Mr. H. C. Taylor, stamp clerk at the Greensboro postoffice, is at the home of his parents near Guilford College recuperating from an attack of acute indication that developed a couple of weeks ago and made him quite ill for a week or more.

Anyone wanting a fine farm a few miles from Greensboro should carefully
read the large advertisement of the ad-

Mr. P. D. Gold, Jr., of this city, figured in a train wreck in Tennessee last Saturday while returning from a trip to St. Louis. The sleeper in which he was traveling was derailed near Knoxville and he with several other passengers was roughly shaken up, but fortunately the accident happened in a cut and the car did not turn clear over.

The Southern Paving and Construction Company, of Chattanooga, Tenn., instituted suit in the U. S. Circuit court here Saturday against the city of Greensboro to compel the payment to the plaintiff of $12,677.66 alleged to be due on the contract for paving Elm street. The amount involved was withheld by the city because of the defective character of the pavement.

Rev. A. C. Hanby, the new pastor of Asheboro Street Baptist church, has arrived in the city and for the present is stopping with Rev. C. E. Maddy at the latter's home on Rankin street.
His term as pastor of the church begins
November 1. Rev. C. E. Maddy will then devote his entire time to Forest Avenue Baptist church. Rev. Mr.
Hanby will board after a few days at
Mr. Maddy's home, with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McGlamery on East
Lee street.

The Sloan-Glenn Marriage.

Miss Julia Gilmer Glenn, of this city,
was married to Mr. Robert Goodloe Sloan, of Richmond, Va., in the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning at 10.30 o'clock, their former pastor, the Rev. Dr. Egbert Watson Smith, of Louisville, Ky., officiating. There was a large attendance of friends, who have never witnessed a happier or prettier wedding.

Palmis and ferns were artistically arranged about the chancel, and before this the young couple and the attendants stood during the ceremony. Miss Liada Hendrix played on the pipe organ Lohengrin's wedding march as the bride party entered and advanced down the aisles to the altar. The ushers came first—Mr. John S. Cator
and Mr. John A. Tate, both of Charlotte, by the left aisle, and Mr. John A. Gilmer, of Greensboro, and Mr. R.
W. Glenn, of Memphis, Tenn., by the right aisle.

Miss Lucy Glenn came down the center aisle in advance of the bride,
who came in leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. Robert G. Glenn, who gave her away. The bridegroom entered from the pastor's study, accompanied by his brother and best man, Mr. Alexander Sloan, of Richmond Va. Mr.
Sloan and Miss Glenn met at the altar,
and Dr. Smith, in a very impressive manner, read the wedding service of the church. The ring service was used.
As the bride party retired Miss Hendrix rendered the march from Men-delsohn.

The bride wore a becoming dark blue cloth, trimmed in fancy braid and blue velvet, with hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor wore hand-embroidered white crepe de chine over white silk, trimmed in real lace, and blue hat, trimmed with pink roses.
She carried pink roses and asparagus
ferns.

From the church the bride party drove to the home of Mrs. John A. Gilmer, where they remained for only a brief time, going from there to the passenger station. Mr. and Mrs. Sloan took a northbound train at 2 o'clock
for a bridal trip to northern cities.
They will reside in Richmond, Va.,
upon their return to that city in a few days.

Mr. Sloan is a former resident of Greensboro, and has many friends here.
He is now manager of the Phillip-Carey Manufacturing Company. His bride is the daughter of Mr. Robert G.
Glenn, and is held in high regard by a large circle of friends.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mrs. J. W. Men-efee, of Graham; Mr. and Mrs. James Sloan, of Winston-Salem; Mr. Robert
W. Glenn, of Memphis, Tenn.; Major
E. F. Glenn, United States Army;
Messrs. John S. Cator and John A.
Tate, of Charlotte; Mrs. P. D. Watt
and Miss Annie Sloan, of Reidsville.

A delightful reception in honor of the bride party was given at the home of Mrs. John A. Gilmer, in North Elm street, Monday night. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and valuable gifts.

Federal Court News.

The adjourned October term of the U. S. District court conveyed Monday morning. Judge Jas. E. Boyd presiding. Thos. W. Ault, of Spry, came into court voluntarily and without arrest and plead guilty to the charge of retailing. The other two counts in the bill of indictment were not pressed, one charging failure to obliterate stamps and the other removing. He was sentenced to one month's imprisonment in jail and fined $100. Upon payment of the fine the jail sentence is to be suspended.

Prayer for judgment was continued in the case against N. F. Oliver, convicted at the recent regular term and sentenced to one year and a day in the Federal prison at Atlanta for illicit distilling. The sentence was stricken out and the defendant put under a $300 bond for his appearance at the next term.

There were several continuances but no jury trials. The next special term will convene on the first Monday in December for a resumption of the trial of the alleged revenue fraud cases.

Earl Whittington, a white boy who has hitherto borne a good reputation, was sent to jail last week in default of $250 bond for stealing a watch, a ring and several dollars in money from the residence of Mr. W. T. Pike, who lives on the West side. The theft occurred several weeks ago and responsibility was only fixed on young Whittington
after a very patient investigation by Constable Dave Scott. At the preliminary hearing Thursday a boy named Hanner testified that he saw Whittington with the stolen property the afternoon of the robbery.

A CALL EXTENDED.

First Presbyterian Congregation Invites
Rev. Melton Clark, of Florence, S. C., to Become Its Pastor.

At a congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church last Sunday, immediately following the morning service, it was decided by a unanimous vote to call Rev. Melton Clark, of Florence, S. C., to the pastorate of the church.

Rev. E. W. Smith, D. D., was made moderator of the meeting and opened it with a fervent prayer. Mr. A. M.
Scales, a ruling elder of the church and a member of the committee on pastorate as well, acted as spokesman for his committee, giving a brief resume of its work. He said the committee was created about a year and had entered upon its duties thinking they would be disposed of within a few weeks, but it had proven otherwise.

The committee had held at least forty meetings, had investigated numbers of ministers whose names had been mentioned and had worked diligently. He spoke of the labors of the late Dr. McIver, a member of the committee, and told of his lively interest and great work as a member. The committee had approached four persons, first Dr. Vance, of New Jersey; then Dr. W. W. Moore, president of Union Theological Seminary; Dr. Paxton, of Lynchburg, all of whom declined, and lastly Rev. Melton Clark, of Florence, S. C. Mr. Clark, he said, was about 32 years of age and came from fine old Presbyterian stock.
Every member of the committee, with the exception of Judge Shaw, who was prevented by his courts, had heard him
and their report was unanimous; that he was a broad man, fully consecrated to the work, preached gospel sermons almost exclusively and was a most excellent pastor and preacher. Mr.
Scales closed by saying that Mr. Clark had promised to be present next Sunday and preach morning and night.

Dr. Smith spoke briefly. He said that he did not know Mr. Clark personally, but he knew of him, and that everything he had heard was in his favor, and he believed the committee had acted very wisely in making its selection.

Mr. A. M. Scales and Mr. R. G.
Vaughn were appointed a committee to procure the call before the two pres-byteries. The committee on pastorate was empowered to extend the formal call.

It was not stated in the meeting that Mr. Clark had agreed to come, but it is understood that when approached a week or more ago he stated that he would consider the call, hence the committee and congregation can do nothing but hope and wait. Having never been here and knowing nothing about the conditions personally, it was of course natural that Mr. Clark should desire to wait and look fully into the matter. It is of certain that his congregation at Florence will oppose his coming.

Dr. Smith Preaches to His Former Con- gregation.

The return of Rev. E. W. Smith,
D. D., to the city to officiate at the Sloan-Glenn marriage ceremony yesterday morning gave him an opportunity to preach to his former congregation at the First Presbyterian church and that structure was filled to overflowing Sunday morning when the hour for service arrived. Denominational lines are unknown in the friendship that exists here for Dr. Smith and people from every church and every walk of life flocked to hear him, the big building failing to accommodate the throng. The characteristic power and eloquence of Dr. Smith were not lacking in the sermon. Sunday night
he preached at the Walker Avenue church, which he was instrumental in founding a few years ago, and it is safe to say that not more than half those who would have heard him there were unable to gain admission. Dr. Smith will not return to his home in Louisville, Ky., until the latter part of the week. Tonight he will conduct the regular midweek prayer service at the First church.

School Census Completed.

Mr. M. C. Workman, who has just completed the annual school census of the city, found 4,319 persons of school age in the corporate limits of Greensboro. There are 1,300 white males, 1,379 white females; 750 colored males and 860 colored females. Over fifty per cent. of the grand total is enrolled in the public schools. Mr. Workman found forty-three married women and two married men of school age. There are only two blind children in the city
—one white and one colored. Twenty-three pairs of twins of school age were listed.

Campaign Draws to Close.

After the meeting at High Point this afternoon only two speaking appointments remain for the Democratic county candidates. Tomorrow night they speak at Proximity, and Friday night at the court house in this city. It is to the credit of the entire ticket enrolled under the banner of Democracy that a campaign upon such a high plane has been and is being made. There has been no retrogression in this respect and there will be none. Whenever the Democratic party fails to come out openly and proclaim its principles;
whenever it hesitates or refuses to face
a foe; whenever it stoops to questionable means to perpetuate itself in power, either in the state or nation,
then will it forfeit its claims to the confidence and support of every honest man who enjoys the right of suffrage.
No campaign in North Carolina, and in Guilford particularly, has ever more clearly demonstrated the contrast in this respect between the two old parties
than the one now drawing to a close.
Our friends the enemy took to the woods early in the game and after getting out of range of Democracy's heavy artillery set to work to concoct a plan whereby one radical scalp might be saved. Their plan, as is well known,
is to sacrifice any and every man on their ticket in order to gain a vote for Hodgins, their candidate for sheriff.
With him and his twenty or thirty deputies, reinforced by the tax books,
they hope to game a foothold that will aid them materially two years hence.
Guilford is not ready to assume the burden of another Republican sheriff and his horde of deputies. And in addition, no one has ever ventured even an intimation that Mr. Jones was not worthy the support of every man in his party at the polls. He lacks no essential qualification for the office to which he aspires, a truth equally applicable to every other man on his ticket, and it behooves every Democrat to see that he is not tricked or escorted into voting for Mr. Jones' opponent.
A straight Democratic ticket, secured
from a recognized and familiar Democratic worker at the polls, ensures safety in this particular.

There has never been a more favorable registration, from a Democratic standpoint, and if the party strength is polled next Tuesday, and we have every reason to believe it will be, there will be a record-breaking majority for the Democratic ticket.

In addition to the county candidates
two of the best campaigners in the state are yet to be heard here before election. Congressman W. W. Kitchen speaks here tonight and Hon. A. L.
Brooks speaks Monday night. Each of these brilliant men will make votes
for their party and add to the common glory of the victory that is in sight.

Judging by the attendance at the meetings throughout the county the Democrats of Guilford are wide awake and alert, and they will continue so until the polls close Tuesday night.

Horrible Fate of an Infant.

The five-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ham, who live near Buffalo church, was fatally burned Saturday morning at 9.30 o'clock and died later in the day. The mother had tied the little one in a chair, in a room with a two and a half year old child, while she stepped into the store to wait on a neighbor. The child soon came running with the words, "Mamma, the baby in the fire." She had accidentally turned it over. Ere the mother could reach the dreadful scene the little one's entire head and shoulders had burned
to a crisp.

Two skillful doctors were hastily called, but could only relieve pain for a while. Long before the sun had set the death angel came and called him higher.

The funeral was conducted at the house Sunday afternoon by Rev. J. W.
Goodman, and the remains tenderly placed in Buffalo cemetery.

The Southern Railway has given a contract to Stewart Brothers, of Greensboro, to construct a section of its double track between here and Danville. The work of double tracking south of here towards High Point and on to Salisbury has been vigorously pushed for two years and is nearly completed. A part of the double track between Greensboro and High Point is already in use and all will be in by spring. Beginning at Greensboro again the work
by Stewart Brothers will be pushed north towards Danville. A new bridge will be erected over North Buffalo creek.

Guardianships frequently last through many years. Individuals desiring to keep their estates free from compli-

when they do, it is fre-

During the lapse of years the guardian may

Tobacco Market Report.

Our market has digested the big sales which we had last week and the tobacco in bad condition has all been hung up and aired out, which leaves
everything for this week in good shape.
Our warehousemen and buyers are now anxious for tobacco, especially if it is sound and in good condition, which was fully demonstrated by the sales yesterday. Whenever sound tobacco was offered it brought splendid prices,
but when the sales struck damaged tobacco they paid damaged prices for
it. Our market is in the healthiest condition it has been in a long time,
and the farmers in this section have found it out. This is why the sales have been so large for the past few weeks. Last week's sales were the largest we have had in a long time and keep our buyers very busy handling the weed, and especially did it keep them busy to keep the wet bad-conditioned tobacco from getting fully rotten on their hands.

Mr. W. E. Blair Weds Miss Mary H. Kennett.

While the threatening clouds outside hung dark and low the interior of West Market Street church was a scene of loveliness when, at 5 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Walter Elihu Blair led Miss Mary Hunter Kennett to the hymeneal altar, and there together they took the marriage vows. Many weddings have been solemnized in the church, but never one more beautiful in all of its simplicity.

Paints, ferns and evergreens were banked around the altar in profusion, though retaining an effect that was both artistic and pleasing to behold. Despite the unfavorable weather the large auditorium was well filled with friends of the young couple.

Just before the ceremony Professor Kraft rendered a selection on the organ, and Miss Elizabeth Sparger sang very effectively "Bid Me Love." To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bridal party entered and advanced to the altar. First came the ushers, Messrs. I. F. Peebles, George R. Kennett, B. R. Craven and Prof. R. N. Wilson.

Miss Margaret Bullock, of Raleigh, the maid of honor, came next, followed by the dame of honor, Mrs. S. H. Tomlinson, of High Point. The bridegroom entered from the pastor's study, accompanied by his brother and best man, Mr. Robert L. M. Blair. They advanced to meet the bride, who came down the center aisle with her brother, Capt. W. R. Kennett, of Raleigh, who gave her away.

Advancing together to the altar, the bridegroom and bride were received by the officiating ministers, the Rev. Dr. G. H. Detwiler, pastor of the church, and the Rev. W. C. Kennett, of Liberty, father of the bride, who officiated. The ring service was used. Following the ceremony the bridal party retired as the organist rendered the wedding march from Mendelssohn.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Kennett, 420 South Spring street, where a most enjoyable reception was tendered them and a luncheon served. Mr. and Mrs. Blair left on southbound train No. 29 at 7 o'clock for a trip to Florida and points South. They will return in a few days and reside with Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Kennett.

The bride is the attractive daughter of the Rev. W. C. Kennett and wife, of Liberty, and is loved by a large circle of friends. She has resided in Greensboro much of the time for several years. The bridegroom holds a position with the Southern Real Estate Company. The large number of beautiful presents received by the bride expresses to some extent the high esteem in which they are held.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Mrs. S. H. Tomlinson, of High Point; Miss Margaret Bullock, of Raleigh; Mrs. R. O. E. Davis, of Chapel Hill; Mrs. R. T. Joyce, of Mt. Airy; W. R. Kennett, of Raleigh; Prof. R. N. Wilson, of Guilford College; Robert L. M. Blair, of Archdale; Rev. W. C. Kennett and wife, of Liberty; Mrs. Rachel E. Blair, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Blair, Progress; Miss Mary M. Blair, Lake City, Fla.; Miss Elva Blair, High Point.

