MISS SELMA LAMB & CO.

DEATH OF REV. DR. CRAWFORD.

Beloved Minister of Methodist Church Answers Final Summons—Was a Favorite With Greensboro People.

Rev. Dr. L. W. Crawford, for many years a resident of Greensboro, and one of the best known Methodist ministers of the state, died at his home in Asheville last Friday, after a two-weeks' illness of pneumonia. The body was brought to Greensboro Saturday and carried to the home of Mrs. E. O. Watlington, where it remained until conveyed to West Market Street Methodist church at 8 o'clock Sunday afternoon for the funeral.

The funeral hour found the church filled to overflowing with friends of the departed minister who had come to pay their last tribute of love and respect to the memory of the deceased. Every seat in the main auditorium, the Sunday school room and the galleries was occupied, and hundreds of people crowded the aisles and stood in front of the church while the solemn service was in progress. Several pews were reserved for the white-haired and battle-scarred veterans of the Confederacy—comrades in arms of the dead man in many hard campaigns and on bloody fields of battle. Many ministers of the Methodist and other denominations were present to do honor to the fallen soldier of the cross.

The service was opened with an appropriate selection by a male quartette, after which Rev. Dr. J. H. Weaver and Rev. Dr. S. B. Turrentine read Scripture lessons. Rev. Gilbert T. Rowe, pastor of Central church, Asheville, announced the hymn, "How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord," and Rev. Dr. G. H. Detwiler, of West Market Street church, led in a beautiful and feeling prayer. Rev. H. M. Blair, Dr. Crawford's successor as editor of the North Carolina Christian Advocate, announced the hymn, "Servant of God, Well Done."

The eulogy was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Weaver, for 20 years a close personal friend of Dr. Crawford. He spoke feelingly of the intimate relations that had existed between him and the dead preacher and referred to Dr. Crawford's strong hold on all the people with whom he came in contact.

Rev. Gilbert T. Rowe spoke of the strong impression Dr. Crawford had made on the people of Asheville and of how joyously he had entered upon the hard work of presiding elder of the Asheville district.

Rev. Dr. Turrentine spoke of what he termed the constructive prudence of Dr. Crawford and told of the lasting and helpful impression made upon his own life as a young preacher by the dead man.

The service in the church was closed with a loving and tender tribute by Rev. Dr. Detwiler, the pastor.

The remains were followed to Greensboro Hill Cemetery by a vast concourse of people, the procession being one of the longest ever seen in this city. The new-made grave was piled high with a great profusion of beautiful floral designs, loving tributes from friends far and near.

DR. CRAWFORD'S CAREER.

Rev. Dr. Crawford was a member of a well-known and prominent family of Rowan county, having been born in 1843. He entered the Confederate army as a mere youth, serving with credit and distinction throughout that struggle. After the close of the war, he completed his education at the University of Virginia, and in 1868 was received into the membership of the North Carolina Conference as an itinerant minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

During his ministry of almost 40 years, he served pastorates in the following places: Hillsboro, Fayetteville, Salisbury, Greensboro, Newbern and Reidsville, having been appointed presiding elder of the Asheville district at the last session of the Western North Carolina Conference. He was returned twice at different intervals to the churches of Salisbury and Reidsville and to West Market Street church in Greensboro.

In addition to his pastoral work, Dr. Crawford served for a period of years as a member of the faculty of Trinity College and as editor of the North Carolina Christian Advocate.

For nearly a quarter of a century he was identified with the life of Greensboro. After serving two terms as pastor of West Market Street church, he returned, after an interval of a few years, as editor of the Advocate. Later he organized the Spring Garden Street church, of which he was pastor for four years. He touched the life of this city at many angles, and was respected and loved by all classes of people here.

Dr. Crawford is survived by his widow, who was Miss Annie Pullen, of Raleigh, and six children—five sons and a daughter. He was a brother of Capt. R. R. Crawford, of Winston-Salem.

HELD UNDER $10,000 BOND.

Jim Smith Given Preliminary Hearing in Greensboro Saturday.

Jim Smith, alleged Smithtown blockader, and charged with complicity in the murder of Deputy Collector J. W. Hendricks, was given a preliminary hearing Saturday before United States Commissioner Wolfe on a warrant charging him with a conspiracy to interfere with the government officers in the discharge of their duty. After hearing the evidence, Commissioner Wolfe held the defendant for the April term of United States District court in this city under a bond of $10,000, the bond to cover both the conspiracy case and the charge of blockading previously returned by the Federal grand jury.

Smith was returned to jail in Winston-Salem to await the fixing of his bond.

The principal witness introduced by the government was Mrs. Oscar Sisk, wife of one of the Smithtown blockaders, now in jail in Greensboro, and at whose house Mr. Hendricks lost his life. Mrs. Sisk testified that she saw Smith and Hendricks approaching each other, but was not an eye-witness to the shooting. When Smith drew his revolver and leveled it upon Hendricks, she turned her back, and instantly she heard two shots fired. Officer Hendricks was shot in the back, and the theory has been advanced that the fatal shot was fired by Sisk, who was concealed behind the house, but no evidence was brought out to substantiate this.

Smith was represented by ex-Judge W. P. Bynum, Jr., of this city and Mr. C. O. McMichael, of Madison, while District Attorney Holton conducted the case for the government.

To Tobacco Growers.

I wish to say to the farmers who raise tobacco in this section, also those who have not been selling their tobacco on the Greensboro market for the many years I have been in the warehouse business, have I seen tobacco bringing so satisfactory prices as I am now getting at the FARMERS WAREHOUSE, I would like to sell your next load. I can please you.

There is another matter I would like to speak to you about, and that is this: I have been informed by some of my friends (and customers that my competitors in the warehouse business here in Greensboro are telling you that the entire buying force are attending their sales daily and that two of the buyers do not attend the sales at the Farmers warehouse. Now that much is true. But do they tell you why these two buyers do not attend my sales? Of course not. Well I will tell you. Those two buyers say that I HAVE PRICES TOO HIGH; they can't buy tobacco on my floor; that Morgan buys too much tobacco. Of course you do not care who buys your tobacco, so you get the full market prices. It is not my desire at all to buy one pound of tobacco only to secure my customers the FULL MARKET VALUE for each pile of leaf. Would I be treating you right to let some buyer buy your tobacco for less than the market in order that he might make a commission on it when I knew that it was below the market value? I DON'T THINK I WOULD BE. The American Tobacco Company's buyer, Reynolds' buyer, Mr. E. J. Stafford and others who buy on my floor do not raise any protest when Morgan bids on or buys a pile of your tobacco, for they are exceedingly anxious that you should obtain the very best prices for your tobacco, and they show it by buying about seventy-five per cent or more of all the tobacco that is now being sold on the Greensboro market.

Now, farmer friends, I want you to remember that when you sell with Morgan at the Farmers warehouse you shall ALWAYS have the full market prices.

Come to see me.

Your friend,
E. L. MORGAN.

SPEAKER CANNON ENDORSED.

Republican Executive Committee Wants Native of Guilford for Presidency.

The Guilford county Republican executive committee met in Greensboro last Thursday and selected March 7th as the date for holding the county convention that is to name delegates to the state convention to be held in this city April 30th. The primaries for the selection of delegates to the county convention will be held March 6th. By a vote of two to one the committee adopted the following resolutions, introduced by Mr. John A. Hodgkin, endorsing Hon. Joseph G. Cannon for the presidential nomination:

"Resolved, That for the next President of the United States, we unequivocally express our preference for, and pledge our unwavering support to, that sturdy, broad-minded statesman whose modest patriotism, earnest endeavor, unquestioned business judgment, unimpeachable integrity, and distinguished services through forty years of conspicuous life have endeared him to all true Americans—Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois."

The fight against the adoption of the resolution was led by a deputy marshal and an employee of the internal revenue service, who argued that it would hurt the party for the committee to give an expression of its preference for the presidency. The gentlemen were reminded that the state committee had not failed to endorse President Roosevelt, after which the resolution was put to a vote and carried with the above-mentioned result.

Guilford county has eighteen votes in the Republican state convention, and a member of the executive committee has made the assertion that every one of these votes will be cast for Cannon. The fifth district is entitled to 142 votes in the state convention, and the same gentleman says that these votes will be cast for Cannon.

ENCOURAGING REPORT.

Splendid Condition of Public Schools of Oak Ridge Township.

Prof. Thomas R. Foust, county superintendent of public instruction, is in receipt of a most encouraging report of the public school work of Oak Ridge township. This township has four white and two colored schools, and every building is new. It is a local tax district, and in sending in notice of the apportionment made to the various schools Mr. Charles Case, chairman of the township school board, who has occupied that position for twenty-five years, recites the fact that not only was every member of the school committee present, but each one expressed himself well pleased with the work of the school in his district. The amount apportioned by this meeting, out of the local tax fund alone, was $950. This neat sum supplements the amount allowed from the general fund of $996, making a total of $2,046 for these six schools to expend in one year. This not only insures longer school terms, but better paid teachers and more of them.

Concluding his report of the school work of the past year as gained from his own observation and from reports of the members of the committee, Chairman Case adds this significant postscript: "In my opinion better work is now being done in the schools of the township than at any time since the civil war."

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specially prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell.

Mr. Peter P. Yates, Greensboro, N. C.
My Dear Sir and Friend:—I beg to write and thank you for the good the Band you placed on my leg on December 21st, five days ago, when you explained to me the good you could do me. I could scarcely give credit to it, yet I knew you so well I had faith in your remedy. I would say further the rheumatism has disappeared and also the neuralgia from which I have been a great sufferer. I trust you may be the means of reaching the many sufferers in this broad land and be able to bring to them the same good results that have come to me, which I only wish I had known of years ago, and I shall hold to this Band so long as I live and would not part with same for any consideration.

Thanking you again, with high regards and very best wishes,
Your friend,

BASEBALL IN GREENSBORO.

Prospects Bright for Approaching Season
—Team Manager Engaged.

The baseball cranks in Greensboro, and they include a large portion of the population, are looking forward with a degree of interest to the approaching season. The Greensboro Baseball Club, organized a short time ago, has employed a team manager, arranged for a ball park and attended to other details preliminary to the inauguration of a successful season. The Cone Athletic Park, situated on the Summit avenue car line, will be used again this season, but will be enlarged and greatly improved. The old grand-stand and bleachers are to be torn away entirely and replaced by larger and better ones.

The new grand-stand, which will be constructed in the most approved manner, will have a seating capacity of 2,500, while the bleachers will accommodate 1,500 people. The Greensboro Electric Company has placed an order for five new street cars which will be placed on the line by the opening of the season, thus assuring adequate transportation facilities.

James McKeivitt, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been employed as manager of the Greensboro team. He is to report for duty March 1st. At present
Mr. McKeivitt is making a trip through Ohio, Indiana and Illinois selecting players, and he writes that he is picking up a bunch of winners. Manager McKeivitt is highly recommended as a leader of winning teams and a clean, high-toned baseball man. He was captain of the Lynchburg team in 1905, when that team won the pennant of the Virginia League. Last year he managed the Danville team, which held second place at the close of the season.

The officers of the Greensboro Baseball Club are: L. J. Brandt, president;
S. N. Cone, vice-president; Garland Daniel, secretary and treasurer. These gentlemen, with the following named, constitute the board of directors: C. G.
Wright, J. F. Cobb, E. A. Brown and E. G. West. Secretary Daniel, who is a live wire in baseball or anything else that he goes in for, says the club will receive the enthusiastic support of the citizens of Greensboro and that the financial backing will be ample.

