PRIMARY TEACHERS MEET.

A State Organization That is Doing Effective Work.

The Primary Teachers' Association of North Carolina met in annual session at 9:30 o'clock last Thursday morning in the Curry building of the State Normal and Industrial College the attendance numbering nearly 100. The association membership embraces a great many of the primary teachers of the state from the first to the third grades, inclusive. The opening session was called to order by the president, Miss Leah D. Jones, the secretary, Miss Anna Meade Michaux, being at her desk. The first subject discussed was "First Steps in Reading," by Mrs. Elizabeth Bernard, of Asheville; Mrs. Johnson, of Salisbury, and Miss Hattie Eldridge, of Greensboro. "Language and Written Work," was next taken up by Miss Hattie Dull, of Winston, and Miss Mary Owen Graham, of Charlotte. Miss Julia Raines, of Greensboro, then made an interesting address on "Manual Training," and at the afternoon session "Nature Work" was discussed by Miss Emma Blair, of High Point, and Miss Etta Spear, of Goldsboro. Miss Tillman, of Salisbury, spoke on the subject of "School Gardening," and Mrs. M. O. Humphrey, of Goldsboro, and Miss O'Neal, of Greensboro, addressed the association on "Number Work."

At 5 o'clock that afternoon an address on "Music" was given by Miss Margaret Gannon, of Greensboro, and at night a social meeting was held, short addresses being made by President George S. Sergeant and Messrs. C. H. Ireland and C. M. Vanstout, of the city school board of Greensboro; Supt. W. H. Swift, of the city schools; Dean J. I. Foust, of the State Normal and Industrial College, and others. Friday morning the members of the association visited the schools of the city and vicinity, and a business meeting was held at 2:30, followed by a Round Table, "Motor Work" being discussed by Mrs. W. F. Robinson, of Durham; Discipline by Miss Edith Royster, of Raleigh, and Home Study by Miss Annie Wetmore, of Pomona.

All the teachers, those at home as well as those who came from other places, were enthusiastic over the success of this, the first meeting. They feel that the interchange of opinion and the comparing of notes were helpful in the extreme and that they can go back to their work better equipped than ever before for their work. So enthusiastic are they over the good realized from the meeting that they have decided to seek to enroll in the list of members every primary teacher in the state.

A special effort that was mapped out at the meeting here is the formulation of a definite line of nature study for the three grades of the primary department.

The time and place for the next meeting were left open and will be announced later by the executive committee.

The officers of the association are: Miss Leah Jones, of Greensboro, president; Miss Emma Blair, of High Point, vice president; Miss Mary Owen Graham, of Charlotte, secretary and treasurer. These officers with the following form the executive committee: Miss Hattie Eldridge, Miss Myrtle McMasters.

Virginia Contractors Will Build Reservoir

Greensboro's new twenty-million-gallon reservoir will be built by a Martinsville, Va., firm of contractors, S. S. Ordway & Co., the contract having been placed by the water and light commission Saturday, the price being $40,000. The reservoir will be built on an elevation about three quarters of a mile this side of Reedy Fork. A contract for the pipe line had already been let to the California Redwood Company, and work on both contracts will be pushed rapidly to completion. Even under the most favorable circumstances several months will be required to complete the plant, involving an expenditure of approximately $125,000.

Richard H. DeButts, the clever and capable ticket agent of the Southern Railway here, was united in marriage last week at Belleville, Ontario, to Miss Mattie Foster Jones, a charming young woman who had spent nearly a year in North Carolina. ## New Trial Begun in the Williams Case.

After a week had been spent in Federal court examining witnesses in the Williams case a mistrial was ordered yesterday because of the illness of a juror, Mr. T. J. Wilson, of Rockingham county, and forthwith a new jury was empaneled and the case begun anew without objection. Six of the original jurors, Messrs. M. H. Robertson, D. A. Murray, W. I. Witty, Noah H. Smith, James Smith and Thomas Goulet, and six new jurors, Messrs. J. R. Outchin, J. H. Rankin, A. C. Rankin, W. H. Rees, W. R. Land and W. H. Turner, all the latter from this city, comprise the new jury. The hearing of evidence followed promptly the completion of the jury, but some delay may occur because of the absence of witnesses who had already been discharged at the first hearing. A wagon load of records taken from the books of the internal revenue department, the railroad, express companies, etc., are to be considered in the hearing and two weeks or more will be occupied by the term, necessitating a postponement of the regular term of court beginning at Asheville next Monday.

Yadkin Man Loses a Leg in the Southern Railway Yards.

While wandering about the Southern Railway yards here Saturday evening under the influence of liquor, I. C. Warren, a young man from Huntsville, Yadkin county, lost a leg under a passing engine or train. No one witnessed the accident and it may remain a mystery as to just how it occurred, but when Warren was found a short distance west of the passenger station his leg had been nearly severed near the knee, and he was hurried to the Greensboro hospital, where amputation was made. Warren came here last week as a witness in the Federal court, and on Saturday had been to Winston, where he secured a supply of liquor. In a grip he carried at the time of the accident were two broken and two unbroken bottles of whiskey. Railroad employees who saw the man shortly before the accident say he was partially intoxicated then.

Furniture Manufacturers Meet.

The North Carolina Case Workers' Association was in session here Friday afternoon and night at the Benbow Hotel. Dr. W. S. Bradshaw, of High Point, is the president, and Mr. Charles Ragan, of High Point, is secretary. While it is called the "North Carolina Case Workers' Association," it is really an association of furniture manufacturers of the entire South. A goodly number of members were present at the meetings here and matters of moment to furniture manufacturers were discussed at length. Among the other business transacted was the election of delegates to the meeting of the National Case Workers' Association which will be held in Chicago on November 7. Those chosen were Dr. W. G. Bradshaw, of High Point; A. E. Tate, of High Point; W. P. Boatwright, of Danville.

Police Officers Exonerated.

The board of aldermen made a thorough and careful examination last night of the charges against several policemen charged with cruelty in making recent arrests and by a unanimous vote sustained the officers. A large number of witnesses were examined and it appeared to the board, after hearing all the cold facts in the case, that the officers were justified in their harsh treatment of Phillips and Loy, whose arrests gave rise to the charges preferred by Dr. Griffith. A recommendation that the officers be more careful in the future was disapproved by the board.

Superior Court News.

In the Superior court within the past week Annie G. Hardin was given $500.95 in her damage suit against S. A. Schloss. The case of J. M. Millikan vs. G. W. Denny, involving the right to use certain land adjoining their homes for alley purposes, was nonsuited and an appeal taken by plaintiff to the Supreme court. Charles David was awarded $500 damages for injuries received while engaged in the construction of the White Oak Mill. The case of Dean vs. Battle & Matthews has been before the court most of this week.

A twenty thousand dollar damage suit was instituted against the Southern Railway Company in Guilford Superior court Thursday by Col. John A. Barringer, attorney for Games C. W. W. Barringer, on account of the loss of a leg at High Point September 14th, when plaintiff's foot was crushed by the wheels of train No. 29 at High Point, necessitating amputation near the knee at the Junior Order Hospital in that town.

GREENSBORO TOBACCO MARKET.

MARKET REPORT.

The receipts on our market for the past week have been quite heavy, and, in fact, they have been heavier than we had expected, especially so during the latter part of the week, Saturday's sales lasting until the afternoon.

The quality of the tobacco was about in keeping with past offerings, which run from common to good medium for the majority of it, but prices on all grades have steadily advanced for the past week and are now at the highest points they have been at any time during the present season. We have, however, had a few good medium wrappers during the past week which were eagerly sought for at good prices; in fact, our buyers are very anxious for all grades of tobacco and are paying outside prices to get it.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO FARMERS.

After November 1st there will not be any sales on this market on Mondays, because of the fact that our warehousemen want to get out into the country and talk with the farmers. This is according to the action of the Greensboro Tobacco Association, and we believe it will be helpful to everybody.

F. M. Lee, of Oak Ridge, sold with us the past week.

J. W. Sutton, of Summerfield, was here the past week and got good prices for his tobacco.

George W. Lindsay was here twice the past week, which shows what he thinks of this market.

Jeff. Huffines says to tell you that we are all here and living and will be glad to see everybody any time.

Milton Cummings, a faithful patron of this market, was here with tobacco the past week and got more than he expected.

T. M. Webb, of Brown Summit, sold a curing of fillers here yesterday for $92.50 and was very much pleased with his prices.

A. E. Fryar, A. G. Rankin and Lee Davis were among the prominent farmers of this county who sold with us the past week.

James Strickland, James Kellam, J. H. and J. T. Sharp, of Rockingham, were among the good patrons of our market the past week.

Mrs. H. A. Hooper had tobacco on our floors the past week, and judging from the prices she got she is a better farmer than Mr. Hooper.

Mr. S. S. Phillips, of Oak Ridge, who is on the jury this week, sold a load of tobacco with us Monday and was very much pleased with prices.

Our warehousemen say that farmers have been highly pleased with prices the past week and are very much encouraged at the outlook and with their sales.

S. W. Cobb was here the past week with tobacco. His prices ranged from $5.90 to $22.50, making an average of over 12 cents. Mr. Cobb was very highly pleased.

Yancey B. Low, B. B. Low, R. A. C. Kernodle and Jno. E. Iseley, of Alamance county, were among the good farmers who sold with us the past week and realized fine prices.

H. R. Gerringer, W. L. Morton, J. L. Sheppard and Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Scott were among the Guilford county farmers who patronized us last week and went home highly pleased.

Frank Barber, Frank Roach, M. G. Bevil, J. T. Huffines and R. M. Huffines were among the good farmers who patronized us the past week from this county and went home happy.

E. R. Warren, who is a good farmer in the northern part of the county, sold with us last Saturday. His prices ranged from $6 to $29, and it is useless to say that he was highly pleased.

Hugh Sharp, S. H. Troxler, Roscoe Sharp, Sam Sharp, S. G. Williams, L. S. Thomas, T. P. Williams and W. J. Simpson were here the past week from Rockingham county and were very much pleased with prices.

A. W. Gant and Miss Ida Gant sold with us last Saturday. Their prices ranged from $7.50 to $28 per hundred, which made a very handsome average for them. They got more than they expected and were highly pleased.

T. M. Morgan, Alex. Inman, R. T. Shaw, Oscar McCanless, C. A. and J. W. Harris, J. W. Fargis, E. J. and Jas. Wilson, Lewis Miles and Miss Flora Gerringer were among the well pleased patrons on our market this week.

We had a large sale yesterday which was a very satisfactory one. We did not see a single pile taken in, nor did we hear a single farmer complain about prices. Everybody seemed to have gotten more than they expected. Our buyers want tobacco and are always willing to pay for it.

Mac Fitzgerald, a good colored citizen of the northern part of this county, was here with a load of tobacco for which he wanted $100. He was afraid he would not get it because it did not weigh out as much as he expected. However, when he got his check it amounted to $113.16, so it is useless to say that he went home almost shouting.

Dr. Charles D. McIver, president of the State Normal and Industrial College, reached home Monday morning after an absence of two months spent in Europe. State Superintendent J. Y. Joyner, who accompanied him on his tour abroad, went direct from Washington to Raleigh. Both gentlemen enjoyed their trip hugely and both have profited by the observance of educational methods in the countries they visited.

The Raleigh Post is the first paper at the capitol to denounce in unmeasured terms the peculiar graft that obtains there every time the city is filled with guests. The street car system, livery stables, restaurants, bootblacks and everyone else that doubles their rates to strangers on slight provocation all fall under the Post's lash and somebody is going to squirm. The Post has gone up against tough propositions before and it will not be worsted in this controversy, as every fair-minded man in the state will uphold it in its effort to correct an inexcusable abuse.

