ASKS AN INVESTIGATION.

J. L. KING MAKES STATEMENT
TO THE COMMISSIONERS.

Chairman of Highway Commission
Makes Explanation of Sale of Material for Public Road Work—
Transaction Was Open and Above
Board—Many Petitions for New Roads—Six Highways Granted and Other Business Transacted.

By far the most interesting matter
to come before the September meeting of the board of county commissioners, held Monday and yesterday,
was the request of Mr. John L. King,
chairman of the Guilford county highway commission, for an investigation into his official conduct. The board will grant the request and have an investigation made in regular order.

The request for an investigation was made as the result of various rumors that have been in circulation recently. The rumors had to do with the reputed sale by Mr. King to the highway commission of material used in the construction of a public road
in violation of the law prohibiting public officials from selling goods or materials to be utilized in work over which they have jurisdiction. The transaction was discussed by the county commissioners and the highway commission in a joint meeting Monday. Yesterday afternoon Attorney R. R. King appeared before the board of commissioners and made a request for an investigation, presenting the following signed statement
from his brother, Mr. John L. King:

"To the Honorable, the Board of Commissioners for Guilford County:
"Referring to the interview which took place between your honorable body and the highway commission of Guilford county on yesterday, both acting in their official capacity, with reference to the purchase by the high way commission of certain material from the undersigned and used in the construction of a highway leading north from Greensboro, same being the extension of Church street,
beg to say that I shall be glad for
your body, or any member thereof,
acting in his official capacity, to make
a full investigation of this matter,
and I shall be glad to give you every fact within my knowledge and afford
you every facility with reference to the matters involved.

"The facts are, in short, as stated
to your board on yesterday: That when it was decided to construct this highway, Capt. Foushee, superintendent, alone or possibly in conjunction with another or others, made investigation as to the possibility of getting stone in that locality. As a result of his investigation, he reported to the undersigned that he was unable to get conveniently the necessary material, and applied to the undersigned to buy the slag, stone,
bricks and other material of like character at the old furnace site of the Empire Steel and Iron Company, which was in close proximity to the road to be constructed. That he represented that the material was suitable for the uses designed, whereupon the undersigned stated to him that he doubted whether, under the law, he could sell this material to the highway commission, and declined to negotiate further with reference to the matter.

"Thereafter, at a meeting of the board of highway commission, Capt.
Foushee took up this matter with the board as a whole, and stated to them
that he was unable to find the necessary material in close proximity to the road to be constructed, and stated in that connection that the undersigned owned at the site above mentioned a considerable quantity of material well adapted for the purpose
and that he hoped that the undersigned could be prevailed upon to let the highway commission have it. The undersigned stated to the board that he feared some legal impediments
and did not care to in any way embarrass himself by such a transaction. That the board insisted that it would be a large saving to the county to let the highway commission
have this material; and after full consultation between the undersigned and the other members of the highway commission, and at its request, it was decided to let the commission have the material at 50 cents per cubic yard; that his predecessor in ownership and he himself had sold like material for 75 cents per cubic yard. That Capt. Foushee represented to the commission, before the material was contracted for and since,
that there was a saving of at least 50
per cent. in the cost of the construction of that portion of said road
wherein this material was used.

"This matter has never been regarded as a secret, as the negotiations were conducted in an open and business-like manner. The undersigned has heard recently that the matter has been whispered around as a great secret, and for this reason the undersigned and any and every member of the highway commission will afford you every possible facility to a full investigation.

"Respectfully,
"JOHN L. KING."

"Greensboro, Sept. 7, 1909."

Petitions for New Roads.

Petitions for new roads were received and ordered advertised as follows:

In Glimer township, beginning at a point on the old Hillsboro road near Holt's chapel and running to the point where Phillips avenue intersect
Summit avenue.

In Fentress township, running westward from Pleasant Garden to the Randleman road, near William

Little's place, on rural mail route No.
1.

In Fentress township, beginning at
J. C. Kennett's and thence to the public road leading from Julian to Greensboro.

In Morehead township, commencing at Zion church and running through
Mt. Vernon Heights and Piedmont Heights to the public road on the Southern Railway near the Atlantic Lumber Company.

In Sumner township, beginning on the Greensboro and Asheboro road at
S. W. Vickrey and J. D. Quate's corner and connecting with the Greensboro and Center road at J. E. Newman's.

In Jamestown township, beginning at W. W. Hayworth's and running east and north to Mitchell's Grove,
it being contended that the proposed
route is shorter and on better land
than the present road. A counter petition was filed in this case.

In Jefferson township, beginning at
C. C. Lineberry's, on the McConnell road, and intersecting with the Fayetteville road at Mt. Pleasant church.

New Roads Granted.

The commissioners acted favorably
on petitions for the following new roads:

In Clay township, beginning at J.
A. Horney's and ending at a prong
of the old Salisbury road near G. A.
Gerringer's, a distance of about two
and one-half miles.

In Clay and Fentress townships,
beginning at a point on the Alamance
and Tabernacle road, on the land of Betsy Whiteley, and running through the lands of various persons to the Ford lane on the Tabernacle road, a distance of about four miles.

In Fentress township, beginning at
W. C. Tucker's corner on C. A. Tucker's line and running to a point near
Col. D. G. Neelley's shop, a distance of about two miles.

In Fentress township, beginning at Piney Grove school house and running south with or near the old road
to William Troy's place.

In High Point and Jamestown townships, leading from Greene street to
M. C. Holton's place to Shube Kidd's place.

In High Point township, beginning on the Jamestown township line and running to a point in the public road
at Elias Eller's.

Other Matters.

The board received and accepted
the resignation of Mr. W. F. Elling-ton as supervisor of roads in High Point township. Mr. E. G. White was elected to succeed him.

Citizens of Friendship township
made complaint as to the obstruction of a public road by J. C. Cooper and requested that he be compelled to open the road. County Attorney Wilson was instructed to take such action as may be necessary in the matter.

It was ordered that the drainage of Horsepen creek through the lands of
E. F. Hall be made at his expense, he having failed to comply with the orders of the board heretofore made.
Sheriff Jones reported to the board
that certain parties who bid in property at the recent land sale for taxes
had failed to comply with the law.
He was ordered to re-sell such property at the court house door on Monday, October 18.

Stokesdale Commercial Bank.

The Stokesdale Commercial Bank
does a general banking business, also pays four per cent. interest on certificates of deposit of $25 and not over $2,000, and is a great advantage
to the citizens of that community.
It offers the best burglar proof equipment in that section, and also carries burglar insurance, which makes money deposited in the Stokesdale
Commercial Bank absolutely safe;
and, on the other hand, its management is unsurpassed. Its president,
Mr. C. A. Bray, has shown his ability by increasing the deposits of the Home Savings Bank, of Greensboro,
N. C., of which he is also president,
over 60 per cent. within the last year.

The officers of the Stokesdale Commercial Bank will be glad to have every citizen in the vicinity of Stokes-
dale open an account with them,
whether large or small, and they will leave no stone unturned in their constant endeavor to give you such service as will be very satisfactory to you.

Home Savings Bank.

The continuous growth of the Home Savings Bank only goes to show that the people are becoming better acquainted with the absolute safety of the policy of this bank. The policy is the same as that followed by the old school exclusive savings banks of this country that have weathered the storm for many years
and only grow stronger all the while.
The Home Savings Bank is an old school exclusive savings bank, and does nothing but a savings bank business. Nothing can be safer. Four per cent. interest on money in the savings bank makes it grow daily.
Money in your pocket usually gets smaller.

MAY MOVE COURT HOUSE.

PROPOSITION SUBMITTED TO
BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS.

County May Sell Present Court House
and Jail and Erect New Buildings
on Keeley Institute Property—Proposition Submitted by J. F. Jordan and What It Means—Matter
to Come Up for Final Action at December Meeting of Board.

One of the most interesting matters that has come before the people of Guilford county in many years is involved in a proposition looking to the removal of the court house and jail to a new location. The question has been under advisement for some time, and at the meeting of the county commissioners Monday Mr. J. F.
Jordan submitted a tentative proposition to buy the property at present occupied by the court house and the jail and offering to sell the county property upon which to erect new structures.

If it should be decided to move the court house and jail, the new buildings, in all probability, will be located on the property now occupied by the Keeley Institute, on West Washington street, formerly the home
place of the late Governor John M.
Morehead. Mr. Jordan has taken an option on this property, with the understanding that, in the event of a sale, it is to be used for county purposes only, and has made the county
a bona fide offer for the court house
and jail property.

While nothing official has been given out, it is understood that Mr.
Jordan has an option on the Keeley
Institute property for a price approximating $65,000 and that he offers the county about $125,000 for the court house and jail property, he to deliver the Keeley property in the trade.
This would leave the county about $60,000 for the construction and equipment of new buildings.

The matter will come up for final action at the December meeting of the county commissioners. The delay of 90 days was made necessary
by a section of the Revisal of 1905
which provides that the public shall be notified this far in advance of any proposed action looking to the removal of a court house or jail. The law gives the commissioners authority in the matter where the proposed removal is for a distance not exceeding one mile, but it is provided that action can be taken only at the December meeting of the board.

The present court house occupies
the northwest corner of North Elm and West Market streets, with a frontage of a fraction over 172 feet
on North Elm and a fraction over 125 feet on West Market. The building was enlarged and remodeled
about five years ago, but its location
on a small lot in the heart of the business district of the city operates against it. Notwithstanding the fact that it was enlarged only a few years ago, it is contended that the building is now inadequate to the demands,
while the noise of public traffic
makes the transaction of business difficult and inconvenient. Especially is this noticeable during the trial
of cases, when it is often impossible to hear distinctly the evidence of witnesses, the questions of lawyers or remarks from the judge on the bench.
It has been apparent for some time that the removal of the court house will be necessary sooner or later, and while they have made no
public expression, it is not improbable that those charged with the administration of the county's affairs
will look with favor upon the proposition submitted by Mr. Jordan.

Should the trade be consummated,
it is understood that arrangements
will be made whereby the county
will retain the furniture and fixtures
of the court house and jail, thereby saving a snug sum in the cost of the new buildings. It is believed that the difference in the purchase prices of the county property and the Keeley
property would provide a new court house, while the material and equipment from the present jail would reduce the cost of a new prison to a minimum. In other words, the building of a new court house and jail, on modern and enlarged plans, would not saddle a heavy debt upon the county. But all these details will be worked out later, and it is presumed the public will be thoroughly informed as to the matter before final action is taken by the commissioners
at the December meeting.

In the event the trade is consum-
mated, the stockholders of the Keeley Institute will erect a magnificent structure on a new location. This property occupies an entire block, 300 by 400 feet, admirably situated near the center of the city. There is not a prettier spot in Greensboro,
and it would afford an ideal location
for a court house. Colonel Osborn and his directors refused positively to give an option on the property until they learned that it was wanted for a court house that would be commensurate with the growth and standing of Guilford county.

Mr. Jordan declines to say what he purposes to do with the present
court house property, should the deal go through, but the fact that he has entered into a trade of such magnitude is accepted as sufficient evidence that he has some big scheme
in view. There is a rumor to the effect that the present court house is to be replaced by a modern office building of eight or ten stories in height.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to the power of "Bloodline" to cure all Catarrhal Troubles the remarkable offer made by Helms Drug Store should expel that doubt. They give you a personal guarantee with every 50c bottle of "Bloodline" they sell, to refund the money unless it gives satisfaction. They take all the risk of cure, and no reader of this paper can afford to suffer longer with Catarrh when an offer like this is made.

FOUR MONTHS' PROGRESS.

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Makes Encouraging Report.

Mr. J. S. Kuykendall, secretary of the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce, has compiled and made public an interesting and encouraging report of the business growth of Greensboro for the months of May, June, July and August. It is an excellent showing of the business activity of the city during a period that is generally considered the dull season of the year.

The report shows, among other things, that during the past quarter twelve new firms have opened for business in this city, and that permits have been granted for the erection of sixty-three residences, seventeen business buildings and four factory buildings. The report also shows a number of improvements by different firms who have outgrown their present sites and many improvements by the Public Service Company along its lines and in its equipment.

A resume of the report follows:

654 deeds recorded with a consideration of $1,161,276.50
New buildings 163,950.00

Total $1,325,226.50

19 pieces of business property changed hands aggregating a sum of $531,598.00

417 vacant lots transferred, consideration being 100,920.00

172 farms, containing 23,283 acres, consideration 195,389.00

80 building permits granted 163,950.00

17 business houses, permits granted 79,700.00

63 residences, permits granted 67,750.00

4 factory buildings, permits granted 16,500.00

1 new hotel erected; another remodeled and opened, and one annex to a third aggregating eighty rooms.

12 new firms opened for business.

During the month of August 111 deeds were recorded with a consideration of $123,000. These were for the transfer of one piece of business property; twenty-three residences; forty-six vacant lots, and twenty-four farms.

During the past month building permits were granted for the erection of two business houses to cost $6,000, and eleven residences to cost $11,000.

Three new firms were added to the city's enterprises during the month, as follows: A. W. Vickory and Company, American Produce Company, and Jackson Hotel Company.

Improvements made by local concerns during the past quarter are: The North Carolina Public Service Corporation has added eight new cars and rebuilt twelve old ones, and has already laid nine thousand new ties and will continue until new ties are laid over the entire line, which will require from fifteen to sixteen thousand ties, the track resupplied and rebanded. All the machinery, boilers and engines at the power house have been overhauled and improved. Large gas mains are being laid over the entire city, ten-inch mains where there was formerly four-inch, and four-inch where formerly two-inch, while many new mains are being laid where there were none at all in the past.

Another new addition is Dr. Reives' Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat hospital, which, with the most modern improvement of fourteen rooms in the McCauley building, affords the best of facilities in this line.

J. E. Latham is erecting a large storage cotton warehouse for storing cotton in Guilford avenue, size 200x200, at a cost of $15,000.

The Southern Railway has had files placed in the old freight receiving depot, which accommodates 7,680 compartments, there being forty-eight sections with 160 compartments each. The files of the railway formerly kept at Washington, D. C., will be kept here in the future.

CLERKS FOR CENSUS WORK.

About Three Thousand Temporary Appointments to be Made.

