The quarterly meeting of the Greensboro Association will be held Wednesday night. In addition to the regular order of routine business, the following addresses will be delivered: "Objects and Aims of the Greensboro Merchants' Association," by J. C. Wills; "Fake Advertising," by J. Representatives of the Greensboro Merchants Association and the Chamber of Commerce held a joint meeting Monday night and discussed plans for raising $15,000 through the sale of stock in Greensboro to add to the erection of a new building at the Ridge Institute to replace the structure destroyed by fire several months ago. Messrs. R. R. King, A. B. Kimball and R. E. Steele were appointed members of a committee to formulate plans and present the matter to the public. This committee and others who may be interested in the project will hold a meeting tonight, at which time a definite line of action may be determined upon.

Greensboro Democratic will meet in the court house this Saturday at noon to ratify the primary nominations and to name delegates to the judicial, congressional and state conventions. All Democrats who participated in the primaries will be entitled to seats in the convention as delegates.

The convention will be called to order by Mr. E. G. Sherrill, chairman of the executive committee, and it is understood that he will request Prof. W. C. Jackson, of the State Normal and Industrial College, to serve as temporary chairman.

The county convention has a total of 156 votes, divided among the 28 precincts as follows:

Washington, 2; North Rock Creek, 5; North Madison, 2; South Rock Creek, 2; Greene, 4; South Madison, 1; North Jefferson, 2; Clay, 4; South Monroe, 1; Precinct No. 3, 9; Precinct No. 4, 16; Precinct No. 2, 16; Precinct No. 1, 11; Friendship, 16; Oak Ridge, 6; South Morehead, 6; North High Point, 14; South High Point, No. 1, 8; South High Point, No. 2, 9; North Jefferson, 2; North Monroe, 1; North Gilmer, 13; Penitentiary, 5; Center Grove, 2; Sumner, 2; Bruce, 3; Jamestown, 4; Deep River, 2.

A computation of the votes cast for commissioner showed that 979 votes were necessary to a nomination. The votes cast for the four highest men stood as follows: W. C. Tucker, 1,097; T. A. Wilson, 1,045; J. A. Rankin, 1,031; C. A. Wharton, 987.

Inasmuch as the primary law contains no provision covering such a contingency as this, the board of elections did not care to make a ruling and referred the matter to the county Democratic executive committee. Chairman Sherrill issued a call for a meeting of the committee Monday night. The meeting was held at the court house at 8 o'clock, and after considering and discussing the situation fully, the committee ordered a second primary held today, the four men named above to enter and the three receiving the highest votes to be declared the nominees.

The candidates lost no time, but got to work among their friends at once. Despite the short time, much work has been done among the voters and the indications are that a good vote will be polled today.

The race between Messrs. W. J. Weatherly and H. S. Patterson for the nomination for constable adds to the interest in the second primary in Morehead township. The primary Saturday gave Mr. Weatherly 205 and Mr. Patterson 155 votes. Both men have been working diligently since Saturday to round up as many votes as possible for today's contest.

Killed in Automobile Accident.

Mr. Garland Blair, a son of the late J. A. Blair, of Asheboro, lost his life a few days ago in an automobile accident in Republic, Wash., where he and his brother, Mr. Colbert Blair, have been publishing a newspaper for several years. He was 32 years old and married. In addition to his brother and widow, he is survived by his aged mother, Mrs. Martha Blair, of Asheboro, and a sister, Mrs. A. M. Rankin, of High Point. He has many relatives in Guilford and Randolph counties.

Clearness is the ornament of youth thought.

When the Columbian, of the Leyland Line, burned at sea 150 miles south of Sable Island three boats, full of her crew, left the flaming vessel's side. In the wallow of the waves they separated. Two days later two of the boats, containing 27 of the crew, were picked up by the liners Franconia and Manhattan. The third, that which the Seneca rescued, was given up as lost.

The revenue cutter was on duty as a patrol boat, scanning the sea for icebergs, when on Sunday morning the lookout shouted "Boat ahead on the starboard bow." In an instant Captain Johnson ordered full steam ahead and eager eyes watched the little derelict as the cutter's prow sheared through the waves. Not a sign of life was to be seen from the deck of the ship, but to make sure the captain ordered "heave overboard" for closer examination.