Dear Sir: The handsome residence of Oliver Childersleeve on Main street, Portland, Conn., was painted in 1888 with Devco and again in 1901.

There's 13 years; there are hundreds of such; the difficulty is to hear of 'em. Reminds us of another. The Farrington residence, Rockland, Maine, was painted Devco 21 years ago; the paint was in fair condition 5 years ago, when we saw it; don't know any more. Our agents (now, Messrs. Farrand, Spear & Co., know. Enclose a stamp, if you write 'em.

Yours truly,

The Buckhorn dam in the Cape Fear, recently completed at great cost, has already given rise to complaints from landowners who fear their property and health will be damaged. The dam has backed up the water in Deep River at Lockville, twelve miles distant, six and one-half feet. The electric plant which will be operated at the dam is yet to be installed.

Governor Glenn refuses to pardon W. R. Murray, who at the January term, 1905, of Durham Superior court, was tried for murder, convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to two years on the public roads of Durham county, but he modifies the sentence so as to permit Murray to serve his time in jail.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Paving Regulations Fixed—Telephone Franchise Wanted—Charges Against Police Officers.

Several important ordinances relating to street and sidewalk paving were passed by the Board of Aldermen in regular session last Friday night. In addition to this Dr. J. W. Griffith preferred charges of cruel treatment to a prisoner against Chief of Police Neeley and three other officers, an application for a franchise for the North State Telephone Company was made, and a lot of routine business transacted.

One of the most important ordinances passed at the meeting was one offered by Alderman Thompson, which provides that after the new vitrified brick pavement is put down on Elm street anyone taking up the pavement or any part of it shall be fined $50, and every brick so removed shall constitute a separate and distinct offense. It is provided, however, that in cases of extreme emergency the city may remove the pavement. This ordinance is passed in order that when the new pavement is put down it cannot be removed by putting down pipes, as is often done. Wherever the pavement is put down the street will have to be tunneled from the side in making connections of pipe instead of going down from the top of the street. The Board of Aldermen say that it is impossible to have a good street so long as it is constantly being torn up and carelessly replaced. This ordinance was unanimously adopted.

Alderman Hunter offered an ordinance which requires that hereafter all sidewalks laid on the city shall be of cement or granolithic, and that the sidewalks shall be of the standard width and style provided for by an ordinance already in force. Another ordinance was passed in this connection providing that the sidewalks of certain streets in the city should be required to be replaced as soon as the curbing is placed. The following streets are required to be paved with cement or granolithic, five feet wide: Mendenhall from West Market to Spring Garden; Morehead avenue from Spring Garden to Jackson; Cedar from West Market to Bellemead; Eugene from Sycamore to Walker avenue; Gaston from Davis to Forbis; Walker avenue from Mendenhall to city limits; Schenck from North Elm to Greene; Pearson from Gorrell to Douglas; Gorrell from Ashboro to Martin; Edgeworth from Bellemead to Greene; North Elm from Schenck to city limits; and Fifth avenue from Percy to Franklin.

The following streets are to have concrete sidewalks four feet wide as soon as the curbing is placed: Rankin from Mendenhall to Tate; Ashe from Washington to Gaston; Bragg from Ashboro to Martin.

Alderman Hunter, chairman of the street committee, stated that four concerns were now furnishing curb for the city and arrangements are being made for more.

Dr. J. W. Griffith came before the board and preferred charges against Chief of Police Neeley and Officers Causey, Glenn and Small, and after the reading of the charges they were referred to the mayor and city attorney with instructions to call a meeting of the board for an investigation of the charges. Dr. Griffith read the following as the charges against the officers: "To the Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

"Gentlemen: I hereby prefer charges against Chief of Police Neeley and Officers Glenn, Causey and Small, for cruel, unreasonable and uncalled-for treatment of a prisoner while in custody of said officers Sunday morning, October 8, 1905.

"I charge that said Officers Glenn, Causey and Small, after arresting one Tom Phillips, on South Elm street, near Washington, instead of calling the patrol wagon, taking the prisoner to the station house in a manner becoming the dignity of the law, and the city they represent, did seize and drag the said prisoner up South Elm street to near the Greensboro Electric Company's offices, exposing his nakedness and tearing his clothing, making the scene very objectionable and revolting to the numbers of people on the street at the time, and after such cruel and inhuman treatment, being retorted against by a citizen of the city, continued the same treatment without in any way trying to avert the same.

"I charge also that Chief of Police Neeley, while said prisoner was lying quietly on the ground, flat of his back, did seize him by the throat and choke him without reason or necessity.

"I charge further that Officers Small and Foushee, on the same date, on South Elm street, near the Southern Railway crossing, struck and otherwise unreasonably abused one John Lloyd, under arrest and a prisoner in their charge, and after same was handcuffed and in the patrol wagon, did choke and beat said prisoner with a 'bully' in such a shameful and brutal manner as to make the scene revolting and horrible in the extreme to the many ladies and gentlemen on the street, returning to their respective homes from church services."

Dr. Griffith said that in preferring these charges against the officers, he did it not on account of any ill feeling he bore towards the officers, but in order that the board might be informed of their conduct and steps taken to right the wrong.

E. D. Steele, of High Point, secretary and treasurer of the North State Telephone Company, made an application to the board for a franchise for his company to establish and maintain a telephone system in Greensboro, and upon motion the application was referred to a committee composed of Aldermen Harrison, Brandt and Wysong. The committee will report at a meeting to be held next Tuesday night.

P. D. Gold, Jr., asked that the board appoint a committee to confer with the County Highway Commission and Contractor Abbott in regard to extending West Market street to the city limits. A committee composed of Aldermen Thompson and Wysong was appointed.

Judge R. C. Strudwick appeared before the board and asked that a plank walk be put down on South Edgeworth from McGee to Washington street or south to Walker avenue. The request was not granted on the ground that the property-owners are required to keep the sidewalks in condition. Judge Strudwick said that South Edgeworth street was a "disgrace to any civilized community on the American continent."

Capt. J. W. Fry, chairman of the board of cemetery trustees, stated that in order to make the needed improvements at the cemetery three lots owned by Mrs. N. G. Jones are necessary. Capt. Fry proposed that the city issue its note for the amount of $1,020, the price of the lots, and pay for same out of money realized from the sale of lots at the cemetery. The keeper's house will be moved to the lots, which are in front of the cemetery.

Alumnae Bazaar and Chrysanthemum Show.

The local alumnae of Greensboro Female College are busy with preparations for the chrysanthemum show and alumnae bazaar to be given for the benefit of the college November 16, 17, 18.

This plan for raising $10,000 to be used in aiding the completion of the front of the building, was devised by the alumnae in their annual meeting at the last commencement in June. The local arrangements were entrusted to the alumnae of Greensboro, with the expectation that the alumnae throughout the state would co-operate with them in this important work.

The managers have not been disappointed in this expectation, for there have been many responses in the way of handsome pieces of handiwork and money contributions for the purpose of helping on the good cause. The alumnae of Winston, Raleigh, Newburn, Reidsville and other points, have united in their several communities to send handsome donations, while individuals here and there throughout the state have sent their tokens of loving interest in their alma mater. Nothing has been more gratifying or touching than the remembrance shown by members of the classes of '46, '48, '57, and other early dates in the history of the college. What a tribute from these daughters, whose temples, now adorned with the snow of many winters, come with their offerings to show their appreciation of the blessing which their alma mater has brought to their lives.

Doubtless there are some former students of the college who, owing to a change of name or of residence, have not received a notification of this plan. Should this notice come under their observation, we trust they will feel prompted to join with their sister alumnae in making the alumnae bazaar a grand success, worthy of the great old institution for whose benefit it is given.

Contributions from old students or other friends of the college may continue to be sent to Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson, Greensboro, N. C., up to the opening of the bazaar.

Children Bitten by Mad Dog.

Siler City Grit: A mad dog over about Cole's Store, Randolph county, bit two children Sunday morning, one of whom was Johnny Mann, the eight year old son of Mr. W. H. Mann, who received a severe bite in the mouth, tearing out several teeth. He was carried to Greensboro Monday and from there carried to some other place for treatment. The name of the other child was not learned. In its course the mad dog bit several other dogs. So far as we are informed the dog supposed to have hydrophobia is still at large and when last seen was near Causey.

A special sent out from Raleigh last Wednesday said: In the Supreme court this morning the damage suit of Col. W. H. Osborn vs. Col. Leach and the News and Observer was formally reported compromised and settled in that the defendants have agreed to pay $1,000 damages and all costs in the case, amounting to about another $1,000. It is understood that the $1,000 paid is to be divided among the counsel for the plaintiff. Col. Osborn insisting that all he wanted in prosecuting the case was vindication from the charges in the libelous article published.

To Meet in Greensboro.

An invitation extended by the various colored churches and educational institutions of Greensboro has been accepted by the colored Young Men's Christian Association of the United States to hold its sixteenth annual conference in this city and the meeting will be held November 30th to December 3rd, at which time delegates will be in attendance from all the associations of the country, besides prominent speakers and leaders among the colored people. It is estimated that there will be about 150 visitors and delegates here.

Mr. J. E. McKnight might appropriately be termed the "marrying squire," if his matrimonial docket were offered in evidence. He officiated at three weddings last week, two white and one colored couple availing themselves of his magisterial services. On Saturday evening he married Mr. James Pate and Miss Eva May Davis, both of Guilford county, at the home of Mr. Charles Morris in White Oak. The same evening he married Mr. John A. Forbis and Miss Pearl Freeman, both of the Marshall Mills. The groom is a son of Capt. J. W. Forbis, of eastern Guilford, and the bride is a daughter of Mr. Gaston Freeman.

E. M. Andrews, of Greensboro, N. C., has something new in the piano and organ trade. It pays to the purchaser 6 per cent. on their own account. Send for catalogue stating the price you want to pay, etc. (Mention this paper.) 43-2t.

It is expected that the new Catholic hospital on Summit avenue will be completed early in January, if not before. Delay in receiving material has hindered the work somewhat of late, but satisfactory progress is now being made.

So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at all druggists; price 50c.

THE AUTOCRACY IS DOOMED.

Appalled by Outburst of Russian Wrath the Czar Strikes Shackles From His People.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 26.—As the result of a series of special ministerial councils under the presidency of Count Witte, held to adopt measures to deal with the situation, the new national assembly of law and laws granting practical freedom of the press and of speech and meeting, will be promulgated forthwith.

Upon the peremptory demand of Prince Hilko, the minister of railroads, the budget covering the remuneration of railroad employees will be revised to meet the promises last spring. Unless this was done the prince announced that he would resign.

Count Witte, even in advance of the promulgation of his formal appointment as premier, completely dominates the situation.

Interesting details have been learned regarding Count Witte's interview with Emperor Nicholas last week, at which it was agreed that the time had come to limit the autocratic power and give the people a real share in the government of the empire.

The emperor asked Count Witte to speak frankly, and after listening to the statement's exposure of the situation, he appeared to be utterly unnerved by the deplorable state of affairs and cried out that he was weary of the struggle and left like leaving all and fleeing to Darmstadt, hence probably the origin of the report that the emperor was going abroad.

Count Witte, however, told the emperor that in his opinion not even a republic could now save Russia from anarchy. It was the emperor's duty to the people and the country to face the situation by meeting their wishes, namely, to abrogate the autocratic power and grant a constitution by creating a ministry responsible alike to the crown and the representatives of the nation. The emperor finally accepted, requesting Count Witte to draft a project which in skeleton form he approved last Sunday, when the count agreed to accept the premiership on condition that he could name the ministers and that they should report to his majesty only through himself as head of the cabinet.

