

MISS ELLIOTT REPORTS ON BALTIMORE CONFERENCES

Discusses Recent Pan-American Conference and Meeting of League of Women Voters

Miss Harriett Elliott, in an address Monday night in the Adelphian Society Hall, held the interest of faculty and students while she discussed the Pan-American Conference and the Conference of the League of Women Voters which, as a delegate from North Carolina, she had recently attended.

Pan-American Conference

The Pan-American Conference, which opened formally in Baltimore Thursday, April 20, had as its object, Miss Elliott said, the formation of a greater solidarity between the women of North and South America that they might aid each other in solution of problems. Upon request of the United States government, representative women of South America, highly intellectual and well-informed, had been sent as delegates to the convention. Twenty-four nations of North and South America were represented, as well as Poland, Great Britain, and the Philippine Islands. Among the questions of world interest which were discussed at the convention are: child welfare, education, women in industry, and traffic in women. The objectives of the industrial women are the eight hour day and protection for expectant mothers and young mothers. Reports from various countries revealed the fact that there is a well-organized and quite complete international organization for traffic in women, as there is also an international organization working for its abolishment. The reports made were neither hasty nor ill-considered; questionnaires had been sent far ahead of time so that each woman knew what she would be expected to report upon.

Mabel Walker Willibrand was very effective as she discussed the difference between Spanish and American law, showing how South American law had grown from Spanish law and North American

MR. BROWN PRESENTS MATTIE ANGEL IN THIRD MUSIC RECITAL

Shows Remarkable Ability in Her Training; Assisted on Organ by Scott-Hunter

Mattie Angel, pianist, was heard in her graduating recital in the college auditorium Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. She showed remarkable ability and there was much that was admirable in her playing. The Chopin Preludes and Le Soir found clear expression. Miss Angel played her Concerto with dignity and showed her substantial qualities as a pianist. Her refinement and technical powers were thoroughly appreciated by her audience.

The program was:

Sonata Pathétique Op. 13—Beethoven.

Preludes, Op. 28 Nos. 4 and 7—Chopin.

Impromptu, Op. 90, No. 3—Schubert.

Le Soir—Blumenfeld.

Polonaise C. Minor, Op. 40, No. 3—Chopin.

Concerto G Minor op. 25 (First movement)—Mendelssohn.

The orchestral parts for the concerto were arranged for organ and played by Professor George Scott-Hunter.

MUSIC CONTEST HELD AT NORTH CAROLINA COLLEGE LAST WEEK

Euterpe Club of Greensboro Offers Cup to Successful Contestant in Piano

UNUSUAL ABILITY DISPLAYED

Violin and Glee Club Singing a New Feature of Contest

The annual state-wide musical contest for high school students was held in the college auditorium on Saturday morning, May 6. Nineteen counties were represented in the piano contest. The preliminaries were held at 9 o'clock, eliminating all but Mae Lewis, Ashboro; Maude Jones, Roanoke Rapids; Freeman Twaddell, Durham; Courtney Peace, Laurinburg; Phillip Jeffries, Greensboro, and Lucy Boyd, Warrenton.

In the finals Maude Jones was the successful contestant. The judges were: Mrs. Crosby, of Asheville; Miss Pearl Seiler, of Greensboro College, and Miss Gertrude Sousley, of the North Carolina College for Women.

This is the third year that the piano contest has been held. The Euterpe Club of Greensboro offers a cup, which may be held for the year, to the winner. Miss Helen Rankin, of Greensboro, who won the cup last year, presented it to Miss Jones.

This is the first year that the contests have been held for Violin and Glee Club singing. Only four counties were represented in violin; Ashby Pamplin, Guilford; Aileen Ross, Nash; Edna Weidman, Wayne; and William King, New Hanover. Ashby Pamplin was the successful contestant. The judges were Miss Mary Coler Davis, of the North Carolina College, and Prof. Brockman, of Greensboro College.

There were only two Glee Clubs, Burlington and Greensboro, contesting. The Burlington Club being declared the winner.

The contest is increasing in interest each year and the addition of solo singing next year will stimulate interest further.