The census bureau has announced that approximately three thousand temporary clerks will be appointed in connection with the work of taking the thirteenth decennial census. The first examination will be held throughout the United States on October 23 next. Very few appointments from this examination will be made before January 1 next, and not many will be made until April, 1910. The maximum force will be drawn about August next year.

These appointees will receive salaries of $600 per annum at the beginning but promotions, it is asserted, to at least $900 yearly will be reasonably rapid for those who render satisfactory service.

Blank application forms and a circular of instructions, the bureau announces, may be obtained after September 10, by addressing the civil service commission, Washington, D. C., or the bureau of the census, Washington, D. C.

Persons who may desire to stand the civil service examination in Greensboro on October 23 may obtain the necessary blanks and other information by making application to the local secretary of the board of examiners.

It's a pity when sick ones drug the stomach or stimulate the Heart and Kidneys. That is all wrong! A weak Stomach, means weak Stomach nerves, always. And this is also true of the Heart and Kidneys. The weak nerves are instead crying out for help. This explains why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is promptly helping Stomach, Heart and Kidney ailments. The Restorative reaches out for the actual cause of these ailments—the failing "inside nerves." Anyway test the Restorative 48 hours. It won't cure so soon as that, but you will surely know that help is coming. Sold by Greensboro Drug Co.

FEDERAL COURT JURORS.

Those Who Will Serve During the October Term.

The following have been drawn as jurors for the term of United States District and Circuit court to convene in Greensboro on the first Monday in October:

James C. Flippin, Francisco, R. F. D. No. 1; J. F. Coleman, Hillsboro, R. F. D. No. 1; W. D. Allen, Troy; J. M. Hester, Belew's Creek; J. T. Pegram, Colfax; N. M. Lowe, Asheville; W. A. Reids, Jackson Hill; John E. Tilley, Rockhouse; A. V. Miller, Lexington, R. F. D. No. 6; H. P. Montgomery, Mt. Gilead, R. F. D. No. 2; J. C. McCulloch, Maywood; James W. Jones, Pinnacle, R. F. D. No. 2; Charles D. Strader, Reidsville; Virgil P. Vance, Kernersville; W. J. Hege, Winston; H. B. Carter, Rameaux; S. A. Taylor, Pilot Mountain; C. H. Haynes, Mt. Airy; John P. Hughes, Cedar Grove; W. C. Kirkpatrick, Swepsonville; N. T. Hinchaw, Asheville; Thomas B. Wilson, Kernersville, R. F. D. No. 2; Grant Davis, Kernersville; Shube Coltrane, Guilford College; A. S. Speer, Boonville; John W. Hundley, Reidsville, R. F. D. No. 4; J. T. McGee, Pelham; John D. Sockwell, Gibsonville; W. C. Jones, Asheville, R. F. D. 1; J. P. Phillips, Noise; Irvin Doub, Pfafftown; L. R. Noah, Battle Ground; O. F. Pearce, Greensboro; J. F. Horney, Farmer; Joel H. Fulton, Walnut Cove; J. R. Morris, Asheville; J. H. Griffith, Mayfield; D. A. Tesh, Enterprise; R. A. Spauld, Winston-Salem; J. E. Meadow, Reidsville, R. F. D. No. 4; J. A. Logan, Yadkinville; A. L. Payne, Rural Hall; E. G. Sherrill, Greensboro; George Hauser, Bethania; E. W. Culler, Pinnacle; T. F. Grimes, Lexington; W. B. Alfred, Altamahaw, R. F. D. No. 2; R. W. Winchester, Greensboro, R. F. D. 1; J. H. Kearnes, Farmer; P. Q. Waynick, Forshee; J. N. Daniel, Denton; J. D. Albright, Graham; T. H. Barker, Leaksville; W. M. Zimmerman, Arcadia.

By far the most important case to come up in the District court is the indictment against Mr. Lee H. Battle, formerly cashier of the defunct City National Bank, who is charged with embezzlement and the misappropriation of funds. The case was continued from the April term of court, upon motion of counsel for the defendant, and since that time District Attorney Holon has drawn new bills of indictment, the additional bills having been returned by the grand jury at Statesville and Asheville.

Mr. Battle is represented by Steadman & Cooke, ex-Judge Spencer E. Adams and Capt. F. P. Hobgood, Jr., who are preparing to make a strong fight for their client.

Another case of interest in connection with the failure of the City National Bank is the bill in equity filed in the Circuit court by the receiver, Mr. C. L. Williams, against the officers and directors seeking to recover an amount sufficient to make good the bank's shortage. It is not probable, however, that this case will be tried at the approaching term of court. The defendants in this suit will be represented by ex-Judge W. F. Bynum, Jr., and other counsel.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

We want to show you in this short, but honest and reasonable talk, how and why S. S. S. cures Old Sores. We do not claim that S. S. S. works wonders, but we do know it will cure sores and ulcers, and its record of forty years past abundantly justifies this confidence.

Any old sore shows an unhealthy and impure condition of the blood. It is a diseased condition of the flesh at that particular spot, caused and kept inflamed and irritated by a continual discharge into it of unhealthy matter from the circulation. In various ways the blood becomes contaminated and polluted. A long spell of fever, or other sickness, breeds disease germs in the system; the failure of nature's eliminative members to remove the waste and refuse matters of the body, the excessive use of minerals in certain diseases, infected wounds, bites and stings of insects, etc., all contaminate the blood with morbid matter and germs which sooner or later manifest their presence by a sore or ulcer which refuses to heal under the ordinary treatment of local applications.

External treatment can never cure a chronic sore or ulcer, because it does not reach the blood. The place will remain open as long as it is used as a drainage for the impurity which is in the blood, and in addition to the worry and anxiety caused by an old sore, there is always danger of its becoming cancerous, if a cure is not effected. Purify the blood, and nourish the flesh with a rich, healthy circulation, and then the place will heal of its own accord.

S. S. S. cures old sores by removing the causes which produce them. It goes down into the circulation, drives out all impurities and poisons, and by nourishing the flesh with rich, pure blood causes the place to heal naturally and permanently. S. S. S. does not make a surface cure, but, being the greatest of all blood purifiers, it begins at the bottom and by rebuilding broken down tissue, and supplying healthful, healing qualities to the circulation, causes the place to fill in with firm, healthy flesh, while it steadily but surely removes the cause and effects a permanent cure. The sore cannot remain when the blood is pure, and S. S. S. will thoroughly purify the blood. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

S. S. S. is for sale at all drug stores.

MR. MILLIKAN TO RETIRE.

Does Not Want Marshal's Office for Another Term.

Strange as the assertion may sound, it can be stated as a fact that there is at least one man holding an important Federal office in North Carolina who will not be an applicant for reappointment. Reference is made to Mr. J. M. Millikan, of this city, United States marshal for the western district, whose third term will expire next February. Mr. Millikan has made a splendid officer and has a record with the Department of Justice, and had he expressed a desire to hold on for another term he would have been at least a difficult man to pry loose from this attractive and lucrative office.

The positive statement that Mr. Millikan will not be a candidate for a fourth term appointment will doubtless be received with a degree of pleasure by certain gentlemen who have an eye on the marshal's office as an attractive berth to occupy as a reward for long and faithful party service. That there will be a big fight for the place goes without saying. Each of the three Republican districts will furnish one or more candidates. The gentlemen whose names are heard mentioned as probable candidates most often are: Messrs. Thomas W. McVeagh, of Alamance county; Clarence Gail, of Wilkesboro; L. C. Wagoner, of Statesville, and W. E. Logan, of Asheville.

The appointment of a district attorney may figure in the contest. It has been understood for some time that this office has been tendered to ex-Judge Spencer B. Adams, of this city, upon the expiration of District Attorney Hinton's term six months hence. There are those who hold that the three best offices in the western district should be divided between the three Republican districts, and since the Fifth district has the collector, the Republicans up in the teeth may put up a strong fight for the marshmanship. Mr. McVeagh, the Fifth district candidate, has a strong advantage over other applicants by reason of the fact that he is a brother-in-law of Senator Joseph M. Dixon, of Montana, who is mighty close to Speaker Cannon and others high in power in Washington.

GUILFORD COUNTY LEADS.

Corporation Tax Assessment Over 3 Per Cent. of Total for State.

A popular saying in this state is, "Where North Carolina sits is the head of the table." Applied to affairs inside the state, it may be as truthfully said, "Where Guilford sits is the head of the table." The corporation commission has just completed the assessment for taxation of the various corporations and the report shows that Guilford leads all the other counties by a good margin, the total assessment on the property of corporations in this county being $6,793,117.32. The assessment is divided as follows:

Railroad, telephone, telegraph companies, etc., $3,044,435.47
Bank stock 1,083,271.85
Building and loan stock 19,835.00
Corporation excess 2,645,575.60

The term "corporation excess" means the difference between the amount returned for taxation and the capital stock of a corporation, this being an assessment made by the corporation commission and in which the county shares pro rata with the state in the collection of taxes.

Mecklenburg comes second to Guilford with a total assessment on corporations of $5,960,007. Robeson is third with $3,768,255 and Durham is fourth with $3,708,305. Alamance is eighteenth in the list with a total assessment of $1,493,316.

The total assessment for all the counties in the state is $185,998,995, from which it will be seen that Guilford's assessment is over 3 per cent. of that of the entire state. A splendid showing, to be sure.

Field's Minstrels Coming.

Al. G. Field, the minstrel man, will bring his organization of singers and dancers and comedians to the Grand, Saturday night, September 11.

Field's minstrels is a minstrel show built on the traditional lines of minstrelsy, but always one in which the lovers of this form of entertainment may safely expect to find something new, and not infrequently something startling. Many novel ideas in spectacular scenic pictures have been executed by Field this season, in the rounding out of his minstrel production, and patrons of the theater are promised full value for their investment.

The minstrel first part this season is described as Evolution of Minstrelsy, a subject which gives abundant opportunity for elaborate scenic and electrical display and which is said to be one of the best in "his line the veteran minstrel has ever made. "The Head Waiters" is the title of an extraordinary dancing act in which two-score of the nation's best dancers, headed by Doc Quigley, execute some of the latest and most difficult dancing numbers known to the stage. "Head Waiters" is a quaint number which ends in a roar of laughter.

A company large in numbers and no less fine in quality surrounds Mr. Field this season and the jokes and the songs will be right up to the minute.

How Greensboro Patronized the Ball Games.

The figures compiled by the secretary of the Carolina Association of Professional Baseball Clubs show that Greensboro was second from the standpoint of paid admission to the games during the season that recently came to an end. During the season 54 games were played in Greensboro and the total paid attendance was 39,180, or an average of 726 for each game. Charlotte was first, with an average attendance of 746. Anderson, which finished the season with second place in the race for the pennant, was the poorest team in the league from the standpoint of attendance, the average being only 409.

But Anderson was the smallest town in the league. Greensboro was the only town in the league that lost so small a number as two days on account of rain.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST SECRETS OF SUCCESS

In all walks of life the person who keeps informed right up to the minute has a tremendous advantage over one who does not. He is more capable of taking care of himself and those who may be dependent upon him in his dealings with his fellow man. The man who never reads a newspaper, or reads one that is not reliable, is at a disadvantage, and, all else being equal, is going to be left behind in the rapid march of progress. CAREFUL READING OF A RELIABLE NEWSPAPER is one of the biggest secrets of success, and you may have the secret at a very small cost by subscribing for one of The Observer publications.

THE NORTH POLE IS FOUND.

Was Reached by American Explorer Over a Year Ago.

Dispatches that reached this country a few days ago announced that Dr. Frederick A. Cook, of Brooklyn, has discovered the long sought north pole. The explorer is reported to be on a Danish vessel bound for Copenhagen. The message announcing the discovery, which was filed at a point on the Shetland Islands, reads as follows:

"Dr. Cook, American explorer, reached the north pole on April 21, 1908. He is now aboard Hans Egede, bound for Copenhagen. Dr. Cook arrived in May, 1908, at Upernavik, from Cape York, accompanied by the Eskimo members of his party. The Eskimo confirm the truth of the explorer's statements that he located the geographic pole."

Upernavik, the point reached by Dr. Cook last May, is a small island settlement off the west coast of Greenland, in Baffin Bay, the northernmost Danish settlement. Cape York is located in Northwestern Greenland midway between Melville Bay and Smith Sound, and it is the belief of the officials here that the explorer got as far South as Cape York last winter, but was compelled to remain there until spring, when he pushed on to Upernavik.

The fact that Dr. Cook returned to Cape York leads to the belief that he marked his course northward carefully and then doubled on his own trail from the pole, rather than attempt to reach northwestern land over the ice, as was generally expected he would attempt.

There is much speculation here as to why the message should have come from the Shetland Islands.

There is no explanation, either, of the long delay in the news from Dr. Cook. According to the dispatches, he found the pole more than sixteen months ago, and it is considered remarkable that no word was received before. The pole discovered is not the magnetic pole which has long been established, but the geographical pole, the unreach goal of Peary, Nansen, and all the other arctic explorers of the past century.

Lerwick, in the Shetland Islands, is the first point of the route taken by Danish colonial steamers at which telegraphic communication with this country could be had. As it is a coaling station for practically all vessels of the colonial service, it is probable that additional dispatches will be received by the government before Dr. Cook steps out on the last leg of his long return trip to civilization.

No mention is made of the personnel of his party, but it is taken for granted by the government authorities that as the Danish officials made no mention of any other white men being with Dr. Cook, the later was unaccompanied, save by his Eskimo followers.

Dr. Frederick Albert Cook is a noted surgeon and physician, of Brooklyn, N. Y., whose work as an explorer in the arctic region has won for him international fame.

The trip in search of the pole, which is said to have proven successful, was begun in July, 1907, and was a private expedition, financed by Dr. Cook himself and his friend, J. B. Bradley, a multi-millionaire New York sportsman, who chartered the ship that took Dr. Cook to the arctic regions. Bradley soon returned, having intended only to hunt some big game there when he left. Dr. Cook, however, immediately started his dash for the pole, expecting to be gone for three years.

There was a great deal of dissension caused among arctic explorers by Dr. Cook's trip, the followers of Lieut. R. E. Peary declaring openly that he had stolen a march on the naval officer, who had planned to follow out practically the same course on his dash for the pole.