RUSSIAN RAILWAY LINES TIED UP.

Strike Contagion Spreading—Entire Empire Resembles a Volcano.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 26.—Russia is practically isolated today from the rest of the continent of Europe as the international train service on all the lines have virtually ceased. The tie-up in the interior is more complete than yesterday. The only trains running are operated by the railroad battalions. The strike contagion is spreading. All classes of workmen are organizing similar strikes and industrial life in the country is coming to a standstill. The situation can not long continue. Either the workmen will soon be starved into submission, or pillage, with military interference and bloodshed on a large scale, are bound to follow.

At Moscow, 600,000 have already fought the strikers, whom they charge with taking the bread out of their mouths. In many cities, especially at Moscow, the question of food is becoming extremely serious. Collisions between troops and strikers are reported to have occurred at several places. At Ekaterinoslav, a regular pitched battle between soldiers and strikers was fought, and the city was left in darkness. But, as a rule, the revolutionary leaders are keeping their men in hand.

Communication by telegraph with many interior points is interrupted. The whole country is becoming alarmed and in St. Petersburg an impatient panic prevails. The boats and the Finnish trains, now the only means of escape, are crowded with people fleeing abroad. The situation here has grown much worse over night. The ranks of the 40,000 workmen from the mills and factories who joined the strikers yesterday were increased by 20,000 more this morning. All the employees of the port, 4,000 in number, walked out and 12,000 other men from the steel works left work in a body.

LIKE A BESIEGED CITY.

The inhabitants of St. Petersburg strive to find the capital resembling a beleaguered city. The shops in the Vasilostroy districts and in all the suburbs are closed, windows are boarded and barred, and mounted patrols are to be seen everywhere in the streets.

Except in the heart of the city, women are afraid to venture out. Workmen are gathering at all the places frequented by Father Gapon, but they are quiet, and the Cossacks have had no provocation to interfere. The general appearance of the town is menacing.

The prices of food have gone up, and the supply of beef is only sufficient for three days, but there are ample supplies of wheat and rye for two months. The emperor and the court at Peterhof are supplied by a warship from St. Petersburg. All the families who can afford it have laid in supplies and can stand a siege. The suffering is the heaviest on the poor who live from hand to mouth. All the bakers sold out their bread before noon. The meat dealers have been ordered by the revolutionists not to deliver meat to the troops, under pain of death, and consequently, the soldiers are living on canned food. The butchers have notified their patrons that the meat markets will probably be closed tomorrow because of lack of meat. All the St. Petersburg schools were closed today.

ALARM INCREASES.

During the afternoon, the alarm in St. Petersburg increased. The meat markets were raided by anxious purchasers and all the oil and candles were sold out. The people feared that the city would be plunged in darkness, but General Trepoff acted energetically. The troops took possession of the water, gas and electric light works, and a strong guard was placed around the treasury.

Jewelry stores sent their stocks to places for safekeeping, and the shopkeepers continued the work of boarding up their windows this afternoon.

During the afternoon, striking workmen began marching into the outlying districts and inviting their comrades to join them. The police and troops did not interfere, but by General Trepoff's orders, the spirit shops were closed. During the day the pharmacists formally struck.

The police are becoming frightened, many of them offering their resignations.

Reports from the interior say that the troops are moving a few trains, but with great difficulty. The strikers are tearing up the tracks.

Civil War in Russia Near.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—That the present situation cannot end without bloodshed, is the conviction prevailing in the higher government circles, which from moment to moment are expecting a conflict between the troops and the revolutionists in St. Petersburg and news of trouble in the provinces, especially at Kharkoff, which has been declared in a state of war. The governor of Kiev has been instructed to take all necessary measures to restore order, which the local government and the commander of the troops are unable to maintain.

One of the most prominent members of the Emperor's council received the Associated Press today and said with every evidence of deep emotion:

BLOOD-SHED ONLY CURE.

"The situation is a grievous and a painful one and I see no way out of it except by the employment of armed force. Please do not misunderstand me. I look upon the prospect with tears but it is becoming more and more evident that the troops will be compelled to fire. I can see no other possible outcome. The revolutionists and terrorists are absolutely bent on forcing a conflict upon us, and nothing we can do will satisfy them. The extension of the suffrage and the right of assembly will be nothing to them. They are determined to have bloodshed, and we cannot avoid the issue. It is a frightful disease from which Russia is suffering and, sad and painful as it is, the government must act with force."

WILD RUMORS IN CAPITAL.

During the afternoon the wildest rumors spread and the city was seized with a semi-panic. The students began to congregate at the University in the Vassili Ostroy district announcing that they intend to hold the building as the students of Kharkoff held their university against the military and to hold a big meeting tonight to which workmen of all the social grounds are invited. Warnings having been issued last night that the government would not permit revolutionary meetings at the universities and higher schools under the guise of students assemblies, General Trepoff despatched troops to surround the building. To add to the alarm, the strikers have succeeded in stopping the machinery of the electric light plant and the city is plunged in darkness.

TROOPS POURING IN.

Re-enforcements of troops are pouring into the city. The yellow cuirassiers, the Hussars, and the Omsk Regiment have arrived here from Tarko-Seio and six thousand soldiers are coming by water from Revel.

Several trains with military escorts have made their passage from Moscow, but the railroad tie-up is practically as tight as on yesterday. The government's railroad battalions are now exhausted. The last were sent to Moscow and Syzran last night.

The most alarming reports are circulating about affairs in the South of Russia. Private reports received here are said to confirm the stories of the mutiny on board the battleship Catherine II and the destruction by incendiaries of the battleship Patellemon formerly the Kniaz Potemkine, but the authorities do not confirm the rumors and telegrams of inquiry remain unanswered.

PEASANT UPRISING FEARED.

In the interior of Russia the people have neither mail nor newspapers and are the prey to the wildest stories of what is occurring. This is considered to be a bad side of the situation, as it is feared it may lead to peasant uprisings, which, in the absence of troops, might result in frightful excesses.

In some towns a reign of terror is reported to exist. At Minsk the people have shut up their houses, the governor having warned them not to venture in the streets at the peril of their lives.

LAST RAILROAD LINK BROKEN.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—The last link of the railroads binding the capital with the outer world was broken late at night when the Finland Railroad suspended service between St. Petersburg and the Finnish border. Telegraphic communication is still open, but there is a possibility that the cable operators may be compelled to join a general strike of telegraphers today. Up to the present there is a total absence of disorder.

RUSSIAN CRISIS AT HAND.

Rumble of Revolution Loud—Czar Cowers in His Palace and Does Nothing to Meet the Storm.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—While the day passed quietly, without bloodshed in the Russian capital, and while the city is outwardly calm, today's developments all indicate that a crisis is imminent. Although the streets are filled with troops, and re-enforcements are now pouring in from Finland, the government seems utterly powerless to cope with the situation, and many calm observers seem seriously to believe that the present regime is tottering to its fall.

Differences have developed between Count Witte and Gen. Trepoff, and while the precious moments pass, the Emperor, surrounded by the imperial family, remains shut up at Peterhof, seemingly still hesitating as to what course to pursue.

EVEN CZAR'S GUARDS WAVERING.

Grave doubts are expressed as to whether even the imperial guards can now be relied upon. Discontent is rife. Early this morning the Fourteenth and Eighteenth Equippage of sailors of the guard, who have been shut up like prisoners in barracks, on the Moska Canal, demolished the windows and furniture, and in the afternoon a detachment consisting of four officers of the guard went to the lawyers' assembly, and told the barristers that many officers and a large part of the troops were disgusted with the government, and ready to enlist in the movement for freedom. They asked for aid towards effecting organization and said they had discussed among themselves the questions of resigning, but decided to show that people in uniform could help to achieve liberties.

The foreign embassies have discussed the situation, but have as yet taken no steps regarding the safety of foreign residents. As a precaution the State department at Washington has been requested to confer with the British government for the charter of a vessel and to hoist on it the American flag as a refuge for Americans.

MOSCOW STORM CENTER.

Most interesting by far, however, is the news from Moscow, the real Russian capital, which, according to private reports, the municipal council and the committee of public safety are sitting continuously and where a struggle is momentarily expected between the "League of Russian Patriots," a reactionary organization led by the priests, and the newly organized militia, and students. The Moscow municipal council is also reported to have sent an ultimatum to the Emperor demanding the promulgation of a constitution.

Although it is impossible officially to confirm these reports, they seem to admit of no doubt that the anti-government forces have the upper hand.

The government is no longer in communication with the forces in the Far East except by cable by way of China.

CZAR HOPELESSLY WEAK.

The situation cannot well be exaggerated. With the present indecision of the Emperor, the government has neither a head nor a policy to meet the crisis, and things seem to be drifting toward anarchy. The revolutionists openly declare that the government has ceased to exist and that nothing remains to his majesty except to abdicate. With a firm hand at the helm and a rational policy, however, all might quickly be changed.

The strikers apparently are without funds and must soon be exhausted, as was made evident by the action of the strike committee here practically being forced to hold up the city for food.

Representatives of the Associated Press drove through all sections of the city today. Troops were everywhere in evidence as if to overawe the people, but although there are many rumors of bloody collisions, none of them could be authenticated. There were great crowds of workmen in the industrial quarters, but their behavior was orderly.

The Russian capital is like a city in the possession of a foreign army. Tonight again the soldiers are bivouacking in the darkened and otherwise deserted streets. The Nevsky Prospect alone is flooded by the glare of the great searchlight fixed on the spire of the admiralty building.

Danville Theatre Burned.

Raleigh Dispensary Sales.

PLAN TO COLLECT SOUTHERN BONDS.

Holders' Committee May Turn Over Some of the Repudiated Debts of Venezuela.

New York, Oct. 25.—On the ground that the international policy of the government with regard to the liability of South American republics to their creditors is inconsistent with repudiation of their bonds by the states of the Union, appeal has been made to President Roosevelt to force a settlement of the dispute between some Southern states and holders of bonds issued by the "reconstruction" state governments.

These bonds, amounting now to $40,000,000, in which the National government is interested to the extent of $1,500,000, were put out during the years immediately following the civil war, notably by North Carolina and South Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas and one or two other states.

The bonds having been repudiated on the ground that "carpet baggers" received the proceeds of them and that it is unjust to tax the people of the states concerned for payment of money for which they had little or no benefit. By the bondholders' committee, of which John G. Carlisle is chairman, other members being Jefferson M. Levy, Henry H. Melville and L. E. Wheeler, W. E. L. Andrews as counsel, it is maintained, however, that there is a moral as well as legal obligation on the part of these Southern states to pay off the bonds in question, and that it is to the national interest that this should be accomplished.

CHANCE FOR VENEZUELA.

To bring the matter to an issue, in case other means fail, it is announced that some of the repudiated bonds may be turned over to Venezuela in order that the South American republic may bring suit against one or more of the states of the Union, and thus give an object lesson of what the holders of the bonds regard as an inconsistency.

A letter, addressed to the President by Mr. Andrews, urges Mr. Roosevelt that he interfere to bring about a settlement of the dispute by arbitration before the bondholders are forced to resort to "forensic warfare of international proportions, with the consequent injury to these states."

Secretary Loeb has replied on behalf of the President that the subject will receive careful consideration. Mr. Andrews, however, is hopeful of more definite and speedy action than his reply would indicate. He said tonight he had received information from Washington that the President would discuss the matter in addresses he will deliver during the Southern trip.

SINISTER INTELIGENCE.

"The successful efforts made on behalf of these debtors," said Mr. Andrews in his letter to the President, referring to the Southern states whose bonds have been repudiated, "to defeat the recent arbitration treaties, introduced a sinister element throughout our public affairs. These communities entertain the well-founded apprehension that their bonds would pass into the hands of foreign governments and would thus become the subject of arbitration."

