PLEASANT GARDEN HIGH SCHOOL.

Interesting Exercises of Commencement —Eloquent Address by Hon. Locke
Craig—Medals and Prizes Awarded.

Yesterday was a gala day at Pleasant Garden, the occasion being the celebration of the commencement exercises of the excellent high school at that place.
The day was ideal in every respect,
and the large crowd of happy and contented people that gathered in the pretty and progressive village enjoyed the exercises to the utmost. The students rendered a very attractive program in a most creditable manner.
The literary address was delivered by Hon. Locke Craig, of Asheville, who delighted every one who heard him.

Commencement was ushered in Sunday, with the annual sermon, which was delivered by Rev. H. M. Blair, of this city, editor of the North Carolina Christian Advocate. Monday night the students of the primary and intermediate departments gave an entertainment which was attended and enjoyed by a large crowd. The exercises came to a close last night with a concert by the students of the high school department.

COMMENCEMENT DAY PROPER.

Owing to the size of the crowd, the exercises yesterday were held out in the open, seats being arranged under the shade of the beautiful oak trees in front of the school building. Shortly before 11 o'clock the exercises were opened with a stirring selection by the Jamestown band. The remainder of the program was as follows:

Chorus—In the Good Old United States.

Essay—The Passing of a Great Curse
—Ola Whitely.

Oration—A Great American Undertaking—William Stover.

Overture—Misses Fentress and Willie Rockett.

Essay—The American Nation Interested in Aliens to the Neglect of Her Own People—Mary Neelley.

Quartet—Ching-O-Ling—Henderson,
Woosley, Dexter and Fentress.

Oration—The Trust as a Factor in
Our Industrial Development—John Woosley.

Essay—The Appalachian Park Reserve—Annie Scott.

Vocal Solo—Hearts and Flowers—
William Henderson.

Music—By Band.

Space forbids individual mention of those who participated in rendering the program, but it should be said that all acquitted themselves handsomely.

The music, the essays and the orations showed much thought and careful training.

When the students had completed their part of the program, Prof. O. V.
Woosley, principal of the school, presented the orator of the day, Hon.
Locke Craig, who spoke earnestly, elo-quently and forcefully. Mr. Craig began his address by declaring that the schoolboys and schoolgirls are the hope of the country, adding that anything done for the welfare of the young is done for the welfare of the country.

Stated, said the speaker, means, in its essence, the giving of an opportunity to the young people. "The highest civilization exists in that society which guarantees to all people equality of opportunity. All that any state can do is to guarantee to its children an opportunity, and I believe I know—the people of North Carolina mean to do this. The command, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself' means also that we should love our neighbor's children as we love our own children, and upon this proposition is based our public school system.

"Every man admires the public-spirited man—the man who not only wants a good road running by his own house, but who is willing to build a road by his neighbor's house; the man who not only does something for himself, but wants to see his neighbor prosper at the same time. The culmination of public spirit is the establishment and maintenance of good public schools. It is the prime duty of every community to guarantee to every individual an opportunity for attaining to the highest development, morally,
mentally and physically."

Speaking of the advantages of schools and the environment of culture, Mr. Craig said: "I have seen this thing you call book-learning transform the very physical appearance of people, for it goes down into the bone and sinew of our make-up. In ages to come, when we build a monument to the men who laid the foundation for the greatness of North Carolina, there will be inscribed upon it the names of the great educators whose lives have blessed this state. I appeal to every parent and every citizen that his highest duty to society is to help guarantee to every child an opportunity to attain to the highest development."

The speaker stressed the point that there is no limitation to the possibility of the human intellect, and illustrating the point, told how the discoveries and inventions of James Watt, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Edison and others have blessed and transformed the world. "Our greatest inheritance is the responsibility of the present," declared Mr. Craig. We admire the man who can make money and bring things to pass, but unless our material development has for its ultimate end the development of human character, it is a mockery and a sham. I rejoice that the day is coming when our great material development will mean the moral and intellectual development of all our people."

Mr. Craig asserted that no man is entitled to a living in this world unless he does some useful work. The man who doesn't work is a hobo, whether he rides the brake beams of a freight car or is clothed in purple and fine linen.

Mr. Craig referred to the business depression throughout the country and reminded his hearers that North Carolina has seen hard times before. He grew eloquent in describing the hardships through which the people of this state passed after the civil war. "The men who walked from Appomattox came with a smile upon their faces and with a stern resolution to their hearts to build upon the ruins of the old South a new South with a greater destiny. We came through military despotism and a period of starvation, and at this late day North Carolina is not going to take a backward step.
There is too much energy and determination in our people. In potential possibilities North Carolina is the greatest state in the union. I believe we have about 300 cotton mills in North Carolina, but we ought to have 3,000. But we do not love our natural resources, great as they are, as we love
the boys and girls of North Carolina."

Mr. Craig's peroration, a tribute to the womanhood and manhood of North Carolina, was truly eloquent and elicited great applause.

MEDALS AND PRIZES AWARDED.

After Mr. Craig had concluded his speech, several medals and prizes were awarded to students who had won distinction in various departments during the term. The scholarship medal, given by Dr. Wesley Cobb to the student making the best grade in the high school department, was presented by Mr. Thomas S. Beall, of the Greensboro bar, in a very graceful little speech, to Miss Mary Neelley. Dr. Cobb also gave two medals for the greatest improvement in the intermediate and primary departments, and these were presented by Mr. Beall to Miss Elsie McCulloch, of the intermediate department, and Willie Weatherly, of the primary department.

The Cravenian Literary Society medal for the greatest improvement in debating was presented by County Superintendent Foust to Walter Bowman, of Brown Summit. Two books as second prizes in the intermediate and primary departments were presented by Prof. Foust to Misses Agnes Neelley and Ethel Neelley.

Prof. O. V. Woosley, principal of the school, announced that the following six students had achieved distinction
by having been on time every school day during the eight months' term:
Lita Hodgkin, Annie Scott, Lystra Kirkman, J. C. Ross, Amelia Ross and Basil Ross.

Mr. L. W. White, a popular resident of the community and a strong friend of the school, was called on to make a few remarks before the exercises closed.
He responded in a very pleasing vein, referring to the many friendships he had made during his residence in the community and speaking in terms of the highest praise of the high school and its capable young principal. At his suggestion, the crowd gave a vote of thanks of its appreciation of the efforts of Prof. Woosley. The crowd particularly enjoyed a humorous rhyme Mr. White had prepared for the occasion and which he read. In the verses he made a play on the names of a number of his friends in the community, the reading of which was the occasion of much merriment.

The commencement marshals, who attended to seating the crowd and other details, were: John Woosley, chief; Jinnie Gorrell, Maggie Cole, Stacy Kirkman and William Stover.

This report would be incomplete without a reference to the elegant and bountiful dinner which was spread for the crowd after the formal exercises had come to an end. The dinner was served in picnic style—and it was a dinner fit for the gods. It was such a dinner as one could expect to enjoy only in such a prosperous and hospitable community. If any one went away hungry, it was his own fault, for

there was more than a sufficiency of the rich and tempting viands prepared by the good women of the community, and everybody was invited to share
the bountiful hospitality.

In the next issue of the PATRIOT we hope to have something more to say of the high school and the enterprising community of Pleasant Garden.

MUSIC FESTIVAL.

Splendid Programs Rendered at Four Concerts—Largely Attended.

The sixth annual music festival of the Greensboro Musical Association, which was held Monday and yesterday, was decidedly the most artistic and enjoyable affair of the kind yet given by the association. Concerts were given Monday afternoon and evening and yesterday afternoon and evening, all being attended by large numbers of music-loving people.

The opening concert Monday afternoon was complimentary to the students of the State Normal and Industrial College, Greensboro Female College and the city public schools. The evening concert consisted of a miscellaneous programme, with numbers from famous grand operas, "Faust,"
"Othello," and "Eugene Onegin," Tchaikowsky's great opera. The Tuesday afternoon concert consisted of excerpts from Mendelssohn's "St.
Paul," Reed Miller singing the tenor solos. The remainder of the programme was a memorial to the great Norwegian composer, Edward Greig, whose recent death is still in mind.

The festival came to a close last night,
with a grand orchestral concert by the New York Symphony orchestra, with Mr. Walter Damroch, one of the leading musicians of the country, as conductor. A feature of the program was the singing of Madam Mary Hissem DeMoss, a famous dramatic soprano.

WOMAN TEMPERANCE LECTURER.

Mrs. Nannie E. Curtis, of Texas, Speaks
In Greensboro.

Mrs. Nannie E. Curtis, of Sherman,
Texas, a noted temperance lecturer, spoke to a crowd of about 200 men and women in the county court house yesterday. She fully sustained her reputation as a prohibition speaker of force and eloquence.

Mrs. Curtis criticized the political parties for their stand on the question and maintained that the sale of liquor is contrary to the spirit of American institutions and unconstitutional.

The speaker drew fearful pictures of the evils of drunkenness and appealed powerfully to the emotions of her hearers, at times moving many of them to tears. She said that the present contest was one between the babies and the bottles, and that the women would always stand by their children, and that the men ought to give their assistance.

She scored churchmen who drink and said that men who line up with breweries and saloons in an election would shame the very devils in hell.

Cotton Mill Situation.

At a meeting of cotton manufacturers in Spartanburg, S. C., Saturday, it was resolved that the mills of North and South Carolina will accept no further orders for cloth at present prices and that the mills will shut down indefinitely not later than July 1st. The closing down of the mills will throw many thousands of people out of employment.

The people of Guilford county will be glad to learn that the action of the Spartanburg meeting does not affect the cotton mills in Greensboro. Mr.
Caesar Cone, president of the Proximity and White Oak mills, and largely interested in the Revolution mills, announces that his mills will continue to run as long as it is possible to do so,
although it is realized that this doubtless means the piling up of a large stock of goods.

valuable in themselves,

The civil term of Superior court adjourned last Wednesday afternoon. The cases set for the remaining days of the week were continued until the next term, which will convene June 1st. The last case tried was the damage suit of William Sloan against the Guilford Lumber Company, the jury rendering a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,000.

The Supreme court of North Carolina last week handed down its opinion in the case wherein certain residents of Chestnut street brought an action enjoining Dr. John Roy Williams from building a tuberculosis sanitarium on that street. The injunction was granted some time ago by Judge James L. Webb and is sustained by the Supreme court.

In addition to the rooms for the Blue lodge, the Commandery and Royal Arch chapter, there is a ladies' parlor, a banquet hall, kitchen, etc.

MARINE BAND COMING.

Also Regiment of Cavalry Will be in Greensboro Centennial Week—Planning Great Celebration.

The trip of the committee which visited Washington Thursday in an effort to secure the Marine band for Greensboro's centennial celebration next October was more successful than had been anticipated, since the gentlemen comprising the committee got the promise of more than they expected to receive. In addition to the Marine band, there will be a regiment of cavalry as an added attraction.

Accompanied by Senator Overman, the committee called on President Roosevelt, who received the Greensboro gentlemen most cordially, and when apprised of the object of their visit, promptly agreed to send the Marine band to this city for the centennial celebration. The President expressed his regret that he would be unable to attend the centennial, saying he was not making any engagements for that far ahead.

Senator Overman also accompanied the committee to the War department, where an invitation was extended to Secretary Taft to attend the centennial. Mr. Taft did not make a definite promise, but said he would be very glad to visit Greensboro at that time and would do so if possible. As showing his interest in the celebration, he said he would be glad to order a regiment of cavalry to Greensboro during the centennial week, and in addition, said the War department would provide a large number of flags for decorating purposes.

Thursday night the Greensboro committee entertained Senator Overman at dinner at the Raleigh hotel. The committee was composed of the following gentlemen: Messrs. G. S. Bradshaw, L. J. Brandt, C. M. Vanstoy, C. D. Benbow and Garland Daniel. These gentlemen are very appreciative of the kindness of Senator Overman, who manifested a deep interest in the object of their visit to Washington and rendered them very material assistance.

The presence of the Marine band and a regiment of soldiers will add much to the success of the centennial, which promises to be the biggest celebration ever held in North Carolina. The Marine band is the greatest musical organization of its kind in the nation, being made up of strictly high grade musicians. Its last appearance in North Carolina was at the Twentieth of May celebration in Charlotte two years ago.

Be a Good Reporter.

In his address at Harvard College, Melville E. Stone, of the Associated Press, said that every individual is liable at any time to become a reporter. No matter how large a force a newspaper employs, nearly all information must be gathered at second-hand, must be reported to the reporter. To say that the press is unreliable, is almost equivalent to saying that the people are unreliable, for the people furnish the news in nine cases out of ten and ought to have pride in seeing to it that the newspaper is promptly and correctly informed. No one should complain of a newspaper who has been derelict in his duties thereto. The President of the United States is not too exalted in his position to neglect going to a good deal of trouble to furnish the press, in a straightforward, reliable and truthful manner, with all information that ought to be published. The people who want good newspapers should follow his example.

Mr. Peter P. Yates, Greensboro, N. C.
Dear Sir:—Answering your inquiry regarding the condition of my wife, will say she had been confined to her bed for about six weeks when you sent her one of your Rheumatic Bands. I never saw a person suffer more than she did. I was using every remedy we could, with the doctor attending her two or three times a day, and she was not improving at all. She put on your Band and began to improve right away, and in three weeks she was well. When she put on high shoes she removed the Band, and had a slight return of rheumatism, but put the Band on again, and in two or three days was entirely well again. I would not have my wife back in the condition she was in when you cured her for all I am worth.

Your friend,

D. E. HOGSED.

Why don't you profit by the experience of others? Your family doctor is all right, and will do all he can for you, but he cannot cure that rheumatism.

I have cured hundreds of hopeless cases with my wonderful Band, dozens of them right here in Greensboro, and in Guilford county.

PLAN OF ORGANIZATION.

Regulations Promulgated by the Democratic State Executive Committee for the Government of the Party.

Section 1. The unit of county organization shall be the voting precinct. In each precinct there shall be an executive committee, to consist of five active Democrats, who shall be elected by the Democratic voters at the several precincts in the meeting first called by the county executive committee. And said committee so elected shall elect one of its members as chairman, who shall preside at all committee meetings.

Sec. 2. The chairmen of the several precinct committees shall compose the county executive committee, which shall meet at the same time and place as the county convention first held in each election year, and elect a chairman of said county committee, who need not be a member of the committee, and he shall preside at all meetings of said committee, and shall hold his place until his successor shall be elected. A majority of said precinct chairmen, in person or by proxy, shall constitute a quorum. The county committee shall likewise appoint a central committee of five, who shall act in its stead when the county committee is not in session.

Sec. 3. In case there shall be a failure on the part of any precinct to elect its executive committee for a period of thirty days, the county executive committee shall appoint said committee from the Democratic voters of said precinct.

Sec. 4. The members of the precinct committee shall elect to any vacancy occurring in said committee.

Sec. 5. The county executive committee shall call all necessary county conventions by giving at least ten days' notice by public advertisement at the courthouse door and at three public places in each precinct, and in such Democratic newspapers as may be published in said county, requesting all Democrats of the county to meet in their respective precincts on a common day therein stated, which said day shall not be less than three days before the meeting of the county convention, for the purpose of electing delegates to said convention.

At the meeting held in each precinct in pursuance of said notice, delegates to represent it in the county convention shall be elected from the body of the Democratic voters of the precinct; and said delegates so elected, or such of them as shall attend the county convention, shall be entitled to vote the full Democratic strength of their precinct in the nomination of candidates and upon all questions which may come before said county convention.

