The graded schools will open next Monday with an overflow attendance. It is estimated that two or three hundred children will be crowded this year by reason of inadequate facilities. By next year it is hoped that the new central high school will be in readiness.

Mr. John B. Clendenin, of the Record force, and his brother, Mr. H. W. Clendenin, the Asheboro street grocer, left yesterday afternoon for Cary in response to a telegram announcing that their sister, Mrs. R. H. Stedman, was very ill. Mrs. Stedman is remembered here as Miss Maude Clendenin.

The Sunday school of West Market Street Methodist church held its annual picnic at Lindley park yesterday afternoon. The school went out on chartered cars and the evening was spent most pleasantly. Before returning a bouillabaisse supper was served. During the evening refreshments were served in abundance.

Miss Mary McNickle, of Richmond, Va., who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. A. Elliott, on Rankin street, for the past ten days, returned home Monday night. She was accompanied by her cousins, Misses Emma and Lillian Elliott. They will spend several days in Richmond and take in the Jamestown exposition before returning.

A small Greensboro girl whose name is not necessarily essential is in a neighboring county on her first visit to the country, and apparently she is having the time of her life. One morning last week her mother received a letter from the child in which she says: "Dear mamma, we are having just the loveliest time and there is a skunk under the porch."

Mr. Andrew Joyner has returned from Pitt county, where he was engaged for several days in preparing matter for a special edition of the Raleigh News and Observer. Mrs. Joyner has also returned from a trip to eastern North Carolina and Jamestown. She was a member of Governor and Mrs. Glenn's party during North Carolina week at the exposition.

A special term of the United States court will convene in this city next Monday with Judge James E. Boyd presiding. The term was called for the purpose of disposing of the several criminal cases, including the cases against the defendants arrested during the sensational raid on Smithtown, Stokes county, a few weeks ago. The term may last two or three weeks.

They don't claim to sell genuine gold dollars for 67 cents and they don't do as much "circus advertising" as some other folks, but when you want full value for your money in good reliable dry goods or shoes, Thacker & Brockmann's store is mighty hard to beat. And whenever you go there you'll find something doing—you will find people there buying goods—which is the best proof in the world that they sell good goods at low prices.

Mr. W. H. McGlammy, first assistant to Passenger and Ticket Agent R. H. DeButts, returned Monday night with Mrs. McGlammy from an extended trip North and West. The first of the month he will become passenger and ticket agent for the Southern Railway at Raleigh, succeeding Mr. T. E. Green, resigned. Mr. McGlammy's many friends here are glad of his promotion, yet they regret that it necessitates his removal to another city.

The seventy-fifth birthday of Rev. A. D. Betts, of Brunswick county, was observed at the home of his son here, Dr. J. S. Betts, last Sunday by an enjoyable family reunion which was attended by all of his children and some of their children. Dr. Betts and his good wife are well known in western North Carolina, where he was for many years a member of the M. E. conference before its division. Of late years he has belonged to the eastern conference.

If every town in North Carolina in proportion to the number of inhabitants in it sent as many people to the Jamestown exposition yesterday as Greensboro, what a mighty throng there will be going up and down the Warpath for the next few days! Just after the tickets were sold for the last northbound train that would pass here before midnight yesterday, the ticket agent counted up and found that during the day just 150 had bought tickets to the exposition.

In United States court yesterday morning before Judge Boyd an order was signed transferring the case of United States government vs. J. C. Brewer from Wilkes Federal court to the October term in Greensboro. Brewer is charged with violating the pension laws. He was arrested in Oregon and brought here and lodged in jail. On motion of Major Charles M. Stedman, of counsel for the defense, Judge Boyd yesterday morning fixed the defendant's bond at $300.

There are doubtless many residents of Greensboro who are constantly receiving inquiries from their friends in various parts about Greensboro. The Chamber of Commerce will be glad to receive all such information, and will mail literature to all parties desiring such information if Greensboro citizens will place or mail their address. There are many citizens who are not members of the Chamber of Commerce who can help build up Greensboro by cooperating with the Chamber in this way. Phone 879.

Men who want stout shoes for farm work can find just what they need at Thacker & Brockmann's. This house is still selling the best grade of old reliable home-made whole stock Elkin shoes at only two dollars a pair. This is a very low price for the Elkin shoe, and it is only on account of handling them in very large quantities that they can be held down to this price. A first quality man's tap sole split leather shoe is sold at $1.60 and a very fair split shoe as low as $1.35. All the above can be furnished in all sizes from 6 to 11.

Mr. Charles L. Apple and Miss Katie V. Greeson, both of this county, were united in marriage here August 16th at the residence of the groom's uncle, Mr. A. J. Apple, by Rev. O. J. Denny, a number of their friends being present. The bride is a daughter of Mr. J. Frank Greeson, of southeastern Guilford. She and her husband had both been living in Burlington some time previous to their marriage. At present they are visiting his people in Rockingham county. On their return they will go to High Point, where they will probably locate.

C. W. Marshall, of Wilkes county, who was recently brought here from Virginia on a capias to answer for an alleged violation of the internal revenue laws, was released from jail on a $1,000 bond last Thursday only to be re-arrested at once and remanded on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, the complainant being a resident of Yadkin county. The first bond was arranged by a son of Marshall who lives in the State of Wilkes. He had not anticipated the second charge, however, and had to make a trip home before he could give the second bond. He returned to the city Monday with the necessary papers and soon secured the liberty of his father.

Mr. E. W. Screven, of South Carolina, who has been appointed by Commissioner of Internal Revenue John G. Capers as internal revenue agent for the division of North Carolina, will arrive here September 1st and relieve Mr. J. H. Surber, who has held the place for the last few months. Mr. Surber has been transferred back to Atlanta, Ga., to be in charge of the Atlanta division, where he was before coming to Greensboro. Mr. and Mrs. Surber have found many friends in Greensboro in the short time they have been residents of the city. Mr. R. B. Sams, who went from here to take the Atlanta office, will be placed in charge of a new division, with headquarters at Nashville, Tenn.

DEATH OF MRS. T. A. HAWKINS.

Well Known and Highly Esteemed Woman Passes Away After a Lingering Illness.

Mrs. Truxilla A. Hawkins, widow of the late Capt. Madison Hawkins, died Saturday morning at six o'clock at her home on the corner of North Davie and East Gaston streets after an illness of several weeks, during which her life had been despaired of at various times. Mrs. Hawkins was about sixty-eight years old and is survived by six children, Misses Kate, Lila and Fannie Hawkins, Mrs. C. B. Bogart, and Messrs. W. P. and T. M. Hawkins. She possessed many qualities that endeared her to her wide circle of friends. Life for her meant loyalty, devotion and sacrifice for her friends and loved ones. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at five o'clock from the family residence, services being conducted by the pastor of the deceased, Rev. Sanders R. Guignard, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church. At the house and also at the interment in Greene Hill cemetery there were large crowds of sorrowing relatives and friends. The grave was covered with beautiful floral emblems. The pallbearers were Messrs. M. C. Stewart, W. C. McLean, Dr. E. A. Burton, L. A. Andrew, C. E. Pugh and W. M. Barber.

Arrested in Wyoming.

Sunday night Deputy U. S. Marshal L. E. Snow, of Cheyenne, Wyo., arrived in the city, bringing with him a prisoner, Frank Day, who was placed in jail here to await trial at the term of United States court next week on the charge of being an accessory after the fact in the larceny of $5 from the United States mail by a letter carrier. The crime was committed near Boone, Watauga county, this state, over a year ago, and Day had been given a preliminary hearing before a United States commissioner and jumped his bond, going to Sheridan, Wyo., where he was arrested by Deputy Marshal Snow. Mr. Snow left Monday night, returning via the Jamestown Exposition and Washington.

Captain and Mrs. Smith Leave.

Captain and Mrs. Mark Smith, who have had in charge the local corps of the Salvation Army for about seven weeks, left Monday for Durham to take charge of the corps there for a few days, after which they will go to their home at Philadelphia. Their last service in Greensboro was conducted Sunday, at which service seven new soldiers were enrolled into the ranks of the army. Captain Smith's successor has not yet been named but it is thought that he can be announced some time during the week. During Captain and Mrs. Smith's stay here in Greensboro there have been 33 conversions and 30 have been consecrated according to the rites of the Salvation Army.

New Scholarships at the State Normal.

The following interesting statement has been issued by Mrs. J. G. Broadnax, of Greensboro, chairman of the educational committee, western section, United Daughters of the Confederacy: "The Daughters of the Confederacy of Western North Carolina have decided to offer to deserving descendants of Confederate veterans, resident in the counties west of Greensboro, two scholarships at the State Normal and Industrial College. Any descendant of a Confederate veteran who wishes to secure one of these scholarships should apply at once to President J. I. Foust, Greensboro, N. C. On September 10 two will be selected from among the applicants."

Temperance Mass Meeting.

An audience of fair proportions gathered in West Market Street Methodist church Sunday afternoon to attend the temperance mass meeting which had been advertised for three or four days in the city papers and announced from all of the pulpits of the city that morning. The speaker of the occasion was Rev. R. L. Davis, of Warrenton, state organizer for the Anti-Saloon League of North Carolina. Rev. Mr. Davis was introduced by Mr. A. M. Scales, and for an hour or more he held the undivided attention of his hearers. He is a forceful, effective speaker and his address made for him a most favorable impression.

Rev. W. A. Bunch Dead.

Rev. W. A. Bunch, of Asheboro, died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. His remains passed through here this morning en route to Oak Ridge, where they will be interred.

Rev. Mr. Bunch was one of the leading ministers of the Methodist Protestant Conference and was president of the conference for a number of years. At the time of his death he was pastor in charge of the Randleman and Worthville circuit. He was twice married, his second wife having preceded him to the grave a year or more. He leaves a number of children. He was about 55 years of age.

Rev. J. C. Schmidt to Leave.

Rev. J. C. Schmidt, who for thirteen years has been pastor of the Grace Evangelical Lutheran church on Ashe street, has resigned the pastorate of that church and accepted a call to Pittsburg, Pa. His new field will be a larger and more important one than the one he has been filling. Rev. Mr. Schmidt has been a very important factor in the work of the Lutheran church among the colored people in this state. He is largely responsible for the erection at this place of the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

MRS. SARAH J. WINDROM

Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom of Chicago, cousin of Zachary Taylor, twentieth president of the United States, and grandniece of Alexander Hamilton, who signed the Declaration of Independence, says: "Vinol is a Godsend to old people. I am 76 years old, but have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, and feel active and well today, thanks to Vinol. When I was young cod liver oil was dispensed in a greasy, unpalatable form, and it fairly gagged me to get it down. Vinol is entirely different, very palatable and nourishing to impoverished blood. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

Vinol is a real cod liver preparation, from which the useless oil has been eliminated and tonic iron added. Try Vinol on our guarantee.

MATRIMONIAL VENIURE A FAILURE.

Forsaken by His Bride, a Bridegroom of 81 Tries to Shuffle Off This Mortal Coil.

By the merest chance an abrupt and unusual ending of a honeymoon was thwarted in this city last Wednesday, the timely appearance of a church sexton saving an amorous old German, Frederick Dettmering, from self-destruction. Mr. Dettmering, who is eighty-one years old, recently married a buxom widow who confesses to forty summers. People who know more about other people's business than their own say that in his ardor to win the widow he told her he was the owner of a good home and had plenty of money to live on, and that there was quite a scene when his exact financial status was disclosed. Instead of finding a home the new Mrs. Dettmering found that she would have to provide a home and support for her husband, and the first of last week she packed up her household goods while the old man was absent and hiked off to Winston with her young sons. Mr. Dettmering was loath to believe that he had been deserted, but after he had made up his mind that such was the case he returned to the home of his children and tried to make the best of the situation. His troubles bore heavily, however, and last Wednesday about noon he went over into the Presbyterian churchyard adjoining his home and swung himself to a small limb that wasn't quite as high as his head. Finding that the tree was not growing fast enough to hang him inside the next ten years he took a dull knife from his pocket and made a few scratches on his neck, taking good care not to cut the rope, which was scarcely more than a stout cord. It was during his "frantic" efforts to cut his throat that Joe Walker, the colored sexton of the First Presbyterian church, who was busy about his work, appeared on the scene and hastily cut the old fellow loose from the tree. Walker summoned a daughter of Mr. Dettmering and she in turn called the police. Sergeant Barnes responded and took the would-be suicide to the city hall, where his slight wounds were dressed. Later Mayor Brandt had a long talk with him which resulted in the promise that he would make no further attempt at self-destruction. One slightly amusing feature of the affair was the sound raking the colored sexton received at the hands of the would-be suicide. But all is well that ends well, and the old man is again at the home of his children, where he will be well cared for. Time will heal the heart-wounds caused by the loss of the buxom widow on whom his mature affections were centered. The wounds on his neck are already about well. It will always be a debatable question here as to whether the old man really meant to commit suicide. If left to a vote right now the negative would win.

Reunion Next Month.

The reunion of the Reformed church of North Carolina classis will be held in connection with the annual meeting of Nazareth Orphans' Home at Crescent, Rowan county, September 12th. The speakers for the occasion are Hon. W. W. Kitchin, of Roxboro, and Rev. C. E. Wehler, D. D., pastor of Grace Reformed church, Newton, and also financial secretary of Catawba College. Both of the above men are able and eloquent speakers. It is hoped to make the occasion a most pleasant one, and it is desired that a large crowd be present. The Rockwell band will be present and furnish music for the occasion. Everybody is invited to come and bring their friends with them.

High School Teachers.

State Superintendent Joyner announced last week the names of the teachers who recently qualified themselves to teach in the new rural high schools by passing successful examinations before the state board of examiners, the certificates being for three years. One of the requirements of a rural high school teacher is a knowledge of Latin and Greek. Among the sixty-six teachers granted certificates were Messrs. W. H. Albright, Liberty; J. E. Crutchfield, Lillington; E. P. Dixon, Liberty; Geo. C. Davidson, Fayetteville; O. V. Woosley, Pleasant Garden, and L. L. White, Jamestown.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Miss Minnie Clark Becomes the Bride of Mr. Cornelius Mebane, Jr.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the year occurred at the home of Miss Mary Clark, 123 Tate street, at 9 o'clock Thursday night, when Miss Minnie Clark and Cornelius Mebane, Jr., were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. R. Murphy Williams, pastor Walker Avenue Presbyterian church, in the presence of fifty or more invited guests.

Just previous to the ceremony, "Oh Promise Me" was sweetly sung by Miss Marguerite Cartland. This was followed by Mendelssohn's wedding march, artistically rendered by Miss Annie Preyor, as the bridal couple, preceded by the beautiful little ring-bearer, Jean McLean, marched to the south parlor and took position in front of a vine covered canopy, enclosing a bank of exquisite ferns and palms, where the words were spoken which made them man and wife.

The bride was attired in a handsome gown of embroidered white net over white silk and carried a magnificent bouquet of bride's roses, presenting a most charming spectacle.

The color scheme was white and green and was carried out throughout the home, which was brilliantly illuminated.

The guests were received by Misses Mary and Gertrude Clark, aunts of the bride.

