CONCRETE AND ASPHALT ROAD

FIVE BOULEVARD TO CONNECT CITIES OF GREENSBORO AND HIGH POINT.

Before adjourning their regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon, the county commissioners voted unanimously to build a concrete and asphalt road between Greensboro and High Point and instructed the chairman of the board to borrow a sum of money not to exceed $125,000 to complete the work. The road is to be built of the same material and made as durable in every way as the stretches of concrete-asphalt highway extending from Spring Garden street at the Greensboro city limits to a point near the Masonic and Eastern Star home and from the High Point city limits about two miles in the direction of Greensboro. The work is to be done as quickly as practicable, and when completed it is declared there will not be a better or finer highway anywhere in the United States.

The board decided to build the road by contract, thus leaving the convict forces free for work on other roads of the county.

It is probable that a change will be made in the location of the Greensboro end of the road, so as to avoid the dangerous railroad crossing at the fair grounds and also to take advantage of the entire stretch of the concrete-asphalt road that has been built by Pomona to the Masonic and Eastern Star home. The distance between Greensboro and High Point would not be increased by this change, it is stated.

While Chairman Boren has made no statement as to his plans for financing the work, it is understood that the money can be obtained with ease and at a favorable interest rate.

The action of the commissioners in voting to build the road was taken after the matter had been presented to the board by delegations of Greensboro and High Point business men. Speeches were made by ten or a dozen men, all of whom urged the great desirability of the proposed highway. It was argued that the expense of keeping the old road in repair would probably pay the interest on the cost of the concrete-asphalt road and that a majority of the people of the county favor the improvement.

Mr. John A. Young opposed the concrete-asphalt road on the ground of economy and suggested that a top-soil surfaced road, if properly maintained, would answer every purpose.

Other Matters.—Property owners on the road leading from the John Tate place to the Mendenhall tanyard presented a petition asking that the road be graded, widened and top-soiled and agreeing to pay $630 of the cost of the work. The request was granted on the condition that the work be done in the regular order by the convicts in that section of the county.

A petition was received from citizens of Clay and Greene townships asking for a new road to begin at a point where the road running by the North State Nursery Company enters the Greensboro road, running on the line between the property of Grant Coble and Pat Coble and crossing the land of Jesse Brothers and D. I. Shoffner, entering the public road a little west of D. I. Shoffner's home.

Property owners along the road leading from the Winston-Salem macadam road to Colfax, crossing and connecting with the Greensboro and Winston-Salem sand-clay road, presented a petition asking for a sand-clay road and a subscription of $595 to assist in the work. The board returned the proposition for the subscription list to be enlarged and agreed to hear the matter at some time in the future.

On account of physical disability, Samuel Browne, of this city, was relieved of the payment of the peddler's license tax.

County Health Officer's Report.—Dr. W. M. Jones, the county health officer, submitted his monthly report as follows:

County Home.—Nothing out of the ordinary has occurred at the home during the month. Four visits have been made, but no calls from the home have been received. Some sort of a fence of sufficient strength and height should be placed at the home so that all visitors would be compelled to come to the door before being admitted. Such an enclosure would be a benefit to the management and would aid very materially in keeping out prowlers and undesirables.

Workhouse.—Here, as at the home, there has been nothing out of the ordinary to which attention should be called. Only a couple of visits have been made and but one call received. One tuberculosis case at the workhouse is only able to be up and about her room.

Camps.—Here only ten visits have been made during the month. One man has been removed from the camp to jail on account of a severely infected foot. One man who was in jail from the camp suffering from concussion of the brain has recovered and returned to work. Several cases for more or less minor ailments have been seen and small operations made. The camps are all in good shape.

Jail.—Here only seven visits have been made. There are at present four sick negroes, three that have been in for months, and one, as reported above, from the camps. There is one negro man in jail who was placed there for safe keeping on account of his mental condition. He has so improved that he has been turned out. There is one negro woman who is acutely insane and for whom application will be made for admission to Goldsboro.

The report showed a decrease of contagious diseases for the past month, the number of cases being as follows: Typhoid fever, 1; diphtheria, 4; scarlet fever, 3; smallpox, 2.

During the past month the health officer made 17 charity calls, attended to 18 office calls, held one inquest, made one post mortem examination, conducted four examinations for the court and examined four persons for their sanity.

Resolutions for Mr. Wilson.—The board adopted the following resolutions concerning the recent death of T. A. Wilson:

"Resolved, first that in the death of T. A. Wilson, our friend and associate, each of us feels a great loss; his friendship for us and ours for him, and his fellowship with us, was very dear to each member.

"Second, that by his death the county has been deprived of one of its most faithful and efficient officers, one whose sole object while a member of this board was to unselfishly plan and work for the upbuilding of the whole county and the prosperity of all its people.

"Third, that by his death his community has suffered a peculiar loss; it has been deprived of one who was too modest to seek to lead, and yet who, by the force of his character and real worth, induced his neighbors and those who most intimately knew him to always confide in his integrity, judgment and energy in the performance of public duty, and to seek his aid in every good work.

"Fourth, that the sympathy of this board is tendered to his bereaved family. May God in His tender mercy heal their sorrowing hearts.

"Fifth, that in respect for his memory, a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this board to become a perpetual memorial to him.

"Sixth, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family and be published in the newspapers of his county."

Mr. C. E. Kirkman, of Pleasant Garden, was a visitor at The Patriot office Tuesday.

GREAT LAYMEN'S CONVENTION

CHURCH WORKERS FROM EVERY SECTION OF STATE HERE FOR CONFERENCE.

The North Carolina convention of the laymen's missionary movement opened last night in West Market Street Methodist church with an attendance of delegates from all sections of the state. The enrollment last night had reached approximately 1,400, and the indications are that this will be increased by several hundred before the close of the convention Sunday night.

Mr. A. M. Scales, chairman of the executive committee of the convention, presided over the opening session and cordially welcomed the visitors to Greensboro.

The first speaker on the program was Dr. John N. Mills, of Washington, a noted traveler and lecturer, whose subject was "A Tourist's View of Missions." He gave a comprehensive review of missionary work throughout the world, past and present, and made a most attractive speech.

The second speaker was Rev. J. A. G. Shipley, missionary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to China, whose subject was "Winning China for Christ." He treated the subject from a new standpoint and gave his audience a comprehensive idea of the task that lies before Protestantism if China is to be won from the following of Confucius.

Rev. J. F. Love, D. D., of Richmond, Va., secretary of the foreign mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention, made an inspiring address on "The Message and Mission of Christ."

At this morning's session, which convened at 9:30 o'clock, addresses were made as follows:

"Healing the Sick in Africa," by Rev. George Green, a missionary of the Southern Baptist Convention in Africa.

"The Call of Latin America," by Rev. J. G. Dale, of Chester, S. C., secretary of the laymen's missionary movement of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church.

"The World Crisis and Its Challenge to America," by Rev. C. J. Thompson, of Raleigh.

"Getting Ready for the World Conquest," by Rev. Dr. D. Clay Lilly, field secretary of the laymen's missionary movement in the United States and Canada.

This afternoon was given over to conferences of the various denominations represented in the convention.

Negro Member of Snipes Gang Caught

Dudley Gray, colored, who was brought to Greensboro from Hopewell, Va., a few days ago as an escaped convict, was identified by Deputy Collector Neelley as a member of the Snipes gang that gave him and another revenue officer, J. H. Johnson, a little trouble near Kernersville last fall. It will be recalled that the officers were held up at the point of guns, disarmed and sent home from the Snipes place while they were searching for blockade liquor. The city has turned the negro over to the federal authorities and it is presumed that he will be tried at the next term of United States court.

Frank Snipes and his two sons, who are under sentence to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, are at liberty under bond, having appealed their case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Seaboard Engineer Killed.

Engineer David K. Wright was killed and his negro fireman and Baggage-master Branton painfully hurt when the Seaboard's crack passenger train, the Florida Limited, left the track one mile north of Niagara, a station near Southern Pines, Tuesday morning about 2 o'clock. No passengers were injured.

Engineer Wright died in his cab, the engine turning over and crushing him to death. The negro fireman jumped to safety before the engine turned over and, beyond a broken arm, suffered no injury. The extent of Baggage-master Branton's injuries are not known.

Early reports attributed the accident to softness of the roadbed, but a later unofficial statement says that a loose wheel on the front truck of the engine was responsible. That report says the truck jumped and struck about one hundred yards from the engine.

L. T. BARBER APPOINTED COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

Mr. M. W. Gant, clerk of the Superior court, yesterday appointed Mr. L. T. Barber, of Gibsonville, a member of the board of county commissioners to succeed the late T. A. Wilson. The appointment is for the remainder of the term of four years to which Mr. Wilson was elected in November, 1914. Mr. Gant made the appointment after mature deliberation, and while the task was not an easy one, in view of the wealth of material that offered itself, it is believed the selection will meet with general approval.

Mr. Barber is one of the leading citizens of eastern Guilford, having been engaged in the mercantile business at Gibsonville for a number of years. The esteem in which he is held by his neighbors is shown by the fact that he was the sole candidate presented by the people of eastern Guilford for the vacancy on the board of county commissioners. He was strongly endorsed by petitions and letters from citizens of Washington, Rock Creek and Greene, the three eastern border townships, as well as by men in other sections of the county.