An Awkward Situation.

A special from High Point under date of the 22nd says: "To be married to a man whom she supposed to be her lawful husband and to have wife No. 1 come upon the scene after an absence of several years, is the experience of wife No. 2 of a man who works near this place but who lives in Greensboro. Several years ago the wife of the man in question left his bed and board and went North and he claims he had never heard of her until she put in her appearance a day or so ago; that he believed her dead and had received word to that effect. In the meantime he married a woman living in this neighborhood but had never received any divorce, therefore making him a bigamist. It is not known whether wife No. 1 (his lawful wife) will push the case or not and in the meantime speculation is rife as to what wife No. 2 will do. The unfortunate man has consulted legal advice but it is learned that little encouragement was given him, owing to the fact that no positive evidence is in hand to show that he believed his first wife was dead. He is a hard working man, generally liked by his friends and has had many reverses, it is learned, in life."

County Candidates to Speak.

At two o'clock P. M. on the days mentioned and at the places indicated the legislative and county candidates will discuss political issues. Let everyone turn out and hear what may be said.

Proximity, Thursday night, Nov. 1, Greensboro, Friday night, Nov. 2, Sheriff Jordan will attend these meetings in person or be represented by deputy to receive the taxes for the year 1906.

The candidates will speak in Greensboro at 8 o'clock P. M. on the evening of Friday, Nov. 2nd.

McIver Memorial Exercises November 20

The board of directors of the State Normal and Industrial College have decided on November 20th as the date for holding the memorial exercises for Dr. Charles D. McIver, late president of the college. The exercises will be held in the auditorium of the Students' building. While the details have not yet been perfected, enough is decided upon to announce that Dr. E. A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia, and Dr. Wallace Buttrick, of New York, secretary of the General Education Board, of which Dr. McIver was an influential member, will make the leading addresses. Among leading citizens of the state who have been invited and who will make brief addresses are Governor R. B. Glenn, ex-Governor T. J. Jarvis, ex-Governor C. B. Aycock, Mrs. Lucy Roberson, president of Greensboro Female College; Dr. F. P. Venable, of the University of North Carolina; Mr. George T. Winston, president of the State A. & M. College, former president of the University, and State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner.

While there has been no official announcement to this effect, it is generally supposed that at the meeting of the board of directors of the college subsequent to the memorial exercises, a successor to the late president will be elected.

LETTER TO J. D. HELMS, Greensboro, N. C.

Dear Sir: Here's a tale with three or four tails to it.

Professor Irvine has an Academy, Mercersburg, Penn. He paints the floors in summer vacation. It used to take 90 gallons of paint. There were two paint stores there, and he used to buy one year of one, next year of the other 90 gallons year after year.

Now he paints Devco; 60 gallons; and the difference is a saving of $150 a year.

H. C. Fallon was one of those dealers, good man; but he wouldn't take up Devco; so we turned to the other, J. A. Boyd. But Fallon has found it necessary to get a good paint to compete with Devco. He got one of the eight honest paints. He has a big hardware store and is doing an excellent hardware business; but Boyd, of course, has the run on paint—he's a little hardware man.

We don't care how little or big a man is, if he wants good paint and is active and sound.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & Co.
The Odell Hardware Co. sells our paint.

Asheboro Courier: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Steed, of Kansas, who have been visiting relatives in Randolph, Montgomery and Guilford counties, are visiting their sister, Mrs. E. Winslow. Miss Lola Alice Whitehead and Amick H. Thomas, of Rameur, were married on the 23rd instant. They are one of Rameur's most popular young couples. The bride is a daughter of ex-Mayor J. M. Whitehead and is a lady of fine talent. Mr. Thomas is secretary and treasurer of the Rameur Broom Works and one of the town's most promising young business men.

Mr. C. A. Bray, trustee for the B. J. Fisher estate, is having a new two-story brick building erected on the vacant lot next to the old Planters' hotel, on North Elm street, which will be occupied by Mr. E. Poole's undertaking establishment as soon as it is completed.

The Chas. G. Harrison Printing Company has secured for a term of five years the second floor of the new Christian Advocate building which is under construction on East Gaston street, between Elm and Davie streets. It will be ready for occupancy early in the new year.

The engagement is announced of Dr. Wm. Henry Stratford, of New York City, to Miss Marguerite Ray, of Chicago, Ill. The marriage is to take place at the home of the bride on Wednesday evening, Nov. 21st, 1906. Dr. Stratford is a former Greensboro boy, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stratford, of this city.

Greek Emerson, colored, is in jail charged with stealing several pistols from B. Stadium's pawn shop on South Elm street. The pistols were taken some months ago and one was afterwards sold by young Emerson to a mill man for a small sum. Emerson left town soon afterward and showed up only last week, when he was arrested and promptly bound over to court.

Cathedral art glass, glass mosaics, picture frames and other articles of that nature will soon be manufactured at High Point by the High Point Art Glass Co. Elwood Cox, vice-president; Dred Peacock, treasurer, and Frank Wineskie, secretary and manager.

The Merchants' Association here is looking into the matter of alleged overcharges on express packages. It is claimed that more than the stipulated rate is often charged. The association has joined hands with others and made for distribution to its members copies of the rates to and from Greensboro. Express rates to and from 25 large cities are given enabling the merchant to tell for himself what the express rate on a given package is.

Mr. and Mrs. Rives Casey, of Morganfield, Ky., have announced the marriage of their sister, Miss Attaway M. Dyer, to the Rev. Charles N. Wharton, Tuesday, Nov. 20, 1906. Rev. Mr. Wharton is the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Morganfield and is a son of a well known citizen of Greensboro, Mr. W. D. Wharton, of Summit avenue. Considerable local interest therefore attaches to the announcement of his wedding.

A destructive fire occurred in Friendship township Sunday afternoon at one o'clock, Mr. W. E. Cummings losing his dwelling house and barn, with practically all their contents, as a result of a blaze originating in his kitchen. A granary containing 500 bushels of wheat was in great danger during the fire, owing to the prevailing high winds, but it was saved from destruction by heroic efforts. The property destroyed was worth over three thousand dollars. There was no insurance.

The Southern Ice and Cold Storage Company, of Greensboro, was incorporated Saturday to manufacture, store, buy, sell and deal in ice; to erect, maintain, buy, sell and conduct cold storage warehouses and to conduct a cold storage business in all its branches. The total authorized capital of the corporation is $75,000 but the company may begin business when $5,000 has been paid in. The stockholders are Messrs. J. R. A. Power, Thomas A. Armstrong, William Armstrong and Henry M. Armstrong. It is understood that the new company has already ordered machinery for a new cold storage plant.

A Lucky Postmistress is Mrs. Alexander, of Cary, Me., who has found Dr. King's New Life Pills to be the best remedy she ever tried for keeping the Stomach, Liver and Bowels in perfect order. You'll agree with her if you try these painless purifiers that infuse new life. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 25c.

Mr. T. J. West Sues City of Greensboro to Recover $10,000 Damages.

Mr. T. J. West has brought suit against the city of Greensboro for $10,000 as damages for the action of the city in closing up a soft drink and cold storage establishment operated in Greensboro a little more than a year ago by Mr. West. Early last spring Mr. West opened the place referred to in a building on East Sycamore street, formerly used by his brother, Mr. E. G. West, who conducted a saloon before prohibition became effective in the city.

Mr. West announced to the public that he would sell soft drinks, and in addition to this would keep lockers, in which customers might store whiskey and other spirituous liquors. The plan Mr. West believed to be legal. The customer was to buy his own whiskey and store it with Mr. West, who would serve the customer's own whiskey when he came for it. The business was called a 'corkage establishment' at first by the newspapers, and later came to be known by that name.

An ordinance forbidding such an establishment was passed by the board of aldermen, and as Mr. West continued to do business he was arrested. Twenty or more warrants were issued and served upon him. He was tried in mayor's court and fined. An appeal to Supreme court was taken, and the cases were allowed to be not prosequi, after Mr. West had repeatedly asked for a trial. He now brings suit to recover damages for having been prevented from conducting the business.

Important Litigation Settled.

Messrs. Stedman & Cooke, attorneys, have received from Scotland the agreement in the case against the estate of the late B. J. Fisher, in which all matters of controversy concerning the estate which for so long have been in litigation in England and Scotland have been finally settled, saving to the estate something like $25,000 and interest on the same for a number of years. The will of the late Captain Fisher provided that Lillian Brenda Fisher (now Browning) was to have all the property in Great Britain. Subsequently upon her marriage he made a marriage settlement, agreeing to pay to trustees for her annuity $25,000, together with interest. His daughter Lillian sought through her counsel to hold the property in Great Britain under the will to enforce the marriage settlement against the estate in America. Major Stedman went to Scotland and England last summer and succeeded in bringing about a settlement of all differences and bringing to an end the long drawn out litigation, the daughter in England agreeing to relinquish her claim under the agreement.

Appeal to Business Men.

To the Business Men of North Carolina: We the undersigned, having been appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions from the business men to erect a monument to the memory of Dr. Chas. D. McIver, avail ourselves of the kindness of the press of the state to call the attention of the entire public to this worthy cause. We do not feel that it is necessary to make any argument or to state any reason why every man in North Carolina who is able to do so should subscribe to this fund. We wish you to think over the matter for yourselves, recall the great and unparalleled work accomplished by Dr. McIver for the people for our entire state, and then act in this matter according to your own wishes and inclinations. We know that it cannot be otherwise but that every citizen of the state who is able to contribute will gladly do so. Any subscriptions can be sent to Dr. J. E. Brooks, Greensboro, treasurer of this committee. W. H. Osborn, chairman; Chas. M. Stedman, J. E. Brooks, Chas. H. Ireland, J. W. Scott, J. D. Helms, A. M. Scales.

Do You Want It?

The election of a Republican sheriff of this county means the appointment of at least twenty deputies of that faith. Do the people want to have their business put in the hands of such men? A vote for Hodgins is in this direction. Mr. Hodgins himself might desire to appoint only the best men in his party, but a man cannot always do this. There are political debts to pay and the men who do the work must be given the jobs. It is not a question of what Mr. Hodgins is or what he would do; it is what he would have to do. From personal reasons a voter might desire to vote for him, but it does not end at this. A vote for him is the same as voting for twenty other Republicans.

Guilford County Teachers' Association.

The next meeting of the Guilford County Teachers Association will be held in Greensboro, on Saturday, November 10th. The hours will be from 10 A. M. to 1.30 o'clock P. M.

The program committee has selected the following topics for discussion:
1. The Township High-school. Discussion led by O. V. Woosley.
2. Music in the public schools, by Miss Gannon.

3. What the teachers can do to carry out the pledge to banish illiteracy from Guilford county, by Mrs. T. N. Sellars.
4. The tardy problem, by Supt. W. H. Swift.
5. The new course of study, by Supt. Thos. R. Foust.

Forty minutes will be given to the consideration of each topic. Not more than thirty minutes time is to be consumed by the leader, and the remainder is for general discussion.

All teachers of the county are cordially invited to be present and to take part in the discussions. The association is for all classes of teachers, college, high school and public school.

We hope to make this association a force in the educational work of the county and I especially urge all who can possibly do so to be present at this, our first meeting since we organized.

Very truly,
THOS. R. FOUST, President.

Mr. Farming man, working-man or any-other-man, if your wife or daughter wants a new dress, advise her to look at Thacker & Brockmann's stock before she decides on the purchase. SIMMONS SCORES HIS CRITICS AND THEIR METHODS.

Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee Gives Out Interview in Which He Denounces Vehemently the Industrial News and Marlon Butler for Unwarranted Attacks on Him.

Raleigh, Oct. 24.—Chairman Simmons said before leaving for Carthage, where he was to speak today: "A friend has sent me a copy of The Industrial News containing an interview with Marlon Butler in which he hurled epithets and anathemas against me. Many times since I became chairman of the Democratic executive committee in 1892, I have had occasion to denounce, expose and defeat the villainous political schemes and ambitions of this man Butler. During all these years, as now, he has sought revenge for these exposures by inventing and circulating in papers, all sorts of lies and slanders concerning me. When a gentleman from an eastern county said to me a week or so ago that Butler was very denunciatory and abusive of me in the speech he made in his county, I replied, and I was frank in that reply, 'I am glad of it. I accept his denunciations and abuse as a badge of honor, and I added with equal sincerity: "If Butler had praised me I would be ashamed of myself. I should know I had done something wrong or that he hoped by flattery to tempt me to wrongdoing."

"But let me go to the business now in hand. This man Butler is a combination in miniature of Talleyrand and Machiavelli. His failure to measure up to their standards of deceit and hypocrisy is an intellectual, not a moral failure. Like them, he cares little for the opinion of the world, his chief concern being the success of his enterprises. Like them, he cares nothing for the exposure and denunciation of his past accomplishments and misdeeds, but anything which balks him in his present and future schemes, ambition or selfishness, fills him with wrath and indignation. A few days ago the Honorable E. W. Poirer, in the presence of several hundred people of Johnston county, recounted to his face in plain, direct and unmeasured terms, his manifold hypocrisies, betrayals, deceptions, treasons and treacheries. He did not wince, but looked complacently at the ceiling and smiled with satisfaction when reference was made to some of his especially clever feats of hypocrisy or deception. What cared he—the things were done, the fruit reaped; it did not matter to him what people said or thought.

"A few days after that I expressed in an interview the opinion that, if the Republican party should acquire control of the legislature of this state while Butler is dominant in the councils of that party, as he is today, there would be legislation providing for a settlement of the fraudulent special tax bonds which his party when in power just after the war issued against the state to the amount of something near twenty-five millions of dollars and for which the state received no consideration. This was what Mr. Daniels would call a 'gun-shot.' The effect upon Butler was electrical. Like a galvanic dummy, he sprang to his feet, beat the air and uttered forth shrieks of abuse and denunciation and billingsgate. He wined and cried aloud not because he cared for his reputation—that does not matter with him as silence under Poirer's gallant fire shows. But it does matter with him if his schemes of selfishness and greed are interfered with or defeated. There are some men whose hide is too thick to penetrate, but you can tear the mask from their faces. Of course Butler denies to the people of North Carolina, for avowal would be fatal. But it will be interesting to know what he will say to his friend Pettigrew the next time he sees him. Everybody in North Carolina accepts the fact that Pettigrew was interested in some way in the South Dakota bond suit, but this matter was all over and settled and the money paid many months before the equipment of The Industrial News was purchased. Therefore, when Pettigrew went to New England to aid in the purchase of this equipment, it must have been because he had some other interest to promote in North Carolina. If that other interest is not connected with the special tax bonds, what is it? If what Butler says about the South Dakota bonds and suit were true, and it is not, the fact remains that while he still held the commission of North Carolina to represent it in the Senate he accepted employment to appear against the state and conspired with a co-senator to borrow the sovereignty of South Dakota to bring a suit against her constituents. This was black, diabolical treachery only less in degree than his treason in turning over his state to negro rule to get a seat in the Senate."

