Invitations have been issued to the marriage of Rev. W. M. Sikes, of Madison, N. C., and Miss May Conway Lipscomb, of Manchester, Va., which takes place Wednesday morning, Apr. 26th, 1905.

William L. Duskins, a High Point merchant, is under heavy bond for his appearance at a hearing before Commissioner Wolfe on April 25th on a charge of making false oath in a petition for bankruptcy.

Six or seven colored people have been bound over to court within the past week for retailing. The police are vigilant in the prosecution of these cases and are upholding the prohibitory law in an eminently satisfactory manner.

Don't forget the sale of West side lots that will be held tomorrow by Jennings and Lawson. A large tract of very desirable property is being put on the market by these gentlemen and the sale should attract an unusual number of investors.

Mr. W. C. Jackson, principal of the city high school, has been re-elected supervisor of the vacation summer schools conducted by the New York City Baptist Mission Society. Mr. Jackson will leave Greensboro for New York immediately after school closes, as his work begins June 1st.

Jimmy Delehanty, who for several years has been widely known among base ball fans in Greensboro and who played here week before last with the Boston team, broke an ankle in an exhibition game at New York last Friday and will be laid up for some time. He is one of the best players in the Beaneating aggregation and sympathy for him is widespread.

Harry-Belk Bros. Co. are offering some rare bargains this week in millinery, shoes, clothing, dress goods, silks and ready to wear skirts and shirt waists. You will save money by going direct to their big store and make your headquarters with them. They are doing the largest business in this section and are in a position to save you money. Call on them.

Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson, president of the Greensboro Female College, announces that the annual commencement will be held June 12 to 14. The commencement sermon will be preached on Tuesday, June 13, at 11 A. M. by Rev. W. V. Tudor, D. D., of Richmond, Va. The trustees and friends of the college hope to have the chapel completed in time for the commencement exercises.

At a meeting of the retail merchants and clerks Monday evening it was mutually agreed that hereafter the stores should close every evening at 7 o'clock except Saturdays, providing that the agreement should not apply to the month of December. The agreement was signed by eleven merchants and the officers of the clerks' association. A committee will wait on the other merchants of the city to secure their co-operation.

GEO. F. NEWMAN ELECTED SECRETARY.

The Greensboro Chamber of Commerce Chooses Its Principal Executive Officer.

The Greensboro Chamber of Commerce, which glories in the combined strength of the three business organizations that existed here prior to this year, will soon be in shape to set to work along practical lines to develop the city's material interests, having selected, at a meeting of the board of directors Monday evening, a secretary who will have active charge of the affairs of the organization and devote all his time to the work that has been undertaken. Mr. Geo. F. Newman, a native of the county and for several years a clerk in the Southern Railway offices here, was chosen by the board to conduct the business of the chamber, and he will enter on his new duties at once. Mr. Newman, by his application to railroad business, has risen from a humble position to that of cashier for the freight department of the Southern here, succeeding Capt. S. C. Dodson when that worthy gentleman laid aside the cares of business after a long and honorable career in railroad employ, and it is believed and hoped that he will prove as efficient in his new calling. The salary attached to the position of secretary of the Chamber is $1,200 per year. The secretary will maintain offices at some convenient location up town and have a stenographer to assist in handling the correspondence of his office. President Cone and Secretary Newman were authorized by the board to secure suitable office rooms at once and open up permanent headquarters for the Chamber. Mr. C. D. Benbow graciously tendered the use of a room adjoining his on the first floor of the Benbow Arcade, and this will be utilized temporarily. Mr. J. N. Longest was chosen to succeed Mr. J. C. Murchison on the board of directors of the Chamber, the latter having moved away from the city. With the moral and financial support of a majority of the progressive business men of Greensboro, which is already assured, although a systematic canvass has not yet been completed, the Chamber of Commerce starts off with a flattering prospect for the accomplishment of great and lasting good, and we are confident that its work will be along lines approved by every resident of our thriving city.

MR. E. M. ANDREWS SELLS OUT.

His Furniture Stock Bought by Huntley-Stockton-Hill Company.

An important business change took place Monday by which the entire new stock of furniture and good will of Mr. E. M. Andrews passed into the hands of the Huntley-Stockton-Hill Company, and the stock will be moved to their commodious new storerooms at 112-116 North Elm street. His many friends will be glad to know that Mr. Andrews will not leave Greensboro as he did not sell the piano and organ business, nor his accounts, and will continue to make Greensboro his home and have his office here, making this city headquarters for the management of the business of his stores in other cities. By the terms of the sale he agrees not to enter into the furniture business here for ten years. The purchasers are progressive and hustling business men and the enlargement of their establishment will make the concern one of the largest in the state. They opened their stores here last November and since that time their business has expanded with remarkable rapidity, due to their enterprise and correct business methods.

Fibre Plaster Company Formed.

At a meeting of the gentlemen interested in the Greensboro Wood Fibre Plaster Company last Saturday evening an organization was effected with the following officers: President, W. C. Bain; vice president, J. R. McClamroch; secretary and treasurer, E. G. West; directors, J. N. Longest, E. G. Newcomb and the above-named. The company will proceed at once to build and equip a factory on one of the sites in view, of which there are four or five. A two-story structure 40x90 will be built now, giving a capacity of thirty tons daily, which will be increased as the necessity demands. The greater part of the capital stock of $12,000 has already been paid in, and the enterprise will start off with unusually bright prospects, inasmuch as it develops a new industry here, yet one that has long since passed the experimental stage. Wood fibre plaster is demanded in the construction of all modern buildings of any consequence, and the South is practically a virgin field for the production of this commodity.

The Plans About Completed for May Music Festival.

The Greensboro Musical Association has about completed plans for the third annual May Festival. The two concerts to be given will be on the afternoon and night of May 18th.

The first concert is to be held at 4 o'clock at the Smith Memorial Building, and the program will consist of numbers by the Musical Association and various numbers by some of the best vocal talent to be secured. Dr. B. Merrill Hopkinson, of Baltimore, the celebrated basso, will be one of the artists engaged and probably Anita Ris, of New York, who so captivated the music lovers of Greensboro two years ago, will be engaged. For this concert a fee of $1 will be charged, which will cover the expense of both concerts.

At night Handel's matchless oratorio, "The Messiah," will be given in one of the large churches of the city. The choruses and solos of this great work will be accompanied upon the pipe organ and two pianos.

As the oratorio will be produced in a church, no entrance fee will be charged, but cards of admission will be given to all purchasers of tickets for the afternoon concert, and to no others. It is expected in this way to make the afternoon concert pay the expenses of the oratorio.

The chorus this year consists of about one hundred singers who have been working since last November on the Messiah, and it is a matter of great good fortune that a work of this character can be given in Greensboro.

Ladies and gentlemen representing the Musical Association will canvass the city in the course of a week for the sale of the tickets, and as the expenses will be about $100, it is necessary that a large advance sale be made.

Electric Company's Improvements.

Mr. R. H. Gamwell, general manager of the Greensboro Electric Company, told a Record reporter last week something of the plans of the new Greensboro Railway and Light Company, which was chartered recently with an authorized capital stock of $750,000. The members of the new company, whose names appeared in these columns last week, are all stockholders in the Greensboro Electric Company, and they prefer reorganizing under a new name with increased capital rather than go to the trouble necessary in providing for an increase of stock. It is their purpose to enlarge all the departments of the Greensboro Electric Company's business, in order to meet the demands of the city. A meeting will be held here at an early date to complete the deal and perfect organization by the election of officers. The new company will install a 750 horse power Corliss engine and 500 kilo-watt generator, two 150 horse power boilers and erect a smoke stack seven feet in diameter and 125 feet high at the power house, besides construct 25 miles of light and power lines, probably separating the light and power circuits. They will also make many improvements at the gas plant, putting in five more miles of gas mains, and greatly increasing the output of gas by the addition of a new bench and a new 100,000 cubic feet holder in addition to the one of 25,000 cubic feet now in use. These improvements will be completed by October 1st.

Reunion Book Out.

The Patriot acknowledged with sincere thanks the receipt of an admirably compiled and handsomely printed book containing a comprehensive history of the First North Carolina Reunion, held at Greensboro October 11-13, 1903. The subject matter of the book was compiled and edited by Geo. S. Bradshaw, Esq., of this city, who has discharged an agreeable duty in a manner that not only reflects great credit on himself but merits the high approval and unstinted praise of everyone associated with him in bringing about the success which attended the reunion. The book came from the presses of J. J. Stone & Co. only last week. It contains nearly two hundred pages and cannot be comprehensively reviewed in the limited space at our disposal this week. In our next issue we will tell something of its interesting contents and mention its more prominent features at length. To simply say, for the present, that we are charmed with our autograph copy of the book is putting it mildly.

GREENSBORO TOBACCO MARKET.

MARKET REPORT.

The receipts on our market for the past week have been the heaviest for several weeks, which we think is due to the fact that we had a heavy rain last week, followed by a fair season and the further advance of prices. Prices on all grades are now better than they have been at any time during the season and farmers are delighted with sales they are making daily on this market. We find further that a great many farmers are closing out the remainder of their crop, and we think they are very sensible for doing so, because we feel that prices will be easier on nearly all grades as soon as the manufacturers get busy at work and begin to withdraw their small orders from the markets. This always effects the market and makes it a little lower, and we feel that it will do so again this year. We cannot urge too strongly that our friends dispose of the remainder of their crop of tobacco in the near future while the prices are good and buyers anxious for it.

W. L. Dawson, a prominent Rockingham farmer, paid us a call last week and realized satisfactory prices for his tobacco.

Lee Groome, a prominent farmer from the Southside, sold with us Saturday and was very much pleased with his prices.

J. C. Morton, one of our Chatham county friends, visited us with a load of tobacco last week and went home highly pleased.

R. V. Harris, a prominent Guilford county farmer, realized $133.53 for a load of medium tobacco on this market the past week.

Capt. J. W. Forbis, an old Confederate veteran whom we are always glad to see, sold with us yesterday and got good prices for this tobacco.

W. J. Summers, C. H. Northam, O. N. Allen, D. C. Thomas and R. H. Smith were among the prominent farmers who made fine sales with us last week.

Squire J. R. Moore and daughter, Mrs. J. I. Scales, were on our sales yesterday. Mr. Moore was highly pleased with the prices he realized for his tobacco.

J. W. Eaton and George M. Ross were among the prominent farmers from Rockingham county who sold tobacco with us the past week and went home pleased.

Sam Apple, J. M. Wilson, Jas. H. West, and J. T. Powers, prominent farmers of this county, sold tobacco with us during the past week and realized good prices.

Mr. Theodore Stanley, of the Summerfield section, was with us last week and made very satisfactory sales. Mr. Stanley is a good farmer and we are always pleased to see him.

Mr. J. J. Busick, father of the well known Policeman Busick and a most excellent farmer, was here with tobacco yesterday and realized very satisfactory prices on his sales.

J. R. Anderson, Jerome Isley and Wilkins Cable were among the welcome visitors from Alamance county who sold tobacco with us the past week and went on their way rejoicing.

J. W. Alexander, J. R. Stanley, J. P. Cummings, D. T. Joyner, J. H. Smith and R. F. McNeeley were among the good farmers who paid us a visit last week and realized good prices for their tobacco.

Col. J. A. Lineberry, of Alamance county, and one of the best known gentlemen of that section, was here with tobacco the past week and realized good prices, considering the tobacco. His prices ranged from $5.90 to $15 per hundred.

The following well known gentlemen were here twice during the past week, which indicates that they are being highly pleased with their sales: Uncle Tommy Jessup, whose prices ranged from $7.50 to $19.50; A. C. Lloyd and W. O. Doggett.

Uncle Tommy Jessup and son, John R. Jessup, better known as fishermen, were here with tobacco last week on which they realized splendid prices. They always have good tobacco and a good time fishing, and if you want to enjoy yourself just go with them to a fish fry one time.

City's Last Sale of Bonds is Legal.

A telegram was received in the city last night stating that the Supreme court had affirmed the decision of the lower court in the test case in regard to the sale of the city's $250,000 worth of bonds as authorized by the recent session of the legislature. It will be remembered that the city was given the privilege to sell the bonds at par and pay a commission of not over 6 per cent. The bonds were sold to Messrs. Scott & Stringfellow, of Richmond, Va., and a commission of about 5 per cent. paid. The case was a friendly one, instituted to test the validity of the sale, and the court decides the sale is perfectly legal. The bonds will be transferred at once and the deal closed.

It looks like every man, woman and child in the land is going to want a pair of low shoes or slippers this summer and we have laid in a supply "accordingly." The remains were taken to High Falls in Moore county for burial.

To Invite Secretary Shaw.

Col. F. H. Fries, of Winston-Salem, president of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, and Judge James E. Boyd, of Greensboro, will probably go to Washington at an early date to invite Secretary Shaw, of the United States Treasury Department, to attend and address the association at its next annual convention in Winston-Salem next month. Hon. Hannis Taylor, a distinguished historian and minister to Spain during President Cleveland's administration, has already accepted an invitation to be present and make an address.

ALWAYS LIBERAL TO CHURCHES

Every church will be given a liberal quantity of L. & M. paint. Call for it. 4 gallons Longman & Martinez L. & M. paint mixed with three gallons linseed oil, will paint a house.

Wears and covers like gold. Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for linseed oil, which you do in ready-for-use paint.

Buy oil fresh from the barrel at 60 cents per gallon and mix it with L. & M.

It makes paint cost about $1.20 per gallon. Sold by Gibsonville Store Co., Gibsonville, N. C.

Federal Court at Greensboro Does a Big Cash Business.

The April term of the Federal court virtually closed at noon Thursday, there remaining only a few cases of matters involved in forfeited or infraction distillers' bonds to be disposed of in the afternoon, and the passing judgment on James Taylor, convicted of irregularities in selling liquor. Many judgments were entered at the morning session on these bonds, most of them being by default. A term of the court for the trial of civil cases will be held here, beginning Tuesday, April 25th. In the case of John L. Whittington, of Yackin, convicted of defrauding the government in the conduct of his distillery the prayer for sentence was continued until the next term of court. Whittington paying $3,500 into court, the amount forfeited on his distiller's bond under the law when a verdict of guilty was entered. At this term of court almost all of the big revenue fraud cases have been disposed of. Only the three cases against N. Glenn Williams are now remaining for trial, and these have been transferred to Charlotte for trial at the June term of court. There have been over $20,000 in the shape of fines and forfeitures paid to the government as the result of the pleas and convictions of guilty at the term. Not a single defendant has been sent to the penitentiary. One storekeeper and gauger was sent to jail for six months, a fellow from over in Davidson was sent to jail for twenty days, the facts showing that he was drunk and in catching hold of a rural mail box beside the road he caught too hard and the post and box all fell down together. There were one or two more short sentences to jail for trifling offenses.

