Superior Court Clerks Organized.

The Association of Superior Court Clerks of North Carolina was organized at the McAdoo Hotel here last Thursday and officers were elected as follows:

D. A. Houston, of Union county, president; Ernest Clapp, Guilford county, vice-president, and T. L. Covington, of Richmond county, secretary and treasurer. The three officers constitute the executive committee. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and Greensboro was chosen as the meeting place next August, the definite date to be selected by the executive committee.

About fifty of the clerks of the state were present, and these, with the ones who joined by letter, gives the association a membership of between eighty and one hundred. Those who have not joined will do so within the next few months. Each congressional district in the state is to be a subdivision of the association.

The organization is nonpolitical. It was founded for the purpose of bringing the clerks closer together and to bring about a more uniform method of conducting business.

MR. WHITT AGAIN IN HARNESS.

Has Assumed Management of the Planters Warehouse.

The PATRIOT is pleased to announce that Mr. John H. Whitt is again actively identified with the Greensboro tobacco market in the capacity of a warehouseman. He has leased the new Planters warehouse and will manage it this year, and we are certain the tobacco growers of this section will find pleasure in the knowledge that he is again in harness. With the exception of one or two brief periods Mr. Whitt has been identified with the tobacco market here for twenty-five years. His own warehouse, the Farmers, is operated by E. L. Morgan & Morgan & Co., who leased it a year or more ago with the privilege of a term of years. At that time Mr. Whitt thought he would devote his time to buying leaf, but the old love has returned and he is again ready to "whoop it up" for every grade of leaf that comes his way. The facilities at the Planters are commensurate with the demands of this market, and Mr. Whitt feels that he can not only guarantee his patrons a service that will be satisfactory in every particular but unsurpassed anywhere. For a time he may not feel quite as much at home in the new house as he did at the old, but that will not prevent him from being a top-notch when it comes to boosting prices. Associated with Mr. Whitt at the Planters are Mr. A. J. Apple and other capable and experienced men who know how to handle leaf to the best advantage and also how to minister to the comfort and pleasure of the leaf growers.

Greensboro is the natural market for a wide scope of country that produces a superior grade of leaf, and for that reason it ranks in point of desirability with the best markets of the South, even though it may not handle the volume of business that a few other markets do. The American Tobacco Company, the Continental Tobacco Company, the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company and the Imperial Tobacco Company have permanent buyers here, while there are a number of other buyers on the market with orders that place them at once on a footing with the representatives of the big concerns enumerated. Among the independent buyers, as they are known, are Messrs. T. J. Penn, C. A. Bray, A. A. Chandler, W. S. Clary and E. J. Stafford. The last named gentleman operates a very successful factory here and will turn out more manufactured leaf this year than ever before. Other buyers have announced their intention to do business in Greensboro this year, but we are not at liberty as yet to mention their names.

The tobacco crop of 1907, though decreased somewhat in acreage by reason of a scarcity of plants at the planting season, will perhaps exceed in pounds that of 1906. The quality is certainly far superior to that of the previous crop. With two big warehouses capable of handling several million pounds each, and a corps of buyers representing virtually all the big tobacco concerns in the world, there is nothing lacking to attract leaf growers from far and near to Greensboro. Incidentally there isn't a better shopping place in the state, and that should be an incentive to level-headed farmers to come here.

But we have drifted away from the text. We started out to simply say that John Whitt had leased the Planters warehouse for this year and would run it—and run it right. He will appreciate any consideration that his friends may show him.

Drunken Row Lands One Man in Jail and Another in the Hospital.

While trying to prevent an altercation between Hazy Hardie and Worth Campbell at White Oak late Saturday night Ernest Lisk unintentionally became the target for three bullets fired by Hardie and intended for Campbell. Earlier in the evening Lisk had patched up a quarrel between the other two men, but on their return from the city they renewed it, with the result that Hardie went to jail and Lisk to the hospital, where his injuries, though serious, are likely to be treated successfully. Hardie was still very much under the influence of liquor when arrested and professed to know little about the shooting, but later he became very much concerned as to Lisk's condition. A preliminary hearing can not be held until the wounded man's condition improves vastly.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Daughter of Mr. Dennis Brings Action Against Mr. I. Smith Homans.

Notice of suit for damages has been filed in the Superior Court of this county by Miss Mary J. Dennis, daughter of Mr. James Dennis, who lives near Guilford Battle Ground. The complaint has not yet been filed and the amount of damages claimed is not known. The charge is that Mr. Homans, while out automobiling, ran against her, inflicting injuries of a more or less serious nature. Miss Dennis was laid up for some time after the accident. It is understood that Mr. Homans denies that it was his fault that she was hit or that she was at all badly hurt; that in fact the accident was caused by plaintiff's own actions, and that it was impossible for him to avoid it.

Morehead & Sapp are of counsel for the plaintiff, while King & Kimball represent the defendant. From the nature of the civil docket it may be many months before the case is reached, even after the complaint and answer are filed.

Savings Banks—Their Organization and Their Work.

The savings bank is quite an old institution in the North, but is a rather modern institution in the South. Some of our Southern savings banks are about 30 years old, but most of them are not so old. When we speak of savings banks, we mean exclusive savings banks or banks that do only a savings bank business.

The object of the savings bank is to provide an absolutely safe and secure place where laboring people may deposit their earnings in large or small amounts, and where widows, orphans, children and other people may deposit their savings for safe keeping and income. Savings banks pay from 3 to 4 per cent. interest compounded semi-annually or quarterly, according to their several rules.

The different states, realizing that the poor man's dime was as much to him as the rich man's dollar, have passed stringent laws governing savings banks, and as a further protection to the depositors the different states have what is known as a "bank examiner," whose business it is to examine these banks from time to time and see that everything is all right. This is one reason so few savings banks ever fail. The writer has never known one to fail.

Savings banks are organized in different ways. Some of them have a capital stock, while others are what we would call mutual savings banks for want of a better term; that is, the depositors put in their money and pledge to each other mutually in sharing the expenses in case the profits arising from the business are not sufficient to pay the expenses. The largest savings bank we know of is a mutual one, and has on deposit the enormous sum of $4,382,659.95 and not a dollar capital stock. The largest one in this state has a capital stock of $25,000 and deposits of about $1,500,000. Capital stock or no capital stock, if a savings bank was not absolutely safe the state in which it is located would shut it up.

These institutions are of untold benefit to the people. They furnish a safe and profitable place for the money that would otherwise be in old stockings, trunks, and such other places of hiding as would be subject to thieves, fire and every danger common to personal property. They further encourage and assist people in saving their money little by little till they get enough to invest in a good piece of property. For example, we know a gentleman who started a savings account with one dollar less than a dozen years ago and piled it up little at a time till he got enough to buy a nice piece of property in this city, which brought him in a nice income, and has increased in value. He has repeated this operation from time to time until he now has an income of $800 per year from his investments saved in a savings bank and still has over $100 in the bank. This is only one instance, while there are many who began in that humble way and have done lots better, and there are thousands who own their own homes through the aid of a savings bank who otherwise "would not have where to lay their head."

The savings bank is a friend to all, and especially is it the poor man's friend. If you have no savings bank account take the writer's advice and start one with the next money you have. This is the place to lay your money away for a "rainy day."

"From Poverty to Wealth is But a Step."

The Judge Uses Forceful Language.

Judge W. B. Simmons, of Fincastle, Va., told the reporter that L. & M. Paint was used on his residence in 1882, and held its color well for 25 years; he furthermore said that 3 years ago he was induced to use another paint and is sorry he did, because the other paint didn't make good. The judge will now always use L. & M., because he knows if any defect exists in L. & M. Paint the house will be repainted for nothing.

The L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. Paint wear like iron for 10 to 15 years. Actual cost of L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

Passenger train No. 8, northbound, smashed the caboose and three or four cars of a freight train near Reidsville last Wednesday morning. The freight crew, held up by a hot box, failed to send back a flagman to protect their train. Engineer R. E. Pierce, of Danville, and the conductor on the passenger train were painfully injured, the former by jumping when he saw a collision was inevitable. None of the passengers was seriously injured. Traffic was blocked for several hours.

Hunting for Trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years, and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Buckle's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alleghany, Sierra Co. "No use hunting, Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 25c."

Changes in the Base Ball League.

The Southern Railway team has withdrawn from the Gate City base ball league and a team from the Greensboro Life Insurance Company's offices has taken its place. Manager Wells, of the retiring team, stated in presenting the withdrawal that it was difficult now to maintain a team, since the fall rush of work had begun on the road, requiring so many of his men to be out of the city on days when games were scheduled. His team was in a fair way to land the pennant, having lost only two games since the season opened. Manager Dale Starbuck says the Greensboro Life team will put up a fine article of ball and will not cause interest in the national game to lag. For the remainder of the season, something like two months, a regular umpire will be employed. A few changes were made in the league rules at the meeting held Thursday night which it is thought will stimulate interest on the part of the devotees of the game.

This store has for a long time made a specialty of comfortable footwear. We probably sell more "Old Ladies' Comfort" Shoes than any other two stores in the city. This is because we pay particular attention to this class of footwear and people know they can find just what they want here in this line.

W. L. Douglas makes a Man's "Comfort" Shoe that has proved a great success. We carry this in two grades at $2.50 and $3.00 in all sizes up to eleven.

POINTS TOWARD THE 100,000 MARK.

Commercial, Manufacturing and Educational Developments Indicate That Greensboro Will Soon be One of the Foremost Cities of the Whole South—
 Wonderful Results Recently Achieved.

One of the prime causes for the rapid strides made by Greensboro, and for the brilliant prospects which open up before it is the faith of the citizens in the city. They recognize that the natural advantages here serve as a solid foundation for the expectation that the city will become one of the largest and most important in this whole section.
 The concentration of capital and energy
 at this point demonstrates the fact that at some future date the population will reach the 100,000 mark, and the Chamber of Commerce has taken up the work of hastening the realization of
 this time.

Men invest their earnings in life insurance to provide for their declining
 years, and maintenance for loved ones
 when they have passed away. They invest in fire insurance to protect their hard-earned money from the devastating hand of fire. They invest in manufacturing and other meritorious enterprises, because of their belief in the merits of the enterprises to yield them
 a profitable and safe return. Suppose Greensboro, like some Southern cities,
 less favorably situated, had failed to move forward. Suppose Greensboro was still a village of four or five thousand persons. What would be the value of real estate holdings as compared with their present values?

Suppose such men as D. W. C. Benbow, J. W. Scott, R. M. Douglas, J. R.
 Mendenhall, W. M. Houston, J. W.
 Fry, O. W. Carr, W. E. Beville, W. R.
 Murray and other like public spirited
 men, had not conceived the idea produced by wide foresight and business capacity, that Greensboro was the foundation upon which a great city should be built. The ideas conceived by those men have in part been realized. From a little village of 2,500 population in 1872, with ducks paddling about in the ponds in the streets
 beneath the shade of numerous elm trees, for which the main street of the city was named, it has grown to a thriving business center, pulsating with commercial and industrial life. It arose from the ashes of decay to the city it is today—the commercial, manufacturing and educational center of the state, the leading insurance city in the entire South, and the pride of all North Carolina.

Reference has been made to the value of real estate, past and present.
 The following will exemplify the idea
 intended to be conveyed:

In 1872 one of our leading business men purchased 120 feet of ground fronting on Elm street, running back to a depth of about 300 feet, and fronting 125 feet on Davie street, for the sum of $1,800, or an average of $7.50 per front foot for the 240 feet purchased.

The same ground, conservatively
 speaking, is worth, and will bring if sold under the hammer, $50,000, without buildings. This shows an increase in value of $48,200, or an annual average increase of $1,428.

The population of Greensboro in 1870
 was about 2,500, the present population, including suburbs, is approximately 12,000, showing an increase of about 2,000 per cent., while the value of real estate, on the main street, increased 2,122 per cent.