If there is a failure to hold a precinct meeting in pursuance of said notice, or if said meeting shall fail to elect delegates to represent it in said convention, the precinct executive committee shall appoint such delegates from the Democratic voters of the precinct.

PRIMARIES.

Sec. 6. At every precinct meeting there shall (before the delegates to the county convention are elected) be a vote taken for the different candidates for office, whose names may be presented, and the delegates shall vote in the county convention of their respective districts in accordance with this vote; that is to say, each candidate shall receive in the county convention that proportion of the vote to which the precinct may be entitled which he received in the precinct meeting. The chairman and secretary of the precinct meeting shall certify to the county convention the vote received by each candidate at the precinct meeting.

Sec. 7. Each precinct shall be entitled to cast in the county convention one vote for every twenty-five Democratic votes, and one vote for fractions of thirteen Democratic votes cast by the precinct for Governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election: Provided, that every precinct shall be entitled to cast at least one vote in the county convention, and each precinct may appoint as many delegates to said convention as it may see fit.

Sec. 8. The chairman of the precinct executive committee shall preside at all precinct meetings; but in the absence of the chairman of said committee, any other member thereof may preside.

COUNTY, DISTRICT AND STATE CONVENTIONS.

Sec. 9. The district and state conventions shall be composed of delegates appointed by the several county conventions. Each county in the state shall be entitled to elect to the state convention one delegate and one alternate for every 150 Democratic votes, and one delegate and one alternate for fractions over 75 Democratic votes cast therein for Governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election.

Each county convention in the district shall be entitled to elect to their senatorial, judicial, and congressional convention, one delegate and one alternate for every 50 Democratic votes, and one delegate and one alternate for fractions of over 25 Democratic votes cast therein for Governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election; and none but delegates or alternates so elected shall be entitled to seats in said state and district conventions: Provided, that every county shall be entitled to at least one vote in said state and district conventions: Provided further, that in all county conventions in which delegates shall be selected to attend any state, senatorial, judicial, or other convention, a vote shall be taken as provided in this plan of organization as to candidates whose names may be presented to such county convention, and the delegates to such conventions shall be selected from the friends and supporters of each candidate voted for, where practicable, in proportion, as near as may be, to the number of votes he shall receive; and no other instruction shall be given: Provided further, that when only one candidate for office is presented and voted for at a county convention, it shall be lawful to instruct for such candidate.

Sec. 10. At every county convention (before delegates to the state, congressional, judicial, senatorial, or other conventions are chosen) a vote shall be taken as provided in this plan of organization for the different candidates for office whose names may be presented to said county convention, and the delegates thereafter appointed shall cast the vote for their respective counties in accordance with this vote; that is to say, each candidate shall receive in the state, congressional, judicial, senatorial, or other convention, the proportion of the vote to which the county may be entitled which he received in the county convention.

The chairman and secretary of the county convention shall certify to the nominating convention the vote received by each candidate voted for: Provided, that where only one candidate is presented it shall be lawful to instruct for him. At all state and district conventions the delegates from the different counties may disregard the instructions and the vote of their respective counties for candidates with the consent of two-thirds of the delegates, where they are instructed, and where there is no instruction with the consent of a two-thirds majority of all his votes from the county.

Sec. 11. All county, senatorial, judicial, and congressional conventions shall be called to order by the chairman of the executive committee of such county, senatorial, judicial, and congressional district, and in his absence by any member of the executive committee who may be present at the convention, and in case neither the chairman nor a member of the executive committee is present, then by any delegate to said convention, and he shall preside until a permanent chairman is elected by the convention.

Sec. 12. The executive committees of the senatorial, congressional and judicial districts, respectively, shall, at the call of their respective chairmen, meet at some time and place in their respective districts, and select a time and place for holding the district convention, and the chairman of said respective committee shall immediately notify the chairmen of the different county executive committees of the said appointment, and the said county executive committee shall forthwith call conventions of their respective counties in conformity to said notice to send delegates to said district conventions.

GENERAL RULES.

1. At all conventions the delegates shall be selected as near as may be from the friends and supporters of the candidates voted for.

2. Such delegates—or alternates of absent delegates—as may be present at any Democratic convention shall be allowed to cast the whole vote to which their precinct or county may be entitled.

3. In all conventions provided for by this system, after a vote is cast, there shall be no change in such vote until the final result of the ballot shall be announced by the chairman of said convention.

4. All Democratic executive committees shall have the power to fill any vacancies occurring in their respective bodies.

5. The chairmen of the different county conventions shall certify the list of delegates and alternates of the different district and state conventions, and a certified list of said delegates and alternates to the secretary of the state executive committee.

6. It shall be the duty of the county committee and its chairman to furnish such information and make such reports to the chairman of the state committee as he may desire.

7. In all conventions a nomination may be made by any majority, even though it be a fraction of a vote.

FOREST RESERVES.

House Committee on Judiciary Takes Favorable Action.

The judiciary committee in the House of Representatives last week decided that it is constitutional for the national government to acquire land in the states for forest reserves when it can be shown that such acquisition is an aid to navigation. The adoption of a resolution to this effect followed a vote holding unconstitutional the bill providing for the creation of the White Mountain and Appalachian reservation in the absence of the required information concerning the effect of the proposed reservation on the navigability of the streams which are fed by the waters within its boundaries.

Following is the resolution which was unanimously adopted by the committee for the guidance of the House:

"Resolved, That the committee is of the opinion that the Federal government has no power to acquire lands within a state, solely for forest reserves; but under its constitutional power over navigation the Federal government may appropriate money for the purchase of lands and forest reserves in a state, provided it is made clearly to appear that such lands and forest reserves have a direct and substantial connection with the conservation and improvement of the navigability of a river actually navigable in whole or in part; and provided that any appropriation made therefor is limited to that purpose."

"Resolved, That the bills referred to in the resolutions of the House are not confined to such last mentioned purposes and are therefore unconstitutional."

This action of the judiciary committee opens the way for the friends of the Appalachian project to frame a new bill within the constitutional limitations outlined. If such a bill were introduced, it would likely be referred to the committee on rivers and harbors for determination of the practical question of whether forest lands and forest reserves are or can become conservers of stream supply and flow—in other words whether the acquisition of such lands can be held to be in aid of navigability.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz., pure refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hacking coughs caused by irritation and inflammation of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

A Mineral Water that Defies Drugs

NATURE'S GREAT BLOOD TONIC

The recent drug exposures in this Country have proven to all that deadly poisons and stimulants lurk in many Patent Medicines. You never know when you might be taking some of that class.

Nature has made ample provision for restoring vigor and vitality to humanity, and the public, as well as doctors, resort to Natural Remedies, when all others have failed.

Are you troubled with Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Malaria, Kidney or Bladder Trouble, Chronic Diarrhoea or Dysentery, and above all, that dreadful disease Scrofula, which has almost baffled human skill, or Diseases peculiar to Females?

Piedmont-Bedford Concentrated Iron & Alum Water

Is Nature's Remedy for Nature's Ills. Yes, when you consider that disease comes from impoverished or run down conditions of the system, this Natural Mineral Water furnishes the system what it needs.

The analysis of this Water, shown on the bottle, tells you what Nature thinks you should take when sick, and the doctor who reads it will agree.

Do you think the grouping together in this Water of 17 different minerals, which are recognized by medical writers as most powerful blood tonics, could have been accidental? Reason answers, NO!

An 18-oz bottle of Piedmont-Bedford Concentrated Iron and Alum water contains all the minerals of 25 gallons of the average natural water—Then why buy a barrel of water when you can get a bottle of minerals at the trivial cost of one dollar. The dose is a teaspoonful in a glass of your own spring water.

How this Water acts upon the system is not clearly known. It is judged mainly by its works. It has cured all the diseases enumerated above, and many more, evidently through its action as a powerful BLOOD TONIC.

We have many valuable certificates, which we will be glad to mail, if you are interested.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARIES.

At a meeting of the Guilford County Democratic Executive Committee, held in the City of Greensboro on this day, it was agreed that a Primary Election be held in all the Precincts of Guilford County on the 16th day of May, 1908, for the nomination of Democratic candidates for State, Congressional and Judicial offices.

The Executive Committee will meet again on Saturday, April 25th, 1908, at 11 o'clock, in the Court House in Greensboro, for the purpose of appointing Primary Managers in the various Precincts, approving the Primary Rules and other machinery for running the Primary in accordance with the Legalized Primary which now obtains in this County. The Committee will also at this meeting set a date for the Convention to appoint delegates to the State, Congressional and Judicial Conventions, said delegates, under the Legalized Primary Law, to be appointed from among the friends of each candidate in the same proportion as his strength was registered in the Primary.

By order of the Committee,
E. A. BROWN, Chairman.
D. H. COLLINS, Secretary.
Greensboro, April 18, 1908.

CAN'T VOTE IN THE PRIMARY.

To the Democratic Voters of Guilford: Acting on behalf of the County Executive Committee we call on you to do your duty and pay your state and county poll tax before you disfranchise yourselves. Including today, Tuesday, you have just four days left in which to qualify yourselves as voters. You must pay this tax sooner or later, and why not now? If you desire to vote in any primary or election this year you must pay this tax ON or BEFORE the first day of May. A look at the books of the Sheriff shows an alarming state of affairs. In this county 2,500 citizens have so far failed to pay this tax of $2.37. At least 1,000 of these are in Greensboro, 1,000 in High Point and 500 in the county. Most of this number are Democrats. The Republicans have been working nightly getting up and sending out lists of their people whose taxes were unpaid, with the result most of them have paid. Does this not strike you, Mr. Democrat, as a pretty serious situation, and in a year when we are to elect a President and a full state ticket?

E. A. BROWN, Chm.
D. H. COLLINS, Sec.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

Congressman Burton, of Delaware, has introduced in the House of Representatives a bill providing for the establishment of postal savings bank depositories. This bill differs in many respects from previous efforts in this direction, and is unique in many respects. In the first place, the bill provides that a system of postal savings depositories, under the direction of the Postmaster General, be created at every postoffice in the United States, which is authorized to issue money orders and such others as the Postmaster General may designate. These depositories are to be kept open for the same number of hours as is the postoffice in which they are located. The Postmaster General may, in his discretion, limit the establishment of the first depositories to offices of the first, second and third classes. Any person over ten years of age, or any corporation, any married woman in her own name, and any trustee or guardian may open an account. When an application for an account is made to the postmaster of a postal savings bank depository he shall deliver to the depositor a "postal savings certificate," bearing two signature cards and two interest coupons. No savings certificate may be made out for less than $1, nor shall any be made out for more than $99. Interest is payable at six months from the date of deposit and again at twelve months thereafter. The Postmaster General is to deposit all postal savings depository funds in national banks to be designated by him, at a rate of interest not less than 2 1/4 per cent. per annum.

ANOTHER SPECIAL MESSAGE.

Monday President Roosevelt sent to Congress another special message urging certain proposed legislation before adjournment, this being the third communication of the same general tenor during the past three months. Most of the message is taken up in a statement of reasons why Congress should enact laws restricting the power of injunction and amending the Sherman anti-trust law so as to permit combinations under specified restrictions. It was on January 31st that the President sent to Congress the sensational message in which legislation was urged in emphatic terms and "wealthy malefactors" were arraigned in words that fairly sizzled. On March 25th the President sent another special message to Congress. It was a modest little affair of less than 3,000 words, and embodied an epitome of what had been said in the sensational document of January 31st, minus the red-hot objections and torrid figures of speech.

The President addresses himself particularly to the merits of the income bill for the regulation of corporations and for the relief of labor unions. Since its introduction, this measure, supposed to have been carefully prepared, has been subjected to a merciless and most destructive criticism, mainly directed toward two points—its apparent legalization of the boycott and its tremendous aggrandizement of Federal power over the business of the country, legitimate or otherwise. With respect to this last criticism, the President brings forward the familiar but not altogether convincing reply that power cannot be lodged in any branch of the government without risking its abuse. As to the legalization of the boycott Mr. Roosevelt declares that cannot be thought of, at any rate so far as the sale and distribution of manufactured products is concerned.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found an article, under a Reidsville date line, telling of the organization of the Rockingham Brooks club. This action on the part of the Rockingham county friends of Guilford's favorite candidate for the Democratic congressional nomination is significant, especially in view of the fact that Mr. Brooks has done no work in that county in the interest of his candidacy. The Rockingham Democrats know and appreciate Mr. Brooks, and it is a pleasure to know that so many of them are supporting him with loyalty and enthusiasm.

Another illustration of the fact that the Cones are most valuable citizens of Greensboro and Guilford county is afforded by the announcement that the Proximity and White Oak cotton mills are not affected by the action of the meeting of manufacturers in Spartanburg, S. C., Saturday requesting all mills in North and South Carolina to shut down indefinitely after July 1st. The Cone mills, with a daily payroll amounting to more than $2,000 a day, mean a great deal to this section—more than most people imagine.

Guilford county Democrats are glad to have with them this week two candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination—Hon. W. W. Kitchin and Hon. Locke Craig. Mr. Craig spoke at Pleasant Garden yesterday, making no reference to politics, however, and at the White Oak cotton mills, near his city, last night. Mr. Kitchin speaks in High Point tomorrow night and in Greensboro Friday night.

Such a school closing as was witnessed at Pleasant Garden yesterday, would have been impossible with any rural public school in Guilford county ten years ago. The occasion was a most delightful one in every respect the exercises reflecting great credit upon the students and their teachers. The people of the Pleasant Garden community have every reason to feel proud of their excellent high school.

Senator Simmons takes occasion to deny the published rumor that he will be a candidate for election to the office of chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, saying the use of his name in that connection was not authorized. Everybody in North Carolina knows the national committee might go farther and farther in the selection of a chairman.

After today citizens liable for poll tax have only two days in which to "square" themselves if they would not be debarred from voting in all the elections to be held this year. The sheriff will take your money after Friday, but if your receipt bears a date later than May 1st, you are disfranchised for one year of grace.

In one of the cases, forty-eight of the worst criminals.

"STATEMENT IS UNTRUE."

Mr. Manning Says He Never Was Attorney of Southern Railway or Tobacco Trust.

To the Editor:—My attention has been called to the statement in the Charlotte Observer of April 25th, in which it reports Mr. Craig as saying in his Charlotte speech: "Who is at the head of this array of Southern lawyers who are for Mr. Kitchin? James S. Manning. This statement is untrue. I am not now and never have been attorney for the Southern Railway. I have three suits now pending in the Superior Court of Durham against the Southern Railway. Mr. Craig's managers are also sending out literature and cartoons to the effect that I am the attorney of the American Tobacco Co., and the attorney of J. B. and B. N. Duke. This statement is also absolutely false. I am not now and never have been the attorney for the American Tobacco Co., or its allied corporations, or the Messrs. Duke. On the contrary, I have brought several suits against the American Tobacco Co., and the Blackwell Tobacco Co. for damages received by their employees, and in the famous suit which they brought against Major Guthrie for the Blackwell Durham Tobacco Co., I was counsel for Major Guthrie and argued the case for him before Judge Simonton.

