The marriage of Capt. F. P. Hobgood, Jr., and Miss Lucy McGee Glenn takes place this afternoon at 5 o'clock
at the first Presbyterian church.

Mr. C. E. Hudson, manager of the Wakefield Hardware Company's store
on South Elm street, is seriously ill at his home on North Forbis street.

Mr. O. D. Boycott has returned from High Falls, where he has just completed
some extensive construction work
for the High Falls Manufacturing Company.

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Glenn left Saturday morning for Lenoir, N. C., where Rev. Mr. Glenn will conduct a revival. From Lenoir he will go to Asheville to hold a meeting.

you get a bargain.

J. T. RANKIN & Co.

Messrs. J. F. Jordan and J. M. Hendrix returned Saturday from Manchester, where they spent several days fox hunting. They found "game" plentiful and enjoyed a period of rare sport.

Deputy Sheriff W. J. Weatherly has been on the sick list for several days,
but is improving slowly. It is the first time his children—and they are all grown—have ever seen him sick enough to be in bed.

MULE FOR SALE—I want to sell a good four-year-old mule that is broken
to work every way except with single line. She is a good sized mare, sound and gentle.

The Greensboro public library has received seventy additional volumes of Confederate literature. It is an addition of which any library might well be proud, and will be of the greatest value to many students of Southern history.

Come to the fair next week and see
J. T. Rankin & Co. for shoes, hats, caps, underwear, shirts, hosiery, cotton
flannels, pant goods, outtings, cheviots, glugghams, percales, suitings, wool flannels, dress goods. We will save you money.

Mr. J. W. Merritt returned last week from the north, where he spent a month on the clothing market selecting goods for his firm, the Merritt-Johnson Company, which is now showing a magnificent line of fall and winter goods.

Mr. H. W. Nash, who has been keeping books for Ellis, Stone & Co. for some time, resigned last week to become an assistant to his brother, Mr.
M. W. Nash, manager of the Greene-boro Loan and Trust Company's insurance department.

Rev. G. H. Detwiler, D. D., pastor
of West Market M. E. church, who has been sick the past three weeks, is gradually regaining his health and strength. He is able to sit up a few hours each day, and his friends hope to see him out soon.

Over twenty candidates were initiated into the mysteries of Macabreism
at the regular review Friday evening, increasing the membership of Greensboro tent, No. 8, to more than one hundred. State Commander J. E.
Turner, of Raleigh, attended the review.

Policeman Jeffreys, who has been suffering from Policeman Ridge since the latter became ill several weeks ago,
will give up the work on the 15th, as his health is seriously affected by night
work. Mr. Jeffreys was a regular member of the force for several years, but was compelled by reason of his health
to resign a year or so ago.

Capt. Jas. E. Clark, a prominent farmer and business man of Washington,
has purchased a site here for a nice house which he expects to occupy the greater portion of each year. Mr. R.
L. Walker, of Milton, will also become a citizen of Greensboro soon. He has purchased a lot on North Park drive
and intends to erect a handsome residence thereon.

Mr. Lacy D. Hines, who went to Lynchburg a few months ago to manage a machine shop and roll grinding establishment which is owned jointly by him and Mr. L. M. Clymer, of this city, accidentally lost a portion of his left thumb yesterday while at work.
An edged tool which he was using broke and sliced off nearly an inch of the thumb, including a portion of the bone.

WHITNEY POWER MAY COME.

Negotiations Pending Which May Result in Untold Benefit to Greensboro—Local Business Men Visit the Great Plant on the Yadkin.

Greensboro received a visit Thursday from a distinguished party of gentlemen and one which may result in great benefit to the city. Representatives of the Whitney Power Company were here looking over the field, with a view to bringing their electrical power to this place. Those in the party were George I. Whitney, of Pittsburg, president of the company;
Charles Staley, also of Pittsburg; J. J.
Kennedy, chief engineer; John S. Henderson, of Salisbury, counsel and local manager; T. A. Gillespie, of New York, contractor, and C. W. Smith, superintendent of quarries.

The principal object of the visitors
was to look over the Cone mills here,
which they did in company with Mr.
Cesar Cone. They were much pleased with these mills, and it is practically certain that if they can secure a contract to supply them with what power
they use they will come to Greensboro.

The total amount of power used by the manufacturing industries of Greene-boro is approximately 10,000 horsepower. The White Oak, the Revolution and the Proximity mills use close to 6,000, and so it can be readily seen that their action in the matter will have a very great bearing on the question.

Business men here say that the coming of this power company to Greene-boro would mark a new era in the development of her manufacturing industries. The use of electrical power in a factory does away with the necessity of a steam equipment, and is a very material saving in the initial cost of such a plant. The difficulty in the way of the Cones using the Whitney power is that they have their steam power and equipment, of a very costly character, already installed, and to make a satisfactory disposal of this would be a difficult problem, still some-way may be found to reach a solution of the matter.

The Whitney party went from here
to High Point, where they had a conference with the manufacturing interests there. They are figuring on delivering their power at Winston and are already making contracts in Salisbury.
An air line from Whitney to Greene-boro is less than fifty miles, but if the line is built it will probably come by way of Salisbury, Lexington, Thomas-ville and High Point, which is a total of about seventy-five miles.

On Friday a number of Greensboro men visited Whitney, leaving here on an early train conveying a large party of English cotton spinners who are in this country on a tour of inspection.
The visitors, including a delegation
from High Point and the foreign guests were handsomely entertained at the Whitney company's club house, "Fort Finley," and spent a delightful day
viewing the wonderful developments of that section. Those who went from Greensboro were Messrs. C. D. Benbow,
M. W. Thompson, H. Sternberger, G.
S. Bradshaw, L. J. Brandt, J. S. Kuy-
kendall, O. C. Wyson, C. M. Vanstory, J. W. Scott and John S. Cunningham.

High Point was well represented by a committee composed of Messrs. J.
Elwood Cox, J. E. Kirkman, E. A.
Benoni, F. M. Pickett and W. T.
Parker, from the Manufacturers' Club,
who were there with Greensboro's
committee and who are equally enthusiastic over the prospects for their industrial plants. It is believed by both committees that High Point and Greensboro will in the near future be able to get a great impetus from the power which will be furnished from that place and by that company.

It is figured that the Whitney plant
will not be completed before the 1st day of July of next year when it will be in a position to furnish Greensboro
all the power that may be needed at figures which will enable the city and her industrial plants to save a large percent of what is now being expended.

Already the Whitney Company has expended about five million in the equipment of the colossal plant. There is no estimating what this great concern may be worth to this immediate section of North Carolina.

Greensboro's committee speak in the highest terms of the cordiality and hospitality of the reception accorded to them and are not less loud in their praise of the wonderful plant which the Whitney Company is building for the development of piedmont North Carolina.

The company owns eleven thousand acres on either side of the Yadkin river and is building a canal more than four miles in length. This canal will be of sufficient width and depth to float the largest lake and river steamers of this country. The dam is a wonderful piece of work. The supply of water is inexhaustible. It is a great undertaking, but every detail has been studied and figured with the utmost care and accuracy. Those who have seen it as well as those who have their money in it have implicit faith in a great future for it.

Opera House Attractions for Next Week.

Manager C. T. Fuller has prepared a theatrical treat for the hundreds and thousands of visitors who will throng Greensboro next week. He has booked high class attractions for every night,
selecting the same with a view to pleasing popular tastes.

Monday and Tuesday nights "Mr.
Bluebeard," a charming musical comedy, will be staged. On Wednesday night "The Tourists," another musical comedy that has found favor the country over, will be presented by an exceptionally strong company. Thursday night Miss Florence Davis will appear here in her new play that has created such a sensation. For Friday night another standard attraction that has made good everywhere, "On the Bridge at Midnight," has been secured. A delicious morsel in the nature of a comic opera is scheduled for Saturday night,
"Peggy from Paris," with Miss Helen Brown in the leading role. All these attractions will be welcomed by the theatre-going public, and in addition will serve to entertain the city's guests who will be here in such numbers. A week of continuous pleasure is in store
everyone who may come.

Another Aged Citizen Dies.

Death has removed another aged citizen of Greensboro, Mr. James T.
Carson, the end coming Monday night at 10:30. Just a week had elapsed since the death of his wife.

Mr. Carson was eighty years old. He is survived by his only daughter, Miss Mary Carson. Death was caused by a complication of diseases incident to age. For several years he had been gradually declining, and in recent weeks unable to leave his bed.

The deceased enjoyed the fullest measure of esteem on the part of those who knew him longest and best. He was a devout christian, and practiced the principles he professed. For many long years he was a ruling elder in the First Presbyterian church, and his funeral will take place from the church
this morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Melton Clark. The Masonic order, of which Mr. Carson was a member, will have charge of the burial service at Greene Hill cemetery.

An honest, upright, God-fearing and God-loving man has gone to his eternal reward.

Prizes Awarded.

Mrs. L. B. Jeter and Miss Ethel Fin-lator, representing the civic league,
last week made the awards to the diminutive young ladies who this summer so assiduously cultivated the flower plants along the sidewalk on the north side of the public library. Last spring
the league offered prizes for the cultivation of these plants, believing that the example would be beneficial in a general way, and the children of the neighborhood responded with faithful and commendable work that continued
throughout the summer. The prizes,
in cash, were awarded as follows:
First prize, Lucile Barber; second,
Adelaide VanNoppen; third, Madeline Keeling; fourth, Rhea VanNoppen;
fifth, Mary Sherwood; sixth, Mabel Wyche; seventh, Gertrude Barber;
eighth, Julia Turner.

Daughters of the Confederacy Meet.

The tenth annual meeting of the North Carolina Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy opened here last night with a brilliant reception given by Mrs. R. F. Dalton, president of Guilford chapter, at her spacious home on West Sycamore street.
Nearly one hundred and fifty of the states most prominent women are in attendance and they are being handsomely entertained in Greensboro's hospitable homes. In addition to the business that must be transacted there is much of a social nature to interest
the charming visitors, and their time to the closing session Friday will be fully occupied.

Bond Issue Approved.

Little interest was shown in the election yesterday to determine whether or not the city should issue bonds to cancel its floating indebtedness of $125,000.
Out of a total registration of 518 there were but 347 votes cast, and of those only 8 were against the proposition.
As 260 votes were necessary to carry the issue, the actual majority is 79.

We have a heavy two-horse wagon,
built for lumber wagon. Will sell at a bargain.

EVERYTHING IS IN READINESS.

Arrangements Completed for the Big Central Carolina Fair Next Week.

Secretary Daniel announces that everything is in readiness for the big Central Carolina fair next week, and from what has been accomplished the greatest fair ever held in this section is assured. The entries in all departments, with the possible exception of fruit, will be larger than ever before,
while the special features and racing events are far beyond those of former years. The railroads have granted rates that will add materially to the average attendance.

Wednesday, Bryan Day, will doubtless surpass all others in point of attendance, as Mr. Bryan's presence will attract men from all over the state.
His speech will be of a non-partisan
nature but a discussion of public affairs
that thinking men will want to hear.
The banquet to be given in his honor
Wednesday night will afford him an opportunity for a political deliverance.
Mr. Bryan will be entertained while here by Hon. A. L. Brooks.

Thursday is everybody's day. The racing, the free attractions, the music,
and the marshal's ball at night and other features, will afford ample pleasure for everyone.

Friday, Greensboro Day, will see a repetition of all the special features, besides the big tournament.

Numerous social events and exceptional theatrical attractions will afford
our people and their guests an abundance of diversions for every night of the week. Come along and visit the best city in the state and the best fair in the state.

Three Sites Offered.

Nine of the fourteen members of the board of trustees of the Stonewall Jackson Manual Training and Industrial School were present at a meeting of that body held here last night, called primarily to adopt a constitution and bylaws, elect a superintendent and select a site for the institution. The present chairman, Mr. J. P. Cook, of Concord, and secretary Hubert A. Royster, of Raleigh, were continued in office
until a further meeting. The treasurer,
Mr. Cesar Cone, was directed to deposit the state appropriation of $5,000
and all subscriptions and contributions in a Greensboro bank. Concord, Statesville and Greensboro submitted offers of sites, but some of them were not quite definite enough to suit the board and the matter was left open for the time being. It is hoped that offers will come from other places, as the board wishes to do the best it can with the means at its disposal. It is not likely that a site will be chosen before the latter part of the year.

