Archie Whitt, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitt, of Proximity, died Monday afternoon.
The funeral and interment took place
at Hines' chapel yesterday afternoon,
the service being conducted by Rev.
W. H. Strickland.

Lem Hill, a white man, was given a hearing before Squire Collins yesterday on the charge of failing to do public road work after being warned in. He was fined $2 and costs, the total bill amounting to about $8, and in default of payment he was sent to jail.

An unknown negro broke into the residence of Mr. Charles Roberson, near the Finishing mill, during the absence of the family Friday and stole a dress suit case, a quantity of clothing and $15 in cash. The negro was seen by neighbors as he was leaving the house.

Mr. Frank A. Brooks, who was recently appointed receiver of the Reidsville Lumber Company, yesterday filed his final report in the United States court and was directed to turn over the effects of the bankrupt to Mr. H. P. Lane, of Reids-ville, who has been elected trustee
by the creditors.

Squire Collins a few days ago tried his first case for a violation of the law forbidding bird dogs to run at large unmuzzled during the nesting season of birds. The defendant was Mr. H. S. Hudson, who had sent his dog out to his farm. He was found guilty, judgment being suspended upon the payment of costs.

As will be noted elsewhere in this paper the Southern Railway has announced another popular excursion to Richmond. It is learned from the local office that many inquiries have already been received about an excusion to Richmond even before the train was announced, which indicates that a goodly number will take the trip.

The civil term of Superior court adjourned Thursday afternoon, having been engaged in actual work three days. Only a very few jury cases were heard, but including the suits compromised and not pressed, 35 or 40 cases went off the docket. It was impossible to put in a full week's work on account of the number of cases that were continued.

Mr. C. E. Holton has sold to Mr.
R. L. Patterson the Knights of Pyth-as building, on the east side of South Elm street, a very desirable piece of business property. It is understood that the purchase was made for Patterson Brothers, grocers, who will probably occupy the first floor of the building upon the expiration of the lease of the C. D. Kenny Company.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fetter are entertaining the following guests at a house party at their home on Asheboro street: Miss Bessie Bryant, of Laurinburg; Misses Kathryn and Louise Anderson, of Reidsville; Miss Clara Boren, of Pomona; Miss Juliet
Anderson, of Richmond, Va.; Mr. R.
T. Wray, of Reidsville; Mr. Mack
Johnson, of Wilmington; Mr. J. D.
McLean and Mr. A. H. James, of Laurinburg.

Mr. R. L. Blaylock, one of the deputies in United States Marshal Millikan's office, spent last week in Montgomery county looking after blockaders. While there he arrested Ling and Clark Morgan and Phil Lucas on the charge of illicit distilling. The Morgans were tried, the case against Ling Morgan being dismissed, while Clark was bound over to the October
term of Federal court in Greensboro.
The preliminary hearing of Lucas
will take place September 15.

Rev. W. F. Kennett, in Our Church
Record: Our congregation was good at Flat Rock last Sunday and many were thoughtful and kind enough to say that they were helped by the service. We were glad to have Brother W. S. Moore, of Greensboro, worship with us and to make a talk at the close of the service that was helpful. Brother Moors was brought up in the Flat Rock community, converted in the old Flat Rock church, and was a member in boyhood. How many churches have received help
from this grand old mother church.

Miss Bernice Raoul Smith, formerly of New Orleans, but who has been making her home in Greensboro for several months, and Mr. Charles W.
Hackett, formerly of this city, but now located in Savannah, Ga., were married Saturday at noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McClamroch, on East Washington street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. G.
Faulkner, of St. Barnabas Episcopal church, in the presence of members of the family and a few close friends.
After a short visit in Washington,
the bride and groom will be at home
in Savannah.

There is a movement on foot to organize a new lodge of Knights of the Maccabees in Greensboro. Mr. J. E.
Turner, state commander, of Raleigh, is in the city for that purpose. The Maccabees is one of the strongest fraternal orders in the United States,
having a surplus fund of over $9,000, 000, with over one-half a million invested in this state, thirty-three thousand of it being invested in Guilford county bonds. Some of our most influential citizens have already signed the charter list and there is no good reason why a very large membership should not be secured in Greensboro.

When you get ready for a survey
don't forget us. We are still here and will not be undersold.

GENTRY BROTHERS COMING.

Their Noted Show Due Here Friday
—Advance Agent Says the Show is Much Augmented This Year.

Gentry Brothers Famous Shows,
more entertaining than ever and with more dogs, ponies and funny monkeys than ever before, are coming back to Greensboro and will be here next Friday, September 3.

Since seen here last year, when it pleased thousands of the residents of this vicinity, Gentry Brothers, according to their advance man, is considerably augmented and in addition to the scores of educated animal actors, the big shows now present several sensational feats of daring and a dozen acrobatic features seldom seen in a tented exhibition.

The Gentry shows are returning South on their twentieth annual tour
after a successful trip through the East.

As usual the shows travel in their own special train of Pullman coaches and while in Greensboro will give two performances in the auditorium, one at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the other at 8 o'clock at night.

The formal opening of Gentry
Brothers' engagement in Greensboro
will be at 10:30 o'clock next Friday morning when the free street parade will traverse the principal streets of the city.

The Gentry parade is one of the features of the big show and is renowned from coast to coast because of its uniqueness.

It symbolizes the old, old stories of Mother Goose and as the tiny floats, upon which are posed bright happy dogs and monkeys, pass through the streets drawn by teams of six, eight and ten sleek aristocratic ponies, they not only draw acclaim from the children but from the grown ups as well.

One of the features of the Gentry shows which never fails to please the little ones is the animal reception which is held by the dandy little ponies immediately after the matinee performance. At this "reception" all of the children who want to, and of course they all do, are placed upon the backs of the dainty little ponies
and given a ride.

Not only do the ponies give their little friends a ride but even the big elephants and the cumbersome camels sink to the ground and let the children clamber on their backs and then give them a ride.

Bride of Three Weeks Dies Here.

Mrs. Robert P. Haberling, of Memphis, Tenn., a bride of three weeks,
died in this city last night, after a brief illness. She was taken ill Sunday in New York, where she and her husband were spending a part of their honeymoon, and while her condition was not considered serious, it was thought best to return home. After leaving New York Mrs. Haberling became much worse, and when the train reached Greensboro yesterday morning she was removed from the car and carried to a hotel. Two physicians worked with her during the day, but she continued to grow worse until the end came early last night.

The bereaved husband left with the remains this morning for Memphis.

nization, and the meeting in this city

lenburg county, is president of the Three Men Fatally Injured.

The middle wall of a five-story hotel under course of construction in Marion collapsed yesterday, fatally injurying three workmen and seriously injurying several others. The fatally injured are: Jim West, of King's Mountain; Ambrose Stroup, of Gaston county, and Jim Ponders, of Rutherfordton, all white men. The men were at work on the fifth floor, and when the wall collapsed they were dashed to the basement. They were unconscious when removed.

GREENSBORO WINS PENNANT.

Baseball Players and Fans Happy—
Post Series With Wilmington.

For the second year in succession
the Greensboro team of the Carolina
Association of Professional Baseball Clubs is the pennant-winner, having closed the season Saturday with a good lead over all the other teams.
The success of the local team is a source of pride to all the baseball cranks in Greensboro, and this includes the greater part of the population.

Anderson, which gave Greensboro
quite a race for the pennant, closed the season in second position. Greenville was third, Winston fourth, Charlotte fifth and Spartanburg sixth.

This week Greensboro is playing a post series of games with the Wilmington team of the Eastern Carolina League. Monday's game was won by the locals in the tenth inning by a score of 1 to 0 and yesterday Wilmington suffered her second defeat, the score standing 5 to 4. After today's game the two teams will fight it out the remainder of the week in Wilmington, and should neither team win four of the games, the tie will be played off in Wilmington next week.

The Greensboro Baseball Association will operate an excursion to Wilmington tomorrow for the benefit of those who desire to witness a portion of the games in that city. The train will leave Greensboro at 7:10 in the morning and leave Wilmington on the return at 8 o'clock Friday evening.
The round trip fare is $3.50.

Real Estate Transfers.

Among the real estate deals of the present week was the sale by Mr. R.
H. Johnson to Mr. E. P. Wharton of the house and lot on the southeast corner of East Lee and Asheboro streets. It is reported that the property was purchased by Mr. Wharton for the congregation of Westminster Presbyterian church and will be the location of a new and modern church building.

The Southern Real Estate Company has sold to O. W. Hines a 33-acre farm in Madison township.

J. P. Huffman has sold to J. A.
Allred a 31-acre farm in Fentress township.

Woodmen of the World Meeting.

The district deputies of the Woodmen of the World in North Carolina
held a meeting in Greensboro yesterday, when reports were received as to the condition of the work in various parts of the state. There were talks by C. B. Webb, on "Competition in the Towns;" W. S.
Charles, head consul, on "The Deputy and the New Camp: Organization and Instruction;" G. F. Wise, on "Lapsation and Suspension: Causes and Remedy;" E. E. Clement, on "Woodcraft West of the Blue Ridge."
The meeting was attended by Mr. E.
B. Lewis, of Kinston, state manager.

It is apparent that the people of Greensboro and surrounding country will not suffer for the lack of amusement in the circus line this fall. In addition to Gentry's dog and pony show, which will exhibit in the auditorium Friday, Sells Brothers' and Barnum & Bailey's circuses will be here later, and it is rumored that Buffalo Bill's wild west show will visit Greensboro during October.

Posters have been put up advertising
Barnum & Bailey's circus for Monday October 25. The date for Sells Brothers has not been announced, but it is understood that it will be in advance of the appearance of Barnum & Bailey. There is fierce rivalry between these two attractions.

Don't forget the Vulcan subsoil

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION.

Virginians Join North Carolinians in a New Organization.

The Virginia-Carolina Good Roads Association was formed at a meeting held in the rooms of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Club here Thursday afternoon, the organization to embrace the counties of Davidson, Guilford and Rockingham, in this state, and Pittsylvania, Chatham and Campbell, in Virginia. The meeting was attended by representative good roads enthusiasts from the territory interested and much interest was manifested in the object of the organization, the building of good roads through these counties and thereby insuring the passage through this territory of the national automobile highway between New York and Atlanta.

