Seniors Set Sights On May 29

Procession To Class Day Exercises Leads To Ad Building Lawn

Class Day for the Class of 1960 has been set for Saturday, May 28, and is to be held on the lawn in front of the Administration Building at 3:30 in the afternoon.

Seniors will line up in front of the Library and will be escorted to the Administration Building by the marshalls and accompanied by the members of the Daisy Chain. Maps of the route to be taken have been posted in the dormitories.

The program is to consist of the welcome by Senior Class President Sandy Margolis; the presentation of the class gift by Sally Haney, past-president of the Student Government, and the installation of the Everlasting Officers by Class Chairman Mrs. Annie B. Funderburke.

The usual class day speakers, Past, Present, and Future, are to be replaced by a skit by the members of the class. The skit is designed to present the allegorical figures in skit form, and in a more interesting way.

The committee chairman for Class Day is Elsie Bryson. Her committee members include Music, Paula Lenderman; Arrangements, Merrilee Davis; and Programs, Janet Schnable.

Graduation Exercises Set For Greensboro Coliseum Auditorium

Approximately 385 seniors will receive their diplomas in the annual graduation ceremonies of the Woman's College on Sunday, May 29, at 3:00 p.m. For the first time the exercises will be held in the new Greensboro Coliseum.

Both the delivery of the Baccalaureate Sermon and the awarding of diplomas will take place at this time. The sermon will be preached by Dr. F. W. Qullan, President of the Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg, Virginia. Following the sermon the Woman's College Choir, under the direction of Dr. Harvey Woodruff, will sing "Blessing, Glory, and Wisdom," a composition by Bach.

The traditional greetings to the graduating class will be delivered before the awarding of the diplomas by the President of the Consolidated University, Dr. William Friday, and the Chancellor of the College, Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell. Following the official greetings, senior Barbara Boerner will speak as representative of her class.

Prior to the concluding note of the exercises, the awarding of diplomas to the seniors, the honorary degrees will be announced. Three hundred and eighty-five seniors will then march to the speakers platform to receive their diplomas, thus officially becoming graduates of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. The ceremonies will conclude with the processional.

Masqueraders Tap

Masqueraders Club tapped 14 students for membership, Thursday, May 12.

Those included in the membership were Betty Bullard, Jackie Farmer, Betty Gall Fuller, Sue Vaughn Moore, Katie George, Helen Stroud, Carolyn Morton, Marilyn Lott, and Gall Given. Jane Wilkins, Irene Nikiten, Linda Wright, Sara Heightkamp, and Kay Fletcher also were tapped.

Commercials Graduate

Graduating members of the Woman's College Commercial Class will conclude their one-year sojourn on campus Friday, May 27, at 11:00 a.m. in the Elliott Hall Ballroom with the awarding of diplomas.

Official greetings to the class will be delivered by the Chancellor of the College, Dr. Gordon W. Blackwell, and the Commercial Department Head Mr. Roscoe Allen. They will be followed on the program by Margaret Smith who will speak as representative of her class.

Certificates of graduation will be awarded by Chancellor Blackwell and Dean Mereb Mossman.

The Reverend Dwight Mullis, pastor of College Place Methodist Church, will lead the Invocation and Benediction.

THINK AND ACT...

One of the most important developments any student on a college campus makes is that of learning to live in a community and of accepting an individual role as a member of that society. We are pleased to notice that the Woman's College is taking an active part in this development and has taken great steps to promote an awareness of political responsibility. The Young Democrats Rally, which will be held on Saturday, should be of major interest to every person on this campus regardless of her political affiliation and bias. Republicans and Democrats alike should take this opportunity to investigate some of the political activity in North Carolina. Since this is election year, the issues at hand and the work of the state committee will be especially important, so that those of us eligible to register and vote will more fully understand political parties and their organization.