YOUNG MAN SHOTS HIMSELF.

John W. Fry loses life through accidental discharge of revolver.

A sad tragedy was enacted in Gastonia Monday night, when John W.
Fry, formerly of Greensboro, lost his life as the result of the accidental discharge of a revolver in his own hands.
A Gastonia special to the Charlotte Observer gives the following account of the affair:

About 7:30 this evening Mr. Fry, day clerk at the Falls House, went to call on Miss Willie Jenkins, daughter of Mr. W. H. Jenkins, at her home in the Jenkins block. He pulled off his overcoat and walked into the parlor where the young lady was, remarking to her that he wanted to "show her a trick."
Simultaneously he drew from a pocket a pistol and, under the full light of the hanging lamp, shot himself, accidentally, it is held by all, in the head, the bullet entering the right temple and ranging upwards, coming out about two inches above the place where it entered. The skull was fractured in three different ways, and after lingering without regaining consciousness, the young man died at 10 o'clock.

The young man was a son of Capt.
S. G. Fry, for many years a resident of Greensboro, but now engaged in the hotel business in Gastonia. He was a nephew of Capt. J. W. Fry, of this city.

Death of Mrs. W. M. Pike

Mrs. W. M. Pike, for several years a resident of southern Guilford, where she was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends, died of pneumonia last Wednesday morning, after a brief illness at her home near Hickory Grove
M. P. church, three miles east of Liberty, where her husband is stationed as pastor, and was buried Thursday, after funeral services conducted by Rev. W.
F. Ashburn, Rev. D. A. Highfill and Rev. W. C. Kennett.

Mrs. Pike was formerly Miss Nettie Clark. She was born and reared in Halifax county. Besides her husband, she is survived by three children. Rev.
Mr. Pike was too ill to attend the funeral Thursday, but his condition has since improved, and we are pleased to learn.
One of his children was just recovering from pneumonia when the mother was stricken, and another child is now ill with the same disease.

THE REPUBLICAN CAMP.

Dr. Mott, a Former Leader, in the City—
Cannon Forces Encouraged.

The presence in the city Sunday of Dr. J. J. Mott, of Statesville, an old-time and intrepid leader of the Republican party in North Carolina, infused new hope and courage into the anti-administration Republicans in and around Greensboro, for they recognize in the fearless old man from Iredell a champion of their cause who knows not how to surrender or compromise, once he has enlisted in a fight. Sunday a number of local Republicans closely identified with the anti-administration movement foregathered in the lobby of the Benbow and talked politics, while Dr. Mott and several leaders of the Cannon boom conferred together in an upstairs room. The gentlemen downstairs, some of whom had remained away from church, in order to be near the center of activity and catch anything that might be floating around, appeared to be highly pleased with Dr.
Mott's visit to Greensboro. One of them said to a reporter:

"It is true that Dr. Mott is an old man, as years go, but he has lost none of the bold daring and iron nerve of his youth. He still knows how to fight with a purpose, and the crowd that he opposes will not fail to feel the force of his blows. For all practical purposes, I would rather have Dr. Mott on my side than a dozen leaders of the administration forces in this state I might mention."

State Chairman Adams' interview in Sunday's Industrial News, in which he repeats his prediction that Taft will carry North Carolina at Chicago and refers incidentally to the Cannon movement, excited mild interest among the adherents of the speaker.
One of these gentlemen said the mild tone of the state chairman's utterance indicates that he is not so sure of the success of the Taft movement in North Carolina and clearly shows that he is frightened by the impetus of the Cannon boom.

Fiddlesticks!

When a man or woman says fiddlesticks, it means they feel skeptical concerning a bit of information or an assertion they have read or been told of. Many times they are wrong in this, as the brightest of us marvel at the wonderful occurrences that are hap-

DON'T BE SKEPTICAL

If you are and persist in feeling so, you are liable to

THE RAILROAD INQUIRY.

It is apparent that the inquiry about to be made by order of President Roosevelt to ascertain the reasons why certain railroads have reduced, or intend to reduce, the wages of their employees, will be prolific of results, but not the kind of results which the President sought when he addressed his now famous letter to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is said that only four railroads in the United States have given notice of an intention to reduce wages, and two of these roads are in the hands of receivers. These four roads operate in southeastern territory, namely the Louisville & Nashville, the Southern, the Seaboard Air Line, and the Atlantic Coast Line. No northern road, so far as known, contemplates reducing wages, although many of them contemplate laying off men as a result of a falling off in business during the past few months. The same thing is true, it is learned, of certain roads in the middle and far West.

Members of the Interstate Commerce Commission decline to indicate just what form its inquiry, in compliance with the instructions of the President, will take. It is known, however, that the annual reports of the four roads named above are being subjected to close scrutiny in an effort to develop whether diminished business, or a desire to "get even" with the administration or certain states, prompted them to give notice of an intention to reduce wages.

As a measure calculated to make political capital for the administration, it is already realized that the President's letter has fallen short of expectations. It has been demonstrated that there is no concerted movement on the part of the railroads to reduce wages, and in fact, every effort is to be made by a number of the big systems of the country to maintain present scales as long as possible in the hope that there will soon be a revival of business. Thousands of cars are now idle on sidings in the United States and thousands of locomotives have gone temporarily out of commission, owing to the decline in trade incident to the recent panic. This has resulted in a lay off of many men, although only in the instances noted has notice been given that wages would be reduced.

SENATOR OVERMAN SHOULD NOT BE RETIRED.

The Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer reports that Governor Glenn has definitely decided to become a candidate for the United States Senate as the successor of Senator Overman. This announcement does not come as a surprise, for it has been an open secret for a long while that Governor Glenn's supreme ambition is to go from his present office to a seat in the Senate. Whether he will realize his ambition is another question entirely. There are many thousands of Democrats in North Carolina who can see no reason why Senator Overman should be retired. He has measured up to every responsibility of his high office and has made an enviable reputation for himself during his brief term of service in the Senate, having accomplished much for his state and party. It is a matter of common knowledge that no senator in recent years, during his first term, has achieved more distinction than has Senator Overman. The Observer's Washington correspondent has this to say of the contest between Senator Overman and Governor Glenn:

The campaign will be interesting. Mr. Overman declared himself 25 years ago on the liquor question and Governor Glenn has preached in every quarter of the state on it within the last few years. There is but little, if any, difference in the views of the two men on that score. Overman was in the thick of the fight when the people were against him; Mr. Glenn is with him since the people turned and faced about. There can be no issue there. Mr. Overman is making a good Senator. He is liked here and is able to accomplish something for the state.

It is apparent that the activity of the Cannon forces in North Carolina is a matter of concern to the administration Republicans, who see in the movement a possibility of the loss of political power and prestige.

KITCHIN AND CRAIG MEET IN DEBATE.

In Wadesboro Saturday Congressman W. W. Kitchen and Hon. Locke Craig, the two leading candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, met in joint debate, addressing a large crowd of Anson county Democrats. Both gentlemen made strong speeches that appealed to their supporters, and while one or both of them may have gained new adherents, we wonder if the debate will result in any good to the party. Both Messrs. Kitchen and Craig are recognized leaders of the Democratic party, each aspiring to the highest office in the gift of the people of the state. It is not asserted that either of the gentlemen has repudiated any principle of the party. Then why should they meet in joint debate when they have only personal matters to discuss?

We confess that we do not like the idea of joint-debates between Democratic candidates, and we trust the practice will not become general in North Carolina.

Charles A. Towne, formerly Republican Senator and later Democratic representative in Congress, is right in saying that the Democratic party does not owe to Theodore Roosevelt its doctrine of the greatest good to the greatest number, and that it can go on championing the welfare of the many as against the interests of the few without relinquishing its great principles of home rule, local self-government, the preservation of the autonomy of the states, and the restoration and maintenance of the balance among the coordinate branches of the national government.

The prohibition fight that is on in North Carolina is not a partisan matter, and any attempt to inject politics into the campaign should be frowned down. When the legislature submitted the question to a vote of the whole people, it eliminated the matter from the realm of politics, which was entirely proper. A large number of the leaders of both parties are publicly committed to state prohibition and will lift up their voices for the cause in the campaign.

Since Guilford's three members of the legislature are understood to be candidates for other offices this year, the Democrats of the county, in all probability, will have to look elsewhere for men to represent them in the next general assembly. Of course neither of the present members would consent to become a candidate for two offices in one year.

Mr. J. Elwood Cox, of High Point, who has been mentioned as a probable candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, has announced in positive terms that he will not be a candidate and would not accept the nomination if it were offered to him. That should settle the matter.

FOR SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Letter Sent Out by Executive Committee of Association.

The executive committee of the North Carolina State Sabbath Association has sent the following letter to ministers and others throughout the state:

"Dear Brother:—The North Carolina State Sabbath Association, an inter-church organization for the purposes noted above, desires, through its executive committee, to make an appeal to you.

"This association, as perhaps you already know, was organized in Greensboro, something more than a year ago, after the untiring and unceasing effort on the part of Rev. W. H. McMaisters, who is now our field secretary. The growth of the organization has been encouraging, and its roll of members includes already some of the most active workers in our churches.

"The aim of the Association, as stated in the motto above, is the preservation and observance of the Christian Sabbath, and its desire is to bring this about by the creation of a healthy public sentiment, and by securing the enactment and enforcement of such wholesome laws as will protect the God-given right of every citizen of our state to enjoy his Sabbath rest.

"You can readily see the need for more effort along this line as you see the growing disregard for the sanctity of the day. Every church, every Christian, and indeed every citizen, in our state should be vitally interested in this matter.

"To carry on the work and enlarge it this year as should be done, means of course a larger expense. The voluntary contributions made in the past to our Field Secretary are not sufficient, and the Executive Committee feels constrained to call on you for additional help. We shall need this year, at the very lowest estimate, $1,000, which is a very small amount for all of our churches to raise.

"The plan which has been adopted after very careful consideration is:

"1. To appeal to individuals for private donations in any amount.

"2. To ask for members to be enrolled on the payment of a membership fee of fifty cents per year.

"3. To appeal to churches to contribute five dollars or more per year, and to include this amount in the expense budget."

CHIEF OF POLICE KILLED.

Fayetteville Officer Victim of Foul Murder While in Discharge of His Duty—Shot by a Negro.

Fayetteville Special to Charlotte Observer, 2nd.

For the second time within a year Fayetteville's chief of police has been murdered. James H. Benton, the head of the police department of the city, was shot about 1.30 o'clock this afternoon by Sam Murchison, a negro 30 years old, and died at 2.45 o'clock, living little more than an hour. The murderer was captured a short time after the shooting occurred and is now safely lodged in jail here.

The circumstances of the murder are aggravated and without palliation. It seems that the murderer, Murchison, had trouble earlier in the day with John Raine, another negro, and Ida Moore, a negro woman, which resulted in his shooting Raine, inflicting a slight flesh wound and his threatening the life of the Moore woman. The woman, who lives in the neighborhood of Chief of Police Benton's home, fled to the latter for protection, making an outcry as she ran. Chief Benton met her at his back door, and hearing her complaint, was starting out in search of Murchison when the latter appeared on the scene. He and Officer Benton exchanged a few words, when the negro suddenly drew a revolver and fired at Mr. Benton, inflicting a mortal wound just under the eye. Officer Benton staggered and attempted to make his way back into the house, but fell before he reached the door.

