's manager had enough of the light?"

"O, yes. This morning he called and said he would grant the rebate if we would give him a share of the freight."

"What about that stubborn competitor at Podunk?"

"He had to give up yesterday. The sheriff foreclosed and shut down his factory. The old chump wouldn't give up till he went broke."

"Serves him right. What business had he standing in the way of our making a pile of money out of a monopoly on that branch of the market?"

"Everything is lovely now, sir, except that the employees are asking for more pay."

"What's that?" shouted the Great Magnate. "Send them in here!"

Shortly after the private secretary had bowed himself out a committee of employees came in.

"We came at your request," said the spokesman, "representing the employees of this factory."

"I'll not treat with you as an organization!" shouted the Great Magnate. "I will run my business to suit myself, and without any interference. I'll not have unions bossing me around. Hereafter this will be an 'open shop,' manned by free and independent workmen who are not coerced. Your demands are outrageous and I'll not grant them. This labor trust is getting altogether too great, and I'm going to fight it. No more unions in mine—hereafter I'll employ free men. Good day."

Slowly the committee withdrew, and at 6 o'clock the workmen returned to their little cottages while the Great Magnate, free and independent, climbed into his automobile and started blithely for his country seat.

It will be noted in this connection that the definition of "free and independent" varies according to the position of the definer.

At Bochum, in Westphalia, a public exhibition of fasting has collapsed under farcical circumstances. A professional fasting man, who, however, is a native of the province, had undertaken, for a purse of 20 pounds, to fast for nineteen days, taking no other nourishment than a little mineral water. The faster was hermetically sealed in a glass chamber in Reichsalle Theater and people thronged to the place every day to watch the progress of the wager. All went well for about ten days, but on Friday evening a local wag went and ordered a supper of beans and bacon, which he proceeded to eat in full view of the faster. The sight of the provincial dish was more than a Westphalian stomach, tried by long abstinence, could resist. The faster burst through the glass of his cage and bolted as fast as he could run to the buffet, where he promptly ordered beans and bacon.

"ALFALFA."

Paper Read by Mr. S. L. Trogdon at the Farmers' Institute

The following paper on "Alfalfa" was read by Mr. Samuel L. Trogdon, of Greensboro, Saturday at the Farmers' Institute held at the court house in this city under the auspices of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, and the Institute passed a resolution asking that it be published in the local and State papers:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:

At the request of Prof. Frank Davis I consented to give my experience and to some extent, success, in growing alfalfa. Realizing that it is a new and difficult plant to cultivate, that its needs and peculiarities together with its enemies must be carefully studied to obtain success, I thought that my observation might in a small degree be of some benefit to those interested in the growth of this valuable crop. I became interested in the cultivation of alfalfa about fifteen years ago.

In the spring of 1892, I made my first experiment by sowing a small plot of dark gravelly soil in alfalfa with spring oats, and succeeded in getting a very good stand. I clipped it twice that year, and during the next season (1893) it produced three good crops, but in August the leaves turned yellow and it was evident that something was wrong. In May of 1894, I cut one fairly good crop as to growth; but it having died out and became rather thing during the previous fall and winter, plowed it up. In September of that year, I again seeded the same plot of ground, but the result was not satisfactory. Upon examination I found that underlying this land about eighteen or twenty inches from the surface, there was a bed of soft, half-decomposed granite rock which prevented drainage and the roots of the alfalfa from going down.

In November, 1899, I purchased the farm where I now live, containing 42 acres, on twenty acres of which the original soil was a dark chocolate, with a good stiff red clay subsoil. This land had been in cultivation for some twenty or twenty-five years and was exhausted, washed and worn so that very little of the native soil remained. It is situated on a high ridge that is of a dry and thirsty nature. I selected an acre and one quarter, and commenced to prepare it for alfalfa during the early part of the year 1900 by plowing deep and subsoiling well to break up the hardpan and clay. I manured with stable manure and seeded it to wheat in the fall. When the wheat was harvested in 1901, the ground was prepared and sowed in clay peas. This cultivation was repeated again next year. In October, 1902, I again sowed it in wheat, and in March, 1903, after harrowing well both ways, sowed thirty pounds of alfalfa seed and secured a splendid stand, but in a short while after the wheat was cut the young, tender and delicate alfalfa plants disappeared. Seeing that it would not do to seed with a "nurse crop" in this climate, I again set to work in November, 1903, to thoroughly prepare the same land for alfalfa. During the winter it was given a good coat of stable manure, and in March, 1904, I again plowed deep, using a two-horse subsoil plow in the furrow after the turn plow. I put on one ton of Lee's prepared lime and disked until the land was a perfect seed bed. Six hundred pounds of bone meal and thirty pounds of alfalfa seed were put in with a drill, and then the land was harrowed with a fine tooth smoothing harrow and rolled. The seed came up even and thick, making a good stand. About the last of May I noticed that the plants were turning yellow. Believing that it needed inoculation, I ordered two pounds of soil taken from a field that had been in alfalfa for fifteen years. This soil was applied to a small portion of the square at the rate of 100 pounds per acre, and the rest at the rate of 300 pounds per acre. After three weeks, the yellow leaves disappeared where the heavier application was made, but on the other portion there were yellow spots that remained and now scarcely any plants of alfalfa are alive where these spots were, and consequently there is not more than two-thirds of a stand on this end of the plot. Some two months after applying the inoculating soil, upon examination I found nodules on the roots of the plants.