Dr. Cook, however, was in the region of everlasting snow and would not be communicated with. With only one white companion and a number of Eskimos, with dogs and sledges he had made his last dash for the unknown north, hoping to reach past the resting place of Nansen and Peary and strike the pole itself.

Only twice has Dr. Cook been heard from before. A short time after his departure his white companion became ill, and Dr. Cook was compelled to send him back to the coast in care of some of his Eskimos. It was thought this would prove fatal to the expedition, as Dr. Cook's force was cut down to a dangerous minimum. The intrepid explorer, however, continued his dash, sending word back that he was confident of success.

Later by one of these mysterious letter routes of the frozen North, a letter got back to Brooklyn, to the waiting wife of the explorer, in which he said he was in good health and expected to go onward. They no more was heard of the daring explorer until it was flashed back to the civilized world today that he had reached the goal for which hundreds have striven and none have gained before—the north pole of the globe.

Entertained by King of Denmark.

Copenhagen, Sept. 5.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook dined this evening with King Frederick, at the summer palace, a few miles outside of Copenhagen. The king summoned Dr. Cook to an audience yesterday as a formal courtesy, and they engaged in an hour's talk. While these royal audiences cannot, according to etiquette, be minutely described by members of the court, it is said that Dr. Cook made such an impression on the king that his majesty immediately instructed the court chamberlain to summon the explorer to dine with him tonight.

The dinner tonight was entirely the result of the king's personal opinion regarding the explorer, who had the seat on the king's right, an honor which Danes cannot remember having been accorded another private person, and members of the royal family listened to his every word as he recounted the dangers and privations of his polar journey.

Dr. Cook was immensely pleased today by receipt of a telegram from President Taft, extending his heartfelt congratulations on the announcement that the explorer had reached the pole. Dr. Cook had to undergo a veritable ordeal again today, being bombarded on every side with questions intended to test the accuracy of his affirmations.

A luncheon at the American legation afforded further opportunity to non-expert persons to strengthen their already firm belief in the explorer's narrative. Then Dr. Cook disappeared from public view for an hour, during which time he submitted to the camera at a photographic studio.

The dinner at the royal castle at Charlottenlund was the scene of the greatest enthusiasm. The king and every member of the royal family, even the smallest children, assembled. Dr. Maurice F. Agan, American minister; Rev. Dr. Daas, of Chicago, and several other guests completed the party. The dinner passed off quietly, as is customary on Sunday in the royal household, but after the dinner there was a regular rush around Dr. Cook, who started a succinct recital of his adventures, whose graphic depiction gained from the calmness and candor of the speaker. One after another of the royal personages piled him with questions and marked their intelligent appreciation of the conditions in arctic seas, and then waited eagerly while the explorer answered, always without hesitation.

PEARY REACHES THE POLE.

Made His Discovery Almost a Year After Dr. Cook's.

St. Johns, Newfoundland, Sept. 6.—A report has reached here that Lieut. Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., has discovered the north pole, thus duplicating the achievement claimed by Dr. Frederick A. Cook, another American.

The report says that Lieut. Peary reached the pole on April 16, 1909, a few days short of a year from the time that Dr. Cook claims to have reached the same spot.

The last message received from Commander Peary was that he had left Etah on August 15 of last year, on his dash for the pole. This being true, it took Peary nearly eight months to get to the pole, if the date given is correct.

Though separated by nearly a year, the same feat was accomplished by two Americans, neither of whom was aware of the movements of the other. Dr. Cook says that he found no traces of Peary in the moving ice, and according to word which was received in connection with the later discovery, Peary likewise found no signs of his reputed predecessor. However, this phase of Peary's experience will not be thoroughly cleared up until a statement is obtained from his own lips.

Peary's attainment of the pole crowns the work of expeditions that he has led for a number of years. His last expedition was in 1906, when, by means of the little Arctic steamer Roosevelt, and by journeying on sledges, he succeeded in reaching 87 degrees, 6 seconds north latitude. This was accomplished on April 21, 1906, after a zig-zag journey in the Arctic ocean, exactly two years to a day before Dr. Cook is said to have reached the pole. He regarded that expedition as simplifying the attainment of the pole by fifty per cent, and his failure to reach the pole then was attributed by him to the fact that the winter was not a normal one, being a particularly open winter throughout the northern hemisphere. He believed that he could have reached the pole then in spite of the open season if he had known what the actual conditions were northward as he subsequently knew them, for he would have modified his route and made a different disposition of his sledges.

200,000 NEW FARMS OPEN.

Lands Subjected to Entry Are in Permanently Dry Sections.

According to a statement issued by the secretary of the interior, almost 65,000,000 acres of land have been designated as subject to entry under the enlarged homestead act of the last Congress, providing under specified conditions for the appropriation of 320 acres under the homestead law instead of 160 acres as heretofore.

The lands thus designated are distributed as follows: Colorado, 20,250,000 acres; Montana, 26,000,000 acres; New Mexico, 1,550,000 acres; Oregon, 1,300,000 acres; Washington, 3,500,000 acres, and in Wyoming, 11,500,000 acres. Large areas in Utah have also been designated under the special provisions of section 6 of the act exempting from residence.

The lands subject to entry under the act are non-mineral, non-timbered lands, not susceptible of irrigation, and which, because of insufficient rainfall, will not produce remunerative crops unless cultivated by some unusual method, such as the "dry farming" system.

Residence must be established on the land by the entrymen within six months from date of filing, and be continued, together with cultivation and improvement of the land for five years.

SOUTH LEADS THE NORTH.

Center of Cotton Manufacturing Continues to Move Southward.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 1.—For the second consecutive year, Southern mills have consumed more cotton than the Northern mills, according to Secretary Hester's report on the consumption of American cotton, made public on the floor of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, at the close of business today. Southern mills, up to the close of the commercial year ending August 31, 1909, consumed 2,560,000 bales against 2,500,000 bales consumed in the North.

When the Hester report a year ago showed that the Southern mills had for the first time gone ahead of those of the North by a narrow margin, it was generally attributed to unfavorable commercial conditions having had a more serious effect on the New England mills than on those of the South.

The figures created considerable stir among cotton men, for such results were hardly expected, although it had been reported for some time that Southern mills were increasing their spindles, at a faster rate than Northern mills, and that the expansion of cotton manufacturing in the South was on a scale seldom known in any industry.

For years the bulls here have been claiming that the center of the cotton manufacturing industry of the world was fast moving from Lancashire to the United States and that eventually the center would be established in the South. Secretary Hester's statement this afternoon was taken as confirmation by the bulls of their predictions.

The total consumption of American cotton by the world was put at 13,116,000 bales, the largest on record, larger by 1,004,000 bales than last year, and larger by 505,000 bales than the largest consumption ever known before, which was two years ago. Consumption of foreign spinners was put at 8,056,000 bales.

The total consumption of American cotton last year was 12,112,000 bales, while two years ago it was 12,611,000.

Georgians Fight Duel Across Table.

Poulan, Ga., Sept. 4.—Seated across a narrow table from each other, William Rouse and William Bailey fought a duel with pistols today that ended when Bailey received a bullet in his heart. Rouse telephoned the sheriff to come for him.

Bailey had an old grudge with Rouse and today he went to Rouse's home and renewed the quarrel. Rouse was sitting at a table writing. Bailey sat down opposite him, drew his pistol and began firing. Rouse drew and returned the fire, one of the bullets killing Bailey instantly.

FRUIT FROM DEAD TREES.

Remarkable Results of Experiments in Revival of Blighted Orchards.

Peaches weighing from 10 to 12 ounces and measuring a foot in circumference are on exhibition in Burlington, N. J., as grown by Budd Richardson, a well-known gardener, to show what can be done with trees devastated and once apparently killed by the San Jose scale. Richardson's experiment and the experience along the same line of George W. Tichenor are regarded by fruit growers as proving beyond all doubt the possibility of resurrecting the scale-blighted trees.

Much public interest already has been created by this experiment on a big scale in a once-famous apple orchard on the Creely farm, near Burlington. Thousands of trees have been torn out by fruit growers in the last few years, as they were considered worthless when blighted by the scale and to all appearances were dead. The idea of cutting off the dead branches with the hope that a new growth would spring from the trunks was suggested, and trial has brought wonderful results.

Richardson, as an amateur gardener, tried the same plan with scale-ridden peach trees, two years ago. The result was the fruit, which is said to be the largest ever grown in the state. It is twice as large as peaches grown on the same trees before the scale affected them, and is solid, sweet and of a rich flavor. The queer-looking crown of new shoots which marks the rapid second growth was almost broken under the weight of the fruit.

Richardson says he believes thousands of dollars can be saved by many a farmer, if, instead of ridding his scale-tipped orchards, he tries the plan of removing the withered branches, permitting the old trunk to put out a strong new growth that seems immune to further attacks of the scale.

Twenty-Two Birdshot in Man's Appendix.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 6.—As is customary with surgeons in the city hospital, the appendix which was cut from a patient, Jacob Deisler, was examined today, and in it they found twenty-two birdshot of a No. 8 size. On being questioned, Deisler admitted that he was exceptionally fond of hausenpfeffer, a German dish, in which the chief ingredient is rabbit. His continued indulgence in hausenpfeffer, the physicians believe, resulted in Deisler's consuming a number of shot, which had been used in killing the rabbits, and appendicitis followed. Shot forms one of the most troublesome appendicitis provocatives known, according to the hospital physicians.

CENSUS OF RELIGIOUS BODIES.

Statistics Showing Status of Various Church Organizations in the United States.

That the church members in the United States numbered nearly thirty-three millions in 1906; that there were a billion and a quarter dollars invested in church edifices; that every day eight new churches sent their spires skyward; that males formed considerably less than half the total church membership; that a larger percentage of Catholic males than Protestant males were members; that in 16 states the majority of the total church membership were Roman Catholics; but that of the grand total of church members reported for the United States 61.6 per cent. were Protestants and 38.7 per cent. Roman Catholics; these are the salient and conspicuous facts appearing in the proof sheets of a United States census bureau bulletin, prepared by Chief Statistician William C. Hunt, of the division of population of the United States census bureau.

Fewer Male Than Female Members.

It is stated that United States census statistics of church membership by sex were collected for the first time in 1906. Of the total number of members reported by the various religious bodies and classified by sex, 48.1 per cent. were males and 51.9 per cent. females. Among the Protestants the difference was greater, only 39.3 per cent. being males. In the Roman Catholic churches there were relatively more males, the number forming 49.3 per cent. of the total membership.

Fewer males than females were found among the Latter-day Saints, the Lutherans, Disciples, Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians and Protestant Episcopalians, the percentage of male members decreasing in the order shown, and there being but 35.5 per cent. male among the Episcopalians. Among the Christian Scientists, only 27.6 per cent. were males; and of the Shakers but 21.3 per cent.; but, in the Greek Orthodox church, 53.9 per cent. were male, as practically all Greek immigrants have been males.

Proportion of Church Members in Total Population.

Of the total estimated population of continental United States in 1906, the church members formed 39.1 per cent., as against 32.7 per cent. for 1890, amounting to 6.4 per cent. more in 1906 than in 1890. Of this 6.4 per cent. increase, the Roman Catholic church is credited with 4.4 per cent., and the Protestants with 1.8 per cent.; the remainder being divided among all other denominations.

It is stated in the bulletin that the total number of members reported by the various religious bodies for 1906 was 32,936,445, of which number the Protestants were credited with 20,287,742, and the Roman Catholics with 12,079,142. Of the Protestant bodies the Methodists numbered 5,749,838; the Baptists, 5,662,234; the Lutherans, 2,112,494; the Presbyterians, 1,330,555; and the Disciples of Christians, 1,142,359.

Of the total of 32,936,445 church members, 61.6 per cent. were Protestants; 38.7 per cent., Roman Catholics; and 1.7 per cent., members of other religious organizations. The rate of increase shown for the Roman Catholic church is 93.5 per cent., which is more than twice that for all the Protestant bodies combined. The Methodists reported 17.5 per cent. of all Protestant church members; the Baptists, 17.2 per cent.

Increase in Number of Organizations.

The total number of local religious organizations in 1906 is given as 212,230, an increase since 1890 of 47,079, or 28.5 per cent. The Protestants are credited with an increase in this particular amounting to 27.8 per cent.; the Roman Catholic church, 21.9 per cent.; the Jewish congregations, 23.19 per cent.; and the Latter-day Saints, 38.3 per cent.

The Methodists reported the largest number of local organizations, 64,701; the Baptists reported 54,880; the Presbyterians, 15,506; the Lutherans, 12,703; the Roman Catholics, 12,482.

Other interesting features of the bulletin are those showing that the total seating capacity of churches was 58,536,830, an increase over the 1890 United States census figures of 34.4 per cent.; that the rate of increase was practically the same for both Protestants and Roman Catholics, and kept pace with the increase in population; and that $1,257,575,867 was invested in church edifices in 1906. The total amount of debt was $108,050,946, or 8.6 per cent. of the total value; of this total the Protestant bodies owed $53,301,254 and the Roman Catholics, $49,488,055. In 16 states a majority of the church members were Roman Catholic; in 29 states, Protestant; and in 1, Utah, Latter-day Saints.

Rats Eat Up $100,000,000 Yearly.

One of the most serious problems the Department of Agriculture has had to meet is the ridding the country of the millions of rats with which it is infested, and which are especially the foes of the farmer. It is estimated that the rat pest costs the United States $100,000,000 yearly in grain destroyed alone. The rat also pollutes a great quantity of food products which it does not eat, does great damage by digging under buildings and embankments, gnawing wood, cutting up goods and papers to make nests, killing poultry and stealing eggs. The most destructive species, says Leslie's Weekly, is the Norway rat, which has been carried to all parts of the world on ships. It is calculated that a single pair of rats would, in three years, under favorable circumstances, increase to 20,000,000. The Department of Agriculture has planned a vigorous crusade against the vermin, and it recommends rat-proof construction in buildings, better protection of food supplies, and the use of various poisons in localities haunted by rats.

The employees of the Southern Railway shops at Spencer have been placed on a nine-hour working basis instead of eight hours per day. The increase affects all departments, and it is understood applies to all shops on the Southern Railway system, involving about 8,000 men.

