SGA Restructure Proposed

In a special session Monday night, Legislature discussed major changes in the structure of student government. They also approved a change in the election schedule of officials who would be affected if these proposed changes should be approved.

The offices that would be affected would be the Treasurer of the Student Government Association, Junior House Presidents, Senior House Presidents and all Judicial officials.

After passing this bill, legislature went into committee of the whole to discuss informally the proposed changes.

Judicial Changes

The House Rules were suspended so that Nancy Ramsay, Judicial Coordinator, could present the changes in the judicial system.

Miss Ramsay said that with the implementation of no closing hours, many of the offenses presently heard by Hallboard and/or Social Courts were eliminated. The reorganization proposed one major court, the Judicial Court. This court would hear all cases except for cases of the violation of closing hours policy that still affect first semester freshmen. These cases would go to Women's Hallboard.

SO THAT EVERY STUDENT

WILL HAVE ACCESS TO the proposed Constitution changes, we have printed it in its entirety on pages 6,7,8,5 and 9.

It will eliminate the differentiation of Men's and Women's Courts and the differentiation between Honor and Social Court.

The new offices created would be the Attorney General, a Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Judicial Court and an Executive Secretary of Judicial Court.

The office of Attorney General will head the Judicial System. In addition to coordinating the court activities, this proposed

Attorney General can also "interpret and clarify the legality of any rule or policy for Student Government organizations whenever the need arises."

In addition to these structural changes, Miss Ramsay proposed that in the present structure certain minor offenses be reclassified to facilitate the abolishment of Women's Hallboard.

New Constitution

All proposed changes other than the Judicial Branch were presented as whole. The rationale stated that "We have gone past the point where substitutions or revisions are sufficient in themselves. To make the SGA a viable organization it was necessary to offer an entirely new constitution for consideration by the students of this University."

Legislature Changes

The proposed change in Legislature would make it a smaller Senate. Instead of the present seat per 50 students, the new Senate would have a person elected for every 150 students.

V-P Resigns

Caroline Russell, vice-president of SGA and therefore Chairman of Legislature, submitted her resignation yesterday.

When contacted concerning this resignation, SGA President Lindsay Lamson said that he would accept her resignation "if Caroline feels that she can best serve the student body by resigning."

Lamson announced in the special session of Legislature that Miss Russell had resigned and that Darwin Honeycutt, speaker pro tem, would serve as acting chairman of Legislature until the SGA elections.

Miss Russell released a statement concerning her resignation to The Carolinian. The text is as follows:

As many of you already know, I have resigned my position as Vice President of SGA and Chairman of Legislature. I feel that I should take this opportunity to explain at least a few of my reasons for doing so. Having been elected by this Student Body I have this obligation to you, which unfortunately few of our student officials share.

There are several reasons for my abandoning my post at this point in the year.

Firstly, there has been a transition in SGA beginning the latter part of fall semester and continuing until this present time. Increasingly, the executive has attempted to turn the three separate branches of SGA into an extension of the Presidency. As of late, certain members of the executive branch have applied pressure not only to me but also the Legislative body to do their bidding even though such actions may have been in conflict with the wishes of the body.

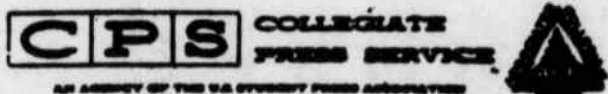

This brings to mind one episode when I was told to overlook the lack of constitutionally required qualifications of a certain proposed court member and have the Legislative body approve this appointment in intentional ignorance. I refused. After at least two months of reminders, this person ceased to serve in the position for which he was never approved and another qualified individual was submitted by Mr. Lamson and Miss Ramsay.

Secondly, these types of pressures have been on the increase not only from the executive but also from a newly emerged select group which lately has been referred editorial

By now we should begin to be resigned to the fact that resignation has become a la mode, of late, and rumor has it that there is more of the same to come. As of this writing, three people have given up the ship of state for various and sundry reasons. Obviously, something is awry.

