FRESHMEN APPOINT REPRESENTATIVES FOR COMMISSION

Members Serve as Officers Until Class Elections Next Semester.

GROUP MEETS WITH DEAN

Day Students Choose Charlotte Porter; Adrienne Wormser, Betty Story, and Alma Hall Serve.

The Freshman Commission, composed of one representative from each freshman dormitory, and one day student, had their first formal meeting Monday evening at the home of Dean Geneva Drinkwater. According to the plans made at the beginning of the term, at the end of the first six weeks the following people were elected: Alma Hall, Mary Foust; Betty Story, New Guilford; Adrienne Wormser, Spencer, and Charlotte Porter, day student. The commission will take the place of official class officers, and will govern the class until elections for president, vice president, and secretary are held, in the early part of the spring semester.

The meeting was primarily for the purpose of discussing problems of the class, and making plans for the group as a whole. The subject most stressed was the question of quiet and consideration during study hours. It seems that the major annoyance is not the noise, but the walking about and visiting done by those who are not busy. Individual freshman dormitory and day student meetings have been held to discuss this matter more thoroughly. It was also decided that in order to get the class better acquainted, an informal dance will be held. All freshmen with registered dates, or alone, and all faculty members are cordially invited to attend.

As the class thought it was time for it to assert itself as an independent unit, the first class meeting was held on Wednesday, November 7. The meeting was very short, the four members of the commission were introduced, and each one addressed the group briefly. Miss Hall spoke on the dance to be held for all freshmen and Commercial students on Saturday evening in the Bessie Smith gymnasium from 8 to 10 o'clock; Miss Wormser urged the students to attend lectures and concerts, and to interest themselves in extra-curricular activities, in order to make their lives more natural and balanced; Miss Story reiterated this thought, and Miss Porter closed the meeting by asking the town students to attend the dance, so that they may meet the dormitory students socially.

MISS BYRD GIVES PLANS OF LAST YEAR'S SENIORS

Adelaide Crowell Is With North Carolina Symphony Orchestra; Catherine Curl Is Teaching.

M. DUDLEY CONTINUES STUDIES

Miss Clara Byrd, secretary of the Alumni Association, gives the following information regarding last year's senior class, in addition to the information published in a recent issue of the Carolinian:

DR. W. C. JACKSON READS AT CHAPEL EXERCISES

The regular chapel exercises on Tuesday, November 6, were opened with the singing of "Stand Up for Jesus."

Dean W. C. Jackson read a selection from the 107th Psalm. In conclusion Dr. Jackson quoted Psalms 107:31: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for all his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men!"

The choir presented an arrangement of "Trees," by Joyce Kilmer.

DR. ALLEN SPEAKS TO STUDENT BODY

Psychiatrist Addresses Group on Psychological Self and Her Adjustment.

LECTURER GIVES ADVICE

At the chapel exercises Friday, November 2, 1934, Miss M. M. Wilson, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. of Greensboro, introduced the speaker of the day, Dr. Sylvia Allen, of Charlotte, N. C. Dr. Allen spoke on one's psychological self.

As a member of the medical profession, Dr. Allen sees the question of health not entirely a physical one, but partially a mental one. Man is essentially a social being, and his relationships are determined largely by his emotional make-up, by his attitudes. In each one there are two common stirrings: the constant emancipation process of growth, the getting away from the family and standing on his own feet, and the sex drive. Freud, the well-known Viennese psychiatrist, divided the human into three selves, the super-self, that side which is always striving upwards; the conscious self, or ego; and the unconscious self. Dr. Allen pointed out that leading a well-balanced life in college is much more vital than making a record of straight A's.

In some people, the super-self stresses this over-ambition, but far worse is the under-ambitious person. Some girls have become discouraged at college, have felt that they are not understood and appreciated by the faculty. They must realize that they are not outstanding geniuses, but ordinary people, and must join in with the others, must mix with the crowd; for it is the only way in which they will find out where and with whom they belong.

This adjustment also figures largely in married life, in adjustment with the mate, and in leaving home. Each of the students at the college wants to be an adult, wants to make her own decisions, and not be ruled; but first she must realize that the one true freedom is obedience to the natural laws, that we must follow until we learn for ourselves to fall into the habit of them.

The talk was closed with a quotation from "Hamlet":

"To thine own self be true, And it must follow as the night the day, Thou canst not then be false to any man."

COLLEGE CONFERENCE HAS ANNUAL MEETING

Selection and Preparation of Teachers Supplies Theme for Session; Dr. Arps Speaks.

The 14th annual meeting of the North Carolina college conference met on November 8 and 9 at the King Cotton Hotel, Greensboro. This was a meeting of the presidents and other representatives from all the colleges in the state. The purpose of this organization is to further the cause of higher education and to consider problems relating to college curriculum. The central theme of the conference was the selection and preparation of teachers.

On Thursday at 10 a. m. there was a joint meeting of the executive committee and the chairmen of the standing committees. There was a luncheon meeting of the North Carolina Registrars' Association at 12:30 in the Home Economics building. The first general session opened at 3 o'clock. The reports of the following committees were read: College admissions, co-operative research, student mortality, and "athletic manifesto." Following the conference dinner, a concert was given by the Greensboro College Glee Club. The address at the evening session was made by Dr. George F. Arps, dean of the College of Education, Ohio State University.