Referring to the continued pernicious political activity of Federal officeholders, Mr. Simmons said: "Butler and his organ are telling the Federal officeholders not to be afraid of my arraignment of them to the civil service commission, that it is a mere bluff and that there will be no investigation either by the civil service commission or by Congress. So Blackburn said when I declared that, unless the courts prosecuted and punished the Republican revenue officers who were in collusion with the distillers and brewers in the title collection district, there would have to be a Congressional investigation. The courts acted and Mr. Blackburn has discovered to his sorrow that President Roosevelt would not stand for the things I then denounced and which he then characterized, as Butler and The Industrial News now characterize my charges of pernicious political activity, as 'bluff and not air.' Under the assurances of Butler and The Industrial News the Federal officeholders are going on openly and flagrantly violating the regulations of the government and the civil service laws as defined and construed by President Roosevelt and the commission, just as under the assurance of Blackburn the revenue officers went on and they were hauled up in the courts and sent to the penitentiary. I do not know what the civil service commission or the departments will do with reference to these charges and the others I shall make, but I do know despite what Butler says, a member of that commission has declared the charges exceedingly grave and strong and I do know that I have been assured that they would be investigated.

I do know that between ten and fifteen Federal officeholders are today Republican nominees and candidates for county offices in North Carolina, and that the papers state that when a Federal officer was nominated for an office in New York the administration required him to resign his Federal position. Possibly Butler and Adams may be able to stay investigation until after the election, but there will be an investigation either by the administration or by Congress and there will be a mighty rumormongering if there is an attempt at whitewashing, or to apply one rule to Democrats and another rule to Republicans who hold Federal positions. I have not yet called this matter to the attention of the President and I will not do so unless the departments fail to act within reasonable time. I am getting many letters about this matter, some from Democrats and some from Republicans, and when I am done with it the men who are violating the law under the advice of Butler and The Industrial News will not think I am bluffing. I have done what I have done in this matter because I feel, as I know the people of this state feel, that it is an outrage against them and the state that the Federal officeholders in this case should be organized under the aegis of a Republican convention to attempt to influence and control the local affairs of our people. I do not believe Civil Service Commissioner Greene was insincere when he asked me to present charges, or when he told Mr. Pence I had made a strong case and shown that the Federal officeholders in North Carolina were a busy lot if my statement of facts were sustained. As to the daily editorial assaults upon me in The Industrial News and especially the one in Butler's interview, I want to say that I care nothing for them or the editor of that sheet—I am told of him that he spends much of his time writing editorials misrepresenting and defaming me and other Democrats while drawing a salary from the government for an office which he obtained by appealing to the virtue and reputation of his great Democratic grandfather and by assaulting and attempting to undermine the character of a man whose character I am told is as good as his or that of the chief muck raker in the case."

$12,000 Fire at Mebane.

Mebane, Oct. 26.—The warehouse of the Continental Chair Company was burned this afternoon at 1 o'clock, the loss of the building and contents being $10,000 to $12,000, with insurance amounting to about $6,000. The fire started in the finishing department from a match tramped upon by one of the employees, the flames spreading rapidly throughout the building. It looked at one time as if the factory, kiln and outbuildings would go too, and with them the store and dwelling of A. H. Mebane. The Southern Railway warehouse was badly blistered and was in serious danger, but through the excellent work of the people of Mebane, regardless of blisters and burns, all except the warehouse and contents were saved.

Mebane is proud of its fire fighters—the best in the world. The company will rebuild the warehouse as soon as possible. Among the contents of the warehouse there was a large quantity of the fine mission line, much of it already sold, also several cars of chairs about ready for shipment.

Mr. Overman in Randolph.

Ashboro, Oct. 25.—Yesterday was a pleasant and profitable day to the Democrats of old Randolph. More than 2,000 people attended the barbecue, coming from all parts of the county to hear Senator Overman discuss matters of political interest to them. The speech was a great one and coming from a man whose private and political record is without reproach, was gladly heard by the adherents of both political parties in this county.

His perfect familiarity with the issues of the day that divide the people, delivered in a masterful yet earnest and sincere manner, made a profound impression on all who were so fortunate as to hear him. A spirit of enthusiasm has been aroused and the speech of our much-beloved senator will do much to aid the party in rounding up a glorious victory at the approaching election in November.

The Party in His Hands.

Fayetteville, Oct. 25.—A. L. McCaskill, Fayetteville's postmaster, and a Federal officeholder, issues a hand bill with the head, "McCaskill," advertising appointments in Cumberland county to speak in behalf of the county Republican ticket and offering to divide time with Democrats. This is not signed by the chairman of the party's executive committee, as is the rule in every canvass, but is, in effect a bold avowal that the conduct of the party is in his hands.

In the Republican nominating convention, McCaskill proposed all the nominations except two, and so dominated the meeting that a leader of his own party, Musselwhite, of Hope Mills, arose and appealed to Cumberland Republicans not to have their whole convention nominees and platform run by a Federal officeholder. Here is a civil service object lesson.

Gave Life for Others.

Spartanburg, S. C., Oct. 25.—Newton Tillison, flagman at the Southern Railway's Magnolia street crossing, died this morning as the result of injuries sustained yesterday, being hit by train No. 37. He attempted to prevent a team from crossing ahead of the incoming train and to save the lives of two aged occupants of the vehicle.

The act of heroism was witnessed by a crowd of people at the station who agree that Tillison received the fatal injuries in order to save the others.

He was 36 years old and had been employed by the Southern for many years at one time being baggage master at the depot.

Negro Lynched by Cowboys.

Roswell, N. M., Oct. 26.—"Stat" Pitts, a negro who was run out of town two weeks ago, after serving 30 days for violating the Edmunds act, was lynched by cowboys at Toyah, Tex., yesterday. The accessory, a white woman, followed the negro to Toyah, and they were living together. The cowboys went in the night and placed a rope around the neck of the negro. He was dragged to death and then hanged.

FOODS WILL LOOK DIFFERENT.

Enforcement of Pure Food Law After January 1, 1907, Will Take Off the Market Many Preparations Now Bear to the Housewife and Will Render Others Unrecognizable—Purity Will Take Place of Attractive Looks.

Washington, Oct. 27.—An epoch in the food supplies of Americans will be marked by New Year's day, 1907. On that date the pure food law will become effective. It practically, in many respects, will revolutionize the preparation of food stuffs intended for sale in this country. Appearances of foods and kinds of foods that all of us have been accustomed to in the past either will pass out of existence or will be so changed as to be almost unrecognizable.

Under the new law under the regulations which have been adopted to make it effective, the lovely colorings which heretofore have been used to make various foods and delicacies particularly attractive will be eliminated from all food products. No chemical dyes, usually they have been aniline, will be permitted in the preparation of foods and no substance may be employed to improve the flavor or the appearance of any foods that is considered by the Agricultural department experts to be deleterious to health.

Heretofore the coloring of foods has been an art studied to an extent even greater than the healthfulness of the product. The chemist has been able to make any old kind of refuse appear luscious or palatable. Vegetables, particularly peas, were made to look as if they had just come from the pods, although they may have been canned for months. Meats of various kinds were given a bright red color that lent a most appetizing appearance to them. Tomatoes were colored so that when the can containing them was opened they looked as though they had just been plucked from the vines. As a matter of fact, the tomatoes which are canned, for the most part, are picked when green. They then are ripened in the dark and painted in course of preparation with aniline dyes that give them the beautiful color that makes them tempting. The brilliantly-colored Maraschino cherry, that one which has been gulped so often from the bottom of a cocktail, will pass out of existence and in its place perhaps will be a dull looking cherry that nobody would think twice about flavoring a drink with.

Tomato catsup will fade in color and the brightly-colored canned bacon will cease to appeal to the eye. Vinegars will not be so clear as before, but they will be sourer. In fact, all of the highly decorated food stuffs will disappear forever and in their places will be similar stuffs that may not look so appetizing, but will taste better.

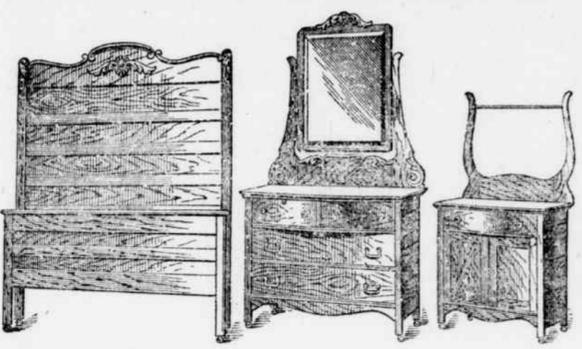

Many little articles which the housewife has been accustomed to order from the grocery will be different after January 1st. No longer will she get "picnic ham" made of refuse pork and beef; "potted chicken" will be real chicken, if it can be bought at all, and not stale veal; no more glucose "maple syrup" will be on the market; and the olive oil will not be cotton-seed oil.

Less than 20 per cent. of the "Mocha" and "Java" coffee sold in this country is what it purports to be. Heretofore when one buys coffee he will get Brazilian or Mexican coffee, which will taste just as good as the former "Mocha" and "Java."

It is said that the prospect of the rigid enforcement of the pure food law already has caused one man to commit suicide. Not being able longer to fool the people, he concluded that life was not worth living.

THE RECORD OF JUDGE ADAMS.

The Man Who Delivered the Most Infamous Charge Ever Heard in North Carolina Put Forward as Leader of the So-Called "Respectable Republican Party."

Raleigh News and Observer.

A prominent citizen of Moore county writes: "Please give the record of ex-Judge Spencer B. Adams when he was on the Superior court bench. The people of this county would like to know his record."

In response to this request we print below a statement from the Whiteville News, printed in 1898, during the week that Judge Adams was holding court in Columbus county. At that time, when the city of Wilmington and other eastern towns were so fully under the domination of negroes and their infamous white allies, the conditions in North Carolina were such that the charge to the jury was calculated to inflame the baser passions of the negroes and to result in the worst of crimes. The article in the Whiteville News, detailing the infamous and horrible charge by Adams stirred the people of the state from mountains to sea and it was one of the moving causes that aroused them in the celebrated campaign of 1898 to drive from power the Republican party that was then disgracing the state in executive, legislative and judiciary branches. In all the history of North Carolina no such infamous charge was ever delivered by a judge in this state. The article from the News is as follows:

"He (Judge Adams) reached the climax, however, when he came to discuss fornication and adultery. He said that 'NINE TIMES OUT OF TEN IF YOU WILL CHASE DOWN THE FELLOWS WHO ARE GOING ABOUT TRYING TO STIR UP RACE PREJUDICE YOU WILL FIND THEM SLEEPING WITH A NEGRO WOMAN.'"

"When we consider that numbers of as good people as there are in the state are going about stirring up race prejudice," as he would doubtless call it, HIS STATEMENT BECOMES A MOST SWEEPING VILIFICATION AND ONE WHICH CANNOT PROPERLY BE CHARACTERIZED IN TEMPERATE LANGUAGE. And he said this with a kind of 'Remember the Maine' expression on his countenance which seemed to indicate his regret that there was not a law by which Democratic speakers and papers could be stopped from telling the people of the foothold which negro supremacy has obtained under the present administration.

"And this was not all, proceeding to the question of rape, he argued to the jury that it was a lesser offense than seduction because the only difference was, he said, that one was committed by force and the other by fraud. It required some courage for the former, he had rather his purse was stolen by a highwayman than by deception.

"WE MAY NOT BE SURPRISED THAT ASSAULTS UPON WHITE WOMEN BY BRUTES—the lowest crime in the eyes of the law as well as of men to which depravity can descend—ARE SO ALARMINGLY ON THE INCREASE WHEN A JUDGE ON THE BENCH ATTEMPTS TO MINIMIZE ITS HEINOUSNESS and argues to a grand jury that it is less a crime than one for which the most extreme penalty is a term in the penitentiary."

Nobody has ever denied the facts set forth in the above article. The Whiteville News was edited by a gentleman noted for his accuracy of judgment and integrity and devotion to his calling, as well as adherence to good government and that white supremacy which the ex-judge has consistently assailed during his whole political career.

The Republican orators, under his leadership—or rather the name of leadership, for Adams is a puppet—have the effrontery to come before the people of North Carolina and ask return to power. They say that now the negro has been disfranchised their party is as white a party as the Democratic party, and their orators and leaders have tried to cast suspicion of wrong-doing upon Democratic officials. Every statement they have made has fallen flat and has reacted and injured the men who have misrepresented a clean and honest administration.

To show the shame of the Republican party and how they insult the intelligence of North Carolina people, the men they have put in the front in this fight are the very men whose official conduct was condemned and repudiated in 1898 and 1900. The state chairman selected to lead the movement for a "decent Republican party" is one of the men whose judicial conduct in 1898 was such that the people drove him from the bench in 1898 and defeated him by the biggest majority for governor in 1900 that was ever given against any candidate for any office in the whole history of the state, and yet he is a leader put forth to criticize Governor Glenn and all the other members of the administration, whose record is known to deserve the warm approval of the whole state and without taint of dishonesty or incendiarism. Are we to have Adams back in control of North Carolina with the recollection of his incendiary charge to the jury in Columbus county?

It is bad enough for a man in a campaign speech under the heat and the enthusiasm and the feeling of the moment to indulge in inflammatory and incendiary utterances, but for a judge on the bench, delivering a charge to the jury, to put crime in the minds of negroes already inflamed by political power and offices given them by Adams and his crowd, is a wrong beyond any other wrong that any public man in the South can commit. It is a wrong that will never be forgotten or forgiven and Judge Adams will never live to see the day when people will forget or forgive his infamous charge in Columbus in 1898. There are but two other acts that have never happened in North Carolina that deserve the eternal and unforgiving resentment of the people of the state. When Russell and Butler conspired with bondholders, while they were trusted as governor and senator, they put themselves outside the pale of recognition of people who wish decent government. Adams did the same thing in his charge at Whiteville.

Bear in mind that the two men who are leading the Republican party in North Carolina today are Adams and Butler—the two men who have committed the unpardonable sin. People ought to rise up in their wrath and rebuke in an unmistakable way the shame of these disreputable politicians who assume that the people have forgotten their sins when the Republican party was in power in 1895 and 1898.

An Important Order Issued by the Corporation Commission.

