LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO THE READERS OF THE PATRIOT FAR AND NEAR.

Mr. J. R. Caffey, of Summerfield, was a caller at The Patriot office Saturday.

Mr. John T. Erittain, a well known lawyer of Asheboro, was in Greensboro Friday on business.

An enjoyable entertainment was given at the public school at Meigs Heights Saturday night.

Judge A. W. Graham, of Oxford, a prominent lawyer and influential democratic politician, was in Greensboro Saturday on business.

Mrs. T. Gilbert Pearson and young son arrived from New York yesterday on a visit to Mrs. Pearson's mother, Mrs. N. C. Weatherly.

Rev. R. P. Walker, pastor of Asheboro Street Baptist church, preached at Buchanan Baptist church, east of the city, yesterday afternoon.

A thief entered the home of Judge James E. Loyd Saturday night and stole four large country hams, several dozen eggs and other eatables.

Mr. W. F. Turner, of Winston-Salem, who for a number of years was a valued employee of The Patriot, spent yesterday in Greensboro with friends.

Greensboro was visited Friday by an old-fashioned snowstorm. Along about noon the snow fell fast and furious, but the ground was wet and it made little impression.

During the months of January and February the social service department of the Greensboro Woman's Club spent $79.15 in charitable and benevolent work in the city.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Tyree has resigned the pastorate of the First Baptist church of High Point and has accepted a call to the pastorate of a church in Greenwood, Miss.

Miss Annie Lee Clymer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Clymer, is a patient at St. Leo's hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis a few days ago.

Mr. W. H. Swift, secretary of the North Carolina child labor committee, left last night for Washington to be present today at a hearing before a congressional committee on the Palmer federal child labor bill.

Mr. J. M. McMurray, of Roanoke Rapids, was in the city the latter part of last week on a visit to relatives and friends. Mr. McMurray resided in Greensboro a number of years ago and has many friends here.

Mr. John F. Knight, formerly head clerk at Chase's hotel, who has been conducting a hotel on his own account in McGee, S. C., for the past year, has returned to Greensboro and resumed his former position at Chase's.

Mrs. D. D. DeBoutts was painfully burned at her home on Price street yesterday morning when her clothing became ignited from a stove. While she is suffering a great deal, her condition is not considered very serious.

Rev. George N. Hartley, of Indiana, who is in Guilford on a visit to friends, occupied the pulpit of Asheboro Street Friends church yesterday morning and preached a very interesting sermon on the subject of righteousness.

The city commissioners have made an appropriation of $300 for the fiscal year beginning May 1 toward the salary of the trained nurse employed under the auspices of the district nurse and relief committee to work among the sick poor of the city.

Mr. E. H. Anderson, the Guilford county farm demonstrator, and Mr. C. Clapp, of the state department of agriculture, will give a demonstration in fruit tree pruning and spraying Thursday afternoon at Mr. W. H. Highfill's farm, two miles east of Guilford College.

The February civil term of Guilford Superior court will convene this afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Judge Henry P. Lane, of Rockingham on the bench. There are no cases of special importance set for trial at this term. A special term of criminal court will be held next week.

Mr. Ernest Troxler, of Charlotte, formerly of Greensboro, and Miss Bertha Stewart, of this city, were married in Charlotte Friday and will make their home in that city. Where the groom is engaged in business, Mr. and Mrs. Troxler have many friends in Greensboro and Guilford county who will learn of their marriage with interest.

Bland, mayor of Charlotte, P. Shell, mayor of Dunn, were in the city Thursday conferring with Mayor Murphy as to the outline of a program for the next meeting of the North Carolina Municipal Association, which is to be held in Charlotte May 14 and 15.

The Greensboro office of the Western Union Telegraph Company is to be moved shortly from the quarters occupied for many years in the Guilford hotel building to the rooms in the Dixie Fire Insurance Company's building formerly occupied by the City National Bank and later by the Commercial Bank and the Security Life and Annuity Company.

The congregations of St. Andrew's and Holy Trinity Episcopal churches are holding a joint Sunday school institute that opened yesterday and will continue until tomorrow. Rev. Homer W. Starr, of Chapel Hill, made an address last night on "The Ideal Sunday School." Tonight addresses will be made by Mr. W. A. Erwin, of Durham, and Prof. Wade R. Brown, of this city.

The city commissioners have instructed the Southern Railway to place a watchman at the Lindsay street crossing. This is the place where Lula Moore, a young colored woman, was struck by a train and painfully injured Tuesday morning of last week. There have been a number of other accidents and narrow escapes at this crossing, which is in the heart of the city and frequented by many people.

Dr. L. L. Hobbs, president of Guilford College, made an address before the Young Men's Christian Association of Charlotte yesterday afternoon. He spoke on "The Larger Call," and the Charlotte Observer of this morning speaks of the address in terms of high praise. The Observer refers to Dr. Hobbs as "a gentleman of the old school and one of the best loved educators in the state."

The revival meeting that has been in progress at Westminster Presbyterian church since last Wednesday night is attracting considerable attention and much interest is being manifested in the services, which are held twice daily—at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:45 in the evening. Rev. W. T. Thompson, of Lexington, who is assisting the pastor, is preaching strong gospel sermons.

Mr. J. C. Olive, who conducts a stall in the city market, received Friday a shipment of fish from Morehead City and in the consignment was a large catfish very much alive. The fish were shipped from Morehead City Thursday and probably were caught the previous day or night. The cat was placed in a tub of water and did not appear to be any the worse for its long stay out of the water and the trip on ice across a good section of the state.

Mr. E. F. York, a former resident of Greensboro, who has been engaged in business for the past few years in Cananea, Mexico, is in the city on a visit to relatives and friends. Mr. York talks interestingly of the war in progress in Mexico, but does not predict when or how the trouble will end. In leaving the country he purchased a return trip ticket which is good for use at any time within nine months, but he is not sure that he will use it at all.

Mary Lehan, who represents herself as a Cherokee Indian fortune teller, was tried and convicted in Municipal court a few days ago on the charge of the larceny of $10 from C. B. Miller, a young white man. It is alleged that the fortune teller abstracted the money from a roll of bills while pretending to show Miller a slight of hand trick. Judge Brown gave the woman a sentence of ten months in the work house and held her under a bond of $100 when she gave notice of an appeal to the Superior court.

The pupils of the Pomona graded school met in contest Thursday and Friday to secure representatives to meet the other schools of Morehead township at a preliminary contest to be held next Friday, when pupils will be selected to represent the township at the county commencement. The recitations by the girls were held Thursday and the declamations by the boys on Friday. The successful candidates were: Girls—Katherine Fides, Maie Dorsett and Berta Norman; boys—Raymond Johnson, Charlie Barber and John Scott.

INCREASED BUSINESS OF GREENSBORO POSTOFFICE.

Figures just compiled by the Greensboro postoffice show that the receipts of the office during the past ten years have increased 120 per cent. The Greensboro office now stands high among those of the first class and next year will rank in the first division of this class.

The receipts by calendar years are as follows: 1904, $51,109.62; 1905, $57,953.67; 1906, $70,264.44; 1907, $76,639.87; 1908, $80,960.01; 1909, $82,129.41; 1910, $87,539.95; 1911, $87,127.18; 1912, $94,479.10; 1913, $112,508.28.

Of the 60,000 postoffices in the United States 451 are first class offices. This class is subdivided into three divisions. In the first division the largest are 160 offices. In the second division there are 59, of which Greensboro stands near the head, the statement being made that there are probably 175 postoffices in the United States which are larger than Greensboro.

Of the 451 first class offices there are seven in North Carolina, Charlotte, Wilmington and Raleigh being in the first division of the first class. Winston-Salem, Asheville and Greensboro are in the second division. Durham is in the third division.

The past month of February showed a 10 per cent. increase over February 1913. The receipts in February 1914, were $9,459.72. The receipts in February, 1913, were $8,581.16. The increase in amount was $878.56.

Inauguration of College President.

The inauguration of Rev. Dr. S. B. Turrentine as president of Greensboro College for Women will take place at the college on Wednesday of next week, March 18, the exercises beginning at 10:30 o'clock A. M. The program follows:

Hymn.
Invocation, Rev. Dr. G. T. Rowe.
Music, college orchestra.

Presentation of charter and seal.
Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson, president emerita.
The acceptance, the president of the college.