Austria Seizes All Leather.

Dispatches from Switzerland state that a decree has been issued by the Austro-Hungarian authorities confiscating the entire stocks of leather in the dual kingdom for military purposes.

It is said that this sudden and unexpected measure will have a serious effect on the manufacture of leather goods, which is one of the most profitable branches of Austrian industry, and also upon the shoe trade. The prices of boots and shoes are said to have already risen greatly.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO THE READERS OF THE PATRIOT FAR AND NEAR.

Engages in Business.—Mr. Herbert Brockmann, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brockmann, of this city, is preparing to open a book and stationery store in Charlotte under the firm name of the Brockmann-Legerton Company.

Greensboro Boy Weds.—Mr. William B. Bandy, a native of Greensboro and a son of the late Prof. J. M. Bandy, and Miss Emma Swindell, of Raleigh, were married a few days ago. Mr. Bandy has been residing in Raleigh for some time and holds a position under the city government.

Baseball Again.—After much labor and some delay, the backers of professional baseball in Greensboro have announced that this city will again be represented in the North Carolina league this year. About 2,300 season tickets have been sold at $3 each in an effort to finance the team and this week the required forfeit of $1,000 was posted with the president of the league.

Sent to Richmond.—Jack Jeter, colored, was arraigned in Municipal court Tuesday to answer the charge of an assault with a deadly weapon, but before his trial it developed that he was wanted by the federal authorities in connection with recent mail robberies in Richmond, Va. Judge Brown ordered the prisoner delivered to the government officers and he was carried to Richmond for trial.

Insurance Meeting.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Dixie Fire Insurance Company was held at the company's home office in this city yesterday, when satisfactory reports of the past year's business were submitted. A dividend of 6 percent on the capital stock of $500,000 was declared. Following the meeting of the stockholders, the directors met and re-elected the officers for the ensuing year.

Punishing Speeders.—Judge S. Glenn Brown, who presides over the Municipal court, has evolved a rather unique method of dealing with automobilists who may be found guilty in his court of violating the speed laws. He has announced that for the first offense he will impose a fine of $1 for each mile of excessive speed an automobile may have been run, increasing the fine for the second and succeeding offenses.

Young Woman Dead.—Miss Flora Olive Hoover, a daughter of the late Mrs. Della Maxwell, who died January 22, died Tuesday morning at her home on West Lee street. She was 24 years old and had been ill for some time. The funeral and interment took place yesterday at Marlboro church, in Randolph county, the services being conducted by Rev. R. M. Andrews, pastor of Grace Methodist Protestant church.

Nurse For Negroes.—The Greensboro Board of Public Welfare is behind a movement for the employment of a trained visiting nurse to work among the colored population of the city, and it is probable that the necessary arrangements will be perfected in a short while. Mr. L. Richardson has offered to donate $40 a month toward the nurse's salary. A visiting nurse has been employed for several years to work among the white people of the city who need her services.

O. Henry Memorial.—A number of people interested in the matter held a meeting in the Carnegie library Monday night and resolved to take steps looking to the erection of a suitable memorial to O. Henry, the pen name of William Sydney Porter, a native of Greensboro, who achieved great distinction in the world of literature. The following were appointed members of a committee to investigate the matter and make the preliminary plans: Dr. W. P. Beall, Dr. J. L. Mann, Mrs. John S. Michaux and Mrs. Al Fairbrother.

Albright-Moore.—Mr. J. Mack Albright, a well known young farmer residing a few miles north of Greensboro, and Miss Bessie Mae Moore, who has made her home in this city for several years, were married in High Point Monday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Both she and her husband have many friends in Guilford and Rockingham counties.

For Stealing Bicycle.—Will White, colored, was tried before Justice of the Peace Collins Monday afternoon for stealing a bicycle from Worth Fields, a young white boy of Pleasant Garden. He was bound over to the Superior court and committed to jail in default of a bond of $200. The negro was trailed to Greensboro by young Fields and a playmate, Arthur Garrett. The two boys located the thief here and turned him over to the officers.

Is Optimistic.—Mr. J. M. Millikan, who was in Washington this week on business, was quoted as follows by the Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer: "We believe that the mining business in the South is just now coming into its own," said J. M. Millikan, of Greensboro, who, with F. A. Silver, came to Washington to meet some New York business men who are interested in mining. Messrs. Millikan and Silver are the owners of the Gardner Hill mine, near Greensboro, and figure on opening the property soon.

Causey-Wood Wedding.—Mr. Numa J. Causey, of New York, and Miss Nan Wood, of this city, will be married this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Maj. and Mrs. W. W. Wood. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. E. K. McLarty, of Winston-Salem. Mr. R. E. Rieves, of New York, a business associate of the groom, will be the best man and Miss Anne Steele, of Rockingham, will be the maid of honor. The marriage will be followed by a reception tendered the bridal party and a number of guests by the bride's parents.

NO IMPORTANT CHANGES IN WAR POSITIONS.

Artillery actions between the French and British and the Germans continue at various points on the Franco-Belgian front, but there have been no important changes in positions anywhere. Nor have the Germans yet begun the offensive for which they are reported unofficially to be preparing.

Heavy fighting has broken out again in east Galicia. All along the front the artillery has been very active. The Russians succeeded north of Tarnopol after repeated attacks in penetrating the Austro-Hungarian advanced infantry posts, but were ejected from them later on, according to Vienna.

In the Austro-Italian theater the contending forces are still involved in artillery duels.

In the Balkans seemingly all is quiet. Austrian warships in the Adriatic have ineffectually attempted to torpedo a British cruiser and a French torpedo boat, which were aiding the Serbian army in its evacuation of the Adriatic coast. A Teuton submarine also attempted to sink two entente allied vessels off Durazzo, but the torpedoes missed their mark.

BOONE STATION TOWNSHIP COMMUNITY SERVICE DAY.

A community service day for Boone Station township, Alamance county, will be observed at Elon College Saturday, February 26. The exercises will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning with a basket ball game in the college gymnasium, to be followed by an exhibition by one of the regular gymnasium classes of the college.

At 11:30 o'clock there will be an address by Maj. W. A. Graham, state commissioner of agriculture, on farming in North Carolina. This will be followed by an address by J. L. Burgess, of the agricultural department, on the use of lime in farming.

In the afternoon addresses will be made by T. B. Parker on the subject of live stock and R. G. Hill on the family garden and truck path.

Miss Minnie L. Jamison will talk to the women in the forenoon on woman's work in the family and again in the afternoon on woman's work on the farm.

Flood Situation Better.

With water falling in the big lakes in southeastern Kansas, caused by the breaking of Arkansas river levees, and with the Mississippi river levees still holding against the slowly rising stream, reports from the flooded districts of Arkansas are more optimistic than for many days.

Suffering is reported from all parts of the flooded district and much livestock is reported dying from starvation.

Thus far no additional loss of life has been discovered and the list of flood victims in Arkansas stands at 16.

PHYSICIAN BURNED TO DEATH

INHUMAN CRUELTY OF TURKS AND KURDS VISITED UPON MISSIONARIES.

Petrograd, Feb. 7.—Dr. Jacob Sargis, an American Methodist medical missionary, who has arrived in Petrograd after narrowly escaping death at the hands of the Turks and Kurds in Urumiah, Persian Armenia, asserts that among the outrages committed against the Christian refugees was the burning to death of an American doctor named Simon or Shimmun, as he was known there. His identity was not further established, but the story of the outrage, as told by Dr. Sargis, was as follows:

"Dr. Shimmun was in the village of Supurghan when the Turks attacked that place. He was among those who took refuge on a mountain near the lakes. He was captured and told that since he had been a good doctor and had helped the wounded, they would not kill him, but that he must accept the Mohammedan faith. He refused, as almost all Christians did. They poured oil on him, and before applying the torch, they gave him another chance to forsake his religion. Again he refused and they set his clothes afire. While running in agony from the flames, the Turks shot him several times. After he fell to the ground unconscious they hacked his head off. Mr. Allen, an American missionary, who went from village to village burying the victims of this butchery, found the body of Shimmun half eaten by dogs."

"The Catholic mission there took 150 Christians of all sects and kept them in a small room and tried to save them, but at least forty-nine of them, among them one Bishop Dinkha, of the Episcopal mission, were bound together one night, taken to Gagin Mountain and there shot down."

Dr. Sargis was born in Persia, but went to America in 1893, and was educated there by assistance of Dr. W. F. Oldham, former bishop in India. He is a graduate of the Wesleyan and Ohio Medical University and was for a time resident physician of the Protestant hospital at Columbus, Ohio.

Dr. Sargis was doing relief work in Urumiah on January 1 last year when the Russian army retired from this city, followed by 14,000 refugees from Urumiah and a hundred surrounding villages. The hardships and sufferings endured by those refugees were described in Associated Press dispatches. There were still left in Urumiah and the villages 45,000 persons, chiefly American refugees, when the Turks and Kurds entered. The latter at once began the work of extermination of the Christian population. In one town alone, Gulfarchin, in one night, according to Dr. Sargis, seventy-nine men and boys were tied hand to hand, taken to a hill outside the village and shot. Their wives and daughters were distributed among the Turks, Kurds and Persian Mohammedans.