It was clipped three times during the season, leaving the clippings on the land as a mulch. Last winter stable manure was applied as a top dressing. The first cutting was made May 15th, when it was about one-half in bloom. The yield was about three tons of good, well cured hay without damage by rain. A friend called to see it after it was put in the mow and said as he came out of the barn, "I have never before been in a barn with such a delightful odor."

The second crop was cut on June 15th, when about one-third of the bloom had appeared. The yield was something over two tons. After this cutting the hot, dry weather checked the growth, but the rich, dark green color remained, and since the rain, which fell about the 10th of this month, the growth has been rapid, but as the bloom is appearing, it will have to be cut the first of next week.

In the "school of experience" I have gained much valuable information in regard to alfalfa, which has many virtues and desirable qualities to commend it to the farmer. That it can be successfully grown in this section of the country, I feel assured, but the land must be rich naturally, or made so, plowed deep and well prepared, limed, inoculated and seeded with the best of clean seed.

If we cultivate less tobacco, cotton and corn, which require manual labor and exhaust the land, and let alfalfa, clovers and grasses that require less plowing and planting, and can be produced with less manual labor by means of improved machinery take their places, the results would be far more profitable and satisfactory. If the farmer would give the same careful thought, energy and attention to farming that the merchant does to his business; invest the same capital and apply the same business principles, farming would be a success and pay a better per cent. upon the capital invested. Let the farmer take the same care and pride that the business man living in the city does as to a comfortable home and attractive surroundings; then the oft repeated query, "How to keep the boys on the farm," would, in my judgment, be successfully answered.

A mother's love starts a man or woman on the right path. The right remedy at the right time is a mother for the ordeal. Motherhood is often looked forward to with feelings of great dread by most women. At such a time when she is nervous, dyspeptic, irritable and in need of a uterine tonic—something which will calm the nervous system through the special organs, and a strength builder, she will find Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription just what is needed. Here is a medicine that has stood the test of a third of a century with approval, in that time it has sold more largely than any other remedy put up specially for women's weaknesses. It is guaranteed by the proprietors not to contain a particle of alcohol—which could only do harm to a sensitive system.

The World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, offer a $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, biliousness and headache.

YOUR KIDNEYS ARE THEY WELL?

Unless they are, good health is impossible.

Every drop of blood in the body passes through and is filtered by healthy kidneys every three minutes. Sound kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood, diseased kidneys do not, hence you are sick. FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE makes the kidneys well so they will eliminate the poisons from the blood. It removes the cause of the many diseases resulting from disordered kidneys which have allowed your whole system to become poisoned.

Rheumatism, Bad Blood, Gout, Gravel, Dropsy, Inflammation of the Bladder, Diabetes and Bright's Disease, and many others, are all due to disordered Kidneys. A simple test for Kidney disease is to set aside your urine in a bottle or glass for twenty-four hours. If there is a sediment or a cloudy appearance, it indicates that your kidneys are diseased, and unless something is done they become more and more affected until Bright's Disease or Diabetes develops.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE is the only preparation which will positively cure all forms of Kidney and Bladder troubles, and cure you permanently. It is a safe remedy and certain in results.

If You are a sufferer, take FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once. It will make you well.

Some Pronounced Incurable

Mr. G. A. Stillson, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes: "FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE has made it such."

Had Lumbago and Kidney Trouble

Edward Huss, a well known business man of Salisbury, Mo., writes: "I wish to say for the benefit of others, that I was a sufferer from lumbago and kidney trouble, and all the remedies I took gave me no relief. I began to take FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE, and after the use of three bottles I am cured."

Capt. Evan Howell Dead.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 6.—Capt. Evan P. Howell, long prominently identified with Southern journalism, died at noon today, after an illness of three weeks, brought on by a carbuncle, complicated with diabetes.

Captain Howell was born December 10, 1839, in Milton county, Ga. He was a gallant Confederate soldier, entering the service as a member of the First Georgia Regiment, later commanding Howell's Battery of Artillery during practically the whole of the war.

After the surrender he settled in Atlanta, taking up the practice of the law. He was one of the most potent factors in rebuilding this city and in the development of the state from the devastation of the war. As a young lawyer he served as Solicitor General during the stormy days of the reconstruction period, when to his services was largely due the suppression of the lawlessness then so rife. In 1876 he bought a controlling interest in the Atlanta Constitution with Henry W. Grady and William A. Hemphill.

He retained control of this newspaper until 1897, when he retired, and since then has not been in active business. Captain Howell has been prominently identified with the Democratic party ever since the war, having been elected at-large from this state to several of the national conventions and a prominent figure in each. He served as member of both branches of the state legislature some years ago, but held no other political office save that of mayor of Atlanta, for which he was nominated during his absence from the city. His term of service in this office ended last year.