An order effective November 1 is just made by the corporation commission with a view to eliminating the much complained of evil unexplained late trains by requiring the railroads to give proper information of conditions and causes. The order is to the effect that all railroads shall provide bulletin boards on which shall be posted the arrival and departure of trains thirty minutes before they are due. If a train is late the board shall show as nearly as possible when it is expected. If indefinitely late the cause of the delay shall also be bulletined and also announced to the passengers of the delayed train together with a statement of possible duration of the delay. The full text of the order which is designated as "Circular No. 79" follows:

"Rule No. 13 of the rules governing the transportation of passengers is repealed and the following is substituted: 'It shall be the duty of every railway company operating a railroad in this state to place a bulletin board in a conspicuous place at each of its ticket offices, upon which shall be bulletined the time that each train, upon which passengers are hauled, is due to arrive and depart under its published schedule. 'It shall also be the duty of each railway company at each telegraph station upon its line, thirty (30) minutes before the time that its said trains are due to arrive at such station, to bulletin the fact upon said board, as to whether said train is on time or not, and if behind schedule time to state, as nearly as can be approximated, the time it is behind, and, whenever there is an indefinite delay of a passenger train, it shall be the duty of the railroad company to cause to be bulletined at all of such stations, the cause of such delay, and the probable continuation thereof, and the passengers aboard such train shall also be informed of the probable delay; it shall also be the duty of the railroad company to cause its bulletins of all delayed trains to be corrected from time to time as the entries thereon may be ascertained by them to be incorrect.'"

A Moonshiner's Target.

Raleigh, Oct. 24—Deputy United States Marshal Joseph B. Jordan, of Cary, was shot at five times today near Youngville while in search of a moonshiner. He found the latter at a hitherto unknown still distillery. The man ran. Jordan seized the still, put it in a buggy and was driving off when the moonshiner, from ambush, fired five shots. He then showed himself, thinking he had killed Jordan. He was positively identified. The shot struck Jordan's face and neck. His injuries are not serious. His wounds were dressed at Cary. Jordan and a posse are now in the Youngville section looking for the man who did the shooting and for other moonshiners of his gab.

Southern Pacific Facing a Great Strike.

New Orleans, Oct. 24—Following the discharge of ten men by Master Mechanic J. P. Nolan, all the machinists and laborers employed by the Southern Pacific at Algiers, struck today. Fourth Vice President, Thomas L. Wilson, of the International Machinists' Union, who is here from Washington, says that the strike will extend over all the Southern Pacific lines unless the trouble is adjusted.

THE BEST MAN IN JAIL.

Irate Buncombe Father Issues Warrant for Son-in-Law for Abduction and for Best Man for Perjury.

Asheville, Oct. 24—B. W. Warren, of Biltmore, an employe of George W. Vanderbilt, is kicking up all kinds of a row because of the marriage Saturday of his daughter, whom he alleges is just 13 years of age. The irate father has taken revenge on the best man at the wedding, one German Souther, who secured the marriage license, and that young man now languishes in jail in default of $300 bond on a perjury charge.

Yesterday Mr. Warren swore out warrants for his son-in-law and also for young Souther, the unlucky one who secured the marriage license. The son-in-law is charged with seduction and abduction. The best man's warrant charges perjury. He was arrested and taken before Magistrate M. A. Creaman, held under $300 bond and in default remanded to jail. It is understood that Mr. Warren will shortly institute suit against Register of Deeds Fortune for issuing a license to a minor without consent of the parent. The officers have been requested by Mr. Warren to keep a lookout for his son-in-law, Harley Young, and when that gentleman is once taken he will doubtless be prosecuted to the full extent of the law by the enraged father.

When Mr. Warren, the father, learned of the nuptial event, by failure of the couple to return home, he was mad through and through. He went on the warpath and Sunday overtook the bride and groom. A hot discussion ensued and it is alleged that before the groom gave up his bride to her father took a crack or two at the old man with a pistol. The father returned to his home with his daughter, but later she escaped. Last night she again returned to her father's house. The young husband, however, has not been heard from.

Held in Pittsburg for Fraud.

Pittsburg, Oct. 24—Harold Shemwell, said to be a prominent North Carolinian, was held for court today in the sum of $2,000 bail by Alderman James V. McMaisters, on an information charging false pretense preferred by James O'Hara Casenove, also of North Carolina. Casenove paid Shemwell $10,000 in part payment for the rights in a patent furniture brace in certain states, and came to this city with Shemwell to close the negotiations. It is said relatives learned of the transaction and after talking with Casenove suit was entered. Shemwell says his dealings with Casenove were legitimate.

Rev. G. T. Rowe, D. D., pastor of Central Methodist church, Asheville, and one of the most brilliant young men in the state, served notice on his congregation Sunday that he intends hereafter to not limit himself to fashionable short sermons but to preach as long as he pleases, and that if they don't like it they can go to the conference at Mt. Airy in November and get a pastor whose sermons are short enough.

Dr. Matthews Must Serve Twenty-Year Sentence.

Of the opinions handed down by the Supreme court yesterday there were several of importance.

In the appeal of Dr. J. B. Matthews, the Greensboro wife murderer, the court construes the statute defining the several degrees of murder from the converse point of view from that taken when it was first construed in the case of State vs. Fatter.

In the Fuller case the court held that while the killing with a deadly weapon was presumptive malice, the burden was upon the state to show that the homicide was done under such aggravated circumstances as to bring it within the degree of premeditation requisite to constitute murder in the first degree.

While in the present case the construction is that the use of the words "poison, lying in wait, etc.," in the statute in which murder in the first degree is defined constitute a presumption of a premeditated killing, the burden of rebutting which is upon the defendant.

The Matthews appeal was practically unique in that the prisoner, who had been convicted of murder in the second degree, waived all other exceptions and contended that, since he was proven to have killed his wife by poison the verdict should have been either murder in the first degree or acquittal; and that, failing to convict of first degree murder, there should be an arrest of judgment by which he would regain his liberty.

The court, however, holds that it was within the discretion of the jury to find him guilty of the lesser offense and that there could be two degrees of murder, even where the agency of death used was poison.

Watch Your Tickets.

A favorite trick at elections is to print a regular Democratic ticket with the name of some Republican inserted, in the hope of getting Democratic votes. It has often been worked in this county and with success in some instances and will no doubt be tried again this year. There is a law against mutilation of tickets—the marking and changing of names—unless done by the voter himself, but there is no law against inserting printed names on any regular ticket, so that it would be well to scan all tickets at the polls closely and see that they are straight.

Opening and Closing Hours.

The polls open at sunrise, 6:41 A. M., next Tuesday morning, and close at sunset, 5:06 P. M. Every Democratic worker in the county should "get busy" between those hours and see that the full strength of his party is represented by the ballots cast. Everything depends on getting out the vote. With the favorable registration just completed it will not be difficult to pile up a handsome majority. Turn out early next Tuesday and WORK.

HALF A HUNDRED KILLED.

Electric Train Plunges Through a Drawbridge Near Atlantic City With Appalling Results.

Fifty-three people lost their lives and a score or more were seriously injured in an unusual accident which occurred on the electric line of the West Jersey and Seashore Railway a mile from Atlantic City Sunday afternoon, three cars jumping the track while crossing a drawbridge over a small stream and plunging into the twenty feet of tide-water underneath. The last car of the train hung against an abutment for a moment before toppling into the water and all its occupants escaped after a frantic effort, but the other two cars went down instantly carrying their loads of human freight and only a few people were able to break from their submerged prisons and reach shore alive. The drawbridge had been closed, after the passage of a fishing schooner, just as the train reached the bridge, and a probable insecure adjustment of the rails caused the awful catastrophe. Late reports indicate that at least fifty-three persons lost their lives there, while a number will probably die from their injuries. Six or eight people are yet unaccounted for.

Block Blown in the Air.

Topeka, Kans., Oct. 28.—Two persons were killed, one is missing, four were seriously injured, and twenty more were hurt in a terrific explosion of natural gas that demolished five two-story buildings at Coffeyville, Kans., today.

It is supposed that the gas escaped from a main somewhere in the block. The buildings were in a row on East Eighth street, and were occupied by a real estate office, three stores and a restaurant. The second floors of all the buildings were occupied by roomers. The block of five buildings were leveled to the ground, and only broken bricks, shattered lumber, and twisted iron remain. The buildings and the stocks in them were not insured against explosion.

A fire broke out after the explosion, but the flames were quickly extinguished, as little was left to burn. Several persons were buried in the debris, but they were rescued with only slight injuries. One little girl, a daughter of S. D. Frasier, of the Kansas Land Company, was under the timber and brick for twenty minutes, but was taken out unharmed.

Bynum Homestead Sold.

Winston-Salem, Oct. 29.—Mr. Chap Bodehamer, of this city, has purchased from ex-Judge W. P. Bynum, of Charlotte, the old Bynum homestead near Germantown, the consideration being $10,000. The farm contains over 400 acres and is one of the most valuable in the piedmont section. It contains over 200 acres of fine timber, pine, oak, and hickory. In addition there is much fertile bottom land on the place. Mr. Bodehamer is arranging to move to his new possession.

After the sale of his farm, ex-Judge Bynum consented to a request made by Col. Joseph Morehead, of Greensboro, to have the remains of Col. Joseph Winston, interred in the Bynum graveyard, examined and removed to the Guilford Battle Ground. This will probably be done within the next two weeks.

Hon. W. W. Kitchin's Appointments.

Mr. Chas. T. Wilson, chairman of the Fifth district Democratic congressional executive committee, favors us with a list of twenty-eight appointments arranged for Congressman W. W. Kitchin in this district. Following are the times and places fixed for Guilford, Alamance, Forsyth, Rockingham and Stokes counties:

GUILFORD COUNTY.

Greensboro, Wednesday, Oct. 31, night. Summerfield, Thursday, Nov. 1, day. High Point, Thursday, Nov. 1, night. Speaking at the day appointments will begin at one o'clock, and at the night appointments at seven o'clock. Everybody is cordially invited to be present.

Do You Want It?

The election of a Republican sheriff of this county means the appointment of at least twenty deputies of that faith. Do the people want to have their business put in the hands of such men? A vote for Hodgins is in this direction. Mr. Hodgins himself might desire to appoint only the best men in his party, but a man cannot always do this. There are political debts to pay and the men who do the work must be given the jobs. It is not a question of what Mr. Hodgins is or what he would do; it is what he would have to do. From personal reasons a voter might desire to vote for him, but it does not end at this. A vote for him is the same as voting for twenty other Republicans.

A Lucky Postmistress

is Mrs. Alexander, of Cary, Me., who has found Dr. King's New Life Pills to be the best remedy she ever tried for keeping the Stomach, Liver and Bowels in perfect order. You'll agree with her if you try these painless purifiers that infuse new life. Guaranteed by all druggists. Price 25c.

Notice to Registrars.

Registrars will please see if they have at their respective precincts four ballot boxes, and if they have not, please send to Greensboro for them at once. The expense of sending them out will be paid by the Chairman of County Board of Elections. The boxes should be labeled as follows:

State, Congressional, County, Township. Labels can be procured from the undersigned upon application.

A. WAYLAND COOKE, Chairman County Board of Elections, Oct. 31, 1906

H. J. Bivins, a special officer employed by the Seaboard Air Line at Raleigh, is held there without bail for killing W. H. Bryson, of Chatham county, who was beating a ride on a train when he was discovered by the officer. Bryson was shot in the leg and struck with a billy. The officer claims he acted in self defense.

GENERAL NEWS.

Colored people are being driven from the town of Franklin, Ohio, because of the murder of Policeman Basore, who was shot down by a negro named George White, suspected of recent robberies there. An ineffectual attempt was made to lynch White.

The Supreme court of the United States has refused to assume jurisdiction in the controversy of Mayor Rose, of Kansas City, Kan. A fine of $1,000 was imposed against Rose by the Supreme court of Kansas for assuming office as mayor after he had been deposed on a charge of failure to enforce the liquor laws of the state. The effect of the court's action will be to leave the sentence of the state court in effect.

The retail merchants' association of Winston has begun a movement to have the Southern divert a couple of its through passenger trains from the main line and send them from Greensboro via Winston, Barber Junction, Mooresville and Charlotte. The distance is nineteen miles greater and the Southern will hardly consent to the arrangement.

The old Chamber of Commerce building, at Kansas City, which had been converted into a lodging house, burned Thursday morning and nearly a score of people lost their lives. Numbers were seriously wounded in their efforts to escape from the big building, which had caught fire on the first floor, making the flames uncontrollable.

The Alaskan Railway Company with a capital of $5,000,000 has been chartered in New Jersey, as a result of action between Russian officials and American capitalists, and with the purpose of running a railroad tunnel under Behring strait so that a railroad train could be run from New York to Paris.

The United States rice crop is expected to exceed 4,000,000 bags this year.

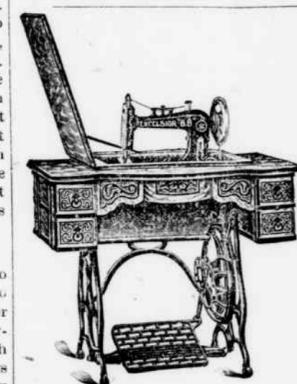

Political conditions in the Eighth and Tenth districts are eminently satisfactory to the Democrats. Mr. Hackitt will unquestionably win in his contest with Congressman Blackburn, if surface indications can be relied upon, while Mr. Crawford will pile up an increased Democratic majority in the Tenth district.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

Let the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his strength soon fails. Physical strength is derived from food. If a man has insufficient food he loses strength. If he has no food he dies. Food is converted into nutrition through the stomach and bowels. It depends on the strength of the stomach to what extent food eaten is digested and assimilated. People can die of starvation who have abundant food to eat, when the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition do not perform their duty. Thus the stomach is really the vital organ of the body. If the stomach is "weak" the body will be weak also, because it is upon the stomach the body relies for its strength. And as the body, considered as a whole, is made up of its several members and organs, so the weakness of the body as a consequence of "weak" stomach will be distributed among the organs which compose the body. If the body is weak because it is ill-nourished that physical weakness will be found in all the organs—heart, liver, kidneys, etc. The liver will be torpid and inactive, giving rise to biliousness, loss of appetite, weak nerves, feeble or irregular action of heart, palpitation, dizziness, headache, backache and kindred disturbances and weaknesses.

Mr. Louis Pare, of Quebec, writes: "For years after my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, and my stomach was sore all the time, while everything I would eat would seem to be heavy like lead on my stomach. Three doctors claimed that it was sympathetic trouble due to dyspepsia, and prescribed for me, and although I took their powders regularly yet I felt no better. My wife advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—and stop taking the doctor's medicine. She bought me a bottle and we soon found that I began to improve, so I kept up the treatment. I took on flesh, my stomach became normal, the digestive organs worked perfectly and I soon began to look like a different person. I can never cease to be grateful for what your medicine has done for me and I certainly give it highest praise." Don't be misled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

To gain knowledge of your own body—in the interest of health—send for the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A book of 1008 pages. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

GIBSONVILLE ITEMS.

