VOL 94—NO. 24

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO THE READERS OF THE PATRIOT FAR AND NEAR.

Play at Pomona.—The pupils of the Pomona graded school will present a comedy entitled "Jasper's Farm" in the auditorium of the school building tomorrow night.

Revival Next Week.—A revival meeting will begin in the First Reformed church Sunday and continue until Easter. Rev. Harry A. Welker, who recently came to Faith, Rowan county, from Pennsylvania, will do the preaching.

Collecting Statistics.—Mr. George T. Bowen, of Person county, a special agent of the census bureau, is in the city gathering statistics of Greensboro's manufacturing plants and industrial enterprises. The work will keep him here for some time.

Closing Exercises.—The closing exercises of the Summers school, in Washington township, will take place Saturday, beginning at 11 o'clock A. M. A play, "Valley Farm," will be given at night. An invitation is extended to the public to attend the exercises.

New Corporation.—The charter of the High Point Warehouse and Storage Company was filed in the office of the clerk of the court yesterday. The company has an authorized capital of $25,000, with $5,000 subscribed by H. D. Sears, F. M. Pickett and R. H. Walker.

New Quarters.—Mr. Gilliam Grissom, who is in charge of Republican state headquarters here, has rented offices on the ground floor of the Guilford hotel building, on the Sycamore street side, and will occupy them in a few days, moving from the present location over Grissom's drug store.

Inspecting Material.—Mayor Murphy and Mr. J. Giles Foushee, commissioner of public works, are spending a few days in Wilmington inspecting certain street paving material with a view to its possible adoption for use in paving streets in Greensboro. The city officials hope to be able to start the street improvement work about the middle of April.

To Visit Raleigh.—Prof. W. C. Jackson, of the chair of history at the State Normal and Industrial College, will accompany his class to Raleigh Saturday to spend the day in the state capital. They will visit the hall of history, the state museum, the capitol and other points of interest about the city. The hall of history is now becoming a valuable feature for those who are studying history.

Dinner Last Night.—Mr. C. Grosvenor Dawe, of Washington, who is connected with the United States Chamber of Commerce, a well known traveler and lecturer, was the speaker last night at a "get together" dinner given by the Chamber of Commerce in the dining room of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Dawe spoke on "Community Service" and was heard with interest by a goodly number of Greensboro business men.

A Correction.—In the list of legal weights and measures printed in last Thursday's Patriot the weight of matured onions was given as seven pounds a bushel when it should have been 57 pounds a bushel. The information was furnished The Patriot by the state agricultural department and a notice received from the department this week says the mistake was due to an incorrect copy being made of the original bill.

Fire Yesterday.—Fire yesterday afternoon badly damaged the Doak residence property, on East Washington street. The fire appeared in the attic and is supposed to have caught from the kitchen flue. It was burning fiercely when the firemen arrived and was extinguished after hard work. The interior of the building was deluged with water, which did almost as much damage as the fire. The extent of the damage has not been ascertained.

Petition in Bankruptcy.—In the United States court here Tuesday creditors filed a petition in bankruptcy against L. R. Clark, a merchant of Thomasville, who, it is alleged, owes debts in excess of $3,700 that he is unable to pay. A subpoena was issued citing the respondent to appear before Judge Boyd April 1 to show cause, if any exist, why he should not be adjudged a bankrupt. Zed Griffith, of Thomasville, was appointed temporary receiver.

Penry-Tysor.—Mr. Alden C. Penry, of Winston-Salem, and Miss Mabel Tysor, of this city, were married Tuesday at 12.30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tysor, on Eugene street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. C. W. Byrd and was witnessed by a number of relatives and friends of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Penry have gone on a bridal trip to Washington and New York. Upon their return they will be at home in Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Jennie Miles Dead.—Mrs. Jennie Miles, of the Hillsdale section, died last evening at 7 o'clock at St. Leo's hospital, where she had been under treatment for the past three weeks. Mrs. Miles was 50 years old and a woman who was held in high esteem by all who knew her. She is survived by five sons and a daughter. The funeral and interment will take place at Center Methodist church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. T. B. Johnson, of Summerfield, will conduct the services.

Will Locate Here.—Mr. R. J. M. Hobbs, a son of Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Hobbs, of Guilford College, who recently was licensed to practice law and located in Charlotte, has decided to move to Greensboro. After graduating from Guilford College and Haverford College, he studied law in Columbia University, in New York, graduating with distinction. Mr. Hobbs has many friends among the readers of The Patriot who will be glad to know that he is to return to Guilford and that he will make his home in Greensboro.

Registrars Named.—The registration books for the approaching city primary and election will be opened Monday. The city commissioners have appointed J. B. Minor register for the Gilmer township portion of the city, comprising all the territory east of Elm street, and J. A. Coppedge register for the section of the city lying west of Elm street and in Morehead township. The primaries and election are open to all residents of the city who are eligible to vote for the Guilford legislative delegation in the last election and who have been in their present precinct for a period of at least four months.

New Revenue Men.—Mr. W. H. Darby, of South Carolina, has been commissioned a special employee of the government in the enforcement of the anti-narcotic law that went into effect March 1 and assigned to duty under the revenue agent in Greensboro. He will take up his work April 1, and it will be his duty to visit druggists, physicians, dentists and veterinarians and see to it that they are meeting the requirements of the law. Three new men in the income tax division, who have been working under the collectors of internal revenue, will also be added to the revenue agent's force here April 1.

Another Ice Factory.—A charter has been issued for the Piedmont Ice and Coal Company, with an authorized capital of $25,000. The incorporators are J. H. Dixon, W. M. Perdew, W. B. Ross, Ada L. Dixon and O. W. Monroe. When a sufficient amount of stock has been sold, the promoters will proceed to the purchase of a site and the erection of a building. Some time ago parties in High Point purchased from the Arctic Ice and Coal Company the ice plant on West Lee street and it is understood that it will be operated during the coming season. If the plans of the latest company succeed, Greensboro will be supplied with three ice factories.

Merchants Active.—The directors of the Greensboro Merchants' Association held a meeting yesterday afternoon and considered several matters of interest to the association and the public, special attention being paid to the "trade at home" campaign. The merchants are interesting themselves in educating the public to the folly of sending money away from home to the mail order houses, and during the discussion yesterday afternoon a number of instances were cited showing where actual financial loss had resulted from such a practice. The directors decided to put on a membership campaign in the near future in an effort to have every eligible merchant in the city become a member of the association.

Seriously Ill.—J. A. Long, of Roxboro, a former member of the state senate and a prominent business man, is seriously ill at his home. On account of his advanced age, fears are entertained for his recovery.

STRONG FORT CAPITULATES

RUSSIAN FORCES MAKE MOST IMPORTANT CAPTURE OF EUROPEAN WAR.

The long investment of the mid-Galician fortress of Przemyśl has ended. Depleted by disease, subsisting on horse flesh and surrounded by a superior force of Russians, the garrison has surrendered to the besieging army after a defense lasting many months, which up to the present is recorded as Austria's most noteworthy contribution to the war.

The newspapers assert that the fall of the fortress marks the most important capture of the war, not excepting Antwerp, in that it not only releases considerable Russian forces which can be thrown into the fluctuating struggle in the Carpathians, but opens the door to Cracow and the plains of Hungary.

It is argued, too, that the moral effect of the surrender will be tremendous, the allies declaring it will stimulate feeling in their favor both in Roumania and Bulgaria just as the operations in the Dardanelles are causing an agitation in Greece and Italy.

The hoisting of the white flag over the fortress caused little surprise. It was generally known that the defenders were in a terribly weakened condition, without food and ammunition and their endurance was only a question of days.

War office advices report that nine Austrian generals, more than 300 officers and 50,000 men surrendered.

With only three days' rations left, the Austrians endeavored to break through the besieging lines, but after a seven-hours' battle they were compelled to retreat behind the line of forts. Three days later, having destroyed the fortifications, blown up the guns and burned the ammunition, the Austrians brought out the white flag of surrender.

Vienna says the fortress for a long time had faced famine conditions.

Austrian Troops Revolting. Mutiny broke out in the starving garrison at Przemyśl and General Kusmanek surrendered to the Russians to prevent a disgraceful revolt, according to dispatches to the Russian war office.

On Sunday afternoon the Austrian commander ordered 20,000 of his troops to participate in a savage attack upon the Russian lines on the south. His object was a desperate dash that would cut a gap through the line of the besiegers and enable at least part of the garrison to fight its way to safety.

In a futile effort to arouse his troops to one last bayonet charge the Austrian commander issued a most stirring appeal. A copy of his last order, wired here this afternoon, follows:

"Heroes of the Austrian army, I now announce my last summons. The honor of our army and our country demands that I lead you to pierce with points of steel the iron circle of the enemy. Then we shall march on until we join a nearby Austrian army. We have shared our last provisions. We must open the way. We shall open it."

Several units refused to move. Officers dashed back and forth along the Austrian lines, threatening to execute the mutineers.

They stood their ground, however, and were joined by other groups who threatened to march out and lay down their arms to the Russians unless they were given food.

General Kusmanek called a conference of the commanders. At a meeting that lasted until near midnight it was decided to surrender.

Germans Recapture Memel. The re-capture of Memel, East Prussia, by the Germans is admitted by the Russian war office, which says:

"Our detachment, which reconnoitered Memel has retired to Russian territory."

Both Russians and Austrians claim the capture of several thousand men in the Carpathians, and thus matters there are about evenly balanced. The battle in Poland continues, with no apparent advantage on either side.

In the west the operations consist largely of trench fighting. A communication from the headquarters of Field Marshal Sir John French regarding recent activities notes little change in the situation in northern France. The operations of the allied fleet in the Dardanelles have been delayed by bad weather and the ships which suffered damage in the last bombardment are being repaired. A Malta dispatch says operations are to be resumed at an early date and that every precaution is being taken to avoid surprises.

A force of 1,000 Turks who attempted to attack the Suez canal, near the town of Suez, have been routed. The Turks were accompanied by German officers.

The British colonial office reports that normal conditions now prevail in Singapore, following the recent mutiny.

Seventeen young Belgians are reported to have been executed at Ghent by the Germans after having been found guilty of espionage.

British Airmen Attempt Raid. British air raid on Hoboken, near Antwerp, where the Germans are constructing submarines, another threatened effort by the Germans in Flanders and heavy fighting in the Carpathians are the outstanding features in yesterday's war news.

Five British airmen started from Dunkirk to raid the submarine yards, but only two reached the mark. Two were turned back by thick weather and a third landed in Holland because of engine trouble and was interned.

According to a British admiralty report, two of the submarines which were observed on the ships were damaged and the works set afire. Prior to the war this plant was known as the Cockerill works and was owned by a British company. When the Germans took the plant over a high fence was erected around it and no Belgian was allowed to enter. Workmen were brought from Germany to build the submarines.

Dispatches from the Dutch frontier say that seven German airmen attacked the British raiders, but were outflown.

WOMEN WOODMEN OF WORLD HELD MEETING TUESDAY.