Each year political committees of both major parties spend an enormous amount of money to inform the American people of their rights and privileges with regard to their vote. One group which is expected to be cognizant of voting issues and educated to the importance of the candidates' stand on these issues are the college students. The academic atmosphere provides the fertile ground necessary for the development of independent thinking, and we shall probably never again be in our present position of exposure to the effects each governmental official has had on our present political situation. How many of those eligible have registered to vote in the primary elections which decide so many important issues, and how many have thought enough to have an idea of the values each candidate places on the things important to her as a voter? How many will have gained this awareness by the time of the national elections in November?

There are many changes we would like to see in the voting system for those in college, especially with regard to absentee ballots and student activity in political organizational work, but these changes will not come without student interest and active participation in those areas now open to them.

Saturday we will expect to see as many of the students at the meetings as is possible with the examination time so close at hand. Exams are important; (three needless words if ever there were any), but so are the affairs of state and of nation.

GRADUATES...

Another May, another Graduation, but this year it will be different; it will be yours. To those of you who have stopped long enough to realize the loss of the security you have had for the last four years, we hope that the initial shock is over and you have managed some semblance of organization for the coming years. To those of you who have ignored the sneaky hands of Time and Fate, may you discover their power before they engulf and terrorize you. To all of you, we thank you for what you have taught us either by your accomplishments or by your failures—both lessons are invaluable. Seldom do two antonyms unite to form a synonym, but this is so for you. This is the beginning, and the end. We need not expound upon the end as this is done annually, but the beginning is seldom tackled. We cannot outline the future, because then there would be no need for living, but we can suggest the first step. An evaluation of self, from all angles, is in order. You are leaving us prepared or unprepared, as the case may be, and, either way, you are a result of your own initiative, ambition and achievement. Now that we have suggested the first step, may we offer you three more; one towards success in the fulfillment of your life career, one towards health of spirit, mind and body, and one towards contentment and satisfaction through just plain living.

High School GAA's Hold Play Day Here

Coleman gym was the scene of the state-wide Girls' Athletic Association Play Day held yearly at the Woman's College. The meeting was held on March 12 and 13, and the high school girls participated in various competitive sports.

The RA Honor Group entertained with a picnic at Piney Lake on Thursday night for those who had arrived for the first day of events.

Winners in the events were Myers Park of Charlotte and Chapel Hill High Schools, relays; Mineral Springs, Volleyball; Greensboro Senior, Golf; Myers Park, tennis, and Willey Junior, consolation round; and Reynolds High of Winston-Salem, bowling.

Faculty, Students Have Successful Tennis Meet

During the girls' stay on campus, a faculty-student tennis match was held. Twenty students and teachers participated in the matches, and it is hoped that this will become an annual affair.

Winners in the games were the teams of Wright and Russman and McGee and Spivey who took 14 out of 18 games. Runners-up in order were Price and Rice, Harris and Klutz, Beeler and MacDonald, Blackwell and Tracy, Guiney and Todd, Van Dyke and Thomas, Adams and Jarrell, and Grogan and Williams.

Dr. Beeler commented as he walked off the court that "You don't think professors win every day, do you? Besides, my day's coming up next week!" (Dr. Beeler has hopes for another difficult exam.)

Young Democrats from across the old North State will congregate on the Woman's College campus, tomorrow, May 21, for the annual YDC College Rally.

The following schools are among those asked to attend rally: N. C. State, Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest, East Carolina, Phiffer, Flora MacDonald, and Appalachian.

2:00 P. M. Registration

The rally will begin at 2:00 p.m. with registration in Elliott Hall. From 3:00 to 4:00 there will be an informal coffee hour discussion in Elliott Hall. Former presidents of the organization, Bob Davis of Salisbury and Henry Hall of Wilson will be present at this meeting.

At 7:00 p. m., there will be a banquet at the Mayflower Cafeteria in downtown Greensboro. The distinguished speaker at the evening session is as yet unknown. All students, faculty members, and interested persons are invited. There will be a two dollar fee for the banquet.

YDC State-Wide

The YDC is organized on a state level. There is a chapter in every county, and most of the state's college and universities have individual clubs of their own.