Miss Clara Elliott Becomes the Bride of Mr. Harry H. Bond.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Elliott, on Rankin street, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding last Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Clara Lee Elliott, became the lovely bride of Mr. Harry Hollis Bond, of New Brunswick, N. J. The service was conducted by Rev. Ira Erwin in the presence of a few relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The best man was Mr. Charlie Norman and Miss Lillian Elliott was the maid of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Bond left at noon for a visit to Richmond, Washington and other cities before going to their future home at New Brunswick. The bride is an attractive young woman, while the groom is a rising young business man with a large number of friends in the commercial world.

LETTER TO PATTERSON BROTHERS.

Greensboro, N. C.

Dear Sirs: You sell a good many things by the gallon. Being decent men, you give full measure.

You know what we mean, you know that short weight and short measure are common among—well, we hope there are no short measures and weights in your town.

There are, though. Ribbons and laces and trimmings, sold by the "dozen," measure nine or ten yards. There is no complaint, because "they all do it." You have the same plague in your goods—nearly everything, canned or bottled, cheats in the quantity. Almost nobody gives full weight in a factory package!

We are one of the almost nobodies. We sell paint, by the gallon, to paint your house; and our gallon is just the same size as yours that you measure vinegar with—231 cubic inches.

Good paint too—Devoe lead-and-zinc—takes fewer gallons than mixed paint and wears twice as long as lead-and-oil.

You own a house that's why we are writing to you. Yours truly, F. W. DEVOE & Co., 62 The Odell Hardware Co. sells our paint.

The N. C. Bankers' Convention.

Mr. Charles N. Evans, secretary of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, announces that Hon. Hannis Taylor, a native of Alabama residing in Washington, will be the principal speaker at the annual convention to be held in Winston-Salem May 17th to 19th. The program will also include a number of other well known speakers. Mayor Eaton will deliver the address of welcome and Col. John F. Burton, of Wilson, will respond. During the convention a banquet at the Hotel Phoenix will be tendered the visitors.

Great Army for the Japs.

Japan is meeting the Russian plan of re-organization and re-enforcement of its Manchurian armies with extensive expeditions from its own military organization. The details and figures are carefully concealed of what seems to be a plan to double the present army units, but it is reliably estimated that by autumn next the total military organization will exceed a million men actually employed in the field. The fighting force is roughly estimated at 700,000 men, with increases largely in the infantry and artillery, although an enlargement in the cavalry branch is also contemplated.

As a result of the manufacture at the arsenals in Japan, together with captures and purchases, of guns, it is predicted that this year will see a Japanese artillery superior to that of the Russians, in quality as well as numerically, and it is confidently believed that the Russians will be incapable of overcoming those numerical disadvantages. Wherever railway improvements are possible, they will be carried out, when Japan will be sufficiently strong to take and hold Harbin, and simultaneously continue operations against the Russian forces to the eastward of that city.

Decrease in Farm Population.

Commenting upon the fact that the census reports show an actual decrease in the rural population in Iowa, the Council Bluffs Nonpareil says that "the country youth yearns for the city largely because he doesn't know what ails him, he doesn't know what the city is, with all its shame and hollowness. If, though the medium of these modern conveniences, he can now see the city as it really is while still at home on the farm, but the gloss off, as it were, it seems he should be more content to remain. But there is something in human nature that leads every mortal to believe that his own lot is the worst, and if he could only get over into the other fellow's pasture he would be in clover. Curiously enough, while the microscope lays tightest grasp on the country youth as he contemplates the shining collar and creased trousers of his city ideal, it very seldom affects the city boy in his attitude toward his country neighbor in blouse and jeans."

Southern Railway Appointments.

The following appointments on the Southern Railway have been made, effective April 15: Francis Lynde Stetson, general counsel at New York, in general charge, as heretofore, of the law department of the company; Alfred P. Thom, general counsel at Washington, in charge of the law department of the Eastern and Western districts; Col. William A. Henderson, general solicitor for the Eastern and Western districts, with offices at Knoxville, Tenn.; Alexander P. Humphrey, general counsel at Louisville, in charge of the law department of the St. Louis-Louisville Lines.

KISS HELD UP A LINER.

Gang Plank Raised for Lover Who Tardied Over Farewell.

New York, April 12.—Love's good-bye today came near causing Julius McIntyre, a young business man of Buffalo, to miss the White Star Line steamship Oceanic. It furnished some amusement for those on the liner and on the dock.

McIntyre is engaged to be married to a very pretty up-state girl. She was here to see him sail on a flying trip to London. Their marriage was set for May 1 and the wedding bells were about to ring, when the young man was called to England on a matter of urgent business. He booked passage on the Oceanic and arrived at the vessel some time before sailing time. When it came time for all to go ashore the young man, accompanied by his bride-to-be, went to the pier. They stood talking near the gang plank when the signal was given to lower the plank.

"Good-bye," the young man said, and there was a delay while they exchanged the last kiss. While this was going on the signal was given to "lower away," and the heavy planks were swung clear of the ship's side. Then the man made a dash to get back on the Oceanic. He made a motion as though to jump for it, but the distance was too great and he balked. There were shouts from those on the pier and those aboard the steamer to let the young man get on board, and finally the officials again raised the gang plank and swung it so close to the side of the vessel that McIntyre had to make a stiff jump to gain the deck of the steamer, and when he fell into the arms of two seamen who were waiting to catch him those on the dock and ship broke into cheers and hand-clapping.

Both Robbers Identified.

Wadesboro, April 12.—It seems that the two bank robbers who were captured in Lilesville last Friday, are wanted in other states besides South Carolina.

Postoffice Inspector J. W. Bulla, of Washington, came in Monday night on the 11 o'clock train, to look into the case. He identified the men as Conn Shorty, alias John Fisher, and Bun Robinson, alias Charles O'Day, and says they are the same men who were operating in Alexandria, Va., in 1903. It appears that Shorty is an old hand at the business, while Robinson is more inexperienced. Shorty, or Fisher, was removed from the Klondike Hotel and lodged in a cell in jail. He is said to be suffering from his wounds, though much improved. Robinson, alias Charles O'Day, is resting quietly and the doctors think there is some chance of his recovery.

Mr. R. R. Ray, secretary and treasurer of the McAden Mills, at McAdenville, was in Charlotte Wednesday returning from Wadesboro, accompanied by Pinkerton Detective Eugene Schellie. After a thorough investigation, Mr. Ray and Mr. Schellie are convinced that the man giving the name of Fisher is one of the gang that blew the safe in the office of the McAden Mills a month or more ago. Fisher is said to have been a member of the gang that camped in the neighborhood of Gastonia several days prior to the robbery, and also to have been seen at Lowell the day before the robbery. Fisher and his companion, if the latter recovers, will first be placed on trial for the Heath Springs robbery.

Spencer Night Watchman Robbed by Tramps.

Spencer, April 12.—Officer D. W. Davis, a night watchman for the Southern Railway Company at this place, had a dangerous experience with three white tramps here last night. The men were discovered on top of an outgoing freight train, and were ordered to come down. They refused to do so, and Mr. Davis mounted the train to get them off. Just at this time, the train pulled out of the yards, the four men being on top of the car. At an unguarded moment, the three tramps threw the officer down on the car, robbed him of $27 in cash and his pistol, under the cover of which he was held captive and carried to Lexington, where the first stop was made. At that place, the tramps made their escape, and Mr. Davis was allowed to return to Spencer. The affair has created a sensation, and Special Detective Haney is working on the case.

Commander at Fort Caswell Sustained.

Washington, April 12.—Acting upon the advice of the judge advocate general of the army, the War department has sustained the action of the commanding officer of the army post at Fort Caswell, N. C., in refusing to surrender to the state authorities of North Carolina in the state courts Sergeant Lee Kye, who, it is alleged, shot and killed Corporal Thomas Harris, of the 5th company, coast artillery, a few weeks ago. A grand jury in the Brunswick court returned a true bill for manslaughter against Sergeant Kye.

The action of the War department is based upon the fact that the alleged offense was committed on the government reservation, and therefore was a matter for the cognizance of the United States authorities and not of the state authorities. The commanding officer at Fort Caswell was authorized to surrender the prisoner for trial by United States courts under the usual legal process.

Heroism of an Engineer.

Soyre, Pa., April 12.—By his heroism, Engineer John Gartside, of the Erie Railroad, this morning managed to stop his runaway passenger train, No. 3, as it sped on with the throttle valve broken, and as a consequence he will be confined to his home some time with severe burns caused by the escaping steam.

The valve burst two miles east of Waverly, and the train was at once beyond control. The boiling steam burned Engineer Gartside's face and hands severely, but he gritted his teeth, sought the other valves, and emptied the steam out of the boiler as fast as he could. Then he crawled out on the running-board badly scalded, and the train came to a stop five miles further on.

The Appomattox Statue.

Washington Post.

It is to be regretted that there is some evidence of friction between Virginia and North Carolina because of the inscription on the monument the latter state has caused to be placed on the field of Appomattox to commemorate the valor of her soldiers who fought and fell for the "Lost Cause." "First at Bethel; farthest at Gettysburg; last at Appomattox." It is a proud record; but there was "glory enough for all," and old Virginia has too much luster of her own to challenge the chronicle of her sister's fame.

When the grand old Landammann Biederman gave the English bow to Anne of Geierstein for young Philipson to try his skill, his elder guest expressed surprise at seeing in a Swiss tower such a weapon with the mark of its English maker, and asked its history. The answer of the noble old Switzer was that it would grieve his guest to recount it, since "it was taken in a day fatal to your country." To that the lofty Vere de Vere replied: "My country has gained so many victories that her children may well afford to hear of a single defeat." And Virginia has so many deeds of her own to boast that she need not envy the proudest inscription Carolina might carve. On the contrary, she might cultivate the spirit of Nelson the day he died—"See how that noble fellow, Collingwood, carries his ship into action."

There is glory enough for both Virginia and North Carolina. That is the thing for them to remember.

Neither Virginia nor North Carolina caused the war. Both entered upon the struggle reluctantly, but, being engaged, they threw away the scabbard. Both were at Gettysburg, and if North Carolina was a few paces to the advance of where Armistead fell, it was the chance of battle and did not evidence that her troops were more valorous than those of her sister commonwealth.

Can't Bar Whisky Orders.

Kansas City, Mo., April 14.—Judge Charles F. Amidon has decided in the Federal court that the mail order whisky business cannot be barred from the use of the United States mails. The decision was made on the application of a distilling company to restrain the postmaster at Kansas City from executing the fraud order recently issued by the Postmaster General. Judge Amidon granted the application for the injunction, and an order will be issued to require the postmaster to release all mail and to pay all money orders which he has been holding up. The business involved advertising, which offered to prospective customers 10-year-old whisky direct from the distillers. Postoffice inspectors reported to the government that these companies had no distilleries of their own, and that the advertisements were palpable frauds. Judge Amidon decided that, though the advertisements might be untruthful, still the advertisers did not violate the Federal statutes. The court added that fully 75 per cent. of all articles of food are adulterated, but this fact will not permit the Postmaster General to break up the manufacturers' business.

Haggard Dislikes American Noises.

Amity, Colo., April 6.—Trusts, infernal noises and failure to pay royalty on American editions of such works as "She" are the chief faults of the United States, according to H. Rider Haggard, who is inspecting the the Salvation Army colony here for the British government.

"Bacon we eat on the table here in Colorado, costs more than it does in England," said Mr. Haggard. "I see nothing but revolution and ruin in this country if the gigantic trusts are not curbed. Colonization, I believe, mitigates the problem of poverty in cities."

"America is the land of loud noises. People slam doors and in every way see how much noise they can make. Train boys especially are a nuisance, with their harsh, loud voices."

Mr. Haggard said he received no royalty on editions, many of which were given away with a pound of tea.

Negroes in General Fight.

Burlington, April 13.—A general mixture of a few bad negroes and white men, blockade whiskey, cards, etc., in the northern suburbs of the city a few days ago resulted in a general fight in which guns, razors and clubs were brought to bear, and one negro, Haywood Allen, was probably fatally shot and a white man, J. J. Self, was knocked down with a pistol, and many others were slightly injured. The crowd had gathered according to a pre-arranged plan, it is thought, to meet a blockade whiskey dealer, and were drinking freely and indulging in a game of cards when the row occurred. All except Self and Allen made a speedy retreat and but a little of the details are known, but an investigation is being made, and interesting developments are expected.

Guilford Ruled Out of Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association.

Greenville, S. C., April 12.—The game between Furman and Guilford, scheduled to occur tomorrow afternoon, has been cancelled. Guilford has been ruled out of the Inter-Collegiate Association, on account of playing alleged professionals, and for this reason the game tomorrow has been called off. Manager Clinkscale received a message this morning from President Riggs, giving this information.

Wisconsin Anti-Cigarette Bill Signed.

Madison, Wis., April 13.—Governor Robert M. LaFollette today signed the anti-cigarette bill. The measure prohibits the sale or manufacture of cigarettes or cigarette tobacco or papers, or the giving away of cigarette papers. The bill goes into effect on July 1.

DR. HILLIS SCORES JOHN D., JR.

Eminent Brooklyn Preacher Declares the Economic Argument of the Son of the Standard Oil Trust's Head to be Brutal.

New York, April 9.—In the course of his sermon in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, today, the Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis referred to the gift of $100,000 made by John D. Rockefeller to the American Board of Foreign Missions, and to Mr. Rockefeller's son. He said in part:

"The saddest words that have been written in this generation were spoken before Brown University by a young man who is to inherit one of the greatest fortunes in this country. They were spoken in defense of the trusts. Listen to them: 'The American beauty rose can be produced in all its splendor only by sacrificing the early buds that grow up around it.' The rose has one thousand buds and in order to produce the American Beauty the gardener goes around it with a knife and snips, in order that all the strength of the beauty may be forced into one bloom. In his economic argument this young man tells the working classes brutally that the small business men must be snuffed out of existence in order that his American Beauty, the trust, may be produced. Listen to Christ, 'Let the strong bear the burdens of the weak,' and again: 'Give, and it shall be given unto you.' These words in defense of the trusts are the most heartbreaking things in literature to those who know what is going to come in the future. Can you wonder that after that, when a man gives gifts, we have no gratitude to return?"

Cupid's Busy Day at Lenoir.

Lenoir Topic.

Last Monday quite a concourse of friends and relatives assembled at the jail yard to see the following couples taken out of jail and united in the bonds of matrimony: Solomon Darsey to Ella Dickson; Winfield Perkins to Caroline Baker; William Gill to Minnie Dickson; James Hemphill to Effie Abernethy; Joe Hood to Rosa Dickson. This was a case in which marriage was thrust upon these happy couples in order to get out of jail. Our friend William Dickson had the pleasure of giving away three of his daughters on this occasion. Squire Tuttle officiated with a very impressive ceremony suitable to the occasion.

Union for Presbyterians.

Pittsburg, April 12.—Rev. Charles R. Zahnizer, pastor of the Third Cumberland Presbyterian church, of this city, who returned today from a meeting of Union Presbytery of the Cumberland church, held at Vanderbilt, Pa., yesterday, reports that the Presbytery decided in favor of union with the Presbyterian church by a vote of 15 to 3. Dr. Zahnizer says the action of the Union Presbytery virtually settles the question of union as far as the Cumberland denomination is concerned.