There were other committee reports on Friday morning. Adjournment was at 12 o'clock.

Evaluation of the Point System

(One point is evaluated as representing twelve hours work a semester)

EDITOR'S NOTE:

In answer to several requests, the point system worked out last year and under which the present officers were elected is being reprinted. It should be noted that no person can carry over 10 points, and no person averaging below a C is eligible to hold office.

Curry Dramatic Club Gives Play

On Friday, November 9, the Curry Dramatic Club is presenting "Huckleberry Finn" in the Curry auditorium at 8 o'clock. The cast is: Huckleberry Finn, Richard Wharton; Aunt Polly, Phyllis Keister and Jane Dupuy; Melba, Catherine Park and Mary Elizabeth Whitehead; Ruth, Harriet Wells and Margaret Gordon; Amy Woppley, Dorothy Cox; Tom Sawyer, Robert Williams; Mr. Finn, Warren Gaw; Mary Jane, Ida Hunt and Helen Sherwin; and Fred Raymond, Henry Slink. Serving as business manager is Elizabeth Taylor; publicity, Carol Stoker; stage, George Womble; and property, Louise Moroney. The play is under the direction of Miss Anna Kreimeier, assisted by Martha Spruill Everett.

NORTH CAROLINA PRESS ASSOCIATION CONVENES

Editors, Business Managers of College Papers Gather to Discuss Editing Problems.

High Point College will be host to the 28th semi-annual convention of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association, which convenes in High Point November 8 through 9. C. T. Morris, editor of the High Point College Hi-Po, is chairman of the committee on arrangements. President of the N. C. C. P. A. for 1934-35 is Larry Martin; first vice president, Thompson Greenwood; second vice president, Barbara Graves; third vice president, D. K. Cloniger; secretary, Katherine Hines; treasurer, Norman Livengood. An interesting program has been arranged for those delegates attending the conference. Representing the Woman's College are Mary Wells and Elizabeth Yates from the Carolinian; Bet Nelson and Betty Allardice from Pine Needles; and Suzanne Ketchum and Gertrude Hatcher from Coradell.

SOPHOMORES GIVE DANCE IN HONOR OF FRESHMEN

President, Chairman Receive Guests; Group Decorates Gymnasium With Halloween Colors.

LINDA MITCHELL MAKES PLANS

Saturday evening, November 3, the sophomore class entertained the freshmen from 8 until 10 o'clock in the gym with a Halloween frolic. Justine Ulrich, president of the sophomore class, and Linda Mitchell, chairman-in-chief of the frolic, received the guests in the hall. Registered dates and "stagettes" from both classes made up the dancers. Members of the faculty were also invited. The music was furnished by the loud speaker, and the sophomores bought 15 new records for this occasion.

The gym was effectively decorated with orange and black. Clusters of balloons hung from the ceiling, and crepe paper shades shielded the dancers from the glare of electric lights. Stacks of cornstalks in the far corners and center of the gym added to the Halloween spirit and gave the girls a spot to rest between dances. Millie Swift and Betty Winspear served punch.

The chairmen of committees working for the frolic were: Linda Mitchell, head chairman; Anita de Monseigneur, decorations; Lib Ashley, posters; Millie Swift, refreshments; Frances Norman, clean-up; Betty Winspear, invitations.

Y. W. C. A. VESPER CHOIR TO GIVE CAROL PROGRAM

A vesper choir of about 30 voices has been organized by George M. Thompson to give a Christmas carol program Sunday evening, December 15. This choir corresponds to the Y. W. C. A. vesper choir of last year. The choir meets on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Music building. Officers will be elected in the very near future.

COLLEGE STUDENTS VISIT INSTITUTIONS

Group from Chapel Hill Joins Majors in Psychology and Sociology in Raleigh.

ATTEND DIX HILL CLINIC

Dr. K. L. Barkley, of the psychology department, and a group of psychology and sociology students joined a group of Abnormal Psychology students from Chapel Hill to spend Thursday, November 1, in Raleigh visiting the state institutions.

In the morning they went to the School for the Blind, where they were shown demonstrations of the classes taught in the grades, in typing, and in physical education. In addition, they saw special demonstrations of Braille writing and reading, and individual musical performances. They also saw the industries taught the blind, mattress making, woodworking shop, weaving and sewing rooms.

At 2 o'clock the classes from the two branches of the university went to the Central Hospital at Dix Hill to observe the different types of psychoses which Dr. Julian W. Ashby, superintendent of the State Hospital, and his medical staff presented for study.

In presenting six types of psychosis, Dr. Ashby put his emphasis upon demonstrating the typical symptoms of the various psychoses so that the students may be able in their various professional capacities outside of school to recognize the individuals who may be in poor mental health. Dr. Ashby emphasized the necessity of recognizing the pre-psychotic conditions which indicate the need for special care to prevent the development of an advanced psychosis.

It is hoped that the visit to the state institutions may become an annual affair for the students in psychology and sociology.

COMMERCIAL STUDENTS HEAR BARBARA GRAVES

Class Elects Members to Legislature; Miss Miriam Block Speaks as Group Advisor.