Suppose every business man in Greensboro was to identify himself with the Chamber of Commerce in its work of securing factories for the employment of labor and distribution of capital (one factory has been secured
 during the past thirty days which will have a payroll of $150,000 and several others will be located soon), and with every energy bent toward the 100,000
 mark, there would be such a substantial move forward in the industrial growth of Greensboro as has hitherto been unknown in the history of the city.

Were Greensboro to have a population of 100,000, and the value of real estate increase at the same rate that it increased from 1872 to 1907, the ground previously referred to would reach a value of $125,000 instead of $50,000, the present value.

Greensboro has the location and facilities to make it a great city. It is moving forward with rapid strides and its continued growth will be measured by the immensity of spirit and determination of its citizens, to make it
 what it should become.

RECORD OF THE PAST SIX MONTHS.
 Some idea may be formed as to the growth and financial strength of Greensboro's leading institutions by the increase of capital, new buildings
 and other developments of its various industries.

During the past six months the Proximity Manufacturing Company and the Pomona Cotton Manufacturing Company have doubled their plants
 with an aggregate outlay of capital of $425,000.

Two new banks have been established, one savings bank with a capital of $25,000 and a commercial and savings bank with a capital of $100,000, while the capital of our older banks has been increased $200,000. The Gate City Building and Loan Association has increased its subscription capital $87,500,
 while the Greensboro Building and Loan Association has been organized with a capital of $1,000,000, of which $17,000 is now subscribed.
 The capital of Greensboro's fire insurance companies has been increased $227,000, and the life insurance companies have increased their capital $225,000.
 Three and one-half miles of electric street car line has been constructed at a cost of $40,000.
 An elegant Elks Temple is now being completed at an approximate cost of $30,000.
 The cost of constructing macadam
 roads leading out from Greensboro will aggregate $70,000.
 An addition to the present spacious dormitory of the State Normal and Industrial College has just been completed at a cost of $25,000.
 Westbrook Bros., prominent wholesale hardware and commission merchants, have recently begun business
 in Greensboro with a capital of $25,000.
 A new ice factory has recently been erected and equipped at a cost of $25,- 000.
 A new organ factory near Greensboro
 is now nearly completed at an approximate cost of $15,000.
 The handsomest brick tenement in the city is now being completed at a cost of $25,000.
 The value of the business houses
 erected during the past six months aggregate $227,000, while the value of dwellings erected aggregate $325,000.
 The amount of new capital added to woodworking and other smaller manufacturing plants has increased $97,000.
 Recognizing the advantages Greensboro has over North Carolina cities, the Erie City Iron Works and the American Engineering Supply Company
 have located headquarters for North and South Carolina and Virginia at this point.
 Plans are well matured for the early
 construction of fifteen miles of suburban railway, connecting Greensboro,
 High Point, Winston and Thomasville,
 which will add materially to the transportation facilities of freight and passengers of these cities.
 A handsome new school building has been erected at White Oak Mills near Greensboro, at a cost of $12,000, by the Messrs. Cone.
 This in part, will show the marked progress Greensboro has made in the short period of six months, while the coming six months indicate a still greater development, especially along the lines of manufacturing plants
 through the instrumentality of the Chamber of Commerce which has been so materially strengthened by the large and co-operative membership, who are alive to the possibilities offered at Greensboro and are determined to make it the greatest manufacturing
 city in North Carolina.
 Recently a match factory has been incorporated which will build a brick plant 60x150 feet, which when equipped, will manufacture their own dyes
 and boxes and print same.
 The product of this plant will produce at the beginning one car load of matches daily, and operate 90 employes, about 75 of whom will be young women who will receive from $1.50 to $2.50 per day. The pay roll will aggregate $100,000 to $150,000 annually.
 The proposed Y. M. C. A. building will be erected at a cost of about $50,- 000.
 A new business house is being erected, a part of which will be used for a Masonic hall at a cost of $25,000, while the Greensboro Life Insurance Company will erect a commodious and handsome new building at an early date.
 Present indications point favorably to the location of a harness factory, broom factory, powder mill and a clock factory, which will add materially to the population and payroll of the city.
 It is gratifying to note the aggregate sum of $2,132,500 which has gone into Greensboro's various financial, manufacturing and industrial enterprises
 during the past six months, and firm belief and faith in Greensboro's future
 will inspire greater effort on the part of her citizens to push the mark still higher at the close of the coming six months.

Examinations for A. & M. College.
 The next session of the Agricultural and Mechanical College will begin Thursday, Sept. 5th. Entrance examinations will be held at the college in West Raleigh, Wednesday, 9 A. M., September 4th. New applicants for admission will be examined then, and applicants who failed to pass the July examinations at the county seats may try again at the college.

GLENN HERO AT FAIR.

Governor of North Carolina Central Figure of Day—Sixty Thousand Persons on the Ground, the Largest Attendance in History of the Exposition.

Jamestown Exposition Grounds, Va., Aug. 15.—North Carolina Day at Jamestown was the biggest in point of attendance that the fair has yet experienced, not even excepting Virginia Day and opening day. The attendance would have been larger could the railroads have brought the people here. That North Carolina outdid all other states is acknowledged by President Tucker. Governor Glenn was very proud of the showing of his state. It was estimated tonight that 60,000 people entered the grounds during the day, and the vast majority of them were North Carolinians.

The official exercises were held in the auditorium, and everybody tried to get in, but only about 3,000 could be accommodated.

When Gov. Glenn arrived, he was cheered to the echo. Gov. Swanson, too, was greeted enthusiastically. Exposition President Tucker and Gov. Swanson made warm addresses of welcome.

When Gov. Glenn was introduced by President Powell, of the North Carolina exposition commission, it was several minutes before he could speak, so tumultuous was the applause. The governor spoke glowingly of the part North Carolina has played in the history of the nation, and the audience joined with him in making a vehement denial of the charge of treason, made by some one when the state was deigning the jurisdiction of the Federal court in the Southern Railway case.

Gov. Glenn's only other reference to the rate question was his assertion that North Carolina was the first state to defy the greed of the corporations and to refuse to allow corporations and Federal courts to interfere in the jurisdiction of state courts.

Gov. Glenn had lunch with Gov. Swanson at the Swiss Alps village, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon reviewed the parade of the North Carolina and other troops in camp at the exposition. Gov. and Mrs. Glenn were tendered a reception by the North Carolina exposition commissioners at the North Carolina building.

The plan of Director General Barr, with the permission of the government, to open the gates of the Jamestown Exposition to visitors on Sunday, with all amusements and pay attractions closed, is meeting with ministerial approval here.

Rev. Dr. C. S. Blackwell, one of the most prominent clergymen in the Southern Baptist Convention, said today:

"The total absence on the exposition grounds of all vicious and questionable amusements and temptations would make that place to visitors morally the safest place in the community."

"The exposition is most beautifully impressive and artistically instructive. All business being closed, these features would impress the visitor on the Sabbath as they do not on other days, when other sights and sounds distract the mind and eye. Services being held in smaller buildings for the employees could be transferred to the auditorium, and hundreds of visitors who would not attend religious worship otherwise would be attracted."

Court-Martials Falling Off.

Washington, Aug. 18.—The annual report of Acting Judge Advocate General Porter shows that there was a decrease of 68 in the number of court-martials in the army during the last fiscal year. The total number was 3,915, including 32 officers, 23 of whom were convicted. Among the enlisted men by far the greater number of court-martial trials were on the act of desertion, there being no less than 1,101 cases of absence without leave. Four officers were dismissed by sentence as against 11 last year.

The report dwells upon the evil results following the passage of the anti-cafe act, which it is said, "has undoubtedly caused the location near military reservations of resorts for the sale of intoxicating liquors, which render to the appetites and passions of these enlisted men, who largely by reason of the prohibition in question, frequent the same. These resorts are beyond the control of the military authorities and their presence is highly detrimental to military discipline. If such legislation (prohibiting saloons within 10 miles of a military post), were followed in all states, the effect would undoubtedly be conclusive to military discipline and reduce the number of court-martial trials for offenses due to drunkenness."

Taft Off on Pilgrimage.

Washington, Aug. 18.—On a pilgrimage that will encircle the globe and in fulfillment of a promise to the Filipino to return to Manila to attend the opening of their first legislative assembly, Secretary of War William H. Taft left here tonight on the first stage of the journey. W. W. Michler, of Mr. Taft's office, and an attendant, accompanied the Secretary. Mrs. Taft and son, Charles, will join the Secretary in the Yellowstone Park for the remainder of the trip and Fred W. Carpenter, secretary to Mr. Taft, will join the party at Seattle. Mr. Taft occupied a section on the regular train over the Pennsylvania Railroad which left here at 7:15 o'clock tonight.

Secretary Taft smilingly acknowledged the greetings of those who were bid good-bye at the station. Gen. Franklin J. Bell, chief of staff, and Chief Clerk Schofield, of the War Department, accompanied the Secretary to the train. Mr. Taft said that he did not feel exactly as if he were going to make a trip around the world, because he had so much to do. The ocean part of his trip would afford him practically the only opportunity for rest during the journey. He had nothing to say regarding what he hoped to accomplish on his trip. Mr. Taft expects to return early in December.

Brooks by Acclamation.

Rockboro Courier: Solicitor A. L. Brooks is wearing that smile that that won't come off these days. He seems to be the unanimous choice of the Democrats of the glorious old Fifth district for congressman when Mr. Kitchin retires, which he will do when his present term expires—for the reason that he is to be our next governor.

Auto Runs Into Train.

Great Barrington, Mass., Aug. 18.—An automobile containing a party of five persons from Bristol, Conn., collided with the New York-Pittsfield express at Ashley Falls crossing, near here today. Three of the motoring party were killed and the other two probably fatally injured.

The dead: Charles J. Root, 40 years old, an automobile manufacturer, Bristol, instantly killed; Mrs. Root, his mother; Miss Roberts, sister of Mrs. Root.

The injured: Miss Mary Root, daughter of C. J. Root, condition very critical; Miss Catherine Root, aged 14, niece of Mrs. Root, suffering from internal injuries.

According to the engineer of the express, Mr. Root was at the wheel of the automobile. He had been racing with the train, apparently, the tracks running almost parallel with the highway for some distance. The accident occurred at a grade crossing just north of the Ashley Falls station. At this point the highway crosses the tracks at an oblique angle. It is believed Mr. Root hoped to cross ahead of the train, but miscalculated the speed of the express, and his machine hit the tender of the locomotive and was wrecked.

The express was stopped as quickly as possible and the train crew hurried to the victims of the accident, two of whom, Mr. Root and his aunt, Miss Roberts, were found dead. Mrs. Root and Miss Mary Root were put aboard the train to be taken to a hospital at Pittsfield, but the former died before the city was reached. Miss Catherine Root was brought to the home of a friend here, and it is believed she will recover. Mr. Root's friends, who came here from Bristol tonight, said that he was troubled with extreme deafness. His mother and aunt were also hard of hearing, and the former was blind.

Odell Cotton Mill Creditors Meet.

Concord, Aug. 14.—Pursuant to the call of Receiver Caesar Cone a meeting of the creditors of the Odell Manufacturing Company was held at the Odell plant this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Among those present were: Caesar and Moses Cone, R. B. King and J. A. Odell, of Greensboro; R. H. Wright and John Sprunt Hill, of Durham; James H. Pou, Herbert W. Jackson and Joseph G. Brown, of Raleigh; D. C. Parks, of Hillsboro; S. Wittkowsky, of Charlotte; Rev. M. A. Smith, of Wadesboro; Rev. J. D. Arnold, of Lenoir; and Mr. Burdette, of Richmond, Va., besides a number of local men who were more or less interested.

Receiver Cone submitted his report and it was received with grateful pleasure by the creditors, the same making a most excellent showing. Jackson and Wright, who were some time ago appointed a committee to formulate plans for reorganization, were present, but offered no report at this time.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved First, That the court be asked that the receivership of the Odell Manufacturing Company be continued and that the receiver be requested to call another meeting of the creditors, to be held about the first of February, 1908.

