Sarg's Marionettes To Present Rip Van Winkle at N. C. C. W.

Seven Quaint Scenes Typical Of Our Early Dutch Settlers to Be Represented on Miniature Stage.

Do you just want to have the "best old time in the world?" Well, don't you dare fail to see Tony Sarg's Marionettes present Rip Van Winkle. "The play is in seven scenes, each teeming with that quaint and fascinating atmosphere so typical of our early Dutch settlers.

Before the hospitable doorsteps of the King George Inn, where sits, smoking peacefully, its fat landlord, pass most of the thirty or more characters in the story: A sailor with his parrot (who does a real horn-pipe dance to a concertina accompaniment by the village school master), Rip Van Winkle with his fat grunting pig and dog, and the never to be forgotten musicians and their Christmas carol.

In the wood scene appear butterflies, birds, rabbits, and other wild creatures. Then on the dim horizon appear the phantom ships of Hendrick Hudson and his dwarfish crew. And most marvelous of all is the transfiguration scene in the mysterious treasure cave, where dance ghost, and goblins, and skeletons, and spooks.

From the moment the curtains part to the gradual fading out of the last happy picture on old Rip's strange return twenty years later, the spectator is carried away by this fascinating and absorbing tale of the Catskill mountains and its weird inhabitants."

DR. RICHARD WALLACE HOGUE TO BE HERE THIS MONTH

Dr. Richard Wallace Hogue, Executive Secretary of the Church League for Industrial Democracy, is to spend the 6th, 7th and 8th of this month visiting N. C. College.

He will have charge of the Vesper service on Sunday night and the chapel exercises on Monday and Tuesday. His general subject will be along the line of "Christianizing the Social Order."

Dr. Hogue is a master in the art of handling an open forum, and it is quite probable that one or more of the hours which we have given to him will be used for this purpose. He will also arrange to see any girl who desires personal conferences.

DANCING CLASS MEETS TWICE A MONTH

Miss Coleman's dancing class for beginners met Tuesday night in the gym. About fifteen of the best dancers had been chosen to teach those who wished to learn. This class will meet twice a month.

Student Volunteers Hold Their Annual Conference at Trinity

Many Interesting Speakers—Inspiration Renewed For Those Who Attended—200 Student Volunteers Present.

On Friday, February 25th, two hundred of the most earnest young men and women from the colleges of this state, met at Trinity College for their tenth annual Student Volunteer meeting.

The program opened with prayer service. After dinner Friday night, Dr. Egbert W. Smith, of the Southern Presbyterian church, gave an opening address that went direct to the hearts of the delegates. His subject was, "What Shall I do With My Life?"

The Saturday program opened with a 9 o'clock devotional service led by Dr. C. N. Hounshell. Following this Dr. Fay Campbell led a discussion in Best Missionary Methods, under the heads of "Know, Pay, Pray, Do." After this, discussion group meetings learned something of the lines of work on the foreign fields in which they were particularly interested. Dr. S. W. Erickson, who has been for 15 years in Japan, delivered the final address of the morning. His subject was "The Gospel in Action," and he gave unmistakable ways in which every one of us here in America can help make the Gospel act in Japan—and act as the true gospel. Immediately after the morning session the conference picture was made on the campus. The groups from the different colleges proved during these few minutes that student volunteers don't lack, when it comes to "pep."

At the afternoon session Dr. C. N. Caldwell, missionary from China, lectured on his chosen field. After the lecture, the conference was entertained by the three literary societies on the campus. No one doubts that it was a most enjoyable afternoon.

Saturday night's program consisted of election of new officers for the Union for next year, and the missionary pageant "In the Name of the Cross," given by the bands from N. C. C. W. and Greensboro College. Quite a crowd heard the pageant.

Sunday morning was opened with devotional exercises. Then the delegates scattered to the several churches of the town for the morning service. The church leaders were quite cordial in receiving the conference delegates. The Sunday afternoon session was opened by Miss Helen Hardy, secretary of Woman's Board of Missions, of M. E. church, South. Following this, Dr. Fay Campbell explained "What is involved in signing the declaration card." After Mr. Campbell's talk, five students from different colleges told "Why I Am a Student Volunteer," and Dwight M. Chalmers, general "Y." secretary at Davidson College, struck

Y. W. C. A. Officers Elected For 1921-22

Ruth Teachey Elected President—
Myrtle Warren Running a Close Second Elected Vice-President.

In the regular business meeting of the N. C. C. W. Young Women's Christian Association Thursday night officers were elected for the term 1921-22, Ruth Teachey being elected as president and her strongest rival, Myrtle Warren, as vice-president.