He has been prominently identified with every movement for the development of this city and section, notably with the first Cotton Exposition in 1882, which opened the eyes of the country to the South's industrial progress and with all the later expositions. He has been a director in every new railroad built into Atlanta since the war. He was a member of the commission which built Georgia's new capitol and which performed the feat of completing its work within the original appropriation and turning back into the treasury a surplus. Captain Howell was tendered a place in the diplomatic service by President Cleveland, but declined it. He served by appointment of President McKinley upon the commission to investigate the conduct of the war with Spain. His wife, who was Miss Julia Erwin, and seven children survive him, among them Editor Clark Howell.

War News of the Week.

Charlotte Observer.

The news from the field during the past week has been of no importance. Apparently there is no fighting, save the occasional clash on the island of Sakhaline, and these soon resolve themselves into foot races. A dispatch from a Russian army point in Manchuria says the Japanese are bombarding the Russians with circulars, telling them that owing to the likelihood that peace would soon be declared it would be well for them to cease their reconnaissance, which will only result in useless loss of life.

The expected big engagement that was said to be scheduled for a date preceding the meeting of the peace envoys by the Japanese has so far failed to materialize, and it seems likely that the days will await the actual meeting of the envoys. The latter are now at Portsmouth, N. H., and the session will begin at once.

There is apparently a growing belief that the conference will not result in peace. This is occasioned by the assertions of the Japanese representatives that they will demand heavy indemnity and the cession of certain territory, while the Russians claim that they will give up no territory nor pay out any money indemnity to secure peace. It would not be surprising if it should develop that Russia has gone into the peace conference merely with a view to gaining time, or for some other purpose not yet apparent. Her reputation for deception makes such a thing easily possible. It does, however, seem improbable that this could be. In a few days at most, perhaps, we will know whether there is anything in this belief.

Train Nearly Shipwrecked.

New York, Aug. 5.—The perils of a shipwreck threatened the Colonial Express, crowded with passengers bound from Boston to Washington, today while the train was being ferried through East River. The train was aboard the New York, New Haven & Hartford transfer boat Maryland. A collision with barges first threatened the Maryland, whose captain turned his boat sharply ashore. The collision was safely avoided, but a swift tide, with the inshore momentum already gained, threw the Maryland, head-on, against the rocks off Sixty-sixth street. The shock sent one of the cars over the bumpers, and the train appeared for a moment to be sliding off into the water. The passengers rushed out along the narrow decks in panic. Though it was quickly ascertained that the heavy-timbered transfer boat was practically uninjured except for slight disarrangement to her steering gear, two of the passengers insisted on being taken ashore, which was done.

Tugs pulled the Maryland off in about ten minutes, and with little delay she completed the trip, landing the Colonial Express safely in New Jersey.

Still Destroying the Trees.

Sanford Express.

A man here the other day from the Deep River section of this county said that within a radius of six miles of his home are located twenty-seven miles of pine, that will make a stick of lumber finds ready sale. The timber on some of the land up there sold for more money than the land itself would bring.

It will wash and not rub off. This complex and all my me, I'll be secret so I'll tell. Take thou Rocky Mountain Tea. Holton's drug store.

MATERIAL FOR PRESIDENTS.

Too Many Small Calibre Politicians Are Mentioned for that High Office.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

District Attorney Jerome, of New York, while broadening his metropolitan views through a Western trip, met Gov. Folk, of Missouri, and liked him. He was delightfully frank to say, however, that it did not seem to him that the governor had "Presidential timber in him." It is Mr. Jerome's opinion that a man may be a masterly district attorney; that he may both detect and punish, as well as prevent the commission of crime, and that he may establish a moral atmosphere in official life and be worthy of all praise for achievements of that kind, and yet may be lacking in certain other qualities which are essential to the administration of the office of President. He could see nothing in the record Gov. Folk made as district attorney, or in the record he is making as governor, which would suggest that he possessed the great constructive qualities which are far beyond the field of the successful prosecutor.

Mr. Jerome is doing well in the official lines into which he has fallen, but let us be as frank as he is and say that he is not the person to whom we should have gone for a Presidential diagnosis "on general principles" had not his acumen been suddenly thrown athwart the editorial horizon.

It is the truth that there is too much flippancy and frolic in the suggestion of possible candidates for the Chief Executive position of this, for all time past, for the present, and for the unscripted future, the greatest republic of the world. Every time a prosecuting officer or a local functionary accomplishes a notable reform, or successfully conducts a political campaign, the road to his exploitation for White House honors is as short as that by which Mrs. Browne reaches the social column when she goes over to Mrs. Smyth's for a day's knitting and gossip. There is hardly a member of the national House of Representatives who has not a lurking boom in some shady environment of his "destrick." To make a man Senator is to write "Presidency" on his anatomy and addle his intellect with remote hopes. Even members of legislatures have dreams, and mayors of cities and towns are out in the open at every thunder clap. Let us "name no names," but there is one Senator of the United States who, by a magnificent exhibition of rhetoric half a dozen or so years ago, sent up a Presidential skyrocket that is still weaving graceful lines in the circumambient atmosphere. The President of the United States is at this moment harrying in his Cabinet at least three distinct boons, and there are even "private secretaries" and stenographers who mantle in telltale modesty when executive honors are mentioned in their presence or touched upon in the giddy journalism of the day.