Second, That a copy of this resolution be filed with the United States court at Greensboro.

The meeting was harmonious and a number of the creditors made short talks, expressing confidence in Mr. Cone and gratification for the report he made for the time he has had the business in charge.

BUBONIC PLAGUE IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Four Deaths Have Resulted But One of Reported Sufferers Has Survived.

San Francisco, Aug. 17.—Five cases of bubonic plague, four of which have resulted in death, have been reported to the health department today. The patients with one exception were of the poorer class of foreigners dwelling in the neighborhood of Chinatown. The exception was a foreign sailor from a coastwise steamer. Prompt measures were taken by the city, state and federal officers, and a spread of the disease is not feared.

President Jules A. Samon, of the city health board, and Health Officer Watkins today said that the situation was well in hand and no occasion existed for alarm.

The infected steamer was ordered into quarantine with her passengers and will remain secluded until released by the health department. The two shacks inhabited by the other patients were fumigated, locked up and sealed. The bodies of the two Mexicans, an Italian and a Russian Pole, who succumbed, were destroyed in quick time.

Dynamite Endangers Lives of Thousands Watching Fire.

Kingston, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The explosion of a car of dynamite endangered the lives of thousands of persons who were watching a fire here tonight, which destroyed the West Shore Railroad freight offices, sheds, and forty cars, causing a loss estimated at $200,000.

The shock of the explosion was felt from one end of the town to the other, and windows were shattered within a radius of several blocks. The dynamite was inclosed in cases, most of which exploded separately, and to this is largely due, the firemen say, the escape of the spectators from serious injury. So far as known, beyond a few bruises, no one was hurt.

Tuberculosis Discovered in Morgan's Fine Dairy Herd.

Highland Falls, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Tuberculosis has been discovered in the fine dairy herd owned by J. Pierpont Morgan and six of his nineteen high bred milk cows have been killed on orders called by Mr. Morgan. The herd was composed entirely of cows of notable pedigrees and they were kept with the greatest care in stables of the most modern sort, the most attention being paid to proper ventilation and to all the sanitary conditions that are supposed to protect cows from tuberculosis.

Robert A. Pinkerton Dead.

New York, Aug. 17.—Robert A. Pinkerton, head of the detective agency, died on board the steamship Bremen on August 12th at sea. He was en route to Germany for his health. Death was due to fatty degeneration of the heart. Mr. Pinkerton was ill only two days. The body was taken to Germany.

MAY SEND GLENN TO SENATE.

Recent Developments Show Growth of Prohibition Sentiment.

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—Recent developments indicate that when the next session of the state legislature shall have completed its work there will be a new and rigid law on the statute book absolutely prohibiting both the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors within the state of North Carolina, according to the predictions of certain well-informed persons.

It is this question of state prohibition that is probably going to land Gov. Glenn in the Senate at Washington as successor of the present Senator Overman eighteen months hence. Gov. Glenn has, within the last year or two, become the selection on his own part the chief of the state prohibition apostles in North Carolina. Last fall he went further than the president of the State Anti-Saloon League would go, and at the Presbyterian church at Raleigh delivered an address, in which he declared for state prohibition.

The president of the State Anti-Saloon League, Josiah William Bailey, is still opposed to legislating prohibition for a community when the majority of the people of such community, be it state or county or town, are opposed to prohibition.

Gov. Glenn has surpassed the anti-saloon chief in his zeal to accomplish absolute prohibition laws for the whole state.

Spencer Storehouse of the Southern Railway Gutted.

Spencer, Aug. 18.—Fire which started at 4 o'clock this morning in a storage room over the office of the master mechanic of the Southern Railway here gutted the building and destroyed many hundreds of dollars worth of material and supplies stored at Spencer. The origin of the fire is a mystery, though it is believed to have been caused by either spontaneous combustion or rats and matches. Both the Southern shop fire department and that of the Spencer municipal team responded to the alarm promptly and by heroic work the fire was subdued in an hour and one-half of hard fighting.

A Fake Check for Standard's $29,000,000 Fine.

Washington, Aug. 16.—A fake check for the amount of the fine recently imposed upon the Standard Oil Company by Judge Landis at Chicago was received at the Treasury department today from an unknown sender. It was mailed at Toledo, O., was drawn on a bank there and was signed by the Standard Oil Company and John D. Rockefeller. The receipt of the check caused much amusement among the Treasury officials.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or constipation, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by Galloway Drug Co.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys, like the heart, and the stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone, is idle. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is dark or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of indigestion or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—take one glass of water and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

A COURSE IN NURSING.

Head of Watts Hospital, at Durham, Proposes to the President of the State Normal That a Preparatory Instruction Be Given at That College—The Course Outlined.

To the President of the State Normal and Industrial College:

The importance of thoroughly trained nurses is now, as never before, being recognized in the South. The favor with which this profession is being received is attested by the larger number of young women who are applying for training in our hospitals.

To place nursing on the plane of a profession, rather than that of a trade, our nurses must have better preparation, both general and technical.

Some apply whose general education is decidedly deficient, but, let us grant that applicants are prepared to begin hospital work, all of us who have to do with the work in our smaller hospitals know under what difficulties classes for nurses are conducted. Where the bulk of the teaching falls, as is usual, upon one nurse or superintendent and a few doctors whose hands are already full, systematic instruction is next to impossible. An emergency case may take the nurse at the lecture hour. The same emergency may take the physician should it happen to be his lecture hour. With her routine hospital duties the pupil nurse is often too fatigued to properly comprehend the simplest subjects. Teaching is very exacting work; and for one nurse to teach half a dozen different subjects and still meet the many demands made upon her time and strength is an impossibility. Teaching requires special fitness, and not every good physician, or nurse of good executive ability, is a good teacher.

It is apparent, I believe, that in the dozen or more hospital training schools in North Carolina, not only are there many applicants whose previous training is deficient, but many subjects are being taught half way, many of which subjects should have been mastered before applying for admission to a hospital. These are the conditions that confront the hospital training schools of our state, all of which are run in connection with small hospitals whose resources are limited.

As a solution of the difficulty it is proposed to offer at the Normal and Industrial College, Greensboro, N. C., a preparatory course for nurses. The advantages of such a course are apparent. Many of the subjects are already being taught there, in a systematic way, by experienced teachers. The thorough grounding in elementary chemistry, physiology, etc., would be of incalculable benefit, both in training study and in lightening the burden of the overworked physicians who have so far borne their part cheerfully and without pay. The saving of time of both superintendents and physician, when a pupil enters the hospital, would be a great factor in favor of the course. Better prepared applicants in our hospitals means the saving of the health of the nurses, a saving of money to the hospital in a more economical use of expensive materials and appliances. The hospital owes it to the nurse to give her thorough instruction, and to give it in advance of its being thrust upon her through the necessities of hospital work.

The proposed course roughly outlined might be as follows: Anatomy and physiology, personal and household hygiene, home and hospital economics, domestic science and dietetics, elementary biology, chemistry as related to medicine, physical culture; class room demonstration by nurses on bed making, bandaging, the preparation and sterilization of surgical dressings, etc.; frequent lectures by physicians or nurses, on subjects of interest and benefit to the student nurses; systematic courses of reading on nursing and allied subjects, the course to cover a school year of nine months or six months on a hospital course of three years.

Similar courses are being successfully carried on in several large hospitals, and have been added as an elective at Drexel Institute and Simmons College. Teachers' College, New York, has recognized the need of better teaching for nurses by the establishment of a course in hospital economics in which those who expect to teach this subject will have systematic instruction.

The subjects proposed in this preparatory course should appeal to all who are interested in more sanitary and a more rational way of living in the homes of our state, as well as those directly interested in hospital work. The eyes of thinking women are turning as never before to the problems of home making. Shall we not give them an opportunity to learn, in school, the more elementary facts of health, of nursing, and of dietetics, rather than that they shall have to learn them in the hard school of experience? This course should be so arranged that the large number of young women in the Normal may avail themselves of its privileges whether they expect to enter the smaller profession of nursing, or go, as most of them will, into the larger field of home-makers. Such subjects, properly taught, should have a culture value equal to that of literature or history.

There are difficulties, doubtless, in connection with the satisfactory working out of such a course, yet they are infinitesimal as compared with the great possibilities involved. This problem is accordingly submitted for the consideration of the educational department of the Normal and Industrial College and the hospital training schools of North Carolina.

Respectfully,

MARY L. WYCHE.

Japan's Diplomacy.

Japan has had wonderful success in negotiating treaties since the war with Russia. The energy of the government is as incessant and concentrated in diplomacy as it was in war. With the exception of the Portsmouth treaty, in which Japan was worsted, no bargain made by that government since the war has been as advantageous to the other contracting party as it has to Japan. The government has been prompt to put in treaty form all concessions granted by other nations, thus reaping the benefits of the war and giving them the most permanent possible form.

The latest effort of Japanese diplomacy is the arrangement of a political entente with Russia, following the signing of a treaty of commerce, navigation, and fishery. This treaty itself is of greater benefit to Japan than to Russia, since it opens to the Japanese not only the rich fisheries in the Okhotsk and Yellow seas and Bering Strait, but new grounds along the Russian coast and the Amur river. The Siberian coast is to be divided into sections, to be auctioned off at Vladivostok, and it is predicted that Japanese fishing companies will soon dominate the entire Asiatic coast of the Pacific.

The principal feature of the political agreement between Russia and Japan, it is said, is a paragraph in which those governments mutually guarantee their rights and territory, on the lines of the Franco-Japanese treaty. Such a compact need not necessarily interfere with the ambitions of either power, and recent history illustrates how fragile a treaty becomes when material interests impose a strain upon it. But the agreement is proof, nevertheless, of a renewal of cordial relations between Russia and Japan for the time being, at least. The unusual and inexplicable generosity of Russia in the matter of fishing rights has led to the assumption among looking diplomats that Japan is secretly making a material concession of some kind to her recent enemy. It is conjectured that the quid quo is an ice-free port, a possession which Russia sorely needs and the loss of which made the fall of Port Arthur such a serious blow. It is probable, however, that these powers will not publish any part of an entente granting such a concession, if it should be agreed upon, and the actual developments in and about Manchuria will be the only true means of estimating what the bargain is.

With Russian resentment allayed, Japan has removed the last obstacle to her paramountcy in Asia. Now, if her relations with the United States shall be so adjusted as to preclude the possibility of trouble, her diplomats will be entitled to a great share of the glory of making the new Japan.

PEASANT GARDEN HIGH SCHOOL.

The readers of the Patriot are familiar with the fact that there have been established two first grade high schools for Guilford county. One of these is located at Pleasant Garden and the other at Jamestown. To the former school is given the eastern half of the county to do its work, and it is concerning this work that I wish to call your attention. Pleasant Garden high school has for two years been enlarging its sphere of usefulness and, of course, is much pleased now to know that its special field has been further enlarged. From this allotted territory we wish to enroll every boy and girl who can come. Our school building is large and commodious, and our boarding facilities are most satisfactory. We have in just a few feet of the school building a dormitory of twelve rooms, which are so arranged that both boys and girls can be accommodated. The faculty of the high school will board there and have charge of the boarding students. Board is the only item of expense connected with the school. This, with fuel and furnished rooms, will cost $10 per month. The school is open free of charge to any boy or girl who can enter the eighth grade, and better still, is open for this year to those in the seventh grade. The student who has a fair knowledge of the advanced arithmetic, grammar, geography and history used in the public school course, will be entitled to enter the high school. This will be determined by an examination or by certificates from former teachers. The high school course at Pleasant Garden will be in charge of two teachers, graduates of reputable colleges, and will, as far as possible, be so adapted to suit the needs of the individual student. We are very anxious to have a large crowd of students in our school. Certainly no better inducements can be given. In addition to the regular work there will be the library, the reading table, the literary society and the athletic association to stimulate further efforts.