Bird S. Coler, president of the borough of Brooklyn, has filed with Governor Hughes charges against Mayor McClellan, of New York city. Mr. Coler alleges Mayor McClellan has squandered money in the investigations ordered by his commissioner of accounts and that these investigations have been aimed solely at his political opponents for political purposes and not for the general good of the city government.

The famous Negras gold mine, situated in the Carmen mountains of Mexico, has been rediscovered after being lost for nearly two centuries. John Young, of Alpine, found the mine recently, and assays of the ore show that it runs $60,000 to the ton. It produced an enormous amount of rich ore, according to the records of the mine, during the period that it was worked by the Spaniards. Indians murdered all the miners and the location of the property was lost. Many expeditions have searched for it.

According to reports from New York and Atlanta, there is a possibility that Rev. Len G. Broughton, a native of North Carolina, who is now in Atlanta, may be called to the famous Westminster church in London, the pulpit of which is now supplied by Dr. G. Campbell Morgan. The report is that Dr. Morgan will probably be called to the pastorate of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, of New York, and in the event that he accepts it is believed that Dr. Broughton will be called to the London church.

Columbus, Ga., dispatch: Shrieking loudly and struggling to free himself, a big, burly negro charged with selling moonshine whisky dropped dead from fright as he was forced into a cell in the county jail here today. Physicians cannot determine what killed the man other than sheer fright. He was a big, healthy man, but when arrested he gave evidence of mortal fear lest he be put in jail. When taken to the prison he alternately struggled and trembled hysterically. Just as he was forced into the cell he collapsed.

A dispatch from Newbern says: A case of the unusual was heard before Justice of the Peace Baxter yesterday morning. Mr. W. D. Melver was tried for an assault on Rev. J. W. Ham, the assault being the act of Mr. Melver spitting in the minister's face. For this offense a fine of $25 was imposed. A second charge against Mr. Melver was for disturbing a religious meeting and he was bound over to court on this charge. The cause of the trouble arose over the fact that Lawyer Melver had been attacked by Mr. Ham from the pulpit.

HOME-CANNED GOODS.

No Reason Why Fruits and Vegetables Should Go to Waste.

Charlotte Observer.

While the newspapers are having so much to say about the farmers raising their own wheat and corn and hay and meat at home why is not more said about doing more in the way of canning fruits and vegetables? If even a small proportion of the products of orchard and garden which are now going to waste all through the South was preserved in this way what a saving it would be to the farmers and what a pleasant and wholesome variety it would add to the winter bill of fare.

In some sections, we are glad to know, a good deal of canning of fruits and vegetables is done for home consumption, some of the families having regular canning outfits. Richmond county is one section where much of this is done. The Rockingham Anglo-Saxon says: "Several families in Rockingham and a number of others in the county have home-canning outfits, and are very successful with them. A few began experimenting with these outfits a year or so ago and their success has led others to go into the business. Several thousand cans will be put up in the county this year. Snap beans, tomatoes, berries, peaches, apples, kraut and all kinds of fruit and vegetables are being canned and the goods are said to be of a higher quality than the best grade of factory-canned goods on the market." One reason assigned for this superior quality is because the fruit and vegetables are fresher and in better condition when canned than those shipped long distances to the canning factories.

We venture the assertion that enough fruit and vegetables go to waste every year in almost every North Carolina county to supply the winter demand for every family. This work is neither difficult nor onerous. Why, then, is so little of it done by our people?

(Many people in Guilford county can fruits and vegetables every year, and we know some farmers who have realized a nice profit from selling their surplus product in this line on the market in Greensboro and elsewhere. We commend the above article to the careful attention of all our readers.—The Patriot.)

You may need a Grain Drill to seed your next crop of grain. We carry the Superior, which is just what it's name implies—superior to all the rest, and more simple in construction.

It is now time you were plowing, Mr. Farmer, and you need the best Plow on earth. Guaranteed to turn your ground or no sale.

We handle the best farm wagons made—the Nissen, Chase City and Virginia, unsurpassed for durability and style. We guarantee both the Wagons and the price.

THE TOWNSEND BUGGY COMPANY,
Greensboro, N. C.*Bryan Says Must Follow Cleveland.

In last week's issue of the Commoner William J. Bryan declares that the next fight of the Democracy must be along the lines of Cleveland's victory. He says in part:

"The time is past for sham battles on the tariff question. The only victory we have won on the tariff in recent years was the victory of 1892, when we attacked the principle of protection. No real fight can be made until a distinct line is drawn between the opposing forces.

"The progressive Republicans cannot make a successful fight against the Aldrich element, because both factions in the Republican party claim to be protectionists. Whenever a Democrat begins to favor protection he throws away his arms and joins the ranks of noncombatants."

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1909.

The Patriot gladly welcomes the return to the journalistic field of the Madison Herald, a sprightly weekly contemporary that suspended early in the summer to wait for the panic to "blow over." We trust the people in the field the Herald seeks to cover will see to it that the paper never has cause to suspend again.

Our enterprising semi-weekly neighbor, the Reidsville Review, did itself proud in issuing a handsome illustrated industrial edition Friday. The edition tells in an attractive manner the story of the growth and progress of Reidsville. The pages are embellished with views of the leading business houses and many of the men who are leaders in the commercial and professional life of the town.

The announcement of the discovery of the north pole is the most sensational bit of news that has been given to the civilized world in many years, and the fact that the two discoveries, separated by almost a year's time, were made by two American explorers should thrill every patriotic citizen with a feeling of pride. For the time being Dr. Cook and Commander Peary are just about the biggest men on the footstool, and their names will go down into history as among the world's greatest explorers.

The government bureau of statistics makes an encouraging report as to the increased industrial activity of the country. The upward movement is shown principally by the heavier movement of soft coal, coke, ore and iron products, and the increased building operations reported from the larger cities. Large receipts of wool and heavier shipments of boots and shoes are further signs of returning business prosperity. The movements of grain, live stock, and meats during the month were relatively light.

Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, the erstwhile Populist congressman, has written a letter explaining the authorship of the first amendment that passed Congress appropriating $10,000 for an experiment in the free delivery of mails in the rural communities. Mr. Watson takes issue with the statements that the rural service was begun under the administration of postal affairs by Postmaster General Wanamaker, and asserts that it was started in the mountain sections of West Virginia when Postmaster General Wilson was in office. He refers to his offer of $500 to a charitable institution if it is proved his statements are incorrect, and says his proposition still holds good.

Decidedly the most interesting item of local news the Patriot has carried in a long while concerns the proposed removal of the county court house and the jail to a new location. The announcement that such a change is contemplated will come in the nature of a distinct surprise to most people, and it is to be expected that the question will be a subject of earnest consideration from now until the matter shall be finally determined at the December meeting of the board of county commissioners. At this time the Patriot will not undertake to express an opinion as to the merit or demerit of the proposed change further than to give expression to the belief that the gentlemen who direct Guilford county's business affairs will handle the problem in a business-like manner and dispose of it as may seem to them to be to the best interests of the county. Later on, should occasion seem to warrant, we may take occasion to treat the subject more at length.

Go With a Rush.

The demand for that wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney cure, Dr. King's New Life Pills—is astounding. All druggists say they never fail to sell. It is because they never fail to cure Sour Stomach, Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Chills and Malaria. Only Illness Drives to Suicide.

Baltimore, Sept. 5.—Desperately despondent because he was a victim of tuberculosis, Joseph McGrin, aged 51, today attempted to kill his wife and then committed suicide at his home on Eager place. He had been playing on the bed with his baby son, but called his wife, to take the child away. His wife found him kissing and fondling the baby and was fired upon as she started for the door leading downstairs with the child. A 13-year-old daughter, after the first shot, ran out on the rear second-story porch. When she ventured into the house she saw her step-father working over the weapon, and, fearing that he was going to fire again, she ran into the rear room and hid under a mattress until after he had shot himself.

Cuba Puts a Ban on Firearms.

Cuba has placed severe restrictions on the importation and sale of firearms throughout the republic. The importation of all forms of shooting irons, with the exception of ordinary shotguns and .22-calibre gallery rifles, and ammunition for these two classes of firearms, is prohibited, except through the ports of Havana, Matanzas, Nuevitas, Trinidad and Santiago de Cuba. Retail dealers in guns, rifles and revolvers hereafter will not be permitted to have in stock in excess of 99 weapons at one time, and they also will be compelled to store all their excess stock in government armories or ware houses. They will be allowed to keep in stock only 100 charges for each weapon.

May Be New Cripple Creek.

Salida, Colo., Sept. 5.—Intense excitement has been caused by a rich gold strike just east of Salida and a territory covering nearly five square miles has been staked out by men and women from Salida and the nearby country, who believe a second Cripple Creek has been discovered. Assays from the independent mine run from $300 to $15,000 a ton, while ore from adjoining property found at the surface runs $60 gold a ton. Even the playgrounds of the Beaver Creek school have been staked off. S. P. Englebright's branch, which lies near the strike, has been overrun by prospectors and nearly all of the ranch staked as mineral claims.

Family Trouble Causes Murder.

Troy, Ala., Sept. 3.—Chased across two counties by two sheriffs, several deputies and a large posse of citizens with the certainty of being lynched if captured by the latter, William Stevenson, who this morning shot and killed his stepdaughter, Miss Gertrude Vann, and seriously wounded his divorced wife, near Grady, Montgomery county, was captured one mile south of Troy this afternoon and lodged in jail here. Stevenson admitted the shooting and said it was the result of family troubles. He told the sheriff that he knew he would be lynched if taken back and tried near the scene of the double crime.

Note Raisers in Jail.

Winston-Salem, Sept. 3.—E. R. Butler and W. G. Lane, two white men, at a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Beckwith today, were bound over to the Federal court at Greensboro and in default of $1,000 bonds each, they are in jail. The defendants are charged with attempting to pass counterfeit money. Butler is accused of raising a one dollar note to a ten. A ten dollar note raised to a twenty was found in Butler's possession. Henry Nifons, a young white man, is also under arrest here awaiting trial on the charge of raising a one dollar bill to a ten dollar bill.

Lynch An Innocent Man.

Clarksburg, Miss., Sept. 6.—Hiram McDaniel was swung to a tree early today because a mob of several hundred enraged citizens could not get his brother, Utah Nathan McDaniel, slayer of Policeman Walter Marshall, Nathan was caught in a swamp by a force of deputy sheriffs and hurried to Jackson, eluding the mob in waiting for the prisoner. "It's all the same, anyway," chortled the mob when Hiram was discovered, and he paid with his life for his brother's crime.

Pure, wholesome, toasted cereals, malt, nuts, etc., make Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee both healthful and satisfying. No 20 to 30 minutes tedious boiling. "Made in a minute," says Dr. Shoop. If served as coffee, it's taste will give a trick an expert. Test it and see. C. Scott & Co.

Mistook His Son for a Squirrel.

Roanoke, Va., Sept. 1.—While hunting squirrels near Roanoke this morning, James Spencer, of this city, mistook the gray hat of his son, Charles J. Spencer, a Norfolk and Western Railway fireman, for a squirrel's tail and fired his shot gun through the bushes at the object. The load of shot took effect in the son's face, neck and shoulders. He was brought to town and given medical attention. The wounds are not fatal.

Big Receivership Disposed Of.

Final hearings in the bankruptcy proceedings of the Odell Manufacturing Company, of Concord, and the Southern cotton mills, of Bessemer City, were held before Judge Boyd Monday and today. The receiver, Mr. Cone, made his final report Monday and it was ordered by Judge Boyd that the sum of $5,500 remaining in the hands of the receiver be divided among the creditors of the bankrupt concerns. This makes a total of one hundred cents on the dollar that the creditors have gotten. The cases were closed by a judicial decree of the court.

The hearing today is to determine principally the matter of an allowance to be made the clerk of the court in connection with the Southern cotton mills case.

County School Matters.

At the monthly meeting of the county board of education Saturday an appropriation of $750 was made toward the building of three new school houses in Morehead township. The buildings are to cost a little over $5,000.

A modern four-room building is to be erected for the Jefferson township high school at McLeansville on a site purchased from Miss Jennie Gilmer. There was some talk of buying the property of Jefferson Academy for this school, but the proposition failed to materialize.

The board received a satisfactory report as to the progress being made on the new school building at Tabernacle.

New Member of Normal Faculty.

Prof. W. C. Jackson, who has been principal of the Greensboro graded schools for the past few years, has been elected to the chair of history in the State Normal and Industrial College and will enter upon the duties of the new position at the opening of the fall term of the college next Wednesday. Prof. Jackson came to Greensboro from Thomasville, Ga., seven years ago, since which time he has been connected with the city public schools. He is a scholarly gentleman and a promising young educator. The name of his successor in the work of the city schools has not been announced.

Charlie McDaniel in Jail.

Charlie McDaniel, a one-armed white man and a well known character throughout the county, was committed to jail last night on the charge of stealing a valuable young Jersey heifer from Mr. A. L. McLean, of Jefferson township. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Weatherly at the home of Mr. Sam Halth, four or five miles north of the city. McDaniel sold the heifer to Halth the latter part of last week for $8 and had been hanging around the community since. He is to be given a hearing before Squire Collins this afternoon.

Negro Convict Shot and Killed.

Will Turner, colored, who was serving a term of 30 days on the roads for trespass, was shot and killed while attempting to escape from Capt. Tyson's convict camp, near Pleasant Garden, Monday afternoon. The shot was fired by D. F. Coble, a guard, after the fleeing prisoner had paid no heed to commands to halt. Turner was sentenced to the roads by Judge Eure about two weeks ago for trespassing on the property of the Southern Railway. The body was buried at the county home yesterday afternoon.

A large number of enthusiastic members of the order attended a reception given by Keystone Council No. 81, Jr. O. U. A. M., at Proximity, Monday night. Visitors were present from the Greensboro, Revolution and White Oak councils and the occasion was a most enjoyable one in every respect. Mr. John J. Phoenix was the master of ceremonies and welcomed the crowd in a happy speech. Short speeches were made by several other leading members of the order. During the evening refreshments were served.

BIG WHEAT YIELDS

Wheat requires a fertilizer that contains ammonia in different forms, some slow, some active, to provide gradual and continual food to the plant from start to maturity.

There is one fertilizer that does this—one that is Nature's own provision for wheat crop—one which contains ingredients that the chemists have never been able to put into fertilizer. It is genuine old

CORN AND CHOLERA.

