G. F. BLACKMON.

The board of directors of the Young Women's Christian Association held a meeting yesterday and appointed a committee to select a suitable site
for the erection of a boarding home for young women. Every effort will be exerted to give Greensboro a Y.
W. C. A. home commensurate with the size and importance of the city.The average man and woman who wants good, neat shoes at moderate prices should by all means take a look at the new lines shown this season at Thacker & Brockmann's.
The women's shoes at $1.60, $2.00,
$2.25 and $2.50, and men's at $2.00,
$2.25, $2.50 and $3.00 are the best ever shown in Greensboro for the money.Mr. J. Elwood Cox, of High Point, the defeated Republican candidate for governor, is being mentioned as a possible member of Taft's cabinet. It is known that he is held in high esteem by the president-elect, and if a cabinet appointment is to come this way, no one would be surprised to see political lightning strike Mr.
Cox.Rev. R. Murphy Williams, pastor of Walker Avenue Presbyterian church, underwent an operation for appendicitis at St. Leo's hospital Sunday afternoon. He was attacked suddenly Saturday night and was in an extremely critical condition when carried to the hospital. He rallied from the effects of the operation and his condition is now considered favorable.The first prize of $15 offered to the Guilford county public school having the greatest percentage of the school census in the line of march on the educational day of Greensboro's centennial celebration has been awarded to the committee to Mint Hill school.
In Jefferson township. The second prize of $10 was awarded to the Scalesville school, in Center Grove township. The awards were announced yesterday from the office of County Superintendent Foust.Robert Landreth, the 16-year-old son of Mr. J. W. Landreth, who lives about a mile east of the city, was the victim of a painful accident late Saturday afternoon, when he was run over by an automobile driven by Mr. A. M. Wright. Young Landreth came into the city on horseback and met the machine on East Market street, a short distance east of the railroad crossing. The horse was struck by the machine and the boy thrown to the ground, the automobile passing over his left arm. No bones were broken and the injuries
are more painful than serious.

TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM.

Institute Erected by the State in Cumberland County Ready for the Reception of Patients.Dr. J. E. Brooks, of this city, superintendent of the state sanatorium
for the treatment of tuberculosis,
which has been established at Montrose, Cumberland county, under an act of the last legislature, announces that the institution is prepared to receive patients. The location, in the midst of the sand hill and the long leaf pine section of North Carolina, is an ideal one and was chosen after the executive committee had inspected all other available localities in the state.The tract of land on which the sanatorium has been located embraces 936 acres, 50 of which were successfully cultivated this year. One two-story building, 68 feet long and 60 feet wide, has been completed.
About this house is an immense porch, which runs completely around it, up stairs and down. These porches have a depth of 14 feet. In stormy weather heavy rubber curtains will be lowered around the porches to keep them dry. Patients at the institution will spend the greater part of the time, both day and night, on the porches, sitting there by day and sleeping there at night, and at all times breathing the pure dry air of this region. The central part of the house consists of a single large room, with an immense open fireplace in the center of it, wherein huge oak logs and pine knots will burn and give warmth and cheer to occupants of the room. A similar apartment for ladies is in the second story of the building.The following is taken from a statement made by Dr. Brooks concerning the purpose of the management:"It is the purpose of the management of the sanatorium in the beginning to care for patients who are in the earlier stages of tubercular trouble. The reason for this course is that the capacity of the institution is limited and it is believed that more good can be accomplished by treating cases that may be reasonably expected to recover rather than those whose chances are hopeless. It was the object of the founders of the institution to not only cure as many sufferers from consumption as possible,
but to educate people on how to control and prevent the disease. Every patient who leaves the hospital cured
will of necessity be a sort of teacher on the subject. Patients will be taught how to live and they will be able to communicate this knowledge to others. Thus the sanatorium will do as much good to the state in the prevention of the malady as it will in effecting cures of those who have it."

NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Board of Education Will Build Four in the Near Future.The November meeting of the Guilford county board of education was held in the office of Superintendent Foust Saturday, when a considerable amount of routine business was transacted.The board decided upon the location of four new public school buildings that are to be erected in the near future. Of the four new buildings decided upon, one is the Battle Ground
school house, in Morehead township;
one is the Millwood school house, in Deep River township; one is the Pleasant Union school house, in Greene township, while the fourth is known as the Summerfield school house, in Bruce township.Each of these will take the place of old buildings and will cost from $600 to $1,200 each. The buildings will be erected as soon as possible, and it is hoped that some of them will be ready for use by the first of the year. All of them will be completed by the beginning of the next school year.

Sunny Colorado Wants Tar Heels for Citizens.

resent Davidson county as a Republican member of the next legislature.
Mr. McCrary has been practicing law in Lexington since he left Greensboro.

ROAD MATTERS CONSIDERED.

Delegations From Stokesdale and Oak Ridge Before Joint Meeting.Road matters had the right of way at the adjourned meeting of the county commissioners Thursday. A big delegation of citizens from the Stokes-dale community appeared before a joint meeting of the county commissioners and the highway commission and renewed the request that the road from Summerfield to Stokesdale be macadamized. A delegation from Oak Ridge was present also, and while not opposing a macadamized road to Stokesdale, insisted that the original plan of macadamizing the road from Summerfield to Oak Ridge
be adhered to.The decision to macadamize the Oak Ridge road had been made some time ago, and after hearing the two delegations, the commissioners decided to abide by the original order. It was decided, however, that the Stokes-dale road should be macadamized as early as possible, and in the meantime temporary improvements are to be made.A request that some macadam work
be done on a road leading north from Gibsonville was refused.The county commissioners authorized a new public road in Bruce township, beginning at Mr. Joe Eaton's place and leading to a point on the Stokesdale road.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

Subject of Judge Boyd's Charge to Federal Grand Jury.A report of Judge Boyd's charge to the Federal court grand jury in Asheville last week says:"Judge Boyd's charge to the grand jury today was more in the nature of a talk on 'Good Citizenship' than anything else. The court talked to the grand jurors and the many spectators in a most charming and interesting manner, saying that it was the duty of parents to teach their children right from wrong; that the fathers knew it was wrong and against the law to blockade and that they should not set the example of law-breaking before their children. Referring to the duties of the officers of the law, Judge Boyd told several interesting incidents to illustrate his points, saying that it was the duty of the courts and the officers to ever enforce the laws of the land. Several of the grand jurors and spectators this morning declared Judge Boyd's charge was the most interesting and entertaining that they had ever listened to."

AMERICAN TOBACCO DIVIDENDS.

Stockholders Will Receive More
Than $13,000,000 This Year.In addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. the directors of the American Tobacco Company last week declared an extra dividend of 7½ per cent., making the total dividend of 10 per cent. to be paid on the common stock of this company on December 1.In this quarter of last year the directors of the American Tobacco Company declared in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. an extra dividend of 2½ per cent., making the total for the year 25 per cent. The extra payment for this year brings up the total dividends to be disbursed this year to 32½ per cent.The payment of the regular and extra dividends on December 1 will call for $4,024,424 and when this has been paid to the holders of the common stock of the American Tobacco Company will have received for 1908
in dividends, $13,078,780. Wall Street formed the opinion when the disbursement was announced that 10 per cent. would be made the regular rate for this quarter, and that in the coming year the dividend would be brought up to 40 per cent.The Standard Oil now pays 40 per cent. on its stock. There have been few sales of American Tobacco on the Curb market, the only place where the issue is traded in,
and the price has advanced from 240 to 375. In the panic of last year the stock sold as low as 74, when it paid 25 per cent. in dividends. At the present quotations the issue yields more than 8 per cent.Local sportsmen are anxiously awaiting the open season for hunting game birds in Guilford, which opens November 15th. This year the 15th happens to fall on Sunday, thus causing the hunters to lose a day's sport.There have been complaints of violations of the game law in Guilford this season, and last week three men were convicted in a magistrate's court
here of killing birds out of season.
Prof. T. G. Pearson, secretary of the Audubon Society, has offered a reward of $5 to any one furnishing evidence sufficient to convict any one of violating the game law, and if the person convicted shall be a resident of Greensboro, the reward will be increased to $20. Here's a chance for some of our friends in the country to pick up a little spare change if they happen to know of any one hunting birds prior to the 15th.The Southern Express Company's new building on South Ashe street, fronting the railroad, is practically completed and is expected to be occupied by Sunday. The office the company has occupied on East Market street for a number of years will be moved to the new building.The legislature will convene on Wednesday, January 6th, and it is probable that Mr. Kitchin will be inaugurated governor January 13th.

Advantages

Of a Bank Account!

However Small
It May Be.It is well to pay bills promptly, but not to pay the same bill twice. Sometimes bookkeepers, by mistake, send out bills
after they have been paid. If you pay by check, however, the cancelled checks are returned to you and can be produced as receipts.Checking accounts are, therefore, more than a convenience.
They are an insurance against overpayment. Every man or woman who pays bills should do so with checks.Your checking account will be welcomed at this bank, where you are assured of absolute se-

Mr. A. V. Sapp, of this city, has begun the work of rebuilding his brick business house in High Point which was badly damaged by fire a short time ago.

Mrs. Annie H. Wallace and two children and sister, Miss Carrie Clayton, have arrived from Kinston and opened a boarding house at 202 South Ashe street.

One good as new top buggy and one two-horse Nissen wagon, one two-seated carriage, three top buggies, two open buggies, all very cheap at Townsend & Co.'s. 44-2t.

The fire companies were called out Wednesday at noon on account of a small blaze in the residence at 106 East Lee. The flames were quickly put out and the damage was of no consequence.

The executive committee of the board of trustees of the State Normal and Industrial College met last week and accepted the McVey memorial building, recently completed by the contractors.

Messrs. J. F. Jordan, Neil Ellington, R. R. King, J. M. Hendrix and Dr. Roberson, of this city, and Mr. Will Parker, of High Point, have gone to Manchester to enjoy several days chasing foxes.

How do we know Vulcan plows are best? Ask any of your neighbors. Nearly all of them have them, and can tell you why they are best. Over 1,800 of them have been sold in this section by Townsend & Co. That means 1,800 farmers talking every day. 44-4t.

The Patriot has a scholarship good for a business course in one of the highest class commercial schools in the South. The scholarship will be sold at a reasonable price. If you desire a really high grade course, address The Patriot for further particulars. 31-tf.

Mr. T. Gilbert Pearson, secretary of the North Carolina Audubon Society, has returned from Chase City, Va., where he discussed game protection. Mr. Pearson has been requested to assist in drafting a game protection law to be submitted to the Virginia legislature.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Milton McNeill, of Wilkesboro, for the marriage of their daughter, Nellie Blanche, to Mr. William Ambrose Dimmette, bookkeeper in the Greensboro National Bank, the ceremony to take place in the First Baptist church at Wilkesboro, Wednesday evening, November 18th, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Walter L. Myers, who is employed at the factory of the Greensboro Hardware Manufacturing Company, fell on a rip-saw last Wednesday morning and had one of his hands and wrists badly lacerated. He was carried to St. Leo's hospital for treatment. Mr. Myers is a prominent Mason, being at present master of Greensboro Lodge, No. 76, and the Masons were very active in seeing that he received good attention.

Mr. J. W. Blair, of Archdale, and Miss Eunice Henley, of Jamestown, were married Thursday afternoon. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, Dr. J. R. Gordon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Albert Peeler, of Guilford College, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends of the couple. The groom is a brother of Prof. Lee T. and Messrs. A. E. and D. H. Blair, of Greensboro.

Burlington News: To prove that the street-car system for the town is in an assured fact, the surveyors are at work making permanent surveys. The surveys are being made by the contractors for the purpose of ordering material and giving contract for work. We are glad to assure our readers that there is no longer any surmise as to this, but that it is an assured fact. It will be great for Burlington industrially when she has a good car system, and the founders will have conferred a benefit on the town that will last forever.

Carried to Insane Asylum.

Mr. Joe Edwards, an aged white man who resides near Guilford College, who has been mentally unbalanced for some time, was carried to Morganton last week and placed in the asylum for the insane. He was brought to Greensboro by Mr. E. A. White, of Guilford College.

As the train for Greensboro arrived at Guilford station, Mr. Edwards stepped on the track in front of the engine and narrowly escaped being run down. He was pulled off the track by Mr. White, who was knocked down and painfully bruised about the head and shoulders.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak stomach if one goes at it correctly. And this is true of the Heart and Kidneys. The old fashioned way of dosing the Stomach or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is surely wrong! Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. "Go to the weak or ailing nerves of these organs," said he. Each inside organ has its controlling or "inside nerve." When these nerves fall then those organs must surely falter. This vital truth is leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. A few days test will surely tell! Sold by Greensboro Drug Co.