Addresses: The Honorable Locke Craig, governor of North Carolina; Dr. Bruce R. Payne, the president of George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn.

Inaugural address, President Samuel Eryant Turrentine, A. M., D. D., Benediction.
At 8 o'clock P. M., sermon in West Market street church, Bishop John C. Kigo, D. D., LL. D.

Native Chinaman Lectures Here.

Dr. Ng Poon Chew, a native Chinaman who has spent many years in the United States, delivered two lectures in Greensboro yesterday—at the First Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock in the morning and at the Grand opera house, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., in the afternoon. He told the story of China and gave a clear insight into conditions as they exist in that country. He described the struggle that resulted in the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty and the establishment of a republican form of government, which, while republican in name only at the present, will ultimately result in the rule of the people in fact. Dr. Chew said the heathen religions are losing ground in China and asserted his belief that Christianity is the only religion that can reform the Chinese people.

Texas Rangers Cross Into Mexico.

Laredo, Tex., March 8.—Texas Rangers, who secretly crossed into Mexico last night, today brought to the American side the mutilated body of Clemente Vergara, Texas ranchman, and established the fact of his execution after he was seized by Mexican Federals. The Rangers were not opposed, accomplishing their search without the slightest violence, taking the body from a grave in Hidalgo cemetery almost within sight of the Texas border.

Vergara was shot twice through the head and once through the neck, his skull was crushed as by a blow from a rifle butt and the charred fingers of the left hand indicated that he had been tortured before being put to death.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Trogon went to Richmond, Va., Saturday to be at the bedside of their daughter, Miss Jessie, who is a surgical patient in a hospital in that city.

ALLEGED MURDERERS HELD IN THE GUILFORD JAIL.

Sid Finger, Joe Maxwell and Will Kirkpatrick, the three negroes arrested in Rowan county last Wednesday afternoon charged with murdering Preston Lyerly and burning the store of which he was manager at Barber's Junction on the night of February 24, were not carried to the state penitentiary for safe keeping, as was announced in Thursday's Patriot. After the offices had started to Raleigh with the prisoners it was decided to commit them to the Guilford county jail. They will be kept here until carried to Salisbury for trial.

Mr. W. A. Scott, deputy state insurance commissioner, who has been working on the case since the day following the murder and fire, has arrived at the conclusion that Finger committed the double crime alone. It appears that Kirkpatrick will be able to establish an alibi by reliable white and colored witnesses, and it is believed that Maxwell also will be able to clear his skirts. Prior to the murder of Lyerly Finger boasted of having killed two men and confided to a friend that he had served a term in the Tennessee penitentiary.

Will Fitts, colored, was arrested in Salisbury Saturday afternoon in connection with the case and is being held as a material witness against Finger.

Will Establish Creamery.

A number of gentlemen who have interested themselves in the movement for the establishment of a co-operative creamery in this county held a meeting in Greensboro Friday afternoon and formed the Guilford Creamery Company. Mr. J. A. Hornady, of Liberty, who has had practical experience in the business, was elected manager, and it is believed that the plant will begin actual work by April 1. Cream routes will be established at different stations on all roads leading to this city, and it is believed that the establishment of a creamery here will be of great benefit to both producers and consumers.

Lynch the Ground Hog.

A motion to the effect that the ground hog had placed himself beyond the pale and ought to be lynched without ceremony or the benefit of clergy was put before a crowd of citizens over at the court house Saturday afternoon and carried by a unanimous vote. The vote was unanimous on account of the absence of Editor Joe Reece, of the Daily Record, the ground hog's only friend in Greensboro.

Bond Election Turned Down.

The commissioners of Rockingham county last week turned down a petition asking that an election be called on the question of authorizing bonds to the amount of $500,000 for permanent road improvements. It is said the petition was denied on account of a belief on the part of the commissioners that the majority of the people opposed a bond issue for good roads.

GROWTH OF BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Figures given out at the office of State Insurance Commissioner J. R. Young show that remarkable increases have been made in the work of the building and loan associations in this state during the past several years. The assets have increased nearly 400 per cent since 1904. The following statement will be of interest:

"The growth of building and loan associations in North Carolina during the past ten years has been remarkable, especially in view of the fact that series of stock are being retired twice a year by most companies. In 1904 there were 41 building and loan associations in North Carolina with assets of $2,542,988.51. The number had jumped in 1913 to 131, and the assets had increased to $9,581,773.89. These associations are under the supervision of the insurance commissioner, and their affairs are regularly investigated. They exist primarily for the poor man and man of small means, and are doing a great part in providing homes and developing the habit of thrift."

The resignation of John Bassett Moore, counselor of the state department, which was tendered more than a month ago, has been accepted by the president.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS NOTES

A BRIEF SURVEY OF WHAT IS TRANSPIRING IN THE COMMONWEALTH.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. of Mt. Airy is preparing to build a modern hospital in that town.

George H. Kerns, of Granite Quarry, Rowan county, scratched himself while shaving and in four days died of blood poison.

Walter Allen, who two weeks ago shot and seriously wounded Miss Effie Teague, at Rhodhiss, Caldwell county, as a result of criminal carelessness, got 12 months on the roads. The city meat and milk inspector at Winston-Salem analyzed some buttermilk last week and found it adulterated with soda, flour and water to the extent of about 40 per cent.

Superintendent S. L. Sheep, of the Elizabeth City graded schools, has notified the trustees that he will not be a candidate for re-election. Prof. Sheep has been engaged in school work in Elizabeth City for the past 39 years.

The 12-year-old daughter of H. E. Calhoun, of Rowland, Robeson county, was burned to death last week. Her mother being ill, the little girl was cleaning house and while standing on a chair cleaning off the mantel her apron caught fire.

The state has finally sold the last of the $1,142,800 improvement bond issue authorized at the last regular session of the general assembly to be issued as of date July 1, 1913, to run to 1953 and bear four per cent interest.

Rev. C. H. Norris, of Holy Springs, Wake county, has sued the Norfolk Southern railroad for $2,000 damages for delay in reaching the Southern Baptist convention at Shelby last fall. He secured permission to flag a through train, but the train failed to stop for him.

Collectors Watts and Bailey have been instructed by the Internal revenue department to follow up the income tax delinquents. Those who failed to make proper returns may be given a little time, but the government is going to enforce the income tax to the letter.

The North Carolina Confederate veterans reunion this year will be held in Raleigh and the date is June 10, when the monument to the women of the Confederacy will be unveiled on Capitol square. The monument is the result of a patriotic donation of the late Ashley Horne.

From all parts of the state the department of agriculture receives encouraging letters relative to the 1914 fruit crop. The cold weather of February came at a time that made blossoming impossible and the continued low temperatures doing a great deal to stop premature growth of buds.

Charged by his former wife, Mrs. Alice Hopkins, of Hampton, Va., with bigamy, C. C. Hopkins, a well-known furniture dealer of Wilmington, was arrested Thursday and placed under a $500 bond for his appearance today before a magistrate for trial. Hopkins does not deny having been married to the woman, but states that he got a decree of divorce in Norfolk, Va., over two years ago and that later he was married to Mrs. Sophia Daniels, of Wilmington.

After writing a lengthy confession in which he implicated Henry Gurken as an accomplice in the perpetration of the crime, R. W. Cobb paid the death penalty in the electric chair at the state penitentiary Friday morning for the murder of Thomas Shaw, a well-known country merchant, of Halifax county, May 3, 1913. The electrocution was in the presence of 35 witnesses, who saw Cobb enter the death chamber with a remarkable degree of self-control and go to his death with wonderful self-possession.

Charged with aiding and abetting in the escape of three prisoners from the convict camp in Greene township on the night of February 28, Emmett Tate, an ex-convict who had been employed at the camp as a day hand after serving his term, has been committed to jail to await trial at the April criminal term of Superior court. It is alleged that Tate supplied the three convicts with a file with which they filed off the shackles that bound their legs. Nothing has been heard of the escaped prisoners.

WILSON URGES REPEAL PANAMA CANAL TOLL ACT.

President Wilson went before congress Thursday and pleaded for the repeal of the provision of the Panama canal act which exempts American coastwise shipping from tolls. He tersely asserted that his reason for asking the repeal was because everywhere except in the United States the tolls exemption was regarded as a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and he further asked it in support of the administration's general foreign policy.