On Tuesday evening, October 30, the newly-organized Commercial class held a very important meeting in the physics lecture room. Kathleen Crowe, president of the class, introduced Barbara Graves, vice president of Student Government. Miss Graves announced that the Commercial class were to have three representatives to the Legislature. After her announcement, action was taken, and the following members were elected: Betty Gay Coltrane, Dorothy Smith, and Josephine Arnold. Miss Miriam Block, member of the Commercial faculty and advisor of the class, spoke for a few minutes.

After this, discussion was held concerning the campus directory, which the Commercial class hope to have published before Christmas. This directory, which is the class project for this semester, will contain home and campus addresses of all students and faculty.

MEMBERS OF POINT COMMITTEE MEET FOR DISCUSSION

Group Considers Existing Systems to Find Most Satisfactory.

STUDENTS NOTICE RULES

Paper Prints System Adopted in Spring; Persons Must Average "C" To Carry Ten Points.

At a meeting of the Point Committee Saturday, November 3, a discussion was held as to which point system should be applied to girls holding office since the Spring elections. At the time of those elections, a revised point system published in the Carolinian was in effect. In the 1934-1935 Blue Book there appeared another set of regulations which came as a recommendation from the Student Activities Committee.

The committee decided to judge all offices having elections prior to November 9, 1934, according to the regulations in the 1933-1934 Blue Book and according to the points as they appeared in last Spring's Carolinian; however, any elections occurring after November 9 shall be subject to the system specified in the 1934-1935 Blue Book.

A check on those who are holding offices is being made at present, and anyone carrying more than 10 points will be asked to drop an office. Special attention is called to the fact that a student who does not average a "C" can hold no office.

Students are also asked to notice the following regulations:

"a. An academic standard of an average of 'C' with no condition or failure is required for holding any office carrying points. If a student falls below this required standard, she automatically gives up the office."

"b. No student may hold more than 10 points at any one time."

"c. There shall be a permanent faculty-student committee on the point system. The faculty members of the committee shall be appointed by the dean of administration and the students shall be elected by the legislature. There shall always be a number of former members serving."

"d. It shall be the duty of the committee:

"1. To consider yearly the evaluation of points and make any alterations or additions deemed necessary."

"2. To consider and act upon cases necessitating any exceptions to the point regulations."

"3. To enforce the regulations of the committee."

"4. To elect a secretary from its membership whose duties shall be:

"(a) To keep a record of all proceedings of the committee."

"(b) To notify the organization secretaries of the necessity of making a report of election results to committee."

"(c) To bring the report before the point system committee after such elections."

"(d) To notify petitioners of the committee's action."

"(e) To prepare the point system revisions for the press."

"e. A record of the point system and students holding positions carrying points shall be kept in the office of the secretary to the Residence Department and this office shall see that no student carries more than the allotted number of points."

"f. No student may hold more than one treasurership or two secretaryships."

"h. Elections made in the fall to replace resignation vacancies shall be based on grades of the preceding Spring term."

"i. No student who is unclassified because of failure may hold office. Other unclassified students may hold office by submitting petitions to the Point System Committee."

The committee recommended that in the future any revision in the point system be made before the Spring elections of each year and be printed in the Blue Book of the following year to prevent confusion."

MADRIGAL CLUB PLANS MUSICAL SHADOW PLAY

The Madrigal Club is working on a shadow play which will be presented later this year. The play is a series of shadows giving a story in connection with music. The project promises to be a very interesting one. The Madrigal Club is also working on a program of Christmas music, book songs and traditional carols.

SUBSCRIPTION RATE

For the Collegiate Year
$1.50 per year to students and faculty.
$2.00 to the public.

PARAGRAPHS

The latest kind of date to be found on campus is the Commercial Date—one that travels from one dormitory to another.

It would seem that society initiations are harder on the upper-classman than on the freshman.

It looks as if the men would be out of the trenches by Christmas.

Thanksgiving is the deadline for handing in all those things we should have started last September.

An eighty-three-cent ticket to "Rochelieu" entitles the buyer to a bird's-eye view of the theatre and even a glimpse of the stage.

We have had enough of this semester; we are ready to start on a new one now.

Rules and Standards

In considering college rules, we often lose sight of standards, a term general in nature but concrete in its application to our campus and our evident needs. By the standards which we maintain, our students are judged by outsiders and our reputation as a college is entirely dependent. On our campus such things as walking on the grass, littering the grounds with paper, and disturbing the people in your dormitory during Quiet Hour fall under such a head.

When we are hurrying to get to class or to lunch after chapel, it is only natural that we want to use the shortest route. But it is rather disastrous to the appearance of the campus when such a path leads straight across the center of a well-kept green lawn. The short cut from the post office to the library seems to be in much too popular demand this year. It will be only a short time until it will become an ugly brown strip that will detract from the appearance of one of the most prominent parts of the college. Other portions can soon become as ugly looking, and now, before it is too late, is the best time to get in the habit of walking on the laid-out paths.

Papers thrown around both inside and outside the buildings tend to give visitors an idea that we are careless about college property. When we bring paper cups and candy papers with us to chapel and class, it would be more thoughtful on our part if each of us would remember to leave them in trash cans outside, remembering that food is not to be taken into the Auditorium.