Perhaps the fault lies in the organizations from which they resigned. Chairman of Women's Court stated that "the judicial system on this campus has reached the ultimate in absurdity," for which reason she left her position. The vice-president of Student Government found legislature meetings a farce and so decided to cut out. Both insinuated or flatly stated that the Student Government is fast falling to pieces. The proverbial they always say that rats will leave a sinking ship. No insinuation intended, necessarily.

It is completely beyond me that students could sincerely care enough about UNC-G to become closely involved and integrated into the student government organizations, and take on a great amount of responsibility, only to drop the whole mess when the going gets rough. My question is: if they cared enough to try to work out a better system, if they feel present one no longer satisfactory?

Granted, we've all got Spring fever and great anticipations of a much needed break, but with only two months left to serve, it seems to me that members of SGA might take a good look at their responsibilities to the student body, especially at this time of constitutional change.

Perhaps it is not the fault of the student government organizations that members are having, perhaps it is the fault of the student body who put members there in the first place. We must take careful consideration to elect responsible students to the offices which will govern and serve us next year.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Mr. Lamson,

I wish to inform you as of this date, March 8, 1971, I am resigning my position as Vice President of SGA and of Chairman of the Student Legislature.

My reasons are probably clear to you and I intend to make those same reasons clear to my student colleagues relatively soon.

Sincerely,
H. Caroline Russell

cc: The Carolinian

Since Caroline Russell's statement of resignation appearing on the front page mentioned two SGA officials by name, we felt it only fair to ask these persons if they had any response to her statements about them.

To the Editor:

Caroline's decision came as a complete surprise to me and I presently do not understand why such a step was taken.

I regret that Caroline feels that she no longer has anything to contribute to the Student Body as chairman of the Legislature. I disagree with her completely for it is at this time of constitutional change, that a sto and knowledgeable Vice-President is most needed.

I would have to agree that if a so-called political struggle were taking place, it would be completely uncalled for and unnecessary. I am personally unaware of such a struggle, but perhaps other student government officials might have comment on this subject. If Caroline feels that she can best serve the student body by resigning rather than stating what is wrong and working to change it, then I will accept her resignation.

Lindsay Lamson

To the Editor:

I wish only to reply to Caroline's implication that I purposely intended to deceive Legislature, for this was never the case. She refers to y recommendation that a freshman be allowed to temporarily fill the position of Executive Secretary of Men's Court. There was never a request from me nor any intent to deceive the Legislature concerning this student's classification. Rather, it was my intention to fill the vacancy with the best qualified student who had interviewed while Chuck Eddington, the Men's Court Chairman, and I continued our search for a responsible constitutionally eligible student whom we soon found in Bill Lindeman. It is unfortunate that Caroline did not convey her concern over this action to me personally, for I was unaware that she was not familiar with the circumstances.

Nancy Ramsay
Judicial Coordinator

To the Editor:

Thursday the 24th was the day set up for the campus referendum. The issues which were to be voted on were not of critical importance, but they did effect each and every one of us if only in a small way. Being a member of the Legislature, I spent two hours serving as a poll watcher. During that time, taming OF THE SHREW by nelda french

Have you ever heard of Virginia Woolf? I had heard her name, but now I feel as if I have met her face to face. I just read "A Room of One's Own" and am amazed at the genius of Virginia Woolf. Her Feminism is so firm, so proud and so strong that one would not believe she wrote the book in 1928. She cuts through the barriers of time and space and I feel as if I know her personally. I invite all who dare, to explore her irresistible train of thought, for any woman who dares to do so will become a Feminist and any man will understand better than ever the "weaker sex."

The book is based on two papers which she wrote on the topic of women in fiction. She is not restricted by the dullness of her topic. Rather, she explores the meaning of the phrase in all its implications and comes up with a history of the oppression of women, especially women who aspire to think or do anything that men consider them incapable of doing. She shows how the relationship of the sexes throughout history has prevented women from achieving any more than what they have achieved.