Dr. Sargis' story continues:

"On the second day after the Turkish officers came they had a good many wounded and sick. As soon as they heard that I was an able physician, they took me, gave me a bodyguard, and put me in charge of Urumiah hospital. That was how I came to learn most of their secrets; I helped their wounded and sick. One day there were sixty men brought from Bashkal, all well-to-do citizens; some of them noted men of that place. They were used as beasts of burden, forced to carry rolls of barbed wire into Urumiah. The next day they were all taken to the Castle of Ismayil and every one was shot or hacked to death."

"About that time Nuri, the governor of Gavr, told me that he had received word from the Turkish commander to kill all the Armenian soldiers in the Turkish army. He said that for my sake he would not do it, but that somebody else would. Twenty-nine were killed about fifteen miles from Urumiah at Karmad. We had eight of them in the city, fine fellows, some of them educated in Beirut. They had been disarmed, and one night they took them to the suburbs and shot them. But one of them, named Aslam, escaped. He dropped with the others but was not hit. After the butchers left he made his way to the Presbyterian mission college. I was notified and asked to take care of him. I kept him until the Russian army came. He joined and is now fighting with them."

"In the first Turkish corps, commanded by Kahall Bey, there were about 400 Armenians. One of them, Gulbankyan, a graduate of Beirut, told me that they were all doomed to be butchered. When they appointed me head physician of the hospital they gave me plenty of helpers, including seven Christian nurses, six Arabs and one Greek. Gulbankyan told me that if I did not help them they would be killed. An Arab doctor, Bahadin Effendi, was appointed to work under my direction. My Greek nurse warned me that Bahadin had already killed more than fifty Armenian Christians and cautioned me to watch him. One night about 10 o'clock Bahadin sent for me, saying that he was sick. Fortunately for me the Greek and two Armenian nurses went with me. When I reached the hospital, I found that Bahadin was not sick at all. He said to me: 'What business have you to disturb me at this time of the night. Your coming shows that you have some design upon my life.' I told him that it was a mistake, that I had been told he was sick, and went away. At the bottom of the stairs I was overtaken by an officer who said that the doctor was not done with me. I protested but was ordered to go back. So I put my trust in the Lord and went."

"The doctor greeted me with the question: 'Who gave you permission to leave the room?' and continued: 'You are a prisoner and you will never see the light of tomorrow's sun.' I told him that I was an American citizen and that I was helping the wounded for the sake of humanity. He cut me off by saying: 'This is wartime. The top of your hat is green. That means that you are a descendant of the prophet and it will give me pleasure to destroy your life tonight. I must think how I shall kill you. I could throw you out of the window, but that would be too quick. I could shoot you, but that also is too good for you. I shall have to use my sword. You sit down there in that corner and these Turkish nurses will sing your funeral before I begin to cut you up.'

"The Turks began to sing a droning chant and I had no choice but to sit and listen. My bodyguard, the Greek nurse Theodore and two Armenian soldiers, the latter my servants, stood outside the door and when they heard the chanting they thought it was all over with me. The Greek, who was a shrewd fellow, told my bodyguard to enter and if he saw me, to say that the patients wanted to see the doctor. All of a sudden I saw him enter with a lantern. He saluted the Effendi and said 'The patients want the doctor.' I didn't give Bahadin a chance to say a word. I was up and out and down in the street in about two seconds. When I got to the outpost, they yelled from the window to stop me, but they were too late. My bodyguard and the Armenians and the Greek followed close behind me and I got away. I reached home at midnight. My wife and children thought I was already dead."

TIMELY SUGGESTIONS ON KEEPING WELL IN WINTER.

"Too much food, particularly meats for dinner and supper, not enough exercise, too much hot air and not enough fresh air, too much of the wrong kind of clothing and not enough bathing," are the chief factors in producing much of our winter ill health, according to Dr. Alvah H. Doty, of New York. Dr. Doty claims that breakfast should be the best and most important meal. The old notion that a little fruit, a roll and a cup of coffee are sufficient is all wrong. The average person, and especially the sedentary worker, should avoid heavy dinners, particularly meat dinners and late dinners. Excess food overworks the digestive organs, which become exhausted in an effort to assimilate it.

Walking is one of the best exercises known. It combines exercise, fresh air and change of scenery, besides frequently having other health virtues, according to Dr. Doty. A walk from three to five miles is recommended.

The cumbersome old tub bath is rapidly giving way to the shower bath, and cold baths, the shock of which is too great, are giving way to the saner, warm shower, concluding with about a half minute of a cold shower to furnish a good reaction.

Clothing, both underwear and outerwear, should match the weather instead of the style. Wool is the best for winter wear, although 25 per cent of cotton added improves the wearing qualities greatly.

Living and working room temperatures of 65 degrees to 68 degrees are preferable to 70 degrees to 80 degrees, and fresh air is better than dry, overheated air.

Keeping the feet dry on wet, slushy days by means of rubbers, or a change of shoes and stockings is another strong recommendation.

Is Sickness a Sin?

If not, it's wicked to neglect illness and means of relief. It's wicked to endure liver ills, headache, indigestion, constipation, when one dose of Po-Do-Lax gives relief. Po-Do-Lax is Podophyllin (May apple), without the gripe. It arouses the liver, increases the flow of bile—nature's antiseptic in the bowels. Your constipation and other ills disappear overnight because Po-Do-Lax has helped nature to remove the cause. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Get rid of your constipation tonight.

MRS. MOHR TO DEVOTE HER LIFE TO CHARITY.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr, though still suffering from the nervous strain of her four weeks' trial on a charge of instigating her husband's murder, which resulted in her acquittal, was busy planning her future today.

Victor Brown and Henry Spellman, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment, were in jail awaiting court action to obtain a new trial. Spellman was downcast and unstrung, but Brown maintained his defiant attitude.

Mrs. Mohr received only $15,000 of her husband's estate, according to one of the attorneys for Charles Manning Mohr today, but is likely to come into possession of the Elmwood avenue mansion also. The Newport estate, the attorney said, represents so large a portion of the Mohr property that it probably will be sold to make possible a division.

Mrs. Mohr has abandoned a plan she announced shortly after her arrest, to send her children, Charles and Virginia, to boarding schools and herself to study art. Mrs. Mohr, instead, will pursue charitable activities, including work in behalf of orphan children.

Brown and Spellman must appeal or be sentenced to life imprisonment within a week.

Amicable Settlement Expected.
Optimism prevails in Washington that the situation between the United States and Germany which arose over the sinking of the steamer Lusitania by a German submarine will be settled amicably. In official circles it has been stated that the use of the word "illegal" or "disavowal" will not be insisted upon by the United States, and that no choice of words used by Germany in meeting the American government's contentions in the premises will be permitted to block the success of the negotiations.

Constipation Causes Most Ills.
Accumulated waste in your thirty feet of bowels causes absorption of poisons, tends to produce fever, upsets digestion. You belch gas, feel stuffy, irritable, almost cranky. It isn't you—it's your condition. Eliminate this poisonous waste by taking one or two Dr. King's New Life Pills tonight. Enjoy a full, free bowel movement in the morning—you feel so grateful. Get an original bottle, containing 36 pills, from your druggist.

NORTH CAROLINA'S IDLE LAND

22,000,000 ACRES REPORTED IN THIS STATE.

"North Carolina's 22,000,000 Idle Acres" was the subject for discussion at the regular meeting of the North Carolina Club at the University of North Carolina Monday night. The discussion was led by Lawton Planton, of Cleveland county, who took up his subject under four headings: first, a statement of facts and figures in regard to this vast area of waste land; second, why this vast area of waste land; third, the far-reaching consequences of such a condition to the state at large; fourth, how shall such conditions be improved?

Mr. Blanton's paper was in part based upon the following facts: "Seventy-one per cent," he declared, "of all the land in North Carolina is a wilderness of idle acres. Twenty-two million acres are in broomedge, scrub pines, and like growths, and only nine millions are in cultivated and pasture lands. Our waste area is more than double our cultivated area. There is enough idle land in the state for 250,000 new farm families, allowing 75 acres to each family, and reserving 50,000 acres in each county for wood-lot uses.

"The per cent of waste land ranges from 34.19 in Alamance to 98.4 in Dare. There are more people engaged and more money invested in agriculture in North Carolina than in both manufacture and transportation combined. And yet we have enough idle acres to increase our country population 100 per cent. This is the more important when we consider that North Carolina produced crops alone in 1915 over $218,000,000, or about one and one-fourth times as much money as the banks of the state have accumulated in 25 years. And, mind you, our farms created this enormous wealth in a single year.

"North Carolina needs more people—not more tenants, but more home-owning farmers. The population of the state is too sparse. Our rural population in the state at large is only 39 to the square mile. We have nine counties with less than 20 people and three counties with less than 15 people to the square mile. In these nine counties there are 3,000,000 wilderness acres. The idle acres in the lower Cape Fear section alone almost exactly equal the farm area of Belgium."