If you have ever been awakened early in the morning or have been disturbed when trying to study, you realize what it means to have someone making unnecessary noise in the dormitory. However, if the person making the noise is disturbed when she is working, she forgets the times she has been the bothersome one. The whole situation could be solved if we would all be a little more thoughtful of others and take into consideration that they may have work to do, even if we don't.

Standards are the underlying principles of all rules, and if we would learn to see the standards on which the rules are based, it would soon be unnecessary to have regulations. Rules are made for the minority and not for the majority, and if we wish to do away with them altogether, it is our duty to abide by the few we have.

Mouse Trap

There is something in the air. Something awful is going to happen; I know it. A lot of strange people are digging trenches in the quadrangle, and the students—especially the freshmen, I have noticed—are going around with a worried look on their faces. I just know something is about to happen.

I have been reading signs lately, and I have been having a terrible time trying to understand them. Of course, I can figure out the ones that say "go slow" or "stop." There is some sense to them, because you can do what they tell you. But the ones that don't make sense to me are the ones that say "pet ice cream" (I can think of a better use of ice cream than that), and "dodge trucks," and "terr a plane." I just can't see why people put up such silly little signs as those.

I am going to the play Friday night. But if anyone should ask me "What play?" I would have to say, "Oh, you know, the play." That is sort of a nonsensical answer, but I can't pronounce the name of the thing. Anyway, I don't see why they couldn't have given it an American name.

You know, I was in the library the other day—just looking around in search of nothing in particular, and I saw some girls come in and get some books off the shelves in the reserve room and sit down and start counting pages. After they had counted for a while they took down the number of the pages on a piece of paper and got up and left. I haven't figured out yet what they were doing, to be exact, but they must have been studying for some kind of math course. It didn't look as though it would be as hard as math ought to be, though.

They tell me that these are effigies hanging up in the windows of the Carolinian office and the corner room on the second floor of Woman's. I don't know about that, but it gives me an awful uncomfortable feeling to see something that looks so much like me hanging up in the window—hanging by its ear, too. I wish that whoever owns those "effigies" would fix them so that they didn't look so deflated and then give them something to stand on. They are making me have bad dreams.

Enrollment Increase Encouraging

New York, N. Y.—(NSFA)—Latest reports indicate that Texas University, with a 16.7 per cent enrollment increase, leads the national field. That is more than 7 per cent above the average increase evident throughout the country, pointing to a bigger year for higher education.

Statistically speaking, Bennington College, Bennington, Vt., is ahead by several lengths, showing a 39.4 per cent increase, but this comparatively new college has this year added an entire class, which accounts for the unusual figure.

Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., is second to Bennington in the list of enlarged women's colleges with a 13.6 per cent increase; Georgia Tech leads the men's colleges with an 11.4 per cent advance; and the University of Kentucky is second to Texas among co-educational institutions with a 14.8 per cent increase.

120th Phi Beta Kappa Chapter

Salt Lake City.—(NSFA)—Phi Beta Kappa's 120th chapter will be installed December 5 when the University of Utah will be added to the society's roll. Under the Utah charter only seniors will be eligible for appointment, 75 per cent of all courses must concern cultural subjects, and 10 per cent of all eligible candidates will be elected.

Baton Rouge, La.—Dr. H. W. Stopher, director of music department of Louisiana State University, has completed arrangements with the famous Mozarteum, Austrian National Conservatory in Salzburg, whereby two students from that school will be exchanged with two students from L. S. U. for a year's study. The plan will become effective in 1935-36.

Louisiana's two students will be chosen on a competitive basis. Austria's students, Greta Haberl, singer, and Trudi Swatchek, pianist, already have been chosen—Old Gold and Black.

(NSFA)—Classes are over at 3:30 in the afternoon and there are no outside assignments at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla.

We note that at the University of Tennessee a Date Bureau has been started to help students become acquainted. The service costs the men 25 cents, the girls nothing. It really should help no end, for we imagine every quarter will see short passes, quick blocking, and possibly a little fumbling.—Tattler.

(NSFA)—Kenneth Johnson, a student at the University of California, who aspires to be a zoo director, has installed cages of snakes in his room at Berkeley. The collection includes an indigo snake, two king snakes, a small box constrictor, a moecasin snake, and a pair of chicken snakes, to say nothing of a Gila monster and a black widow spider, which Johnson has christened Eliza. He once had seven rattlesnakes, but they all perished.—Oregon State Barometer.

New Orleans.—(UP)—The Tulane football huskies of 1934 might well be called "milkmaids."

That is, they might be called this on a basis of fact—but not to their faces.

Each and every one of the candidates—60 of them—drinks a gallon of milk each day. A quart for breakfast, luncheon and supper—and another quart before retiring.

The milk diet is recommended and supervised by Coach Ted Cox, who likes his football team husky.—Old Gold and Black.

Contending that even winners of the Nobel Prize would be excluded from teaching in many of the nation's high schools because of the system of qualifications that has been set up, the American Chemical Society has appointed a special committee to study this, which it terms "a dangerous situation."—Parthenon.

Home Economics News

Mrs. Bea N. Rosa, of the Home Economics faculty, spoke at a breakfast meeting of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Fellows and Scholars in Child Development and Parent Education on Sunday morning, November 4, at the Wardman Park Hotel in Washington, D. C. This meeting was held in connection with the fourth biennial conference of the National Council for Parent Education, which met October 31 to November 3 in New York City.