When their boat hook gripped the gunwale of the drifting lifeboat four men, huddled together in her bottom, were found. All were in a state of absolute collapse. They could not speak. Their lack-lustre eyes and hollow cheeks plainly told their story of starvation. The pile of clothing on which they crouched was the first indication that others who shared their fate had gone to the bottom of the sea.

Noted Woman Lecturer Coming.

The Patriot is requested to announce that Dr. Anna S. Richardson, of New York, the promoter of the better babies contests and chairman of the National Congress of Mothers, will be in Greensboro on Saturday afternoon, May 30, to talk to the mothers of Guilford county.

The lecture will be given at the Elks Club and will be free to all. Mrs. Richardson is one of the biggest women of the country and every mother should hear her.

It matters not how a man dies, but how he lives.

A SECOND PRIMARY TODAY

TO NAME THREE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

The Democrats of the county today are engaged in holding a second primary to nominate three candidates for county commissioners, this having been made necessary by the fact that four of the seven candidates in last Saturday's primary received an apparent majority of all the votes cast.

When The Patriot went to press Monday morning it appeared that Messrs. T. A. Wilson, J. A. Rankin and W. C. Tucker had been renominated, and publication to this effect was made upon the authority of the chairman of the board of elections. Later in the day, when all the returns had been received and carefully tabulated, it was found that Mr. C. A. Wharton had also received a majority.

A computation of the votes cast for commissioner showed that 979 votes were necessary to a nomination. The votes cast for the four highest men stood as follows: W. C. Tucker, 1,097; T. A. Wilson, 1,045; J. A. Rankin, 1,031; C. A. Wharton, 987.

Inasmuch as the primary law contains no provision covering such a contingency as this, the board of elections did not care to make a ruling and referred the matter to the county Democratic executive committee. HOPING FOR A SETTLEMENT

IF HUERTA RESIGNS TASK OF MEXICAN MEDIATION WILL BE EASIER.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 20.—Confidence in the amicable settlement not only of differences between the United States and Mexico, but in the ultimate pacification of Mexico through the avenues of diplomacy, was reflected tonight after the first formal session of the three South American mediators and representatives of the Huerta government and the United States.

Notwithstanding the fact that confirmation could not be given to earlier reports that General Huerta would not allow his incumbency of the office of president to stand in the way of a solution of the Mexican problem, the first day's session developed a feeling of optimism.

President Wilson has told the American commissioners to the mediation conference at Niagara Falls that the United States government regards the settlement of the Mexican problem in a definite form as a prerequisite to the withdrawal of the American forces from Vera Cruz.

The president gave the American commissioners no specific instructions. He told them to place themselves in a receptive mood and await proposals from the three South American mediators.

But at the same time he outlined to his representatives that peace in Mexico seemed to him to be conditioned on the elimination of the Huerta administration and the establishment in its place of a strong provisional government which would conduct an election giving fair treatment to all factions and parties and guaranteeing, moreover, a solution of the agrarian problem and other internal difficulties which have bred revolution in the Southern republic during the last three years.

The president wishes the Mexican question settled on comprehensive lines that will take into account the economic principles for which Zapata in the south, as well as Carranza in the north, have been fighting and at the same time will conserve the rightful interests of the people in the territory now controlled by the Huerta government.

During a discussion of the Mexican situation in the senate Tuesday Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, aroused his colleagues when he read a letter from a "gentleman in the government service at Vera Cruz," whose signature he tore away from the communication. The writer declared that "the noisiest thing in Mexico is the American dollar" and predicted that it would cost 200,000 lives and five billion dollars to "take Mexico and hold the Mexicans in subjection."

"It would be a great deal better," read another part of the letter, "if the United States were to bear the loss of those who have come down here to take a gambler's chance and lost than to go to war with Mexico for purposes of conquest."

MR. MILLSAPS WRITES TO GUILFORD FARMERS.

To the Farmers of Guilford County: The matter of selecting the county demonstrator is in the hands of the district agent, but he is hedged about by recent legislation and ruling by the departments at Washington and Raleigh. These men must now pass cert in educational requirements and be fitted by education and training for the work they are to do. The Guilford county situation was discussed with the management both at Washington and Raleigh, and it was decided that inasmuch as Guilford is one of the counties where dairy work is to be undertaken, the agent would have to possess a knowledge of dairy and live stock.