Jack Crosswell, a lad, hearing the pistol shot, ran up at once and attempted to arrest the murderer, but the latter snatched his pistol at the boy and broke away. Mr. J. B. Underwood next appeared and the negro fled, firing a wild shot at Mr. Underwood as he ran. Charles Benton, the 17-year-old son of the wounded man, ran to his father's assistance as he fell and caught up the latter's revolver as it dropped from his belt. As the negro fled the youth fired three shots after him, one of them taking effect, as developed after the capture was made. Officer Benton was carried into his residence, suffering great agony, and lingered for a little more than an hour, passing away about the time his murderer was being placed under arrest.

News of the murder and the escape of the murderer spread rapidly through the city, and excitement became intense. Sheriff Watson and his deputies and thirty police were at once at work endeavoring to track the fugitive, and hastily organized posses of citizens were speedily scouring the suburbs in the vicinity of the scene of the crime. The capture was accomplished by Mr. Howard Smith, who was immediately joined by Messrs. George McNeill, L. A. Williamson and A. B. Hall, and the prisoner was then turned over to Sheriff Watson and his deputies.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

The Gentlemen Who Will Go Before the State Convention.

The names of the following Democrats are mentioned as candidates for the various state offices:

For governor there are Ashley Horne, of Clayton; Locke Craig, of Asheville, and W. W. Kitchen, of Roxboro. The name of Col. William T. Dorich, of Goldsboro, has been mentioned, but Colonel Dorich has not announced his candidacy.

Superintendent of Public Instruction J. Y. Joyner has no opposition, nor has Insurance Commissioner James R. Young.

The treasurer, Mr. B. R. Lacy, the present incumbent, is opposed by Mr. W. R. Odell, of Concord.

Auditor B. F. Dixon also has opposition in the person of Mr. Frank D. Hackett, of Wilkesboro.

Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes is opposed by Gen. W. P. Roberts, of Gatesville.

For commissioner of labor and printing there is a number. Mr. M. L. Simpson, who has been doing the work of the commissioner, is a candidate, and so are Messrs. W. W. Wilson, Raleigh; W. W. Haywood, Charlotte; L. E. Powers, Rutherfordton; J. B. Sherrill, Concord; T. G. Cobb, Morganton.

Another office that isn't going begging is the office of commissioner of agriculture. For this there are no less than six aspirants, these being Major W. A. Graham, Lincoln; Col. E. F. McRae, Robeson; C. C. Moore, Charlotte; E. L. Daughtridge, Edgecombe; T. B. Parker, Raleigh; R. W. Scott, Alamance.

There are four names mentioned for attorney general: Mr. Hayden Clement, the present assistant, is a candidate and these others have either announced themselves or their friends have: Mr. John E. Woodard, Wilson; Speaker E. J. Justice, Greensboro, and ex-Judge B. B. Winborne, Murfreesboro.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY.

Action Taken for Its Formation by Independence League.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Steps for the formation of a new national political party were taken at a conference of the Independence League today. The action followed a short speech by William Randolph Hearst enunciating the principles of the league and the adoption of a "declaration of principles" setting forth the objects of the organization and the means by which it hopes to attain them. The provisional national committee of which Mr. Hearst is chairman, was authorized by resolution to call a national convention to nominate candidates for the presidency and the vice presidency after the Republican and Democratic parties have held their gatherings in Chicago and Denver, respectively.

The platform was reported by Clarence J. Shearn, of New York, chairman of a committee appointed in September 1907 to formulate the document.

"The objects of the Independence League are to conserve for the citizens of the United States the rights and liberties won for them by the founders of this government," says the platform, "and to perpetuate the principles and policies upon which the nation's greatness has been built. The league is devoted to the preservation of American liberty, to honesty in elections, to opportunity in business, to equality before the law."

ROOSEVELT WRITES.

Reduction of Salaries by Railroads to be Investigated.

That President Roosevelt has no thought of modifying his policies for the regulation of the business of the railroads of the United States is clearly indicated in a letter, in which the Interstate Commerce Commission is directed to make an inquiry with a view to ascertain what has prompted certain railroads to serve notice of an intention to reduce the wages of their employees.

The investigation thus ordered by the President will be conducted jointly by the commission under the general powers conferred by the Hepburn law, and by the chairman of the commission and the Commissioner of Labor, who are the officers empowered with the duty of enforcing the Erdmann law. The latter is known as the "act of mediation and conciliation."

The administration is expected to wield the big stick in the form of inquiries "into the conduct and management" of railroads, such as was made in the case of the Harriman lines.

The Law as to Fines.

The state department of public instruction is spending out a circular to county superintendents and boards of education, treasurers, judges, solicitors and clerks of Superior court, also mayors, giving the law regarding fines, forfeitures and penalties, and showing that reports of these are required by the law to be made, all fines, etc., going to the public school funds of the counties, the Supreme court having decided in the case from Asheville that all such fines, etc., imposed by municipal officers belong to the county school fund.

PULLMAN CO. TO CUT OUT LIQUOR.

Spread of Prohibition Law Will Cause It to Stop Selling Drinks.

Philadelphia Dispatch.

Responding to the sentiment for local option and state prohibition, and as a means to disengage itself from many perplexities caused by local option and prohibition laws, the Pullman Company has decided to discontinue the sale of liquor on its cars in every part of the United States, the order to go into effect as soon as the liquor now on hand can be disposed of without loss.

An order to this effect was sent out from Chicago several weeks ago to various district superintendents throughout the United States. It is expected to begin in the East and to work westward, and the order may become operative in New England and the middle states about March 1st.

It is admitted by officers of the company that this step is being taken because of the direct effect the anti-alcohol laws in the several states has had upon their business. Not only have the changed conditions of the last twelve months cut deeply into the profits formerly derived from this source, but on long runs liquor can be sold for only portions of the distance, and the company is constantly in danger of prosecution for law-breaking through carelessness of employees in overlooking the crossing of state or county lines.

The trip from Philadelphia to New York furnishes an example of the problem which confronts the dining car. A law only recently effective in New Jersey forbids the sale of liquor on trains in the state. From Philadelphia to Bristol the company may sell, but when the Jersey line is reached the beer and liquors must be put under lock and key.

Officials of the company say further that there has been a tendency for several years toward discontinuing the sale of liquor because of frequent unpleasant occurrences resulting from too free use of intoxicants by passengers.

James Martin, head of the Philadelphia division of the Pullman company interests, admitted today that arrangements are pushed forward as rapidly as possible toward discontinuing the sale in this state. It is probable that by March 1st Pullman cars in Pennsylvania will all be "dry."

WANT CRIME HALTED.

Congressmen Seek Protection for District of Columbia.

Two incidents in the national House of Representatives Saturday served to indicate that members of that body are becoming aroused over repeated assaults which are rapidly developing into a chronic wave of brigandage in the District of Columbia.

Representative Webb, of North Carolina, introduced a sweeping anti-vagrancy bill, and Representative Sims, of Tennessee, in a ten-minute address on the floor of the House, called attention to the reign of lawlessness which has the district in its grasp, and advocated provisions for an addition to the police force. This, however, he argued, would not wholly prevent the recurrence of present conditions, unless the law saloons and dives which breed the class which is responsible for the crimes which are shocking and terrorizing Washington are put out of business.

Both Mr. Webb and Mr. Sims declared that the crimes which are of almost daily occurrence in Washington now are the work of negroes, and the former added, in discussing his bill last night, that he believed that its passage would result in driving out of Washington at least ten thousand of the worst class of negroes.

The proposed law is the result of extensive investigation by Mr. Webb of the existing condition and the best method of remedying it. He said that the bill has the approval of the police department of this city, that it is based on laws at present in force in Massachusetts, North Carolina, and other States. He found while looking up the facts that the District has no vagrancy law, one which was enacted in 1892 having apparently been repealed inadvertently by the fifty-sixth Congress.

Norfolk & Western Borrowers Money.

A press dispatch from Durham says: "The manner in which the Norfolk & Western Railway Company is borrowing money with which to provide additional equipment does not seem to indicate that the railroads are embarrassed on account of the much talk of 'confiscatory legislation.'" Since yesterday the Norfolk & Western has filed with the register of deeds in this county four mortgages that represent the borrowing of $4,000,000 with which to provide additional rolling stock. These gigantic mortgages are now being recorded and it will take one man several days, using a book typewriter, to get the papers on the record books of the county. The mortgages and agreements cover eight printed books, four of these containing 52 pages each and the other four containing 24 pages each, making a total of 308 printed pages. The mortgages are given by the Norfolk & Western to a Virginia company and in turn there is an agreement between the Virginia company and the Commercial Trust Company, this being for the money arrangement."

Carnegie's Gifts to Libraries.

Andrew Carnegie gave $1,631,630 for public and college libraries last year, according to figures just compiled. This brought his total gifts for libraries in all countries up to $49,605,622. Mr. Carnegie is very secretive about his benefactions of this sort and denies information about them to all inquiries. His private secretary, indeed, says that the expenditures for libraries are set down on pages that are largely occupied by other items, and that even Mr. Carnegie doesn't know how much he has given for any particular purpose.

MR. BRYAN'S HELPMATE.

His Confidence in Her Capacity for Any Position.

New York World.

William J. Bryan's declaration of confidence in his wife's ability to acquit herself creditably if she were mistress of the White House, made at a luncheon given by Buffalo's most exclusive women's club, has caused no end of talk among the members of the club.

Mr. Bryan, who was in Buffalo under the guidance of the Erie county general committee, was the guest of Mrs. Norman E. Mack, wife of the Democratic national committeeman, at the regular weekly luncheon of the Twentieth Century Club. He sat at Mrs. Mack's table, with Mayor Johnson and other guests. He had been asked to make an address on Abraham Lincoln, and had been requested not to inject politics.

"An Eastern society woman," he said, "had been quoted as being solicitous as to whether Mrs. Bryan would be capable of conducting her social duties with propriety. I take the opportunity of saying something about a woman whose aid to me in my public career I unhesitatingly acknowledge. She is a very superior woman. She is a college graduate, and is deeply read on many subjects. After our marriage she studied law and perfected her knowledge in it. To make herself a more complete helpmate to me in my public career she studied economics and political economy. I unhesitatingly take her advice. Some of our friends quiz me by saying that she is superior as a public man to her husband. As to her social abilities, I have no fears of her ability to conduct herself with propriety and credit."

BROOKS FOR CONGRESS.

A Few Reasons Why His Nomination Should be Unanimous.

High Point Enterprise.

Some people are inclined to believe that the public mind is fickle and inappreciative of the real worth and merit of public servants. There may be sometimes ground for such criticism, but when the people are given time to think, it is hard to fool the majority. At one time it seemed as if the people of Guilford county were unmindful of the service rendered by our solicitor, A. L. Brooks, to Guilford county and to the entire ninth judicial district, as well as his peerless service rendered to the party throughout the length and breadth of this state, and that he might not receive the unanimous support of Guilford county for Congress, but it is very apparent now, however, that the people of his county will remain loyal and steadfast to him.

One thing is certain, no man in his position has ever served his people with more zeal and loyalty to the enforcement of his trust than has our solicitor. We are for Hon. A. L. Brooks for Congress and believe that, before the congressional convention meets, everybody else will. It should be unanimous.

SENATOR OVERMAN.