That the President's request will be granted there seems little doubt, despite the fact that there will be vigorous opposition both in the senate and the house. It is said that the interstate and foreign commerce committee of the house will report a bill to repeal the exemption provision. In the senate Senator Chilton, a Democratic member of the interoceanic canals committee, has introduced an amendment to the canal act to give the president authority to make or suspend tolls by proclamation and to prescribe tolls in cases exempted. This would put it up directly to the president to eliminate the exemption.

Aside from the bearing of Thursday's message on the Panama tolls question, some of the phrases used by the president attracted widespread comment in congressional quarters as bearing on foreign relations in general. In some quarters there was a disposition to regard some of his statements in the nature of a warning regarding the difficulties involved in "other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence."

Attitude of North Carolina Delegation.

Practically the entire North Carolina delegation in Congress will back President Wilson in his desire to repeal the exemption clause in the Panama canal act. All the members of the house, with the exception of Mr. Kitchen and the possible exception of Mr. Gudger, will vote against free tolls when the measure comes up for reversal.

The only member of the delegation who voted for free tolls originally was Mr. Small. He says he will support the president now. Voting against free tolls before were Representatives Faison, Pou, Godwin, Page, Stedman and Doughton. Representatives Kitchen, Webb and Senators Overman and Simmons voted for free tolls. Senator Overman says he will vote to support the president, declaring that conditions are now changed from what they were then. Senator Simmons said he would have to investigate before deciding, but indicated that he is willing to support the president, if he can conscientiously. He believes the question one of policy rather than of principle and thinks that if there is a higher purpose to be served by eliminating free tolls than by having them, he is willing to vote that way.

Earthquake Shocks Felt.

Atlanta, Ga., March 5.—Seismic shocks, slight but distinct, were felt late today in many cities and towns of Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama and the Carolinas. At numerous points business buildings and residences trembled, windows rattled and mild excitement prevailed. In the rural districts negroes were badly frightened. As recorded by the seismograph at Mobile, the tremors were light but rapid, indicating that the disturbance was not far distant. Reports from many sections tonight were that the shocks did no damage and that no one was injured.

Maj. Stedman Not Alarmed.

In writing of probable contests over congressional honors in various districts in North Carolina this year, the Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer has this to say of the representative of the fifth district:

"Representative Stedman said today that he is sure that he can lick a whole field of candidates in the fifth. He is ready to battle to the last ditch. Nobody has come out against him. He may have opposition, but he is not afraid of the result, he says."

The state of Alabama has won a long and expensive fight against railroads in that state to enforce the 2 1-2 cent fare law. By an agreement between the governor, the railroad commission and the railroads, the 2 1-2 cent fare law goes into effect and all court proceedings are dismissed. The agreement also gives the railroad commission the right to readjust freight rates.

Ours is a National BANK

Before the UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT granted us a charter to do a banking business, they made themselves absolutely sure that there was both CHARACTER and money behind our bank. A National Bank is restricted in doing business according to the National Banking laws, and the U. S. Government Bank Examiners see that these are observed.

Besides this, the good names of reliable men of financial responsibility are behind our bank.

PERILOUS HUGGING.

The Embrace of a Kangaroo Does Not Leave Pleasant Memories.

Notwithstanding the kangaroo's popular reputation for speed, he is easily overtaken in the bush by a good horse (they say) within half a mile. A capable kangaroo dog—a lean, swift beast, a cross between a greyhound and a mastiff, bred to course and kill—soon runs him to bay. Without dogs it is the custom to kill with a cudgel. This is often accomplished by the sportsman from the back of his horse. Dismounted, however, with the kangaroo waiting alertly for attack, it is sometimes a perilous venture to come to close quarters. A slip, and the sportsman finds himself at once in a desperate situation.

One of the lumberjacks with whom we rested in the shade of the blackbutt showed us the scars of an encounter. He had ridden the kangaroo down, said he, and, being in haste to make good of the sport, he had caught up the first likely stick his eye could discover and he had stepped quickly and confidently in, and he had struck hard and accurately. And the next instant, caught off the ground, he was struggling breast to breast in the hug of the creature, frightfully aware that he must escape before the deadly hind foot had devastated him.

"My club broke," he exclaimed, "and the boomer got me!" There were long scars on his back and shoulders, the which we were not very sorry to see, for we could not make out why any man should wish to kill a kangaroo for sport.—Norman Duncan in Harper's.

THE HANGMAN'S ROBE.

Dennis Didn't Like It, So He Sold It to "Old Cain."

James Berry was not so well paid for his services as his French confrere, M. Antoine Delbier, who draws $500 a year, while his four assistants have a similar amount to divide between them. Sanson, the first executioner to wield the guillotine, was originally paid £1,520 a year, but when executioners were appointed in each department this was reduced to £800.

Before the revolution the legal tariff in France was 25 shillings for a beheading, 16s. 8d. for a burning at the stake, and the same amount for a hanging, with allowances for the erection of a scaffold or the provision of fuel. One of James Berry's predecessors, for a brief period, donned a uniform when at work. In 1785, according to a contemporary chronicler, the sheriffs of London were "so pleased with the excellent mode in which Edward Dennis, their hangman, performed his duties that they presented him with a very elegant official robe—a kililt, in fact, as eastern potentates term a similar garb of honor. Dennis found this inconvenient when at work on the scaffold and sold it to a well known character of those days, 'Old Cain,' who, having set up as a fortune teller, wanted a robe to complete the costume in which he received dupes."—London Chronicle.

News Films of the Passing Show

George Paton of Paterson, N. J., had 50 cents in the pot when police raided a poker game. He stayed and was arrested.

After consulting a Paterson (N. J.) lawyer about suit for damages for a broken arm Mrs. Santina Costa fell and broke a leg as she was leaving his office.

Fred Springhorn of Patchogue, N. Y., after voting twenty-two years and serving as constable, found he was not naturalized, having forgotten his second papers.

Harry M. Gescheldt, a New York lawyer, left $150,000, half of his fortune, for the establishment of a bread line and stipulated that every loaf distributed should be stamped with his name.

Alexander McGregor was rolled through wet snow in front of a locomotive for a distance of 150 feet at Peabody, Mass., and when help reached him was in the middle of a snowball six feet in diameter.

PAINT PALATES TO MAKE BOYS QUIT CIGARETTES.

Treatment Advised by Recorder May Be Adopted For Hoboken (N. J.) Schools.

A crusade to curb the cigarette habit among boys—and men, too—by application of nitrate of silver on the palates of the victims has been inaugurated by Recorder John J. McGovern of Hoboken, N. J.

If the treatment proves a success it may be introduced in the public schools of the city, the recorder announces.

"I heard of the success of this treatment through the experiments of a German professor," said Recorder McGovern, "and found that it had been tried by the Anti-Cigarette League in Chicago, and I obtained a copy of the prescription there."

At one session about fifty men and boys had their palates and throats painted by Drs. Joseph Londrigan and John Grannelli of the medical staff of the Hoboken board of education. All agreed that the taste was worse than the cigarettes, but each had a different version descriptive of what the taste resembled.

"The taste will grow more repulsive by tomorrow," was the confidential whisper of one of the physicians to the recorder. "If they try to smoke a cigarette or cigar for the next day or two the effects of the treatment will be sickening."

Each of the "patients" received a prescription, providing a wash of the nitrate of silver to be taken after meals or when the desire for a smoke comes upon him, and all were ordered to chew the bitter root of the gentian plant as a further step toward a cure.

FIRST AID TO NOUVEAU RICHE.

College Girls Teach Women of Wealth to Use Good English.

By posing for artists who draw advertisements for men's clothing, by instructing classes of foreigners in English, by translating foreign correspondence for business houses and by various other means, students at the University of Chicago who are working their way through school last year earned $109,654—a total of $83 each.

The annual report of the employment bureau of the university gives figures showing that many of the students earned from $2 to $2.50 a day, according to their talents. Most of the positions filled were as waiters, stenographers, salesmen and janitors.

The bureau had a steady call from women of recently acquired wealth, who have been put in social positions in which their lack of education exposes them to embarrassment, for girls to tutor them in the elementary subjects, such as English and rhetoric. The report says tutors receive an average of $1.25 an hour and often more than $2.

ARMY BARS WHITE HORSES.

General Order to Officers to Discourage Their Use.

In view of the fact that gray and white horses can be distinguished at a much greater distance than those of other colors and shades, it is long since United States army quartermasters have bought any such horses for the army, and the gray or white horse troop that formerly was found in almost every cavalry regiment has disappeared.