The Enquirer is not a believer in the theory that the President should be a constantly busy or officious person. In peace and prosperity, in the ordinary run of affairs which prevails for the greater part of the time, "most anybody" will do for President. It is hard to maintain the cardinal principle of simplicity in government with a Commander-in-chief snorting over the country on horseback and thrashing the air with an imaginary sword. The greatest quality of a great man is self-suppression when he is not needed.

There have been occasions, though, when there has been need of a President of great wisdom and constructive powers, and the breadth to comprehend and execute in greater emergencies than in the extinction of a gang of war-bummers and local treasury supporters.

Let us always look to such a situation. Let us have some balance, dignity and style in our Presidential prognostications.

Venezuela Creates Two Big Monopolies.

Washington, Aug. 2.—American flour and glass will be driven from the markets of Venezuela by the action of President Castro. Acting Secretary of State Adee today received advice from the American Minister at Caracas that the Venezuelan official gazette of July 20 contains the text of two contracts entered into by the Venezuelan government which brings into existence two new industries in the nature of monopolies. While they do not prohibit the importation of glass and flour or grain they will have that effect, as the holders of the concessions are given great advantage over their competitors.

One contract gives to Jose Hilario Mora the exclusive right to establish flour mills in Venezuela, although those already established are not to be disturbed by the new contract. At least one mill must be established each year. The contract runs for twenty years and cannot be transferred to a foreigner. All necessary machinery may be imported free of duty, and the business will not be taxed in any manner. Employees will not be required to perform military service except in an international war.

The other concession was granted to Carlos Zuloaga, who is given the exclusive right to manufacture glass and crystal articles for fifteen years. He may import free of duty everything necessary for the establishment of glass works, and may obtain from the government free of tax any material it owns.

Bishop Hargrave Dead.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 3.—Bishop R. K. Hargrave, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, died at his home here shortly after midnight. He had been in feeble health for a year past and seriously ill since Friday.

He was born in Pickens county, Ala., September 18, 1829, and after being graduated from the University of Alabama was for a time instructor in mathematics there. In 1857 he entered the Alabama Conference and during the civil war was a chaplain in the Confederate army. Later he was president of the Centenary Institute at Sumnerfield, Tenn., going thence to the Kentucky Conference, returning from there to accept the presidency of the Tennessee Female College at Franklin. In 1876 he represented the Southern church on the Cape May commission, and in 1882 was elected a bishop.

The board of trustees of Vanderbilt University made Bishop Hargrave its president in 1889, in which position he served until last spring, when he resigned because of feeble health. The funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Shoffner Gets License at Winston.

Winston-Salem, Aug. 3.—As a result of a meeting of the board of aldermen held here tonight, license to conduct a saloon will be allowed Mr. C. C. Shoffner, of Greensboro. When Mr. Shoffner's name appeared with the names of the ten old saloon-keepers of the city about two months ago, the board took favorable action upon it. Later, however, because of a counter-petition asking for the revoking of the license, signed by a number of citizens, among whom were several members of the board, the license was held up.

At the meeting tonight Alderman Sterling Smith demanded that the license be held up no longer, but that Mr. Shoffner be allowed to open his place of business. Mayor Eaton stated that, in the absence of any action toward revoking the license, that it would be granted at once. At this point, a motion was quickly put and carried for adjournment. The action of the faction in the board in favor of the saloon-keeper caused a mild sensation here.

Our Aristocracy Inferior.

New York, Aug. 2.—Comparing the American and European types of aristocracy, Col. Henry Watterson, who returned today on the steamer Oceanic from a trip to Europe, said: "I observed European aristocracy pretty closely while I was over there, and I have arrived at the conclusion that foreign aristocracy is of much better grade than the American article. There aristocracy means lineage and brains. Here—well, it ranges chiefly from bad whiskey to Standard Oil."

Mr. Watterson said that he had read the accounts of the scandal in the Department of Agriculture, and added: "I have often wondered how so many scientific men connected with the government at comparatively small salaries could live so well. It only goes to show that the college man is not a success in politics."

Play for Prizes Not Gambling.

Reidsville, Aug. 5.—The more timid ones of Reidsville's social set may now proceed to play cards without fear of being hauled into court, as it was decided this week by the Superior court, in session at Wentworth, that card playing for prizes was not gambling. The cases from Reidsville, in which some of the young men from here were summoned before the grand jury as witnesses, were not pressed, Solicitor Graves stating that the state could not proceed in these cases. In view of the decision handed down by the Supreme court in the case of Nick De Bay, 117 North Carolina Report.

Don't Experiment This Spring BUY "DAVIS" READY TO MIX PAINT NOT READY MIXED

If you intend having painting done this spring, consider just a minute. Ready mixed paint is not the best paint to use, not because the material isn't good, but because paint necessarily loses "life" in the ready-mixed condition by deterioration and because the oil becomes stale.

Fresh, Pure, Raw Linseed Oil mixed with the thick Davis Paint pigment means that the paint is right—and full of life and the best your money can buy.