The biennial meeting of the State Grove of the Supreme forest, the ladies' auxiliary of the Woodmen of the World, was held in this city Tuesday. Mrs. Sarah M. Williams, of Rocky Mount, the grand guardian, presided over the convention, which was attended by 40 delegates from various sections of the state.

The morning session was given over to the reports of the officers and a discussion of the reports and other matters affecting the order. It was shown that the membership in this state during the past two years had made an increase of 100 per cent.

At the afternoon session the various committees reported and officers were elected for the ensuing term of two years.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Delegate to the Supreme Forest convention, St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Sarah M. Williams, of Rocky Mount; grand guardian, Cora L. Mabry, Concord; grand adviser, Sophronia A. Lentz, Albemarle; grand clerk, Mattie E. Morrison, Harrisburg; grand banker, Mae Thomas, Charlotte; grand chaplain, J. D. Buice, Charlotte; grand attendant, Elizabeth Thompson, Greensboro; grand inner sentinel, Annie Patterson, Kannapolis; grand outer sentinel, Annie E. Mims, Spencer; grand managers, W. S. Charles, Charlotte, chairman, and Susan C. Rodgers, Pineville; Annie Rayner, Powellsville; Bertha T. Waters, Goldsboro; Mattie E. Allen, Stem.

Rocky Mount was selected as the next place of meeting, and the convention will be held in that city the second Tuesday in April, 1917. The convention adjourned at 4 o'clock and at 6 was entertained by the grand officers at a banquet in the dining room of Hotel Clegg. At this gathering the consul commander of the Greensboro camp of Woodmen of the World, Charles A. Hines, presided in a happy manner. Speeches were made by Grand Guardian Cora L. Mabry, Grand Banker Mae Thomas, W. S. Charles, George F. Wise, S. O'Brian, W. A. Short, E. B. Lewis and others.

Driven Insane.—Driven insane by British artillery fire which mowed down their comrades, 300 German infantrymen were removed to an asylum near Aix-La-Chapelle after the battle of Neuve Chapelle, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to the Exchange Telegraph Company in London. An unnamed German officer is quoted as saying that the casualties equaled those of Waterloo.

THE CARTER INVESTIGATION

MANY WITNESSES TESTIFY AS TO CONDUCT OF SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE.

The commission appointed by the legislature to investigate charges brought against the moral character and judicial fitness of Judge Frank Carter, of the Superior court bench, began its work in Raleigh Monday, and while many witnesses have been examined, nothing has been brought out so far to cause the public to believe the accused jurist is guilty of the charges of gross immorality brought against him. Evidence has been introduced which indicates that he has been indiscreet; that he possesses an irascible temper and has had trouble with a number of lawyers in his courts.

The investigation, it will be recalled, grows out of the action of Judge Carter in imposing a fine of $50 upon Solicitor Charles L. Abernethy for contempt of court at Newbern some weeks ago. Hon. R. A. Doughton is chairman of the commission conducting the investigation.

The first witness called was Col. John D. Kerr, of Clinton. He testified that he had appeared as an attorney in Judge Carter's courts a number of times, the last court by Judge Carter in his county having been in 1912. Of his own knowledge, he knew nothing of any acts of immoral conduct by Judge Carter and had never observed any acts by the judge that would indicate such a tendency. Asked by Chairman Doughton as to alleged arbitrary and unbecoming conduct on the bench by Judge Carter, Colonel Kerr said that Judge O. H. Allen had caused a box to be placed at the bar in the court room to elevate the witness chair so that the witness could be better observed from all parts of the court room. Judge Carter ordered this box removed by the time for the next court to convene. The sheriff, for some cause, failed to have the box removed and after the court was convened Judge Carter, in an evidently angry manner, ordered the box to be taken out. T. W. Crumpler, the sheriff of Sampson county, attempted to take it away and was having trouble in doing so on account of its being nailed down at the four corners and Judge Carter stepped down from the bench and kicked the box over in such a way that it struck against Mr. Crumpler, who afterwards informed Colonel Kerr that the skin was scraped from his shin by the box as kicked by the judge.

Another witness, testifying as to the box-kicking incident, said Judge Carter cursed, saying to the sheriff, "I told you to have that damned box removed."

Mrs. Levy Carter testified that on one occasion, while stopping at Wrightsville Beach, Judge Carter went to her home in Wilmington with a Mrs. Williams, of Georgia, and that she saw him kiss Mrs. Williams on the cheek.

Henry A. Grady and two or three other witnesses from Clinton testified that Judge Carter's conduct with Mrs. Williams, who conducts a hotel in that town, and her daughter, Mrs. Towler, had been the occasion of unfavorable comment. These witnesses gave the two women a bad reputation.

Mrs. Williams, a woman 60 years old, went on the witness stand and vigorously denied all the insinuations made against herself, her daughter and Judge Carter. It was shown that Mrs. Towler is in very poor health and has spent a good portion of her time for the past few years in hospitals.

Testimony was introduced to show that Judge Carter had shown a fondness for a young woman stenographer of Raleigh and that he had her to accompany him to courts in several counties.

About a dozen lawyers testified that they had been subjected to harsh treatment at the hands of Judge Carter.

W. N. Harris, T. J. Covington, J. Allen Taylor, J. D. Bellamy and J. O. Carr, of Wilmington, and Maj. Robert Bingham, of Asheville, testified as to the high moral character of Judge Carter. The Wilmington witnesses commended the judge for his work in ridding that city of blind tigers.

The commission finished its work in Raleigh last night and goes to Newbern today to examine a number of witnesses in that place with special reference to the contempt charge against Solicitor Abernethy.

"STONEWALL" JACKSON'S WIDOW DIED YESTERDAY.

Following many months of illness and after suffering three days from an attack of pneumonia, Mrs. Mary A. Jackson, widow of Gen. "Stonewall" Jackson, who achieved undying fame as a leader of the Confederate army, died at her home in Charlotte at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. She had been unconscious since Tuesday afternoon.

At the bedside when the end came were E. Randolph Preston and wife, who was Miss Julia Christian, granddaughter of Mrs. Jackson; Dr. Graham, a cousin, and other relatives.

The funeral will take place at the First Presbyterian church of Charlotte this afternoon at 5 o'clock. The public buildings and schools of Charlotte are closed today in honor of the distinguished woman who has passed away. The business houses of the city will be closed during the funeral hour.

The body will be taken to Lexington, Va., accompanied by a military escort, and will rest beside that of her husband and daughter.

Mrs. Jackson had been ill since last August. Her last appearance was in Richmond, Va., last May, when, as the guest of the governor of Virginia, she was the chief figure at a bazaar in the interest of the Jackson memorial.

Mrs. Jackson was born in Mecklenburg county July 21, 1831. She was the daughter of the Rev. Robert Hall Morrison, a Presbyterian minister and founder of Davidson College. She attended Salem Academy and College, finishing in 1849. She was Gen. Jackson's second wife and was married to him in July, 1857. Jackson, then a major in the United States army, was serving as instructor in the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington.

GEN. CARRANZA'S FORCES DEFEATED BY VILLA'S MEN.

Monterey, Mex., March 23.—The first important battle in Gen. Villa's march against Tampico took place near here today and resulted in the defeat of the Carranzaists.

A detachment of Carranzaists troops learning of the approach of 5,000 Villaists, under General Angeles, embarked upon troop trains. All of General Angeles' men were mounted and they started off in pursuit of the trains at full gallop. The engine of the last train was too light for its heavy load and Angeles' men soon overhauled it and began shooting.

This spectacular running battle was kept up for three miles during which the Villaists gave an exhibition of horsemanship seldom equaled. While under hot fire Colonel Elias rode up and uncoupled the cars from the locomotive and 2,000 Carranzaists were captured with five car loads of provisions.

Washington, March 23.—The Brazilian minister at Mexico City cabled Secretary of State Bryan today that General Palafox, Zapata's minister for foreign affairs, had expressed to the United States his regret for the killing of John McManus about 12 days ago at the Mexican national capital.

Secretary Bryan stated in addition that indemnity for the death of McManus had been promised by the Villa-Zapata combination.

Mr. Bryan did not care to give the amount of the indemnity which he said was large and that he had no information as to whether any arrests had been made or how far the inquiry looking to the punishment of the murderers of McManus had progressed.

New Plan to Raise Income Tax.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Internal Revenue Commissioner Osborn have decided on a partial reorganization of the investigation force in planning for the 1915 income tax collecting campaign. Some 20 special agents appointed last year have received suggestions that they resign to make way for trained accountants, fitted to handle the books of corporations subject to the tax.

A number of these agents already have resigned, but it is said there has been objection to the department's action by members of Congress who recommended the appointments.

Officials are still at sea as to how much to expect under the tax law for the fiscal year 1915. Secretary McAdoo has figured upon $80,000,000.

HOW FAR REMOVED IS APPOMATTOX OR SEDAN?

Coincidences between the war conditions of fifty years ago in this country and those of the present in Europe become more vivid and impressive as the days pass and as events develop. Our civil war, of course, was in miniature compared with the enormous conflict now raging, but there is a striking similarity between the daily reports we read now and those that appeared in the newspapers of 1865. From day to day the Richmond newspapers told of futile struggles in the trenches around Petersburg; of little alternating gains or losses by one side or the other; of intervals of calm followed by artillery duels or attacks and counter attacks. Their tone was as confident as that of the Berlin newspapers of this week. They describe Confederate successes here and there, in the Carolinas, in the Valley of Virginia. President Davis and the Confederate Congress had been quarreling bitterly; but proclamations and addresses, officially issued, declared stern determination to continue the war until the Southern states were victorious and had attained independence. The enlistment of negro troops had begun and hopes of great accession of strength from this means seem to have been high. General Lee, however, was sending out urgent appeals to the public for food and other supplies for his troops. The people of the Confederacy had adopted for themselves methods of economizing and preserving the food supply something like those being enforced by the German government.

It is interesting to contrast these conditions on one side with the opinion and expectations of those on the other side in position to know, as revealed by the confidential and official dispatches and letters as we find them in the official records of "The War of the Rebellion." The Northern commanders were absolutely and calmly sure that the Confederacy would collapse within two months, just as the English now are betting even at Lloyd's that peace will be established by the first of June. About March 20, 1865, Governor Pierpont, of West Virginia, wrote to General Grant urging that when the Federal troops occupied Richmond they should spare the capitol because it was designed by Mr. Jefferson. He asked also that instructions be given that the executive mansion here should not be damaged or deplored as he, Pierpont, expected to occupy it within a few weeks.

There is pathetic and intense interest in reading and contrasting the dispatches and the publications on the Confederate side and the messages exchanged with each other by the Federal leaders. As we can see now, the Confederates were striving bravely to maintain the courage and confidence of their armies and people in face of conditions which those in authority knew to be practically hopeless, while the Federal generals and other high officials knew that the end was near and sure as any decree of fate. As late as March 25, Petersburg achieved a brilliant and heartening success in a night attack. But eight days later the evacuation of the Petersburg trenches and of Richmond had begun. How far the course of this war will continue to follow the course of ours will be determined in the future; but certainly the similarity of developments to this time is remarkable. How far away, how many days, or weeks, or months, is Appomattox or Sedan? Appomattox was but eighteen days ahead this day fifty years ago.—Richmond Journal.