Following out this policy, a general order has been prepared to the following effect: "A gray or white horse is not recognized as a suitable mount for use in the field in active service, and the possession by an officer of such a horse should not be encouraged." Another reason for discarding gray and white horses is the difficulty of keeping them clean while on other than garrison service.

Urges Largest Convention Hall.

A convention hall for Chicago capable of holding the largest conventions of the United States and also with facilities for several at one time is proposed by Joseph H. Defrees, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce. In 1913 Chicago had 330 conventions.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

Recent agitation of the question of government ownership of telegraph or telephone lines has led to the prediction that the conversion of the privately-owned properties would mean the substitution within a short time of new inventions for fast transmission of messages. It is predicted that the government would adopt the new instruments and that the amount of business transacted by telegraph would increase many fold, with a reduction in rates making the telegraph a real postal facility.

The inventions for rapid and cheap transmission of messages have been found useful in practical operation, but they have not come into general use for the very good reason that their adoption by telegraph companies would mean the scrapping of considerable equipment now in use.

Telegraph companies are given the first chance to purchase new inventions; all of the new schemes have been tried out. Some of them accomplish their purpose, others are failures. But one and all, they have been turned down because of the financial operation involved in transforming one system into another.

The advocates of government ownership of the line assert that the government would be in a position to make this change. The lines, it is presumed, would be acquired at a fair value in the first place. The earning of profit would not be so much the aim of the government as the prevention of loss. Bonds to carry improvements could be floated at lower rates than private corporations are able to obtain. As a public utility, owned by the government, the public would demand to have the benefit of inventions now "screwed up" by the financial necessities of private companies. These are the contentions of those who believe the government should take over the lines.

Government ownership of wire communication lines would also involve, it is predicted, a monopoly of wireless communication and the opening of government wireless stations to commercial use.

THE SMALL CAPITALIST.

A recent issue of the Youth's Companion, one of the finest and most publications in the country, directs attention to the fact that we people in the United States are too much accustomed to think of the struggle between capital and labor as concerning two distinct and hostile forces. On one side, we picture the vast multitude of those who live only from day to day, tilling weary for an insufficient livelihood, with nothing behind them except a negative inheritance, and nothing before them except dependent and neglected old age. On the other side, we picture the idle rich living in luxury on accumulated possessions, and by means of those possessions keeping the toilers forever in subjection.

Although this view may have its oral value, it is economically neither accurate nor complete. Between the immensely rich and the barely self-supporting there comes the vast body of small capitalists; men and women who, by inheritance or thrift, have acquired invested resources not sufficient for their entire needs, but adequate to give their lives stability and to serve as insurance against the blows of want.

The man who owns a small equity in his house is a capitalist. The woman who owns a few shares of stock, or has $500 in the savings bank, is a capitalist. Most of the great capitalized organizations of the country, although they may be managed by a few wealthy men, are in large part owned collectively by small capitalists.

The small capitalist, then, with property of from $1,000 to $25,000, is a most important element in our democratic country, for he is stable and he is deeply interested. He may not make up the actual voting majority, but he unquestionably holds the balance of power. He can have no antagonism to the wage-earner, because he is a wage-earner himself; nor, on the other hand, can he attack capital indiscriminately, for, if he does, he will be sure in the end to menace his own well-being.

It used to be said that the yeomanry were the strength of England. In the same sense the small capitalist is the strength of this country. He is the buffer between the grinding rich and the indigent poor. It is on his firmness, his sense of justice—above all, on his intelligence—that our future must depend.

Hon. Benjamin F. Grady, a former representative in Congress from the third district of North Carolina, died at his home in Clinton Friday at the age of 82 years. He was a native of Duplin county and a grandson of the only American soldier killed in the battle of Moores Creek, in 1776. He was a soldier of the Confederacy and was engaged in educational work for a number of years, leaving the school room for the halls of Congress in 1890. He served his district in Congress for two terms.

Plain Truth That's Worth Money.

Using Foley's Honey and Tar for a cough and cold is just practical common sense. It is exactly made to stop a cough and check a cold and it prevents lagrippe, bronchitis or pneumonia. F. F. Monahan, Monomomie, Wis., says: "I am exposed to all kinds of weather and I find Foley's Honey and Tar Compound always fixes me up in good shape when I catch cold or have a bad cough. I recommend it gladly." Refuse substitutes. Conyers & Sykes.

The Emergency Value of Big Organization

WHEN a real catastrophe happens to a telephone system; when a fire destroys an exchange and the terminal apparatus, or a storm lays low the pole lines, the value of a big organization is quickly shown.

When a conflagration swept the city of Chelsea, Mass., it burned the Bell telephone exchange and destroyed the telephone equipment.

The next day a temporary central station was established, amid the ruins, and the service restored.

With similar promptness telephone service was re-established in Baltimore, San Francisco and Bangor, and after the more recent disasters in the Middle West.

To meet great emergencies, complete switchboards and apparatus valued at over $100,000 are kept at Chicago and New York, crated and ready for shipment whenever the call for help comes from any part of the organization.

Last Liquor Stamps in North Carolina.

A press dispatch from Statesville says that Collector A. D. Watts has issued what may be the last liquor stamps ever issued from the internal revenue office in this district. They are for the remainder of the N. Glenn Williams liquor at Williams, Yadkin county. All the liquor which was stored in warehouses in the state has been "tax paid out," the Williams liquor being the last to go, and for this reason there will be no more occasion for issuing liquor stamps.

When liquor was voted out of the state in 1908 there were a number of large distillers who bonded their liquor and stored it in government warehouses. This liquor has been gradually tax paid and withdrawn from the warehouses. Several thousands of gallons of the Williams liquor, over which there has been much litigation in the Federal courts, are now being withdrawn from the warehouse at Williams.

The police of Savannah, Ga., are searching for $21,000 supposed to have been buried in or near Savannah by C. C. Craven, a yeggman, who was recently killed in a fight with a railroad speed agent at Milledgeville, Fla. Craven, whose correct name is said to have been Thomas Frator, left a widow in Savannah and she wrote to another yeggman that the money was buried there and asked that he come and help her recover it. The money was intercepted the letter.

Suburban, Annoying Coughs Cured.

"My husband had a cough for fifteen years and my son for eight years. Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured them, for which I am most thankful," writes Mrs. David Moor, of Saginaw, Ala. What Dr. King's New Discovery did for these men, it will do for you. Dr. King's New Discovery should be in every home. Stops hacking coughs, relieves grippe and all throat and lung ailments. Money back if it fails. All druggists. Price 50 cents and $1. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

GEORGE W. VANDERBILT DIES IN WASHINGTON.

George W. Vanderbilt, 52 years old, multimillionaire, philanthropist and sportsman of international reputation, died in Washington Friday afternoon from heart failure, following an operation for appendicitis Tuesday. His death came suddenly.

George Washington Vanderbilt was the youngest and probably the least known of the sons of the late William H. Vanderbilt. He never took an active part in business and finances where other members of the family gained wealth and distinction. He was a student and a traveler, and his chief interest was his magnificent estate at Biltmore, near Asheville, where he spent the greater part of his time.

Mr. Vanderbilt was born in the old Vanderbilt home at New Dorp, Staten Island, November 14, 1862. In 1885 he became interested in the mountain region of western North Carolina and by successive purchases he accumulated an estate of 100,000 acres on the French Broad river, and laid out there a vast park and erected buildings on a scale which seldom has been equaled in this country. Mr. Vanderbilt devoted most of his time to the personal supervision of this estate. In the valley he built a model town and called it Biltmore. His farms were filled with blooded stock, and he devoted thousands of dollars to the scientific conservation of the forests which covered the greater part of his property.

George Vanderbilt's fortune was never a factor in Wall street. He was supposed, however, to be one of America's wealthiest men. He had a number of charities, and he spent money without stint upon the development of his mountain estate.

SENATOR SIMMONS SAYS THE PEOPLE NOW RULE.

Washington, March 6.—An old-fashioned partisan debate on one year of Democratic rule today almost completely obliterated consideration of the woman suffrage constitutional amendment in the senate. Senator Works, Republican of California, culminated in an attack on its Mexican policy as hopeless. Senator Simmons avoided stirring up this delicate matter by limiting his reply to legislative accomplishments. He resented particularly the remark that Congress had been deprived of its function by executive dictation and caucus rule.