The writer spent several weeks investigating men, and the best man available was Mr. E. H. Anderson, of Goodwater, Mo., who, as many of the farmers already know, was appointed to the work in Guilford county last September. Mr. Anderson is a man well equipped by education and training to do this work and to be of real benefit to the people of the county. He was reared on a farm and knows it like a book. There is no work on the farm with which he is not familiar and nothing that he is not willing to tackle with his own hands. He knows soils and fertilizers, crop growing and crop feeding, the breeding of animals and animal feeding.

Now I want to say to the farmers of Guilford county that you can make this man of great value to the agriculture of the county if you will give him the encouragement and co-operation necessary. Mr. Anderson can do nothing by himself, neither can any one else. Many of the farmers of the county know more about some things than Mr. Anderson will know, but he will know more about some things than the farmers, and it is in these things that he is expected to assist you. In addition to the usual demonstrations of the past, we are taking up in several of the Piedmont counties more live stock work, and it is here especially that we need trained men. Most of our farmers think there is no money in live stock, but in other states and other counties can make money out of live stock we know that our own North Carolina farmers can, too, if they learn how to do it. It is no disparagement to say that our farmers do not know everything, because they have not had the opportunity to learn some things.

When a man gets sick he calls a doctor, not a neighbor; if you have a case in court you want a lawyer, not a neighbor; when you want a pastor for your church you want a man trained to the work and educated in the Bible, and not some one who knows about as much as you do yourself. This is a day of the specialist, and everybody is looking for the man that can do things. When the government wanted a man to build the Panama canal it secured the services of Goethals, a man of very superior training, and he has done one of the greatest accomplishments that the world has ever seen, and an ordinary man would have failed. We want men to teach us the things we do not know, not the things we do know. What we do know we know as well as any one else. The demonstration agent is expected to tell us some of the things we do not know, and if he has failed to do this, he has failed to do what he is employed to do.

We want to establish within the next few years several hundred dairies in Guilford county, and to do this the farmers will have to be shown that there is money in the business. Every farmer knows the value of manure on the farm, but he cannot raise cattle from manure alone. He must get a profit out of the cattle themselves. There can be no money in the dairy or cattle business and depend upon the local market. There must be a dependable market, one on which he can depend in July as well as in January, and this is done by the creamery and the co-operation of those producing butter fat.

Now when I mention butter fat not three in ten of the farmers of this state know what I mean. Then what is the matter? They have not learned one of the great secrets of dairying. The little country of Denmark, about one-fourth the size of North Carolina, sends to England a million dollars worth of butter a week, but they studied the business until they know it. Now, why do not our people know these things? Well, that is hard to answer. There are not three people in ten in this state who have seen a cream separator and not three in a hundred have ever seen the Babcock milk test. Not one in a hundred has seen a creamery. Why are these things not as common in North Carolina as they are in Wisconsin? This is a far better state for dairying than Wisconsin. It is far better than Denmark. How many farmers in the state have silos? Not one in a thousand, and yet the silo is the best place to keep feed that has ever been devised. Our people want to feed hay and corn fodder, and these are the most expensive feeds that any people have ever fed to animals. We cannot raise stock and use hay for rough feed; then what shall we feed? Ensilage. You can put your corn in the silo and make the finest feed in the world for about $4 per ton.

To make money out of live stock, the farmers must know how to breed, how to house and how to market, not the least of which is the marketing. They are all important, but the feed is little understood. It is necessary to know how to feed as well as what to feed. To succeed, feeding must be economical, and to be economical the ration must not be only ample to meet the requirements of the animal, but it must be balanced so as to produce the largest gain in flesh or butter fat. To succeed in cattle, the farmer must not only know the feeds containing protein, carbohydrates and fats, but he must know how to combine the feeds containing these elements so as to make a balanced ration, and to make it economical. The same is true of plant foods. The nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium must not only be a balanced ration for the plant, but if the farmer would make money out of feeding his plant, he must do it economically. No man can make a big crop on poor land, and the poor lands of the Piedmont are poor and washed into gullies and gulches largely because we have not learned to grow grass and cattle. Every country in the world that grows cattle grows grass and has fertile lands and productive farms.

Mr. Anderson will assist any farmer in Guilford county who desires his aid. He will make out a balanced ration from the feeds in the barn, a balanced fertilizer from the chemicals you buy. He will show you how to properly prune and spray your fruit trees. He will give advice in regard to the relative efficiency of the different types of machinery and implements used on the farm, so farmers desiring to purchase same may not make a mistake by purchasing an inefficient tool. In general, he will assist you in solving the many farm problems which are incessantly presenting themselves to the thoughtful farmer.