Blockade Still Captured Near Town.

A blockade still of seventy-five gallons capacity was captured by U. S.
Marshal Millikan and a force of deputies Saturday afternoon about a mile east of the Busick siding, a few miles north of the city, and the operator, a young man named Brewer, was captured, along with several gallons of fresh tanglefoot. The owner of the still,
who is known to the officers, escaped
after a long chase. Frank Bartini, owner of the land where the still was found, was also arrested. He had some whiskey and a lot of meal stored in his house, but it is probable that he was unaware that the presence of such things made him liable, as he is a foreigner. The case is now docketed in Federal court.

Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson Friday Night.

On Friday night at the Smith Memorial Building the first of a series of entertainments for the benefit of the Young Women's Christian Association will be given. The attraction for that night will be in the form of a lecture delivered by Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac.
Captain Hobson is widely known as a speaker and those who take advantage of the opportunity and hear him on this occasion will no doubt be well pleased with their venture. As stated above the lecture will be for the benefit of the local Y. W. C. A., and the members of this organization are selling season tickets for the full course.

Salisbury special to Charlotte Observer: Supt. I. C. Griffin, of the Salisbury graded schools, is too modest to tell it, but his speller, in which Mr.
Thomas Roswell Foust, of Greensboro,
had a hand, and which was adopted by the state board of education, has had phenomenal sales, surpassing all expectations. A third partner in this work was Miss Edna McCubbins, of Salisbury, and the three put a work out that was a great credit to them,
and it gives the eternal negative to the contention that poverty is the patri-mony of the muses and schoolteachers, the unluckiest of people. The sales flatter every hand in the big work.

Marriage Announcement.

Marriage invitations reading as follows have just been issued: "Mr. and Mrs. John Eli McKnight request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Mary Deleusa, to Mr.
Joseph S. Phipps, on Tuesday, October
twenty-second at twelve o'clock, noon,
at Buffalo Presbyterian church."

This announcement will be read with much interest, as both of the young people are well known in and around Greensboro. Miss McKnight is a young lady possessed of many attractive qualities, while Mr. Phipps is a well known young business man of this city, being connected with the Dixie Real Estate Company and the North State Mutual Insurance company.

Place Your Exhibits Early.

Exhibits for the main building at the fair should be placed not later than Monday noon of next week, so everything can be in readiness for the opening Tuesday morning. The fairgrounds will be open Friday and Saturday for the reception of exhibits, and it will be a great favor to the management if deliveries are made those days, so as to minimize the rush of Monday. The best of care will be taken of everything placed on exhibition, as watchmen go on duty Friday.

LOCAL NEWS.

Mr. J. D. Bacon, who has been superintending a cotton mill at Lenoir for some time but resigned on account of impairment of health, has removed with his family to Greensboro.

When Mr. E. D. Golden opened his store on East Market street one morning last week he found that the place had been entered during the night and a thief had stolen a small savings bank containing about $7. Nothing else was taken, so far as is known.

WANTED FOR THE U.S. ARMY: Able-bodied, unmarried men, between the ages of 21 and 35, citizens of the United States, of good character and temperate habits, who can speak, read and write English. For information, apply to Recruiting Office, 330 1/2 South Elm street, Greensboro, N. C. 52x.

Jim Wilson, a small white boy of High Point, was brought here Thursday afternoon by Policeman Meyers and committed to jail to await the next term of Guilford Superior court to answer the charge of larceny. A High Point magistrate gave him a hearing and bound him over in a $50 bond, which he was unable to give.

Our Church Record: Mrs. T. D. Hardin, near Greensboro, had a painful experience last week. A small spider bit her on the hand, and it was so poisonous that in fifteen minutes she was in convulsions. Dr. Long was hastily summoned and came and remained until she became better. The convulsions continued at intervals for about six hours.

Mr. W. S. Andrews, formerly superintendent of the Danville division of the Southern, with headquarters in Greensboro, and who resigned to become assistant to the general manager of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway, has recently been promoted to the position of general superintendent of transportation of that company.

Mr. George Fawcett, of Mt. Airy, was in the city last Wednesday afternoon enroute home. He was accompanied by his bride, who was Miss Ellen Brower, daughter of ex-Congressman John W. Brower, formerly of Mt. Airy, but who has been a resident of Indian Territory for some time. Mr. Fawcett is a brother of Mrs. C. W. Banner, of this city.

Stanley Enterprise: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown went to Greensboro last week for the purpose of placing Mr. Brown under Dr. Long for a course of electrical treatment for paralysis. Mr. Brown's condition has improved somewhat during the past two months, and it is with sincere hopes that he will recover use of his afflicted limbs that his friends await news of the results of the treatment.

Roxboro Courier: Miss Mattie Dickens left last Monday morning for Greensboro where she will spend a few days visiting friends, after which she will be joined by her mother, and together they will go to Atlanta, Texas, where they will spend the winter with Mrs. R. J. Daniel, who is a daughter of Mrs. Dickens. They were accompanied on their long journey by Mr. Daniel's little girl who has been spending the summer here.

Burlington News: Mr. Wm. W. Coble and Miss Lillie E. Shoffner were happily united in the bonds of matrimony at the Reformed parsonage here at high noon, October 2nd, by the bridegroom's former schoolmate, Rev. J. D. Andrew. Mr. Coble is a son of the late Mr. Austin Coble. He is an excellent young farmer and resides at the old Coble homestead near the Alliance Battle Ground. Miss Shoffner is the daughter of Mr. Martin Shoffner, who also resides near the Battle Ground and is a young lady of splendid qualities.

Panama Canal—Erie Canal. Machinery is digging the Panama Canal a thousand times quicker than the shovel dug the Erie.

Machinery produces the L. & M. Paint at 50 times less cost for labor, than if made by hand.

The L. & M. gives the best job in the world, because L. & M. Zinc hardens L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. Paint wear like iron for 10 to 15 years.

It only requires 4 gallons of this celebrated paint and 3 gallons of Linseed Oil at 60 cts per gallon, to paint a moderate sized house.

If any defect exists in L. & M. Paint, will repaint house for nothing.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION MEETS.

Credit-Rating System to be Devised by Special Committee—Other Important Matters Considered.

A well-attended meeting of the Merchants' Association of Greensboro was held in the rooms of the chamber of commerce Thursday night. President H. C. Huntley presided. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by Secretary Charles R. Brockman, the secretary read a report of a trip to Richmond, which he made some days ago for the purpose of studying the methods of the Merchants' Association of Richmond, and obtained much useful information, particularly as to the rating system in force there.

After hearing this report a discussion of the adoption of some kind of credit-rating system for the retail merchants of Greensboro was had. The matter was freely entered into by many of the members and it was finally decided to leave the details of the plan to a special committee composed of H. C. Huntley, J. M. Hendrix, R. C. Bernau, H. W. Clendennin, C. H. McKnight, J. W. Scott, S. M. Bumpass, R. E. Tobin and C. C. Fordham.

The next matter that received consideration was that of refunding railroad fares to out-of-town customers. After discussion it was decided to refund no more fares except on such occasions as fair week, Fourth of July and other big occasions.

After this the matter of securing new members for the association was presented and a membership committee of three was appointed to look after this matter. The committee appointed consists of J. M. Hendrix, C. H. McKnight and Harry Donnell. It was further decided that no entrance fees for new members would be charged between now and the first of November.

The proposed fire insurance company, which is to be gotten up under the auspices of the retail merchants of the state, received the attention of the meeting. It was decided wise to leave the matter entirely in the hands of the present committee, which consists of R. C. Bernau, C. H. McKnight, J. M. Hendrix and H. C. Huntley.

Daughters of the Revolution Adjourn to Meet at Morganton Next Year.

The seventh annual congress of the North Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution, which convened in Winston-Salem last week, adjourned Thursday afternoon after electing officers for the ensuing year and selecting a place for the next meeting. The congress will be held in Morganton, the cordial invitation of the retiring regent, Mrs. Geo. Phifer Erwin, having been unanimously accepted.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Regent—Mrs. John Van Landingham, of Charlotte.

Vice Regent—Mrs. William N. Reynolds, of Winston-Salem.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Lucy Moss, of Greensboro.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. A. L. Smith, of Charlotte.

Treasurer—Mrs. H. D. Blake, of Greensboro.

Historian—Mrs. James P. Moore, of Salisbury.

Chaplain—Mrs. D. F. Cannon, of Salisbury.

Honorary Chaplain—Mrs. Banner, of Waynesville.

Retail Credit Company's Offices Opened.

The Retail Credit Company, which recently decided to open offices in Greensboro, has leased quarters in the City National Bank building, from which the business in this section of the South will be conducted. Mr. George A. Bland, manager of the Southern department, with headquarters in Atlanta, was here last week superintending the opening of the Greensboro branch. Four capable assistants from the Atlanta office are already at work here.

The Retail Credit Company is largely engaged in furnishing credit reports to life insurance companies, and it was on account of Greensboro's prominence as an insurance center that this city was selected as the location of the new office.

The officers of the Greensboro Life Insurance Company were instrumental in securing this new enterprise for Greensboro. It is of interest to note that, with the exception of Atlanta, Greensboro is the only place in the South in which this company maintains an office.

"Pneumonia's Deadly Work

had so seriously affected my right lung," writes Mrs. Fannie Connor of Rural Route 1, Georgetown, Tenn., "that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, which in my case proved to be the only real cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs." When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win in the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the real cure. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c and $1.00. ### Team Runs Away With Hearse.

While preparing to attend Mrs. J. T. Carson's funeral last Wednesday Wash Ingold, who drives the hearse for Mr. E. Poole, the undertaker, left a pair of unruly horses standing alone hitched to Mr. Poole's fine big hearse in a lot just back of the undertaking establishment while he went to get something, and without anything to scare them the horses decided to run, and rushed out of the lot down Gaston street into Davis street. As they sped down Davis street at full tilt the hearse ran into a telephone post and was stopped immediately, one of the horses leaving the harness and running on down the street towards the livery stable. The other horse was unable to free itself from the harness, but stood pulling all the while trying to follow its mate. Before further damage resulted, however, parties rushed up and caught the animal. Both of the axles of the hearse were bent so badly that none of the wheels could be turned until the axles were straightened somewhat. Strange to say the body of the hearse was not injured, with the exception of a few faint scratches. Mr. Poole had another team hurried around to the establishment and hitched to his large casket wagon, arriving at the house in time to leave for the church on time.

Honeymoon in Log Cabin.

A special sent out from High Point last Wednesday said: "Mr. W. Gould Brokaw, accompanied by his young bride of a few days, are at Fairview, the palatial country estate of Millionaire Brokaw, of New York. They are occupying the famous log cabin on the estate. It is quite odd for a millionaire to spend his honeymoon in a log cabin, but the furnishings and surroundings there are splendid. They will spend several days among the quiet and romantic scenery at Fairview."

Mr. David Wright, for several years a miller for W. A. Watson & Co. here but who, since the death of his father last spring, had managed Mr. John R. Stewart's mill, eight miles east of the city, has gone to Rockingham county to take charge of a mill. His successor at the Stewart mill is Mr. Robert Stewart, another young man of energy and experience who will carry on the business successfully.

The general store of W. T. Hanner & Co. at Julian was entered by burglars last Friday night, the front door being prized open by some heavy instrument. The thieves found the safe not only open but empty, so far as cash was concerned, and were evidently so disgusted with the situation that they did wait to take what small change there was in the money drawer nearby or help themselves to the stock on the shelves or counters.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSES THEIR HOBBY.

Policy of the County Board of Education Will Work a Transformation in Guilford.

The county board of education, at its regular meeting Saturday, spent most of its time considering matters pertaining to the numerous school buildings throughout the county that are being erected or enlarged. The present board is a constructive body, and it is directing its efforts toward improving the physical conditions applying to Guilford's schools as well as raising the standard of the teaching profession. Routine matters come in for their share of attention always, but interest centers in the work of building new schoolhouses or enlarging old ones that are inadequate to present needs, and in a few years there will have been a thorough transformation in this particular.