Dr. J. W. Long, of this city, was elected temporary chairman and it was decided to hold another meeting in Lynchburg September 28 to perfect a permanent organization. The chairman was instructed to name an executive committee of twelve to look after the details of the organization and appointed the following: H. M. Sackett, of Lynchburg, chairman; S. C. Penn and R. B. Chance, of Rockingham; J. S. Kuykendall, of Guilford; R. L. Dibrell, of Pittsylvania county, and H. M. Sackett, of Campbell county. The other members of the committee will be named later.

The following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, That the Virginia-North Carolina Good Roads Association be a representative body, composed of two representatives from each county, each city and each incorporated town along the proposed route, said representatives to be elected by such local associations as may be formed in said counties and towns."

Thursday's meeting was called by the Piedmont Good Roads Association with a view to enlisting the Virginians in a proposition to have the route of the national highway from Natural Bridge, Va., come by way of Lynchburg and Danville to Reidsville and Greensboro and thence to Salisbury. It was stated that this is the logical route and shorter than the route from Natural Bridge by way of Roanoke and Winston-Salem to Salisbury, the tentative route selected for this year's endurance run.

Enthusiastic speeches were made by a number of gentlemen, all of whom agreed that the national automobile highway will be of benefit to the sections of country through which it may pass not only in stimulating interest in good roads, but in advertising the country to the outside world. Perhaps Mr. John L. Kinz, chairman of the Guilford county highway commission, struck the keynote when he said: "You note if you will about the automobile route for the tourists to build good roads, for the tourists to go to follow the best roads."

The new organization in nowise interferes with the Piedmont Good Roads Association, which will work in harmony with the Virginia-Carolina Association. The Danville and Lynchburg people present expressed their intention of forming in Virginia an organization similar to the Piedmont Good Roads Association.

CAPT. WHITTED'S RECORD.

Charlotte Paper Tells of His Service in Confederate Army.

In its notes on the Confederate reunion in Charlotte last week, the Charlotte Evening Chronicle had this to say of the commander of Guilford Camp No. 795:

"Capt. J. Y. Whitted, commander of Guilford Camp No. 795, of Greensboro, is an interesting veteran in attendance upon the reunion. He comes at the head of the camp from Greensboro, which brought about one hundred veterans. Captain Whitted enlisted in the Confederate army as lieutenant in Company G, Twenty-seventh North Carolina, which was known as the Orange Guards, and was recruited at Hillsboro. Upon the opening of the war Captain Whitted's command was sent to Fort Macon until February, 1862, when the regiment was transferred to the army of Northern Virginia with Cook's brigade. The regiment joined General Lee at the battle of Seven Pines. Captain Whitted was wounded and captured at the battle of Sharpsburg, or Antietam, in Maryland, while charging with his regiment through the Federal lines. Captain Whitted was shot through the knee and fell within the Federal lines. He lay upon the battlefield between the Federal and Confederate lines while the battle was in progress and was near enough to hear a Union soldier say, 'There lies a dead rebel officer.' At this statement Captain Whitted turned on his side and begged for water. The colonel of the Federal regiment nearest him heard him call and asked if any man near had water. One soldier replied that he had. The colonel told the soldier to take it to the wounded man. The Union soldier, who dared not rise up for fear of being killed himself, crawled on his body a distance of about fifty yards and in a measure relieved the suffering of the injured man. Lying injured as Captain Whitted was, inside the Federal lines, his capture was inevitable. He lay for three weeks in a stable on the Antietam battlefield and was afterward carried to a hospital in Baltimore. As soon as he had recovered sufficiently to be able to move, Captain Whitted was paroled and returned to Richmond. In the battle at Sharpsburg Captain Whitted's company went into the battle with 29 men; nine were killed, 17 wounded and only three came out of the battle unhurt. Captain Whitted was in such condition after he recovered from the injury received at Sharpsburg that he was unable to do active soldier duty. He was promoted to the rank of captain after the battle and given light detail work around Richmond, where he remained until near the close of the war. He was at his home in Hillsboro when the Southern armies surrendered. Captain Whitted is now a resident of Greensboro, where he is an officer in the Keeley Institute."

CROPS AND THE COST OF LIVING.

More Benefit From Increased Earnings Than Lower Prices.

Philadelphia Record.

Predictions of cheaper living based upon ample crops must be taken with some caution. We are not confronted by the problem of $2 wheat, which Mr. Patten probably did not expect when he was predicting it last spring. His prediction served his purpose admirably. Instead of shipping wheat into Chicago and breaking the May market—the sort of thing that has broken nearly every predecessor of Mr. Fatten in "bull" operations—the farmers held on to their wheat and waited for that $2 quotation. The harvest began less than a month after the May option closed and we now have every assurance that the wheat crop will exceed 700,000,000 bushels and may reach 735,000,000 bushels. Wheat is selling in Chicago for less than a dollar.

The corn crop is going to beat all records and this must reduce the price of the grain and also it should reduce the price of beef and pork. Probably it will in some degree. But there is a very widespread belief that there is not an open market for cattle or for meats. The beef trust has such an enormous influence over the provision markets that the community may not get the full credit of the big corn crop.

Food ought to be, and probably will be, cheaper than it has been lately. But cotton and wool are high and textile prices show no disposition to recede. Most of the prices are rising. Structural steel is not a commodity that the average citizen purchases, but he is affected by its price and all its prices are up. Hides are on the free list, but the shoe stores and factories are stocked up with goods purchased before the repeal of the hide duty and prices are not yet coming down. The most important item of expense is rent, and with the growth of population that tends upward, but the extensive building operations all over the country may keep abreast of the demand.

The country is prosperous and is becoming more so. Labor will be more fully employed. Here and there wages may advance. The community is likely to benefit more from the greater earnings of a year than from the reduction of living expenses.

Alamance Gleaner, Graham: Mr. and Mrs. James Holt, of Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Annie Foust, of Ramseur, and Mrs. James E. Boyd, of Greensboro, spent last Saturday here with relatives. Mr. Holt left here about forty-two years ago and this is his first trip back to the scenes of his childhood days. He and Mrs. Foust and Mrs. Boyd are the only surviving children of Dr. Michael Holt, who lived where Mr. T. C. Foust now lives, near here, and in his day was one of the leading physicians in this section of the state.

EVERYONE NEEDS S.S.S. IN THE SPRING

This is just a short talk which we hope will be of interest and help to you in selecting the tonic and blood purifier that will be of the greatest value to you this Spring.

That this is the most trying of all seasons on the health is a fact well known to us all. It is the time of year when our constitutions are required to stand the greatest strain, and unless properly cared for the foundation is often laid for physical disorders or disease later on. The great majority of persons are fast coming to realize the importance of preventing disease. Health is our most valued possession, and its preservation is a matter which vitally concerns every one.

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and robust, feel the necessity of a tonic and blood purifier at this season. Some have no particular ailment, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. The Winter life, with its decreased amount of out-door exercise, and the fact that the cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed, prevented the usual necessary amount of refuse and waste matter from being carried out of the system. These impurities entering the circulation have weakened and thinned the blood, and this vital fluid is therefore lacking in the nourishing properties necessary to sustain and preserve systemic health, when warm, active Spring life begins.

The general bodily weakness, tired, worn-out feeling, rickety appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how weak and anaemic the blood has become. Frequently skin diseases, pimples, eruptions, boils, etc., break out on the skin, and this is evidence of the impurity of the circulation.

S. S. S. is the medicine needed to correct this condition, and is the only one on which you can rely to supply the system with the best tonic effects, and at the same time thoroughly purify the blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the strain of the long, hot Summer.

Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened it could not resist disease, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria, or some other trouble. S. S. S. is Nature's ideal tonic and blood purifier, made entirely of the pure extracts of healing, strengthening, health-giving roots and herbs. It tones up the stomach and digestion, rids one of that tired, worn-out feeling, improves the appetite and digestion, and in every way contributes to the strengthening and building up of the entire system. S. S. S. is recognized everywhere as the greatest of all blood purifiers, and this combined with its unequalled tonic properties, make it a medicine needed by every one in the Spring. S. S. S. is for sale at all drug stores.

FOR SERVICE IN PANAMA.

Greensboro Young Man Receives Medal From the Government.

Mr. Clem S. Lettwich, of this city, who spent three years in the government service in Panama, has received from Washington a medal awarded by act of Congress in appreciation of the faithful services of those who spent as much as two years in the service of the government in the Panama canal work.

The medals are made at the Philadelphia mint and are moulded from gold machinery and scraps left on the abandoned work by the French company a number of years ago.

On the face of each medal, which is about the size of a silver half-dollar, and hangs from a pendant, is a likeness of President Roosevelt, under whose administration the work of the Americans began, and around the rim of which is engraved, "For two years' continuous service on Panama canal." On the reverse side is a picture of Colubra cut, with ships passing through, and just above the cut appears the words:

"The land divided;
The world united."

On the rim of the reverse side are the words, "Presented by the President of the United States," and directly under the cut is engraved the name of the recipient, with the date 1906-1908.

Mr. Lettwich's medal is the first one to be received here, though Mr. Carl Clapp, who is in the postal service in Panama, is entitled to the honor.

The officers of the company refuse to make any definite statement in reference to the matter, but in making an investment in High Point it was known to be their intention to develop the street car business there as a link in the proposed Interurban system.

Bryce Crutchfield, colored, was the victim of a rather unusual shooting scrape at his home in the eastern part of the city late one afternoon last week. It seems that Bryce was quarreling with his wife and using her rather roughly when a strange negro appeared on the scene and ordered him to desist. When the husband failed to obey the command, the stranger drew a pistol and fired, the bullet inflicting a painful wound in Crutchfield's breast. Having broken up the family row, the strange negro moved on and has not been seen since.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Gentry Bros. Dog and Pony Shows Will Exhibit Here September 3.