Hog raisers the country over are putting two and two together in the matter of excessively high prices of corn and absence of hog cholera and drawing some deductions that ought to be of value for a good many years to come along the line of the connection between the health of the hog and the food ration which it is given. It has been observed during the past eighteen months—an interval which has seen scant feeding of corn owing to high price—that there has been an almost total absence of the swine plague in sections where corn has constituted the chief feeding and fattening ration. The net result of this situation has meant an enormous saving to hog raisers, and this whether the connection between feed and animal health is as close as held by some or not. There is surely enough in the theory to make careful study and comparisons of feeding conditions in different seasons worth while. It has been a matter of observation with a good many that the worst outbreaks of cholera have usually followed on the heels of an inordinate stuffing of young pigs with green and immature corn, the plague finding fertile soil for development for months after in droves of hogs whose health had been weakened as a result of this irrational method of feeding. If it turns out, therefore, that the feeder can just as well sell a part of his corn and at the same time save his hogs, it would seem clearly in his interest to do so.

ABOUT CEMENT TILE.

It is only justice and fairness to those contemplating the drainage of wet land to speak another word of warning touching the use of cement tiles in the manufacture of which the proper kind of clean, sharp sand has not been used or which do not contain a sufficient per cent of cement to give them strength and durability. Within a fortnight we have heard one who is interested in a square deal for the user of tiles say that a short time since he saw cement tiles of this shoddy description taken from the ditch all gone to pieces which were laid but eighteen months ago. The worst feature about the matter is that one who is not acquainted with cement tiles cannot tell at a glance whether they are properly made or not, while the putting of them in the ground to find out is altogether too expensive an experiment for the average man to monkey with. In view of this situation it follows that the only safeguard that one can have in purchasing cement tiles is the character and experience of the man who has made and offers them for sale. Makers of clay tiles concede that cement tiles, properly made, are as good as clay tiles, and this is quite a concession for a competitor to make. But no such authority as this need be cited to prove that poor cement tiles are not worth a continental—in fact, are, if laid, a good deal worse than nothing.

A WINNING COMBINATION.

The first five or six years in the life of an orchard may be counted upon as well nigh unproductive. To overcome this some grow a cover crop in sections where the winters are cold, which, being a secondary consideration, can be counted on for but a slight return. In the west, where the winters are milder, strawberries are grown among the trees and not only serve this purpose where needed, but give generous return for the use of the land. In the Hord river valley, famed as an apple and strawberry section, the strawberries in the young orchards net the owners all the way from $200 to $700 per acre. At the end of five years the trees come into bearing, when the numbers of rows may be decreased or the plants entirely removed. Strawberries might well be grown thus in even much colder sections, as the plants and covering required to protect them would catch as much snow as would be needed to protect the roots of the trees.

THE ORANGE SCALE.

The California orange grower has lately had to cope with one of the most serious pests which have troubled him—the orange scale, which has appeared in several colors and is analogous to the San Jose scale. Usual methods of spraying with Bordeaux or lime-sulphur solutions seem to be ineffective. The method at present followed is to cover the trees with a tight canvas and give a thorough fumigation with hydrocyanic acid gas, one of the most deadly volatile poisons known, which is sure death to all forms of animal or bacterial life with which it comes in contact. The process is a tedious and expensive one, as it takes some time to treat each tree, but it is the only way out for those who hope to produce an orange crop which will pass muster at the packing house.

Losses from lightning over the country were $6,000,000 last year, and 60 per cent of the fire losses in country districts for this period were directly traceable to lightning.

Where small fruit trees are damaged by hail they may be helped out by cutting off the badly injured limbs and even a portion of the trunk. This will induce a growth of new limbs to take the place of the old. If the trunk is badly injured it would probably be best to remove it entirely and reset with a new one.

Texas leads all other states in the variety of cactuses which grow within her borders, California being a close second. These vary in size from those that are of a delicate and fragile type to those that grow eight or ten feet high and have much the appearance of trees. In blossom the variation in color, size and form is almost as great.

To prove beyond question the increasing prosperity of Kansas one need only cite the fact that, while in 1891 the Sunflower State grew but 34,384 acres of alfalfa, this area was increased in 1907 to 743,050 acres, and for the present year the last named figures are doubtless far outgrown, like the small boy's year before last suit.

A sketch of the history of the alfalfa plant appearing in a late agricultural paper holds that it originated southwest of the central part of Asia, which is the district generally credited with being the location of the garden of Eden. If this theory can be worked out it seems that we should have a feeling of gratitude for Adam for being the disseminator of this great legume, in spite of the fact that we usually credit him with being responsible for weed pests that succeeding generations have been cursed with.

Not in many a year has there been a more magnificent crop of wheat harvested than has been secured during the past few weeks in the great wheat belt lying just west of the Mississippi river. Let the great forests of corn but bring forth to maturity without killing frost the myriad ears that are already in sight and there will be granaries and cribs everywhere that will be literally full to overflowing. This means that confidence, prosperity and good times are going to prevail in a degree seldom witnessed in the history of the country.

Breeders of Guernsey cattle in the state of Michigan are much interested in a move which has lately been made whereby Grosse Ile, near Detroit, is to be turned into a Guernsey island where no cattle will be kept but thoroughbreds of this popular dairy breed. Last year sixteen thoroughbred cows were imported from the island of Guernsey, in the English channel. One of the hobbies of the men who are interested in the enterprise is clean milk, and this product will be shipped to Detroit for local consumption. The move is bound to give the breeding of Guernsey cattle a boost as well as the general dairy interests of the state.

In favoring a narrower highway some have argued that the sale of this redeemed land would aggregate $30,000 per township on the basis of a valuation of $125 per acre and could be well used as a fund for improving the roads in the territory. This plan is all right in theory, but the fact of the matter is that in the case of a vacation of a part or all of the highway the land so vacated reverts to the owner of the adjoining property, whose it was before the road was established. But notwithstanding this a narrowing of the road a couple of rods would in a majority of cases be the means of reducing just that amount the unsightly weeds and grass at either side, which often, owing to the way the road is graded, it is almost impossible to cut with a machine.

For the past two or three years a considerable increase in the consumption of oranges has been effected through advertising certain weeks as "orange" week, during which fruit of especial quality would be put on the market and very reasonable prices would prevail. Much has been done to popularize this fine fruit through just such well managed publicity campaigns. Following along lines somewhat similar, the raisin growers of California adopted a scheme last spring, advertising April 29 extensively as "raisin" day, the idea being to cultivate a taste for and increase the consumption of raisins as a table fruit. While not all of the thirty-five tons of raisins produced in the San Joaquin valley in 1928 were disposed of as a result of the campaign, a much greater quantity was consumed than would have been under normal conditions.

An eleven acre orchard located in the Yakima valley, in south central Washington, changed hands recently at $36,000, the buildings on the place having a value of about $8,000. This meant that the orchard proper, which comprised about ten acres set in five-year-old trees was valued at $28,000 an acre. The setting of so high a price on fruit ranches of this kind is due to the fact that from eight years of age and up orchards in this section frequently give a net return of from $300 to $1,200 per acre. It is this productive capacity which makes raw sagebrush land well located with water available worth all the way from $500 to $1,000 per acre. Land in the corn and small grain belt is roughly considered worth per acre six times its annual net productive capacity. On the basis of this ratio it will easily be seen why western fruit ranches are held so valuable.

A heavy frost which hits an immature corn crop impairs its usefulness in just about the same degree that the smoking of cigarettes impairs the vitality of a small boy. In both instances a pretty effective crimp is put on further progress or usefulness.

There was recently captured at San Pedro, Cal., a sea turtle seven feet long weighing about a thousand pounds and thought by those acquainted with this type of sea life to be at least a thousand years old. Those who caught the turtle tried to land it alive, but it became entangled in the buoy ropes and was finally towed in dead.

A Peruvian strain of alfalfa is being developed by the department of agriculture which, it is claimed, grows more rapidly, starts earlier in the spring and grows later in the autumn and will stand more severe winters than the ordinary kinds. Officials of the department predict that it will be introduced into the northern states in the near future.

If buyers do not give the price for a product which the grower feels he should in fairness receive, it may be well for him to harvest his product and hold it for a better price, provided it is not of too perishable a character. This would hold true of apples, potatoes, onions, beans, several root crops and likewise the grain crops. This can, of course, be more effectively done if those interested in a given product cooperate to secure the end sought.

Of the imported summer help which has assisted in securing the great grain crops of the Dakotas, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma none has been found more satisfactory from the employer's standpoint than the male college boys who have taken this means of swelling the fund which is to help carry them through the coming year's schooling. Not only have they been found active and intelligent, but energetic and willing to perform the duty required of them.

The Shasta daisy, one of the finest floral creations which Luther Burbank has to his credit, is seen gracing many a western park and garden and furnishes one of the finest features in the floral display to be found at the Seattle exposition. It is a rank and thrifty grower and has a beautiful blossom with hollow heart and pure white strap shaped petals which often have a spread of three inches. It wins admiration from all who see it, and it will not be long until all up to date florists will have it in stock.

A Minnesota feeder has a good word to say for the Jerusalem artichoke, a distant cousin of the wild artichoke which has proved a pest in many a tilled field. He has found that horses, cattle, hogs, sheep and goats like the tubers and even eat the leaves, while some feeders use the tops as silage. He suggests the artichoke as a ration along with alfalfa or clover pasture, the animals being finished for market with an added ration of ground oats and peas, wheat or barley. Farther south corn would naturally be the finisher.

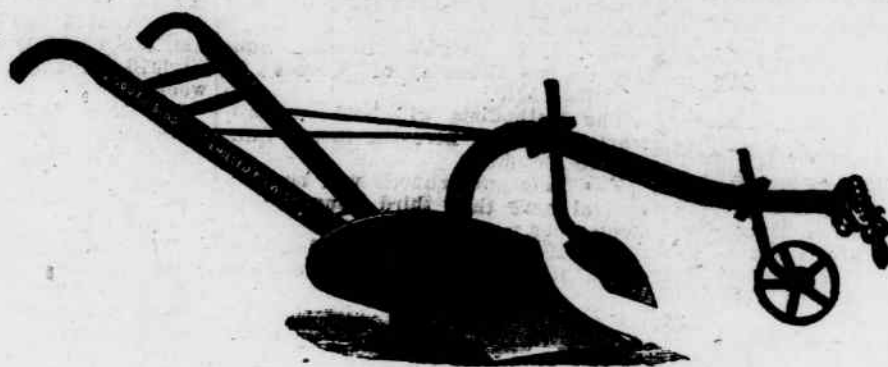

Many a farmer in sections where the usual rainfall is ample, but likely to be a little short during the latter part of July and August, might well learn a helpful lesson from the irrigation farmer of semiarid sections of the west, who, shortly after flooding his orchard or other cultivated crop, at once proceeds by careful cultivation and harrowing to make a mulch of fine mellow soil on the surface and thus retain the moisture which the soil has been given with much pains on his part. The principle holds as well whether the moisture comes from a ditch or falls from the clouds.

Some experiments which have been conducted by the department of agriculture have made clear the important fact that the work of insects, and especially the borer known as the "sawyer," may be very greatly reduced if the bark of such trees is removed within a month after being blown over or if they are cut into logs without removing the bark and placed in ponds or streams. In the case of timber which is allowed to lie with the bark on it has been found that its value is reduced about one-third within a period of two months. When so much attention is being given to a conservation of our forest resources, a suggestion of this kind ought to be well received by those whom it most directly concerns.

One of the most deplorable sights which the traveler through the west sees is large areas of fertile mountain slopes which have been denuded of their magnificent growth of conifers by the deadly fumes of copper smelteries or the terrible forest fires set by sparks from passing trains, by the campfire of careless hunter or axman or by revengeful Indians who have sought by this means to debar the white hunter from a territory over which its primal owner could no longer hold sway. So intense have been some of these fires that not only the giants of the forest have been killed and in many cases half burned by the conflagration, but all seeds and seedlings destroyed, which will prevent reforestation except by artificial planting. In most cases the land referred to is too rough and steep for tillage, so it is doomed to idleness until such time as systematic planting is undertaken.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing is usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effects are charming, pleasantly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruse your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Commissioner's Land Sale.

By virtue of the authority vested in him by the decree of the Superior court of Guilford county, North Carolina, in a special proceeding entitled Sarah Lineberry et al. vs. Chas. Lineberry et al., the undersigned commissioner will, on the premises in Rock Creek township, Guilford county, N. C., on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1930.

Between the hours of noon and two o'clock in the afternoon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder the tract of land formerly owned by Aquila Lineberry, deceased, consisting of about one hundred and one acres of land in Rock Creek township, Guilford county, N. C. Said land was purchased by Aquila Lineberry in three tracts, but the land is contiguous and forms one tract as aforesaid. The said land will be sold on the following terms, to-wit: One-half cash; the remainder on six months time, bearing interest at six per cent. per annum, title reserved until deferred payments are made. The land is described as follows:

FIRST TRACT—A tract or parcel of land lying in the county of Guilford and state of North Carolina and bounded as follows: Beginning at a post oak, Philip's corner, running north 78 degrees west 8 chains and 50 links to a stone near a small gum; thence north 47 degrees west 14 chains with said Philip's line to a stone in the said Philip's corner; thence north 10 degrees west 5 chains and 15 links to a Spanish oak; thence north 18 degrees east 6 chains and 50 links to a black oak; thence south 62 1-2 degrees east 10 1-2 degrees east 23 chains and 15 links to a stone; thence south 47 1-2 degrees west 15 chains and 40 links to the beginning, containing 33 acres more or less.

SECOND TRACT—A certain parcel of land known as a part of the John Pitt-lippi land on the waters of the Alamance, joining the lands of Aquila Lineberry, and described as follows: Beginning at a stone near Henry Sheppard's corner, running south 10 1-2 degrees east 130 poles to a stone on Widow Neese's line; thence south 45 degrees west passing Widow Neese's corner, 45 15-25 poles to a hickory; thence north 45 degrees west 25 poles to a red oak; thence north 60 degrees east 21 poles to a stone; thence north 24 degrees west 40 poles to a poplar; thence north 65 1-2 degrees west 17 1-2 poles to a red oak; thence south 40 1-2 degrees west 28 poles to a white oak; thence north 45 degrees west 39 poles to a hickory stump; thence the same course continued 51 poles to a stone; thence north 8 degrees east 21 poles to a Spanish oak stump; thence north 10 degrees west 18 poles to a hickory; thence south 64 1-2 degrees east 56 poles to a stone; thence north 78 1-2 degrees east 24 poles to a post oak; thence north 47 1-2 degrees east 40 15-25 poles to the beginning, containing 55 1-2 acres more or less.