Many Attend Dairy Schools.

According to the records which have been kept during the past winter, 6,410 North Carolina farmers and school children have received special courses in dairy instruction, which have been given by the dairy department of the North Carolina experiment station and A & M. College. These people include the students in school, their fathers, mothers and their friends, who were anxious to learn of this fast growing business in the state. The idea of the dairy school is comparatively a new one in North Carolina and one which will succeed if the present rate of growth continues. In the fall and winter of 1913 there were two five-day schools, and in the following fall and winter there were nine, with an average attendance of 60 people. There are also one-day schools, two-day schools and three-day schools, conducted at intervals of a month each. The most successful type has been the five-day type, probably due to the more comprehensive courses of study offered.

BIGGEST REVIVAL THE COUNTRY HAS EVER KNOWN.

Billy Sunday, the noted evangelist, Sunday closed a revival that had been in progress in Philadelphia for greatest religious meeting ever held in this country. A press dispatch gives the following account of the closing services and Sunday's farewell to Philadelphia:

The biggest single day in the biggest revival the country has ever known was Billy Sunday's farewell to Philadelphia.

Four times today the evangelist preached to audiences that overflowed the tabernacle, some 60,000 being the day's total. Four times he called for converts and reaped a total of 1,858 for the day. This number represents the actual number who signed convert's cards, though it represents only a portion of those who came down and shook his hand.

The number of converts for the 11 weeks of the campaign totals 41,724. So far as results go, the country has never seen anything like it. It not only beats Billy Sunday's records, but that of every modern evangelist.

So much for the figures. The tabernacle forgot them today. The workers forgot to count in the whirl and hubbub of the farewells, the ovations and greetings that these 60,000 persons heaped upon the little revivalist who arrived here some 80 days ago.

Four audiences went wild at his first appearance and four audiences stubbornly refused to leave the tabernacle until the evangelist himself left the platform. Eleven weeks had wound him around their hearts until the hearts bled when he was torn away.

Men and women pulled down signs from the tabernacle posts and carried them away. They scooped up big handfuls of sawdust from the shadow of the pulpit, filled their pockets and their handkerchiefs with it and carried it home. They took the tinpans which have gathered the tabernacle offerings; they tore the bunting and flags from about the rostrum, the flower from the pulpit. They carried away everything loose that could serve as a memento of the campaign.

Tonight, while 1,800 men in the choir sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," 1,000 ushers, doorkeepers, policemen, firemen and others who have worked in the tabernacle day and night since January 3 filed past the evangelist like trail-hitters and gripped his hand until it was swollen and knotted at the joints.

At the four services they piled some $2,000 into the collection pans, thinking it was their final gift to Billy Sunday. The committee had announced that the day's offering would go to him personally, but the revivalist would not have it so. "Every cent you give today," he said, "goes to the poor of Philadelphia." And so the committee acquiesced.

Before he left the city, however, the committee turned over to the evangelist a draft for $51,136.85, the result of the free-will offering which Philadelphia gave to Billy Sunday. It is the largest offering he has received in any city.

Not Missing a Thing.

Making an address recently, Congressman Victor Murdock, of Kansas, referred to the subject of nerve and told this story as a striking example:

"Some time ago an old Indian in the West broke his ax handle, and a farmer, taking pity on him, fitted the tool with a new one from his own supply. Then, noticing that the ax was very dull, Uncle Josh decided to add to the beautiful heart business by sharpening it. To this end he asked the Indian to turn the grindstone.

"Well, what is it?" wonderingly asked the farmer, noticing that the Indian persisted in hanging around after the job was done. "Is there anything else you want?"

"Yes, sir," was the prompt rejoinder of the Indian. "You no pay me."

"Not pay you!" exclaimed the farmer, with a perplexed expression. "Not pay you for what?"

"For turn the grindstone," calmly answered the chief. "Twenty-five cents."

GOVERNMENT CLERKS ARE TAXED FOR WIVES' SOCIETY.

Washington, March 23.—Comptroller of the Treasury Downey is in had with the government clerks. They are up in arms over his recent ruling, the effect of which, they argue, is to impose a tax on government employees for living with their wives. It is the duty of Judge Downey to pass upon all expense accounts submitted by government officials incurred during the discharge of their official duties while absent from Washington.

Judge Downey's ruling in the case of Delmar C. Stuttler, an examiner in the department of justice, has stirred up all the trouble. Stuttler was sent to Charleston, W. Va., on January 5. He occupied a room alone at the hotel until January 14. For the use of this room he paid $2 a day. On January 22, Mrs. Stuttler reached Charleston, registered, and occupied the same room at the hotel with her husband, until January 25. For the use of this room Mrs. Stuttler agreed to pay $1.50 a day. Stuttler paid the hotel $3.50 a day for each of four days and claimed reimbursement for $2 for each day. He was allowed but $1.75 for each day, being one-half the amount actually paid.

"I cannot grant the force of an argument that such a holding is imposing a tax on a government employee for living with his wife," says the comptroller. "The government is concerned only with the payment of the proper expenses incurred by its employees. I am not called upon to decide the question which might have been presented had the hotel bill in this case been rendered against the husband for $2 a day. The bill was rendered for $3.50 a day for the joint occupancy of the room, and there is no basis for the conclusion that the husband actually incurred for himself an expense in excess of one-half that amount. And when there is joint occupancy of a room it must be assumed that the expense is properly to be divided equally."

Free Paint

Paint half your job Devco; paint the other half whatever you like. If Devco doesn't take less gallons and cost less money, no pay. The cost of putting it on is about two-thirds of the job.

If Devco doesn't wear a year or two years or three years or four years longer—distinctly longer and better—we'll give you enough to do it again.

But we warn you how it will all turn out. The best half of your job will cost you so much less than the other half, and wear so much better too, that you'll never divide it again.

You won't get your paint free, you'll get what is better. You'll know Devco; you'll know strong points; you'll know weak points, and the question is settled.

ter fabric a simple binding may be used to finish the edges.

The Eton Jacket With Full Skirt Developed in Khaki.

Still another way to finish the bottom of the skirt is to cord it several times on a small cord. The wide cord has been used, but several rows of finer cording is much newer.

Fringed and picot-edged box-pleatings are also used a great deal and are very effective around the bottoms of net and tulle and some times taffeta dresses. These double and box-pleated ruffles are about seven inches wide and sewed on the dress through the middle of the ruffle, the upper edge is tacked at intervals onto the skirt, but between it falls carelessly and gives the whole dress a very fluffy and light appearance.

Small flowers and ribbon or tulle are some times used together in forming a very attractive finish around the bottom of a frock for evening wear.

The ribbons for the season are exquisite and the old-fashioned picot-edged ribbon seems particularly popular in narrow and wide widths as well as grosgrain ribbon.

English Women Volunteer to Work.

More than 7,000 women, representing all classes of society, already have responded to the English government's appeal for female workers to take the places of men in business and industry in order that more recruits may be provided for Lord Kitchener's great army.

The officers of the Central Labor Exchange were besieged by women Saturday. The majority of them were from the well-to-do middle class. An outstanding feature was the willingness of the applicants to take up the line of work for which they were considered by the officials to be best fitted.

One woman of good position who has had experience in India in the use of horses offered to drive a delivery wagon. Another wrote: "I am the mother of five soldiers and sailors and I want to do my little bit to release further men to go and fight."

A member of a prominent women's club expressed her willingness to drive a taxicab. Some volunteered to do milking in dairies, while others offered to do clerical and secretarial work.

Long Trip For Six Hour's Work.

A four months' trip of 25,000 miles to work six hours inspecting the United States postoffice at Guam is the task of Inspector E. P. Smith, who will arrive at the island station shortly, according to word which has reached George A. Leonard, chief inspector of the San Francisco postoffice. After his inspection, the first in seven years, Smith will return to Washington by way of San Francisco.

"Seven years may seem like a long time between inspections," laughed Chief Inspector Leonard, "but Uncle Sam cannot afford the luxury of inspecting the little postoffice at Guam any oftener."

CHARGES THAT RAILROADS LOOT POSTAL REVENUES.

Postmaster General Burleson this week issued a statement reiterating his charge that certain railroads brought about the defeat of the postoffice appropriation bill in the last Congress because of its provision for changing railway mail pay from a weight to a space basis. He announced his intention to renew his recommendation for this change when the new Congress reconvenes.

The railway mail committee representing "certain railroads" the statement declares, "engineered the fight against the appropriation bill and financed a propaganda designed to mislead and wrongfully influence the public mind into an attitude of antagonism to the department."

Under the present system, according to Mr. Burleson, some railroads get much more than their share of the money paid for transporting the mails, and substitution of the space basis not only would save money for the government, but would make possible more equitable treatment of the roads. Of the department's effort to have this legislation included in the appropriation bill, the statement says:

"It was and is a determined well-considered effort to end a system under which the postal authorities are compelled to stand helplessly by while the railways loot the postal revenues. Although the railways contend they are under paid for carrying the mails, the facts are that they are over-paid and that they are receiving from the government amounts which, for a haul of any considerable length, exceed by about two to one the amounts they receive from express companies for similar service."

Mr. Burleson denies that the 1915 postal deficit will be attributable to the parcel post system. Statements to that effect he brands as "absurd falsehoods," adding, "clearly it was fabricated with the foolish purpose of arousing a public sentiment in favor of restricting or withdrawing the parcel facilities now provided by the postal service. Were it not for the parcel post, the coming postal deficit would be much longer than it will be."

Courtship in Wyoming.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy and Mr. Dobbs got on famously. After supper, while she and Elizabeth washed the dishes, she asked him why he didn't get married and have some one to look after him and his cabin.

"I don't have time," he answered. "I came West 18 years ago to make a start and a home for Jennie and me, but I can't find time to go back and get her. In the summer I have to hustle to make the hay and grain, and I have to stay and feed the stock all the rest of the time."

"You write her once in a while, don't you?" asked Mrs. O'Shaughnessy. "Yes," he said, "I wrote her two years ago come April; then I was so busy I didn't go to town till I went for my year's supplies. I went to the postoffice, and sure enough there was a letter for me—been waiting for me six months. You see the postmaster knows me and never would send a letter back. I sat down there right in the office and answered it. I told her how it was, told her I was coming after her soon as I could find time. You see, she refused to come to me 'cause I am so far from the railroad, and she is afraid of Indians and wild animals."

"Have you got your answer?" asked Elizabeth. "No," he said, "I ain't had time to go, but I kind of wish somebody would think to bring the mail. Not many people pass here, only when the open season takes hunters to the mountains. When you people come back will you stop and ask for the mail for me?"

Will Ask Germany For Reparation.

The state department officials have gathered virtually all the data preparatory to requesting Germany to make reparation for the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich. Nothing has been received from the Berlin government concerning the case.