This summer and fall have witnessed wonderful progress in that direction. At present new buildings for colored school children are being erected in Rock Creek and Madison townships. In Clay township a new building is being erected for white children, while in Fentress one room is being added to a school for whites. One of the Morehead township white school buildings is being enlarged and otherwise much improved. In Summer a two-room house for whites is in course of construction, and another school building in this township is being moved. At Jomestown a $2,500 addition is being made to the building already there, this being one of the county high schools. One room is also being added to another building in another part of the town. In Deep River township a one room school building is being built for the white population. The greatest improvement however is being made in High Point township at Springfield, where a $4,000 brick building is being constructed. The county board keeps up closely with every detail of the construction work, and finds delight in so doing. Such work might be termed the hobby of the board—a commendable hobby that will be far-reaching in its effects for good. Satisfactory progress is being made in all the work under way and the buildings referred to will soon be ready for occupancy.

Centennial Board of Governors Organize.

The board of governors that will have charge of the management of the Centennial Celebration of Greensboro next year met last week at the rooms of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Club and effected a permanent organization. The members present were: G. S. Bradshaw, who was subsequently elected chairman of the board and ex-officio head of the executive committee; C. D. Benbow, A. M. Scales, W. S. Thompson, J. I. Foust, L. J. Brandt and T. A. Hunter.

The executive committee, composed of the chairman, C. D. Benbow, and A. M. Scales, was authorized to formulate plans for the advancement of the celebration and to report at a later date. It was also authorized to employ a stenographer, in order that the work of correspondence, which will be necessarily heavy, may be expedited. This committee was directed to report at a date appointed by the chair, with the understanding that the report be ready for presentation as soon as it can be prepared, and due attention be given to the various matters requiring attention.

The board of governors will meet on the first Friday of each month in the directors' room of the City National Bank. In the meanwhile the individual members, who are representative business men of the community, will devote their energies to considering the best and most effective means of furthering the interests of an affair the success of which depends as well upon the hearty support given to it by the citizens of Greensboro.

To the Primary Teachers.

I am in receipt of the following letter which explains itself:

My dear Sir: The State Primary Teachers Association will meet in Asheville, October 24-25. It is our hope that we shall have a large meeting, and we ask the co-operation of you and your teachers. We hope that you may be persuaded to come, and all of your first, second and third grade teachers. I am sure that much good has been done through this annual meeting for the primary work. The discussions have been so practical, and then the observation of the schools has been most valuable.

We are expecting the best meeting we have had in Asheville this year, as the schools there are so progressive. We shall be the guests of the Asheville teachers while there.

It has been the plan of the Superintendents to give holiday to the grades whose teachers attend the meeting. We shall appreciate very much your co-operation.

Very sincerely,
 MARY OWEN GRAHAM,
 State Secretary

Charlotte, Sept. 30, 1907.
 I hope that as many of our teachers as can possibly do so will attend this meeting in Asheville.

Yours truly,
 THOS. R. FOUST.

A Correction.

One little word sometimes makes a big difference in the meaning of a sentence. Last week in one of Thacker & Brockmann's advertisements a word left out made the ad. say what was not at all intended. It read "Best quality men's tap sole leather shoes at $1.60," leaving out the word split. Best quality "split leather" shoe is the kind sold at $1.60.

RE-SALE OF LAND.

By virtue of an order of sale made by the Superior Court of Guilford county, N. C., in the special proceeding therein pending entitled Joe W. Hanner and wife and others vs. Perry D. Shaw and others, I will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the Court House door of Guilford county, N. C., on

at 12 o'clock M., the following described lots or parcels of land: Tract No. 1.—Lying and being in Guilford county, on the waters of Alamance creek, in Jefferson township, and beginning at a post oak, thence west 31 chains and 50 links to a hickory sapling; thence north 82 poles to a maple; thence east 9 degrees north 20 poles to a Spanish oak; thence north 15 degrees east 7 chains and 25 links to a black oak; thence east 18 chains to a hickory; thence east 7 chains and 25 links to a post oak; thence south 22 chains and 75 links to the beginning, containing 129.9 acres.

Tract No. 2.—Adjoining tract No. 1, in Guilford county, on the waters of Alamance creek and beginning at a stone; thence west 62 poles to a stone; thence south 1 degree west 61 poles and 10 links to a stake; thence east 64 poles and 21 links to a large pine; thence north 65 poles and 17 links to the beginning, and containing 25 acres and 32 poles.

The first lot is a six-room house on the west end of tract in timber, 10 acres in area, and is desirable property. The other two tracts, making together 164 acres, constitute five miles southeast of Greensboro, on McCollins road. The improvements consist of a six-room house, one good tobacco barn, one good pack house, two-thirds of tract in timber, 10 acres in meadow, well watered, on R. F. D. route, good school house adjoining land.

Terms of sale: One-half cash and one-half on credit of six months, the purchaser to give bond and security for unpaid purchase money and same to bear interest until paid. The purchaser to have option to pay cash and take title upon confirmation of sale.

This September 15, 1907.
 JAMES B. MINOR, Commissioner.
 Merchand & Sapp, Attorneys.

THE ROWLANDS ARE FREED.

Jury Finds Them Not Guilty of Strange's Murder—Big Crowd Applauds Verdict.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—After nine hours' deliberation the jury in the Rowland murder case this morning returned its verdict, finding Dr. D. S. Rowland and his wife, Mrs. Lilly M. Rowland, not guilty of the murder of Engineer Chas. R. Strange, the woman's former husband.

The verdict was received with approval by the court house crowd, and the defendants received effusive congratulations.

The jury was given the case at midnight precisely, after ten hours of argument and the charge of the court. The state attacked the veracity of the last witnesses for the defense and championed the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which had so strongly and steadily pressed the prosecution which it had initiated.

At 9:20 o'clock this morning the jury sent word to Judge Long it was ready with its verdict. He went to the court room at once. The solicitor was sent for. It was twenty minutes before he arrived. Elmer Shaffer, one of the prosecuting attorneys, was also present for that side. All the attorneys for the defense were in the court room.

Dr. and Mrs. Rowland were brought in, with them being his uncle, Theodore Gills, and her sister. The silence was intense when the foreman of the jury announced its verdict.

CROWD SHOWS ITS APPROVAL.

As he spoke the words there was a rattle of applause and cheers from the crowd which jammed the court house. Judge Long struck the desk sharply and declared such behavior an outrage.

Then a strange scene began. Dr. and Mrs. Rowland and Messrs. Hicks and Harris, two of their lawyers, cried. Mrs. Rowland and her sister hugged each other fully a minute, while they screamed for joy. Their lawyers shook hands with Dr. and Mrs. Rowland, and a large number of persons followed this lead.

The Rowlands took a carriage and went to his boarding house on Polk street, and thence to his office on Fayetteville street, directly opposite the postoffice and over the Western Union Telegraph office. There they held a public reception. Some of their very enthusiastic friends drove up with a wagon load of flowers, which were presented to them. At 1 o'clock they left for the home of Rowland's uncle, near Henderson. Then they go to Baltimore.

They say they expect to be away a month. It is said Rowland will resume his profession here.

CONTENTION OF PROSECUTION.

The contention of the state was that because of the infatuation of Rowland and Mrs. Strange for each other, and with Mrs. Strange's co-operation and active help, Dr. Rowland poisoned Strange with a hypodermic injection of acetonine, which would leave no traces for analysis.

Witnesses for the prosecution testified that the condition of Strange's body the night following the death was such as would have been brought about by acetonine. They said that the conduct of Dr. Rowland and Mrs. Strange showed a great strain upon them, such as might be produced by the commission of the crime.

Engineer Tighe, Engineer Steele, and others testified that Rowland and Mrs. Strange maintained improper relations long before the death of Strange, whereas both defendants, in conversation at the time of Strange's death, declared that they had never met before. Mrs. Strange said that the telephone office had sent Dr. Rowland to the house upon her request for some good doctor. She said she had already called two other doctors and found them out. The evidence was that she went directly to Dr. Rowland's office and told him her husband was "slightly sick" and asked him to attend him.

High Point Negroes Excited Over a "Mysterious Affair."

High Point, Oct. 5.—The negro element here is rather excited over what they call a mysterious affair. Frank Bowman, one of their race, died Sunday night rather suddenly, and upon the strength of the evidence of a negro girl, who lives with the Bowman family, they have reasons to believe that Bowman died from effects of drugged liquor or from some other cause than natural death. According to the evidence of this negro girl, who also told the story to neighbors, a black man came to the house Sunday afternoon and gave Frank a drink of whiskey, and that after drinking it Frank acted rather strange, somewhat different from a man under the influence of strong drink; that he became rather "uneasy" and asked his wife not to leave the room. That night Frank died, some time about ten o'clock. About eleven o'clock the family found him in this state and sent for a doctor, who came and found his body cold, stating that Bowman had been dead at least an hour. While there the doctor was told that Bowman had been drinking, and as he died so suddenly, coupled with other things, made the doctor ask if he should perform an autopsy, which was objected to by Bowman's wife for some reason. The doctor knowing that he had in time treated Bowman for acute indigestion, and having reasons at that time to believe that the whiskey might have caused heart failure, and being assured that nothing was wrong, did not perform an operation. Since the burial of Bowman the story that the negro girl told has spread and caused much talk among the negro people, who are rather doubting that Bowman died a natural death, and there may yet be an investigation into the matter to ascertain the truth or falsity of the declaration and assertions.

Senator Borah, on trial at Boise, Idaho, on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the government of Idaho timber lands, was promptly acquitted last week. The case was submitted without argument by the defense and the jury was out just long enough to take one ballot.

Trial Catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by Galloway Drug Co.

THAT COCKTAIL INCIDENT.

Fairbanks' Friends Said to Threaten Revenge on Roosevelt.

Springfield Republican.

Fears are being expressed in various quiet corners in Washington, where politicians watch the ups and downs of presidential candidates, that the effects of Mr. Fairbanks' melancholy experience with cocktails are not fully visible even now. The Vice President's friends, embittered by the humiliation in being decisively rejected by the Methodist total abstinence brethren in Indiana as a candidate for delegate to the quadrennial conference, are apparently threatening vengeance upon the White House. They argue that the President should be condemned for drinking cocktails, if the Vice President is to be censured for supplying them at a table where the President was the guest of honor. The general subject of wines and liquors at the White House may now be gone into if Mr. Fairbanks' supporters make good their alleged threats. The present sweep of the temperance wave in the South and West may encourage the further agitation of the general question.

J. M. Barr's Resignation Accepted.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 5.—Alvah H. Martin, first vice president and governor of transportation of the Jamestown Exposition, was today elected director-general of the exposition to succeed James M. Barr, whose resignation was finally accepted by the directorate. The action was taken at a meeting of the board of directors which lasted almost four hours.

Mr. Barr resigned on September 10, as the result of friction with President Tucker, of the exposition growing out of the administration of the social features of the tercentennial. Mr. Barr was asked to withdraw his resignation and a committee on ceremonies was appointed to take charge of social functions under the direction of the executive committee and the board of directors, all estimates of necessary expenses thus incurred to be subject to the approval of the director-general. Mr. Barr, however, declined to withdraw his resignation.

Mr. Martin, when his name was proposed at today's meeting, was presiding over the board and he immediately asked to be excused and retired from the room. The only other nomination was that of T. S. Southgate, governor of exhibits. Mr. Martin was elected over Mr. Southgate by a vote of twenty-six to seventeen. A committee immediately notified Mr. Martin and he was escorted into the room and announced his acceptance of the office.

Aids Thirsty Kentuckians.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 2.—By a decision of the Kentucky court of appeals, announced today, shipments of whiskey and other liquors from outside the state to points within prohibition territory are held to be interstate commerce, and the carriers are not amenable under the legislative act of 1906 imposing a penalty for so shipping.