HELD FOR CRIMINAL LIBEL.

Marion and Lester Butler Placed Under Bonds of $1,000 Each.

The preliminary hearing of ex-Senator Marion Butler and his brother, Lester F. Butler, in this city last Wednesday afternoon on a charge of criminal libel preferred by ex-Judge Spencer B. Adams, attracted much attention. The trial was held before Justices of the Peace Collins and Wolfe, in the county court house, and was attended by a large crowd. The plaintiff was represented by Stedman & Cooke, G. S. Bradshaw and R. C. Strudwick, of this city, and J. A. Long, of Graham. Justice and Broadhurst, of this city, and W. S. O'B. Robinson, of Goldsboro, appeared for the Butlers.

The charge of criminal libel grew out of the publication in the Raleigh Caucasian of articles reflecting on the integrity of Judge Adams in connection with the discharge of his duty as chief justice of the Chocotaw and Chickasaw citizenship court, in Indian Territory, and followed civil actions for $50,000 damages each against the Butlers and the Caucasian Publishing Company.

Judge Adams was the only witness introduced. He testified as to the publication in the Caucasian of the alleged libelous articles, and under cross examination went fully into the affairs of the court over which he presided as chief justice. In reply to a direct question, the witness said he did not know exactly how much he is worth, but said he had never made any money that was not earned from his profession, as salaries of offices he had held and from investments. He received a salary of $5,000 a year for two and a half years while presiding over the court in Indian Territory. Previous to going to the Indian Territory, he had been clerk of the Superior court of Caswell county for a number of years and later a judge of the Superior court.

Judge Adams testified that he believed Marion Butler inspired the charges of bribery and corruption and caused their publication in the Caucasian. He explained that he brought the criminal action after instituting the civil suits for the reason that he wished to bring his slander to justice as quickly as possible, the congested condition of the civil docket in this county making it impossible to have a hearing of the civil suits promptly.

The defense introduced no testimony, but contended that the matter in dispute was personal between Adams and the Butlers and should be settled by them, relieving the state and county of the expense incident to a trial in the criminal court, especially in view of the fact that the civil suits are pending.

After considerable argument of counsel on both sides, the justices held the defendants for the December criminal term of Superior court under bonds of $1,000 each. The bonds were signed by Col. W. S. Thomson and Mr. C. D. Benbow.

Jurors for December Court.

The county commissioners have drawn the following jurors for the week's criminal term of Superior court to convene December 14th:

Robert L. Apple, Charles E. Kerdle, J. C. Green, D. E. Knight, J. R. Woods, G. W. Efland, J. J. Lambeth, J. D. Grissom, R. L. Phipps, O. A. Anderson, J. Henry May, J. A. Horney, S. G. Rudd, J. C. May, W. A. Jones, E. J. Mendenhall, Charles E. Kirkman, John M. Swaim, C. F. Cummings, J. F. Farrington, P. J. Waynick, A. J. Sykes, J. H. Bishop, S. W. Vickory, L. B. Doggett, R. H. Goley, S. E. Dillon, Henry A. Doak, E. A. Guyer, Jerome Leonard, E. W. Branson, J. W. Vaughn, E. W. Payne, J. R. Sullivan, W. H. Idol, J. S. Reddick.

Whiskey and Beer Prescriptions.

Chief of Police Neelley's report of whiskey prescriptions issued in the city for October shows that for the month 400 were issued as against 434 for September. There were 10 for beer in September and 16 in October. There is a decrease in the amount prescribed by any one physician. In September the largest amount prescribed by one physician was 42 pints, in 27 prescriptions, while in October the largest amount by one physician was 38 pints, divided among 26 prescriptions. In September 444 whiskey and beer prescriptions were written by 55 physicians and in October 416 prescriptions by 59 physicians.

Wedding Invitations.

Wedding invitations reading as follows were issued last week: "Mr. John Donnell invites you to be present at the marriage of his daughter, Daisy Weatherly, to Mr. Benton Reid Craven, on Wednesday evening, the eighteenth of November, one thousand nine hundred and eight, at nine o'clock, Grace church, Greensboro, North Carolina."

Tickling, tight coughs, can be surely and quickly loosened with a prescription druggists are dispensing everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And it is so very different than common cough medicines. No Opium, no Chloroform, absolutely nothing harsh or unsafe. The tender leaves of a harmless, lung healing mountainous shrub, gives the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distressing Cough and to soothe and heal the most sensitive bronchial membrane. Mothers should, for safety's sake alone, always demand Dr. Shoop's. It can with perfect freedom be given to even the youngest babes. Test it yourself! and see. Sold by Greensboro Drug Co.

THE MAJORITY REDUCED.

Republicans Lose Six Seats in the Next Congress.

Election returns from congressional districts indicate that the house of representatives in the Sixty-first Congress will stand 218 Republicans to 173 Democrats, giving a Republican majority of 45.

The present House stands 224 Republicans and 167 Democrats, giving a Republican majority of 57. The Republicans lost six seats.

While there were Republican gains in some states, notably in Pennsylvania, where the number of Democrats in the state congressional delegation will be reduced from seven to four, these were offset by striking Democratic victories in Indiana and Nebraska. In these two states the anomaly is presented of an exact reversal of the comparative political status of the congressional delegation.

Indiana now has nine Republicans and four Democrats. As a result of Tuesday's election, the state congressional delegation will consist of nine Democrats and four Republicans. Nebraska, with five Republicans and one Democrat in the present house, has returned five Democrats and one Republican.

In spite of the tremendous effort to defeat Joseph G. Cannon for reelection, he was chosen by a large plurality. The fight against Mr. Cannon was in line with a widespread movement in the West to vanquish Republican congressmen who had supported him in his leadership of the house.

RETURNS WITHOUT DAUGHTER.

North Carolina Man Back From Fruitless Trip to Europe.

New York, Nov. 5.—J. L. Morgan, father of Fayette Morgan, the North Carolina heiress, who was joined in Europe by her sweetheart with whom she was reported to have eloped, returned today on the White Star liner Majestic, without the girl. He had apparently failed to stop the marriage. He would not, at least, deny that she and young Craig were married. Mr. Morgan would neither deny nor affirm that he had even found the young couple. He hurried down the gangplank and drove off in a cab. It is expected that he will take an Old Dominion line steamship as soon as possible and go back to his home at Marion, N. C.

Miss Morgan, who is very wealthy in her own right, met and fell in love with P. W. Craig, a young poet. Craig was poor and when it was seen by the girl's parents how things were going they sent her hurriedly to Europe in charge of a chaperone. Craig wanted to follow but did not have the money. There was a sudden rise, however, in the value of some land he had inherited from his mother and he sold it for $2,000. As soon as he had the money he followed his sweetheart.

Pomona, Guilford County, N. C., March, 27th, 1908.

Mr. Sides,

Dear Sir:

I am thinking you would like to hear how I am getting along after using the new remedy you and Mr. Yates so kindly had me to use. After nearly four months of suffering with rheumatism and kidney complaint, and everything done for me which only relieved for the time being, I am now using the Band, which seemed to help me at once.

At the time my feet, knees and hips were so swollen that I could not walk a step. As soon as I put it on there was a heating sensation all over my system, and in one week I was surprised that the swelling was going out, and I could sleep. In two weeks I could walk around the room, the third week I could go where I pleased. I feel stiff in my knees somewhat, but that is going out fast. You may think this is quick work, but it is nevertheless true. My family and neighbors will testify the same. They all know I have suffered all winter, and I feel very grateful to you both, for what this remedy has done for me, and will recommend it to all suffering as I have.

Respectfully yours,

A. D. V. LEIGH.

(Signed)

Why don't you profit by the experience of others? Your family doctor is all right, and will do all he can for you, but he cannot cure that rheumatism.

I have cured hundreds of hopeless cases with my wonderful Band, dozens of them right here in Greensboro, and in Guilford county.

The preliminary hearing of Frank Clark, Luther Clark, Bob Askew and Walter Askew, charged with being implicated in a shooting scrape at White Oak on the night of the 3rd inst., which was to have been held before Justice of the Peace Collins Saturday afternoon, was continued for a week on account of the inability of Frank Clark to be present. The defendants are held under bonds of $200 each.

It is expected that the improvements to the Guilford hotel will be completed in 60 or 90 days, when the house will be thrown open for the reception of guests. The remodeled building will contain 127 rooms and will be one of the handsomest and best equipped hotels in this part of the South. It will continue under the management of Cobb & Corpening, lessees of the Guilford and the Benbow hotels.

Mr. R. H. Milton, one of the Greensboro Electric Company's superintendents, is suffering from the effects of an over-dose of electric current. While working on a generator at the power house Saturday afternoon, Mr. Milton was severely shocked by 500 volts of electricity, which burned the flesh of two fingers to the bone. It is considered almost miraculous that the current did not penetrate his entire system with fatal results.

The annual meeting of the North Carolina Library Association will be held at the Carnegie library, in this city, tomorrow and Friday, and it is expected that most of the librarians of the state will be in attendance. The opening session will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the address of welcome will be delivered by Mr. G. A. Grimley. This will be followed by routine business, including reports, announcement of committees, discussions, etc.

The county commissioners have issued an order prohibiting in the future auction sales of property of any description in front of the court house, except under execution or by other due process of law. It had become customary, especially on Saturdays, to fill the sidewalks in front of the court house with second-hand furniture and other old junk for sale at auction, and this resulted in complaints being filed that brought about the order of the commissioners.

E. P. Saintsing, the white man who was committed to jail by Mayor Brandt about ten days ago for assaulting his wife with a deadly weapon, furnished bond in the sum of $500 Friday and was released. It will be remembered that Saintsing was arrested for attempting to criminally assault his 16-year-old daughter, but could not be held on this charge on account of the refusal of the girl to testify. Doubtless his case will receive attention at the hands of the grand jury.

Prof. T. Gilbert Pearson, of this city, has been named as one of the five members of the committee on bird and game conservation of the national conservation commission. This commission was created as the result of a conference between President Roosevelt and the governors of a number of the states, Gifford Pinchot, the national forester, being named as chairman. The appointments of Prof. Pearson as one of the five members of the bird and game committee comes as quite a distinction to that gentleman.

Rev. W. M. Curtis, secretary and treasurer of Greensboro Female College, reports that the endowment fund of the institution now amounts to $80,000, the latest subscription coming Monday from Mr. Frank Lambeth, of Thomasville, who gives $1,000. Mr. N. D. Sullivan, of Walkertown, made a subscription of $1,000 last week. When the endowment fund reaches $100,000, the college will receive $25,000 from Andrew Carnegie. The management hopes to be in position to call on the multi-millionaire Scotchman-American for his donation in a few weeks.

The congregation of Main Street Methodist church, of Reidsville, has adopted resolutions highly commendatory of Rev. Dr. S. B. Turrentine, of this city, who is closing his fourth year as presiding elder of the Greensboro district, and who, in accordance with the itinerant law of the M. E. Church, South, must serve another field after this year. Dr. Turrentine is a leader in his denomination, and during his residence in Greensboro, both as pastor of West Market church and as presiding elder of the district, has impressed himself strongly upon the life of the community.

THE DEFEAT OF MR. BROOKS.

Greatest Surprise of the Election—How it Was Brought About—Statement to Fifth District Democracy.

When the Patriot went to press last Wednesday it appeared that Mr. A. L. Brooks had been elected to Congress from the Fifth district by a majority of about 1,500, but the official returns received Thursday afternoon changed this result and showed the election of Mr. John M. Morehead, his Republican opponent, by a majority of 340. Mr. Morehead carried the following counties by the majorities named: Alamance 87, Forsyth 327, Orange 64, Person 183, Rockingham 217, Stokes 681, and Surry 1,001. Mr. Brooks received the following majorities: Caswell 509, Durham 20, Granville 1,026, and Guilford 615.

The defeat of Mr. Brooks was the greatest surprise of the election. While it was expected that the majority would be reduced, owing to the bitter personal fight made on Mr. Brooks, no one anticipated the election of his Republican opponent.

When the result had been ascertained officially, Mr. Brooks gave out the following statement to the Democracy of the Fifth district:

"I desire to express my profound gratitude to the loyal and sincere Democracy of this district for their devotion and untiring energies in my behalf. No man ever had truer or better friends, and my defeat for Congress is regretted more on their account than my own. In addition to the general landslide throughout this section and local disaffections, we had the Republican forces of the state centered in this district, with unlimited money at their command. Notwithstanding Democracy's terrible defeat in the nation and in this and two other districts of the state, I believe that the principles set forth in the Denver platform are absolutely essential to the nation's well-being, and it is unfortunate for the state that men should be sent to represent us in Washington who will oppose all these measures and reforms. While victory is always sweet, there are many things worse than defeat, and I am proud of the fact that, when the Republican hosts and their allies overran our breastworks, they found me bearing aloft the Democratic banner and every friend of mine standing behind Democratic guns.