Mr. Blanton next showed how, in obedience to the natural law of segregation, white people are selling out and leaving districts where negroes are an increasing majority, and at the same time, many of the negroes are seeking negro settlements. And further, according to Mr. Blanton, the land speculator is another great factor who is largely responsible for the vast area of waste land all over North Carolina and the whole South. The farm lands of North Carolina increased in value $202,000,000 in the last census period. The land-owners hold these lands not to improve them but to reap this great profit in steadily rising land values.

"A large part of the blame for this state of affairs should be laid at the door of our vicious system of taxation. The big land-owner lists his land at $2 to $5 per acre, despite the fact that he is expecting to get from $50 to $60 per acre for it. In one township in the state 85,000 acres appeared on the 1915 tax list at 57 cents per acre.

"On the other hand, the small farmer in his 25-acre plot works hard, improves his land a great deal, and is compelled to list his land at $25 per acre simply because his industry and thrift have improved his little farm and made him a substantial citizen to and of the community. The speculator should be made to bear his share of the expenses and should be stopped from getting so much for nothing.

"In the third place, the consequences of such a condition in the state are far-reaching. For instance, in 1910 the tenants and renters in our town and country regions numbered with their families 1,136,000 souls. They are landless and homeless in a state that contains 22,000,000 unoccupied, unused acres. And they cannot buy farms and homes because the prices are too high. The burden of taxation is not equally laid on all classes alike, and a degree of poverty is prevalent that ought not to exist and could not exist under better social and political conditions.

"And in the fourth place, we can only improve our conditions by revising our tax system, learning more about our resources, opportunities, advantages, and possibilities, and advertising them abroad. But we shall advertise in vain so long as our land-owners build around the state a Chinese wall of high prices for farm lands."

To Increase Guilford's Endowment.

The board of trustees of Guilford College held a meeting in High Point Monday afternoon and discussed plans for increasing the endowment fund of the college. It was decided to inaugurate a campaign soon for raising more money for the endowment fund, which now amounts to $185,000. It is believed that this amount can be increased materially by a proper presentation of the cause to the friends of the college. The details of the plans for the campaign are being worked out and it is expected that they will be announced in a short while.

TO ADVANCE THE CAUSE OF PUBLIC EDUCATION.

Two measures that are expected to go far toward removing illiteracy in the United States, both in the rural districts and in the cities, were ordered favorably reported this week by the committee on education of the house of representatives.

The committee directed Congressman Abernethy, of Alabama, to report favorably two bills introduced by himself, one being the vocational educational bill and the other the measure requiring the United States commissioner of education to co-operate with the commissioners of education of the states for the better education of the children and the removal of adult illiteracy throughout the country.

Both these measures have been strongly endorsed by President Wilson and the leading educational forces throughout the country.

The bill providing for close co-operation between the United States commissioner of education and the educational authorities of the states carries an appropriation sufficient to carry on the work of arranging plans for the complete removal of illiteracy among the children and grown-ups throughout the country.

The vocational education bill was originally drawn by a commissioner appointed by President Wilson under a joint resolution adopted last session of Congress.

This bill provides for an appropriation of $1,000,000 the first year, $500,000 to be spent in training along agricultural lines and $500,000 for training city folks in city vocations. It is provided in the bill that as the work enlarges each year, so shall the appropriation become greater, so that by the year 1920 the appropriation amounts to about $7,000,000 a year.

Representative Abernethy predicted that should these two measures pass, the cause of education will receive a tremendous impetus during the next few years.

He expects, he said, that with the endorsement of President Wilson and the leading educational forces all over the country, together with the desire of a great many congressmen to aid the cause of education, both the senate and house will take favorable action at this session.

The solid vote of the North Carolina congressmen in the house and Senators Simmons and Overman in the senate is assured for the bill. All the North Carolina members have received numerous petitions from the folks of the state urging them to use their best efforts in behalf of both bills.

TEXAS WOMAN KILLS

A BAPTIST PREACHER.

Mrs. Annie Faust, the wife of a wealthy farmer, shot and killed the Rev. J. M. Cagle, a Baptist minister, in the public square in Sherman, Texas, Monday afternoon. She then sought out a policeman and surrendered herself.

"I did it because he slandered me," was the only explanation she would make.

Four bullets struck Cagle, all of them entering his chest. A wild shot wounded an elevator boy in a nearby building.

"Take me to my wife. I have but a few minutes to live and I don't want to die until I have talked to her," said Cagle, as he lay in the street. He died before his wife could reach him.

Friends of the woman attempted to get bail for her. They declare she will never be brought to trial. A few days ago Mrs. Faust's brother-in-law quarreled with the clergyman as a result of reports that he had been gossiping about the woman.

May Defeat Colombian Treaty.

President Wilson has not approved the amendments to the Colombian treaty reported last week by the senate foreign relations committee, and Democrats in the senate are by no means unanimously in favor of them.

It developed this week that a strong effort probably will be made in the senate to defeat the changes which would reduce the proposed indemnity to Colombia for the partition of Panama from $25,000,000 to $15,000,000 and revise the expression of regret that anything should have marred the relations between the two countries so as to make it mutual instead of on the part of the United States alone.

STOP FIRE BLIGHT FROM KILLING FRUIT TREES.

Fire blight, in its winter condition, is found in the form of burned patches, sores, or cankers on the trunk and main branches of the tree. In the spring a gummy fluid oozes out from these cankers. This substance contains millions of spores of the blight disease. Flies, moths and other insects in feeding carry this contagious material to every flower and young shoot on which they alight. The cankers also spread in the cambium and kill the surrounding tender tissue of bark and wood, so that large branches and sometimes whole trees are killed by the disease.

Pear trees are affected worse than apples. Sometimes whole pear trees are so badly affected with fire blight cankers that it becomes necessary to cut down the trees and burn them.

Cut out all cankers during the winter months, before growth begins, so that the source of the disease is destroyed. Cut off badly diseased branches several inches below the affected part.

The best equipment for cutting out blight consists of a pruning saw, pruning knife, carpenter's gouge, drawing-knife, and triangular wood scraper. A bottle of bichloride of mercury tablets for disinfecting wounds and tools can be bought at any drug store. Bichloride of mercury is a deadly poison and should be kept away from children and animals. It should not be kept in metal containers. Provide a wide-mouth pint bottle for the bichloride solution. Use one tablet (7 1-2 grains) to one pint of water. It is handy to apply this solution with a brush. For covering over the wounds use a thick paint of white lead and oil or tar creosote paint of two-thirds coal tar and one-third creosote oil. The paint should be applied with a coarse brush. A bushel basket for gathering the chips and diseased parts should be carried.

Examine each tree from the base of the tree upwards. If it is very badly affected with color blight or with body blight on the main trunk, cut the tree down and burn it. Cankers on large branches should be cut out, and on small ones should be pruned off. Cut out the diseased sore or canker with gouge and drawing-knife. Cut several inches beyond the margin of the infection. Scrape the place clean down to the sap wood; pare the edges smoothly. Disinfect the wound and the tools with the bichloride solution and paint over thoroughly all cut surfaces. Collect the chips and diseased parts and burn them.

Examine the trees in spring, and where possible, cut out the infested twigs as soon as blight appears.

Military Red Tape.

The uncanceled order which left a military guard, intended for one night only, to watch over Drury Lane theater for nearly two centuries, had a parallel in the royal palace of Petrograd. About 30 years ago some economist questioned the need of a sentry on guard, night and day, on one particular spot on the lawn. No one could answer until old records were turned up, and it was found that Catherine I, admiring a crocus bloom on the lawn, had desired the plant to be protected. So a guard had been mounted, and, no countermand being issued, had been maintained for nearly two centuries.—London Chronicle.

CONGRESS MAKING PROGRESS

HEARINGS ON PREPAREDNESS MEASURES CLOSED BY
SENATE COMMITTEE.Washington, Feb. 8.—Congress made progress today on national preparedness measures.The senate military committee closed its hearings on the army bills.
The senate naval committee reported favorably a bill for a government armor plate factory and recommended immediate passage of two emergency navy measures which passed the house yesterday. On the house side of the capitol the naval committee virtually concluded its examination of Rear Admiral Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation, while the military committee received the proposals of the American Red Cross
for greater government aid in Red Cross preparedness plans.During the day, the military committees of both houses heard pacifists,
who argued against any army or navy
increases.The most striking statement brought out at any of the hearings was that of Admiral Blue, who declared that the American navy now was ready to meet any enemy it might be called upon to encounter in the Pacific. He declined to say what steps had been taken in the last year and a half toward preparing the navy against emergencies, holding these to be military secrets. Chairman Padgett supported Admiral Blue in his determination not to reveal departmental secrets, overruling Representative Britten's attempt to find out, as he expressed it, "whether the navy is now ready to fight." Mr.
Britten asserted that the general board had warned the department a year ago that it should prepare and he wanted to know just what steps
had been taken.The senate military committee probably will begin tomorrow the preparation of the bill it will propose to build up adequate land defenses. Present indications are that the administration's plan to create a federal volunteer army to be known as the continentals will be included in this bill in some form. There will be provision for a re-organization of the regular army, and Chairman Chamberlain and several of his committee members will urge a permanent force with the colors of more than 200,000 men as against Secretary Garrison's recommendation for a skeleton organization of 140,000.The house military committee will complete its hearings probably next week. The continental army scheme, many committee members believe, will be abandoned in the bill
it will submit in favor of measures designed to federalize the national guard under militia pay provisions.The senate naval committee is not expected to take up the appropriation bill dealing with the preparedness building program until the house committee is well advanced with its work. It will be six weeks or two months, Chairman Padgett, of the house committee, has estimated, before hearings will close there. The building program has not been dealt with directly thus far, the committee having confined its attention to items dealing with the equipment and upkeep of ships now in service, building or authorized.