Cures and Prevents Disease

The cause of ninety per cent. of all disease is a faulty digestive and drainage system—the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Let one of these organs become clogged or impeded, there remains in the system many poisons that will, in time, breed disease, difficult to correct. One should never allow even a temporary stoppage of any one of these organs—they should be kept constantly in perfect working order.

SEVEN BARKS

Is positively the ideal corrective of all internal ailments. It is not a patent medicine, but an honest, vegetable preparation, extracted from the bark of all species of the Hydrangea plant. Its curative properties are numerous. It is a mild cathartic—an alterative—diuretic, soothing, healing and tonic. An occasional dose will keep the whole system in perfect condition and will act as a safeguard against disease.

Seven Barks has been on the American market for over thirty-five years. Its distributors have reams of high-praising letters from people in every walk of life. Thousands of families are never without a bottle. The oldest friends are our best.

Test it for Yourself

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle, and if it does not do all that is claimed, take the empty or partly consumed bottle back and get your money. One New York City druggist sold 729 bottles on this basis before one dissatisfied purchaser asked for the return of his money.

KILL THE SERPENT

The worst disease the world has ever known, and the greatest scourge to the human race, is Contagious Blood Poison. One drop of the virus of this loathsome disease will pollute and vitiate the purest and healthiest blood, and within a short time after the first little sore appears the system is filled with the awful poison; the skin breaks out in a red rash, the glands of the groins begin to swell, the throat and mouth become ulcerated, the hair and eyebrows drop out, and often the entire surface of the body is covered with copper-colored splotches, pustular eruptions and sickening-looking sores and abscesses. Many a man has been cut down in the prime of life, or his health so impaired by this vile disease that usefulness is destroyed, and he becomes a burden to himself and an object of pity to the rest of mankind. Contagious Blood Poison is the most annoying, humiliating and degrading of all diseases. It is as treacherous and elusive as the serpent. Under the mercury and potash treatment all external evidences of it may disappear, and the victim misled, be buoyed up by false hopes of a cure, while the disease may even then have fastened its fangs in some vital spot within the system, where it is doing its destructive work unseen. Mercury has arrayed against it thousands upon thousands of physical wrecks and chronic invalids who have been dosed for years and their systems saturated with these powerful drugs, only to be harassed by constantly returning symptoms and confronted with unmistakable traces of blood poison years after. As long as your blood is tainted with this awful virus you are a source of infection and danger to all who come in contact with you, and your children will carry in their veins the same dreadful contagion. As long as there is life in the serpent there is danger in its fangs, and so long as any signs of Contagious Blood Poison remain there is danger of infection. Safety lies in crushing out the life of this loathsome disease and killing the serpent, and no remedy known does this so thoroughly and permanently as S. S. S. It is an antidote for this peculiar virus that spreads through the system, defiles the blood and contaminates all healthy tissues and threatens every organ and part of the body.

S. S. S. contains no mineral of any description, but is guaranteed entirely vegetable, and we offer $1,000 for proof that it is not just as we represent it to be. It leaves no bad after-effects, but purifies the blood and at the same time builds up your general health. In chronic or long-standing cases of blood poison, where the stomach and digestion have been damaged by the use of minerals, S. S. S. will prove an excellent tonic and appetizer and helpful in restoring strength and activity to all parts of the system. Kill the serpent, crush out its life, or you are apt to feel the bad effects of the disease all your life. If you will write us fully about your case, our physicians will gladly advise without charge, and mail you a copy of our home-treatment book telling all about Contagious Blood Poison, its different stages and symptoms, and a lot of interesting information about this formidable and much-dreaded disease.

SEEKS VICTORY OR DEATH.

Rojevsky's Last Message Before Leaving Madagascar.

Paris, April 15.—Gaston Dru telegraphs from St. Petersburg to The Echo de Paris that Admiral Rojevsky's last telegram before leaving Nossi Be was singularly laconic and eloquent. He wired: "I will not telegraph again before the battle. If I am beaten, you will learn it through Togo. If I defeat him, I will announce it to you."

M. Dru adds that the telegram was accepted as meaning that the Russian admiral seeks victory or death.

Navy 3; North Carolina 2.

Annapolis, Md., April 15.—For twelve innings this morning the Annapolis midshipmen and the University of North Carolina played each other to a standstill in one of the most spectacular games ever played here. In the latter half of the twelfth inning, the midshipmen got two men on the bases, and Captain Shoffler drove a long, hard fly over to center field. The catch was a difficult one to handle, and Barry jumped into the air to get it, but muffed, and Gill crossed the plate with the winning run, making the final score 3 to 2 for Annapolis.

From start to finish, the game was largely a pitchers' battle, with the honors slightly in favor of Needham, of Annapolis, who pitched his best game since his admission into the academy. Stiton, his opponent, was credited with 13 strike-outs. The local ball tossers are still very weak at the bat, but their fielding shows improvement.

General Palmer Dead.

Albany, N. Y., April 15.—General John Palmer, former commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., died here today after a long illness. His death resulted from a wound received during the Civil War and from which he suffered since that conflict. He was one of the most prominent members of the G. A. R. in the country, being commander-in-chief of that order in 1892. He was elected secretary of the state of New York on the Republican ticket in 1895 and held that office for five years. He held many other posts of trust and was one of Albany's most prominent citizens.

Appointed a Cadet.

Asheville, April 14.—George Pritchard, of this city, son of Judge Pritchard of the United States Circuit court, who stood a competitive examination for admission to West Point Military Academy recently and made the highest average, has received notice from Congressman Guder that he has been appointed to a cadet-ship. Mr. Pritchard was for two years a student at the University of North Carolina and returned to Asheville a few months ago to prepare for the examination which he has successfully passed.

Alleged Negro Removed.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 17.—S. V. Daniels, a student at the Eastman Business College, for whose removal 160 Southern students petitioned President Gaines, alleging that he had negro blood in his veins, today withdrew from the main college in this city.

Dr. Gaines, who was born in Virginia, today addressed the school and accused those who signed the petition of taking a narrow-minded action. Daniels comes from St. Thomas, and is 17 years old. He says his father is English and his mother a Porto Rican.

State Warrants Against Revenue Officers for Cutting Wires.

Wilkesboro, April 14.—The first of the week five revenue officers started on a raid to Reddies river and Lewis Fork section. They cut the telephone wires leading to that section to prevent news of their approach being sent ahead of them. As a result of the raid thirteen blockade stills were destroyed. A state warrant was sworn out against the officers for cutting the telephone wires.

Salisbury-Spencer Team.

Salisbury, April 15.—Salisbury and Spencer are now very much agitated over the proposed baseball league being organized in this state. An enthusiastic meeting was held at Spencer last night at which the situation was thoroughly canvassed and again this afternoon leaders in the sport met in Salisbury and it is practically certain that Salisbury and Spencer will play as one team.

Killed by a Kicking Horse.

Graham, April 14.—While Ezekiel Hornady, of this place, was taking a number of horses to Roxboro, one of the animals kicked him on the leg, shattering the limb and necessitating its amputation. It was hoped to save Mr. Hornady's life but in spite of every attention he died of the shock.

PROGRAM OF TEACHERS' MEETING.

The Assembly Will Open at Greensboro on June 13 and Continue in Session for Three Days.

The program committee of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly are rapidly completing the program of the great meeting to be held in Greensboro on June 13-16. Prof. W. D. Carmichael, secretary of the assembly, spent Friday night in Greensboro looking after some of the details of the program. From him some of the facts concerning the approaching session of teachers, which will undoubtedly be the greatest gathering of the kind ever held in this state, were learned.

The assembly will open on Tuesday, June 13th. There will be two sessions daily of the entire assembly; the morning session will open at 10 o'clock and continue until 12; the evening sessions will be from 8.30 to 10 o'clock. There will be two addresses at each of these sessions. Sectional meetings will be held daily from 3 until 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Secretary Carmichael said that the following speakers from outside the state are now certain of attendance: Dr. Walter Page, editor of World's Work; Dean James E. Russell, of Columbia University; Professor L. S. H. Bailey, of Cornell University; Dr. W. W. Stetson, State Superintendent of Maine; Hon. O. B. Martin, State Superintendent of South Carolina; Mr. Dick J. Crosby, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Adele Marie Shaw, of Brooklyn, whose recent educational articles in The World's Work have attracted widespread attention over the country; Miss Pattie S. Hill, principal of the Louisville Kindergarten Training School.

It is probable that in addition to these speakers, Superintendent Gregory, of Massachusetts, or Superintendent Hughes, of Toronto, Canada, Chancellor Hill, of the University of Georgia, and Governor Montague, of Virginia, will also be present.

The sectional meetings to be held in the afternoon will be informal round-table discussions which should be most helpful. The Woman's Association for the Betterment of Public Schools, will have Miss Adele Marie Shaw to work with it; Miss Pattie S. Hill will be with the primary teachers; Dean Russell will be with the city superintendents and principals; Superintendent Gregory or Superintendent Hughes, if either come, will also be present to work with this section; Superintendent W. W. Stetson will be with the county superintendents. Enough county superintendents to make a good meeting have already written that they will be present. Professor L. Bailey, the very greatest authority on nature study, and Mr. Dick J. Crosby, as well as Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Stevens, and Professor Pearson, will work with the nature study section.

On Friday, June 16th, the state campaign committee, composed of Dr. Charles D. McIver, director of the Southern Educational Board; ex-Governor Charles B. Aycock, Hon. J. Y. Joyner and Mr. R. W. D. Connor, will open the educational campaign which will be continued throughout the state this summer and fall. Numerous short addresses will be delivered by men who are to take part in the campaign, and others. An educational conference will be held to consider our educational interests. The great educational rally of this day will be a most significant feature of the meeting.

As soon as the changed plan of the assembly was announced early in the year unusual interest was manifested in the meeting, and this interest has continued to increase.

The Charlotte schools, said Professor Carmichael, have just made attendance on the assembly equivalent to attendance on a summer school, and some of the other cities of the state will likely make the same recognition of the assembly within the next few days.

A great many teachers from all parts of the state have already written saying that they will be present, and those who expect to attend and have not written, should write at once to the secretary, Mr. W. D. Carmichael, Durham. It is important that this be done.

"The meeting will assuredly be an unusual opportunity for the teachers of North Carolina," said Mr. Carmichael, "and no progressive teacher within the borders of the state can afford to miss it. It now seems," said the secretary, "that the teachers of North Carolina will assemble at Greensboro in the greatest professional gathering ever held in a southern state. Their deliberations will mean much to the educational life of our commonwealth, and the meeting will attract attention far beyond the borders of the state."

Don't Borrow Trouble.

It is a bad habit to borrow anything, but the worst thing you can possibly borrow, is trouble. When sick, sore, heavy, weary and worn-out by the pains and poison of dyspepsia, biliousness, Bright's disease, and similar internal disorders, don't sit down and brood over your symptoms, but fly for relief to Electric Bitters. Here you will find sure and permanent forgetfulness of all your troubles, and your body will not be burdened by a load of debt disease. At all druggists. Price 50c. Guaranteed.

High Point and Greensboro "Getting Together."

Mr. Andrew Joyner sent out the following in his correspondence to the state papers Monday: Not only are the people of High Point and Thomasville deeply interested in the building of a road from Wadesboro to Thomasville and High Point, of which Capt. Milt Jones gives such glowing prospects, but Greensboro has a kindred interest, judging from what a financial leader here said today. He declared that Greensboro would be greatly benefited and should take fifty thousand dollars stock as well as High Point and Thomasville, if it were necessary to aid its completion to High Point; that with proper schedules on the Southern from here to High Point, present ones being even retained, Greensboro would thus be put in close touch with Charleston, Wadesboro and Wilmington by two routes, thereby making that additional territorial feeders to the city and practically nearly doubling its present unrivaled advantages as a great railroad passenger center. The extension of the road to Winston, he said, would be another advantage by giving business men and commercial tourists the unique opportunity of leaving Greensboro in the morning, doing business in Kernersville, Winston, High Point, Asheboro, Randleman and other towns in the run of a day and really getting back to Greensboro at night, having traversed nearly a circle in his railroad meanderings without doubling his mileage expense. The possibilities of High Point and Greensboro are vast, the opportunities great and the probabilities nearing an accomplishment; in less than two years, said he, there will be a trolley line between the two cities on half hour schedules; in ten years more the whole twelve miles from Pomona (which is now practically a part of Greensboro) to High Point would be a broad avenue of handsome residences, and in twenty years the people of the two cities would have become so closely affiliated by business, social and political ties, the biggest city in North Carolina, if not the South would be born and would continue to grow even through the exigencies of the situation should handicap it with a hyphenated name—High Point-Greensboro, North Carolina, United States of America.

The President's Political Future.

The Savannah Press thinks that those who are predicting the re-election of President Roosevelt in 1908 "leave out of consideration what the President's re-nomination and re-election may mean to the people who have been running the Republican party in the past. There is the possibility that they may find it vitally necessary to block off Mr. Roosevelt from another term, on the one hand, and, on the other, that Mr. Roosevelt, who has so far approved himself more of a Democrat than a Republican in his domestic policies, may throw off his Republican cloak and find the Democratic hosts ready to accept his leadership in the herculean task of cleaning out the Augean stables of his own present party."

Majestic Cooking Exhibit

We extend to the readers of the Patriot a cordial invitation to come to the "Majestic Steel Range Cooking Exhibit" to be held at our store all of next week, commencing Monday, April 24th.

We'll show you how to bake biscuits perfectly, browned top and bottom, in three minutes. We don't ask you to accept this statement on the bare assertion, but we do ask that you come and see it done. "Seeing is believing." We promise to show you a range that is a 25 per cent. better cooking apparatus than any ever peddled through the country—one that can be bought for a good many dollars less too. Come and bring all your folks. Tell your neighbors to come. We will serve Hot Biscuits, Pure Maple Syrup and the best of Coffee FREE during the week of exhibit. Don't forget the date—Monday, April 24th. Hope to see all of you.

Neighborhood News.

Matters of Interest Reported by Our Corps of Correspondents.

Whitsett Items.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Summers spent Saturday in Burlington.

Rev. J. D. Andrew filled his regular appointment at the Reformed church last Sunday.

Numbers of students were in Greensboro and Burlington last week "shopping" for Easter.

Mr. W. C. Rankin, of the Greensboro graded schools, spent Saturday and Sunday here.

Misses Vera and Mattie Gilliam, of Thompsonville, are here on a visit to their two sisters, who are students.

Mr. R. I. Moore, of the senior class, spent Saturday and Sunday in Greensboro with his sister, Mrs. Junius I. Seales.

Miss Bessie Zimmerman, who taught school at Hartshorn, in Alamance county, the past winter, was here Saturday.

Prof. Whitsett has been invited to deliver the annual address at Ramseur Academy in May. The principal of the school is Prof. J. T. Cobb.