"There was a time when caucuses defeated the will of the people," said Senator Simmons, "but that was when Wall street and special interests controlled them. The greatest achievement of Woodrow Wilson is in the fact that he has restored representative government in this country; that he has taken the government out of the hands of those special interests and laid it once more in the hands of the people; and that the people rule not only at the ballot box but in the United States senate."

The arraignment of Democratic rule by Senator Works, Republican of California, culminated in an attack on its Mexican policy as hopeless. Senator Simmons avoided stirring up this delicate matter by limiting his reply to legislative accomplishments. He resented particularly the remark that Congress had been deprived of its function by executive dictation and caucus rule.

Reformation in Madison County.

A press dispatch from Marshall, the county seat of Madison county, says: "Criminal court convened here Monday morning with Judge Justice presiding. In his charge to the grand jury he congratulated the county on the wonderful reformation that has taken place in the county, the great decrease in crime and higher respect for the law. He referred to the time when he held court in this county before, when distilleries and bar rooms were scattered over the county, when this county was known as 'bloody' Madison, when the criminal court docket was always congested, and compared with present conditions. The grand jury was in session for less than five hours and completed its work and was discharged."

Texas Governor Willing to Fight.

Governor Colquitt, of Texas, announces that he has wired the Mexican federal authorities in the state of Nuevo Leon, Mexico, for the requisition of Apolinario Rodriguez and the five Mexicans charged with kidnapping Clemente Vergara, an American citizen, who was afterward killed. The requisition is based on a charge of horse theft. Governor Colquitt, discussing his action, said:

"I have just begun my fight to uphold the rights of the citizens of Texas. To say I am going the limit to protect the Americans in Texas from any harm from foreign invasions but mildly expresses it."

Returns Fees to County.

H. W. Masten, formerly register of deeds of Forsyth county, has agreed to turn back to the county $4,331.48, the same being a total of fees collected and not included in settlements during his four years in office. Masten is a Republican and a suit is pending in Superior court against him for $2,500 received by him for making out tax books, which counsel for the county contended to be entitled to receive and which was allowed by former county commissioners.

Special "Health Warning" For March

March is a trying month for the very young and for elderly people. Croup, bronchial colds, lagrippe and pneumonia are to be feared and avoided. Foley's Honey and Tar is a great family medicine that will quickly stop a cough, check the progress of a cold, and relieve inflammation and congested air passages. E. C. Rhodes, Middleton, Ga., says: "La grippe gave me a hacking cough for which I got no relief until I took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and was soon well of both cough and cold." Conyers & Sykes.

CAUGHT BY A POSTAL TRAP.

The "Twopenny Detective" Is Often Employed in England.

Detectives, lawyers' clerks and others often experience great difficulty in obtaining an undoubted specimen of a certain person's signature. In one case recourse had to be had to a marriage register. In another the only signature procurable was on the fly leaf of a book which the suspect had presented to a relative, and only two or three years ago a testimonial to a sea captain was brought into court, because among the signatures to it was one for which the police had long hunted in vain.

One of the most common expedients resorted to for overcoming this difficulty is employing the "twopenny detective"—that is, sending a registered letter to the person whose signature is wanted. And this is frequently successful. Thinking the postal packet contains money or valuables, the addressee unsuspectingly signs the receipt only to discover that inside the envelope there is nothing but a "faked" letter.

This trap once caught an anonymous letter writer—a woman—who, on being interrogated shortly before, had declared that she could not write, and whose friends believed her to be illiterate. It was, in fact, mainly instrumental in getting her six months' imprisonment.

The receipt for a registered letter, it should be carefully noted, is not given up to anybody, but can be obtained only in certain cases to further the ends of justice.—London Tit-Bits.

Vicious.
Molly—So you are really engaged at last? I'm awfully glad to hear it.
dear! Angelina—Yes, I was sure you would be; you may have a chance now!

Truth may work mightily, though in the hand of the sorriest instrument—Schiller.

All Blood Disorders Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all typified in S. S. S. Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They know from painful experience.

To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S., the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.

This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.

In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are observed. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.

From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S., and insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 295 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "Just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

JUST A LITTLE ADVICE

By GRACE SCHWEBS.

"I've been intending to come and see you ever since you got back from your wedding trip," began the caller, who was considerably older than the bride and whose cards were labeled "Miss."

"How nice!" murmured the bride in a slightly vague tone. She was still in the throes of horror that rack a pretty girl who has been discovered in a dusting apron and cap and who has the profound conviction that there must be smudges on her face. "We got back so recently—we hardly expected—"

"Oh, I know!" said the caller, sympathetically. "You aren't formally at home for a month yet, according to your cards, but I knew you wouldn't mind me, even if you weren't settled. I'd love to help you! People think I have pretty good judgment about hanging things and all that! Are you going to have that picture there? My dear, don't you see the greens in it jar with—"

"It goes out in the other room," explained the bride. "The paperhangers haven't finished and we set it here temporarily—"

"Oh!" cried the caller in a little crescendo wail as she peered into the room in question. She shook her head gently and sadly. "It's too bad," she murmured, "that somebody didn't warn you before you picked out that brown paper! It went out last spring and you should have used the putty tones. It's really a crime when you want everything right up to date. You should phone them right away to change it."

"But all our things look better against a brown background," protested the bride. "And I hate that dull putty shade! And Jack—"

"My dear," said the caller, shaking a finger archly at her. "I know Jack—I knew him years and years before he even knew you were on earth, and don't you begin by letting him decide things! Jack is quite a dear boy, but he is apt to be tyrannical! Why, that was the very reason we—I—that is, there's no use bringing up past history, is there, dear? Oh, I remember when Jack bought that plaster head over there! He rushed right to me with it, he was so delighted! He said the profile was exactly the same as mine! He has such a way of imagining things! Only I do think it is like my nose—did you ever notice?"

"No," said the bride, a trifle stiffly. "I can't say that I ever did! I didn't know you were such a close friend of Jack's!"

"Naughty!" murmured the caller, a bit consciously. "I should have supposed a man would have told his wife everything! Why, Jack was at our house morning, noon and night in those days! Oh, isn't it a shame you got so many lamps for wedding presents! They are expensive, of course, but they don't match—the lamp shades should tone in, shouldn't they? How awful to have to live in a room with a rose and a yellow and a blue and a brown electric light! It positively sets your teeth on edge! And it must grate on Jack—he's so sensitive to color effects! It's odd you never noticed it before I pointed it out—"

"Positively Sets Your Teeth on Edge."

"I can't very well smash them," said the bride, rather indignantly. "They were gifts. And they really are very lovely. When we get up these hangings—"

"Let's get all these old rags out of the way—my goodness, these are never your hangings!" cried the caller in a pained voice. "Well, every one has her own ideas. They must have come from Egypt and all that, but—and, my dear, what are you ever going to do with all those embroidered luncheon sets that I noticed among your wedding presents?"

"Now I must run along, for I'm sure you want to get dressed and respectable looking before Jack comes home. Tell him I've so enjoyed my little chat with you! I'm sure you can be contented in this apartment if you make up your mind to be. There's everything in that! I'll run in again soon, because I'm sure I can help you make things look lots better! Good-by, dear!"

"Good-by," breathed the bride. Then she hastily ran into the back room and, picking up the plaster head with a profile like her caller's, with great precision and dispatch she crammed it into the waste-basket and smashed it with the pump handle removed from her left foot.—Chicago Daily News.

ALIENS QUICK TO GET AMERICAN VIEWPOINT.

Striking Illustrations Offered by Iowa College Professor.

Disagreeing with former President Roosevelt's opinion that there is such a radical difference between the oriental and occidental types of mind that America can never assimilate the orientals, Professor Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell college, Iowa, offers some interesting illustrations.

"I know a young Chinese," said Professor Steiner, "who was sent here to be educated as a missionary. When he returned home after a number of years in America he was asked to participate in a church service as an assistant. He found that he hadn't learned the service thoroughly, and he asked the presiding clergyman the rather rough question, 'Say, bishop, where do I butt in on this?'"

"This young man's mental processes surely had gained the American quality of directness and lack of ceremony. 'I saw some immigrants at a pier in Italy waiting for a steamship that would bring them to this country. One family, I could tell, had been here before. I knew this because the man, not the woman, carried the bundle.'"