If this action, based upon such motives, be allowed to permeate the direction of our national policy, it may easily become detrimental to our amicable relations with other countries.

"It is a strange commentary on the proud position and high credit of our national government that its protection from foreign complications by treaty arrangements should be thwarted by some of its defaulting communities, apprehensive that arbitration would result by their creditors. In its efforts to apply the Monroe doctrine our government is placed in an awkward position by the misconduct of these states."

ROOSEVELT HAD TO VISIT HER.

Atlanta Correspondence N. Y. Sun.

Calling him Theodore and patting him on the shoulder, a dame of the old regime received President Roosevelt last Friday in Harrington Hall, her home, at Roswell.

Mrs. Baker was bridesmaid when the President's mother was married. She had been invited to the reception at the old Bullock home, but said the President must come to her.

Secretary Loeb said this could not be, as it was contrary to all precedent for the President to visit private homes during an itinerary.

The President missed Mrs. Baker at the Bullock home and asked for her. Loeb told of her refusal to attend a public reception, and the President said he must see his mother's bridesmaid. So he decided to cut out established precedents that he might meet and chat with the girlhood friend of his mother, and at his suggestion Harrington Hall was included in the itinerary.

When President Roosevelt entered the old home with Mrs. Roosevelt he found Mrs. Baker seated, dressed in black, trimmed with white lace about the collar and cuffs. She wore a lace cap and was the picture of contentment.

"And this is Theodore," she said, extending her hand. "I am so glad to see you, Theodore." Then patting the President on the shoulder, she told him how his mother looked when she was married.

Where the Presidents Were Born.

The following interesting extract is taken from an article prepared and circulated by the New York Herald:

"In this one state of Virginia seven presidents were born, beginning with George Washington, who took office in 1789 and ended with Zachary Taylor in 1849. Then the star of the empire began to create a new environment for presidents and a new fulcrum on which factions could be balanced and soon Ohio came to the front as a new mother of presidents and gave five in comparatively short time, beginning with Ulysses S. Grant, who took office in 1869, and ending with William McKinley, who was inaugurated in 1897.

"With twelve presidents to the credit of Virginia and Ohio, the remaining thirteen are divided between commonwealths, the great Empire State having only three, Martin Van Buren, Millard Fillmore and Theodore Roosevelt—no more than the much smaller state of North Carolina, with Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk and Andrew Johnson. The second state in the Union, the Keystone state, of mighty industries, is the mother of but one president, James Buchanan—half as many as Massachusetts, with the two Adamses, and the same number that New Hampshire, Kentucky, Vermont and New Jersey have, with Pierce, Lincoln, Arthur and Cleveland."

Honored by Roosevelt.

An incident of President Roosevelt's trip through the state that is especially pleasing to the people of Thomasville and of Trinity College was the compliment the President paid to Mr. William A. Lambeth by asking that young gentleman to accompany him on his trip. Young Lambeth is a graduate from Trinity College, and made the speech on behalf of the student body of Harvard University at the commencement a few months ago, when the annual address was delivered by Mr. Roosevelt. On the occasion Mr. Roosevelt was much impressed with the young North Carolinian, congratulating him warmly and laughingly accusing him of making his the President's speech.

A few days before the President started on his Southern trip he asked Secretary Loeb if he could locate Mr. Lambeth. The secretary did not know that Thomasville was the home of the person in question, and he wired the authorities at Trinity College, who put him in communication with Mr. Lambeth at High Point. The chief executive then asked Mr. Lambeth to join his party at Raleigh, and needless to say, the invitation was accepted.

Where Wives are Swapped.

A few weeks ago, the state of Wilkes startled the world by claiming to have in her borders the two men in existence who had actually swapped wives.

However, according to the Mt. Airy Leader, Surry never allows her banner to trail in the dust, for she can now boast of such a case, and besides the Surry county people "turned the trick" in a strictly legal way. At the last term of the Superior court for Surry county, two couples from near Round Peak applied for and secured absolute divorces upon statutory grounds, in which the husbands of two women were named as co-respondents. David Tourney and Ab Montgomery were neighbors and for some time they had been making "goo goo" eyes at each other's wives. The law severed the irksome bonds of matrimony, and a few weeks ago David married Ab's wife, while the marriage of Ab to David's divorced wife has also been celebrated.

Holt-Barnes Marriage.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 25.—Miss Edna Barnes, daughter of Dr. Wm. L. Barnes, was married this morning at 10:30 o'clock at her home on Floyd avenue to Mr. Eugene Holt, of Burlington, N. C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John V. Downman, the pastor of All Saints Episcopal church. The wedding was elegant in its appointments, but very quiet, there being present only relatives and immediate friends.

Inter-Urban Contract Signed.

High Point, Oct. 25.—All doubt has been relieved as to the building of the High Point and Winston Inter Urban Railway in the signing here yesterday of the contract for the construction work. The road will now be completed without delay. For a year or more this road has been the talk and all along the promoters said it would be built. About two months ago rails were laid in the city. The work will start at the end of the line where the work was left off.

CZAR GRANTS FREEDOM TO ALL RUSSIA.

Imperial Edict Includes Freedom of Conscience, Speech, Union and Association.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—Tonight the autocracy of the Romanoffs and the old order of things cease to exist in Russia.

Emperor Nicholas has surrendered and Count Witte comes into power as Minister President with an imperial mandate which will enable him to convert the farical national assembly into a real legislative body, elected by greatly extended suffrage, and to confer upon the people fundamental civil liberties, including free speech.

WITTE CARRIED POINTS.

These welcome tidings reached St. Petersburg shortly before 6 o'clock this evening. Count Witte had spent the day with the Emperor at Peterhof, going over the final draft of the manifesto to which he insisted that certain minor modifications be made, and before taking the train for St. Petersburg he telephoned to a friend that the Emperor had affixed his signature and that the imperial mandate comprising the conditions upon which he had agreed to accept office was in his pocket. These include freedom of the press, the right of assembly and the immunity of the person, including the right of habeas corpus.

CZAR WANTED AMERICAN PLAN.

Count Witte insisted on a cabinet on the British model with a selected Premier responsible to the Imperial Duma, or Parliament, while the Emperor clung to the appointment of members of the cabinet on the American plan by the Emperor as Chief of State.

The State department has instructed Charge D'Affaires Eddy, in case of emergency, to give American citizens asylum at the embassy, and if necessary to charter a steamer.

Foreign Minister Lamsdorff is re-assuring the ambassadors by formally guaranteeing the safety of foreign residents. He announces that the government is prepared to afford them military protection in St. Petersburg and elsewhere in the event of disorders.

The following is the text of the imperial manifesto:

RUSSIA'S MAGNA CARTA.

"We, Nicholas the Second, by the grace of God Emperor and Autocrat of all the Russians, Grand Duke of Finland, etc., declare to all our faithful subjects that the troubles and agitation in our capitals and in numerous other places fill our heart with excessive pain and sorrow.

"The happiness of the Russian sovereign is indissolubly bound up with the happiness of our people, and the sorrow of our people is the sorrow of the sovereign.

"From the present disorders may arise great national disruption. They menace the integrity and unity of our empire.

"The supreme duty imposed upon us by our sovereign office requires us to efface ourselves and to use all the force and reason at our command to hasten in securing the unity and co-ordination of the power of the central government and to assure the success of measures for pacification in all circles of public life, which are essential to the well-being of our people.

"We therefore direct our government to carry out our inflexible will in the following:

PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES.

"First—To extend to the population the immutable foundations of civic liberty, based on the real inviolability of person, freedom of conscience, speech, union and association.

"Second—Without suspending the already ordered elections to the State Duma, to invite to participation in the Duma, so far as the limited time before the convocation of the Duma will permit, those classes of the population now completely deprived of electoral rights, leaving the ultimate development of the people of the electoral right in general to the newly established legislative order of things.

"Third—To establish an unchangeable rule that no law shall be enforceable without the approval of the State Duma, and that it shall be possible for the elected of the people to exercise real participation in the supervision of the legality of the acts of the authorities appointed by us.

"We appeal to all faithful sons of Russia to remember their duty towards the fatherland, to aid in terminating these unprecedented troubles and to apply their forces in co-operation with us, to the restoration of calm and peace upon our national soil.

"Given at Peterhof, October 30, in the eleventh year of our reign.

(Signed) "NICHOLAS."

The Winston tobacco board of trade adopted strenuous measures last week to induce the Southern Railway to handle the tobacco that is being shipped there, claiming that much of it is being damaged by the delays to which it is subjected. The railway officials have already taken steps to improve the situation and will do all that could reasonably be asked in the way of enlarging the freight facilities in Winston, where much of the trouble has occurred.

Samuels in Another Scrap.

Winston-Salem, Oct. 25.—News was received here today of a lively fight which occurred at Pilot Mountain a few days ago in which only fists were used. The participants were George W. Samuels, the ex-revenue officer, who made an assault upon Editor Bob Deal, of the Wilkesboro Chronicle, a few months ago, and Sid Venable. Both are fine specimens of manhood and the mix-up is said to have been equal to a prize fight. According to report Venable knocked Samuels down and disfigured his face. The trouble, it appears, originated by information received by Venable to the effect that Samuels had reported to revenue officers that Venable had a quantity of whiskey hid in an old field. Samuels recently lost his job in the revenue service. He and J. W. Hasty were convicted at the last term of Wilkes court for making the assault on Editor Deal and were given terms on the roads. Both appealed to the Supreme court, however, and are now out on bail, pending a hearing by the higher court.

Woody Monument Unveiled.

A recent news letter from Saxapahaw says at a recent reunion of the Woody family at Spring church a nice monument was unveiled bearing the following inscription: John W. Woody and Wife, Pioneer Settlers and Parents of the Woody Family, South. The monument is of North Carolina and New Hampshire granite and was unveiled by little Thomas Clarkson Woody, of High Falls.

John W. Woody and wife came from Maryland and took up land in that vicinity during the reign of the Lords Proprietors. They have many and distinguished descendants scattered over the United States, though only a few members of the family remain within the limits of the original settlement.

Interesting exercises preceded the unveiling, especially the review of the history of the Woody family in America, given by Prof. John W. Woody, of Guilford College. The reunion ended with a sumptuous repast in the grove nearby, enjoyed by the forty-odd persons in attendance.

Sued Party Managers.

Aheville, Oct. 26.—The most original law suit which has been brought in this state for many years, is the action for $20,000 damages, which W. H. Anderson, of Hendersonville, yesterday instituted against Republican Chairman T. S. Rollins, Revenue Collector Harkins, District Attorney A. E. Holton and United States Marshal Milliken.

The basis of the action is that these men promised Mr. Anderson to obtain for him a good government position, and then failed to do so, not even making an effort in that direction.

As a legal proposition the claim is laughed at by lawyers of this city, but as Mr. Anderson has an established reputation as a lawyer, it is supposed that he merely seeks in this action to lay bare some of the inside workings of the Republican organization in this state and make them matters of record. The action dates back over five years.

Negro Congressman's Fate.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 30.—George Washington Murray, once admitted to the councils of the nation as a member of Congress from South Carolina, negro though he is, will have to spend the next three years cracking rock and road building as a member of the chain gang of Sumter county, though he is the largest land-owner in that county. The Supreme court today denied the appeal of his attorneys for a re-hearing and the remittur went down this afternoon. His punishment is for forging the names of ignorant negroes to land leases.

President Roosevelt reached Washington yesterday morning on his return from a tour of the South. The return trip by boat was without incident after leaving New Orleans until a coast storm was encountered which caused a wide divergence from the usual route.