It's a small matter in the beginning to specify "Davis Pure Lead" Paint and is a big matter at the end of many years to find that Davis Pure Paint is still in good condition. For sale only by

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Gorman News Bureau.
Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 7, 1905.
Raleigh voters are to have another fight over the liquor question in October, and as was the case two years ago, the question is dispensary or bar-rooms. The only difference this year from the question involved in 1903 (when the dispensary system was adopted by a two-thirds vote) is that if the saloon advocates should win this time "high license" will prevail.

Under the terms of the new charter of Raleigh, if the "open saloon" or licensed bar-room system is ever restored, the minimum municipal tax for each retail liquor dealer shall be $1,200 per annum. With the county and state and the U. S. tax added, the taxes and licenses of liquor saloons here would be from $1,500 to $1,800 a year each. Probably not more than a half-dozen, or say ten at the most, could afford to do business under such conditions in a town the size of Raleigh. There were about 25 saloons here two years ago, but then the city tax was only $500 per annum.

The new election is to be called under the terms of the law which gives the minority the right to another try every two years, provided one-third or more of the qualified voters shall petition the board of aldermen, etc. This petition was presented to the board last Friday night. If the necessary number of registered voters are found to have signed (as claimed) the aldermen will order the election to be held in October. The matter will be settled at the September meeting of the board.

QUEER POSITION OF PROHIBITIONISTS.
The result of the coming election will very greatly depend upon the prohibition vote, which at this writing appears to be rather uncertain. The sentiment of the voters of this city on the liquor question seems to be very evenly divided into three parts, and the success of the dispensary proposition two years ago was largely due to the fact that the prohibitionists supported it almost solidly.

This will not be the case this year, for many of the leading prohibitionists (including the pastor of the largest church here) have become disgusted with the operations of the dispensary as a promoter of temperance. Some of them say that "selling a drink instead of a drink" does not promote temperance. On the other hand, some who opposed the dispensary in 1903 will vote for it this year, because of its money-making record. It is certainly a success as a revenue producer and the municipal tax rate has been decreased because of that fact, and in this lies its chief strength here.

There is little doubt that a large proportion of the prohibition vote will not be cast this time. Nevertheless, the chances are that the dispensary will defeat the saloons again, high-license included.

THE BLUE RIDGE RAILROAD.

I find a pretty and attractive little story in the editorial columns of the Charlotte News and Courier S. C. concerning one of the most distinguished citizens of our own state, and which should interest many of the readers of these Letters. The News and Courier says:

"The Blue Ridge Railroad is to be finished on the lines of the original survey. This company has been reorganized with Col. A. B. Andrews as president. When a boy 17 years of age he was employed on the construction of this road, and gave up the work to take service in the Confederate Army, where he fought for 4 years with distinguished gallantry. It is one of the ambitions of his life to drive the Blue Ridge Railroad through the mountains and we have no doubt that he will be sustained in his efforts by the great Southern Railway company, of which he is now the first vice president."

This is a great undertaking, but Col. Andrews will certainly consummate it, for he never meets a failure in his professional life. Col. Andrews is the greatest railroad man in the South. There is no man in North Carolina, there is no man in the United States, who has reflected so much credit upon the state in the railway circles of this country and the business world generally as Col. A. B. Andrews. He has a genius and a vision that no other citizen of our state. I frequently find him personally he most magnetic man with a glow of distinct and attractive presence in North Carolina.

We have and a few politicians, and fewer statesmen, who have made money out of the hands of legislation and out of the hands of the people. Col. Andrews is a statesman. He has a vision and a vision that no other citizen of our state. I frequently find him personally he most magnetic man with a glow of distinct and attractive presence in North Carolina.

It is the way of the world to only look at the surface and to see the things that are on the surface. If we would only get out of that dead habit and see a few of the flowers of praise upon our heroes, who so nobly deserve them, we should be wiser. How much better it would be to see all, how it would cheer the striving years of those who have their eyes turned to the life that they have attracted to themselves. Many good friends and admirers of Col. Andrews and praise their hero.

Edison Solves Problem.

Orange, N. J., Aug. 3.—In announcing this afternoon that he had solved the problem of the electric propulsion of automobiles, Thomas A. Edison took credit for a recent recent extraordinary achievement attributed to him concerning his electric storage battery, perfected, Mr. Edison stated that with a few weeks' work he would be started on an immense factory building.

Mr. Edison said that the recent statement that his battery would drive an automobile at the rate of thirty-three miles an hour from New York to Philadelphia and back on a single charge of the battery was untrue. What he did say was that a pleasure vehicle, under the most favorable conditions, might run at the rate of twenty miles an hour for a distance of 150 miles. The test he would guarantee on a single charge was 100 miles.

Iredell Rural Carrier in Trouble.