"Let those who have failed take courage: Though the enemy seems to have won, Tho' his ranks are strong, if he be in the wrong The battle is not yet done; For, sure as the morning follows The darkest hour of the night, No question is ever settled Until it is settled right."

Had Surry county not been added to this district by the last legislature, or had Mr. Brooks received the full Democratic vote in Guilford, he would have been elected by a safe majority.

The friends of Mr. Brooks say that no Democrat in North Carolina ever before received such shameful treatment at the hands of the voters of the party. Naturally they are indignant and they do not hesitate to say that they will remember those Democrats who worked to secure the defeat of the Democratic nominee for Congress.

WILL GIVE UP CHAIRMANSHIP. Predicted That Judge Adams Will be Rewarded With Good Office.

Ex-Judge Spencer B. Adams, Republican state chairman, has given out a statement announcing that he will not stand for re-election to that office, a position he has held since 1906 and to which he was re-elected for two years at the meeting of the state convention in this city last April. It is predicted that Judge Adams will be recognized by the Taft administration with a responsible and lucrative office, and if this should prove to be the case, he might resign the chairmanship before the expiration of his term. Both Judge Taft and Chairman Hitchcock have expressed to Chairman Adams their gratification over the showing made by the Republicans of North Carolina under his leadership.

A friend of Judge Adams says he may be appointed commissioner of internal revenue to succeed John G. Capers, of South Carolina, and that he may be given a place on the federal bench. A movement is on foot to have Congress provide for an additional circuit judge for the circuit composed of Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, and should the act be passed, it is altogether probable that Judge Adams would be considered in connection with the appointment.

Greensboro School Bonds Valid.

Perhaps Greensboro may be able to erect a new public school building after all, the Supreme court of North Carolina having rendered a decision affirming the validity of the bond issue of $30,000 voted for this purpose in February, 1907. The litigation, which was in the nature of a friendly suit, was occasioned by the validity of the authorized issue having been brought into question, thereby making it impossible to find a market for the sale of the bonds. The action was brought in the name of H. W. Wharton against the city.

The question of validity arose over the contention that the city had no right to issue bonds in excess of a certain percentage of the taxable property valuation. The legislature of 1908 passed an act exempting Greensboro from the debt limit of the statute limiting the bonded indebtedness of municipal governments. The court holds that the limitation upon the power of a municipality to create a debt may be abrogated by a subsequent act of the legislature as to a particular city.

THE NEW COUNTY MAP.

Accepted by Officials and Will be Ready for Delivery December 10th.

The people of Guilford will be interested in learning that Mr. C. M. Miller and his assistants have completed the surveys of the official map of the county and that the work has been passed upon and accepted by a joint meeting of the county commissioners and the board of education. The joint meeting was held Saturday, a number of citizens from different sections of the county being present to join in the examination of the work, which was pronounced satisfactory in every respect. The maps were examined closely and found to meet all the requirements of the contract. It was accepted by the boards and will be published as quickly as possible.

After the map had been accepted, Mr. Miller, who has had many years' experience as a civil engineer and map maker, stated to the boards that they had the best county map in the South and backed his statement up by offering Prof. Foust, county superintendent, fifty dollars for a map of any other county equal to the Guilford map. The map will be ready for delivery about December 10th.

Agents are now canvassing the county taking orders and the map will be sold by subscription only. A postal addressed to Mr. C. M. Miller, box 86, Greensboro, will place any one in position to receive a copy of the map.

The Sunday school convention of the Piedmont Baptist Association will meet with Forest Avenue Baptist church, in this city, tomorrow and Friday, the opening session being held tomorrow evening at 7.30 o'clock. A program appropriate to the occasion has been arranged and an interesting meeting is anticipated. Addresses are to be made by Prof. W. C. Smith and Prof. W. C. Jackson, of this city; Rev. O. L. Powers, of High Point; Prof. E. I. Middleton, of Cary; Mr. Zach H. Neal, of Reidsville; Mr. N. B. Broughton, of Raleigh, and other Sunday school workers of prominence.

They Take The Kinks Out. "I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for many years, with increasing satisfaction. They take the kinks out of stomach, liver and bowels, without fuss or friction," says N. H. Brown, of Pittsfield, Vt. Guaranteed satisfactory by All Druggists. 2c.

THE STEEL TRUST'S GRAFT.

Some Figures on Production Cost Here and Abroad.

New York Journal of Commerce.

A presentation was recently made in these columns of questions affecting the probable revision of the tariff on iron and steel. The fact was stated that a domestic manufacturer who went abroad to inquire into the costs of production in England and Germany had returned with the conclusion that our costs on pig iron, steel rails, etc., were such as to make free trade in these articles entirely feasible. It was also noted that the American Manufacturers' Association, which has been pressing for tariff revision during the past year or two is in favor of drastic revision of the rates, on the ground that the cost of production of the crude iron and steel products is lower in the United States than it is elsewhere in the known world. Further, Mr. A. B. Farquhar, president of the A. B. Farquhar Company, of York, Pa., was quoted as saying that about $10 is a bottom figure for the cost of producing steel ingots, with $2 additional for rolling rails, and that since for twenty years the cost of manufacture in Pittsburgh has been less than anywhere on the globe, there would be no harm in putting steel rails on the free list. There is no special mystery about the cost of producing iron and steel in England and Germany. It has been publicly discussed at frequent intervals during the last ten years by expert metallurgists and ironmasters; detailed figures have been given of furnace costs, and all the items of freight by land and sea, royalties, etc., have been taken into account in comparing the conditions under which iron and steel are produced in England and Germany and in the United States.

Broadly speaking, the British furnace requires two tons of the 50 to 55 per cent. ore which it can command to make a ton of pig iron. Thirty years ago all but a small fraction of this ore was of home production; now at least a third of it has to be imported. The yield of iron ore for the United Kingdom stands at about the same figure as it did in 1874—namely, 15,000,000 tons, and the amount that has to be imported is not less than 7,000,000 tons. Most of this latter is brought from Spain, and the cost of transport from Bilbao to British ports foots up to a much larger amount than that from any port on the upper lakes to one on Lake Erie. For one thing, the average British cargo steamer carries only two thousand tons, against an average of six thousand tons for the American lake steamer. The round trip of the lake steamer is made in seven days, while that of the English steamer requires fourteen days, so that the latter consumes six weeks in the delivery of the six thousand tons of ore which the American steamer delivers in one. Spanish ore thus comes to a British port bearing a tax of at least 60 cents a ton over that which the lake ores have to bear. Another $1.25 a ton must be added for the higher price paid for the iron content of Spanish ore, and royalties and other charges on domestic ore figure for a like sum. Briefly, there is easily $5 a ton in favor of the American furnace in the production of pig iron, and more economical processes of conversion into rails, bars, etc., render the difference on a ton of steel against the British furnace between $6 and $7.

Germany has now reached a production of something over 14,000,000 tons of pig iron per annum or somewhat less than half the total production of the United States. The greater part of this output is due to Westphalia, which draws its ore mainly from three districts—Alsace, Luxembourg and the Meurthe-et-Moselle. All of these districts are removed by a considerable distance from the coal and the blast furnaces at Westphalia. Railway transport thus brings up the cost of the ore at the furnaces to about three times its value at the mine. Besides the ore available within her own borders and neighboring districts, Germany imports considerable quantities of both basic and Bessemer ores, the latter from Spain and Sweden. All such ores have to be transported by sea, and to reach the iron works at Westphalia must be transferred by canal and river transport. The lowest valuation that has been placed on the pig iron output of the German empire is $10.50 per ton, and this is very much above the average cost of a ton of pig iron in the United States. While there can be no question about the remarkable results achieved by Germany as a producer of iron and steel, the natural limitations on the sources of supply both of her ore and coal are such as to render any comparison with the United States somewhat ridiculous. The special conditions required to meet the basic application in Germany, all but universal of themselves, be a handicap on the ability of the German furnaces to compete with our own. The necessity of having in the furnace mixture in Germany at least 2½ per cent. of phosphorus has to be met either by a supply of tap cinder which is no longer obtainable in sufficient quantities, or by bog iron ores, which have to be imported largely from Holland and Belgium at a high cost, and which are within measurable distance of exhaustion.

To make cheap steel the following are the recognized essentials: Cheap railway rates, low sea or lake freights to bring ore to furnaces, cheap coal and cokes, a large production, mechanical labor-saving appliances and a low wage-rate cost per ton on the output, while paying the men good wages. All of these conditions exist in the United States as they exist nowhere else in the world. From the first process of ore extraction labor costs are minimized by the use of steam shovels at the mines, by trap-door self-discharging trucks, by self-delivery from the bins under stages to self-trimming steamers, by discharging the steamers into trucks at the terminal port with but little manual labor other than the superintendence and manipulation of the various mechanical arrangements. When the ore reaches the furnace it is handled more quickly and at a less expenditure of manual labor than anywhere else in the world, and the production of an American furnace is three to five times greater than that of the furnaces generally in use in England. From whatever point the subject may be viewed, the conclusion is irresistible that no comparison of the costs of production at home and abroad can justify the continued existence of the present tariff on iron and steel.

TEACHING OF PHYSIOLOGY.

Difficulty in Interesting Children in the Subject.

The child entering school for the first time, having lived a life of more or less boisterous freedom, comes under changed conditions. The physical activities are being subdued, the intellectual awakened to be trained. Good health, which was so easily maintained, is now beset with a multitude of enemies. Physical restraint; crowded, usually over-crowded school-rooms; poor ventilation—alas, often none at all—exposure to infectious conditions from the bodies of other children, all conspire to injure the physical well-being of the child.

The study of physiology in the public schools has come to occupy a very important place in the curriculum. Through it, says School Hygiene, the child gets his first knowledge of the body, its structure and functions. The simplest rules of personal hygiene must be made the important part of this study. The safeguarding of the health of the school child can be accomplished only when there is intelligent co-operation of children, parents and the school authorities. To obtain this co-operation there must be some knowledge of hygiene and this is possible only through the study of physiology.

This is a required study in the public schools of many states. Unfortunately it is not a very interesting study to most children, or at least it is not made interesting. So much time and space have to be given to the evil effects of alcohol and tobacco that the child wonders what it is all about, and at the end has little more than a confused idea that physiology, alcohol and tobacco are in some way closely allied. Yet physiology can be made interesting as well as valuable to the child.

A class of 40 boys averaging 10 years of age was having a recitation on the physiology of digestion. The use of the teeth, mouth, saliva and gastric juice were considered and the answers given showed the results of good teaching, but when the exercise was over there was left the feeling of incompleteness. What had the boys gained that was useful? Some knowledge of the process of digestion. But how were they to make use of this knowledge? So far it was a general knowledge only. Could any part of it be made personal? Why, yes, the part that the teeth play in the part of digestion might be made personal. Questions were then asked concerning the value of the teeth. What would happen if there were too few teeth or none at all? What caused a loss of teeth? What were the evil results of rotten teeth?

The boys were eager to answer these questions, edged out of seats, waved hands frantically, scowled at wrong answers, and when called upon to answer stood erect by the desk and proudly gave what they considered correct answers. To the final questions, "How many of you boys have cleaned your teeth this morning?" there was but one response. One boy in a class of 40 had cleaned his teeth that morning. The other boys sat dejectedly in their seats, ashamed. Further questioning showed that more than one-half of these boys made no use of the tooth brush at all, the others only occasionally.

If the study of physiology were made more personal in its application, if less attention were given to the evils of alcohol and tobacco, which children use not at all, and the time thus spent were given to the study of personal hygiene made simple and attractive, and the care of the body for the joys it would bring would take place of the present apathy or fear of irrelevant evils.

Positive Cure for Scarlet Fever.

Exchange.

The Chronicle is in possession of the following information which we regard as timely, and as it comes from Dr. J. J. McElree, secretary of the Missouri State Board of Health, we believe it worth while to try the remedy on existing cases of scarlet fever.

The doctor says: "I herewith append a recipe which has been used to my knowledge in hundreds of cases. It will prevent or cure. When Jenner discovered the cow-pox in England the world of science overwhelmed him with fame, but when the most scientific school of medicine in the world, that of Paris, published this recipe it passed unheeded. It is unfailing as fate, and conquers in every instance."

It cures both scarlet fever and smallpox in twelve hours. Here is the remedy: Sulphate of zinc, one grain; digitalis, one grain; sugar, one-half teaspoonful. Dissolve in a wine-glass of soft water which has been boiled and cooled. Take a teaspoonful every hour. Either smallpox or scarlet fever will disappear in twelve hours. For children the dose must be diminished according to age.