See Ausley vs. American Tobacco Co. 130 N. C. page 34; Farrington vs. Blackwell Durham Tobacco Co. 141 N. C. page 80; Leathers vs. Tobacco Co. 144 N. C. page 330; Arrents vs. Guthrie 101 Fed. Rep., page 338. Nor is it true that the American Tobacco Co. or the Southern Railway favor Mr. Kitchin for Governor. It is a well known fact that Col. Andrews is now, and has been for ten years, bitterly opposed to Mr. Kitchin, because he opposed the Southern Railway subsidy. Both Messrs. J. B. and B. N. Duke live in New York and do not vote in North Carolina, but virtually all their close personal friends are against Mr. Kitchin. Mr. John S. Hill, son-in-law of Mr. George W. Watts, resident director of the American Tobacco Co., is the leader of the Craig followers in Durham. The lightest inquiry would have ascertained the truth of these facts. It is evident that Mr. Craig has tired of telling why he voted for James G. Blaine against the Democratic nominee and of explaining his Greensboro speech, and his managers are trying to muddy the waters and obscure the issue. The people are now and have been for 12 years, demanding the rights of the plain people. He has been fighting their battles and they know it. They are going to stand by him in this fight and he will be the next governor of North Carolina. Let us have as our standard bearer a man who has always been a Democrat in the State and in the nation and everywhere.

J. S. MANNING.

Durham, N. C., April 27th, 1908.

TWO SHIPS AUTHORIZED.

Senate Votes Down President's Four Battleship Program.

Washington, April 27.—By an overwhelming vote President Roosevelt's four battleship program failed in the Senate, just as it did in the House. The amendment for four battleships was introduced by Senator Pike and the fight for the adoption was led by Senator Beveridge. Twenty-three votes were cast for the increased program, the number largely being made up of recently elected senators. Fifty senators voted to support the House, and the recommendation of the Senate naval committee in favor of building only two battleships.

The debate on the battleship amendment lasted three days to the exclusion of all other matters. It was begun by Senator Beveridge with an eloquent appeal for the support of the President and a suggestion that the larger navy might be needed for war. Members of the committee upbraided the Indiana senator for this selfish hint of war with another country and sought to make him admit that he meant Japan. At times the discussion came near becoming acrimonious, especially sharp exchanges occurring between Senators Aldrich and Beveridge. The former's references to Mr. Beveridge excited Senator Smith, of Michigan, to protest against the Senate chamber being "made a slaughter-house for the young senator from Indiana."

It was developed by Senator Allison during the debate that there is a well-defined understanding among the Senate leaders for the authorization of two battleships each year, until the American navy is regarded as sufficient to meet any demands that may be made upon it.

As finally passed the bill carries appropriations aggregating $123,115,659, and provides for the construction of two battleships, and two colliers and the purchase of three additional colliers, the construction of submarines and other necessary craft, and increases the pay of officers and enlisted men, as well as increasing both the pay and the strength of the marine corps.

Mr. Samuel T. Ashe, who was editor of the Wilmington Messenger, which suspended publication about two weeks ago, has become the editorial writer of the Wilmington Star, the oldest daily newspaper in North Carolina. Mr. Ashe is one of the strongest editorial writers in the state, and the Star is to be congratulated on procuring his services.

GEORGIA PROHIBITION.

Now that the state of Georgia has been dry several months, and there has been a fair opportunity to test its effect, there could be no better evidence of the unanimity of the favorable sentiment on the subject than that which was displayed when both Democratic candidates for governor signed the pledge.

Some days ago a committee of prohibitionists put the question squarely up to both candidates in writing, inquiring how they stood on what is called in Tennessee state-wide prohibition.

Candidate Joe Brown promptly signed the pledge, and Gov. Smith being out of the city, just as promptly sent in his signature by long distance telephone.

If either candidate had felt that anything like a fair proportion of the voting population would have been some lively dodging before such a document would have been signed.

This action eliminates the whiskey question from Georgia politics, and leaves the Democrats free to vote for the man of their choice before the Democratic primary.

Storm Victims Total 375.

New Orleans, La., April 27.—Another severe wind storm, apparently connected with the tornado of a few days ago, has prevailed in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

The storm was severe in southern Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, blowing down a number of houses already injured by Friday's storm, felling much timber and causing considerable trouble and cost to the railroads by interrupting trains.

Returns from backwoods settlements continue to come in of loss of life from Friday's storm. At Black River, Catiboula Parish, La., twelve persons were killed and nineteen injured; at Conn. Miss., fifteen were killed; at Richton, Miss., fifteen were killed, and at various points along the line of the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad ten have been killed. This brings the total number of known deaths up to 375, with forty more reported but not authenticated.

Of the 1,350 injured, a number are fatally hurt and will die.

WHERE DANGER LIES.

Ambitious American Policy in Manchuria Sure to Breed Trouble. Springfield Republican.

There is a much danger of trouble from an ambitious American policy regarding Manchuria as there is from the presence of a few thousands of Japanese in our Pacific coast states, and perhaps it is time that the fact was fully appreciated. If Russia tightens her grasp upon Northern Manchuria—and what power beside Japan could possibly prevent her?—Japan is likely to tighten her grasp upon Southern Manchuria. In such a case what would the Western powers do about it? Now it is clear at a glance that while only a power superior to Russia on land could compel her to evacuate Northern Manchuria, a superior naval power could force Japan to evacuate Southern Manchuria, because Japan is insular. Does the United States propose ever to drive the Japanese out of Manchuria? Then it must send an overwhelming fleet to the far East. Destroy the Japanese navy and the Japanese power would fall not only in Manchuria, but in Korea. What the attitude of America toward the Japanese position in Manchuria is to be cannot be foretold, with any precision, but of one thing we may be sure. That is that some at least of the recent advocacy in Congress of the four-battle-ships program was avowedly based upon the assumed urgency of the Manchurian question, revealing a sentiment favoring a "strong" policy by our government in that quarter.

If this country wants war, some time it will erect an economic, social and political barrier against the Japanese on this side of the Pacific and then set out to regulate, if not actually dictate, the conditions of their own side of the ocean. Yet that is exactly what the naval extremists of the Hobson-Beveridge school are aiming at, while loudly covering their true purposes with cries for the maintenance of peace. Can any one suppose that the Japanese are so simple that they do not understand this phase of the situation? It is fortunate, therefore, that Congress by heavy majorities has taken action regarding our fleet that cannot be interpreted by the Japanese as forecasting an aggressive policy by the United States in the far East in opposition to what the Japanese may consider their interests.

Asheville Physician, Patient and Drug gist Indicted.

Asheville, April 27.—For an alleged violation of the prohibition laws, as the result of a champagne supper given at one of the principal hotels in which a number of prominent and well known young society men and women figured, several indictments were returned by the Superior court grand jury and the affair aired in open court.

The allegations in the case were that Robert R. Reynolds, a prominent young society man and brother of Judge Spears Reynolds, obtained from Dr. Arthur Pritchard, a prominent young society man and son of Judge J. C. Pritchard, a drugist's prescription for several cases of champagne for a champagne supper given by Mr. Reynolds.

True bills of indictment were returned against members of the Asheville pharmacy, at which place Dr. Pritchard's prescription was filled, and also a bill of indictment against Dr. Pritchard.

The case was called before Judge Peebles, in the Superior court, who quashed the indictments and sent the case to the Police court.

It was alleged that young Reynolds was a patient of Dr. Pritchard, and the latter had prescribed a stimulant for Reynolds on account of athletic training. Reynolds was taking, and that on this particular occasion young Reynolds had appropriated his champagne for the entertainment of his friends.

All the defendants were found not guilty.

Additional interest was attached to the indictment against young Pritchard for violating the prohibition laws, owing to Judge Pritchard having opened the prohibition campaign in North Carolina. He is now engaged in stumping the state in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League.

New Schedule Adopted.

A meeting of the managers of the several cities composing the Carolina League circuit of professional ball clubs was held in this city last night for the purpose of acting upon the schedule presented at the Spartanburg, S. C., meeting some time ago.

The session was held at the Selwyn Hotel and all of the clubs were represented. President J. H. Wearn called the meeting to order and the following named gentlemen were present: Messrs. L. J. Brandt, of Greensboro; S. P. Jones, of Spartanburg, S. C.; E. D. Hines, of Anderson, S. C.; T. Lake City, of Greenville, S. C.; and W. M. Hendren, of Winston-Salem.

After a full discussion, it was decided to adopt a new schedule prepared since the Spartanburg meeting and discard the one presented then. This schedule will give the opening games as originally planned and will be published in a day or two.

The Method of "Praying Blessings" in Union.

Monroe Enquirer.

People passing Mr. Snider Carter's place in Sandy Ridge township last Tuesday morning saw 26 plowmen busy, plowing and planting and working like their lives depended upon getting it all done in one day. If a passing stranger had enquired why all the plowing and planting he would have been told that it was nothing more nor less than a Union county way of praying blessings on a sick neighbor.

Mr. Carter has been sick for some time and is unable to prepare his land and plant his crop, and his brother Woodmen of Mineral Springs camp, members of the World, met as above stated and planted his crop for him.

DIVED TO RISE NO MORE.

Durham Lad Loses His Life in Pool of Water.

Durham, April 27.—Orus Crutchfield, a 16-year-old boy, was drowned in what is almost a mud hole near the city limits yesterday afternoon, not far from his home near Trinity College. His death is peculiarly sad on account of the unusual circumstances surrounding the drowning.

Near the northern limits of the city, some two or three hundred yards outside, there is a washout that fills with water after each hard rain and in fact usually remains full of water. This hole of water is some ten feet across and eight or ten feet deep. Into it some of the boys in that section go swimming each summer. Yesterday afternoon young Crutchfield and two companions, who were his junior, went to the place. The two smaller boys were first in the water and they could swim. Crutchfield waited and then, notwithstanding the fact that he could not swim, removed his clothes and plunged in, saying that he could dive to the bottom of the place even if he could not swim. He made the dive, but did not come up.

His two companions ran off to give the alarm and get help, but when help and physicians were finally secured he had been in the water three-quarters of an hour or more. Every effort at resuscitation proved fruitless. He was beyond human aid.

The body was taken to the mother's home and this afternoon the funeral service was conducted from the Second Baptist church and the interment was in Maplewood cemetery. The mother and several brothers and sisters survive him, one of his brothers being Rev. Mr. Crutchfield, who is a preacher of the Baptist denomination. The drowned boy was a nephew of Register of Deeds M. G. Markham. This county, and was well connected.

Hit by Lightning, Lives.

Lancaster, Pa., April 27.—Struck by lightning, Miss Jennie Martin, nineteen years old, of Bird-in-Hand, lives to joke over the experience.

In the excitement of closing a door the barn of her father, Abram Martin, she was struck by a bolt which tore off every particle of clothing and ripped her shoes to tatters. Stunned for a short while, she recovered, to find her only injury a slight blistered line on her arm and body. A mouth organ she carried in one hand was cut in half.

Her father, in attempting to raise the girl after she was struck, was knocked down, so heavily was her body charged with electricity.

People Leaving Venezuela.

Willemstad, April 27.—Every one who can possibly leave Venezuela is doing so, in desperate haste, in anticipation of a bubonic plague epidemic, which will close all ports and cut off escape from the perils of the disease.

A fly buzzes its wings at the rate of 252 times a second.

The American Beauty rose and the old Brahma hen don't usually thrive as they ought to on the same lawn—that is, the rose doesn't.

Wherever one finds the silo and the clover or alfalfa meadow a sensible and profitable type of agriculture is pretty likely to be in vogue.

It is thought by many that politics more largely than economics was responsible for the unprecedented slump in hogs during the winter months.

It is claimed that the sweetness and flavor of a good orange may be increased by peeling, quartering and allowing it to stand in a cold place overnight.

Cuss words and blows in the dairy barn mean just so many less dollars in the monthly cream check. There are a lot of farmers who haven't got on to this fact yet.

Alfalfa hay at $15, with five tons raised to the acre, accounts for a large share of the prosperity to be found in those portions of the country where this valuable cereal thrives.

The work in the average town or country home is hard and burdensome enough at best without there being an inadequate or unhandy supply of fuel and of hard and soft water.

Flocks of sheep and substantial fences are to be found on the best farms of the country today. The man who doesn't have either improvement is certainly not living up to his agricultural opportunities.

The hog raiser and the man on a salary both have just ground for a kick with live hogs selling at 4 cents per pound and bacon and hams retailing at from 18 to 22 cents. The gap between the raw and finished product is greater than there is any possible excuse for.

Reports are to the effect that eggs may be kept a long time and in excellent condition by wiping them clean and coating them with lard. While the keeping qualities of the egg may be considerably increased in this way, we question if the method is as effective as the water glass solution.

Some idea of the part old Biddy now and then plays in the busting of the egg trust is gathered from the fact that during a period of about four days in the middle of March 44,570,520 eggs were shipped into the city of New York alone. As a result of this deluge of hen fruit there was a slump in the price of eggs—of about 5 cents per dozen.

One of the chief sources of food for the inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands is the tuberous root of the taro plant, which somewhat resembles the water lily. The roots of this plant are ground up into pulp and allowed to settle, in which form it is called "poi." The stuff is very sticky, and the natives eat it by sticking their fingers into a dish of it and then licking them off.

That boy is a mighty unsatisfactory and unpromising proposition, both for himself and other folks, who is lazy as all get out, but still insists on having three square meals a day. It is a source of increasing exasperation on the part of those who have to put up with folks of this type that their constitutional inactivity is almost always accompanied by a remarkably sound state of physical health.

A friend the writer knew some years ago fitted himself for the ministry. While possessing sincerity and earnestness to a marked degree, he was so diffident and ill at ease in the pulpit that his health broke down, and as a result he had to quit his pastoral work. He moved on to a farm which he owned and today runs a model dairy, from which he supplies milk to a large number of customers in a nearby town. While he no longer has a pulpit from which to preach, he still has the same opportunity to deal squarely with his fellows and to give "good measure, pressed down and running over."

While it is always one of the busiest periods of the year, the best time for pruning in the orchard is during April, May and June, as during these months scars that are made most quickly heal over, thereby lessening the possibility that the process of decay will set in at the point of cutting and thus weaken the tree. If the limb cut off is more than an inch in diameter it is well to paint the cut with white lead and oil. All limbs removed should be cut as close as possible to the trunk or main branch, while in removing one of two limbs it is well to remove the one which will leave the cut on the lower side of the main branch rather than the upper and on the side away from the center of the tree rather than on that toward it.

The person who pays his obligations by a check on his deposit in the bank always has at hand an automatic receipt which prevents his paying the same account twice. Of course this situation presupposes a bank account, which is also a pretty good proposition.

It is a very natural instinct perhaps for boys—and this is true of some grown gray headed—to find greater zest in doing a job for one's neighbor than for one's own folks. Perhaps the appreciation they get for the service performed has something to do with the situation described.

There is absolutely no method of protecting from the green goods man, the swindler and grafter the fellow who doesn't read. And, as a rule, the fellow who doesn't read and quite likely doesn't think hasn't the reasoning faculty sufficiently developed to draw helpful deductions from his own experience.

Millet, which is just the thing to sow on the low places on the farm, furnishes a grain supply which, when ground with oats or barley, makes an excellent fattening ration for beef. While millet hay makes a fair roughage ration for cattle if cured at the proper time, it is not so good as timothy, alsike or clover.

It is well for the good housewife to keep in mind that the man of the house and youngsters enjoy a variety of food, as do the animals in the barn. She should vary the soda-biscuit-fried-potato-salt-pork ration now and then and give them a surprise. It is more than likely, too, that she herself will enjoy the change of ration. While the change of diet may not make their coats more sleek, it is quite likely to brighten their eyes and whet their appetites.