Statesville, Aug. 5.—J. P. Brantley, of Troutman, carrier since the establishment of rural mail route No. 1 from Troutman, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Marshal J. S. Ferree, of Spencer, on a warrant sworn out by Post-office Inspector W. J. Marles and gave bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance here this morning at 9 o'clock before United States Commissioner H. C. Cowles. It was in evidence before Commissioner Cowles that Mr. W. D. Troutman, depot agent at Troutman, wrote a postal card some time last April to Mr. C. L. Sherrill, who lives on route No. 1 from Troutman, which contained only the words, besides address, date, etc., "Fish tomorrow;" that Brantley erased what was on the postal, delivered the message to Mr. Sherrill as one that he had been charged with personally by Mr. Troutman, and used the card to write to Mr. J. A. Setzer, of China Grove. Mr. J. L. Hunter, postmaster at Troutman, called Brantley's attention to the fact that the card upon which he had written to Mr. Setzer appeared to have been used, and Brantley admitted that it had, but said that, as the card had not been cancelled, he thought it no harm to use same again. After this matter was reported Inspector Marles and Mr. Hunter investigated matters and at the barn where Brantley keeps his horse and buggy they found several papers and circulars, several torn copies and two whole copies of The Statesville Landmark. When questioned as to these things Brantley said that the people on his route had requested him not to deliver such stuff to them. Mr. James Mills, to whom a circular and one of the suppressed copies of The Landmark were addressed, testified that he had never given Brantley any such instructions and that, so far as he knows, he is the only James Mills who lives on that route. Brantley gave bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance at the term of federal court, to be held here in October. He has been suspended and will carry no more mail until after his trial, at least.

Dared Tillman to Fight.

Edgefield, S. C., Aug. 5.—The dispensary debate here today came near ending in a fight. Senator Tillman, whose appearance made the gathering of real moment, started in to pitchfork Hon. W. J. Talbert, who had interrupted him. Mr. Talbert got wrathful at once and practically dared the senator to fight, but the latter puffed his opponent's anger away. It looked stormy for a few moments, but passed away without any harm having been done.

Interest centered in what Mr. Tillman would have to say, for his sphinx-like silence had been puzzling many, but there can now be no doubt as to where he stands. In his speech he stood flat-footedly for the dispensary as the best solution of the liquor problem. He said that it was the best way to meet the difficulty ever yet devised, and if there was corruption existing, as many alleged, it was to be ascribed to the conservatives who had so amended original dispensary legislation as to partly nullify it. Return it to its form and it would restore to South Carolina the reputation of having best handled one of the most difficult problems besetting latter-day commonwealths. As between high license and real prohibition, he always favored the latter, if it prohibited, but as it had been proven that it did not, the worth of the dispensary was manifest. He quoted many internal revenue statistics to prove the amount of liquor sold in so-called prohibition localities. He urged the people to discard all changes made in the dispensary act and returning to its original provisions give it another trial. There were five other speeches made, but nothing of particular moment was uttered.

Alice Webb Duke Loses.

New York, Aug. 2.—The application of Alice Webb Duke for alimony and counsel fee pending the trial and determination of the divorce action brought against her by B. L. Duke was today denied by Justice Gleason, in the Supreme court. In denying the application the court said: "That she is a notoriously immoral woman and has been for years, and has continued her immorality since her marriage, I need not say as established by the decided precedences of proof. As to the fact that she is able to procure money for her support, the granting of alimony is refused."

In denying the woman's application for alimony, Justice Gleason said that the evidence in her suit for an annulment was not satisfactory.

Edward Killed by His Own Weapon.
Durham, Aug. 2.—T. B. Doherty, member of the county board here, was yesterday killed by a bullet from his own rifle while out hunting. The bullet struck him in the chest, and he died instantly.

The man had two negro companions with him on the day of the shooting. While at this work he stopped at a place a few miles from the scene. His rifle, which was in a box under the left arm, slipped from the place and the hammer struck a rock. The ball passed through the head and lodged near the backbone.

The deceased was about 45 years of age and came to this state from Georgia in early life. He left a wife and two children, one son and a daughter. He met his death some four miles north of Durham, and the body was brought here tonight after the coroner had gone out and learned the facts. His home is three miles south of Durham.

Vice President Fairbanks Stricken.
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 2.—A Tribune special from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., says:

Vice President Fairbanks was seized with an acute attack of indigestion at the reception, tonight, and had to be assisted from the stand in the park. He walked to the Iroquois Hotel and repaired to his room immediately. To all callers he sent word that he would be unable to see any one until morning.

WILLIAM ON THE GATE CITY.

The Folks Up There Have Become Mighty Bigly Here Lately.

Charlotte Observer.
"William, this is a fruitifying show-er," said an Observer man to William (Gorell), the famous janitor of the Southern Manufacturers' Club last night as the rain poured.

"Er what?"
"A fruitifying—"
"Hole on, hole on—dat's de place I wants yer to stop!"

"What is the trouble with my English, William? Do you mean to challenge the use of that word, sir?"
"I ain't meanin' ter challenge nothin', but I des wants ter know what you spees me ter keep in de conversation. Dat big word won't go down my front. Can't you bust hit up des er little?"

"Oh, I see; you can't understand me. 'Fruitifying' is a good word of French and Latin origin, meaning to make. In other words, a rain like this will make fruits, crops, and so forth."

"I see. Dat's all right. Yes, sir, I gree wid you on dat."

"Boss, de worl's full uv bigly fo'ks. Dey here Greensboro fo'ks make me sorter tired talkin' 'bout dey er little village. I see from Guilford an' dey can't tell me nothin'. "You coud' git er drink uv licker fur five cents in dem days."