"Why are you going back?" I asked the father. 'I tell you, boss,' he said, 'I was in Pittsburgh and work very hard there. But the big boss he passes me and he says, 'Hello, Mike, how's the wife and kiddos?' Now I got a good home here, but nobody says 'Hello, Mike,' so I go back to Pittsburgh.'"

"I happen to have been born a Slav. Yet today I think no Slav could recognize in me any of the Slav traits or characteristics. When I came here I soon found every nerve center in me being built over. 'I have seen young Slavs at work in gymnasia in the middle west who deceived the minister of education of their own country. When I showed them to him he said they could not be Slavs because the Slavs were docile and not athletic. So I called a boy over and introduced him, using his own language, to the minister. He put out his hand, shook the hand of the minister with a good deal of force and said, 'Howdy, minister? I'm glad to meet you.' In that one sentence was a whole story of what America is doing for the new immigrants."

WORST SCHOOL LED STATE.

Story of How Crazy Mountain Pupils Won Wild Flower Contest.

An interesting story of how the children of Crazy Mountain schoolhouse in Montana won first prize and the blue ribbon for the best collection of wild flowers, pressed and mounted, at the state fair at Helena is told by the federal bureau of education.

The schoolhouse is just a 10 by 12 shack, the bureau says, and is about as poorly equipped as a schoolhouse could be. The teacher's desk is a plank nailed to two sticks and set against the wall for support. The children have desks discarded as useless by other schools, and they sit on seats that are held up by sticks nailed to the floor or on boxes. Few have books.

Despite these handicaps the pupils set about to win the prize. They picked the flowers from the mountain sides, lowlands and meadows and placed them in books and magazines. In the absence of a flower press they sat on the books. After the flowers had been mounted the collection was sent to the state fair.

STEEL TRUST TO RUN FARM.

Employees to Be Supplied From 12,000 Acreage in Ohio.

The United States Steel corporation, according to its officials, will shortly have in operation the first co-operative farm in the United States for supplying foodstuffs as far as possible to all of its employees. Land owned by the steel corporation east of Conneaut, O., which was bought in 1909 with a view to erecting a gigantic steel plant, will be utilized. This undertaking was abandoned, and the big acreage was turned into a stock grazing and vegetable farm.

Arrangements are being completed to supply all the lake freighters with foodstuffs produced on the farm. As rapidly as possible the numerous subsidiaries of the corporation in the central states will be included in the list until the farm, 12,000 acres in extent, is supplying a large portion of the corporation's employees.

Strange Facts About Sleep.

No scientist can explain what sleep really is. Most human beings sleep on their sides, with the knees drawn up; elephants always and horses commonly sleep standing up. Bats sleep head downward, hanging by their hind legs. Birds, with the exception of owls and the hanging parrots of India, sleep with their heads turned tailward over the back and the beak thrust among the feathers between the wing and body. Storks, gulls and other long-legged birds sleep standing on one leg. Ducks sleep on open water. To avoid drifting shoreward they keep paddling with one foot, thus making them move in a circle. Sloths sleep hanging by their four feet, the head tucked in between their fore legs. Foxes and wolves sleep curled up, their noses and the soles of their feet closed together and blanketed by their bushy tails. Hares, snakes and fishes sleep with their eyes wide open. Owls, in addition to their eyelids, have a screen that they draw sideways across their eyes to shut out the light, for they sleep in the daytime. No one knows whether insects sleep or not. Man is the only animal that ever sleeps on its back.—New York World.

He Capitulated.

His wife met him at the door. His dinner had been waiting for thirty minutes, but she was smiling sweetly. Her hair was done up in a becoming style, and she looked ten years younger than usual.

She put her arms around his neck, drew his head down and kissed him sweetly.

"Give me your hat and coat," she said. "I will hang them away, for I can see that you are tired. Have you had a hard day at the office, dear?"

"Yes," he replied. "I'm all fagged out."

"I'm sorry. But never mind. I feel sure that things will take a turn for the better soon. I've got a surprise for you—the maid has prepared a nice chicken stew, the kind you like so well. Shall I run upstairs and get your slippers?"

"Never mind, little woman," he replied, pushing his hand into his pocket, "how much do you want?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Britain's Conscience Fund.

Much more money has been sent anonymously to the British government's conscience fund than to that of the American government. The first recorded payment of this kind was the sum of $1,800, sent to Pitt in 1789, with a letter requesting him to apply the money "to the use of the state in such manner that the nation may not suffer by its having been detained from the public treasury. You are implored to do this for the cause of conscience to an honest man." Nearly every year since then the chancellor of the exchequer has received a certain amount of conscience money. In 1841 the chancellor received $70,000 from a person who stated that he had engaged in smuggling for many years, and that this sum represented all his profits therefrom. One year the conscience money forwarded by British taxpayers totaled $80,000.

Two Wits and a Street.

Craven street, Strand, London, once produced quite a competition among epigrammatists. James Smith, one of the authors of the "Rejected Addresses," who died there in 1839, wrote: In Craven street, Strand, ten attorneys find place. And ten dark coal barges are moored at the base. Fly, honesty, fly; seek some safer retreat. For there's craft on the river and craft on the street.

To which Sir George Rose retorted: Why should honesty fly to some safer retreat. From attorneys and barges, 'd not 'em. For the lawyers are just at the top of the street. And the barges are just at the bottom.

"The Finest Speech In English."

The finest speech in English of the last half century was delivered at Gettysburg—a speech made by a man who was born a country farmer and a district lawyer—which ranks among the glories and the treasures of mankind. I escape the task of deciding which is the masterpiece of British eloquence by awarding the prize to Abraham Lincoln.—Lord Curzon at Cambridge University.

SIX VALUABLE FARMS FOR SALE

Pursuant to a decree of the Superior court of Guilford county made in the case of J. Lee Charles and others vs. W. L. Charles and others, the undersigned will sell, at what is known as the home place of the late G. W. Charles, in Deep River township, Guilford county, N. C., to the last and highest bidder, by public auction, on the terms of one-third of the purchase money in cash, one-third in six months, and the balance in twelve months, with interest on deferred payments, from date of sale till paid, at the rate of six per cent. per annum, at 11 o'clock A. M.

Monday, March 23, 1914, The hereinafter described lands, the first four tracts lying and being in Deep River township, Guilford county, N. C., and the two last tracts partly in Guilford and partly in Forsyth counties, and located a short distance from the first four tracts.

FIRST TRACT: Commencing at a stone in what is known as the Salisbury road, and in the line between the lands to be sold and the lands of C. A. Reynolds, and in a northeasterly direction from the home place of the late G. W. Charles and running thence north 42 degrees 15 minutes east 2.50 poles to a stone; thence north 62 degrees west 19.75 poles to a stone; thence north 2 degrees 30 minutes east 5.35 poles to a stone; thence south 74 1/4 degrees west 2.75 poles to a stone; thence south 59 degrees 15 minutes west with Ide's line 9.50 poles to a stone; thence south 8 degrees 58 minutes west 29.25 poles to a stone in the Salisbury road; thence south 61 degrees 15 minutes west with the said Salisbury road 6.42 poles to a stone in the north side of said road; thence south 28 degrees 30 minutes east 5.50 poles to a white oak; thence north 76 degrees 18 minutes east 14.14 poles to a stone; thence north 71 degrees 30 minutes east 26.40 poles to a stone; thence north 15 degrees west 5.91 poles to a stone; thence north 11 degrees 28 minutes west 9.37 poles to the beginning, containing 93.67 acres.

SECOND TRACT: Lies just north-west of and adjacent to the tract just above described, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a stone on the north side of Salisbury road, in a westerly direction from the old home place, running thence north with said road 60 degrees east 6.22 poles to a stone in the north side of said road; thence north 61 degrees 15 minutes east 6.42 feet to a stone in the north side of said road; thence north 8 degrees 58 minutes east 29.25 poles to a stone in Ide's line; thence north 85 degrees west 15 poles to a stone; thence south 1 degree west 36.37 poles to the beginning, and containing 41.69 acres, more or less.