With the announcement Saturday that Gentry Brothers' Famous Shows had been secured to exhibit in the big Auditorium next Friday, came another announcement from the management of the mammoth structure to the effect that now that the big building has been inaugurated as an amusement palace, every effort will be made to secure additional attractions, particularly conventions, for Greensboro.

The additional announcement was made by Garland Daniel, chairman of the committee which secured the consent of Gentry Bros. to show in the Auditorium.

"Heretofore," said Mr. Daniel, "we have been handicapped by the fact that when we told out of town people about our big building, they would reply, 'What have you ever had there' and we have been forced to reply 'nothing.' Now, however, we can say, 'Well, we have had the Gentry Brothers' Famous Shows in the building, and if it is big enough to hold a circus I guess it will hold almost any kind of convention.'"

It was also declared by several prominent horsemen of Greensboro that an effort will be made to put a cracker jack horse show in the Auditorium either in spring or late this fall.

Gentry Brothers shows will arrive in Greensboro early next Friday morning and will at once take up their quarters in the Auditorium.

At 10:30 o'clock the famous parade, a whole mile in length, will leave the Auditorium and traverse the principal down town streets.

Despite the fact that efforts have been made to induce the big trained animal show to make a two-days' stay in the Auditorium these have not been successful, and while in Greensboro Gentry Brothers will give but two performances, one at 2 o'clock next Friday afternoon and the other at 8 o'clock next Friday night.

In response to the concessions made to the Gentry Brothers by the management of the Auditorium, the management of the big shows have agreed to lengthen their performance for the Greensboro engagement and will add a brand new aerial act and a sensational acrobatic act to their performances. Seats and boxes for both performances will be on sale Friday morning (show day) at the Auditorium at 9 o'clock.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

Matters Claiming the Attention of the Board of Aldermen.

At a meeting of the board of aldermen Friday night the North Carolina Public Service Company asked permission to lengthen street car switches on West Market and Spring Garden streets, in order that the company might be able to maintain better schedules on that line. The request was granted.

The board adopted an ordinance governing the testing of water, gas and electric light meters in accordance with an act of the last legislature.

Attention was called to the fact that several parties had made complaint that in a number of instances the electric wires, and also the telegraph wires, were in such a position as to endanger the lives and property of the citizens. City Attorney Shaw, Alderman Bain and Inspector Milton were instructed to look the situation over and prepare an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for a company or corporation to allow its wires to be in such condition.

Alderman Ellington and City Clerk Michaux were authorized to employ some one to assist in making out the tax books.

Policeman McCutson was granted half pay during the time he was off duty on account of sickness, this being a customary proceeding with former boards.

Capt. F. P. Hobgood, Jr., was elected temporary judge of the municipal court, to serve while Judge Euse is away from the city on his vacation.

BIG WHEAT YIELDS

Wheat requires a fertilizer that contains ammonia in different forms, some slow, some active, to provide gradual and continual food to the plant from start to maturity.

There is one fertilizer that does this—one that is Nature's own provision for wheat crop—one which contains ingredients that the chemists have never been able to put into fertilizer. It is genuine old Old farmers of Virginia and the Carolina's recall the splendid crops grown with Peruvian Guano years ago. No fertilizer discovered has ever equalled it for producing enormous yields.

SPEAKER CANNON ASSAILED.

Congressman Fowler Declares "Uncle Joe" is in Deal to Prevent Honest Legislation—Special Interests Rule.

What may be regarded as the opening thrust of a concerted attack upon the reign of Speaker Cannon, was made by Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, N. J., in an open letter to "Uncle Joe." Beside tearing the mask from the speaker and unhesitatingly accusing him of playing his part in a conspiracy with Senator Aldrich to prevent honest currency legislation and real tariff reform, the Jersey congressman flays the speaker as a flagrant puppet of the special interests in the national halls of legislation.

The expose is generally regarded as the beginning of the real fight of the "insurgents" to prevent the reelection of Speaker Cannon at the convening of Congress in December. The Jersey representative, who has given years of the most careful study to the financial situation and to the currency problems of the nation, has been chairman of the banking and currency committee of the house, but because he was one of the leaders of the movement to unhorse "Uncle Joe" and push honest tariff revision, was turned down for reappointment to the post. The excuse of the speaker for this rather unprecedented action was that Fowler might be unable to obtain agreements in a committee politically composed as it now is. The flimsiness of this subterfuge is unveiled by the aroused congressman, who minces no words in exonerating the speaker, to whose "ignorance, prejudice, inordinate conceit, favoritism, and putrid preferences" he attributes "Uncle Joe's" whole attitude. The congressman not only expresses his contempt for the speaker, but presents a series of letters addressed to him and the gist of an interview had with him to show his false position before the people of the nation and to turn to the world his other face.

Congressman Fowler's letter to Speaker Cannon reviews recent national political events with a caustic pen. A typical paragraph follows:

"The Republican party will not brook nor condone your contemptible trickery and traitorous treachery, your disgusting favoritism and vengeful malice, your brutal despotism and daring desperate methods. If the Republican party wins the next congressional election it will only be upon the grave of Cannonism."

Passing to the part played by "Uncle Joe" in the recent tariff fight, Mr. Fowler says:

"Is it possible that you, the Republican speaker of the house of representatives, and Senator Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee of the senate, entered into a conspiracy to secure the adoption of the senate bill in general and the highest rates in both bills throughout for the purpose of discrediting the president by repudiating his pledges and the platform of the Republican party?"

"Though this scheme failed, it exhibits 'Cannonism' in its highest and most perfect development.

"I challenge you to cite in all our political history a more dishonorable and disreputable piece of business unless, perchance, you cite something in your own career of which the people are not yet advised.

"Just at this juncture it is most pertinent to inquire whether you have already entered into another conspiracy involving our financial and currency legislation. Have you already determined to bind American commerce hand and foot and throw her to the wolves of speculation, there to remain a bedraggled prostitute of the master operators until, because of some overwhelming financial cataclysm, the people shall rise in their might and set her free, clothed in her right mind, but wise and just financial and currency legislation?"

"Have you already perfected your plans by which you are to make American banking and commerce the football of our politics, precisely as our productive industries are today by the establishment of a central bank? Let the American people be aware of any proposition you may bring forth and insist that no general financial and currency plan which you propose be adopted until it has been considered by the American people for at least three or four years, that all the jokers and all the schemes with which it is certain to be pregnant, may be discovered and aborted, or killed."

Bitter Fight on the Speaker.

A report from Washington says it is too early to prophesy the probable outcome of the fight against Mr. Cannon. He is a fighter himself, his blood is up, he is strongly, though far from impregnable, entrenched in a loyal organization, whose members' welfare is identical with his own. He has announced his intention to defend his course, and if he keeps his vigor, can be depended upon to make the defense a lively proceeding for his antagonists.

The antagonistic influence most feared by the house organization as it at present exists is the apprehended opposition of President Taft to the speaker's reelection. No one is at this time authorized to say that the president will favor the supplanting of Speaker Cannon by another. It may be that the president himself has not determined positively upon that course. But some members of the house, loyal to Mr. Cannon, fear that the president may find it desirable to sympathize with efforts to elect another as speaker.

Returning to speculations upon possible executive influence against the speaker, the support found for such suggestion lies in the consideration of some well-known facts of the past and present. In the first place, it is known that prior to the president's election, and to Mr. Cannon's reelection to Congress, President Taft regarded the Cannon policies, of which Mr. Cannon was held up as a type, as a liability and not an asset of the Republican national campaign last year.

To put it brutally, although correctly, Mr. Cannon was regarded as a drag upon the campaign then being entered upon and a load to be carried. It will not be forgotten that a year ago there was open discussion of the possibility of Mr. Taft's opposition to Mr. Cannon's reelection as speaker, and that some conferences were necessary at Hot Springs between Mr. Taft and Mr. Cannon's friends before that talk could be quieted. The public impression was that assurances were given at those conferences that Mr. Cannon would support the Taft policies in Congress.

Now, no one except President Taft himself probably knows whether he considers that the speaker has made good those assurances or not. They declare that the speaker did all in his power to forward the revision of the tariff demanded by the president. They point out that the speaker fell in with the president's plan to put forward the corporation tax as against the house plan of inheritance tax, although a majority of the Republican leaders were opposed to the substitution. They say that the speaker wielded the power of the committee on rules to facilitate the progress of the bill in its successive stages.

As against this, the charge is made that the speaker packed the conference committee by the substitution of Messrs. Fordney and Calderhead for men in line, this with the alleged purpose of strengthening the high protectionists on the conference committee. Further, that the speaker, in the interest of his friend, ex-representative Littauer, opposed the president's demands for lower duties on gloves and had to be ridden down by the executive.

A Check to Military Expansion.

President Taft has given an effective check to military expansion, which threatens to be interminable, by his order requiring that the total enlisted strength of the army shall be not greater than 80,000 men by July 1 next. The military authorities have proceeded on the theory that the army must be 88,000 men, and while that number has not been attained and will be difficult to maintain under prospective circumstances of demand for labor, the effort has been entirely in the direction of an enlisted force up to the maximum strength permitted by the executive order. There is evidently need of economy, and the easiest way to effect this is by keeping the army enlisted force within the limit prescribed by the president. Roughly speaking, the so-called "costs" the government $1,200 a year, and if the enlisted strength is 80,000, instead of 88,000, the saving in the way of pay, subsistence, appropriations, clothing, and so on would be more than $9,000,000 annually, which is worth while in an administration confronted with the necessity of prudence in the expenditure of public funds.

FOURTH DIVORCE SUIT LOST.

Judge Thinks Only Young Folks Should be Allowed to Separate.

Strictly defining the reasons why divorces might be given to the young and innocent, but should not be granted to the old and experienced, Judge H. A. Fuller, of Wilkesbarre, Pa., last week refused Jane Ashton Jones, who desired to marry a fifth time, a divorce from her fourth husband, Thomas Lloyd Jones.

The wife is fifty-eight years old and the husband sixty-six. As the court says: "First she married A, and was divorced from him; then she married B, him she buried; then after a lapse of twenty-five years from the date of divorce she remarried A, him she buried; next she married Jones."

They were separated five weeks after the marriage. She charges Jones with nonsupport, while he declares she put him out and he is willing to live with her if she acts in a reasonable manner.