Mr. Richard Wharton, of the junior class, has re-entered school since the close of the legislature, where he held a position as chief mailing clerk.

Misses Aurelia Barnhardt and Minnie Chapp attended the Washington and Lee debate at Chapel Hill last Friday night, returning home Saturday evening.

As several members of the graduating class at the University this year are "Whitsett boys" there will be a number from here who will attend the exercises there.

Mrs. Lacy Summers and Miss Eva Brown are at home again after an absence of some days with a sick sister near McLeansville, who died last Friday and was buried Saturday at Bethel church.

Active preparations are going forward for the commencement, which occurs this year on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, May 20th, 21st and 22nd. The program will be one of unusual interest.

The mid-term entertainment of the Star Circle last Saturday night drew a large audience. Numbers were here from Graham, Burlington, Elon and Greensboro, and the exercises were much enjoyed.

The new school catalogue is now being printed and is expected to appear about May 1st. It will show a total enrollment of two hundred and fifty-four students for the year. It will be a handsome book of over sixty pages.

Mr. J. B. Whitsett has had his residence treated to a beautiful spring dress of paint, and it is now one of our most attractive homes. A recent visitor remarked that certainly no section of the county had more attractive homes than this.

Invitations have been received to the marriage of Miss Lettie Foust, of Graham, to Mr. Walker L. Smith, of Elon, next Wednesday. Miss Foust is a most excellent young woman, and is a sister to Prof. Foust, county superintendent of schools.

The senior class exercises will occur Saturday evening, April 29th, at 8 P. M. The public invited. Unusual interest attaches to the exercises this year, as the class numbers twenty one.

The largest graduating class in the history of the school.

Work upon the new nine thousand dollar barn to replace the one burned will soon begin at Mr. Guthrie's farm near here. It is said that the new structure will be the most complete one of its kind in this part of the state. Mr. E. K. Trogon has just returned from New York with the plans.

Elon College Items.

Fruit is generally killed in this section.

Dr. J. A. Crouse's family have the measles and several are very sick.

Mrs. Kate E. Cobb and Mr. Boyd McLean, of Sedalia, visited friends here Sunday.

Mr. H. H. Walker, of Union Ridge, and Mr. J. J. Iseley, of Burlington, were callers here Sunday.

Dr. G. S. Watson, of Union Ridge, has purchased the Dr. Herndon residence and will move here in the fall.

The series of meetings have closed here. They resulted in several conversions and much good was manifested.

The graded school election which was held here some time ago proved to be unfair and will be held again. This question has caused quite a discussion.

Mr. Heenan Hughes, of the Graham Tribune, has purchased the printing plant of the Burlington Herald and moved the same here, where he will print the Christian Sun after May 1st.

Two more broken arms might be reported.

Master Heenan Huffines fell from a wagon and broke his arm, which has caused him much suffering, and little Harper Tickle fell from a porch and broke his. We are glad to say both are now getting along very well.

Mr. W. L. Smith, of this place, and Miss Lettie Foust, of Graham, will be married on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's father, Mr. T. C. Foust, near Graham. Miss Foust is one among the best teachers of our county, while Mr. Smith is a very prominent merchant of this place. We extend best wishes in advance.

All members of Shallow Ford church are requested to be present on Saturday, April 29, for the purpose of preparing the cemetery for memorial day, which will be the third Sunday in May. If you have relatives or friends buried there, come and aid in this good work. Those who cannot come may send help or money which will get help.

The annual debate takes place Friday evening in the college chapel. A large crowd is expected. Query, "Resolved, That the various states should adopt compulsory educational laws." Affirmative, Phil. A. W. Andes and Ed J. French; negative, Clio, L. H. Whiteley and L. I. Gray. Marshals, C. E. Pritchett, H. G. Buzzell, J. H. Long and T. R. Ames.

Oak Ridge Items.

Mr. G. W. Williams, of the Reedy Fork farm, was up last week on business.

Profs. J. A. Holt and T. E. Whitaker spent Saturday in Greensboro on business.

Mr. D. W. Whitaker has been sick during the past week, but is better now, and able to be up.

The band and orchestra will give a concert at an early date, embracing some vaudeville numbers. Date will be announced later.

Prof. M. H. Holt attended a meeting of the board of directors of the North Carolina school for the Deaf and Dumb at Morganton last week.

The base ball team is off this week on a trip to the western part of the state, to Lenoir College, Rutherford College, Bingham school, Asheville, and the Asheville school. The boys are in charge of Prof. Earle Holt.

On Sunday we had a heavy snow storm, and on Sunday night one fourth of an inch of ice and heavy frost. It remains to be seen whether any fruit has escaped. It is generally thought that the ground hog is responsible.

The annual debate between the Athenian and Philomathean literary societies will be held Easter Monday night, the 24th inst. J. L. Fentress and A. R. Hester will represent the Phils, and J. K. DePriest and C. R. Bowman will represent the Athenians.

Guilford College Items.

Mrs. Dr. Michaux visited her mother, Mrs. Robertson, last Monday.

There will be an Easter service at the Friends church next Sunday morning and afternoon to which all are invited.

Miss Annie V. Edgerton, who has been a missionary in India for the past five years, returned home last Friday night.

Rev. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, the national legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, delivered a very interesting and instructive lecture in Memorial hall last Saturday evening. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was not so large as it would otherwise have been.

We had quite a little snow storm here last Sunday afternoon, accompanied with heavy wind. It looked for a while as if winter had returned in full force. Sunday night there was quite a little freeze, but we hope the fruit crop is not very materially injured, as it was so very dry.

NOT A RESIDENT OF WILKES.

Sheriff Remits Taxes Against Congressman Spencer Blackburn.

Statesville Landmark.

About a year ago there was much talk as to the legal residence of Congressman Blackburn, it being charged that he was a resident of Greensboro and did not live in this district. This charge he and his friends indignantly denied, and for appearance sake, Blackburn took up a temporary residence at Wilkesboro, but soon returned to Greensboro, which is really his home, and last week the commissioners of Wilkes, according to the Chronicle, remitted all taxes charged against Blackburn, on the ground that he is not a resident of Wilkesboro. There is no law requiring a congressman to reside in the district he represents and so far as The Landmark is concerned it is perfectly willing for Blackburn to live in Greensboro or anywhere, but inasmuch as he is not and has not been for years a resident of the district, he and his friends were very foolish to try to make the contrary appear.

Can't Limit Work Hours.

Washington, April 17.—In an opinion by Justice Peckham, the Supreme court of the United States today held to be unconstitutional the New York state law making ten hours a day's work and sixty hours a week's work in bakeries in that state. Justices Harlan, White, Day and Holmes dissented, and Justice Harlan declared that no more important decision had been rendered in the last century.

The opinion was handed down in the case of Lockner vs. the State of New York and was based on the ground that the law interferes with the free exercise of the rights of contract between individuals. The Court of Appeals of the state upheld the law and affirmed the judgment of the trial court holding Lockner guilty. Judge Parker wrote the opinion of the New York Court of Appeals supporting the law, and the court divided four to three on the question of validity.

Lockner is a baker who was found guilty of permitting an employee to work in his bakery more than sixty hours in a week.

Walter Greene Revisits Appomattox.

Raleigh, April 15, 1905. EDITOR PATRIOT.—It was my pleasure to be one of the North Carolinians to be at Appomattox to see and to clasp hands with the noble Virginians, who greeted us there on the 10th to do honor to the North Carolina boys who fought and surrendered there 40 years ago.

I left them on the morning of the 10th of April, 1865, for home. It was Monday and the 10th came on Monday this year, too. Things did not look much like it did then to me. But 40 years is a long time you know. I remember well the location of Cooke's brigade and the place Gen. Gordon made his farewell address to his command. But the woods near the camp of Cooke's Brigade are all gone. Where the last fighting was is about one-half a mile this side of the old court house, and most of the land is grown up in spruce pine. I saw an old colored man, who told me he was there on the day of the fight and that there was quite a lot of fighting all around there. I remember hearing the firing myself.

There was quite a number of pretty girls. I told them if the people we had to surrender to were as good looking as they, we would not have minded giving up so bad. I was surprised to see no one but Prof. Bandy from Greensboro. They missed a good time. The Virginians treated us all right and said they were glad that we came. They were surprised at the number of Tar Heels being so few at the unveiling. We had a delightful time and on our way back sang old war songs and talked of old times in camp, etc. Hurrah for old Virginia! She has not forgotten how to treat a friend. I met Gov. Montague. I like his face, very much. I take him to be a good man and a bright fellow. I hope he will be elected to the United States Senate instead of Martin. He has very red hair and if I were hauling cotton I would not like for him to get on it, for fear of spontaneous combustion. You need not tell the Virginians that, however, for they might go for me the next time I go over there. I had pressing invitations to a reunion at Petersburg this fall. So you see the Virginians do not dislike us Tar Heels. I expect my next wife will be a Virginian.

Yours truly,
WALTER GREENE,
Ex-Courier of John R. Cooke's Brigade,
A. N. Va.

Attention, Old Soldiers.

Dear Comrades: Guilford camp desires to know how many Confederate Veterans are still living in Guilford county, and their names; also the company, regiment and brigade to which they belonged. Please furnish this information concerning yourself and other veterans you know in this county, to comrade George H. McKinney at the courthouse in Greensboro. He has the roll book. Please call and see that your name is enrolled and give him the names of other comrades you know to be living in Guilford county. It does not matter whether you now belong to a camp or not, you want your name on the honor roll. Of course you are cordially invited to join Guilford camp. No telling what it will be worth, some day, to your children and other blood kin, for your names to be found on these rolls of honor. Now let every veteran report at once to comrade McKinney as above indicated—before the next annual meeting of Guilford camp, May the 10th. All county papers interested in the old soldiers, please copy until 10th of May.

GROUP OF ISLANDS LOST.

Earthquake Believed to Have Sunk North Pacific Archipelago.

London Chronicle.

News has reached London which points to the occurrence in the North Pacific of one of those tremendous cataclysms of nature which before now have wrought death and devastation in the volcanic and earthquake zone of Central America.

The Pacific Mail steamship City of Panama, which left San Francisco on January 21 for ports on the Central American coast, had a strange experience on her voyage. While the vessel was in latitude 16 degrees 58 minutes north and longitude 100 degrees 20 minutes west she sailed through "miles of sea covered with masses of vegetation, tree trunks and carcasses of animals." The obstruction was so dense that the vessel at times was able to proceed on her way only with great difficulty.

The dead animals encountered by the City of Panama are said to have been of many descriptions, and some of the trees that hindered her progress are described as being five or six feet in diameter. The theory put forward is that a gigantic volcanic eruption on the Central American coast cast upon the waters the vast floating masses through which the vessel steamed.

This theory does not find acceptance at the offices of the Royal Geographical Society, where it was pointed out that a volcanic eruption on the coast sufficiently gigantic to account for the spectacle witnessed by the San Francisco steamer would have become known the moment it occurred.

"If the vessel passed through miles of this sort of obstruction," an official of the society said, "the volcanic eruption that caused it—if it occurred on the coast—must have made a tremendous hole in the earth, and the news would have been known all over the world next day."

Much more probable is the theory that there has been some terrific upheaval in the Revillagigedo Islands, northward of the California Peninsula. There islands are uninhabited except by an extensive fauna, gannets, frigate pelicans, boobies, terns, ducks and doves. Turtle are plentiful, and the surrounding waters abound with sharks. These would account for the various kinds of dead animals seen by the crew, while the prickly pear trees that grow extensively on Socorro, or Santa Tomas, the largest of the group, would explain the presence of the trees.

The islands are of volcanic origin, and lie in the direct line of the earthquake and volcanic zone of Central America. They are four in number, Socorro, San Benedicto, Roca Partida and Santa Roca, or Charbon. It is never safe, however, to speculate about the number, for some of them seem to have an uncanny trick of disappearing. Several islands have been reported under the names of Roca Coral, Roca Partida, New Island, Mispil Island and New Baldado Island, all in about the same latitude, but further west. Yet a United States exploring vessel some time ago passed through the area where these islands were supposed to be, and could find no trace of them. Neither could Sir Edward Belcher in the Starling and Blossom, nor Capt. Trollope in H. M. S. Rattlesnake, locate these elusive bits of ocean territory.

Sir Edward Belcher was inclined to believe in their existence and attributes his failure to find them to erroneous description. It is more probable that they were of volcanic origin, and that, while one submarine eruption brought them to the surface, another swept them away before their existence could be verified.

Something of the same kind, on a larger scale, appears to have happened again, for the details of the City of Panama's experience are sufficiently circumstantial to be trust worthy.

Something to Go Down by.

Charlotte Observer.

Our news columns have told of the recent death of Dr. I. W. Jones, of Rowan. He was a man of fine ability and fine culture and was noted as an outspoken sepiet. A Salisbury special in a late issue of this paper, referring to his then impending death, said: "Last week he professed returning faith in the teaching of his childhood and avowed the insufficiency of agnosticism to console the living or to cheer the dying. To a minister and a friend he expressed an abiding faith in the truth of the Scriptures." It is an old story, very well illustrated by that of the little boy who, when asked if he said his prayers each morning and night, replied that he said them at night, adding that any smart boy could take care of himself in daylight. That's it. All of us are self-sufficient when the sun is shining and the healthy blood is bounding in our veins. But when the light of life burns low and the mist thickens around us, we begin to stretch our heads about to find something to hold to. No man wants to go down by himself, and then he realizes that he is about to close his eyes on the scenes of this world, his thoughts turn to the religion of his childhood, and he is wise if, like Dr. Jones, he re-embrace it.

A Cure for Colds.

Here is a sure cure for colds of any kind. It has been tested repeatedly, and has never failed, and as I used to catch cold, which resulted in a bad attack of bronchitis, I can speak from experience. In cases of pneumonia it will not fail to cure if taken in time. Make a ball of cotton batting about the size of a small marble, saturate it well with alcohol, then drop into it six drops of chloroform; cover it lightly with a thin piece of cotton batting, hold to the mouth, and inhale the fumes, inflating the lungs well. It will open and expand every lung cell instantly.—Woman's Home Companion for May.

As the Boy Understood It.

"During the taking of a religious census of the District of Columbia the past winter," relates a representative from Tennessee, "a couple of young ladies who were engaged in the work stopped at my home on Capitol Hill, and when the bell rang it was answered by the negro boy I brought from Tennessee with me. The ladies asked him: 'Will you please tell me who lives here?'"

"Yessum; Mistah Johnsing," was the answer.

"Is he a Christian?"

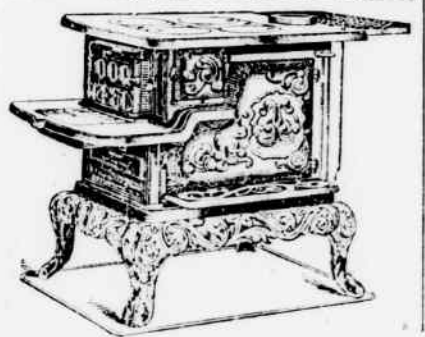

"No, ma'am. He's er congressman from Tennessee."