THIRD TRACT: Lies south of and adjacent to the two tracts hereinafter described, and begins at a stone in the north side of the Salisbury road in a northwesterly direction from the home place, and runs thence north 51 degrees 15 minutes east 5.62 poles to a stone in the north side of the Salisbury road; thence north 60 degrees east 6.22 poles to a stone in the north side of Salisbury road; thence south 28 degrees 30 minutes east 5.50 poles to a white oak; thence north 76 degrees 18 minutes east 14.14 poles to a stone; thence south 10 degrees 20 minutes east 38.32 poles to a stone in the southern line of the Charles land and the line between the Charles land and the Mendenhall land; thence north 87 degrees 28 minutes west 13.24 poles to a stone; thence north 29 degrees 14 minutes west 21 poles to a stone; thence north 37 degrees 38 minutes west 16.25 poles to the beginning, containing 70.25 acres.

FOURTH TRACT: Beginning at a stone in the Yow and Charles line, same being the southeasterly point of the Charles land, running thence north with Yow and Willard 4 degrees 28 minutes east 25.40 poles to a stone; thence north 32 degrees 4 minutes east 16.10 poles to a stone; thence north 41 degrees 52 minutes west 9.09 poles to a stone; thence south 71 degrees 30 minutes west 26.40 poles to a stone; thence south 10 degrees 30 minutes east 38.32 poles to a stone in the Mendenhall and Charles line; thence south 87 degrees 28 minutes east 13.30 poles to the beginning, containing 85.75 acres more or less.

These four tracts will first be offered separately, and after that the first and second tracts will be offered together as one tract; and next, the third and fourth tracts will be offered together as one tract; and after being thus offered, the four will be offered as a whole; and the manner in which the greatest sum is realized will be reported to the court for its action. There will be next sold, in two parcels, what is known as the third acre tract, lying partly in Guilford and partly in Forsyth county. This will be sold first in two parcels. Tract No. 1 is bounded as follows:

Beginning at a stone, the south-westernmost corner of the three-acre tract, running thence north 7 degrees 26 minutes east 14.20 poles to a stone; thence north 25 degrees west 15.21 poles to a stone; thence south 61 degrees 30 minutes east 7.25 poles to a stone; thence south 4 degrees 30 minutes west 14.41 poles to the beginning, containing 13.3 acres.

SECOND TRACT: Lies just north-east of and adjacent to the preceding tract, and beginning at a stone, the end of the first call in the preceding boundary; running thence north 73 degrees 26 minutes east 6.90 poles to a stone; thence north 4 degrees east 9 poles to a stone; thence north 44 degrees seven minutes west 8.80 poles to a stone; thence north 86 degrees west 6 poles to a stone; thence south 22 degrees 30 minutes east 3.75 poles to a stone; thence south 78 degrees 30 minutes west 2.75 poles to a stone; thence south 25 degrees east 15.21 poles to the beginning, containing 15.40 acres.

After offering the last tracts above described in two parcels, bounded as just hereinbefore set out, the said two tracts will be offered as one tract, and the manner in which this land shall bring the best price will be reported to the court for action.

The tract known as the thirty-acre tract is mostly in original forest. The other tracts, while not heavily wooded, contain sufficient wood and timber, of various kinds for necessary farm purposes, including fuel, etc. Both tracts lie in a prosperous farming community, with good church and school facilities, and some four miles from High Point on the headwaters of Deep River.

Detailed information may be had by applying to either of the undersigned.

HIS PINK CARNATIONS

By JULIA TRUITT BISHOP.

They both knew that the reception of the season had been a failure. They had quarreled between the last stroll and the buffet lunch—that was patent to everyone.

"Here are your flowers," he said, holding them in his lap. "You were about to leave them—quite by accident, of course."

She laughed at him lazily and shrugged her shoulders. It was a pity to spoil such pretty shoulders with such an unpleasant shrug.

He closed the carriage door. His way happening to lead in the same direction, he walked after her, watching the carriage angrily.

Half a block down the street something bright flashed out of the carriage window and dropped on the crossing.

She had thrown his flowers away.

Pink carnations. He had bought them for her a few hours ago with what feelings of love and of pride in her beauty; and now—once more they were at enmity and she had shown everyone how little she cared. His flowers were in the street.

He turned unsteadily at the crossing and started toward them—to gather them up, out from under the passing wheels, as though they were human and could suffer. But someone else was before him. He heard a little gasping cry of delight and a figure stooped over the fallen flowers and rose up with the whole bunch clasped eagerly to her breast.

He saw her face for a moment—the face of a pale girl, flower-starved—and then she went on and was lost in the crowd.

Duncan Lane passed on his way in altered mood, brushing angrily at a irritating moisture that made his eyes burn.

Gwendolen has had the world and the fullness thereof all her life," he said to himself. "It is easy for her to throw things away."

Two days later he was going back to the beautiful apartments which had once been a pleasure to him and which had now grown to be bitterness of spirit. In the elevator was the quiet girl who had a room, or rooms, on some one of the floors above him. He had seen her many times—every day, almost—but he had never really noticed her. He would not have noticed her now, perhaps, but that a sudden jerk of the elevator almost threw her down and as he caught her arm he saw the half-withered pink carnation pinned to the bosom of her black dress.

Then he remembered. She had run out into the street to pick up the flowers his love had thrown away.

"You are sure you are not hurt?" he inquired anxiously.

She was not hurt in the least, she said—it had been the merest little jar. The trifling accident had made him feel that he had a right to speak to her.

"I see that you love flowers," he said, looking at the forlorn carnation. Her face flushed a rosy red.

"Yes—I found this in the street," she said, with childish candor. "I couldn't have afforded to buy them."

The elevator had gone past his floor. Now it went past her's and sped up higher.

"Was this one all?" he found time to ask as the elevator paused under the roof. She answered him quite seriously.

"Oh, no—there was a whole, great, generous bunch of them. I have them in water in my room. But you know—I thought I might allow myself just one every day, to wear while I was at work. It keeps things from seeming so—so sordid, you know."

"And when they wither you will have to throw them away," he said.

She turned on him with amazement.

"Why, I wouldn't dream of such a thing," she cried. "I shall put them away in my desk and keep them always. They'll make pleasant memories, you know—and pleasant memories are not so abundant that one can afford to throw them away."

Down in his own beautiful rooms Duncan Lane leaned back in an easy chair and looked at the carnation lying on the table. A letter lay beside it—a letter that had been awaiting his coming.

With an impatient sigh he opened the letter and read:

"Well, you unreasonable creature, if you have sulked sufficiently and are duly sorry you may come up to-morrow evening and take me to the theater and to a supper at Feretti's afterwards. Be sure that you have your prettiest apologies ready. Forgive me."

"My Dear Gwendolen," he wrote. "I have gone after the flowers which you threw away. We have both gone so far—the flowers and I—that it wouldn't be worth while for us to try to go back."

Miss Gwendolen D'Arcy was forced to tell her friends in the Land of the Sky, a few months afterwards, that the latest comers were Duncan Lane and his bride, and that she didn't consider Mrs. Lane at all stylish, though many people considered her a rather nice-looking little thing.

Trapped the Witness.

Nearly every murder trial has its tense moments when every eye is on the witness in the box. A man named Hardy was on trial, and a witness swore most persistently that the prisoner had been in his company at the time the murder was committed.

"Are you quite certain of the exact time?" asked the prosecuting counsel.

"Certain," replied the witness.

"How are you so sure about it?"

"We were in the Bear public house and I saw the time by the clock in the bar," said the witness. "It was twenty-seven minutes past 9."

"You saw that clock yourself?" asked the counsel.

"Yes."

Suddenly counsel turned around and, pointing dramatically to the clock in the bar, said: "You see that clock? What is the exact time by it?"

The witness became ghastly pale, gasped and was silent. He looked helplessly at the counsel and then at the clock. He had been lying, for he could not tell the time.

The prisoner was condemned.—London Globe.

"The" in England.

D'Annunzio, an excellent English scholar himself, likes to tell the following story: One day Mme. Ida Rubinstein's maid when handing him a cup of tea—D'Annunzio's favorite beverage, and one whose many merits he has mentioned in his works—ventured to ask whether tea was not a very popular drink in England. She had gathered that it was, she said, by looking through English novels.

"What! Do you know English?" asked the poet, surprised at such erudition.

"No," said the ingenious maid. "But when I turn the pages of the novels I read at every second line the word 'the.' It is awful to think of the amount of it that must be drunk in England."

"And what did you say, dear master?" the hearers of the anecdote never fail to ask.

"I told her," says the poet, with a smile, "that it is certainly an article very much in favor in Great Britain."

Just Right For Backache and Rheumatism.