Trying to Save Christy's Life.

Attorney Fred M. Parrish, representing Sam P. Christy, who with Mrs. Ida Ball Warren is sentenced to die on March 3 for the murder of G.
J. Warren more than a year ago, called up Chief Justice Walter Clark over long distance yesterday and made arrangements for an interview with him on Thursday, when he will make formal application for a writ of error in certain evidence admitted during the trial. If the writ is refused, Mr.
Parrish will go to Richmond to make a request for a writ before Chief Justice White, of the United States
Supreme court, who will be there
Monday.—Winston-Salem Journal.

WHEAT HARVESTERS BUSY
SOMEWHERE ALL THE TIME.The harvesters are busy preparing our daily bread—and they say the price is going up because of the war
in Europe.No, this editorial is not left over from last fall. The harvesters are busy now—in Chile and along the upper Nile—reaping the grain that will feed the humble mouths of South America and the lands along the Mediteranean. The wheat harvest is never stopped.They'll be cutting wheat along the Nile, moving gradually north, until the end of April, which month will see the start of the harvest in Asiatic Turkey and in Mexico. May brings harvest days to Algeria, central Asia and China, Japan and Texas; June to northern Turkey, Spain and southern France, and in this country to Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Kentucky, Virginia, the Mormon valleys of Utah and to southern California. Nebraska and southern Minnesota, New York, New Foundland and eastern Canada, Oregon and Wisconsin resound to the reaper in July, while abroad the hum of the harvester is heard in Roumania, south Russia, northern France and Germany, with the few fields of southern England chiming in.August brings the American harvest hand, a moving cuss, to the Dakotas and September sees him in western Canada. In Europe these months see the northward sweep of the harvest through Poland and northern Russia, Denmark, Holland, Scandinavia and Scotland. Siberia's harvest starts in September, too, and Siberia some day will be one of the world's greatest granaries.By the time they've finished the fall wheat harvest in Siberia and Norway, spring wheat is being harvested in the Prusseval and Peru; in December the Argentine harvest commences, and Australia and New Zealand are just now getting their wheat into the elevators, having started in January.With wheat distributed around the world like that—a perpetual crop flowing from the fields to the pantries
—you wouldn't think a war in Europe would affect us in America, would you?But it does, and you can expect more expensive loaves this year.Do you suppose people ever will have sense enough to realize that a loaf of bread is a loaf of bread, no matter what a dollar's worth—Richmond Journal.ARMOR PLATE BARONS MAKE FUTILE THREATS.Washington, Feb. 8.—A bill for a government armor plate factory was approved by the state naval committee today within a few minutes after manufacturers had served notice that should such a plant be established the price charged the government for armor made by private concerns
would be increased nearly one-half.
An appropriation of $11,000,000 is carried by the bill for purchase or construction of a government factory with an annual output of not less than 20,000. That is little more than would be required for two first-class battleships, and would leave a large part of the armor in the navy's increased building program to come from private plants.The threat of the private manufacturers was communicated to the committee by Senator Penrose, who said the Bethlehem and Midvale companies were among those who had agreed to an increase of $200 a ton
if the government factory proposed went through. The navy department now pays about $425.Senator Tillman, chairman of the committee and author of the bill, told Mr. Penrose that "the threat of the armor barons" could not prevent passage of the measure. "I guess we can find a way to stop the robbers," he added. "In time of trouble we could seize the plans and operate them by right of eminent domain."
The proposal of a government
plant has the backing of Secretary Daniels and Senator Tillman will press his bill for an early passage.

Way to Make Up a Jury.

Several women on a Kansas jury knitted while they listened to the evidence in a certain case. And thoughtless persons objected, probably because they did not know that woman thinks best when her fingers are busiest.For years woman has been supposed to excel man in a certain marvelous capacity, for doing two things at once, one of these things usually being some thread and needle occupation.Why rob her of her ancient right?
It might endanger her value as a juror.Wouldn't it be better to deprive male jurors of their blessed and time-honored privilege of napping in a dull court session?Now we have it—make all the male jurors knit too. It might make them
think!RAILROAD LOBBY FIGHTS
CHANGE IN POSTAL BILL.Washington, Feb. 8.—The charge that the "greatest lobby ever known to the American people" is seeking to prevent the substitution of the space for the weight payment system in the railway postal service was made in the house today by Chairman Moon, of the postoffice committee, in presenting the annual postoffice appropriation bill. He declared the real object of the opposition was to throttle the parcels post service
in the interest of express companies, whose profits are shared equally by the companies and the railroads.Mr. Moon told the house that under the weight system the railroads now are receiving $60,000,000 annually for carrying mails and that $64,000,000 would be allowed them by the proposed space plan. They seek not only an increased rate, he added, but want the weight system retained and the interstate commerce commission given the right to grant them higher rates if it sees fit."They have the greatest lobby at work today ever known to the American people," he declared. "There never has been such a propaganda promulgated among a civilized people against a government as these railroads have carried on against this measure. There has been a falsification of every fact that is material for consideration. They have not presented a single fact in justification of the charge that this law ought not be changed."WOULD MOVE THE CAPITAL TO AVOID PROHIBITION.Moved by the fear that the Anti-Saloon League may force Congress to legislate the city of Washington
into the "dry" column, Congressman
Cary, Republican, of Milwaukee, Wis., introduced a resolution in the house of representatives Tuesday
providing that the District of Columbia be abandoned as the capital city and that Uncle Sam set up his headquarters in Milwaukee.Mr. Cary is convinced that, regardless of whether Milwaukee was or
was not the capital of the nation,
nobody would ever have nerve to propose prohibition for that city, and,
accordingly, he would foil the efforts of the Anti-Saloon League by moving the capital to Milwaukee.The Cary resolution, after setting forth that bills are pending in Congress prohibiting all kinds of liquor traffic in Washington, declares that "prohibition is a menace to society and good government" and that the "dry" bills "have been proposed by the fanatical Anti-Saloon League to whooop up and bring the nation-wide prohibition scheme to an issue."The Milwaukee congressman states that these bills should be described as "an act to abolish responsible and representative government and to establish at Washington a centralized despotism laid in hypocrisy and supported by the spy system."

Accuse Judge of Accepting Bribes.

Memphis, Feb. 8.—At a mass meeting of lawyers here today, resolutions were adopted calling upon the governor to convene a special session of the legislature for the impeachment of Jesse Eddington, judge of the first criminal court of Shelby county, on charges of accepting bribes in connection with brewery cases in his court.Investigation of the official conduct of J. W. Palmer, judge of the second criminal court, and Z. Newton Estes, attorney general, by the committee of lawyers is also provided for.All the accused deny the charges and say they welcome a full investigation.

Allied Cruisers Patrol Coast.

Newport News, Va., Feb. 8.—Coincident with the announcement that the Appam will be allowed to take on 200 tons of coal for port uses, British shipmasters arriving here today report that an English and a French cruiser patrol the Atlantic coast in the vicinity of the Virginia capes. The cruisers do not wait the departure of the Appam, but rather the expected arrival of the German prize or sea raiders, for the Appam's crew is not large enough to man her and it is agreed that it would be suicide for Lieutenant Berg to take the steamer out even if he were allowed to do so by the United States authorities.

Danger Ahead.

The young lady's mouth was exceedingly well developed. She sat in blissful contentment on the sea-beach at Brighton, watching the restless sea, and something of its grandeur shed its light upon her soul."Oh, Bill," she said to the young man by her side, "how grand it all is, ain't it? I feel as tho—as tho I could open my mouth and take it all in."A small boy, who was on the sand close by, looked up, a startled gleam
in his eye."But, I say," he remarked, "you won't do it, will you? We only came down here yesterday."TO INCREASE THE TAX ON WHISKEY AND CIGARS.Washington, Feb. 9.—Passage of one omnibus bill to include all revenue legislation, income and munitions taxes, tariff commission, the sugar duty and all other subjects, was the daring political strategy under serious consideration today by administration leaders. The house ways and means Democrats plan to meet this week to consider the scheme advanced by Representative Garner, of Texas, who has been consulting President Wilson.According to the plan the bill would include legislation revising the income tax, levying new inheritance taxes, repealing present war stamp taxes, increasing duties on whiskey
and cigars, taxing war munitions, creating a tariff commission, an anti-dumping clause, retaining present taxes on sugar, repealing taxes on mixed flour.By advancing just one revenue bill Representative Garner today pointed out how Republicans and Democrats would vote for it because of some single item of legislation incorporated. That it would decrease Democratic action on preparedness revenues was another virtue advanced.
Garner believes that enough Republicans would be compelled to support the omnibus bill to insure its passage.The new tariff-raising plan advanced of increasing internal revenue taxes on whiskey and cigars is also gaining support. The present plans of leaders is to raise taxes on whiskey 15 cents a gallon and change the system of taxing cigars from that of numbers to their value. This would raise $35,000,000, it is estimated.
The whiskey and cigar taxes would be a substitute for the present stamp taxes, which raise $33,000,000 annually and are scheduled for repeal.