"I seed a terrible fight in er barroom one night, 'bout dat berry town. Er tramp stepped in an' ax fur er drink. Two Greensboro gemmons who wuz down de town went in dere an' de tramp 'lowed dat he'd been lots uv places, but he ain't never stopped in no sich hole as dat afo'. De Greensboro gemmons didn't lak dat an' dey cussed de stranger. At dat de tramp 'low: 'Ef you fool wid me I'll go out in de woods an' git er pair uv ants an' undermine yore town.'"

"Well, sir, dat wuz de hek dat hurt. I lak ter died laughin' ter tink 'bout what he say he'll do ter de town. De fight started right den an' de tramp he lickt bofe uv 'em."

"Dat ain't been so pow'ful long ergo. It sho' is funny to hear dem fo'ks talkin' 'bout what dey's gut now. It's pave streets, big hotels, an' de lak uv dat. But, Lawd, dey's des as dry as we is. Sausberry's er river besides Charlotte an' Greensboro."

The bell rang and William had to go.

Scheme to Weaken Bryan's Hold on Nebraska.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 3.—A determined fight is to be made against William J. Bryan by the anti-Bryanites of Nebraska this fall. The leaders of the movement have the backing of J. H. Eccles, of Chicago; Paul Morton and Thomas F. Ryan, of the Equitable; Edward Cuddahy, the packer, and other prominent Democrats.

The plan includes the purchase of a number of Nebraska newspapers and the establishing of still others, forming a chain over the state. The aim is to discredit Bryan by showing that his own state is against him. E. E. Brown, of Hastings, Neb., editor of the Observer, is heading the movement. He has secured the cooperation and aid of the men mentioned above. An option was secured yesterday on the Omaha Commercial. It will be changed into a daily and will head the chain, which will consist of twenty newspapers to start with. The editorial pages of the newspapers of the chain will be controlled from the central office.

Scheme on Foot to Make Southport a Great Shipping Point.

Wilmington, Aug. 3.—The Southport, Northern and Western Railroad has started a petition for a bond election to build a railroad from Southport, N. C., into the New York and Norfolk harbor. This is one of the most important projects in the history of the harbor, and the new route promises that they will build up an immense export and import trade between the North and foreign countries, establish steamship lines to New York, and develop upon the harbor a large number of foreign ports, including two or three steamships.

They will include their purpose in a petition for a bond election to build a railroad from Southport, N. C., into the New York and Norfolk harbor.

Remington's Better Weapon.
San Francisco, Aug. 2.—A special dispatch to the Call from San Francisco says:

"From an official source the following of which cannot be questioned because of its connection with the court itself, it is just become known what in substance will be the report of the court of inquiry now investigating the Remington disaster. It may be stated authoritatively that the court will find that James H. Remington, the Remington expert, had been the cause of the disaster, but because the mental of the Remington sheet and the bolts holding the Remington sheet in place had become loose, had lost all life, and nearly all tensile strength, by reason of constant use and the failure to renew the weakened place. The court will not censure the officers of the Remington, but will pass up the matter and the responsibility to higher authority."

Turner Not Guilty.

Reidsville, Aug. 4.—The Turner fratricide case was disposed of tonight by the acquittal of John Turner, charged with the murder of his brother, Ben Turner, eighteen months ago near Madison, after they had become intoxicated and were en route home. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. At a former trial held at the last term of court the jury could not reach a verdict, and Turner was released on bail. Turner is a well-to-do farmer of the county.

The Moon and Seed Planting.

Raleigh Post.
As long ago as the time of Solomon it was considered wisdom that "he that observeth the wind shall not sow, and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reap;" and yet there are intelligent people living three thousand years later than the wise king who will not plant certain kinds of seed except in certain phases of the moon. Prof. H. H. Hume, the state horticulturist, went up against some of the moon theory farmers at an institute in Mecklenburg county and told them that the moon had nothing to do with the growth of crops; but so far from converting them from the error of their ways, he left them wanting a "moon man" for the next institute.

The idea that the phases of the moon have anything to do with the growth of vegetables, the cutting of timber and the curing of meat has come down from the time when it was supposed that the sun, moon and stars, sank in the ocean when they went down in the west and rose fresh from their watery bed when they reappeared in the east. The theory of the mechanism of the starry firmament has passed away and intelligent people of the present age smile amusedly at the incredulity of the ancients; and yet the twentieth century housewife pins her faith to the moon when she plans her annual campaign of extermination against bed-bugs or makes soap.

Just to think of the moon's cold, glassy stare affecting the things we have mentioned one way or another. Yet there are multitudes of intelligent people who do believe it, and many more who are skeptical but still respect the theories of farmers who scratched the ground with a forked stick when the earth was young. If another Solomon should come into the world and write another book of wisdom lots of people would refuse to be convinced.

The South's Seaside Capitals.

Old ocean's cooling breezes temper the summer's heat at the South's seaside capitals, Morehead City and Beaufort, N. C. Not a day during the summer when one is not thoroughly comfortable; the famous southwest winds prevailing along the Carolina Coast during the summer months sweep Morehead with peculiar advantage owing to its topographical situation and there is no time when discomfort prevails.