The new president, Miss Teachey is ably fitted to continue the work of this year's president, Vera Ward, having served in this year's executive council with Miss Ward, and having proved herself very greatly interested in and adapted to Y. W. C. A. work. Her strength of character and spirituality have been attested to in her work in the Student Volunteer band.

No one is better fitted to be vice-president and ex officio head of the membership department than ever-smiling and ever-working Myrtle Warren.

The other officers and members of executive council were chosen with the same care and consideration of the interest of the girls in Y. W. C. A. work and their fitness for particular tasks as characterized the selection of president and vice-president.

* * * * * CORNELIANS ENTERTAINED BY A PLAY, "ALONG CAME BUD" * * * * *

The Cornelians were delightfully entertained after their society meeting Saturday night by a play, "Along Came Bud." The play was short but was performed in excellent style. Mary Nixon, in the title role, was the start performer. The entire cast was as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Ruth Wilkins and Katherine Disoway, June, their daughter, Elizabeth Botts Dick, their son, Elizabeth Simpkins, Bill Grant, in love with June, Mary Collins Powell.

DIKEANS PRESENT "THE MOUSE TRAP"

The program of the Dikean Literary Society Saturday night, which consisted of a play, "The Mouse Trap," by W. D. Howell, proved very amusing and entertaining. Mary Y. Crowell, played well, the part of Mrs. Somers, Edith Roundtree, Mr. Willis Campbell, the fiancée of Mrs. Somers. Other characters were played by Dixie Reid, Thelma Hawkins, Gladys Black, Anne Harrelson and Raynell Purser.

From the beginning to the end of the play was laughter and interest. "The Idea" will be remembered by each one that saw it. The success was due to the direction of Matilda Lattimore and the co-operation of the characters with directress.

20 Million Dollar Education Bill Fails By One Majority

Amendment to McCain Bill Provides for $875,000 For
N. C. C. W.

The $20,000,000 education bill has failed but the McCain bill has been amended to the effect that one million dollars be added to the appropriations for the institutions of the state, $300,000 of which goes to the North Carolina College for Women, making for this institution a total of $875,000.

The $20,000,000 six-year program was killed in the Senate by a majority of one vote, twenty voting for it and twenty-one against it. But a compromise has been reached between the appropriations committee and Senate proponents of the $20,000,000 program and the Senate on March 1st adopted amendments to the appropriations bill which add a million to the first recommendations.

The additional million will be divided among the four state institutions as follows:

North Carolina College for Women $300,000, making a total of $875,000.

N. C. College, $50,000, making a total of $600,000.

University of North Carolina $500,000, making a total of $1,490,000.

Morganton insane asylum, $150,000 in addition to that same amount provided in the committee bill.

N. C. C. W. will get $270,000 for maintenance for the coming year and $330,000 for the following year. This is a very satisfying result considering the first recommendations. The present legislature, although it was in favor of the six-year program, felt that it could not conscientiously vote for so large an amount for such a length of time and will leave the next legislature of '23 to carry on its work.

PROF. BROWN PLANS MUSIC FESTIVAL FOR GREENSBORO

If present plans are carried out, Greensboro will have a spring musical festival May 13-14. The festival will consist of three performances, Friday night, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night given by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, the Greensboro Choral Society and five famous artists.

The present aim of this committee is to bring the following artists, Geraldine Farrar, soprano; Arthur Hackett, tenor; Madame D'Alvarez contralto, of the Milan Grand Opera Company; Mario Chalmee, tenor, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Royal Dadmun, baritone, here.

The Choral Society, of which Professor Brown is director, is working for the benefit of Greensboro. It is entirely a community movement. Not only will it provide music of the finest possible quality, but it will stimulate an interest in music in the people of Greensboro.

Money talks, but has few intimates especially when spring clothes are desired.

"The meek may inherit the land, but they'll cease to be meek as soon as they come into their inheritance."

THE SPIRIT OF NORTH CAROLINA

North Carolina has just completed one of the greatest fights ever put up by any body of people. The cause for which they were fighting was as noble and as ideal as any in history. They were fighting to give to the people of North Carolina a chance for an education. Although they did not get what they were fighting for, we cannot say that they have failed. The program which they hoped to gain was not realized, but they did awake the people of the state to their condition, and they did succeed in getting adequate maintenances for the college during the next two years.

So far as education is concerned the fight is won. North Carolinians will never go backward after this year. It has been proven, during the educational campaign, that there are enough forward looking citizens in our state to gain, at least, a part of the result they sought. Do you think for a minute that these people will remain quiet during the next two years. No, they will continue to work for better education until they accomplish what they want. They will not give up the fight. A check only adds impetus to the struggle. That is the spirit of North Carolina, and the spirit of North Carolina is the spirit of North Carolina College.