The decision is a reversal of a judgment of the Boyle Circuit court in the case of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway Company versus the Commonwealth.

where are difficulties arising from the dual form of government. If they are proved by the present resort must be made to the power of amendment. Let us first try to meet them by an exercise of all the powers of the national government which in the Marshall spirit of broad interpretation can be found in the constitution as it is. The use of vast extent. This chief economic question of the day in this country is provide a sovereign for the great corporations engaged in interstate business; that is, for the railroads and the interstate industrial corporations. At present our prime concern is with the railroads. When railroads were first built they were purely local in character. Their boundaries were not extensive even with the boundaries of one state. They usually covered but two or three counties. All this has now changed. At present five great systems embody nearly four-fifths of the total mileage of the country. All are most important railroads are no longer state roads, but instruments of interstate commerce. Probably 85 per cent. of their business is interstate business. It is the nation alone which can with wisdom, justice and effectiveness exercise such complete supervision over these interstate railroads as should be exercised. One of the chief, and probably the chief, domestic causes for the adoption of the constitution was the need to confer on the nation exclusive control over interstate commerce. But this grant of power is worthless unless it is held and conferred thoroughly and complete control over practically the sole instrumentalities of interstate commerce—the interstate railroads. The railroads themselves have been exceedingly successful and have been the cause of much of the rancorous bitterness which they have shown against the reprobation by the nation of the long-neglected power. Great capitalists do not pride themselves upon the economic conservatism often believe they are acting in the interests of property men following a course so shortsighted as to be really an assault upon prop-

FEDERAL COURT IN SESSION.

Judge Boyd's Charge to the Jury—Many Cases of Minor Importance Already Disposed Of.

The United States District court for the Western District of North Carolina began the October term Monday at ten o'clock, Judge James E. Boyd presiding. The only case of any considerable importance coming up for trial at this term is that of Percy G. Fonville, indicted for complicity with Franc H. Jones for appropriating funds from the Charlotte National Bank. This case is set for Thursday, and Jones will be brought here from the penitentiary at Atlanta to testify in behalf of the government.

The charge of Judge Boyd to the grand jury was out of the ordinary routine. As he stated at the close, the jurors are posted, as a rule, on the general methods of procedure in the jury room and it is only in cases of more than the ordinary moment that a special charge is needed. His charge Monday was in the nature of a conversational deliverance from the bench and was both forcible and effective.

It began with a brief explanation of the differences between state and federal jurisdiction and the necessity for an enforcement of the laws in both instances. Speaking of the laws against illicit distillation, Judge Boyd referred to the early opposition with which these laws were received and emphasized the point that laws in this respect must be obeyed as in all others, whether they expressed sentiment of the individual or not. He was most emphatic in his denunciation of perjury, especially on the witness stand, and spoke of miscarriages of justice that often result from people swearing falsely in order to free themselves or their neighbors from a charge of violating the law.

Going into the matter of internal revenue, the court said that the money obtained from this source is not collected as a tariff but as a tax enforced in order to equalize the taxes themselves. "Congress enacts certain legislation," came from the bench, "and if the voters do not like these laws they can possibly have them changed by electing other men to office. It is the same way with members of the legislature. If you don't like the laws they enact, elect other men and possibly the voters may be satisfied."

Judge Boyd referred to any friction that might exist between capital and labor and deplored such a condition, saying in effect that both capital and labor have their respective rights and that each should respect the other. "There is a strong tendency," he said, "to attack capital because it is the representative of wealth. Capital is necessary. Even trusts are sometimes needed, when they build up and do not attempt to tear down what others have created. This community would not have obtained its great industrial plants unless capital had started them. Neither could the electrical power plant at Whitney be able to supply the country around with power if the builders had not ventured to pin their faith to their money and their opportunity and spend millions of dollars on a work that will pay wages to hundreds of workmen and is expected to pay a dividend to the stockholders. No body of men should be criticized for building up an industry that is intended for the public good, even though the builders may make money from the employment of their capital and their work."

"In this matter of the relations between capital and labor," continued Judge Boyd, "I wish to say a word or so about what may be called the arrogance of wealth when it has assumed a position where it thinks it can dictate to others in the ordinary relations of life, social and material. There is entirely too much snobbishness today. We are prosperous and many of us have forgotten the fact that riches do not make quality or even quantity. Some of us are apt to forget our fathers and their spirit of Christian charity toward others. We may also forget the old-time hospitality and courtesy that distinguished our forefathers. Charity is not the mere giving of money, possibly to an undeserving recipient. It is that, however, that speaks a kind word to a man when he is down and it certainly is not that which actuates the people of wealth to arrogate to themselves the right to dictate over others and use their wealth as a means of advancing social self interests. The Bible is a rule of action that all men should follow. The parable of the Good Samaritan can be read with profit by every one. A man's character should be what his reputation is. Hypocrites are those that advertise what they are not.

"I have departed from the accustomed line of charge," said Judge Boyd, "but do not think that I am preaching. I am simply repeating some homely truths and hope that they will have an effect upon those who hear them spoken or may hear of them in other ways."

The judge then took up the question of penance and spoke of it as an offense against the law, stating that imprisonment for debt had been abolished and holding a man to work out a debt is contrary to an act of Congress and should not be permitted. He then stated that a reformatory is sadly needed in this state and said that the man or men who caused such an institution to be erected would deserve the gratitude of all humanity.

The charge to the jury took up the greater part of the morning session and a recess was had shortly after the close. At the afternoon session, the docket was called and only one case was ready for trial, that of Edward Breedlove. This case was not pressed after two witnesses for the government had testified. A number of judgments were entered, but these were generally of minor importance.

The whole day in court yesterday was taken up with the hearing of cases of minor importance, most of the defendants being violators of the internal revenue statutes.

The county commissioners were in session Monday and Tuesday, and transacted the usual amount of routine business. Three of the pending road petitions were granted and one, that for a road near Colfax, was rejected. No new petitions were filed. A jury was drawn for the approaching term of court, but the term will necessarily have to be postponed, it appears, as there is no judge available. Judge Council will not be able to resume his duties on the bench for some weeks, and the time of all the other judges is fully occupied this month. The commissioners will try to arrange for a special term next month.

Presbyterian College Trustees.

There was a full representation of the twenty-four members, twelve each from Fayetteville and Orange Presbyteries, at the meeting of the board of trustees of the Southern Presbyterian College and Conservatory of Music, Red Springs, last Thursday evening when that body was called to order here by the president, Rev. W. F. Thom, of Gulf. It was expected that Governor Glenn would be present and deliver an address on some appropriate subject, but in this the trustees, along with Greensboro people in general, were disappointed, as the Governor found it impossible, at the last moment, to leave Raleigh. Following the disposition of routine matters the board heard the twelfth annual report of President C. G. Vardell, which was accepted. Dr. Vardell reported the past year as one of the most successful in the history of the college, while the prospects for the year just opened are exceptionally bright. Of the 350 students enrolled, 236 are boarding at the institution. Various recommendations embodied in the report will receive consideration at the proper time. After an executive session the board adjourned to meet at the call of the executive committee.

PLEASANT GARDEN ITEMS.

Misses Mattie and Maude Tucker were pleasant callers in our village last week.

Mr. Charles Wells, of Winston-Salem, while visiting his brother here, Dr. J. M. Wells, was taken seriously sick. After two weeks of confinement he is again about well.

Col. A. Boone, after about six months of recreation in western North Carolina, is again at home with his sister, Mrs. John C. Kennett. Every one here is glad to see him home again.

Persons are seeing a hard time these nights. Our own force, coupled with an additional one from Greensboro, has bagged several nice ones lately.

Our people are delighted to see the dirt being preparatory to the macadamizing of the road to this place. For some time we have been on the anxious bench, and now of course feel glad to see our anxiety turning into a real rock road.

Our little village continues to grow. Recently the Pleasant Garden company has erected a large two-story building, and its chair works in which a cotton gin and grist mill is being put. They will be ready for business in a few days.

Our genial sportsman, Mr. Luke W. White, of Baltimore, has made a beautiful lodge out of the old Riley home on our main street. Mr. White has become a fixture here and we are glad to know that he has satisfactorily located himself.

Mr. Carl Riley is pushing his new house. This, with Dr. Robert Fougere on the opposite of the street, will add much to our village.

It is learned also that Mr. Robert Gray, of Randolph county, has his plans drawn for a ten-room house to be built in the near future. Mr. Gray comes to place his children in school.

Our school is progressing most satisfactorily. So many students are coming in that the management finds it necessary to add the fourth teacher, Miss Minnie Brown, who was granted a leave of absence for one month, comes in this week, much to the satisfaction of all and especially to the little folks, who rejoice to her from day to day. The enrollment has reached 121, of which number 43 are high school pupils.

The Athenian Literary society has decided to have a public debate in the near future. The following speakers, Messrs. Neelley, Stead Field, Anne Scott, Ola Whitner, William Stover and John Woodley, will select a question at once and begin the tussle.

The high school board of commission has made arrangements to buy an additional two acres of land joining the school property on the west. This will be put in shape for an up-to-date athletic ground.

"Prayer." He went from here to Burlington, where he has a protracted meeting in progress.

The past week added numbers of students to the roll. They have come from Pamlico, Granville, Randolph, Rockingham, Caswell, Alamance and Greensboro and High Point. A new boarding house, now nearly done, will give additional room.

The geographical party drew a very large crowd Saturday evening, and all were delighted with the exercises. Our people are still discussing the excellent sermons recently preached here by Rev. D. H. Comann. They were of a very high order.

Class meetings were held the past week by the seniors, juniors and sophomores at which colors and mottoes were selected for each class.

Mr. J. E. Braxton, of Pitt county, was forced to leave school a few days ago in order to go to a hospital for an operation. We learn he is greatly improved.

Last Sunday night a Methodist church was organized with nine members in this place. Others will join later.

Mr. J. D. Oldham came back Saturday from a business trip to Greensboro.

Dr. Whitsett spent Friday and Saturday in Greensboro attending the monthly meeting of the county board of education.

R. K. Davenport, photographer, of Burlington, spent Wednesday here taking pictures. He is doing some good work.

A barber shop will be opened up here within a few days.

Two former Whitsett students are officers in the Guilford County Club at the State University—Messrs. Harlow and Cobb.

Miss Margaret McAdams, once a stenographer here, now holds a good position at Norlina.

Messrs. Frank Boone, Benjamin and George Hoffman are just back from the Jamestown exposition.

Mr. Lacy Summers came home from Burlington Saturday.

Miss Eva Brown, of McLeansville, is visiting relatives here.

Mrs. R. B. Clark has several relatives visiting her at this time.

Miss Elizabeth Wheeler has about decided to accept a position as assistant teacher in one of the public schools that has been offered her.

HINES CHAPEL ITEMS.

Recent rains have put the farmers of our community in much better spirits than for six or eight weeks previous to this time, and preparations for sowing wheat are progressing nicely.

Mr. Thomas Pemberton, of Greensboro, made a brief call in this section Sunday.

Miss Lessie Lindsay, of the music department at Jefferson Academy, McLeansville, was the guest of Miss Vanale Howerton Saturday and Sunday.

The picnic given under the auspices of the Sunday school at this place last Saturday was a most enjoyable occasion to both young and old. A very elevating and instructive address by the pastor, Rev. C. C. Peele, constituted the principal part of the forenoon's exercises, after which a sumptuous dinner was spread that would have done justice to the appetites of a much larger gathering. The afternoon was spent in playing various games and in such other ways as the individuals present might choose. Upon the whole it was considered a most successful event.

A number of our young people attended a most enjoyable social given at the home of Mr. L. E. Howerton last Saturday evening from 7:30 till 11 o'clock. Among the amusements of the evening, possibly that feature most enjoyed by those present was some particularly fine music rendered by Miss Lindsay, the highly accomplished pianist of Jefferson Academy's music department.

We regret very much to learn that Miss Alvah Melvin is right critically ill with something resembling cancer. Hopes of her early recovery are, however, entertained.

Among those who have visited relatives and friends in our community recently were Messrs. T. E. Smith, of Spencer; Edgar T. Hines, of Elon College, and Prince B. Breeden, of Greensboro.

HINTON ITEMS.

Miss Christie Causey visited Miss Annie Fogleman quite recently.

Mr. Paul Shaw, from Greensboro, spent Sunday with his parents near here.

Master Vivian Hanner came very near losing his right hand while attending to a cane mill at Mr. J. R. Weatherly's last week. Several fingers had to be amputated.

Mr. Lewis Jones, from Greensboro, attended services at Alamance Sunday.

Rev. Melton C. Clark, pastor of the First church in Greensboro, will preach at Alamance the third Sunday of this month at 3 o'clock.