Fishing and sailing at Morehead are unparalleled on the Atlantic Coast. The waters teem with a great variety of game fish, affording magnificent sport the entire season. The boating is unexcelled. The landlocked waters of the sound and the open sea furnish the timid as well as the deep-sea sailor with the best of sailing in the safest and smoothest of all sea-going boats, the famous Sharpies. In addition the fleet of gasoline launches here is the finest on the coast.

Terrified by Mad Dog.

High Point, Aug. 1.—This city was terrorized this morning about 10 o'clock by a mad dog named Tom, which bit every thing in sight. The dog was first observed on Main street, where it bit several dogs and maddened them. It then ran down the street, and was followed by the dogs, snarling and barking. It for a while made a pretense of being friendly, but finally it was killed near the Shaw-Lindsey Company's plant. From a report made by the police it has been ascertained.

THE DISCOVERED OF SEVEN BARKS

Var, thirty-five years ago, one of Germany's foremost physicians, he had an idea of a new kind of medicine. He discovered seven barks, which were many and incredibly successful. He has his most important discovery, was the of the great and popular preparation called Seven Barks—corrected from the bark of a specially grown Hydrangea plant. This bark grows in seven leaves, each division producing wonderful individual curative values. One acts as a gentle cathartic, another as an anesthetic, the third as a diuretic, the fourth as an expectorant—while the other three layers produce wonderful, upbuilding tonic elements.

Most All Disease

Emmanates from the drainage system (the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys). When one of these organs becomes clogged or congested the others naturally suffer in sympathy, and it requires a thorough cleansing and the restoration of all of them before each can again fully perform its natural function.

Seven Barks

Contains nature-giving principles that will effect immediate relief and, in good time, a permanent cure of all such disorders. One 50-cent bottle will demonstrate its phenomenal value.

Talk with your druggist about it. He will back up all we claim. If you are ill and cannot spare 50 cents for a bottle, write a postal and we will send you a bottle free.

FRANK DE WITT TALMAGE, D. D.

Some time ago the president of one of the western colleges was calling on me. When my wife entered the room the visitor pointed to an oil painting hanging upon the wall and said: "I know that is one of your husband's pictures; they look so much alike." "Your husband looks far more like me than then he looks like his or other. Who is he?" "That," answered my wife, "is Mr. Talmage's grocer bill. Every one who enters this room is struck by the similarity in the looks. That is the picture of R.

the Call of the Living.
But we do not have to listen to "The Call of the Good" in echoes alone. We do not have to hear this call to a better life simply in the voices of our ancestors and in parental pleading and the wailings of childhood hours. We can hear it also in the good deeds of the consecrated men and women who are conspicuous everywhere around us. Ah, how many we can hear if we are only willing to open our ears and listen to them!

Nobilities and sacrifices of human life for the good of their fellow men are everywhere sounding. I enter a physician's office, and what do I find? "Mean, contemptible, selfish and blood-thirsty vampires," says some cynic. "The doctors, as a class, will not let me drain you of your blood, but they will rob you of every dollar they can."

A Call to Sinners.
 "The Call of the Good" in its highest development means "The Call to Christ." I am not now extending this invitation to the saints; but to the sinners; not to the angels living in the white mansions of the new Jerusalem or singing in the celestial choir lofts, but to the wild heathen of the human race—to those who have wandered farther and farther away

"A friend of mine, Dr. Roberts, had a colored maid who was very popular among her friends. One day some one called her up on the doctor's phone."

"The following conversation ensued:

"Is this Miss White?"

"Yes, suh."

"Miss Lily White, what works at Dr. Roberts'?"

"Yes, suh."

"Well, Miss White, I want to ask you a question, a very important question, what I ain't had courage to ask you before. I want to ask you if you'll marry me."

"Marry you? Co's I'll marry you. What makes you think I wouldn't marry you? Who is dis gen'man and his way?"

Important Notice.

TO THE TEACHERS:—At a meeting of the County Board of Education on August 4 the following order was passed: "Those teachers who did not attend the May school, for at least two weeks, be required to attend a meeting of one week beginning October 9, and to do such work as the county superintendent may direct, and that no one be allowed to teach in Guilford county who fails to perform this duty."

Of course any one who attended a summer school elsewhere either this year or last has complied with the requirement of the law. Those who were in school when the May school was in session are excused.

The order of the County Board applies especially to those who were in Guilford at the time of the May school and were not engaged in school work and were not provisionally hindered from attendance.

This requirement is not intended to impose any unnecessary task upon the teachers, but we must comply with the law which looks to building up a more efficient teaching force.

Very truly yours,

THOS. R. FOUST,
County Superintendent.

Travelers from the East say that a Chinese shoe dealer will sell his customer as poor a pair of shoes as he possibly can, arguing that the poorer his shoes the quicker he will come back for another pair. If we tried that plan in North Carolina he would go to some other store mighty quick next time. It pays us to sell him the very best shoe possible. Then he gets to be a regular customer and also tells his friends to come buy here. Our new W. L. Douglas, Bostonian, Utz & Dunn and Elkin home made shoes are coming in. We shall keep our promise not to advance shoe prices this year, 1905, though you will find most people charging more. You can't possibly better our shoes and prices. And remember we never fail to make good every guarantee.