"Women have served all these centuries as looking glasses possessing the magic and delicious power of reflecting the figure of man at twice its natural size..

Whatever may be their use in civilized societies, mirrors are essential to all violent and heroic action. That is why Napoleon and Mussolini both insist so emphatically upon the inferiority of women, for if they were not inferior, they would cease to enlarge. That serves to explain in part the necessity that women so often are to men. For if she begins to tell the truth, the figure in the looking glass shrinks; his fitness for life is diminished. How is he to go on giving judgement, civilising natives, making laws, writing books, dressing up and speechifying at banquets, unless he can see himself at breakfast and at dinner at least twice the size he really is?"

One sees in Virginia Woolf the seeds of thought which Kate Millet develops into theory in "Sexual Politics." And what is wrong with developing theory from literary ideas? As Virginia Woolf points out, men have for centuries written about women and analyzed us as if they knew more about us than we know about ourselves. Until recently, all their theorizing about us has been based on pure conjecture and it seems to me that the recent Women's Liberation movement has brought to light more truth on the nature of both men and women than the sum of all men's writing.

Computer Workshop Offered

A two part workshop for faculty and interested students is being offered by the Computer Center in the field of statistical library programs. On March 16, 3-4:30 p.m. the first session will provide a general introduction to this topic involving the type and scope of the library programs available. Research oriented programs (TSAR, SPSS, BMD, SAS) and education oriented programs (STT 100, LIB, ECS) will be discussed and their uses interpreted.

The second part of the workshop will be held on March 23, 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and will concentrate on the TSAR program Workshop participants will gain a working knowledge of TSAR to enable them to use the program on their own.

Both sessions will be held in Room 100 Forney Building. Interested students may be invited. No advance registration is necessary.

Vote clearly passes.

"Are we back where we were at 8:30?"

"I think so."

NOTE: These statements have been taken out of context, but they do reflect the typical statements of a usual legislature meeting.

CONTEST

Student Government is holding a contest. To win all you have to do is name as many Legislature members as you can and then indicate whether they are clowns, hierarchy or manipulators. For each member you successfully name, you will be given a point. Extra points are given to successfully named proxies. The entry with the most points will win the grand prize, which is a free ticket to sit in the gallery (for as long as you can stand it) of each performance of the SGA circus this year.

Sorry but all those who are now members of Legislature or have been proxies at Legislature are ineligible to enter. So all 25 of you students left, enter and win a trip to the circus!

was explained as "being too large and unwieldy to conduct the business of this student body in an efficient manner to serve the best interests of this campus."

Executive Changes

The major change in the executive branch is in the office of Treasurer. The new bill would retitle Treasurer as Business Manager. In addition, it would make the office elected from the incoming junior or senior class since it is also recommended that this office be held by a Business or Economics major since it requires an intense knowledge of finances.

Changes in the executive secretary would explicitly give this officer the job of better communications between the parts of student government and between student government as a whole and the campus at large.

The only major change in the presidency is to give him a veto of Senate measures. This according to the rationale, is only for balance of power since the new constitution would require that all measures go through the Senate.

Dorm Coordinators

Another proposed change mentioned in the Constitution and explained further in the By-laws is the Dorm Coordination Reviewing Board. This Board will review all candidates for what is currently House President. This board will submit a list of qualified candidates for election.

COLLECTIONS

Jarrell's Works Sold

The New York Public Library's privately endowed Berg Collection of English and American Literature has purchased a portion of the papers of Randall Jarrell, noted American poet who lived in Greensboro prior to his death in 1965.

Jarrell taught at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro from 1947 until 1965. He received the National Book Award in 1961 for his book, "The Woman at the Washington Zoo." In 1965, he was given the $5000 Ingram Merrill Foundation award for his "distinguished contribution to world literature."