Commenting on the case, in his opinion, Judge Fuller says:

"When young and inexperienced persons enter into the marriage relation, and afterward one of them, without fault of the other, develops a disposition which makes it impossible for them to live together, the law perhaps should afford the innocent person at least one opportunity to dissolve the marriage bond, in order to retrieve a mistake otherwise ruinous to life.

"While the law, however, may protect to this extent the young, inexperienced and innocent, it must avoid the result of making divorce easy for persons of mature discretion, hardened and enlightened by years of matrimonial experience.

"We do not think that this elderly woman should receive an opportunity to repeat her disastrous matrimonial experiments."

Will Resume Double Tracking.

Salisbury, Aug. 30.—Announcement is made here that the Southern Railway Company will resume double tracking on its main line, paving the first stretch of track between Salisbury and Glass, a small station 16 miles south of this city. A surveying corps is now at work making preliminary arrangements for the new grades. The contractors are Lane Bros. & Co., of Lynchburg, who more than two years ago completed the double tracking of the main line of the Southern between Spencer and Greensboro. It is said the Southern will in the near future spend many millions of dollars for betterments.

NORTH CAROLINA'S ANTI-TRUST LAW.

An Act to Prohibit Conduct Within the State Which Interferes With Trade and Commerce.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Sec. 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to directly or indirectly be guilty of any of the acts and things specified in any of the subsections of this section.

(a) For any person, firm, corporation or association to make a sale or sales of any goods, wares, merchandise, articles or things of value of a competitor or rival in the business of the person, firm, corporation or association making said sales.

(b) For any person, firm, corporation or association to directly or indirectly willfully destroy or injure, or undertake to destroy or injure, the business of any opponent or business rival in the state of North Carolina with the purpose or intention of attempting to fix the price of any thing of value when the competition is removed.

(c) For any person, firm, corporation or association which directly or indirectly buys or sells within the state, through himself or itself, or through any agent of any kind or as agent or principal, or together with or through any allied, subsidiary or dependent person, firm, corporation or association, as much as fifty per centum in quantity of any article or thing of value which is sold or bought in the state to injure or destroy or undertake to injure or destroy the business of any rival or opponent, by lowering the price of any article or thing of value sold, so low, or by raising the price of any article or value bought so high as to leave an unreasonable or inadequate profit for a time and with the purpose of increasing the profit on the business when such rival or opponent is driven out of business, or his, their or its business is injured.

(d) For any person, firm, corporation or association dealing in any thing of value within the state of North Carolina to give away or sell, at a place where there is competition, such thing of value at a price lower than is charged by such person, firm, corporation or association, for the same thing at another place, where there is not sufficient reason for charging less at the one place than at the other, with the view of injuring the business of another.

(e) For any person, firm, corporation or association engaged in buying or selling any thing of value in North Carolina to make or have any agreement or understanding, express or implied, with any other person, firm, corporation or association, not to buy or sell said things of value within certain territorial limits within the state, with intention of preventing competition in selling or to fix the price or prevent competition in buying of said things of value within these limits: Provided, nothing herein shall be construed to prevent an agent from representing more than one principal. But nothing in this proviso shall be construed to authorize two or more principals to employ as common agent for the purpose of suppressing competition or lowering prices.

(f) For any person, firm, corporation or association to conspire with any other person, firm, corporation or association to put down or keep down the price of any article produced in this state by the labor of others, which said article the said person, firm, corporation or association intends to buy.

Sec. 2. That any corporation, either as agent or principal, violating any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and such corporation shall upon conviction be fined not less than one thousand dollars for each and every offense, and any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars or imprisoned, within the discretion of the court.

Sec. 3. That any person being either within or without the state, who encourages or wilfully allows or permits any agent or associates in business in this state to violate any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished as provided in section two hereof.

Sec. 4. That where the things prohibited in section one of this act are continuous, then in such event after the first violation of any of the provisions hereof, each week that the violation of such provision shall continue shall be a separate offense.

Sec. 5. That the provisions of this act shall not be construed so as to repeal or restrict the common-law doctrine preventing unlawful combination in trade and commerce, which are hereby re-enacted and declared to be in full force in this state, except as may be inconsistent with the other provisions of this act.

Sec. 6. That if it shall be made to appear to the attorney-general by satisfactory affidavit (which affidavit may be made upon information and belief, and when so made shall state the ground thereof) that any corporation is violating any of the provisions of this act within the state, it shall be the duty of the attorney-general to apply to a judge of the Superior court for an order to cause such corporation, its officers and agents, or any of them, to appear before such judge at a time and place to be named by him, which time shall not be less than five days from the service of such order, to show cause why such corporation, its officers and agents, or any of them, should not produce before such judge, at a time and place to be named, all the papers, books and records of such corporation; and if the judge shall be satisfied that such books, papers and records should be so produced he shall make an order requiring such corporation, its officers and agents, or any of them, to produce all or any of its papers, books and records, to be examined by the attorney-general in the presence of such judge. If any corporation, its officers or agents shall fail to appear or shall fail to produce such papers, books or records as may be required, it or he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and it shall be the duty of the attorney-general to cause such corporation or person to be prosecuted therefor. When it shall be made to appear that the papers, books or records of any such corporation, or any of them, are without the limit of the state or that they cannot conveniently be produced before the judge for examination, as hereinbefore provided, such judge may issue a commission for the examination of such papers, books and records before a commissioner to be named by him.

An act supplemental to a bill which has passed the senate and house of representatives, to prohibit conduct within the state of North Carolina which interferes with trade and commerce.

Whereas, an act of the general assembly has passed the senate and house of representatives entitled as shown in the caption above; and whereas, provision is made in the said act of investigation and prosecution of the offenses therein named; and whereas, in said act it is not provided that a person subpoenaed to testify shall be immune from prosecution for and by reason of matters disclosed by his or her testimony; and whereas, it may be difficult, if not impossible, to discover or punish for crimes committed in violation of said act if witnesses are permitted to refuse to testify upon the ground that the testimony might tend to incriminate the witness; therefore,

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Sec. 1. That no person who is subpoenaed and required by the state to testify under the provisions of the act passed at the present session of the general assembly, entitled "An act to prohibit conduct within the state of North Carolina which interferes with trade," shall be prosecuted or convicted on account of matters disclosed by the testimony of such witness, nor shall the testimony of such witness be received or used in any court in any prosecution against him or her.

Woman's Home Companion for September.

A big section of the usually big number is devoted to fashions. Experts in Paris and famous tailors and milliners in the United States have, with Grace Margaret Gould's knowledge of the American woman's tastes, made the issue one that women will preserve for many months. Not only gowns, coats, hats and waists, but the important little things, shoes, hosiery, fabrics, trimmings, collars—all are exclusively handled.

There are plenty of good stories in the issue for these last hot days—stories by Octave Thanet, Mrs. John Van Virst, Katharine Holland Brown, Mary Heaton Vorse, and others, illustrated by such artists as James Montgomery Flagg and Alice Barber Stephens. Kate Douglas Wiggin's serial story of the Shakers, "Susan and Sue," is also in this issue. For the theatergoer, Walter P. Reuther's article, "The Decent Stage," will prove a splendid guide, successful plays that will appear outside of New York this fall.

In "Reluctant Parentage" Dr. Woods Hutchinson startles us with new ideas about the "Race Suicide" question. He shows all the aspects of this big problem and eventually proves that it isn't really a problem at all.

Marion Harland, in her pilgrimage through Europe, has met "Little Boy Blue," and tells his sad little story.

William H. McElroy contributes a number of stories about Edward Everett Hale that have the charm, humor and sweetness that pervade everything connected with Doctor Hale.

We hear constantly the cry that our daughters are being taken from home, but seldom a practical plan to bring them back. Katharine Eggleston's article in this issue suggests a plan and a good one.

There are a number of articles that should be cut out and pasted in scrap-books: "The Successful Aquarium," "How to Make Candle-Shades," "Furniture Made at Home," "Small Fruits."

The children's department is even bigger than usual. There are many pages devoted to embroidery and other hand work. Fannie Merritt Farmer's cooking pages are full of new ideas, and all the other regular departments are as good as they always are.

What Becomes of the Corn.

People often wonder, particularly those who have traveled for hundreds of miles through the corn belt, what becomes of the corn which is grown every year. In the year 1908, when the total crop was 2,656,000,000 bushels, 241,000,000 bushels were consumed in flour and grist mill products, 2,900,000 bushels in the manufacture of starch, 9,000,000 bushels for malt liquors, 17,000,000 bushels in the production of distilled liquors, 40,000,000 bushels for glucose, 190,000,000 bushels for export and 13,000,000 bushels for seed, making a total of 518,000,000 bushels, of 19.3 per cent. of the entire crop. The remaining 80.7 per cent., of 2,118,000,000 bushels, seems to have been used almost entirely for feeding.

The second forbids any of his family from writing anything but a small hand, as it is a waste of ink to make large letters. WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1909.

The prohibition movement is steadily gaining strength in the great West, a section formerly considered hopelessly "wet." Prohibition maps have shown Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico solidly "black," which is the color used to indicate "wet" territory. Colorado was in the same class till 1907, when a local option law was passed. Within the last year and a half two of these states have seen strong county local option laws put through their legislatures. In Utah, however, the governor vetoed the bill just at the end of the session, leaving Idaho the only one to put such a law in its code. Now two Idaho counties have voted on the question, and both have gone "dry." As Idaho has a total of only twenty-three counties, action in two of them means action in almost 10 per cent of the state.

Numerous protests from individuals and humanitarian organizations in the United States have led the State department to express a willingness to use its influence in an effort to prevent the barbarities which are being practiced by the sultan of Morocco upon prisoners captured during the recent rebellion against Spain. Reports from Morocco state that prisoners of war from either side expect and receive no mercy; many are executed and many more are subjected to the most horrible tortures before they are dispatched. Eyes are torn out, lips cut off, ears sliced away and hands and feet amputated. None of the rules of civilized warfare is observed. The State department is ready to act in concert with France and other European nations in using the influence of the United States to put a stop to these practices. No armed intervention, however, is contemplated.