Where a business man has employment in a city which is easily reached from suburban locations it is desirable from many points of view to have one's home in such a district. Here his family have the sunshine and pure air of the country, while the advantages offered by the city are also available. Moreover, he himself finds a needed relief and relaxation in the quiet of the country surroundings, there being usually enough to do about the place to give him the physical exercise which he ought to have if he would keep in the best trim for his city work.

The view that is held by many folks and one that is common in the speech of a great many more, whether they believe in it or not, is that ice which suddenly disappears in ponds and rivers at the coming of warm weather "sinks." This is a superstition pure and simple, for there is just the same unerring physical law tending to make it float in the spring as makes it stay on the surface of the water when it forms in the early winter. The solution of the phenomenon is not difficult. When a certain point is reached in the melting and rotting of the ice it suddenly disintegrates into millions of tiny spines or needles, which, exposed to the water of a warmer temperature, quickly melt. The only instance in which a body of ice would sink, would be when it was mixed with or attached to an amount of dirt or stones which would make its specific gravity more than the water which it displaces, thereby causing it to sink rather than float.

When one is thinking of putting money into this or that enterprise it is always well to view with suspicion a proposition of whatever description which promises more than a legitimate return for the use of one's money. One method that is often followed by the worst type of grafters so as to make investors in their games believe that offers of abnormal returns on the investment are sincere is to return to them two or three large interest payments—just enough to increase the appetite for speculation and cause them to put in still more. In reality these payments are taken right out of the first installment of money sent in rather than being the legitimate return of the investment of such funds in a money making enterprise. But the investor finds, to his sorrow, that subsequent returns are not forthcoming. Even in such cases as the one just cited the abnormal interest return may be safely taken as a danger signal. The wise person will heed it and keep his money where he can put his hands on it.

The growing scarcity of post timber in the United States, coupled with a corresponding rise in price for posts of any description, lends additional force to the necessity of giving posts of whatever kind a preservative treatment which will increase their period of service from four to eight fold. An estimate is made in a recent bulletin on the subject issued by the forest service of the federal government that a fencepost which under ordinary circumstances will last two years will if given a preservative treatment costing 10 cents last eighteen years. Putting this in black and white, the bulletin states that the initial cost of a loblolly pine post is about 8 cents, while the cost of setting is 6 cents. Compounding interest at 5 per cent, the annual cost of such a post, supposing it would last two years, would be 7.53 cents. A preservative treatment costing 10 cents per post will increase its use to eighteen years. In this case the post when set costs 24 cents, which, compounded at 5 per cent, gives an annual charge of 2.04 cents, which makes the saving due to the preservative treatment 5.49 cents a year. In view of these figures every landowner who has fences to build should look up thoroughly this matter of a preservative treatment of posts.

CHARACTER RATHER THAN CASH

A fact that is observable in every-day business life and one that the young man just starting out in his career should take serious account of is that it is the character of the man back of a promise to pay rather than the present or prospective size of his pocketbook or bank account that makes his word and his note good and enables him to borrow money in time of need. To put it another way, it is one's disposition rather than one's ability to pay that is the largely determining factor in the fixing of his financial responsibility. In the way of illustrating the above truth there come to mind two men, representative of types that are to be found in almost any community. The one who draws a salary of $75 a month is careless in his money matters and makes a business of beating every man with whom he has a financial transaction. This practice, persisted in for years, has become a matter of habit and character, and today he justly deserves the title of "dead beat" in the community. The other man, representative of the opposite type, though receiving but little more than half the salary of the first and having considerably larger legitimate family expenditures, though often pinched financially, has been scrupulously careful to meet all obligations which he has contracted. The result is that today his word is as good as his note, and any one having money to lend lets him have it without asking any questions. It is a matter of congratulation that there are so many of this honest type and so comparatively few of the dead beat stripe. The young man starting out in life has it in his power to say which of the two classes cited he will belong to. He should remember that, while the salary which he may receive is an important factor as affecting his financial status, the character he forms while earning and spending it is an even more vital consideration.

SHALL HE GO IN DEBT?

That depends somewhat on circumstances. If he is a young man of persistence and industry, has no habits which would tend to dissipate his substance or his energies and is endowed with a fair degree of physical health, we should say that he would be justified in assuming a debt of reasonable amount, governed somewhat by his earning capacity and energy. If, on the other hand, he is lazy, has little or no initiative, is a bad manager and is generally listless and indifferent in the things which he undertakes and performs, he would better continue through life in the capacity of somebody's hired man and not assume a larger financial obligation than he can discharge with a month's wages. While going in debt unquestionably imposes a financial burden with more or less anxiety, it also inculcates a habit of saving and a more strict attention to one's receipts and expenditures. With hard work during a period of years, coupled with prudent management, one will find himself in possession of property that will sell on the market for several thousand dollars. Had the opposite course been followed and no debt assumed the same fellow would probably have been working along in much the same rut as at the start, with little or nothing to show for his efforts. Shall he go into debt? Yes; if he's made out of the right stuff.

MORE IRRIGATED LANDS.

On June 1 there will be open for entry under the terms of the Carey irrigation act 75,000 acres of land in Eden valley, in Sweetwater county, Wyo. This is the remaining portion of a tract of 100,000 acres, 25,000 acres of which have already been advertised for entry by the government. The tract in question will be ready for water during the season of 1909, but will be open for entry June 1 next. The entire cost to the entryman is $30.50 an acre, which includes the perpetual water right. An initial payment of $3.25 an acre is required when the entry is made, the remainder being payable in ten annual installments, terms which enable the settler to pay for his land from the crops which he raises thereon. Any person twenty-one years old or over is entitled to the right of entry if he has never made use of the Carey act right. One can make entry for the land without leaving home and without having to go upon the land until after the water is turned on. Thirty days' residence upon the land is required in order to obtain title. Further information relative to the conditions under which the land can be secured may be obtained by addressing the register of public lands, Washington.

AN EXPENSIVE NUISANCE.

There is probably no other single factor on the average farm that is responsible for more expense, vexation and annoyance than the weed pests against which war has to be waged unrelentingly year after year. While no one is looking for an agricultural millennium, when weeds will be no more, there are certain means, often overlooked or ignored, which enable the farmer to greatly reduce and hold the weed pest in check. One of these is a careful system of crop rotation, in which clover has a place. Added to this there should be a flock of sheep to browse in the small grain and corn fields as soon as the crops are harvested. These two things—crop rotation and sheep—will go a long way toward mitigating the weed nuisance and at the same time will mean a more rational and profitable handling of the farm.

The Texan lit his cigar and expressed a willingness to open negotiations with the enemy, while the enemy collected his thoughts and dug holes in the ground with a short sharp stick.

"Lord Croyland," he began at last, "in this country openness and squareness are the first principles. I've heard that gentlemen have the same ideas in England. Is this true?"

Richard bowed.

"Very well. I'm going to ask you a plain, blunt question, without any intention of offense, and I want you to give me a straight, plain answer. Which one are you after?"

Richard's cigar nearly dropped from between his teeth, while he gazed at his questioner in extreme astonishment.

"Which one of what?" he asked when he recovered himself.

"The girls," said Mr. Van der Awe.

"Perhaps I didn't put it clearly."

The Texan tried hard to conceal his amusement and succeeded imperfectly.

"Ah, I see," he returned. "Which one are you after?"

"Miss Imogene," confessed the young man without reserve, "and if you don't object to my confidence, Lord Croyland, I love her as no man ever loved a girl before. It's—it's—well, hang it, it's painful!" He fell into a thoughtful pause, then looked up again. "Now, I think I've been perfectly candid with you, and I want you to be quite frank with me. If it's Miss Chittenden we can decide what to do later."

"My dear fellow," said Richard, "you can't imagine how I appreciate your openness and squareness. It throws new light upon your glorious American people. Allow me to give you a cigar and be equally unreserved. While I admit without hesitation that Miss Imogene Chittenden is a most charming and utterly desirable young lady, I beg to assure you, sir, that never for a single fraction of a second have I entertained the least idea of—of—in your own phrase—of going after her. Is that satisfactory?"

"Entirely so," said Mr. Van der Awe, holding out his hand with the nearest approach to happiness he had yet shown. "I'm glad to know you in your true, real light. You are not a bit like other Englishmen I have met. Fact is, you don't even talk like one."

"I should like her present fancy for you disinterestedly."

"Thanks," bowed Richard, prudently screwing in his monocle. The eyeglass always made him feel like an idiot; but, on the other hand, it gave a dash of local color to his appearance without which he would have been lost.

"Is there anything else in which I can serve you, old chap?"

"Yes, Lord Croyland, there is. You have very kindly stated to me that you have no intention of making a bid for Imogene. That's very square of you, and I appreciate it. But would you mind telling her so?"

Richard laughed a long, free, bubbly laugh that came echoing back in merry mockery at this most ingenious proposition.

"Well, he said, 'that's rather a difficult thing to do, isn't it? Strikes me as rather—er—indelicately.'"

"Not at all," protested Mr. Van der Awe. "Imogene is a sensible girl!"

"Oh the blindness of love!"—and would understand you perfectly. You see, he explained, "she's young. Her mind, I confess frankly, is immature. She's apt to be—well, dazzled, I might say, by foreign titles and brass buttons and trappings of that description. It's a woman's natural instinct, you know, and I have no logical right to blame her. You see, I have reasoned it all out and I'm speaking from a standpoint of superior age and experience. Now, you can't find fault with that line of thought, can you?"

"Not a flaw," answered Richard gravely. "It's simply perfect. Go on."

The lover proceeded earnestly.

"As Imogene's future husband it is my duty to surround the child with every possible safeguard, and for that reason I should like her present fancy for you disinterestedly. She refused to let me go with her to pick wild flowers this morning and chose you, merely, I suppose, because you are an earl. That's why I followed you. Now, I'm not asking you to do anything that I would not do for you cheerfully, and so I ask you again if you would mind dropping a rather broad hint to Imogene that a union with you is out of the question. You might explain that you are unworthy of her, or something like that. I don't care how you fix it just so it's fixed. What do you say?"

Richard thought for a little space, especially of his harmless but decidedly imprudent remarks to Miss Imogene of half an hour ago. Then he hung away his cigar and turned to his companion.

"Look here," he said, "I'm going to help you out in this matter, but I'll have to do it in my own way. I have a brilliant idea as a starter. Just listen and don't interrupt me. They're going to have a play next Friday night called 'The Man and the Hoe'—no, I beg pardon—the 'Bird.' I'm the man, and Miss Imogene is the bird. You see, the rough idea is this: I'm engaged to Miss Renwyck, but am in love with Miss Imogene to the point of frenzy—in the play, of course. So far so good. The man is in the room with the bird and declares his passion in language which is simply beautiful, making other demonstrations that are realistic both to the actors and the audience. Of course I'd rather set my heart on doing this role; but, by Jove, I'm going to chuck the thing and let you do it!"

"Me?" cried Mr. Van der Awe, clutching at his benefactor's hand.

"Oh, I say!"

"Wait," said Richard. "I haven't finished yet. A young man of your obvious histrionic talent ought fairly to glitter in a part like that, and, besides, it will give you a chance to do the devoted to your ladylove. Just as you are in the middle of it Miss Harriet sails in and denounces you. Oh, it's a bully little play, especially the denunciation! But you don't mind that on account of your great and glorious love for the bird. Miss Harriet's remarks just roll off you like water from a duck's back. Touching little scene! Hanged if I can see how I can give it up, but—" He paused, sighed, then turned impulsively: "Shucks! I don't want to appear mean. The part is yours!"

For half a minute perhaps Mr. Van der Awe gazed in silence at his generous friend, beaming with gratitude.

"Lord Croyland," he murmured brokenly at last, "you're a good fellow! I'll try to do the part justice. I—I don't know how to thank you."

"I'm sure you will. Don't mention it," said Richard, with the van smile of a complete martyr. "Let's play a game of billiards."

CHAPTER XII.

RICHARD, much to his chagrin and disgust, did not see Miss Harriet until the four ladies and the two gentlemen sat down to luncheon. To one thing he had made up his mind definitely—he would follow Mr. Corrigan's advice and brazen it out, putting his faith in luck, but helping luck along with assurance. From the opposite side of the table the fair Imogene cast languishing glances in his direction, while on his left the ancient Miss Schermerly grew positively sprightly and covered him with a Gatling gun of perplexing questions. She wanted authentic information regarding barons, earls and noble dukes, to all of which Richard gave ready but quaint answers—answers that might have caused the English aristocracy to rise in one vast, furious mass and lynch him without formalities of trial or benefit of clergy.

"How different it is from what we read in novels," said Mrs. Renwyck. "I'm afraid our American authors are ill informed. Really, they ought to travel more."

"They travel enough, but I fancy they do not get into the best society abroad," suggested Miss Schermerly. "I shall prepare a paper upon that very subject for the Woman's Literary League. Would you have any objection, Lord Croyland, if I quoted you as an authority?"

"Not in the least," said Richard gallantly. "In fact, my dear Miss Schermerly, I should be honored—vastly so."

He smiled on himself at the thought of the real Lord Croyland should that gentleman ever chance to read the paper in question, but that was Croyland's affair, not his.

"I will bring my notebook into the library this afternoon," the ancient one stated, and, with a smile to Richard, "Could you help me then, do you think?"

"I should be most pleased," said Richard, with an answering smile, "but I fear I'm engaged to Miss Renwyck this afternoon for quite a long horseback ride. At another time I shall be charmed, I assure you."

Miss Harriet started. She was unaware of any such engagement, but somehow the idea did not displease her. She smiled and offered to release Lord Croyland, but that gentleman would not hear of it.

"By the way," said Miss Harriet in order to change the subject, "Imogene tells me that you have agreed to take part in our little play. It is awfully good of you to help us out."

"Not at all," answered Richard, with pronounced sadness. "It is a pleasure to serve you in any way."

Mr. Van der Awe in thunderstruck amazement stared blankly across the table, while his half raised fork fell clattering upon his plate.

"Oh, I say!"—he began, but Richard arrested further speech by a swift glance. There was silence for a moment; then Miss Renwyck spoke:

"You don't seem to be overenthusiastic at the prospect, Lord Croyland. Don't you think the part would suit you?"

The Texan considered her words thoughtfully, fumbled for his monocle, got it into position after another gymnastic exercise with his left eye and sighed elaborately.

"The part," he stated, with a slow drawl, "is delightful as I understand it—but—shall I be perfectly candid, Miss Renwyck?"

The ladies in a breath assured him that that was just what they wished, so he continued, struggling with embarrassment:

"I've never gone in for that sort of thing—er—but once and confess with regret that I caused a fiasco. I'm very stupid at such things—really, you know, abominable. It is rather the duty of a guest to comply with the wishes of his hostess, and I feel it incumbent upon me to make a trial of the role, even if the outcome holds me up to open ridicule. We Englishmen appear a bit eccentric to Americans, I am fully aware, but nevertheless it hurts at times when—"

He paused and looked at his plate in deep confusion. Miss Harriet blushed furiously. She had wounded her guest unwittingly and was sincerely sorry. Lord Croyland, she thought, was acting very nobly in thus sacrificing himself for the sake of her foolish whims, and she ought to have consulted him first of all. She made up her mind at once and turned to him impulsively.

"Lord Croyland," she said, "I beg you to believe me when I say that I never thought for an instant of holding you up to ridicule. Won't you forgive me? It was splendid of you to agree, and—there—we won't have the play at all!"