Miss Blanche Troxler is visiting relatives in Greensboro.

Mr. John Hobbs is at home for a few days.

Rev. Caldwell's sermon at Alamance yesterday was heard by a large and appreciative congregation.

Mr. Ed. Fogleman was in our midst Sunday.

Mr. James Glass is preparing to erect a nice new house. Work will begin soon. We are all wondering who will get to be mistress of that house.

Several from here expect to attend the Greensboro Fair.

SOUTH BUFFALO ITEMS.

Mrs. Olivia Clapp is on the sick list.

Mr. John Fogleman, of your city, spent Saturday night and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fogleman.

There will be communion services at Mt. Pleasant the first Sunday in November at 11 o'clock A. M.

There will be preaching at Shady Grove the second Sunday in October at 3 o'clock P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Birdie Fogleman visited Mr. Vernon Reynolds recently.

Mr. Will Greeson has purchased a new buggy. We wonder what girl will get the first ride.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Woods visited his brother, Mr. Harold Woods, near Mt. Hope, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fogleman and Mrs. Elizabeth Gullett visited at Mr. S. P. Clarida's Sunday.

GIBSONVILLE ITEMS.

Mr. Roy Williamson, cashier of Lexington bank, spent Sunday here with his uncle, Mr. H. B. Owen.

Mr. J. N. Shepherd has taken a position as clerk in Mr. H. B. Owen's store.

Miss Emma Shepherd spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Ada Sharp, in Burlington.

Mrs. C. H. Tate, of Winston-Salem, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. P. Parker, and Miss Etha Bodenhamer, of Rural Hall, a granddaughter, who spent ten days visiting here, returned to their homes Saturday.

Mr. Claude Fogleman, clerk for Fogleman & Murray, left last week for a visit to Norfolk, Va., and Washington, D. C.

Quarterly conference was held in the M. P. church here Saturday, and preaching and communion services by the pastor, Rev. Whitaker, Sunday.

Prof. Hamilton, of Greensboro, passed through Gibsonville Sunday evening on his way to Burlington, where he is teaching a class in vocal music.

The regular preaching service by Pastor Harr will be held in Sharon church here next Sunday morning, and in the afternoon a song service by the singing classes of Burlington and Gibsonville, led by Prof. Hamilton. Public cordially invited.

Messrs. Fogleman & Murray have bought a lot of Mr. H. W. Steele, adjoining his old store, upon which to erect a brick store building.

Mr. F. M. Smith has bought the interest of his brother, Mr. Walter Smith, in their father's and mother's estate.

Mr. Walter Smith is now with the Gibsonville Hardware Company.

GUILFORD COLLEGE ITEMS.

Prof. A. W. Blair, of Florida, spent last Sunday at Guilford College.

Prof. S. H. Hedgin visited his mother and sisters in Gorrell township last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Cabell Lindsay, of the class of 1906, is spending a few days with friends at the college.

The graded school at this place opened last week with a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Wilson, of Providence, Randolph county, visited at the home of Mr. W. A. White last Sunday.

Mrs. Mary C. Woody is visiting relatives and friends in Indiana and will attend the Friends' Five Years' Meeting to be held in Indianapolis next week, as a delegate from North Carolina Yearly Meeting.

Miss Lillian Jinnett, who has been spending most of the summer at the home of Dr. Mills, left last Monday evening for the Jamestown exposition.

After spending a few days there she will go to Perquimans county, N. C., where she has been employed as principal of the high school at Up River during the coming school term.

Mrs. Cotten and daughter, Eula, Mrs. Dean and Mrs. Pleasants attended the North Carolina State W. C. T. U. convention held at Elizabeth City last week. They also spent some time at the Jamestown exposition while away.

Mr. Jabez R. Mendenhall, of Greensboro, attended our Bible school last Sunday morning and gave us a good talk on the lesson. He attended the school at New Salem the same afternoon.

MUDDY CREEK ITEMS.

Mrs. T. L. Rodgers and children, who spent several weeks with her mother, Mrs. McDowell, at Glenola, left for their home in Renica, Va., last Saturday.

Mrs. J. T. Spencer is ill with malarial fever.

Mrs. Tamar Gilbreath returned home Sunday from an extended visit to friends and relatives in Guilford.

Messrs. A. W. Davis and N. H. Farlow have purchased a cotton gin and will soon begin operating it at Edgar.

Miss M. A. Gray, who has been visiting friends at Colfax and High Point, returned home one day last week.

The new church at Mt. Vernon is nearing completion and will be a very handsome little edifice when finished.

Miss Viola Tomlinson, who has been visiting at Greensboro for some weeks, returned home Wednesday.

BOONE'S STORE ITEMS.

The people of this community are about through curing tobacco.

Mr. J. A. Hall is very sick with typhoid fever.

Miss Lannie Apple is on the sick list.

We regret to know that Mr. J. W. Boone will soon move to McLeansville.

Misses Ollie and Bessie Kernodle and Miss Fannie Scott are preparing to attend the fair in your city next week.

Mr. J. W. Boone and Miss Fannie Scott spent Sunday evening with Misses Ollie and Bessie Kernodle.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

"RADICAL" AND "CONSERVATIVE."

The Tar Heel Attacks and the News and Observer Ably Defends Senator Holt.

Raleigh News and Observer.

What is a "conservative" as used now by a portion of the North Carolina Press? It is a man who believes that the American Tobacco Company, the Southern Railway and the Federal court compose a trinity of blessings bigger than the state. What is a "radical" as used by them? Here is a concrete answer as given by the Tar Heel: "The record Prof. Holt made in the legislature by his attacks upon the railroads and the American Tobacco Company put him high in the class of radicals who threaten destruction to the business and prosperity of the country."

In what did Prof. Holt's "attacks" on railroads consist? He wished a law reducing freight and passenger rates in North Carolina not so much as they have been reduced in Virginia and Indiana. Does that course "threaten destruction to business and prosperity of the country?" In what did his "attacks" on the American Tobacco Company consist? Simply in favoring the house bill that made a conspiracy to put down the price of a farmer's product a crime. What is wrong about that? It was in exact accordance with the Democratic platform, state and national.

According to the above definition and example any man is a "radical" and "threatens destruction to the business and prosperity of the country" who wishes to reduce excessive railroad fares and who wishes to compel the tobacco trust to stop conspiring to put or keep down the price of tobacco. By that token ninety-nine out of every hundred of the Democrats in North Carolina are "radicals" and the Democratic platform is a radically revolutionary document.

POSTPONE BOOM FOR GRAY.

Delaware Democrats Delay Presenting Him as Presidential Candidate.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 2.—The movement to formally launch the Presidential boom of Federal Judge George Gray was postponed at a conference of prominent Democrats here tonight. The reason it was announced was that the time is inopportune, plans of the judge having not been completed. The ball will start "rolling" for the judge at a meeting here in a fortnight.

At the conference tonight an advisory committee of fifteen was appointed by Chairman Marvell to perfect the Democratic organization in Wilmington for the general election next year. This is the first Democratic pre-election in Delaware.

Saved by Doctor and Stomach Pump.

High Point, Oct. 3.—Sid White, aged about twenty-four years, and an employee of the Kearns Furniture Company, this morning tried to end his life by swallowing a large quantity of laudanum. White said at home this morning, claiming he was not feeling well, which was due to too much liquor, his acquaintances say. He boards at Tom Black's, and he was found there in a dangerous condition about ten o'clock this morning. A physician was sent for and in a few minutes the doctor and a stomach pump were doing the work of rescue. In a few hours Dr. McAnally had pulled White around all right and King Laudanum is dethroned for the time being.

Doctors' Days Numbered.

London, Oct. 2.—The change the practice of medicine is undergoing was the keynote of several addresses made by the leading London physicians at the opening yesterday of the winter session of the medical school connected with the London hospitals.

The speakers said the day was coming when the physician in private practice would disappear, and be replaced by the public health officer, whose work would lie in the prevention, rather than the cure, of disease.

Will Abolish Extra Fare.

Pittsburg, Oct. 2.—The Pennsylvania Railroad will abolish immediately the extra fare it is now collecting on its fast trains between New York and Chicago, owing to the new Dunsmore 2-cent-a-mile law, which went into effect in Pennsylvania yesterday.

Attorneys, it is said, have advised that the company cannot legally collect the extra fare.

Words of Praise

For the several ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's medicines are composed, as given by leaders in all the schools of medicine, should have far more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has the badge of honesty on every bottle-wrapper, in a full list of all its ingredients printed in plain English.

If you are an invalid woman and suffer from frequent headache, backache, gnawing distress in stomach, periodical pains, diarrhoea, catarrhal, pelvic drain, dragging down distress in lower abdomen or pelvis, perhaps dark spots or specks appearing before the eyes, faint spells and kindred symptoms caused by female weakness, or other derangement of the feminine organs, you can do no better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The hospital, surgeon's knife and operating table may be avoided by the timely use of "Favorite Prescription" in such cases. Thereby the obnoxious examinations and treatments of the family physician can be avoided and a thorough course of successful treatment carried out in the privacy of the home. "Favorite Prescription" is composed of the very best native medicinal roots known to medical science for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments, contains no alcohol and no harmful or habit-forming drugs.

Do not expect too much from "Favorite Prescription." It will not perform miracles; it will not dissolve or cure tumors. No medicine will. It will do as much to establish vigorous health in most weak women as any medicine can. It must be given a fair chance by perseverance in its use for a reasonable length of time.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this remedy of famous prescription.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is guarded as sacredly secret and womanly confidences are protected by professional privacy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant "Pills" the best laxative and regulator of the bowels. They invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. One a laxative; two or three a cathartic. Easy to take as candy.

A Beautiful Exposition.

Far too little has been said about the real merits of the exposition that celebrates the three hundredth anniversary of the settlement of the United States. The Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition was unfortunately in allowing itself to be seen long before it was ready for inspection. It is not colossal, but it is beautiful and it is instructive. Visitors going there in the mood of willingness to discover the attractions of the exposition will not be disappointed. The eight or ten weeks that remain of the fair ought to bring hundreds of thousands of visitors from all parts of the country. The region itself is full of historic and present-day interest. Norfolk, Newport News, Hampton, and Fortress Monroe are at hand, and water excursions may be made to Jamestown Island and in every direction. The architecture of the exposition is to the trained observer more charming than that of almost any other in a long series of expositions. If the exhibits are not of a bewildering extent and variety, they are at least thoroughly illustrative of recent progress. Some of the special exhibits, like that contained in the negro building, for instance, are worthy of great praise. The United States government has expended much money and ingenuity in its various efforts to represent in this fair what the government departments are doing, and the management of the enterprise has achieved wonders in the overcoming of difficulties that have arisen. The weather on Hampton Roads during the remaining months of the exposition ought to be very agreeable for visitors. From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for October.

Wife of Prominent Colored Educator Dies Suddenly.

Winston Republican.

The wife of Dr. W. H. Goler, colored, president of Livingston College, Salisbury, died suddenly in this city. Heart disease is given as the cause. The deceased was popular with her race. Her age was about 45 years. No children survive. She came here a few weeks ago on a visit to friends. Dr. Goler was advised and came at once from Salisbury and took charge of the remains. Dr. Goler ranks high as a preacher and educator. He is also perhaps the wealthiest colored man in North Carolina—and he made his fortune with his brain and hands. He owns valuable real estate in this city, Greensboro and Salisbury. Many white friends sympathize with him in his bereavement, coming as it did so unexpectedly.

Telegraph Trust Alleged.

New York, Oct. 2.—The Western Union Telegraph Company and the Postal Telegraph Company were ordered today by Justice Ford, of the Supreme court of New York state, to show cause on Friday why Attorney General Jackson should not be permitted to sue them for forfeiture of their charters, on the ground that they have formed a combination to increase the telegraph tolls.

Mr. Jackson, in his application, alleged that the combination was made January 1, 1907, and that a new and increased schedule of rates was put into effect, and that the companies agreed to maintain joint offices at certain points and divide the profits of business received therein.

government adequate power to control those great corporations, which it alone can fully, and yet wisely, safely and justly control. Remember also that to regulate the formation of these corporations offers one of the most direct and efficient methods of regulating their activities.