If communities, says Dr. McElree, will compel the use of this treatment there will be no need of pest houses. If you value your life use this remedy.

If you suffer from constipation and liver trouble Foley's Orino Laxative will cure you permanently by stimulating the digestive organs so they will act naturally. Foley's Orino Laxative does not gripe, is pleasant to take and you do not have to take laxatives continually after taking Orino. Why continue to be the slave of pills and tablets. ROOSEVELT'S PLANS.

Will Join Staff of the Outlook After Leaving Presidency.

The Outlook, of New York, of which Rev. Lyman Abbott is editor, has announced the part that President Roosevelt will have in the conduct of the publication after he retires from the presidency. Following is the statement in part:

"On and after March 5, 1909, Theodore Roosevelt will be associated with the Outlook's editorial staff as special contributing editor."

"As the beginning of the nineteenth century was characterized by the movement toward political democracy, so the beginning of the twentieth century has been characterized by a movement toward industrial democracy."

"In this world movement Theodore Roosevelt has been recognized as a world leader. No one who knows him has believed that his leadership would cease with his retirement from the Presidency."

"We congratulate ourselves and our readers that this leadership, exercised for the past seven years in Presidential messages, will be exercised in the future through the columns of the Outlook, which will be exclusive channels for the expression of his views on political, industrial, and social topics."

"Mr. Roosevelt will be more than a mere contributor. His headquarters will be at the Outlook office, and he will be in frequent, and, we hope, constant, consultation with its staff. His position will be thus somewhat analogous to that of a consulting engineer who is called in to give the benefit of his expert co-operation to the staff of engineers in charge of a great undertaking. But the editorial control of the Outlook will remain unchanged."

"Mr. Roosevelt's contributions, though editorial in their nature, will be signed by him, and will be the absolutely free and unmodified expression of his personal convictions."

"As already announced, Mr. Roosevelt, after retiring from the Presidency, will sail for Africa, and the reports of his scientific hunting expedition will be published exclusively in Scribner's Magazine. During this period his contributions on questions of the day will necessarily be somewhat restricted. Yet the Outlook will have the benefit of his foresight before he sails, and will give to its readers occasional articles from his pen on topics of current interest, which will foreshadow his larger editorial activity upon his return to his native land."

HARVARD MAY GET ROOSEVELT.

Suggested That He May Succeed President Eliot.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4.—If Theodore Roosevelt would rather be president of Harvard University than hunt wild animals in Africa, now comes his chance. The report, that upon leaving the White House he will succeed Charles W. Eliot as the head of Harvard was revived today by the official announcement that Dr. Eliot has presented his resignation, to take effect May 19, 1909.

In spite of the fact that President Roosevelt has completed plans for a two years' absence from this country, his name was the most generally mentioned this afternoon when the unexpected news of Dr. Eliot's action became known.

Next to Mr. Roosevelt, the man most likely to be offered the vacant presidency is Prof. A. Lawrence Lowell, occupant of the chair of government and one of the most prominent members of the Harvard faculty.

President Eliot will be seventy-five years old next March, and he desires to retire while he is still capable of work. This, his friends declare, is the only reason for his resignation.

S.S.S. FOR S.S.S. BAD BLOOD

The most important part of the human system is the blood. Every muscle, nerve, tissue, bone and sinew is dependent on this vital fluid for nourishment and strength necessary to maintain them in health and enable each to perform the different duties nature requires. Even the heart, the very "engine" of life, receives its vigor and motive power from the blood. Since so much is dependent on this vital fluid it can very readily be seen how necessary it is to have it pure and uncontaminated if we would enjoy the blessing of good health. Bad blood is responsible for most of the ailments of mankind; when from any cause it becomes infected with impurities, humors or poisons, disease in some form is sure to follow. Muddy, sallow complexion, eruptions, pimples, etc., show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acrid fluid, which forces out its impurities through the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of bad blood is sores or ulcers, which break out on the flesh, often from a very insignificant bruise or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was pure and healthy the place would heal at once, but being loaded with impurities, which are discharged into the wound, irritation and inflammation are set up and the sore continues. Bad blood is also responsible for Anemia, Boils, Malaria, etc.; the weak, polluted circulation cannot furnish the nourishment and strength required to sustain the body, and a general run-down condition of health results. S. S. S. is nature's blood purifier and tonic; made entirely of healing, cleansing roots and herbs. It goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impurity, humor or poison that may be there, restores lost vitality, and steadily tones up the entire system. It adds to the blood the healthful properties it is in need of, and in every way assists in the cure of disease. S. S. S. neutralizes any excess of acid in the blood, making it fresh and pure, and permanently cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, and all other skin diseases and eruptions. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, and all other diseases or disorders arising from bad blood. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired free to all who write.

Your S. S. S., in my opinion, is as good a medicine as can be had; it simply cannot be improved upon as a remedy to purify and enrich the blood and to invigorate and tone up the system. This spring my blood was bad and I was run down in health, and having seen your medicine highly advertised I commenced its use. Today my blood is in fine condition and my general health is of the best. Am filling position as fireman for a large concern here, and if I was not in good physical condition it would be impossible for me to fill the place. Your S. S. S. has been of great service to me and I do not hesitate to give it the credit it deserves.

A Mineral Water that Defies Drugs NATURE'S GREAT BLOOD TONIC

The recent drug exposures in this Country have proven to all that deadly poisons and stimulants lurk in many Patent Medicines. You never know when you might be taking some of that class.

Nature has made ample provision for restoring vigor and vitality to humanity, and the public, as well as doctors, resort to Natural Remedies, when all others have failed.

Are you troubled with Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Malaria, Kidney or Bladder Trouble, Chronic Diarrhoea or Dysentery, and above all, that dreadful disease Scrofula, which has almost baffled human skill, or Diseases peculiar to Females?

Piedmont-Bedford Concentrated Iron & Alum Water

Is Nature's Remedy for Nature's Ills. Yes, when you consider that disease comes from impoverished or run down conditions of the system, this Natural Mineral Water furnishes the system what it needs.

The analysis of this Water, shown on the bottle, tells you what Nature thinks you should take when sick, and the doctor who reads it will agree.

Do you think the grouping together in this Water of 17 different minerals, which are recognized by medical writers as most powerful blood tonics, could have been accidental? Reason answers, NO!

An 18-oz bottle of Piedmont-Bedford Concentrated Iron and Alum water contains all the minerals of 25 gallons of the average natural water—Then why buy a barrel of water when you can get a bottle of minerals at the trivial cost of one dollar. The dose is a teaspoonful in a glass of your own spring water.

How this Water acts upon the system is not clearly known. It is judged mainly by its works. It has cured all the diseases enumerated above, and many more, evidently through its action as a powerful BLOOD TONIC.

We have many valuable certificates, which we will be glad to mail, if you are interested.

A CALAMITY.

The defeat of the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Fifth district is nothing short of a calamity. The situation is all the more lamentable by reason of the fact that the Republican candidate's election was made possible by the votes of men calling themselves Democrats. It is not disputed that the Fifth district is normally Democratic by a good majority, and despite the slump in the Democratic vote this year, Mr. Brooks should have been elected—and he would have been had all the Democrats remained true to their party obligations. Had the possibility of defeat been suspected, the disaster could have been averted, but that is neither here nor there. It remains to be said that lukewarm, and hostile Democrats are responsible for the election of a Republican congressman in this district. Mr. Brooks made a strong and aggressive fight, but he could not win over the combination effected by the Republicans and their Democratic allies, including a big campaign fund that was turned loose in the district.

In all political history we do not recall any man who has been the victim of such shameful treatment as Mr. Brooks has received in his own political household.

MR. KITCHIN'S MAJORITY.

While the result of the election in North Carolina will not be known officially until the state canvassing board meets early in December, the returns show that Mr. Kitchin has been elected by a majority of about 37,000. The official returns from 95 counties give him a majority of 36,604, and the other two counties—Cleveland and Burke—will give him a majority of 200 or more. Mr. Kitchin's majority is about 3,000 less than State Chairman Eller claimed for him the day after the election and 10,000 less than the Republicans allowed him. Governor Glenn's majority four years ago was 49,256, but it must be remembered that the Republican vote this year was about 25,000 greater than it was in 1904. Mr. Kitchin received majorities in 71 counties and Mr. Cox in 26 counties. Mr. Kitchin's majority in the counties comprising the Fifth congressional district was 2,019. Mecklenburg county carries off the banner for having given the greatest Democratic majority, the official count placing it at 2,848. Mr. Cox's greatest majority, 1,732, was received in Wilkes county.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.

The next legislature of North Carolina will be overwhelmingly Democratic in both branches, the Republicans having failed to make the heavy gains they had counted on. In the senate there will be 43 Democrats and seven Republicans, this being a Democratic loss of three and a Republican gain of three over the last senate. Of the 121 members elected to the house (the constitution provides for only 120) there are 94 Democrats and 27 Republicans, a Democratic loss of two and a Republican gain of three. (Should one of the members from Sampson be unseated, as is contemplated, in order to keep the membership within the constitutional requirement, the Republican gain would be only two.) It is of interest to note that the Democrats have returned only six members of the senate and 16 members of the house. Not a single Republican who served in the last senate has been re-elected and only four Republicans who served in the last house are returned.

The Republicans are claiming that Taft carried the Fifth congressional district by a majority of 418, which is 78 votes in excess of the majority given Morehead for Congress. It appears that Alamance, Forsyth, Orange, Person, Rockingham, Stokes and Surry went for Taft, Bryan having carried Caswell, Durham, Granville and Guilford.

The constitution of North Carolina provides that there shall be 120 members of the lower house of the general assembly, but in the election last week 121 members were chosen, the extra member coming from the new county of Lee. The constitution provides further that every county in the state shall be represented and that the house of representatives shall pass on the qualifications of its members. The difficulty may be solved by the legislature unseating a member from some county barely entitled to two representatives. It has been suggested that one of the members from Sampson may be dropped, as that county is said to have a smaller population than any other county electing two members of the house of representatives. It happens that both of Sampson's members are Republicans.

The Patriot is glad to take advantage of an opportunity to give its readers a rest on politics for a while. After this issue, which of necessity contains a good deal of matter pertaining to the elections last week, we will fill the paper largely with other matter.

On the strength of its vote cast for Governor-elect Kitchin, Guilford county will have 25 votes in the next Democratic state convention. The only county with a larger ballot will be Mecklenburg, with 28 votes.

We are waiting for the wave of prosperity that the Republicans assured us would break over the country immediately after the election of Taft.

No matter whether the election may have gone our way or not, all of us have something to live for and hope for.

KILLED IN A STREET DUEL.

Former Senator Carmack Meets Death at Hand of Political Enemy.

As a sequel to the recent bitter Democratic primary for the gubernatorial nomination in Tennessee, Hon. Edward Ward Carmack, former United States senator from Tennessee, was shot and killed in a street duel in Nashville Monday afternoon by Robin Cooper, a young attorney. Young Cooper was wounded in the shoulder by a bullet from Carmack's revolver, but his condition is not serious.

Carmack was wounded three times, in the neck, the breast and the left shoulder. Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, father of the younger man, was with his son during the affray but did not fire a shot. It is said he stood by with pistol in hand.

The direct cause of the killing is a recent series of editorials in the Tennesseean, a daily paper of which Mr. Carmack became editor after his defeat for the nomination for governor. The editorials in question had been vigorous in their comment on Colonel Cooper and his alleged connection with what Mr. Carmack termed the "Democratic machine" and its methods. Colonel Cooper, who is well known in business, newspaper and political circles in Tennessee and the South, had, it is said, notified Mr. Carmack that the references to him must cease. Another such editorial appeared Monday morning.

STUMBLES ON GREAT CURE.

Bone Tuberculosis Yields to Paste Used to Shape Abscess.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Remarkable results in curing tuberculosis of the bones demonstrated in a five-weeks' trial at the Home for Destitute Crippled Children today, turned attention to a treatment stumbled upon by Dr. Emil Beck, of this city. The treatment, which promises to bring relief to a large percentage of sufferers from this form of the great white plague, consists for the most part in filling the cavity caused by the disease with a metallic salt, bismuth subnitrate 30 grains, combined with 60 grains of vaseline.

The discovery was incidental to an X-ray photograph of a little invalid. The solution was applied to fix the outline of a tubercular abscess, and being left in the cavity proved a healing agent. Dr. Beck told his discoverer to Dr. John Riddell and Wallace Blanchard at the home for Destitute Crippled Children, and in a five-weeks' trial 20 out of 40 crippled children were cured by the treatment.

The paste is solid at the temperature of the body, but if a fever is induced will run out of the cavity. As the heating continues the mixture is absorbed.