SUSIE ROBERTS TO BE PRESIDENT OF INCOMING JUNIORS

New President Prominent in Various Activities; to Have Able Assistants

At a recent meeting of the Sophomore Class the following officers were elected for the first term of 1922-23:

Susie Roberts, President.
Lucile Kasehagen, Vice-President.
Sara Wall Griggs, Secretary.
Cleo Mitchell, Treasurer.
Mary Green, Critic.
Velma Beam, Athletic Manager.
Thelma Bryan, Cheer Leader.
Rena Cole, Junior Shop Manager.

Miss Roberts has taken an active interest in college affairs and her position is well merited. She was treasurer of the Student Government Association this year and, as such, a member of the Senate, and for two years she has been a member of the 24's winning basketball team. The other officers, by their previous work in class or college activities, have shown their ability.

Y. W. C. A. CONFERENCE AT BLUE RIDGE, N. C. HELD FROM JUNE 2-11

Many Lecturers of Note Secured, Among Them, Professor Lindeman, of This College

MISS FLENNIKEN EXECUTIVE

Various Sporting Activities and Trips to be Enjoyed by Delegates

Blue Ridge this year offers unusual attraction to those interested in the Southern Students Conference held there, under the auspices of the National Young Woman's Christian Association, from June second to twelfth. The object of the conference is to bring young women students together to discuss religious and social problems encountered in every day life, in order that they may have a better understanding and knowledge with which to face and overcome their difficulties.

Miss Margaret Flenniken, of the National Y. W. C. A. Board, is executive of the conference. Among the eminent men and women lecturers, the benefit of whose influence may be enjoyed are: Rev. Irving S. Chenoweth, First Christian Church, Philadelphia, Pa.; Prof. D. J. Fleming, Ph. D., Union Theological Seminary, New York City; Prof. Thos. W. Graham, D. D., Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio; Miss Elsie B. Heller, National Student Department; Prof. E. C. Lindeman, North Carolina College for Women, Greensboro, N. C.; Miss Katherine Lumpkin, National Board, and Miss Irene Shepherd, Foreign Division National Board.

In substance, the conference consists of ten days of Bible, social and international study, together with platform addresses and forum hours. There is plenty of time in which to enjoy such sports as swimming, tennis, hiking, group games and conversation. Opportunity is provided for excursions to well known places of interest nearby, and motor trips may be planned to such places as Asheville, Chimney Rock and Hendersonville.

Robert E. Lee Hall, with its broad veranda and steps is the center of social activity. The cottage in which all of the delegates from the North Carolina College reside, is situated on a nearby slope. Every year the college has had a large and enthusiastic representation. Song contests and other forms of competition between the colleges is encouraged. Expenses are very nominal; the entire trip may be planned for about fifty dollars. Those who wish to attend may secure application blanks from Susie West, Y. W. C. A., President.

DR. FOUST ANNOUNCES FINAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR COMMENCEMENT

Governor Morrison and Dr. J. B. Massey to be Chief Speakers

After spending the past several weeks in arranging the program for commencement, the Seniors and Dr. Foust have succeeded in obtaining an interesting list of speakers for the exercises.

The commencement address will be delivered by Governor Cameron Morrison on the morning of June 6. Dr. J. B. Massey, Professor of Biblical Literature at Hampden-Sidney College, will give the Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning.

This commencement is the occasion for the reunion of all the Green and White classes and it is expected that many of the alumnae will be back.

TAU PI DELTA ANNOUNCES ELECTION OF NEW MEMBERS

MOTHER'S DAY SERVICE

Mrs. Howard E. Rondthaler, wife of the president of Salem College, will speak at the Mother's Day Service held by the Y. W. C. A. tomorrow night. Special features of the service will be a violin solo, by Miss Nell Westcott, and tenor solo, by Fielding Fry, both of Greensboro. The service will be simple and attractive, and promises to be one which every one will enjoy.

OFFICERS OF DIKEAN SOCIETY ARE CHOSEN FOR INCOMING YEAR

Lattimore Previously Elected President—to Have Able Corps of Assistants

SOUTHERLAND IS VICE-PRES.