NOT FOR CENTRALIZATION.

I am not pleading for an extension of constitutional power. I am pleading that constitutional power which already exists shall be applied to new conditions which did not exist when the constitution went into being. I ask that the national powers already conferred upon the national government by the constitution shall be so used as to bring national commerce and industry effectively under the authority of Federal government and thereby avert industrial chaos. My plea is not to bring about a condition of centralization. It is that the government shall recognize a condition of centralization in a field where it already exists. When the national banking law was passed it represented reality not centralization, but recognition of the fact that the country had so far advanced that the currency was already a matter of national concern and must be dealt with by the central authority at Washington. So it is with interstate industrialism and especially with the matter of interstate railroad operation today. Centralization has already taken place in the world of commerce and industry. All I ask is that the national government look this fact in the face, accept it as a fact, and fit itself accordingly for a policy of supervision and control over this centralized commerce and industry.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Correspondence of the PATRIOT.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Washington for the time almost has ceased to be a news center. The President in the Mississippi valley, Secretary Taft in Japan and Secretary Root in Mexico are monopolizing the headlines in the newspapers and the swirl of news which went out of the national capital during the recent brief stay of the President in the White House has given place to a quiet almost equal to the summer solstice. Active preparations are going on for the naval cruise to the Pacific. The army is drilling and studying military problems, the State department and the Postoffice department are doing business at the old stands, but they are not making news.

The Secretary of Commerce and Labor has, however, furnished the politicians with something to talk about by his declaration that unless the tariff is revised the industries of this country, and especially the cotton industry, will suffer from the discrimination of foreign nations. Secretary Strauss cited President McKinley as authority for the necessity of tariff revision and reciprocity treaties. Mr. Strauss is the third member of the cabinet to take his stand for tariff revision and the opinion of the President that the Republican party must pledge itself in its next national platform to revise the tariff immediately after the inauguration of the new President is well known. Secretary Taft, Secretary Root and now Secretary Strauss have all publicly announced their conviction that the time has come, or will have when a new President is inaugurated, to revise the Dingley tariff. Secretary Wilson and Secretary Garfield are known to hold the same opinion and it is probable that all the other members of the cabinet do so, with the possible exception of the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Cortelyou. What his views are no one knows but himself, and he won't tell.

It is a safe assertion that a majority of the Senate is in favor of tariff revision and it is entirely possible that a majority of the House is of the same opinion, although it is a difficult task to ascertain the views of a majority of the lower chamber. Majority rule in the House of Representatives is a thing of the past, save in theory. The Speaker and a few men of his choosing, not more than three or four, control the actions of the House with despotic sway, and it is rare indeed for the majority to secure an opportunity to express itself on any question of real importance. Of course in theory the Speaker is selected by the popular vote of the members and no man can be Speaker who does not command the support of a majority of the majority party. In fact, however, the Speaker, as the dispenser of committee places, builds up a machine which he absolutely controls and few men who have once secured a good list of committee and especially a chairmanship of an important committee, will risk their position by quarrelling with the Speaker.

However, if a majority in the next Republican convention forces the adoption of a tariff revision pledge, not a plank but a pledge, it is probable that the Speaker will be forced to succumb. The Army Board of Ordnance and Fortifications is conducting some elaborate experiments to ascertain the best form of projectile for the use of the Coast Defense Artillery. There are two forms of projectile, one known as the armor-piercing shot and the other as the armor-piercing shell. The first is more solid than the latter, has a smaller hollow space and so carries less explosive material, although both are really shells. The armor-piercing shell carries a large quantity of high explosive, and while it may not go so far through the armor of a ship, it explodes with such terrific force that it tears every thing in the vicinity to pieces. In these experiments armor the same thickness and of the same strength and hardness as that of a naval vessel is set up and the great guns at Sandy Hook are fired squarely at it, producing the same results as they would were they fired at the side of an armored ship. The guns are fired at short range, of course, but so accurately can these things be calculated that by decreasing the charge of powder placed behind the projectile, or shell, precisely the same effect can be produced, at will, as if the shell were fired at ranges of 5,000, 6,000 or 9,000 yards, the latter being the greatest distance at which the big 12-inch coast defense guns can be fired with accuracy. Thus far, the advantages in destructive power seems to be with the armor-piercing shell, which was the type of projectile used with such deadly effect by the Japanese on Admiral Rojewsky's fleet.

When asked recently if the Russo-Japanese war did not prove a valuable object lesson to army ordnance experts a prominent officer explained to your correspondent that there was great disappointment in this respect because the Japanese have absolutely refused to give out any information regarding the results of their gunfire. They captured most of the Russian vessels, even raising those which were sunk, and so they have the only means of gaining accurate information and this they have tightly bottled up for their own use. The Russians, on the contrary, are willing to tell all they know although this, unfortunately, is comparatively little, as viewed from the standpoint of the ordnance experts. It is declared to be quite characteristic of the Japs that they should refuse to permit other nations to profit by their experience, but it is very aggravating to those who had hoped to gain valuable information from the first war in which modern guns, smokeless powder and modern armor were employed.

Speaking of the big guns of the army and navy, some remarkable progress has been made in both arms of the service in the shooting of these great weapons. Only 2 per cent of the shots fired at Admiral Cervera's fleet hit the mark, while now naval gunners often make 60 and 70 per cent of hits at similar ranges, that is at from 1,600 to 2,000 yards, while army gunners, who formerly fired at targets only 2,000 yards away and then made only 50 per cent of hits, have recently made 100 per cent of hits at 9,000 yards—not feet, but yards, 27,000 feet.

Salisbury last week voted $300,000 of bonds for street improvement, the extension of water and sewer lines and the payment of the floating debt. The money is to be expended at the rate of $50,000 a year.

The Favorable Conditions Existing on Greensboro's Tobacco Market.

EDITOR PATRIOT: In a conversation with Mr. J. H. Whitt, of Whitt & Apple, proprietors of the Planters warehouse, I was agreeably surprised to learn that Greensboro is rapidly regaining its prestige as a tobacco market. Your readers will, I feel sure, be interested in knowing that there are a number of buyers on this market, ready to take any quantity of leaf at prices that legitimate competition sets. The season has opened with a good demand for all grades at highly satisfactory prices, and the outlook is good for a continuance of these conditions.

The tobacco raisers have a strong friend in Mr. Whitt, and they are to be congratulated upon the fact that he has again gone into the warehouse business. The merchants of Greensboro are also to be congratulated, as there is no doubt that Mr. Whitt's influence in bringing farmers to this market will mean many dollars added to their sales.

Altogether it is highly gratifying to know that our city is furnishing a strong tobacco market and that the raisers are getting alive to the advantages our market affords for their product, and also to the advantages offered by our up-to-date stores for such purchases as they wish to make. It is another case of people learning what is to their mutual welfare.

Scott-Jerry Marriage.

Charlotte Observer, 4th.

Mr. James Eugene Scott, of Greensboro, and Miss Annie Sophie Jerry, of this city, were married by Father Joseph at St. Peter's Catholic church, yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock. There were no attendants. The bride wore white silk tulle and carried bride's roses. The young couple left on train No. 36 for Greensboro. The bride went away in a brown going-away gown of voile over taffeta.

The wedding march, Mendelssohn's, was played by Miss Agnes Manning. Mr. Scott is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Scott, of Spencer, and his bride a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Jerry, of 1004 North Church street. Mr. Scott is 21 and his bride 18. They will live at Greensboro, where Mr. Scott is book-keeper for the W. L. Clement Lumber Company. Mr. Scott graduated from Oak Ridge Institute in 1905. He worked here two years, with Yarborough & Bellinger. Mrs. Scott has many friends. She is a favorite in her social set.

Death From Street Car Accident.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—A telegram from Memphis tonight announces the death, from the result of a street car accident, of Thomas J. Dupree. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. R. E. L. Bunch, his wife being the eldest daughter of the late Mrs. Fred A. Olds. He was a prominent business man of Memphis.

Dr. McCampbell Chosen to Succeed the Late Dr. Murphy.

Morganton, Oct. 8.—The board of directors of the State Hospital at this place met in special session today to elect a superintendent to succeed the late Dr. P. L. Murphy, and Dr. McCampbell, first assistant physician, and who was acting superintendent during the disability of Dr. Murphy, was elected by the unanimous ballot of those present: Messrs. J. P. Caldwell, president; J. P. Sawyer, J. G. Hall, A. A. Shuford, A. E. Tate, C. H. Armfield and I. I. Davis, to fill the unexpired term of five years, Dr. Murphy having been re-elected in September of last year for the full term of six years. There were three applicants. The new superintendent of the state hospital at Morganton was born at Abingdon, Va., but in his infancy his parents moved to Yancey county, and there he was reared. His education was acquired at Burnsville Academy and he was graduated at the Baltimore Medical College. Having been licensed by the state board of medical examiners, he came to the state hospital here nearly 14 years ago in the capacity of druggist and from that position was elected to the medical staff. From the lowest position on it he has risen by gradual promotion to the headship of the institution, his service here having been continuous since he entered it. Dr. McCampbell is in his 39th year and is unmarried. It is a happy augury that his selection for the superintendency affords the officers and employees of the hospital the liveliest pleasure.

State Sabbath Observance Convention to be Held in Charlotte Next Month.

The second annual convention of the North Carolina Sabbath Association, which is the state branch of the American Sabbath Union, will be held in Charlotte, beginning on November 20 and continuing for two days. Rev. K. F. Campbell, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Asheville, is president of the association, and Rev. W. H. McMaster is the field secretary. The programme of the convention is being arranged, and prominent speakers have already been secured.

The work of the American Sabbath Union is entirely in the interest of Sabbath observance, and it is making commendable progress in many states. A business meeting of the North Carolina Association will be held in Greensboro early in November for the purpose of fixing some place as headquarters of the State Association, (2) of taking steps looking toward making the work self-supporting, and (3) of establishing a depository of Sabbath literature, etc. During the summer months the field secretary spent his time in Ohio and Pennsylvania, but kept in touch with the work in this state.

Pritchard Hears Appeal.

Asheville, Oct. 5.—Judge Pritchard in United States Circuit court today heard lengthy arguments on the appeal by the state's attorneys in the railway rate hearing from the ruling of Standing Master Montgomery that the defendant, the State of North Carolina, should not examine the books of the Southern Railway Company prior to June 30, 1905, the master holding that the two years previous to the time of the controversy was sufficient to establish pertinent evidence relative to the question at issue. Arguments by counsel consumed practically the entire day, and when Mr. E. J. Justice concluded the argument for the defendant Judge Pritchard stated that he desired to consider the matter for a day or two before rendering his decision either sustaining or reversing the standing master. In arguing the case Mr. Woodard, Judge Shepherd and Mr. Justice made strong representation of the case for the defendant, while General Counsel Thom, of the Southern, and Mr. Busbee ably represented the railroad.

Durham Man Gets $2,050 Because Train Made His Horse Run Away.

Durham, Oct. 5.—After being "hung" all night the jury in the railroad damage suit of E. E. Chappell against the North Carolina Railroad and the Southern returned a verdict this morning. The suit was for $7,500 and the jury gave a verdict of $2,050. The road gave notice of appeal to the higher court.

This suit was on account of Mr. Chappell's getting hurt by a runaway horse. He was unloading wood, so he claims, when an engine on the Southern road frightened his horse. He claims that the engineer saw his perilous condition and yet sounded his whistle, this only adding to his danger. The horse ran off and the plaintiff was thrown out and his leg was broken in the fall.

Would Separate Races.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 3.—J. N. Walker, president of the Colorado African Colonization Society, in an address on the race problem delivered here last night at the Central Presbyterian church said race separation was essential for the blacks as well as for the whites, because only by that means could the African race develop along the lines which nature intended.

Conditions were steadily growing worse for the blacks, he said. The only way to escape a condition that was rapidly becoming worse was by emigration to Liberia, where a black republic could be built up. The situation, he said, called for congressional aid.

Half Way to Thomasville.

High Point, Oct. 7.—The Carolina Valley Railroad has been graded to a point half way between here and Thomasville and the contractors are going right along with the work. The big hill has been gone through with and the worst part of the grading has been done to Thomasville.