Musicians Will Give Graduation Program

Dr. Harvey L. Woodruff, director, and Mary Ida Hodge, accompanist, will be leading the College Choir when they join with the Greensboro Orchestra in the annual Commencement Concert, in Aycock Auditorium on Saturday, May 28, at 8:30 p. m.

Mr. George Dickieson will be conducting the Greensboro Orchestra, and the program will feature Mary Earnhardt Speight, violinist; Carolyn Heafner, soprano; and Joyce Boone, pianist.

On the program will be such selections by the choir as "The Omnipotence" by Schubert; Handel's "Come, My Beloved"; "The Dreamer" by M. Thomas Cousins; and the folk songs "Barbara Allen", "Over the Mountains", and "I'll Not Marry At All."

Mary Earnhardt Speight, violinist, will perform Vivaldi's "Concerto in A Minor"; Carolyn Heafner, soprano, will sing "Adieu Forests" by Tchaikowski; and Chopin's "Concerto in F Minor" will be presented by Joyce Boone, pianist.

Also on the program will be the "Academic Festival Overture" by Brahms and "When I Am Laid in Earth" by Purcell.

CLASS DAY LINE UP TO BEGIN PROMPTLY

Seniors are reminded that they are to begin lining up in front of the library at 3 p.m. on Saturday for the procession to Class Day. Maps of the procession routes are posted in each of the dorms. If there is any question about this, seniors are asked to contact Elsie Bryson in Winfield.

OFFICE 218

BY EM HERRING

In the weeks since the elections, newly installed officers have begun work in their respective areas in planning next year's program in S.G.A. I believe that my colleagues share my enthusiasm in viewing the prospects, potential, and purposes in 1960-61, and I would like for this to serve as a Progress Report to the student body, summarizing some of the work accomplished thus far, hoping that such will help the body at large to feel the pulse of Student Government.

The Judicial Chairman and Executive Secretaries began their official duties last week as the new Courts met to hear cases. Prior to the selection of the members, we interviewed more than fifty interested students, and it was difficult to choose from among so many good candidates. However, I join the Judicial leaders in feeling that those selected and approved to serve are highly qualified, responsible individuals who represent a cross-section of the campus, a variety of opinions, and are united in their beliefs that the Judicial System must assure the preservation of individual and community rights and justice. Under the new system, we feel that the three heads will be able to co-ordinate the responsibilities of the two courts next year, and I am confident that a good precedence will be established.

Vice-President Schnell and I interviewed for legislative and executive committee appointments and were pleased with the turn-out for these positions. The committee chairmen and the members have been appointed and are now meeting to discuss their areas and responsibilities. We feel that the chairmen are going to give real meaning to these committees and that the groups will be able to render greater service next year. Executive Cabinet next year will be composed of the Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer of S.G.A., President of Elliott Hall, R. A. President, Inter-Faith President, Senior Class President, (representing the Inter-Class Council), CAROLINIAN Editor, N.S.A. Co-ordinator, Chairman of the CU Council, President of the Towns' Student Assn., and the Service League Chairman. The Cabinet will serve in an advisory capacity to the President and as a sounding board, open to discussion of campus needs and problems. Other students will be invited to attend meetings from time to time or may request to have a point of discussion presented before the Cabinet. I hope to see both the Cabinet and House Presidents' Association dealing with problems and questions arising in the respective areas so that we can get an over-all view of the campus at large at the same time we move to settlements and recommendations for improvements. As the student body continues to grow, these organizations within the Association will have to function more and more as centers of contact, and the importance of their leadership and responsibility is of notable significance.

Plans are being worked out now for Pre-School Conference tentatively set for Sept. 5 and 6, and we are trying to include a representative group at the same time we keep within the budget. If students not attending the conference would like to have ideas presented at these sessions, please contact your house president so that consideration can be given. I attended a meeting of the CU Council in Chapel Hill last week in which delegates from WC, State, and UNC met to evaluate the year and to outline a program for next year. WC delegate chairman Marilyn Connor was elected Chairman of the entire body by acclamation and Alice Cole was named Executive Secretary in the same manner. Jane Cochran will serve as the WC delegation chairman for the coming year. I was extremely impressed with the group and its purpose and believe that big things will come from the cooperative efforts within the Greater University.