Mr. Alfred May, who was quite sick, is much better.
 Dr. Bowman is having the plastering put on his new store rooms.
 Mrs. Hannah Sockwell is visiting her son John and family this week.
 Solon Murry and wife went to Graham Sunday to visit the latter's parents.
 Mrs. Matilda Boon, who was so seriously sick so long, is rapidly recovering.
 Misses Florence and Louise Wayne have been on the sick list for a week or more.
 Mr. C. A. Bradshaw and family will be installed in their new home this week.
 Mrs. H. P. Bowman hopes to move into her new millinery store in a short while.
 The Mineola Company is putting up a nice residence for Mr. Mangum, their superintendent.
 Rev. A. S. Raper preached a very interesting sermon in the M. P. Church here Sunday night.
 Mr. Ralph Steele, of Greensboro, visited his father and family Sunday, returning Sunday night.
 Mr. J. W. Burke visited his wife and baby in Greensboro Sunday and Sunday night, returning to Gibsonville Monday morning.
 Mr. Will Isely had a growth cut off his leg last week at St. Leo's hospital.

He is now walking around as though nothing had happened.
 Rev. Haymore filled his regular appointments in the Baptist church Sunday morning and night, preaching to good sized and interested audiences.
 A Reformation sermon will be preached in Frieden's church next Sunday by the supply pastor, who will close his fourth month's service. All members are requested to be present.
 The brick work on Dr. Jordan's large three story building is nearing completion. The Dr. is also preparing to build an addition to the store rooms of the Gibsonville Drug Company and J. W. Burke and Co.
 Why is it that the "Industrial News" can't give a correct report of the speakings of the Democratic candidates? It stated that the Democratic candidate spoke in Gibsonville Friday afternoon to a small crowd. The fact is that they spoke Friday night, and the Masonic hall, where they spoke, which holds two or three hundred people, was filled with a delighted and enthusiastic audience, which was charmed with the able and excellent speeches of Prof. Holt and Mr. Justice.

SUMMERFIELD ITEMS.

Another wedding is booked for this village soon.
 Mr. D. C. Doggett, of Madison, is here for a few days.
 Mrs. J. W. Thorp has been quite feeble for some time.
 Miss Bessie Case, of Greensboro, is visiting friends here.
 Miss Josie Benbow, of Oak Ridge, is visiting Miss Cam Rhodes.
 Miss Bessie Sutton, of your city, spent some time here this week.
 Mrs. Geo. Dalton has returned from a visit to her sister in Davie county.
 Mr. R. W. Burton has returned from Roxboro where he spent several days.
 Mr. John Staples, of Sparatnburg, S. C., is a visitor at Mr. J. B. Smith's.

 Married at the residence of Mr. S. J. Ellington on the evening of the 21st, Miss Susie Ledbetter, to Mr. Monroe Lee. R. V. Harris, Esq., officiated.
 Died in this place on the 17th inst. after a long and painful illness, Aunt Lizzie Pass, wife of Uncle Green Pass. She was one of our best known colored women and will be greatly missed by all of her neighbors. She was perfectly willing to die and be at rest.
GUILFORD COLLEGE ITEMS.
 Prof. Newlin returned last week from a trip to Philadelphia in the interest of the college.
 Mr. W. A. White spent Sunday night at Guilford with his children who are here in school.
 Miss Ida Millis spent Saturday and Sunday at home returning to her school Sunday afternoon.

 Dr. Lewis, of Raleigh, who was to have lectured at the college Saturday evening, failed to get here.
 Mr. Wm. E. Cummings, who lives some two miles west of Guilford College, lost his dwelling house and barn by fire last Sunday a little after noon. The fire started in the kitchen, supposed to have caught from the stove flue. The wind was blowing considerably and the fire spread so rapidly that they saved very little of the furniture, only a few chairs and a little bedding. The wind soon carried the fire to the barn, which was also entirely burned to the ground. The live stock was saved. They managed to save the granary where most of his wheat and corn were stored. Mr. Cummings carried no insurance, so the loss falls heavy on a man of his age, being over seventy years old. He is a good citizen and his house was well provided with good furniture.

WHITSETT ITEMS.

Mr. C. N. Norwood, of Chapel Hill, is visiting here.
 Mr. J. F. Swift visited Greensboro on business Thursday last.

Thomas—Whitehead.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Whitehead was the scene of an interesting wedding on last Tuesday at eleven o'clock A. M. when their daughter Lela Alice became the bride of Mr. Amick H. Thomas. The ceremony was performed in a most impressive manner by Rev. Dr. J. B. Richardson, of High Point, in the presence of a large attendance of relatives and friends. Promptly at the appointed time and amid the strains of the wedding march admirably rendered by Mrs. D. M. Weatherly the bridal party entered the beautifully decorated parlor where the two plighted their troth and the solemn and impressive words were spoken which made them husband and wife. The attendants were Mr. E. C. Watkins and Miss Nora Whitehead, cousin of the bride, Miss Jessie Whitehead acting as ribbon bearer. The bride was becomingly attired in a gray traveling costume with hat to match. The numerous and elegant gifts gave evidence of the popularity of the happy young couple. The bride is one of the most charming young ladies of Rameur, while the groom is one of our most popular and successful business men. After the ceremony and the happy congratulations of those present the couple took the twelve o'clock train, and after spending several days in Washington City and other places they will return to their friends and home in Rameur. May the brightest anticipations of a happy wedlock be fully realized.

 He Tells About the Opening Appointment of the Republican County Candidates.
 Concord Schoolhouse, Oct. 26.
 EDITOR PATRIOT: Quite elaborate preparations were made for a record breaking crowd here today at the opening appointment of the Republican county candidates. Quite a lot of refreshments were prepared in advance in the way of pickles, crackers, etc., but these went begging for lack of a crowd. The crowd doubtless numbered between 30 and 35, besides the candidates. This audience was made up of several persons from Randolph county, about twelve persons from Greensboro, five or six Democrats, three revenue officers and Col. Ab. Holt, of High Point. Candidate Frazier spoke of tin plates and the tariff. He was not long in doing it but he fully satisfied all the Republicans present. The American people a favor by allowing the tariff boards to charge them more for a stated article than they charge for the same article when sold in Mexico to a Greaser. Col. Pearson, the secretary of the state Republican committee also spoke, giving the people of Sumner a rebash of the speech he made in the court house in Greensboro one night last week. There was absolutely no enthusiasm. There was nothing to become enthusiastic about. It looked like a crowd which could have been induced to become enthusiastic if it had half a chance. None of the candidates beside Mr. Frazier attempted a speech. In fact, they did not even make their announcements, but had others do so for them. This first onslaught of the Republican candidates was a corker. The meeting wound up with a harangue by R. V. Mr. Hall, of Sumner township. TAB-KEEPER.

New Coats and Furs

The New Coats Are a Most Charming Display

Here now, new and stylish, is every kind of Coat the season calls for. Each offers its own helpful suggestion in choice, and is quite different from any ever shown before.

Long Coats are the favorites, and of these we have the latest designs. Loose, graceful models and fitted effects, in correct materials and shades, plain, neatly tailored or elegantly trimmed. There is variety for every taste. The display is wonderfully pleasing and the values are equally so.

Some of the handsomest, in certain cases, are very low priced. Coats like these, for example: Long Loose Coats of diagonal worsted in mixtures of gray and black, neat collar of gray velvet, strappings and buttons of the material, touches of velvet, novelty pockets.

Full Showing of New Furs

True, you may not need them just yet, but you'll enjoy seeing this beautiful display of new Furs.

Many are buying them, nevertheless, because they know that better selection can be made while the stock is so great and all the newest Furs are first being shown. There was never a gathering here as attractive as this. The choicest Furs are there, and among them about every new and fashionable kind.

Handsome pieces in Mink, Squirrel and Fox, all the different varieties, shown in single and double coats with muffs to match. There are very stylish and beautiful Gray Squirrel Sets, Muff and Boa, for $11.75 and of a finer quality at $18. Extremely handsome Sets in Mink and Fox at $15 to $30.

There are many little Scarfs and Neck Pieces in the showing that seem just suited for the first cool days. Some are very low priced from $1 up.

The time is certainly extraordinary for choosing from best Furs exactly

AN ADDRESS TO NORTH CAROLINIANS BY A NORTH CAROLINIAN.

Delivered by R. M. Bartley, of Greensboro, at the Non-Residents Reunion held at Warren, Ind., September 5th and 6th, 1906.

Pittsboro, Indiana, Sun.

Mr. Chairman, Gentlemen and Ladies: The privilege of speaking from this platform in the presence of so distinguished a company on an occasion like this fills me with the deepest emotion. I am delighted to be with you; my heart has been filled with joy as I have met so many of my old friends. North Carolinians feel very near to me; there is a relative tie and kindred feeling in mind, if I have never met them before.

These local reunions are grand and profitable occasions where old acquaintances and friends connected with the present generation meet and spend some time in a social way during our journey through life.

North Carolina is a grand old state with a grand past and a grander future. In my boyhood days the school books were wont to describe North Carolina as noted chiefly for the production of "tar and turpentine." It is true that many years ago tar and turpentine were largely produced in the state, and it was from this circumstance that the name "Tar Heel" was given to us—applied originally as a term of reproach. I and the other sons of North Carolina accept it proudly, for if the indelible stain of tar is on our heel yet an abiding love for the Old North State is imbedded in our hearts and an un fading memory of her is impressed upon our minds. It has often been asked, "What is a Tar Heel?" The first description of a tar heel is given by Homer in the Iliad and the Odyssey. When Achilles was born his mother, Thetis, to make him immortal, took him by the heels and dipped him in the River Styx, now known as Tar River. The magic water rendered his body invulnerable. But Thetis forgot to stick his heels under, and so Achilles was mortal in the heels and the well-aimed arrow of Paris struck him on the shins and laid him low. Achilles was not a tar heel, but history gives us a satisfactory description of tar heel as follows: "A tar heel is the sort of heel the other fellow hasn't got." A negative definition is better than none.

Achilles, for all his brag and bluster, was weak in his shins, and, like an Afro-Grecian in North Carolina today, would travel in a Jim-crow car.

It has been said that North Carolina is a good state to move from. The colonial governor found it so; and Lord Cornwallis, after the battle of Guilford, was of the same opinion. It is said to be a good state to be born and raised in. A man who has lived in North Carolina 25 years is thereby qualified to be governor of any other state. People have moved from North Carolina to every other state in the Union, but few have moved to North Carolina. Her sons have done great deeds and thought great thoughts wherever they have gone. No statesmen have surpassed them in integrity, purity and patriotism; no soldiers have equaled them in steadfastness, endurance and fortitude. They were born North Carolinians and trained in North Carolina virtues; they loved the family fireside and all the fireside means. They still love it, and though they dwell now in cities or on plains they long to go to the state of their birth and see again the people who live as they lived in their youth; to see again the Old North State where people do not grow old before their time; where youth is buoyant and virile, manhood strong and sturdy, and old age full of dignity, honor and self-respect.

The Guilford Battle Ground Company was organized May 16, 1887, at Greensboro, N. C. It has redeemed from waste the battlefield of Guilford Court House, adorned it for a park and erected monuments thereon. The company owns one hundred acres of this battlefield, which is laid off in walks, drives and avenues. There are upon it twenty-three monuments already completed. Five delightful springs are fitted up. Lake Wilfong on the grounds is a lovely sheet of water. The Museum of Relics is a most valuable and interesting feature. The battle was fought between General Greene and Lord Cornwallis March 15, 1781, and the British were driven from the state, and here was struck the blow which drove Cornwallis from the state and broke the power of Great Britain in the southern department, at that moment a consummate essential to American independence. Indeed, a hundred years passed before the children of this state knew the significance of the battle of Guilford Court House. They had all learned the story of Bunker Hill in the public schools, but few outside of the immediate descendants of the heroes of that battle knew that the battle of Guilford Court House made Yorktown possible.

North Carolinians in every decade have made glorious history; but they have not written it. For a dozen years the chief celebration of the natal day of the Republic has been fittingly observed on the battlefield of Guilford Court House. But comparatively few of the 37,079 native born North Carolinians now residing in other states have ever turned their faces to this North Carolina Mecca.

One of the practical results of the reunion movement has been to show the mutual advantages of organization of non-residents into North Carolina societies in our larger cities and elsewhere. By such organizations I believe there is no more pleasant duty confronting any man than to keep green the memory of his native state and to go there as often as he can with reverence and gratitude.

It has been said that Israel got out of Egypt in forty-eight hours. But it took forty years to get Egypt out of Israel. And a North Carolinian can get out of his native state in twenty-four hours, but all time and eternity can never take North Carolina out of him.

Many men give lavishly of gold, to build bridges and castles and towers of old.

If you want everlasting fame, a benefactor be. Give the poor and needy Rocky Mountain Tea.

Republican orators are calling on the voters to send Republican congressmen back to Washington to sustain Roosevelt in his trust-busting programme. What hypocrisy! Every well-informed citizen knows that but for the solid front of the Democrats in the House and Senate, there would have been no reform legislation. The letter of President Roosevelt last winter to Chairman Wadsworth in criticizing the bill for meat inspection shows that trusts controlled the Republicans. Roosevelt says "in every place where you made changes they have been for the worse, and in fact had the packers (the beef trust) written the bill in their own interest. I do not see how it could have been different." This is what Roosevelt said of Wadsworth's bill. It speaks for itself.

This is the season of decay and weakened vitality. Nature is being shorn of its beauty and bloom. If you would retain yours, fortify your system with Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. Gardner's and Holton's Drug Store's.

Good gracious! Stop it, somebody. Tidings come from the Bureau of Entomology at Washington that a new species of bedbug an inch long, with wings and a strong beak, is on its way from Texas.

Valuable Land for Sale.

By virtue of an order of the Superior Court of Guilford county made in the special proceeding, entitled Richard J. Ford, H. H. Ford, Jessie Buckingham and others, ex parte, I will on Monday, November 5, 1906, at the court house door, in the city of Greensboro, at 12 o'clock M., offer for sale to the highest bidder, at public auction, that valuable tract or parcel of land lying and being in Summer township, county of Guilford, state of North Carolina, on Foley Creek, adjoining the lands of J. Davis, S. Hodson and others, and bounded as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a stake, J. Davis and S. Hodson's corner, and running thence north 10 poles to a stone; thence west 92 poles to a pile of stones; thence south 118 poles and 7 links to a white oak; thence west 2 poles to a black oak; thence south 87 poles and 15 links to a stone; thence west 42 poles and 13 links to a post oak; thence south 5 poles to a stone; thence east 155 poles to a pile of stones; thence north 114 poles to a stone; thence east 42 poles to a stone; thence north 41 poles to a stone; thence west 74 poles to the beginning, containing 164 acres, more or less, it being the same tract of land upon which the late William F. Ford was living at the time of his death. Upon this land is a valuable mill site, and the whole farm is well watered. Said farm will be sold subject to the right of dower of the widow of the late William F. Ford upon 65 acres of the same.

I will first offer for sale the whole tract, subject to the widow's right of dower, then that part of the tract not covered by the dower separately, and then that part covered by the dower separately, reserving the right to accept that bid or those bids that bring the most money.