The street car line from the main part of the city to Mechanicsville has been put down and the track turned towards Thomasville to connect with the road a mile distant, going towards Thomasville.

Monopoly and Living.

Washington Post.

The beef trust has advanced the cost of living the past few days, and the public must march up to the counter. The very day the advance was made choice export steers were selling in the stock yards of a big Ohio Valley city at 5 1/2 cents a pound. Choice butchers' steers were worth 5 cents. This town gets no such beef as is produced from either of these. The cattle of which our beef is made are common to medium butchers' steers, worth in the Ohio Valley at the city market at from 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 cents a pound. From such stuff as that we get our porterhouse at 30 cents a pound.

The tariff on beef is 2 cents a pound; on bacon and hams it is 5 cents a pound. On mutton it is 2 cents a pound; pork, 2 cents; poultry, 5 cents; veal, 2 cents; butter 6 cents; cheese, 6 cents. There is a big tariff on fish and fruits and breadstuffs and eggs.

Intrenched behind these schedules the beef trust, that has a monopoly of nearly all these products—poultry, eggs, butter, cheese, fruits, and what not—fix the price of breakfast, dinner, and supper at whatever its avarice may demand. We are now just on the threshold of glorious October, when pastures are richest of the year, when food for cattle is most abundant and easiest to convey to the manger, and yet butter is selling in this town at 35 cents a pound, and ere another vernal equinox it will fetch 50 cents a pound in the city of Washington. Intimidated and cajoled, not to say bribed, Congress passed the oleomargarine law that was equivalent to a bounty of 10 cents on every pound of butter the trust offers for sale. Tom, Dick, and Harry pay it, and the butter trust, also protected by a tariff of 6 cents a pound, thus enjoys the privilege of levying exorbitant taxes on the public.

Congress ought to look into the thing as soon as it convenes. Meats and butter are commodities of general necessity, controlled by pure monopolies and enormously and outrageously protected by the tariff and favored by the internal revenue laws.

Meanwhile our octopus chasers of the Department of Justice might find amusement in running these varmints to earth.

Everybody is Coming to Brytown Next Week.

Webster's Weekly.

The Central Carolina Fair at Greensboro will be the greatest this year in its history. The exhibits and attractions will be well worth going a hundred miles to see. The premiums and purses will aggregate $9,000, which shows the Greensboro spirit. Hon. William Jennings Bryan will honor the occasion with his presence and will deliver an address. Greensboro has been a Bryan town for more than a dozen years, since he delivered the commencement address at the Normal and Industrial College in the early '90's and he will be given the reception of his life there this year. We need not urge the people of this section to help swell the chorus. Nothing but high water or a railroad wreck will keep them away.

Gilliam-Turner at Reidsville.

Reidsville, Oct. 4.—There was a marriage at the residence of Mr. J. C. Hufflines Wednesday afternoon with just a tinge of romance attached. The contracting parties were Mr. Alvin Gilliam, of Melver, and Miss Dora Turner, a pretty young lady of Axton, Va. Several of the groom's friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony. Wednesday morning Mr. Gilliam met Miss Turner at Stokesland and they came to Reidsville on No. 7. Soon after their arrival here they went to Mr. Hufflines home and Rev. B. F. Fincher was summoned to tie the nuptial knot. Mr. and Mrs. Gilliam now reside at Melver.

Two Children Burn in Lynchburg Home.

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 5.—The home of Cary P. Mundy, a well-known merchant of this city, was burned tonight, as the result of a lamp explosion, and before firemen could get into the building two of their children, aged ten and eight respectively, suffocated. Mrs. Mundy escaped from a rear exit with her three-year-old baby. The flames spread so rapidly that it was impossible to reach the other two children. The home is in ruins, and Mrs. Mundy is in a critical condition as the result of her experience.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 6.—In this sermon the preacher pictures life as a journey and the world as a great temporary camping ground and shows what preparations and precautions are necessary to avoid its snares and pitfalls. The text is Luke ii, 44, "Went a day's journey."

In olden times man could live with less dependence than now on his fellow-men. Yet there were certain necessities that were imperative for him to take along when he went on a long journey. So essential were these necessities that no man in the east ever broke away from civilization until he had first made sure that he had them all along. For when the home cities had once been left behind the hills and the journey had commenced there was no way of procuring these necessities. Thus in Palestine, when a caravan or a party of travelers were about to journey from one region into another region and go through a wilderness of rocks and trees infested by wild beasts and brigands, they would always start their first day's journey about 4 or 5 o'clock in the evening. Then they would journey five or eight miles and pitch camp. Then they would overhaul their baggage and look to the trappings of the horses and see that their spears and their bows and arrows and swords and hunting weapons were at hand and in good order. Then they would count noses and find out whether all the members of the families were present. Then if anything or anybody was absent or forgotten, and there was almost sure to be something or somebody left behind, a messenger could return to town and replenish what was wanted or bring back the person who was inadvertently lost. A wise camping party going to the woods for a summer vacation in this country does well to practice the same custom. Always start your first day's journey in the morning. Almost without exception, careful as you may be, you will find that some essential upon which the happiness of your summer trip is more or less dependent has been left behind.

Now, when Joseph and Mary, after the feast of the Passover at Jerusalem, had turned north for their home city of Nazareth they followed this custom of the east. They started in the evening. After they had pitched camp with the other members of the traveling party they began to overhaul their goods to see if they had forgotten anything. They were going through a wild region, not only infested by robbers and wild beasts, but by their unfriendly neighbors, the Samaritans. After they had looked over their clothes and food supplies Mary turned to her husband and said, "Joseph, dear, where is Jesus?" "Oh," answered Joseph, "I think he is all right in the camp. I saw him when we were in Jerusalem, and I supposed that he was with friends. But I have not seen him since we started." As the night had almost fallen, Mary, motherlike, became anxious. She went from tent to tent and from campfire to campfire. Everywhere she kept asking the question, "Have you seen Jesus? Have you seen my boy? Did he not leave the Jerusalem walls with us? I can't find my Jesus anywhere." Well, Mary said an old Hebrew, "never mind. It is only a few miles back. We have only traveled our first day's journey. We will wait for you a day, and you go back and you will find him. Nearly always somebody is left behind. That is the reason we always start our first day's journey in the evening hour."

Life as a Camping Journey.
As one who has camped a good deal in life and spent many months in the woods, this text has taken a firm hold upon my mind and heart. Life always seems to me to be a camping journey. When we plunge into the woods we break away from the old homestead. Then we have to be surrounded by day fences and depend upon the strength of our own hands for our success or failure. Now, some people start their journey of life in a happy-go-lucky way. They do not seem to care what they have in camp or what they have left behind. They start off on their journey of life early in the morning, and when they pitch camp at night they are so far away from their home city that they cannot go back and procure what they lack. Others start their journey of life in the evening. Then if anything is lost they start their journey of life in a happy-go-lucky way. As some of us are just pitching camp a few miles away from the old homesteads, I want you to take an inventory and find out what essential you lack and go back and procure them.

I want you, in the first place, for this journey of life to overhaul your mental equipment. I am not asking you whether you have a mind. There is not a man or a woman here who has not enough better enough to make a success of life if that brain is used aright. But what I am asking you is this: Have you a developed and educated brain? Have you a brain capable of accomplishing results? Have you a brain that has been taught and trained so as to enable you to excel in some department of the world's work? We cannot all be lawyers or physicians, but every man before he sets out on his journey in active life should have found out what is his specialty and should have been trained to succeed in it. It may be only to make a table or construct a watch, but he should be able to do that better than other people. If he is a lapidary he should be able to distinguish the precious stone from the common pebble and should know how to cut and polish it. If you find when you make your first halt that you have not this capacity to do some one work better than others, I would advise you to go back and acquire this power, this trained brain, before you proceed further. Remember you are pitching camp as did Joseph and Mary after your first day's journey.

In camp every one must be willing to do his part, and more than his part, or else friction will surely come. Some one must chop the wood and wash the dishes. Some one must carry the water and unload the pack mules or the wagon. Some one must take the long, weary journey to find grain and pasture for horses. All these tasks are not easy to perform when your muscles are tired and you have the blood jumping and jabbing and throbbing in your inflamed feet. But some one has to do these tasks. If you are not willing to do them some one else must. And yet sometimes you will have a man on a camping trip who is too lazy and selfish to do anything or to learn to do anything. He magnifies his own troubles and disparages your labors until he becomes a perfect pest and makes himself miserable and irritates every one around him. That is the journey of life. Some men are willing to do their share of work and a great deal more than their share of work. If they are mentally incompetent, then they bravely and conscientiously say: "I will repair my mental deficiencies. I will learn to do my duty. When I am ignorant I will manfully shoulder the burden God has given me to carry." Is that your life, O man? Is that your life, O woman? What you mentally lack are you by God's help and by hard labor willing to develop?

In the Redwood Forests.
I was mightily impressed with this fact some time ago when traveling among the famous redwood forests of northern California. We had been climbing one of those lofty hills when night overtook us. We slept near a watering trough by the roadside. The tall trees grew taller. The silence of the woods became more still. The presence of God was perceptible as it is to none but those who have been communing with him in the silent places of nature. The next morning a fine, tall, handsome man stopped in camp. He was on his way back to his timber claim. He asked me to accompany him and take a short cut through the woods to the road ahead, and I went. While we walked along he told me the struggles of his life. He was left fatherless at eight years of age. At nine he was working for his living. At eleven he was driving a plow. Utterly alone he had to work his way up. Some years ago he came to the redwood forests as a teamster. Now he was the owner of some of the finest sections in that region. Then what do you suppose he talked about? His success? Oh, no! About his lack of education. Though a grown man of nearly thirty years of age, he intended the next winter to go back to Eureka and enter the public school as if he had been a little boy. Do you suppose you could keep down a man like that? Never! He worked, and he worked hard, but as he worked he said, "The educational deficiencies of my youth I must and will rectify." I admired that man's courage and humility. I thought then what a good thing it would be for some of us if we took the same course. At the end of the first day's journey we have discovered that we have not the capacity requisite to fulfill the duties we have undertaken. We spent our school and college days in idleness and frivolity. We are not equipped for the journey of life. Is it possible for us to lay aside our pride and go back to obtain the equipment we need?

Dangers to Be Met.
But a man in the journey of life needs to be more than mentally equipped. He must also be physically and morally protected. As many dangers confronted the oriental traveler, so when a young man breaks loose from his home surroundings there are many temptations before him. The only way to successfully meet and overcome these temptations is to prepare for them before we start. You would not have thought much of the old "forty-niner" who attempted to cross the western prairie without first well testing his shooting irons. He may not have cared how the exterior of his gun looked, but he was very careful about the inner side of his rifles. He always saw to it that no rust was there and there was no indentation of his barrels. Whether those guns shot straight or no was to decide his life or death. The fierce savages, the ugly grizzlies, the hungry panthers and the half starved pack of wolves all demanded that he should be well protected. He therefore took care that his gun was in good order and that he had plenty of ammunition.

Then in olden times the travelers never depended upon their guns alone. They looked for success to their companions' guns as well. Thus in the far east as well as in our own country you rarely found men traveling long distances alone. When the old "forty-niners" traveled through the west they met at some outskirt town and made up a train. Then when they were passing through the regions infested by hostile savages they traveled as an army. The sentinels kept watch at night. The horses were securely guarded lest they might be stampeded in some midnight raid. When the camp was attacked the wagons were used as fortresses and the riflemen deployed. If you and I go camping a few miles from home where we encounter only the gentle sheep and cattle of some friendly rancher, it does not make much difference where we sleep. We open our camp cots at any position. But when we are in the woods far away from the nearest railroad station, when we lie away to the lair of the bear and the treacherous wildcat, then we hug close to the campfire and have the magazines of our guns well filled with cartridges, for there is danger lurking on every hand. Now, in this journey of life we must meet our moral and spiritual dangers. In our first halting place away from home do we find ourselves prepared to resist those dangers? If not, then had we not better go back where we can supply our spiritual deficiencies?