Peacock and Grimsley Selected for Editors of Coraddi

The following officers were elected at a call meeting of the Dikean Society, Monday afternoon:

Lois Southerland - Vice-President
Edith Rountree - Corresponding Sec.
Inez Credwer - Recording Sec.
Lois Burnette - Treasurer
Helen Clayton - Critic
Mary Sue Beam - Chairman of Club Work

Mary Teresa Peacock - Coraddi Editor
Jo Grimsley - Coraddi Editor

Lois Southerland has been especially interested in dramatics and music, having taken successful leading parts in Yanki Sam, the Hoodo, and the negro minstrel.

Edith Rountree, Inez Crowder, Lois Bernette, and Helen Clayton have shown marked interest in the society and have been active in all its work.

Since there will move to be a change in the departments next year, due to the large number of new girls, the Dikeans feel very fortunate in having Mary Sue Beam, of club work.

Mary Teresa Peacock and Jo Grimsley have shown an unusual talent in literary articles and the Coraddi will be greatly benefited by their work on its staff next year.

ELIZABETH FOUST IN FOURTH MUSIC RECITAL OF YEAR

Gives Splendid Recital, Assisted in One Number by Miss Minor

Elizabeth Foust presented a splendid recital program in the College Auditorium on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. She began her recital with the Beethoven Sonata in C sharp, Minor, op. 27, no. 2. Following this were two MacDowell numbers: From a Wandering Iceberg, op. 25, no. 2, and The Eagle, op. 32. Her tone production in these was smooth and even. The next group was a Chopin Prelude, op. 28, no. 17; Minuet a L' Antico, no. 3, by Seaveack; and Wedding Day at Troidhaugen, op. 65, no. 6, by Grieg. This last number evoked special applause. Auden Bergen, op. 19, by Grieg, was played with dignity and refinement. Miss Minor accompanied her in this number, very sympathetically.

Mable Stamper, Maitland Sadler, Dorothy Clement and Mary Collins Powell are Chosen

Mable Stamper, Maitland Sadler, Dorothy Clement and Mary Collins Powell have recently been elected members of Tau Pi Delta, according to announcements made in a mass meeting last night. These students were chosen by the eleven girls who were made charter members of Tau Pi Delta at the beginning of this term. They were considered from the standpoint authorized by the students in the first plan for the society, namely; they measured up to the following requirements: College Spirit, Intellectuality, Special Ability, Leadership and Character.

The object of Tau Pi Delta is to honor the all round type of womanhood and, thus, to recognize the girls who have accomplished things since they have been at the college. The fact that the persons who are elected to membership in the society have to have the five characteristics of college spirit, intellectuality, special ability, leadership and character makes election to it about the greatest honor a girl can receive.

Miss Stamper has shown a great deal of ability since she has been a member of the senate and president of the Dikean Society besides having held a number of minor offices.

Miss Sadler has been a member of the senate during this year, is the newly elected editor of the Handbook, and a member of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet.

Miss Clement has been college cheer leader this year and is to be whole term president of the senior class in 1922-'23.

Miss Powell was sophomore President during the fall term and is to be chairman of the College Social Committee and a member of the senate next year.

N. C. C. DELEGATES SPEAK ON RESULTS HOT SPRINGS MEET

McDonald, West, and McDowell Give Students Interesting Account of Convention

At Vesper on Sunday night Miss McDonald, Susie West, and Jocelyn McDowell gave interesting but brief accounts of a small part of their trip to the National Y. W. C. A. Conference at Hot Springs, Ark. Susie West spoke first upon the journey out and some of the interesting points they visited while there, telling several amusing incidents. Among their pleasant surprises was the accidental meeting with Miss Caroline Goforth, a member of the class of '17, during a wait of their train on account of a breakdown of the train ahead of them.

Jocelyn McDowell then spoke on the business end of the conference and especially on that part of this which concerned students. Not the least of the business transactions was the formation of all students in a separate and distinct organization and the resolution of this body to be self-supporting. She also spoke briefly of the wonderful spirit of brotherhood and fellowship between the negro students, the industrial girls, and the white students which pervaded the whole conference.

As the last speaker of the evening, Miss McDonald told something of the personalities of a few of the principal members of the conference.

On To Blue Ridge!

We wish that the strawberries were just a little more polite and would leave off their caps before coming into the dining room. But, still politeness is not everything!

Take the nurses' training course.