Taxing Large Fortunes.

The administration is dead right in its proposal to meet the preparedness expenses by sharply increasing the income tax and by levying an inheritance tax on large fortunes.

The increased burden of taxation ought to fall chiefly on the well-to-do. They are the ones who have profited most by the existing social order. The surplus which has come to them in the conduct of their business could not possibly have come if they were not doing business under American conditions, in an intelligent, industrious and prosperous community of 100,000,000 persons.

It is the surplus, which America has made possible, which must be largely drawn on for American defense. The possessors of large wealth must expect to be called on for increasingly large contributions to the state. The movement in this direction is as inevitable as it is just. Kansas City Star.

The Growing Urban Population.

It is assumed by the New York congestion committee that one-half of the population of the country is resident in cities and towns of more than 2,500 population. In 1910 46.3 per cent of the population was in such centers, while in 1900 the proportion was 40.5 per cent, and in 1880 it was only 29.5 per cent. July 1, 1912, nearly a third of the population lived in cities of 30,000 population and over. In the decade between 1900 and 1910 the urban population increased 34.8 per cent, while the rural population increased 11.2 per cent. In that time the rural populations of Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island and Vermont actually decreased. The total number of persons engaged in agriculture, forestry and animal husbandry increased from 10,438,219 to 12,659,203, or 21.2 per cent, but in the same time the population of the five cities of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Boston increased 75,000 more than all of the people engaged in the industries enumerated. Not only is a strong and sustained trend from country to city life noted, but figures are cited by the committee to show that the number of tenant farms and tenant farmers is increasing, to the disadvantage of the owner-farmers, and the percentage of mortgaged farms is higher.

Usury and Rentals.

When the comptroller of the currency is trying to get more law to punish banks for usury, it is time to ask once more why there should be any more legal regulation of the rental value of money than of the rental value of a house. The condemnation of usury for money antedated the commercial use of loans, and is a survival of the period when borrowing was by the poor only and for their necessities. And yet even the poor need a house more than they need a loan, but legislative bodies made up of land owners would not pay any attention to this.—Philadelphia Record.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATERS

TEN PER CENT OF DEATHS
DUE TO PNEUMONIA.

Ten per cent of the deaths in the United States result from pneumonia. It is estimated that during the past thirty years this rate has been doubled in some sections. Tuberculosis and heart disease, each causing one-ninth of all fatalities, are the only diseases which outrank pneumonia among the legion of the men of death, but in certain cities pneumonia is steadily increasing and even has surpassed the mortality from tuberculosis. Seventy per cent of all cases occur between December and May. It is distinctly a cold weather infection, seemingly brought by wintry blasts, but especially prevalent during the winter season only because its victims are rendered more susceptible at that time by exposure, debilitating influences and the presence of predisposing infections.

Pneumonia principally affects those at the extremes of life, but no age is exempt. It is invariably a germ disease. The predisposing and exciting organisms are so numerous that it would be futile to attempt their enumeration. Many of them are constantly present in the mouths and throats of healthy persons and it is only through the aid which we unwittingly extend to them that they are transformed from harmless organisms to one of man's most powerful enemies.

The presence of other diseases is the great predisposing cause of pneumonia. They prepare the soil for invasion. Holding first rank in this category is influenza, the increased incidence of pneumonia at this time being largely due to the present epidemic of grippe. Individuals suffering from this infection are peculiarly susceptible to respiratory complications and should properly observe every hygienic rule. Inflammation of the upper air passages, pharyngitis, bronchitis, and tonsillitis often predispose to the development of the disease, particularly among the aged and infirm. The acute contagious diseases of childhood, more especially measles and whooping cough, frequently prepare the way for pneumonia. Anyone who through neglect or carelessness permits the spread of these infections is therefore open to the severest condemnation. Exhausting disease, of whatever nature, is often sufficient to so reduce our resistance that we are unable to cope with organisms which should be easily overcome, and hence predisposes to the infection.

Debility, either temporary or chronic, developing from any cause, increases susceptibility. Because of this the disease most often attacks those at the extremes of life. Among debilitating influences must be mentioned cold, exposure to penetrating winds, and the chilling of body surfaces as a result of wetting. The combination of lack of food and fatigue proves particularly disastrous during the winter season and is a condition to be avoided whenever possible. Bad housing, mental or physical harassment, and overwork are alike the advance agents of the infection. Overcrowding, in street cars, theaters, and other public places, is unquestionably in part responsible for the spread of pneumonia in cities, as far greater opportunity is thus offered for the dissemination of the predisposing diseases through indiscriminate coughing and other means of droplet infection, as well as the directly infectious effects which inevitably result from exposure to such environment. The overheating of rooms is also seemingly harmful. Promiscuous expectoration may be, and probably is, a factor in infection and consequently should be avoided by every citizen. A remaining most important agent should be mentioned—alcohol. It is in truth the handmaiden of pneumonia, and there is none more certain or more sure of success, especially if liberally and continuously used.

While the foregoing facts constitute in part our knowledge of the reasons for the widespread dissemination of an infection which carries with it a mortality of from ten to thirty per cent, it should be remembered that our scientific data are not yet complete. There are problems connected with immunity, predisposition, and the occurrence of epidemics which are yet to be solved. It is known that pneumonia frequently attacks those who are perfectly well, and who apparently have observed every hygienic rule. Whether this is due to the increased virulence of the organism or to other causes is unknown. It is, however, recognized that avoidance of the factors so briefly enumerated will in large part diminish individual susceptibility and therefore the incidence of the disease.—United States Public Health Service Bulletin.

Try Cople's Croup and Pneumonia Remedy for all cold troubles. It's bound: you rub it on. If it fails to relieve instantly, you get your money back.

NORTH CAROLINA AND
COLORADO LAWS COMPARED.

The Observer has contended that the Keatingites have apparently gone on the assumption that North Carolina has no child labor or compulsory education laws of any kind. The fact is that the state is fairly well equipped with both. The laws obtaining in North Carolina may not be quite so satisfactory as the laws in some other states, but on the other hand they are infinitely better than the laws provided by still others. As a matter of fact, the North Carolina laws compare favorably with the laws governing Mr. Keating's state of Colorado. Women of 16 years can work in the coal mines of Colorado. Night work is prohibited in that state by children under 14 between the hours of 8 p. m. and 7 a. m. In North Carolina night work is prohibited between the hours of 9 p. m. and 6 p. m., by all under 16 years of age.

In Colorado the age limit is from 14 to 16. A birth certificate is required and the duty of enforcing the law devolves on the deputy labor commissioner, school board or local school authorities. For the first offense the minimum penalty is $5 and maximum $100. For second offense the minimum is $100 or imprisonment or both; maximum $500 or imprisonment for 90 days or both. In North Carolina no child under 13 can be employed. The age certificate must be signed by parent or guardian and must set forth that the child has attended public schools for four months during the preceding 12 months. The enforcement of the law devolves on the county superintendent of public schools, who must investigate violations and report them to the solicitor of the judicial district in which they occurred.

The certificates "must be accessible to any inspector of factories or other officer charged with the enforcement of this act." The mill man found guilty of this law does not have the benefit of a minimum fine. The penalty is fixed at not less than a fine of $500 or imprisonment for not less than 90 days for a second conviction. This was by the amended law passed in the legislature of 1915. Any violation is a misdemeanor.

A comparison of the compulsory education laws of the two states is also interesting. In Colorado all children from 8 to 14 years, not physically and mentally disabled, are required to attend public school the entire school year. The duty of enforcing the law is vested in the state bureau of labor statistics. In North Carolina all children between 8 and 12 years, barring special exceptions, must attend four months of the school term in each year. Those who would escape on the score of physical or mental disability must have a certificate from a legally qualified physician before a court. A child living two and a half miles from the nearest school house may not be forced to attend. On affidavit of parents, witnessed under the requirements of attendance officers, that the support of the child or of the parents depends on his labor, the child may escape compulsion. The law covers every county in North Carolina except Mitchell and Polk, but it does not affect or repeal any existing local laws requiring compulsory school attendance. So much of a compulsory education law as the state is provided with, was at the insistence of the cotton mill owners. But for their efforts it is doubtful if the state would today have had any sort of a compulsory law at all.—Charlotte Observer.

Informed.

The famous botanist was pacing slowly along the country road, his eyes, as usual, roaming from side to side for new plants to study.