According to a press release from the New York Public Library, the purchased portion of Jarrell's work consists of heavily revised manuscripts and typescripts and poetry worksheets from the 1930's to the 1960's. Early poems are represented notably in two large manuscript notebooks, of which the earliest might be "January 1938," written in 1941 and published in "The Complete Poems" in 1969.

Also included is the manuscript of Jarrell's last poem, "What's the Riddle," published in the same volume. Jarrell's last volume of poems, "The Lost World" (1965), is represented in the Berg Collection by the complete manuscript worksheets of more than 20 poems.

The Walter Clinton Jackson Library at UNC-G has a rather extensive collection of Jarrell's papers and manuscripts, as well as first editions of all of his books, and other related material. Included in UNC-G's Jarrell collection are 11 boxes of his papers and manuscripts and other related work, four boxes of tape recordings by Jarrell and an extensive number of various literary publications which published Jarrell's writings at different times in his career. Jarrell presented the material to the library while he was a teacher at UNC-G.

The Berg Collection of Jarrell's papers also includes a manuscript draft of his acceptance speech for the National Book Award for Poetry in 1961, as well as four unpublished lectures delivered on W.H. Auden at Princeton University. Also in the collection, according to the press release, is Jarrell's translation of "Faust."

CULTURE SCHEDULE

A variety of cultural events have been scheduled at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro during the coming week (March 7-14), beginning with the presentation of the play "The Devil's Disciple."

On Thursday March 11, Claude Kipnis and his Mime Theatre will perform in UNC-G's Aycock Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Featured in the program by Kipnis and his company of 10 performers will be "Opus Blue is Pink." The feature is highlighted by a presentation of "The Miraculous Mandarin," by Hungarian composer Bela Bartok, and three other pantomimes.

A thesis dance concert choreographed by UNC-G graduate students will follow on Friday March 12 at 8:15 p.m. in the studio dance theatre in Coleman Gym on campus. The concert will consist of four dances prepared by UNC-G students in fulfilling requirements for the Master of Fine Arts Degree in dance.

Highlighting the weekend will be concerts by singer Stevie Wonder Saturday March 13 and by Delaney, Bonnie and Friends Sunday March 14. Both performances will be in Aycock Auditorium at 3 p.m.

In addition, an exhibit titled "200 Years of American Art" is currently being presented at UNC-G's Weatherspoon Gallery. The show, which will continue through March 21, is on a national tour from the Pennsylvania Academy of Art.

All events are open to the public. The thesis dance concert and Weatherspoon exhibit are open without charge.

THEATER

UNC-G Theater opens its production of "The Devil's Disciple" in Taylor Building, March 10 at 8:30 p.m. Performance dates for this production will be March 10, 11, 12, 13 at 8:30 p.m. and March 14 at 2:30 p.m.

The play, written by George Bernard Shaw, tells the story of the American Revolution from the Shavian point of view.

Students may purchase their tickets by presenting their yellow student theatre cards (which they obtained upon purchase of their first theatre ticket) or by presenting their ID's if they don't have cards. Tickets are on sale for $.50 at the box office in Ta Building. All seats are reserved.

B. A special session may be called by one-third of the members of the Senate.

Article IV. Judicial Branch

Section 1. The judicial power of the Student Government Association of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro shall be vested in a Judicial System under the supervision of the Attorney General. The Judicial System shall be composed of one main court--the Judicial Court and a Women's Hallboard for first semester freshmen. Judicial Court shall have a court of appeals and shall hear appeals from Women's Hallboard. There shall be a faculty advisor serving in an advisory capacity for the Judicial System. The Judicial System shall encompass all cases of discipline not delegated to other authorities.

Section 2. The Attorney General

A. The Attorney General shall be elected from the incoming senior class, having had at least one year's experience in the judicial system.