Reports from Washington state that both Germany and France are preparing to wage a commercial war against the United States on account of features in the Payne-Aldrich tariff law which they regard as hostile to their trade interests. This information has reached the State department from consuls stationed in those two countries. It also is evident that resentment is felt by other European nations, although the unfriendly sentiment seems to be more plainly expressed in Germany and France. The information sent to the State department is obtained by the American consuls from both official and unofficial sources, many of their communications dealing wholly with the attitude assumed by the press. In both Germany and France there are several newspapers whose utterances are regarded as the accurate reflection of the opinions of the government in power, their editorial expressions being taken as semi-official statements. Thus, in the absence of a definite declaration by either of the two governments, the official commercial agents of the United States have sources of information in the daily press that bear the hall marks of authority.

According to advices from Washington, an attack on the Standard Oil Company as represented by the pipe lines in Oklahoma probably will be begun shortly by the Department of Justice in response to an appeal from the Interior department, which is seeking to protect the Oklahoma oil producers and Indian owners from oppressive and ruinous tactics. Officials of the Interior department believe they have evidence sufficient to support in court the charges of Oklahoma oil producers that there is a combination between the oil pipe lines of the new state of a character which constitutes a conspiracy in restraint of trade as defined by the Sherman anti-trust law. Two of the three pipe lines in Oklahoma are known to be controlled by Standard Oil, and there is strong suspicion that the third line is also a part of the great Rockefeller system. In any event, the Oklahoma independent oil producers have laid before the Interior department a mass of evidence which seems to prove their contention that the three pipe lines are in a conspiracy to drive the independents out of business by refusing to pay them more than 35 cents a barrel for their oil, which, it is asserted, is as good a quality as the Pennsylvania oil for which more than $1 a barrel is paid.

Dynamite Explosion Fatal.

Key West, Fla., Aug. 27.—As a result of the explosion at noon today of 700 pounds of dynamite at Boca-chica, 12 miles from Key West on the Florida East Coast Railway, ten men are dead and five others probably fatally wounded. The explosion was caused by a member of the railroad construction force carelessly throwing a lighted cigarette into a box of fuses.

Nine of the workmen met instant death and the tenth died while being brought to the hospital here. The men were hurled high into the air and the bodies of the dead were almost beyond recognition, arms and legs being torn from the bodies of some while the faces of others were mere masses of flesh.

GLASSES

Correctly Fitted to Your Eyes
By An Expert.

Years of ceaseless efforts to perfect a bifocal lens have resulted in the Dr. Vineberg Invisible Bifocal. The far and near sighted are fused into one single lens that gives every advantage of reading and distance glasses without the usual line of division. They cannot come apart and do not spot or blur. As they look just like ordinary glasses, they do not give an appearance of age or infirmity to the wearer, like the old style of bifocal. To those who use glasses for reading and distance they will prove invaluable, giving comfort and perfect vision, as there is no sharp transition from one focus to the other.

As an introductory, DR. VINEBERG, the Eye and Ear Specialist, of Wilmington, N. C., a Licensed Physician, who for 30 years has limited his work to diseases of the Eye, Ear and Fitting Glasses, will be at

Hotel Guilford for One Week Commencing Sept. 2

For the practice of his profession. He comes at the solicitation of the citizens and profession of Greensboro. During this one week the Doctor will test Eyes and furnish Glasses at half the usual price. The superiority of his goods are guaranteed. Come early and avoid waiting. Children's eyes a specialty.

114-116 WEST MARKET STREET

A SECRET OF THEIR SUCCESS.

The writer returned a short time ago from a trip through a number of western states in which he investigated first hand the conditions under which fruit is grown in the famous Hood river, Rogue river and Yakima valleys. A conviction which was forced upon him was that if fruit growers in some other parts of the country, especially central and eastern states, were as well organized, cared for their orchards as scientifically and painstakingly as growers in the valleys mentioned a long step would be taken toward putting fruit production on a satisfactory and remunerative basis. It is true that soil and climatic conditions especially favor the owner of the western fruit ranch, but these are only partial factors in his success, as is demonstrated by the fact that some who live in these favored districts are making little or no profit because their ranches are not being managed as they ought to be, either through lack of inclination or ability, or both. A feature which contributes much toward successful fruit growing in Oregon and Washington and some other western states is the fact that the spraying of fruit trees to keep in check insect and fungous pests is made compulsory by state laws, which empower the state fruit inspector or his assistants to spray or cut down any trees which the owner cannot or will not spray. These regulations mean a reduction of insect and fungous pests to a minimum, the benefit of which to the fruit growing interests being almost incalculable. Another respect in which the western fruit growers have an advantage is in the admirable way in which they are organized in associations whose purpose is to promote the interest of the grower in a general way and in particular to give him helpful suggestion in the growing of his crops and also in the matter of packing his fruit and finding a satisfactory and reliable market for it. In the case of the Hood River association all fruit belonging to members of the association is sold collectively, representatives of houses which would like to handle it being on hand to bid for it. If the prices offered are not deemed reasonable by the executive board the boxed fruit is placed in their own big cold storage warehouses to await a more favorable market. Much of their success is explained when it is said that in these sections fruit raising is the chief and primary business, and quite naturally, making their all at stake, they take sensible precautions to see that they are not defrauded or hoodwinked at any stage of the game. The care they give their trees and the pains they take in packing and marketing their fruit may well be called the premium which they pay on an insurance policy which guarantees them success, and they don't wait until their orchards are broken down and weakened by disease before they take out the policies.

SPRAYING DANDELIONS.

A number of towns in the mountain states—Denver and Colorado Springs have come to our notice particularly—have of late been experiencing a veritable pest of dandelions, this pestiferous intruder having trespassed to the point where lawns in private lots and public parks and playgrounds have had to be stripped of sod, respaded and reseeded to get rid of them. And this process has to be repeated at intervals, for the most carefully kept grass plots will become fouled with the seed from neighboring lots. An aid in fighting this dandelion pest seems to have been found in spraying affected lawns early in the season, just as the plants are starting, with a solution of iron sulphate, which has been found effective in destroying a number of noxious or troublesome weeds, but does not injure the tender grass. This plan involves some work and expense, but it is simpler than the methods previously mentioned and should be given a thorough trial.

A REMARKABLE FACULTY.

While the reasoning faculty as usually understood seems to be largely lacking in animals, their sense of sight, hearing and smell seems to be even more acute than with human beings, as is also their sense of place and direction. Familiar instances showing this last faculty, which seems to transcend the faculties of both sight and smell, are the migratory flight of wild fowl, the every movement of bees from field to hive, the return of the homing pigeon, the ability of the southern seal to find the narrow opening of its home after going miles for food in darkest seas under thick ice, the return of a cat or dog taken miles from home in box or sack and that strange sense of the ability of the old family horse to find the road home on a foggy dark night when the driver is hopelessly迷惘. These dumb brutes are entirely subservient to man's will and reason nevertheless outstrip him in this wonderful trait.

He has achieved a large measure of success as a citizen and man who has been thoughtful and considerate in his own home and a kind neighbor.

Just about as much can be expected of boys and girls as from a newly set orchard if both are started and then allowed to shift for themselves. The old Harry in the shape of weeds and ill manners, borers and bad habits is sure to get them. No slipshod or absentee oversight will give satisfactory results.

It pays an owner in dollars to give his buildings a good coat of paint and make the premises shipshape if he is contemplating selling. It will give just as large a return in chunks of solid satisfaction for himself and family if he isn't thinking of selling. Especially is such improvement of the place to be commended from the standpoint of the passerby.

In most states the law as to fences requires a railroad to provide its right of way with a fence of the kind which the farmer has or may want to erect adjacent thereto. To illustrate, if a landowner wishes to fence hog tight a tract of land bordering on the right of way, the railroad would have to erect a fence of this description on the line bordering such tract.

Some ingenious poultryman has lately devised a louse proof henroost, the base of the iron castings at either end of the roost resting in a receptacle containing a strong disinfecting fluid. This would seem to be effective enough in preventing lice and vermin from crawling up the roosts to the hens, but would hardly serve to keep them from crawling from the hens on to the roosts and thus being spread.

During the recent stress of harvest time out in Nebraska many a young woman has followed the binder and helped shock the golden grain, and this was entirely to her credit, just as much so as it was to the discredit of the husky chaps who loafed around town and didn't work because, in addition to generous wages, they weren't taken to and from town every night in a leather cushioned automobile after the day's work was done.

The proper time for cutting the corn crop for fodder or ensilage is when the ear, leaves and stalk contain a maximum of nutritive value. If the corn ripens under normal conditions, this will be when the ear has begun to dent and is quite firm and if picked would make a good feed and seed ear, while the upper leaves of the plant are green, with the lower turning yellow. Cut before this time, there is a distinct loss in food value, just as there is a loss if the fodder is not cut before a frost kills the leaves.

If the little heifer has calved earlier than was good for her own development, much can be done to make amends and help her attain a normal growth by giving her a good grain ration for eight or ten months after calving, even if she is on good pasture. If she is the kind of milker she ought to be, she will only appropriate as much of this extra ration as she needs for growth and will put the rest in the pail. Handling her in this way is not coddling her, but simply an evidence of farsighted management.

If there is any one sight more than another that is calculated to arouse the wrath and disgust of a fairly industrious and respectable citizen it is during the seasons of tilling and earing for the great crops of the country, and particularly at harvest time, when labor is at a premium, to see great strapping, hulking boys and men loafing around the depots and streets in most any town, utterly indifferent to the urgency of the situation, cursing Providence and the government for their ill luck, with the chances good that they are eating three square meals a day earned by hardworking mothers and wives over washtub and sewing machine. The law doesn't reach this type of offenders against common decency, and pity 'tis that it does not.

There is probably no variety of trees grown in the warmer and arid or semi-arid portions of the great southwest which is equal to the eucalyptus in point of general usefulness. It possesses a thrifty and vigorous habit of growth, does well without irrigation and on land that is so poor and rough that it will produce almost nothing else. Realizing these good qualities, large areas in California which can never be put under ditch are being set to eucalyptus trees. Results that have already been secured show that if set close together these groves will produce long, straight trunks free from lower limbs, the wood firm and strong and useful for a great many purposes. The tree is a native of Australia, where it is highly prized and where several varieties of it are found.