I want the county to furnish the demonstration agent with necessary equipment, as the farm level for terracing land, a spraying outfit for making demonstrations in spraying fruit trees, etc. In addition to these instruments, I want every man in Guilford county to get behind the work and make it a great success. I am deeply interested in Guilford county. It is one of the finest counties in the entire state. Her soils are the equal of any and her people are like the balance of us North Carolinians, doing about as well as they know how.

I am doing all I can for the up-building of this county in the Piedmont belt. I have charge of forty-two counties, a great big work, but I expect to give to Guilford all the time I can, and I want to have the sympathy of all the people, both in town and country. I feel some interest in the towns, but they are able to take care of themselves without my help. I want to see that our people know how to handle these wonderful soils, and then we will get along.

E. S. MILLSAPS,
District Agent.

REPUBLICAN AND PROGRESSIVE PRIMARY VOTE.

The Republican and Progressive vote in the primary election Saturday was so small as to be almost negligible. It several precincts not a single vote was cast for either party and in others only one vote was cast. However, one vote is as good as 1,000 when a candidate is seeking a nomination without opposition in the legalized primary.

The Republican candidates received the following votes: W. P. Reagan, 43; C. C. Robbins, for the house of representatives, 43 each; Daniel E. Hendrix, for sheriff, 45; E. E. Mendham, for register of deeds, 45; Nina R. Wood, for treasurer, 44; Dr. D. A. Stanton, for coroner, 44; C. D. Cobb, for surveyor, 45.

The Progressives didn't do quite so well as the Republicans, their votes standing as follows: Martin F. Douglas, for Congress, 30; Leonidas Herbin, for solicitor, 28; R. C. Handley, for the state senate, 29; R. E. Hodgin, for the house of representatives, 30; S. E. Morrow, for clerk of the court, 30.

As a rival for the taxicab a Boston man has invented coin in the slot mechanism for public automobiles which permits them to run only the distance for which a passenger has paid.

Guarding Rockefeller's Safety.

New York, May 19.—In addition to doubling his guards from four to eight, John D. Rockefeller has had installed about the grounds of his Pocantico Hills estate a system of electric lights which he can flash by pressing a button at the head of his bed.

Before the demonstration by the Industrial Workers of the World at the downtown offices of the Standard Oil Company and the threats that they would visit his estate, Mr. Rockefeller was content with four guards. These he called to from an open window when he wanted to feel assured that they were on duty. With the new system in operation the flashing of the lights is answered by the guards who press buttons and sound buzzers above their employer's bed.

A similar system is being installed at the home of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Farm Kitchens Kept Cool In Summer

You have no doubt felt that it has been economy to equip your farm with the latest improvements in farming tools and implements, as they have saved time, labor, and too, done the work better. But how about the most important place—the KITCHEN? Is it supplied with up-to-date cooking utensils? Are the meals prepared during the summer months over a hot wood fire in a kitchen, the temperature of which is almost as great as that of the oven in which the baking is being done?

THE BON AMI OIL STOVES

Made with two, three, four burners, automatically generate gas from kerosene oil and mixing it with air gives an intense heat concentrated under the cooking vessel and not thrown about the kitchen; therefore allowing the kitchen to be kept cool. This stove consumes 400 gallons of air to only one gallon of kerosene oil and it is as easily lighted as a gas stove.

Enjoy the greatest comfort at smallest cost. Where there is a Bon Ami Stove there's no dirt, no soot, no ashes.

CUT OUT THE CANVASS.

If it is in order, The Patriot makes a motion to the effect that a canvass of the candidates for office in Guilford this year be dispensed with. The time has come when this method of campaigning has lost its usefulness. An itinerary of the candidates over the county consumes a lot of time, is more or less expensive and is practically of no interest. In the old days, when Guilford was debatable ground and the Democratic and Republican candidates engaged in a joint canvass, more or less interest was aroused, but nowadays the candidates count themselves fortunate if they are met by so much as a corporal's guard at a speaking appointment. The voters are informed on the issues, acquainted with the candidates and generally know for whom they are going to vote. Then why should they bother to go to a speaking, especially a one-sided speaking? The candidate could provide a pleasing variation by dropping the old-style canvass and arranging for two or three barbecues at central and accessible points in the county, with a little speaking on the side for the benefit of those who must spout.