Has Attended Closely to His Duties and Will Succeed Himself.

Concord Times.

It is probably trite to say that Hon. Lee S. Overman has made an ideal senator, but it is nevertheless true. Popular when he was elected, and possessing the respect and admiration of the people of the state, he has grown immensely during the years he has served the people as their senator in the national Congress. He has attended closely to his duties, and has watched every interest of his people. Nothing has escaped him, and he has been able to accomplish more than can usually be accomplished by a senator during his first term.

Senator Overman will be chosen to succeed himself. It is folly for any man in the state to undertake to defeat him for re-election. He is entitled to it not only by the common custom to give an official the endorsement of a second term, but he is more entitled to it by the superb record he has made, and the assiduous devotion to duty he has shown.

Insanity Not Increasing.

Dr. Henry T. Stedman, in his lecture at the Harvard medical school on "Popular Fallacies Regarding Insanity," did not hesitate to declare that many physicians, as well as laymen, mistakenly believe that insanity is increasing, when there is no actual growth of such mental disease. There has been a great accumulation of insane in the asylums, but in proportion to the population there is no increase in newly occurring cases of insanity.

Dr. Stedman pointed out that the lives of insane patients are prolonged under modern conditions, while new cases are constantly added to the hospital lists, and the totals of insane cases under treatment are thus swollen. Moreover, there are more mental conditions which are classed today as insane, a fact that shows an apparent, but no real, general increase of lunacy.

When it is considered how important an influence unwholesome physical conditions have in producing insanity, it might well be doubted that mental disease is increasing in an age which incessantly is attacking all sources of physical inanitation.

High Naval Estimates.

New York World.

In asking Congress at this time for $79,270,000 for new naval construction, Secretary Metcalf makes the administration ridiculous. He wants four battleships, to cost $88,000,000 for all; ten scout cruisers at $10,000,000; ten destroyers at $5,500,000; four submarines at $1,520,000; one ammunition ship, $1,750,000; one repair ship, $2,000,000; two mine-laying ships (cruisers) to be converted and equipped at $5,000,000; and four fleet colliers at $7,000,000. The administration will have an immense annual deficit to show by next July, and another one the following year if Congress persists in its present extravagant schemes. Instead of preaching economy to meet the situation, the administration is urging larger appropriations than ever. It acts as irresponsibly as the most insignificant congressman.

The man who uses a falsehood for policy, like the woman who powders, soon gets into the habit of putting on too much.

WASHINGTON DUKE'S RECIPE.

Pioneer Durham Tobacco Manufacturer's Pithy Business Maxim.

Wall Street Journal.

The late Washington Duke, pioneer of the industry which later developed into the American Tobacco Company, was once asked for a recipe for being successful in business. He replied: "Find out what the people want, and then give it to them good and plenty."

Andrew Carnegie at the Genesee Society dinner in this city recently told the people that the way to get on in the world was to get to work a little earlier and stay a little later than the other fellow. There is much wisdom in this, although the unionist's view differs somewhat from Mr. Carnegie's. Many a boy, as well as many a man, has missed the critical opportunity of his life by being altogether too careful to get away five minutes before the end of his day's work, rather than to stay five minutes later.

There is a big printing establishment in Washington, D. C., where every man is said to have his hand on his coat and hat five minutes before the hour for closing. This is not the kind of devotion to duty which the great iron-master or the great tobacco manufacturer had in mind. The love of a man's work is the magnet that ought to hold him to it, rather than the fear of giving a few minutes' extra time to his employer.

Murdered at Church Door.

Raleigh, Feb. 20.—A special from Williamston says:

While Bishop Strange, who is holding a mission here this week, was delivering an eloquent discourse on "Salvation" in the Episcopal church last night, three pistol shots were heard and the ushers of the church rushed out to the gate and found Mr. E. B. McGlawhorne, who had been shot in the chest and seriously wounded by some unknown person.

Mr. McGlawhorne was conscious and said to his son, who was among those who rushed out, that some one arose in the darkness and with the words "You are the man I have been looking for," shot him down.

Mr. McGlawhorne was carried to his house, where every effort was made to save his life, but he died this morning. The assailant left no trace and the authorities have no clue to his identity.

Railroads' Proposed Cut.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Serious industrial disputes in prospect were in the mind of President Roosevelt when he wrote a letter to the inter-state commerce commission which was made public today. He says that information has reached him that, on account of the enactment of drastic laws by Congress and by various state legislatures, it is regarded as necessary by railroad companies to reduce the pay of their employees. He points out that, under the law, either party may demand the services of the chairman of the inter-state commerce committee, and of the Commissioner of Labor, as a board of conciliation. He suggests, therefore, that the inter-state commerce commission wage conditions on various railroads as may relate, directly, or indirectly to the possible impending controversy.

Vice Presidency Needless.

Kansas City Star.

Various suggestions have been made for increasing the Vice President's authority and influence so as to make the office more attractive. One of these was to give him a Cabinet seat. But obviously the chief influence a Cabinet officer acquires is due to his close relationship with the President, who chooses him. An outsider thrust on the Chief Executive would count for little.

The truth is that the Vice Presidency is a superfluous office, and ought to be abolished by constitutional amendment. The outcome would be far more likely to prove satisfactory if the presidential office should devolve upon cabinet members in turn, rather than upon the representation of a minority faction chosen for political reasons in the heat of the convention to placate disgruntled leaders.

Good Advice.

"But life has no bright side!" wailed the pessimist.

"Then get busy and polish up the dark side," rejoined the optimist.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicat questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription."

It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days trust on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

NATURE'S

GREAT BLOOD TONIC

Piedmont-Bedford Concentrated Iron & Alum Water

(Representing the Famous Bedford Alum & Iron Springs of Va.)

contains 17 of the most powerful Mineral Tonics.

An 18-oz. bottle contains all the minerals in a barrel of the average water. We furnish the minerals, you furnish the water.

We have certificates both from the public and from eminent physicians, telling of its virtue in Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, a large variety of Female Diseases, Chronic Diarrhoea and Dysentery, General Debility, Anaemia, Malar, a Ulceration of the Throat, Diabetes, Piles, Chronic Eczema, Nervousness, Chronic Constipation, and many showing the wonderful cures in that dreadful disease, Scrofula.

Dr. T. L. KAHLE, for fifteen years a resident at the Springs, says: "For Scrofula, that fearful destroyer of human health and happiness, we have in this water a remedy which neither science nor fortune accident has hitherto found an equal. It is in this malady, and some forms of secondary and tertiary Syphilis, that this water when carried to its full curative effect, displays its highest curative powers. In all forms of diseases peculiar to females, this water will be found to exert a curative influence second to none in Virginia."

I have given your Concentrated Water a fair trial, and say with pleasure I have been greatly benefited. For some years I have suffered more or less with Indigestion, followed by Constipation and other attendant ills. Within the past two months I have found such relief from your remedy that I have improved in strength and weight; have eaten what I have not dared to do for a long time, and have done harder work than I have been able to do before for years.

Rev. OSCAR LITTLETON,

Presiding Elder, Lynchburg, Va.

Since 1894 I have been afflicted with Chronic Diarrhoea. About six months ago I commenced using your Concentrated Iron and Alum Water with the most wonderful and satisfactory results. For three or four years past I have been deprived of the privilege of visiting friends or going to church, as my trouble kept me in constant apprehension, having lost almost entirely the control of my bowels; but now I am happy to state that after using about a half dozen bottles of your remedy I am entirely cured, not having used any for the last four months. I am confidently and most gladly recommend your remedy for Chronic Diarrhoea.

CAPT. RUFUS AMIS, Virgiana, Va.

I was an intense sufferer for some months with Indigestion, and could get no relief from the ordinary remedies. During the month of January I began the use of your Concentrated Water, and one bottle has entirely relieved me. I can now digest any diet and am entirely free from suffering. I take great pleasure in giving this testimonial.

Rev. H. M. BLAIR,

Editor N. C. Christian Advocate, Greensboro, N. C.

I have used and prescribed waters from several Iron and Alum Springs, but none of them begin to come up to your Concentrated Water in all that goes to make the ideal alternative, strengthener, appetizer and restorative. It is at once a fine tonic and flesh-builder. Have advised several recently to try it, and always with fine and quick results. In January I had a bottle sent from one of your dealers to a lady, with the understanding that if it did not at once improve her digestive apparatus, I would pay the $1.00 myself. She not only willingly paid the bill, but used a part of one-half dozen more bottles, and is now completely cured of a long and annoying Stomach Trouble. This seems to be the case with all who try it.

CRIMINAL TERM OF COURT.

Good Progress Being Made in Disposing of the Docket—Sensational Slander Case Set for Trial.

A week's criminal term of Guilford Superior court convened Monday morning, with Judge James L. Webb, of Shelby, on the bench and about 200 cases awaiting trial. Good progress is being made in disposing of the docket.

The following constitute the grand jury: M. L. Kendall, foreman; Harrison White, Thomas Overman, S. J. Crouch, V. E. Vaughn, A. P. Lowe, B. J. Bean, W. W. Layton, S. G. Dalton, J. G. Jobe, W. H. Bishop, Enoch Shelby, C. B. Higgins, J. S. Clapp, W. G. Simpson, A. E. Cain, N. H. Morrison and J. W. Elmore.

John Callogg, colored, who was caught in the act of robbing a grocery store at Five Points, in this city, a few weeks ago, was convicted and sentenced to the roads for two years.

For an assault, Bob Crawford was sentenced to the roads for two years.

Frank Brown was given 15 months on the roads for stealing a mule.

Will King was found guilty of indirect burglary and given a sentence of 12 months on the roads.

Several larceny cases were disposed of as follows: Lucian Rice, not guilty; Bud Long, Luther Fuller and Will Bain, judgment suspended on payment of costs; Fred Gray, eight months on the roads; John Lindsay, 12 months in workhouse; Walter Neeley and Lee Wallace, four months on the roads; John Gilmore, $10 and costs; Charlie Thacker, judgment suspended on payment of costs; Levi Walker, four months on the roads; John Brown, Frank Green and Clinton Foushee, five months each on the roads; Alice Fuller, 12 months in the work house.

Cases charging carrying concealed weapons were disposed of as follows: James McCormick, pleaded guilty, $5 and the costs; John Lamb, judgment suspended; Ed Buse, $10 and costs; Alma Turner, $10 and the costs; Will Walker, four months on the roads; James Pool, $10 and the costs.

J. C. Penny and J. H. Cummings were charged with engaging in an affray. Penny was fined $25 and the costs, while Cummings pleaded guilty and was let off with the payment of half the costs.

Talmage Daniel was found guilty of disturbing the peace and was fined $5 and the costs.

W. L. Cates was tried on the charge of assault with deadly weapon, judgment being suspended upon payment of the costs.

Foster Benton was given a hearing on the charge of retailing. He was found guilty and sentenced to four months on the county roads. Lewis Hoskins received a like sentence for the same offense.

The case against Lee Kirk, colored, charged with the murder of "Black Joe" Morehead, is expected to come up for trial tomorrow.

It is understood that the case charging Winston Fulton with slandering his wife will be taken up Friday morning. This is one of the most sensational cases heard in Guilford county in a long while, and if the trial is gone into, it will consume several days, making it necessary to extend the term of court into next week.