The grape growers in the Chautauqua belt in York state have suffered serious loss of late as a result of the inroads of insect and fungous pests. Figures which have been published show that there has been a reduction in yield per acre from 800 baskets in 1900 to 300 baskets in 1908. So serious has the situation become that the growers are trying to secure the location of a state experiment station in the locality with a view to having scientific methods of fighting the pests demonstrated so as to show them a way out of their troubles. Enough would seem to be at stake so that this move might well be made, as the work of the state officials would be of real value to viticulturists in other parts of the state and in other sections of the country.

It will be well to feed the hogs sparsely of the new corn, as the injudicious feeding of it gets the animals' systems out of order and makes possible a whole lot of later and more serious ills, usually termed swine plague and hog cholera.

A not altogether reassuring showing of the destruction of our forest resources is given in the reports of the lumber industry for the year 1908. These indicate that during that period 31,281 sawmills in the United States turned out 33,289,367,000 feet of lumber, besides 12,100,483,000 shingles and 2,986,684,000 laths.

It is wages spent for things that are either useless or harmful more largely than the injustice of economic conditions under which men labor that are responsible for the most abject types of poverty to be found in this and other countries. And yet they are factors which the average student of our social and economic ills is wont almost entirely to overlook.

The young calf before it reaches the age of a month may be easily dehorned, prevented from having horns, by rubbing caustic potash on the skin just over the embryo horn. The hair should be removed immediately over the spot and the caustic rubbed on till the skin is pink. Care should be taken not to have the chemical come in contact with the hands, as it will burn the skin.

In central northern states the fern is, because of its beauty and rarity, very highly prized as a native woodland or ornamental plant. In the heavily wooded sections of the Pacific slope in Washington and Oregon it grows in such profusion that it is one of the worst weeds which the tiller of the soil has to contend with for two or three years after he clears up and breaks his land.

There are four states which the first of this year had more than 3,500,000 hogs, Iowa leading with 8,413,000, Illinois ranking next with 4,673,000 and Nebraska and Missouri following in the order named with 4,243,000 and 3,593,000 head, respectively. And this has been a decided prosperity factor, for there has been very little loss by disease, and good prices have prevailed for those that have been marketed.

The owner of a famous tract of virgin hemlock near Laporte, Pa., has placed a reward of $1 each on the pelts or carcasses of porcupines, which are seriously injuring and in some cases killing fine hemlock trees by gnawing and peeling the bark from the limbs in search of ants, which constitute one of these queer animals' principal articles of food. The porcupine is usually classed as inoffensive, but this seems to be a blotch on his escutcheon.

A middle state farmer whose fields are becoming fouled with quack grass is this year trying the efficacy of hemp as a means of getting rid of the plague. Hemp grows to a height of six or eight feet and so completely covers and shades the ground that any other plant is smothered in the midst of it. It is thought that putting the land in hemp two years in succession will completely free the land of the grass. An advantage in this method, if it is as effective as is anticipated, would be that the hemp has a considerable commercial value, and the use of the land would not be lost in the process, as is true of some other methods which have been recommended.

It may be merely a truism to state that the fields of corn which have suffered most from drought during the past month in some sections of short rainfall have been those which were cultivated the fewest times and had the most weeds growing between the rows. There was a very good reason for this state of affairs, which was that the soil, not being stirred as frequently as it should, baked and dried out much more rapidly than would have otherwise been the case, while the weeds that were encouraged by this neglect served to still further aggravate the situation and take from the soil the little moisture which it did contain. This matter of the physical condition in the soil resulting from ample cultivation is one that is sadly ignored or completely overlooked by all too many farmers. The importance of the point can hardly be given too great emphasis.

A Nebraska town has inaugurated lately a very practical type of church union or affiliation. An enterprising lady of the Episcopal faith is the prime mover in the good work. A Roman Catholic altar, permitted by special dispensation of the pope, is fenced in at one end of the church; an Episcopal rail is at the other end, with reverberant seats between in the body of the church. Besides the faiths mentioned, Congregationalists and Methodists also use the building, with seats arranged to suit the taste and with sermons delivered from the north or south end, as the case may be. This signifies considerable progress along the line of church union, but somehow or other these good people, with those of other denominations, ought to fix it up somehow so they can all face and march in the same direction. It is this facing in different directions which has been the chief weakness of religious organizations for the past 200 years. Perhaps a better time is at hand.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments. The "Night Cure," as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, cures nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well

An interesting eclipse of Mars by the moon, visible throughout the United States, will take place this evening, according to a bulletin issued by Professor William R. Brooks, at Smith observatory. The phenomenon will last about an hour, beginning in the longitude of Washington, at 8:42 and ending at 9:39.

The Navy department is confronted with a probable reduction of the collated force through failures to recruit on the part of seamen and enlistment now in the service, as well as a pronounced decrease in enlistments, which the authorities attribute to the increasing demand for labor occasioned by rising tide of business activity.

The appropriation of $900,000 for the furnishing and equipment of government buildings for the current fiscal year has been found insufficient by the officials in charge of the work, and an additional appropriation of $200,000 has been asked for, which will, if allowed by Congress, make a total of $1,100,000 exclusively for furniture for Uncle Sam.

Six persons are known to be dead and many missing as a result of the wreck of the steamer Ohio near Ketchikan, Alaska, according to wireless messages received in Seattle. Pursuer Motor and Wireless Operator George Bodice lost their lives while trying to save passengers, according to the report. The other four known to be dead have not been identified.

Several hundred representative negroes of Monroe, La., have issued a statement condemning the crime of the negro William S. J., over the Lackawanna, died at his post and ran the train with undiminished speed into the station. The doctors fear that the injury may rob him of the sight of both eyes.

The cotton crop of 1909 will total something in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 bales, an amazingly low estimate, if the figures compiled by the new Mercantile Cotton Crop Reporting Corporation are to be accepted. The figures are based on replies from 1,000 leading bankers, merchants and cotton factors distributed through a station that yields fully 75 per cent. of the total production.

Mrs. William Davis, of Scranton, Pa., has confessed that her husband, who was found dead in bed beside her, had been murdered while he slept. Mrs. Davis turned on the gas, closed the doors and windows and left the room, returning after her husband had been asphyxiated. She then turned off the gas and lay down beside her dead husband and was almost asphyxiated herself.

The blue ribbon of the air was taken by America Saturday, when Glenn F. Curtiss, the Yankee aviator, in the fastest aerial journey of 20 kilometres (12.4 miles) over accomplished by man, won the international cup of aviation, known as the Gordon Bennett trophy, in the contests in Rheims, France. His time, 15 minutes and 50.3 seconds, was only 5.3 seconds faster than that made by Bleriot over the same course.

The relaxing of the prison discipline at the Matteawan state hospital for insane criminals, with a view of adding to the personal comfort of Harry K. Thaw, as suggested by Supreme Court Justice Mills, is not to be permitted. It was expected that Thaw would be accorded privileges not given other inmates at Matteawan relative to his quarters and the hours for his retiring at night, and as to smoking and receiving callers.

Returning home from town late Thursday night, John Sickles, a farmer, of Dallas, W. Va., heard his sixteen-year-old daughter screaming for help, and, running to her room, discovered the girl in the grasp of Randolph Rickey, a neighboring farmer. The Southern Railway is the first of the larger railroads operating in the South to lay steel rails in quantity for delivery next year. This company has placed an order for 28,000 tons of open-hearth rails with the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, and is negotiating with the Maryland Steel Company for 12,000 tons of Bessemer steel rails, with privilege to increase the order to 15,000 tons.

Allen Sherwood, one of the pioneer inventors of agricultural implements, died at his home in Auburn, N. Y., after suffering several years from a broken hip. He invented the first grain binder using wire in 1858. A competitor improved the invention by using jute twine. Among his other inventions were the Sprague mowing machines, of Providence, and the Remington typewriter. Others reaped the benefit of Sherwood's inventions. He was eighty years old.

John B. Wood is constructing, on his farm near Danville, Va., an airship, which when completed, he says, will be an improvement on all other machines now in operation. He claims that he has conceived an idea, whereby he can direct the machine through the atmospheric regions as easy as he can drive his horse through the streets. Mr. Wood, for many years, has been a prominent business man of Danville, and has enough money to finance the venture.

That a disease known as gid, or staggers, which has killed many sheep and other animals in Great Britain, Germany and other foreign countries, has been found for the first time in animals in this country is admitted by Dr. Veranus A. Moore, of the New York State Veterinary College at Cornell University. While he will not give the exact location of the farm, he says that a number of lambs and yearlings have died from the disease, but that prompt preventive measures will check it where it breaks out.

In a speech at Montgomery, Mo., last week United States Senator Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, came out for Senator Charles A. Culberson, of Texas, as the next Democratic candidate for president on a tariff for revenue platform and other so-called sound Democratic principles. From his viewpoint he could see the Republican party rent asunder on the tariff, especially since he had read that President Taft was going to tour the Middle West and defend the new tariff, paying his respects to the Republican insurgents.

The movement inaugurated a year ago by Virginia Camp, Patriotic Order Sons of America, to raise $100,000 with which to purchase Stratford Hall, the birthplace of Gen. Robert E. Lee, is receiving endorsement of camps of the order in Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and the support of other states is expected as soon as the matter is laid before the several divisions at their annual meetings. After the property is purchased it is proposed to turn it over to the state of Virginia as a permanent memorial to the Southern leader.

Hill, railroad chief, have been announced as speakers who will address the 35th annual convention of the American Bankers' Association, which will be opened in Chicago, September 13. Young Man's Curiosity Fatal.

Albamarle, Aug. 30.—Harvey Ritchie, about 20 years old, the elder son of James Ritchie, of Rihfield, climbed one of the towers of the Southern Power Company Saturday evening to see whether or not he could get a shock from one of the wires, the power having been turned on late Saturday evening, and when he touched the wire he received 80,000 volts, which went through his body, and he lay on the ground and never moved.