GREENSBORO TOBACCO MARKET.

Big Increase in Sales—A Short Review of the Market—Its Progress and What It Is Doing.

Greensboro Telegram, 29th.

There is no other tobacco market in this section which is better located and better equipped to do a big business than Greensboro, and the farmers in this section are fast realizing this, which is substantially shown by the fact that it so far shows 53 per cent. increase over last year's sales for the same period. There is no market in this section giving more general satisfaction among its sellers than Greensboro. A good many intelligent farmers have tried this market and others with identically the same tobacco, having divided their tobacco by the stick, and selling on different markets without letting either market know what they had done, and not a single farmer has been learned of who did not get fully as much or more on this market than he did on the one he was comparing it with. In one instance a man averaged $2 per hundred more here than he did on the other market. In another instance the farmer got the same for one pile of tobacco on both markets and $1.50 a hundred more on Greensboro market for every other pile he had on the market. These are the facts as they come from the farmers; and, while the general price on tobacco this season runs from $6 to $12 per hundred, yet there are a few people who have fine crops of tobacco who are getting very much better prices when they come to market. One man averaged $40 per hundred on this market last week, another averaged between $19 and $20 per hundred and so on down the list. "In every instance the quality of the tobacco fixes the price on it," said a buyer, "and whenever tobacco is fine one can expect a fine price on this market." Common tobacco is said to be selling better in proportion than the good medium grades and farmers are very much pleased with prices on these grades.

With the increased facilities for handling tobacco on this market there is no hesitancy in guaranteeing every farmer in this section that he can be as well treated here as he will be anywhere and get fully as much, if not more, for his tobacco than he can get anywhere.

Real Progress of the Negro.

Washington Post.

It is pleasant and reassuring to hear on such high authority as that of Prof. Booker Washington, the head of the Tuskegee Institute, that the Southern negroes have accumulated, since emancipation, something like $300,000,000 worth of property.

In twelve of the former slave states they own 173,000 farms, and in addition to this they support 28,000 churches. We have no statistics as to the social clubs, debating societies, and so on, but it is safe to assume that progress in these respects has been even greater.

The chances all are, moreover, that Prof. Washington has not included in his estimates the real estate of the personal and commercial assets of that very numerous class of colored persons who were free before the civil war, and who, in such cities as New Orleans, for example, represented a great many millions of money, to say nothing of a very high grade of social culture and virtue.

Perhaps it would not be extravagant to add another $100,000,000 to the general aggregate on this score, thus giving us in round numbers $400,000,000 of wealth for the 9,000,000 of colored people in the United States—in other words, $44 and more per capita.

This seems to us to be a very satisfactory showing. Certainly it suggests that the colored man and brother, in the southern states at least, is not seriously handicapped so far as concerns his efforts to accumulate property of the marketable description. We gather, in fact, the impression that Southern negroes are quite free to pursue profitable vocations, to acquire wealth and to provide homes for their families, and, as Prof. Washington has already shown, they enjoy equal advantages with the whites when it comes to "swearing off" their taxable values with the assessor.

All things considered, therefore, it seems a good time for calling in this eternal cry about the square deal, the downtrodden negro, the door of hope, and all the rest of it. Perhaps, if some gentleman with a gift for computation were to calculate the per capita wealth of the whites and the blacks, respectively, in this country, he would find that Prof. Washington's pleas for the exaltation of his race have already received a favorable response.

Everything depends, of course, upon the individual's interpretation of the terms "opportunity" and "welfare." If Prof. Washington has in view the unrestricted access to hotels, theatres, fashionable restaurants, and such matters, no doubt the race is still oppressed. If, however, acquisition of property, protection in its enjoyment, the right to seek material happiness and prosperity, and the chance to rise in the social scale generally—if all this means opportunity, doesn't Prof. Washington really think it time to cut off his complaints and lamentations, erase the color line, and adjust his otherwise useful work to the standard of plain American citizenship? Clearly, the negro is doing very well, and quite as clearly he is doing so without opposition by the whites. If the negro doesn't go on and do still better for himself, he alone will be to blame. So far as we can see, the only obstacles in his path are contrived by so-called leaders and prophets who make a profession of it.

R. S. Perry, a farmer 65 years old, was killed while walking on the Southern Railway tracks near Raleigh Saturday morning.

Roosevelt and the Tariff.

Washington Post.

Between the two extremes of tariff for protection only and tariff for revenue only are the conservative protectionists, of whom the late Samuel J. Randall was the chief in his day. These believe in a tariff for revenue amply sufficient to meet the demands of honest and economical government and levied in such way as to give our manufacturers incidental protection. It was not intended to increase domestic monopolies, but to stimulate our industries and encourage our competition.

The difference between Mr. Randall and Mr. Mills was that the former preferred to raise revenue from iron and steel and their resolute, and the latter would sooner have put a duty on tea and coffee. The difference between Mr. Randall and Senator Foraker in their views of this question was even sharper. Randall favored a tariff for revenue with incidental protection; Foraker advocated a tariff for protection with incidental revenue.

President Roosevelt is a conservative. In some of his writings, discussing the question of a doctinary, he seems to agree with Mills, but as a practical statesman, clothed with the responsibilities of official duty, he agrees with Randall, and has advised the leaders of his party to reduce duties until they are within the bounds of moderation, and thus reform the tariff, until it shall cease to be a shelter for monopoly.

His recommendations fell on deaf ears. There was one conclusive answer to all his logic—the country was prosperous. It was no use to argue with the standpatters that the prosperity was as much due to the settlement of the coinage question and the railroad development of the great valley of the Mississippi as it was to the tariff, and that it came and abided with us in spite of, and not because of, excessive protection. You would as well have entered upon a discussion of the fine arts with "a convocation of politic worms" supping off the flesh of some Polonius. It was natural. The party had achieved the greatest of political victories, and on this occasion victory was unusually insolent.

But they had reckoned without the President of the United States, and that President Theodore Roosevelt. His is a unique position. In a political sense he is the most independent of all the Presidents. He was the issue and he was indorsed as none who had preceded him had been indorsed, if we leave Washington out of the account. It was Monroe's politics that prevailed in 1820. It was the cause of the Union that triumphed in 1864; but in 1904 it was Theodore Roosevelt, the man who swept all before him. He knows that. The country knows it, or, if they don't, they will probably find it out before the frost is on pumpkin and the fodder is in the shock.

The President is in earnest. He believes things. What is more to the purpose, he has the gift of making men believe in him. He has thrown down the gauntlet to the standpatters. He will be a brave man that takes it up. These are matters for Senator Hale, Senator Aldrich, Speaker Cannon, and Representative Grosvenor to ponder.

Meanwhile, some of the candidates for the Republican nomination for President might find melancholy profit in a cogitation of them.

The Idle Rich in America.

The poor soul who has such heaps of money that he does not know what to do with himself is almost as much the sport and prey of the winds that blow as the tramp, who, though he recks not whence his dinner may come, takes life as he finds it and makes himself merry on the highway. The idle millionaire, whether he has a title or not, must follow the fashion if he would keep in the swim; and to keep in the swim is the one objective point. For him the year is subdivided, laid out in regular parterre, like an Indian garden, and he must even fulfill his destiny as a gentleman of wealth and leisure. He is rarely happy. He buys a place, lives in it awhile, and goes away. "So awfully dreary, doncher know," he buys a yacht, tires of it, sells it, and buys another. "Nothing like the water, doncher know." The automobile craze caught him where he was weakest—for fast, fast, faster is the aim—and he is now scudding and scorching over the world's byways, having found a new and costly toy—a veritable Flying Dutchman, only on the land, not on the water.

In a word, fortune's favorite is never happy except when he is giving proof that he can spend more money than his rival, yet wretched when he finds how little it brings him, either of distinction or diversion.—Henry Watterston in the November Cosmopolitan.

Monroe Shipley, a blacksmith of Waughtown, was instantly killed by a Winston street car Saturday night. The street car company was wholly irresponsible for the man's death.

The Weather Bureau and the Farmer.
Prof. Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau, in Farmers' Bulletin, No. 38.

While the greatest element of error in the work of the Weather Bureau is in the making of rain forecasts, yet these predictions greatly benefit the agriculturist. Owing to the peculiar topography of California and its proximity to the ocean, and to the fact that storm conditions universally travel from the west, the bureau is able to make rain predictions of great value to the farmers in that section. The value of the orange crop averages about $5,000,000 per annum; of the raisin crop about $3,000,000. Raisins are cured in the sun, and are subject to injury by rain if the workmen are not warned in time to stack the trays. Before the weather service was extended over California the loss to this crop from unexpected rains amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. Testimony from hundreds of owners of vineyards shows that practically not a pound of raisins has been damaged by rain during the past four years.

January 1, 1899, there were in the states of the Rocky Mountain slope 21,000,000 head of sheep and 13,000,000 head of cattle, exclusive of milch cows, horses and mules. Cattle will live through all except the severest blizzards, but great loss is suffered by sheep owners unless they are able to protect their flocks.

The cold-wave warnings for these states have attained a much higher degree of accuracy in recent years. A system is now in operation over the Rocky Mountain region which enables the bureau to forewarn stockmen, though but a few hours only, of the coming blizzards.

An unusually cold wave swept over all the states from the Central Rocky Mountain plateau eastward to the Atlantic Ocean in January, 1887. According to estimates from shippers and others, the enormous sum of $3,504,000—three and one half times the expense of maintaining the entire meteorological service of the government for one year—was saved as the result of the department's warnings.

The floods of 1881 and 1882 caused a loss of not less than $15,000,000 to property in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. The floods of 1882 caused a loss of 138 lives in the region from Cairo southward to New Orleans. The loss in the Ohio Valley alone by the flood of 1884 is variously estimated from $10,000,000 to $25,000,000.

During the great flood of 1897 its many stages were very accurately forecast a week in advance throughout practically the whole river system. The value of property saved by flood warnings during this flood in the lower Mississippi Valley certainly amounted to many million dollars.

When the Mississippi River at New Orleans was at the highest stage ever known, warning was sent there that within five days there would be a rise of one foot. The rise came as predicted, but the levees had been strengthened and raised. Without the rise in the height of the levees the loss of life and property would have been unparalleled.

The bureau achieves its most signal success in its warnings of storms destructive to marine property and life. During the past four years not one of the twenty West Indian hurricanes which have swept over the seaboard has visited a single port without the danger warnings preceding the storm, and as a result the loss of life and property has been infinitesimal in comparison with the destruction which ensued before the organization of the department's meteorological service. Conservative marine insurance people estimate that each of these storms could leave from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 worth of wreckage for them to settle for were it not for the advance information by the Weather Bureau.

Production of Stone in 1905.

A report on the stone industry in 1904 is among the recent publications of the United States Geological Survey. It is published as an extract from the volume "Mineral Resources of the United States, 1904," and is intended for general distribution.

The total value of stone reported in 1904 was $74,290,361, which is a gain of $1,254,455 over the value of stone in 1903, when it amounted to $73,035,906. The corresponding gain in 1903 over 1902, when the figures were $69,830,351, was $3,115,557. In 1902 the gain over 1901, when the total value was $60,275,762 was $9,554,589, and in 1901 the gain was $12,267,025 over 1900.

In 1904 granite, marble and limestone increased in value, while slate and sandstone decreased.

Granite showed the largest increase. In 1904 its total value, including that of trap rock, was $19,992,983; in 1903 it was $18,439,087, a gain of $1,553,896 for 1904. The granite production increased from $15,003,793 in 1903 to $17,169,137 in 1904, a gain of $1,465,344, and the trap rock from $2,732,294 in 1903 to $2,823,516 in 1904, a gain of $91,222.