Miss Dennis spoke at the Raleigh teachers' meeting in the Home Economics division November 9. Prior to this meeting she visited Mary K. Alasley at Conway, Mary Walker at Oak City, Ruby Temples at Fuquay Springs, and Billie Crumpton at Morrisville. All these girls are graduates of the college, and are now teaching home economics.

Sunday afternoon, the girls living in the Home Management house entertained at a very delightful tea. Friday night, they entertained, as is customary, the next group to live in the house. These are Christine Weeks, Edna Erle Lee, Polly Hamblight, Grace McClenny, Alene Starnes, and Mary Jane Allen. Wednesday night, they had dinner uptown and saw Norma Shearer in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

Harriet McGowan and Julia Bies, with Miss Catherine Dennis, of the Home Economics faculty, entertained at a delightful tea Thursday afternoon, November 1, in the reception room of the Home Economics building. The room was in a yellow and white color scheme. The tea table was especially attractive with an artistic centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums, yellow tapers, and a silver and crystal service. During the tea hour the following guests called: Misses Katherine Sherrill, Flora Marie Meredith, Elizabeth Steinhart, Augustine La Rochelle, Mary Louise McGowan, Sally Hight, Elizabeth Williams, Virginia Tatum, Frances Yerger, Susanne McLaure, Marie and Caroline Parker.

Former Home Economics graduates who visited the department this week were: Roberta Gorman, who is teaching Home Economics at Ronda; Max Hunt, who is teaching at the Alexander Wilson school in Alamogordo county; Elizabeth Shamburger of Star who enters the Pennsylvania Hospital for dietetic training in December; Nancy Campbell who is teaching at Raeford, and Lily Bradshaw who is teaching at Mt. Pleasant in Cabarrus county.

This week Miss Vivia Playfoot visited Mary Lentz at Mt. Via, Martha Hough at Hiddenite, Florence Stalup at Franklin, Louise Hixon at Silver, and Mary Parrish at Woodleaf. These girls are graduates of the Woman's College and are now teaching Home Economics and related subjects in the towns named.

Miss Margaret Edwards, head of the department, spoke in the Home Economics section today of the district teachers' meeting which met in Charlotte. Mrs. Rosa spoke last Friday, October 27, at the District Teachers' meeting in Winston-Salem. She also continues with her series of discussions in the city-wide P.T.A. here in Greensboro each Wednesday morning.

Miss Agnes Cox entertained her advisers at a Halloween tea Saturday afternoon at her apartment on Tate Street. She was assisted by her junior advisers.

The second of a series of informal teas was given Thursday afternoon, October 25 from 4:30 to 5:30, when Kathleen Capps and Elizabeth Bryan with Miss Mally Anne Petersen of the Home Economics faculty delightfully entertained in the reception room of the Home Economics building. The room was decorated in a yellow and black color scheme. The tea table was attractive with its copper coffee service lined with turquoise blue. During the tea hour, the following guests called: Miss Hope Coolidge, Miss Berneice Depper, Dr. Ruth Collins, Dr. Meta Miller, Miss Margaret Edwards, Mrs. Huxey, Sara Taylor, Elizabeth Dowdle, Martha Rogers, Elizabeth Uselle, Alice Knott, Frances McNeil, Anne Mac Clark, Mary Elizabeth Agnes, Millie Spencer, and Lucy Solomon.

At the University of Michigan foreign students have enrolled in the school of journalism. They are three Chinese boys and two Hawaiian girls.—Gold Bug.

The Movie Fan

CAROLINA

Friday, Saturday—"The Barrets of Wimpole Street." Norma Shearer, Fredric March, Charles Laughton. Miss Shearer's portrayal of Elizabeth Barrett Browning is sympathetic, and excellent. See it, by all means.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday—"Happiness Ahead." Dick Powell, Josephine Hutchinson. We just like Dick Powell a whole lot, but where is Baby Face? They need each other.

IMPERIAL

Friday, Saturday—"Alas the Man." Ken Maynard—you might know it. He's up to his old eyes again, no doubt. There is also a stage review and the serial we are all keeping up with.

Monday, Tuesday—"Belle McKim." Joan Crawford, Frankfort Tamm, Gene Raymond. The picture of the past, so far as most of us college girls are concerned. We remember how we were in three times trying to decide who we liked best—Tamm or Raymond. P. R.—We don't know yet.

Wednesday—"Let's Try Again." Diana Wynyard, Clio Brook. A young-married couple falling out of love. The acting is great, but the story is slow.

Thursday—"The Human Side." Adolphe Menjou, Doris Kenyon. Snappy dialogue, and a fairly good story. Menjou is in his element playing with wealthy married women.

CRITERION

Friday—"King Kelly of the U. S. A." Guy Robertson, Irene Ryan, Edgar Kennedy. Unless you're really mistaken, Mr. Kennedy is the post, but packed Edgar of comedy fame. You know, if you don't like him.

Saturday—"Brand of Hate." Bob Steele, Lucille Bremer, William Frawley. Just another of those Saturday pictures. It's tough on us.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday—"Tom's Up." Spencer Tracy, Kay Johnson, John Baker, Harry Green, Herbert Marshall, Thomas Yell. There are some more, too, but we'll spare you. All we know is what we read in the papers, but they say it's a grand musical, with song hits, clever music, and a lot of everything.