"But, my dear Miss Renwyck," Richard protested, "I should feel frightfully cut up if you abandoned it on my account. Do go on with it. Perhaps I shan't be so jolly bad after all. I—"

All four ladies immediately took up the cudgels against him until his polite protests grew weaker and weaker, finally subsiding in a suggestion that relieved the situation from every point of view.

"Why not have Mr. Van der Awe do the part?" he asked, with a beaming smile directed at that young gentleman. "You'd do it splendidly, old chap, and I shall be uncommonly obliged to you."

Amid a chorus of approval the young lover accepted blushing, while Richard not only freed himself of a hateful task, but became a hero and a genius in the eyes of the entire party.

As they passed out of the dining room Cornelius plucked Richard's sleeve and whispered:

"See here! I thought you said you couldn't act?"

"Can't," returned the Texan, with a sly wink. "That was what you Americans call bluff, but if you let on I'll wring your neck."

The Earl of Croyland, proceeding to his rooms with the object of arraying himself in a certain riding suit in the wardrobe of the Earl of Croyland, in action, which would have made a cow puncher snort with disdain, but which Richard in his present state of mind rather longed for. Certainly he had no fault to find either with his prototype's taste or tailor. On entering his dressing room he was greeted by a sight which fairly took his breath away, and he was not easily surprised, either. In a corner opposite the door stood a handsome morris chair. In the chair sprawled Mr. Woolsey Bills holding a tumbler in one hand and Richard's brandy flask in the other. One-third of the original contents was still in the glass; the other two-thirds was obviously in Bills, for that worthy smiled pleasantly at his master and made no attempt to rise or to apologize for his extraordinary conduct.

Richard's first impulse was to take the offender by the scruff of the neck and kick him soundly through his host's baronial halls, repeating the attention until his valet reached a point somewhere beyond the Renwycks' front gate, but on second thought he changed his mind. First and foremost he wanted information. The kicking could be postponed. There would be time enough for that later.

"Well, Bills," he began, with a dash of sarcasm in his voice, "for a recently employed servant you seem to be doing remarkably well."

"Yes, sir," returned the valet, with the utmost complacency; "I'm doing nicely, thank you." He helped himself to another pabulum of liquid cheer and held the glass between his eye and the light. "This 'ere brandy, sir, is equal good as wot we 'as on the other side. Your judgment's better than the earl's, sir. You 'ealth, sir."

Richard stuffed his clinched hands deep into his pockets, striving with all his might to keep them from the impudent rascal's collar. What did it mean? However, there was nothing to be gained by violence, while much could be learned through the exercise of a little tact. Therefore he curbed his rage and spoke calmly. If Bills had known the Texan better he would have realized that when he was most quiet he was most dangerous.

"Might I inquire as to the reason of your present condition?" asked his master.

"Yes," answered Bills airily, but nevertheless in quite open defiance; "me an' you 'as got to part company, Mr. Williams."

"Ah!"

"Yes, sir."

The murder was out. The man's manner of address implied many things which Richard was as quick to grasp as to appreciate their consequences. Bills might drop a bombshell in the Renwyck household by a mere mention of the name of "Mr. Williams." A confession on Richard's part would be bad enough, but to be forced to admit the accusation of a servant would be infinitely worse. Bills, too, seemed aware of the situation and was determined to make the most of it, as was shown by his next remark.

"Mr. Williams," he began, with the confidence of holding the whip hand. "I'm not disposed to make trouble, sir, though it do go against me to be deceivin' people. I've got no complaint ag'inst my present dooties, Mr. Williams, sir, an' special so as they is light." Richard made no answer, and Bills continued, "I might—I say I might—be induced to stay on, sir, for a small advance of two hundred pun, with a promise of another one to come."

"I dare say you might," assented Richard, with ironic calm quite lost upon the man. "Anything else?"

"Yes, sir. I fancy Mr. Renwyck would do as well as that—maybe more."

"Probably," agreed Richard. "He's richer than I and inclined to be more generous. Try it by all means, Bills. I should hate to stand in the way of your making an honest penny or two."

The Texan began to undress, while the surprised valet stared at him in wonder. He had rather expected a scene, but his master's easy acceptance of the blackmailing scheme took him unawares. He was completely nonplused by this seemingly indifferent reception of his statement. His bombshell, which he had charged so elaborately, seemed to be hanging fire. He was not so sure that Mr. Renwyck would pay for his information after all, and a bird in the hand is worth many on the wing, especially to an inebriate, whose facilities for bird catching are limited.

The languid, lifeless feeling that comes with spring and early summer, can be quickly changed to a feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

The Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, rundown nerves, and but a few doses will satisfy the user. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver, stagnates the kidneys, and oftentimes weakens the heart's action. Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days test will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the change from day to day. Sold by Galloway Drug Co.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

No old sore exists merely because the flesh is diseased at that particular spot; if this were true simple cleanliness and local applications would heal them. When ever a sore or ulcer refuses to heal readily, the blood is at fault; this vital fluid is filled with impurities and poisons which are being constantly discharged into the place, feeding it with noxious matter and irritating and inflaming the nerves and tissues so the sore cannot heal. These impurities in the blood may be the remains of some constitutional trouble, the effect of a debilitating spell of sickness, leaving disease germs in the system, or the absorption by the blood of the fermented refuse matter which the bodily channels of waste have failed to remove. Again the cause may be hereditary, the diseased blood of ancestry being handed down to posterity; but whatever the cause, the fact that the sore will not heal shows the necessity for the very best constitutional treatment. There is nothing that causes more worry and anxiety than an old sore which resists treatment.

Every symptom suggests pollution and disease—the discharge, the red, angry looking flesh, the pain and inflammation, and the discoloration of surrounding parts, all show that deep down in the blood there are morbid and dangerous forces at work, constantly creating poisons which may in the end lead to Cancer. Local applications are valuable only for their cleansing and antiseptic effects; they do not reach the blood, where the real cause is located, and can therefore have no real curative worth. S. S. S. heals old sores by going down to the fountain-head of the trouble and driving out the poison-producing germs and morbid matters which are keeping the ulcer open. It removes every particle of impurity from the circulation and makes this life-stream pure, fresh and health-sustaining. Then as new, rich blood is carried to the place the healing begins, all discharge ceases, the inflammation leaves, new tissue and healthy flesh are formed, and soon the sore or ulcer is well. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers and finest of tonics, just what is needed in the treatment, and in addition to curing the sore will build up and strengthen every part of the system. #### MR. CRAIG AT WHITE OAK.

Hon. Locke Craig addressed a crowd of over 400 people at the White Oak cotton mills last night, it being the first political speech ever made at that place. The speaking took place in a grove south of the mills, the place being well lighted for the occasion. Music was furnished by the Proximity and White Oak bands. The speaker was introduced by Mr. John D. Campbell, superintendent of the White Oak mills.

Speaking something over an hour, Mr. Craig went into the whole subject of his candidacy and discussed the various issues at length. He told how he came to be a candidate, saying that it was at the request of earnest and patriotic Democrats from various parts of North Carolina and by the desire of the entire Democracy of the mountain section.

He said that no special interest had anything to do with his candidacy and that certainly no special favors would be granted by him to anyone if he were elected.

He alluded to the close affiliations of Mr. James S. Manning, Mr. Kitchin's manager, with the American Tobacco Company and told of the support that Southern Railway lawyers are giving Mr. Kitchin.

As to Mr. Kitchin's claim that he had rendered extraordinary services to the Democratic party, Mr. Craig said that he had stated at Laurinburg Monday he would not controvert this claim, but that the Democratic party had been most generous to Mr. Kitchin and that he would not undertake to pass upon the value of the services rendered by Mr. Kitchin or any other Democrat.

Mr. Craig said he believed in men who earn a living and that he favored bidding up and multiplying every industry, thus giving an opportunity to every man to earn an honest living.

No, we did not steal them. But everybody's loss may be your gain if you read the big adv. on page 6 and act at once.

Mr. Brooks Speaks in East Durham.

Solicitor Brooks made a speech in East Durham last night in behalf of his congressional nomination, and a report in this morning's papers says he was heard by a large and enthusiastic crowd. The report says:

In this speech Mr. Brooks answered the charges that have been made by the managers for J. Allen Holt in their campaign against Mr. Brooks. This has been the only campaign fought here. Mr. Brooks came to Durham with the avowed purpose of answering all the charges brought against him, and also asking some important questions.

This evening the manager for Mr. Brooks is confident that at least 75 per cent. of the vote of the county will be given him.

Conference of Baptist Ministers.

A conference of Baptist pastors of Greensboro and Guilford and surrounding counties was held at the First Baptist church in this city Monday, three sessions being held. The meeting was for the purpose of considering the subject of state evangelism, Rev. Livingston Johnson, secretary of the state board of missions, making an interesting address on this subject. Among the other visiting ministers present were: Rev. Dr. H. A. Brown, of Winston-Salem; Rev. Joseph P. Watts, of Lexington, and Rev. C. A. Upchurch, of Burlington.

SOUTHERN CHRISTIAN CONVENTION

Convened in Greensboro Last Night—Officers of the Body.

The seventeenth biennial session of the Southern Christian Convention was called to order in the Greensboro Christian church last night at 8 o'clock by the president, Rev. W. W. Staley, D. D., of Suffolk, Va. After devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. W. Wellons, of Elon College, the oldest member of the convention, short talks were made by several of the older members of the convention, including Rev. J. W. Wellons and Dr. W. S. Long, of Graham. These two have not missed a session of the Southern Christian Convention since 1886.

The enrollment of delegates was then taken up and 41 out of 55 delegates responded. These delegates represent conferences in Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama. The election of officers was gone into, the following being elected:

President—Rev. Dr. W. W. Staley, Suffolk, Va.

Vice president—Rev. Dr. J. O. Atkinson, Elon College.

Assistant secretary—Rev. I. W. Johnson, Suffolk, Va.

Prof. P. J. Kernodle, of Elon College, is standing secretary of the convention and J. A. Mills, of Raleigh, is treasurer.

Mayor Leon J. Brandt extended, in behalf of the city, a hearty welcome to the convention. He was followed by Mr. Chas. A. Hines, who welcomed the convention in behalf of the church.

Rev. I. W. Johnson, of Suffolk, Va., responded to the address of welcome.

The annual address to the convention was delivered by Rev. Dr. W. W. Staley, his subject being "The Twentieth Century Church." The speaker said that the twentieth century church would be, first, a Bible church; second, a child church; third, a revival church; fourth, a missionary church. He was given close attention throughout the entire discourse.

Among the local baseball enthusiasts there is much interest in the opening of the Carolina league season tomorrow. The Greensboro team opens at home, playing three games with the Winston team. The game tomorrow afternoon will be called at 4 o'clock, and doubtless it will be witnessed by a large crowd. A report from Winston says that 200 people from that town will come to Greensboro to "root" for their team.

Strawshow which way the wind blows. This store is not everlastingly making a great noise about selling goods cheaper than all others in the wide world, but people who keep a sharp lookout know that we are the very last to put prices up and the first to put them down, just as soon as it possibly can be done. We were the first to change the price of spool cotton from six cents to five. There is now a slight tendency to lower prices in some lines and our customers get the benefit of it at the earliest possible moment. In shoes we have been able to put most of the $2.25 grade down to $2.00, the $1.75 kind to $1.60, and the $1.50 kind to $1.40. Genuine Lonsdale Cambric has been selling at 15 cents. This goes down to 12 1/2, and genuine Androscoggin Bleaching is reduced from 12 1/2 to 10 cents. And so on through the stock. If we can buy goods for a little less our customers get them for a little less. Besides buying at the lowest prices you can rely on getting first class goods here. If we ever sell "seconds" or imperfect goods at all we sell them as such, so that you know just what you are getting. Our clerks are not allowed to misrepresent goods under any circumstances. The store is full of new goods in every department now and we are better prepared than ever before to supply your wants in shoes, dress goods, carpets, matting, curtains and dry goods of all kinds.

COUNTY CONVENTION MAY 23RD.

Democratic Executive Committee Adopts
Regulations for Precinct Primaries—
Selection of Delegates and Apportionment of Votes.

The Guilford county Democratic executive committee met in the court house Saturday and selected a date for the county convention, for the choice of delegates to the state, congressional and judicial conventions, and adopted rules for the regulation of the precinct primaries to be held on May 16th. The meeting was well attended, every precinct in the county being represented in person or by proxy, except Jamestown.

The committee first took up the matter of the county convention, adopting the suggestion of the sub-committee appointed to draft regulations for the primaries that the convention be held on Saturday, May 23rd, one week following the precinct primaries.

The regulations for the government of the primaries were taken up and voted on section by section. There was considerable discussion over the method as to the appointment of primary managers and as to whether all Democrats should be permitted to participate in the county convention. The sub-committee on rules recommended that the primary managers be appointed by the county committee, and Chairman Brown read a list of names he had prepared to suggest for appointment. The committee also recommended that all Democrats in good standing be permitted to participate in the convention.

Mr. Thomas S. Beall offered as a substitute for the two sections embodying the above regulations that the chairman of each precinct committee name the primary managers in his township and that the managers name the delegates to the county convention, selecting two delegates for each vote for which the precinct may be entitled in the convention and naming the delegates in proportion to the strength of each candidate.

Chairman Brown, ex-Judge T. J. Shaw and Mr. A. M. Scales, three members of the sub-committee, stood by the original recommendations, maintaining that the executive committee should name the managers and that all Democrats should be allowed a voice in the convention.

Mr. Beall, Mr. A. W. Cooke, Maj. Charles M. Stedman, Mr. J. Ed Albright, Mr. Robert Brockett and others held that it would be more in accord with the principles of Democracy to have the various precinct managers named by the precincts they are to serve, and that, to allow all Democrats a voice in the convention was contrary to the legalized primary law and would virtually mean that the party had returned to the old mass convention plan. They pointed out that all Democrats were invited to attend the convention and called attention to the fact that the legalized primary does not anticipate that any save delegates shall have a voice in the proceedings.

Mr. Beall's substitute was adopted by a vote of 19 to 7.

The regulations as adopted are as follows:

PRIMARY REGULATIONS.

1. That a county convention of the Democracy of Guilford county is hereby called to meet at 11 o'clock A. M. on Saturday, the 23rd day of May, 1908, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the state, congressional and judicial conventions.

2. That the candidates for state offices, representatives in Congress and solicitor be voted for by the Democrats of the county at the usual voting places in their respective precincts on Saturday, the 16th day of May, 1908, and this by ballot as provided by the primary election law for this county.

3. That the primaries be opened from 10 o'clock A. M. until 7 o'clock P. M.

4. That all white Democrats are invited to participate in these primaries who are, or will be, qualified voters at the November election, 1908, and who agree to support and vote at the November election the ticket nominated by the Democratic state, congressional and judicial conventions.

5. That it shall be the duty of every Democrat to challenge any person attempting to vote in any primary when such Democrat has reason to believe that such person is not entitled to vote in such primary.

6. That challenged persons shall be required by the primary managers in each precinct to sign the following oath:

State of North Carolina—County of Guilford.
I, the undersigned, do hereby solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am a Democrat; that I paid my state and county poll tax on or before May 1st, 1908, for the year 1907; that I will support and vote at the November election

the ticket nominated by the Democratic state, congressional and judicial conventions; that I will have been a resident of the state of North Carolina for two years prior to the approaching November election and of the county of Guilford for six months prior to said election; that I will be a duly qualified voter in said election and that I am duly registered for said election or that I will be entitled to registration for said election before the close of the registration books.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 16th day of May, 1908.