We don't know which we had rather have, Spring Fever or Exams, but we are sure that we had better be exposed to the latter before we get the former.

Freedom of speech should not be abridged, but long speeches are better abridged.

Of course one is considered old-fashioned if she speaks of the noise in the library, but it seems as if "Lower East Side," as applied to the location of the library in a previous issue of the Carolinian, may not be appropriate in regard to location alone.

SPIRIT OF N. C. C.

The leading article in the second quarterly issue of the Alumnae News, which came from press last week, should be of interest to every student of the college. In this article—"A New Field of Service for Women in North Carolina, and What Our Alumnae are Doing Therein"— Dr. E. W. Gudger, formerly head of the department of Biology at the college, now of the American Museum of Natural History, discusses the work of women, and particularly that of the Alumnae of the college, as laboratory technicians.

It is a peculiarly noticeable fact that of the eight former students who have done work of this nature since 1918, all have met with a great measure of success. Many of these girls had no training, or if any, very little, in this particular field of scientific work, but it reflects great credit on the college and the department of Biology in particular, that during their stay here they had developed the ability to learn and the scientific spirit to such an extent that they were able to succeed when they attempted work of this difficult nature.

As Dr. Gudger stated in his article, the college is now equipped to train students in work of this kind. This means much to the college and to the state. It means that the college can send our students already prepared to enter this field of broader service, and so equipped that there should be no question of their success. If students with no direct training can take up this work and meet with such success on every hand, how much more should this be the case with the improved situation of the department.

What is true of the department of Biology in this particular case is true of the college as a whole. In all the academic work, it is not the subject matter itself that counts so much, though we would be far from belittling the importance of this—but it is the spirit with which the college endows her daughters. This much talked of spirit of the North Carolina College is not so intangible as it is sometimes thought to be. It is the spirit of service. No true daughter of the college goes away after having spent four years here, without carrying this ideal with her. It is true that we dislike having service held up to us on every occasion, but this may be because we have already caught the vision. However aimless we may be when we enter college, it is true that when we leave we are determined that our lives shall be spent in a useful manner. The North Carolina College teaches to her daughters the joy of work and the love of service.

N. C. C. DELEGATES
SPEAK ON RESULTS
HOT SPRINGS MEET

Especially did she speak of Miss Maude Royden, world famous woman preacher of England, whose spirit dominated the whole of the convention. She did not attempt to describe Miss Royden but said that she hoped that the girls of the college would have the opportunity of hearing her at the college next year.
Among other leading personages were Countess Helene Goblet D'Au-ville, of Belgium; Miss Anne Lamb, of Calcutta, India; Dr. Cosez, of Chezecho Slovakia; and Prof. E. C.
Lindeman, of North Carolina College for Women. She also told something of two industrial girls who were leaders of the industrial girls' part of the conference, Goldie Green and Letta Perkins. The principal theme of the convention was world peace and several resolutions were made in regard to this, all of which had as their object "the uniting of the women of all lands into such a fellowship of giving and receiving that a future world war would be made impossible." At the close of her speech she offered to the students of America, who hold the moral power which is to make or break these resolutions, a challenge as to how they were to use this power now and in the future.

law from the English common law.
Miss Willibrandt is Assistant Attorney General of the United States.

The object of the meeting being simply to arouse interest and let each country know what the other was doing, other issues which came in for discussion were marriage, and divorce, joint guardianship, civil service appointment, and jury service. According to Miss Elliott, Mrs.
Cait made the finest address of the convention. The meeting came to a close with a tribute to the leading women in all of the countries represented.

Convention of League of Women Voters

The Convention of the League of Women Voters opened its first session Tuesday morning, April 25, when reports were heard from many of the committees. As the convention proceeded to discussion, appeals for increased political activity of women were made by Herbert Hoover, Gov. Ritchie, of Maryland, Mrs. Harriett Taylor Upton, representative of the Republican party; Mrs. Blair, representative of the Democratic party, and by Lord and Lady Astor.
At a mass meeting held on the Century Roof, Lady Astor made her most important speech. Dr. Mirian, of Chicago, spoke on "Political Tendencies of the Present Day," pleading with women to concretely study government—to inform themselves and know accurately. Mrs. Gatt made an appeal to the women to go into some political party and work, though she admitted that no party was perfect.