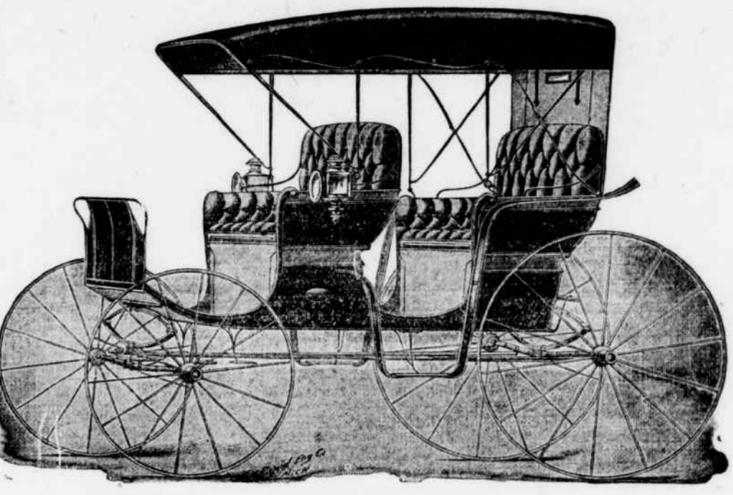

Terms of Sale: One-half cash on day of sale, the residue on a credit of three months, secured by bond bearing 6 per cent. interest from the day of sale. Title reserved until all payments are made.

This October 1, 1906. CHAS. E. McLEAN, Commissioner.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct. 27.—On the eve of entering the Navy department Secretary McIver has been credited with the return that would tend to stamp him as an advocate of a greater navy. It is known that the secretary has been interested in navy matters for a long time. When he was a member of the House in 1890 he was on the committee on the navy, and it is known that he has a staunch support of larger naval appropriations. One of the acts of the committee was to recommend the construction of three battleships, which in that year the navy cut down to two in the interest of economy. The secretary has also expressed views of Oriental question almost every man who has come from the Pacific coast. He believes that we will have work for it in the Pacific in the course of the next few years, so his appointment to the navy department will put him in a position where his inclinations will coincide with the work that he has to do.

It is known that he said only recently that Great Britain had taken the lead in the construction of the battleship "Deadweight," and that he was the first man in the government to realize that Great Britain had stolen a march on the whole world in creating three other battleships of the same type when the building of the three so-called great "Invincible" type was recently announced. It is known that he is thoroughly in favor of the construction of the ten million dollar battleships for which the navy department is now preparing plans, and if he is likely to have a whole squadron of these monsters before his term of office expires.

The question of the trouble with Japan is occupying a large part of the government's attention just now. Ambassador Aoki has made a direct appeal to the State department against the action of the San Francisco school authorities in excluding Japanese students from the mixed public schools in that city. It really seems that this matter, small as it may appear to an outsider, has had more than anything else to do with rousing the resentment of the Japanese government. It happens too that, being a matter of state rights, it is entirely outside the jurisdiction of the Federal government, and the fact that the President can do is to use his personal influence with the San Francisco authorities towards straightening out the tangle. The matter was discussed at the cabinet meeting this week and it was pointed out that now at all times is one of the worst that could be selected for this government to pick a quarrel with Japan. Our far Eastern trade, which received an immense stimulus during the Russo-Japanese war, has been growing rapidly ever since. The figures for the past year are of course not quite so great as when Japan was actually buying war supplies, but the lift that has been given to the trade is not one which American merchants want to lapse. Of course the Pacific coast would be injured much more seriously than any other part of the country should anything occur to stop our commercial development in the Orient, but it is a matter of enough general importance, especially to the cotton interests of the South, to make us wish to keep on good terms with the Japanese.

There is of course a constant contest between commercial firms and the bureaus of the government engaged in productive work of any sort, as to which can turn out the best and most economical work. The result is that there was a very spirited contest this week between outside firms, headed by the American Bank Note Company and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, as to which should get the contract from the Postoffice department for printing the government's supply of stamps. The commercial company won out on the price, much to the chagrin of the bureau, which not only did not like to be beaten on the price of the bid, but which holds it can turn out more and better work than any other institution of its sort in the world. Of course there is still some question as to whether the lower bid of the Bank Note Company will be finally accepted, but the company underbid the bureau on almost every variety of stamp. For the ordinary postage stamps of all denominations, the company cut under the bureau's bid by two cents; the bureau wanting 57 cents per thousand for doing the work. There was even a greater difference on the special delivery stamps, the Commercial Company asking only 10 cents per thousand, while the bureau wanted 15.6. There will be one small variation in the new issue of stamps that will be of interest to stamp collectors. For the twenty-six big offices of the country where the salary is $6,000 or over, the name of the office will be printed on the stamp. This will not be the case with the 5,974 smaller offices. The object of this innovation is to reduce the likelihood of stamp robbery.

A special report from General Greeley has just been issued by the War department showing the part that the soldiers of the regular army played in the San Francisco earthquake and fire disaster. The report is an interesting one and gives the enlisted men of the army credit for the utmost tact and efficiency in their services during that trying period. General Greeley says that while the army has been trained strictly in the professional line of fighting and taking care of itself, it was found that the men and officers displayed immense adaptability and did work of all sorts, not only in policing but in assisting the Red Cross and other special lines that reflected the greatest credit on them.

As the congressional campaign is drawing near, the cabinet officers are fitting out of town and are doing their best to help their party in various sections. Secretary Taft is slated for a tour through Ohio, where he will be used as an off-set to Colonel Bryan, who is now making a whirlwind campaign through the northeastern section of the state.

SUPERINTENDENT JOYNER'S APPEAL.

Public School Teachers of North Carolina Called Upon to Assist in Raising the McIver Memorial Fund.

State of North Carolina, Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. To the Teachers of North Carolina: A movement has been started for the erection of a heroic bronze statue to the memory of Dr. Charles D. McIver, our friend and co-laborer, who has been so suddenly called to his reward at the meridian of his life of usefulness and service. He gave his life to the cause for which we teachers are giving ours. He literally spent himself for us and our cause. No man of this generation of North Carolinians had done so much to ameliorate conditions surrounding the teacher, to dignify and elevate the teacher's work, to bring the public to an appreciation of its value and importance, and to increase the teacher's salary. He was perhaps the ablest, most successful champion of our cause, and certainly none has been more unselfish. Time and time again he sacrificed his own financial interest to remain in our profession and advocate our cause. He was faithful unto death. We honor ourselves in honoring those who serve us. We inspire posterity to emulate their example and to magnify our calling by expressing in lasting and visible form our gratitude and our love to those.

It would seem to me, therefore, unseemly, ungrateful and unwise if the teachers of North Carolina should not have a large part in the contribution of the funds for the erection of a lasting memorial to this great teacher and citizen. If the souls of the departed are cognizant of happenings on earth and responsive to the same divine emotions that men feel here, I know that the soul of Charles D. McIver would be more moved by the contributions to this fund from the meagre earnings of his co-laborers than from those received from any other source.

Believing that the teachers of North Carolina appreciate the work of this great teacher and hold him in grateful remembrance, I appeal to them to bear their part in the raising of this fund, in full confidence that every teacher will deem it a privilege and a pleasure to contribute as liberally as salary and financial conditions will justify. There are 7,005 white teachers in North Carolina. Let no teacher therefore fail to contribute because unable to make a large contribution, for even a small contribution from every one of a large number will amount to much in the aggregate. Please respond promptly, for every effort will be made to raise the funds for the statue at once.

Please send all contributions by post-office order, if possible, to J. Y. Joyner, Raleigh, N. C. Write name and post-office address plainly, so that acknowledgment of the receipt of your contribution may be made.

Very truly yours,
J. Y. JOYNER,
Superintendent of Public Instruction, October 22nd, 1906.

Yellow Fever Steadily Increasing in Cuba.

A special from Washington says many medical officers who have had much experience in Cuba are watching with some anxiety the progress of yellow fever in the island. The principal cause for apprehension is found in the fact that the appearance of the disease at several widely separated points is an evidence that it has gotten away from the medical department in Havana, for past experience shows that all preceding outbreaks of yellow fever throughout the island could be traced directly to the capital. Another disquieting fact is that the disease, beginning with one or two cases last summer, is slowly but apparently steadily increasing in the number of cases, although it has been the rule that the fever markedly diminishes in steady rate during September, October and November.

However, the army surgeons at Washington do not fear a general epidemic but do believe that it will take much hard work, time and money to put Havana in thorough sanitary condition and stamp out the remaining cases of fever.

"Observer" Dissects a Rumored Plan of the Republicans.

EDITOR PATRIOT: It is rumored that the Republicans have centered all their guns on the effort to obtain the office of sheriff. They have been making their bush-whacking campaign all along the line, but now are moving heaven and earth to put in a Republican sheriff. What is the motive in this? The present Republican county chairman is an ex-sheriff and he knows that the office of sheriff is the only county office with an appointing power that amounts to anything. If the Republicans can win the office of sheriff in this campaign they will stand a good chance of putting in their entire county ticket two years hence. Isn't this plain? Suppose a Republican sheriff should appoint Republican deputies all over this county, what tremendous power they could exert! A Republican sheriff with his tax books and his force of deputies would give us a fight in this county two years hence we would not soon forget. Democrats, do your duty now. It is a great deal easier to do it now than regret it hereafter. OBSERVER.

May Proceed Criminally Against Pennsylvania Graters.

Harrisburg, Oct. 26.—State Treasurer Berry, a Democrat, who was elected last year by the reformers, said today that he would recommend to Attorney General Carson that criminal proceedings be instituted against members of the board of public grounds and buildings who contracted for the furnishing and equipment of the new state capitol, which cost the state $43,000,000. Mr. Berry is preparing a letter to the Attorney General, which he expects to have ready to forward on Monday.

Splendid Farm and Valuable Personal Property for Sale!

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1906

(J. HENRY COBLE'S ESTATE.)

Notice is hereby given that on petition of the heirs-at-law of J. H. Coble, deceased, a commissioner appointed by decree of the Superior court of Guilford county will offer for sale at public auction to the last and highest bidder on Wednesday, the 14th day of November, 1906, at the home of said J. H. Coble, near Tabernacle, in Clay township, Guilford county, North Carolina, the tract of land and home place of the said J. H. Coble. This farm consists of about and embraces the Daniel Coble old place and the Julius Kirkman place, and adjoins the lands of James R. Coble, I. L. Trogden and others. The farm is very valuable, being most desirably located in one of the best communities in Guilford county. The land is rolling and well drained, and there is no more healthful farm in the country. There has practically never been any sickness on this farm. It contains uplands, meadows and woodlands in ideal proportions. A good size creek, known as Big Alamance, runs through the farm, and there are two small branches running through other portions. There are large orchards which annually produce an abundance of fruit. The land has been brought up to a high state of production, and is especially adapted to corn, cotton, wheat and all small grains, including grass and clover.

The farm contains one 7-room dwelling, large barn, tool house, two corn cribs, granary, wood house, smoke house, potato house, and two wells of excellent water. In addition to above there are also one 1-room tenement house and one 4-room tenement house with barn nearby. This property is situated about 9 miles southeast of Greensboro, 3 miles east of Climax and 4 miles north of Julian. The Company Mills store and grist mill are one-quarter mile distant and in sight of the place. Within view of the farm also and about one-quarter mile distant are the Tabernacle Methodist Protestant Church and the Tabernacle High School. The property is situated directly on the old public road between Greensboro and Fayetteville, and this road will shortly be macadamized from Greensboro out by this farm. Any one desiring to secure a fine farm, well stocked and splendidly equipped, in a moral, religious and healthful community should not miss this opportunity.

TERMS OF SALE of this land will be one-third cash, one-third in six months and balance in twelve months with 6 per cent. interest on deferred payments.

PERSONAL PROPERTY

Notice is also hereby given that the undersigned, administrators of J. H. Coble, will on the same day sell at public auction to the last and highest bidder for cash all the personal property of the said J. H. PRESIDENT TAKES A HAND.

Head of Department of Commerce and Labor to Make a Thorough Inquiry Into the Situation Affecting the Exclusion of Japanese Children From White Schools.

Washington, Oct. 26.—President Roosevelt tonight directed Victor H. Metcalf, Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, to proceed to San Francisco and make a thorough and complete inquiry into the situation affecting the exclusion of Japanese children from the schools provided for white children and the determination to place Japanese pupils in separate schools. The President is anxious to obtain at first-hand from the cabinet officer, who is acquainted with local conditions in San Francisco, full information affecting every phase of the subject to the end that whatever action is taken by this government may be after an accurate understanding of the situation. The President feels that every effort within the power of the administration should be exerted to see that all the treaty rights claimed by the Japanese for its people residing in the United States should be respected and protected.

AT COUNT AOKI'S REQUEST.

The determination to send Secretary Metcalf to San Francisco was one of the results of the request made by Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador, who at a conference with Secretary Root yesterday, asked in behalf of the government that the Japanese subjects in California be accorded their full rights under the treaty of 1894, including that of the children to attend the public schools in San Francisco. This request was the subject of a very long and earnest discussion at the cabinet meeting today.

Mr. Metcalf will leave Washington tomorrow and will proceed to San Francisco with all possible dispatch. Every facility will be put at his command to make his investigation as thorough as possible under the circumstances as the President is anxious to have the inquiry conducted with all possible expedition in order to have the results at hand without delay. It is hardly likely, however, that any report from Mr. Metcalf will be available before the President leaves on his Panama trip. It is hoped that the expressed desire of the administration to secure the treaty rights of the Japanese will tend to allay the anti-American feeling in Japan until the whole matter is diplomatically adjusted.

TO ENFORCE OBEDIENCE.

The inquiries to be instituted by Mr. Metcalf are supplemental to steps initiated in San Francisco yesterday by the direction of the Department of Justice to compel the authorities to receive Japanese pupils into the public schools.

Viscount Aoki also reported to Secretary Root that Japanese restaurant keepers in San Francisco have suffered indignities. At least seven or eight reports have been made concerning a boycott inaugurated against these restaurants and these reports state that agents have been posted to prevent patrons from entering the restaurants and in several instances stones have been thrown and windows broken.

Administration officials do not hesitate to express privately their views of the present anti-American feeling growing out of the wrongs which the Japanese declare they have suffered and one member of the cabinet said today after the meeting that the general opinion of the cabinet was that the situation was exceedingly grave and would require the most delicate treatment to prevent an open rupture.

TEST CASE STARTED.

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Judge Wolberton, of the United States Circuit court, yesterday issued an order to the board of education of San Francisco citing that body to show cause why an injunction compelling the reinstatement of Yasuhara, a Japanese pupil recently excluded from the Pacific Heights grammar school, should not be issued. The board is ordered to answer on November 5th.

This order was issued following an application for an injunction presented to Judge Wolberton with the intention of making this a test case.

Past, Present and Future Paint

The best "past" paint is the paint which has worn down evenly, leaving the surface ready for repainting without the need of expensive scraping and "burning-off."

The best "present" paint is the paint which is applied with least labor, covers the most surface per gallon, and looks the best when on.

The best "future" paint is the paint which lasts without cracking or peeling, affording perfect protection for the greatest number of years.

New Church Dedicated at Lexington.