The case charging M. F. Sechrest, a former police officer of High Point, with killing a negro whom he was attempting to arrest, probably will be continued. It is thought that the case charging Will D. McAdoo with manslaughter in killing Ed. Aldred, while on a hunting trip in the eastern part of the county a few weeks ago, will be continued also. The case against W. J. Clifton has already been continued.

In speaking of the growth of the Baptist church at Siler City, the Biblical Recorder says: "Siler City is coming to the front. Great progress has been made under the efficient leadership of Pastor R. H. Herring. The contributions have been multiplied and the membership largely increased. A new home will be built for the pastor. Four Sunday school rooms will be added to the meeting house. A baptistery will be placed in the house of worship, and other necessary improvements will be made."

If you suffer with indigestion, constipation, feel mean and cross, no strength or appetite, your system is unhealthy. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea makes the system strong and healthy. 35c, Tea or Tablets. Howard Gardner.

Postoffice Looted.

Salisbury, February 19.—Unknown robbers looted the postoffice at Granite Quarry, Rowan county, last night securing a quantity of cash and stamps. An iron safe was rolled into a back lot where it was abandoned by the robbers in a fruitless effort to blow it open and load it on a wagon. A quantity of jewelry, owned by Postmaster W. S. Brown, was stolen. The robbers escaped.

Sympathy for the Doctor.

"Let me kiss those tears away?" he begged tenderly. She fell for it, and he was busy for the next fifteen minutes. And yet the tears flowed on. "Can nothing stop them?" he asked, breathlessly.

"No," she murmured. "It's hay-fever, you know. But go on with the treatment."—Cleveland Leader.

KILLS BROTHER IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Rock Hill, S. C., Feb. 24.—Grover Welch, brother of Steve Welch, who, with another man, was killed during a row in a barber shop in Kershaw last Christmas, shot to death Berry Mobley tonight on the train from Camden to Rock Hill, just as it was reaching Pleasant Hill, a station nearly midway between Camden and Lancaster.

It was the first time that Mobley had been able to be out, he having been badly wounded by Steve Welch at the time the latter was killed by Mobley. Both men were on their way to Lancaster for a preliminary hearing of the Kershaw tragedy.

Without warning Welch shot Mobley in the back and as he fell between the seats four more bullets were fired into his body, death resulting instantly. It was a cold blooded and cowardly murder and was evidently in revenge of the killing of Steve Welch by Mobley.

This tract will be sold in two parcels—the dividing line from west to east, beginning at a persimmon tree and running to a small post oak. Last Friday morning a number of members of Greensboro Council, No. 13, Jr. O. U. A. M., came down on train No. 44. They were met here by private conveyances and taken to Monticello Academy, their purpose being to present to the school a copy of the Bible and raise a flag. Among those present were Prof. W. H. Swift, W. H. Curtis, L. S. Reese, J. L. May, Jr., J. T. Temple, W. E. Lewis, J. W. Bennett, W. H. York, W. L. Moser, E. G. Cowan, M. M. Boyles, H. F. Burgess, Thomas Loving (of Smith River Council, No. 21) and Rev. S. M. Rankin. Much regret was felt that Prof. J. I. Foust could not be present. He was called to the bedside of his father, who is very ill. An interesting exercise was held with Mr. L. S. Reese as master of ceremonies. He opened the exercises with a few remarks, after which Rev. Mr. Rankin led in prayer. "Columbia" was then sung by the audience, after which Mr. Jas. F. Doggett made an address of welcome. The presentation of the Bible was made by Mr. Loving. Prof. Swift made the principal address of the day and presented the flag. These were accepted in behalf of the school by Rev. Mr. Rankin. After several important speeches by the patrons of the school in which the delegation of Juniors was thanked for the interest manifested, "America" was sung, followed by adjournment for dinner. There was a beautiful spread and the utmost attention was given by the visitors by the good people of the community. In the afternoon presiding officer Reese made some further remarks and the matter of organizing a Junior Order was taken up, with the result that sixteen names were handed in for membership in a council which is expected will be organized at an early date. Mr. Reese thanked the people of the community for their hospitality extended, and the interesting day's exercises came to a close, the Juniors returning on No. 35.

Home Cure for Smallpox.

The following from the Western Christian Advocate of June 16, 1887, says: "I am willing to risk my reputation as a public man," wrote Edward Hine to the Liverpool Mercury, "if the worst case of smallpox can not be cured in three days by the use of cream of tartar dissolved in a pint of hot water and drunk at intervals when cold; it is a never failing remedy. It has cured thousands, never causes blindness, and avoids tedious lingering. This is a very simple remedy and if found to be good should be remembered and used." As a preventative use 1 oz. of cream of tartar to 1 quart of boiling water and when it has cooled to be taken at intervals during day. After fever and pains have developed use 1 oz. to a pint of water each day.

Ask for the Vulcan plow. Take no other. It's the best.

CURING HUNCHBACK.

New Methods in a New York Hospital Prove Successful.

achievement of a great achievement in the treatment of hunchbacks—made in New York yesterday.

ments in the treatment of hunchbacks—with the view of cures, have been conducted at the hospital of the New York Society for the Relief of the Cripple and Ruptured.

ments have been under the supervision of Dr. V. P. Gibney, the surgeon. They have now reached the stage where the surgeons state that the victims of deformity treated in time by the new method can be made to grow straight again.

underful still, crooked backs straightened, and among the more cases now under treatment is not one which has not decided recession of the deformity and it is expected that cures made in every case.

treatment of the disease (hunchback) from tuberculosis of the spine. The only appliance plaster-of-paris cast in which are cut to permit the application of pressure pads over the hump, the torso is covered with a solid plaster, which extends well up the back.

the manner of applying the cast and the new features of the treatment introduced. The patient is placed in this position, with the joints relaxed, the physician applies the plaster cream. The patient is allowed to hang in midair.

cast has hardened, when he is taken down and openings over the back are cut in the cast. A new method of treatment was used by Dr. Calot, of Berlin, famous French surgeon, whose patients in the direction of discovery for spinal deformities have made an international reputation.

method was introduced into the country by Dr. Gibney, who is in-charge of the Cripples' Hospital, began his experiments on his arrival here last fall, but have been conducted with the secrecy. It was with great reluctance that he confirmed the information regarding his work. He said:

"Treatment has not been concluded in the case of any of the patients and will not be until next year. I would not care to state how many of the cases. Dr. Calot has effected cures, and photographs and radiographs of cases of kyphoses which have been effected under his remarkable treatment. We are using the same treatment and hope for the same success."

Dr. Gibney is the attitude of the officials of the hospital declare that a sure cure has been discovered. Two of the patients, the girls, who have been under treatment several months, were shown to several reporters yesterday, as of their statements.

little bodies had nearly straightened under the pressure of the cast, attendants confidently prophesied that they would be completely straight within two months.

"Treatment is absolutely painless, and two little tots ran away laughing and talking after the inspection. 'Isn't the cast hurt?' one was asked."

"No. It feels nice. I can run now and I couldn't before," replied the girl.

Treatment, as outlined by Dr. Gibney, rests entirely on the method of applying the cast. The bandages are arranged that all the weight and pressure rests on the shoulders and by this means pressure can be put on deformed vertebrae without affecting other portions of the spine.

"Great Gosh All Hemlock!"

effete east, where they have a that in Oklahoma Indians are around with nothing on but a blanket, a breech cloth and a "gee" with a tomahawk in one hand and a scalp in the other, the "Indian Association" wants the government to prevent the two sexes dancing together, as in their exalted opinion, to lower the standing of the Indians among them! Great gosh all hemlock! Come out here, you eastern feet, and see our Indians dressed in their best, living in better homes, cultivating vast fields, growing better farms and driving better cars. And dancing—why an Indian is a Sunday school lesson in comparison to the public hugging of the east, hugged to the tune of "Fiddle." As a good brother has said of those easterners ever saw a squaw wearing a peek-a-boo that was mostly peek-a-boo, a mighty little waist, squeeze her bosom and swing her until her skirted toward the mantle piece.

My dear brother and sister of my back east. When the somber of the tom-tom calls the noble into the ring he lets out a "hi-yi!" "Ho-ho" as he hops around a but he don't rub up against a girl dressed in a peek-a-boo until he sees several important sections of her commandments. Keep still and our Indian friends alone.—Perkins Daily News.

age of Popular Siler City Couple.

City, Feb. 19.—A quiet homeing occurred near here today at the home of the bride's father, O. A. Siler, Esq., when Miss Georgia Siler became the bride of Mr. Wade Siler. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. R. Welch, pastor of Siler City Methodist church, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. Miss Grace Craver, Winston-Salem, was maid of honor, and George Hannah, Jr., was best man.

Immediately after the ceremony a bridal party drove to the station where they boarded the 3:15 train for south. The bride wore a long-away gown of blue broad-loom with hat to match.

and is a charming young woman and very popular. The groom is a successful young business man of Siler City, at present manager of the O. & D. Dorsett wholesale grocery store here.

THE MARINER'S COMPASS.

How It Was Discovered and Why It Is Not Always Reliable.

The dispatches tell us in a few words that several of the bigger ships of the battle fleet sailed from port of Spain to "adjust their compasses" and returned before the entire flotilla departed for Rio de Janeiro. Here is an education for the young boys who read the press. What do they know about the mariner's compass? Why should it require adjustment on a battle ship? Is any teacher in our public schools keeping track of such things? Are private teachers or governesses or governors following up the doings of the fleet?

In the old days sailors steered by the north star when in northern latitudes; when in southern latitudes they steered by the southern cross. In cloudy weather they drifted and took chances. Then somebody invented the mariner's compass. It came into use a few years before the invention of printing. About the beginning of the twelfth century some curious persons amused themselves by causing to swim in a basin of water a lodestone attached to a piece of cork, remarking that when left at liberty one of its extremities pointed toward the north.

Experiment succeeded experiment. Finally an ingenious fellow rubbed a common needle against the lodestone, then stuck it in a bit of straw and allowed it to float. He discovered that one end always pointed toward the north.

This was regarded as magic, and the general public thought it the word of satan. They paid fancy prices to see it and went away in amazement. A bold swan or the figure of a mermaid was made to swim in a tank of water following a knife with a bit of broad upon its point which had previously been rubbed on the lodestone. The experiment convinced all of his power by commanding a needle laid upon the surface of the water to turn its point in any direction. At last some genius seized upon these hints and invented the mariner's compass.

Marconi has knocked some of the spots out of the mariner's compass with his wireless telegraphy, and our sailors are now doing a lot of guessing. The compass is defective. Every once in a while a good ship goes on the rocks. Defective compass. The variation of the needle is not yet fully understood. At any moment there may rise a cosmic theory or a meteorological condition which will baffle the cleverest pilot.

The March Woman's Home Companion.

The March number of the Woman's Home Companion again captures public notice with its charming cover picture of a Japanese girl—one of the daintiest magazine covers that has appeared in years. This issue is the Spring Fashion Number, and for it Grace Margaret Gould, the fashion editor, has prepared many delightful pages, illustrating in detail the advance spring styles.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale contributes a charming talk on "Home Reading." Kellogg Durand, the author of "The Red Reign," has an article of absorbing interest, entitled "Women of the Revolt," containing some heart-rending anecdotes of the part that certain brave women have played in the Russian Revolution.

Dr. Woodie Hutchinson writes on "The Mental Growth of Babies," a refreshingly bright article, and Irving Bacheller, Francis Lynde, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps and many others contribute fiction. The usual departments, presided over by Margaret E. Sangster, Fannie Merritt Farmer, Anna Stearns Richardson and others, are helpful and attractive. The whole number is beautifully illustrated.