B. The Attorney General shall be elected by the students in the SGA election.

C. The duties of the Attorney shall be:

1. To co-ordinate all the functions of the Judicial Branch.

2. To receive all requests for appeals to the court.

3. To interpret and clarify the legality of any rule or policy for Student Government organizations whenever the need arises.

a. To consult the lawyer retained by Student Government when the interpretation or clarification requires it.

b. To study University policies and contracts in the students' interest including, but not restricted to, student fees, residential policies, and administrative policies.

Section 3. Judicial Court

A. Membership of the Judicial Court shall be composed of the Chairman, the Vice-Chairman, the Executive Secretary, and twenty-one (21) men and women members who shall be appointed by the Attorney General, Chairman of Judicial Court, and the Vice-Chairman of Judicial Court in consultation with the President of Student Government Association and approved by the Senate. Seven of the twenty-one members shall sit as voting members in accordance with the rotation system.

B. Powers of the Judicial Court

1. The Judicial Court shall classify all social and honor offenses as major and minor and shall establish any automatic penalties deemed necessary for those classified as minor.

a. First semester freshmen may appeal automatic penalties to Women's Hallboard.

b. All others may appeal automatic penalties to Judicial Court.

2. The Judicial Court shall deal with all major social and honor offenses.

PLEASE FLIP OVER FOR CONTINUATION OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTION ON PAGES 8 and 5.

C. Chairman of Judicial Court

1. The Judicial Court shall have a chairman elected from the incoming junior or senior classes with at least one year's experience in the judicial system.
2. The Chairman of Judicial Court shall be elected by the students in the SGA election.

Allen Women's Day to discuss Celebrated Education

A former U.S. Commissioner of Education will visit UNC-G Wednesday, March 10, to discuss current trends in education with school administrators from across Piedmont North Carolina.

Dr. James E. Allen Jr., who served in the federal post under President Nixon for a 16 month period ending in June of 1970, will address a seminar for school officials at 2 p.m. His topic will be, "The Shape of the Educational Enterprise."

Allen, a West Virginia native, is now a visiting lecturer in education and public affairs at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

About 25 school administrators are enrolled in the in service seminar which is being offered through a cooperative effort by several UNC-G departments and state education agencies. Sessions of the seminar are being held both at UNC-G and at Forsyth Technical Institute. The program continues through May 5.

Monday, fliers were distributed by members of UNC-G's Women's Liberation. The group is composed of women students on this campus who are working to discover their common problems as women in this society and their goal is to find solutions to these problems. Any woman who is interested in finding out more about herself is invited to attend the meetings which are held Tuesday of each week at 7:30 p.m. in McIver Lounge of Elliott Hall.

In 1857, thousands of women from the garment districts of New York took to the streets rebelling against their oppression. These sisters demanded improvements in their working conditions, decent wages, a ten hour work day, and recognition of equal rights for American women. When the march reached the rich districts, the women were attacked and dispersed by the police. The demonstrators were trampled or shot at, and several were arrested.

In memory of these women from New York, Clara Zetkin, whom the Kaiser of Germany labelled "the most dangerous sorceress in the Empire" called for March 8 to become International Women's Day at the conference of Socialist Women in 1910. Since then millions of sisters around the world have celebrated the day, showing their determination to gain equality as human beings, to fight against war, exploitation, injustice, and to create a society fit for our children. In Africa, Asia, and Latin America, and all continents, women join together as the potentially most powerful force of people in the world for change.

International Women's Day is just one sign of the growing movement for the liberation of women and all people kept down by this system. In our demands around child care, adequate medical care, legal and free abortions, and equal work at equal pay, and adequate minimum incomes for all, we speak to the real, crying needs of over half of the people, not only in this city but all over the world.

to as "The Hierarchy." This "Hierarchy" apparently has slowly, quietly been forming for a long time