For two days, reports of committees on legislation were discussed in minutest detail, and preparations made for submitting certain legislation to the decision of the convention. Copies of the proposed legislation were furnished to the delegates two days before the vote was taken. Among the measures which met with the approval of the convention were:

1. That an effort should be made to retain the primary, to introduce the Australian ballot wherever it is not in use, and to effect a uniform system of laws for women.
2. That the U. S. government should be asked to take a forward step to assist in outlawing wars.
3. That an effort should be made to get the states to cooperate with the U. S. in stamping out venereal diseases.
4. That an attempt should be made to raise the age of consent to 16 years.

An interesting day in the history of the convention was Washington Day, when the delegates went to Washington to explain their legislative program to the Senators and a few of the Congressmen from their respective states. Many moved by respect of love, payed a visit to the home of Woodrow Wilson and were touched when he, a strong man now broken and failing, appeared on the porch and smiled upon them.

This meeting of the League of Women Voters was the largest convention ever held. Eleven hundred delegates were in attendance, and the league is now an assured organization which will work for the legislation explained and make every effort to train women for leadership in government.

PARK BREAKFAST PARTY
FOR LUCILE THORNTON

Lena Smith and Clarine Gatling gave a breakfast in the Park on Sunday for Lucile Thornton, who has recently returned to the college after an absence of several weeks at her home in Mullins, S. C., where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. The thirteen girls present had a very enjoyable, as well as amusing, time, roasting weenies, frying eggs, and toasting marshmallows over an open fire. Besides these there were other non-cookable eats. Those present were Rebecca Norwood, Eleanor and Rachel Armfield, Jessie Rose, Hannah Mae Fleetwood, Joyce and Mabel Rudisill, Ruth Kohn, Josephine Clark, and Emily Weddington.

FRESHMEN'S FROGS JUMP FROM FRYING PAN INTO THE FIRE

Terrified Frogs Commit Suicide in Attempt to Escape from Youthful Dissectors

Pandemonium reigned supreme in the Biology lab. Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday when the Freshmen began their deadly assaults on that member of the Amphibian family, commonly known as the Frog. In fact excitement ran so high that it sounded as if Bedlam had turned loose on the third floor of McIver Building. At first excitement was confined to the members of the human specie of which the Freshmen were the representatives.

The uproar began when the invitation was extended to the class to gather around the aquarium and take their new charges in hand. Some of the more obstinate members of the class declined most emphatically to comply with this request. Even after much insistence on the part of the faculty a few still remained obdurate, and when compliance was forced such blood curdling yells issued from the windows of old McIver that it seemed as if murder were being committed, and that, the murder of strong lunged girls. Quite a few were not content with these vocal renditions, but probably thinking that they would go out for track next year, began prancing up and down the lab at such a lively rate that the occupants of the Chemistry lab on the second floor thought they were coming through. It is true that one section of the beaver boarded ceiling has since fallen through, and this may possibly be attributed to the gymnastics of the Freshmen.

The frogs, which at first were quiet and peaceful as all good frogs usually are, only emitting an occasional grump of astonishment and disgust at their sisters of the higher order, caught the excitement with which the Freshmen succeeded in charging the atmosphere. While they were all out of the vocal contest, they far outdid their rivals when it came to gymnastic. Some of the more active creatures were not content with scaring the Freshmen out of their wits, but they resented examination to such an extent that they sought the refuge offered by the open windows. One persistent fellow, who had been rescued from a leaf of the traditional ivy which adorns the walls of the building, escaped from the hands of his surprised benefactress, and

MISS COIT ON ALUMNAE'S FOREIGN AND LOCAL WORK

The talk at chapel hour on Monday was of especial interest to the college girls. Miss Coit spoke on the "Work of Our Former Students in the Foreign Fields." Miss Coit showed that N. C. C. W. was neither last nor least when it came to being represented in the foreign fields. Its representatives are many and wide-spread, some in China, Cuba, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Africa, Constantinople, and Armenia, all of which are doing splendid work. It was noticed in her accounts that almost all of the missionaries secured physicians as their companions through life, and this fact brought to the students the realization that in being a missionary lay the fulfillment of their greatest dream for the future. Miss Coit explained that the purpose of the alumni building was to provide a temporary lodging for all former students who wished to return to the college to renew their youth for a little while. In closing she read a letter from her little nephew, who was born in Japan and who is coming to make his first visit over here, in which he sent his love to the college girls, hoping to see them soon.