The schools open Wednesday, September 4, with a big educational rally. Hon. A. L. Brooks and others will deliver educational addresses. The occasion will be an all day affair, spiced with plenty of good things to eat at dinner time. We want every one interested in education to come. Come and bring something to eat with you, for we are all going to be feeling good and willing to eat. The exercises will begin at 10:30 A. M., with Mr. Brooks' address.

O. V. WOOSLEY, Principal.

Up to the President.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Marion Butler, of North Carolina, formerly a Populist leader, declares himself for Roosevelt for next President, and for Taft if he cannot have Taft.

OUR JURY SYSTEM.

Some of Its Defects Pointed Out and a Remarkable Case Cited.

New York Press.

In our great and glorious country we decide everything by the majority except civil and criminal cases in court and black-balling in clubs. Now, if a mere majority of one electoral vote in a total of 476 is sufficient to elect a President of the United States, is it reasonable that a unanimous verdict of twelve men (not all good and true) should be required to decide as to the guilt or innocence of a prisoner? Suppose the electoral college consisted of 13,000,000 voters, and what we term the "popular vote" were to decide the Presidency. All the winning candidate would need would be 6,500,001 votes.

Let me tell you a story of a recent trial. I had it of one of the jurors, a well-known and highly esteemed business man. A maid of all work fell into a coal hole which had been carelessly left open in a citizen's front yard. Egged on by an unscrupulous lawyer she sued for $10,000 damages, alleging serious injuries which threatened to cripple her for life. There was not much trouble in obtaining a jury, and the trial did not last forty weeks. The jury retired and took a ballot. Eleven impulsive men agreed that the maid was clearly entitled to $10,000, and not a man jack of them had the remotest doubt that such a verdict would be the very exaltation of exact justice.

The twelfth juror had not seemed to take an interest in the discussion. He sat in a corner, apparently reading a paper. By and by the eleventh turned to him and asked what he had to say: would he agree to the verdict? Laying down his paper he said: "Gentlemen, I have not been reading, but listening. Permit me to say that you are about to commit a most grave blunder. I am a physician. Here is my card. You can easily look up my record. I have heard every word of the testimony, and, as a professional man, I know positively, and will stake my reputation on it, that the injuries which this woman alleges she received by slipping into that coal hole could never have been caused by such an accident. If you will bear with me for a little while I will prove to each and all of you that I am right."

This juror had such a way with him, he was so calm, his language and manner were so impressive, that the eleven wanted to learn more. He sent for charts, diagrams, medical works, etc., and in a very short time convinced the eleven that the entire case of the woman was a fake. Instead of rendering a verdict for $10,000 they made it a matter of a few dollars; and all on the say so of one man who knew something. The jury has learned since that the injuries to the maid were of the most trivial character. It is not a solemn opinion, and I cannot repeat it too often, that there should be special judges for special trials, and special juries, too.

In Scotland the jury consists of fifteen, and they very sensibly abide by the will of the majority. As a veteran Scot put it to me: "The unanimity of twelve men—no matter if they be twelve men good and true—on any subject is nothing but a chimera. A man coerced—as he very often is—against his will is of the same opinion still. No time is lost in Scotland, in civil cases at least, as the jury can always give a verdict by majority after a lapse of three hours."

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing hope to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach is utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. J. C. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

No Operation

Mrs. Malinda Akers, of Basham, Va., writes: "I had what doctors call 'prolapse,' and couldn't stand straight. I had pain in my back and shoulders, and was very irregular and profuse. Doctors said an operation was needed, but I couldn't bear the thought of the knife. After taking three bottles of Wine of Cardui, I could walk around. Can now do my housework and am in splendid health."

Cardui is a pure, vegetable, medicinal essence, especially adapted to cure women's diseases. It relieves excessive periodical pains, regulates irregularities, and is a safe, pleasant and reliable remedy for all sick women. In successful use for over 70 years. Try it.

NATURE'S GREAT BLOOD TONIC

Piedmont-Bedford Concentrated Iron & Alum Water

(Representing the Famous Bedford Alum & Iron Springs of Va.)

contains 17 of the most powerful Mineral Tonics.

An 18-oz. bottle contains all the minerals in a barrel of the average water. We furnish the minerals, you furnish the water.

We have certificates both from the public and from eminent physicians, telling of its virtue in Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, a large variety of Female Diseases, Chronic Diarrhoea and Dysentery, General Debility, Anaemia, Malar, a Ulceration of the Throat, Diabetes, Piles, Chronic Eczema, Nervousness, Chronic Constipation, and many showing the wonderful cures in that dreadful disease, Scrofula.

Dr. T. L. KABLER, for fifteen years a resident at the Springs, says: "For Scrofula, that fearful destroyer of human health and happiness, we have in this water a remedy which, neither science nor fortune accident has hitherto found an equal. It is in this malady, and some forms of secondary and tertiary Syphilis, that this water when carried its full curative effect, displays its highest curative powers. In all forms of diseases peculiar to females, this water will be found to exert a curative influence second to none in Virginia."

I have given your Concentrated Water a fair trial, and say with pleasure I have been greatly benefited. For some years I have suffered more or less with Indigestion, followed by Constipation and other attendant ills. Within the past two months I have found such relief from your remedy that I have improved in strength and weight; have eaten what I have not dared to do for a long time, and have done harder work than I have been able to do before for years.

REV. OSCAR LITTLETON, Presiding Elder, Lynchburg, Va.

Since 1894 I have been afflicted with Chronic Diarrhoea. About six months ago I commenced using your Concentrated Iron and Alum Water with the most wonderful and satisfactory results. For three or four years past I have been deprived of the privilege of visiting friends or going to church, as my trouble kept me in constant apprehension, having lost almost entirely the control of my bowels; but now I am happy to state that after using about a half dozen bottles of your remedy I am entirely cured, not having used any for the last four months. I can confidently and most gladly recommend your remedy for Chronic Diarrhoea.

CAPT. RUFUS AMIS, Virginia, Va.

I was an intense sufferer for some months with Indigestion, and could get no relief from the ordinary remedies. During the month of January I began the use of your Concentrated Water, and one bottle has entirely relieved me. I can now digest any diet and am entirely free from suffering. I take great pleasure in giving this testimonial.

REV. H. M. BLAIR, Editor N. C. Christian Advocate, Greensboro, N. C.

I have used and prescribed waters from several Iron and Alum Springs, but none of them begin to come up to your Concentrated Water in all that goes to make the ideal alternative, strengthener, appetizer and restorative. It is at once a fine tonic and flesh-builder. Have advised several recently to try it, and always with fine and quick results. In January I had a bottle sent from one of your dealers to a lady, with the understanding that if it did not at once improve her digestive apparatus, I would pay the $1.00 myself. She not only willingly paid the bill, but used a part of one-half dozen more bottles, and is now completely cured of a long and annoying Stomach Trouble. This seems to be the case with all who try it.

LOCAL CREDITS WILL BE RATED.

Retail Merchants Association Will Adopt Methods for Better Protection of Their Interests.

At the last regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Greensboro Retail Merchants' Association, held at the offices of the Vaustray Clothing Company, with a representative attendance, it was decided to inaugurate a system by which the efficiency of the organization might be increased. J. M. Hendrix and C. H. McKnight were appointed, with instructions to canvass the situation thoroughly and make a report at the next meeting.

The membership of the association now numbers sixty-one and it is proposed to increase this to at least a hundred or more. The dues will also be increased according to the plans as now outlined, and a strong effort be made to place the body on a basis where more substantial and satisfactory results may be obtained than is possible under the system now in force. It is also planned to institute a series of ratings for the determination of credit in individual cases and to follow in a general way the plans in force with the Bradstreet and Dun agencies, although these ratings will be for local purposes alone and will not include credits on names from other places.

It is also proposed to employ a secretary at a sufficient salary, one who has had experience in the management of similar organizations, and to have him conduct the affairs of his office on a thoroughly systematic basis, or in about the same manner as is followed by the commercial agencies. The committee named at the last meeting has this matter in charge and the members are making inquiries for the right sort of man to fill the position.

The executive committee consists of the president, H. C. Huntley, R. C. Bernau, C. H. McKnight and H. W. Clendenin, the latter having been elected in the place of F. F. Peebles, resigned. Porter Paisley is now acting as secretary and will continue in this position until a salaried employee is obtained.

The plans as now proposed, and which will probably be carried into effect, are in general use in many cities of a size even smaller than Greensboro, and it has been shown by experience, as was stated Saturday, that the results have been satisfactory in the great majority of cases and especially where an increasing population is expected and is to be provided for in the matter of credits.

The discussion of the question of schools and colleges occupied the greater portion of the afternoon session.

The report of the Thomasville orphanage was submitted by Supt. M. L. Kestler. It was adopted.

It was decided to adopt the Wallburg high school as the school for the Baptist denomination and the following committee was appointed: Revs. J. B. Richardson, A. C. Hamby and Messrs. O. W. Monroe and J. S. Moore. Rev. C. E. Maddry was appointed as delegate to the Southern Baptist convention.

"NEGLIGENCE AND CARELESSNESS."

Slack Methods Responsible for the Recent Railway Wreck at Auburn.

A coroner's jury that investigated the recent wreck on the Southern Railway near Auburn made its report Monday after concluding the examination of witnesses, and fixed the blame for the accident on Conductor Oakley and Engineer Rippey, of the passenger train, and Dispatchers Ketchum and Parvin, incidentally scoring the loose methods of the Durham division, of which Mr. J. M. Bennett is superintendent. In all fourteen witnesses were examined at the hearings, the last being Engineer W. W. Rippey, who was unable to appear at the first hearing on the 10th inst. Mr. Rippey stated that he was very sick on the day of the wreck and forgot his orders, but declared that if the "middle order system" had been in force the wreck would not have occurred. The verdict of the jury reads:

"We, the jury, for our verdict, say: that the deceased W. C. Parker, Robert Young and W. J. Bethel, came to their deaths in a collision between trains No. 136 and No. 173 on the North Carolina Railroad, leased and operated by the Southern Railway, near Auburn, N. C., on August 6, 1907, and that said collision was caused by the gross negligence and carelessness of W. W. Rippey and C. M. Oakley, engineer and conductor of train No. 136, in overlooking their orders to meet train No. 173 at Auburn, N. C. We further find that B. P. Ketchum, chief train dispatcher, and Victor Parvin, train dispatcher, are guilty of gross negligence and carelessness by not using the "middle order" which the evidence shows was in force on said railway between Greensboro and Goldsboro before August 6, 1907. We further find that the Southern Railway is to be censured for the loose way in which its orders are enforced on the Durham division."

Warrants will be issued for the four men thus found guilty and they will be tried in Wake Superior court.

Marriage of Two Years Ago is Announced.

The Daily, of Sanbury, Pa., on August 3, has the following:

"Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Mr. Frederick Hugo Stephens to Miss Nan Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tillet Dicks, of Greensboro, North Carolina, which occurred at that place on November 22, 1905. The cards announce that they will be at home at The Hill, Empire Canal Zone, Panama, after August 1, 1907.

"Mr. Stephens is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jared Irwin, of this city. His father is Mr. Sharon Stephens, formerly well known in Sanbury in connection with its schools, and now extensively engaged in the coal business in Harrisburg; his mother was Miss Georgiana Irwin, the only child of Mr. Irwin, whose early death was a sad stroke to her relatives and friends.

"Young Mr. Stephens whose marriage is announced, was located at Greensboro, N. C., doing stenographic work in connection with railroad operations when he met the lady who became his bride. On account of his marked ability he was engaged by the government commission which two years ago was sent to Panama to lay out the work for the construction of the transisthmian canal, and his marriage took place before he started on that important mission. He no doubt will be engaged in that work until its completion."

Chief Marshal for Central Carolina Fair.

Garland Daniel, secretary of the Central Carolina Fair Association, received a letter Saturday night from Charles O. McMichael, mayor of Madison and a prominent lawyer of Rockingham county, accepting the position as chief marshal for the entire period of the fair, or October 15-18 inclusive. Marshal McMichael, it is also announced, will appoint a large number of assistants from among the prominent young men of the state, and these will constitute a decidedly efficient body of men for the appointed purpose.