Medical men estimate that fully 50 per cent. of all the crippled children are suffering from tubercular disorders.

May Reject Wirz Monument.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 4.—A decided storm of objections has been raised to the erection of a monument to Wirz, keeper of the Andersonville Prison during the civil war, in Richmond. The Georgia Daughters of the Confederacy have offered the monument to this city if the local camps of veterans will accept it, but it is claimed here that, to accept the monument, would be to cheapen the other monuments now standing here. The Confederates declare that all monuments standing in Richmond should stand for the combined South.

It will be remembered that Wirz, despite the fact that he was offered a pardon, refused to implicate Jefferson Davis in the Andersonville Prison horrors.

MR. BRYAN MAKES STATEMENT.

Believes Principles Enunciated by Denver Platform Will Yet Prevail.

William J. Bryan has made the following statement: "The election has gone against us by a decisive majority. The returns are not all in and it is impossible at the present time to analyze them or to say what causes contributed most to the Republican victory."

"We made our fight upon a platform which embodied what we believed to be good for the American people but it is for the people themselves to decide what laws they desire and what methods of government they prefer. I have faith that the publicity which we asked for will yet commend itself to the American people, that the election of senators by the people will be secured, that the inequities of the trusts will arouse an opposition that will result in the elimination of the principle of private monopoly. I am confident that the people will see the necessity for the labor legislation and the tariff reduction which our platform demanded. I am confident, too, that the educational work done in this campaign will result in securing greater protection to bank depositors."

"The above are the most prominent reforms for which we labored and I believe that these reforms will yet come together with more effective regulation of railroads and independence for the Filipinos."

"I desire to commend the work of our National committee. I am entirely satisfied with Mr. Mack as the chairman and with the members of the committee. I do not see how they could have done more than they did, and as for myself, I put forth every effort in my power to secure victory for our cause. The nomination came from the hands of the voters. I have obeyed their commands and have led as best I could. Words will not express my gratitude for the willingness of the Democrats during the past twelve years. Neither am I able to adequately express my appreciation for the kind words which have been spoken since the election. If I could regard the defeat as purely a personal one I would consider it a blessing rather than a misfortune, for I am relieved of the burdens and responsibilities of an office that is attractive only in proportion as it gives an opportunity to render a larger public service."

"But I shall serve as willingly in a private capacity as in a public one. God does not require great things of us. He only requires that we improve the opportunities that are presented by private life."

"In this hour of national defeat I find some consolation in the cordial support given by my neighbors, by the citizens of Lincoln and by the people of the State of Nebraska. With a Democratic governor and a Democratic Legislature we shall be able to put into practice so much of the Denver platform as relates to legislation and I trust that our State will set an example that will be an influence for good in the nation."

SLAYS HIS MOTHER.

Broker Then Commits Suicide by Inhaling Gas.

New York, Nov. 5.—J. Nelson Veit, the floor member of the stock exchange brokerage firm of Veit, Lyon & Company, of 115 Broadway, and a prominent member of the Seventh Regiment National Guard, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Felix Veit, in her apartments at the Hotel Ansonia, Seventy-third and Broadway, some time between midnight and morning today, and then took his own life by inhaling gas in the bathroom next to the bedroom where his mother's body lay.

A few hours after the tragedy had become noised about close friends of the dead man learned that he had been married a little over a year and that his wife was living at the Chatworth, at Seventy-second street and Riverside Drive, only a few blocks away from where his mother had made her home for several years.

One who represented some of the Veit family in a legal way said tonight that he had understood that Mrs. Veit had known of the son's marriage, but that she had consistently refused to recognize the woman he had made his wife and that her action in this respect had caused a breach between mother and son.

In a statement made to a close friend of her husband's after the news of the tragedy had been carried to her today, Mrs. Veit said that she had had no reason to believe that her husband's mother bore her any ill will. She said that she had spoken to her mother-in-law over the telephone on the afternoon prior to the tragic occurrence.

FOR INAUGURATION.

Chairman of Committee Will be Named in Near Future.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Every four years the wide-awake citizens of Washington, irrespective of party affiliation, immediately after the national election begin to make plans for the 4th of March following.

Quadrennially the aim is to make the inaugural ceremonies eclipse in splendor all previous ceremonies. This inauguration will be no exception. The celebration attending the induction into office of William Howard Taft will be on a scale befitting the occasion, and in keeping with the growth of the nation.

Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican national committee, will name the chairman of the inaugural committee, which will take full charge of the inauguration day plans. He will choose the chairman after a conference of the president-elect. It is safe to say that the choice will be that of Mr. Taft himself. He has been an official resident of Washington so long, and knows the local situation so well, that he will indicate it promptly to Hitchcock.

CIGAR WON GRANT VICTORY.

Son Tells How Natural Fighter Became Smoker by Accident.

Detroit, Nov. 4.—General U. S. Grant, fighter and smoker, was a fighter by instinct and training, but was made a smoker by accident. His son, General Fred D. Grant, who is presiding at a court-martial here, tells about it thus:

"The accident that made my father a confirmed smoker figured prominently in the winning of the battle of Fort Donaldson. He was in conference with Admiral Foote on the latter's flagship and had just accepted a cigar from the Admiral when word came that the left flank of his forces was being repulsed. Hurrying ashore and galloping to the battlefield, he rallied his forces so completely that chaos was turned into victory."

"The newspapers told how father had rushed from the warship to the battlefield without taking his cigar from his mouth, and said he came onto the battlefield, cool and collected and peacefully smoking a long black cigar."

"People who read the story began sending congratulations and presents of cigars. Tens of thousands of cigars came, and my father smoked many of them. It made a confirmed smoker of him."

General Grant said his father tried to acquire the smoking habit at West Point just because the rules forbade smoking. His attempts made him sick, and when he left West Point he practically gave them up. During the Mexican war he took a liking to Mexican cigars and found that they agreed with him, but when he returned to the North he again dropped the habit of smoking, to resume it after the Fort Donaldson incident.

James Vaughan, a college student at Anniston, Ala., killed one man and wounded two by shooting in a street fight.

TYPHOID FEVER COSTLY.

Each Death Estimated to Impose $7,500 Tax on Community.

Engineering Magazine.

It is worth while to consider the cost of typhoid fever in order to get the importance of its prevention well fixed in mind. It is a recognized fact that the greater majority of those persons who die from this cause are between the ages of twenty and thirty-five. Basing one's estimate upon the value of human life as given in insurance estimates, the average value in life capital that is thus destroyed is about $5,000.

In the summer of 1907 there were studied in the Seventh and Ninth wards of Pittsburgh 194 cases, with especial reference to the actual cost in money expended. These cases occurred in 146 families; from them there were 11 deaths; $7 wage earners lost 864 weeks' work; caretakers (not professional nurses, but members of the family) lost 182 weeks' work; there were 13 of the cases treated in hospitals; total cost, in these three factors alone, $24,300.

This, being proportioned among the 194 cases, amounts to $125 per case, or $2,200 per death. It is without question that the cost more nearly approximates $2,500 per typhoid death on account of the inability of the patient to resume work at his normal rate. This makes a total cost per death of $7,500. There is, then, with the sole question of the money cost in mind, a very deep problem for solution before this one cause of destruction of human life is eliminated.

The Thomasville Light and Power Company held a reorganization meeting Saturday night. It was decided to increase the capital stock from $10,000 to $20,000, with practically all subscribed. The following-named officers were elected: President, J. W. Lambeth; vice president, O. R. Cox; secretary and treasurer, C. E. Leak.

McLEANSVILLE ITEMS.

The ideal condition of the weather for several days has been very favorable toward our suburban inhabitants who have not finished sowing wheat.

The interest in the school work at this place seems to grow and increase in all its departments in a very satisfactory manner.

The public school opened Monday, Nov. 9th, with Mr. B. B. Slaughter, of Burlington, as teacher. Mr. Slaughter is a very capable and efficient teacher and we feel sure that the public funds will be well spent in securing the services of one so well fitted for this position.

Mr. Robert W. Whittington and family, of Greensboro, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Browning Sunday.

Mr. Graham Slaughter spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents in Burlington.

Mr. Reid Pleasant, of Carthage, was a visitor in our village Sunday. Misses Stella Teague and Alice McPherson spent Saturday at Greensboro on a shopping expedition.

Mr. Lacy D. Hines, who has been located at Lynchburg for several months, is at home spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Belle Hines, of this place.

Among the visitors from Greensboro in our village Sunday were Messrs. M. C. Stewart, D. C. Cobb, J. W. Parker and W. D. McLean.

Misses C. G. Phibbs and L. E. Phibbs, students here, spent Saturday and Sunday at their home near Elm College.

Miss Della Walters, of Concord, is visiting her sister, Miss Lola Walters, who is in school at this place.

Mr. C. L. Jones, of Rockingham, arrived last week to enter school.

Miss Katurah Cobb, a former student of Jefferson Academy, has accepted a position as teacher of the Smith school, near Doggett's Mill.

Miss Cobb held this position last term and her work proved highly acceptable to all concerned.

Miss Mary Hendrix, who teaches in the graded schools of Burlington, and Mrs. Cull Howerton, of Durham, were the guests of Prof. and Mrs. C. D. Cobb Saturday and Sunday.

We are sorry to learn that the health of Rev. J. C. Shive, former pastor of Bethel church, is not improving as fast as his friends had hoped for. He and family are now spending some time in San Antonio, Texas, believing that the dry, warm southwestern climate will eventually benefit him.

A program is being arranged for a joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. to be held Sunday night, November 15, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to be present at these exercises, which will consist of speeches, music, etc., by the young men and young ladies of these associations.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a regular communication of Stokesdale Lodge, No. 423, A. F. & A. M., held on Saturday, the 7th day of November, 1908, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased the Great Architect of the universe to summon on the 25th day of October, 1908, Brother Robert A. Williams from the cares and toils of this transitory existence to the eternal rest which remains for the people of God;

Now, therefore, Be it resolved, First, That in the death of Brother Williams, Stokesdale Lodge has lost a worthy brother and one among the oldest members of the fraternity in North Carolina, having been a worthy Master Mason for 63 years.

Second, That we commend to our sorrowing members his upright walk and unblemished character.

Third, That to the surviving relatives we extend our sincere sympathy and point them to the God of Peace who doeth all things well.

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be inscribed upon our minutes and that a copy be sent to the Greensboro Patriot for publication.

HOW LAKES BREATHE.

Failure to Absorb Oxygen Means Death to Fish.

Lack of respiration by inland lakes explains to Professor E. A. Birge many of the failures in stocking with trout and other fish. The lake absorbs air for animal and plant life and exhales nitrogen, carbonic acid and sometimes other gases, but it takes its only full inspiration in autumn, with a less complete one in spring, does not breathe at all in winter and during summer has but very shallow respiration.

When cooled to uniform temperature near freezing the wind turns it over and over, saturating it with 1 per cent by volume of oxygen, twice what the water can hold at summer heat. This store may suffice, life being most inactive in winter, but there is sometimes a shortage of oxygen even in the ice is gone. Another turning is given by winds in spring. It is imperfect, however, for the fast warming surface soon stops circulation of water below, and the oxygen supply is lessened during the warm period of activity and greatest need. Thus it is that the bottom—except in some very deep lakes, where the stock of dissolved oxygen is large—accumulates carbonic acid and products of decay to such an extent as to limit the fish life that can be supported.

An Electric Rat Killer.

An electric rat killer is the latest means designed for slaughtering rodents. Recently it was tried in Trieste, France, and it is claimed that it produced good results.

The "killer" is made so that it can be lowered into drains and other infested places. It consists of a shallow tray, with a bottom lined with closely spaced metal points alternately connected to the positive and negative terminals of a high tension electric circuit. The animals are promptly electrocuted as they step on the points in attempting to reach the bait. The apparatus destroys only rats and similar vermin, and it is affirmed that there is no risk to cats and other domestic animals.

When a man has a good disposition it's because he's afraid of his wife.

GERMAN WOMEN MUST WORK.

So Do the Girls, Who Have No Time for Frivolous Sports.

One of the things in which the German woman differs from her English sister is that every German girl, when she reaches the age of 17 or 18, is sent away from home to some family a long way off, who send one of their own daughters in exchange. According to the Gentlewoman, this exchange lasts for about three years.

The girl is treated as one of the family, is styled Fraulein, but in every other respect is a mere servant. She has to do all the work of the house, scrubbing, washing, cooking, mending—in fact, everything that a domestic servant is required to perform.

This does not leave her with much leisure for play, and the outdoor sports of an English girl are quite unknown in Germany. A German lady on being told that English girls played tennis and hockey expressed her contempt for such foolery and asked who did the housework. On being informed that no English girl or matron would dream of turning to and doing the cooking, etc., she gasped out: "Oh, Lord! What a lot of lazy hussies!"