THIRD TRACT—A certain tract in the county of Guilford, on the waters of the Alamance, adjoining the lands of Aquila Lineberry, and described as follows: Beginning at a maple near the spring, running north 11 degrees west 24 poles to a 21 degree west 9 chains and 25 links to a sourwood; thence north 47 degrees west 8 chains and 75 links to a stone; thence south 21 degrees east 8 chains and no links to a stone in an old field; thence north 68 degrees east 6 chains and 60 links to a post oak; thence south 18 degrees east 2 chains and 90 links to a sourwood; thence 47 links to the beginning, containing 8 1-4 acres more or less.

Story of Hidden Gold Results in Double Tragedy.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 3.—Like a chapter torn from "Arabian Nights" is the story of Andrew J. Slagle, the wealthy Jonesboro, Tenn., lumberman, whose dead body, with the hands and feet tightly bound, was found in the French Broad river at Newport, Tenn., recently. Slagle had spent thousands of dollars in an effort to get a huge pot of gold, which John Hayden Spencer, his confidential friend and business associate of many years, claimed to have buried in the mountains near the scene of the murder.

For months Slagle had advanced Spencer money on the imaginary treasure, and on the fateful night had gone there to take out the gold and ship it to New York. He never returned, while on the following day Spencer hurried to his (Slagle's) home at Jonesboro. After the body was found and he was accused of the crime, Spencer slipped out of Slagle's home, where he was stopping, and drowned himself in a rain barrel.

That Slagle was cruelly murdered there can be no doubt. His head was beaten into pulp, while his hands were firmly bound behind him. The feet were manacled and the head tied with ropes and drawn between the logs.

Spencer lived at Bridgeport, some thirty-five miles from the home of Slagle. He had worked for the lumberman for years, and some months ago confided to him that he had a pot of 1,000 pounds of gold in Spanish and Mexican coins buried in the mountains near his house, and suggested that they get it out and market it, Slagle paying all expenses, and the proceeds to be divided equally. The lumberman believed the story, and began advancing Spencer money on the treasure to cover his expense in guarding it until they could secretly get it out without the knowledge of Spencer's uncle, who owned the ground where it had been found, and who, it was feared, might claim it. Some weeks ago it became apparent that the uncle of Spencer would have to go to the hospital to be operated upon for cancer, and this offered the first opportunity of getting out the gold.

Spencer wrote Slagle to come to Bridgeport on the night of Tuesday, August 24, with enough money to bear all expenses of their trip to New York, and that they would dig up the precious metal and leave with it. This was the opportunity that Slagle had been seeking, as he had already advanced large sums of money to Spencer and was pressing him hard to produce the gold.

The lumberman started to Bridgeport Tuesday evening. Arriving there about 9 o'clock, he went to the spot where they were to meet, on a bluff overlooking the French Broad river. From the time he left the station at Newport he was never seen again until his body was taken from the river the following Saturday afternoon.

The afternoon of the following day Spencer went to Jonesboro and appeared at Slagle's home, where he inquired for the latter, stating that he had failed to keep the engagement, and that he (Spencer) had waited in the mountains with a wagon for hauling out the gold all of the night previous.

Spencer got $25 from Mrs. Slagle and left for Bridgeport, promising to telegraph her if he heard any news of the husband. He reappeared Thursday night and told her that he had come to New York to look after the marketing of the gold. He stayed all night, as he had been accustomed to stopping at the Slagle home and was a frequent guest there, and the following day went back to Bridgeport.

The next news received by the anxious wife was a telegram signed by Spencer, sent from Newport Saturday afternoon, stating that her husband's body had been found in the river, and asking what disposition to make of it, adding that the railroad had refused to handle it on account of partial decomposition. This was later shown to be absolutely untrue.

The body was sent back to Jonesboro Sunday afternoon, Spencer arriving on the same train. He professed to be heartbroken, and even Mrs. Slagle believed that he was innocent. Sunday afternoon evidence was found against him, and he was openly charged with the crime. He denied everything. Retiring at 12 o'clock, at the Slagle home, he was heard to leave the room at 3 o'clock Monday morning, and the alarm was at once given that he had fled. Instead, in a few hours his dead body was found in a rain barrel, where he had drowned himself. He left no note of any kind, either to Mrs. Slagle, the officers, or his own family, residing at Bridgeport.

ACCUSES THE GOVERNMENT.

Governor Haskell Tells President it Aids Lawbreakers.

Guthrie, Okla., Sept. 4.—Governor Haskell today addressed a letter to President Taft, in which he charges the federal government with giving aid to violators of the prohibition law in Oklahoma, first, by allowing liquor advertisements to be sent through the mails; second, by not conforming to the law in issuing federal liquor licenses; and, third, through the abuse of the protection of interstate commerce. The letter, which is accompanied by a petition signed by 2,000 citizens, concludes:

"We appeal to you on all three questions above stated for such favorable consideration as you may deem within your lawful power at this time, and, in case your authority be now legally complete, we appeal to you to recommend at the coming session of Congress the enactment of such additional legislation as may be necessary to give complete relief on all three propositions, to the end that the United States government may at least cease to give aid and assistance to those who would violate the laws of this or any other prohibition state or district."

SEES 6,000,000 FARMS IN 1910.

Chief Statistician of the Census Bureau Makes a Forecast.

Washington, Sept. 6.—It will be suggested by Census Director Durand to the farmers all over the country that the work of securing accurate returns at the coming census of agriculture will be greatly facilitated if the farmers will keep books this year so that guess work and recollections will be eliminated as far as possible, and the farmers' organizations are coming to the front with cheering offers of co-operation toward producing a practical, useful and believable census of America's farm population, operations and wealth. This is only one of a number of ways and means chosen by Director Durand in the effort to secure an accurate, expeditious and economical census concerning population, agriculture, manufactures, mines and quarries which are two subjects of inquiry defined in the census law.

The 12th census reported a total fixed capital of $5,046,939,516 invested in manufactures. The corresponding total for agriculture was $20,514,001,838, or more than four times that of manufactures. A more conservative estimate, based upon a different standard of comparison, places the investment in agriculture as more than twice that of manufactures.

In 1900 the census found 5,739,657 farms, an increase of 1,175,016 over the total for 1890. In 1890 figures were 555,734 higher than the number of farms counted in the 1880 census. By the process of calculation called arithmetic I progression, the method chosen by the majority of statisticians and also used by the census bureau, the 1910 total should reach 5,914,673, or roughly about 6,000,000 farms, which is the number estimated by Mr. Powers, chief statistician. There were 10,433,188 males and females over 10 years of age on June 1, 1900, engaged in agricultural pursuits. Professor Powers believes the 1910 census will swell that number to the extent of several millions.

MONEY FAILS TO SAVE HIM.

Rich Georgian Must Suffer Disgrace of Convict Stripes.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 1.—Governor Brown this afternoon announced that he would not approve the recommendation of the prison commission that the sentence of William H. Mitchell, a prominent citizen of Thomasville, Ga., convicted of attempted assault on Miss Lucile Linton, a highly respected young woman and a relative of his wife, be changed from a year on the chain-gang to a similar period on the state farm at Milledgeville. Sheriff Singleton, of Thomas county, was notified by telegraph to take Mitchell into custody.

The governor's decision ends one of the most remarkable cases in Georgia's legal history. Mitchell's friends have exhausted every effort to save him from the disgrace of convict's stripes and the executive ruling came as a great surprise to them.

In denying clemency to Mitchell, Governor Brown said:

"Should the clemency asked for in the present case be extended, there is grave danger that it would bear fruits of sorrow in every section of our state. It would set an example embodying a daily menace to Georgia's womanhood. It would say that we have one law for the rich, another for the poor; one law for the highly educated, another for those too poor to enjoy the privileges and immunities consequent upon education; one law for the classes, another for the masses."

1,000 CASES OF PELLAGRA.

Only One County in North Carolina Free of the Disease.

It is estimated by physicians that 1,000 cases of the new disease, pellagra, exist in North Carolina. In every county, except Onslow, it is said the disease prevails.

That it is a disease to be dreaded is not questioned, and Dr. E. J. Jenness Wood, of Wilmington, says that pellagra is second only in importance to tuberculosis. While he does not believe it originates from corn, he frankly admits that there are very few physicians who do not believe the disease is caused by corn.

The six or more deaths in North Carolina recently diagnosed as being the result of pellagra and the alarming increase of the disease show that the situation is daily growing more serious. Just last week Dr. James McKee, superintendent of the state hospital at Raleigh, said that there are fourteen cases there now, there having been a total of nineteen, the first case having developed a year and a half ago.

About ten days ago there was a death from the disease at the state hospital and since that time a death at Cary. Durham has suffered severely from it, and the disease is giving close study to it.

Fireman Finds Home in Flames and Little Sons Dead.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 5.—Responding to an alarm of fire today, William Willis, captain of a fire department in the suburb of Norwood, found his home in flames and the dead bodies of his son Elbert, five years old, and Virgil Elbert, four years old, being carried from the place. Both had been suffocated. The two little boys were playing in a room on the second floor of the Willis home when the fire started from some unknown cause and rapidly enveloped the building. Mrs. Willis, mother of the Willis child, was seriously burned while attempting to rescue her son.

KILLS WIFE, THEN HIMSELF.

Bodies of Aged Couple Found in a New York Cemetery.

New York, Sept. 4.—Charles A. Orlamunder, a musician 65 years old, shot his crippled wife dead tonight and then killed himself with the same revolver at the grave of the woman's first husband. The bodies were found in Hoboken cemetery in such a position that it is thought the wife must have been leaning forward on her crutches over the grave when her husband shot her. After she fell he evidently wiped the blood from her head, as a handkerchief still wet with blood was found in a coat pocket.

At the sound of the two shots the superintendent of the cemetery hurried toward the direction of the reports. He found the woman dead at the feet of the man, who was sitting on a bench still breathing faintly. He died before he could be taken to a hospital.

A curt letter to an undertaker found in Mrs. Orlamunder's handbag pointed straight to an agreement between wife and husband to die together.

"Bury us and whatever the expense, you will be paid," it directed. A card in Orlamunder's pocket gave the name of a friend who, an endorsement explained, would provide money for the funeral.

Orlamunder had married the widow of his employer, the owner of a Jersey City beer garden where for many years he had led the orchestra. A deed of title from the first husband to the burial plot where the two chose to die was found in the wife's handbag.

KILLED WOMAN FOR ROBBER.

Planter Shoots Wife of Physician Who Was Attending Him.

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 5.—Mistaking her for a burglar, William Avant, a prominent planter of Georgetown county, last night shot and instantly killed Mrs. C. C. Bigham, who had accompanied her husband, a physician, of Harpers, a small town in the same county, on a professional visit to Avant's home, "Sunnyside" plantation, on Murrell's inlet. Dr. Bigham and Mr. Avant were sitting on the front porch of Avant's home after supper when they saw in the darkness a figure pass the house and go towards a nearby creek. Not being answered when they hailed, they got a shotgun and followed. They saw the figure apparently crouch near the creek bank, and hearing no reply when they called, Avant asked Dr. Bigham what he should do. "Shoot it," said Bigham, and Avant fired both barrels at close range. Running back to the house, they secured a light and returned to the creek bank to find Mrs. Bigham stretched there dead, the contents of both barrels having taken effect in her back, even the gun wads having penetrated her flesh. Avant carried the news to Georgetown and accompanied the deputy sheriff and coroner back to Murrell's inlet.

LEADER AMONG NEWSPAPERS.

Philadelphia Record a Journal That is Not Selfish as to the News.

One of the many traits that commend the Philadelphia Record to people who do not live in the great cities is that it is a newspaper that is not selfish about its news, and is not city-centered in its ambitions. There has long been a well-grounded complaint that most of the great metropolitan dailies are provincial, and take it for granted that city news is all that it is necessary for them to print.

The Record apparently takes a different view. While giving a faithful chronicle of all that occurs in its own city, it does not neglect nor skimp the news of any part of the wide field that it covers. Any issue of this big newspaper is full of proof that it prints full and reliable reports of everything of interest that occurs in its whole territory.

The Record is refreshingly different from other big dailies in many ways. It is steady and reliable, and not prone to get wildly excited over some spectacular muck-raking crusade of its own making. Instead of packing its columns with frenzied discussions, it simply prints the news, and, according to well-verified claims, more items of news than any other newspaper in the country.

Farmer Lads Wanted by the Government.

Students with an agricultural training who are familiar with laboratory and field work, with classes and varieties of cereals, are in demand by the government at salaries ranging from $1,200 to $2,000 a year.

The civil service commission has announced an examination on September 22 to secure eligibles for positions as assistants in grain standardization in the bureau of plant industry of the department of agriculture. One of the requirements is the writing of a thesis of not less than 2,000 words on the kinds and classes of cereal grains grown in the United States and methods of harvesting and marketing, with special reference to classing and grading grain commercially.

The Law Disobeyed in Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, Sept. 5.—Atlantic City again ignored the state excise laws today and sold drinks to all comers. Although Mayor Stoy is under arrest and heavy bail for his refusal to force the closing of the saloons on former Sundays the resort went calmly on its way of handing out Sunday drinks at nearly every bar and every cafe, and the situation is practically in the same shape as during the past few weeks since reformers started in to cause a halt. There was no baseball game, the orders of Commodore Louis Kuehnle, political boss and head of the baseball syndicate, "to stop for the season, being carefully respected. The eight state detectives brought here on the order of Prosecutor Goldenberg to break up gambling in every form did their work well, but the Sunday saloon did business without interference throughout last night and today.

A Narrow Escape.