I have heard reports from people this year that Legislature was worthless, that it was being run by 2 or 3 members with the effect that despite any vote held in a district, a member would vote as these people told to vote. Unfortunately from where I stood in the front of the body rather than within, I had not been able to be judge of the correctness of this observation until this past Monday, February 22, 1971. At this point it became painfully clear to me that these reports were totally true. I found the meeting a farce. I found the meeting disgusting. One member rose late in the session feeling my same disgust and started to leave the meeting without permission, thereby cutting attendance below quorum I

I feel that this type of major legislation is not something which can be written quickly, debated quickly and then voted upon in the same manner. The majority of the members had not seen the legislation before this past Monday. Points which would clearly be confusing at some later date were not given the opportunity to emerge on the floor since even the most skilled constitutionalist cannot be expected to fully comprehend all implications of such major changes on the first reading.

I resigned this Monday because I refuse to be part of any of this student political struggle which could possibly harm the future of SGA. I hope some of you in this student body will have the fortitude to stand up and ask some questions.

Zazz concert

The University Faculty Wives sponsored a jazz concert February 23 to establish a permanent Scholarship fund at this campus which will be available to all students.

Alan Dean was the guest artist performing on trumpet. Raymond Gariglio directed the University Jazz Ensemble.

Every faculty wife was given 10 tickets to sell and many went out of their way to sell lots more. Approximately $1700 was raised for the scholarship.

The Faculty Wives have worked for six years establishing money for this scholarship and the concert was the apex of their efforts. With the money collected from the concert, the scholarship will go into effect next year. It will continue as a living memorial to both students and faculty alike.

MFA DANCE THESIS

The MFA in Dance Master's Thesis Concert will be presented by the UNC-G Dance Company at 8:15 p.m. on March 12, 1971 in the Studio Dance Theatre in Coleman Gymnasium. There will be no admission charge, the public is invited.

All master of Fine Arts candidates in Dance, are required to choreograph and notate a major piece of choreography. The concert March 12 will be a program of these works. Professor Virginia Moomaw is thesis advisor to all the candidates who are performing their works this concert. Two of the works in this presentation will be selected for the spring UNC-G Dance Company Concert to be held the following weekend, March 19 and 20 in Taylor Theatre.

The following is the program for the Master's Thesis Concert:

CONTRETEMPS

Music written by Ralph Vaughn Williams Symphony 6 in E minor Movements I and II, Choreography by Susan Charles. This lyrical dance emphasizes movement in circular patterns and spacial design. The dancers project various awarenesses in their individual and group movements. These movements are vibrant, exciting and at times very tranquil. Dancers are Iris Berry, Susan Charles, Denie Gant, Gail Thornton, Kathy Wesson.

INTERPLAY

Music by Anton von Webern Opus XI and XII, Choreography by Carolyn Cardwell. INTERPLAY employs a kinetic approach which emphasizes different energy levels, line design and motion. Two basic movements: abrupt angular motions and flowing circular motions are used as the central kinetic idea from which the themes are created. The dance is divided into four sections and employs several surprise elements. Dancers are Barbara Blau, Carolyn Cardwell, Barbara Jones, Rebecca Jones, Gayle Thornton.

VERITAS

Music by Collage of Gregorian Chants Monks from the Abbey of Encalcat, France and Blind Faith, "Do What You Like," choreography by Julie Kramer. VERITAS is motivated from the liturgical ceremony in the Roman Catholic Church. Some of the movement themes overlap with one another at different points in the choreography as the musical rhythm does the same in the tape collage. The work is presented with a ritualistic quality in themes dealing with man's social need to "do what he likes." Dancers are Deanie Gant, Georganne Thomas, Janet Perry, Sylvia Coats, Julie Kramer.

SUMMER RUN

Music by Chavez, Tocatta for Percussion Instruments; choreography by Georganne Thomas. The dance is based on designs which are manipulated to create a kinetic flow which carries the movement from one design to another ending in a suspension of a breath as if ready to begin again. Dancers are Barbara Blau, Carolyn Cardwell, Julie Kramer, Sally Scantland, Jan Ward.