After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was partaken of in the dining room, where the dainty refreshments were served by Misses Evelyn Clark, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; Marguerite and Alice Cartland and Rosalie Smith, of Greensboro.

The popularity of the young couple was attested by numerous handsome presents, which were displayed in an upper room and were a source of universal admiration.

The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Clark. She is a native of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, but has resided here the past three years with her aunt and guardian, Miss Mary Clark, and for two years or more has been an efficient teacher in the Greensboro graded schools. Pretty, accomplished and of amiable disposition, she has won many friends during her residence in this city.

The bridegroom, who is familiarly known as "Nick" Mebane, is son of Cornelius Mebane, of Burlington. He has for several years held a responsible position in the mercantile establishment of Harry-Belk Bros. & Co., of this city, and enjoys great popularity throughout this section.

New Pastor at Friends Church.

The Rev. Stephen S. Myrick has received and has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Friends church in this city, to succeed the Rev. J. Edgar Williams, who resigned some time ago to accept the pastorate of a memorial church in Seattle, Wash. The Rev. Mr. Myrick has already arrived and entered upon his work. His wife and little son will arrive later from Richmond, Ind., and join him and they will reside temporarily at the home of Mrs. Margaret Sims, 123 Tate street.

The Rev. Mr. Myrick is a native of Richmond, Ind., and during his ministry has served a number of important churches, the last one being the Friends church in San Diego, Cal.

The Judge Uses Forceful Language.

Judge W. B. Simmons, of Fayetteville, Va., told the reporter that L. & M. Paint was used on his residence in 1882, and held its color well for 21 years; he furthermore said that 3 years ago he was induced to use another paint and is sorry he did, because the other paint didn't make good. The judge will now always use L. & M., because he knows if any defect exists in L. & M. Paint the house will be repainted for nothing.

The L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. Paint wear like iron for 10 to 15 years. Actual cost of L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

Donations of L. & M. made to churches.

Sold by John A. Coppedge, Greensboro; Gibsonville Hardware Co., Gibsonville.

Winston Sentinel: Mrs. Henry Fariss, of Butte, Mont., who spent the summer with relatives in this city and Greensboro, left this morning. Before going to her western home she will join her husband at Lake McDonald and take a mountain tour among the Rocky mountains in the extreme northern part of Montana, near the British Columbia line. After spending the remainder of August on this mountain trip they will return home about September 1. Mr. Fariss is a native of Greensboro. He went to Montana several years ago and has met with splendid success, financially speaking.

Rising From the Grave.

A prominent manufacturer, Wm. A. Fertwell, of Lucama, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience. He says: "After taking less than three bottles of Electric Bitters, I feel like one rising from the grave. My trouble is Bright's disease, in the Diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed by all druggists. Price only 50c.

AT THE G. F. COLLEGE.

Fall Term to Open September 11th—Changes in the Faculty.

Laborers are at work at Greensboro Female College renovating and beautifying the buildings and cleaning up the campus preparatory to the opening of the fall term on September 11th. The college authorities have already assigned all the dormitory space to students and still applications for admission are received daily from young ladies all over the state. The number of girls who will attend next session from the city as day students is unusually large and it is expected that the enrollment will be unprecedented.

Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson, the president, who has been touring Europe during the summer in company with Miss Porter, the art teacher, and Mrs. L. J. Braudt and a party, has written that she will sail from Liverpool on August 29th and expects to reach home before the time the fall term opens.

Miss Nora Penick has been elected to the chair of English to succeed Prof. George S. Wills, who resigned recently to take a professorship in a college in Baltimore. Miss Penick is from Alabama and graduated from the University of Alabama and also from the University of Chicago. She is a very bright and talented young woman and the college authorities are congratulating themselves upon securing her services.

Miss Blanche E. Shattuck, of Boston, who has been in charge of the expression department for the past four or five years, has resigned to accept a flattering offer elsewhere, and she will be succeeded by Miss Elizabeth Hardin, a graduate of the Curry School of Expression in Boston. Miss Hardin comes highly recommended and she will doubtless "make good."

There will be no other changes in the faculty, except as previously announced, Herr Roy and Conrad Lahser, both of whom are well known and popular, will be added to the music department.

Mr. G. H. Royster, of this city, general superintendent of the insurance department of the Knights of Pythias for North and South Carolina, has been officially notified that he stands second in the United States in the number of applications written for the first seven months of this year. The general superintendent for Texas stands first, but there is more than double the membership in his territory.

ALDERMEN HAVE BUSY SESSION.

Adopt Recommendations of County Physician Relative to the Spread of Contagious Diseases, Especially Smallpox
—Civic League's Projects Favorably Considered—Other Affairs in Detail.

With the exception of Alderman Bain all the members of the board of aldermen were present at the regular monthly meeting of that body Friday evening and participated in the busy session which lasted until midnight.

County Physician Dr. Edmund Harrison came before the board at the suggestion of the city school authorities with a request that the board pass a vaccination ordinance to apply to the schools of the city. Dr. Harrison stated that owing to lax vaccination laws a great deal of smallpox had spread throughout the city, and that he thought that with the co-operation of the board of aldermen it would be possible to exterminate this disease as far as the schools are concerned.

The ordinance submitted and adopted was that no pupil, teacher, or employe be admitted to the schools without complying with the following requirements: 1st, the party must have been successfully vaccinated within the past five years; 2nd, that the party must have been vaccinated successfully within the past five years even if a former vaccination did prove successful; 3rd, they must be vaccinated within 30 days if no prior vaccination was successful; 4th, a person who has had smallpox as long as 20 years previous must be vaccinated as one never having had the disease. None will be admitted without complying with this ordinance and presenting a certificate from a physician to the same effect.
The fine for a violation of this ordinance shall be $20.

Mr. D. P. Stern, representing A.
Horwitz, stated that since Mr. Horwitz had found it unprofitable to maintain his pool room under the existing ordinances of the city, and as he had resolved to close up his place of business, that he be required to pay license for only that time during which he had conducted his pool room. It was moved and carried that his request be granted.

In behalf of Mr. J. A. Odell, Mr. R.
R. King asked the board to take some action on the opening up of a street connecting Guilford avenue and Greene street, as Mr. Odell had fulfilled his part of a contract with the city in which it was agreed that if Mr. Odell would give to the city a right of way through that property for the sewerage, and further that if he would allow the city to use rock from that property in building streets, that the city would open up a street through that property.
Upon motion it was decided to refer the matter to a committee of three, the same to investigate the matter and report to the board.

Rev. W. M. Curtis, representing the G. F. College, came before the board with a request that a sidewalk be graded along West Market street in front of the college, and that the authorities also extend Cedar street through some property adjoining the campus. It was decided to refer the matter to the street commission for investigation, the same to make a report before the board of aldermen.

Mr. Thornton, proprietor of the moving picture theaterium on South Elm street, stated that the taxes exacted from him weekly from the town, county and state amounted to $9 and that such being the case made it a matter of very little profit to maintain such a show. In view of such conditions he respectfully requested that the board do what it could in lowering the rate of taxation. It was decided to refer the matter to the city attorney for investigation, he to make recommendations at a later meeting.

Mr. R. C. Hood and a number of other citizens interested in the civic improvement of the city presented an ordinance to the board to the effect that no bill boards be allowed in the fire limits and that none be permitted within 200 yards of a church, a school building, the railway station, the Carnegie library or the city hall. The ordinance further provided that all bill posters must first obtain permission from the civic commission in posting bills. Upon motion it was referred to a committee of three including the city attorney. The gentlemen named on the committee were Aldermen King and McLean.

In behalf of the civic league Mr.
Hood asked that the board authorize a completion of the work of fixing North Elm street at the gap between Schenck street and the macadamized road on Elm street. A motion was carried to the effect that the street commission be requested to have the work completed.

It was moved and carried that the Neighbors Got Fooled.

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive; but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good sound health," town, Stark Co., Ind. This King of matter of assessing Greene street for the paving be referred to Mayor Brandt and the city attorney, Judge Shaw.

A motion was passed that the committee that was appointed some time ago to secure a safe for the city be requested to purchase a new safe and return the one now in use to Mr. Cooke, to whom it belongs.

A petition signed by a large number of citizens was presented by Mr. J.
Frank Ambrose through Alderman McLean that the bowling alley be allowed to keep open later at night than 11 o'clock as required by the ordinance relative to such places now in force.
Upon motion it was decided that all bowling alleys and pool rooms in the city be allowed to keep open at night until 12 o'clock instead of 11 as heretofore.

Alderman McLean called the attention of the board to the fact that there were several wagons doing business in the city without license. The board requested that the police force keep on the watch and if the parties after fair warning refused to take out license to serve warrants on the same.

Alderman McLean also suggested that the marble yard men in the city also be required to take out license.
However, nothing definite was done with regard to this matter.

A motion prevailed to the effect that Aldermen McLean and King constitute a committee to attend to the wiring of the city hall.

Central Committee Organizes.

The central committee appointed to devise ways and means for the raising of $50,000 for a Young Men's Christian Association building held its first meeting in the directors' room of the City
National Bank last Thursday evening.
Joseph J. Stone was elected chairman of the committee and G. H. Miles secretary.

About twenty members of the committee were present and all left with greater enthusiasm and interest in the work. Several made short talks in the interest of the work. In addition to electing officers the only other business of the meeting was the adoption of a resolution authorizing the chairman to appoint a steering committee to have charge of the campaign for subscriptions. The chairman will announce this committee in a few days.

G. C. Huntington, of Charlotte, general secretary for the Carolinas, will come to Greensboro this week to confer with the steering committee as to the methods to be adopted for the campaign.

Among those who spoke in favor of the movement and discussed the work at Thursday night's meeting were: R.
C. Hood, G. H. Miles, M. W. Thompson, Mayor L. J. Brandt, Capt. F. P.
Holgeod, Jr., Joseph J. Stone, W. E.
Harrison, J. B. Stroud, Col. W. S.
Thomson, W. B. Merrimon and others.
The committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

Death of Miss Isabel Woodley.

The Greensboro and Guilford College friends of Dr. W. T. Woodley, of Charlotte, who is remembered as a former resident of these places, learned with regret the death of one of his daughters, Miss Isabel, last week. Miss Woodley was ill but a few hours, and her death followed an operation for appendicitis. The Observer said of her:
"In the death of Miss Woodley Charlotte loses one of her noblest and best young women. She was of that high type of christian womanhood which is exemplified by a strong faith in God and unselfishness of life. She found her chief pleasure in giving help and happiness to others. Much of her time for the past several years she has devoted to teaching, and here also she displayed the same unselfish spirit, for she taught much of the time in schools established for the poor, especially when by going elsewhere she could have received a much larger salary. She was a young woman of bright intellect and thorough education. She was a graduate of Guilford College, and had been elected a member of the faculty of that institution for the coming year. She looked forward with pleasure to her work as teacher at her alma mater, and was busily engaged in preparation for going there at the opening of the school year when the summons came which called her from time to eternity."

Charged With Abandonment.

A special from Durham last Friday said: "E. T. Carr was arrested here today on the charge of abandoning his wife. He gave bond for his appearance tomorrow. Mr. Carr is a prominent cotton mill man, who has been at work in Greensboro and was brought here on this charge a few days ago, but the charge was dismissed. The second warrant was sworn out by the wife this morning. He claims that he did not abandon her but that she left him in Kentucky and came here, refusing to go back to him."

Dr. Frank Kernodle, of this county, who graduated last spring from the dental department of the University of Maryland in Baltimore, left last week for that place to become demonstrator in the dental department of the institution.

BLAUSTEIN

MISTOOK FRIENDS FOR FOES.

Two Squads of Revenue Officers Meet in the Darkness and Engage in Fearful Combat.

Durham, August 23.—There was a fearful and bloody fight between two squads of revenue officers at a still some five miles east of Chapel Hill this morning between 1 and 2 o'clock. Each of the squads of revenue men took the other squad for moonshiners and in the fight that followed when one side halted the other, resulted in the firing of some thirty or thirty-five shots and the wounding of four out of six men. The wounded are as follows: Robert Henry, of Greensboro, deputy collector, wounded in hip, this being a flesh wound and not serious. J. B. Jordan, of Cary, deputy marshal, wounded through side of stomach and the hip. His wounds serious, but not thought fatal. T. E. Riggsbee, this city, posseman, shot through arm, not serious. John R. Banks, Raleigh, posseman, bone in leg below knee crushed by bullet and it may be necessary to amputate leg. That has not yet been decided.

The only two of the six officers who escaped without being wounded are D. C. Downing, deputy collector, of Raleigh, and A. L. Pendergrass, posseman, of this city.

Henry came here this afternoon and left for Salisbury, where he is being treated. Banks was taken through the country to the hospital in Raleigh. Riggsbee came here and is now at his home in the western part of the city. Jordan was taken to the home of a neighbor, near where the shooting occurred, and he is being treated there.

TWO PARTIES AFTER STILL.

The story of this almost fatal case of mistaken identity is this: Last night about 9 o'clock a party of three revenue men left here for the scene of this still that had been reported, this party being Robert Henry, deputy collector, of Greensboro; T. E. Riggsbee and A. L. Pendergrass, possemen, of this city. They reached the scene of the still just before midnight and finding the still set up and ready for work they withdrew into the bushes to await the arrival of the men who were conducting the illicit plant.

They waited about an hour when the second party of revenue men, these being D. C. Downing, of Raleigh; Deputy Marshal J. B. Jordan, of Cary, and John R. Banks, posseman, of Raleigh, arrived on the scene and were investigating the still when the first party, taking them for blockaders, rushed from the bushes and called on them to halt. The second party to arrive thought they had been caught in a trap of moonshiners and instead of halting they began to shoot. Then the war was fairly on and both sides used their guns as fast as possible, firing in all, so one of the men told this correspondent, as many as thirty or thirty-five shots.

So rapid was all this fighting done that within a few moments four of the men were wounded and the others were fighting like tigers. Officer Riggsbee, from this city, and Officer Henry, from Greensboro, clinched and went down on the ground. In the darkness both men were trying to get their pistols action to kill the other, but each man held the other's pistol so that it was impossible to shoot. Riggsbee had already been shot through the lower arm. It was while these men were scuffling that one let it be known that he was an officer, and the other informed him that he was an officer also. Then they let up and soon it was made clear to all parties concerned that a fearful mistake had been made.

Men who were in a death struggle but a moment before then began to look into the extent of the injuries received and to bandage each other's wounds. One of those not wounded went after a wagon and the wounded men were loaded into it and just about daylight were removed to the home of John Stanley Riggsbee, who lives near the scene of carnage.

THE STILL DESTROYED.

After the fight was over the officers proceeded to destroy the illicit whiskey plant that had been the cause of so much trouble. The still was cut up, ferments destroyed and beer poured out on the ground. No whiskey was found.

INFORMER ON THE RUN.

In addition to the six officers who were present there was another party present, this party being, so reported, a prominent citizen of Chatham county. He led one of the parties to the scene and when the shooting began the informer started to the "tall timber" and the manner in which he made that race is reported to have been interested even during such trying times as was then on.

Boers Buy Farms in Randolph.