Every German woman has all the work of her home on her shoulders, and by this is not meant the lower class woman. No German lady thinks of having more than one servant, who gets about $5 a year, and does the rough work, her mistress doing all the cooking and mending.

It is a sight to see the lady in a German town going to market. She knows what to buy and what to pay, and every Wednesday and Saturday you may see her trotting off to market with her servant behind her carrying a huge basket and examining the comestibles with a critical air.

About the only ray of sunshine she has, apart from the Kaffeegatsch, is the visit on Sunday to some Kaffeegarten, anglicized tea garden, where she and her lord and master, surrounded by their olive branches, sit under the shade of a leafy tree and drink coffee and munch cakes or sour milk to their hearts' delight.

CONSUMPTION COST BILLION

This the Annual Loss to the Nation, Say Experts at the Tuberculosis Congress.

According to Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, the "Great White Plague" costs over one billion dollars a year. He estimates that consumption kills 138,000 every year in the United States. This is equal to the deaths from typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, appendicitis, meningitis, diabetes, smallpox, and cancer all put together.

Consumption is undoubtedly infectious and like Pneumonia and Diphtheria is usually contracted in winter when closed doors and windows cause impure air. Careful ventilation and the use of a reliable disinfectant are the best preventatives.

The last thing at night pour into the traps of the closets, wash-basins, sinks, etc., a little Platts' Chlorides. All suspected places should be freely sprinkled with a mixture of one (1) part Platts' Chlorides and ten (10) parts of water. Platts' Chlorides is an odorless, colorless liquid disinfectant which destroys foul odors and disease germs. It is sold everywhere in full quart bottles, and is prepared only by Henry B. Platt, 42 Cliff St., New York.

A NEGLECTED INTEREST.

Because of the many duties indoors and out which take up the parents' time there is a tendency with the vast majority to pay slight heed to another interest of equal or greater importance, the district school. Of course it is taken for granted by school patrons, and in most cases true, that a competent teacher has been hired who will conduct the work in a satisfactory manner, but this notwithstanding it is better from the standpoint of teacher, pupils and patron if the latter get into the habit when opportunity offers of visiting the schools in a helpful, friendly spirit with a view to encouraging the teacher and getting a first hand knowledge of conditions which prevail there. Were this done more generally by parents many serious misunderstandings might be avoided between themselves and teachers and a spirit of co-operation developed which would be beneficial from every point of view. Parents would understand better than they do the trials and vexations which the average teacher has to put up with, teachers would come to know their pupils better by being acquainted with the parents, while pupils would realize that an understanding existed between teacher and parents would make it impossible for them to be misrepresented or conditions existing in the school. In the event that the teacher was seriously at fault in her methods of government or really incapable the knowledge that patrons would get from visiting the school frequently would enable them to take such action as would be just and fair to all concerned.

A COMMON AILMENT.

A quite common ailment with horses which have been at hard and steady work through the summer months and of a sudden are given a spell of leisure between harvest and husking without an accompanying reduction in their food ration is a "stocking" of the legs—sometimes the front, but more commonly the hind. This seems to be due to a sort of congestion which takes place in the system, resulting in serious kidney and urinary disturbances. In such cases about the only thing to be done is to radically change the diet, putting out the tame (especially clover) hay if it has been fed and substituting bran in the place of corn, giving laxative medicines which will tend to loosen up and clean out the system. Turning horses affected in this manner out to pasture is an excellent idea, as they get needed exercise, which will tend to reduce the swelling of the limbs, while the grass will be an excellent corrective of internal conditions. A horse will suffer no ill from eating an excess of rich foods, but it is different with the horse.

THE BEST REMEDY.

While there is much about the subject of tuberculosis that is not yet known, enough has been learned to prove beyond doubt that the malady as in many cases induced or aggravated by the close confinement of human beings and animals in stuffy and ill ventilated houses and stables. Pure fresh air, which may be had for the breathing, is nature's great antidote for pulmonary complaints, and thousands of cases of the malady have been permanently cured through the patients being in the open every possible moment of their waking and sleeping hours. Time was when there was a class of people who were as afraid as death of pure fresh air and would as soon think of exposing themselves to a contagious disease as leave a window up in the sleeping room. While a person of this type may be found here and there, the class is rapidly diminishing, the fear of fresh air being a relic of bygone times that should be dispensed with along with cupping, bleeding and cauterizing with hot irons.

WINTER CHEER.

The winter season is pre-eminently the period of the supremacy of the good cheer and enjoyment of the life of the family circle; hence anything that can be done to make it brighter or more wholesome through the purchase of games, good books and magazines and music in various forms is justifiable and praiseworthy from the very highest standard of essential. It is of infinitely more importance—this making of the fireside helpful and happy for the growing boys and girls—than the breeding of this or that strain of blooded stock or the mixing of balanced rations for milk and beef production. A fine home, with all its uplifting and molding influence, is the greatest and most vital asset which this country possesses today, and for this reason everything possible should be done by all members of the home circle to make this as effective an influence as it is possible for it to be.

Good blood tells in both folks and animals, and there should be an effort to have just as much of it in both as possible.

A rather strong solution of lye poured through the sink will clean the grease out of the pipes, doing the job more quickly and effectively than in any other way.

That mother exhibits a standard of values badly out of whack who prays and labors for the conversion of the heathen in foreign lands, yet allows her own boys and girls to gad about the streets or neighborhood at will nights after they should be abed.

A good thickness of straw scattered over the ground in the feed yard will not only prevent the making of a mire in a wet time, but will provide an absorbent for the liquid manures which would otherwise leach into the ground and thus be wasted. We have known of this being done in a number of cases and with very satisfactory results.

The canna bulbs should be kept in moist sand in the cellar until the latter part of February, when it is well to remove them to pots and keep them at a rather low temperature for several weeks, so as to retard the growth until within a reasonable time from transplanting, which may be done without danger from frost by the middle of May.

Some one has said that genius is one-tenth inspiration and nine-tenths perspiration. This is doubtless overdrawn, yet expresses a truth that is quite often overlooked in our judgments in cases of success and failure. Inquiry into the careers of men who have been successful in their callings shows that luck and chance play an insignificant part, while energy and application have been most important factors.

Not long ago some one in the employ of the agricultural department at Washington had a good word to say for the common skunk as a useful animal in nature's economy. Since then the Michigan experiment station directors have discovered that the stink bug is a very vigorous enemy of the potato larvae. In view of these discoveries there would seem to be some hope for some of the other seemingly unnecessary bugs or beasts in the natural realm.

Reports made public by the management show that $500,000,000 worth of diamonds have already been taken from the mines at Kimberley, South Africa, and this is thought to be only a good beginning. The value of all of the mines of the earth pales into insignificance when compared with that of the grains, grasses, fruits and fibers which are annually grown upon its surface, while those who toil in dimly lighted shafts are but a handful to those who till the soil.

At intervals during the past few years reports have been given circulation by none too careful writers that samples of artificial comb honey were being offered for sale on the market here and there. With a view to offsetting the injury which the spreading of these reports might do producers of genuine comb honey, the National Beekeepers' association has a standing offer of $1,000 which will be given to the person furnishing a single comb of artificial honey or a comb of honey which has been drained and refilled with glucose or other concoction.

The burning of litter or manure in field or garden is wrong in principle in that it robs the soil of just that amount of humus or decaying vegetable matter which tends to keep it loose and in the best condition to handle. In case this supply of humus becomes deficient it means in the end a hard and resisting condition of soil that is objectionable from every point of view. On this account any plan which has in view an increasing of the supply of the soil humus is commendable.

In a trip in almost any section of the country it is quite remarkable how many inferior, runty and unprepossessing sires one will see at the head of herds of cattle, having apparently few points of merit for either beef or dairy purposes. Men who will put up with this state of affairs are not only falling down when it comes to the money end of farming, but miss the pleasure to be had in raising a higher grade of stock. There is something radically wrong with the man who is content to raise scrubs when he could just as well raise something better.

Before long it will be time to cover the tender things for winter, including the rosebushes, pansies and other plants that may be left out of doors. In doing this the important thing to remember is not that the covering is put on to keep things warm so much as to furnish a shade from the rays of the sun to prevent the alternate thawing and freezing which are bound to take place in the varying temperatures of the winter months. For the rosebushes nothing is better than laying them down and covering them with boards or an old door. If these are not available, cornstalks, leaves or other coarse litter will do. The finer it is the greater is the likelihood that it may become a harbor for mice, which may girdle the bushes if they get very hungry. While the pansies are quite hardy, it is well to give them a similar covering. Old pieces of carpet or matting may be used for this.

It is said that pieces of meat placed just beneath the surface of the earth in the pot with the sword fern or palm will provide a fertilizer which is quickly utilized.

There is a vast difference between a house and a home. Wall paper, carpets and furniture may be found in the former, but it takes wholesome, sincere and warm hearted folks to furnish the latter.

It is not necessary to cover the strawberry bed until the ground freezes solid the latter part of November. When this takes place it should be covered with four or five inches of clean oat straw, coarse hay or cornstalks.

While methods mean much in achieving success in any given line, it is, after all, the personality and force of the man who uses the method which are of most account. It is this personal element which is often overlooked, yet which accounts for success in one instance and failure in another.

Barring the purpose which a small bunch of willow trees along a fence row may serve as a shade for stock, there would seem to be mighty little excuse for this tree anywhere on the farm. It is slovenly and ungainly, harbors worms and breeds mudholes, having little to commend it either from the practical or aesthetic point of view.

A recent order of President Roosevelt has set aside 70,000 acres of land close to the Oregon-California line as a reservation for the propagation and protection of native birds. This reserve is to include all land not suitable for agricultural purposes. The land comprised in the order is considered to be the greatest breeding place in the world for waterfowl.

A number of sections in the north central states that in the early days raised considerable wheat and later oats and corn are now having a measure of success in the raising of winter wheat. In spite of this fact, not much can be expected from it, as a continuance in it without the observance of a proper system of crop rotation can in the end mean only soil depletion and impoverishment.

September of this year gave a foretaste of drought conditions which might easily recur earlier in the season next year if, as some have prophesied, we are just entering upon a cycle of seven dry years. If this should be the case, there will be a whole lot of folks who have settled down in the buffalo grass country who will want to be leaving for greener fields by the middle of next July.

It is estimated that 21,000,000 cows are milked daily in the United States. They yield on an average 3,500 pounds of milk a year, which makes the annual total output 70,000,000,000 pounds. Of this milk a little more than one-half is consumed in making butter, 3,000,000,000 pounds are used in making cheese, 1,000,000,000 for condensed milk, while the rest is sold as cream, fed to calves or drunk as a beverage.

A short time ago a Wisconsin farmer had his herd of dairy cows infected with a serious contagious disease as a result of importing from a distance cattle which were contaminated, a fact he was not aware of until several months had elapsed. Too great care can hardly be exercised in this matter along the line of insisting on a guarantee that animals bought are free from taint of disease of every kind.

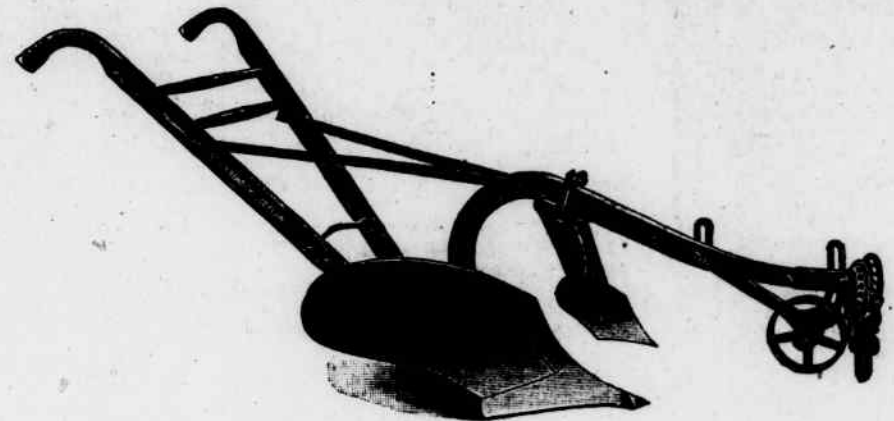

One of the live problems which will come up this winter for earnest discussion by those who are interested in a conservation of our forest resources is some more effective method of preventing and controlling the spread of forest fires, which have left hundreds of thousands of acres of forest land bare and black and thousands of people penniless and homeless. The federal government has in force an effective system of patrols, and it would seem expedient if the same oversight could be extended to embrace all forest areas.