NOTE:

The sponsors of the bill now in Legislature that proposes a change in the structure of student government are

Special Services Aids Academics

The UNC-G Special Services project for the Development of Academic Skills has been in progress since September, 1970. It was initiated to maximize the opportunity for the successful achievement of low income and minority group students.

At the University Mr. Ernest Griffen is project director.

The project consists of tutoring and counseling services, instruction in reading and study skills, and instruction in writing skills. These services are fitted for individual needs, and are of no cost to the student.

Along with academic instruction the project brings in personal social and vocational factors. The project unites them into an integrated process to provide a positive atmosphere for successful achievement.

Of the 129 students the project serves, all met at least the minimum requirements to continue at UNC-G. However, 11 were placed on Academic probation. More intense work is planned for these students to better their average.

The tutorial program assigns tutors in courses where help is needed. The tutors are undergraduates, graduates or graduate students academically superior in their field. In the fall semester, only eight of the 90 students failed the course in which they were tutored. A number of these students waited too long before seeking help.

Another area of assistance is the reading laboratory. The program begins with testing and continues until the student reaches his desired level of improvement. A final check is made on the improvement. A total of 58 students participated in this program all of which doubled their reading speed and comprehension.

The writing laboratory is designed to assist students in academic skills. Many students need help in composition. The student is allowed to advance as quickly as he is able. No student is caused any embarrassment because he is not singled out publicly.

Students are helped in career planning and job experience through the counseling and placement service. In addition, there is student counselling rendered by students.

There are 11 student counselors. These students have been trained through combined efforts of the Project director, the Project vocational counselor and the Director of the University Counseling Center. Each student counselor works with a maximum case load of 10.

The UNC-G Continuing Education Guidance Center is a counseling service for adults who may wish to continue their education in conjunction with other major responsibilities.

These services are extended to all adults within the community. The goal has been to estimate the number of the potential college women in the university. A dinner discussion meeting is planned for early March at which 45 Black women leaders in Greensboro will be asked to help in further development of this project.

18-vote a mistake?

less than 50 students came in to vote. From conversations with others who served at various times during the day, I learned that they had experienced the same phenomena. I have since learned that out of the entire student body here at UNC-G, less than 6% took the trouble to go to their proper districts and vote. The referendum is therefore invalid since 35% was needed. This raises a big question in my mind. Perhaps the U.S. government has made a serious mistake in granting the 18 year old the privilege of voting. For if they are incapable of fulfilling their obligation here on campus, what will happen when they are called upon to elect the next President of the U.S.? I'm afraid that it will turn out to be a carbon copy of what happened here, and that's too bad, for all of us.

Sincerely,
Larry Saffioti

What you should know about diamonds when you know it's for keeps

You've dreamed about your diamond engagement ring a thousand times. But now that you know it's for keeps, it's time to stop dreaming and start learning about diamonds and their value.

Because no two diamonds are exactly alike, jewelers have adopted exacting standards to determine the relative value of each and every diamond in the world. These standards include a diamond's size (carat weight), color, cut and clarity.

Although it's important to know the facts about diamonds, you certainly don't have to be an expert to choose a Keepsake Diamond Ring... because Keepsake guarantees a diamond of fine white color, correct cut and perfect clarity or replacement assured. The famous Keepsake certificate provides permanent registration, trade-in value and protection against loss of diamonds from the setting.

COLOR: Fine white diamonds are quite rare and valued accordingly. Other shades in relative order of their worth are: blue, yellow, brown and black.

CUT: The cut of a diamond—the facets placed on it by a trained cutter—brings out the gem's fire and brilliance. Anything less than correct cut reduces beauty, brilliance and value.

CLARITY: Determined by the absence of small impurities. A perfect diamond has no impurities when examined under ten power magnification by a trained eye.

CARAT: A diamond's size is measured in carats. As a diamond increases in size, its price will increase even more if the quality remains constant. But larger diamonds of inferior quality may actually be worth less than smaller, perfect diamonds.