The average man meets temptation about three-fourths of the way.

A CONFIDENTIAL CHAT.

"It's perfect nonsense, Bessie, for you to talk of being laid on the shelf. Why, it all depends on yourself. Forget your worries, your aches and ailments; do as I did, take plenty of out-of-door air, cultivate happiness by not allowing your mind to dwell on the trifles and the worries of life. I sent thirty-one cents in stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for his 'Common Sense Medical Adviser,' and found it contained much useful information about the care of my health, about physiology, anatomy, and everything a woman should know. I then decided to write Dr. Pierce and tell him all about my ailments. I received such a nice, carefully considered and confidential letter, in reply, giving me advice about my diet, exercise and all. This advice is free to everyone and I wonder you don't write him at once. It didn't take me many months to regain my good looks. Ever since I was fifteen I have suffered untold agonies periodically but now I am free from pain, worry and bad temper. Occasionally I took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—for the complexion, and to stimulate the liver. Then I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription three times a day for those womanly weaknesses I told you about. That's my secret of beauty. It's the easiest thing in the world to be happy and keep one's good looks. Look at the thousands of women who have been made well by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; look how they keep their good looks. Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure."

Peacock & Gold Company, General Agents Provident Savings Life Assurance Society of New York, Greensboro, N. C.

Gentlemen—We beg to acknowledge receipt of checks aggregating $2,527.00, payable to the various beneficiaries under Policies Nos. 60,769 and 73,331, for $1,000 each, upon the life of the late W. J. Clary, of Greensboro, N. C. These policies were taken out on April 30th, 1894, and December 28th, 1895, respectively, and since that time, in less than ten years, have accumulated $27,000 in additional insurance. They have proven a very profitable investment, and the excellent earnings of same should be sufficient warranty of the excellent management of the company and another evidence of the truthfulness of its claim of the largest returns to its policy-holders.

Yours very truly, (signed) ALICE P. CLARY

By virtue of the power vested in me by decree of the Superior Court of Guilford county in the special proceeding by S. E. Coltrane and others, ex parte, heirs at law of S. H. Coltrane, deceased, for the purpose of partition of said estate, the undersigned as commissioner duly appointed by said court, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the premises, on at 1 o'clock p. m., two houses and lots situated on the southeast intersection of South Elm and East Lee streets in the city of Greensboro, N. C.

The first lot being a corner lot, fronting on East Lee and South Elm streets, on which is situated a good two-story house, containing eight rooms, with pantry and bath room. This lot has a frontage of 185 feet on East Lee street and 71 on South Elm street.

The second lot, fronting on South Elm street, with a one-story cottage of five rooms and closets therein, in good order, adjoining the first lot, has a frontage on said South Elm street of 110 feet and a depth of 155 feet.

These lots adjoin the lots of Gen. James D. Glenn and S. E. Hudson and others, and are very desirable and advantageously situated with respect to location and proximity to the business parts of the city.

These lots will be first sold separately, and then sold both together as they adjoin each other, with a frontage of 185 feet on South Elm and 185 feet on East Lee streets, and may be so arranged as to afford another good building lot, at a little expense, making a very desirable investment. The sale producing the most money to be reported to the court for confirmation.

Terms of sale: One-third cash, one-third in three months and one-third in six months, bearing interest and secured by notes with security, and title retained until purchase money is paid. Persons desiring to see said property may call on Mrs. J. R. Hudson, residing thereon. Those desiring further information may call on the undersigned at Guilford College, N. C., or consult L. M. Talmage Sermon

By Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, D.D.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 16.—From the story of an iniquitous bargain and the use to which the tainted money was put the preacher in this sermon draws lessons of the evils that come from avarice and cupidity. The text is Matthew xxvii, 8, "Whereas that field was called the field of blood."

A gruesome fascination hovers about the rocks, and the stones, and the fields, and the grounds where lived and wrought some of the world's evil doers. Island of Blennerhassett! Wonderful name, rich in historical associations! I see the boats every spring of summer and fall filled with sightseers, most daily pushing out upon the river to seek this little island of Blennerhassett. Why? Is it a summer resort? Is it an Isle of Wight? Is it a place of banishment? Are its banks wooded? Are its trees filled with the sweetest of songsters as they were once when halcyon days when its owner, John Blennerhassett, took his bride and came and dwelt on this island in an old garden, as Nebuchadnezzar, the great king of Babylon, took his bride to the hills of Ecbatana, to humor the whims of his queen, had lifted high the wonderment of the world the famous "hanging gardens of Babylon?" Oh, no. Blennerhassett island today is of little intrinsic value. A few scrub trees, a few rocks, perhaps a few hovels such as can be seen in scores of islands in the middle of this Ohio river, are all the aesthetic beauties it has to offer to the landscape artist. But to the historian Blennerhassett has the same fascination as have the broken walls of Kenilworth castle. Blennerhassett is famous on account of the infamous history of Aaron Burr. That is where the ex-vice president stopped on his way to establish a monarchy in the West. It has an evil fame as the rendezvous of the traitorous conspirators of that day, just as it has a place in a side street of Washington in which Mary E. Surratt welcomed the thugs of the later time who were plotting the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

The people in swarms used to go to the old fashioned New England house where was kept a bloody shirt, the relic of a dastardly deed of the Revolutionary war. As I remember the story, an American officer was surrounded by the enemy while eating dinner in his very house. When called upon to surrender he handed over his sword, but first, to one of his captors. Instead of the British soldier receiving it and placing his captive under guard, he took the sword and plunged it through the heart of his helpless victim. The rent in the shirt showed where the sword had pierced its way into the bleeding flesh. Of course such a cowardly act as this was condemned by the British army as well as by the American. But the condemnation of the murderer has not anything to do with my thought. The one fact I want to impress upon you is this: Scores and hundreds of people naturally seek in fascination awe the places where a great crime has been committed. The story in the floor of the Pennsylvania hotel, where Garfield was shot, for instance, has thousands of sightseers. The scene of the Chicago Haymarket riot, the place where Edward Stokes and James Pisk, the sausage vat men, longest disintegrated the body of the murdered wife, all have had thousands of sightseers even as the place in which George Washington landed his last has its daily visitors.

"The Field of Blood." Hundreds of sightseers in Jerusalem gathered after the crucifixion went to see the field of blood. Indeed, had they not gone out of a morbid curiosity they never would have gone at all. "Aeldama—that is to say, the field of blood—is not, as some people might suppose, an Esdras plain where a battle was fought. It was an old man's field, filled with clay. It was a poor ground to be used for any purposes. It had been used to a paupers' cemetery. Yet the best way to answer you is to ask you what some of the sightseers are saying. 'Yes, this is ground,' says one, 'that was bought by Judas with the thirty pieces of silver.' 'Aeldama—that is, the field of blood'—says another; 'it is the field of blood.' Could we have a better Sabbath school field, which became a paupers' burial ground, bought with the money Judas received for betraying Christ?"

Aeldama, in the first place, teaches that there is no honor among thieves. When a man becomes a Satanic hireling he is not likely to be true to his employers in infamy. A murderer in order to save his own neck, as a rule, will turn state's evidence against his accomplices in crime. A pickpocket will be just as willing to empty the pocket of an associate as he is to snatch the pocket of a bank president. It is counted that there is honor among thieves, but experience proves that it is a vain boast. The thief has no honor. The evil spirit who seeks to lead you into temptation is the evil spirit who will desert you as soon as you have been caught in a fatal trap or are noundering in the quicksands of shame.

No Loyalty to Kin. A sly fox has no loyalty to her kin. She has but one desire—to save her own skin. This characteristic is essentially true of the Satanic devotees. All that you have to do to prove this premise is to study how this Aeldama was purchased. For weeks and months the priests were trying to destroy Christ. They knew not how they might capture him, for they feared the people. At last one of their spies came and said: "Ah, ha, I have solved the problem! One of Christ's apostles can be bribed. We will find out where Christ is in hiding at night. Then we will take some soldiers and go and arrest him and summon the sanhedrin and try him and convict him and crucify him before his friends can come to the rescue. Here is my man at hand. What say you, Judas? Will you betray your Master for thirty pieces of silver?" "I will," answered the apostate. Then what happens? No sooner is Christ betrayed and Judas is overcome with remorse than he comes back to these same priests and says: "I cannot take this money. It is blood money. Here it is," and he flings it at their feet. Then what happens? Why, the priests look down upon this blood money and say: "That money is too vile for us to touch. We cannot use a murderer's money in the temple. We are too good and holy for that. Let us take the money and buy a paupers' burial ground. That certainly will hurt no one. They got Judas to betray Christ. Then as soon as Judas had done this vile, underhand, sinful work they turned their backs upon him and said: 'Judas, you are too low, too mean and too contemptible for us to have anything to do with you. We will not even take back the money we paid you with our own hands, for it is blood money.'"

Ah, the evil geniuses who lead us into temptation will never stand by us when they have miserably destroyed us. In ancient Rome the defenders for months were defying the northern barbarians. The strong walls and the iron gates could not be broken down. At last these barbarians went to a Roman woman and said, "If you will open for us the gates at night and let us in, we will give to you our war shields, made of ornamental gold and silver." She opened the gates by night, and Rome fell. But as soon as the northern barbarians became masters of Caesar's throne they destroyed the woman who betrayed her country. They gave her shields of ornamental silver and gold, but they hurled those shields at her with all the force of their mighty arms until her mangled and bleeding and lifeless body lay buried under her prizes of war. After Benedict Arnold betrayed his country he was hated even more in England than in America. One day he was seated in the gallery of the house of commons when a statesman arose to address the house. Before commencing his speech he said: "I see in the gallery of this house a contemptible character who, by the betrayal of his own land, has forfeited every right to the respect of mankind. Before I enter upon my speech I hope that Benedict Arnold, known as Arnold the traitor, might be requested to withdraw from this body of honorable men." Yes, the very men who profit by a crime despise their instrument and desert him in his ignominy.

They Will Turn Against You. Man treading the path of sin, do not be a fool. Do not suppose that those sinful people who are praising you now will turn upon you after your morals and money are gone. All that the sabboteer wants is your gold; as soon as you are in rags his free lunch counters will no longer give a welcome to you and yours. All that gambler wants is your gold; as soon as your money is gone he will kick you out of his presence as willingly as he would not a bullet in the heart of a mad dog. Ah, yes, the far country had plenty of friends as long as the younger son had horses and wine suppers, but as soon as his money was gone his friends were gone, his servants were gone; there was a great famine in that land. Companions of sin will fawn at your feet while you live in a palace. They will crush you under their heels when they can destroy you. Aeldama, the field of blood, was bought by the evil priests, who had turned against Judas as your companions of sin will yet turn against you.

Aeldama teaches another lesson. The easiest way to make an apostate is not by denouncing or ridiculing the divine mission of Jesus Christ, but by developing the tendencies to sin which have not been eradicated from his nature. Let me illustrate my thought practically. You have all wandered through the northern forests in the winter time. Everywhere you have seen the tall trunks of the trees supporting the bare branches. Not a leaf is in sight; not a flower is blooming. Where are the millions upon millions of leaves which as an arched roof covered the mountain pathways last summer? All gone. But if you will rub your fingers lightly over the bark of those branches you can see where new buds and new sprouts will come forth just as soon as springtime places to her lips the silver trumpet of the warm winds. As I approach a man who is called a Christian man I figuratively find him without a sin, but as I touch his heart I find, still figuratively speaking, that all over his heart are latent sinful buds easy to be developed. Unless a man lives close to Christ and continues to live close to Christ these evil buds will sprout and grow even as the white apple blossoms cover the tree branches almost in one May day. The reason Judas betrayed Christ was because he allowed his latent buds of sin to develop; that is all.

"Judas not different from his fellow apostles? How was that?" some one asks me. "Why, Christ called him a devil." Aye, my friend, that is true. But Christ did not call Judas a devil in the sense that he was in the beginning any different from any other of the apostles. Indeed, I know he was just about the same. The apostles at that time honored and respected Judas so much that they made him their treasurer. He was their almoner; he handled all their money. He was not impulsive like Peter. He was a calm, cool calculator. Why, if Peter had been elected treasurer in Judas' place, the first ten beggars who came to him would have got all that he had, and no provision would have been left for the needs of the little company. The reason Judas was elected treasurer was because at first he was loyal to his Master and he was very careful in handling the funds.

The Sin of Judas. But when Judas began to look after the money the old latent sin of his life grew warmer and budded and sprouted. Covetousness was Judas' sin. Every penny, every piece of silver and gold which came into his possession, only maddened his passions. Methinks I can see him at night counting the gold while his companions slept. "Ah," he kept saying to himself, "if this gold was only mine." This passion, this evil passion, kept growing and growing upon him. It kept growing upon him just as the desire for gold or fame or social position may have been growing upon you. Once Judas would have knocked a man down who would have placed a menacing or murderous hand upon his Christ. But now he kept saying: "Gold, gold; I must have gold. I must have gold, even if I do destroy Christ to get it." Listen! Let me trace the downfall of Judas—first, the honored apostleship; second, the election to the treasurership of the apostolic band; third, the hugging of the gold bags to satisfy the cravings of his developing avarice; fourth, the protest because the box of ointment of spikenard, very precious, was poured upon Christ's head; fifth, the selling of Christ's life for thirty pieces of silver. Judas was not a devil always. Judas went down to the betrayal step by step. He went down to the betrayal of Christ as some of us are going, slowly, surely, awfully, demoniacally, step by step, step by step.

The field of blood teaches us, in the next place, that the most awful danger that can be done against Christ is done by his apostates and not by his out and out bitter enemies. For weeks and months, as I said before, the high priests were trying to take Christ and crucify him. "But when they sought to lay hands upon him they feared the multitude, because they took him for a prophet." What is the meaning of this? They dared not touch him. Christ's beneficiaries at that time would have risen up and swept the high priests and the Pharisees from off the earth.

A Supposition. Supposing toward the close of the Crusades the English general had given orders that Florence Nightingale was to be shot as a spy, what would have happened? Methinks about the commander's tent would have been seen 5,000 poor fellows pleading and praying and threatening. One soldier would say: "She nursed me through a fever and saved my life. She shall not die!" Another would say: "She held my hand when they cut off my leg. She must not die!" Another would have said: "She bandaged my eyes, blasted by the gunpowder explosion. It was on account of her care that I now can see." So those whose limbs Christ had straightened and those whose eyes Christ had opened and those whose leprous skin Christ had cleansed would have risen up and cried out: "He shall not die! He shall not die!" But when Judas led the Roman officers by night to the garden of Gethsemane and showed where Christ was in retreat then Jesus was taken by stealth and tried while Jerusalem slept. He was tried by night. He was crucified on the early morning. Oh, my friends, shall it be that you and I as apostates have betrayed Christ into the hands of his enemies?