A man can be strictly honest and yet be so mighty small and playish in his dealings with his neighbors and family that he will not rate much higher in the respect of his neighbors than the boss scamp of the community. Honesty is a good deal like many of the things which we eat—needs trimmings. There is a lot of good behind the old Biblical admonition as to the gospel measure—liberal, generous, "pressed down and running over." Men who deal on this basis always have lots of friends and get good measure in return.

The day is fast going by when it is held by any considerable number that the underpate who makes a fizzle at everything else he dabbles in can achieve any great distinction as a tiller of the soil. With land values and rental rates constantly advancing, a definite as well as considerable amount of brains and energy are needed in agricultural pursuits, and he will achieve the largest measure of success who makes the most careful and most intelligent study of the problems which confront him. There may be a niche somewhere which a stupid and shiftless man may fill, but he should not embark in agriculture with the idea that this is his destined field.

VISIONS ON THANKSGIVING.

Now doth the turkey see in dreams
The visions of a day
That makes his heart go pit-a-pat
And turns his feathers gray.

The smell of celery gives him pain.
And though his eyes are wet
With tears of coming sorrow, he Tries bravely to forget.

A little cranberry is to him
The crimson badge of fate
That he must wear when he is called
Into his future state.

An oyster makes him shut his eyes
To miss the sight of it:
And when he sees an axe, Great Scott!
He almost has a fit.

He thinks about the people who
Will sound his requiem,
And wonders how it's going to feel
To be inside of them.

Ah, guileless dreamer, you are up Against Thanksgiving Day:
You've got to starve yourself to death
Or die the other way.

—William J. Lampton, in New York Sun.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, rapid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. H. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., Author of American Dispensatory; Prof. Jno. M. Scudder, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Author of Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address on Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authorities and many others endorsing, in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They may be used in conjunction with "Golden Medical Discovery" if bowels are much constipated. They're tiny and sugar-coated.

A ruling that in future it will be necessary in this state for it to be proven that a freight train is being operated in violation of the Sunday statute with the knowledge and consent of the high officials of the road in order to subject the company to the $500 penalty, has just been made by the Supreme court in the case of State vs. Atlantic Coast Line, from Wilson. In this case the "high officials" affirmed that they knew nothing of the operation of a certain train of coal without perishable freight and that their orders were for observance of the Sunday law.

Monroe Enquirer: Wade Hamilton, a one-legged negro living in New Salem township, and Clark Staten, another negro, had a quarrel last night at a tenant house on Mr. Jas Austin's farm in New Salem township, and Hamilton seized an old musket, one of the heavy, iron-bound, iron ramrod kind, one about as long as a man and about as heavy, and gave Staten such a rap over the head with it that the heavy oak stock was shattered to splinters. The gun was ruined and Staten's head was slightly damaged. But Hamilton got more than he gave Staten, for that same gun was loaded and when it came in contact with Staten's head it fired, the load striking Hamilton in the abdominal wall and blowing off a part of the hip bone, leaving the wielder of the gun in a most dangerous condition.

end of Samuel Gompers' career as a labor leader. There has been some opposition to him in the Federation of Labor for some time, and it is believed that this will be renewed with vigor and strength.

THE COMPLEXION OF CONGRESS.

Republicans Will Have Majority of 45 in House and 23 in Senate.

The Republican party will, according to complete returns, from all congressional districts in the United States, control the next house of Representatives by a majority of 45. The figures show the election of 218 Republicans and 175 Democrats, a gain for the latter party of 7.

The latest returns show also that the new Senate will stand: Republicans 60; Democrats 32.

The tables showing the representatives and senators from all the states follow:

What the Republicans Propose to Do.

The Charlotte Observer quotes Thomas Settle, of Asheville, as saying "that if the members of the legislature are not forced to make a stand on the question of local self-government it will not be the fault of the Republicans. They must stand to the rack, fodder or no fodder. We will draw a bill that will be submitted at the proper time and in the proper way."

"During the campaign I made it clear how the Republicans stood on this proposition. Our last platform declared that we stood as we had stood, and I just quoted the planks of previous platforms, which specifically criticised the Watts law, and the local self-government declarations made by Democrats."

To Treat Love as Disease.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—In a lecture before the Chicago College of Medicine, Dr. A. R. Hagle explained a cure for "love sickness." "A doctor can prepare himself to treat love sickness through mental influence just as more serious ills are treated by it," he said. "One suggestion is to find a new love. This occasionally cures an old love complaint."

He commended the theory of Bishop Fallows, of mind and medicine working in harmony.

America's Greatest Weekly

THE TOLEDO BLADE

TOLEDO, OHIO

The Best Known Newspaper in the United States—Circulation 200,000—Popular in Every State.

In many respects the Toledo Blade is the most remarkable weekly newspaper published in the United States. It is the only newspaper especially edited for National circulation. It has had the largest circulation for more years than any newspaper printed in America. Furthermore, it is the cheapest newspaper in the world, as will be explained to any person who will write us for terms. The News of the World so arranged that busy people can more easily comprehend, than by reading cumbersome columns of dailies. All current topics made plain in each issue by special editorial matter written from inception down to date. The only paper published especially for people who do or do not read daily newspapers, and yet thirst for plain facts. That this kind of a newspaper is popular is proven by the fact that the Weekly Blade now has over 200,000 yearly subscribers, and is circulated in all parts of the United States. In addition to the news, the Blade publishes short and serial stories, and many departments of matter suited to every member of the family. Only one dollar a year. Write for free specimen copy. Address THE BLADE, Toledo, Ohio.

Both The Blade and Patriot one year only $1.25. Address all orders to The Patriot, Greensboro, N. C.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

Copyright, 1908, by Edwin A. Nye.

JUDGE NOT.

"He is an old tightwad." That much the writer heard, and he listened to this further arraignment of the absent subject:

"I tell you, he is the stingiest man in town. He insists on the last red cent that is coming to him. He is as close as the bark on a tree, and it is well known he gives nothing away in a worthy cause."

Severe, but—

As the writer happened to know in this case, it was only half the truth.

True, the man referred to is close in his dealings, but this is also true: If he insists upon what is due him he is also ready to pay to the last cent what he owes. His bills are promptly met. He is recognized as an honest man. His credit is good. And this cannot always be said of some other men with a reputation for generosity. He demands no more than he is willing to concede. If he is insistent upon full payment, he is also ready with his own check book.

But—

There is another side to his character hidden from the public view.

Let us turn the shield around.

This individual who is called stingy and close fisted has a large family. He is fairly prosperous, but he needs all his money. He slaves and saves not for himself, but for his family. He would perhaps like to be generous and charitable in giving, but for the sake of the dear ones he must drive hard bargains and insist upon full payment of his due. He even stints himself for their sakes.

More yet—

One of this man's children is a life cripple. Another is incapable of making his way in the world. And he is educating an orphan niece. The person who called him a tightwad didn't know that.

Stingy? No. Hard hearted? No.

He lavishes all his strength and all his money and all his tenderness on those who need his first and greatest care. He does this deliberately and without regret and without self pity. He is not a demonstrative man. He is not built that way. And yet his intimate friends know how his big heart yearns over those helpless ones.

Stern and cold?

Maybe. He doesn't wear his heart on his sleeve. And for many years he has suffered the waves of crushing trouble and daily sorrow. He may have a view of things, but he no doubt feels that he must fight a world that mocks and cares little for him or his. So men call him hard and unfeeling whereas in reality he is as tender as a child.

You see, exterior is deceptive. You do not know what a man's thorn in the flesh may be by looking at him from the outside.

Therefore—

"Judge not lest ye be judged."

KEEP CLEAN INSIDE.

Young man:

Deliberately insult the man who starts to tell a smutty story in your presence by turning on your heel.

Such a corruptionist has no more right to spread your pure thoughts than he has to put his hand into your pocket and take your money.

These retailers of filth are whited sepulchers—clean on the outside, but inwardly filled with dead men's bones. They are detachers of clean minds, retailers of purity.

You should never permit yourself to listen to an improper story—a story you would not care to repeat to your mother or your sister. The filthy suggestion will soak into your memory as spilled ink soaks into blotting paper.

Allow no man to drag your mind through a sewer.

Do you know there is many a man who would sacrifice much today to be able to wipe from his memory some of the things he listened to when a boy?

The man who will deliberately repeat a smutty story in the presence of a youth deserves no respect. He is an inhuman devil of meanness. He is doing a coarse picture on clean walls.

No gentleman will tell a story he could not tell in the presence of ladies. Do you remember what General Grant said to the officer who began to tell a story, remarking, "There are no ladies present," whereupon the silent sufferer quickly retorted, "There are gentlemen present?"

Keep your mind unsullied. A foul suggestion may harden into a habit of thought that will lead you far astray.

Keep clean inside.

It is more a matter of importance that you should keep the dirt off your soul than to keep it off your clothes.

Hexamethylenetetramine.

The above is the name of a German chemical, which is one of the many valuable ingredients of Foley's Kidney Remedy. Hexamethylenetetramine is recognized by medical text books and authorities as a uric acid solvent and antiseptic for the urine. RELIGIOUS THOUGHT.

Gems Gleaned From the Teachings of All Denominations.

Life is not to be looked at as hideous. Look at life as God sees it. With smiles and hard work life has great possibilities.—Rev. A. T. Horn, Methodist, Chicago.

A Noble Soul.

Mark you the man or the woman who seeks and sees something splendid in every fellow mortal—there goes a noble soul.—Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, Presbyterian, Pittsburg.

Product of Humanity.

All of the noblest institutions are the product not of the individual, but of humanity, the product of humanity's labors and prayers and tears.—Rev. C. W. Collier, Congregationalist, Bangor, Me.

Refreshment.

Enter a novel sphere of activity; discover a new flower or understand for the first time an old one; acquire information along new lines—refreshment.—Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, Presbyterian, Pittsburg.

Civilizer of the World.

The home is a divine institution existing for the good of the family and the welfare of the race. It is the place where life's joys are doubled and where life's sorrows are divided. The home is the world's civilizer.—Rev. W. W. Bustard, Baptist, Boston.

Happiness of Education.

The real wealth of the world is the good man, not the able man or the successful man. A public benefactor is already beautified by the people and by heaven. The happiness of an educated life is in doing good and in giving out again the knowledge received.—Rev. Julian E. Johnstone, Roman Catholic, Boston.

Need of an Ethical Revival.

The Golden Rule must be applied to business methods. Brotherhood must be preached, not class hatred, and the strong must not be permitted to trample down the weak. The demand today is for an ethical revival, for a doing of what God requires—namely, to do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God.—Rev. R. J. Kent, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

Fellowship With God.

Raphael in dying could not give his student his skill, his spirit and his wisdom. But Christ, who died and rose again, breathes his spirit into his disciples and accompanies them forevermore. Those who do not possess the life of Christ within them may exist, but they do not live. Life is that which is added to existence by the direct vision of God and by direct fellowship with him.—Rev. Charles L. White, Baptist, Waterville, Me.

Need of Earnestness.

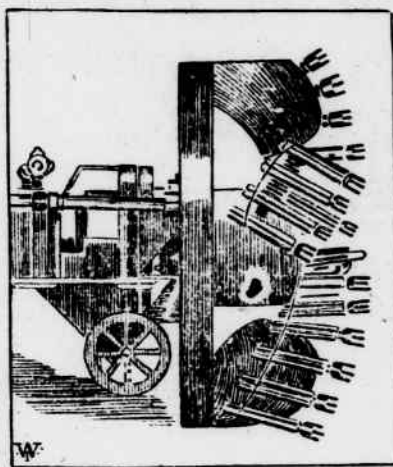

The cause of many failures in life is the lack of earnestness. We are well aware of the fact that there are times when the best of men go under in the struggle. Conditions are often such as to render it almost impossible for a man to win honorably, and rather than do so dishonestly some fail. But this is the exception to the rule. The world's highways today are cumbered by multitudes of those who had no strength for the strife, because they proved cowardly at the very time when they should have heroically faced the issue, been strong for God and the right, carried the day and walked off with laurels well won and deservedly merited. The time for a man to prove himself a man is when everything is against him. It is no great honor to a man to be good, to win, to get along in the world when everything goes well. But to do all this when the odds are against him is worthy of the homage of men. The great trouble with many is that at the very time when the best of thought and strength are required is the time when they have the least, because they have wasted and destroyed that which they had. Instead of calling into practical effect every energy and thought they often surrender and seek relief in the intoxicating cup, where they lose all power, and failure is inevitable. When the wolf of want is at the door is the time to be in earnest, the time for the assertion of the truest and noblest of traits, the time to prove that victory can be won if we will hold fast courageously and honestly to the end. This holds true not only in business relations, but can be made most practical in everyday life. People sometimes say, "Take it easy." This is the failure of many. Few people meet with success by taking things easy. As well tell a captain to take it easy when he is out at sea in a great storm. To be worthy of the position he holds he has no time for ease. It is either in earnest and win or it is at ease and go under in the storm. "At ease in Zion" is the cause of the failure of many today in the church of the living God. The lazy Christian is usually a failure. The world is full of those who see nothing but the world and its pleasures about them. Indifferent to their sense of duty to God, they live only for the world and its pleasures. Alas for such, they "feed on ashes," and when they depart this world they are miserably poor. Were it even possible for some to take with them their gold and silver it is just possible that it would melt at the place where many will spend eternity. We must, therefore, be in earnest not only in business life, not only in all the various callings and positions, but we must not forget the one thing needful. Many a man has ridiculed the church and religion in times of health only to acknowledge at times of sickness that he was wrong, for face to face with death man knows there is a God and that he must appear before him to render an account for the deeds done in the body. Be, therefore, in earnest for God and the right.—Rev. Dr. L. M. Zimmerman, Lutheran, Baltimore.