Y., limbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor, tortured by Asthma, bent on curing himself with Dr. King's New Discovery, which had cured himself of asthma. YOUNG WOMAN KILLED.

Bride of Few Weeks Fatally Shot in Spartanburg.

Spartanburg, S. C., Aug. 29.—Mrs. Docier Bolter, aged 18 years, wife of J. R. Bolter, a farmer of Fairmont, this county, at noon today was shot and killed by Joe Bates, employed by the city as a chaingang guard.

The shooting occurred at the residence of W. P. Cox, on Thompson street, a relative of the husband of the deceased. Bolter and his wife had just driven in the back yard of Mr. Cox, and as Mrs. Bolter entered the back door, Bates, it is said, ran in at the front door and shot her dead, firing five times in all, though only two shots took effect, one entering the head and the other one of her shoulders. During the firing a bullet struck the little daughter of Mr. Cox in one of her arms, inflicting a painful wound.

Mr. Cox, attracted by the shooting, hurried into the house and seizing hold of Bates held him until police officers arrived. Mr. Bolter, enraged at the sight of the dead body of his wife lying on the floor of the back porch, made an attack on Bates, it is said, and would have used him up pretty badly but for the timely arrival of police officers.

Mrs. Bolter was formerly Docier Moore, of this county. Several years ago she married Hillard Case, of Hot Springs, N. C. Bates and his wife separated about two years ago and the woman whom he shot today was employed by him as his cook, so it is alleged, and was in his employ for two years. About two months ago she left him and married Mr. Bolter. While the woman was in the employ of Bates as cook and housekeeper they quarreled frequently, the result of which was that Bates was tried in the police court on several charges of cruelty toward the woman, and fines were imposed aggregating $150.

Bates claims that some time before Mrs. Bolter left him she sold his cow and disposed of a lot of blankets, quilts, etc., to the value of $100. It is understood that he had brought suit against the woman and the case was to have been heard tomorrow.

COURT REFORM URGED.

One Tribunal in Each State, With Three Branches.

At the meeting of the American Bar Association, in Detroit, Mich., last week the committee appointed two years ago to find some remedy for unnecessary costs and the delays of litigation submitted a report which recommended gradual but sweeping reform in judicial procedure in this country. The committee, of which Everett P. Wheeler, of New York City, is chairman, has urged Congress to pass laws to authorize the appointment of official stenographers for United States courts and to fix their compensation, to limit the setting aside of verdicts on error unless the error complained of shall appear to have resulted in a miscarriage of justice and to permit the use of authorized printed copies of records in appealing cases instead of written or typewritten manuscripts.

Further, the committee reported a plan to reorganize state courts. The report runs:

"The whole judicial power of each state, at least for civil causes, should be vested in one great court, of which all tribunals should be branches, departments or divisions."

"This court should have three chief branches—county courts, including municipal courts, a superior court of first instance and a single ultimate court of appeal. All judges should be judges of the whole court, assigned to some branch or locality but eligible and liable to sit in any other branch when called upon to do so."

Boy Foretells His Death.

York, Pa., Aug. 28.—A remarkable case, in which Lawrence Rohrbach, a 16-year-old boy, is believed to have had a premonition of death, which was speedily verified, is reported from Glen Rock, this county.

Recently, it is said, the boy, who had always been bright and cheerful, became subject to fits of melancholia, in which he would cry and say that he would have to die soon. A week ago he was stricken with spinal meningitis, and today his prophecy was borne out by his death.

A steam laundry is to be established in Asheboro under the management of T. E. Miller, of Lexington.

The annual meeting of the State Association of County Superintendents of Public Schools convened in Hendersonville yesterday.

Alexander Ruyter, a Cleveland county farmer, was killed by lightning Saturday afternoon. He was 35 years old and is survived by a widow and four children.

Sixty-two applicants for license to practice law were examined by the Supreme court Monday. The names of those who passed the examination will be announced in a few days.

Thirty-five cases on charges of retailing, embracing seven defendants, were tried in the Winston recorder's court Monday. The defendants were fined and sentenced to the roads.

Announcement is made at the census office in Washington that fifteen hundred census enumerators are to be apportioned to North Carolina for the purpose of taking the new census. In 1890 the number of enumerators engaged in taking the census was 1,238.

At the reunion of the Confederate veterans in Charlotte last week Gen. Julian S. Carr was unanimously re-elected commander of the North Carolina division. Maj. H. A. London, of Pittsboro, was unanimously re-elected adjutant general.

E. R. Butner, of Tobaccoville, Forsyth county, and his brother-in-law, W. G. Lane, have been arrested on a charge of counterfeiting. With figures clipped from Confederate bills, they raised dollar bills to $10 and ten dollar bills to $20.

Durham Sun: There died at Neuse, Wake county, a few days ago, a negro that was remarkable for his size. He was Henry Cannady, 29 years old, weighed 303 pounds, and was six feet tall. This negro had been working in Durham, but was taken with typhoid fever, and went back to Neuse, where he died.

Daniel Jones, a 16-year-old boy, was accidentally shot and killed Monday by W. A. Ashworth, an engineer on the Raleigh & Southport Railway. Thinking the weapon was unloaded, Ashworth playfully pointed a revolver at the boy, with fatal results. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Hilman High, the Durham married man who eloped with his niece, the 15-year-old daughter of James Markham, was arrested in Richmond, Va., Sunday. High and the girl were found living in a boarding house as man and wife. High agreed to return to North Carolina without requisition, provided he be assured of protection against violence.

E. C. Plunkett, the railway postal clerk who was arrested in Charlotte recently on a charge of bringing whiskey from Washington to that city in a mail car and selling it, was given a hearing before a United States commissioner Friday and dismissed. There was no evidence beyond the fact that Plunkett had given whiskey to a negro hotel porter.

The Khedival Tobacco Company, an independent factory of New York, is negotiating with Durham people for a building into which it proposes moving its entire plant. It is a company with a quarter of a million investment, and has a branch house in Durham. The company's business has a pay-roll of $1,000 weekly and would be one of the city's biggest enterprises.

Chapel Hill News: Orange county can boast of a register of deeds who is serving his sixtieth year in that office, is eighty-seven years old, his oldest child is sixty-seven years old, his youngest child is four weeks old, his wife is sixty-two years younger than he is, and that he has not taken a drink of water in twenty-six years. This is a remarkable record. We all know him.

The teachers of Rockingham county held a meeting last week and organized a teachers' association. The following officers were elected: Prof. L. N. Hickerson, president; George W. Deshaize, vice president; Miss Kate Dameron, secretary and treasurer. This organization will do much in the way of systematizing the school work of the county and will be a great help to the teachers.

With the announced purpose of flying its first completed aeroplane on the occasion of President Taft's visit to Wilmington this fall, the American Aeroplane Company, of Wilmington, procured a charter from the state Monday, with $125,000 capital. A number of leading business and professional men of that city are behind the company. The flying machine is the invention of David Palmgren.

An official announcement has been made to the effect that the state board of education, which holds title to all the state swamp lands for the benefit of the state public school funds, has entered into agreement with the people of Mattamuskeet lake section, Hyde county, whereby the state board will drain the lake within a reasonable time, or if it should sell it, will require the purchasers to drain the swamp.

"I wish you would lock me up, I am a deserter from the United States navy and want to go back and take my medicine," were the words of a young man giving his name as W. F. Clarke, of Berkeley, Va., as he walked up to the Rowan county jail Friday and asked Sheriff J. H. McKinzie to take charge of him. After being placed in a cell Clarke stated that he had tired of the navy and deserted with a view of getting work, in which he failed.

Chapel Hill News: A regular snake-killing time was had out at Filo Blackwood's on the Snipes place, near town, one day last week. Mr. Blackwood noticed a snake crawl into a hole in an old ice house place. He called his dog and began a search for his snakeship. He turned over a rock and found a bed of snakes. The dog killed 20 full grown highland moccasins, and it is said by those in attendance that it was not a good day for the bugles.

A branch of the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America, composed of farmers residing in Rockingham and Stokes counties, met Monday with the tobacco board of trade of Winston, the buyers of manufacturing firms and other concerns, and also the warehousemen, and asked the board of trade to guarantee the planters 12½ cents a pound on tobacco. The farmers were told that it would be impossible to grant their request.

The North Carolina farmers' convention, in session in Raleigh last week, elected Thomas W. Blount, of Washington county, president to succeed A. L. French, of Rockingham county. The convention adopted resolutions appealing for improved farming methods, soil conservation, and more extended stock and cattle raising. It registered a protest against immigrants of Italian, Pole and Russian classes as inimical to the best interests of North Carolina and the South.

The North Carolina corporation commission has dismissed the petitions of the Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard Air Line, Southern and Norfolk and Southern from the operation of the act of the last legislature requiring electric power headlights on locomotives. The Norfolk and Southern and Atlantic Coast Line contended that these power lights are neither necessary nor advisable on their roads. The Seaboard Air Line asked exemption for a number of trains on certain lines.

Extensive preparations are being made in Salisbury for the celebration of Labor day on September 6, when several thousand visitors are expected from all parts of North Carolina. Don Laws, editor of the Yellow Jacket, of Wilkes county, to a joint debate on the subject, "Republicanism vs. Socialism." It is expected the joint discussion will attract a big crowd. A barbecue will be a feature of the day.

BOUNDARY IS MOVABLE.

Rio Grande Eats Away Banks Near Old Fort Brown.

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 28.—Although the work recently undertaken by the Federal government to prevent the Rio Grande from throwing a big slice of United States territory over to Mexico has not yet been completed, that river is making another attack at a point close to old Fort Brown. Several acres of land have almost been eaten away by the current, and unless work on a large scale is undertaken in the near future more will go, and from present indications the peninsula on which the old fort and the national cemetery are located will become Mexican territory.

The appropriated money now available is entirely inadequate to meet the new conditions.

Since the boundaries between the two countries is fixed by the middle of the main channel of the stream, Mexico would have a perfect right to claim the soil thus added to its domain, and according to present conception of international law, backed up by many precedents, little could be done by the United States. To keep the river permanently in its present bed miles of levees, reinforced by a dense growth of willow trees, are recommended.