Sandstone, including bluestone, decreased in value from $11,262,259 in 1903 to $10,295,933 in 1904, a loss of $966,326. The value of bluestone included in the sandstone was $1,779,157 in 1903, and $1,791,729 in 1904, an increase of $12,572. The sandstone figures decreased from $9,482,802 in 1903 to $8,504,204 in 1904, a loss of $978,598.

The value of marble increased from $3,392,680 in 1903 to $6,297,835 in 1904, a gain of $2,905,155.

The slate output was valued at $9,256,885 in 1903, and at $5,617,195 in 1904, a loss of $3,639,690.

The limestone output remained nearly the same, being valued at $41,627,991 in 1903, and $41,996,415 in 1904, a gain of $368,424 in 1904.

CATARRH ANNOYING-DANGEROUS

Catarrh is usually regarded as nothing more serious than a bad cold or slight inflammation of the inner skin and tissues of the head and throat, when it is, in fact, not only a vexatious and troublesome disease, but a complicated and dangerous one. It is true that Catarrh usually begins with a cold in the head, but when the poisons, which are thrown off through the secretions, find their way into the blood, it becomes a constitutional trouble that affects all parts of the body. It has more annoying and disgusting symptoms than any other disease. There is a sickening and offensive discharge from the nostrils, a constant buzzing noise in the ears, headaches and pains in the eyes are frequent, while filthy, tenacious matter drops back into the throat requiring continual hawking and spitting, and in certain stages of the disease the breath has an odor that is very offensive. Catarrh is worse in winter, because the cold weather closes the pores and glands, and the poisons and unhealthy vapors which should pass off that way are thrown back on the tender linings and tissues, causing the inflammation which starts the unhealthy secretions to be absorbed by the blood. When the blood becomes diseased with this catarrhal matter all kinds of complications may be looked for. As the blood circulates through the body the food matter finds its way into the stomach, ruining the digestion and producing chronic Dyspepsia, or Catarrh of the stomach. It also affects the Kidneys, Bladder and other members of the body, while the general health is weakened, appetite lost and the patient feels despondent and half sick all the time. But worst of all, if the trouble is not checked the lungs become diseased from the constant passage of poisoned blood through them, and Catarrh terminates in Consumption, the most fatal of all diseases. You cannot get rid of Catarrh by treating it with sprays, washes, inhalations, etc., because they only reach the membranes and tissues, while the real cause of the trouble is in the blood. These relieve the annoying symptoms for a time, but the poison is all the while getting a stronger hold on the system and when they are left off will manifest itself in worse form than before. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and when it has cleansed the blood, this pure, rich stream circulates through the body, carrying healthful properties to the diseased parts. Then the inflamed membranes and tissues begin to heal, the discharges cease, the general condition of the system is strengthened, every one of the annoying and disgusting symptoms pass away, and the patient is left in perfect health. S. S. S. is the best remedy for Catarrh. It goes right into the blood and removes all effete matter and catarrhal poison and cures the disease permanently, and at the same time builds up the entire system by its tonic effect. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy—non-injurious to the system and a certain, reliable cure for Catarrh. Catarrh sufferers will find our free consulting department helpful in advising local treatment to be used with S. S. S.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Interest has shifted during the week and has passed from the President's order making it possible to dismiss peremptorily Civil Service employees, and now the railroad and canal questions are again assuming their normal prominence. The President, who will be back in Washington by the time this is in print, has given the country an opportunity to know that he has not changed his mind on these important subjects, and it is thought he has in his utterances anticipated his message to Congress. Two important conventions on railway rate legislation are now assembling in the United States, one big convention in Chicago and another very small and, from its own point of view, very select convention in its committee room in the capitol. The country in this case will lack no campaign of education.

If the President does not decide to make a run to Panama and look over the canal for himself when he gets out into the gulf with three fast government cruisers he will arrive in Washington about November 1st, and he will in any event have broken the unwritten law that the President must not, during his term, go beyond the limits of the United States. Technically he may be within the limits as long as he is on board an American ship and under the flag, but both in the gulf and in the Atlantic he will be in neutral waters and many miles from shore.

Washington is anticipating not only an exciting political session, but a very gay and brilliant social season. The city has made unusual preparations for the entertainment of the leisureed fashionable contingent that spends the winter here in yearly increasing numbers. Probably not less than fifty apartment houses have been built during the summer, and these, added to the numbers of similar houses, will have the effect to make living more comfortable and less expensive than in former years. The increase in the number of apartment houses has had a marked depressing effect on the hotel industry. Hundreds of people who were formerly in the habit of boarding at the large hotels now seek the more comfortable and less expensive suites of rooms to be found in the new apartment houses. Washington is far from being the most beautiful capital in the world, and this boast is made only by those unfamiliar with the better capitals of Europe, or by those, if familiar, who are quite regardless of the truth. There is here the plan and foundation of a city in every way worthy to be the capital of the greatest nation in this hemisphere. Buildings are under construction on Capitol Hill and to the north of the capitol and south of Pennsylvania avenue which will involve a gross expenditure of over twenty millions of dollars, and when completed probably within five years will greatly enhance the dignity of the capitol. One of the District commissioners is now lecturing in different cities of the United States in an effort to arouse national interest in the improvement and beautification of the capital of the United States. The District of Columbia, embracing the city of Washington, has no voice nor vote in national or municipal affairs. The city and district are governed by Congress, and Congressmen, as a rule, are so much interested in their own state or district affairs that they find it both unprofitable and ungrateful to give time and vote money for streets, parks and public buildings in Washington.

If there were no other way of telling that Congress would soon be in session the appearance of the first delegation of Indians on the streets of Washington would be a sign. As the days begin to shorten and the time for the opening of Congress approaches the Indians arrive at the old Reverdy House on Third street, where they have made their headquarters ever since they first had a cause to be presented to the "Great White Father" and Congress. During the session of Congress there are always from twenty to forty Indians in the city transacting business with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs or lobbying for more favorable legislation in the House or Senate. The first to arrive this year was Andrew John, of the Senecas, an Indian as familiar with Washington as most Congressmen. He was a favorite of the late Senator Quay, and has been of great benefit to the Bureau of Ethnology in securing photographs of his tribe and in repeating and interpreting their legends and songs. Following him came Rolling Bear, of the Tuscaroras, and some Omahas, all of whom have been spending time at the Bureau of Ethnology, where they have more or less reluctantly consented to be measured and photographed for the records there. Two of them speak English, but they walk the streets in their blankets and seem to be as much interested in the sights as they are objects of interest to the people.

When a government department undertakes to clean house it does it thoroughly and without any pretensions regard to what the cost may be. The Treasury Department is being cleaned this year of the smoke and dust that has accumulated upon its exterior walls, and for many weeks workmen have been going over it inch by inch with scrubbing brushes, scrapers and mild acids. They began on the lower stories first, and with this part white and the upper part a dusky gray the great building has had a chilly appearance of being out in its underwear. The work progresses, though, and before many weeks the building will be clean from top to bottom and the marble once more restored to its brilliant whiteness.

At the same time work on the interior of the capitol has been going on and at a cost of forty-five thousand dollars that building will be made clean, comfortable and more attractive than it has been for many years. In order that some of the "hot air" of the legislative chambers may not return to asphyxiate the members all the flues have been equipped with exhaust fans and the purification perfected at a cost of ten thousand dollars. Every year for forty years the rotunda walls have been treated to a coat of paint, but last year Senator Elliot Woods, of the capitol, succeeded in persuading Congressmen who couldn't have told the color of the walls if their next election had depended on it, that the paint must come off. During the summer workmen have removed these forty coats of paint and gotten down to the original brown sandstone of which the walls were constructed. The hideous chandeliers have been replaced by 19,000 incandescent lights, the picture frames have been gilded, the plumbing has been renewed, more light has been let into the Senate and House, regardless as to whether they could stand it or not, and last but not least, the capitol has been scrubbed from top to bottom, so that not a germ lurks about to menace the health of our law makers.

War on the Tobacco Trust.

New York, Oct. 27.—Figures showing the so-called tobacco trust has raised prices and how independent manufacturers are combating these prices were given today by Hiram D. Miller, of Philadelphia, president of the Independent Tobacco Manufacturers' Association of the United States, at the fifth annual convention of that organization. He said in part:

"Today the manufacture of licorice paste is almost exclusively in the hands of the tobacco trust. Licorice, which a few years ago cost us five or six and one-half cents per pound, is now costing us ten and one-half cents to eleven cents per pound. I believe it to be to our interest to appeal to Congress to aid us against this unfair monopoly."

"We have today fair competition with the tobacco trust in the purchase of leaf tobacco and in the disposing of our manufactured products. A year ago the trust had the leaf tobacco interests in such shape that it was hard for some independent manufacturers to procure leaf, even at an advance of 75 to 100 per cent. over the actual value. It was almost impossible in some sections of the country for independent manufacturers to get their goods distributed. Today these conditions do not exist, and if we stand shoulder to shoulder and work as a unit with the investigating committee appointed in Washington, which is now investigating the conditions and manner of doing the business of the so-called trust, I believe the open market, with fair competition, will be established."

The association decided to have a label put on all goods made by its members, but did not designate the kind of mark to be used.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Hiram D. Miller, of Philadelphia; vice president, Hugh Campbell, Richmond; secretary, Walter H. Friedlander, Cincinnati; treasurer, John W. Surbrug, New York.

The following executive committee was chosen: Samuel Bloch, Wheeling, W. Va.; George E. Brown, Winston, N. C.; Samuel Harris, New York; Albert Weiser, St. Louis, and C. D. Laruse, Richmond, Va.

A committee consisting of President Miller and Vice President Campbell was appointed to look into the licorice situation, especially with a view to the establishment of a plant for the manufacture of licorice paste under the control of the manufacturers' association. The committee is to report the result of its investigations to the association at a special meeting to be held in Cincinnati within six weeks.

President in a Collision.

U. S. Flagship West Virginia, Oct. 27.—Via New Orleans, Oct. 27. At 11 o'clock last evening, through confusion of signals, the fruit steamer, Esparata, collided with the lighthouse tender Magnolia, which was conveying the President, Secretary Leob and Dr. Rixey, to the cruiser West Virginia. The rail and port bow of the Magnolia were damaged and two or three holes made in the hull below the water line. No one was hurt.

The Magnolia, immediately on being struck, was beached, her bow being hard and dry. After a careful examination of the damage to the vessel, it was evident that there was no danger and the President and his party went to bed. Major Craigbill, of the United States engineers, was aboard the Magnolia. His ship the Ivy, a sister ship of the Magnolia, had preceded the Magnolia and was some distance ahead. A boat was immediately put off for the nearest telephone, about a mile and a half away, and the order given to head the Ivy off at Pilot station, and have her return for the President and his party. The transfer was made at 3 o'clock this morning. The vessel got under way immediately and the West Virginia was boarded on schedule time.

A Timely and Important Work.

In all the twelve years that Professor Hugo R. Meyer has been gathering material for his "Government Regulation of Railway Rates," just published by the Macmillan Company, there has been no moment when its appearance would have been so timely or when it would have attracted so much attention as at present. On the eve of the assembling of a Congress that is likely to give a large part of its attention to the question of railway rate legislation and at a time when the whole country is discussing the subject, a straightforward statement of the effects of government regulation in foreign countries and an intelligent application of the conclusions deduced from these results of the transportation situation in the United States is greatly needed. This is what Professor Meyer's volume affords, and for this reason it will be welcomed by legislators and men of affairs as eagerly as by the students of economic questions to whom a work ordinarily would appeal.

Terrible Affair in Virginia.