YOU CAN'T REVIVE A CORPSE.

The gentlemen who have been endeavoring to revive interest in the proposition to establish a new county, with High Point as the county seat, can find mighty little comfort in the vote in Saturday's primary election. According to their own testimony, the result of the primary disposes of the new county proposition in an effective manner. The issue was raised by the High Point people who insisted that a man from that town who unequivocally endorsed the new county movement should be sent to the legislature, and the issue was met and answered by the people of the county who voted overwhelmingly against the candidates suspected of new county leanings. Mr. Zollcofer, who ran on the new county platform, not only failed to come within hearing distance of the nomination, but received only 136 votes in his home town of High Point, while Mr. Brockett, against whom the opposition of the new county advocates was centered, led all the other legislative candidates in High Point.

AMEND THE LAW.

The next legislative doubtless will be asked to amend Guilford's legalized primary law so as to prevent the nomination of more candidates of a party than there are places to be filled, as was the case in the nomination of candidates for county commissioners in Saturday's primary. A proviso that the two or three candidates, as the case might be, receiving the highest number of votes among those who might receive a majority would answer the purpose. It has been suggested that a still better plan for the nomination of commissioners would be to divide the county into five districts—north, east, south, west and center, thereby insuring every section of the county representation on the board. If we mistake not, this was one of the purposes in increasing the membership of the board from three to five some years ago.

Engine Makes Remarkable Running Record.

Jersey City, May 19.—The most remarkable non-stop run of an automobile engine ever held in this country is still in progress at the garage of the Crescent Automobile Company, on Hudson boulevard, this city. On April 8 last a Cadillac 1914 stock model engine was started running in a small booth set up in full view of the hundreds of motorists who daily pass along the boulevard, which forms the eastern end of the Lincoln highway.

The engine has now been in continuous operation for more than five weeks, has covered over 21,000 road miles, or more than six trips across the continent, via the Lincoln highway, and is still turning up a daily average of 535 miles, or a little over 22 miles per hour. No signs of overheating have yet appeared and only a pint and a half of water has been fed into the radiator since the test started. Cylinders and bearings are lubricated with Polarine, the oil being fed at the rate of 26 drops per minute. The fuel used is the Standard Oil Company's motor gasoline, and the engine averages 44 miles on a gallon of gas. It is run at from 600 to 700 revolutions per minute.

All previous non-stop records are now far out-distanced, the best previous run being that of the Packard, which ran for 16 days in an official test under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America.

Congressman Clayton, of Alabama, chairman of the house judiciary committee, Monday resigned as a member of Congress to become United States judge in Alabama, a position to which he was recently appointed by President Wilson. Congressman Webb, of North Carolina, will succeed Clayton as chairman of the judiciary committee.

Referring to William J. Burns, famous for his probe of the dynamiting outrages and other criminal investigations, as the "alleged detective" and declaring him to be a "menace to the peace of the community, to the state and to the administration of justice," Judge Ben Hill, of Atlanta, Monday ordered the grand jury to make a sweeping probe into the bribery charges which followed close on the heels of the Burns report of the investigation of the death of Mary Phagan.

If present plans are carried out, Congress will adjourn on or about July 15. The only thing that can prevent an adjournment at the time indicated is a filibuster against the administration anti-trust bills by the Republicans of the senate.

WOODROW WILSON IS A PRESIDENT WHO THINKS.

American Magazine.

Our government has only occasionally been governed by thought. Most of our progress in America has been the result of the crude impact of events. Few of our leaders have had any historical or economic background; few have had any power of constructive thinking. Again and again we have drifted until impaled upon the event, and have had our education by a process of explosion. Sixty years ago, in spite of the noblest efforts of the noblest thinker of his time, the country exploded in a civil war, and by this bloody means came to a solution of the slavery question. We exploded periodically in financial panics; we exploded industrially in strikes and wars. All of these destructive explosions might be avoided if, instead of plunging ahead and acting breathlessly all the time, we should stop for a moment and think—really think.

For the moment, then, the government is being guided, by thought.

Mr. Wilson is a thinker.

Now, a thinker is so rare, either in the White House or outside of it, that it is difficult to know just how to take him. Washington has not been so puzzled over anyone in years as it is over Mr. Wilson.