High Point, Aug. 24.—J. J. Van Wouw and P. W. te Groen, two Boers from South Africa, have settled four miles from this place and will move their families here at an early date. Other families will come from South Africa and settle near here. The two gentlemen above have purchased the Airheart farm of 168 acres and will farm on an extensive scale. They have what they call the intensive system. Mr. Airheart will move to High Point. The Boer immigrants are honest, industrious people and are noted for their success in conducting small farms.

While surveying the farm this week the Boer gentlemen made it quite amusing for the surveyor. In the rounds they run up against a highland terrapin and the Boers wanted to know what it was and if it was good to eat. Different birds also were seen and they wanted to know the names and if they were good to eat. The terrapin was carried home by them and thoroughly examined so they would know the creature the next time they ran across one.

Wellman Ready for Flight.

Fayetteville, Aug. 26.—The Matin this morning prints a telegram from Walter Wellman, head of the Wellman-Chicago Record-Herald aircar expedition, dated August 21, saying that all the preliminary trial tests of the balloon machinery had been accomplished and that everything was ready for the start. The explorer was only waiting better weather to enable him to regulate his compasses and make a trial ascension, and hoped to start for the pole in a few days.

BRYAN ON ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH.

President Disclosed Scheme for Centralization—Was an Easy Victim When He Proposed National Incorporation of Railroads.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 24.—William J. Bryan, in commenting on President Roosevelt's last speech, said: "The President has at last disclosed his scheme for centralization at which he has hinted in former speeches. In his Provincetown, Mass., address he proposes the national incorporation of railroads and other corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

"Here is the secret; it is out at last. The states are annoying the corporations and the corporations demand federal protection from state legislation. The President thinks that action is most pressing as regards these corporations which, because they are common carriers, exercise a quasi public function. The states have been enacting two cent fare laws and laws reducing freight rates and the railroad managers demand that they shall be relieved from further fear of such legislation. The President's Hamiltonian ideas make him an easy victim, and he yields to the entreaties of the railroads.

"If it was the public he sought to protect he would recommend federal remedies, which would not interfere with state remedies, but it is the railroads, not the public, that demands the removal of authority to Washington.

"The Democrats can be depended upon to oppose with all their might this movement toward centralization. If any Democrat wavers, his constituents should look into his business relations and see whether he is under obligations to the railroads. A Hamiltonian Republican, like the President, may honestly think that the farther the government is removed from the people the better it will be; but a Jeffersonian Democrat does not cherish any such delusion. Even the Hamiltonian Republican ought to hesitate to trust Congress with any more power while the United States senators are elected by legislatures.

"It is fortunate that the people have had an object lesson so recently. The federal law stopped rebates and passes but the railroads make more money than they did before. The states, on the other hand, gave the people a reduction in rates and those who are receiving the benefit of these reductions will be slow to surrender the advantage thus far gained.

SENATOR BUXTON A CANDIDATE.

He Declares Emphatically He Will Run for Congress.

Winston-Salem, Aug. 25.—Senator J. C. Buxton, who has been talked of as a candidate for Congress from the Fifth district but who had not made a formal announcement, was interviewed by your correspondent last night. "I will be in the race when the time comes," declared Mr. Buxton, emphatically, when asked the direct question. Mr. Buxton said that there was no hurry about the matter; he has not announced himself because he does not care to have his friends bothering and working for him during the hot summer months. His formal announcement will come in the fall, he said, and then he will make things warm for Messrs. Brooks, Holt and any others who may be hungry for Congressman Kitchin's job.

Senator Buxton yesterday prepared papers to be served on the editors of the Danbury Reporter. In last week's Reporter there appeared a column article written by one who signed his name "David," in which Mr. Buxton was arraigned for his conduct as Senator from Forsyth.

The letter is written in reply to a letter written to Mr. Flinn, of Stokes county, by Mr. Buxton in regard to the course taken by him in the legislature.

The following paragraph taken from the article contains the matter on the strength of which Senator Buxton will bring suit against the editors of the Danbury paper:

"If the Reid bill was a good thing twelve or fourteen years ago, when Cy Watson tried to get it on our statute books, it is a good thing yet, and our people are inclined to the belief that a few thousand dollars cash in hand was more attractive to Mr. Buxton than the salary of an uncertain congressman. A case of a bird in the hand rather than two in the bush, see?"

The article goes on to accuse Senator Buxton of representing in the legislature the tobacco interests of Winston rather than the people of Forsyth county.

Mr. Buxton, in talking of the matter, said that he was bringing suit not because of the fact that he is aspiring to congress, but because his honor is attacked without the slightest ground for truth. He incidentally remarked that his candidacy for Congress was a passing matter, but that no one should accuse him of being a traitor to his constituents without answering for it.

Young Man a Suicide.

Durham, Aug. 25.—News reached here last night of the suicide of Thomas G. Skinner, Jr., of Henderson, son of ex-Congressman Skinner and nephew of Col. Harry Skinner, attorney for the eastern district of North Carolina. The young man, who was about 20 years old, fired a ball through his heart, death following instantly. No cause is assigned for the rash deed. Young Skinner was a student at the University.

Freight Wreck on A. & Y.

Fayetteville, Aug. 24.—This morning a freight train on the Atlantic & Yadkin Railroad, consisting of 12 cars and caboose, was wrecked five miles from this city. Five of the cars were broken to pieces, while the track was torn up for a hundred yards. Captain Matthews, the conductor, was painfully hurt and five passengers in the caboose were badly shaken up, but were uninjured.

The more a man blows the less likely he is to come to blows.

TWENTY ONE HURT IN WRECK.

New York and Augusta Express Leaves Rails at Red Hill, Va., All Seven Cars Being Thrown Against Embankment.

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 26.—Twenty-one persons were injured, only one of them seriously, by the derailment of a northbound train on the Southern Railway at Red Hill, nine miles south of here early today. The accident was caused by a broken rail. The train fortunately was running at moderate speed. A special train, which was immediately made up here, carried all the injured to Washington. The train wrecked was the New York & Augusta Express. All seven coaches were thrown against an embankment.

The worst injured are: Calvin Cowan, negro, Salisbury, N. C., badly cut about face; V. W. Duvall, Hyattsville, Md., chief clerk in mail car, cut on breast and arm; Harry Goodman, Salisbury, N. C., merchant, arm and wrist injured; John A. Boyer, mail clerk, Washington, hurt internally; H. C. Colter, 230 West 124th street, New York, body bruised and arm hurt; D. S. Rothrock, Winston-Salem, N. C., arms contused and face bruised; Ellen H. Cotton, Cambridge, Mass., negro, arms and body contused; R. N. Sturgis, Rock Hill, S. C., arms and body bruised; Harry Goodman, Salisbury, N. C., body bruised; G. C. Miller, express agent, Columbia, S. C., body bruised and arms hurt; G. C. Richardson, express man, Greensboro, N. C., head and arms hurt; R. L. Holland, Washington, D. C., negro, arms and body bruised; R. G. Upton, Whitney, N. C., arms and body bruised; Daniel Kerr, Nashville, Tenn., arms and body bruised; H. Morton, 100 Ashford street, Brooklyn, N. Y., hand hurt; Ada Bullock, Greenwood, Va., arms and body bruised and contused; Richard Sweeney, Jersey City, porter, chest injured.

All of these except Duvall, according to the railway officials, were able to proceed without assistance.

The private car of Bird Robinson, president of the Mobile, Jackson & Kansas City Railway, was wrecked, but the party aboard the car escaped uninjured.

Kills Himself With Gun.

Reidsville, Aug. 24.—News has reached here to the effect that Mr. Will Ziglar, a prominent citizen living near Madison, shot and instantly killed himself with a shotgun at his home. It is learned that Mr. Ziglar arose at about 5 o'clock, while all the members of his family except one or two small children were asleep, and went out into the yard with his gun. Soon the report of the gun was heard and upon investigation it was found that he had shot himself, the contents of the gun striking just under the chin and passing out through the top of his head. No cause can be assigned for Mr. Ziglar taking his own life intentionally and the community is at a loss to understand why and how the sad occurrence came about. He is survived by a wife and five children.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a real disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

"The Last Sale of Summer"

WE HAVE STARTED THE LAST CLEARING SALE OF SUMMER

In view of the on-coming fall season I have reduced prices regardless of their cost to me.

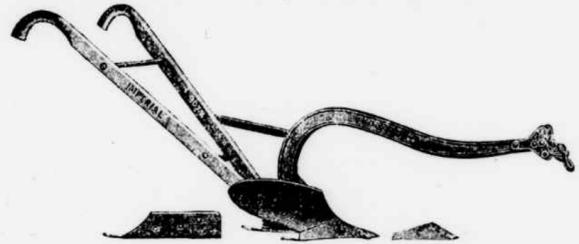

You will bear in mind that nothing is brought into this store "to make a sale of," therefore all the stocks in the store are of staple value.

This is my annual offering of all Summer Goods in every department. You can buy these now decidedly lower than at any other time in the year. If you have ever attended a clean-up sale at this store, then you know what I mean by values. Ask to see our yard-wide bleached all Linen for waists and separate skirts at 25c per yard. Hundreds of new values spring up in this store every day, but owing to the rapidly moving stocks and the time required to make up our daily advertisements it is impossible to name all the offerings.

It with be worth your time to come here as often as possible during this sale.

NORTH CAROLINA AT THE FAIR.
Governor Glenn Doing for the Tar Heel State What Schlitz Claims to Have Done for Milwaukee.
Jamestown Exposition, August 20, 1907.
Editor Patriot:—"We have just caught our breath"—taken away, so to speak, by the cyclopean magnitude of North Carolina day. Like a consecrated blizzard, it swept everything before it, including the trappings and lingering prestige of all preceding celebrations—Georgia day not excepted, when our chief executive was "main attraction," backed by several military, naval and other side-shows of immense drawing power; yet even Georgia's (up to then) record breaker could not withstand the storming social cyclone from North Carolina, by the fearless and invincible governor who is destined to accomplish for North Carolina what Schlitz claims it has done for Milwaukee, and hence in exposition circles, as well as public opinion, the right of precedence because justly due, has been accorded to North Carolina. A few more such exhibitions of virility, hopefulness and vim and North Carolina will have a population of 5,000,000 before "snowflakes"—or at least before it gets a chance to fly very many more times. That the North Carolina day was good for the exposition is universally conceded; the effect on the Warrpath can be imagined when I say that admission of cash customers to the Monitor and Merrimac amounted to 12,000; with Ferrarie's wild animal show a close second, and the deep sea divers, Hell Gate, Klondike and Trixie, the Baby Incubators, etc., in close pursuit and thus on all along the line of first-class entertainments the effects of North Carolina Day were felt and appreciated.

Now as it is a poor rule that doesn't work both ways. The extraordinary outpouring and heartfelt demonstration was equally good for North Carolina by exhibiting the resourcefulness and power of a united people aiming for, first, the betterment of their home state, and thereby, incidentally and inevitably the betterment of all the states, and all the world for that matter, as if it is true—and none doubts it—that no single individual can improve himself or better his condition in any way without benefiting the whole world, how much more so is it true of a community or a state. If it is true, as scientists tell us, that the wave motion of a pebble, thrown into one of Virginia's or North Carolina's lakes—or any other lake—is felt in Switzerland and the Philippines—presumably the latter first, because of "benevolent assimilation," in a word, that it is felt from pole to pole, how much more natural to believe the power for good of such an earnest, generous, enthusiastic, intelligent and executive, justice-loving and hence lovable people who have demonstrated their wisdom and good judgment in their choice of governor and other leading representatives, is felt from pole to pole, and beyond?

Governor Glenn's speech at the auditorium was admittedly great and very much admired by all. The presentation of the state flags was interestingly pathetic and the responses very good; that of the state treasurer was humorous and as detailed the peculiar modesty of North Carolinians—who never claimed anything out of sight as not worth having—created roars of hearty laughter; all the more amusing as in the governor's speech, while giving great credit to all the other states, notably Virginia—whose present governor, he said, was "the best ever"—yet when he got back to his favorite pivotal point, North Carolina, he attempted to prove, and perhaps in some cases succeeded, in proving that any good all the others possessed was either reflected by or derived from North Carolina. The historic interest, political power and the president making power (which lately he regretted had fallen into a state of innocuous desuetude) of Virginia he readily and graciously admitted, only to be followed by an onslaught of statements that from the father of his country (and six others from Virginia who occupied his chair) to Patrick Henry, who ought to have occupied it, and from Patrick Henry to Governor Swanson inclusive, all or nearly all had North Carolina blood, and the rest were born within the hospitable bosom of "the Great North State," and with an obeisance to Governor Swanson (who with Mrs. Swanson, was on the platform), he would add "hence, your excellency, you must not be surprised at their great achievements." It was somewhat amusing, the hearty manner in which he boosted the North State; why in common parlance in comparison with North Carolina, Virginia or no other state was worth the "proverbial three dimes;" he believed that he was saying and his earnestness it was (which was taken in very good humor) that made his remarks so amusing.

We had heard Governor Glenn once before at the National Editorial Association, whose every member has done so much to boost the exposition, and in doing so has only done their plain, or rather bounden duty, as they got a grand reception both here and in the grand old center of every civilization and genuine hospitality, a city at the mention of whose name every visitor, however transient, and every one who knows anything of it and its great, whole-souled people, lifts his (or her) hat; a capital city in more senses than one, as it is full of capital, good fellows—the Pearl of the James and the Pride of the South, superfluous to further name—Richmond—which according to Governor Swanson, and many others, has a special brand of feminine manufacture that cannot be duplicated anywhere—Governor Glenn to the contrary notwithstanding—a grand and certainly representative sample of whom the governor of Virginia feels a pride and an honor in having given his name to as she certainly is a lady—and well calculated to grace any society or any position.
As Governor Glenn says, the North Carolina ladies are the "sweetest and best in the world," while Governor Swanson insists on that peculiar and desirable description for the ladies of Richmond. While we let the two governors discuss the matter, and fight a duel over it if they want to, let us, gentle reader, conclude that they are both right and that each is best in their conditions, and best suited for the Lords of Creation that surround them, and while the governors are discussing the matter, let us hope the ready-witted governor of Virginia will not fail to remember a certain historic conversation between the governors of North and South Carolina, and also that the methods prevalent then of settling disputed points are not either outlawed or out of date yet. Everything with merit has a staying power. Few epigrams are destined to live longer than that exhibiting the two Carolinas' governors in their native and natural light. At present, I am at a loss to know which of them gave utterance to the immortal words which have been echoed around the world and will continue to do so—like Poe's poems—while time lasts.

It would not surprise me if Governors Glenn and Swanson ever get together to settle their claims on the feminine question, but some new and everlasting epigrams will be coined. While the question at issue will not be discussed, it will always remain the same—a matter of choice.
Regarding the National Editorial Association trip to Richmond, I would say that the hospitality of the capital city, and the capital courtesies and kindness of President Stephenson, of the Chesapeake & Ohio, can never be forgotten, and regarding Governor Glenn's first speech—the first of his I heard—I've ever since been a "possimist."

Now one word more on the National Editorial Association question. When I did my level best to have H. B. Varner, of Lexington, elected president of same, I did not, I must admit, know North Carolina at all. Now that we all had a "knock down" to her on the "great day" at the exposition, we are more pleased and more proud that Mr. Varner got the honor.