Another thought: "Aeldama—that is, the field of blood"—teaches that remorse for a sin committed does not necessarily wipe off the record of that sin from the Lamb's book of life. Judas was sorry for his sin. No sooner had he given that betraying kiss than he would have been willing to cut off his right arm to have undone the damage. He flung the money back into the priests' faces. He did more than that. Lacerated and agonized on account of his mental sufferings, he went forth and hanged himself. He practically said: "O God, my brain is crazed! Let me die!" But to be sorry for a past sin is not enough. Remorse is not salvation through Christ. Dr. Whitley well said in one of his sermons, "Judas had a sight and sense of sin, but no apprehension of the mercy of God in Christ, and so he pined away in his iniquity." O man, today you are sorry for your sins. You are sorry because they drag you down and down and down. But are you more than sorry? Are you ready to renounce them and to plead with God for pardon through the blood of Christ? This pardon is offered to all who come in Christ's name. Remorse for sin does not necessarily mean salvation by faith. There are two facts in the life of the prodigal son I would have you well bear in mind. The one is, he was sorry; the second fact, he arose and went back to his father's house. Oh, my brother, will you repent of your sins? Will you do more than that? Will you turn your back upon sin and look at the loving, forgiving face of Jesus Christ?

God's Love Never Wanes. But the last thought to me is the sweetest of all. Standing by "Aeldama—that is, the field of blood"—I find that, no matter how much we have sinned, God never loses his love for the sinner. God loves us and clings to us in exactly the same way as a mother clings to her children. I asked a dear friend of mine some time ago who was the favorite among her many children. She answered, "I love the youngest best until he is grown, and the absent one best until he returns, and the sick one best until he gets well." Yes, I said to myself, "And the prodigal best until he comes back to a mother's love." So God clings to his wayward ones. The more we sin the more he wants us by his side and the more he pleads with us and clings to us.

Do we not find this fact true in reference to Judas' life? When Christ knew that Judas was to betray him, did he drive Judas from his side? No; that was not Christ's way. He kept Judas with him clear up to end. He seems to be saying all the time, "Oh, Judas, why wilt thou betray the Son of man?" One of the last acts of Christ's earthly life was to honor Judas above all his brethren when he gave to him the sop at the supper. The giving of the sop was an act of love, not of hate. So Christ today is pleading with you and me. We may spit in his face, as did those who led him forth for crucifixion; we may place a crown of thorns upon his head; we may betray him with a kiss, as did Judas, but we cannot make Christ cease to love us. Oh, my friends, will you not and I yield to this love of Jesus Christ, which passeth all human understanding? We have wandered far, far away, but Christ is today still loving us. Will you accept his pardoning love? Will you accept it now?

A Worldwide Invitation. This is a worldwide invitation which I am giving you to come to the saving cross. Indeed, so great, so far reaching are the possibilities of human redemption through Christ, that while I was writing this sermon in the quietude of my study the thought arose: "How do I know that Judas was eternally destroyed? God changed his mind in reference to the Ninivites when they repented of their sins. How do I know that Judas, even when he was dangling on the end of that rope, did not make such supplication as brought him within the influence of the divine Father's forgiving love? Perhaps in the death struggle Judas called upon Christ for rescue. If he did, who shall say that Christ did not pardon him? He could pardon Judas just as he forgave Paul's, who was the 'chief of sinners.' If Judas did call for divine forgiveness, I know he received it, just as the penitent thief, as Mary Magdalene, as the woman of Samaria, received forgiveness when repentant, just as freely as you can be forgiven today. Oh, my friends, with such a divine love surrounding us, will you not throw yourself upon the mercy and atonement of Christ, which have saved in the past, which save now and which will save through all time? The cross can be changed into a crown by changing the last two letters. Remorse can be changed into triumph if today, in Christ's mercy, you will reach up and look and live. [Copyright, 1905, by Louis Klopsch.]

Sir William Was Then Plain "Bill." William C. Van Horn, one of the world's great railroad men, began his career as a telegraph operator in Chicago. He rapidly rose to high places in railroading, and in the early eighties he had attained such a reputation in the business that Lord Strathcona, the financier of the project to construct the Canadian Pacific railway, selected the young American as general manager and chief of the building operations. He was so successful in this work and rendered such important service to the Dominion of Canada in pushing the railroad across her vast expanse to the Pacific ocean that in 1893 Queen Victoria knighted him. Pre-eminently endowed with common sense and humor, he is not the man to take his knightly honors too seriously. Shortly after receiving his title he exclaimed to a group of friends: "This 'Sir William' business is very fine, but I'd like to hear what the boys down in Chicago will have to say about it. They used to call me just plain 'Bill.'—Success Magazine.

Irrepressible Boers. Commandant Jan Louw, the Boer officer who refused to lay down his arms when his fellow countrymen surrendered to the British and who fled to the Longberg mountains, on the borders of German West Africa, with his band of burgher fighters, has been successfully resisting the combined English and German forces in South Africa for more than two years. In June, 1902, when the Boer army capitulated, Louw fled with only about 300 men. Within the first year, however, this number was increased to 2,000, and today he is said to have a combined force of 8,000 sturdy warriors under his command. Many Boers still believe that their country can be reclaimed, and many of them look to Louw as the man who will start the next rebellion. There exists an understanding among Boers and their sympathizers that the next uprising will be in 1906, and it is also stated that 15,000 men have agreed to respond to the commandant's call.

A Wonderful Memory. It has often been said of Dr. Richard Garnett of the British museum that there is no question of research one can put to him that he cannot answer. "This fact," writes Harry Furness, "was demonstrated to me by a friend of mine, who had spent years investigating an obscure subject of which but very few people have any knowledge at all. He searched for months in continental libraries for some information on one particular point without effect. Coming to London, he asked Dr. Garnett if he could put him on the track. 'We have only one book in the museum,' replied the doctor, 'touching upon that. I will send for it. You will find all you want on page 330.'"

There was an error in Thacker & Brockmann's add last week in regard to the number of pairs of shoes made daily at the W. L. Douglas factory. It should have read ten thousand instead of one thousand. The exact capacity of this great factory is 10,240 pairs per day.

A light fall of snow Sunday afternoon was followed by a hard freeze that night and a heavy frost Monday night, causing much concern for the fruit and early vegetables. There are various estimates as to the loss, but it is certain that widespread damage was done. The cold wave extended as far South as Georgia, and reports from there say that peaches are killed. In the trucking section of eastern North Carolina potatoes, peas and beans were ruined unless protected. Young cotton was also damaged in some of the Gulf states.

Superior Court.

Judge Peebles presides over the April term of Guilford Superior court which convened here Monday for the hearing of civil causes. The first case on the docket, that of W. H. Osborn vs. M. T. Leach and The Raleigh News and Observer, was continued because of the illness of defendant Leach, who, according to an affidavit read to the court, is just recovering from a stroke of paralysis. The case has been on the docket for several years and grew out of a transaction made while Col. Osborn was on the board of penitentiary directors, the plaintiff claiming that Leach uttered libelous statements concerning the transaction and the paper afterwards printed them. Judgment by default against Leach was recorded some time ago, but the amount of damages has never been fixed. Twelve attorneys figure in the case. Only one case on the docket for the day was heard by a jury—that of Amanda Clapp vs. Riley Clapp, a suit for divorce. The defendant was not represented and the jury quickly gave a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. All the other cases were non-suited or compromised by 3.30 and court adjourned until Tuesday morning.

Since yesterday morning the entire attention of the court has been taken up with the cases of E. D. Steele vs. several insurance companies that are resisting payment on the loss of the Round Knob hotel, which burned two years ago. The suit is really to determine the ownership of the property and the actual value.

Col. R. O. Preyor, a resident of Greensboro for several months and president of the Greensboro Lumber Company, has gone to Montreal for his health, which has been poor of late. He was accompanied by Mrs. Preyor. While comparatively a new resident of the Gate City Col. Preyor has already become prominently identified with the business interests here and enjoys the friendship of a large number of our people, all of whom unite in wishing him a speedy restoration to health. He has chosen a delightful spot in which to spend a period of recuperation, and is in the hands of an eminent and capable physician, Dr. Cotton, whom it was our pleasure to meet last summer while at Black Mountain, a charming little mountain village two miles from Montreal.

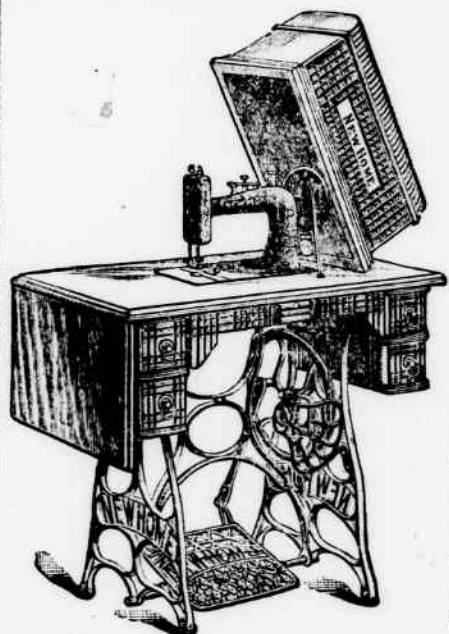

The revival meetings at West Market church are being continued this week with increased interest, and the pastor, Dr. Detweiler, is nightly infusing his large congregations with unprecedented spiritual light and energy. There is nothing of the spasmodic in the character of the meetings, and they are intended only as a foundation for a carefully planned evangelistic campaign that will be worked out during the approaching summer months. They lose nothing by their lack of the sensational features common to professional evangelists, and will eventually result in immeasurable good to the church and to the community, regardless of present apparent results.

Miss Annie E. Bennett, of Philadelphia, a graduate of the Kensington Hospital for the diseases of women, has taken charge of the operating room at the City Hospital. Miss Bennett is an efficient nurse, having had charge of the operating room under Dr. Chas. P. Noble for a year, and the management of the hospital is to be congratulated upon securing her services.

The Virginia-Carolina Base Ball League was organized here last week with Mr. L. J. Brandt as president and secretary and treasurer. Four teams will comprise the league, those of Danville, Greensboro, Salisbury-Spencer and Charlotte. The season will open early in May and a schedule of games is being arranged. Each city interested put up a forfeit to maintain a club throughout the four months' season, and the league will be conducted on strictly business principles.

An Enterprise of Magnitude.

An enterprise in which Greensboro prides herself is the Southern Trading Stamp Company. The use of stamps as a trade stimulant is now acknowledged even by those heretofore most prejudiced against their use.

That it is an advantage to the customer to pay cash no one will deny. That it is to the advantage of the merchant to receive cash no fair-minded man or woman will dispute. The Southern Trading Stamp Company's stamps, called the "Southern-Red," are as good as United States currency. They represent a value. There is stability coupled with economy in them.

A splendid line of merchandise is carried by the Southern Trading Stamp Company at their store on East Washington street. Many articles of beauty and usefulness may be had for stamps, which are now given by our most progressive merchants on their cash sales.

The directors of this concern are Greensboro men of wide business experience, and we note with much pleasure the success of the enterprise. It is useless to say that the successful operation of their business in many Southern cities is an advertisement of our town, as Greensboro is the Home Office of the concern.

Supreme Court Hands Down Decisions in a Number of Guilford Cases.

Among the decisions handed down by the Supreme court last week was that of T. T. Brooks against the city of Greensboro for improperly grading a street. The city won in the Superior court and also wins in the higher court. The plaintiff contended that by reason of the street being improperly graded, water was made to flow over the sidewalk and into the lumber yard and he sued for damages. The case attracted considerable interest at the time.

The other Guilford cases handed down by the Supreme court were: Stewart vs. Carpet Co., new trial. Crutchfield vs. Hunter, action dismissed.

Matthews vs. Telegraph Co., appeal dismissed by consent of defendant.

State vs. Spivey, per curiam, no error.

Thompson vs. Telegraph Co., appeal dismissed by consent.

Worth vs. Ragan, per curiam, affirmed.

A Tribe of Red Men Organized Here.

Forty-two names were enrolled Friday evening for charter membership in Minnesota Tribe of Red Men, a fraternal organization that is popular in most large cities of this country. The following officers will be installed and the tribe formally instituted by a degree team from a neighboring city at an early date: Past Prophet, J. R. Holt; Sachem, C. F. Hickman; Senior Sagamore, J. M. Crutchfield; Junior Sagamore, Herbert Benner; Chief of Records, J. C. Benson; Collector of Wampum, J. B. Yorke; Keeper of Wampum, J. R. Holt; Trustees, W. L. Helfer, 12 months; R. R. Wyrick, 6 months; B. J. Betha, 18 months.

The Value of Good Appearance.

Every man who values good appearance will be interested in the advertisement of the Vanstony Clothing Company in this issue.

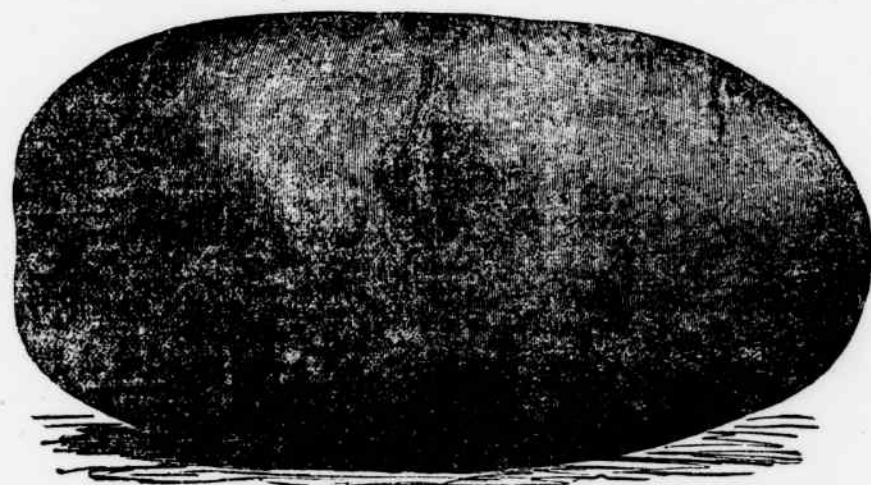

Spring offerings are always interesting, the outer garb of mankind is as important as the coloring to nature. The spring suits shown by this firm are indeed beautiful examples of the tailoring art and show the wonderful progress of art and science in the proper clothing of mankind.

The High Point Ice and Fuel Company, of High Point, with $125,000 authorized capital, and $21,000 paid in stock, was chartered last week. The objects of the company are to manufacture ice, operate a cold storage establishment, deal in real estate, operate electric and gas light and power plants, sell gas and oil machines, and deal in wood and coal. The company will be operated by C. H. Behre, of Atlanta, Ga. The incorporators are C. H. Behre and W. G. Burnett, of Atlanta, and Westcott Roberson, of High Point.

The trading stamp has come to stay. It enables you to furnish your home without cost. All that is necessary is that you trade with merchants who give the "Southern Red" trading stamps and carry these stamps to the store of The Southern Trading Stamp Company, which is located on East Washington street, Greensboro. A full and complete line of up-to-date and useful household articles are being kept continually in stock and are absolutely free to collectors of stamps.