Extensive preparations are now being made at the grounds for what, in the opinion of the management, will be the best exhibition of its kind ever held in this part of the country. The grandstand is to be repaired and enlarged in order to accommodate a greater crowd than has been provided for in previous years and other improvements are either under way or will be inaugurated and completed in ample time for the opening day.

Entries for the races are numerous and the estimate is made that at least 150 horses will compete for the prizes, which are more than ordinarily liberal. Since the closing of the time for the reception of entries for the stake races, five applications have been received from owners of Kentucky thoroughbreds, and while these were necessarily declined the horses were at once entered for the other affairs.

Officers of the Greensboro Academy of Medicine Elected.

In the directors' room of the City National Bank last Friday night the Greensboro Academy of Medicine held its regular monthly meeting. The meeting was well attended and the doctors discussed a number of matters of interest, the chief topic being the typhoid fever situation in the city. The reports showed that there is less now than has been known to be the case at this time of year in years.

Following the routine business these officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John R. Williams; first vice-president, Dr. H. H. Dodson; second vice-president, Dr. J. H. Boyle; secretary, Dr. C. W. Banner; treasurer, Dr. Thos. R. Little.

Miss Julia McLean, eldest daughter of the late Dr. J. A. McLean, died last Wednesday at the age of fifty-six years at her home near Sedalia, and was buried Thursday afternoon at Bethel after an appropriate funeral service conducted by Rev. S. M. Rankin. Miss McLean had been in declining health for some time but her last illness was considered critical for only a few days before her death. She is survived by one sister, Miss Cora McLean, of Sedalia; and five brothers, Mr. Chas. E. McLean, of this city; Mr. Jesse R. McLean, of Wilson, and Messrs. W. H., J. C. and A. L. Interment was made in the quiet churchyard at Bethel, the pallbearers being Messrs. J. M. Dick, W. R. Forbis, E. E. Boone, E. P. Huffines, R. B. Andrew and W. R. Forbis, Jr. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

Schoonover-Langston.

Thursday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. J. A. Hodgins, about three miles south of the city, Miss Kate C. Langston, of this city, and Dr. Robert A. Schoonover, of Washington City, were happily united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. T. Bell, pastor of Centenary Methodist church. Only immediate relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. E. J. Langston, 206 Buchanan street, and is a most charming young lady. For some time she has held a position as trained nurse in a hospital in Washington and while there she first met Dr. Schoonover. The groom is a prominent physician of the Capital City. ## Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

The largest electric sign in the world has just been erected by the Oliver Chilled Plow Works at South Bend, Indiana, and the illustration at the head of this article gives a very fair idea of its appearance.

This sign surmounts the plow company's new five-story warehouse, extending the entire length of the building, a distance of 250 feet. The highest point in the letters of the trade mark portion of the sign is at the center, 42 feet above the base line, and the letters in the words "Oliver" and "Works" are each 18 feet high and 14 feet wide.

A total number of 3,200 lamps is required to properly illuminate this mammoth sign, and the light sent out casts its protective rays over the entire quarter of the city in the neighborhood of the Oliver factory.

Such a light would ordinarily be considered very expensive and a luxury, but in this case the cost is minimized by reason of the electricity used being generated at the power plant owned and operated by the Oliver Works, located something more than a mile distant on the banks of the St. Joseph river and designed primarily to furnish power for their great factory.

An illumination of this character naturally consumes power and 165 of the 320 horse power generated by a single one of the 12 turbine wheels at their electric plant is required to keep this "pillar of fire by night" constantly burning, making its light visible through the darkness for many miles, and so plain that the name "Oliver Works" and the immense trade mark—which includes a plow 58 feet in length—can be clearly distinguished and read for a distance of several miles.

Located as this sign is—but a short distance from the main lines of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern and Grand Trunk Railways—travelers will have a fine opportunity to see for themselves this modern wonder of the world, which is at once a triumph of the electric art and a tribute to the enterprise of its projectors and owners.

A COMPLETE EXHIBIT.

Splendid Showing of North Carolina at Jamestown Exposition.

FORESTRY, FISH AND GAME.

Odd Specimens on View in These Sections—White Possum and Albino Raccoon—Agricultural Pyramid With Its Novel Peanut Umbrella.

The North Carolina exhibit in the States' Exhibit Palace at the Jamestown exposition is second to none in the building. It is compact and exhaustive and thoroughly exploits the resources of the state, natural and manufactured. Covering something over 6,000 square feet of floor space in the northwest corner of the building, just to the left of the main entrance, this exhibit is in the form of the capital letter "L," with a square within it. This square contains about 3,000 square feet of floor space and displays the exhibits of agriculture, forestry, fish and game. That space contained in the "L" accommodates the exhibits of like character in the building. The collective assemblage cost $15,000, twice as much being spent in the square as in the side booths.

The state colors—blue, red and white—are prominently displayed in the decorations, and yet the prevailing scheme is cream and gold. Around the several sections of the exhibit is a railing of polished brass. The posts supporting this rail are finished in cream and gold. On the top of each is a flagstaff with a golden ball. The entrances—and there are some eight or ten of them—are flanked with tall cream white columns with Ionic capitals, surmounted by gilded eagles with wings outspread.

Draped in festoons between the columns in the central booth are cords of gilded and colored peanuts in unique and artistic decorations, aided by numerous designs of grain and forage plants.

On account of its size and unusual appearance the decorated building in the central exhibit catches your attention almost immediately. On the sides and roof of this little house is shown in quaint designs and displays nearly every principal agricultural product of North Carolina. The roof is made of cornshucks, the sides of wheat, tobacco, grasses, cornstalks, cotton and clipped grain. Among the most attractive designs on the house are the monogram of the state and the seal of the department of agriculture.

The most artistic display in the booth and one that will not fail to call forth admiration is an agricultural pyramid, built in four sections and exhibiting in tubes and jars all the grain products of the state. Covering this, drooping from the top, is a hanging umbrella of artificially colored peanuts, blending perfectly with the brown and yellow grain and with the red background with which the very picturesque pyramid is finished.

In the exhibit of agriculture there are unusually fine samples of all North Carolina grains and grasses in the sheaf or bundles. While the whole state of North Carolina is represented by the fine exhibits of the department of agriculture, a great many of the finest were sent from the plantation of W. H. Robins, near Raleigh. Mr. Robins himself arranging them in the booth.

Though a by no means ancient science, forestry finds many of its ardent students in North Carolina, and the exhibits in this department are surpassed by none of like nature at the exposition.

Among the exhibits of the department of fish and game are several of the most strange and unique at the entire exposition. The visitor will see a possum with creamy white hair and beautiful pink eyes and an albino squirrel as white as cotton.

In the same case with these freaks he will see a yellow raccoon so nearly approaching albinism as to be almost a true representative of the type. These three specimens are from the North Carolina state museum, where for the last several years they have attracted great attention and interest. They were all killed in the state, the possum having been caught near Raleigh, the raccoon near Wilmington and the squirrel in Craven county.

Then there are a number of game and fur bearing animals, together with a large assortment of skins.

There is a case full of wild ducks—twenty-three varieties, two of each, as a rule—and six or eight wild geese. They were collected by H. H. Brimley, curator of the North Carolina museum, many specimens having been prepared especially for exhibit at the exposition. With the ducks is shown a hybrid duck, a cross between a mallard and black duck. This was shot some time ago in North Carolina and is one of the few specimens of hybrid ducks in existence.

The fishing interests of the state are represented by a number of large colored reproductions of the most important fish of North Carolina waters and a full assortment of crabs, clams, oysters, turtles, shrimps, etc.

Jamestown's Accessibility.

Within a twenty-four hour radius of the exposition there live some 40,000, 600 people, or nearly half the population of the entire United States. Eight or ten railroads and as many steamship lines center in Norfolk and Newport News, making it possible to bring all of these people to the exposition during the period of the celebration, and all who enter the gates of the Colonial City by the Sea will find entertainment in the highest sense of the word.

"Ten Cent Cotton is to Blame."

Billings, Mont., Aug. 5th, 1907.

Editor GREENSBORO PATRIOT: In this little black spot on the map of the United States the better half of the population has turned the searchlight on the thread trust. Staudpatters who are asked to explain the rise in this necessity say there is no such thing as a thread trust. Ten cent cotton is to blame. They point with pride to the basic principle of economics which proves how the price of thread is only an index of the groundswell of prosperity. Manufacturers who pay ten cents for raw material increase the wages of employees; pay higher freight rates; bigger interest and dividends and insurance; and of course need to exact ten cents per spool of thread from consumers. Thread is at one end of the line of necessities and steel rails at the other. Everything has advanced but the postage stamp and it is a government ownership butterfly.

According to standardism the stiff protective tariff has nothing to do with giving private monopoly a clench on the public pocket book. People who think they can see another proof of making traffic bear an extortionate rate because the time is ripe for it are accused of being afraid of an artificial person called the bogey man.

But those who have to foot the bills as the result of these specialists levying public taxation for private benefit reason like this: A manufacturer of thread might put a billion spools of thread on the domestic market and then in order to make the tariff bring forth much fruit a million spools can be exported to a British, German, or French port. There would be nothing in the way of the exporter reshipping his thread to the United States and paying duty. Revenue derived from such a source would indicate that competition was alive. Duty on a million spools of thread if it helped to keep up the price on the billion spools which the manufacturer has on the domestic market would be a sound business proposition. If the manufacturer can afford to sell his commodity in a foreign market for less than it can be sold for at home he could afford to engage in the above mentioned transaction.

Department stores are always on the lookout for bargains in fabric materials. A multi-millionaire dry goods merchant who would dodge taxes on big chunks of Chicago real estate and presumably on a fortune in negotiable paper would not think it a sin to wink at the Goddess of Liberty at the custom house.

All the units of organized capital support the stiff protective tariff system. It is the force pump which inflates the value of commodities. At one time this capitalistic form of subsidy was crystallized common sense. An industry passes through several stages of growth before it penetrates deeply enough into our patriotic civilization to draw sufficient financial moisture from its tap root. Once the luxuriant foliage of success is in evidence hot house culture should cease. Industrial precocity leads to degeneracy. With a currency which is declared to be less elastic than domestic commerce requires and a transportation equipment too small to distribute the commodities the public are clamoring for it seems to be about time to put on the brakes.

An inter-state commerce commission is declared to be biting off more than it can chew when it insists upon lowering a freight rate a fraction of a cent. The heinous crime of being unconstitutional is recognized by the convicted commercial user. Neither can a state interfere to lower a passenger rate. Private monopoly however finds no difficulty in settling on the legal rate of profit. Overcapitalization may have woven a web too strong for equal and exact justice to pierce.

Either Governor Glenn or Judge Pritchard has pitched a ringer.

JAMES E. FREE.

STATE PROHIBITION.

Rev. R. L. Davis Says He Thinks North Carolina Will Get It at Next Legislature.

Raleigh News and Observer, 10th.

Rev. R. L. Davis, of Warren Platts, state organizer for the Anti-Saloon League, was in the city yesterday. Asked about the prospect for state prohibition in North Carolina, he said, very enthusiastically: "We are going to get state prohibition at the next session of the legislature."

"But," said the reporter, "did you notice that Dr. Len G. Broughton expected North Carolina from his list of states to get state prohibition in two years?"

"Yes," said Mr. Davis, "but I know more about the conditions in this state than Dr. Broughton does."

"You've been feeling the pulse of the people, I presume," returned the reporter.

"Yes," said the prohibitionist, "and they want state prohibition. I have just been to Guilford College and talked with a lot of friends, and they are in favor of it. I have been attending the Methodist district conference and I find that ministers and laymen are in favor of prohibition. These bodies and others are passing resolutions in favor of it. Even those who will not vote for the resolutions do not criticize those who do. When I went into this work four months ago I thought North Carolina would have state prohibition in five years. Now I have not a shadow of a doubt that it will come at the next legislature."

ELECTIONS OF 1907.

Important State Contests that Show the Direction of Partisan Currents.