Please pardon this digression from my subject? To resume the thread of which let me say that from the time Governor Glenn struck Norfolk until he left it, was nothing but receptions and welcomes everywhere. On the evening of the 14th he and Mrs. Glenn were given a reception at the Virginia building by Governor and Mrs. Swanson, which was very largely attended.

Some one has said that Mrs. Swanson "governs the governor." Well, as she is his equal in avoidpulis and intellect, and at a beauty show would have him skinned a block if not a mile, perhaps she does; but if so, we venture to bet it is by the power of love alone, as she is a most amiable lady. However, be that as it may, we could not help thinking on the night of the reception at the Virginia building, that if ever Mrs. Governor Glenn attempted to "govern the governor," unless—like Barkis—the governor was willing—she would have an elephant on her hands, if measured by the avoidpulis rule, as she is the very antithesis of the husky and muscular governor, yet as she is a magnetically pleasing little lady, we feel sure she can govern with the power of love, and like all great and good men, we are sure her wishes are "commands" to her virile Lord of Creation.

But for making this so long we should have something to say on the North Carolina building and its capable chief, Col. Pogue. This shall be a duty as well as a pleasure of the future.

GEORGE WASHINGTON, JR.
P. S.—We have enjoyed the pleasure of meeting here a remarkable gentleman from the North State—remarkable in many respects. In fact he is unconsciously a whole boosting car for his state and section, and if he could only be secured by the Jamestown exposition as a "booster," they could side-track all their boosting cars. At present we will only mention his name—a notable and historic one—which he takes a pride in keeping at its historic level by word and example, so that he can transmit it unaltered to future generations. This is the greatest and grandest heirloom any man can leave his family—and it is the greatest ambition of Hon. W. R. Henry—Charlotte, N. C.

Revenue Officer Shot.
North Wilkesboro, Aug. 12.—In a raid up in the Reddies river country on the Wilkesboro and Jefferson turnpike yesterday, Revenue Officer John T. Shepherd was shot and painfully, though not seriously, wounded. Officer Shepherd, with several other officers, were on their way to cut up a blockade still which had been located not far off the turnpike. Shepherd was in a buggy some distance ahead of the other officers and on arriving in the neighborhood of the still, he stopped to wait for them. He had got out of the buggy and was sitting on the fence beside the road when two unknown men, led by a man named Miller, came across the field and suddenly fired at him twice with a shot gun, knocking him from the fence. Several No. 6 shot struck him in the head and other scattered all over his body. His team, standing in the road below, was either struck by some shot or frightened by the noise and ran off, tearing up the buggy. Officer Shepherd recovered himself in time to fire several times at his assailants, who were running back across the field, but they escaped, and by the time the other officers came up the still and all fixtures had been carried away.
Mr. Shepherd was brought here last night, his wounds were dressed, and he is now resting as comfortably as could be expected.
Miller and the men who were with him when the shooting took place have not yet been captured.

Dentist Attempts Suicide.
Durham, Aug. 22.—Tonight between 6 and 7 o'clock Dr. S. E. Thompson, proprietor of the Thompson Dental Parlors, attempted suicide by drinking laudanum. For a few minutes he was in a serious condition, but within a half hour a physician who attended him said that he was out of danger. Dr. Thompson has been drinking rather heavily here of late and it is intimated that he has financial troubles. When your correspondent reached him this evening the first thing he said was, "I wish it had been stronger." He is now out of danger, but tonight said that he would complete the job later on.

ROOSEVELT AND GLENN.

The Boston Tribune Places in Nominatation a Ticket for 1908.
Boston, Mass., Aug. 22.—C. F. King's newspaper, the Boston Daily Tribune, today nailed to its editorial masthead these colors: For President, in 1908, Theodore Roosevelt, of New York; for Vice-President, Robert B. Glenn, of North Carolina.

At the close of its editorial leader the Tribune says: "Although the Tribune is not in politics, neither as a party organ or as the disseminator of purely political news, even in politics it has a duty to perform towards the investors of this country. In the light of such utterances as those of President Roosevelt at Provincetown, that duty points us to the emphatic declaration that Theodore Roosevelt should be his own successor in the White House in 1908. As his associate upon the ticket we nominate Robert B. Glenn, whose fearlessness as Governor of North Carolina fully entitles him to stand shoulder to shoulder with the man whose words to Provincetown are ringing in the nation's ears. It is true that Glenn is a Democrat while Roosevelt is a Republican, but the Tribune is for men and measures and not for partisanship. Therefore, it declares Roosevelt and Glenn its ticket for 1908."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.
Eddie McNairy.

Whereas, our heavenly Father, in His infinite unerring wisdom, has seen fit to remove from our Sunday school and church our beloved and highly esteemed sister, Eddie McNairy, be it therefore Resolved, 1. That in her death our Sunday school and church have sustained the loss of a faithful member and devoted worker.

Resolved, 2. That while we deplore her death, and mourn her absence, which we feel so sensibly, yet we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, and hereby extend to the grief-stricken brother and sister and other bereaved relatives our heartfelt condolence and sympathy.
Resolved, 3. That these resolutions be spread upon our Sunday school record book, that copies be sent to the North Carolina Christian Advocate and the Greensboro Patriot, with request for publication, and that also a copy be furnished the bereaved family.
Signed by: Della Shuler, Rosa Case, Maude Boren, Birtie Baxter, Mary Bowles, committee of Muir's Chapel Sunday school.

No Limit!
You too would have to build bigger barns if you would only listen to reason and "increase your yields per acre" by enriching your soil and feeding your plants with that wonder-worker, Virginia-Carolina Fertilizer.
It has been the tremendous success of many farmers all over the South, who started life with only a few acres and a one-horse plow. Now, after using these fertilizers for many years, these farmers are rich. Read what they say in our Almanac. Female Weakness
"Last Fall," writes Mrs. S. G. Bailey, of Tun- nelton, W. Va., "I was going down by inches, from female disease, with great pain. After taking Cardui, Oh! My! How I was benefited! I am not well yet, but am so much better that I will keep on taking Wine of Cardui till I am perfectly cured."
Despite the envious attacks of jealous enemies and rivals, Cardui still holds supreme position today [as in the past 70 years] for the relief and cure of female diseases. It stops pain, tones up the organs, regulates the functions, and aids in the replacement of a misplaced organ.

A Mineral Water that Defies Drugs
NATURE'S GREAT BLOOD TONIC
The recent drug exposures in this Country have proven to all that deadly poisons and stimulants lurk in many Patent Medicines. You never know when you might be taking some of that class.
Nature has made ample provision for restoring vigor and vitality to humanity, and the public, as well as doctors, resort to Natural Remedies, when all others have failed.
Are you troubled with Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Malaria, Kidney or Bladder Trouble, Chronic Diarrhoea or Dysentery, and above all, that dreadful disease Scrofula, which has almost baffled human skill, or Diseases peculiar to Females?
Piedmont-Bedford Concentrated Iron & Alum Water
Is Nature's Remedy for Nature's Ills. Yes, when you consider that disease comes from impoverished or run down conditions of the system, this Natural Mineral Water furnishes the system what it needs.
The analysis of this Water, shown on the bottle, tells you what Nature thinks you should take when sick, and the doctor who reads it will agree.
Do you think the grouping together in this Water of 17 different minerals, which are recognized by medical writers as most powerful blood tonics, could have been accidental? Reason answers, NO!
An 18-oz bottle of Piedmont-Bedford Concentrated Iron and Alum water contains all the minerals of 25 gallons of the average natural water—Then why buy a barrel of water when you can get a bottle of minerals at the trivial cost of one dollar. The dose is a teaspoonful in a glass of your own spring water.
How this Water acts upon the system is not clearly known. It is judged mainly by its works. It has cured all the diseases enumerated above, and many more, evidently through its action as a powerful BLOOD TONIC.
We have many valuable certificates, which we will be glad to mail, if you are interested.

PRIMITIVE BAPTISTS AT HIGH POINT.

Seven Thousand People Present at Association Meeting Sunday.

The greatest gathering at High Point since the yearly meetings of Friends was held there was in attendance Sunday at the Abbott's Creek Primitive Baptist Association, which is perhaps oldest original association in the United States. The association convened Saturday with the Mechanicsville church and closed Monday night, being what is known as a three-day session. The crowd Sunday was estimated at 7,000 people. For a square one-half mile hundreds of vehicles and thousands of people, with many tents and covered wagons, covered the ground, and the church could only accommodate a very small portion of the throng. Services were also held in the open air under an arbor.

Elder P. D. Gold, of Wilson, editor of Zion's Landmark, and one of the most prominent elders of the association, preached in the morning. Services on the grounds were also held by Mr. Ashburny pastor of the Mechanicsville church, while during the afternoon visiting elders addressed the multitude.

The old Abbott's Creek Primitive Baptist Association, of which the Mechanicsville church is a part, was formed in 1809 after the first church was built on the present site between 1790 and 1800. It was at old Abbott's Creek, which is located eight miles from High Point, that the original split in the Primitive Baptist church occurred, and from which was born the Missionary church.

The glass in one of the side windows of the Sykes drug store was cut near the window fastening some time Friday night with the evident intention of forcing an entrance to the store, but for some reason the thief failed to carry out his purpose. Several robberies or attempted robberies were reported last week. A house on Lucy street was raided one night while the family was absent, every room being ransacked. Mr. J. C. Benson, who also lives on Lucy street, lost nearly a hundred frying-size chickens and several gallons of wine, while a neighbor of his chased a negro from her back yard the same night.

Graham Tribune, 26th: Mr. Harper Kenodie, of Boon Station township, and Miss Stella Scott, of Burlington, were married yesterday morning at Burlington. The marriage was a surprise to nearly all the friends of the contracting parties, only a few very close friends being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. D. Andrew. After the marriage the young couple drove to the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. C. Kenodie. In the afternoon the newly married pair visited friends in Graham.

Good Farm for Sale.

Compulsory Education of Deaf Mutes.
On September 1 the new law requiring parents or guardians of deaf mutes to send them to the school for deaf mutes at Morganton will go into effect. The law is compulsory of all mutes between the ages of 8 and 15. They must be kept in school for five years. This is probably the first compulsory education law North Carolina ever had and it is considered a good one.

Hunting for Trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years, and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alleghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting, Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 25c.

GIBSONVILLE ITEMS.

Our policeman, Mr. John Tiser, Wednesday night of last week, added to his force by marrying Mrs. Mattie Allred, one of Gibsonville's fairest daughters. Rev. F. M. Harr officiated at the marriage. They have the congratulations of many friends.

On the 15th inst. Rev. E. P. Parker united in marriage Miss Bessie Mills, of Gibsonville and Mr. Jesse Hyler, of Rockingham county. They reside at Spray.

A good many from here and surrounding community attended the annual picnic at Whitsett last Saturday.

Miss Joicy Cummings, who has been spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Sue Lineberry, in Greensboro, returned last week to her home in Gibsonville.

Two young fellows by the name of Wells and Phillip got on a drunken rampage last Thursday night, going through our town shooting and yelling like savages. Friday morning they were arrested and brought before Mayor Davidson, who bound them over to court under fifty dollar bonds.

Saturday night the Knights of Pythias gave a sumptuous supper in their hall here to a number of invited guests, ladies and gentlemen, who report a very enjoyable time at the banquet. There was also some interesting speech making.

Dr. H. P. Bowman has secured the services of an experienced and licensed pharmacist at the People's Drug Store, where physicians' prescriptions can be filled.

Miss Anna Boon, who has been seriously sick with typhoid fever, is now thought to be improving.

Mrs. Jennings, wife of the Gen. cotton mill boss, who was seriously sick, but was thought to be better, has taken a relapse.

Mrs. J. W. Burk and little daughter, Ruth, are now visiting relatives and friends in Greensboro.

Dr. H. P. Bowman carried Mrs. Geo. Hughes, of Alamahaw, to a Salisbury sanitarium last Thursday. She has some female trouble.

We were glad to meet our old friend, Dr. Coble, of Greensboro, who came down Saturday on his way to his farm near Lowe's church, where he has some wheat to dispose of.

Miss Junlata Redding, of Asheboro, is visiting her brother, E. F. Redding, of the Gibsonville Drug Company. She will spend a few weeks here.

Mr. G. W. Hoffman, the jeweler, formerly with Mr. Neese, of Burlington, having purchased a new outfit, is now located in the People's drug store in Gibsonville, where he is prepared to accommodate all who need work in his line.

GUILFORD COLLEGE ITEMS.

Prof. John W. Woody and daughter, Laura, spent a few days at the Jamestown exposition last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd and daughter, of Indiana, are visiting their son, Prof. Vivian Floyd, at this place.

Miss Isabel Woodley, of Charlotte, who was recently elected as one of the teachers in the Guilford graded school for the coming year, died in a hospital at Charlotte last week. She had been operated on for appendicitis a few hours before her death. She at one time lived at Guilford College, and had many warm friends here who sadly regret to hear of her untimely death.

Captain Tyson, with his convict force, have recently pitched their camp near the station and will spend some time in the improvement of our public roads.

Mrs. Allie Edwards, living near Muir's Chapel, died last Friday night after a brief illness, and was buried at Muir's Chapel Saturday afternoon. She leaves a husband and three children, one an infant only a few weeks old. Rev. J. A. Bowles conducted the funeral services.

Mrs. Fannie Roberson and daughter, Miss Florence, and Miss Margaret Cotton are spending this week at the Jamestown exposition.

Mrs. Estelle Andrews and children, of Goldsboro, are visiting at the home of Prof. Woody.

Mr. Percy Worth, of Cincinnati, is spending his summer vacation with his mother and sisters at this place. Interested protracted services have been conducted at Muir's chapel during the past week by Rev. J. A. Bowles, assisted by Rev. N. R. Richardson and others.

Rev. J. A. Bowles is among the Jamestown exposition visitors this week.

Mrs. M. F. Fox and two of her children have returned from a visit in southern Alamance and Chatham counties.

Labor Day will be observed next Monday with elaborate and appropriate ceremonies.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

GROOMETOWN ITEMS.

Messrs. W. J. Z. L. and M. C. Groome are very busy canning tomatoes. They are unusually fine this season.

Mrs. J. A. Brewer and mother-in-law, Mrs. Brewer, of Winston, spent a day last week with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Jackson.

Mrs. T. S. Groome has returned from a pleasant visit to Madison.

Mr. and Mrs. Plato Freeman spent Sunday afternoon at Mr. J. A. Groome's.

Messrs. Emmet and Thaxton Richardson spent Sunday at Mr. T. S. Groome's.

Mrs. J. H. Johnson has been quite sick during the past week.

The Sunday school convention and picnic at Red Hill Saturday was attended by quite a number from this place who enjoyed the day very much.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Smith Homans and Mr. E. Colwell, of Greensboro, came out in their automobile Saturday evening and paid a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Groome.

Protracted meeting begins at Groome church next Sunday, with services at 11 o'clock A. M., dinner on the ground, and services in the afternoon and at night. All those who can are invited to attend.

Misses Vera and Grace Northam visited Miss Helen Groome Tuesday.