Preparing for Prohibition Campaign.

A Raleigh correspondent says the state prohibition campaign is being inaugurated by the Anti-Saloon League. There are many calls for speakers and many prominent men have written Chairman Oates tendering their services on the stump, among these being Senator Simmons, Congressman Robert N. Page, Rev. Dr. John C. Kilgo, George E. Hood, of Goldsboro, Henry A. London, of Pittsboro, Rev. J. L. White, A. M. Scales, ex-Governor Jarvis, Judge J. C. Pritchard, ex-Judge W. S. O'Brien, Robinson, Rev. Dr. Murphy of Hickory, Locke Craig and Virgil S. Lusk of Asheville, L. L. Smith of Gatesville, A. P. Goodwin, T. T. Horne, R. T. Grady, J. H. Tucker, C. J. Cooper, of Fayetteville, Settle Dockery, of Richmond county, and many others, including Dr. G. W. Young, who is the assistant general superintendent of the National Anti-Saloon League organization.

Will Not Win Without a Fight.

In speaking of the approaching prohibition election in North Carolina, the Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer says:

"Those who believe that North Carolina is to have state prohibition without a fight at the polls will have their minds disabused. There is a determination in the minds of independent North Carolinians to protest to the bitter end the taking away of their rights and privileges. Every day brings fresh news of a brewing war in the Old North State. Local opinion satisfied a majority of the people but it is doubtful if they will stand for a state law. At the same time Tar Heel congressmen have spent much time in North Carolina recently, they will be in Washington when the prohibition fight comes on."

Burlington Store Robbed.

Burlington, Feb. 20.—A thief or thieves forced an entrance through the front window of the New York Bargain House on Front street last night and carried away two suits of clothes, several hams, a quantity of rice, tobacco and probably other goods. Mr. O'wings, the proprietor, was in his store until 11 o'clock last night. Many articles were handled by the thief, but those enumerated are the only things missed.

A weak Stomach, means weak Stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. It's a pity that sick ones continue to drug the Stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves, not the organs themselves, need this help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restoratives has, and is promptly helping so many sick ones. It goes direct to the cause of these diseases. Test this vital truth, and see. Galloway Drug Co.

BRYAN ROOSEVELT'S HEIR.

What the Nebraskan is Said to Have Confided to Dinner Guests.

Washington Dispatch to the New York Press.

William Jennings Bryan is convinced that he is the proper legate of the Roosevelt administration, the most efficient executor of the Roosevelt policies, and the one most acceptable to the voters of the country, and that, in effect, is what he told the Democratic senators who dined with Senator Newlands in his honor last night. Mr. Bryan did not put it in that blunt fashion. He coated his pill with sugared words, but he let them know that he was the man they were after and they didn't need to seek further.

Then he proceeded to tell the senators how the Democrats ought to work in Congress to make more certain and easy his election by bringing forward measures in accordance with the recommendations of President Roosevelt in his messages. The strategy of this is to put the Republicans in a bad hole, either by forcing them to kill Roosevelt legislation or to adopt it on Democratic initiative.

Mr. Bryan has handled his campaign on this visit to Washington with consummate skill. He has taken a leaf out of the Roosevelt book and has become master, with a big stick. He has greeted every one of the men who secretly cherished the intention of telling him that he ought to be the War-wick and not the candidate of the Democracy with very much the same sort of cheerful glare that John L. Sullivan used to employ on his antagonists in the ring. As a result that secretly cherished intention has remained secret.

Mr. Bryan carried off the Newlands dinner last night on just that plan. When the cigars were reached and the guests moved out to the smoking room, Mr. Bryan took charge of the conversation, and thereafter the senators listened dutifully to what he had to say.

He told them that the so-called "Roosevelt policies," which are, in fact, the "Bryan policies," were without doubt the most popular ones likely to come before the country in the approaching campaign. The contest would be fought out on those policies as the main issue. Then with delicacy of phrasology he confided to the senators his belief that, as between the Democrats represented by Bryan and the Republicans represented by Taft, the country would surely select the Democrats to continue the enforcement of those policies. "There is no question where Bryan stands," the country would tell itself, for these policies were really his, and Roosevelt had but been masquerading in his clothing. As to Taft, there would be a question, and the decision would be against the President's nominee.

That assurance given, Mr. Bryan turned to what his close friends have said all along was his real business here on this trip, the direction of a campaign in Congress. He called their attention to several recommendations for legislation made by the President to which the Republicans have made no response. For instance, there is an income tax. Also measures for closer Federal control of corporations in interstate commerce; a Federal franchise, a scheme for securing the physical valuation of railroad properties, and measures to prevent over-capitalization.

All these things, he said, should be brought forward in the Senate and House by Democrats at once. By such tactics the Republicans would be forced into the open, and either be compelled to defeat the Roosevelt recommendations or accept them at the hands of the Democrats. Carried to its logical conclusion, the program would require the Denver convention to endorse the Roosevelt policies and arraign the Republican party for not carrying them out more fully.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The stockholders and directors of the Southbound Railway Company have decided not to resume construction work on the road, running between Winston-Salem and Wadesboro, until after the disappearance of the financial stringency.

Sam P. Washington, a prominent farmer of Stem, Granville county, lost his life in a runaway accident last Thursday. He was thrown from his buggy against the side of a house.

The Wayne county Republican executive committee has adopted resolutions endorsing President Roosevelt, the work of Chairman Adams, and declaring in favor of Taft for President.

High Point correspondence, 21st: W. W. Harkins, of the revenue force, came over from Greensboro last evening and seized two five-gallon kegs of whiskey which Officer Gray had located in the depot, having arrived here from Salisbury as baggage. The liquor was today sent to Greensboro to Mr. Harkins. Officer Gray watched around the depot for some time expecting the man who held the check for the baggage to come forward and get his goods, but the person evidently "smelt a rat" and decided to give up his large quantity of bug juice rather than face a term in the penitentiary.

About $10,000,000 may be secured from the government by people of the South if a bill reported unanimously by the House committee on war claims becomes a law. This bill gives to the court of claims jurisdiction of the claims for captured and abandoned property which was sold during the civil war, and the proceeds turned into the United States treasury.

W. A. Garrett, chief executive officer for the receivers of the Esch and Alton Railroad, has made the following announcement: "Effective February 1st, all officials receiving more than five thousand dollars per annum are working under a 10 per cent. cut. Those getting between $5,000 and $50,000 per annum, inclusive, are working under an 8 per cent cut."

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Reidsville Review.
Rev. D. I. Craig is at the bedside of his mother, who is sick at her home at Hillsboro.
A dispatch Monday from Wentworth says the jail there is a reproach to any county and a menace to the health of the prisoners. It is said the state board of charities will have a man before the grand jury to force the building of a decent jail.

Mt. Airy Leader.
On last Monday night at midnight Dr. Walter Folger, a prominent physician of this county, died at his home in Dobson, of pneumonia, after an illness of only a few days. The deceased was a son of Romulus Folger, and was 41 years old.

Death claimed another good citizen of this section when Walter W. Cressy died suddenly at his home two miles north of this city yesterday. Organic heart trouble was the cause of his death.

Mt. Airy News.
In the death of Columbus Cockerham, of Good Springs, this county loses one of its oldest and best known citizens. His death occurred about two weeks ago and was the result of paralysis. He was about seventy years old and was a man of large means, having been at one time the largest tax payer in the county.

Alamance Gleaner.
A mass meeting of the ministers of the county will be held in Burlington on the 27th, for the purpose of making a concentrated fight for state prohibition.

It has been agreed among members of the bar of this county that no civil cases will be taken up for trial at the March term of court, as it is a term of only one week, which will be taken up in the trial of the large criminal docket and election contest case.

Mr. John M. Pickard, son of Mr. John H. Pickard, of Burlington, died in Jacksonville Fla., last week from an operation for appendicitis. He was a popular and highly esteemed young man.

The Textile Manufacturers Journal of New York contains the information that a hosiery dyeing and finishing plant is looking toward Burlington for a location.

Union Republican.
Revenue Officers Carroll, Aiken and Haues went up on Mitchell's River, in Surry county, the past week to serve warrants on Bob Walker, Henry Bates and B. Wagoner for some infringement of the revenue laws, and while there ran across an illicit distillery and captured the same, with some 600 gallons of beer, a keg or two of low wine, etc. The owner is known, but was not present when the officers seized the plant.

Burlington News.
While cotton mills of other counties are running on short time, and in some places the wages are being cut fifteen per cent, the cotton mills of Alamance with one or two exceptions are running practically on time, and are not cutting wages.

Mrs. Mattie J. Boone, wife of Mr. Henry J. Boone, died at her home in this city last Friday night, of pneumonia, after a short and painful illness. The remains were taken to Union Ridge on Sunday for burial. Deceased leaves a husband and three children, and a host of friends to mourn her death.

Mr. Herman Welker, a citizen of Guilford county, was in the city this week looking around with a view of buying a lot in Burlington and building and moving his family here. Mr. Welker is a brother of Mrs. T. T. Coble, and we would be glad to have him come to Burlington to live.

Lexington Dispatch.
The trustees of Arcadia high school met Thursday and decided to rebuild the school house which was burned some days ago.

But for an alarm raised by other prisoners in the jail Sunday morning about 3 o'clock, at least two, and perhaps, more prisoners would have been missing when Jailer Johnson made his usual rounds at dawn. Luther Suggs and Charlie Smith, two young white men, attempted to dig their way out through the brick wall of the building.

Following an order from the county commissioners that Treasurer E. A. Rothrock notify the bondsmen on the county bond of ex-Sheriff T. B. F. Dorsett to proceed at once to pay what is due the county in taxes, the bondsmen met yesterday with Trustee E. E. Raper, and decided to pay 25 per cent of the amount which each is liable for by March 1st.

Mr. Chas. H. Ireland, a leading layman of the Methodist denomination, spoke in the Methodist church Sunday on the subject of the "Laymen's Movement," and was heard with interest by many people. Mr. Ireland is a busy business man of Greensboro, yet he finds time from his business to go about over the state and speak in behalf of this movement. He is an interesting talker and is doing good.

Lawyer W. P. Mangum Turner is interested in how the words "for gain" in the prohibition bill are to be construed; and some are of the opinion that, being set off by the commas, these words would therefore mean that one might set him up a still and make his own hick. Section 1 of the bill reads: "That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons, firm or corporation to manufacture or in any manner make, or sell, or otherwise dispose of, for gain, any spirituous, vinous, fermented or malt liquors or intoxicating bitters within the state of North Carolina." It is argued that one may make corn, not for gain, but for his own amusement.

Thomasville correspondence: Mr. D. Thomas Briles, of this place, who has been employed in the cashier's department of the Southern Railway at Greensboro, has been promoted to a more lucrative position as clerk in the freight train department in Goldsboro. He has entered upon the work of his new position.

Concord Times.
The body of Mrs. Nancy Coltrane Dicks, who died recently at the home of her son, Dr. David Dicks, in Stokes county, in being carried to Randleman, passed the home of each of her nine children, except one who lives in South Carolina. So circuitous was the route over which the funeral party traveled to Randleman that the coffin was handled twelve different times before it finally rested in the grave. Mrs. Dicks was 92 years of age, and was the mother of the late R. P. Dicks. She was a relative of Mr. D. B. Coltrane, of Concord.