Edgar N. Baylis, a merchant of Robinsonville, Del., wrote: "About two years ago I was thin and sick, and coughed all the time and if I did not have consumption, it was near to it. I commenced using Foley's Honey and Tar, and it stopped my cough, and I am now entirely well, and have gained twenty-eight pounds, all due to the good results from taking Foley's Honey and Tar." Consumption Among Negroes.

Washington, Sept. 4.—The organization of a negro anti-tuberculosis league is being continually urged by the officers of the public health and marine hospital service and in many of the Southern states it is reported such leagues have been formed.

The formation of local leagues in all the churches of the negro race, which will look after sick members and furnish information on consumption, how it should be treated and warned off, is the preliminary step, say the government officials. The employment of a regular physician who is to pass upon cases and otherwise aid in the work is advised and a warning issued against the use of patent medicines.

BRIEF ITEMS OF GENERAL NEWS.

A Week's Events of More or Less Interest to the Public.

Frost in Michigan has wrought many thousands of dollars damage to crops, corn and potatoes being the hardest hit.

Jeff Richards, a lumberman of Sevier county, Tenn., was shot from ambush Sunday afternoon and instantly killed.

Clyde Fitch, one of America's most celebrated authors and playwrights, died at a resort in France Saturday, following a surgical operation.

John and Lewis Balm, colored, were lynched near Jackson, Ala., Thursday night for the murder of Sheriff J. L. Wainwright. Both victims made full confessions.

Fifteen hundred men will be given employment by the opening of the mines of the Scott County Mineral Company, just organized at Bristol, Va., with a capital stock of $5,000,000.

Lacking two years of being 100 years old, and leaving as many descendants as she had lived years, Mrs. Maria L. Deryman died at the home of her son near Baltimore Thursday.

Col. H. E. Reichard, a Wilkesbarre, Pa., millionaire, committed suicide Thursday by shooting himself. He was 78 years old and had been suffering from a nervous trouble for some time.

The striking machinists and blacksmiths in the Seaboard Air Line shops at Portsmouth, Va., returned to work Saturday, all differences having been settled in a manner satisfactory to both sides.

The Supreme court of Virginia has refused to interfere with the local option election ordered to be held in Roanoke, Va., September 30. The campaign from now until election day will be fast and furious.

Thirty-eight children mourn the death of their father, John W. Miller, aged 76 years, who died Thursday at the county home at Indiana, Pa., where he has been an inmate for several years. Mr. Miller was married four times.

The first cotton crop ever raised in California is being harvested. About 1,500 acres were planted as an experiment, and so satisfactory are the results it is predicted that cotton will become one of the staple products of Imperial valley.

According to the government report on the cotton crop, the average condition is 63.7 per cent. A low record was expected, but this is an unprecedented figure. The general average for ten years at the corresponding date was 73.6 per cent.

Judge William Hodges Mann, successful candidate in the Democratic primary for governor of Virginia, spent $11,294 to secure the nomination. Harry St. George Tucker spent $15,829 and failed to get it. The salary of the office for four years is $20,000.

President Taft will receive their Imperial highnesses, Prince and Princess Kuni and their suite at Beverly Friday. Prince Kuni, who is a son of the emperor and the official representative of Japan at the Hudson-Fulton celebration, sailed from Liverpool for New York on the steamship Carnania last Wednesday.

The circulation of national bank notes outstanding on September 1 was $69,845,474, an increase of $3,491,310 in the month of August. The total amount of bonds on deposit on September 1 to secure circulating notes and public deposits was $729,436,509. Of this amount $595,403,650 was in 2 per cent. consols of 1930.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock has issued an order allowing postmasters of the third and fourth classes, 15 days' leave of absence to attend the convention of the National League of Postmasters of the United States to be held at Syracuse October 6, 7 and 8. Mr. Hitchcock will probably deliver an address during the convention.

The difficulty regarding the estate of the former Shah of Persia has been overcome. The British and Russian ministers co-operating with a delegation of the government have arranged for the payment of a pension of $36,800, and the departure of the former shah from Tehehan in three days after the government has formally ratified the arrangement.

After murdering his mother and concealing her body in an attic room of the family residence for several days, George Simons, a young man of Pottsville, Pa., blew his brains out with a revolver when accused of the crime. He committed suicide in the presence of his fiancée upon whom he was calling Thursday, when officers came to the home and asked for him. It is believed that Simons killed his mother in order to get possession of a trifling sum of money.

Information of President Taft's apparent intention to supplant White-law Reid as ambassador at the Court of St. James with a man of his own choosing has revived among the under diplomats left in Washington the report of the president's desire to send former Vice President Fairbanks to Great Britain. In suite of the fact that no official declaration of the president's choice of an ambassador has been made, the reports of foreign nations seem to cling tenaciously to the belief that the former vice president is one of the most favored ones under consideration.

Moving pictures for the farmers is the latest development in the exploitation of the work of the Department of Agriculture. The success which has attended the extension of the nickelodeon business throughout the country has induced Uncle Sam to embark in the enterprise on his account. A score or more of films have been sent to Minneapolis to be exhibited at the Minnesota state fair this week. The pictures show plowing, sowing, cultivating and harvesting of the cereal crops, the manufacture of butter and cheese, fruit culture and other branches of modern agriculture.

Commerce Movement Shows Prosperity's Return.

Washington, Sept. 5.—A considerable increase in industrial activity is reported by the bureau of statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor in its July figures of leading internal commerce movements. The improvement is shown principally by heavier movements of soft coal, coke, ore, and iron products, and increased building operations reported from the larger cities. Larger receipts of wool and heavier shipments of boots and shoes are other signs of returning business prosperity. The movements of grain, live stock, and meats in the month were relatively light.

Sermon by

Spiritual Israel, Then Natural Israel.

Text, "If ye be Christ's then are ye Abraham's Seed, and heirs" (Galatians iii, 29).

WATERLOO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The issue of life, death and a hereafter are all in the hand of power of the Lord. He is the author of none of us, and holds himself fully responsible, declaring that all of his purposes shall be accomplished, and that his Word that has gone forth shall not return to him void, but shall accomplish that which he pleases (Isaiah lv, 10, 11).

We owe nothing in the beginning, and will be under no obligations to him in the end. We are his debtors for all that is profitable or enjoyable. He is a rich King and Father and is able and willing to do exceedingly abundantly for us his creatures—more than we could have asked or thought.

But he has his own way for doing this, which, in the end, will be seen to be the best way. "His ways are in wisdom and darkness," writes the prophet, and the poet answers, yes, "and moves in a mysterious way the wisdom to perform."

The Gift of God.

Divine life is "the gift of God" for all of his creatures who will take it on his terms, and for all others he declares, "The wages of sin is death"—the forfeit of life. And who can see that this arrangement to destroy all who will not use life in accord with the Divine will, is really a mercy? To perpetuate life opposed to his will and law of righteousness would be a disgrace to God and an injury to the holy as well as to the unholy. God gave our race life in Adam, but, as he had foreseen, they lost it by disobedience and came under the penalty—death. As he purposed before the foundation of the world, he in one time sent his Son to be "The Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." As such Jesus died, "the just for the unjust," "fasting death for every man" (Hebrews ii, 14). This glorious purpose God set forth to Father Abraham in his oath-bound covenant, of which the Apostle writes in Hebrews vi, 13-20.

The context shows distinctly that the Apostle and the early Church drew comfort from the Oath-Bound Covenant, and clearly implies that this same comfort belongs to every true Christian down to the end of this age—to every member of the Body of Christ. The Apostle's words imply that God's promise and oath were in fact more for us than for Abraham.

Note the Apostle's words: "That by his unchangeable things (two unalterable things in which it was impossible for God to lie, we the Gospel Church might have a strong consolation, two who have fled for refuge to Christ, to be held upon the hope set before us."

Assurance of Almighty's Oath. Beardless Abraham and all of his family, Israel after the flesh, drew a certain amount of blessing and encouragement from this Covenant of promise and the oath of the Almighty, which doubly sealed it, which gave double assurance of its certainty of accomplishment; but the Apostle intimates in the words quoted, that God's special design in giving that covenant and in binding it solemnly by an oath, was to encourage Spiritual Israel—to give us a firm foundation for faith.

Of well knew that, although 3,000 years from his own standpoint would be but a brief space, "as a watch in the night," nevertheless to us the time would appear long, and the strain upon the nerves would be severe; hence the postscript statement and the still more emphatic oath that bound it. We can better wonder at such consideration of the part of the great Creator—that he would stoop to his fallen creatures and, above all, that he should condescend to give his oath on this subject.

The Lord Jesus was the great heir of the Abrahamic promise, and the people of his consecrated people of the Gospel Age are declared to be his heirs in that promise, which is now fulfilled. For its fulfillment, the Church is waiting, as the people of fellow-members of the Body of Christ, to be participants with the Lord in the glories implied in the promise, but additionally, the whole nation (the entire human family) is waiting and traveling in pain to the great fulfillment of the great fulfillment of that oath-bound promise or covenant (Romans ix, 13-25).

Those who follow the Apostle's argument and realize that we as Christians are waiting for the fulfillment of the promise, will be anxious to know what are the terms of this Covenant of promise, which is the hope of the world, the object of the Church, and the object of each individual and care on the part of God, in that he would promise to back his word with an oath. The answer that every Christian should know what this promise is, lies in the very foundation of our Christian hope.

Now can this hope be an anchor to us in all the storms and trials and difficulties of life, in all the opposition of the world, the flesh and the devil, if we do not know what the hope is, if we have not even reorganized the promise upon which this hope is based?

God Foresees the Present. This is the pitiable condition of many of God's true children; for they are merely babes in Christ, using the milk of the Word. They have need of the strong meat of God's promises, as the Apostle speaks of it, that they may be "strong in the Lord and the power of his might," that they might have on the whole armor of God—helmet, breastplate, sandals, sword and shield—and be able to quench the fiery darts of the Wicked One; able also to help the weaker ones in this day when the Adversary is assailing the Word of God, the citadel of the truth, with various infidel arguments in the hands and mouths of those who profess to be ministers of the Word.

Need I quote the promise, the one so repeatedly referred to in the apostolic writings, the one which is the basis or anchorage for our souls?

The Apostle Paul referred to this very promise, declaring that the Seed of Abraham mentioned therein is Christ. All Christians agree to this, although they have not distinctively and properly associated it with the declarations of the promise. But the Apostle makes clear to us that in saying that Christ is the Seed of Abraham, he had in mind not only the Lord Jesus as the Head of the Body, the Head of the Christ, but also the over-coming saints of this Gospel Age as the Body of Christ. This he distinctly states in many places, for instance Galatians iii, 16-29. Here he declares the matter expressly, saying: "If ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's Seed, and heirs according to the promise."

"The Seed of Abraham" is the Gospel Church, with her Head, the Lord Jesus; as the Apostle states again saying: "We, brethren, as Isaac was (typified by Isaac), are the children of promise" (Galatians iv, 28). It follows that the Seed of Abraham mentioned in the promise is not complete and will not be until the full close of this Gospel Age—the harvest time of which we believe we are now in.

But what a wonderful thought is involved in this plain interpretation of the Divine Word! It is big with hope for Spiritual Israel, the Spiritual Seed, and no less, it means a blessing for the natural seed, fleshly Israel, and ultimately the millennium blessings to all the families of the earth. Let us examine these three hopes: The hopes for these three classes center in this great Oath-Bound Covenant. Let us thus obtain what the Apostle tells us was the Lord's intention for us, namely, strong consolation—strong encouragement.

All through the prophecies the Lord foretold the sufferings of Christ and the glories that should follow; nevertheless the glories to follow have been granted much more space in the Divine Revelation than the sufferings of the present time. The implication suggested by the Apostle is that when the glories of the future shall be realized the trials and sufferings and difficulties of the present time will be found not worthy to be compared; but those glories and blessings have been veiled from our mental vision, and instead a great pall hangs over the future in the minds of many of the Lord's people.

Distinct Simple Language.

Many of us have learned to distort the simple language of God's Word in such a manner as to cause us anguish and distress. For instance, "destroy," "perish," "die," "second death," "everlasting destruction," etc., terms used by the Lord to represent the ultimate, complete annihilation of those who will not come into harmony with him after a full opportunity is granted them, are interpreted to mean the reverse of what they say—life, preservation in torture, etc.

It is high time, dear friends, that we should learn that God's Book is not the foundation of these horrible nightmares which have afflicted us, and which in the past hindered many of us from a proper love and reverence of our Creator. It is high time that we should take the explanation which the Apostle gives us of this matter and of all the errors which assault poor humanity respecting the future. He says: "The God of this world has blinded the minds of them that believe not, lest the glorious light of the goodness of God, as it shines in the face of Jesus Christ our Lord, should shine into their hearts" (II Corinthians iv, 4). We cannot here and now discuss this subject, but have provided in the hands of the ushers, some free pamphlets on "What Say the Scriptures about Hell?" Should the supply prove insufficient drop me a postal-card and I will cheerfully send from Brooklyn what will satisfy both your head and your heart.

Now what hope and interest has the Church of Christ in this promise made to Abraham? To us belongs the very essence of the promise, "the riches of God's grace." The promise implies the greatness of the Seed of Abraham, which Seed is Christ and the over-coming Church. This greatness is no wonderful as to be almost beyond human comprehension. The over-coming of this Gospel Age who "make their calling and election sure" in Christ, are to be joint-heirs with him in the glories

Millennial Kingdom which is to be God's agency or channel for bringing about the promised blessings—the blessings of all the families of the earth.

The great blessing of forgiveness of sins which are past, and even the blessing of being awakened from the sleep of death, would profit mankind but little, if the arrangements of that future time—the Millennium Age—were not on such a scale as to permit a thorough recovery from present mental, moral and physical weaknesses. Hence we are rejoiced to learn that in that time Satan will be bound, every evil influence and every unfavorable condition will be brought under restraint, and the favor of God through the knowledge of God will be turned upon the people—"The knowledge of the Lord shall fill the whole earth as the waters cover the great deep." Blessing, eye, favor upon favor, blessing upon blessing, is the Lord's arrangement and provision! All shall know him from the least unto the greatest, and none shall need to say to his neighbor or his brother, "Know thou the Lord?" (Isaiah xl, 9; Jeremiah xxxi, 34).