Primary Manager of Precinct

7. That these precinct primaries shall be held under the act of the general assembly of 1907 governing primary elections in Guilford county, being chapter 405 in the public laws of 1907, page 502.

8. That the chairman of the several precinct committees throughout the county shall on or before May 2, 1908, designate and appoint three Democrats of their respective precincts as managers of said primary election and immediately upon such appointment notify the secretary of this committee, in writing, of the names of such appointees.

9. That it is the sense of the county executive committee that the precinct chairman should appoint as one of the primary managers in each precinct the registrar now holding the registration books for the prohibition election in their respective precincts.

10. That the primary managers in each precinct shall rail or rope off the voting place and shall provide a booth, in which the voter can privately prepare his ticket, as provided in the primary law.

11. That it shall be the duty of said primary managers, in charge of each precinct primary, after the close of the polls, to immediately make out under their hands two certificates in duplicate, certifying how many votes each candidate receives at that primary and for what office. One of these certificates, together with the poll book and all ballots in a sealed package, shall be immediately sent by mail or safe hands to the chairman of the county executive committee, who shall compile and declare the result at the court house door in Greensboro immediately after the returns are all in his hands. The other certificates shall be retained by said managers and by them transmitted or delivered to the secretary of the county convention at its meeting on Saturday, May 23, 1908.

12. That before the opening of the polls each primary manager shall take the following oath:

I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will conduct this primary election in all respects in accordance with the law and with the rules of the Democratic party prescribed by the county executive committee of said party, to the best of my ability, so help me God.

13. That the primary election managers designated and appointed by the precinct chairmen, as heretofore provided for, shall on the 18th day of May, 1908, select from the Democrats of their respective precincts two delegates for each vote to which the precinct is entitled in the county convention; which said delegates shall cast the vote of their respective precincts in the county convention. The primary election managers in selecting such delegates shall choose the same, as nearly as may be, from the friends of the several candidates voted for in proportion to the vote cast at such precinct for such candidate.

14. That at the said county convention the chairman of the convention shall appoint a committee of five to name delegates to the various conventions, and each candidate for governor, congressman or solicitor, or his representative, may furnish to the said committee a list of his friends, containing twice as many names as said candidate is entitled to delegates in the state or district conventions and the said committee shall appoint delegates representing said candidates from said lists.

15. That as provided by the state Democratic plan of organization, each precinct shall be entitled to the following vote in the county convention of May 23, 1908:

Washington 3, North Rock Creek 3, South Rock Creek 2, Greens 4, North Madison 1, South Madison 1, North Jefferson 2, South Jefferson 2, Clay 3, North Monroe 1, South Monroe 1, North Gilmer 5, Precinct No. 3, 5, Precinct No. 4, 12, Fentress 4, Center Grove 2, South Morehead 4, Precinct No. 1, 9, Precinct No. 2, 12, Summer 2, Bruce 2, Friendship 3, Jamestown 4, Oak Ridge 5, Deep River 2, North High Point 11, South High Point 12.

JUDGE PRITCHARD ON PROHIBITION.

Federal Jurist Makes Strong Address to Small Greensboro Audience—No Drinking Man Should Remain in Church.

Before a crowd of 200 people, in the Grand opera house Saturday afternoon, Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of Asheville, spoke for an hour on the subject of state prohibition, making what many of his hearers pronounce the strongest prohibition speech made in Greensboro during the present campaign. Although the crowd was disappointingly small, the speaker was given a close and attentive hearing, many points of the speech being received with liberal applause. Had the speaking been scheduled for a more convenient hour than 2:30 on a Saturday afternoon, the attendance would have been much larger.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. A. W. Cooke, chairman of the central prohibition committee, who asked Rev. J. L. White, of the First Baptist church, to invoke the divine blessing. Mr. E. J. Justice introduced the speaker in flattering terms. Judge Pritchard entered at once into a discussion of his subject, saying in the beginning:

"It is rather unusual for one in my position to go about the country making speeches, and if this were purely a political question, I would not be here today. I wish, it understood that I am not here to abuse any one or say unkind things about people. I have no word of abuse for the men engaged in the liquor business, for I believe the saloon men and distillers of North Carolina compare favorably with the men engaged in the same business in other states."

The first applause was called forth by the statement: "No man who drinks liquor ought to stay in the church."

In refuting the argument that prohibition kills a town, Judge Pritchard read statements from several mayors and other prominent citizens of the state tending to show that prohibition had been a decided benefit to their communities. He quoted the mayor of Charlotte as saying that prohibition has worked most admirably in that city.

At this juncture Judge Pritchard took occasion to explain a misleading statement he had made concerning Mayor Brandt in a prohibition speech in Asheville last fall. Prior to making the speech, and while in Richmond, he wrote to the mayors of several "dry" towns in North Carolina for an expression of opinion as to how prohibition was working, but neglected to sign the letter he sent to the mayor of Greensboro. Having been informed that Mayor Brandt was a high license man, he inferred that his letter was unanswered for that reason and so referred to the matter in his Asheville speech. He expressed his regret that he had made a statement not borne out by the facts and said he was glad to set Mayor Brandt straight.

"I wish the legislature had given us an absolute prohibition law," said Judge Pritchard, "but, after all, a vote by the people may be better, for by this agitation we may be able to build up a stronger sentiment for the enforcement of the law. The only objection I have to the bill is that it permits the manufacture and sale of wine. If all prohibitionists think as I do, our next legislature will put wine alongside of whiskey, and we will drive it out of North Carolina, too."

Referring to the statement of certain Republicans that the prohibition bill is a trick of the Democratic politicians, Judge Pritchard declared: "I don't believe it is a Democratic trick, but if it is, it is the best trick I ever knew them to play, and if they will keep on playing such tricks, I will follow them as far as they go."

If Guilford county had 100 barrooms, said the speaker, and could exchange them all for 100 cotton mills with a capital of $100,000 each, it would be the best trade ever made by the county. Because the barrooms would graduate our children in crime, while the mills would furnish an honorable trade for many operatives.

Concluding, he said: "Every man in North Carolina who votes against prohibition becomes a partner in crime, and should the reign of the saloon be perpetuated, he would be morally responsible for the ruin of every man and woman who might be destroyed in consequence."

BOY CONVICT SHOT.

Was Attempting to Escape From Convict Camp Near McLeansville.

While attempting to escape from Capt. Melver's convict camp, near McLeansville, last Wednesday afternoon, Lonnie Moore, a young white boy about 16 years of age, was shot and fatally wounded. The boy made a dash for liberty with a younger brother, and when commanded to halt by a guard, Lacey Dornell, the youthful convicts continued to run. Then the guard fired upon them, the ball striking Lonnie just below the right shoulder blade, penetrating the right lung and lodging in the body. When Lonnie fell, his brother stopped and surrendered.

Dr. W. T. Holt was summoned immediately and attended the wounded boy. Realizing the seriousness of the case, he brought the prisoner to Greensboro and placed him in St. Leo's hospital, where Dr. Edmund Harrison, the county physician, took charge of the case. The physicians announced that the boy's death was liable to occur at any moment.

The boy's mother, who is employed in a hosiery mill in Durham, came to Greensboro Thursday to be with her son.

Lonnie Moore, his younger brother and two other boys were arrested in this city a few weeks ago on the charge of trespassing upon the property of the Southern railway. A quantity of merchandise was found in their possession and they were suspected of having broken into a store at Durham. The boys were taken to Durham, but they could not be identified with the burglary there, so they were brought back to Greensboro and tried and convicted of breaking into a box car near High Point and stealing a quantity of merchandise. When the boys were arrested, they had the goods in their possession, also two quart bottles of whiskey and hotel cards, indicating that they had been at hotels in Norfolk, Newport News, Roanoke and other towns.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Notable Religious Meeting to be Held in Greensboro Next Month.

Greensboro is to have the honor this year of entertaining the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church, which will convene in the First Presbyterian church on May 21st and remain in session about ten days. This is one of the most important religious bodies in the United States, and the fact that Greensboro has been selected as the meeting place is a distinct compliment to this city.

P. Beall, T. R. Foust, W. L. Clement, Rev. J. W. Goodman, Rev. R. M. Williams, Rev. Charles E. Hodgins, Rev. S. M. Rankin and Rev. Melton Clarke.

Central committee—A. M. Scales, chairman; C. M. Vanstory, J. W. Fry.

No Change in Cigar Factory.

Referring to the report that the formation of the Federal Cigar Company as a branch of the American Tobacco Company might cause some changes to be made in the American Cigar Company's plants throughout the country, Mr. J. T. Wade, superintendent of the Greensboro branch of the American Cigar Company, says the organization of the new company will not affect the business in this city in any way. He says the goods manufactured here are made by a different process from those which will be turned out by the Federal Cigar Company.

About 250 hands are employed in the factory in this city, and its payroll amounts to something like $6,000 a month. The output of the establishment is 225,000 cigars a week at present.

PRISONERS OFF TO ATLANTA.

Smithtown Blockaders and Others Carried to Federal Penitentiary.

Under the care of Deputy Marshals Bailey and Vincent, and Messrs. D. H. Collins, J. M. Simpson and L. S. Reese, nine United States prisoners were carried to Atlanta Monday to serve terms in the Federal prison in that city. Six of the prisoners were sentenced from Greensboro and three from Statesville.

Four of the prisoners sentenced from Greensboro are citizens of Smithtown, and when they are incarcerated within the grim walls of the Atlanta prison, there will be 13 Smithtown blockaders "doing time" there. Two Smithtown prisoners remain in jail in Greensboro and several have gone to parts unknown, leaving the community almost depopulated of male citizens.

Within the past 12 months 16 Smithtown people living within a radius of two miles have been imprisoned for violating the internal revenue laws, and it is said that, for the first time since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, there is no blockading going on in the Smithtown section. The few men left there have abandoned the still house for the plow.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION.

Next Meeting in Winston-Salem—New Officers Elected.

Elon College, April 23.—The second annual session of the State Union of Christian Endeavor, held at Elon College, came to a close tonight after a most successful meeting. Between 75 and 100 delegates attended the meeting. A number of prominent speakers took part in the program and the meetings have been most helpful and instructive to all who attended.

It was decided to hold the next session of the State Union at Winston-Salem, the date to be fixed later. Officers were chosen as follows:

President—Mr. E. H. Steckton, Winston-Salem.

Secretary—Prof. W. A. Harper, Elon College.

Treasurer and Superintendent of Press Work—Miss Mamie Bays, Charlotte.

The following new vice-presidents were elected: Rev. S. S. Myrick, of Greensboro, of the Friends' church; Miss Sadie Bilyeu, of Southern Pines, Congregationalist; Prof. W. F. Lawrence, of Elon College, Christian. The vice-presidents for the other denominations are the same as before.

The executive board is composed of President Steckton, Secretary Harper, Miss Bays and Rev. Mr. Pfuhl.

Raleigh Votes Down School and Road Bonds.

Last week Raleigh township voted down the proposition both for a special school tax and for a $50,000 road bond, designed to take the place of that portion of revenue from the erstwhile Raleigh dispensary, which went to the support of the Raleigh public schools and the public road work in the adjacent rural section. Returns show that the special tax measure was lost by 118 votes, lacking that number of a majority of the registration, against which the voting was done. The registration was 1,851. The road bonds were lost by 239 votes.

Those closely connected with the management of the schools and with the public road work declare the result of the election can but greatly retard both, in fact, that road improvement will have to be suspended and the schools will have to run six instead of nine months. On the other hand, the leaders of the opposition contend that a nine-months' school can be provided on an economical basis with the revenue now available. It is thought probable that the present township school committee will resign as a result of the election.

Says in Print He Lied.

Wilmington, April 25.—Something of a sensation was caused by the publication in the afternoon paper here today of a signed card from E. F. Rowan, a clothing salesman in one of the smaller establishments of the city, admitting that he had lied "pure and simple and circulated the same for the avowed purpose of injuring the prohibition cause in New Hanover," when in the Fifth ward Thursday night he said in the presence of several that Governor Glenn had drunk nine bottles of beer at an oyster roast given by W. H. Sprunt, W. M. Cummings, L. B. Riggers and other prominent prohibitionists recently; that the governor was intoxicated while delivering his prohibition speech in the First Baptist church here Wednesday night and had to be helped in and out of the carriage by Chairman Fennel, of the anti-saloon league, and that the governor was drunk and had to be helped to the train by negro help at the hotel when he went to Clarkton from Wilmington the next morning.

Simmons for National Chairman.

Washington Herald.

Senator Furnifold M. Simmons, of North Carolina, reckoned as one of the most astute political managers in Democratic national politics, is being groomed for the job of chairman of the Democratic national committee, to succeed Thomas Taggart, of Indiana.

It appears that the friends of the presidential boom of Senator Charles A. Culberson, of Texas, are behind the movement to secure Senator Simmons' election to the chairmanship of the big Democratic committee.

Senator Simmons attracted particular attention as a shrewd political manager when he assumed the leadership of the Democrats in North Carolina several years ago and wrested the state from the control of the Republican-Populists, which were led in coalition by ex-Senator Jeter C. Pritchard, now a Federal Circuit court judge in the South.

Calls Suicide Nightmare.

Paris, April 24.—"I know with certainty that in dying I shall be happy and that I shall enter a world more real."

Count Tolstoi thus sums up his anticipations of death in reply to a friend who congratulated him upon his approaching eightieth birthday. All earthly life, he said, is a dream and death the true awakening. He awaits that awakening with happiness.

Of death at different ages and under different circumstances, he says:

"Death in youth is as when a man is awakened before he has slept full measure. Death in old age is as when a man wakes of his own accord after a good sleep. Suicide is as a nightmare which a man banishes by remembering that he is asleep. He makes an effort and wakes, wakes."

Harmon Will Run.

Columbus, Ohio April 25.—Judson Harmon, of Cincinnati, who has maintained himself in the attitude of a Democratic 'Presidential possibility, has made himself the rallying figure of the anti-Johnson Democrats of Ohio by permitting the use of his name as a gubernatorial aspirant.

The opponents of Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, behind whose packing of Attee Pomerene, of Canton, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the convention May 5, is declared to be the ambition to control the party in Ohio and become a national chairman should Bryan be nominated for the Presidency, have been exerting pressure on Harmon for weeks.

Deputy Marshal Carroll, Deputy Collector Harkins, Revenue Inspector Dobbins and Deputy Sheriff Mitchell, the latter of Stokes county, captured two illicit distilleries and about 1,500 gallons of beer near Fall Hills on the Dan river, in Stokes county, Friday. Italy has recently put into effect a law providing for a weekly day of rest. This concession has long been sought by the working classes, and the new measure is a substantial victory for them. The law directs that all industries and commercial concerns throughout the kingdom must grant their employees a weekly rest of not less than twenty-four consecutive hours. No attempt is made to apply the new law to transportation services, to places of amusement or to any of the public utilities, as it is the intention of the authorities to permit of absolute freedom for the recreation and amusement of the working people.

TO REDUCE ARMY IN CUBA.

Major General Harry Sumner to Washington to Discuss Subject.