Suddenly an eager look spread across his features, and he leaned over the low fence inclosing a cottage garden. He had found a plant he did not know.

"What could it be? If only he had a specimen of it to study!"

At that moment a shock-headed lad strolled along the road and stopped to gaze open-mouthed at him.

"I say!" called the botanist, urgently. "See that plant there—that pale pink one in the corner? Do you know it?"

"Uh-hu!" said the country boy, briefly.

"What's its name? Do you know what family it belongs to?"

The lad jerked a grubby thumb over his shoulder toward the little cottage, as he spoke more briefly still:

"Higginses!"

ADENOIDS INJURIOUS TO HEALTH OF CHILDREN.

So injurious are the presence of adenoids in growing children considered by the state board of health that it has prepared for free distribution a bulletin on "Adenoids, What They Are and How to Treat Them." The bulletin says that about 10 per cent of all children have adenoids to some extent, and while they may decrease and possibly disappear by the fourteenth year, that during their existence they may cause deafness, impair efficiency or mar health, stature and character for life.

Adenoids, according to the bulletin, are small swellings or little tumors that grow in the throat just above and back of the opening of the nose into the mouth. Not until they become diseased and enlarge, thereby filling up the throat cavity, which cuts off the air supply to the ears and prevents breathing through the nose, do they become injurious.

Removal is the remedy suggested in the bulletin for adenoids. By the time they are suspected they are doing harm and should be removed by surgical operation. The bulletin especially stresses the need of all intelligent parents recognizing this disease in their children and giving it the attention its seriousness demands.

Unfortunately the experience that makes a man sadder isn't guaranteed to make him wiser.

MEAT QUESTION CAUSING DISCUSSION IN DURHAM.

The fresh meat question is a problem that confronts the governing bodies of a number of North Carolina towns just now. In Greensboro, Charlotte, Mt. Airy, Durham and several other places that we do not recall at the moment the question has been up in one phase or another. It seems to be a pretty general complaint that the market men charge the consumers exorbitant prices for beef and pork and at the same time refuse to pay the farmers a living price.

The aldermen of Durham have appointed a committee to confer with the board of health in an effort to evolve a plan that will relieve the situation. In its report of the meeting of the board of aldermen at which the matter was brought up the Durham Herald says:

"Declaring that the aldermen, with their protective ordinances, are fostering and maintaining a monopoly of the meat question in Durham, Dr. J. M. Manning, chairman of the health board, appeared before the aldermen last night and asked that a committee be appointed to investigate and remedy the existing conditions. Dr. Manning declared that people are being forced to pay an exorbitant price for beef and pork, while the farmer is being paid little or nothing for meat that is in turn sold to citizens.

"He asked that the board rescind ordinances prohibiting the sale of fresh meats in grocery stores and asked that any groceryman maintaining a sanitary store be allowed to handle fresh meat. He declared that this was the only way to free the citizens of Durham from the hands of people who wanted a hundred per cent profit on their investments.

"Other men were heard from on the meat question. Mr. E. J. Hill, a member of the Durham bar and farmer of some repute, declared that he could sell his pork in Richmond for more than he could here, yet the live porkers are shipped from his farm in the eastern part of the state to Richmond, slaughtered there and then shipped to Durham. Mr. Hill declared that they brought a better price here under such conditions than when he killed them on his farm in Duplin county and offered the meat for sale here."

CLARK AND MANN FIGHT SIDE BY SIDE IN HOUSE.

Speaker Clark and Republican Leader Mann fought side by side in the house of representatives Monday for adequate national defense. With party lines obliterated, most of the members followed their leaders and two navy measures passed without a dissenting vote. One, to provide for adding 300 midshipmen to the entering class at Annapolis next July, passed 173 to 0, and the other, to equip navy yards for construction of battleships Nos. 43 and 44, passed without a roll call.

Mr. Mann tried to put the anti-preparedness advocates on record by calling for a division on the naval academy bill, but there were no negative responses.

The appearance of Speaker Clark on the floor to champion preparedness measures aroused wide interest. Rumors persisted that he would take active charge of the fight to increase the army and navy. Majority Leader Kitchen having joined the opposition.

Immediate improvement of the navy by designing new battleships along the lines of the best now in use, doubling the membership of both Annapolis and West Point, creation of many additional regiments for the army and short term enlistments to produce a reserve were among suggestions made by the speaker. He said he expected to discuss the subject of preparedness generally soon.

Mr. Mann reiterated his previous pleas for a larger army and navy and aided in maneuvering the bills to passage. "This is not the time for crimination and recrimination," said he. "It is not the time to find fault with that which has been. It is the time for all kinds for that which may come."

The debate went for afield from the measures under consideration extending to the general subject of military preparedness. The unusual sight of the speaker and the minority leader battling together for administration measures while the majority leader sat silently in the back of the house attracted crowds to the galleries and members rushed to the floor from their offices and committee rooms.

PUT THE FARM ON A SOUND BUSINESS BASIS.

The farm operated along well-thought-out, sound business lines is succeeding financially. The degree of success is greater on some farms than on others, but success in some measure comes to those whose operators consider them in a sound, business light and work them accordingly.

To the farm on a sound basis one must know what it has in the form of investment, and how much of this is in lands and buildings, or permanent capital, and how much is in implements, live stock, supplies for the farm, or farm teams and labor, and cash to pay operating expenses, or working capital. There is no other way of sizing the farm investment up as easily and accurately as by an inventory. If made to cover the various items of investment, both at the beginning and ending of the year, the inventory will show whether there has been an increase or decrease in the farm as a business unit, and what the change amounts to. If inventories are made at the end of each year for several years in succession, and are compared one with another, the general trend of the farm as a business is easily ascertained. One inventory per year is all that is necessary, as the one made at the close of one year will be used at the opening of the next.

The time required in making an inventory on the average two-horse farm of the South should not exceed two hours, while two, or three more hours will be sufficient to sum up, analyze and compare results of this and the one for the preceding year. But little more time will be required in handling larger places. We have recently had reports from a number of farmers running places varying in size from thirty acres up to three hundred acres of tillable land, or from two mules to ten or twelve mules to the farm. The time actually required in making an inventory on each of these places has averaged less than two and a half hours to the farm.

The inventory should be the starting point in the farm records and in analyzing the farm as a business proposition. The story it tells is interesting and instructive. It indicates success or failure, but it does not furnish a complete measure of the importance of the different enterprises on the farm. In addition to the inventory, there should be accounts with the individual enterprises to show what each has actually cost and what it has returned, either in the form of contributions to the support of the farmer and his family or in feed and supplies for the continuance of the farm business, or in permanent improvements, or in cash receipts from sales.

Accounts with the individual enterprises are of importance, especially if the farmer desires to discard some and concentrate on others which he already has that are giving greater profit, or if he may want to introduce some entirely new. The inventory followed with accounts is essential to the farm operator who would get on a sound financial basis and stay there.

FOR VIOLATING NEUTRALITY

FEDERAL GRAND JURY INDICTS
GERMAN AND TURKISH CON-SULAR OFFICERS.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Weeks of investigation by agents of the department of justice resulted today in the voting of indictments by a federal grand jury in San Francisco against prominent figures in what are considered here to be two of the boldest plots involving questions of American neutrality that have been uncovered since the European war began.

Among those against whom indictments were voted, according to a message received here, are Franz Bopp, German consul general; Baron E. H. Von Schack, vice consul of Germany, and Maurice Hall, the Turkish consul general.

Consular officers do not enjoy the diplomatic immunities which ambassadors, ministers or attaches are given by international law, but are subject to the jurisdiction of the country in which they are resident and may be treated by the law as are any other persons. The indictments voted today, however, are the first which the federal government has attempted to secure against any foreign representatives. This fact was taken to mean that hereafter the administration intends to prosecute wherever prosecution will lie any offender against American neutrality.

Bopp and Von Schack are charged with complicity in the plot which was first uncovered several weeks ago with the arrest of C. C. Crowley, alleged to be a pro-German agent who had undertaken to cripple the American output of munitions of war and in other ways to help the cause of the Teutonic allies. Bopp is accused of being the head of a conspiracy which hoped to accomplish this end by interfering with trade in munitions and preventing railway shipments, by blowing up two tunnels on Canadian roads.

The German officials are being proceeded against under the Sherman anti-trust act in connection with their alleged activities against American plants and under a section of the penal code aimed at the setting on foot of military expeditions against a friendly nation in connection with plans to blow up Canadian railway tunnels.

The indictment of the Turkish consul general was voted in connection with the use of the steamer Sacramento to supply German ships of war in the South Pacific which ended in the internment of that vessel by the Chilean government many months ago. According to officials here the Sacramento case is one of the clearest that has come to their notice of the use of an American port as a base of supplies for belligerent warships and of false clearance papers to get the supply ship past the customs authorities.

Goat Farm Making Money.
Near Manchester, N. H., there is, according to the New York Sun, an 800-acre farm, consisting mostly of hills, which yields its owner a handsome profit. This farm is owned by a Greek named Nansakias, who has brought to this country one of the best farming industries of his native land, that of making cheese from goat's milk.