Get a free sample of Dr. Shoop's "Health Coffee" at our store. If real coffee disturbs your stomach, your heart, or kidneys, then try this clever Coffee imitation. Dr. Shoop has closely matched Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor and taste, yet he has not even a single grain of real coffee in it. Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee Imitation is made from pure toasted grains or cereals, with Malt, Nuts, etc. Made in a minute. No tedious wait. You will surely like it. Sold by C. Scott & Co.

Mr. G. S. Ferguson, Jr., spent Sunday with his parents in Waynesville.

Mr. G. L. Anthony, of Vandalla, is on the sick list.

JAMESTOWN ITEMS.

The Misses Smith, of Summerfield, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith.

Mr. Eugene Coltrane, who now makes his home in Lynchburg, Va., is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Dr. Ledbetter and daughter, of Greensboro, are spending a day or so with Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ledbetter.

The social life of Jamestown has been quite a stir for the past week or so. Beginning with a picnic at Landon Park a week or more ago, the young folks have been having "something doing" all along. At the residence of Supt. Coltrane last Saturday evening, there was a most delectable cream supper, filled out with watermelons right off the vine.

On Monday night of this week a watermelon party was tendered to the young folks at the hands of Mrs. J. H. Smith, complimenting the Misses Smith, of Summerfield, on their recent visit to the school.

On Tuesday evening at the school house an ice cream supper, also complimentary to the Misses Smith, and these events have been greatly enjoyed by the older folks as well as the young. Music, games, Japanese lanterns and the like have added to the occasions.

The young folks are to give a musical entertainment in the high school building on Saturday evening. The small admission fee will be expended for refreshments and a drama for the evening. Come out, everybody, and enjoy a real pleasant evening with the young folks. They will appreciate your coming.

Miss Bristow is visiting friends and relatives down in Randolph this week.

A party composed of Wm. G. Ragsdale, D. W. Moore, George Varner, Wm. Campbell and a driver have just returned from a "fishing frolic" in the backwoods of Randolph. We won't report this trip, as it is well known to us, as it would read like one of our venerable "fish tales."

They just caught fish and crabs, and took back to the pond—all kinds of fish, snappers, perch, catfish, bluegills, etc. This was a "big haul," camping, fishing and the boss show signs of being a success.

But they won't tell us where they caught the fish.

It has been found necessary to open the opening of the Jamestown school for two weeks—beginning on the 10th of September and ending on the 23rd, as formerly announced. Though the purpose of this school is well known to the public, it might not be out of place to call attention to the opportunity for high school education that is open to the children of Guilford County. The fact that all persons residing within the limits of Guilford County, outside the cities of Greensboro and High Point, now have access to the first grade high schools is a matter for pride, cannot, we believe, be overestimated to the public too often.

It is to be hoped that such an opportunity will be taken at so small a cost. The school faculty, with its spacious buildings and faculty, is simply able to enroll all students in Guilford County.

James

town, with a faculty of five capable teachers, and a building when completed that will rival any distinctively rural public school building in the state, invites the patronage of the western half of the county.

As the particular subject of this sketch is the Jamestown school, we wish to call attention to some of the advantages offered towards the education of especially those living within the western end of the county. Arrangements have been perfected for the opening of a good boarding house for the accommodation of students wishing to attend school here. A most excellent married lady will have charge of this house and will devote her time and attention towards making it pleasant and home-like to those who live with her. Several of the teachers will also reside here to further guard the welfare of students. Board from $10 to $15 per month.

The high school course begins with the eighth grade and extends through four years, leading to the freshman year at the University. The course of study has been carefully worked out with due regard to modern conceptions of high school instruction. Having completed the course here one is not only fitted for college, but prepared for life should higher education be denied him.

Jamestown is a lively little village, free from all the contaminating influences of city life, yet within easy approach of two centers of business and located in an extremely healthful section of the county.

We feel that these inducements, so liberally offered by the state and county, should meet with the hearty support of parents having children to educate. We urge you to take advantage of this opportunity and allow us to enroll every person of school age within our territory. Help us to begin in earnest the campaign against illiteracy in Guilford County.

For prospectus and further information concerning the county high school at Jamestown, address the principal, who will cheerfully answer all inquiries.

PLEASANT GARDEN ITEMS.
Miss Annie Ross and Mr. Clark Kirkman have returned from Moore's Springs, where they have been enjoying a most beneficial vacation.

Mr. Norman Kirkman, of the Odell Hardware Company, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kirkman.

Miss Ethel Kilgore, daughter of Rev. E. G. Kilgore, will leave for Florida in a few days, where she will spend the winter teaching.

Misses Lucile Kennett and Ledia Kirkman and Messrs. Will Hardie and Stacy Kirkman have recently returned from the Jamestown exposition.

Mrs. John Jones, while out looking after his chickens the other day, came up with a mammoth snake which was likewise devoting some time to the feathered tribe. He immediately killed the reptile and on measuring it found that it was even six feet long. He and the chickens have since been resting easy and doing well.

About everybody from here attended the camp meeting services at Bethlehem last Sunday. This is now the only camp meeting anywhere in the country and every year a great course of people attend it. It is very interesting to hear the old horn blow for the services, which are held under the cover of a large arbor. About this arbor are rows of tents filled with the families of the community.

The order of the services for this week are as follows: Sunrise prayer meeting, then services at 8:30 again, followed with an intermission just before preaching at eleven. After dinner there is preaching again, and then before supper the men on one side and the ladies on the other go out for a grove prayer meeting. The preaching at night ends the services for the day. A great revival is expected.

Pleasant Garden High School opens September 4th with a great educational rally and picnic. Hon. A. L. Brooks and Mr. Charles Ireland will make the speeches of the day. Instrumental music will be furnished by Miss Mabel Featress and her music class. A great crowd is expected. The faculty for the coming year is as follows: O. V. Woosley, principal; Miss Ada Michael, assistant principal; Miss Jessie Foust, intermediate department; Miss Minnie Brown, primary department, and Miss Mabel Featress, the music department.

Stokesdale Items.
Farmers are busy curing tobacco. The crop is fairly good, although there was not a full crop planted in this section.

Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Bell, of Greensboro, spent several days here last week with their son, Rev. A. R. Bell.

Mrs. David Lester has fever. Her condition is little improved at this writing.

Mr. J. L. Hilton is putting in a stock of general merchandise here. We wish him much success.

Mr. L. A. Southern returned from the Jamestown exposition Sunday. He reports a nice trip.

The school census for this district has just been taken. It numbers 146. Several of our citizens left for Jamestown Tuesday. Among the number were Messrs. W. M. Vaughn, James W. Friddle, Grady Southern, C. F. Johnson and J. Wright Pegram.

Messrs. J. Wright Pegram and Will Brookbank have been employed to teach the public school here next term.

A very successful meeting at the M. E. church closed Sunday with twelve conversions to the church. The pastor was assisted by Rev. A. T. Bell, of Greensboro.

The former writer of the Stokesdale items has resigned his position.

GRAY'S CHAPEL ITEMS.
Corn is needing rain.

Several of our people attended camp meeting at Bethlehem last Sunday.

Mrs. Lou Walker, aged eighty-seven years, died after a brief illness on the 22d inst. Interment was made at Cool Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Routh returned home last week.

Rev. O. P. Routh filled his regular appointment here last Sunday.

Messrs. Redding and Wilkinson have ordered a traction engine with which to haul lumber, etc.

WHITSETT ITEMS.

Miss Effie E. Wharton left today for a visit to Virginia Beach, Jamestown exposition and Washington City.

Miss Grace Hoffman, assistant postmaster here, is now away on a ten days' trip to the exposition and other points further North.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hicks, of Bullock's, are here on a visit to Mr. A. F. Greeson's.

Mrs. J. D. Oldham and children are away on a visit to friends in High Point and western Guilford.

Next Saturday a week, September 7th, there will be a Sunday school picnic at Springwood church with addresses by Rev. S. M. Rankin and others. Dinner will be served, and an invitation is extended to the public to be present.

Miss Arrie Summers will enter Salem Female College at the opening of the term there.

Mr. J. F. Swift has returned from Mebane, where he visited the first of the week.

For the past ten years the last Saturday of each August is given over by this community to an annual picnic known as an educational picnic. The fall term at Whitsett Institute opens each year on the last Wednesday in August, and this picnic makes an enthusiastic beginning of each year's work. Noted speakers are invited each year, and in the past years there have been present Dr. B. F. Dixon, Col. John S. Cunningham, Prof. R. D. W. Connor, Hon. C. H. Mebane, Prof. J. I. Foust, Dr. C. D. Melver and others.

Scores of people were here from Burlington, Greensboro and all nearby points. A bountiful table was spread in the grove and all were invited to share in the feast of good things provided by the many baskets. There was plenty for all, and much to spare.

The school building was opened and visitors spent a part of the day in visiting the beautiful halls of the literary societies and the various class rooms, etc. Quite a number of students have already arrived for the fall term and these shared in the pleasures of the day.

The leading event of the day was the address by Hon. W. W. Kitchin. He has spoken here before, but his being a candidate for the nomination for the governorship of the state, added interest to anything he might say, and the large chapel was filled for his address. The crowd gave good attention, and listened with interest to all he said. He was liberally applauded, and even when the audience did not agree with what he said it gave him a very polite hearing.

The charge has been made so much that Mr. Kitchin is of a destructive turn of mind towards certain interests of the commonwealth, that many of the leading business men were deeply interested to hear what he might say along these lines.

There was an absence of any bitterness in all he said, and if what he said is an index of what he thinks he could hardly be termed rash in his views. He showed that he felt he was among friends, for during a visit here some years ago when he delivered the commencement address he formed many acquaintances, and these were out in force today to greet him.

Mr. Kitchin's subject was "The influence of education upon the development of our government," and it was all and in all a splendid address.

Prof. Thos. R. Foust, county superintendent of schools, was an invited guest, and delivered an excellent address upon "Our Educational Progress," during which he aroused additional enthusiasm upon the subject and made many friends for the cause in which he is laboring so faithfully.

The last speaker for the occasion was Hon. Aubrey L. Brooks, who was never more eloquent or happy in his remarks than upon this occasion. His topic was "Civic Ideals," and he held the undivided attention of his large crowd of hearers.

All in all it was a day long to be remembered. There were fully one thousand people here from every section of the county, and from many adjoining points. The order was perfect, dinner was plentiful and the table, over one hundred feet long, was laden with good things.

Two games of base ball were played during the day, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. Both were between Gibsonville and Whitsett, and in the morning Gibsonville won, and in the afternoon the Whitsett boys were victorious.

Greensboro sent a fine delegation for the picnic, in addition to County Superintendent Foust, Hon. A. L. Brooks and others we noticed County Treasurer J. W. McNairy, W. D. McLean, city editor of the Telegram, Messrs. C. M. Vanstort, Jr., Ernest McLenn of the City National Bank, Onslow Whitsett of McClamroch Bros., and a merry party of a dozen or more young ladies.

Burlington was represented by Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Davenport, Rev. J. D. Andrew Wilbert Clapp, Esq., and many others.

E. M. Rollins, Esq., of Raleigh, a prominent lawyer of the capital city, was here for the picnic and speaking Saturday, and to visit relatives.

Miss Cassandra Vaughan, of Salem Female Academy, Salem; Miss Maggie Robertson, of the Salem graded schools; Miss Ruth Hlatt, of Thonassville, and many other visitors spent Saturday here.

Miss Lillie M. Brewer, of Winston, has arrived and will remain for the fall term.

The first student to register this year was from Camden county, just thirty miles from the Atlantic ocean. Students are arriving now by every train, and everything points to a very fine fall term. School opens Wednesday, the 28th, and regular class work begins Monday, September 2d.

The new boarding houses which have been opened this summer will provide additional rooms for fifty more students than have heretofore attended school.

Miss Hattie Greason has been elected teacher for the Brookfield school this winter.

Our large store is crowded with buggies and carriages. We are going to sell the last one of them in the next 60 days if low prices will do it. Come and see Townsend & Co. 34-4t.

HISTORIC NORTH CAROLINA.

Theodosia Burr's Portrait and the Mystery of Her Death.

The North Carolina state historical exhibit, but recently installed in the History building at the Jamestown exposition, forms one of the most interesting and valuable collections of its kind at the Tercentennial and reflects great credit upon the state and those individuals who are responsible for its presence. The exhibit, which is partly under the auspices of the Wachovia Historic society, a Moravian organization of Winston-Salem, N. C., is under the direction of Miss Lindsay Patterson, chairman of the committee; Miss Schenck of Greensboro, Miss Mary Hinton of Raleigh and J. A. Linback of the Wachovia Historic society.

The Moravian exhibit is a most interesting collection of the handicraft and genius of the people of that denomination who settled in North Carolina in the early part of the eighteenth century and demonstrates their wonderful ingenuity. Among the relics of this exhibit is the first fire engine imported in this country; also one of the first printing presses, which was captured later by Cornwallis and used in the printing of his orders. Pottery, beadwork and pewter ware form an important part of the collection, which is exhibited for the first time outside of the city of Winston-Salem.

The state exhibit, which covers the entire early history of North Carolina from its beginning through the war of 1812, is replete with portraits of presidents, governors and statesmen who have been produced from within her borders; also famous documents, letters and silverware from many of the old families of the state.

Relics from the famous battles of Guilford Court House and Morse Creek bridge also form part of the exhibit. The portraits are among the most interesting of the exhibit, consisting of the noted John White collection of Indian pictures presented by Colonel B. H. Cameron, the portraits of President Jackson, Pope and Johnson, two of Reynolds' portraits and a famous portrait of Theodosia Burr by an unknown artist.

The portrait of Theodosia Burr, daughter of Aaron Burr, the saddest and most romantic character in American history, has a history too remarkable to pass over without some mention. Theodosia Burr (Mrs. Alston, wife of Governor Alston of North Carolina) set sail from Georgetown, N. C., to meet her father, Aaron Burr, in New York upon his arrival from Europe. The ship she sailed in was lost at sea, and nothing was ever known of the fate of this beautiful woman until recently, when the picture which now forms part of the history exhibit at the exposition was found in the possession of an old woman whose remarkable story proves without a doubt that Theodosia came to her death at the hands of pirates. The portrait was found in the shanty of a very old woman at Nags Head, N. C., who told the story of how a piratical crew lured ships on to the shallows by false lights, benefiting by the resulting wrecks. The painting found in her possession was given her by one of the pirates as his share of the booty taken from a ship that was without a doubt the one on which Theodosia Burr set sail never to be heard of again.

The collection of silver services presented by some of the most noted families of the state also adds greatly to the value of the collection. The exhibit in its entirety is one of the handsomest and best chosen which have been installed at the exposition and must be seen to be appreciated.

North Carolina Negro Exhibit.

North Carolina has contributed to the Jamestown exposition a most interesting negro exhibit, housed in the Negro building at the Tercentennial. Under the charge of the Rev. C. H. Williamson, commissioner general of the North Carolina negro exhibit, this display represents the work of every educational, industrial and religious institution in the state.

Most wonderful of all is the work done by the school for the colored deaf, dumb and blind, located at Raleigh. The needle and fancy work and the woodcarving and other handiwork of the unfortunate students of this institution have attracted the attention of the entire country.