OPEN FORUM

It's easy enough to pick out the faults and flaws in our habits, but the difficult part is to put into practice what we know is right and to correct all the faults. We write editorials and open forum articles and we talk ourselves blue in mass meeting, but strange to say the grass fails to grow on corners and in front of the post-office window; there is one grand confusion in the serving room and dining room; there is talking in chapel. It will do us no good to see our mistakes unless we profit by them. Then lets cease so much theorizing and practice a little more. We say we get tired of hearing the same old things—but those same old things will have to be listened to until we really pay attention to them.

HAVE I THE RIGHT?

"To eat meat if it cause my brother to offend?" In other words, translating the spirit of St. Paul into more modern language, have I the right to do exactly as my whim dictates, regardless of the other fellow? Such conduct is not freedom or liberty in the highest sense, but license, which always acts as a boomerang. Any transgression of one of the laws which underlies all physical, mental and spiritual well-being always brings a penalty in its wake—inevitable and irrevocable.

Time that is past comes not again, therefore we should treat it with respect and endeavor to make the best possible use of it. Why should we spend our time in doing those things which are not useful or production of anything worthwhile, but instead make for discord, disease (of mind or body) and ugliness, when there are so many things that each one of us can do to help promote beauty, peace, harmony and love of truth in the world? And in the doing of these last named we find true happiness.

Watching a lovely sunset in the evening will give us exquisite pleasure while it lasts, and if we follow Dr. Frank Crane's advice and are "keen observers" we can so photograph the beautiful scene upon our memory that we can recall it when we want to use the colorings of nature—the Master Artist—to help make the world a more beautiful place to live in by beginning at "home."

This does not mean, however, that we are to use all the colors of the sunset or of the rainbow—in adorning our persons or our rooms, at one time. "Consider the lilies of the field" and notice the wonderful charm and yet the restraint that is used in the combination of the white and gold and the beautiful curved lines—with the rich restful green for a background.

Surrounded by majestic mountains we feel their peace and power and can understand why the Master went into them to imbibe their spirit of calm and strength. When our spirits are thus strengthened and filled with peace, it is much easier to get a correct perspective on the things that are really worthwhile and then discard those which are "weighed in the balance and found wanting." There is nothing more valuable in these busy lives of ours, than an occasional meditation and self-analysis as near to the heart of nature as we can get. He who never makes mistakes never makes anything. He who never learns from his mistakes is a fool.

CONTESTS FOR COLLEGE NEWSPAPERS AND MAGAZINES

The editor-in-chief of the Carolinian and of the Coraddi wish to call attention to the contests for the magazines and newspapers to be held this spring. These contests are a part of the activities of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association and we are hoping that the students here will co-operate with us in this work and will attempt to win out for us in the spring contest. We have plenty of girls who are capable of doing the kind of work required for this and we are depending upon you to fall in line with the other colleges. In the contest for newspapers, those who wish to enter it, must submit a feature story, a purely news article, and an opinion on editorial. While in the contest for magazines, each publication shall be allowed three netries. These should submit either a short story, a sketch or a poem.

Articles should be handed in to the editor-in-chief of the newspaper before April the first. Judges chosen by the editorial staffs of the two publications will decide who wins from the college group. These articles will then be submitted to the general secretary of the Association, Davidson, N. C., and from there they will be forwarded to the judges.

The usual prize of a medal or gold piece shall not be used, but the winner shall receive state-wide recognition. Every paper and magazine in the state will run a personal write-up of the winner and his prize composition.

Spring brings a fresh and large supply

ATHLETICS

A. A. CONVENES WITH PLANS
AND SUGGESTIONS OFFERED

At the regular meeting of the Athletic Association Tuesday, the members discussed some of the most important matters that have yet been brought before the Association—Money and Recreation. The fact that the treasury is almost empty and that many of the students, instead of playing basketball, tennis or group games, spend their recreation hours in strolling down College avenue, makes the A. A. members wonder what could be done.

Last week posters were used every day in preparation for a membership campaign. The names of the girls who have not joined the Association were given to those who volunteered to see them. It is hoped that this will solve the money problem.

The sport leaders asked that the members fill the courts every afternoon. New supplies have been bought for tennis and two new courts are being prepared. Tournament will be interesting since there will be three, new girl, doubles, and singles. Only those who have not played before last September will be allowed to enter the new girl tournament.

Irene Caldwell was elected hiking leader to take the place of Branson Price who had resigned. It was announced that hiking would count in the point system. After this the music to the A. A. song was accepted.

every person present right in the face with his "Challenge of a Student to a Student." When the meeting adjourned each delegation met to draw up plans for the coming year.