A note setting forth the views of the United States is expected to be sent within a few days. The papers signed by the Frye owners before the vessel left Seattle were received in Washington this week. It is understood that they show that the cargo was consigned to Queenstown.

FOLEY-KIDNEY PILLS
FOR REGULATION OF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

FOLEY-KIDNEY PILLS
FOR REGULATION OF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER

OUR WEEKLY FASHION LETTER

Correspondence of The Patriot.

New York, March 23.—The proper wrap and the proper suit for spring are the first questions which crop into the woman's mind with the beginning of the balmy weather. The winter coat has been worn until one is tired of it, and besides on the first warm day it feels so heavy and drags about the neck, and we need something lighter to take its place.

For general wear with the dress comes the coat in various styles. The model illustrated shows a new and very practical style in coats. In the back it is very full and falls in ripples while in the front it has less fulness. A wide gauntlet cuff is used on the sleeves, and the high collar which flares up as high as the chin is usually new and smart. The model is developed in blue serge. Other fabrics which are being used for such a coat are black and white checked coating, covert cloth, field cloth, gabardine, and for the fancy coat faille silk is used.

A Full Separate Coat With New Style Collar.

Speaking of faille silk reminds me of an unusual model which was shown in one of the shops of oyster white faille. It was very full back and front and the entire thing was edged with a wide band of black velvet.

Of no less important is the suit. The materials used are covert, serge, gabardine, voile gabardine which is a light-weight fabric of the gabardine type, khaki or field cloth, grosgrain cloth, covert cord, tweed, or homespun.

The suits this season show a return to the strictly tailored type. Of course, the military style is highly popular. This is so named more because of the placing of corded trimming and buttons than in the general cut, although there are some that have a very pronounced military cut, and with pockets and belts in the places accorded them by the makers of British and French uniforms.

It is really strange how thoroughly mixed are these military tendencies, it taxes the fair-minded woman to her utmost to be thoroughly neutral in her dress, it can be done, however, for a Uhlan hat may be worn with a dress cut on strictly English field uniform lines.

The jackets vary in length, some are moderately long in the back and cut short in the front from the underarm seam. Others are cut short all the way around. The bolero with or without sleeves is worn especially in the silk suits.

In the second illustration is a suit with an eton jacket with V-neck and buttons down the front. With this is worn a full skirt which is stitched several times around the lower edge. This is the type of suit that would make an excellent traveling suit for the woman who is going to the Pan-American or upon any other journey.

The separate waists, which, of course, are in great demand with the popularity of the suit, are shown in a large variety this year. The plain styles trimmed only with buttons and fastening down the front are considered the most correct, but they are slowly becoming a little more elaborate with a few tucks and a little shirring. These are made of voile, chiffon and crepe de chine while the ones shown for summer are developed in handkerchief linen, voile, Swiss and organdy. Very plain covered buttons are used on these waists and some of the very latest have small ivory buttons shaped like quinine capsules down the front. Most of the waists are made with long, close sleeves and adjustable collars; that is, collars which are closed high around the neck or may be left open as desired.

Dresses are being finished around the bottom of the skirts in many various ways. A dress of net has a deep hem of white taffeta figured in pink, which was cut in deep scallops at the top edge. A close-fitting bodice of the silk was covered with a flowing bolero of net which was bound around the edges with the figured silk cut on the bias.

Other skirts of net or chiffon have hems eighteen inches deep of taffeta or satin and many organdy dresses shown have deep hems of colored silk. Nets also have deep hems of colored organdy.

The scalloped lower edges are particularly pretty and can be used with good effect on the bottom of sheer summer dresses, if you are beginning to think of making these. Points are also used as well as squares. When very sheer material is used, a narrow ruffle of the same material may be used to run around the edges. In others, of a little heavy-

SECRETARY BRYAN IS UNDER FIRE SOME MORE.

Washington, March 23.—Determination on the part of Secretary Bryan to keep secret all negotiations between this country and Japan, growing out of the demands of the latter country on China, has caused serious differences to arise in President Wilson's cabinet, according to gossip emanating from official sources.

Although the president is reported to have been convinced by Mr. Bryan that the Far Eastern situation is one in the handling of which publicity might prove embarrassing, members of the cabinet are being quoted as strongly resentful of the present tactics. These members, it is stated, have not hesitated to express the opinion that to keep the public in the dark in a matter so vital to the interests of the United States smacks too much of Old World diplomacy and too little of the program of "pit-iless publicity" to which the administration originally gave adherence.

In defense of Mr. Bryan's course it is stated that at the outset of the negotiations he had pledged himself to Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador at Washington, not to divulge any of the correspondence until it should reach a point where it would be wise to take the public of both countries into the confidence of those handling the negotiations.

The first indications of disagreement in the cabinet were given, it is stated, when certain of the president's advisers, ignoring the secrecy suggestions of the secretary of state,
let it be known that the United States had actually protested to Japan against her demands on China
—demands, which, it was claimed,
threatened not only the integrity of China, but the interests of other nations in the Far Eastern republic.
Secretary Bryan has consistently refused to admit that any representations had been made, despite reports from Peking that such a step had been taken. To all inquiries he had curtly replied that "the matter was in mind." Consequently, it is stated, when he learned that the secret had been divulged, he complained bitterly to the president.

Since then the secretary has shown considerable irritation, branding as "improper" all questions put to him on the subject. The fact that the White House is equally reticent regarding the negotiations has strengthened the belief that the president has decided, for the present at least, to back up the secrecy policy.

VICE PRESIDENT SOUNDS
A NOTE OF WARNING

San Francisco, Cal., March 22.— Warning the youth of today against the danger of leaning on great wealth and urging independence in thought, Vice President Marshall preached a profound lesson in good citizenship to the young men and women of the university of California at the charter day exercises today.

"I do not think there is half as much danger for the future of the republic in the accumulation of great wealth as in the mush-room growth of the spirit of leaning 'on great wealth. It is taking the spine out of our young men and making jelly fish of them."

Asserting that the tendency of the day was toward leaning on wealth,
following a leader and even "hiring a leader as one would a lawyer," the vice president said, "we boast of our democracy, but the American people are the greatest flunkies and lackies
in the world."

Vice President Marshall declared that the people of today might be divided into three distinct classes—
the hero worshipers, who blindly follow a leader and refuse to think for themselves; the iconoclasts, who lean upon others, and the indifferent citizen who thinks himself too busy to bother about things political.

An army rifle today is effective over a range of 700 yards, whereas in 1870 the range was only 400 yards.

AMERICAN GUNS HOLD
GERMAN SHIP ODEWALD.

While the guns of Morro castle
hold the Hamburg-American liner Odenwald prisoner in the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, officials of the United States government are considering the question whether the steamer's captain shall be prosecuted for his attempt to leave San Juan Sunday without clearance papers. It is probable that no decision will be reached until more complete reports are received from the authorities at San Juan.

Lieutenant Colonel Burnham,
commanding the Porto Rican regiment, cabled the war department that it had been necessary to fire shots across the Odenwald's bow to keep her from putting to sea Sunday, although on Friday, in the presence of the customs collector, he had formally warned the captain that he would be fired upon if he started out of the harbor without being cleared.

Clearance had been withheld on account of what the customs officials considered suspicious circumstances. The ship, it is understood, has no other cargo than coal and supplies.

Under a joint resolution passed by Congress during the closing hours of the last session, the president is authorized to direct collectors of customs to withhold clearance from any vessel which he has reasonable cause
to believe to be about to carry fuel, arms, ammunition, men or supplies
to any warship, tender or supply ship of a belligerent nation. The resolution further provides that in case any such vessel departs or attempts to depart from the jurisdiction of the United States without clearance, for the purposes set forth,
it shall be forfeited to the United States, and the "owner or master or person or persons having charge or command" shall severally be liable to a fine of not less than $2,000 nor more than $10,000, or to imprisonment not to exceed two years.

United States Missionaries in Peril.

Washington, March 24.—Ambassador Morgenthau, at Constantinople, was directed by the state department today to ask protection from the Turkish government for American missionaries and refugees reported in peril at Urumiah, Persia.
Secretary Bryan cabled Ambassador Morgenthau after official notification reached the department from American Consul Smith that the lives of Americans at Urumiah were endangered and that an attack on the American mission there had been led by the Turkish consul Raghib Bey, at the head of 700 Askaris.
Consul Smith's message came from Tiflis.

How to get relief to the imperiled Americans in such a remote spot
was seriously considered by officials
here. The nearest American ships, it was found, were the cruisers Tennessee and North Carolina, in Mediterranean waters, and it would be geographically impossible for them to get to the scene. It was determined, therefore, to make immediate representations to the Turkish government.

President Answers Belgian Child
Letter.

Washington, March 23.—The state department's next budget of Europe-bound mail will include one letter from President Wilson, not of the official class, it was learned at the White House today.

It was in reply to the following
epistle from Brussels, dated February 18th:

"Dear Mr. Wilson:—The poor people in our villages were starving, but now that you have sent over to our dear country a big provision of wheat both rich and poor can live, thanks to the Americans. Pussy de Spoelberch, nine years old.

"I join my sister in thanking you for it is jolly good bread, enough to satisfy and school boy's hunger."
Master A. Spoelberch."

To this, the president answered:
"My dear little friend:—Your letter touched me very deeply, and I thank you for it, with all my heart. I hope you will grow up strong to do the work that will have to be done in the days of peace that are coming."

Millions For Belgian Relief.

A total of $25,858,017 was spent for relief in Belgium through the commission for relief in Belgium up to March 8. Of this amount $22,- 405,713 went to the provisioning department, which sells food to those who can pay for it, and $3,452,304
to the benevolent department, which distributes food to those actually destitute.

The Belgians themselves have contributed nearly $10,000,000 to the relief fund, it was said.

Of the civil population remaining in Belgium, the commission estimates that about 1,500,000 are entirely destitute and adds that this number will increase.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS NOTES

A BRIEF SURVEY OF WHAT IS TRANSPIRING IN THE COMMONWEALTH.

Fire in Asheboro.—Fire in Asheboro Tuesday morning destroyed the homes of Thaddeus Auman and Sam Barnes.

Called to Texas.—Rev. W. M.
Walsh, of Statesville, is in Sherman,
Tex., investigating a call he has received to the pastorate of a Presbyterian church in that place.

Mr. Watson Improving.—Thousands of admiring friends all over the state will be glad to learn that Hon. Cyrus B. Watson, of Winston-Salem, who has been seriously ill recently, is improving.

Librarian Elected.—W. S. Wilson, who has been a clerk in the office
of the secretary of state since 1901, has been elected legislative reference librarian, a position created by the recent session of the legislature.
D. L. Webster Dead.—D. L. Webster, postmaster of Siler City and one of the leading citizens of the town, died Monday, following an illness of ten days of pneumonia. He is survived by his widow and two sons.

Officer and Negro in Duel.—U. M.
Page, a police officer of LaGrange,
was shot and seriously wounded
Tuesday by George Wooten, colored,
who was resisting arrest on a charge of robbing a store. The officer returned the fire and killed the negro.