Washington, April 23.—Major-General Thomas H. Barry, in command of the army of Cuban pacification, who is now in New York on leave of absence, will come to Washington before he returns to Cuba to discuss with Secretary Taft and Major-General J. Franklin Bell, chief of staff of the army, the question of withdrawing a part of the American army now in Cuba. This action is contemplated because of the fact that conditions are believed to be favorable to a reduction of the army there and also because of the fact that several military departments in the United States are so short of men that they will be unable to hold satisfactory target practice and summer maneuvers.

The only way in which these departments can be strengthened is by withdrawing a part of the Cuban army. No decision has been reached in the matter.

Oppose Cuban Evacuation.

Havana, April 23.—The news of the reported intention of the War Department shortly to withdraw part of the army of pacification, owing to the scarcity of troops in several of the American military departments, caused surprise. The authorities here know nothing of the plan, and it is believed it would be folly to withdraw any of the troops.

While they are not doing any active work, the rurales attending to the preservation of the peace, the presence of the soldiers constitutes a great moral force, which has undoubtedly prevented disturbances. Any attempt to decrease the force will certainly result in many protests. The foreign interests will surely object. Many persons feel that the crucial period in Cuba's affairs is just beginning. The Miguelistas are already talking of an uprising. Orestes Ferrera, who is Jose Miguel Gomez's foremost aide, said recently, according to common report that Zayas might be elected to the presidency, but he would not hold the office for more than 80 days. He also made a threatening speech at a recent Miguelista meeting.

Bryan in New York.

New York, April 23.—The three-day visit of Wm. J. Bryan to this city came to a close tonight with an energetic finish. Mr. Bryan's last function today was the annual banquet of the Associated Press and American Newspaper Publishers' Association at the Waldorf-Astoria, where he was the principal guest of the evening and delivered a speech and was cheered by 800 editors and publishers and their guests.

SHOCKING GOLDSBORO TRAGEDY.

Murderous Assault Made on Wife and Baby by Howard Bain.

Goldsboro, April 23.—One of the most shocking tragedies in the history of Goldsboro occurred here last night, when Howard Bain made a murderous assault upon his wife and two-month-old baby, shooting the former three times through the chest with a .32 calibre revolver. The balls went through the body, inflicting wounds from which the woman can hardly recover. It seems that on account of some family trouble Bain and his wife were not living together, having been separated a month or more. Mrs. Bain was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCullen, who keep a boarding house here, and had just retired for the night when she was asked by her husband, who had come to her door, to get up and open it.

Immediately upon opening the door the report of a pistol firing in rapid succession was heard by Mr. McCullen in another part of the house. Mr. McCullen rushed to the scene just in time to prevent the fourth shot by throwing his hand under the hammer of the pistol as it came down, terribly lacerating his hand. It is said that one shot was aimed at the baby, but struck the mother instead. McCullen being a much larger and stronger man than Bain and having a nerve than which there is no better, succeeded in overpowering and disarming the would-be murderer. Without waiting for assistance, McCullen took Bain to police headquarters, where he was turned over to the authorities and locked up. It is known that Bain was drinking yesterday, but today he is sober and seems to suffer no remorse of conscience. In fact, he was heard to say this morning that he only regretted losing his job and the fact that he did not fire six shots into his wife instead of three.

Bain gives no reason for the act except to say, "A jealous woman will make a man crazy enough to do anything." It is reported that parties have heard him assert that he was going to kill his wife and baby, which goes to prove that the act was premeditated.

THREE STATES WINDSWEEP.

Many Dead and Injured—Scores of Small Towns Destroyed.

A wind of cyclonic proportions swept over portions of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama late Friday, leaving a trail of dead and injured. The number of killed is estimated at close to a hundred and the number of injured at over a hundred.

Most of the dead are negroes. Perhaps a dozen white persons were caught in falling buildings and either fatally injured or so seriously disabled as to require medical attention.

The loss of life was chiefly in the quarters of colored persons where the wind destroyed their cabins, burying the occupants in the debris, or in the farming sections of the country where the trees were uprooted, telegraph and telephone poles torn up and general destruction became an encre to a storm which swept with almost tornado fury through the country.

In Louisiana it is estimated that a score of small towns were destroyed or partially wrecked. These include Amite City, Arcadia and Independence, Belle Grove, Melton, Lorman, Pine Ridge, Quitman, Landing, Fairchild's Creek, Purvis and Lumberton, Miss., are reported seriously damaged by the storm.

In Alabama Dora was the chief sufferer. This town is also known as Bergen. Four or more persons were killed. Fifty persons at the lowest estimate were injured. At Bergen cars were blown from the railroad tracks and considerable other property destroyed. Reports also say that the storm struck Albertville, Ala., and destroyed nearly the entire northern portion of the town. A cotton mill was blown down, the storm ranging northward, doing much destruction to life and property.

Richland and Lamourie, La., were struck by the storm and nearly a fifth of their population injured.

Winchester, Miss., a small town, is reported wiped out, though only two persons are known to have been killed.

Natchez, Miss., reports 60 are known to be dead in the northern Louisiana storm. Hundreds of plantation cabins are reported destroyed in this section. Mobile reported nine dead in Hattiesburg, Miss.

MUCH DAMAGE IN GEORGIA.

Many Killed and Injured—Property Loss is Heavy.

Atlanta, Ga., April 23.—As a result of the storm which last night swept into Georgia after having done extensive damage in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, 25 persons are dead and at least one hundred were injured, while many others received bruises and scratches from flying debris in a dozen towns in this state.

At Cave Springs, near Rome, where the largest loss of life occurred, nine persons were killed and nine injured, while a score of negroes are reported to have been more or less badly bruised. In this vicinity the wind swept a path half a mile wide and five miles long from the outskirts of Cave Springs in a Southwesterly direction to Hamlet. There is not a house left standing in the storm-swept area.

At Columbus Mrs. Villa Norris and her daughter were instantly killed by the destruction of a pavilion at North Highlands in which they were staying. The property loss in this section will be heavy.

Griffin reports that three white women were killed and eight white persons injured and a property loss of $50,000 sustained. The path of the storm at this point was directly over the cotton mill and cottages of the mill operatives. Twenty-five of these cottages were entirely demolished and the escape of their occupants is considered miraculous.

A Card from Mr. A. L. McLean.

EDITOR PATRIOT:—Recent discoveries have aroused my interest in the contest now waging between Prof. J. Allen Holt and Hon. A. L. Brooks. To say the people of the Fifth Congressional district were surprised to see that Hon. A. L. Brooks was openly charged with taking excessive and unlawful fees as solicitor would be putting it mildly. But when he attempts to deny and clear away the charges made by Prof. Holt, and in the mind of many intelligent citizens and voters utterly fails, one is led to exclaim, "A faithful man who can find" Mr. Brooks in the supplies to Prof. Holt seems much, and to me, unduly concerned about the motive that prompted Prof. Holt to call upon him for an explanation of his official acts. The public, nor Mr. Brooks, need not be concerned about Prof. Holt's motive in doing so. The question is, are they true. It devolves upon Mr. Brooks to prove their falsity from the court records. We have said it was surprising to see Hon. A. L. Brooks charged with such unbecoming conduct. And it was, if possible, more amazing to see that Mr. Brooks had openly charged his opponent with falsehood. If Mr. Brooks can sustain his charges from the court records, he will have conferred a favor upon the citizens of more states than one, who have been wont to trust the welfare of their sons to Prof. Holt. For myself, I refuse to believe Prof. Holt guilty of such conduct upon the mere ipse dixit of Mr. Brooks. My own personal acquaintance with Mr. Holt has been little more than casual, but from my respected father, the late Dr. J. A. McLean, who as chairman of the Guilford County Board of Education, served for many years with Prof. Holt as one of its honored members, I learned of much to admire in the life and character of Mr. Holt. He always spoke in the highest terms of Mr. Holt's high character and scholarly attainments, especially as an expert book-keeper and accountant. It remained for the younger "brilliant, able and versatile" Mr. Brooks to discover the perfidy the good people of Guilford had for nearly sixty years failed to discover. Turn on the light, Mr. Brooks. Fiat justitia ruat cælum. A. L. McLEAN. Gibsonville, N. C., April 24.

SMALL POLITICS.

Action of Rockingham Executive Committee Prejudicial to Kitchin. Webster's Weekly.

The same spirit of rule-or-ruin cropped out in the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee last Saturday. Everybody knows that Mr. Locke Craig has secured an advantage over Mr. Kitchin by having the Craig counties hold early conventions, thus creating the impression that the drift is all towards the Buncombe candidate. A number of small counties and two or three large ones known to be for Craig have led off. In only one county has Kitchin had a fighting chance and that was Wilkes, where he secured a handsome majority. To neutralize the Craig scheme of stampeding the doubtful counties, Mr. Kitchin has requested Rockingham, Guilford and other big counties known to be for him, to hold early conventions. His request was granted by the executive committee of Guilford last Saturday, whereas in Rockingham, where practically everybody is for him, Mr. Reid's friends succeeded in tying Kitchin's hands. They put through a resolution requesting that the primaries be not called until the congressional convention is called. Why? For fear that Brooks might carry the county. The fact is that Brooks has everything to gain in Rockingham by a late primary, whereas Kitchin's interest is suffering by delay, not that Craig or Horne have any following to amount to anything, numerically, but for the reason that such a ringing endorsement as the farmers of old Rockingham would give Kitchin would do him good all over the state, at this juncture.

IN CONGRESS.

What is intended as a model child labor bill has been reported to the House by the committee on the District of Columbia. It prohibits child labor in the District and is intended as a model for states that are inclined to enact like measures. The measure was drawn up by Representative Olcott, of New York, who as chairman of a subcommittee has given the subject of child labor considerable study. An interesting feature of the bill is that permitting children to engage in theatrical performances.

By the overwhelming vote of 245 to 8 the House Thursday, after several hours' discussion, adopted, without amendment, the Senate joint resolution authorizing the Attorney General to file suits against the Oregon & California Railroad Company for the forfeiture of all or part of 2,800,000 acres of land grants in the western part of Oregon. It is claimed by the government that by reason of breaches and violations of the acts, making the grants, the railroad company has forfeited all its rights to the land in question. The sentiment of the House was practically unanimous that the suits would work no hardship on bona fide purchasers of homesteads from the company. The resolution was introduced in the Senate by Senator Tillman and has passed that body.

In the Senate Friday, Senator Bankhead, of Alabama, spoke in favor of national appropriations for good roads.

The Senate has passed a bill appropriating $100,000 for a survey of an inland water route from Boston to Wilmington. The measure was introduced by Senator Simmons. A similar measure is before the House, and the indications are that favorable action will be taken by that body.

Over 1,000 pension bills were put through the House of Representatives, this being the largest batch of the session.

The House has passed a Senate bill authorizing the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to make and enforce regulations for the protection and safety of life on navigation waters during regattas or marine parades.

Cotton futures and their alleged effect upon the prices of cotton were aired again in the House Friday. Representative Burleson, of Texas, principal antagonist of cotton exchanges, and who maintains that they have a deleterious effect on the cotton producer, called up his resolution requiring the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to transmit to the House the report of the Bureau of Corporations on the subject, based upon an investigation directed by resolution of the House passed a year ago.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS.

Harry S. New, chairman of the Republican national committee, has decided to call a meeting of the committee before the assembling of the national convention in June. The large number of spirited contests among the state delegations makes it necessary for the committee to meet. He has addressed a letter to the members of the committee telling them to hold themselves in readiness should the committee meet about the first of June.

Charles H. Cowles, of Wilkesboro, has been nominated as the Republican candidate for Congress in the Eighth district.

In speaking of the congressional situation in Surry county, the Mt. Airy News, after noting that several candidates attended the term of court at Dobson last week, says: "Mr. Brooks was not at court, but his friends were, and they are claiming that he is the strongest man in the race in Surry."

The Democratic primaries in Lenoir county Saturday gave Kitchin for governor practically the entire vote of the county. Craig carried Randolph, reports stating that he will receive ten votes and Kitchin and Horne three each. Macon and Clay counties went for Craig. Horne gets the solid vote of his home county of Johnston.

STRONG FOR BROOKS.

Rockingham Democrats Organizing to Support Guilford's Favorite Candidate.

Reidsville, April 28.—The organization of the Rockingham County Brooks club is creating the greatest surprise in showing the strength which the Guilford county candidate has to have in this county. Friends of Mr. Brooks who are at work soliciting members of the club in the precincts in the eastern end of the county declare that the sentiment is practically solid for him. In one rural precinct it is given as a positive fact that every voter has expressed himself for Brooks, and in still another only three men have been located who are supporting another candidate.

The friends here of Solicitor Brooks had felt a few weeks ago that he would secure approximately a third of the county's vote, but they now profess the belief that he will have half. The impression prevails among the people generally that Brooks' nomination will come on the first ballot, and if so he will have achieved one of the greatest victories recorded in the political history of the state.

This will give the Rockingham Democracy their first opportunity to show their appreciation for the services Mr. Brooks has rendered the cause in this county, where he has made many speeches in every campaign since he reached manhood.

Mr. Craig in the Lead.

Charlotte Observer, 28th.

Since the last tabulated statement giving the standing of the respective gubernatorial candidates was printed a number of counties have held either primaries or conventions, materially changing the result. The standing of the candidates to date, embracing the vote of the counties which took action yesterday is appended:

Autos for Mail Service.

Washington Herald.

Automobiles running at top speed, cabins to shelter the traveler from the stress of weather, and facilities for the transportation of passengers, baggage, and mail will be provided by the government on rural free-delivery routes if a bill introduced yesterday by Representative William Bourke Cockran is enacted into law.

Mr. Cockran has no pride of paternity in the measure. He introduced it "by request."

The bill provides in the first place for an auto post coach on rural free-delivery routes. These coaches to carry anything from a penny postal to a grand piano, one passenger or a dozen, all for a price specified in the bill.

As a further condition of this auto-coach service on rural routes, the bill provides for post-cabins for the convenient collection and delivery of merchandise and baggage, "and for the shelter of travelers."

Death of Bishop Capers.

Columbia, S. C., April 22.—Bishop Ellison Capers, of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of South Carolina, died at his home in this city at 2.30 P. M. today.

Bishop Capers had been in feeble health for many months and for several days had been sinking gradually. This morning his physicians announced that he could not survive the day.

Bishop Capers was 70 years of age and had presided over the Diocese for the past 15 years. He had been secretary of state of South Carolina, brigadier general in the Confederate army and held other positions of rank and influence that had made him one of the best known in the South. He was the father of John G. Capers, Commissioner of Internal Revenue and national Republican committeeman for South Carolina.

Anti-Prohibition Headquarters Opened

Durham, April 23.—Those who are opposed to prohibition as a state law are preparing to open headquarters here and join in the fight against the ratification of this law. In fact headquarters were practically opened today and Mr. W. G. Bramham is in charge of the work in this city and county. He will associate with him some other person who will assist in the management of the proposition in this county. It has not been given out who will be associated with Mr. Bramham in this work.

It is learned today that in addition to the floods of literature that are being sent throughout the state, that there will be a string of fine speakers who will come out in the open and do battle with those who are favorable to state prohibition.

Former Premier Dead.

London, April 22.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, former British Premier, died at 9.15 o'clock this morning at his official residence in Downing street. The end was peaceful.

The ex-Premier had been unconscious most of the time during the last two or three days and his sinking was gradual. A few hours before his death telegrams were dispatched to King Edward, who, with Queen Alexandra, is visiting the Danish Royal family at Copenhagen, the Prince of Wales and the Cabinet ministers.

AN EMBEZZLER ARRESTED.

Greensboro's Former Chief of Police Makes Important Capture.