The final session began with reports of resolutions committees, which thanked everybody for everything. Then came the reports of the delegations. They were firing and inspiring. One group said, "We want to be so filled with the electricity of the gospel of Christ that nobody can come in contact with us without being shocked." Dr. C. E. Johnson, traveling secretary of Y. M. C. A. in North Carolina, led the devotional exercises. Dr. Hounshell, of the Southern M. E. Board of Missions, closed the service. His message was to the point. It was the sort of message that makes a fellow believe he can do great things for Christ. He ended his address by giving everybody a chance to testify as to what the conference had meant to them. There were about 24 new volunteers enlisted that night, eight of which were Trinity students.

ALUMNAE NEWS.

Miss Bollinger will be in Shelby Friday and Monroe Saturday, to organize the Cleveland and Union county Alumnae Associations.

The Gaston county Alumnae Association will hold a banquet at Gastonia March 18. Dr. Foust, Miss Coit and Miss Bollinger will be present.

The Durham county chapter is also planning a banquet during the month of March.

To the new subscribers of the Alumnae News: The next issue will be out the last of this month.

About three hundred graduates have sent in fees during the last month in response to the class membership campaign. An interesting tabulation of the standing of the different classes will be arranged for exhibition at commencement.

Plans for Alumnae Day, Saturday, June 4 are being formulated. Already many alumnae have written that they are coming, especially members of the blue and white classes, as it is the year for their class reunions.

Claudia Cashwell Guion '12, of Mebane, visited the College Wednesday.

Hazel Black, '13, is at the Assembly Training school in Richmond. She has been accepted by the Foreign Mission Board.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT WOMEN

In Norway a daily newspaper for women is being launched, which will be devoted to the interests of women and entirely controlled by women.

The beautiful bust of Lucy Stone owned by the Boston Public Library, and kept for many years in a comparatively inconspicuous place in an upper room, has been brought down stairs to adorn the main reading room, which shows that the tendency to honor the suffrage pioneers is increasing.

The Rhode Island State Federation of Women's Clubs has taken a definite stand for state censorship of motion pictures, pledging to do everything possible to secure pictures which will not be a menace to the children, and to show that Americans are standing for cleanness and right thinking.

It is an event of great significance that Armenia's first representative to Japan is a woman, Mrs. Diana Agobeg Apcor, whose personality accords remarkably well with the distinction of the occasion and the opportunities for usefulness which it offers.

The League of Women voters in Nashville, Tenn., is making a vigorous protest "against the undemocratic procedure" of the city government in making a new charter for the city which completely ignores the women citizenship, who are just as responsible as advocates of good government and as tax payers as the men are.

Textile Students Tour Cotton Mills.

Miss Smith accompanied a number of her textile students on an interesting trip to the Revolution cotton mills. It required one and a half hours to go through the mills and see the different processes beginning with the breaking up of the bales of cotton and ending with the packing of the bolts of cloth in boxes. The employer who carried the class through told them that this cotton factory was the most modern and the best equipped in the South, perhaps in the world.

MISS FERGUSON SPEAKS AT CITIZENSHIP MEETING

Friday night, February 28, the students had their third citizenship meeting. Miss Ferguson of the Home Economics faculty, gave a most delightful and instructive lecture on "Table Etiquette." She demonstrated the responsibilities and requirements of a guest and of a hostess. She also discussed good form and manners in regard to the college dining room, and gave a list of "Don'ts" to be used there.

An enthusiastic and helpful discussion of dining room problems was carried on by the students, who resolved to put into practice the suggestions brought out in the lecture and discussion.

ANNIE CUMMING'S HOME IS SCENE OF GAY HOUSEPARTY

Saturday afternoon a group of girls in traveling garb were seen racing frantically off the campus toward the railway station. It was immediately suspected that they were eloping, but it proved to be only a group of "dignified" seniors on their way to a house-party at Annie Cumming's home. They soon landed in Reidsville and were welcomed into the Cumming's home where they realized the full meaning of Southern hospitality at its best.

Saturday night they had a regular jolly, good-time party with plenty of young men mixed with ice cream and cake. Sunday proved to be as good as Saturday. At 6 o'clock they started on their way back to the N. C. College, still happy, but with a big sigh for the good things they were leaving behind.

Pine Needles Has Gone to Press.

March 1 has come and gone and Pine Needles is all at the printers. These many long months the staff has toiled and toiled and at times been discouraged. But in spite of all difficulties and many hardships, in spite of the artistic temperament of Mrs. Pelton, in spite of the "hard times" of the advertisers it is all now complete. It remains only for Benson to print it and the all-important Annual will be out. The definite date is known only to Benson but the middle of May will probably be the time.