Asheboro Courier.
Western Randolph correspondence: Rev. C. A. Cecil is ill with heart trouble. We hope for his speedy recovery.

Miss Alma Farris has returned to Greensboro to study music.
Hon. Locke Craig, of Asheville, will speak at Asheboro on Tuesday of court, March 17. This will probably be Mr. Craig's first political speech in his campaign for the nomination for governor and it is expected that he will outline his ideas as to the political and other issues which are now before the people.

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Wood, of Trinity, are visiting their son, Mr. George Wood, at Petersburg, Va.

N. C. Crawford, who was for several years an overseer connected with the road force of this county, has accepted a position with the Stanley county commissioners as superintendent of the road work.

Wood Alcohol in Liquor.
Fayetteville, Feb. 22.—A recent death in this city is alleged to have been caused by the drinking of whiskey adulterated with wood alcohol, the latter being a deadly poison. The circumstance recalls the fact that a citizen of a neighboring town died recently from the effects of wood alcohol drinking, and that some time ago a man from Manchester died in his wagon in Fayetteville from the same cause. In this connection the physician who attended the latest victim stated today that it was a well known fact that much of the so-called corn whiskey sold here is strongly adulterated with wood alcohol, which can be bought much cheaper than the nearest corn whiskey.

Naming the Zones.
The semi-annual examinations were held at a well-known upper West-side private school the other day, and while inspecting the papers the teachers found many humorous answers to some of the questions. A class of boys averaging about twelve years of age had been examined in geography, which had been preceded the day before by grammar.

Among the questions in the geography paper was the following:
"Name the zones."
One promising youth of eleven years wrote this answer:
"There are two zones, masculine and feminine. The masculine is either temperate or intemperate; the feminine is either torrid or frigid."

Worst City in Country.
Chicago, according to Charles R. Jones, national chairman of the Prohibition party, is, from the point of view of prohibitionists, the worst city in the United States, with New York a close second. New York state, however, carries off the palm as the state least amenable to prohibition influence, while Pennsylvania is second in backsliding.

Twelve Years for Killing Father.

BIRTH OF SENATOR LATIMER.

Distinguished Carolinian Passes Away at the National Capital.

Senator Asbury C. Latimer, of South Carolina, died in Washington last Thursday. He was ill for five days, suffering from appendicitis and peritonitis. Senator Latimer was 57 years of age.

He was one of the most earnest and conscientious workers in Congress, being a member of the committees on agriculture, immigration, manufactures, public buildings and grounds as well as others of less importance. He was especially interested in good roads and probably did more to promote the national movement for government building of good roads than any other member of Congress. He was the author of the Latimer good roads bill. As a member of the manufactures committee he gave much attention to the preparation of the pure food law and also played a prominent part in drafting the pending copyright bill. During last summer he visited Europe as a member of the immigration commission and was preparing an elaborate report covering immigration conditions in the countries assigned to him. Mr. Latimer had been a Senator since 1902 and had served five terms in the House.

More and Better Tobacco—Bigger Profits

The labor is as great to grow and harvest a poor crop as a good one. When you can so surely "increase your yields per acre" and get a far better quality of tobacco by using why not use them this season? There's no reason why you cannot accomplish the same as thousands of others. Mr. V. C. Love, of Tinkling, Va., says "As a producer of fine tobacco, I do not feel I can say enough for your fertilizer. It makes tobacco that brings me more money than any other fertilizer I can get. I have tried many other brands but none equalled yours. I believe Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers to be the best on the market for tobacco."

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers contain better and higher grade materials than any other brands of tobacco fertilizer. They will increase the yield per acre, and improve the texture and quality of the tobacco you grow, so you can get a better price per pound than ever before.

Much valuable information on tobacco-culture will be found in the new Virginia-Carolina Year Book or Almanac. Don't fail to ask your fertilizer dealer for a copy, or write our nearest sales office and one will be sent you free.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 23.—In his sermon in the familiar figure of a husbandman the preacher shows us how to secure the richest harvests by using our opportunities for rendering loyal service to God and our fellow men. The text is Haggar, i. 5, 6: "Consider your ways. Ye have sown much and bring in little."

A short time ago I had a most interesting conversation with an American missionary who had spent many years in China. He was telling me about the marvelous changes which have been initiated in China since the Boxer uprising of 1900. I had asked him to tell me something about the Japanese peril and what would be the condition of the east if the mikado succeeded in dominating the whole Asiatic continent.

Much to my surprise he answered: "Japan will never dominate the east. Japan will never dominate China. The great peril of the east is not to be found in Japan, but in China. The oldest civilization on earth was in China. All the civilization Japan has ever received has come from China. The dominance of the east will come not from military but from commercial power, and the greatest merchants of all the east are the Chinamen. They can buy and sell all round the Japanese. They have the keenest mercantile brains of the eastern hemisphere. Furthermore, they have military genius. Lord Wolsey as well as General Grant testified that when he is rightly trained and handled the Chinaman makes the greatest soldier that ever lived. He is a man absolutely without nerves. He can exist upon the dainty diet of a handful of rice. And he is a man who knows no fear."

"China has been dead for 2,000 years. But the giant of the east is now waking up. China has never been governed by a set of practical men, but only by a set of scholars, or of what is called the literary class. For instance, four years ago in my province 10,000 students came up for examination upon the teachings and the legends of ancient China. From among those scholars would be selected the future rulers of China. But now all that is done away. Two years ago by an edict from the throne the Chinese literary students were wiped from the face of the earth. When that little handful of foreigners marched from the seacoast up to Peking, the Chinese court was compelled to acknowledge that western civilization was a more potent civilization than theirs. Now China is being reorganized upon the lines of our western civilization. Her armies are being disciplined by German officers. Her students are being educated along technical lines. Her mines and resources are being developed. Her opium curse in ten years will be completely wiped out by governmental power. And within thirty years a new China will arise which will not only dominate the east, but will be a mighty factor in dominating the world. And if we are going to Christianize China we must do it within the next thirty years, for after that it will be too late."

In Thirty Years.

This was the testimony of a Christian missionary who knows China well. Now, if it is true, as I believe it is, it indicates that the Chinese government has statesmanlike sagacity. They found that their method of education did not produce good results—did not produce the results they expected from it, so they have changed it. That is a wise course. Thinking over it, I wonder whether we, as a Christian community, ought not to do the same thing. Our methods are not producing the effects we expected. Where is the fault? What is the cause of the poor spiritual harvest? So this morning I want you to join with me in following the prophet's advice. Let us "consider our ways."

Now, I think the fault is not that you are unwilling to work for Christ. You are like the people of my text, who as husbandmen have scattered the seed far and wide. But at the time of harvest you have only gathered in a few miserable grains of wheat, all withered up and almost useless. Now, are you willing to let me diagnose the spiritual failings of your life? And remember that when I am preaching against your spiritual faults I am diagnosing my own spiritual shortcomings as well.

Our scanty spiritual harvests, in the first place, are due to our lack of loyalty to God. We are not as a class devoted heart and mind and soul to his service. We only give to him a lukewarm allegiance. Indeed, most of us deliberately do not know what the word "loyalty" means in any department of life. We do not know the full significance of allying ourselves to man or institution. And we are just as lukewarm to our spiritual king.

The Spirit of Loyalty.

I go down to the store and find a clerk behind the counter. Now, by every law of common sense that clerk should be devoted to his master's interests. He should do all he is able to help his employer in every way. If he is asked about his employer's character, he should say in his favor all that he can truthfully. He should speak well of him. He should publish his good qualities and the good qualities of the store. He should speak well of his employer's family and of the kindness which that employer is continually showing to the sick and the troubled in the city. He should tell how his employer is one of the directors of the Young Men's Christian association and how his word is as good as his bond. But that is not what the average clerk does. Instead of singing the praises of the store he is taking everywhere about his employer's faults and weaknesses. And, though I may be making a very broad statement, I firmly believe that I can enter any large store in this city and hear enough grumbling and fault finding and misrepresentation by the clerks to damage that store seriously. The average clerk does not know what loyalty to his employer means, although he himself is entirely dependent for his bread and butter on the salary he receives from that store.

What is true of the mercantile world is also true of a large percentage of the beneficiaries of charitable institutions. One of the loveliest ladies I ever knew was left a widow. With rare financial acumen she doubled and quadrupled her husband's estate. Then with nearly $500,000 she erected and endowed an "old folks' home." There in the most beautiful climate of the world upon a site which is unsurpassed in beauty in all southern California she has reared this institution as a memorial to her husband. I suppose there would be 10,000 applicants to enter that institution this year if the restrictions did not bar all but inhabitants of California from entering. As it is, the waiting list runs up into the hundreds. "Oh, if I could only become an inmate of Hollenbeck home!" is the pleading prayer of many who are in the twilight of life. Yet I have been told that, though all those who enter there go with a thanksgiving song upon their lips, yet as soon as some of the inmates get thoroughly established in their rooms and walk for a little while amid the flowers in the gardens they begin to grumble about the meals and grumble about the superintendent and grumble about the people who are living in the rooms next to them. The average person, I care not in what department of life you may take him, does not know what loyalty means.

A Good Notice.

I think the best notice I ever saw hung upon the walls of a business establishment had written on it these words: The more I have read them over the more their honesty and far-reaching significance have appealed to me. Listen and ponder well: "If you work for a man, in heaven's name work for him! If he pays you wages that supply you bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, stand by him and stand by the institution he represents. If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage, resign your position and when you are outside denounce to your heart's content. But as long as you are part of the institution do not condemn it. If you do, you are loosening the tendrils that hold you to that institution, and the first high wind that comes along you will be uprooted and blown away in the blizzard's track, and probably you will never know why." Woman, have you ever thought of that when as a servant girl you are talking against your mistress? Stenographer, have you ever thought of that when you are talking against your employer? Clerk, have you ever thought of that when you are talking against your employer? Beneficiary, have you ever thought of that when you are talking against your benefactor? Are you loyal to the men who feed you and put clothes on your back and give you a home in which to live? If you are, you are the exception, for the great masses of people cast mud at the windows of the homes in which live the men and the women who support them and who should be esteemed their best friends.

In the Spiritual Life.

What is true of the temporal life is emphatically true of the spiritual. Do you know why you have so small a spiritual harvest? In the first place, some of you talk against your minister who is trying to build up your church. Then you talk about some of the people who are in the church. You complain about your superintendent or about the president of your Ladies' Aid or Missionary society. Then you find fault with the church people because they do not call upon you more. Then you grumble against God because he does not let you live in a better home. Then you get angry because your husband was not elected an elder. Then you find fault with the choir. Then you will begin to sulk because your little girl was not asked to lead the procession at the children's day service. Then in high glee you go around spreading the scandal of some domestic fireside and call the members of that marital catastrophe "hypocrites" because they persist in coming to church in spite of their moral delinquencies. And it is disparagement here and fault finding there and depreciation farther on. My brother, do you know what is the matter with you? You do not know the first principles of loyalty to God and loyalty to his Sunday school and loyalty to the household of faith. In order to reap a spiritual harvest what you need in the first place is to get down on your knees and get right with God and get right with God's institutions, no matter where they may be. If you belong to God's great family, then live for the harmony of his spiritual family and never parade your differences before the eyes of the outside world or husband or nurse these enmities in his own heart. First be loyal to his divine institutions. Speak well of them. Do everything in your power to make this inner life harmonious and lovingly happy.