Study the life of your father and mother. How did your father meet the awful troubles and trials and temptations which came to him? When he told you some years ago of some of his struggles and how he had been unjustly treated and how sin in its most enticing form came to him you said: "Father, I don't see how you withstood those troubles and temptations. Why, father, if that temptation had come to me I surely would have fallen." So you would if you had met those temptations as you met them. But you would not fall if you had met those temptations as your father met them. When you think of your father now, you cannot remember one moment when he did not impress you with the fact that he had a supernatural strength given to him with which to meet the temptations of life. My brother, you have the same temptations to meet as he had. Do you not crave the same divine strength with which to fight those moral and spiritual dangers? If your dear father was to rise from his grave, would he not be speaking to you as I am doing now? It is not too late to go back to Jerusalem and at the altar of Calvary supply your spiritual deficiencies. Remember, you are still at your first spiritual camping place. It is not too late to take Christ along with you on your journey of life.

The Destination.
But there is another fact we must settle before we start upon the journey of life, and that is our destination. If you were to go to one of the old frontier towns of 1850, you would find many people assembling there from all the different parts of the United States. Some of those trains of "prairie schooners" would be planning to go to Oregon and Washington territories. Some would be seeking the gold fields of California. Some would be seeking western farms. Each of those emigrants was planning to go to some definite region, and he would lay his plans and map out his course before he started. It is of vital importance for a man to know in what direction he is to travel before he leaves the home city. After we have been traveling on day after day it is almost impossible for us to turn back and start out with another party of emigrants. If you were to enter the camp tonight in which Joseph and Mary were traveling you would find there was no doubt in their minds in which direction they were going to travel. Let us ask Joseph and have him tell us how he came to join this caravan.

Here he is now by the campfire. Mary and he are worrying about their absent boy. "Hello, Joseph, is that you? You say you left Jesus behind? How could you loving father and mother do as you have done?" "Well," answers Joseph, "I will tell you. We went down to Jerusalem to attend the Passover feast. After the national festivity was over I began to look around to find out when the first party of travelers was going north to my home town of Nazareth. Every day the people were leaving, but they were all going in directions we did not wish to travel. Last night I heard that a party of men would start for the Zebulun hills. Of course both Mary and myself had to do a lot of preparation in order to get off at such quick notice. In the excitement of getting our things together we did not look as carefully after our boy as we ought. This is the only party of travelers who are going to Nazareth for two weeks. We had to join this party or not go at all. This is the reason why Jesus was forgotten in the rush of getting off." Yes, it would have been very silly for Joseph and Mary to travel toward Machpelah in the hope of somehow getting around to Nazareth. It is a very foolish move for some of us to start the journey of life when we do not know or care to what destination we are heading. O man, are you traveling toward heaven? Are you journeying toward the cross?

Sinful Companions.
But there is still another warning which I want you to heed well in your journey of life—that is the moral and the spiritual character of the men and the women with whom you are bound to be brought in daily association. This warning is no joke in reference to those with whom we go forth into the woods upon some summer vacation. If you do not heed well the kind of people with whom you go camping in the summer your whole spiritual life may be wrecked.

No man, I care not how strong he may be, is strong enough to resist the pernicious influence of sinful companions. There is an old saying that if you put one decayed apple in a barrel filled with red apples which have just been gathered from the orchard that rotten apple in time will contaminate all the other apples in the barrel. Therefore if you put one good apple among a dish of decayed apples it will not be long before that good apple will become decayed. And yet some people profess to believe that a good man can be placed side by side with a lot of morally diseased men and be as good as if he were not when he began to associate with his evil companions. That belief is against all the laws of common sense.

But there is one fact above all others which our text teaches—that is, when we start out on our journey of life we should take all our dear ones along. A man may have an unutterable longing for the woods. His overtaxed brain and nerves may be calling to him day by day: "Rest, rest! I must have rest!" He may be in great glee as he packs away his camping outfit and puts his trout flies carefully away in his pocketbook and straps his gun cases. He may feel his blood coursing through his veins with renewed strength as he leaves civilization behind and climbs the mountain untrodden save by the woodsman with his axes. But when night begins to fall and time for going to sleep in his camping bag comes around or when Sunday comes when he does not fish or hunt or travel the one thought which is uppermost in his mind and heart is this: "I wonder how the folks are getting along at home? I wonder if the babies are well? I wonder if I will ever see them again? Oh, I wish they were all here!" Friend, have you ever been on a camping trip when you have been weeks and weeks away from home? Have you ever had this unutterable longing come over you which some people call old fashioned homesickness? Then, if you so miss your dear ones when you are away from home for a few weeks, how do you suppose you would feel if you were never to meet them again?

The Dear Ones.
Mary and Joseph, why are you so anxious about Jesus? He is nothing but a boy, a small boy twelve years of age. Why do you want to go clear back to Jerusalem to find him? "Why," says Mary, "if we do not take Jesus along now something may happen to him. He will find out that we have left him, and then he may try to follow us and be killed by the robbers or the wild beasts or perhaps sold into slavery. Oh, no; we must find our boy. We could never be happy a day unless we knew that our dear boy was safe." Friend, is not that the way we should be in the journey of life? Could we ever be happy on earth or in heaven unless we knew that our dear ones were safe with us and safe with God? And yet, alas, how many of us do not seem to care whether our husbands and wives and brothers and sisters and children are safe in Christ! Dare we, can we longer continue our journey toward the city of the New Jerusalem unless we go back and persuade our loved ones to surrender their hearts to Jesus Christ and come along?

But many of us are to be counted among those who have just started upon the wrong road of sin. We are not far from the Jerusalem walls. We are at the first stopping place. We have now plenty of time to look around and see if we are in evil company and take an account of our deficiencies. Will you not go back to the purities of your past life? Will you not rectify your mistakes and evil tendencies? Will you not start your spiritual and temporal journey anew? You have not gone over the precipice of sin. You are only nearing the brink where you may look into the gaping depths of an eternal death. This hour is a critical time in your life. You are not only deciding your destiny for time, but you are deciding what goal you will reach for eternity. Christ today is pleading with you to come back to the higher and nobler life. Your dear ones are also pleading with you. It is not too late. You are only gamping at the first halting place, not far from the city of Jerusalem. "But they, supposing him to have been in the company, went a day's journey, and they sought him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance."

The Number of Animals.
Every now and then, says Wissen fur Alle, some naturalist endeavors to make an approximate numerical count of known animal species. This kind of attempt is surely not without interest, but it must be acknowledged that its results are very uncertain. We are far from knowing all species, and there is yet a delightful prospect ahead for those who love systematic zoology and for zoologists who bestow mutual honors by giving each other's name to some animal hitherto unknown.

As Nurmman remarked to a recent meeting of naturalists at the museum, to which he presented his "Catalogues Mammalia," the species of rodents known in 1880 were only 970 in number. Now they are 1,900. The number has thus at least doubled in twenty-seven years. The number of living species of this creature now known is about 1,500, divided among 169 genera. This family is the most numerous of the class of mammalia.

"At" and "Across."
Dissenting from the opinion of most of his fellow countrymen, Professor John Lester, an English speaker, at a meeting of the Friends' Educational association in Philadelphia declared that the manners of boys in the United States were better than those of English lads. This, he held, was due to the influence of American mothers and woman teachers in our schools.

"The American boy," said Professor Lester, "learns his first lesson in morality at his mother's knee. The English boy generally learns his across his father's."—Woman's Home Companion.

Better Than He Knew.
The hour had come for the language lesson in a government Indian school. Among the words on the board to be put into sentences was the word "singular." The teacher explained that it meant queer, peculiar, odd, uncommon. Tommie Stewart, a half breed Crow Indian twelve years old, produced a result of diligent labor, showing a bit of humor in his makeup and keen observation, as far as the Indians were concerned at least. He wrote the following sentence: "If a man have no wife he is singular."—Harper's.

William Hilton, colored, is the latest blind-tiger operator to fall into the clutches of the police. William's restaurant on South Elm has been under suspicion for some time, but it was not until last Friday night that the officers found evidence sufficient to convict.

Mr. J. F. Crutchfield, a hustling young Chathamite who has been traveling for the Greensboro branch of the J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company for several years, resigned last week to engage in the automobile business. He will have charge of the Reo agency at Charleston, S. C.

Mr. J. M. Foust, of Mt. Vernon Springs, was here last week on business. He is planning to undertake extensive improvements in the springs property, which is now owned by a Greensboro company. Mr. Foust retains an interest in the property and will continue to manage it.

Graham Tribune, 4th: The twentieth annual fair of the Alamance Fair Association will close today and it has been one of the best attended fairs in the history of the association. There were more free attractions and better than ever before provided by the association and the exhibits were excellent.

Six cows belonging to J. R. Moorefield, a butcher, were killed by a north-bound passenger train about 4 o'clock yesterday morning on the curve near the residence of Mrs. R. P. Dick. The animals escaped from a car in which they had been shipped to the city only a few hours previous, wandering along the track for some distance before they met with a mishap.

Rev. J. A. Bowles, pastor of the West Greensboro charge, closed a very successful revival meeting at Oakdale last Sunday afternoon. There were a large number of conversions and some accessions to the church. He is engaged in a special meeting this week at the Pomona cotton mill, services being conducted in the hall over the spacious graded school building.

Mrs. A. C. Wray, an excellent woman living five miles north of the city, died Sunday night after a brief illness and was buried yesterday at Pisgah church after funeral services conducted by Rev. J. A. Bowles. Mrs. Wray had suffered from Bright's disease for some years. She was a sister of the late W. E. Parks, and leaves a husband, five sons and a daughter. Her age was 67 years.

Superior Court Clerk Clapp has asked the newspapers to state that the numbers for automobiles and all the necessary blanks have arrived and can be had by application to his office. It is a misdemeanor for an owner or driver not to secure these numbers and he hopes all machine owners will call at once. Several have the numbers displayed on their machines, but quite a number have not complied with the law.

One day last week we called at Townsend & Co.'s store on South Elm street and found them busy selling and shipping out goods in every direction. If you are going to need anything in the buggy, wagon, or farm implement line, it would pay you to see them or write for their large catalogue, as they say they are determined to make this year the largest year's business they have ever had. Prices will do it. Their stock is simply immense.

John Crocker and James Iddings, two white boys, were locked up Monday morning after confessing to the police that they had robbed Hepler Brothers' grocery store the night previous. A revolver found on the Crocker boy was identified as one stolen from the bicycle shop of E. G. Hege a week before, and when questioned closely the boys admitted having robbed that place, stating that the wheels stolen from Mr. Hege could be found near Hilltop. They went to jail in default of bond.

Vivian Hanner, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. J. F. Hanner, who lives near Alamance church, met with a great misfortune last Thursday. While feeding an old style cane mill he attempted to dislodge a stalk that had slipped from the rolls into the cogs of the machine and his right hand was terribly mangled by the cogs. Dr. C. S. Gilmer and Dr. W. P. Beall, who attended the injured boy, found it necessary to amputate the thumb and all the fingers save the little one on that hand. He is doing as well as could be expected.

Secretary T. Gilbert Pearson, of the Audubon Society, is in Atlanta attending the meeting of the Cotton Growers' Association. Representatives of the Audubon Society from most of the Northern states will be present. The object of the bird protectors visit to the meeting of the association is to enlist the support of the cotton men in getting appropriations from the government for the propagation of birds. It is said that there are sixteen varieties of birds that are fond of boll weevils for breakfast and it is hoped to interest the cotton growers in their welfare.

Bitten by a Spider.

Through blood poisoning caused by a spider bite, John Washington, of Bogueville, Tex., would have lost his leg, which became a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes: "The first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores." Heals every sore. 25c. by all druggists.

Special Request.

If you buy any article at this store and it proves to be not as represented when examined at home or used bring it back and tell us about it. We would much rather have you complain about goods that are not right than have you keep them and say nothing about it. In the great amount of business done here a mistake will occur occasionally in spite of all our care. And it may happen that an article is sold that is not just what it ought to be. Now, if you don't tell us about a thing of this kind we never know the difference and go right on selling and recommending a thing that is not giving satisfaction. So there are two good reasons why we want you to "kick" when our goods don't turn out right, first, because we want to satisfy you, even if we have to return your money, and second, because we want to know what goods we are selling that are not giving satisfaction so that we can cut such lines out or make a claim on the manufacturer or wholesale dealer from whom they were bought. Our stock of new fall and winter shoes, dry goods, carpets and underwear is now complete and ready for your inspection.