Johns Red Cross.—Miss Vashti
Bartlett, who has been superintendent of nurses at the Watts hospital in Durham, has tendered her resignation and will sail in a few days for Paris, France, where she will engage in the work of relieving, as a Red Cross nurse.

Died After Prayer.—W. A. Craig, steward of the state hospital at Raleigh, died Sunday morning just as he had concluded a fervent prayer at a service held at the hospital.
He was 62 years old. His home was at Mebane and he was a relative of Governor Craig.

George Norwood Dead.—George W. Norwood, chief clerk in the office of the secretary of state and a well known citizen of Raleigh, died Tuesday afternoon, following an illness of a few days. He was 61 years old and had been in the office of the secretary of state for 14 years.

Fortune in Small Safe.—A report
from Wilson states that over $50,- 000 in cash has been found in a small iron safe in the home of T. R.
Lamm, a wealthy and eccentric citizen, who died last week. The money consisted of near $35,000 in gold certificates and $16,000 in coin. The estate is said to be worth approximately $200,000.

Murder in Card Game.—Allen
Foster, colored, a cripple, fifty years old, shot and killed Mick Erwin, colored, forty years old, at the former's residence in Asheboro Monday night, following what is supposed to have been a quarrel over a card game.
Foster was himself shot in the neck
and it is stated that he is in a deperate condition.

For Postoffice Robbery.—Thomas
Sater, alias Thomas Ralston, a young man about 30 years of age and of good appearance, is in jail charged with the robbery of the postoffice at Candler. He admits having served a term of four years in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta for robbing a postoffice in Tennessee, but denies any connection with the Candler robery.

Murderer With Record.—J. C.
Walker, who some years ago killed
the sheriff of Brunswick county and escaped and was recently arrested at Wilmington, has been identified as a man who escaped from the Oklahoma penitentiary, where he was serving 30 years for murder.
Walker, it is alleged, killed an officer in Oklahoma after his escape from North Carolina.

Still Buying Automobiles.—The
records in the secretary of state's office show that the people of North Carolina are still buying automobiles. Since the first of March 250 machines have been registered. The last registration number is 15,214.

Co-Pastor Called.—Rev. Carl Craig, who is finishing his course in the Union Theological Seminary at Richmond, Va., has received a call to become co-pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Reidsville.
His father, Rev. Dr. D. I. Craig, has been pastor of the church for many years.

County Treasurers Abolished.—
The recent session of the legislature
abolished the office of treasurer in the following counties: Duplin,
Northampton, Mitchell, Camden,
Clay, Franklin, Robeson, Vance,
Person, Hoke, Lincoln, Catawba,
Cleveland, Gates, Madison, Forsyth,
Martin, Harnett, Wayne, Columbus,
Bertie, Avery, Granville, Johnston,
Anson, Warren, Wilson, Sampson,
Perquimans, Lee, Brunswick, Bladen,
Washington, Martin, Chowan, Richmond, Edgecombe, Greene. The office had previously been abolished
in several other counties.

A Dog Law Right.—The dog law passed for Mecklenburg county by the recent legislature is one worth while. It prohibits all dogs running at large from April 1 to October 1,
and prohibits hunting with dog or gun except between December 10
and January 25. Fines of $2 to $10
are imposed for each violation of the law, half to go to the officer or other person "making information."

Instantly Killed.—DeWitt Cunningham, a prominent young man of Franklin county, was almost instantly killed Tuesday when his pistol was accidentally discharged and the ball entered his brain. Young Cunningham was driving along the road in a buggy and took his pistol from his pocket to examine it. He was looking in the barrel when the buggy ran into a rut and the jar discharged the pistol.

Evidence Insufficient.—The ten white youths of Catawba county who were arrested in connection with the murder of Pink Goodson, a negro 56 years of age, in his home near Hickory Saturday night, the 14th inst., were set at liberty at the preliminary hearing at Hickory Saturday. Counsel for the state asked for the discharge of the defendants, the evidence not being sufficient to hold them for the Superior court.

Will Decide Soon.—A. W. Mc-Lean, of Lumberton, who was in Raleigh this week attending the Supreme court, stated that he will,
within the next three weeks, make formal announcement as to his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor in the next campaign. It is generally understood that he will be in the race along with Lieutenant Governor Daughtridge,
Attorney General Bickett and possibly others.

Commencement Address.—Hon.
William B. Wilson, secretary of labor in President Wilson's cabinet, will deliver the address at the approaching commencement of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

Killed by Train.—H. H. Riddle, of Robeson county, was found dead on a railroad track near Fayetteville a few days ago. He had been run over by a train and his body was badly mutilated. He was intoxicated when last seen alive.

STOKES COUNTY HOME ROBBED!

Robbers broke into the home of John Tuttle, an old man who resides three miles east of King, Stokes county, entered the room where Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle were sleeping and carried off a trunk containing about $700 in cash and some valuable papers.—Greensboro Patriot.

If Mr. Tuttle had deposited his money with the Bank of King he would now have it. As it is, he is short $700. There are many people in Greensboro and Guilford county keeping money in their homes, even though Greensboro has four safe banks, whose business it is to safeguard money.

If you have money hid away in the house, bring it to us. It will be safe in our bank and will earn 4 per cent. interest for you.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

WHITSETT.

Beautifully engraved cards have just been issued by Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Carmon, of this place, to the marriage of their only daughter, Miss Carrie Montien Carmon, to Mr. G. Clayton McKaughan, of Greensboro. The ceremony will occur at their home on Tuesday, April 6, and the happy couple, after some time spent on a visit to Northern cities, will reside in Greensboro, where Mr. McKaughan is a popular young business man. Miss Carmon is a beautiful and popular young woman, and many good wishes will follow her to her new home.

Mrs. Eugene M. Rollins, of Henderson, is spending a few days here with her mother, Mrs. Dora A. Dick, and with her brother, Dr. J. V. Dick, at Gibsonville.

Invitations have been received here for the inauguration of President Edward K. Graham, at the University of North Carolina, on April 21, and several will go from this place.

Dr. Whitsett has accepted an invitation to serve as one of the judges in the debate between the high schools of Graham and Burlington the latter part of this week.

The Whitsett cornet band has been engaged in practice for some weeks and is delighting all with fine music on public occasions from time to time.

The Y. M. C. A. is preparing an elaborate program for a special service to be rendered Easter Sunday morning.

Mr. H. A. Hudson, who was called home to Pitt county by a fire which destroyed his father's residence and much other valuable property, has returned to school. He is president of the senior class this year.

Mrs. R. O. Walker has returned from a visit to Goldsboro and other points east.

MONTICELLO.

Mr. Lester Faucett, who has been seriously ill, is very much improved.

The township recitation and declamation contest was held Monday afternoon. Florence Smith and Lawrence Liles, both of the Monticello school, were chosen as representatives at the county commencement.

The Osceola school gave a play, "Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard," last Saturday night. It was largely attended and enjoyed.

The Woman's Club is the liveliest wire in Monticello. Since they gave the play, "The Monticello Social Club," the men have waked up and are planning a ball game for Easter Monday. The "fats" will play the "leaves."

Misses Frances Harry and Annie Lee Rankin spent the week-end in Greensboro visiting friends.

Miss Grace Shaeffer, who has charge of the girls' tomato club work in Guilford county, was out here recently, and a splendid club has been organized.

The girls in the dormitory are going to give a play next Saturday night, the 27th—"Miss Fearless & Co." Admission, 25 cents. Proceeds will be used to pay for the furniture in the dormitory.

Misses Vallie and Minnie Lambeth are at home after teaching a very successful school at Gethsemane.

Entertainment at Battle Ground.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Battle Ground church will give an apron and box party at the school house Thursday evening, April 1, for the benefit of the church. The public is cordially invited to attend.

MCLEANSVILLE.

Prof. E. L. Veasey, principal of the graded school here, went to Chapel Hill last Friday afternoon to hear ex-President Taft speak.

Mrs. S. E. Fort, of Winston, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Rowann Andrew.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hines spent last Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hines, who live near Brown Summit.

Prof. C. D. Cobb went to Concord Sunday, where he was called on account of the death of his wife's brother-in-law, Mr. Luther Sier.

Rev. R. E. Redding will hold regular services at Bethel Presbyterian church the coming Sunday; Sunday school at 10.30 and preaching at 11.30 o'clock.

The public debate that was to have been given Saturday night, March 27, has been postponed to Saturday night, April 3, on account of its conflicting with a moving picture show which will be given on the coming Saturday night.

The debating society met as usual last Friday night and considered the question: Resolved, that co-educational schools are detrimental to both sex. The judges decided in favor of the negative. New officers were elected as follows: President, P. T. Hines; vice president, W. J. Boone; secretary, Charlie Isley. Messrs. Holt and Whittington were appointed captains. Question for next meeting: Resolved, that the government should own and control the railroad and telegraph lines.

The "Passion Play" in moving pictures will be given at the high school building the coming Saturday night.

Services at Buffalo and Midway Churches.

Sunday school at Buffalo at 10 A. M. and preaching at 11 by the pastor, Rev. E. Frank Lee, Subject, "The Sorrowing Christ."

Sunday school at Midway at 2.30 P. M. and preaching at 3.30 by the pastor, Christian Endeavor at 2 o'clock P. M.

The members of both churches are reminded to bring in their self-denial envelopes on Sunday for foreign missions.

Lived as Man Four Years.

Springfield, Mass., March 22.—The death of Miss Florestine Albertine Beaudoin, whose body was found in Williamansett Saturday night, revealed that she had lived disguised as a man for four years. She resided with her sister, Mrs. Mary LaChapelle, and as "Albert Geaudoin," worked in the paper mills of Holyoke. The only motive suggested for her long masquerade is that she could earn more as a man, for the support of herself and her sister, who is a widow. Her death was due to heart trouble.

After her day's work in Holyoke, she began loading a wagon with furniture, from the house which she occupied with her sister. A little later she was found lying by the wagon, and died soon after. The post mortem examination revealed her sex.

Food From Straw.

According to an Amsterdam dispatch, an ingenious German professor "has discovered a means of converting straw into food. It is likely to revolutionize the food question." Even from Biblical times man has appreciated the folly of trying to make bricks without straw. Now this lowly product is going to create a revolution in the food market. It is to be hoped that the Berlin professor will be generous and allow the whole world to share in the benefits of his epoch-making discovery.

TERRA HAUTE NEGRO VOTED IN THE NAME OF A DOG.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23.—Sheriff Dennis Shea, City Judge Thomas Smith, and Street Inspector Alexander Ascel, alias Steel, three defendants in the Terra Haute elections case, were ordered into the custody of the United States marshal here late today by Judge Anderson for alleged tampering with government witnesses.

Judge Anderson also asserted that he would put all of the twenty-eight defendants in jail if he heard of further attempts to influence or bribe government witnesses.

"I shall try to teach you gentlemen there is some law in this court," said the judge.