Brenda Watts by executive appointment and with the approval of Publications Board and Legislature will serve as Editor-in-Chief of the PINE NEEDLES next year. She is an accelerating sophomore who has been editor of a high school annual and paper and has served two years on the PINE NEEDLES staff. I have confidence that she will edit a good year book. Libba Strain has been approved as Service-League chairman. Libba is a rising senior, and she, anxious to see Service League projects meet with greater success, is planning ways to meet the Purse Drive goal in the fall.

We are planning to send a delegation to the N.S.A. Congress held August 17-Sept. 1 at the University of Minnesota. N.S.A. Co-ordinator Jill Game and I are planning to attend and prospects for sending a junior are encouraging.

These are some of the areas in planning, but they are by no means closed. If you have suggestions or recommendations, all of us would be pleased to hear them. Offices have been set up now on 3rd floor Elliott Hall and office hours are posted. These weeks have been promising, and if they are prophetic, I look for highly successful S.G.A. next year. Your efforts and leadership are the fuel in the fire.

Speaker Joyce Tells Girls To "Think Big"

Miss Betty Ruth Joyce, field secretary of the American Home Economics Association, spoke on the topic "Focus on the Future" at the annual Home Economics Banquet May 12. Miss Joyce pointed out the opportunities for service in the field of home economics and challenged the home economics majors to "think big" in setting their goals as they entered the progression.

Ann Brandon, banquet chairman, extended the welcome, and Miss Joyce was then introduced by Carolyn Branson. After Miss Joyce spoke, Ann Brandon recognized special guests and distributed door prizes.

Dean Naomi Albanese expressed her appreciation to Sarah Sharpe, Lucia Jones Fisher, Clara Spencer, and Ellen Luce for their work on the Student Program Policy Committee.

Dean Albanese recognized the three girls who have been granted graduate assistantships. Janice Robertson has received the Blue Bell, Inc., assistantship and Glenda Evans will do their graduate work at W. C. Sylvia Estenez will go to Cornell University where she also has an assistantship.

Margaret Hambricht and Linda Smith will be doing dietetic internships at Charity Hospital in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The Borden Award, given to the home economics major with the highest average in the first three years of college was won by Margaret Hambricht. The Danforth Awards, given to a junior and a freshman girl for all-round excellence, were won by Carolyn Branson and Susan Marvin.

Mrs. Street presented the Omicron Nu Awards. Frances Virginia Ferrell was awarded the Sophomore Medallion for the highest average on three semesters of academic work, and Mary Ross Henley received the Josephine Kremer Award given to the freshman with the highest average on one semester of academic work. Other freshmen who received certificates for outstanding achievement on one semester of work include: Rebecca Horn, Leona Irene Paschal, Carol Guy, Linda O'Neil Stevens, and Lois Gaylor Sandlin.

New Home Economics Club officers for 1960-61 are: president, Ann Brandon; vice-president, Nancy Broda; secretary, Carol Guy; and treasurer, Faye Brown.

Among women's colleges, WC's club is the most active in the state.

The annual rally has been held to date at N.C. State College due to its location at the state capital. The WC club considers it quite an honor that this campus will be the site of the 1960 state rally.

Request For Early Bids For Appointments Made

Miss Josephine Schaffer of the Placement Office has announced that, in order to make it as easy as possible for June graduates and other alumnae to have appointments with the office at their most convenient time, the following information may be useful:

All interviewing for either counseling or placement is done by Mrs. Bernard M. Schwartz and is by appointment only. Appointments may be made as far in advance as possible by mail to 541 Madison Avenue, New York 22, or by telephone at Plaza 5-3030.

Since every day is booked ahead of time, they cannot interview applicants who come without appointments.