Plans for New Railroad from High Point to Wadesboro.

Charlotte Observer, 15th.

Mr. M. L. Jones, of High Point; Mr. Donald Fitzgerald, of New York city, and Mr. T. L. Caudle, of Wadesboro, were in the city last evening for the purpose of perfecting final arrangements for the financing and construction of a new railroad that is to be built at an early date, connecting High Point and Thomasville with Wadesboro, and later Charleston. This route, which has been for so many years undeveloped, seems likely to become quite a railroad thoroughfare. Much has been written of the proposed South-bound railroad, which is to connect Winston-Salem with Wadesboro and Charleston, and the news of the building of another such road along the same route will be of interest to residents in that section of the state. An Observer reporter was speaking with Capt. M. L. Jones at the Central last night, and the question of the location of the proposed road was discussed.

"We will build our line from High Point to Thomasville, two of the most enterprising cities in the state. From Thomasville, the road will run along the Narrows of the Yadkin, crossing the Pee Dee near Asa, and then on to Wadesboro, where we connect with the Atlantic Coast Line for Charleston and the Seaboard—the most advantageous route in the country, by the way. The company that has the work in charge is known as the Carolina & Pee Dee Railroad and Development Company, with a capital stock of $1,000,000. High Point and Thomasville have already agreed to subscribe $50,000 each to the enterprise, and I can tell you right here that we are not to be troubled with any financial difficulty. A New York trust company has agreed to take the entire bond issue covering the proposed railway, and we are meeting here tonight for the purpose of arranging all details. Just as soon as this is done, we will push forward the work at once. Mr. Fitzgerald, representing the trust company taking the bonds, will return to New York tomorrow, and he will send down a corps of engineers that will survey the portion of the proposed route that has not been fully surveyed. The line, when completed, will be some 50 miles in length. Of this, we already have out of Thomasville some 14 miles of track in use. A large force of hands are now at work, and we propose to employ additional labor just as fast as it can be secured. We mean business, and don't want one cent of money from the township along the line until the road is completely built, equipped and in operation. As an evidence of good faith, the Carolina & Pee Dee Railroad and Development Company is giving a bond of $1,000,000 as a guarantee that the road will be completed within one year. All arrangements have been made, and a bond of $1,000,000 will be placed in a few days. As I have just said, we have capital and a sufficiency of it. As soon as the line has been built connecting High Point and Wadesboro, we will place our administrative offices, machine shops, supply depots, etc., at these two points, and the bulk of the large sums of money expended on the construction and administration of the railroad will pass through the hands of High Point and Wadesboro citizens and business concerns. The road will be extended to Winston as soon as practicable, and we will have direct connection with the coal fields of West Virginia on the one side, and the sea coast on the other. We are all ready, and guarantee to have our road in operation in less than a year. We are assured that there will be no interference on the part of any other connecting corporation, and the road is a certainty."

At this point the newspaper man desired to know "what" was in the game but was unable to learn anything that would satisfy every interested party. Capt. C. M. Jones, of High Point, and others, were satisfied with the arrangement whereby the entire bond issue should be placed in the hands of a New York trust company.

Mr. Jones will have entire charge of the construction and equipment of the entire line, and was very emphatic in his statements that the line was an absolute certainty. "I shall have the pleasure of showing it to you complete in less than twelve months," said he, and the people and township of High Point, Thomasville and along the proposed route, knowing his business capacity and enterprise, are giving him most enthusiastic support.

Mr. Donald Fitzgerald, who has just completed a tour through certain Southern states as investigating expert of several large industrial enterprises for New York financial interests, will leave today for New York city. Mr. Jones will return to his home, in High Point, and Mr. T. L. Caudle, a prominent attorney of Wadesboro, will remain in the city only long enough to complete all necessary details in the transaction.

Lively Scrap at Wilkesboro.

North Wilkesboro, April 14.—There was an interesting little fight in Wilkesboro this evening when Revenue Officer Samuels attacked Robert A. Deal, editor of the Chronicle. The Chronicle accused the revenue officers of accepting a bribe of $30 a month to allow certain Republicans to make blockade runner. This evening Revenue Officer, T. W. Samuels met the editor of the Chronicle, R. A. Deal, on the street in Wilkesboro, and demanded of him the name of the person who gave him the information. Deal refused to comply. The lie was passed, and then Samuels proceeded to beat Deal with his fist. He hit him three or four times, knocking him down and hurting him pretty badly. When some of his friends picked him up, Deal was bleeding at the nose and mouth and could scarcely speak.

Garrie Nation Sentenced.

Wichita, Kan., April 14.—In the district court today, Garrie Nation, Mrs. McHenry and Mrs. Lucy Wilcox were found guilty of destroying property and sentenced by Judge Wilson. Mrs. Nation was fined $250 and given four months in jail; Mrs. McHenry, two months and a fine of $150, and Mrs. Wilcox, 25 days in jail and a fine of $150. Sentence was suspended pending good behavior. The offense was committed September 30 last, when the three women broke into several saloons.

Body of John Paul Jones is Found After Five Years' Search.

Paris, April 14.—The remarkable search which Ambassador Porter has conducted for the body of Paul Jones has been crowned with success by the discovery of the body and its identification today by the highest French medical experts as unquestionably that of the famous American admiral who founded the American navy.

Ambassador Porter cabled to Washington tonight announcing the successful results of his long and difficult search. The body is in a good state of preservation considering that the interval took place over one hundred years ago.

The circumstances leading to the final discovery of the body are particularly interesting. General Porter has conducted the search for the last five years and when Congress recently took no action on the President's recommendation for the expenses incident to the search the ambassador continued the extensive labors at his own expense. A large force of workmen have been engaged night and day tunneling and cross-tunneling the old St. Louis cemetery. This constituted a huge operation embracing nearly a block covered with buildings and requiring a system of subterranean mining.

Hundreds of wooden caskets were found but not until Wednesday were unearthed four leaden caskets which gave promise of containing the body of the admiral. Three of them bore plates designating the names of the deceased. The fourth showed superior solidity of workmanship. No plate was found on this casket, and it is supposed it was removed when another coffin was superimposed on it. The leaden coffin was opened in the presence of Gen. Porter, Col. Bally-Blanchard, the second secretary of the American embassy, and Engineer Weiss, who has been directing the excavation.

The body was found to be well preserved owing to its being immersed in alcohol. It was wrapped in a sheet with a packing of straw and hay. Those present were immediately struck by the resemblance of the head to that on the medallions and busts of the admiral.

As was anticipated, no uniform, decoration or sword were found, as all such articles had been accounted for after the burial. The coffin was shaped like a mummy coffin, which coffins were common at that period, widening from the feet to the shoulders, with a round top fitting over the head.

The coffin was taken to the Medical School, where Doctors Capitan and Papillat, distinguished professors of the school of anthropology, and recognized authorities on such investigations, were charged with making a thorough examination for the purpose of identification. To facilitate this, the ambassador furnished them with portraits and medallions, two busts by Houillon, and authentic description of the color of the admiral's hair and the height and measurement of his body. The identification was pronounced complete in every particular.

Care has been taken to keep the body in its present state of preservation. It will be placed in a handsome casket and deposited in the receiving vault of the American church on the Avenue de Luxe, until the ambassador can learn the opinion of the government concerning the most appropriate means of transporting it to the United States, and giving a fitting repurchase to the body of the illustrious sailor, whose place of burial has so long remained a mystery.

War News of the Week.

Charlotte Observer.

The opposing squadrons of Russia and Japan are still in the China sea, but so far as known no engagement has yet taken place. Admiral Rojestvensky is apparently staking all that Russia possesses on the present venture, and if he should win Japan would be short of much of her great advantage, she did not in fact lose it all. The squadron under Admiral Togo is short one or two battleships by comparison with the force of Rojestvensky, and there is that element of uncertainty about the result of an engagement when it comes down to a calculation to make the friends of the Japs a little uneasy. If Japan's fleet should be destroyed and she lose command of the sea, it is likely that her army would be forced out of Manchuria and the tide turned in Russia's favor. This is of course merely a possibility, and what race-track habitues would term a "long shot," but it is perhaps the best thing that Russia can do, and she is apparently playing the last hand with desperation. It is hardly conceivable that Admiral Togo would permit his ships to be destroyed when they are so greatly needed, and the situation may not be as serious as it appears, but when the engagement occurs, as it seems likely that it will in a short time, it would doubtless be to the finish.

The reports from Vladivostok are to the effect that the Russians are preparing for a prolonged siege, and the Japanese are said to be determined to place an army of a million men in the field in Manchuria by next fall. There is a continuation of desultory fighting in Manchuria, but it is of apparently little consequence, the armies seemingly awaiting the result of the naval operations.

The matter of bringing about peace has received but little attention during the past week, all parties doubtless awaiting developments in the China Sea. As bearing on the latter situation it is interesting to note that French naval critics think Rojestvensky will lose. Their sympathies are naturally with him, but they do not believe he can win.

Card Players Fined.

Goldboro, April 15.—Before the grand jury adjourned this week warrants were issued against a number of prominent people for playing cards. The cases attracted quite a deal of attention and has caused considerable comment. The parties were all reputable business men who had been indulging in social games. The cases came up before Judge Moore yesterday, and the defendants all submitted. A fine of $50 and costs was imposed.

Orange Presbytery.

High Point, April 13.—Orange Presbytery is meeting here at the First Presbyterian church, the first session being held Tuesday night. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. W. R. Hines, of Mebane; subject, "Ye Are My Witnesses." Seventeen ministers and eighteen ruling elders were enrolled at the first session of the Presbytery. Rev. E. R. Leyburn, of Durham, was chosen moderator, and Rev. C. E. Hodgins and Ruling Elder W. E. Bevil, of Greensboro, were appointed clerks of the meeting.

Rev. W. M. Sikes, who takes charge of a church in Rockingham county, was received from Concord Presbytery. Mr. Wiley Pritchett, of Alamance, was received as a candidate for the ministry. There were various reports on different branches of the church work. The ministers of the various churches of the town were present, and were extended the usual courtesies shown sister churches.

High Point, April 14.—Dr. T. H. Law, agent of the American Bible Society, addressed Orange Presbytery, in session here, at yesterday morning's service, on the Bible cause. The report of the committee of home mission work was read by the chairman, Rev. D. C. Lilly, D. D. Rev. S. M. Rankin, of Alamance church, preached last night at 8 o'clock to a crowded house. At the afternoon session the Presbytery, among other things, elected the four commissioners to represent it in the General Assembly of the church, which meets this year in Fort Worth, Texas, about the middle of May. Those chosen were: Ministers R. G. Matheson, of Durham Second church; J. W. Goodman, of Buffalo and Bessinger Avenue church, Greensboro; Ruling Elder T. B. Fuller, of Durham First church; and J. W. Paley, of Bethel church, this county. The alternates are: Revs. R. W. Hines, of Mebane; E. L. Siler, of this city; Ruling Elders E. E. Hall, of Reidsville, and J. V. Price, of Wentworth. The most important matter to come before the General Assembly this year is the question of a federation of all the Presbyterian bodies of this country. At the evening service there was a popular meeting in the interest of foreign missions. Rev. E. R. Leyburn, of the First church, Durham, presided and made the report.

DOUBLE TRACKING RESUMED.

Work Begun Monday Between Greensboro and High Point—Cutting Out Part of the Curves and Grades.

Washington, April 14.—The work of double tracking the Southern Railway's main line is to be resumed Monday, when a big force of men will be put to work between Greensboro and High Point, and between Danville, Va., and Pelham, N. C. Eighty-five miles of the system was paralleled last year, and the work was abandoned when the winter set in. The resumption of operations this spring for double tracking the system begins at the most congested points and the work will be vigorously pushed until there are two tracks connecting the section between Greensboro and Salisbury—a distance of fifty miles. The operations will then be transferred to the next busiest section, and so on until the system of double tracks connects Washington, D. C., and Atlanta, Ga.

The firm of Lane & Jones have the contract for the job between Greensboro and High Point. They will start work Monday in that section. Just when the contract will be let for building the other track between High Point and Salisbury has not been decided, but it will be done in the not distant future.

While the Southern is at the great task of equipping its main line with two tracks, curves and grades are being eliminated and in many instances the track is being practically rebuilt. This is noticeable between Orange and Washington—the eighty-five mile stretch of track that has been in operation since last fall. This was the most congested part of the system, being used by the Chesapeake & Ohio, as well as the Southern. Now the trains over this section run practically in schedule time, and the chances of accidents are reduced to a minimum.

The check for $27,400, the amount of the judgment of the Supreme court of the United States in the South Dakota bond suit, was turned over today to Mr. Stewart, one of the attorneys representing that state.

An interesting fact in connection with the payment of the judgment is that the clerk of the Supreme court of the United States is entitled to two per cent. of all moneys handled by him. Attorney General Gilmer was aware of this fact when he turned over North Carolina's check for $27,400 to him, but he had an understanding with Mr. McKimney that he would not exercise the privilege in this instance. The custom prevailing in the court would have ordinarily entitled him to a $500 fee.

North Carolina has yet to settle the costs in the case, which, it is said, will amount to less than $1,000. The court must pass on the costs, and it is most likely that the expense of one commissioner who took testimony will be scaled down. He charged $50 for one day's work.

Alderman Made President of the University of Virginia.

Charlottesville, Va., April 13.—Dr. Edwin A. Alderman of North Carolina, was today inaugurated president of the University of Virginia.

"Dr. Alderman is one of the most eloquent and scholarly orators in America," once remarked the head of a great Baltimore University, speaking of the new president of the University of Virginia. "Another noted scholar remarked at another time: 'He has about him more of the evidences of culture than any other man I know.'"

Dr. Alderman has about him something of the atmosphere of the ancient Greeks. Thoroughly modern, a man who enjoys life and whose pulse beats in unison with his time, yet somehow he reminds you of Pericles, and you know he would have been no mean citizen of the Athens that built the Parthenon and gave the world a priceless contribution of eloquence and poetry, philosophy and art.

Eloquent and polished, he does not sacrifice matter to manner and has a very practical way of carrying out his ideals.

Born at Wilmington, N. C., May 15, 1861, he belongs distinctly to the new generation which had no part in the war between the states. Trained for college at a Virginia school, he went to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and graduated there in 1882 as a bachelor of philosophy. As soon as he got his diploma he began teaching school and was soon superintendent of public schools of the town of Goldsboro, N. C. He became inspired with the idea that education was the salvation of the South. With his intimate friend, Dr. Charles D. McIver, he went through the state holding teachers' institutes.

In a few years Dr. Alderman was called to the University of North Carolina as professor of the history and philosophy of education. Two years later, in 1896, he was elected president of the University of North Carolina to succeed Dr. George T. Winston. He made a notable record as president and won a national reputation as an orator and educator.