Gloucester Courthouse, Va., Oct. 28.—When R. E. Gressett came out of his home in King and Queen county this morning about sunrise he was shot with a rifle by W. D. Coker, who had been concealed under the high steps. When Gressett fell he begged Coker not to shoot again, and Mrs. Gressett also ran out and begged him not to shoot again. Coker came up close to Gressett and fired again, killing him instantly. Coker then sent word to officers to come to his home at Greenwood, as he had shot Gressett. Just as the officers drove by to W. D. Coker's house they heard a gun go off, and they found Coker dead. He had killed his wife and two little girls, one six and the other nine years old, and had laid them out. Coker came from South Carolina about eight years ago. The two men lived about two miles apart. No one knows of any ill feeling between the men prior to the tragedy.

A grocer who sands his sugar has more grit than principle.

GENERAL FUNDS RUNNING LOW.

Need Emergency Application at Once—Only a Million Left.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The funds of the Isthmian canal commission are running very low, and today there is only about a million dollars in the ten million dollar appropriation made by Congress in June, 1902. It is the intention of Secretary Taft and the commission to make every effort to procure an emergency appropriation from Congress immediately after that body convenes in December. At the rate the money is going out of the treasury now the commission will have absolutely nothing on January 1, and many bills of large amounts will fall due early in 1906.

It has not been decided just how much Congress will be asked to appropriate. One of the principal reasons for Secretary Taft's visit to the isthmus is to ascertain for himself just what has been done and how the money has been spent. With facts and figures he will return to Washington well fortified for what may be a contest to get money, and a large amount of it, from Congress in a very short time. It is essential that the emergency appropriation be made before Congress adjourns for the Christmas holidays, or the working force of the canal will have to go without pay until Congress does act.

Contracts which will not be filled until sometime next year have been made recently. Some of them run into the hundreds of thousands, but it will not be necessary to pay for these materials until they are delivered on the isthmus. Roughly estimated the contracts already made and those contemplated by the commission and not yet filled aggregate about $9,000,000.

It is the opinion of Secretary Taft that contracts for all of the equipment necessary for the building of the canal will have been made on next June 1st. The officials of the administration commission aver that there has been no waste of money. The $10,000,000 appropriation has lasted for more than three years. One large item which should, in their opinion, be counted as an actual expenditure on the canal is that for the purchase of two steamers, costing $1,300,000. The steamers were purchased last July, and were immediately leased to the Panama Railway Company, which could not afford the vessels, and the investment is now earning about 6 per cent. for the commission.

A financial statement covering the expenditures from June 28, 1902, when Congress appropriated $10,000,000, until last June 30, the end of the fiscal year, was made public today. It shows that during the period covered by the statement, three years almost to a day, the expenditures amounted to $4,069,543, with a balance of $5,930,457. The commission had $92,359 to come into its treasury aside from the ten millions. The greatest item of expenditure is under the head of "materials, supplies and equipment purchased," amounting to $1,087,725. On the actual construction work $894,292 was spent. There were a number of items that ran into the hundreds of thousands. The work of sanitation cost $208,641, and the cost of asylums and hospitals was $159,852. The construction and repairs of buildings cost $305,100. The materials and supplies division on the isthmus was operated at an expense of $206,750, and the office of the chief engineer cost $116,505. Another large cost was the purchase price of Panama Railway stock, which was taken out of the funds of the commission. This amounts to $155,657. The machine shop expenses were $67,154, and $186,154 was spent in building waterworks and sewers. The Isthmian Canal Commission itself cost $137,714.

Shonts Denied Story of Friction.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Chairman Shonts of the Isthmian Canal Commission today issued a signed statement practically denying that there is any friction between Secretary Taft and himself. The statement is brief and relates to recent publications to that effect. Mr. Shonts is still confined to his residence, but Mr. Bishop, of the publicity division, issued the statement from the offices of the Isthmian Canal Commission.

A Twice-Told Tale.

There are at least 8,000 people in the United States who are interested in the pollution of the inland waters of the country, for an edition of that many copies of Water-Supply and Irrigation Paper No. 103 of the United States Geological Survey, which was a review of the laws forbidding that pollution, was exhausted almost as soon as published. In response, therefore, to what seems to be a popular demand a new edition of the paper almost as large as the first—7500 copies—has been ordered and will soon be available. It is gratifying to note the interest which this paper has awakened, and it is to be hoped that those who have consulted it have been moved not by a desire to evade these important laws but by a determination to fulfill or enforce them.

The author of the paper, Mr. Edwin B. Goodell, divides his subject into two parts: (1) A summary of the common law upon the subject of water pollution—i. e., the law as pronounced and determined by the courts independently of legislative action, and (2) a summary or abstract of the statutes enacted by the various legislatures for the correction of the evil. In this second edition the section on pollution under the common law has been amplified to include the arid states and territories, and the statutes passed since the first edition was prepared have been added to the second part of the discussion.

In discussing the principles and decisions applied to water pollution under common law Mr. Goodell presents them in the following groups: a. The rights of riparian owners to pure water as against one another. b. The rights of the public (as distinguished from individual owners) to have inland waters kept free from pollution by riparian owners or others. c. The conditions under which, and the extent to which, public municipalities may use inland waters in disposing of sewage matter from public sewers.

In presenting the statutory restrictions of water pollution, Mr. Goodell classifies them according to states: Those that maintain partial restrictions, those with general restrictions, and those with severe restrictions.

The general rules are laid down, the rights and duties of riparian owners, the rights and duties of municipal corporations, the rights and duties of the public, the public rights and duties enforced by statute. A final chapter on the progress of legislation closes the paper.

Mr. Goodell has presented the subject of anti-pollution laws in a manner which will be of assistance to public officials, water companies, manufacturers, farmers, and legislators, rather than the members of the bench and bar. Those desiring copies of his paper, which is entitled "A Review of the Law Forbidding Pollution of Inland Waters of the United States," should apply to the Director of the Geological Survey, Washington, D. C., for Water-Supply and Irrigation Paper No. 152. This report is published for gratuitous distribution.

Guilford County Leads.

Raleigh Post.

The reports of the various county superintendents of education to the state superintendent, and two-thirds of these reports are in, reveal that Guilford county has led the state in its increase of white children of school age. In 1904 Guilford had 10,725 white and 4,599 colored children, between the ages of 6 and 21 years, while the report for 1905 shows 11,737 whites and 4,299 colored. This is an increase of 1,012 for the whites and a decrease of 300 for the colored. No other county thus far makes such a showing for white children. Surry probably comes next with a white increase of 640.

IN MEMORY OF MORTON.

Grover Cleveland Makes Principal Address at Unveiling of Monument.

Nebraska City, Neb., Oct. 28.—A number of distinguished people attended the unveiling of the monument to the late J. Sterling Morton in Morton grove today. Besides ex-President Cleveland and the sons of Mrs. Morton there were: Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois, former Vice-President; Richard A. Olney, of Boston, former Secretary of State; David R. Francis, of Missouri; Hillary A. Herbert, of Alabama, former Secretary of the Navy; John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky, former Secretary of the Treasury; and Judson Harmon, of Ohio, former Attorney General in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet. The guests arrived here by special train.

The principal address was made by ex-President Cleveland. He and Mr. Morton were very warm personal friends and their political sympathies were thoroughly in keeping with each other.

Mr. Cleveland spoke as follows: I have not come to the surviving family of J. Sterling Morton, and to those who were his intimate friends and neighbors, for the purpose of bringing from afar superfluous recital of his virtues and mental endowments. You who, within the sacred precincts of his home, knew the warmth of his love, you, who daily found cheer and delight in the sunlight of his steady, constant friendship, and you, his immediate fellow-citizens, who have been stirred to admiration and attachment of his unselfish and effective labor in behalf of those with whom his lot was cast, need no words of mine to arouse in your minds the sentiments which befit this commemorative occasion. Even though all were silent the beautiful monument here erected would itself eloquently signify the love and friendship and admiration which are today revived by the recollection of an affectionate, dutiful and useful life.

But I am not here without a mission. I would fain interpret this monument's message to me, as it recalls my close companionship and co-operation, in the discharge of the highest public duty, with the man we honor. I am here to give evidence concerning the things he revealed to me in the light of that companionship and co-operation. This is but to testify to his joy in civic righteousness, his simple and sure standards of public morality, his stern insistence on official honesty, his sturdy adherence to opinions deliberately and conscientiously adopted, his generous concession to others of every result of their efforts and his passionate desire to serve the best interests of his fellow-countrymen.

STOOD FOR THE RIGHT.

I am not required, for the sake of exaggerated tribute, to insist that in the mere possession of these virtues our friend was distinguished above all others. But it must be said that he stood out from amidst a vast congregation of others who believed and knew the right as he believed and knew it, he was willing to fight and suffer, not only in a small arena of private and social existence, but in the fiercer, deadlier amphitheatre of public life. He believed that the same care and good faith exacted by a trust undertaken for an individual were due to the people from those who assumed official responsibilities, and he believed that waste in public expenditure was sin. These beliefs were not in his mind mere comfortable sentiments, mildly stimulating to self-righteousness, but were active incentives to battle. The noxious atmosphere of governmental extravagance could not blind his eyes, nor could the ridicule of those who had learned to scoff at official economy, or the threats of those who perfidiously contrived to appropriate public funds to private gain, drive him to compromise with wrong. Bold and defiant in the midst of it all, he took brave counsel of conscience, as did the dauntless Father of the Reformation, who cried out to his tormentors: "I cannot and will not retract anything, for to act against conscience is unsafe and unholly."

Thus it was that our friend's fine moral perception and his love of rectitude shed a bright and unwavering light on the path of official obligation, and thus did his clear discernment of duty lend impressiveness to his efforts towards the highest usefulness in public office. It was, however, his keen intelligence and his worldly wisdom that taught him that an effective equipment for the public service needed a large admixture of sterner stuff, and there was never a servant of the people who, in their cause, met misrepresentation and unjust accusation with more fortitude, or saw the submergence of friendly relations with more resignation, or dealt harder blows to dishonesty and wrong, whether lurking with friends or foes.

WORKED FOR THE WEST.

As a pioneer among the settlers of the great West, he espoused with affectionate zeal every movement or interest that promised its development and prosperity; but even this he did with such strict subordination to the commands of conscience, and with such courageous reliance upon the strength that comes of clear conviction, that in advocating his beliefs on economic and financial topics, he did not hesitate to attack the opinions and prejudices of those with whom he had made his home. There was no bitterness of heart in all this, but there was the positive, rugged earnestness of a strong determined man, quite content to trust time and sober second thought for his vindication.

Our friend loved nature with constancy and delight, and through nature he was led to a reverent love of the Maker of the Universe. He served the purposes of God on earth and taught his fellow-countrymen to realize their relationship to nature and the Father of all created things, when he established the planting of trees as a custom of general observance among our people. This work was done without trumpeting the praise of the man who founded Arbor Day, and without perverting its beneficent design to the exploitation of his fame. It was done modestly and quietly—in keeping with the disposition of its promoter and his estimate of reasonable service. No beautiful crest or elaborate coat of arms would so well illustrate his grand simplicity or typify the spirit in which this project had its rise and completion as its symbolization by a growing tree surmounting the homely legend, "Plant trees."

Though the erection of this monument may have had its beginning in the loving appreciation of Arbor Day, we cannot escape the feeling that it would tell but little of the story of the life and career of the founder of that day if there were not imperishably inscribed upon it the words, "Pioneer, Statesman, Scholar," as well as "Tree Planter." And even with all that has been here built and inscribed, those who knew him best and loved him most cannot see in this dull, cold effigy any presentment of the tenderness and unceasing affection of the father and brother, and the cheerfulness and mirth which in his hours of relaxation he brought to his home and fireside, nor the open-heartedness and contagious good humor which he gave to intimate companionship. The monument that recalls these features of his heart and soul is built on the hallowed ground of memory.