He seemed to come across two men who had recently been up to the White House to call on the president. The first one told me he thought Wilson extremely difficult to approach—not so much physically as intellectually—that he was distant, uncommunicative, likely to jarrily inquiries with pleasing ironies. I should say that this was the common view of Washington of those who go rather frequently to see Mr. Wilson. Now, he meets his visitors with a smile, he rarely volunteers anything. He stands and waits patiently, as though reserving both his physical and mental strength. Some visitors, remembering the vital impact of that tremendous energy of a Roosevelt, or the robust good humor of Taft, come away from the quiet thinker of the White House puzzled and disappointed.

The other visitor I talked with is himself a thinker, and personally rather shy. He saw something in the currency bill that he thought was wrong. He worked it out carefully. It proved upon him. He felt that the country must be saved. (I love to meet a man who feels that he must save the country.) Well, he went up to see Mr. Wilson, and from the rather incoherent report he gives—for he came away much delighted—Wilson appears one of the most affable, enthusiastic and appreciative of men.

What happened was this: My friend had a real and important idea, and he and it were received by the president with that joy and enthusiasm with which a true thinker ever welcomes an idea. Here was a man who could help him, and help the country!

The trouble with a fishing party is that some fellow in the crowd always insists on fishing.

GENERAL NEWS PARAGRAPHS

SUMMARY OF EVENTS THAT GO TO MAKE UP THE WORLD'S NEWS OF THE DAY.

Former Senator Joseph B. Foraker, of Ohio, has formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for senator from that state.

Becoming enraged over what was first started as a joke, Charles E. Harris and Henry Bitley, merchants at Fort Blackmore, Va., engaged in a duel with pistols while attending the funeral of a friend Sunday and shot each other to death.

The General Conference of the Southern Methodist church last week adopted a committee report requiring that ministerial candidates pledge themselves to abstain from the use of tobacco. Resolutions were also adopted endorsing the Hobson Sheppard nation-wide prohibition bill and approving the action of Secretary Daniels in banishing intoxicants.

The proposition of providing an adequate supply of fuel oil for navy is to be inquired into by the government committee consisting of Indian Commissioner Sells and a naval official who will report on the feasibility of the government constructing a pipe line for the carrying of oil from Oklahoma to the Gulf of Mexico in order to supply the navy with its fuel oil.

Levi P. Morton, who has been governor of New York and vice president of the United States, has just celebrated his ninetieth birthday. He began life as a Vermont farm boy, got a job in a country store, learned something about business, concluded that a Green Mountain village was not big enough for him, and proved it by going to New York and making a fortune in merchandising and banking.

Posing as detectives, four men gained entrance to a Broadway motion picture theater early Monday, made the watchman a prisoner, handcuffed three workmen and blew open the safe in the box office, obtaining $10,000. The robbers were in the building three hours and to avoid suspicion of their presence, compelled the watchman to wind the various watchman's clocks in the theater at regular intervals.

Least his appearance might be construed as for political effect, President Wilson has declined an invitation to speak at Arlington national cemetery on Memorial day. The president assured a committee of the Grand Army of the Republic, who tendered the invitation, that he desired to speak at Arlington some time during his term, but expressed the opinion that it would be better for him not to do so this year.

A cable from Fairbanks, Alaska, says that the district along the Yukon river north of Fort Yukon has suffered the worst flood in the history of the North. Only meager details have been received at Fairbanks, but it is known that Circle City was submerged Thursday night and it is believed great damage has been wrought at Eagle City and in scores of mining and woodchoppers' camps. Many native villages also have suffered.

That the value of American foreign trade will quickly be increased to more than $5,000,000,000 annually as a result of the "get-together" policy of the first national foreign trade convention, to be held in Washington May 27 and 28, is the expectation of those in touch with its organization. The foreign trade in 1913 broke all previous records, a total value of $4,279,000,000. Exports were valued at $2,465,000,000 and imports at $1,814,000,000.

The WALTER A. WOOD Admiral Mower

never forces you to "hang up" in thick grass—every bit of power in the team is exerted on the cutter-bar. Side draft is reduced to a minimum because the guards are shaped right and a balancing spring device carries cutter-bar's weight on main axle.

We are anxious to prove every claim by any test you suggest. We like to answer questions.

The "Best is the Cheapest" in the End,