When Col. William Preston Johnston died Dr. Alderman was elected to the place left vacant by Col. Johnston's death—president of Tulane University at New Orleans. That institution was rich and has fine possibilities. He infused into it the university spirit and made it an active force in the life of New Orleans.

John Paul Jones Lived in Virginia.

Richmond, Va., April 15.—Fredericksburg, Va., claims to have been the only home that John Paul Jones, the naval hero, had in America, the famous admiral having lived at the home of his brother, William Paul, there. It will, therefore, seek to have the remains of "The Father of the American Navy" recently exhumed in Paris, given final supulchre within its borders, and guarantees to place an appropriate monument over their resting place.

Contractors have been asked to bid on 100 miles of grading and masonry work in connection with the Tidewater Railroad, from Sewall's Point, near Norfolk, westward toward Roanoke, Va. The road is intended to connect Southern West Virginia coal fields with the seashore.

OUR BLUNDER WITH CUBA.

Uncle Sam's Error in Allowing the Island to Get Into Debt.

Chicago Inter Ocean.

Cuba last year floated a loan of $35,000,000 to pay off the "army of liberation" which did not liberate her.

Now Cuba is to borrow $26,000,000 more for the same purpose. The interest charge will be $2,850,000 annually. To this must be added in 1910 $1,020,000 a year for a sinking fund of the first loan. No provision has been made for paying the second loan.

Cuba's revenues, including a new stamp tax, which is most burdensome, are now $470,000 a year short of the amount required for the interest and the sinking fund of her public debt now existing or to be contracted.

An incident of this frenzied financing is the recent purchase of $500,000 of a Havana theatre which its owners found unprofitable, but had sufficient political influence to unload on the government.

We intervened in Cuba to avenge the Maine. That was the immediate cause. But what brought about the Maine outrage was Spanish misgovernment—Spanish overtaxation and plunder of Cuba. We stopped that. We spent hundreds of lives and millions of money to cut Cuba loose from Spain. And then we committed the crowning folly by cutting Cuba adrift from us.

With what result? With that shown by the figures given above. With the result that "Cuban independence" has become merely a free lunch of the mercenaries. With the result that the Cubans are doing now to themselves what Spain formerly did to them.

When we contrast Cuba, plunging straight along the road of distracted Santo Domingo, with Porto Rico, solvent, prosperous and advancing, we may measure the height and depth of our folly in refusing to take the just reward of our blood and our treasure expended in the war with Spain.

We could have guided Cuba to prosperity, solvency, and self-respect as we are guiding Porto Rico. We refused to do our plain duty to Cuba and ourselves. In a costly war we freed Cuba from Spain. We shall be fortunate, indeed, if in another costly war we are not obliged to free Cuba from herself.

IN MEMORIAM.

Francis Kellam Cheek was born October 19th, 1879, and after a brief illness, departed this life at her home near Holt's Chapel church, December 21st, 1904, at the age of 25 years 2 months and 2 days. She was the daughter of Samuel A. and Francis Kellam, who reside near the Guilford Battle Ground and was one of fourteen children, twelve of whom are still living.

She was united in marriage to her surviving husband June 20th, 1898, with whom she lived a happy wedded life till he who held all events in His own counsel said in His infinite wisdom, "It is enough. Come up higher."

Sister Cheek made a public profession of faith in Christ in the early days of her childhood and connected herself with the Methodist church at Holt's chapel, of which she lived an exemplary christian life, till translated to the church triumphant on high, whence she entered upon that rest which remaineth for the people of God.

Sister Cheek was a cheerful sweet-spirited follower of Christ. She was naturally of a pious disposition and the spirit of Christ adorned her christian character. Taught in her childhood to say her evening prayers, she found it natural to cultivate a close communion with God in private secret prayer. The Bible was a light unto her path and a lamp unto her feet. She loved the courts of the Lord's house, and was always glad when the appointed day came for divine services to be held in the church of her choice. She was a kind and obliging neighbor, a devoted wife, and an affectionate mother. Death came to her in the bloom of young womanhood, but the Grim Monster found her robed and ready for the coming of the bridegroom. Her lamp was trimmed and burning. There was no cloud in her evening sky to darken her prospect of eternal life. Her remains were laid to rest in the Holt's Chapel cemetery; her pastor, the Rev. P. J. Caraway, assisted by Rev. J. A. Bowles, conducted the funeral exercises in the presence of a large number of sympathizing friends. "I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, Write, blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors." Peace be unto her precious memory, and when the Savior comes may she be a bright gem in the beautiful casket of love.

Big Missionary Meeting.

Asheville, April 14.—The year's event in the history of Southern missionary Methodism will be the gathering in Asheville in May of the South Atlantic Missionary Conference, which comes for a four days' convention and which in all probability will be attended by from 1,500 to 2,000 delegates, including the most prominent bishops, ministers and missionaries of the Southern church. The convention will convene in the city auditorium on Thursday evening, May 17, when Bishop Hoss will preach the opening sermon, and continue in session four days. Methodists of Asheville are looking forward to the great gathering with a great deal of interest and preparations are making this week for the entertainment of the 100 or more delegates who are on the official programme. The remaining delegates to the conference and other prominent Methodists who will be in attendance will defray their own expenses while in the city. The conference in Asheville this year will be distinctly one of education and inspiration, and in referring to this a well known Methodist publication says: "Justly these two: for never yet was there enthusiasm without knowledge, or zeal without direction, that did not waste much of its fire."

To Enforce Neutrality.

Rear Admiral Train, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, has ordered two destroyers and the dispatch boat Alava to join the cruiser Raleigh in patrolling the Sulu archipelago, in anticipation of the possible use of the island of Palawan, the most westerly of the Philippines, by either the Russian or Japanese fleet as a belligerent base.

Sued the Railroad.

Durham, April 14.—Samuel Bridgers, who was recently thrown from the top of a freight car, has brought suit against the Southern Railway, the summons being served today. It is understood that the amount to be asked will be not less than ten thousand dollars. The plaintiff has employed E. W. Cannada, colored, to bring the suit for him. The plaintiff in this case was carried to the hospital immediately after he was hurt and he is still under treatment there. At first it was thought that his leg would have to be amputated, but this has not been done. This is the case where Bridgers was crawling over a freight train and he claims that he was kicked off the top of a moving train by Conductor Bob Weaver.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Washington, April 17.—One of the severest tests to which the present administration has been, or will be put, will be presented when the President returns and receives the protests of the trans-continental railway companies, which are up in arms over the destruction of the monopoly they have long enjoyed as a result of the monopoly of the Panama Railway Company. Soon after that railway was completed its directors entered into an agreement whereby they bound themselves to transact business only with certain steamship lines, notably the Pacific Mail Steamship Company on the west coast and the Panama Steamship Company on the east coast, which line it controlled. In this way transportation by way of the isthmus was insured from competition and a monopoly created, which enabled the trans-continental railroads within the United States to maintain the high rates they have always charged, this "conspiracy" having been perfected by the late Col. P. Huntington. As the Panama railroad was without the United States this government was powerless to prosecute it for maintaining a trust in violation of the Sherman law.

Now that the Panama railroad has passed to the ownership of the United States it is proposed to charge for transportation of freight and passengers only the actual cost of transportation plus a fair rate of profit which shall be converted into a sinking fund. But the more important feature of the government's ownership promises to be the acceptance of freight and passengers from all steamship and sailing lines which now exist or which may be established, regardless of what prices they may charge for water transportation. This means of course that the isthmus will be regulated by free and fair competition and they will inevitably be materially lowered from the prices maintained when a monopoly existed. It is estimated by the railroad lobbyists, who have already come to Washington with the hope of protecting their clients, that the free competition of steamship companies and the Panama Railway will result in the lowering of freight rates between New York and San Francisco via Panama from $9 a ton, the rate now charged, to $1 a ton. Passenger rates, it is claimed, will be lowered from $115 to $95 meals included. Of course the railroads will still command the situation where time is a factor, but with freight which demands no haste and with passengers who are willing to take their time, the Panama route will prove the favorite unless the railroads lower their rates to accord with the new water rate. The capacity of the Panama Railway will also be limited, but it has been decided to double the track, which will somewhat offset that factor.

The railway lobbyists maintain that it will plunge their clients into bankruptcy to meet these rates. They do not say, however, that this would be the case only because of the extent to which the railway stock has been watered. Nevertheless, there will be strong pressure brought to bear on the President to take some step which will save the pampered railways from the effects of fair competition and there is no doubt it will require great moral strength on the part of the President to resist. If the President proves in vulnerable then the lobbyists will turn their attention to Congress and it is entirely possible that in that quarter they may prove successful. If, however, the President and the Congress prove true to the interests of the people the railroads will doubtless be compelled materially to lower their trans-continental transportation rates.

The people of the United States are not the only ones who have suffered from the monopoly of the trans-isthmian line, as is shown by the protest of seven South American ministers who have filed a protest with the State department against the renewal of contracts with South American steamship lines which they claim have been robbing the people of their respective countries.

Apologies of the railway question, considerable interest attaches to the hearings which are to be given on the subject of railway legislation by the Senate committee on interstate commerce, of which Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, is chairman. The members of this committee are Senators Elkins, Cullom, Aldrich, Kenna, Dilliver, Foraker, Clapp, Millard, Tillman, McLaughlin, Cramack, Foster of Louisiana and Newlands. The first of the meetings called to deal with this subject under authority of a special Senate resolution will occur next Monday, and it is expected that they will be held almost continuously for several months. Of the above membership, Senator Aldrich is still in Europe, Millard is in Nebraska and Tillman is ill at his home in South Carolina, although it is hoped he will be able to attend, and Senator Millard will probably return to Washington before long.

It is generally expected that as a result of these hearings the committee will report some form of railway legislation to the Senate as soon as that body convenes, although those familiar with the attitude and affiliations of a majority of the committee expect that any measure which will be reported will prove either insufficient to accomplish the desired end or, and this is more likely, will be so drastic as to prove unconstitutional when submitted to the Supreme court. It will remain therefore for the real friends of the President and of railway rate reform to amend the bill on the floor of the Senate until it assumes a form both practical and adequate. The next session of Congress will prove an unusually interesting one. Great interests of the public will be at stake—no one of more importance than this one of railway rate regulation—and the attitude and votes of every member of both houses will be or should be scrutinized closely by their constituents.

A strength tonic that brings rich red blood. Makes you strong, healthy and active. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Holton's drug store.

SHOT INTO POWDER HOUSE.

A Man With a Gun Blows Up Himself and Two Others at Trenton, Tenn.

Trenton, Tenn., April 15.—Three men were killed, three injured and considerable damage to property done here today by the explosion of some powder in a store-house in the rear of a hardware store. The dead: Robert Phelan, owner of the hardware store; Dr. Parker, of Trenton; Mr. Arnold, of Crockett. Injured: John K. Pearce, probably fatally; John Klopp, Tom Jones, colored.

Mr. Phelan was trying a target gun. It is thought a ball penetrated a can of powder in the store-house and caused the explosion. The store was practically demolished; the store-house of I. A. Landis was wrecked, and the meat market of Pearce & Klopp badly damaged. Nearly every business house down town was damaged to some extent.

Italian Ambassador Visits the Valdense Colony.

Morganston, April 15.—The Italian ambassador, Signor Des Planches, of Washington, paid a visit to the Valdense colony of Valdese, in this county today. The colonists, numbering several hundred, greeted him upon his arrival. He addressed the colonists at a mass meeting held in the magnificent church erected by that people. The ambassador congratulated them upon their success and predicted a bright future for them in their North Carolina homes. Addresses were also made by Rev. Mr. Guigo, and Land Commissioner M. V. Richards, of the Southern Railway. The ambassador will visit several Southern states for the purpose of studying the opportunities for the settlement of Italians seeking homes and employment in the United States. The Southern Railway Company is taking an active interest in the movement looking for the settlement of thirty immigrants in the South.

Mrs. Angle Buried at Holly Springs.

Statesville, April 14.—The remains of Mrs. E. C. Angle, who died in Milton Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, were brought here last night and buried this afternoon at Holly Springs Baptist church. The deceased formerly lived in Eagle Mills township, this county. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. R. F. Burke, of Greensboro, and two sons, Mr. T. M. Angle, of Milton, and Dr. J. B. Angle, of Greensboro.

C. C. Townsend & Co.

Are Selling Royster's High Grade Fertilizers

Fifteen years ago when we commenced to sell Royster's goods we were also selling the goods of four other large factories. Five years later the Royster goods by a field test had run the others out. For the last ten years we have sold only the Royster goods, and our sales have grown larger each year. Don't buy the cheap trashy goods, but buy the High Grade Royster goods as many of the best farmers in the county are doing, and you will have money to spend and some to keep. Sold only by C. C. Townsend & Company.

They also have a large stock of Corn Planters, 2, 3 and 4 shovel Plows, Harrows, Etc., and the prettiest Buggies and Carriages ever shown in the city of Greensboro.

Special Announcement

OF

The Southern Trading Stamp Co

We cordially invite every man, woman and child in the city of Greensboro to visit our store, 107 East Washington street, (Greensboro National Bank Building,) and allow us to convince you that we have the largest, most complete up-to-date line of Premiums ever shown by any Trading Stamp Company in the South.

"Southern Red" Trading Stamps.

A DIRECT BENEFIT TO THE CASH CUSTOMER.

EXCHANGEABLE FOR PREMIUMS.

"Southern Red" Trading Stamps are a direct benefit to the cash customer—none others receive them—because they afford a means of obtaining beautiful articles for household use and the decoration of the home, absolutely free of cost.

The merchant is willing to give these premiums, through the use of trading stamps, because your cash trade is worth it to him. Cash trade is less expensive than trade carried on under the credit system. He can well afford to make it worth your while to pay down your money when you buy.

He issues trading stamps because he finds that through their use he can extend his trade, and add largely to the number of spot cash customers. But the customer, too, benefits.

The premiums offered in exchange for trading stamps are as good as gold—they are precisely the same as thousands of articles for which retail store customers actually pay cash year in and year out. They are all articles of merit, carefully manufactured, beautifully finished and equal to the best.

The merchant gives one trading stamp with each 10 cents paid in cash on a purchase.

Don't let other people do your thinking for you. Investigate this question for yourself. One visit to the Trading Stamp Store will convince you that this is a system you should try at once.

Call and see for yourself. We will be glad to welcome you and explain any matter you don't understand.

TEN STAMPS FREE!

CUT OUT THIS COUPON

Present it at any of the stores named below, and by making a purchase of 50c or more, you will receive ten stamps in addition to those you are entitled to on your purchase. Good until May 15th.

A visit to our store will do more to convince you of the merit of the trading stamp method than volumes written about it would.
Our store has on display thousands of dollars worth of beautiful goods. Not a single article is for sale for cash. There is not an article in the store that cannot be had in exchange for filled Stamp books.

The store in itself is worth seeing. The information you will obtain from a single visit will be worth much more.

Our latch string is always out, drop in and see us. Call at 107 East Washington street, and see for yourself what the trading stamps will do for you. There's money in it for you.