Thursday—"We're Not Dancing." Bing Crosby, Cheryl Chandler, Burns and Allen. Rather like King Kelly in love with wealthy yacht owner class. In spite of a slow start, it's a good picture. Bing's love gets more laughs than Burns and Allen.

RIALTO

Monday, Tuesday—"College Coach." Dick Powell, Ann Dvorak, Pat O'Brien, Lyle Talbot. A swell cast. A handsome (male) story, too. However, just what kind of romance to your college days. Pat O'Brien stands out.

Wednesday—"Shining Lady." Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea. Nothing good, very slowly. And bad to some size.

Thursday—"Fanny, the Girl Who Did Nothing." Janet Clayton, William Bowers. We almost thought about going to play Fanny. Good, if you like Fanny stories.

Friday—"The Girl From Santa Fe." Edie Canton. A beautiful, beautiful, colorful story, with beautiful scenery, etc. Good, or will be, and that's saying a lot.

Collegiate Fraternity News

New York, N. Y.—(UP)—An encouraging average enrollment increase of at least 10 per cent over last year is evident from national reports submitted by student government officials to the National Student Reliance.

Students colleges meeting are held several times annually. The condition in higher learning grows out of many parts of the country reported general business conditions are excellent. Full enrollment figures for the past term, however, are not available for all colleges. Some colleges report a 10 per cent increase in enrollment, while others report a 5 per cent increase. The national average is 10 per cent.

Franklin are more numerous in all most every college in the country. The class of 1935 at Columbia University is the largest since 1918, and at Yale the largest since 1920, and at Wisconsin the largest in ten years. Universities such as Harvard, Brown, and Cornell, which have definite freshman limitations, report a 10 per cent increase in applications.

In the Middle West there is no report indicating enrollment increase, and on the west coast, where the University of California at Berkeley leads the field with a 14 per cent increase, there is a definite indication that enrollment will grow at a faster rate than the national average.

National statistics will be held at the University of North Carolina, November 17 for the late Dr. Frank Vanhook, noted statistician and former president of the Association, who died last week.

A conference of the National Student Reliance is a fact and a complete inventory of a guide, one suggested in an editorial in the last issue of the

BAPTIST NEWS

The third quadrennial southwide Baptist student convention was held at Memphis, Tenn., October 25-28. The theme of the convention, "Making Christ My Master," was made applicable to everyday life in talks given by Dr. S. D. Gordon, of Winston-Salem; Charles Wells, artist and newspaper correspondent; Dr. Dunning, London, England; Dr. Gezork, Berlin, Germany; Dr. J. C. Turner, Greensboro; Mrs. J. E. Eubank, religious educator; Mrs. J. M. Dawson; Secretary of Agriculture H. A. Wallace. The entire program was concerned with world problems and how an individual should meet them.

Conference groups met Friday and Saturday afternoons to discuss problems of war and peace, race relations, missions, publicity principles, leisure time, and the Baptist Student Union program.

At the Saturday afternoon session, state officers were elected for the coming year. Robert Castner, formerly of Greensboro, a student at Mars Hill College, was elected president of the North Carolina group.

Among the 2,500 student delegates attending the convention from 18 southern states were the following Woman's College students: Rilda Mae Hill, Jessie Bell Lewis, Margaret Dunn, Mildred German, Floy Greene, Cornelia Snow, and Miss Cleo Mitchell, Baptist student secretary.

ZOOLOGY FIELD CLUB INITIATES MEMBERS

The Zoology Field Club held its regular meeting Thursday night, November 1, at which time the installation of officers for this year was made. These officers are: President, Mary Frances Young, Henderson, N. C.; vice president, Jane Costner, Lenoir; secretary and treasurer, Alice Thomas, Chatham; chairman of program committee, Alice Johnson, Greensboro; chairman of publicity committee, Jean English, Brevard.

The following girls were initiated into the club as associate members: Nell Cobb, Lumber Bridge; Ruby Jane Keller, Oxford; Shirley Melchor, Mooresville; Margaret Smith, Lenoir.

LITTLE FRENCH CLUB MEETS WITH M. HARDRE

The Little French Club held its second meeting of the year October 31 at the home of Monsieur Hardre. The program consisted of reports made by the club members on Charlemagne.

This year the club has decided to discuss different figures in French history as representative of their time.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Margaret Moser, and the historical figure to be discussed is Joan of Arc.

"Do you feel that your words were carefully chosen?"
"Yes, sir," answered Senator Sorghum. "Just at this time I am honestly endeavoring to use the very harshest words available."

Paper Reporter Views Legislature

Six weeks' tests and the attendant unsatisfactoriness gave Legislature food for thought at the business meeting Wednesday night. The relationship of academic standing and social privileges for upperclassmen is clearly outlined in the rule book. Freshmen, however, already have limited restrictions, and it was decided that further social legislation would not reach the cause of the numerous unsatisfactoriness. Instead, freshmen who made below a C are asked to observe closed study from Tuesday through Friday nights. This is a temporary plan for creating an atmosphere conducive to study and designed to prevent waste of time in the dormitories.