The colleges and schools represented in the negro exhibit of North Carolina are as follows: School for the Colored Deaf, Dumb and Blind, Raleigh; Asheville graded school, Asheville; High Point Normal school, High Point; State Normal school, Elizabeth City; Roanoke institute, Elizabeth City; Whitted graded school, Durham; St. Augustine's school, Raleigh; A. and M. college, Greensboro; Joseph K. Brite school, Enfield; Henderson Normal institute and Shaw university, Raleigh.

Among the most interesting exhibits in the general display of North Carolina negro development is a collection of negro publications. The exhibit of African curios is also most interesting and unique.

Exposition Rates Reasonable.

District Passenger Agent J. H. Wood of the Southern Railway company at Asheville has returned from a several days' trip to the Jamestown exposition and declares that he was favorably impressed with the excellence of the exposition. He said that there was no reason for complaint; that the transportation facilities were entirely adequate; that hotel facilities were ample and that rates were reasonable. The exposition itself, Mr. Wood said, was interesting and instructive and sight-seers could very pleasantly and profitably spend several days in and around Norfolk and the exposition grounds.—Citizen, Asheville, N. C.

Cows Cross the Sea.

New York Times.

The arrival in Tokyo of fifty valuable American cows, with the expectation of a flock of sheep, may go far toward minimizing the friction between the American and Japanese governments. Experiments in provisions tried during the Russo-Japanese war have convinced the Tokyo authorities that the Japanese army and navy badly need a meat diet. Meat diet is particularly the enemy of the beriberi, by which pest so many thousands of Japanese recruits have been incapacitated.

It is singular that, so far, no large scheme of cold storage has been adopted in Japan, and this would appear to be a profitable opening for American and Australian capital. Mutton is hardly known throughout the whole of Japan. There are no native sheep, the pasturage being altogether unfit for them. Any sheep, which are purchased mainly for the foreign residents, are brought from China and killed in Japan. Not one Japanese in a hundred thousand has probably ever tasted mutton, and among the foreign population this meat is so prized that to send a shoulder of mutton to a friend is considered quite a delicate attention.

King of Beverages.

Water is the king of beverages; it is the beverage to which all turn when they would cure themselves of the injurious habit of consuming other beverages. But water that is not pure may be more harmful than the most harmful of other drinks.

Water is the basis of all other beverages. All beverages of man's manufacture are water that has been adulterated by admixtures and chemical treatment.

Pure water is the one beverage which has stood the test of science, and come down to us unscathed through continuous use for countless ages. It is nature's chiefest blessing to man. Other beverages undergo many changes with time. Each age brings them forth in new styles, new methods of manufacture, new processes of chemical treatment, aging and keeping. Foods change with each successive generation. We eat different kinds of foods from time to time; each generation prepares them differently; there are different methods of compounding them, different methods of cooking them. Pure water is the same yesterday, today and forever.

Nineteen-Hour Days.

New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"Our hours," said a nature student, "are nothing to the birds. Why, some birds work in the summer nineteen hours a day. Indefatigably they clear the crops of insects."

"The thrush gets up at 2:30 every summer morning. He rolls up his sleeves and falls to work at once. And he never stops till 9:30 at night. A clean nineteen hours. During that time he feeds his voracious young 206 times."

"The blackbird starts to work at the same time as the thrush, but he lays off earlier. His whistle blows at 7:30, and during his seventeen-hour day he sets about 100 meals before his kiddies."

"The titmouse is up and about by 3 in the morning, and his stopping time is 9 at night. A fast worker, the titmouse is said to feed his young 417 meals—meals of caterpillar mainly—in the long, hard, hot day."

Coal in North Carolina.

The two areas in North Carolina in which coal occurs are known as the Deep River and Dan River fields, from the two rivers which drain them. The coals are of the same geologic age as those of the Richmond coal basin in Virginia. The only productive beds in recent years are those in the Deep River district, in Chatham and Moore counties.

No coal production was reported to the United States Geological Survey North Carolina in 1906. The output from the Cummeck mines, which had decreased from 23,000 short tons in 1902 to 17,309 tons in 1903, to 7,000 tons in 1904, and to 1557 tons in 1905, ceased entirely in 1906.

A Chunk of Good Advice.

The Oak Ridge Oak Leaf says: "Avoid the cigarette; avoid coca-cola; avoid whiskey drinking. These nefarious habits may not lead into each other; anyone of them is enough to damn a boy physically and mentally, if not morally. Any young man who has ambition, who has aspirations, who wants to make the most of himself in life ought to be very careful not to put an enemy in his mouth to steal away his brains."

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispels all the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. If sick, send stamps for cloth-bound. By letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

The Cultivating Season is Here AND SO ARE WE WITH THE BEST THE MANUFACTURERS CAN MAKE

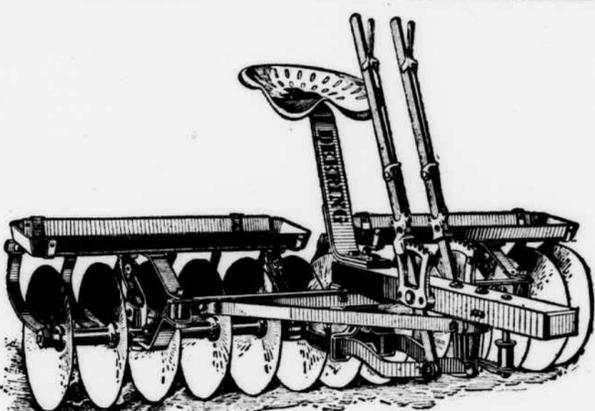

The season for breaking land for wheat is here, and we have a perfect Disc Plow for this purpose--the South Bend Victor. This Plow cannot be excelled for lightness of draft, service or durability.

The Genuine Malta Double Shovel in both wood and steel beam stands at the head of all plows of this kind.

The Mowing Season is here, and we have a Mower of unequalled excellence in every respect--the new Vertical Lift Champion Draw Cut. Look at our Hay Rakes while in town.

Now is your opportunity. For the next thirty days we will sell all steel, perfect Disc Harrows at the following prices:

- 8-16 TWO-HORSE, - $15.50
- 10-18 THREE-HORSE, $18.50

This is a saving to our customers of four dollars and should attract the attention of buyers needing these goods.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Washington, D. C., August 24.—While the Republican political kettle is already boiling, boiling over in some instances, the Democrats are calmly surveying the situation, confident that there is plenty of time before the national convention, and determined to profit by any mistakes their opponents may make. Mr. Bryan's friends are rejoiced at the attention paid to their leader by Secretary Taft, and argue that Mr. Taft and the President must be confident that Mr. Bryan is to be the next Democratic candidate. A report has recently been whispered about in Washington to the effect that Mr. Bryan will not accept another nomination if Secretary Taft is the choice of the Republican convention, and that he has made a deal with William R. Hearst that if Taft is nominated, Hearst shall have the Democratic nomination, while if any other Republican is named, Bryan is to have it. It is impossible to confirm the story, some Democratic politicians affirming it with emphasis, whereas others deny it absolutely.

What they term "the spineless character" of Secretary Taft's advocacy of tariff revision is proving a source of comfort to many Democrats who believe that the country is now ripe for general tariff revision along Democratic lines. Mr. Taft, it will be remembered, advocates a revision of the tariff at a special session of Congress to be called for the purpose immediately after March 4, 1909, but he asserts his belief that the tariff should be revised along protection lines, and that doubtless means that the protected parts of the Republican party must not be permitted to suffer any great inconvenience. The Massachusetts Republican papers are greatly upset because the man they regard as most likely to be the presidential candidate of their party is not more emphatic in his decisions that the tariff should be revised downwards, although they try to find some comfort in the fact that he openly and frankly advocates some kind of revision.

President Roosevelt's Provincetown speech is a source of renewed annoyance and anxiety to the old line conservative members of his party who insist that it is an outrageous thing for a Republican president to hamper and hinder the men who have always contributed so generously to Republican campaign funds, even if they have created monopolies and practiced extortion on the people. To these men Theodore Roosevelt is nothing less than an iconoclast. Some go so far as to pronounce him an anarchist, and judge from their point of view, perhaps.

Such reports continue to appear in the public prints relating that Japanese have been caught, first here and then there sketching, American forts. The latest of these comes from Atlanta, where two Japanese are reported to have been detected in the act of making sketches of the buildings at Fort McPherson. If any Japanese were so caught they were undoubtedly seeking medals with which to scare away their enemies, according to the old-fashioned method of Oriental warfare when soldiers wore masks to scare their enemies off the field of battle. Correctly speaking, Fort McPherson is not a fort at all. There are no fortifications there—only a collection of barracks and officers' quarters, most of them excellent models of bad architecture, which anyone is privileged to copy, should he be so ill-advised. Certainly there is nothing there which could be of the slightest use to the Japanese government. Moreover, military officers in Washington declare that there is nothing which they would seriously object to having the Japanese sketch, even our fortifications. Japan has in Washington, in connection with her embassy, a military and a naval attache. These men doubtless forward to their government drawings of our battleships and fortifications before even the general public has seen them. The United States maintains in connection with its embassy at Tokio, similar officials who send all available information to the military information bureaus in Washington. When Japanese army or navy officers come to the United States, they are shown our battleships, fortifications, gun-factories and navy-yards, and anything else they may ask to see, except, of course, the plans and military records of the General Staff. If any Japanese are so foolish as to make worthless drawings of American military posts, say the general officers here, it is from some silly idea that they may receive a reward from their government, or else, as has been suggested in the case of Fort McPherson, in order that they may send to their military architects some samples of what not to imitate.

Governor Magoon is about to promulgate in Cuba, with the approval of the President and the Secretary of War, a decree creating a national bureau of sanitation which shall have power to prescribe and enforce sanitary regulations throughout the island. Governor Magoon has found that the local administration of sanitary matters which was provided during the former American occupation of Cuba, is not to be relied upon, and today the island is threatened with a serious outbreak of yellow fever. Sanitary regulations and precautions are naturally repugnant to the Cubans and the local authorities, either through a lack of appreciation of the responsibilities devolving upon them, or through being too amenable to local influences, having permitted most unsanitary conditions to exist. It is believed, however, that with a national sanitary board to make the regulations and to enforce them, all further danger can be eliminated. The authority to issue and to enforce this decree, even after the present occupation of Cuba shall have ceased, is found in Section 5 of the Platt Amendment.

The President has approved the provisions of the Army graduated pay bill, which will be introduced next session, and which provides for increases of pay for the army as follows: lieutenant general, 10 per cent; major and brigadier general, 15 per cent; colonels and majors, 20 per cent; captains and lieutenants, 25 per cent; enlisted men and non-commissioned officers, 30 per cent. It is expected that this bill, with possibly some modifications, will become a law next session.

GOVERNMENT PIER DEDICATION.

Elaborate Ceremonies to Mark Completion of Stupendous Engineering Feat at the Exposition.

Jamestown Exposition, Va., Aug. 25.—The Government pier at the Jamestown Exposition will be completed and turned over to the Exposition Company September 4th. The ceremonies incident to the dedication of this stupendous engineering feat will take place at night, beginning at 8 o'clock, and will include one of the most beautiful pyrotechnic displays ever given in the United States.

Pain, the wizard of aerial lights, has been put in charge of the spectacular part of the ceremonies, and the detailed program shows an elaborate arrangement of special devices.

One of the features of the dedication will be a reproduction in the grand basin of the famous battle between the Merrimack and the Monitor, both ships being outlined in fire.

The water in grand basin will be transformed into liquid flashing light, while defying all known laws of nature flying fish and diving devils will gambol hither and thither through the waves. Another interesting device will be Fulton's old side-wheeler, the "Clermont."

While the set figures are being shown hundreds of fiery geysers throwing golden spray hundreds of feet into the air will burst up in various parts of the basin, and in more quiet places gardens of lilies will appear, the tropical flowers changing color every minute.

Perhaps the most striking effect will be that known as the "Spirit of the Falls." This will be represented by a draped figure of heroic size standing over the brink of an enormous water fall, with arms outstretched. As the falls gather force, a heavy spray rises in the whiteness of which the figure gradually disappears.

The government pier at the Exposition is composed of two wings over two thousand feet in length extending out into the waters of Hampton Roads immediately in front of the Auditorium. These wings or arms are connected at their outer end by a steel arch-bridge and the two arms inclosing over a million square feet of water surface, which has a depth of from ten to fifteen feet.

Over a mile of sea wall is utilized in the sides of the piers. The total cost was some $100,000, which is seen to be moderate when it is realized that 13,000 piles were driven into the harbor bottom, some 300,000 square yards of earth filled in around the inner walls, while over 400,000 square yards of earth were removed from the bottom of the basin.

To a North Carolina contractor belongs the credit for this magnificent piece of work.

One of the interesting features coincident with the Exposition will take place early next month when American and foreign aeronauts, under the auspices of the Aero Club of America will contest for The Scientific American's trophy. Exposition visitors who have had the good fortune to see Lincoln Beachy in his trim air craft sailing around over the big buildings, realize that this trial of models built to solve the problem of aerial navigation will be worth seeing.

To those who have witnessed one of Mr. Beachy's daily flights and the perfect ease with which he controls his vessel, its perfect response to rudder and propeller and ease of ascent or descent, it seems that this daring American has already solved the problem, but the ideas that are to be brought out for the first time by other American and foreign inventors in the forthcoming contest are awaited by the whole world with interest.

MAJOR J. W. SCOTT DEAD.

The End Came While He Was on the Train Between Greensboro and Sanford, His Home.

Sanford, Aug. 24.—Major John W. Scott, one of the most prominent and wealthy residents of Sanford, died this afternoon while a passenger on the Southern train from Greensboro to Sanford. He was about 33 years old. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Mr. S. V. Scott, of Sanford, and Dr. C. L. Scott, of Greensboro, and two daughters, Mrs. T. M. Cross and Mrs. D. E. McIver, of Sanford. The burial will take place at Buffalo church tomorrow.

Mr. Scott was a native of Wake county, but for a number of years had made his home at this place. He had long been identified with the industrial interests of Sanford and the surrounding community and had accumulated a large fortune which he had invested in Seaboard Air Line stocks, local banks, cotton mills and real estate.

He had been a great factor in the up-building of this section of North Carolina and achieved that success which comes only to men who are true to their convictions and ever ready to fight for what they believe to be right. Indeed, his broad knowledge of men and affairs in connection with his economy and industry has made success a habit of his life.

Major Scott had been at White Sulphur Springs, near Mount Airy, for several weeks for the benefit of his health. His condition had been serious and owing to his advanced age there was much fear for his recovery, and it was determined to remove him to Sanford that he might close his eyes at his own home. His strength, however, was unequal to the trip and he died en route.

Kansas May Lower Rates.

Topeka, Aug. 25.—Kansas may have a two-cent passenger rate within a few days.

The board of railroad commissioners on Tuesday will hold its first regular meeting since Gov. Hoch gave out a letter threatening to call a special session of the legislature to have a two-cent law passed unless the board acted at once.

FIREMEN RESCUE FAT MEN.

Wedge Between Bath Tub and Cot, He Alarms Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25.—Frightened hotel guests and cottagers on St. James place this morning turned in an alarm and summoned firemen to assist in rescuing Joseph Hendrickson, a corpulent citizen of Kensington, Pa., after the man had tumbled out of a bath room cot and was wedged between the tub and the couch so fast that he aroused the neighborhood by yelling for help.