Lexington, Oct. 28.—The new First Methodist church here was dedicated today in the presence of all the Lexington congregations, the dedication sermon being preached by Dr. Detwiler, of Greensboro. The church was full to overflowing, services in all other churches being suspended today so that all could attend. The other ministers who took part in the services were: Pastor J. N. Huggins, Rev. J. C. Leonard, of the First Reformed church, Dr. Leyburn, pastor of the Presbyterian church; Rev. J. T. Reddick, of the First Baptist church, and Rev. Edward Fullenweider, of the Lutheran church. The sermon by Dr. Detwiler on this occasion was one of the ablest and best ever heard in Lexington. Taking a text from Isaiah, his subject was the necessity of going back to the old beaten paths in matters of religion. He spoke of the lack of the consciousness of God, evident in these times, stating that amid the conventionalities and forms the churches have lost sight of the fundamental truths and first principles. After the sermon Mr. J. McCrary, on behalf of the trustees of the church, tendered the new building for divine use, and it was accepted by Dr. Detwiler, thus completing the simple ceremony. The new church has been finished about two years, but it was not until recently that the debt was entirely paid off. The building is handsome and modern in every respect and cost about $12,000. It takes the place of the old church which was burned down about four years ago. The choir, under the management of Miss Marion Gray, of Lexington, rendered special songs for the dedication which were greatly enjoyed.

If You See It In the News It May Be So, and May Not.

EDITOR PATRIOT: In the Butlerized News this morning there appeared an item stating that the "County Democratic candidates spoke at Gibsonville yesterday afternoon before a small audience." During this whole campaign this particular paper has shown an entire disregard for facts when it came to reporting the attendance or anything else connected with a Democratic candidate or meeting. I do not believe this is due to a spirit of unfairness on the part of the Postmaster-Editor and I can account for it only on the supposition that he is too busy with his various jobs to properly direct and audit the work of those under him.

With reference to the appearance of the county Democratic candidates at Gibsonville: They did not speak there yesterday afternoon. They spoke there last night and instead of speaking before a small audience they spoke before a crowd of more than 250, which is the record crowd in this campaign for this county outside the cities. My information is that no such crowd as this has ever heard the county candidates in years past, whether they were canvassing separately or jointly. Get your facts straight, Mr. Douglas. Give us some of the fairness you preach in your editorials. TAB KEEPER, Greensboro, Oct. 27.

Shooting Affray at Kernersville.

Winston-Salem, Oct. 26.—A special from Kernersville this afternoon says that Sol Terry and Nage Brown, two white men, while under the influence of whiskey, got into a row near the old tannery last night when Terry fired upon Brown with a shotgun. Nearly the entire load took effect in Brown's head. The attending physician thinks the wounded man will recover. When the distance between the two men when the gun was fired and the small size of the shot prevented murder outright, Terry is in the lock-up at Kernersville awaiting trial.

Mrs. Amanda Caldwell Dead.

Statesville, Oct. 26.—At 1 o'clock this morning, after a lingering illness, Mrs. Amanda Caldwell passed peacefully away in her 87th year. For a week or more her condition had been critical, and the end was not unexpected. Arrangements for the funeral have not been made. Mrs. Caldwell leaves three children—Mr. J. P. Caldwell, of Charlotte, Miss Janie Caldwell of Statesville, and Mrs. T. F. Klutz of Salisbury. One daughter, Miss Katherine, died twenty years ago.

THE CANDIDATE'S DAUGHTER.

Her father was a candidate,
Her face was my love;
Her face was morning light to me,
Her eyes the stars above—
Her father was a candidate,
This much is worthy note—
She came to me, all smiles, to state:
"Pa needs the floating vote!"

"My dear," I said, "you cannot get
This floating voter's vote
Without you give him something first
To make this voter float—
Something to lift him up from earth
And spread his joyous wing
In a flight of sunny ecstasy
Where larks and linnets sing!"

The rogue political, she saw
Clean through my anecdote,
And blushed a bit, and archly sighed:
"So you would sell your vote?"
Her father was a candidate;
He needed floaters bad—
The sweetest lips I ever—Hush!
I voted for her dad!

The year-old child of Asa W. Lee, living at Dawson's Creek, Pamlico county, died last week from a madcat's bite. The little one was innocently playing with a pet cat and had been doing so for quite a long time when the animal turned and scratched and bit furiously, showing every sign of rabies. Treatment was given the child but the injuries were severe and the disease spread rapidly, death ensuing in about 24 hours.

AFTERMATH OF THE SYNOD.

Session Just Closed Stood Emphatically for Three Important Things.

Statesville, Oct. 28.—The session of the Synod of North Carolina, just closed, may be said to have stood prominently for three things: Increased interest in the cause of education; increased interest in colored evangelization; increased interest in the needs of the home mission territory within the bounds of the Synod.

There can be no doubt that Davidson College has a stronger hold upon the affection of the members of synod than ever before, and the growth and high standing of this institution of learning render it worthy of the high rank which it holds, both as a college and as a community of the highest moral and religious standard. In six years the enrollment at Davidson has increased from 131 to 273—more than doubled in six years, and in this same length of time the income from students fees has trebled.

And notwithstanding the rapid growth of the college, the moral and religious standard has not been lowered in the least, and the fact that Davidson is furnishing a larger number of candidates for the ministry than any college in the Southern Presbyterian church is a fact of which the faculty, students and synod are justly proud, especially when it is well known that the cry of this church, and of all churches at this time is for more candidates for the ministry. The high moral and religious standing of this college is due in no small part to the personal work of the faculty, and to the careful oversight of the college pastor, Rev. A. T. Graham, D. D. For eighteen years Dr. Graham has served this community as a faithful pastor, and during these years the mutual love between pastor and students has grown stronger and stronger.

More than 11,000 people were imprisoned in England last year for debt. Most were victims of the installment plan.

Virginiacotton Values Yields Per Acre Above Par

It is a well known fact that cotton or any other crop, produced with Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers will bring the highest possible price on the market. Make healthy, strong, well-developed, early cotton, with full grown bolls on the fruit limbs at the base as well as all the way up to the very top and tip ends of the branches of the cotton plants, by liberally using Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers.

They contain all the materials necessary to supply to your land the elements which have been taken from it by repeated cultivation year after year. These fertilizers will greatly increase your yields per acre. Accept no substitute from your dealer.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 28.—In this sermon the preacher shows the folly of resting in a continuance of material blessings as a means of happiness. The text is Proverbs xxvii, 1, "Boast not thyself of tomorrow, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth."

One of the most impressive pictures I have ever seen was one entitled "The Journey of Life." It depicted a rowing party being pulled out to a ship in the distance. A large family with their household goods were in the boat. In the stern were the gray haired grandfather and grandmother. Like the great picture of Napoleon leaving France, these two old folks were earnestly scanning the receding shore. Their lives were nearly ended, and their thoughts were in the past. They were living entirely in the sweet memories of the days that were gone. At the feet of the old folks their grandchildren were playing with their toys, like two little kittens, they did not seem to care what was happening. Their thought world had not yet been entered. Just beyond two young lovers were plighting their troth. They were walking for a little while in the shallows. They were sipping for a short time the sweet nectar from the flowers which bloom only for a day during the mating of the birds. But at the prow of the boat stood the strong man of the world, with his wife by his side. His eye had an eagle glance. He seemed to be looking into the dim future, at his home which was yet to be built in a foreign land, at the visionary fields which were yet to be tilled and at the fortune which he was yet to make. The picture was suggestive to my mind of that momentous journey which we call the voyage of life.

Not all of us reach the stage typified by the grandparents. Some come to the end of the journey in the period of childhood, some in youth, some in mature life. It is very uncertain, but it is well in our early years if we plan carefully for the future instead of spending the time in idle dreaming or in pleasure. The foundations of our career are laid earlier than some of us imagine, and whether that career be long or short, those foundations should be laid well.

These plans are very different from the presumptuous boasting condemned in my text. Here King Solomon describes the lazy man, the indolent man, the procrastinating man, the man who is giving free license to his evil passions, the man who is blinding his eyes to all the magnificent opportunities of the glorious present as he says to himself: "I know I am not doing as I ought to do. But what is the difference? Rome was not built in a day. A life is not spanned by the short bridge of twenty-four hours. This day I will eat and drink and be merry, and tomorrow I will do as I ought to do." "Ah," says the great king, "today is thine. This coming twilight may be thy last eventide. Perhaps the moon which will arise tonight will shine through the open window and touch thine ashen cheek as the attendants are preparing thy body for the burial. Tomorrow may come to thy neighbor, but this day may usher in for thee an endless and unchanging eternity." Let me read for you again the sentence, "Boast not thyself of tomorrow, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth."

A Timely Warning. These words are a timely warning to those who are slowly, yet surely, allowing the fatal coils of an evil habit to intertwine about them—timely because these poor deluded victims seem to be going to their destruction with wide open eyes, as an ox to the slaughter. But somehow they feel that, no matter how deep their feet may be sinking into the quicksands or how thick the slimy seaweeds may be wrapping themselves about the swimmer's body, yet they can come safe to land and break loose from their evil habits whenever they will. Now, my friend, I would tell you that an evil habit instead of growing weaker with age grows stronger. If an evil habit has once gained a tight clutch today it will have you in a tighter vise tomorrow. It is only by a man to say, "I will break away from this evil habit tomorrow." If you cannot break away from that evil habit today you cannot tomorrow. If you are not willing to break away from an evil habit today, in all probability you will be weaker still tomorrow. The law of the increasing moral weakness of the wrongdoer and the increasing strength of an evil habit is irrevocable.

Habits Like Quicksands. A man becomes more and more helpless in the grip of an evil habit, just as in the clutch of the quicksand. I would like to see you feel if you have ever been caught in those treacherous depths. I remember some time ago when driving through the western country we came to a rather wide creek. I was about to drive through it when the gentleman with whom I was riding said, "Wait; let me test it." He took off his shoes and stockings and started for the other side. "Come on," he cried, "it is shallow all through." I shook the reins as a signal to the horse, and he started. He went only a few steps and then stopped, frightened. No sooner did he stop than the wheels of the wagon began to sink. "Come on! Come on!" cried my companion. "The quicksands are catching you. Come on!" But come on I could not. In a minute or two the wheels had sunk a third of the way to the hubs. The horse could not pull the load. It was no time for argument. We leaped out of the wagon and plunged into the water, clothes and all. Then every hand took hold of a wheel and began to lift and push, and we just saved the wagon and the horse. "Ah," I said to myself as I came dripping out of the water, "how like the deceptive influence of the quicksands are evil habits! When we first drive up to them they look so harmless and innocent, but no sooner do we allow these evil habits to grasp us than, like the dangerous quicksands, they will creep up to the ankle, then to the knee, then to the hip and then to the heart. Then the more we struggle the deeper we will sink and the more helpless we will become."

My friend, what right have you to say that the evil habit which is working such dangerous havoc in your life now will be more easy to eradicate tomorrow? If it is difficult to chain a little cub as he snarls in your hand and bites and scratches and tears your bleeding flesh to get away, will it be easier to tame and cage the Bengal tiger after he has gained his strength and his claws have grown as sharp as rapiers and his jaws have the vigor of a steel trap? If the Alpine climber is so troubled by the cold that his eyes become heavy with sleep, will that cold cease to continue its deadly work when he lies down to slumber and the whistling winds cover his shivering flesh with a soft quilt of snow? I see now three travelers lost upon the western prairie. A biting blizzard is cutting through their clothing like a knife. One of these travelers, physically weaker than his companions, becomes exhausted. Drowsily he falls to the ground and goes to sleep. His two friends jerk him up and begin to pound him and to rub the cold snow upon the frozen flesh. "Oh," he says, "let me sleep! Let me sleep just a little while, and then I will go with you." "No," they say; "you must not sleep. If you do it will be the sleep of death. Every minute this cold will be upon you more and more. You must walk. You must throw off this lethargy or you will die." Thus these two friends drag him round and round all night until morning breaks and safety is theirs. In this blinding way our evil habits affect us. We say: "Tomorrow we will change. Now, just one more glass, one more carousal." But each intoxicating cup, each debauch, each yielding to sin, renders us more and more helpless to fight sin. My brother, if you do not conquer your evil habits today you will not conquer them tomorrow. If you cannot put out a spark today you cannot quench the great conflagration. If you do not step on the smoldering fuse you cannot snuff out a gunpowder magazine after the explosive has reached it. Now is the time for you to get your emancipation from that destroying, debasing, evil habit—now, now, now! Oh, the importance of that infinite word now!

But this gospel motto gives a seathing rebuke to the visionary seeker after happiness as well as to those who drowsily mutter to their sins and evil habits. "Oh, let me rest upon my bed of sin a little while longer, and then I shall bestir myself and do what I ought to do." It bitterly denounces those fault finders who always repine at the present and have their eyes focused upon the dubious blessings of the future. Yet some people never see a beautiful sailboat unless it is shining on the edge of a distant horizon, nor a happy home unless it belongs to a neighbor, nor smell a sweet perfume unless it is wafted to them from the visionary gardens which shall bloom five or ten years hence.

The journey of life might be compared to a summer camping trip. There is an old proverb which says, "You never know people aright unless you eat with them at the morning breakfast table." But I tell you that the breakfast table may prove deceptive in reference to your acquaintance's true characteristics, but a camping trip—never. There the true nature of a man or a woman can be read by all as an open book. Now, on an average camping trip some people are like bees—they can find honey wherever they may fly. They are like song birds—they can sing, no matter where you place them. They are like sunbeams—they will sparkle and dance, no matter whether they are up in the mountains or down in the valleys. Everything they eat is the most appetizing of all foods. Every person they meet is a kind person. No travelers pass them upon the road but they stop to chat and joke with them. Their beds of pine needles are the softest. The water that leaps out of the brooks is the purest. The sunsets and the sunrises are the most glorious. They laugh and play and make merry every day of their lives. And during all of their next winter's work they never tire of telling the pleasant incidents of the past summer's trip.

The Chronic Grumbler. But, though all the members of your camping party pass over the same roads and meet the same difficulties, there is nearly always one member who does nothing but grumble. Like an owl who never sees well unless the darkness envelops him, this fault finder sees nothing but midnight. He is always droning a dirge. He grumbles at the heat and grumbles at the cold. He grumbles about the ants that get into his food box, and grumbles about the flies, and grumbles about the people he meets, and grumbles about the long journey, and grumbles about everything. If he is up in the mountains, then he waxes to be down in the valleys. If he is down by the seashore, then he cannot sleep because the waves keep up such an everlasting moaning. If you go to him and say, "Now, So-and-so, do you ever expect to be happy in life?" he will answer: "Oh, yes. I expect to be happy when I get rid of my present troubles. But you surely would not expect me to be happy amid all my present annoyances." Now, mark you, my friend, these people of a camping party breathe exactly the same air, drink the same water, meet the same people, camp under the same trees, and yet four of them will find nothing but blessings and the fifth nothing but troubles. Such is the greater journey called life. There always are pleasure finders on the journey. There are grumblers there too.