The most constructive work accomplished was the decision to hold a second Open Forum November 21. Campus Standards, as they exist and as they should exist, and plans for creating them, is to be the topic. Jane Page Powell is chairman of the committee on Campus Standards, and any suggestions for the Open Forum can be handled by her.

Methodist News

Rev. B. C. Reavis, recently appointed pastor at College Place church, will preach a special sermon for Recognition day, an annual service, Sunday, November 11, at 11 o'clock. Members of the student Methodist organization will sit in a group during the service.

"The Spreading Flame," a pageant of Methodist beginnings, will be presented by the students and young people's department at the evening church service. The cast will include over 30 principal characters and a choir of 15.

Students who wish to attend the third annual Methodist student conference which meets in Raleigh November 23-25 are asked to see Josephine Kiker or Mildred Hutchinson as soon as possible.

Chest X-rays were made October 30 and 31 of 194 students who had shown a positive reaction to the tuberculosis skin tests given at the beginning of the term. The X-ray plates will be read by the superintendent of the North Carolina Sanatorium and reports will be sent to the students the last of the week.

The Association of American Medical Colleges' aptitude test will be given at the infirmary December 7, 1934. This test should be taken by all students who expect to apply to a medical school for entrance in the fall of 1935. The test has been adopted by the association as one of the normal requirements for admission. Students who are planning to take the test should make application immediately to Dr. Anna Gove.

Miss Sarah Frances Henderson, of Lumberton, underwent an operation for appendicitis Saturday morning at the Wesley Long hospital. She is reported to be doing nicely.

Y.W.C.A. HOLDS VESPERS ON SUBJECT OF BEAUTY

"Beauty" was the theme of the vesper program held Sunday night, November 4, in Students' auditorium. Gladys Black was in charge of the meeting. Marion McDowell presided.

The opening hymn, "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," was followed by the scripture lesson read by Marion McDowell, and a solo by Rose Gaine. Lorraine Gray read some poems on beauty, and Gladys Black rendered a violin solo. After the singing of "Faithful Lord Jesus" by the congregation, the service was closed with the Y. W. C. A. benediction.

JUNIORS DISCUSS CLASS RINGS, COLLEGE BUDGET

The junior class called a special meeting to decide on the class ring last Monday, October 29, in Students' auditorium.

It was decided that a new style of ring would be chosen to replace the old one of previous years.

The ring committee hasn't selected the ring to be used, nor has the price been determined. It is hoped the rings will be here before Christmas. Mary Louise Shepherd is chairman of the ring committee, which includes Margaret Knight and Catherine Sikes.

Harriet McGoogan discussed class dues at the meeting and the junior share of the college budget.

ST. MARY'S NEWS

Beginning Saturday night, November 10, and continuing each Saturday throughout the semester, open house will be held at St. Mary's House from 7 to 10 p.m. Students are invited to come and bring their friends. Feel free to drop in at any time and stay as long as you please.

Miss Harriet Elliott will be guest speaker at St. Mary's House on Sunday evening, Armistice Day, at 6:30 o'clock. Her topic will be "Peace." Interested students are cordially invited to be present.

An informal discussion group, the subject of which will be decided by those present, will be conducted by Rev. J. A. Vache on Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. Come and bring your ideas.

C. WEEKS IS AWARDED THIRD PRIZE IN CONTEST

Miss Christine Weeks, senior major in home economics, received third prize of $40 from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for designing a sports costume for Norma Shearer to wear in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." The award was made at the Carolina Theatre last Wednesday night.

The prize-winning dress was made of brown and white striped crepe, over which a white crepe coat was worn with lapels to match the dress. A brown hat with white and brown striped band, gloves of the dress material, and white and brown sport oxfords were the accessories used to set off the frock.

The same dress won a $5 prize in a contest conducted by the Carolina Theatre last May among students of Miss Peterson's junior art class. Miss Weeks says she is very thrilled over the outcome. First prize went to Omaha, Neb., and second prize to Piqua, Ohio.

Students Will Fill Out Questionnaire
About Desired Social Projects
at Coming Meeting.

The Day Student Advisory Board met Wednesday, November 1, at 12:15, in Miss Draper's office. The members of the board are Margaret Knight, Eloise Taylor, Robbie Dunn, Mary Hester, Frances Foust, Allene Grimes, Lina Cromwell, Lucy Witherspoon, Lelah Nell Masters, representative from the new student group, and the day student officers, Kate Wilkins, president; Frances Grantham, vice president; Bebe Knight, secretary, and Helen Crutchfield, treasurer and acting secretary of the board.

A report was heard from the committee which had been appointed to investigate the uses of additional rooms for the day students. The committee was composed of Lina Cromwell, chairman; Eloise Taylor, and Margaret Knight. The board decided that at the next day students' meeting the members of that organization would be asked to sign a questionnaire, indicating whether or not they wanted other rooms and how they would like to have these rooms used.

A discussion of the uses of appropriations for social projects resulted in the proposal that a questionnaire concerning such appropriations should also be presented to the entire day student organization. The committee to work on the questionnaires is composed of Frances Grantham, ex officio member; Robbie Dunn, chairman; and Allene Grimes.

A report of the meeting with the new day students showed by the questionnaires signed then that they were interested in participating in campus activities. Lists have been sent to the various organizations with the request that they invite interested day students to membership as soon as possible.