Leslie's Weekly.

Many persons suppose that the only politics that is in the years immediately preceding the big quadrennial campaigns is the maneuvering of the various Presidential aspirants for position in the approaching convention. This is a mistake, however. Several states always hold elections in those "off" years, and a few of them are important enough to attract
a good deal of attention.

Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Maryland, Mississippi, and Kentucky elect governors in November, 1907, and most of these states, as well as a few others, will choose one or both branches of their legislatures. The contests in Rhode Island, New Jersey, and Maryland will be of especial interest to the country. Rhode Island, New Jersey, and Maryland will be of especial interest to the country. Rhode Island, which gave a plurality of nearly 17,000 to President Roosevelt in 1904, has elected a Democrat to the governorship several times recently,
and has a Democratic governor now.
New Jersey, which was once called the Northern projection of the solid South,
and which until 1896 was about as reliably Democratic as South Carolina,
is being "claimed" by the Democrats
this year. Maryland has been a doubtful state for the past dozen years,
swinging from one party to the other.
McKinley carried it in 1896 and 1900,
and in 1904 the division was so close
that nobody knew who had the state
until the official count was made.
Then it was found that out of a total of 224,000, Parker beat Roosevelt by only 51 votes.

These states, holding their elections
so close to the big national canvass, will show the direction and the force of the partisan currents. When the Republicans carried Maryland and Kentucky for governor in 1895 the country saw that the drift was decidedly in favor of the Republicans for the big canvass twelve months later. When Roswell F. Flower carried New York for governor in 1891 by a 48,000 margin, and Horace B. Hoadly carried Iowa, these were among the portents of the Democratic landslide in 1892, which placed Cleveland in the Presidency. Foraker's defeat at the polls for governor of Ohio in 1883 by George Hoadly was one of the indications of that swing of the country away from the Republicans which was to defeat Blaine in 1884 and send Cleveland to the White House for his first term. Some of those state elections of 1907 may be important as "pointers" of the direction in which the political wind will blow in 1908.

Astor Heir for President.

A Democratic Presidential candidate supported by the great wealth and social prestige of the Astors is a possibility of the next Presidential campaign.
Information reached Washington Saturday that Louis Stuyvesant Chanler,
lieutenant governor of New York,
would be urged as the candidate of the New York Democracy for first place
on the Democratic ticket.

Since Mr. Chandler's election as lieutenant governor last fall, it is understood a quiet movement has been conducted by representatives of the younger element of New York Democracy with a view to his nomination as the Democratic candidate for President and, it is stated, this movement has met with success. Mr. Chandler is said to have strong support not only in the up-state counties of New York, but in Tammany as well. Some of the directing members of the Tammany organization, including Charles F. Murphy, its leader, have been consulted regarding his availability, and they have said that he will be acceptable to them.

With Lieutenant Governor Chanler
as a candidate, the Democratic national convention is likely to have a social as well as political aspect. Like President Roosevelt, Mr. Chanler comes from a family intimately associated with the early history of this country
and especially that of New York state.
His wealth comes from the Astor and Chanler families and, like the income
of the Roosevelt family, has no taint
of the trust upon it.

If elected President, Lieutenant Governor Chanler's friends declare he would fight the trusts as vigorously as
Mr. Roosevelt has done. In his fight for the nomination, Mr. Chanler, it is understood, will have the Astor millions behind him. He is the favorite nephew of Mrs. William Astor, who,
for years, has been the leader of New York's most exclusive society. Democratic politicians here admit that with his social and financial backing, Lieutenant Governor Chanler is likely to take a commanding position in national politics.

RAILROAD WRECKS COSTLY.

Loss of Life and Property in Three Months Shown in Bulletin.

Shocking railroad accidents, involving great loss of life and property, occurred in the United States during the three months ended March 31, according to the accident bulletin issued last week by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The bulletin shows that the total number of casualties to passengers, and to employes while on duty, during the three months was 20,563, as compared to 20,944 reported in the preceding three months—a decrease of 381. The total number of passengers and employes
killed in train accidents was 421,
and the number of injured 4,920,
or 53 less in the number killed and 20
less in the number injured, as compared with the record of the preceding
three months.

The total number of collisions and
derailments in the quarter was 3,391,
or 2,078 collisions and 1,313 derailments,
of which 323 collisions and 229 derailments affected passenger trains. The damage to cars, engines and roadway
by these accidents amounted to $3,536,- 110.

The number of employes killed in coupling accidents in this quarter
shows a diminution of 25 per cent, as compared with the quarter last preceding, or with that of one year ago. The other principal items in the present record show no important changes, as compared with the last preceding quarter, which was marked by large aggregates of both killed and injured.

ELECTRIC-RAISED FRUIT.

Perpetual Sun's Rays at Royal Botanic Garden, London.

London, Aug. 17.—A series of important experiments destined to revolutionize the production of crops of fruit and flowers under glass, and enable the gardener to obtain both in much shorter period of time, as well as
at a considerable less cost than heretofore, have just been begun in the Royal Botanic Gardens, Regent's Park.

By means of a powerful arc light
moving automatically along a trolley
wire overhead, light is diffused over
the plants directly the solar light falls.
This moving light is surrounded by water, so that the rays may resemble those of the sun, both in quality and movement. Besides no part of the plant is entirely in the shade. By means of earthenware pipes connected with the engine, moist air, containing the carbonic acid required for the sustenance of the plants, is diffused in carefully-regulated quantities through apertures into every part of the house,
while in iron pipes heat is also diffused
to maintain the desired temperature.

But more important still is an electrostatic machine which is used to supply electrical energy to the soil to convert insoluble nitrates into soluble
nitrates, and otherwise enable the roots of the plants to have an abundant supply of food prepared in a form capable of ready assimilation. A Mr.
Thwaites is the inventor of the process.

AMERICAN NAVY IS SECOND.

English Authority Puts the United States
Next to Britain.

New York, Aug. 17.—The tenth annual issue of F. T. Jones' "Fighting Ships of 1907," which is one of the recognized authorities on the navies of the world, and which has just been published in London, puts the United States second among the naval powers of the world, with England first.
Speaking of the United States navy,
Mr. Jones, in his preface, says:

"The extraordinary high figures for United States ships afford food for considerable thought, for both in ships with powered guns, or those impervious to injury at long range, the United States fleet is superior to any other navy in the world. Even by the inclusion of 40-caliber 12-inch types, extinct so far as new ships are concerned, the United States is an extremely good second,
and the corresponding lead in invulnerability outside 7,000 yards is considerably increased."

For the first time the navies of Mexico and Peru are included in the book
this year. Mexico has eight vessels in commission and two small cruisers,
and eight torpedo boats authorized. The Peruvian navy consists of two small cruisers and several gunboats.

WASHINGTON ARCHITECTS WIN.

Milburn & Co. Will Design Courthouse at Salisbury.

Washington Post.

Frank P. Milburn & Co., Washington architects, have been awarded first place in the competition for the $50,000
courthouse to be erected at Salisbury,
N. C. The structure will be the courthouse for Rowan county. Contracts for the construction of the building
will be let at an early date, and work
will be started immediately after the awards.

The Rowan county courthouse will be classic in design, and will be constructed of pressed brick, with a granite base. It is possible that the plans will be changed so far as to permit the erection of an entire granite building.
If this is the case the cost of the building will be nearly doubled.

Frank P. Milburn & Co. have made the plans for many of the handsome public buildings in the South Atlantic States in recent years. At present
there is a building boom in Salisbury,
where twenty-one large buildings are
in course of construction.

Senator Holt at Mt. Airy.

Mt. Airy Leader.

State Senator Allen Holt, of Oak Ridge, was here Friday in the interest of his school, but many believe that his trip had a political significance, as he was expected nearly all day with prominent local Democratic politicians.
While the senator is not an avowed candidate for Congress it is a well known fact that he desires to run on the Democratic ticket in this district for that honor, and coming from the same county as Solicitor Brooks, he may yet make it interesting for that gentleman. Senator Holt is not only very popular in Guilford but he has a host of friends in this county who would like to see him nominated, and no doubt he will secure some following here.

Dog's Ghost Annoys Neighbors.

New York Tribune.

The alleged ghost of a dead dog is annoying residents here in River street.
They say the animal interferes with their slumbers at night and frightens them in the daytime. The dog was the property of Dr. Gilbert Johnston, and it died three weeks ago.

The physician was attached to the animal, and attended personally to the burial. Since that time complaints of noise have been made daily, and the River street residents say the barking
and yelping come from the dog's grave.
Only one man backs up the complaints.
He says he visited the spot and heard
the noises attributed to the animal.
Dr. Johnston's neighbors insist that the dog's body be disinterred.

Justice of the Peace R. S. Fitts, of Stokesland, has in his possession a cannon ball, a relic of the Revolutionary war, which is a great curiosity.
The ball has been in the possession of the family of Mr. Fitts for years and was first discovered about sixty years ago by an old colored slave at Guilford Court House, N. C., where the battle between Lord Cornwallis and the British forces and General Greene of the American army took place. The ball weighs about six and a half pounds and is kept by Mr. Fitts as a relic.

It is said that the Dukes are to erect another mammoth mill at Duke. This place, exclusively a factory village,
has now a population of about 3,000,
and the largest population of any town
in Harnett county, and the new factory will almost double this population.

A WORD AS TO THE VALUE OF TRADING STAMPS

When we first opened our store in this city, some four years ago, our business commenced to grow from the start, and we can offer no stronger testimonial in behalf of our prosperity than to tell you that the most enthusiastic patrons that we have are those to whom we first issued books.
The list steadily grows day by day, and today we can number those who are collecting SOUTHERN RED TRADING STAMPS by the hundreds.

Our buyer has just returned from the Northern and Western markets, selecting stock for the coming season, and by October 1st the stock will be the largest and most varied that we have yet exhibited in this city.

If You Are Not a Collector Begin Now

Nothing to be gained by waiting--every dollar counts-- it costs you nothing. All you have to do is to buy from those who issue stamps, and they are glad to issue them.
It's the best advertising money they can spend.

We print below a full list of merchants who issue stamps
in this city. Take it up and make every penny count.

State Farmers' Convention, Raleigh, August 28th, 29th, 30th.

The fifth annual meeting of the State Farmers' Convention will be held at the A. & M. College, Raleigh, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 28th, 29th and 30th, 1907.

The cheap railroad rates already in effect and the facts that rooms and meals will be furnished those who desire them at the college at actual cost and that an attractive program is assured should result in making this the largest gathering of farmers ever held in the state for the study of strictly agricultural problems.

The features of the opening session, Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, will be an address of welcome by Gov. R. B. Glenn and the annual address of the president by Ashley Horne, of Clayton.

Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to the study of corn and small grains, and instructive addresses will be made by prominent farmers and agricultural teachers.

Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock there will either be an address by some speaker of note or a stereopticon lecture illustrating modern methods of progress and development in agriculture.

Thursday forenoon will be taken up with the study of horticulture, fruit growing, trucking, etc.

Thursday afternoon there will be special meetings for the growers of cotton and tobacco. Splendid programs have been prepared for both meetings, and Director North, of Washington, D. C., will be present and discuss the collection of crop reports or some kindred subject.

Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock will occur one of the most attractive features of the convention. Hon. W. M. Hays, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., will deliver an address on Improvements in Rural Affairs.

Friday will be live stock day. The morning session will be devoted to the annual meeting of the State Dairymen's Association and a very entertaining and instructive program has been arranged. Professor E. H. Webster, Chief of the Dairy Division of the United States Department of Agriculture, will be present and address the meeting. Friday afternoon will be devoted to the study of general live stock problems and the organization of a state live stock breeders' association.

There is another feature of the convention which should not be overlooked. On Thursday and Friday there will be special meetings for the women from the farm homes, and a splendid program of an entertaining and instructive nature already issued insures a good time to those who attend. Those wishing further information relating to this feature of the convention should write to either Mrs. F. L. Stevens, President, or Mrs. Walter Grimes, Secretary, at Raleigh.