Judge Anderson took up the question of tampering with witnesses after the jury had retired for the day. He recited alleged attempts to influence witnesses before the grand jury and instances testified to in court since the beginning of the trial.

The judge then asked Mr. Dailey if he had investigated the case of Steel, and when the district attorney replied that two witnesses would testify tomorrow as to Steele's alleged interference with witnesses, the court ordered Steel into the custody of the marshal until he should give bond of $5,000. Steel has been at liberty on a bond of $1,500.

Judge Smith, who, it was testified, sentenced to jail some of the seven government witnesses, then was ordered into the charge of United States Marshal Mark Storen until he could give $10,000 bond. He has been out on $7,500 bond.

Ad Rogers, who has pleaded guilty, testified today that he made out an application in Terra Haute for registration in the name of a dog; that it was placed on the registration books and was voted by a negro.

To Finance Mexico's Hemp Crop.

Washington, March 23.—An American warship will take to Yucatan money to finance the movement of Mexico's sisal hemp crop, needed to make twine for binding the American wheat crop this year. The money—$625,000 in currency, which manufacturers propose to advance to the hemp growers—is in bank vaults at Galveston but until today no safe means of getting it to Mexico had been found.

Secretary Daniels agreed to permit the use of a warship after hearing sisal purchasers outline the difficulties that had been encountered. There is said to be some 250,000 bales of sisal ready for shipment in Yucatan.

Since the United States prevented Carranza from blocking Progresso, the chief obstacles in the way of moving this supply have been scarcity of labor and shipping facilities. Arrival of the American money is expected to result in further improvement.

Wall Street in Old Time Form.

New York, March 23.—Dealings in securities on the stock exchange today were broader and on a larger scope than at any time since the resumption of business last December. Total transactions approximated 620,000 shares, and the average of prices was highest for the current year, but somewhat under the best quotations of last December.

Renewal of active trading followed advice from Europe which suggested an early termination of the war. Other favorable factors included further large gold imports and signs of greater improvement in the country's domestic and foreign commerce.

A larger percentage of the day's business was traceable to speculative demand and short covering. Investment inquiry continues to show extreme caution, as denoted by the bond market, which failed to keep pace with the day's movement in stocks.

Vice President Has a Flag.

For the first time there has been prescribed for the vice president of the United States a distinctive flag, to be displayed on naval vessels while he is aboard in an official capacity. The president, secretary and assistant secretary of the navy and the secretary and assistant secretary of war each have a flag.

Vice President Marshall will represent the president at the Panama exposition and will be received on board the Colorado, the flagship of Admiral Howard, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet. It occurred to Secretary of the Navy Daniels that a flag should be displayed in honor of the vice president.

The vice president's flag will differ from the president's only in that it consists of the coat of arms of the United States on a white field instead of a blue field.

Thorite, a mineral produced principally in Norway, has been found to possess some of the therapeutic powers of radium and to serve as a less expensive substitute for it.

HEAVY EXPORTS PLACE WHEAT SUPPLY IN DANGER.

Warning that the present heavy exports to European nations of American wheat and flour cannot be continued without endangering the wheat supplies for food and seedling requirements at home was contained in the department of agriculture's agricultural outlook issued this week. In the opinion of the department's experts exportations at the same rate as during December, January and February until the coming of the new wheat crop would encroach upon normal domestic needs.

Investigation has disclosed that there was on March 1 an apparent surplus of about 91,000,000 bushels of wheat over the domestic requirements for food and seed that was available for export in the four months from March 1 to July 1. While the exports of wheat, including flour, during those four months last year were 36,000,000 bushels, it is pointed out that those exports during December, January and February last averaged almost 35,000,000 bushels per month, and if that rate of export continued until the new crop is available it would amount to 140,000,000 bushels.

The department's investigation did not include inquiries into stocks of flour, but the opinion is expressed that they do not show so much reduction as wheat stocks. A factor in the situation, indicated by the department, is that the Southern states have greatly increased their wheat acreage, the crop of which will be marketable before July 1, and will have the effect of increasing the available supplies between now and that date.

Want Only Men Who Can Deliver the Goods.

The Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer sends his paper the following:

Col. William H. Osborn, commissioner of internal revenue, is preparing to make a desperate effort to run the income tax collections up to about $90,000,000 for the present year. He is dropping out men who fail to make good records in running down income-tax dodgers and putting in expert collectors. Hereafter men for the income tax division will not be selected for political reasons. Well-equipped persons, with ability to deliver the goods, are sought. About 20 men have been let out to give places to trained tax-hunters.

Commissioner Osborn thinks that he can save the government something in the way of expenses, and at the same time add several million dollars to the income tax collections.

This may mean some shake-ups in North Carolina collector's offices. The Tar Heel payrolls are considered large for the business.

Building Up a Civilian Navy.

Washington, March 23.—The Navy department has just commenced the gigantic task of building up a reserve of 25,000 experienced men, who may be called to the colors within 24 hours in the event that the nation is confronted with a crisis. Naval experts believe that within six months they will have the "civilian navy" established as a reality. The reserve is to be composed of men who have had excellent records in the navy during the last eight years, and have been honorably discharged. In other words, it will represent the cream of the men who have gone out of the service within a few years.

The reserve system will be operated at a nominal cost and officers insist that the experienced men will be of more value to the navy in time of actual war than so many younger men.

Deserts Bride on Honeymoon.

Search is being conducted for Frank Stockton, a young man from Gastonia, who is alleged to have deserted his bride of a few days while the two were spending their honeymoon at a hotel in Charlottesville, Va. It is also alleged that, when he departed he took all of her money with him.

The pair were married March 15 at the bride's home in Orange county, and they went from there to Charlottesville. Mrs. Stockton, who is seven years older than her husband, formerly taught school at Gastonia, and she is now with his relatives there.

Though Stockton is reported to have been married once before, this has not been confirmed. He is said to be barely twenty years old.

Mother Kills Herself and Daughter.

Kingston, N. Y., March 23.—Mrs. William P. Dutton and her five-year-old daughter were found dead today, behind doors that had been nailed fast, in their home at Ellenville. A note addressed to the coroner read: "It is usual in cases like this to render a verdict of suicide while insane. Your verdict to accord with the facts in this case should be suicide with perfectly sound mind and body."

MR. FARMER

Corn planting time is not as far off as it has been. Are you ready for it? If you need a corn planter we want to interest you in the Genuine "Daisy," a cut of which is shown here. This planter has a number of features which no other planter has—features which the practical farmer will quickly appreciate. We can mention only a few in this space:

The "Daisy" drops one or two grains of corn—drops them from 10 to 38 inches apart, and the good thing about it is that every grain CAN BE SEEN as it drops—no guess work about it.

The "Daisy" will put out from 20 to 1,200 pounds of fertilizer per acre—will handle any kind of fertilizer that any other planter can, and will handle fertilizer that some of the other planters CAN NOT HANDLE.

The "Daisy" is strongly built, light draft, easy to manage, a satisfaction giver, and the corn planter thoroughly suited to this section of the country. We want to show you the "Daisy" and tell you more about it. May we?

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

OR BACKACHE KIDNEYS AT L. BLADEN

GOVERNOR RODE A CALF
IN HIS COURTING DAYS.

General Tom C. Rye, Democratic governor of Tennessee—having wrested the state from Republican control—rode into prominence and into the heart of the girl he married astride a calf he had trained. On its back Tom went a-courting the young woman who is now his wife.

Too poor to purchase a horse or a mule to ride about the country, as the youth of these days were wont to do, young Rye acquired a red bull calf in a trade and broke it to the saddle. Rye called him "Jim," "because," he said, "I thought if I gave him a high-sounding name he might live up to it."

"Jim" labored in the fields on week days ploughing corn, and when Sunday came Tom mounted him and rode to church and also a-courting.

Tom and his calf made their first appearance together on preaching day at the little church on the hillside some distance from Tom's home at Camden. The neighborhood bullies who were hanging around the church saw a splendid opportunity for fun, and began to tease the young "calf trainer." Tom had worked hard and was a strong youth, and in quick succession he thrashed three of his tormentors. After that the boys had more respect for both Tom and the calf, and Tom rode him without further interference to church gatherings and frolics within a dozen miles.

Tom Rye was popular because of his sunny disposition and droll humor, and the attachment between him and his mount made "Jim" the pet of all the girls. Many Sunday afternoons while Tom sat in the parlor the center of a group of girls, shy maidens would steal into the fence corner or the stable and feed "Jim" sugar.

Tom courted and won the heart of Betty Arnold, a belle of Camden. With a view to fitting himself for his intended bride, he sold "Jim," bought "store clothes" with the proceeds and went to Charlotte, Tenn., and became a student in the law office of his uncle, Major T. C. Morris. In two years he finished his Blackstone, passed his examination and was admitted to the bar. When he returned to Camden to establish a practice and claim his bride he found "Jim" one of a yoke of oxen drawing a log wagon. "Jim" had been taught to come at the call of his master and Tom hallooed. The ox remembered and answered with a deep throated bellow.

It is said of Rye that in his youth, when he had reached the age for breeches, his mother took the shears and cut off a pair of his Uncle Jack's trousers to the proper length. Tom strenuously objected to wearing them, but finally he became reconciled to them and, donning them, had his picture taken in them.

Rye became one of the leading lawyers in his section, and was known for kindheartedness and sympathy for the distressed and for sound counsel to those who got into trouble through misfortune. This reputation has stuck to him all through his life. It stood him in good stead when he entered the political arena.

He was attorney general for his district when a well-known young man of Paris became addicted to drink and one night went on a rampage and terrorized the town. He was indicted, and his father was about to drive him from home when Tom Rye intervened. He suggested that if the father would send the boy to some other locality and give him a fresh start the case against him might be dropped. The young man made good, and is today one of the substantial business men of Paris.

On another occasion Rye succeeded in getting a light sentence for a client who was charged with murder. There had been mitigating circumstances, and friends later got up a petition for the man's pardon, which they asked Rye to present to the governor.

"This is a strong petition," said the governor. "If my memory serves me right the prisoner got off very light indeed."

Then, laying his hand on General Rye's shoulder, he continued: "Tom, I have known you a long time and I do not believe you would misplace a confidence. You are familiar with this case and know whether justice has been done. Consider yourself for the time being governor. If in your judgment this man should be freed write the pardon and I will sign it."

The pardon was never written.

A Gloomy View.
The five-year-old daughter of an army officer at Fort Hamilton was returning from Sunday school a short time ago when she met a friend of the family who asked her where she had been.

"Jus' to Sunday school," she said. "And what did you do there?" questioned the friend.

"Oh, we jus' sang sad songs about heaven," answered the child.

THE SCRAMBLE FOR AMERICAN DOLLARS.

The American dollar is now at a premium in the currencies of every principal country in Europe. These currencies, in other words, are now at a discount in terms of the American dollar.

The premium or the discount not only exists and persists. It is of extraordinary proportions. At the par of exchange, $4.86 will buy one English pound sterling. At the prevailing quotation in this market, only $4.80 will buy a pound sterling. Ordinarily 95 cents will buy four German marks. Now less than 84 cents will buy four marks. Ordinarily an American dollar will buy in this market 5.19 Italian lire. Now a dollar will buy as much as 5.75 lire.