NEW TUNNELING DEVICE.

Machine Bore Through Rock at Rate of Twenty Feet a Day.

A machine invented by Olin S. Proctor of Denver promises to revolutionize the boring of tunnels, according to the New York World. The machine will tunnel through solid rock at the rate of twenty to forty feet a day, varying with the hardness of the rock. Formerly two or three men, working with drills and glycerin sticks, could do no more than five feet a day at the best. Instead of leaving jagged apertures that have to be chiseled and propped, the new machine in its boring smooths the sides as by hand. In one day two men can do with this machine what it would cost $500 to do under the old, tedious method.

The machine is twenty-three feet long and has a head of eight feet, just the size of the boring. In this head, made of well tempered steel, are twenty-four drills, each working independently and run by its separate pipe of air. These chisel out their own holes in the rock, giving a sharp, glancing chip 600 times a minute. The whole head rotates once a minute, exerting a terrific pressure on the drills, scooping up the chipped material and throwing it back into a "conveyor belt" that takes it to a car in the rear.

HEAD OF TUNNELING MACHINE.

The head itself has the appearance of four large scoops spreading around the network of drills. The power for turning this head and exerting the pressure is an engine of 500 horsepower. The cog wheel underneath the machine, capable of speeding at 5,000 revolutions a minute, but held down to 1,000, is the force behind the head.

If one drill is disabled the others go on working just as before, and the broken or limited one can be replaced immediately.

If the face of the rock is variable in quality the boring is made through the soft and hard stone at precisely the same time. This smooth chipping is insured by an air cushion regulating the severity of the pressure.

VARNISH FOR SHOES.

Preparation Gives Good Results in Restoring Old Footwear.

A waterproof shoe varnish resembling patent leather in luster is compounded of shellac, one ounce; alcohol, three ounces; a pinch of lampblack to color, says Scientific American. Owing to the unfavorable action of alcohol on leather this shoe varnish is not to be recommended for brand new shoes, but to rehabilitate old shoes to a pristine shine it is unsurpassed.

The tendency of shoes being cracked by it may very largely be averted by first treating the leather to several coats of fish oil or vasoline well rubbed in, over which a very thin coat of paraffine is applied hot and the excess immediately wiped off. The shoes should then be brushed with cotton flannel until the surface is smooth and apparently dry and free from oil or paraffine. The shoe varnish is then thinly applied with a small sponge fastened to a wire. Several thin coats put on several hours apart may be necessary to get full luster. After that usually one thin application is sufficient. Patent leather paste polish rubbed over it and brushed with flannel softens the glitter and leaves a very handsome bright surface. The chief other advantage to be derived from its use comes from its resistance to water. It is, therefore, invaluable when applied to preserve the good looks of the sides of the soles and heels of shoes to be worn in bad weather and even to waterproof their bottoms.

A Process For Staining Wood.

Hitherto wood has been stained by impregnating it while still fresh with a solution of some coloring matter. The solution was squeezed into the wood under a high pressure. According to a new Swiss process, the wood is impregnated with a solution of a coloring matter in hydrocarbons such as petroleum. For this purpose the wood is placed in a cask filled with the colored solution so as to be completely covered. There it remains until it is thoroughly impregnated by the solution. The staining in the cask may be effected with or without pressure, cold or warm. In this manner it is possible to stain any wood, either fresh or dry.

New England's Ice Cap.

Professor Louis Agassiz many years ago first announced that the ice sheet or glacial flow at the northwest of Maine could not have been less than a mile deep, while later geologists have confirmed his statement, adding the more recent conclusion that the ice was of that thickness at least over the larger part of New England.

Work of French Army Dogs.

Two French army dogs have drawn light ambulances, the invention of a lieutenant, with a load of 160 pounds each, for some 375 miles without a breakdown, showing how they can be used in wartime.

FIRST AID FOR THE DROWNING.

Two Cases of Resuscitation After a Long Time in the Water.

New York Sun.

The following directions for resuscitating a seemingly drowned person are published in the current Lauch: First—Loosen the clothing, place the face downward with the forehead resting on one of the wrists, and the face turned to one side. Open the mouth; seize the tongue between the fingers, covered with a handkerchief or piece of cloth, and draw it forward between the teeth; clear the mouth and throat from mucus by passing the forefinger, covered with a handkerchief or piece of cloth, far back into the mouth, thus opening a free passage to the windpipe.

Second—Turn the body face upward, shoulders resting on folded coat or pillow; keep tongue drawn forward; raise the arm backward and upward to the sides of the head; this expands the chest and allows the air to enter the lungs. Then slowly move them downward, bending them so that the elbows will come to the sides and the hands cross on the pit of the stomach, and press them gently but strongly against the sides and chest. This forces the air out of the lungs. Continue these two movements, which produce artificial breathing, very deliberately about ten or twelve times in a minute, and without ceasing until the patient breathes naturally, or until satisfied that life is extinct.

Third—While this is being done a little friction on the chest may be produced by rubbing gently with warm flannel, and the body may be stripped and then wrapped in dry blankets.

After natural breathing begins continue very gently for a few minutes the two movements which produce artificial breathing.

After natural breathing is fully restored give the patient a teaspoonful of brandy, hot sling or tea two or three times a minute until the beating of the pulse can be felt at the wrist.

Rub the arms and legs upward and the feet and hands with warm or dry flannel.

Apply hot cloths to the body, legs and arms and bottles of hot water to the feet.

Do not be discouraged if animation does not return in a few minutes. The patient sometimes recovers after hours of labor.

Do not allow the tongue to fall back and close the windpipe while the arms are being worked.

Do not rub the legs and arms until natural breathing is restored.

Do not put any liquid in the mouth until natural breathing is fully restored.

Do not roll the body or handle it roughly.

Do not allow the head to hang down.

There have been two recent and striking illustrations of the fact that the resuscitation of the apparently drowned is to an unsuspected extent a matter of patience and perseverance.

The New York life saving service reports the case of a man who was revived after he had been under water twenty-three minutes, the work of resuscitation taking over a day. At Atlantic City a man was revived after he had been in the water ten minutes. He was worked over for an hour or more.

If you are sick, don't worry, but begin at once to make yourself well. To do this, we but repeat the words of thousands of other sufferers from womanly ills, when we say:

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

For 50 years, this wonderful female remedy, has been benefiting sick women. Mrs. Jennie Merrick, of Cambridge City, Ind., says: "I suffered greatly with female trouble, and the doctors did no good. They wanted to operate, but I took Cardui, and it made me feel like a new woman. I am still using this wonderful medicine, with increasing relief."

DAKOTA ALTERS DIVORCE LAW.

Voters Raise Time of Legal Residence and Enforce Publicity.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 7.—Returns so far received make it certain that the new divorce law has been approved by a large majority of the voters. This is expected to put the so-called "divorce mills" out of business.

The proposed amendment to the constitution requires a residence of one year in order to make one a legal resident of the state and eligible to apply to the courts for release from matrimonial bonds. Hitherto only six months' residence has been necessary.

Another provision requires that all divorce cases shall be heard at a regular term of the court. The secrecy which has enabled applicants to secure divorces without publicity brought the law into disfavor. The new law is to take effect in December.

The Result in Randolph.

Asheboro, Nov. 7.—The canvassing board for Randolph county finished its work today. All the county ticket is elected by majorities ranging from 6 to 57. The representatives, T. J. Redding and J. Rom Smith, are elected by majorities as follows:
Redding, Democrat, over Hughes, Republican, 65; Smith, Democrat, over Holton, Republican, 38. J. A. Spence, Democrat, for senate over G. E. Stanton, Republican, 23 majority in Randolph and 24 majority in Montgomery county.

Page lost the county by 47. Kitchin was beaten in the county by Cox by a majority of 101. Taft carried the county by 92.

Decision as to Leper Early.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Secretary Cortelyou in a statement today announced that he concurred in the recent decision of Attorney General Bonaparte against the deportation of John R. Early, the North Carolina
leper who is kept here under guard.
Mr. Cortelyou holds that while he has authority to make regulations to prevent the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases into a state or territory or the District of Columbia
from any state, he has no authority to make any rule by which Early can be legally deported from this city or the state of North Carolina required to receive him.

Has Voted Sixty Years.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 4.—Captain Edward Blizzard, aged 88 years, of No. 1120 Chestnut street, has the distinction of being the oldest voter in this city. He attained his majority just in time to cast his first ballot for President Taylor in 1848,
and he prides himself on the fact that he never has missed voting for a Presidential candidate since that time. Yesterday he voted for Taft.
Captain Blizzard is a retired riverman, and is well known to pilots
and masters sailing the Delaware River and Bay and the Chesapeake Bay.

A Kentucky Feud.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 4.—As a result of a feud war at Camp Junction,
about 20 miles west of Jackson, Onslow Allen, aged 20 years, was shot and killed last night and Alvin Garver, aged 22, was badly injured.
Clarence Sherman, who did the shooting, was shot in the head, but managed to escape to the mountains.
Eight barrels of whiskey shipped into town for the election brought on the fight, although family troubles of long standing played a prominent part.

COST SHERMAN JUST $2,800.

Vice President-Elect Reluctantly
Files Expense Account.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Vice President-elect Sherman today forwarded to Albany for filing with the secretary of state a statement of his expenses in the campaign just closed.
In his communication Mr. Sherman expresses the opinion that he is not as a matter of fact obliged to make such a statement. He files
one, however, in order that there may be no question about it. The statement shows:

Contribution to Oneida county Republican committee, $750; contribution to Republican state committee, $500; contribution to Republican national committee, $50; to Harry Devendorf, private secretary, from time to time, for postage, telegrams, printing, stationery, pictures, frames, traveling expenses, expressage and other incidentals, $600; traveling expenses, including railroad fare, Pullman accommodations, porters' fees, carriage hire, hotel bills, etc., $900. Total, $2,800.

Hearst, the "Dead One."

New York Evening Post.

Mr. Hearst is now definitely deprived of his martyr's crown, for which he has substituted a fool's cap.
He cannot even claim to have defeated Bryan and Chandler; for the little fringe of votes which his personally conducted Independence party cast was absolutely negligible
in the large result. This is a terrible blow, not only to an impudent charlatan, but to all his boasting about the irresistible political power of his newspapers. He and his hirelings have talked as if, when The Journal spoke, 5,000,000 readers said
amen, and 1,000,000 voters rushed to record their approval at the polls.
That humbug is now exploded. When even the most blatant journalism sets itself against the popular stream,
it is swept away with other rotten vegetables. The true comment on Hearst's further political pretensions can best be conveyed to him in language of the kind he uses, and which has been heard within the past few weeks from hundreds of his former followers: "Hearst? Aw, he's a dead one."

See those five toes? Isn't that a great deal better than having them crowded together in "tooth pick"
shoes—especially if they belong to a growing boy or girl? We have a mighty good stock of children's shoes
this season and have paid particular attention to these wide, foot form styles, because they are without doubt the best shapes for young folks—and old ones too for that matter. Of course we also have plenty of the narrow and medium shapes, and they are all good, reliable shoes, and the prices are reasonable. You can find a good many things at this store that the average store does not carry. We have two grades of plant bed cloth sold at 2½ and 3½ cents. We have knitting wool and knitting cotton, cotton batting for comforts, cotton wadding,
a good line of shirt goods and pants goods "by the yard," cotton and woolen underwear for men, women and children, rubber boots for men,
home-made North Carolina shoes and lots of other things suitable for town or country or both. Come and let us supply your wants while the stock is new and complete.

QUALITY FIRST

In some lines of business price may well be the great talking point. Those who can buy best and sell lowest have something interesting to say to the public. In the

DRUG BUSINESS

it's different. Quality regardless of price should be the main factor, and it is here; what you buy here in the line of drugs and medicines will be of right quality, and price asked will also be right.
