Cafeteria renovations continue

By AUDREY TRAINOR
When the administration made the decision to completely renovate the campus cafeteria, they were well aware that it was going to be no small task. Eight months later, they are reminded daily of the tremendous task, as the renovations are not yet complete.
Of immediate concern to the department of Residence Life and Dining Services is the inconvenience to the students. Because of some delays in the actual renovation process, the project is not as far along as once anticipated.
In an attempt to compensate for these inconvenineces, ARA food service has taken much of the burden on their own shoulders. ARA will prepare all food in the kitchens of the Greensboro Coliseum and transport it back to campus in catering trucks.
Cone Ballroom in EUC will remain open for additional dining as it did during the summer sessions. Cone will be used Monday through Friday for lunch and Monday through Thursday for supper.
All breakfast and weekend meals will be served in the cafeteria. Old Spencer and Old North will be open seating during meals. Food service will take place in Old Spartan.
The cafeteria schedule will remain the same as last year. All meals will be served on disposable servicewear, since clean up areas are not yet completed. The cafeteria seating, including seating in Cone Ballroom will provide seating for 1200-1300 students.
The only entrance to the cafeteria will be behind North Spencer Dorm and will be enclosed by a temporary pavilion stretching approximately 30 yards from the doors to Spencer Dining Hall. This pavilion will provide students with shelter from disagreeable weather conditions as well as debris from ongoing construction.
As students returned to campus last weekend, most stared at the colossal project moaning and groaning, all too aware of the inevitable inconvenience soon to be faced three times a day during every meal.
What may be difficult for students to see through all the sawdust and brick piles is that the rewards and benefits that these renovations will bring will be worth the current inconveniences.
The new cafeteria, anticipated by the administration to be of great architectural significance and the best in the South, will be a unique center of resident life on campus. As well as providing a central dining hall, something not offered on most campuses nationwide, the cafeteria will house a central post office, a bakery, a pizza place, deli, and an ice cream parlor.
The majority of the renovation process is projected to be completed by the spring of 1988.

Letters

Fellow Students:
I extend a warm greeting to you as you embark upon the 1987-88 academic year. This is truly a great time to be a student at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. The campus is growing and changing right in our midsts; we should shower ourselves with contentment. I am certainly looking forward to a wonderful year.

I would like to take this opportunity to very briefly summarize Student Government's activities during the summer:

*Vice President Roger Raynor and I drew up a proposal which allows for more fundraisers for student organizations. We consulted with James Allen, Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs, for his guidance and leadership in this effort. I will outline the course of action decided upon pertaining to more organizational fundraisers in a following edition of The Carolinian.
*The Office of Student

Government began a preliminary look at possibly expanding the days and timés when financial aid and emergency loan checks can be disbursed.
*We have met with various faculty and staff members to discuss issues such as financial aid, academic planning and campus development.
*Student Government sponsored two study breaks and invited Charles Moyer, Director of ARA Serivces, to discuss the developments of our dining hall facility.
*UNCG was well represented at the two summer meetings of the University of North Carolina Association of Student Governments. During these meetings, the schools of the UNC system are afforded the opportunity to exchange ideas and talk about topics of mutual interest such as tuition hikes and matriculation standards.
*We also compiled a comprehensive list of goals and strategies which Student Government wishes to fully accomplish during the year.

I will elaborate on these and other topics in the near future.

As we begin this academic year, let us remain cognizant of our personal goals and strive diligently towards achievement and self-actualization. Permit your mind to be of fertile soil where the seed of knowledge grows forever on.

Best wishes for a fruitful academic year,
Brad Mitchell

Letters Interfraternity and Panhellenic Council address

The 1987-88 school year will host a number of new and exciting steps on the Greek ladder. The new sorority floors in Cone Residence Hall and freshmen fraternity rush are only two such examples.
Lisa Crowder, president of Panhellenic, is a driving force to the council.

Welcome Back!
I would like to take this time to talk about Panhellenic and the six sororities on campusAlpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Chi Omega, Delta Sigma Theta, and Phi Mu.
The Panhellenic Council is composed of women from the individual sororities on campus. The Council sponsors rush and other activities on campus involving both the sororities and other university students.
Panhellenic will host an Information Night on Sunday, August 30th at 9:00 p.m. in Alexander Lounge at EUC.

Some other activities planned this year are working with Big Brother/Big Sister, sponsoring a blood drive, serving a charity dinner and hosting the Second Annual Faculty/Staff Easter Egg Hunt. The council will also support University programs such as Spring Fling and Homecoming.

We are hoping for a successful year and look forward to seeing many girls at Information Night. On behalf of Panhellenic we wish everyone a wonderful school year.

Lisa Crowder, President, Panhellenic Council

The Inter-Fraternity Council has a strong group of men backing up the fraternity system. Greg Knowles, Presi-dent-of IFC and Barton Jones, Rush Chairman, are key supports of the Council.

Our Greek system is relatively young, much more so than other colleges in our state. That youth, however, lends itself to untold possibilities of growth and the gaining of leadership abilities within the fraternity system.

One of our reasons for excitement within the system is that this is the first year that first-semester freshmen men may rush. Rush, for the uninitiated, is a term used for the time period in which fraternities invite interested men to look over the organization.

The Greeks, in turn, review the field of prospective members to find those men who share the beliefs and ideals of the respective fraternities.
The formal rush period for fall semester starts on Oct. 1, 1987. All interested men should look for the "Rush Preregistration" booths around campus in September, or stop by rm. 252 in EUC for answers to any questions you might have.

Welcome and good luck. Barton Jones, Rush Chairman, IFC