International trade for years without number has been financed through London. Credit in English pounds sterling has been the standard and desideratum of the world's commerce. This is now turning to New York, and in terms of the dollar.

The scramble for American dollars or American credit is practically universal and has become acute. To get either, the belligerent and other peoples are offering unheard-of prices in their own money. They do not want the dollars to take away. They want them here and to be spent here. Unable or unwilling to send their own gold in payment of the enormous purchases made to supply their war and other needs, they are willing to sacrifice great sums of money in substituting promises to pay gold later on.

During January alone they took from the United States $145,500,000 worth of goods above what were paid for in exports to the United States. After making all allowances for our current invisible indebtedness abroad, this represents an accumulation of American credit against the outside world at the rate of over a billion dollars a year. It represents a continued and unprecedented command of the world's exchanges from New York, an increasingly powerful tendency from sterling to dollar exchange in settlement of the world's trade balances.

We have suffered much from Europe's self-inflicted miseries, and the fact has not been ignored. The advantages which have been forced upon us are no more to be ignored. The financial center of the world, remotely following the westward course of empire has been given a tremendous push in this direction within a few months. It remains for Americans, through liberalized policies of trade and finance, to see that this financial center stays where the great war has planted it.—New York World.

RANSACKS THE WORLD
FOR CHOICE FRUITS.

From the office of information of the United States department of agriculture comes the delectable announcement that a smoothstone peach has been brought from China and is to be used to improve our commercial fruit of the same family.

We are told also that a beautiful Chinese quince, "golden on one side and reddish on the other," is doing well in its new American environment, a condition of thriving and promise, which is also true of Chinese hazelnut bushes brought to America, and which now are bearing nuts that ought to make our inferior-sized fruit crack for the very shame of insignificance.

There is no joke about these importations. The bureau of plant industry of the United States government never makes announcement of the addition of new fruits, plants and flowers to the American fields until their successful growth has been proved. It was this bureau of the government which introduced the date palm into America. Every year now tons of American dates are sent to the market and are pronounced to be as good as those which form one of the staple diets of the travelers of the Eastern deserts.

The bureau has introduced many new kinds of alfalfa into the United States, making possible the growth of this valuable forage plant in places where the soil was supposed to be inimical to its life. New cherries, new berries, new shade and new forest trees have been brought into the country by the government. Some of the desert places are now blooming because of the work of Uncle Sam's plant bureau.

The government employs explorers to go into lands new and old for the purpose of finding valuable trees and plants which can be added to the native growth of the United States.

BUSINESS MAN ARRESTED FOR STEALING CHICKENS.

The arrest and conviction of A. F. Poole, well known in the wholesale poultry markets of Kansas City, on charges of stealing chickens, broke up two homes on the South Side and caused consternation in two social circles, to say nothing of the shock to his business associates, says a press dispatch from Kansas City.

Poole was a man of temperament. He loved beautiful women, and is said to have supported two. He was fond of fine homes and, authorities say, maintained two in Kansas City's South Side. He enjoyed riding in motorcars, and had several. He enjoyed society and moved in two different South Side circles, and he was artistic.

Poole posed as the representative of a large poultry house at Wichita, Kan. His business kept him away from home about two weeks out of every three, presumably traveling for his firm. Commission men at the market often bought large orders of chickens from him, and the orders were promptly filled.

The accused merchant might have gone on indefinitely but for the foresight of a farmer near Lee Summit, who had a large number of blooded chickens. This farmer equipped his chicken coop and barn with an electric burglar alarm. One night in November he was awakened by the alarm ringing. He fired twice at a fleeing figure, who dropped a sack of his choicest chickens.

He found a wagon standing in his driveway containing six dozen sacked chickens, which were identified the next day by neighboring farmers.

A letter found in the wagon gave Poole's name and a warrant was obtained for his arrest. Poole was shopping on Grand avenue with a woman yesterday when a policeman arrested him. When taken before Judge Ladew he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

The Lament of Mr. Frick.

While reluctantly admitting that times are improving, Henry Clay Frick is sure that business will never be at its best "until we get a Republican administration," Mr. Frick is evidently longing for the good old days when he could drop into the White House before breakfast and secure a personal license from the president of the United States authorizing the Steel Trust to take over the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company.

It cannot be done now. We doubt if it could be done again under a Republican administration. Any Republican candidate for president who could be elected would be unlikely to be the kind of Republican president Mr. Frick has in mind.

Captains of industry like Mr. Frick can never forget that noble period of private prosperity when wall street had an underground wire running into the White House, and a practical man needed no letter of introduction. Yet even Mr. Frick is a long way from the breadline in spite of the Wilson regime. Unless the public prints are mistaken, he has managed to hold out enough money to buy a $1,400,000 collection of Fragonards from J. P. Morgan. There have been American millionaires who thought they were prosperous when they had that much ready cash.

The Old-Fashioned Mother Needed.
When Bishop Anderson, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Chicago, declared in a Lenten sermon that the home lacks religion he touched the main cause of the religious decline of our day.

American life is becoming secularized. Parents not only fail to teach their children the fundamentals of a religious life, but fall down quite as badly in the example they set. "When parents do things that makes their children blush," said Bishop Anderson, "how can the children be blamed for growing up without the essential religious spirit? It seems that there is to be nothing holy in American life at all, no Holy Book, no holy day, no holy places." If children do not get in the home the atmosphere of religion, a love of the Bible and respect for things sacred, the chances are they will not get these things in school or college or anywhere else.—Leslie's Weekly.

THE CONFEDERATES HAD FIRST FLOATING MINE.

While the world is discussing floating mines, which have proved so destructive to commerce in the European war, the claim is made by Confederate veterans of Mississippi that a man of that state, Thomas Weldon, invented the first device of this kind, which was used successfully on the Yazoo river December 5, 1862, in the destruction of the Union transport Cairo, with a loss of nearly 500 lives. Weldon, a civil engineer, placed giant powder in his crude contrivance, the explosion of which would have scarcely made a dent in modern armorplate.

H. Clay Sharkey, now receiver of public moneys at Jackson, Miss., former member of the third Mississippi regiment, one of the 25 men who were picked to assist Weldon in laying the mine, tells of the incident, mention of which is made in neither Mississippi written history nor the naval history of the United States.

"Late in November, 1862," says Captain Sharkey, "when the Federal gunboats were preparing to pass our batteries at Vicksburg and Whistling Dick (a celebrated piece of artillery on the Vicksburg fortifications) kept them from passing the hills, General Grant began a movement to go up the Yazoo, land a force about Vicksburg and take the army guarding Vicksburg in the rear. The Yazoo river had a flow obstruction at Snyder's Bluff. This was a raft of logs fastened together and made fast to each bank.

"Late in November a detail was made of privates to do the bidding of a civilian, Civil Engineer Thomas Weldon, a native of Virginia, who had moved to Mississippi some years before the outbreak of the war. I was a member of the detail. Only experienced oarsmen were selected, about 25 altogether, who assembled on the west bank of the Yazoo river above the mouth of Steele Bayou on what was then the Blake place.

"Some hundred or more five-gallon demijohns were filled with giant powder after being provided with wires and percussion caps on the inside, and the demijohns were then sealed with corks and wax. On the outside was a casing of light wood so balanced that the whole thing sank some two feet under the surface. As these floats were strung on other wires, not until these supporting wires were broken did the strain come on the igniting wire.

"The exact date I am not certain, but I believe it was December 5, when two gunboats appeared and began shelling us, after we had for several days been annoying them and their transport further down the river.

"The two gunboats steamed slowly up the river, firing shells at nothing in sight, but keeping us off the banks and preventing us from annoying the transport following them. Both the gunboats passed the mines and there was no explosion, but as the Cairo, or Essex, as some remember the name, came up with about 500 troops on board the explosion took place. The boat's prow was thrown up and the rear of the boat plunged beneath the huge wave made by the explosion.

"Most of the men on board were carried under, never to rise again, but some could be seen struggling in the water. We attempted to reach them to give them succor, but the gunboat turned their guns on us, and we sought shelter of the woods again. Those who reached the east bank, only a few, were taken by our pickets.

"Mr. Weldon claimed that the Confederate government had offered $50,000 for the first boat sunk by a mine or torpedo, but I learned that for some reason he never got his reward. As the Confederates invented the ram and the ironclad they also invented the floating mine. I suppose it bears a little resemblance to the present-day mine as the rapid rifle does to our mucket, but we claim to be the first to mine a waterway successfully."

Looks For Religious Revival.

Norristown, Pa., March 23.—Europe's war horrors are to be followed by a religious revival such as is sweeping America, in the opinion of Bishop William Fraser McDowell, who is presiding at the Philadelphia Methodist Conference. He made this prediction this afternoon in an interview following the ordination service.

"Europe has known revivals before, and I believe it will know another when peace concludes the present war," he said. "Moody, for instance, stirred Europe very deeply, and I think it will be done again. The revival now in progress in America is having a splendid economic effect. Money which used to go into the pockets of liquor dealers is being turned into shoes and clothing."

More than 2,000 miles of line and 11,000 miles of wires and cables and 183 telephone exchanges were established in India last year.

SOUTHERN CLAIMS MAY BE THROWN OUT OF COURT.

Claims aggregating $14,000,000, many of them growing out of damage done in the South by Federal troops during the war between the states will be thrown out of court if the Court of Claims sustains an interpretation placed by the department of justice on a provision of the omnibus claims bill passed by the last Congress.

Assistant Attorney General Thompson, in charge of the cases, has notified counsel for claimants, and interested members of Congress of the department's contention, and the point probably will be argued before the court in the near future. The department based its position on section 5 of the new law, which provides that hereafter the Court of Claims shall not have jurisdiction over any claim against the United States government growing out of property damage, use of stores and supplies or occupation of real estate by the military and naval forces of the United States during the war between the states or even "any claim barred by the provisions of any law of the United States."

According to the department's interpretation, this nullifies the section of the judicial code under which Congress has referred to the Court of Claims hundreds of cases for a report as to whether the statute of the limitations should be waived. A decision will not affect any of the claims for which appropriations already have been made.

Pending the court's decision, the department has ordered its field agents to suspend investigation of all the cases involved.

Navy Recruited to Full Strength.

A Washington dispatch to the Richmond Journal says:

The unparalleled constructive and progressive record of our navy during the first two years of the administration of President Wilson and Secretary Daniels is ably reviewed in a speech made by Representative John A. Small, of North Carolina, during the closing hours of the Sixty-third Congress, and published in the Congressional Record.

One of the greatest achievements of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, says Mr. Small, has been the change of sentiment he has brought about in regard to desirability of enlisting in the navy so that the enlisted strength has been increased 1,670 men since the Democrats took hold. Instead of having insufficient men to man all our warships, making it impossible to commission all the vessels in the navy at the time that Secretary Daniels took hold, the navy is now recruited to its full strength, and for the first time on record a waiting list of applicants has been established.