Hendrickson arrived here late yesterday, but was so interested in Boardwalk sights that he failed to engage a room. At midnight he was compelled to take the cot in the bath room. During the night he rolled over and tumbled in the crack between the cot and the tub. After a twenty-minute struggle he decided that he needed help, and proceeded to let out the yell that startled the neighborhood.

Men in pajamas and women in lace-trimmed nighties turned out on the alarm, and one excitable boarder, who supposed the house was on fire, turned in the alarm. The firemen remained long enough to pry the imprisoned man out with hooks, and Hendrickson immediately engaged a doubled bed for the remainder of his stay.

COOKING EXHIBITION

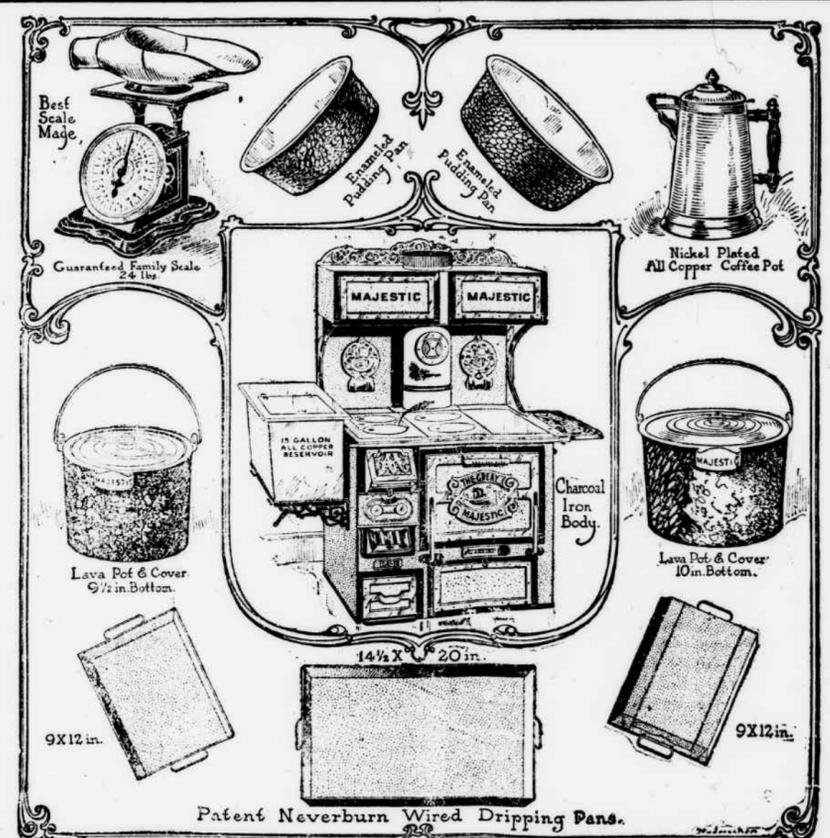

OF THE GREAT MAJESTIC MALLEABLE AND CHARCOAL IRON RANGE
One Week! AT OUR STORE SEPTEMBER 2-7, 1907 One Week!

FREE!
$7.50 SET OF WARE

With every Majestic Range sold during this Cooking Exhibition, we will give absolutely FREE one handsome set of ware as shown. This ware is worth $7.50 if it is worth a cent. It is the best that can be bought. We don't add $7.50 to the price of the range and tell you you are getting the ware free, but sell all the Majestic Ranges at the regular price. You get the ware free. Remember this is for exhibition week only. Ware will not be given after this week. This ware is on exhibition at our store, and must be seen to be appreciated.

Come in any day during the week. Make our store your headquarters. Have coffee and biscuits with us.

Come if you intend to buy or not; the information gained will serve you in the future.

FACTS ABOUT THE GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE

It is the only range in the world made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron. It has, beyond any question of a doubt, the largest and best reservoir.

It uses about half the fuel used on other ranges, and does better work by far.

The Majestic All Copper Nickel Reservoir heats the water quicker and hotter than any other. It is the only reservoir with a removable frame.

The Charcoal Iron Body of the Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a steel body.

Being made of a non-breakable material, there is practically no expense for repairing the Majestic.

As for baking, it is perfection, not only for a few months, but for all times to come.

A Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a cheap range, but it doesn't cost three times as much.

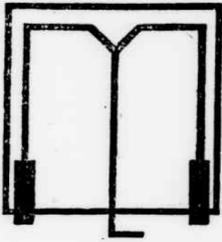

PROOF—We don't ask you to take our word for any of the above statements, but if you will call at our store, a man from the factory, where Majestic Ranges are made, will prove to your satisfaction that these are absolute facts, and will show you many more reasons why the Great Majestic Range is absolutely the best that money can buy.

Utility of Manure Spreader.

Bull Jersey in Farm Life.

While conducting an experiment station for some years, the writer kept a careful account of the value of the spreader over the old method of applying the manure and, without becoming technical, will sum up the results of the last five years' use of a spreader in a practical way.

What do we spread manure for? To see some farmers at work one would think that it was only to get the manure out of the way. Such farmers will let the manure collect over a winter's feeding and after the harvest will haul it out on some of the fields nearest the barns, where it is thrown in small piles or scattered in such a way that will give some spots too much while others will receive none at all.

The result will be that when a crop is planted or sown on the land there will be three kinds of crops grown. First, where there is no manure, the crop will indicate the poverty of the soil in general; where there was a fair amount of manure spread, there will be an increase in the crop, and where there were bunches, or heavy applications, there will be either an abnormal yield or none worth speaking of. In the case of plenty of rain, the former condition will exist, but in the case of a drought the excess of manure will increase the damage of lack of moisture.

Recent experiments in the application of manure have shown that we get more than the simple increase in bulk in the crops grown. They also increase the food content of the crops. The Minnesota station has found that timothy contained 2.3 per cent more protein than was found in an unmanured crop, and that in corn there was a gain of 60 per cent in protein content over the unmanured tracts. These experiments teach us the value of manures and in the values thus illustrated we should study the best means of application.

Experiments conducted by the writer show conclusively that six loads of manure (three-horse spreader loads) to the acre would make more increase in crops than would more loads. We also found that no man could spread six loads of manure on an acre of land by hand and cover all of the land. He could not spread it thin and evenly enough to cover the surface. Ten loads were required to cover an acre by hand.

Another thing learned was that the manure was worth $1.50 per load as that in the application with a spreader which spread twenty loads per day, there was saved on the three and two-thirds acres covered, thirteen loads of manure, or $18.50 per day. Hence a spreader costing $105 would be paid for in saving of the manure in a little over five days. Not only this, but the crops on the machine-spread tracts would be more uniform and better, not to mention the saving in labor.

Before the manure spreader was installed, on the station farm, we had to use the manure hauling job as a sort of punishment. Students were willing to do any other work but that. With the spreader in commission, the conditions were reversed: every student would rather haul manure than do anything else.

The advantage of the spreader is not confined to the increased surface covered, more even crop growing and saving in labor, but it places a farmer in a position to become independent of seasons. He may apply manure from day to day as accumulated and does not have to wait for any one crop to be removed. He can apply the manure to his pasture and meadow lands without causing the cattle to refuse to graze over them as in the case of hand application. Manure can be scattered in the meadows with no danger of its being raked up in the hay crops, so fine is the manure made in the application that there is no danger of its becoming a source of contamination.

The farmer can deposit each day in the spreader the accumulation of manure either from the barrow or the manure carrier and in so doing he not only saves an extra handling, but saves as well a great waste in plant food from weather and from other wastes that are sustained in the manure piles. At no time in manure of so great a value as on the day it is produced and the sooner it is applied to the soil the greater will be the benefit.

White Man and Negress Skip.

Winston-Salem, Aug. 24.—One of the most disgusting occurrences in the history of the Twin City is creating quite a little talk here now. Charles Self, a white man who had some property and ran two or three small grocery stores in various parts of the city, has disappeared from the city and, with him, according to report, Sella Tatum, a negress. They have been gone now more than a week and nothing has been heard from either one. Self's pretty young wife and his mother are disposing of their belongings preparatory to leaving the city at the earliest moment to escape the stigma incurred through the incident.

Self was arraigned at the last criminal term of Superior court for illegal relations with the negress, a large fleshy, dark mulatto. It was brought out in the evidence that the woman was running a store belonging to Self and that they were together quite often. Self's wife, however, believing him innocent, remained by his side during the trial and even appeared friendly to the negress, this causing a large number of the people to believe in the innocence of the man. The jury convicted him, however, but he appealed and gave bond. It was shortly after this that, after arranging his affairs so as to get as much cash together as possible, he skedaddled, taking with him his dusky paramour.

Self's stores have been taken in charge by Cromer Brothers, large debtors of the departed merchant.

Cat's Bite Kills Woman.

Long Branch, N. J., Aug. 25.—Mrs. Rachel D. Barry, widow of Amos Barry, who was bitten by a cat seven weeks ago at her Eatontown boulevard home, died today, a victim of hydrophobia. She was dying for eight hours. Her spasms were so severe that she had to be strapped in bed.

Mrs. Barry was 46 years old and the daughter of the late John Cullom, of Oxford, Pa. She leaves five children, a daughter and four sons.

Prof. Holt's Candidacy.

Wilmington Messenger, 25th.

The Greensboro Record expresses regret that Prof. Holt, of Oak Ridge school, should become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fifth district. Its remarks are very kindly and, in fact, very complimentary to this prominent North Carolina teacher. That paper seems to think, and we reckon that it is correct, that the professor has put himself up only to be knocked down. It looks like it is a "cut and dried affair" in the Fifth district. Had Professor Holt announced his candidacy earlier there might have been some chance for him; but coming out at this late day he is surely destined meet defeat. We regret this. It's true that it is none of our business whom the Democrats of the Fifth district nominate for Congress, and we would not be surprised if some one or more papers of that district would tell us so in their editorial columns; but, at the same time, we hate to see such a man as Prof. Holt sacrifice himself and undergo the humiliation of a defeat in what we believe, is his first effort in the field of politics. The Holt school is doing a wonderful work in the field of education. Prof. Holt is "the right man in the right place" as an instructor in that noted school. 'Tis a pity that he should impair his usefulness as an instructor by entering the field of politics. Even should he be successful and secure the nomination and, as a natural consequence, the election, would Prof. Holt do his state greater good or acquire greater reputation for himself as a representative in Congress than he has attained as one of the leading instructors of the state? Doesn't Prof. Holt make a great mistake—doesn't he do his state and himself an injury when he gives up the class-room of Oak Ridge Institute for the arena of politics? In all kindness and with perfect sincerity we put this question to Prof. Holt. He is doing so good work, a noble work in this state. Why give it up for doubtful political preference.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart, or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and book. ADAM NO MATCH FOR JOHN D.

Couldn't Catch Up With Oil King if He Had Saved $450 a Day Since Creation.

Without confusing his audience with a bewildering array of figures, Gov. A. B. Cummins, of Iowa, announced the other day in an address before the Chautauqua assembly at Plainfield, Ill., the result of a problem he has been working out.

"I understand Mr. Rockefeller is worth $1,000,000,000," Governor Cummins said. "No honest man could have saved such a sum in a lifetime. Had Adam started in on the $450-a-day schedule, worked week days and also Sundays, lived frugally and denied Eve a dress or bonnet of any kind, he would be on a nearly equal financial footing today with Rockefeller."

Governor Cummins placed the Chicago & Alton and the Chicago & Rock Island railroads in the same class with Mr. Rockefeller for mushroom business deals, declaring that the manner in which the stock of these roads was watered was a crime.

"Four years ago the capital stock of the Rock Island was $75,000,000," said Governor Cummins. "Since that time earnings have increased, but instead of giving the public the benefit of the profits the capital stock was watered until today it has reached the gigantic sum of $112,000,000. In the same manner Harriman has watered the Alton stock from $33,000,000 to $112,000,000."

"When we learn of such business tactics it does not take any great mental acumen to see that we must call a halt. Judge Landis has done just what was necessary. The fine of $29,240,000 is not out of proportion to the earnings of the company or the seriousness of the crime. It is too bad that it was no bigger."

Shaft Unveiling Postponed.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 22.—Lieut. Gov. J. Taylor Elyson, acting president of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, announced today that the unveiling of the monument on Jamestown island by the United States Government, will necessarily have to be postponed, the contractors giving notice that it will not be complete on September 11th, the day set for the exercises. Uncertainty as to when the shaft will be completed prevents the naming of a future day.

Their assertions that he was the brightest fellow on earth, and that no one could fool him, kept him in the game until he had lost $40.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—In this sermon the preacher shows the uplifted power and influence of a strong, spiritual character upon the lives and conduct of those with whom he may be associated. The text is Acts xvii, 22. "Then they were all of good cheer."

The prejudice against ministerial persons formerly held by sailors against ship was very bitter. Yet to-day in the scene of my text we see Paul the gospel missionary, overcoming the prejudice of the crew. Amid the Mediterranean euroclydon we see him winning their confidence to such an extent that he becomes practically the captain instead of the captive. After weeks of tossing about upon a treacherous sea, with all bearings lost, the sailors about turn to this little Jew and beg his advice as to what they should do. They say, "We will obey your orders; we will eat when you tell us to eat and cast off our anchor as when you tell us to cast them off."

Now, why did these sailors upon the Mediterranean corn ship have such faith in this evangelist? In the first place because they realized that there was a supernatural power about this strange man of God. They could not analyze his power. They could not tell theologically from whence it came. But they felt its power just the same, as we can feel the thrill of the electric current as soon as we place our fingers upon the handles of an electric battery. And the same of the world does not have to calculate at a theological seminary in order to learn the power of one who can touch with God. As soon as such a man comes in contact with a spirit of life he realizes the supernatural influence. The more worldly the man the more he is influenced by the supernatural. It is the more worldly the man the more he is influenced by the supernatural. It is the more worldly the man the more he is influenced by the supernatural.

During the Priest. The priest came to the hospital the next day. With a submissive prayer he knelt down upon the operating table. In a month he was cured of a woman. As he was about to get up he took out of his pocket three pieces of silver and with trembling hands offered them to the surgeon, saying, "Doctor, this is all the money I have. I will follow all the way from my home to you." But Dupuytren said, "Keep this man; keep him. Then he opened his money bag and took out a handful of gold and handed the napoleons into the hands of the priest and said: "Here is some money for your labor for him for the next years among your people." A few years later that great surgeon was still following, trusting Christian, the footsteps of that humble priest.