Oh, that we could do everything in our power to keep the purity and the honor of the Christian church from being derided and ridiculed by the men and the women of the outside! There is a beautiful story told that after the Prussians had defeated the Austrians in the battle of Sadowa a young Austrian officer was found mortally wounded, lying in a wet ditch. He begged the Prussians not to move him, but let him lie there and die in peace. As physical dissolution was so near, the conquerors granted his request. But after death, when the Prussians lifted the dead body to carry it away for burial, they found concealed under the dead man's clothes the standard of his regiment. Yes, the dead hero did everything to protect the flag of his country from being desecrated by the hands of his enemies. So may we do everything to protect our standards of the cross from the contempt of the world. May we so live that the men and the women of the outside world will say the church of God is the dearest and best and the most loving place to live this side of heaven. May we never open our lips but in praise of God's goodness and the goodness of the members of the household of faith. May we learn loyalty to Christ and loyalty to Christ's followers.

The Wrong Seed.

The next great mistake in our spiritual sowing is that we do not use the right kind of seed. We do not use the spiritual seed that will bring forth the greatest harvest. I am not asserting that some of us do not use good seed. But we do not use the one great seed which will always insure us the greatest returns for our spiritual sowing. Let me illustrate my thought by commonplace comparisons.

When I was a resident of Chicago, I passed two or three summers among the Michigan hills. While there I became quite intimate with a gentleman who owned an enormous peach orchard. One day he told me the history of his life: "I inherited this land from my father. For years he was the largest producer of wheat in this region. But after I grew up to be a man I commenced to be a diligent student of the reports of the agricultural department at Washington. The more I studied the science of agriculture and the formation of this soil the more I came to the conclusion that I could quadruple the value of my land if I would cease planting wheat and turn my acres into peach orchards. All the old settlers around here laughed at me. They said my father knew more in ten minutes than I knew in ten years. They said I would ruin myself financially. But I went ahead. I believed those agricultural reports from Washington, and though it took me many years to develop a good orchard, yet as the result I am today making each year five times the amount of money my father made off the same land." The wheat crop was all right in its way, but that man's father did not plant the seed that brought the maximum return from his farm. The son did, and that is the whole story in a nutshell.

Now, I am not here to state that your life is a useless life. You are not a liar or a thief or a drunkard or a libertine. Perhaps you give away hundreds of dollars annually to help the poor and the sick. But I ask you to consider whether you plant the best seed to obtain the spiritual harvests. Christian work means more than simply giving bread to the hungry, clothes to the naked and medicine to the sick. Christian work emphatically means the seed planting of Jesus Christ in the hearts of your fellow men. If you will only bring the divine personality of Christ in touch with your fellow men, he will lift men up out of their sins and make men like unto himself. Oh, friend, from now let the chief purpose of your life be to get the greatest spiritual harvest by seeking chiefly to plant the spirit of Jesus Christ in the hearts of your fellow men! "Consider your ways. Ye have sown much, but bring in little." Will you not ponder well upon his promise? He tells us what he can do if we only plant him aright. "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me."

Barrenness of Soil.

But I am not more impressed with the pooriness of the seed which we go forth to plant in our spiritual fields than I am with the rockiness and barrenness of the soil in which we are dropping this seed. I care not how good the seed may be, if the soil is barren there is no use in planting any seed there. For instance, the soil lining the banks of the river Nile is the richest in the world. On it you can grow two or three crops of wheat each year. But if you turn your back upon the river Nile and travel five, ten miles over the Sahara sands you can have the land for nothing, for it is a barren land. The water will run through it as through a sieve. Besides that, no water can be drawn so far away from the Nile to irrigate the desert, even though the sands would hold the water.

A soil for the farmer is worth just in proportion to what it can produce, no more and no less. A few years ago I was traveling over the Dakota prairies, and I stopped with the owner of a large wheat ranch. The man's farm extended for miles and miles away. If that farmer had been dependent upon the old fashioned ways of scattering the seed with his hand and reaping with the sickle, he could not have placed under cultivation one-tenth of his farm. I asked him: "How can you fertilize such an immense area of agricultural land? The winter snows come on so soon after harvest I should think you would not have the time." The man laughed. "Why," said he, "we never fertilize the Dakota wheat-fields. This is practically virgin soil." Then he led me to a deep hole he was digging. It was rich, black soil, able to produce anything. "Whenever we feel," said he, "that we are exhausting the land of its strength, all that we have to do is to drive in the plow a little deeper. That soil is just like that in richness sixty feet down." Now you have some idea of the necessity of having rich soil to produce a crop. A soil is only valuable in proportion as it is productive. No sane farmer would try to turn an Arabian desert into a farm. The sand dunes are cheap merely because it is unproductive. Are you and I, as spiritual seed planters, seeking the best soil for the coming spiritual harvests?

The Virgin Soil.

Where is the human soil for richest spiritual results? It is often in virgin soil. David Livingstone opened the map of the world, and he saw it in Africa. Dr. Duff opened the map of the world, and he saw it in India. Father Damien opened the map of the world, and he saw it in Molokai. Marcus Whitman opened the map of the world, and he saw it among the Nez Percés Indians. William Booth opened the map of the world, and he saw it among the slums of the English cities. You and I open the map of the world, and we say—what? The people who need the gospel the most are the people who are in the most abject physical, mental and spiritual want. The more a man and a woman are social outcasts the more they need to be brought to Christ's feet and the more they can be spiritually benefited. These offer the deepest soils for spiritual harvests. Are you planting the gospel seed where it will take the deepest root and will bring forth the greatest golden headed sheaves, or are we living simply upon the spiritual farm lands already cultivated by other Christian planters and reapers?

How are we to plant Christ in the sinful hearts of our fellow men? Can we go to Christ and get certain formulas, certain Bible texts or some of his divine promises and use these for the gospel seed planting? Can we use these promises as the husbandman did in times of old when he took his bag and filled it with seed and then went across the fields scattering the seeds far and wide? "Oh, no! That is not the way we plant for a spiritual harvest. We plant in the sinful lives of our fellow men the divine life which is in us. If we do not have the divine life within us, then we cannot plant the Christ life in others. We must plant ourselves in the sinful lives of others or we cannot plant at all."

What did Jesus Christ mean when he said: "Ye are the light of the world. Ye are the salt of the earth?" He meant that it is the divine light in us which shines forth and brings sinners to the cross, not the divine light a thousand miles away. Have you that divine light in you? How often do you pray to God and read your Bible and commune with him? When you talk, when you live, do men see your face aflame with gospel light, as was Moses' face when he stood in the presence of the Lord? If your life is not filled with the divine life, is there any better time than now to open that life so that it will be overflowing with his glory? Will you not surrender your life to him so that you can become the light of the world?

A Hair Raising Dog Story.

The Kansas City Star is now devoting much space to true dog stories, and the cheerful days are contributing all sorts of anecdotes showing that dogs have almost human intelligence. The only really true story received by the Star went to it from Emporia, and it wasn't printed, showing that the editor of the dog department doesn't know truth when he sees it. An Emporia citizen was horrified one morning by seeing a large golden eagle seize his mother-in-law, who was chopping kindling wood in the yard. The rapacious bird flew with her to the top of a neighboring telephone pole and began to eat her. The man had a dog that he valued highly. It was a cross between a sleuth hound and a Teddy bear. The noble animal sized up the situation at once, climbed the pole and rescued the unfortunate woman, also bringing down the golden eagle, which proved to be a stuffed one that had escaped from the laboratory of Mr. Dyche at Topeka.—Emporia Gazette.

Her Credit Was Good.

The urbane and entirely respectful London draper would probably stand aghast at the audacious independence of the highland Scot. Even royalty falls to exact obsequious homage from him.

Princess Louise had long been accustomed to the ingenious sayings and doings of the simple minded people in the highlands, says Arthur H. Beavan in "Popular Royalty." During the queen's residence in the neighborhood of Callender, the princess had occasion to drive into the town to match some velvet. At the principal draper's she procured what she wanted, but discovered that she had left her purse at home. She explained this to the proprietor of the shop, adding that she would send the money the next day, but the imperturbable tradesman replied with the utmost gravity, "Dinna fash yersel', mem, yer mither has an account here!"

A Disappointment.

"I was talking on my trip west to Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, about the thornless cactus he has sent to the National museum in Washington," said a Washington journalist. "Mr. Burbank said that he had changed the aspect of many plants, but not so much perhaps as people thought. People expected greater changes than he could give. His achievements sometimes disappointed them, even as a lawyer of Los Angeles had been disappointed one day. 'This lawyer said to a friend: 'Would you believe it? Today I round out my sixty-ninth year.' 'Impossible!' exclaimed the friend. 'Why, you scarcely look sixty-eight.'—Los Angeles Times.

Republican State Chairman Adams and Mr. Charles J. Harris, late Republican candidate for Governor, left Greensboro last night for Washington, presumably on a political mission. Do you know why I like to trade at Thacker & Brockmann's? It's just this. I know who they are and I always know where to find them. They treated me right five years ago, same thing last year, and I know they'll treat me right all the time. It's not one of these stores that's here now and somewhere else when you want to find them again. If Thacker & Brockmann sell me goods that are recommended to be first class and there is any cause to make complaint or have an error corrected they are right here to make everything right and satisfactory. And I'll tell you that makes a big difference. You go back to some of these "rapid change" stores to make a complaint and find they have just sold out and left town. Or you are told, "Well, so-and-so was the 'manager' when you bought these goods. He's not staying here now and we don't know anything about what he promised you so you see we can't do a thing about it." Seeing these things I had rather trade with a reliable house that has been here long enough to build up a solid reputation for honest merchandise and square dealing and that will still be here "if anything should happen." Better take my advice and do likewise. You will never have cause to regret it.

HIS LIFE CRUSHED OUT.

Guilford Young Man Meets Death on the Rail in Indiana.

Mr. John W. Farrington, the 23-year-old son of Mr. T. P. Farrington, of Deep River township, lost his life in an unusual manner at an early hour last Friday morning near Layton, Ind. Mr. Farrington went west about six months ago and secured a position as fireman on the Big Four railroad. While returning from an extra trip west of Indianapolis, running light, his engine and tender pulled apart, causing him to fall beneath the latter, and his life was crushed out in an instant.

It was one of the rare accidents that befall railroad men, few men who have spent their lives on the rail being able to recall such a thing as happening under their observation.

Two uncles of the deceased, Messrs. W. L. and J. P. Farrington, residents of Indianapolis, brought the remains home, and the funeral was held Sunday at Sandy Ridge. Mr. Farrington was a member of Guilford Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of High Point, and his funeral was conducted with the full honors of that patriotic order. Many friends mourn the untimely death of this promising young man.

Liquor Men Meet in Greensboro.

A number of liquor dealers of the state were in Greensboro Monday in attendance upon a meeting of the executive committee of the North Carolina Liquor Dealers' Association. The meeting was in the nature of a conference on matters in connection with the approaching state prohibition election. The sessions of the committee were held in secret and no report was given to the public. The members of the committee declined to discuss the business transacted, but it is understood that the liquor men decided to co-operate on some plan for making a vigorous fight against state prohibition.

In writing of the congressional situation in Durham county, the Durham correspondent of the Raleigh News and Observer says: "While the other candidates have friends in Durham, Mr. Brooks, unless there is a great change in the sentiment, will sweep Durham county."