The prophets spoke repeatedly of these blessings due to the world in the future. Mark how Joel tells that, as during this Gospel Age, the Lord pours out his spirit upon his servants and hand-maidens, so after these days, in the Millennium Age, he will pour out his spirit upon all flesh. There will be world-wide blessing through the knowledge of the Truth. Mark how Moses, the prophet, spoke of these coming blessings, and told how God would raise up a greater Lawgiver than himself, a greater Teacher, a better Mediator, and, under the better Covenant of the Lord, would bring blessings world-wide! Mark again how he represents the atonement for the sins of the whole world in the Atonement Day sacrificial arrangements! Mark how again he typologically foretold the blessings of the Millennium Age, representing it in Israel's "Year of Jubilee," in which every man would free and every possession was returned to its original ownership, thus representing the blessings of the future, man's release from the servitude of sin and Satan, and the return to him of all that was lost through Adam's sin. Isaiah, Jeremiah, Hosea, Micah, have spoken of these coming times, so that the Apostle Peter, pointing to the future, could truthfully declare that the coming times of restitution of all things have been spoken by the mouth of all the holy prophets since the world began (Acts iii, 19-21).

Hope For Jews and Others.

The second class to be blessed under this Abrahamic Covenant is fleshly Israel. We are not forgetting that the Jews were a stiff-necked and rebellious people; that they slew the prophets and stoned the Lord's ministers and caused the crucifixion of our Redeemer. Nevertheless, the Scriptures clearly hold forth that after they have had a period of chastisement, which they have been undergoing as a nation since our Lord's crucifixion, and after Spiritual Israel shall have been glorified in the Kingdom, then a blessing from the Lord will come upon natural Israel; they shall be saved or recovered from their blindness, and, as the Prophet declares, they shall look upon him whom they have pierced and shall mourn for him—because the eyes of their understanding shall be opened. We rejoice, too, that the promise is clear and distinct that the Lord will pour upon them the "spirit of prayer and of supplication" (Zechariah xii, 10). See also Romans xi, 25-27.

But if God is to have mercy upon the natural Israelite, whom he declares to have been stiff-necked and hard-hearted and rebellious, would it surprise us that the Divine, benevolent intention should be to bless others than the Jews—others who had not in the past the favors and privileges of this favored nation, and whose course, therefore, was less in opposition to the light? It should not surprise us. And so we find in this great Oath-Bound Covenant a blessing for all nations—all peoples.

Poor, Imperfect Creatures. "We make God's love too narrow by finite standards of our own."

Do not misapprehend us. We are not teaching that heathen and imbeciles and the unregenerate in general shall be taken to heaven, where they would be utterly out of harmony with their surroundings and require to be converted and to be taught. Such an inconsistent view we leave to those who are now claiming that the heathen will be saved in their ignorance. We stand by the Word of God that there is no free salvation without faith in Christ Jesus, and that the heathen and the imbeciles have neither part nor lot in the salvation of the present time. We stand by the Scriptures which say that salvation at the present time is only for the little flock, who, through much tribulation, shall enter the Kingdom. We stand by the Scriptures which say that this Kingdom class now being developed is the Seed of Abraham under the Lord, their Head, their Elder Brother, the Bridegroom.

The period in which opportunity will be granted to man is in the Scriptures termed the Day of Judgment—a thousand-year day, the Millennium Day. I will be a day of trial, a day of testing, a day of proving the world to see whether, with a full knowledge of God and of righteousness, which he requires, they will choose righteousness in preference to sin, choose life in preference to the Second Death. Thank God for that wonderful judgment, the trial day for the world, secured for all through the precious blood of Christ. "When the judgments of the Lord are abroad in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness" (Isaiah xxvi, 9).

RELIGIOUS THOUGHT.

Gems Gleaned From the Teachings of All Denominations.

A guilty conscience makes cowards of us all, but a clean conscience makes heroes of men.—Rev. W. P. Hines, Baptist, Lexington, Ky.

Woman's Purity. Like a calla lily so is the purity radiating from the character and life of a good woman, changing the atmosphere about her and making the world better for her having lived in it.—Rev. W. M. Vines, Baptist, Brooklyn.

Revealer of Man. The house is the revealer and developer of man. Beasts have dens, birds have nests, and men have homes. A man shows what he is by the kind of house he builds around himself.—Rev. Dr. Radcliffe, Presbyterian, Washington.

Fault Mending Time. Now is the time to fill up the valleys of carelessness by mending numerous little faults; also it is the fitting time to level the mountains of pride and practice the virtue of humility at all times.—Archbishop Keane, Roman Catholic, Dubuque, Ia.

Spirit of Wisdom. By the term "spirit of wisdom" is meant not merely a wise spirit, though so much is, of course, implied, but a spirit which is essentially wise even in its temper and action.—Rev. C. W. McCormick, Methodist Episcopal, Brooklyn.

Soul Perfection. Virtue can never be accumulated by self seeking. No soul can come far on its way toward perfection until it shall devote its enthusiasm to the unselfish service of humanity, until it shall learn that its task is to reach every man.—Rev. Ira J. Houston, Congregationalist, Cleveland, O.

Church Valor Theories. We all need to be told now and then to get the cobwebs out of our brains. There are cobweb theories of life, false and foolish philosophies of life, possible only to those who have prostrated themselves before an idol of the theater. There is nothing virtuous in suffering for its own sake. God does not envy you your happiness. Pains which must be borne should be borne heroically. Don't be afraid to be happy.—Rev. Charles F. Aked, Baptist, New York.

Ideals. Ideals are revelations of God. In painting and poetry, in sculpture and in music, by as much as the masterpiece reaches the ideal, by so much is it a revelation of God. Ideal character is God's divinest revelation, and it is in the field of goodness that any man is justified in ambitious yearnings to reach the highest standards. He who approaches an ideal approaches God. He who achieves an ideal becomes a high priest of the Perfect One.—Rev. Dr. Charles Edward Locke, Methodist Episcopal, Los Angeles, Cal.

Life's Object. If the object of life were happiness simply and solely, then the many disappointments that come to us could not be understood. If the supreme object of life were "to be saved"—that is, to have guaranteed one's soul for all future time, as a man guarantees himself against loss by a fire insurance policy—then life's contradictions and temptations and defeats could not be understood. But life is for training, for growth, for the elimination of the dross and the perfecting of the spiritual and physical.—Rev. Dr. Thomas Van Ness, Unitarian, Boston.

Moral Equivalent of War.

We are praying in these days for the abolition of wars. Let us have an end of war by all means. What we want, however, is "the moral equivalent of war"—something to take up and carry over its daring, courage and heroism. Individual sin and vice are hard enough to eradicate in all conscience, but sin and vice capitalized, re-enforced, given the proportions of a social institution, will give way to nothing short of the violence of a war to the finish, war that gives no quarter and accepts no compromise.—Rev. Frank Newhall White, Congregationalist, Chicago.

The All Good and All True.

Love is the motive of God. Love made even the washing of the disciples' feet a regal and kingly act. Love will give more eloquence to stumbling speech than all the arts of the stage and school. Love will make copper coins to be golden in its spiritual alchemy. Love will fertilize the soil into which the seed of truth is dropped. Love will put the halo of sainthood about the brow of the humblest Christian. Love is the all good, the all beautiful, the all true. It is the odor of the flower, the flavor of the wine, the brilliance of the gem, the soul of the harmony. Love is the only crown which service can wear, but he who wears it is a prince and king, whatever the service he renders.—Rev. Dr. Spenser B. Measer, Baptist, Brooklyn.

Life Rich With God's Peace.

If you imagine that you must take care of yourself and make all your own arrangements as if everything in your life and in your home depended upon your own efforts, then no wonder your life becomes a fear and a great distress. But if you can realize that you are a creature, not creator, and a child of the ever loving Father; if you can know that the whole plan of your life is mapped out in the skies and that you are consciously or unconsciously, as long as your desire is pure and right, working out the divine intention—if that is your faith, then, whether you come to us or we come to you, bleak winter or beauteous summer, God will come with it and your life will be rich with the very peace of God.—Rev. Dr. John H. Progh, Reformed, Pittsburg.

Get Well

If you are sick, you wish to get well, don't you? Of course you do. You wish to be rid of the pain and misery, and be happy again.

If your illness is caused by female trouble, you can quickly get the right remedy to get well. It's Cardui. This great medicine, for women, has relieved or cured thousands of ladies, suffering like you from some female trouble.

TAKE CARDUI

For Women's Ills

Mrs. Fannie Ellis, of Foster, Ark., suffered agony for seven years. Read her letter about Cardui. She writes: "I was sick for seven years with female trouble. Every month I would very nearly die with my head and back. I took 12 bottles of Cardui and was cured. Cardui is a God-send to suffering women." Try it.

The growing importance of Greensboro as a commercial center is emphasized by the fact that both the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph Companies now operate direct wires between this city and New York, thus avoiding the loss of time incident to relaying messages.The annual Sunday school picnic at Peace church will be held on Saturday before the third Sunday in September. Everybody is cordially invited to attend and carry a basket of edibles for the picnic dinner. A speaker will be secured to deliver an address on some appropriate subject.The Interstate Chemical Company, of Baltimore, is preparing to open a branch in this city, the business to be handled by the Carolina Distribution Company, with offices and warehouses on South Davis street.
The business will be conducted under the management of Mr. T. M.
Moore.Mr. S. F. Stewart has arrived from his former home in Gastonia to reside permanently in Greensboro. His friends and relatives in Guilford are glad to welcome him back as a resident. As stated in a previous number of the Patriot, he will make his home with his nephew, Mr. M. C.
Stewart, on Chestnut street.Ben Clendenin, "Boot" Bass and Charles Cheek, all colored, finished their sentences on the county roads
and were discharged Thursday, but before sundown Saturday all of them were in jail on the charge of larceny, being accused of stealing clothing from the guards at the convict camp. It would appear as if they feel more at home in jail and on the roads than anywhere else.Mr. Paul W. Schenck, of the Southern Life and Trust Company, is a director of the Richmond Trust Company, which has been organized in Columbia, S. C., to conduct a general insurance and real estate business. The company is modeled after a number of the incorporated agencies that have been organized in this state and South Carolina by the Southern Life and Trust Company.Harris L. Moore and James W.
Taylor, members of the firm of Moore
& Taylor, of Randleman, have filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States court here. Judge Boyd has signed the decree and referred the matter to G. S. Ferguson, Jr., referee in bankruptcy, who has advised a meeting of the creditors
to be held at his office in this city
Friday, September 17.Miss Jennie Ducker, of Hopkinsville, Ky., has arrived in the city and entered upon her work as deaconess
of West Market Street Methodist church. She is working under the auspices of the woman's home mission society and will visit the sick and needy, both in and out of the church. This is a new departure in church work in this section, though it has been in vogue in many of the larger cities for several years.Police Officer Hepler had an exciting experience Saturday afternoon
with a dog that was supposed to be
mad. The policeman found the dog wandering about the street, in violation of the ordinance requiring all canines to be kept confined for a period, and fastening a small rope around its neck, started with the prisoner to the city hall. Near the corner of South Elm and Washington streets the dog appeared to become suddenly mad and made a vicious attack on the officer. The policeman beat the dog off with his "billy"
and put an end to its existence with a couple of shots from his revolver.Mr. C. G. Wallace, a member of the firm of the D. R. Midyette Company, general agents in the District of Columbia, Virginia, North and South Carolina for the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, is preparing to move his family from Richmond to this city.
Mr. Wallace, who has charge of his company's business in this state, has been making his headquarters in Greensboro for several months.Col. and Mrs. Al Fairbrother have returned from an extended visit to the Pacific coast. Col. Fairbrother had been away since January and Mrs. Fairbrother since the first of
May. They spent most of the time in California, making pleasant side trips to the Seattle exposition and other places. It is the purpose of Col. Fairbrother to resume publication of his interesting and unique
Journal, Everything, about January 1, 1910.The Greensboro baseball team returned from Wilmington Sunday afternoon, having lost four of the six post series games with the Wilmington team. Most of the members of the team have returned to their homes. Manager McKevitt will remain here a few days before going to his home in Grand Rapids, Mich.
It is understood that he will manage the team again next year and that most of the old players will return to make the third race for the pennant.Gentry Brothers' dog and pony show gave two performances in the auditorium Friday afternoon and night and delighted thousands of people from the city and surrounding country. This was the first show
to be given in the auditorium, and it was demonstrated beyond all question
that this immense structure is admirably adapted to such purposes. The crowds Friday were much larger than would have witnessed performances
under a tent in the outskirts of the city.Mr. W. Stedman Vaughn, a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Vaughn, of Winston-Salem, died at St. Leo's hospital suddenly Monday night. Recently he had been in northern hospital for treatment and reached Greensboro on his return home Saturday evening.
He was too weak to finish the trip and was carried to St. Leo's. The immediate cause of his death was heart failure. He was 30 years old and a well known young business man. The remains were carried to Winston-Salem yesterday morning.Greensboro will be represented by 16 or more young men at the University of North Carolina during the next scholastic year. The following went to Chapel Hill Monday to ma-triculate as members of the freshman class: Robert Scott, Gray Merritt, Fielding Fry, Speight Hunter, Albert
Wilson, Frank Smith, Fleming Weaver, Welborn Forney, Ernest Alderman and Bryan Murchison. Among the former students who have returned are: Harry Grimsley, Robert R.
King, Jr., Jesse Crutchfield, Robert Vanstory, Ned Williams and Brockton Lyon.Many people delude themselves by saying "It will wear away," when they notice symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. This is a mistake.
Take Foley's Kidney Pills, and stop
the drain on the vitality. They cure backache, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, and make every trace of pain, weakness, and urinary trouble
disappear. Howard Gardner.CLEAN UP

NEW YORKPURE DRUGS!The physician who prescribed for you understands perfectly well that he cannot be too careful. The more thoroughly he understands the art of healing
the more he appreciates the necessity of caution. It is almost superfluous to say that the druggist to whom you take the prescription should exercise at least a corresponding degree of care. If he fails to do this, medical attendance may be rendered valueless. You can have as much confidence in the prescriptions we fill for you as you could if you were competent to fill them yourself and did it. We are trying to stand for all that is good and pure in the drug business and we want you to remember this in making your drug store purchases. Do you happen to want anything in our line? If so, call at our store.Howard Gardner