Complete programs of this important farmers' meeting will be issued shortly and every farmer in the state who can possibly do so will find it to his interest and enjoyment to attend this meeting.

A Simple Plan.

Washington Post.

This gentle financial cutthroats who speak softly and go far in Wall street are deeply hurt by the administration's ruthless tactics, and are trying to convince the country that it is going to the dogs. The present slump in securities is either engineered by the money manipulators, or it is an advertisement of their panic. If it is an invention of their own, designed to show the President what a dangerous course he is pursuing when he prods the Harrisons and the Rockefellers, the expedient is costly as well as futile. It will hurt nobody but the gamblers themselves. There is reason to believe that the slump is deliberately prolonged by the Wall street interests, preparatory to making representations to the President that he should abandon his prosecution of law-breaking corporations. The New York Sun reports, for example:

"Two bankers made suggestions which they said they had reason to believe might bear fruit. They proposed going to the root of the trouble and curing the disease by endeavoring to remove its cause. They advocated intercession with the national authorities and a formal and concerted request that either the administration modify its anti-corporation program or let it be known precisely what this program is, so that investors may know which stocks stand a chance of decrease of dividend return from imposition of penalties—which corporations are the sheep and which the goats."

"According to one banker, talk of this kind has crystallized in a movement to secure the service of the Republican National Committee as a sort of board of arbitration. The other banker, who is connected with a large bond house, advocated the formation of a committee of prominent men to take the matter to Oyster Bay and discover, if possible, what securities are immune and what are not. His views as to argument and methods of procedure seemed vague."

This stuff, printed in a journal that is not ignorant of what is going on in Wall street, is a ludicrous exposure of the simplicity that sometimes accompanies the sublime art of getting the other fellow's money away from him. President Roosevelt has designs on certain lawbreakers who are interested in various corporations. The uncertainty regarding the identity of the President's victims is such as to make all lawbreakers uneasy. The stock of all crooked corporations shrinks in value as the truth dawns upon the holders that perhaps the days of loot are numbered. What is more natural, under these circumstances, than the formation of a committee of prominent manipulators to wait upon the President and ask him to explain in detail what his plans are? If he will only indicate the names of persons and corporations he intends to prosecute, nothing will be easier than to throw them and their stock overboard.

It is a simple, but effective plan, if it will work. The only thing lacking is the President's co-operation. By all means, let a Wall street committee wait upon the President. He may not tell them all his plans, but they are likely to hear something to their advantage. They will go away wiser men.

A comfortable thing about being concealed is the way you always think you aren't.

Real Sources of Wealth Not Yet Affected, Says Shaw.

New York, Aug. 18.—Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury, authorized the following interview on the present financial and industrial conditions today:

"Our farms produce more than $6,500,000,000 per annum, and the prospect is good for an average crop. Our mines yield more than $1,500,000,000 and our forests more than $1,000,000,000. And neither of these sources of wealth has been exhausted. The output of our factories, in other than food products, is $12,000,000,000, and no fires have been extinguished. The railroads earn more than $2,000,000,000, and they are all in successful operation. The pay-roll of our factories and railways aggregate approximately $3,500,000,000, and the scale of wages has not been reduced. In other words, the real sources of the people's wealth have not yet been affected, and the ability of industrial concerns to pay dividends is not measured by the market price of their stocks. Logical reasons for serious conditions are therefore wanting. Psychological reasons are never wanting."

"If I judge correctly, the people will have exactly what they expect. If those who have money in the banks withdraw it and lock it up, if the banks refuse to grant accommodations, and if the consuming public decline to place orders, then we will very soon witness the effects. Let those who think that the times of disaster follow each other at regular intervals bear in mind that this country has never yet experienced a period of severe depression that was not traceable to financial or economical agitation or legislation, and usually to both."

"In 1893 the redemption of greenbacks in silver instead of gold was openly advocated; the party in power was under promise to remove the protective tariff from our industries, and the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 was championed by prominent members of both parties. The country might have survived any one of these sources of alarm, but it could not survive all three."

"At this time no one questions our financial system, and the tariff will not be touched for at least 18 months."

"Some check in the speed at which we are going is most desirable, and the checking process has probably begun. It will now require a fair measure of confidence and courage to prevent undue retardment in our industries. Capital cannot be forced into activity, but it can be forced out of activity. I have never seen the time when universal sanity was more essential to our well being."

Agricultural Education.

EDITOR PATRIOT—Thinking that some one might be induced to attend the A. & M. College, and believing that no one can spend from two to four years there and regret that he spent his time in that college instead of somewhere else, I will say a few words in regard to the future prospects of persons attending this institution.

To begin with, this college teaches the technical professions, and takes for its material boys most generally from the country and those from the towns who have learned to hustle for themselves. Of this class practically all the men come who are to amount to anything in the affairs of society and home.

Everyone will admit that with the agricultural prosperity of a community comes prosperity of all the other lines, and that until the farmer is prosperous no one else will be so.

We hear a great deal about the progress of people in the West. This is due to the advanced ideas in agriculture obtained through agricultural education. The colleges are the finest, equipped thoroughly by the state and patronized liberally by its people. If we expect to see the best progress in North Carolina, farmers will have to be educated to know their business as well as the men of any other profession. The advantages of a college education at the A. & M. of Raleigh are unexcelled by any college of its kind in the South. And in this institution I would especially recommend the agricultural course to the boys of Guilford county and elsewhere. The success of individuals and communities is going to depend in the future upon the agricultural progress and therefore agricultural education of the people. Now if you have an ambition for an education and want to be a hustler, take an agricultural course at the A. & M. College, Raleigh.

Lost Tablespoonful of Brain.

St. Louis Dispatch to New York Herald.
Cecil Mullins, eleven years old, was taken to a hospital here six weeks ago with his skull near the left temple badly crushed. Bits of sharp, broken bone had been driven inward and buried an inch deep in the brain, cutting and bruising the fine tissues over a circular space as large as a silver dollar.

Dr. J. W. Shankland performed two operations. The boy's case was considered hopeless, but he lived and is said to be practically out of danger. A tablespoonful of the brain was taken from the boy's head. The wound in the brain is healing rapidly. The lad is alert, bright, and cheerful.

The wound is in the part of the brain which years of experimenting has pretty clearly identified as the "speech zone." Injuries in this "zone" show various effects, according to their location. Sometimes the injured person will retain his understanding of words, but will lose the power to speak. In this case the boy cannot remember books and incidents that a few weeks ago were familiar to him. "Robinson Crusoe" and fairy books which he has read are entirely new to him.

Death of Mrs. Cella Simpson.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. Cella Simpson, wife of Mr. Simeon Simpson, who departed this life last Monday morning, the 12th, leaving a devoted husband and two children: Miss Patrick and Newton Simpson, and many warm friends to mourn her loss. While her death was not unexpected, having been an invalid for about twenty years, yet we are never prepared for the sad intelligence. Being a great sufferer for so long, she expressed no desire to get well. She was a devoted wife and mother, a true Christian, and amid all her trials and suffering uttered no word of complaint, but was always cheerful, even to the end. We feel she is at rest, and the change is one to sweet repose.

A FRIEND.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed executed on the 18th day of May, 1903, by A. C. # Talmage Sermon

By Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, D.D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 18.—In picturesque imagery the preacher in this sermon shows the significance of the testimony of Israel's great leader to Jesus as the Messiah. The text is Luke xvi. 31, "If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead."

The symbol of the graveyard is used by Jesus for his gospel teachings, just as many artists use skeletons for their models in great artistic masterpieces. The parable of Dives and Lazarus is nothing more or less than a great panorama, a collection of various pictures, showing the eternal tragedy of a misspent life.

Score the First.—An eastern prince is in his palace. All that wealth and power and temporal grandeur can give him. His clothes are of royal purple. His dining room is a banquet hall. His walls are of white marble. His floors are mosaics. His hallways and parlors and bedrooms are filled with stately and richest tapestries and beautiful artistic masterpieces. Upon his doorstep crouches a poor beggar, reaching to death, malodorous and offensive from innumerable ulcers and abscesses which have broken out over his body on account of improper nourishment.

Score the Second.—Two graves and the celestial ascent of the beggar and the eternal incarceration of him who had once been king among men. The earthly prince has been crowned. The earthly prince has been stripped of his all. Then Dives, down in the region of the dead, looks up and sees Lazarus, who had once sat at his doorstep a despoiled beggar, but now cherished and cared for by Abraham, the father of the faithful, and he cries out: "I pray thee, father, that thou wouldst send Lazarus to my father's house, for I have five brethren, that he may testify unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment."

Then what happens? God seems to reach down and lift a skeleton out of its grave and clothe it again with flesh. He stands this resurrected dead man before us and points to him as he says: "If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead." The statement practically is that a man is open to conviction he will be convinced by the writings of Moses and the prophets; if he is not convinced by them, nothing would convince him, not even the testimony of a skeleton. This is a startling assertion. Have we ever fully realized that these words are so convincing? What was there in the life and writings of that ancient lawgiver that made him so influential?

The Rank of Moses. Moses by the law of adoption took the rank of one who was well born. He was the adopted son of Pharaoh's daughter. He was the heir apparent of the greatest throne on earth. He had all that wealth and position and honor could give him. He was born royal. He was reared in a golden cradle fed out of a golden spoon and had servants humbly to run the household. When he was carried to be one of the royal chariots he was dressed to kneel and say, "There now the child who will one day rule over us is going." In the sight of the king he was not a pauper, a slave or a Hebrew. He had been raised to be a king. All that he had to do was to keep his lips closed, and he might live in influence and inherit a kingdom. And yet this Egyptian prince, this adopted child of Pharaoh's daughter, was ready to surrender all of king's power in order to be a follower of the true God. Now, every effort must be made to understand a man does not surrender a great prize of life just for a whim. There must have been some great compelling force in Moses' life to have led him to serve God and to leave the cause of the Hebrew people.

He here read of men and women who had their faith for an earthly throne, but did you ever know of a man surrendering an earthly throne for a heavenly one unless he deeply and profoundly believed in that religion? When a German princess a few years ago married Emperor Nicholas of Russia, she renounced the Lutheran church and joined the Greek church, of which her husband is the spiritual head. When the English Princess Louise of Battenberg became Queen Victoria of Spain, she left the Episcopal church, in which she had been reared and baptized, and joined the Catholic church, which is the established church of her adopted country. These two princesses changed their religious creed in order to win a royal throne. But what would you say if the present Prince of Wales should join the Roman Catholic church? What would you say if he should turn from the Episcopal church and give his religious fealty to the pope of Rome, as did Cardinal John Henry Newman? If he did this, he would be that act surrender all his rights to the British throne. The British people will not have a Roman Catholic for their king. When they got rid of James II., the last king of that religion, they made a perpetual stipulation that none but Protestants should sit on the British throne. The prince knows that the prince he would have to pay for joining the Roman Catholic church would be the loss of his throne. If he concluded to join that church in spite of that penalty, you would say that man must be sincere. No man lightly renounces a throne. And yet this is just what Moses did. He was the son of Pharaoh's daughter. He had, in the sight of the law, the right of succession, as if he had really royal blood in his veins. The Egyptian throne was his if he simply kept still and said nothing. And yet here was a prince, here was a young man born great—one to whom every selfish purpose of the heart said, "Be still; do not ruin your chances of an earthly throne," declaring, "Nay, I will worship the true God and will be faithful to my enslaved people." A man who could come to such a decision, who actually renounced a throne that he might obey the dictates of his conscience, was a man whose words are entitled to weight. If a man would not listen to him, would not be convinced by him, he would not be convinced by any one, not even by a spirit.

A Prince in Intellect.