Considering the number who voted to form a discussion group to discuss day student problems, the board decided in favor of such a group.

The next meeting of the Day Student Advisory Board, which is to get representative day students' opinions for the day student officers and for their counselor, Miss Draper, will be held November 15.

Miss Taylor Honored

Julia Brown and Betsy Holton were joint hostesses at one of the most delightful parties of the season given Wednesday night from 8 till 10 o'clock in the Gray dormitory game room in honor of Miss Katherine Taylor, counselor of Gray dormitory. The room was attractively decorated for Halloween with lighted pumpkins, witches, and novelties. Four tables of bridge were in play. After several progressions, delicious refreshments were served.

The guest list included Miss Taylor, Barbara Behrendt, Maxine Dowdy, Elizabeth McAdoo, Gladys Pritchard, Grace Gooch, Louise Matthews, Ethel Cody, Ethleen Hicks, Mary Agnes Garrett, Florence Richardson, Mary Hankins, Blanche Newsome, and Ruth Worley. Louise Matthews, winner of high score, was presented a deck of playing cards. Low score prize, a Halloween novelty, went to Elizabeth McAdoo. The honoree was remembered with a beautiful cigarette case and vanity set.

Halloween Party in Gray

The members of Gray dormitory were entertained at a very festive affair on Halloween night in Gray basement from 10:30 till 11 o'clock. The room was colorfully decorated with suspended apples, autumn leaves, and orange and black streamers. A bar was open for serving drinks and cakes. Fortune-telling, testing of normality of personality, and other games were played. A radio furnished music for dancing.

Annual Reception

The annual reception for the new members of the college faculty was held Tuesday night, Oct. 23, from 8 o'clock to 10 o'clock in the society halls in Students' building. Members of the faculty, representatives of the board of trustees, of the other units of the university, of neighboring colleges, and of various organizations in Greensboro, and the wives of members of the faculty were invited guests.

The receiving line, arranged in three divisions, was composed of the following: Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Jackson, Dr. and Mrs. J. I. Foust, Dr. Geneva Drinkwater, Mrs. Frank Graham, and Dr. Anna Gove; members of the administrative council; representative trustees, Mr. R. B. House and Mr. J. W. Harrelson; and new members of the

Education Club Meets for Reports

The next regular meeting of the Education Club will be held Tuesday evening, November 13, in the demonstration room at Curry at 7:30. The program is in charge of Martha Spruill Everett and will consist of reports of the Northwestern District Teachers' Association meeting held in Winston-Salem October 26. Both students and faculty will speak. Mary MacFarland has charge of the social hour. All students who will practice teach this year are cordially invited to attend.

faculty introduced by representatives of the various departments.

The new members of the faculty who attended included Misses Mary Dulaney Bush, Edith Harbour, Lucille Hutaff, Josephine Hege, Evelyn McNeill, Emeve Paul, Blanche Penney, Treva Wilkerson, Mrs. Annie Beam Funderburk, Dr. Drinkwater, Mrs. J. L. Henderson, Mrs. Frances Lefkowitz, and Mrs. Bess Naylor Rose.

The reception was directed by the collegiate social committee, of which Miss Mary Petty is chairman.

Shaw Dormitory Entertained

Wednesday evening, October 31, the members of Shaw dormitory were entertained with a Halloween party. Fortune-telling, ghost stories, and a chamber of horrors comprised the entertainment. The prize for the best costume was awarded to Reverie Williams, who was dressed as a pirate. Punch and crackers were served as refreshments, after which dancing was enjoyed. The party ended with the singing of the college song and cheers for Miss Hgo. Mercer Reeves had charge of the affair, and she was assisted by Marie Sette, Elsie Putnam, Franchelle Smith, Margaret Stroud, Martha Thomas, and Lib Barrington.

Woman's dormitory gave a tea in honor of Hinshaw Monday afternoon from 4 to 6 in the Y Hut. The Hut was attractively decorated with autumn flowers and leaves, and fires burned in the four fireplaces. The guests were received at the door by Miriam McFadyen, social chairman of Woman's. Lorraine Gray and Helen Dugan poured and Dorothy Howard had charge of the refreshments.

LIBRARY SHOWS HOBBY BOOKS AND "RICHELIEU"

In line with Walter Hampden's interpretation of Bulwer-Lytton's famous play, "Richelieu," which is to be presented Friday at the National Theatre, the library is offering to put a copy of this historical work in the reading room for the benefit of those who wish to become acquainted with the story beforehand.

As a further inducement for students interested in literature, particularly non-fiction, the following books have been secured:

Carmar: Stars Fell on Alabama.
Fisher: Tourists Accommodated.
Jokes for All Occasions.
Maryon: Modern Sculpture.
Newcomb: Old Mission Churches and Historic Houses of California.
Sangster: The Cheerful Convalescent.

A few new books of fiction will be on the shelves as soon as they can be catalogued. Also of interest is the display of books of hobbies, such as knitting, sewing, and all kinds of sports, which will be in the reading room next week.

If you want distinguished looking school and street frocks, if you want stunning dinner and evening gowns, if you want individually picked dresses priced as reasonably as those that are bought by the dozen or by the carload, if you don't want to see six or eight exactly like yours, and if you want exclusive clothes and not exclusive prices—we have what you want.