Japanese Situation Looms Large.

The Japanese situation just now is giving government officials in Washington considerable concern. Fear is being entertained that the United States will be compelled to exert its diplomacy to extreme lengths, in order that the demands which Japan has made upon China will not become a subject of tension between this government and the Mikado. On the other hand there is no actual fear that this government will become seriously embroiled. The United States already has sent a stiff note of protest, couched in general and polite terms, against the execution of any demands on China which might result in destroying the Hay-Takahira agreement.

There is a well-defined impression in official circles that Japan is attempting to use the European war, and her peculiar position with England and Russia, to break down the barriers which have kept her out of China. It is also known that President Wilson is determined that Japan shall not use the present situation to destroy the attempts which are being made in China to build up a republic.

THE "ZONE," THE PLAYGROUND OF THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

Through the center of the Zone, the amusement section at the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco, runs a broad avenue three thousand feet in length. It is not unusual for this entire avenue to be jammed with entertainment seekers who are busy patronizing the one hundred concessions on the Zone. An exact reproduction of the Panama canal is one of the popular and instructive features, there being a constant line both day and night of people eager to see the workings of the miniature canal. The premier showmen of America have assembled here their finest offerings of amusement, education and instruction.

GENERAL NEWS PARAGRAPHS

SUMMARY OF EVENTS THAT GO TO MAKE UP THE WORLD'S NEWS OF THE DAY.

Kills Wife and Himself.—A. M. Spitzer, 65 years old, a prosperous farmer of Rockbridge county, Va., Monday shot his wife to death and then took his own life. Domestic trouble is supposed to have caused the tragedy.

Over 1,000 Censors.—More than 1,000 persons are now employed in censoring news or letters entering and leaving Great Britain, according to a statement by the government in reply to a question by Viscount Bryce in the house of lords.

Coal For Italy.—The Italian government has chartered a large number of British and other vessels to transport coal from the United States to Italy. It is said this step was due to the difficulty of obtaining supplies of Welsh coal.

Italy Buying Horses.—Three Italian army officers are in this country buying horses for their government. A carload was purchased in Memphis, Tenn., Tuesday and further purchases will be made in St. Louis, Kansas City and other markets.

Another American Executed.—A report reaching Douglas, Ariz., says that Henry Carlson, an American soldier of fortune and Colonel Rivera Dominguez, a Villa commander, were executed after a battle Friday which resulted in the capture of Campa Sonora, by a Carranza force.

New York Tragedy.—Howard Boocock, a New York banker and well known society man, Monday night shot and killed his wife while she was playing the piano for his entertainment. He then turned the revolver upon himself and ended his own life. No cause has been assigned for the tragedy.

No Extra Session.—President Wilson announced this week, through Secretary Tumulty, that he has no intention at the present time of calling an extra session of Congress or of the senate alone. Mr. Tumulty stated the president could see in prospect no contingency which would persuade him to take such a step.

New Reserve City.—Nashville, Tenn., has been designated by the federal reserve board as a reserve city for national banks. The board announced that cities must have 50,000 population, combined capital and surplus in national banks of $3,000,000 and deposits of $10,000,000 to be so designated in the future.

Judge Roan Dead.—Judge L. S. Roan, who presided at the trial of Leo S. Frank for the murder of Mary Phagan, the Atlanta factory girl, and who sentenced Frank to death, died of cancer at the Polytechnic hospital in New York Tuesday. Judge Roan became ill several months ago and was carried to New York for treatment.

Frank Case Undecided.—Leo M. Frank's case remained undecided when the Supreme court of the United States recessed Monday until April 5. During the recess the court will prepare opinions on cases pending, and the date of reassembling is the first on which a decision in the Frank case may be announced.

Treasury Empty.—The state treasury of West Virginia is without funds and the state treasurer has suspended the honoring of drafts. All state officers, from the governor down, will not be paid for probably three months; all building under construction will be halted, and supplies for institutions cannot be bought for cash.

Sentences Affirmed.—The United States Court of Appeals at San Francisco has affirmed the convictions of F. Drew Caminetti, son of Anthony Caminetti, United States commissioner general of immigration, and Maurice I. Diggs, former state architect of California, who were convicted of violating the Mann white slave act and ordered fined and imprisoned.

Suffering For Bread.—Many districts in Vienna are reported to have been virtually without bread for a week. The government order curtailing production one-fourth has been repeated, but the situation is said to have shown no improvement, bakers being unable to obtain flour. The working classes in the Vienna suburbs are reported to be feeling the bread shortage greatly.

To Talk With Panama.—Within two weeks, officials expect the navy department will be in direct wireless communication with the Isthmus of Panama, and the first link will be completed in the world-wide wireless system which will cost nearly $2,000,000. This system is to be the "eyes of the navy." The new wireless station on the isthmus is at Darien, and it will be of sufficient strength to exchange wireless messages with the station at Arlington, Va. The receiving station at Darien is already in operation and is now getting messages from Arlington and also from the big wireless station at Tuckerton, New Jersey.

Fifty Miners Killed.—Fifty miners were killed and as many more were injured Monday by a snowslide which swept away several bunk houses at the Britannia mine at Howe Sound, B. C. Beside the bunk house, part of the aerial tramway of the mine was carried away. The mine level is on the mountainside nearly 5,000 feet above the shore of the sound. The tramway destroyed extended from the mine to the beach.

Won't Advertise Whiskey.—The Poster Advertising Company of the United States and Canada has placed a ban on the advertisement of whiskey and other spirituous liquors. Beer and wines are not included. The association has members in 4,000 cities in the United States and Canada. No new contracts will be entered into with the whiskey concerns after May 31 and no whiskey advertisement will be posted after this year, according to the resolutions adopted by the board of directors at a meeting in Chicago Tuesday.

Trial of Titanic Suit.—Trial of the suit brought by the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, owners of the steamer Titanic, which sank with the loss of more than 1,500 lives in April, 1912, to determine the extent of the company's liability, has been set in the Federal District court of New York for May 17. The company contends that its liability is limited to approximately $92,000, the value of life boats and other property recovered from the wreck. Damage suits aggregating millions for loss of life and property of those abroad have been filed.

Big Profits in Blockade Running.—Although their operations are drastic and unpleasant, blockade and blockade runners have always been amongst the most picturesque and dramatic aspects of a great war. There are many people alive today who remember the four years' blockade of the ports of the Southern states by the Federal government during the Civil war. During that period a big trade was carried on by swift steamers which owned Glasgow as their port of origin. They traded to such blockaded ports as Wilmington and Charleston, the harbor of which had been obstructed by sunken ships and huge stones, and they made huge fortunes.

Thus one man sold in Wilmington for 12 shillings corsets which he bought in Liverpool for three pence. And when he got back to Liverpool he sold cotton at half a crown a pound which he had purchased in Wilmington for two pence. Still, the risks of a blockade are great. Out of 66 vessels that engaged in this traffic in four years 40 were captured.

Says He Killed Four For Love.—Terre Haute, Ind., March 23.—Verne Alphonse Lewis murdered Mrs. Mary Bolding and three of her children and attempted to kill the two other children, on the night of March 14, because he "loved them so" and did not wish to see them "go away," according to a confession that police say Lewis made today. The murderer crushed the skulls of his six victims with flat irons as they lay asleep. The two who survived his attack are suffering from fractured skulls and, physicians say, will die.

In his alleged confession, Lewis says that he had learned that the Baldwins were preparing to move away from Terre Haute and that he "loved them so" he "couldn't bear to see them go away." Lewis was taken to Indianapolis late today for confinement because the police feared mob violence. The Vigo county grand jury today returned an indictment for first degree murder against Lewis, who is 35 years old.

Collected "Slush Fund" From Saloons.—Indianapolis, March 22.—John Nugent, assistant chief of police under Mayor Donn Roberts, detailed today at the trial of the Terre Haute election case how he had collected "slush funds," totalling about six thousand dollars from saloon keepers and gambling room proprietors for registration and election purposes last fall. He read a list of the names of the men he said Roberts told him to get money from Nugent already had pleaded guilty.

Nugent testified that Judge Redman, who, with Roberts, is among the 28 defendants, collected campaign money from the same class of people, which made Roberts angry. He declared that Roberts ordered him to visit the negro saloon keepers and tell them how many men were to be registered from each saloon. Barbers who shave dogs are numerous in Paris. Some of the shaved animals are fantastically shorn, with rings of hair adorning their bodies, alternating with denuded stripes.

SPRING WILL BE HERE IN THE WAG OF AN EAR.

The spring will be here in the wag of an ear, and splendor and beauty and solace are hers! The winter is gone, and we hasten to pawn superfluous clothing and lap robes and furs.

The spring is at hand, and the arable land is calling the farmer. "Get busy!" it croons. "Oh, hitch up your mules to your dogged tools and sow your tomatoes and spinach and prunes!"

The spring is in sight, and "My hat is a fright!" observes Arabella, my excellent wife. "Oh, a new one I need; this is all gone to seed. I simply won't wear it the rest of my life! I saved and I skinned, in old footwear I limped; I'm busy retrenching each hour of the day. I tried, so I did, to retrim my old lid, and still it's a horror—such work doesn't pay!"

The spring, with its bees and its breeze and its trees, will bring to my dwelling the iceman, I wist; with his tongs and his pail and his small piece of hail, he'll collar the coin that the coal dealer missed. He'll boost up the price of his fragment of ice, because of the war that is harrying France he's a jolly old soul, and he'll slope with my roll and bear it away in the bust of his pance.

The spring, oh, the spring, when the doodle birds sing, and poets are busy assaulting their harps! It's then, it is then we are touched for the yen by agents and fakers and all kinds of sharps! The breezes of March sort of thaw out the starch and make us so easy, our innocence shines; we fall for the tricks of the dealer in bricks and blow in our savings for ranches and mines. Then the book agents come with a book that is bum and sell us the same on the plunk-a-month plan; then for forty-eight years, in our sorrow and tears, we are handing our coin to the book-agent man. And the agent for trees and the agent for cheese and the agent for this and the agent for that—oh, they're all on the wing at the coming of spring, and they get all I have, from my shoes to my hat!

The spring, she is sprung while the year is yet young; the singers all hail her with jubilant cries. All gorgeous her clothes, and she brings us the rose, the birds and the chiggers, the snakes and the flies. She brings us the rain that refreshes the plain; she brings us the rainbow, the roorback and rill. Her days and her nights and replete with delights but everything costs like old Samuel Hill!—Judge.

Wed After 21 Years' Delay.—Savannah, Ga., March 23.—Using a marriage license that was issued to them 21 years ago, Henry D. Beaford and Mrs. Mary Jane Ferrell were married today by Justice of the Peace August McCall.

The bride is the widow of "Jim" Farrell, who was killed about 23 years ago. It was never definitely known who shot him. The shooting is said to have started a feud that lasted until it claimed several other lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaford are 70 years old. The marriage license was issued on May 2, 1894. It was a little yellow from age, but otherwise in a perfect state of preservation.