Now, my fault finding friend, if you find today filled with troubles you will also find the burdens of tomorrow awaiting you when you awake in your bed. The joys and the happiness of life are not to be decided by what a man has, but by the condition of his own heart. If you do not learn to be happy today and if you persistently postpone your happiness you will be miserable as long as you live, and there is no exception to the rule. If you are not happy in a humble home you will never be happy in a palace. If you are not happy as a clerk you will not be happy as an employer. If you are not happy as a young girl you will not be happy as a woman. This living in the joys of the future is all nonsense. It is the will-o'-the-wisp guiding its deluded followers, not into the "gardens of the gods," but into the quagmires and the swamps, where every step you take will make you sink deeper and deeper into the mud of the "slough of the despond."

The Warmth of Gratitude. When a man foolishly allows himself to brood over his troubles the mists of unhappiness will only be fog him the closer and the frosts of misfortune cut him the deeper. "Supposing some cold morning," said Henry Ward Beecher, "you should go into a neighbor's house and find him busy at work, scratching away at his window panes, and should ask what he was doing, and he should reply, 'Why, I am trying to remove the frost, but as fast as I get it off one square it comes on another,' what would you say? Why, you would say, 'Man, let your windows alone and kindle your fires, and the frost will soon come off.'" Aye, that was well said by the Plymouth pulpit sage, for everywhere we find the windows covered with the frosts that keep out the visions of God's blessings. Here is one man scraping at this trouble and another scraping at that. "Ah," they keep saying, "how happy I shall be when this misfortune is gone!" My friends, the future will leave a still heavier frost upon your window panes unless your heart is changed. What you need is to kindle the fires of gratitude in your own life. Thank God for what he has done for you. Then, instead of looking only at your misfortunes, your blinded eyes will be opened, and you will find a whole horizon abloom and fragrant with blessings. Cease to talk about what God may do for you in the years to come. Get down on your knees and thank your Lord and Saviour for what he has already done and is doing for you today.

But this gospel motto is also a brake. It would put the conservative hand up on the shoulder of the optimist and say: "Brother, be a little careful about trusting too much to your future. Do not rate your assets too high. All your future days may not be flooded with sunshine." It is always well for a ship to be ballasted before it sets sail from harbor. And yet some men, because they have made a success in the past, think success will always be theirs. Therefore they live up to the last cent of their income and have their properties mortgaged up to the full limit and lay their stocks upon a margin, and when the wheel of fortune turns a little the superstructure goes down with a crash. Now, my brother, in order to have a happy future you must be like Joseph, the prime minister of Egypt. In your seven years of prosperity you must prepare for your seven years of want. Though bright days will come, dark days of adversity will also surely be yours.

Business Risks. This fact is well illustrated by the life insurance business. Some years ago I was talking with one of the leading insurance superintendents of Chicago. He said: "I suppose you think that my chief object is to get people to carry all the insurance possible. That is a great mistake some agents make. I always say to my agents: 'Men, do not persuade your people to take any more insurance than they can carry. A man should always be able to make his payments easily. If you persuade a man to pay too large a premium within a few years sickness and trouble may come to his home. The man may be thrown out of his work temporarily. Then he drops his insurance, and he will never take it up again. Then that action not only hurts the man, but also the life insurance business.'" And yet in many ways there are thousands of men making the same mistake as does the man who overinsures. These men bank too much upon the prosperities of the future. Therefore they lose their all when these prosperities fail.

I never think of a man's future but as a kaleidoscope. You remember when as a little boy your mother brought you one for a Christmas present. You went to the window and lifted the little apparatus to your eye and looked through it. All the brightly colored pieces of glass at the other end formed themselves into most fantastic shapes. You studied them long and carefully. "Beautiful, beautiful!" you said. "Why, I see rainbows and towers and meadows and farmhouses." Then your sister said, "Charley, turn it." You turned the kaleidoscope, and all the glasses jingled. Then you looked again and said: "Why, sister, all the pictures are different. Look and see. How did this all happen?" Then you turned it again, and there were other combinations of colors. Wonderful are the changes of a kaleidoscope, yet not more strange than will be the changes in your future. The fact that you have a $5,000 income this year does not prove you will have even a thousand dollars next. Because you are in good health now do not think that your lungs will be stout next week. The fact that you are riding upon the wave of prosperity today does not prove that the flood tide will not ebb away. Do not bank too much upon the temporal successes of the future. Do not count too surely on a long earthly life. Because you are living in a palace on "Easy street" do not spend your time planning what you will do in your gardens for next summer. Your future is all surrounded by fogs and mists. Within twenty-four hours your whole life may be changed. "Boast not thyself of tomorrow, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth."

Now is the Time to Decide. If it is necessary to be careful with our earthly opportunities, how much more is it essential for us to be careful of our heavenly opportunities! I want that there is not among us all one who intends to ultimately refuse the offer of eternal salvation. But this is such a busy world. It is filled with such busy people. The engagements of life press themselves upon us with such overwhelming numbers that we are apt to postpone the greatest of all questions—the eternal destiny of our immortal souls. We intend to take the matter up tomorrow or the day after tomorrow, but somehow that tomorrow never comes. Now, my brother, I want to drive this question home: Will you here and now make up your mind what you will do with Jesus—will you make up your mind today? Remember, tomorrow may be too late, for then the time may have come when Jesus will have decided what he will do with you. Do you not realize that I may be the last gospel messenger who shall ever be able to present to you the pleadings of Christ for your salvation? Your life may go just as quickly as did old Dr. Howard's of Pittsburg. He seemed to be in perfect health. He was writing a sermon. He rose from his study desk and stepped into the next room. Before the ink was dry upon the paper his spirit had taken flight. Time is fleeting. The decision has been made. But, whatever that decision is, remember it is a decision for this day and not for tomorrow's sun. "Boast not thyself of tomorrow, for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth." O God, may this day be the day of decision to many souls!

NOTICE
Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed executed to me on the first day of February, 1899, by A. F. Forbis and wife and recorded in Book 114, page 427, of the office of the Register of Deeds of Guilford county, I shall, on Monday, November 5, 1906, at 12 o'clock M., at the court house door, in the city of Greensboro, sell, at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, the following described lands lying and being in the county of Guilford and state of North Carolina, to-wit: Beginning at the lands of J. W. Summers, Josiah Lewey, Henry Reece, John Paisley and others, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a stone and running north fifty-five and one-half poles to a stone on Summers' line; thence east thirty-six poles to a stone; thence north fifty-nine poles to a stone on the bank of Birch Creek; thence down said creek with its meanders to a stone; thence west about ten poles to a stone; thence south twelve poles to a stone; thence west twenty-six poles to the beginning, containing forty acres, more or less. Second tract: Beginning at a stone, J. F. Forbis' corner, and running thence north fifty-eight poles to a stone on Forbis' line; thence east sixty-nine and one-half poles to a stone; thence south fifty-eight poles to the beginning corner, containing twenty-five acres, more or less. The above-described tracts of land are a part of the home place of the late A. F. Forbis and will be sold together with other tracts of land which, with these two, compose said home place.

This October 5, 1906. SAMUEL PHIPPS, Mortgagee. F. P. HOOBGOOD, Jr., Attorney.

Notice of Dissolution.
State of North Carolina, Department of State, Greeting:
To All to Whom These Presents May Come:
Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof deposited in my office, that the Hibernia Manufacturing Company, a corporation of this state, whose principal office is situated at No. _____ street, in the town of Hillsboro, county of Guilford, state of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 6th day of October, 1906, in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by more than two-thirds in interest of the stockholders thereof, which said certificate and record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.
In testimony whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Raleigh, this 6th day of October, A. D. 1906.

J. BRYAN GRIMES, Secretary of State.

MORTGAGE SALE
The undersigned will sell on the premises of the late Joseph A. Davis, deceased, at one o'clock, Friday, November 9, 1906,
for cash to the last and highest bidder a tract or parcel of land situated in Deep River town, in the land of Mrs. R. H. King, H. H. Root and others, containing 15 acres more or less, same being the home place of the late Joseph A. Davis. The above land to be sold to satisfy mortgage recorded in book 127, page 112, in Register of Deeds' office for Guilford county, N. C.
This 28th day of September, 1906. G. H. McKINNEY, Mortgagee.

EUREKA HARNESS OIL
Rain and sweat have no effect on harness treated with Eureka Harness Oil. It resists the damp, keeps the leather soft and pliable. Stitches do not break. No rough surface to chafe and cut. The harness not only keeps looking like new, but wears twice as long by the use of Eureka Harness Oil.
Sold everywhere in all sizes. Made by Standard Oil Company.

George Burns, a bicycle repairer who might be classed as an old offender, was sent to the roads Monday by Mayor Murphy for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Chalmers Galloway, an industrious and respected colored carpenter, died of heart disease yesterday morning while waiting on South Greene street for time to begin work. He was about sixty years old.

HORSE FOR SALE—I have a good reliable horse which I wish to sell. Works well and is not afraid of street cars or automobile.

MRS. S. W. BLACKBURN, 4121 Guilford College, N. C.

At a well attended meeting of the county association of colored school teachers Saturday committees were appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of Dr. C. D. Melver, Prof. T. A. Sharpe and Aaron Mendenhall.

W. L. Ray, W. E. Shaw, J. L. Rollins, G. T. Andrews, C. F. Royall and John Shaw, all young white men, were given a hearing Monday morning before Squire G. T. Glascock, on the charge of forcible trespass. The case was dismissed.

Men who want to see the best everyday $1.50 shoe in town ought to come and examine our tap sole Battle Axe shoe sold at that price. If you want a better grade try our home-made Elkin whole stock shoe.

THACKER & BROCKMANN.
Two new boarders from High Point are registered at Jailer Busiek's popular hostelry. One is George Williams, a white boy held on a larceny charge, and the other a colored parson named Staniel who is alleged to have been prescribing medicine for the sick and afflicted without proper authority.

Human Blood Marks.
A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Bala, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since." It cures Hemorrhages, Chronic Coughs, Settled Colds and Bronchitis, and is the only known cure for Weak Lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by all druggists, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Mr. Geo. F. Dyer, the well known Roanoke horseman, while here Monday enroute home from the Cumberland county fair, reported that his pocket was picked of a purse containing over $100 while waiting for a train at the Fayetteville depot. There was a large crowd about the station at the time and Mr. Dyer hasn't the remotest suspicion as to the identity of the thief.

Several coal cars were derailed between Terra Cotta and Guilford Station Monday afternoon about four o'clock, blocking the Winston track for several hours and necessitating a transfer of passengers on both the evening trains. A negro named Chas. Bilbro, not an employe of the railroad, had a leg broken by flying coal. With a companion he was riding to the city.

Time for warmer underwear is here and Thacker & Brockmann have heavy fleeced cotton shirts and drawers for men at 50 cents; women's, 25 and 30 cents; boys', 25 cents; children's, from 18 to 30 cents. Men's wool shirts, $1 and $1.25; women's, 75 cents to $1.25. Children's union suits, 25 and 50 cents; women's union suits, 50 cents to $1.25. Women's knit skirts from 50 cents to $1.75.

Dr. J. C. Kilgo, president of Trinity College, passed through the city Monday, returning from Elkin, where he preached the dedication sermon of a new Methodist church Sunday. One who heard the discourse reports that it was the ablest sermon ever heard in that town. The large and handsome new edifice, which cost about $12,000, was filled and the service was both beautiful and impressive.

W. J. Jennings, a young man claiming to be a Virginian, was arrested at White Oak last week charged with the theft of over $70 worth of merchandise at Charlotte, where he was employed for a short time before coming to Greensboro. The stolen goods were found in Jennings' room and fully identified by a representative of the firm sustaining the loss. The prisoner was taken to Charlotte by Chief Neeley.

Since the revised list of judges of election was printed on another page we have received official notice of three changes in the personnel of the judges. In Precinct No. 4 the name of Chalmers C. McLean has been substituted for M. C. Workman; in Summer J. H. Johnson and J. Ad. Newman have been substituted for W. J. Groome and A. O. Newman; in Friendship Lucien W. Smith has been substituted for S. W. H. Smith.

A crowd of white boys of tender years amused themselves Monday by tearing the electrical fittings from the Benbow bus and offering them for sale to local junk dealers. The vehicle was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars. The fathers of the boys were required to administer punishment for the offense as there is no court that would recognize the diminutive youngsters as defendants in any sort of a suit, their ages ranging from six to nine years.

Sunday afternoon at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Harold Turner, pastor of Spring Garden M. E. church, Mr. E. E. Hester, a former resident of Greensboro, and Miss Mary Hendrix, of Pleasant Garden, who has held a position with the Cone Export and Commission Company for two or three years, were united in the bonds of matrimony. Monday Mr. and Mrs. Hester went to Winston to live, as the groom is a railway mail agent running between that city and Wakefield.

Mr. J. F. Hoffman, engineer for the Greensboro Furniture Company the past four years, died at his home on the corner of Morghead avenue and Spring street Saturday night and was buried Monday at Brick Church, in southeastern Guilford. He was a son of Mr. George Hoffman, the well known Brick Church miller, and in addition to his wife and three children he is survived by his parents, five brothers and two sisters. He was a member of the Lutheran church and the Junior Order.

The Virginia Bridge and Iron Company, at Burlington, in which Mr. E. P. Wharton, of this city, is largely interested, sustained a fire loss last Wednesday which will seriously handicap the plant for a short time, one of the main buildings and much valuable machinery, together with two or three important orders nearing completion, being damaged. Very little time will elapse before everything will be running again in full blast. The building damaged by the flames is owned by the Southern Railway and was once a part of the "Company Shops."

Turkeys Wanted.
I want to buy some yellow turkeys. Anyone having any for sale will please write me at Battle Ground, N. C. 44-2t S. F. WHITE.

$100 Reward, $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 7c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A Youthful Burglar.
Two suits of boys' clothing, two pairs of shoes and a valise were stolen from Mr. H. M. Coble's store on South Elm street Sunday, the thief evidently having been a boy, as the missing shoes were number fives, and would fit a boy who could wear the suits. Mr. Coble visited the store Sunday morning and found everything in order. Later in the day he noticed the rear door open and an investigation led to the discovery of the theft. He has a clue that will probably lead to some developments soon.

Frank Coletrane, a fourteen-year-old white boy arrested in Burlington yesterday evening, admits having robbed the store Saturday night. A suit case was filled to overflowing with clothing he had taken. He will be given a preliminary hearing today.

Devil's Island Torture
is no worse than the terrible case of Piles that afflicted me 10 years. Then I was advised to apply Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and less than a box permanently cured me, writes L. S. Napier, of Rugles, Ky. Heals all wounds, Burns and Sores like magic. 25c by all druggists.

Probable Outcome of the Inquiry Regarding Imported Labor in Cotton Mills.

Charlottesville, Oct. 27.—It is learned upon excellent authority today that Special Agent McLaughlin, of the Immigration Bureau at Washington, who has been at work in this vicinity nearly one month, has completed the main part of his work securing facts about industrial conditions in the cotton mills. This evidently relates largely to immigrants brought over from England to work in the cotton mills of this section. The evidence, which is very voluminous, has been forwarded to the authorities at Washington. This evidence is expected to result in sensational developments, possibly affecting some of the most prominent men in this section. It is not known yet whether the final outcome will be announced in Washington or will be sent to the agent here to carry out the instructions therein.