The constant wanderings of the river are discernible over its entire lower valley, and for this reason it has more than once been thought advisable to fix the boundary between the two countries by some other means, preferably latitude.

SET FREE TO TAME A TOWN.

Kentucky Convict Pardoned Because Only Man Fit for Marshal.

Louisville, Aug. 28.—Reuben Hodges has been pardoned from the penitentiary because the residents of Lilly, Laurel county, wanted a town marshal, and no one else would have the job. Lilly is such a rough and ready mining town that the marshal always had been a shining mark while he lasted, but the job did not pay much, and after a time no one would have it. Time after time a marshal was appointed, but none would qualify.

The citizens finally petitioned Governor Willson to pardon Hodges, who was serving a three-years' sentence for larceny, of which none believed him guilty. He was the "handiest man with a gun" in "them parts" before he was sent over the road, and was not afraid of all the bad men of the region bunched together, but all the bad men were afraid of him and would think twice before scattering lead around if they knew he was on the job.

Governor Willson believes the end justifies the means, so upon learning that Hodges was willing to protect the people of his home in return for his freedom, the governor pardoned him, with the understanding that he protect the lives and property of his fellow-citizens at Lilly, and he has gone there to do it.

It's a pity when sick ones drug the stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. That is all wrong! A weak Stomach, means weak Stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves are instead crying out for help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is promptly helping Stomach, Heart and Kidney ailments. The Restorative reaches out for the actual cause of these ailments—the failing "inside nerves." Anyway test the Restorative 48 hours. It won't cure so soon as that, but you will surely know that help is coming. Sold by Greensboro Drug Co.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

"To him that hath shall be given" was well illustrated in the recent Coeur d'Alene land drawings. The first prize was taken by a man who registered "just for a lark;" another, by a millionaire's son who is roughing it in the timber to harden his muscles, and so on. The drawings were out of the reach of thousands of poor deserving men who are struggling for life in our congested cities and who would prize a homestead as a veritable gift from heaven.

It is safe to say that there are no suffragettes in the town of Cawker, Mass., for here is a report of the woman's debating society: "Who may rightly be said to be the greatest woman in his ory? The answer that was awarded the prize was this: 'The wife of a man of moderate means, who does her own cooking, washing, and ironing, brings up a family of girls and boys to be useful members of society, and finds time for her own intellectual and moral improvement, is the greatest woman in all his ory.'"

This country has a prior right to the initials "U. S. A." and the hope is expressed that the Prince of Wales, when he goes to South Africa to incorporate the new federation of British possessions, will favor the adoption of some title whose initials will not provoke postal confusion. "The United States of Africa" would suggest inevitable complications. In reality, this country has no exclusive title to the term "United States." That term is used officially by Brazil and Venezuela. The term has been employed time after time as indicative of a federal republic, and Colombia was successively the United States of New Granada and the United States of Colombia. It is now the Republic of Colombia.

A new plan is to be tried in taking the census in Mexico City and in that federal district. President Diaz will personally take the census of the block on the north side of Calle de Cadena, where he lives, members of the cabinet will perform similar duty in their respective neighborhoods, the archbishop of Mexico will take the census of population in his own quarter, and an effort will be made to have all prominent citizens accept the appointment for their neighborhoods generally in order that confidence may be inspired among the natives and the figures may be as accurate as possible. But in interior Mexico the census work, being formed of illiterate peons and farm laborers who are still afraid of compulsory military service.

A committee of the British board of education has learned that 170,000 children between the ages of twelve and fourteen have left school and are not receiving any kind of further instruction, and that out of a total of 2,000,000 children not yet seventeen years old, only one in four is striving after additional educational equipment. The natural result is that through lack of technical training countless thousands fail to acquire that knowledge of handicraft which would enable them to rise to higher levels in skilled employment, while the absence of physical training eventuates in impaired bodily powers and consequent poverty of self-control. Nor is that the worst aspect of the situation. Such are the conditions of modern industry that there is an increasing exploitation of boy and girl labor during the years of adolescence.

Transportation is Alaska's greatest problem and need of its 600,000 square miles of territory, nearly 200,000 have been untouched by the explorer, yet in 1908 Alaska produced about $19,000,000 of gold. Lack of transportation in the territory is the greatest factor keeping back its development. In these 600,000 square miles there are only 452 miles of wagon road, 234 miles of sled road, and 255 miles of railroad, a considerable portion of which is out of repair and idle, and only fifty miles of new road was built in 1908. The cost of transportation has made it impossible to work any but the richest mineral deposits in many sections of the country. Supplies must be furnished the mining communities, and except in those remote camps where the gold deposits are extremely rich, difficulties of transportation make supplies prohibitive.

A report upon the congestion of population in New York City makes that metropolis sadly pre-eminent in unsanitary and overcrowded housing, with Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, and Cleveland following in the order named. The committee has chosen the basis of density of population by the block, rather than by the ward or the acre, as most accurately exemplifying the measure of overcrowding. In a single Philadelphia block there were found 104 single-room "house-keeping apartments." In five, seven people to a room cooked, slept, and lived—if living it may be called—while in almost one-half of the 104 there were four or more persons to the room. The evil conditions in our cities are accentuated by the vast number of immigrants which our cities attempt vainly to digest. The situation calls for vigorous enforcement of tenement regulations.

Tickling or dry Coughs will quickly loosen when using Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And it is so thoroughly harmless, that Dr. Shoop tells mothers to use nothing else, even for very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung healing mountainous shrub give the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. It calms the cough, and heals the sensitive bronchial membranes. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Demand Dr. Shoop's. Accept no other. Sold by Greensboro Drug Co.

WANTS GOOD ROADS.Postoffice Department Aids the Cause Materially.Recent great improvement in public roads throughout the country, followed by agitation of the subject until it has become one of the live topics of the day, has resulted in the receipt of many inquiries by the Postoffice department concerning the matter. Under direction of Postmaster General Hitchcock replies in detail
are made to these communications
without reservations.While the Postoffice department has not anything official to do with the matter of good roads or road building, it has, in the nature of things, to co-operate with the Department of Agriculture, division of good roads, where governmental aid is necessary, and in that view the bureau of the fourth assistant postmaster general has been able to help the general cause through the avenues of rural delivery.The Postoffice department for a number of years has been using every endeavor within the limits of its juisdiction to secure the improvement of the public highways. It is a primary essential to the prompt and uninterrupted delivery and collection of mail that roads over which rural delivery service is established shall be maintained in condition to be traveled with ease and facility at all seasons. This does not necessarily mean that the roads shall be of the highest improved type, but it does mean that they shall be kept smooth, free from ruts, and drained.Whenever report is made to the department that roads on which a rural route is established are in bad condition, impeding the progress of the carrier or causing the service to be delayed or suspended, the road officials, postmaster, and patrons are immediately notified that, unless steps are taken within a reasonable time to improve the condition of the roads, service will be withdrawn from such roads. These notices usually result in prompt and favorable action, but, when ignored, the service is withdrawn.In furtherance of its policy to secure good roads, the department has been co-operating with road officials, Federal, state and local, and with good roads associations. The result of the department's unceasing demands for good roads and its co-operation with road officials and others concerned in the movement has been most gratifying to those in charge of the service involved, and it is an established fact that there has been more money appropriated for, and spent on, good roads during the thirteen years which rural delivery has been in operation than in any other period of the country's history.A BIG POULTRY BUSINESS.Young Man Has Made Over 200 Trips to New York.Over two hundred trips from Fayetteville, Tenn., to New York city, having in charge about 5,000 fowls
on each trip, is the record of C. G.
Renegar, a clever young man of Tennessee, who has been in the business
only six years, writes a Statesville correspondent of the state press. For the past two or three years Mr. Renegar has passed through Statesville
every Monday morning with his car of chickens, which is attached to the eastbound freight train, which usually arrives in Statesville about ten o'clock. The writer has conversed with Mr. Renegar in his car and found him a man of much information regarding the poultry business.Mr. Renegar is employed by the Bishop Produce Company, of New York, which has a branch office at Fayetteville, Tenn., where the fowls bought in the surrounding country by representatives of the company are collected and cared for until ready for shipment. Every Saturday morning a poultry car—built for the purpose, having many compartments
with water and feed troughs, etc.,
with a passage way between—is loaded with about 5,000 chickens, ducks, turkeys, etc., and Mr. Renegar boards the car just before it is picked up by a northbound freight train, he having,
on some occasions, just arrived there a few hours previous from New York, where he delivered the poultry with which he left a week previous.
In one end of the car feed and water for the chickens during the trip is stored and provisions for Mr. Renegar's welfare have been made, and Mr. Renegar remains in the car a good portion of the time until he reaches New York, where he delivers the chickens and then starts back after another load. What time he is not in his car looking after the poultry, he rides in the caboose of the train with the railroad men.The fowls are necessarily crowded in the car and during hot weather many of them suffocate and die. On a single trip Mr. Renegar has often been forced to throw from his car a hundred of two dead, injured and diseased fowls. In cool weather, however, there are few deaths and the fowls are often in better shape when they arrive in New York than when they left Tennessee, having had all the pure food they could eat on the trip. When the market is good a car of 5,000 head will bring about $2,000 in New York.Go With a Rush.The demand for that wonderful

C. SCOTT & CO.Railway Postal Clerk Suicides.L. A. Bickle, aged 43, an ex-mail clerk on the Southern Railroad, almost severed his head from his body
with a razor at his home in Augusta, Ga., Sunday morning. Bickle had been in ill-health and it is said his mind was unbalanced because of this and recent bereavements in his family.
He happened to be mail clerk on Southern train from Charleston on the night of May 18 last when the express car was rifled and when the train reached Augusta the messenger was found in the chest. The messenger claims that he had been knocked down by masked men and placed in the chest. G. P. Humphries, baggage master on the train on the night of the robbery, cut his throat two months ago, dying almost instantly,
because he was suspected of the robbery. However, the express company officials do not connect Bickle with the robbery.We have just received a big shipment of mountain seed rye.