A LESSON TAUGHT.

And yet none of us should go from this place untouched by the lesson which this statue teaches. Here we should learn that character, uncorrupted by the contagion of ignoble things and unweakened by the corrosion of sordidness and money-madness, is the corner-stone of every truly useful life, and of every genuinely noble achievement. We shall do violence to the moral sense which God had vouchsafed to humanity if amid the surroundings we close our minds to the truth, that character represents the real value of a man according to the unalterable standard of fine gold, and that it differs immeasurably from reputation which measures a man's worth by the shifting and untrue standards of mean ambition or successful cupidity. We have fallen upon days when our people are more than ever turning away from their old faith in the saving grace of character, and flocking to the worship of money-making idols. Daily and hourly in the light of investigation and exposure, characterless lives are seen in appalling numbers, without chart or compass crowded upon the rocks and shoals of faithlessness and breach of trust. How ill have these wrecked lives exchanged the safe course and the harbor of honor and usefulness which character and rectitude point out, for a wild and headlong rush over unknown seas in a consuming search for self.

If our people every return again to their trust in character as a steady force in our restless enterprise and immense material growth, it will be when they take to heart the full significance of such a commemoration as this. We memorialize a man who not only earned the lasting honor of his countrymen, but whose life, in all things worthy of such endeavor, was abundantly successful. As a pioneer who labored to improve the new country of his home, he lived to see it blossom as the rose; as a scholar he cultivated his own mental powers and acquired knowledge in order that he might be able to instruct and benefit others; as a statesman he left the impress of high aspiration upon our citizenship, and of usefulness and fidelity upon our public life; and as the father of tree-planting he gained the grateful remembrance of the old and young of the present generation and that of generations yet unborn. All these things he wrought out through the power of a strong, wholesome, patriotic and beautiful character.

Let those of us who were his fellow-citizens and knew his life heed his example to the end that our work may be more unselfish and more loyal to the purposes of God and the betterment of our fellow-men. Let his sons, in whom was centered all his worldly pride, remember that the only success that is satisfying and honorable is that achieved in their father's spirit and his resolve.

It is fitting that this monument should recall memories that must not die. It is well that it should arouse the living to noble endeavor. But to the dead it avails not. He has reared his own monument "more durable than brass or stone."

Armfield-Armfield Marriage.

High Point, N.C., Oct. 28.—Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents 5 miles from this city, Mr. Frank Armfield, of Monroe, led to the hymeneal altar Miss Lucile Armfield.

The home had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with choice flowers. Dr. Stephens, of Monroe, was best man, and Miss Betty Jarman, of Tennessee, was maid of honor. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. E. M. Armfield.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. L. Siler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Pattie Lee, of Monroe.

After the ceremony a luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Armfield came to the city and caught the 10 o'clock train for the North for their bridal trip.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Armfield, Sr., and is very popular among her many friends here and elsewhere.

The groom is a young attorney of Monroe and has a large practice. He is also a very prominent man in political circles of his district, being the presidential elector at the last general election.

Among those present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. John L. King, Greensboro; Mrs. J. M. Wharton and Mrs. Ragsdale, of Jamestown.

Record-Breaking Month for High Point.

The past month has been a lucky one for High Point. During that time seven factories have been organized, an all-night system of electric lights has been secured, the President of the United States made a visit, two new insurance companies capitalized at $100,000 each are on the way, the contract for the building of the High Point and Winston Inter-urban Railroad has been signed, the opening of the greater Elwood hotel building, the assurance of a modern passenger depot, the enlarging of the silk mill, which will be the largest of its kind in the South, the biggest gain in population by immigration and birth, and various other things not in mind at this writing, which go to make up great industrial strides for High Point. October, 1905, will be booked as a record-breaking month.

Pain may go by the name of rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, pleurisy. No matter what name the pains are called, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will drive them away. 35 cents. Tea or Tablets. Holton's drug store.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Gorman News Bureau, Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 30, 1905.

Raleigh had two dangerous and possibly fatal fires yesterday (Sunday), in which over $50,000 worth of property was destroyed and four children were so badly hurt that they were taken to the hospital for treatment. Two of them are so badly injured that they may die.

The fire in which the children were injured was at the Catholic Orphanage, near Raleigh, outside the city limits and beyond the reach as the city water system, so that the firemen could do but little towards extinguishing the flames. The four little boys were hurt by jumping from the third story of one of the principal buildings, the building being completely destroyed, all except the brick walls. The loss is $25,000. This is a most deplorable loss, for the orphanage has been established only after hard work and many struggles extending over a period of many years and was just getting in good working shape, and was doing much good in caring for helpless and homeless little orphans.

The other fire was in a mercantile establishment, that of Walter Woolcott, in the very heart of the city, the building containing a stock of drygoods valued at $40,000, which was almost completely destroyed or ruined by the flames and water. The fire was extinguished before the building was much damaged. This fire, which occurred in the early morning, before daybreak, caused much excitement, the people in a number of nearby buildings, including the Yarbrough hotel, getting out and many removing their effects, because of the threatening probability that the fire would soon spread. It was checked and confined to the one building, however.

The preliminary trial of the two fakers, Clark (alias Morris, the Jew) and Lileston, who are charged with killing a man named Smith from Petersburg, Va., in the union depot here on Saturday of last week, is again in progress today. It is a very complicated case, the man Smith having been shot, apparently, while Clark and Lileston were firing at each other in the crowded waiting room. It has been shown, however, that bad blood existed between all three of the men, they having been mixed up in a gambling row here the previous evening, and it is claimed that Smith was purposely murdered by one of the men now on trial.

Governor Glenn appoints Archibald Arrington, who for nearly two years has been teller of the state treasurer, his private secretary. Arrington is a son of the late ex-sheriff John P. Arrington, of Nash county, a special friend of Governor Glenn, who says by the appointment that he honors the memory of his friend.

Principal Game Warden John W. Upchurch, with headquarters at Raleigh for the past two years, is ordered to Currituck Sound and will have charge of the very important patrol there. He has done work all over the state.

stopped over here Sunday on his return from synod to preach the dedicatory sermon at Midway church, east of the city, but owing to the inclement weather and consequent small congregation the service was postponed to a date to be fixed later.

Thacker & Brockmann are carrying a large stock of carpets, rugs, matings, art squares, floor oil cloths, window curtains and shades this season. Buying and selling for cash enables them to sell at very low prices, and they make it a point to sell only such goods as they can recommend.

Mr. J. F. Jordan, who went to Virginia last week with his dogs to participate in the interstate contests, captured about all of the prizes offered. There were nearly 200 dogs in the contest, but of the twelve to finish eight were Mr.
Jordan's. His young dog Flora distanced the pack by 200 yards and captured the fox in one of the finest chases ever witnessed in the Old Dominion and lasting over five hours.

Mr. J. C. Cobb, of McLeansville, brought in a pea vine the other day that he believes can not be surpassed in size by anything grown in the county this year. This one vine covered an area of nearly 300 square feet, some of the branches being over twenty feet in length. The peas are of a small dark variety, the seed being furnished by a northern gentleman who has the hunting privilege on Mr. Cobb's land.

Mr. J. J. Coble, manager of the Singing Sewing Machine Company's office at Asheville, died Monday and his remains were taken to his former home near Hartshorn, Alamance county, for interment. Mr. Coble was a capable business man in the prime of life. His wife, who was a sister of Messrs. H. W. and J. B. Clendenin, of this city, and one child survive. Judge
A. L. Coble, of Statesville, is a brother of the deceased.

Mr. J. R. Robinson, who has been a member of the police force for a few months, resigned last week to resume his former duties as chief attendant at the Keeley Institute. Mr. D. F. Bussick, who this morning became the county jailor, succeeding Mr. May, resigned, had held a position at the Keeley since his retirement from the police force last summer, he and Mr. Robinson virtually having exchanged positions at that time.

The sin of covetousness caused some one to hurl a brick through a large plate glass in Mr. R. P. Gorrell's store windows on South Elm street late last Friday night, where some clothing and shoes were on display. A timely yell from Mr. Gorrell, who rooms on the second floor of his building and suspected instantly what was wrong, caused the robber to flee empty handed.
He reached a window in time to see his unwelcome visitor disappearing down the street.

Last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother on North Elm street Miss Nina Brown and Maj. R.
M. Albright were quietly united in marriage, only the relatives of the families being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. W. Smith, and the bride and groom left shortly afterward for Florida on their bridal trip. Maj. Albright is now living in Raleigh as manager of the North Carolina Car Service Association and he and his bride will reside there.

Mr. Lewis Burnett, of this city, received a telegram yesterday announcing the death of his brother, Mr. A. B.
Burnett, a prominent business man of Oklahoma City, Okla., who was in Greensboro only a few weeks ago on a visit. The message gave no details, but it is supposed Mr. Burnett died suddenly, as two of his brothers were taken that way. While here he was apparently in excellent health, but spoke of being troubled occasionally with rheumatism. He was about 55 years of age.

The silver wedding anniversary celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. John W.
Wharton, Jr., at their home seven miles north of the city last Wednesday, was an occasion of genuine pleasure for these excellent people and a houseful of their nearest friends, including a number from Greensboro. A sumptuous dinner was served and later the merry company heard some delightful music rendered by Messrs. Roy and Lahser, who recently came to Guilford from Berlin, Germany. The were assisted by Miss Hattie Wharton, pianist.
Numerous presents, valuable and beautiful, were left to remind Mr. and Mrs. Wharton of the occasion they so graciously commemorated.

Mr. Luke W. White, manager of the hunting lodge and territory near Pleasant Garden, informs the PATRIOT that he has leased the shooting privileges on all the land controlled by him last year and that trespassers will be dealt with according to law. Mr. White and his fellow sportsmen pay not only the non-resident hunters' tax, but the state, county and special school taxes as well on all lands they control, and while they do not wish to offend any one they want it to be understood they will make no compromise with intruders. Guilford county profits in various ways by the presence of non-resident hunters, as they not only pay their taxes and maintain expensive lodges, but make war on all natural enemies of birds and feed the birds during the stormy periods of winter.

Fine Attendance at Rural Schools.

County Superintendent Foust is elated over the reports he is receiving from the rural public schools of the county that have already opened, particularly as regards the enrollment and attendance. In a number of the schools the attendance is already so large that the teaching force is inadequate. For instance the Bessemer avenue school expected to utilize two teachers, but three are now required. Three teachers can not do justice to the 135 pupils that attend the Guilford College school and arrangements are being made for another. Pleasant Garden expected to employ two teachers but saw before school opened that three would be required and started off with that number. The Brightwood school in Monroe had only one teacher last year.
This year it has two. Gibsonville has three teachers and another is badly needed there and will have to be supplied. Jamestown opened with four teachers—not one too many to meet the requirements there. The Hodgkin school in Morehead now has 76 children enrolled and must of necessity have two teachers shortly. In fact all the Morehead township schools opened with a much larger enrollment than last year. Other schools might be included in this list but enough are mentioned to show that the increased attendance is not confined to any one locality. It might be added, however, that the schools mentioned are all in local tax districts and their success only emphasizes the fact that where a first class school is established the people appreciate and patronize it.

A Creeping Death.

Blood poison creeps up towards the heart, causing death. J. E. Stearns, Belle Plaine, Minn., writes that a friend dreadfully injured his hand, which swelled up like blood poisoning. Bucklen's Arnica Salve drew out the poison, healed the wound, and saved his life.
Best in the world for burns and sores.
25c at all druggists.