plunged headlong to his doom below. Of course the short distance from the third floor to the coal pile beneath is nothing to a frog, but once started they gathered such momentum that they could not have been located even if their recovery had been attempted, as one girl so gallantly offered to do. The Freshmen really came out ahead, for the majority of them overcame their antipathy with the aid of forceps and various other accoutrements of the budding biologist; and they still survive, while due to their activities the froggies float in formalin.

Mrs. B. B. Soz, of Greenville, who was Lillian Gray, is coming to Commencement.

POLLY DUFFY HONOREE AT BIRTHDAY PARTY SATURDAY

At eight o'clock on Saturday evening Edna Harvey, Francis Brandis, and Lenore Stone entertained at a surprise party in honor of the eighteenth birthday of Polly Duffy. It was a real surprise as Miss Duffy knew nothing of it until she was ushered into Edna Harvey's room. After the manner of all birthday parties, there were many presents, consisting in the main of a rattler, a doll, a stick of candy, a climbing monkey, and rosebuds. After several games had been played, banana salad and cake were served. Those present were Mary B. Moore, Jane Dill, Claude Aycock, Lisbeth Parrott, Rosalyn Nix, Mildred Taylor, Katherine Bell, and Margaret Bridgers.

MAITLAND SADLER CHOSEN MANAGER NEXT HANDBOOK

At a meeting of the Junior class sometime ago, Maitland Sadler was elected Editor-in-Chief of the Handbook. This is a publication issued by the various organizations of the college, containing all valuable information for the new student arriving at N. C. C. W. for the first time. These consist of regulations of student government, office hours of the different officers of administration, organization officers, customs, songs and all sorts of general information. The Editor-in-Chief comes from the incoming Senior class. Miss Sadler is fully capable of making the publication a success. She succeeds Vera Keech who had charge of the Handbook last spring.

DR. FOUST SPEAKS ABOUT PROBLEMS OF EDUCATION

Dr. Foust was the speaker in chapel Wednesday. He explained what was meant by the election held in Guilford county. He said that the election was intended to do three things, to do away with the one room school, which is a hinder to any advancement, to give every child in Guilford county the opportunity to attend school eight months a year. The oncoming new era will place more responsibility on the citizens and the four months' school cannot develop the brain necessary for the citizen to do his share in the general betterment of the county.

The county will solve the problem of doing away with the one room school by having larger districts and having the children transported to the central schools. And lastly, the election intends to equalize the school facilities in the county, by placing a good high school in reach of every child in the county. It was voted whether or not the county was willing to pay more taxes in order to accomplish this, and it was decided in favor of the affirmative by an overwhelming majority. Dr. Foust is certain that every school in the state will soon adopt this proposition and he states that it is up to the college girls to hasten this move.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLASS GIVES CHAPEL PROGRAM

At 1:45, Tuesday, at chapel, Mrs. Weatherspoon's class in Industrial Arts presented a most interesting program to the Training School. This consisted of living representatives of famous paintings. The first of these was "Saved," by Landseer, Betty Lindeman taking the part of the child rescued by the dog. After this, "Wake Up," by C. B. Barber; "The Age of Innocence," by Sir Joshua Reynolds; "Baby Stuart," by Van Dyck; and "The Song of the Lark," by Millet, were presented by members of different grades of the Training School. Then, as Bobby Shaw expressed it, they had some "big 'uns," when Loula Woody and Eleanor Hill, of the college, represented, "The Pot of Basil," by Alexander, and "Hope," by Bern Jones. Before each picture members of the class gave interesting explanations of the picture and its painter. Marie Davenport played several selections during the interims.

Dr. Barrett, Nancy Yarborough, '19, and Nannie Mae Smith, '21, were visitors at the college Wednesday. Misses Yarborough and Smith are Dr. Barrett's laboratory assistants at Charlotte Sanitorium, Charlotte.