Philadelphia, April 28.—After eluding the authorities for nearly seven years, W. J. Mills was arrested here today and held for requisition from North Carolina, where he is wanted for the alleged embezzlement of $2,800, which, it is said, he secured as insurance premiums from Miss Hattie W. Bryant, now Mrs. McLaughlin, of Laurinburg, N. C. Mills was a representative of a New York insurance company in North Carolina. On the day of her marriage, it is alleged, Miss Bryant gave Mills $1,400 to deposit in a bank. That was in December, 1901, and the insurance and North Carolina officials have since been looking for him. His whereabouts were made known by a jealous woman, the police say, and together with local detectives, William A. Scott, assistant insurance commissioner of North Carolina, located the man in a house in the northern section of the city.

Check Flasher Indicted.

Statesville, April 24.—The Federal authorities have taken definite action in the case of Prescott, alias R. W. Harris, the check flasher, and every effort will be made to re-arrest him and bring him to Statesville for trial. After a hearing the Federal grand jury here this week made out a bill of indictment against Harris, charging him with using the mails with intent to defraud. The necessary papers for his re-arrest were placed in the hands of Mr. W. H. Calvert, government secret service detective, and the latter has departed for the state of New York. Mr. Calvert is confident that he can re-arrest Harris without trouble, and if he does he will send or bring him to North Carolina at once.

[The Iredell hotel, in Statesville, and Clegg's hotel, in Greensboro, are among the victims of Harris.]

Laymen's Conference.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 22.—The first session of the laymen's conference, M. E. Church, South, was held in the auditorium tonight. The vast hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, fully 10,000 persons being present.

The meeting was opened with prayer. Following this an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor W. R. Crabtree, with response by Gen. Julian S. Carr, of North Carolina. When Ambassador James Bryce, of Great Britain, entered the auditorium the vast throng arose and cheered him. Ambassador Bryce repeatedly bowed his acknowledgments, after which he delivered an address.

It has set the whole world a-thinking 'pon it all doctors, as one, agree: The tonic all your friends are taking is, Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea.

Howard Gardner.

Glenn Reiterates Former Statement.

Raleigh, April 24.—Governor Glenn, referring to a statement in the Washington letter in today's issue of the Greensboro Industrial News to the effect that Senator Simmons had said Glenn's announcement that he would not be a candidate for the Senate was a sham, and that Glenn was still in the race, said the statement was absolutely untrue, and that he was certain that Simmons had never made it.

He added that he had made his statement in good faith and that he had no purpose to oppose Senator Overman.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I uniformly cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. These sand-like granular masses, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

PUBLISHERS MAKING FIGHT.

Want Wood Pulp and Print Paper on Free List—Redistribution of Senate Committees—Senator Rayner on State Rights. Correspondence of the Patriot.

Washington, April 27.—The American Newspaper Publishers' Association is pursuing a vigorous campaign to obtain the passage at this session of Congress of bills placing wood pulp and print paper on the free list, and the agitation of the subject has been so great as to wholly upset the equilibrium of Speaker Cannon. The association is taking every advantage of its constitutional right of petition and is being ably supported by John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, the Democratic leader, whose performance is most edifying to the publishers and proportionately annoying to Cannon. As a matter of fact, Speaker Cannon is master of the situation, and while his appointment of a select committee to investigate the operations of the so-called paper trust will in no way deceive either the public or the publishers, who are thoroughly familiar with the Speaker's "film-fam" methods, it will bottle up the publishers most effectually.

A resolution was offered in the House last week by Representative Carlin, of Virginia, seeking to elicit information from the War department, as to the reasons that actuated the government in removing the name of Jefferson Davis from the tablet on Cabin John bridge. The resolution directs the Secretary of War, if not incompatible with the public interests, to inform the House by what authority the name of Davis was removed from the stone tablet, and directs that the House be informed what steps, if any, have been taken toward restoring the name of Davis as Secretary of War to the stone. This affords a fine opportunity for a controversy over the life and public services of Jefferson Davis. It will be remembered he was Secretary of War under President Buchanan and almost up to the time of the Civil war. His name was on the arch of this bridge and is most conspicuous by being erased.

There has been recently a redistribution of Senate committee places among the minority, made necessary by the deaths of Senator Whyte and Senator Bryan, and Senator Stone, of Missouri, made a great fight for better places for new Senators. He claimed that it was not for the best interests of the minority that all the fine places should be given to old men and that great benefit would accrue by the infusion of new blood in the more important committees. Senator Paynter, of Kentucky, suddenly called on Mr. Stone to make good his proposition by giving him his place on the Philippine committee, and Senator Stone readily consented to "make good" and Mr. Paynter was transferred to the Philippine committee. A vacancy existed on Foreign Relations committee which Senator Rayner, of Maryland, was most desirous of securing, maintaining he could, thereby, further the interests of his fellow Jews who are undergoing great hardships in Russia. Mr. Rayner is so unpopular with both Democrats and Republicans that his application was emphatically refused, but a compromise was reached in a decision to offer the position to his colleague, Senator Smith, recently elected from Maryland. However, some of the older members of the Senate concluded that it might be well before informing Mr. Smith of the honor proposed for him, to examine him a little as to his qualifications for this particular place. In pursuance of this suggestion, a small committee went up to the Democratic cloak room and asked Mr. Smith what he would think of a position on the Foreign relations committee, to which he replied, "Cut it out. I don't want any unimportant committee whose members get in it only for the purpose of securing dinner invitations from foreign diplomats." As this is regarded as the most important committee in the Senate, as it has almost co-ordinate powers with the President in making treaties with foreign nations, it is needless to say the Democratic senators concluded it would be a mistake to give this place to Mr. Smith, and the honor was finally conferred upon Mr. Stone, of Missouri.

Senator Rayner, of Maryland, made a strong plea in the Senate last week for the inviolability of the constitution and the limitation which it places upon Federal encroachment on the rights of the states. Mr. Rayner said his remarks were not intended to be used as campaign material, that his motive was simply to clear away, if he could, the public misapprehension of the attitude of those who uphold the doctrine of state rights. "I will, therefore, now define what I mean by state rights Democracy," said Mr. Rayner. "I mean this, nothing less and nothing more; I mean that the rights of the states must be maintained inviolate, as intended by the framers of the constitution; that there must be no perversion of the delegated powers so as to strike down the reservation to the states, and that whatever rights the states possess under the constitution and under the amendments must remain intact and unimpaired until, if ever, the constitution should be changed by the voice of the people according to the methods that it provides, and the structure of our government should be diverted from its present conception and design."

Mr. Rayner stated that the interstate commerce clause of the constitution is the storm centre of the fight, and declared: "We are fully capable in the states of managing our own affairs in accordance with our traditions and our usages and our customs."

Loving to Quit Virginia.

Lovington, Va., April 24.—Judge William G. Loving, of Nelson county, manager of Thomas F. Ryan's Virginia properties, has resigned, the resignation taking effect on May 1. He will move with his family to a distant state. This action on the part of Judge Loving grows out of the notoriety attaching to his trial and acquittal of the murder, a year ago, of Theodore Estes, whom Judge Loving killed, because of alleged insults offered his young daughter, Elizabeth.

Judge Loving has lived in retirement with his family on Ryan's Oak Ridge farm since his acquittal. On Wednesday a monument was unveiled in Nelson to the memory of young Estes by the women of the county.

It is probable that Judge Loving will remain in the employment of Ryan, who is known to be personally fond of his Virginia manager.

CURSE OF CHEAP LABOR.

Doctrine That Ignorant and Untrained Labor is Dangerously Erroneous.

Memphis, Tenn., April 24.—Cheap, untrained labor is the greatest curse of the South. This was the burden of an earnest address by Mr. Clarence H. Poe, editor of the Raleigh, N. C., Progressive Farmer, at today's session of the Southern Educational conference. The greatest trouble with Southern thought, Mr. Poe declared, is that we have not yet come to see that the prosperity of every man depends upon the prosperity of the average man.

"Every man whose earning power is above normal is an asset to the community, a wealth-maker for every other man; but every man whose earning power is below par is a burden on the community. His poverty makes every other man poorer. Suppose you are his fellow citizen. Then because of his inefficiency his poverty as a taxpayer and as a citizen, you will have poorer roads, poorer schools, a shabbier church, lower priced lands, your teacher, your preacher, your doctor will be more poorly paid (or give way to some one less efficient), your newspaper will have smaller circulation, your town a poorer market, your railroad smaller traffic, your merchants smaller trade, your bank smaller deposits, your manufacturer diminished patronage, and so forth.

"Inevitably and universally the prosperity of every trade, art and industry in a community is measured by the prosperity of its average man, its common man."

Mr. Poe declared that the South's greatest fallacy has been the belief that the farmer, the common laborer of every sort, needs no training; educate him and you spoil him; the poorer you keep him, the richer will be the upper classes.

"Hugging these vampire delusions," he continued, "the Southern plantation owner has seen his land abandoned to broomsage and gullies, in spite of the fact that intelligent handling would have kept it productive a thousand years. Preaching this fatal doctrine, the merchant has sold Western meat and scoters and tobacco, when with prosperous patrons he might have quadrupled his profits by selling sulkies, plows and harvesters and carriages, and pianos. Still arguing that education and training would spoil the common laborer, our manufacturer has struggled with a small business when a prosperous average man would give us the great industries of the North and West.

"And so with men in every other vocation. Even men of talent—artist, sculptor, orator, poet—free to other sections unshackled by these errors, or else die with vision unfulfilled among a people untrained to appreciate their genius—when but for the things you might see statues of Southern leaders in every city, the work of Southern artists in the world's great galleries, the thought of the Southern poet the common heritage of mankind. It is not that we have had no mighty dreamers; it is that they sleep in neglected graves, victims of war and waste, and error.

"Now, war and waste, thank God, are behind us. Let us also put error behind us.

"Of all errors our greatest has been the doctrine that having cheap, ignorant, untrained labor is a help instead of the curse that it is. And our second greatest error has been the belief that even if education does help the common man, we are too poor not to furnish it. The truth is we are too poor not to furnish it. The fullest and freest training of the average man is the one and only substantial guarantee of Southern prosperity."

BRYAN WANTS NO OFFICE.

Tells Audience Why He Cannot be Called a Demagogue.

New York, April 23.—The tariff, trusts, government ownership of railroads, and why he shouldn't be called a demagogue were matters briefly run over by William J. Bryan in a speech he made this evening at the dinner of the Business Science Club at the Aldine Association.

"Some of you have heard me called a demagogue," he said. "That word is commonly used as a term of reproach, but it's a compliment. The man who has his hand in the other fellow's pocket is awfully afraid of a demagogue. If you have ever called me a demagogue, I want you to take back what you have said, or never say it again."

"I want nothing from the American people. The fact that I have been a candidate twice for the Presidency gives me a position that I could use anywhere in business. I am as independent in my living as any millionaire, for I have an asset in the confidence of the people that is more stable than money. To me it's worth more than all the offices. I don't want any offices, but I want to leave something more than a reputation for running for high office. A good government is the richest legacy a father can leave a child."

Mr. Bryan got some loud cheers when he finished.

Shot from Ambush.

Lancaster, S. C., April 22.—J. B. Simms, a farmer, was shot from ambush this afternoon about 3 o'clock by some person unknown. A charge of buckshot entered Simms' left side, near the heart, and it is not probable that he will recover.

The tragedy is shrouded in mystery. The shooting occurred within a few yards of the spot where, a short time ago, Simms shot and killed J. H. Stogner. He was tried for the killing at the last term of court and a mistrial resulted. Simms heard the explosion of the gun but says he saw no one. Dr. Elliott, of this town, was summoned to attend him.

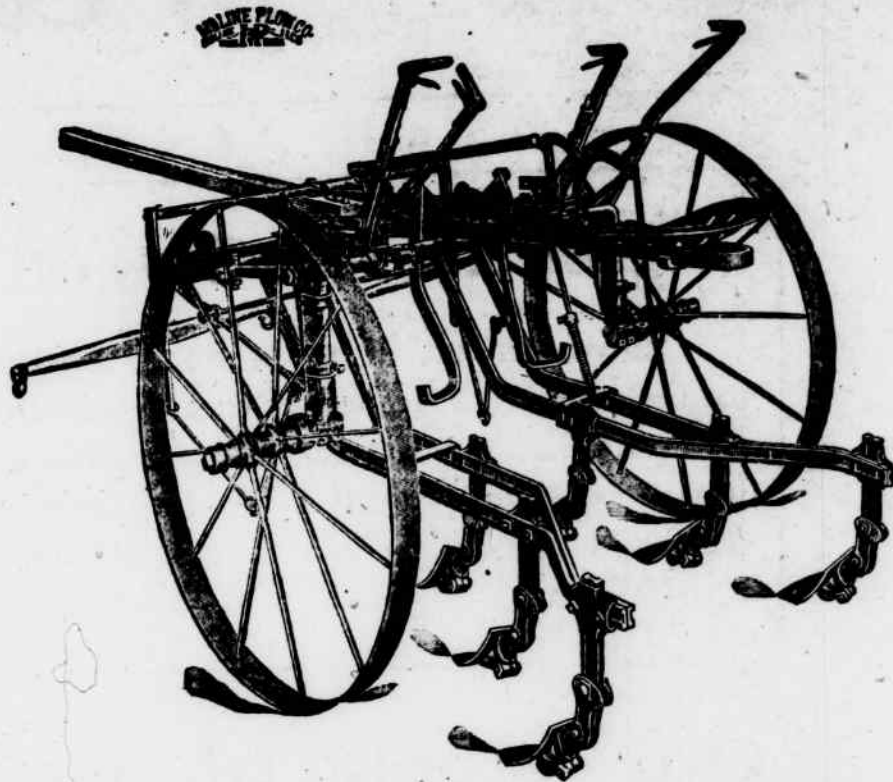

Simms is a well-to-do farmer, living about three miles from Lancaster, and the tragedy occurred near his place.

Many women mistake kidney and bladder troubles for some irregularity peculiar to the sex. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects irregularities and makes women well. The first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely well." Sold by all druggists.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Will Meet in Greensboro Tomorrow—Administration Forces in Saddle.

The Republican state convention will meet in this city tomorrow at noon for the election of a state chairman, a state executive committee, and four delegates and alternates to the national convention in Chicago. Incidentally the North Carolina Republicans will reiterate an expression of confidence in the Roosevelt administration and declare for Secretary of War Taft for the presidential nomination.

In this connection it is of interest to note that Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, whose emissaries came to North Carolina with a great blare of trumpets and sent out the word that the Old North State would be solid for "Uncle Joe," will have 11 delegates in the state convention from the county of Durham.

There are 855 votes in the state convention, and Chairman Adams says that at least 820 of these are instructed for Taft. At Republican state headquarters reports have been received from 95 counties as follows: The conventions of 86 counties instructed for Taft for President and Adams for state chairman; one county instructed for Taft only and two for Adams only; one county (Durham) instructed for Cannon, and five counties failed to instruct. It is said at headquarters that these five counties are "all right."

From the foregoing it is apparent that the convention of tomorrow will be a very tame affair. It has been reported that Messrs. Thomas Settle, E. Spencer Blackburn, R. Z. Linney, Frank Linney, Moses Harshaw and Jake F. Newell would come to the convention prepared to make trouble for the administration forces, but a telephone message from Asheville indicates that Mr. Settle desires only to make a speech on the broad subject of the best way to build up the Republican party in the South.