On his farm he has a herd of 600 goats which he expects to increase to 1,000 within a short time. A goat yields an average of about two quarts of milk a day, and because it is much richer than cows' milk, he can sell it for 20 cents a quart, but he finds it more profitable to use it in the manufacture of Greek cheese, for which there is a good demand in this country. He says that while the goat cannot subsist on tin cans, as some persons are supposed to believe, it is true that it can subsist on pasture which would hardly support cattle, and it requires very little attention aside from protection from marauding animals. He herds the goats himself, and declares that one man can easily take care of 600; in fact, according to his statement, his brother, who owns a goat farm in Greece, takes care of 2,000 without assistance.

To Send Diplomatic Agent.

London, Feb. 8.—President Wilson's scheme of sending a confidential diplomatic agent abroad has won such commendation here that England is considering sending a "Colonel House" of her own to America, it was reported today. The foreign office, it was said, is considering sending a skilled diplomat, well acquainted in America, to Washington to present fresh views for his government, just as Colonel House has acquainted American ambassadors abroad, and foreign officials with American official and unofficial sentiment. Such a course, it is believed, may smooth out some of the present difficulties over British blockade regulations.

Distance lends enchantment to the view, especially when we view the people who are too close.

THOMAS A. EDISON WILL BE 60 YEARS OLD TOMORROW.

Thomas Alva Edison will reach the sixty-ninth milestone of his life tomorrow, February 11. The years seem to rest lightly on the great inventor. He is still hale, hearty and active and as deeply interested in what the coming year has in store as a youth with all of life ahead.

"The future means as much to me at sixty-nine as it does to you at twenty-five, young man," said Mr. Edison to a young friend not long ago.

In other words, Edison is "still going strong" at sixty-nine. Not a day passes that he does not spend from twelve to eighteen hours in his laboratory. He shows no signs of slowing up the pace he has held for over fifty years. He is alert and not a detail of the business around him escapes his eye and attention. To those who are associated with him in business he is "Our Old Man." Edison, white-haired, stepping briskly, is a familiar figure in every corner of his vast laboratories at Orange, New Jersey.

It is a difficult matter to corner Thomas A. Edison, to get him really to the point where he will give up a few minutes to an interview. He is naturally averse to interviews, anyway. He has a distaste for publicity. He is a poor press agent. Like Napoleon, he will gladly give up almost anything except time. And when a visitor is lucky enough to corner him somewhere in the laboratory, the inventor is usually occupied with something that demands his attention every minute.

"Where's the 'Old Man'?" asks some one who just must see Mr. Edison on important business.

"In the Lab," is the answer.

"Well, I've just got to see him."

"Not a chance. He's been in the Lab all morning and he'll be there all afternoon and part of the night from the way things look. Left orders not to disturb him."

That's the way Edison spends most of his time. In the Lab. And that's how he will spend his birthday.

"Where do you intend to spend your birthday, Mr. Edison?" asked a friend the other day.

"It just depends," replied the inventor with a smile. "Over in the new recording laboratory, maybe."

Mr. Edison's new recording laboratory is a place to which visitors are not admitted, but from all accounts is a curiously constructed place, built according to the inventor's specifications to overcome certain problems of acoustics in recording large orchestras.

"I think I am going to be able to give you records of the great symphonies before the year is out," Mr. Edison said. "We already have a record on which they can be recorded and a phonograph and reproducer that will re-create them. It is now merely a problem of recording the large number of instruments used in a symphony concert. I believe we can do this in the new recording laboratory."

Asked for a little birthday talk, Edison replied: "The way to be happy and healthy is to be busy all the time. I find that as I approach sixty-nine I have just begun to live. If you are busy you don't have time to grow old. I don't work by the clock and accordingly I don't feel that I am getting any older. I work till I finish a thing, and then, here Mr. Edison smiled, "if there is nothing else to be done, I go home."

"I hope that everyone will feel as young and as pleased with life as I do when their sixty-ninth birthday comes along."

Edison was born in Milan, Ohio, on February 11, 1847. He early evinced a love for chemistry and its kindred subjects. Few men have ever run at a swifter pace up the stepping stones to fame. His first employment was as a newsboy on the Grand Trunk Railway, where he started a small weekly paper which at one time had four hundred paid subscribers. He next took up telegraphy and soon became an expert telegrapher. After five years of telegraphy he came to New York, where after a short time he sold his first invention for about $40,000. Then he plunged into the realm of invention, where his genius seemed to run riot.

A Professor's Discovery.

A Harvard professor who has made the discovery that "George Washington had an unsurpassed temper and did not have large brain power or education," might have added that to counteract these deficiencies Washington had an extraordinary amount of what is termed character. There are millions of persons in the world with education or fair brain power, but it is not often that a Washington appears. George's reputation appears to be secure even against Harvard iconoclasts.

At 16 a girl's ideal is generally a Reginald or an Archibald. At 30 she is perfectly willing to marry a Bill or a Tom.

ROMANCE OF A MOTHER,
BABY AND A WARSHIP.

A story that rivals fiction has reached London from a remote section of the Shetland Islands:

A mother, watching over her sick child in a cottage on the shore of a sea inlet, saw a German U boat submerge in the channel way. During the day the doctor had called saying that a British warship was expected to anchor in the inlet before many hours. This meant peril to the 800 lives of the crew of the battleship.

Leaving her child alone in the cottage, the mother made her way to the postoffice and reported what she had seen. Returning quickly to the side of the child, she found it dead.

Before long a British mine sweeper entered the inlet. As it did so the submarine came to the surface. There was a sharp fight. The mine sweeper gave a plunge and went down. Boatmen from the shore rescued the drowning crew.

The submarine prepared to depart. When it reached the outward headland it came face to face with the British warship. Another battle ensued and the submarine was damaged and captured. On board the U boat was Mangus Laurensen, husband of the heroic mother whose baby had died. Laurensen had been captured the day before when the submarine sank his ship.

Laurensen and his wife that same afternoon sat in their cottage brooding over the death of their child, yet happy that the father himself had been spared. A knock sounded at the door. The captain of the battleship was ushered in. He warmly congratulated Mrs. Laurensen for her heroism, asking:

"Will you accept an immediate installment of your reward?"

"As you please," she answered.

The captain turned to the door. As he did so a British jacktar entered holding at arm's length a flaxen-haired blue-eyed infant.

"Will you adopt him?" asked the captain.

The husband and wife readily and willingly assented.

The child, concludes the story, had been rescued from a British steamer which had fallen prey to a submarine.

BRYAN'S SPEECH HELD UP
BY BRITISH AUTHORITIES.

William J. Bryan is under the ban of the British postal authorities. Several thousand pamphlets printed in Germany, containing Mr. Bryan's speech on "British Rule in India," have been held up. They will never reach the United States or South American neutrals for whom they were intended.

England is slaughtering tons of books, pamphlets and newspapers printed in Germany and shipped by the Germans to neutral countries.

Thousands of bags of what the authorities call "brain fodder" have been taken from ships en route to America and deposited in the India house on Kingsway. The postal authorities declare they will strip every neutral mail bag within their reach of what they consider "German propaganda."

Large quantities of merchandise, shipped from Germany in spite of the British blockade, are held in the India house and may never reach their destinations.

Impatient of Law's Delay.

Franklin, Tex., Feb. 8.—Feudists, impatient because of the law's delay, today shot and killed Joe Hickman, who was to have been tried for the murder of Joe Regan in 1914. Hickman was sitting near an open window early today when two charges of buckshot hit him in the head, almost tearing it from his shoulders.

RUSSIA NOW PREPARED TO CARRY ON THE WAR.

Russia is now well prepared to carry on the war, according to a statement by Gen. Polivanoff, minister of war, in an interview printed in the Paris Journal. "Russia's munition crisis is past," he said. "It is an unpleasant memory, but, fortunately, only a memory."

"With regard to the troops," the minister said, "their spirit is excellent, thanks to the system of mobilization by masses, which was put into force a few months ago, and to the doubling of the number of supply depots. At the present time we have a permanent reserve of young recruits large enough to enable us to keep all the units up to their full strength, without having to send to the front half-trained men. This is of great importance, for it has been observed that the morale of the soldier is apt to deteriorate when he sees his company, which originally had 250 or 300 men, reduced to a few dozen."

How Many Horse Power Can You
Buy for $675?

HOW many work horses or mules can you buy for $675?

Can you do all the hardest work of your farm with that many horses or mules? Would you want to use them, for instance, to pull two 14-inch bottoms plowing as deep as you would like to plow?

$675 is what you pay for this Mogul 8-16 tractor, which will relieve the horses of all their hardest work, which will save you a lot of work and time, which will do ordinary plowing to a satisfactory depth, which will run any machine on your farm requiring up to 16-H. P., and which, finally, will save you money on every job it does.

$675 cash, F. O. B. Chicago, the price of two, three or perhaps four horses, puts this 8-16-H. P., oil-burning Mogul tractor to work on your farm.

Whether you believe the tractor is a good thing for a farm the size of yours, or not, come in and have a look at this one. It's the only successful kerosene-burning tractor we know of—the only one that will actually work (not just run) on any kind of fuel that will burn in an engine of its size.