But there was still another reason why Paul exerted this marvelous influence over the sailors of the Alexandrian corn ship. He had a spirit filled life. Oh, yes! Every one who came in touch with him realized that. But he was also one who was faithful in pointing out a man's past mistakes. When the ship was tossing and tumbling about in the Mediterranean cyclone he practically said this: "I am a servant of the Lord Jesus Christ. I am a messenger of the Lord God Almighty. Men, last night one of God's angels came to me and said: 'Fear not, Paul. Thou must be brought before Caesar, and, lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee.' Yes, we are all going to be saved, every one of us." But stop. How did Paul introduce this statement which had come from God? He turned and pointed his finger at those trembling sailors and said: "Men, the reason you are in your present plight is because you would not heed my advice in the beginning. I told you not to loose from Crete. I told you we would get into difficulty if you did. But you wanted to hasten on and get to Phenice and spend the winter there in sin and carousal. You have made one mistake. Now will you make another?" And, my friend, you and I can never preach Jesus Christ aright unless we are first brave enough to point out to men the errors of their past life. We cannot teach men to come to Christ unless we, like Paul, are first faithful in warning men against the sinful acts of their bygone years.

history? I do not ask you if you are preaching Christ from a pulpit, but I ask whether your light is shining, so that men seeing your daily life realize that God is in you of a truth? Is it a spirit filled life which preaches the gentleness of Jesus Christ wherever you go? The sailors of that Alexandrian corn ship believed in Paul, because Paul's face, like Moses' face, after he had been upon Mount Sinai, was shining and radiating with the supernatural love of the Divine Teacher.

Brave in Counsel.

But there was still another reason why Paul exerted this marvelous influence over the sailors of the Alexandrian corn ship. He had a spirit filled life. Oh, yes! Every one who came in touch with him realized that. But he was also one who was faithful in pointing out a man's past mistakes. When the ship was tossing and tumbling about in the Mediterranean cyclone he practically said this: "I am a servant of the Lord Jesus Christ. I am a messenger of the Lord God Almighty. Men, last night one of God's angels came to me and said: 'Fear not, Paul. Thou must be brought before Caesar, and, lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee.' Yes, we are all going to be saved, every one of us." But stop. How did Paul introduce this statement which had come from God? He turned and pointed his finger at those trembling sailors and said: "Men, the reason you are in your present plight is because you would not heed my advice in the beginning. I told you not to loose from Crete. I told you we would get into difficulty if you did. But you wanted to hasten on and get to Phenice and spend the winter there in sin and carousal. You have made one mistake. Now will you make another?" And, my friend, you and I can never preach Jesus Christ aright unless we are first brave enough to point out to men the errors of their past life. We cannot teach men to come to Christ unless we, like Paul, are first faithful in warning men against the sinful acts of their bygone years.

It does not take very much grace to go and compliment a man on his virtues and praise him when he is doing right. But it takes lots of grit to put your finger upon the weaknesses of a man's life and tell him when he is doing wrong. It takes lots of grit for a Nathan to stand up and say to King David, "Thou art a libertine and a murderer." It takes lots of grit for the members of a privy council of King Solomon to say to the young prince Rehoboam: "Thou art wrong. Comply with the requests of the people, and they will serve thee." And when they said it they knew that their advice would cost them their official positions. It takes lots of grit for a young preacher like Henry Ward Beecher to be at the head of a church in Indianapolis, where most of its members are antagonistic to the abolitionist movement, and stand up and defy a whole community and say, "The slave ought to be free." It takes lots of grit for a young clerk, when he is asked to do something dishonest, to say to his employer: "No, sir, I will not do it, because it is wrong." It takes lots of grit for a young girl who loves a young man devotedly to say to that young man: "Harry, I love you. I love you with all my heart, and yet if you are not true to your better self, and if you do not turn your back upon your evil associates, I must turn my back upon you." In other words, it takes lots of grit to come to your friends and neighbors and place your finger upon the weak spot of their mental, moral and spiritual life and say: "Here, you must change. In order to do right for the future you must rectify this wrong of the past." Are you willing as a friend to point out to your friends the weaknesses of their lives, as Paul warned the sailors of the Alexandrian corn ship?

A Story of Edward Livingston.

For my own part I can think of no greater joy than that which would come to us if we were to go to those we love to warn them of their sins and weaknesses, which are threatening to destroy them. There is a beautiful story told about the great Edward Livingston. Perhaps he was the greatest of all the great men who have borne that family name. But few men have been greater from a worldly standpoint than he. He was representative in congress, mayor of New York city, United States senator from Louisiana, secretary of state and minister to France. One day in his old age a friend said to him, "Senator, what was the supreme moment of your life?" Without a moment's hesitation, he replied: "Some years ago that supreme moment came when I was delivering an address at the dedication of the Masonic temple at New Orleans. I was speaking upon the duty of man to his fellow man. Among other things I said: 'My brethren, have you searched your hearts? Do you find any lurking animosity against a brother? Have you the felicity never to have cherished or are you so happy as to have banished all envy at his prosperity, all malicious joy at his misfortunes? If you find this is the result of your scrutiny, enter with confidence the sanctuary of union. But if the examination discovers either ranking jealousy or hatred long concealed, or any unkindness or offensive pride, I entreat you, defile not the altar of friendship with your unhalloved offering, but in the language of Scripture, "First be reconciled to thy brother and then come and offer thy gift." As a result of that plea, two brothers whom we all knew, who had been estranged from each other for years, arose and rushed toward each other and with mutual sobs flung themselves into one another's arms." Do you wonder that Edward Livingston looked upon that victory as the supreme moment of his life? With the firm, gentle touch of a friend he placed his finger upon the weak spots of two brothers' lives and said: "Here, you must change. Here, you must be purified. Here, you must be true to your nobler and better selves." Cannot we do thus toward those who come in contact with us in life? Shall we not cease to make it our first concern to please our friends and try rather to benefit them? Shall we not be true to those who are about us by warning them of the mistakes of their past lives, as Paul did with the sailors of the Alexandrian corn ship when he said, "Sirs, ye should have hearkened unto me and not have loosed from Crete and to have gained this harm and loss."

A Gospel to Live By.

But there was still another reason why Paul captured the minds and the hearts of the sailors of this Alexandrian corn ship. Paul was a man of gospel visions, but he was more than that. He was a man of fine Christian common sense. He knew that the religion which was not fitted for a practical, everyday, commonplace life was no religion at all. He believed in a gospel to live by, but he also believed in that practical gospel so firmly that he tried to get the men to care for their physical bodies and to look after their physical strength.

Here, for instance, is a mother. She has four or five children. Scarlet fever, one of the most dreaded of all nursery diseases, enters her home. First one child comes down, then another and another and another. This mother is not strong at her best, but she is so devoted to those children that she never sleeps outside of the sickroom. She never undresses except to take her bath. For weeks or even months she is up night and day. Her hand must give the medicine. Her hand must cover up the invalids. The doctors and the friends see her breaking down. They say: "Mother, you must stop. You must take your rest. Other nurses can sit up during the night. You will break down." "No, no," she answers. "No one must nurse my children but myself." After awhile she pulls her last baby through. Then she falls in a dead faint. They dress her and put her to bed, but it is too late. The poor weak pulse flutters and stops. The mother is dead. "She is a martyr to her children," the neighbors say. Is she a martyr? No, emphatically no. She died because she did not have any common sense. Other nurses could have taken her place while she rested. Other nurses could have taken her place while she ate. Now that she is dead no one else can take that mother's place. Women, beware! Paul is bidding you look after your health. Better join Paul for a little while in the cabin of that Alexandrian corn ship and eat your bread and look after your physical strength. Your children need you in the years to come even more than they need you now.

Here is a young minister just called to a great church. He is a very conscientious man and believes that he must do all the work that comes to his hand. He calls upon the rich and the poor alike. He works far into the night over his sermons. He goes to this meeting and to that and to this funeral and that funeral. He is like a horse running at a mad rate until his flanks are bathed with foam. After awhile he drops in his tracks. "Poor fellow!" people say. "He died a martyr to his work." Oh, no, not that. God did not call that young minister to break himself down. God does not expect any one man to do the work of ten men. Better hold up Paul in the Alexandrian corn ship. God wants you to care for your physical strength in order to be able to do his work well. If Paul could afford to care for his body, you can afford to care for yours.

He Told the Truth.

But there was another reason why Paul gripped the sailors of the Alexandrian corn ship. He did not deceive those sailors in reference to their rescue. He did not say: "Now, men, just follow me, and trust in me, and all will go well. I will give you plenty to eat and a smooth sea and a quiet voyage." Nay, that was not Paul's way. He said, "Men, put your trust in Christ. You are to have a hard battle ahead. You think the seas are rough now, but they are going to be far rougher. They are going to batter us about until we become a helpless derelict. Then they will fling us upon the rocks, and this great ship is to be knocked into kindling wood. But out of the struggle and the storm God is going to bring us all safely to land. Now, men, if you trust God you must be prepared to meet this struggle." Thus Paul spoke. And thus all gospel evangelists should speak when they are pleading with men and women to accept Jesus Christ.

You cannot make a good Christian unless you are willing to battle with storm for Christ and struggle against almost insurmountable difficulties. The life of Christian ease is always the life of failure. The life of self sacrificing struggle for Jesus is always the life of spiritual success. It is said that the greatest artistic genius England ever produced was a young man named Hawkins. He was, like Thomas Chatterton, a precocious marvel. When he was twenty years of age, he was heralded as "the coming Michael Angelo." But the trouble with young Hawkins was that he was never willing to make the sacrifices necessary for his success in art. On one occasion he was asked by Mr. Ackers, a prominent member of the British parliament, to make a pleasure journey with him and some friends to Paris. "I cannot," he replied. "I have to finish a picture." "How much do you expect to get for that picture after it is finished?" asked Mr. Ackers. "Fifty pounds." "I will give you that much for it now." With that Mr. Ackers lifted his foot and drove it through the canvas, saying, "Now, Hawkins, drop the old picture and spend your £50 and let us have some fun." So it is with all men who are living the easy life. Like the prodigy Hawkins, their lives are doomed to failure. So it is with the Christian life. We must battle with storm. We must sacrifice. We must give up for Jesus, or else Jesus cannot save us and bring us to the higher Christian life.

But there is one more lesson I want to draw from this Mediterranean shipwreck in reference to the Christian life, and then I am done. Paul did not say to those tossing, trembling seamen, "One-half of this crew shall be saved if ye abide by the ship." He did not say, "Three-fourths or five-eighths or nine-tenths of this crew shall be saved if ye abide by the ship." Ah, no! Some of the men and women would have grumbled had he said that. They would have answered: "Why are some of us saved and not all?" But Paul said, "The angelic messenger said to me, 'Lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee.'" So I come to you today and say: "Men and women and children, in the name of Jesus Christ you can all be saved through his blood if you will only cling to the cross of Jesus Christ and live. Will you accept that invitation? Will you be saved by that cross? All! Yes, all! Will you believe God and accept him now?" And, oh, if you will only believe this and accept Christ, what a glorious time it will be when we are landed upon the other shore! I suppose that that great Alexandrian corn ship went to pieces upon the island of Malta the inhabitants of that island were down there upon the beach to help the struggling men and women to land. Cannot you see them plunging into the surf to drag the poor fellows out? When the time of our landing upon the celestial shore comes, cannot you see our dear ones rushing into the river of death to drag us out? Oh, yes; they will come so near when the surges of death are rolling over us that methinks their celestial hands will almost touch our dying pillows. Aye, can you not see those hands reaching out now? Can you not see them beckoning? Will you not accept this invitation for that heavenly remission awaiting us all? Yes, for all who will be saved through the atoning blood of Jesus Christ! Listen. Let me read: "And so it came to pass that they escaped all safe to land." Father, mother, brother, sister, child, is that to be the record of your family's celestial advent?

The Original Wagner Singer.

Speaking of Josef Tichatschek, whose one hundredth birthday was celebrated in musical circles July 11, a Prague paper says: "He was the original Wagner singer. He was the one who laid the foundation for Wagner's great triumphs. As the name indicates, he was a Bohemian, born in 1807, the son of poor weavers at Weckelsdorf. He began his career as a chorus boy in the Benedictine cloister near his home, and, like many other great singers, he studied medicine, but deserted the Vienna university to become a member of the Royal Opera. In 1838 he went to Dresden, where he won his laurels and where he remained in active service for thirty-two years. In October, 1842, the first performance of 'Rienzi' took place at Dresden. Wagner was a struggling musician in Paris at the time, and the performance won for him the directorship of the Dresden Opera. From that day forward there was a brotherly friendship between the master and the singer, which lasted until Wagner died."

A Long Search.

One of the portraits of Revolutionary heroes which hang in Independence hall, Philadelphia, had up to a short time ago been unidentified. One after another all the other pictures were correctly named and placed, but this face hung in a place of honor, unknown.

For six years a committee of Daughters of the Revolution have worked, endeavoring to penetrate the mystery of this portrait, and at last their endeavors have been successful. Through an engraving made in 1810 the picture has been placed and its subject identified as Captain William Smith of South Carolina. Captain Smith's name does not occur often in the history of the war. He was only eighteen years old when the British invaded South Carolina. But boy as he was, he organized a company and, with the help of a Georgia troop, successfully attacked an English garrison. His picture was painted by James Sharpless and has hung these many years, keeping its secret in the faces of the inquiring or indifferent public.

Sir Samuel Montagu.

In connection with the announcement that Sir Samuel Montagu, Bart., has been created a peer of the realm by the king of England a Berlin paper made the statement that the new lord was "a Jew in name only." To this contention the Zionist organ at Cologne takes exception and says: "Sir Samuel, who is now Lord Stoneman, is not only a consistent Jew, but the acknowledged leader of the Orthodox party in his country. He is chairman of the Russo-Jewish committee and the chief officer of the Federation of Minor Synagogues. He has always taken a keen interest in Jewish communal affairs, as does his son, the Hon. Louis S. Montagu, whose wife was the daughter of the late Colonel Goldsmid. A younger son is a member of parliament." The other Jewish members of the house of lords are Lord Rothschild and Lord Wandsworth.

Ex-Governor Aycock has been retained to appear for Messrs. Oakley and Rippey.

Leaksville Gazette: There is a rumor, which has the appearance of being something more than gossip, that the officials of the N. & W. Railway are figuring upon building a branch road from Ridgeway, Va., to Spray. The distance is about eleven miles and the grade will be an easy one. This branch would greatly benefit the N. & W., and would also be of immense importance to Leaksville and Spray.

Graham Tribune, 21th: Mrs. Daniel Keck, living near Alamance Battle Ground, died this morning. She leaves a husband and several grown children.

—Mrs. Mary Wrenn, wife of Henry Wrenn, died yesterday at her home in Chatham county. She leaves a husband and four children. She was a sister of Rev. David Sampson and A. J. Marshburn, of Graham. The funeral was held this afternoon, the burial being at Plainfield.

ADJUDGED BANKRUPT.

Judge Boyd Renders an Opinion in an Important Suit.

An opinion was filed late Saturday afternoon by Judge Jas. E. Boyd in the U. S. District Court, in the celebrated case of the Toxaway Hotel Company. This was a proceeding brought by certain creditors to have the company adjudged bankrupt, which was resisted by the company on the ground that a hotel company under the bankrupt act could not be so adjudged. In the opinion Judge Boyd holds that the hotel company is liable and is adjudged bankrupt. This company which kept the Toxaway, Franklin, Sapphire and Fairfield hotels, in the "Sapphire Country" of Western North Carolina, went out of business in 1906, indebted to the extent of several thousand dollars to produce merchants, grocers, dealers in liquor, and general merchandise merchants. The case is a very important one and the opinion of Judge Boyd is a matter of much interest. It is likely that the company will take an appeal from his decision.