Foley Kidney Pills are so thoroughly effective for backache, rheumatism, swollen, aching joints, kidney and bladder ailments that they are recommended everywhere. A. A. Jeffords, McGraw, Neb., says: "For the last few months I was troubled with pains in my back and the druggist recommended Foley Kidney Pills for my ailment. I have not yet taken all of one bottle and my old trouble has entirely disappeared."

Lost Articles in Railroad Wrecks.

Did you ever stop to think what might become of your grip, coat or other belongings if you were caught in a wreck? The shock felt after a railroad accident is usually so great that material things in connection with it are lost sight of. Naturally the first thought is of the recovery and identification of those injured. The identification part is not always easy, and sometimes has been accomplished by some piece of personal property. After the humane work of caring for the injured has been done, it devolves upon the railroad company to clear away the debris. Frequently the quickest and least expensive way to do this is to burn it, but before this is possible every effort is made to recover lost personal property. The value of this often runs up into many thousands of dollars. In one eastern city there was recovered and returned to the owners between $10,000 and $50,000 worth of personal property.—Leslie's.

Oddities of Human Skin.

Human cuticle reacts peculiarly to stimuli. The makers of billiard balls test the smoothness of the finished article by rubbing it against the cheek. Certain areas of the tongue are very sensitive to different flavors, while about an inch from the tip is a little patch which is the precise spot to dump objectionable medicine, for in that region the sense of taste is absent. If one marks on the cheeks of the arm a little space and test it with the warmed head of a pin, some spots will feel just pressure, others warmth and pressure. And if one has a little red ink on the pin he can mark out just where these "warm spots" are. In fact, the cuticle seems a mosaic of "warm" and "cold" spots. And there is said to be a place above the knee where one can drive a pin without pain.

Bertie's Tramp.

"You had a story not long ago about the supreme impudence of a tramp at the back door," writes Bertie H. "Let me give you another from actual observation. A hobo hammered rudely at the rear of the house the other morning, and I answered in person."

"Well, what do you want?" I demanded curtly.

"Why, I ain't pertickler, partner," he smiled. "What you got?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A PRESENT

Fine $2.00 Wall Map Given FREE to Subscribers To the Patriot

We have made arrangements with the publishers of one of the best wall maps ever produced that enables us to offer one of these maps absolutely free to every subscriber to The Patriot. The standard price of the map is $2—and it is well worth the money, but while the supply lasts we shall make a present of one of these maps to every person who pays $1.50 for a year's subscription to The Patriot and asks for a map. This offer is open to both old and new subscribers. All you have to do is bring or send to The Patriot office $1.50 for either a new or a renewal subscription to the paper for one year and the map is yours for the asking.

THE MAP.

The map is a mine of learning and information. It is 25x39 inches in size and contains more valuable and useful information than any other map. On one side we have a complete, up-to-the-minute map of the United States in bright colors, showing the cities, railroads, rivers, large cities, etc. It also shows portraits of our 27 presidents and lives their biographies.

On the reverse side we have a map of the world, printed in a deep ebony black. White and colored lines differentiate countries, rivers, lakes, cities and mountains. You never saw a map as black, as beautiful, as wonderfully enlightening as this map of the world. From this you may, in a single day, learn more than you could in a year's study of books.

Contrasting with the ebony black of the map, are the flags and the coats-of-arms of all nations, in their flashy, exquisite colors. Our own 17 flags are here in beautiful, bright colors—did you know that the United States had 17 different flags?

BIBLE INFORMATION.

And then there's that wonderful Bible information. How many books, chapters, verses, words, letters (as the Bible contain)? How many books are classified as history, poetry, law, prophecy, epistles? Which books are exactly alike? How many times is the name of our Saviour mentioned? In how many languages is our Bible published?

Wouldn't you want to know these things? And wouldn't you want to know the many, many other things this marvelous Map of Knowledge possesses? With this knowledge you will find yourself the equal of any in debates—you will rise above the ordinary. You will stump college professors; you will pass as a liberal education that is legal tender where gold is counterfeit and makes poverty laugh at the mint as you unlock the mysteries with the magic key of your wisdom.

The education obtained from these maps is more valuable than all the classics—it is the lever that will lift you to success.

FINALLY.

If you have any doubts as to the bona-fides of this offer, come to The Patriot office and let us show you the map. It speaks for itself—and as long as the supply lasts we will give one of these $2 maps to every person paying us $1.50 for a new or renewal subscription to The Patriot. Address

Paul's Personal Appearance.

All that we know of Paul's personal appearance from his own writings is found in 11 Cor. x. 10, which indicates that he did not possess the advantage of a distinguished or imposing presence. His stature was somewhat diminutive, his eyesight weak (see Acts xxi. 5, and Gal. iv. 15), nor did he regard his address as impressive. Much of this personal criticism, however, may have been the outcome of the apostle's desire to avoid magnifying himself or his own talents. A fourth century tablet represents him as venerable looking and dignified, with a high, bald forehead, full bearded and with features indicating force of character. One ancient writer says Paul's nose was strongly aquiline. All the early pictures and mosaics, as well as some of the early writers (among them Malalas and Nicephorus) agree in describing the apostle as of short stature, with long face, prominent eyebrows, clear complexion and a winning expression, the whole aspect being that of power and dignity. The oldest known portrait is the Roman panel of the fourth century, already referred to above.—Christian Herald.

Easy Solution.

"Say," said the "wise guy" to the patient listener, "did you hear about that fellow who came in on a South American liner the other day and nobody could make him understand any one of seventeen different languages? They even tried him with the deaf and dumb stuff, but he only shook his head and said nothing. Finally they had to send him back to the boat, and he'll probably spend the rest of his life sailing back and forth between here and South America, as nobody knows what country he comes from. I bet I could find where he hails from. Simplest thing in the world. Just get a collection of coins from all countries and place them before him one after another. When the right one came along he'd show his nationality right there. They all talk for money, you know."—New York Tribune.

Gravity of a Spinning Top.

A spinning top is kept from falling because of the speed with which it revolves. The attraction of gravitation is temporarily overcome by the centrifugal force produced by the rotation of the top when it is spun. Each part of the top is subject to the same centrifugal force as each other part at the same distance from the axis of rotation and to no greater force, so that there is no cause for the top being pulled in any particular direction by the force of gravity. As soon as the centrifugal force begins to lessen because of lessening speed of rotation the attraction of gravity begins to be exerted again and the top begins to wobble. When the spinning motion diminishes to such an extent that the attraction of gravitation becomes greater than the centrifugal force the top falls to one side.

Old Estimate of Field Hands.

The sixteenth century Earl of Warwick stayed the slaughter after the suppression of Kett's rising by an argument which shows how completely agricultural workers were regarded as mere "hands." Of the 20,000 insurgents who had encamped with Kett on Mousehold Heath 2,000 or 3,000 had been killed in the battle, the strength of the victors lying in German and Italian mercenaries. Kett himself was hanged from the walls of Norwich castle, forty-five others were hanged, drawn and quartered in the market place, and 300 in all are said to have been executed. Warwick checked the demand for increasing the number of victims by asking, "What shall we do, then, hold the plow ourselves, play the carters and labor the ground with our own hands?"—London Chronicle.

David Livingstone.

David Livingstone will always rank among the most illustrious of the African explorers. He was a real pathfinder and civilizer as well as a most devoted Christian and philanthropist. Upon his large and lasting fame there seems to be not a single blot. From the spot in Africa where he died, near Chitambos village, on the Malilano, Livingstone's body was in 1871 taken to England and deposited with high honors in Westminster abbey, the government bearing all the expenses of the elaborate funeral.

Two Views.

"What I want to see," said the reformer, "is a city that knows absolutely nothing of graft."

"That's just what I'd like to see," replied the ward politician. "Wouldn't it be a gold mine for the right parties?"—Washington Star.

Quite a Word.

What word is there in the English language the first two letters of which signify a male, the first three a female, the first four a great man, and the whole a great woman? Heroine.

The Uplift.

"I believe I'll go in for the uplift. Everybody ought to go in for the uplift, don't you think?"

"I s'pose so. What office do you want?"—Pittsburgh Post.

Bad Form.

Beggar—Kind sir, I'm hungry. Cholly Van Vliet But you certainly can't be intending to dine at this time of the evening in those clothes!—Yonkers Statesman.

General Need.

"By the way, old chap, I need a little money."

"You may consider yourself fortunate. I need a whole lot!"—Boston Transcript.