But Moses was not only a man of high station; he was a prince in intellect as well as a royal prince. He had one of the greatest intellects the world has ever produced. But more than that, he had one of the greatest opportunities for developing that intellect. The best Egyptian teachers were his. The greatest knowledge of the then known world was concentrated in Egypt. And Moses was educated in the most famous schools of that land. Who can fully estimate the knowledge of those ancient Egyptians? Some time ago I saw one of the most dramatic pictures ever published in a newspaper. Its title was "The Body of an Ancient Pharaoh Under the Electric Light." There in his sarcophagus lay the mummy of Amnefiphis II., who reigned in Egypt in 1596 B. C., about fifty years before Moses was born. The face of the ancient ruler was just as perfect as on the day when the embalmer laid him away for his last sleep. Right over his forehead in the picture was a modern electric light, shining full upon the face of the ancient king. There in the background of the picture was a band of tourists looking down upon the quiet sleeper. As I looked at that picture that electric light seemed to be saying to the old king: "Awake, Amnefiphis! Wake up! Look about and see how much the twentieth century has accomplished." Then in imagination I saw the old mummy open his eyes and look around. He seemed out of place, as did old Rip Van Winkle when he came down from the mountains after his long sleep. Then in imagination I saw one of the tourists as a guide take the hand of the old king and lead him about Cairo. He pointed to this wonder and that wonder of the twentieth century. Then I fancied I heard the aged ruler say: "Yes, you have marvelous wonders here, but I want to tell you that my people were a race of giants. Where is old Egypt? Where is old Egypt, of which these pyramids and monuments are more reminders of her former grandeur? Why, old Egypt has forgotten almost as much as the twentieth century has ever developed. Egypt was a storehouse of arts which today are lost forever." Was it only a dream? Was not the Egypt of ancient Amnefiphis the home of erudition and knowledge?

If the ancient Egyptians were not cradles, how can you account for the great pyramid of Cheops, which was without any doubt built as an astronomical observatory? So great are the massive stones of this pyramid that to this day scientists are unable to understand how they were lifted into place. How can you account for the vast canal and irrigation system of Egypt, thousands of years old, yet a system from which modern irrigators can well learn their lessons at the present time?

Egyptians Not Ignorant.

The Egyptians were not an ignorant people. It is a very grave question whether they did not know as much in their line as we know in ours. They had their written forms for the conveying of knowledge just as we have now. A. H. Sayce, one of the most famous modern Egyptian archaeologists, tells us in his wonderful book, entitled "Monumental Facts and Higher Critical Fancies," that "The Babylonians of the age of Abraham was a more highly educated country than the England of George III." Then he goes on to show that Egyptian literature dates back to the time of King Menes, in 5572 B. C., or over 4,000 years before Moses was born. He goes further and shows that no Egyptian in the third and fourth period was looked upon as a gentleman unless he knew how to read. The business men, the farmers, the overseers, as well as the priests and scribes, were conversant with Egyptian literature. "So universal was knowledge among the ancient Egyptians of Moses' time that they did not believe there was immortality for any Egyptian unless he, as a resurrected spirit, could read the sentences which were carved upon his own tomb." Thus it is not only Moses as a prince who is testifying to us today about the ways of God; it is Moses the sage as well; it is Moses who had studied all the philosophies of his day; it is Moses the erudite scholar, with the vast libraries of his time by his side, who comes to testify to us of Christ. Do not the words of my text have a deeper significance when you realize the transcendent intellectuality of this Egyptian prince than when you simply look upon him as the adopted son of Pharaoh's daughter and his heir apparent of the Egyptian throne? By character and by attainments he is entitled to our attention. "And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead."

His Creative Brain.

But Moses' brain was not simply receptive. He had a creative as well as an absorbing intellect. He could give out as well as take in. You know that there are certain intellectual men who seem to lack the creative faculty. They learn as parrots learn. When they take a book they can read it through and repeat the pages almost verbatim. They can index their minds so that you can hardly ask them a question which they cannot answer. They are like some of the honor students of our college days who always stood at the head of their classes, yet when they entered life's struggle they were abject failures because they never could create any new ideas of their own. Like sheep, they may be led, but unlike the shepherds, they cannot hunt up new pastures, and when lost they have not intelligence enough to pioneer their way into a safe fold.

Now, Moses had a creative as well as an absorbing intellect. As we study this gigantic genius we know not which to admire the most—the power by which he absorbs knowledge or the power by which he creates new knowledge. Study him any way you will and you cannot but be amazed. Study him with reference to his hygienic laws. We have gone on in our investigations in dietary developments. We have our vegetarian theories and our "two meals a day" theories and our hot water theories and all that. Yet today it is admitted by hygienic authorities that no dietary system has yet been devised which can give more assurance of longer or healthier life than that system which Moses promulgated in his hygienic laws for the Hebrew people nearly 4,000 years ago. Study his land laws, under which the people every seven years received back the titles to their old homesteads. Do you not believe that Moses' way was better than our way, where a few men can gobble up all our coal lands and farm lands and then say to the rest of the people, "Now starve, for we are to be the land kings forever." Take the protection which he gave to the people in the right of trial by establishing the ten cities of refuge. Take all those marvelous precautions for protecting human life which he made, including even the building of battlements or bulwarks about the roof of the house so that a guest might not fall off and kill himself. And then, most wonderful of all in those times of theft and debauchery and licentiousness, study those marvelous Ten Commandments which he gave to the people from Mount Sinai. My friend, if the Lord God Almighty did not write those Ten Commandments for Moses, then Moses himself was the greatest of the world's legislators.

Moses as Miracle Worker.

But Moses was more than a creator of laws. He was a direct miracle worker as well. He was such a worker of miracles that if we do not accept those miracles as emanating from him then we should be compelled to regard him as a fabulous character. But he was a miracle worker as Christ was a miracle worker. "Oh," I hear some man say, "I believe in Jesus, but not in his miracles." Why, my friends, you cannot believe in Jesus unless you believe in his miracles, for Christ continually appealed to his miracles as the credentials of his teaching. And so Moses, through the power of God which was given to him, founded his life work upon miracles.

Now, study Moses for a little while down in Egypt. Here are the Egyptians, the greatest, the most warlike people upon the face of the earth at that period. What the Greek conquerors were in the Alexandrian era, and the Roman conquerors in the times of Julius and Augustus Caesar, Egypt was in the time of Moses. Pharaoh had the mightiest warriors, the greatest number of chariots and a body of cavalry of which the world has not produced a superior. This kingdom had its great river bordered with splendid cities and the finest wheat lands of the world. Now, in contrast to these great warriors and intellectual giants, there was a collection of Hebrews. These Hebrews were slaves, deprived of all books. They could not learn the science of arms. They were brutally abused. They were killed off every year by the hardest kind of manual labor. As a people they were more cowed and downtrodden than the black slave ever was. Now, who liberated these men? Who was the Spartacus who rallied the Hebrew people about him? There was no Spartacus, because there were no Hebrew slaves who in the slightest respect knew the science of war. These Hebrew slaves were liberated—that is true—but how? By one man walking into the king's palace and defying the king with one little wand. But behind that wand was the omnipotent God. That one man, by the power of that one stick, made the mightiest nation on earth bow its knee and beg for mercy. Oh, you say, I deny that was ever done. Then, my friend, as a student of history you have to deny the facts which we find recorded upon the tombs and the monuments of the dead Pharaoh. How are you going to get around this testimony of the miracle worker Moses in reference to God?

But I am not done with this miracle worker Moses. I used to think that the most marvelous facts recorded in the Bible were those plagues of Egypt. When as an imaginative boy I read them I could feel in horror the lice crawling over me and the frogs jumping at me and the grasshoppers or the locusts buzzing about me, and I could taste the blood of the river Nile, and I could feel the awful darkness pressing down upon me. But the older I grow the more these miracles sink into insignificance before one tremendous fact of Moses' life. That fact is greater than Moses crossing the Red sea. It is greater than Moses and the Ten Commandments. It is the fact that Moses could have led 3,000,000 Israelites out into the wilderness and supported them there for nearly forty years, where there was not one spear of grass growing and practically not one drop of water. How did he do it? That fact is the greatest miracle of all the Bible. Believe that and you can believe the miraculous conception of Jesus Christ and the resurrection of Easter day and the ascension from Mount Olivet. Aye, you can believe anything written in the Bible, I care not where you may find it.

The Wilderness Was Barren.

The wilderness of the Old Testament is a wilderness of rock and sand. That region lies to the northeast of Mount Sinai. That region is the driest region in all the east outside of the Sahara desert. There is no living creature there except the venomous serpent. You may have seen the horrible picture called "Death Valley and Its Harvest." There in the valley where so many miners have met their death is a poor, starving, thirsty, dying prospector. In his delirium he sees mountains and brooks and bubbling springs. But sand, endless sand, only is around him. So is the desert where Moses led the children of Israel and kept them there for nearly forty years. It is a wilderness of rock and desolation. How did he feed these 3,000,000 men and women and children? How did he give them drink where no river was flowing? Tell me, ye scoffers of the Bible, how did this Hebrew leader do it unless he did it by the power of God? Why, the miracle of a dead man rising up out of his grave and testifying to you of the divinity of Jesus Christ is not to be compared to this miracle worker in the desert of the forty years' wandering. If you will not believe Moses and the prophets, neither will ye believe though one rose from the dead. Hear it, man! By Moses' testimony hear it!

Then we have Moses the prophet as well as Moses the miracle worker. I wish I had more time to speak upon this theme, but my time is already gone, and I must be brief. But I will say this—Moses was not only a prophet "whom the Lord saw face to face, but he was also a prophet who could lift his finger and raise the curtain which separated the present from the future and look away down into the coming centuries until he saw into the manger of Bethlehem and saw the cross and saw Jesus' celestial triumph." You have often read how Christ spoke of Moses. Did you ever stop to think that Moses in inspiration saw the incarnated face of Jesus Christ? Moses not a Messianic prophet? How account for that wonderful sentence of Deuteronomy xviii, 15, "The Lord will raise up unto thee a prophet from the midst of thee, of my brethren, like unto me; unto him ye shall hearken?" To whom was Moses alluding but to Christ? "Was Moses a prophet?" I asked a great Bible student. "A prophet?" he exclaimed. "Why, Moses was nothing if he was not a prophet. He saw the coming of the Messiah if any one ever did." Yes, this miracle worker is a prophet as well. What will you do today in reference to his testimony? Will you reject it, or will you let Moses' God be your God?

But I must pause a moment before I close. I now present to you the most overwhelming fact of all this sermon. Some of us have not only rejected the testimony of a Moses, but we have rejected the testimony of one who has risen from the grave as well. Did you ever stop to think this text may be a two-edged sword which cuts both ways? The thing Dives asked for has been done. A greater than Lazarus has risen from the dead; but, as he said, men are not convinced. We have not only rejected the testimony of a Moses in reference to God's love, but we have rejected all the testimony we have of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Can it be that any one here today is committing that awful double sin? Let me drive by reading the text with a little change, "And he said unto him, If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, even though Christ, who shall be crucified and buried, shall rise again from the dead." Brother, is that doubter of God's love here? Is he in this building today? Is Jesus of the parable speaking to you?

Couldn't "Soak" This Yankee.

"Deliver me from buying anything in Paris," said a Pittsburgh young woman to a number of friends who had assembled to welcome her home from abroad. The above remark was brought out when one of the party asked if she had bought many articles while in the City of Light. "No, indeed!" continued the young woman. "Paris has two prices, one for Parisians and another for Americans. I thought it would be a great treat to 'do' the stores over there, and I must say that Americans receive courteous treatment from tradesmen, but there is a method behind it. Most of the stores have what we call 'spotters.' They spot Americans when they come in, then follow them about the store, whispering to each saleswoman at the table where they stop that they are Americans and to increase prices. In one store an effeminate little chap with baggy trousers followed me about and told the saleswomen in choice table d'hôte language, loud enough for me to hear, that I was an American and used an expression each time which was the equivalent of the Pittsburgh vernacular of 'soak' her. At last I became tired of his actions and told him in good French that I refused to be 'soaked.' Say, girls, I wish you could have seen his expression. Really, I thought his blood had congealed."

The voting of special school tax continues to go on in Guilford and the people seem more and more committed to the policy of good schools.
